Double The Bet

For the information of Governor Meskell, those of us who managed to come close to getting some of it in the first drawing last Thursday morning will go along with his own enthusiasm.

"I hope," said the chief executive who deserves credit for bringing legalized gambling to Connecticut, "the enthusiasm will continue. Every dollar we raise in this fun way is a dollar we don't have to raise by taxes."

For about 49,000 out of every 50,000 players in the first week of the state lottery, the fun and the enthusiasm halted short with the spinning of the wheels which produced the first week's winning number.

Suddenly, they were back to reality. It was a reality which used to be built as a Connecticut principle, a principle which says that you can't make a way of life out of trying to get someone else's money.

The thing to do is to buy twice as many tickets this week, and have twice as much fun.

The Return Of The Cuff

Cuffs are being permitted back on pants, and it's time. The function of the cuff was never understood until, a fashion or so ago, the designers started leaving them off.

Then the average American male discovered that the cuff, providing a receptacle for cigarette ashes, used match paper clips, and country walk pebbles, played an instrumental part in keeping the right kind of hang and a fresh crease of press in the pants by keeping the trouser leg from creeping unduly upward.

What collected in the cuffs was a little like the small weights the garage experts put on the individual automobile tire, to see that it runs in balance with itself and has no tendency to lag off in one direction or the other.

The ideal way to have brought Mayor Daley into the Senate campaign would have been to corner him and drag him in, a reluctant and somewhat snarling prisoner of circumstances he couldn't overpower.

And perhaps Mayor Daley, in plotting his own voluntary move, was leading the portents and avoiding any such inglorious showdown later.

Let us concede, however, that Mayor Daley's embrace has done Mayor Daley more service than it has done Senator Muskie.

Rather Late For A Recount: Senator Vance Harbo of Indiana claims he is glad the Supreme Court has made possible a recount of his 1970 re-election and claims, further, that he is confident that any recount, if it is undertaken and completed, will increase the slim 4,888 vote margin by which he defeated his Republican opponent, Richard L. Kousser.

We doubt that he is really glad, or really that confident. We suspect, instead, that he is as worried as anybody in his right mind would be, over even a slight possibility that an election result he has been living on for the past year and a quarter could be upset, this late in the day, and he be required to surrender his office to the opponent he thought he had defeated.

The big comfort for his worry is that such an event would be a rarity. The normal procedure, when and if the political system ever suspects it may have made such an error, is to assume that it is somehow better to keep on honoring the error than to try to rip everything up in order to achieve a delayed rendering of justice.

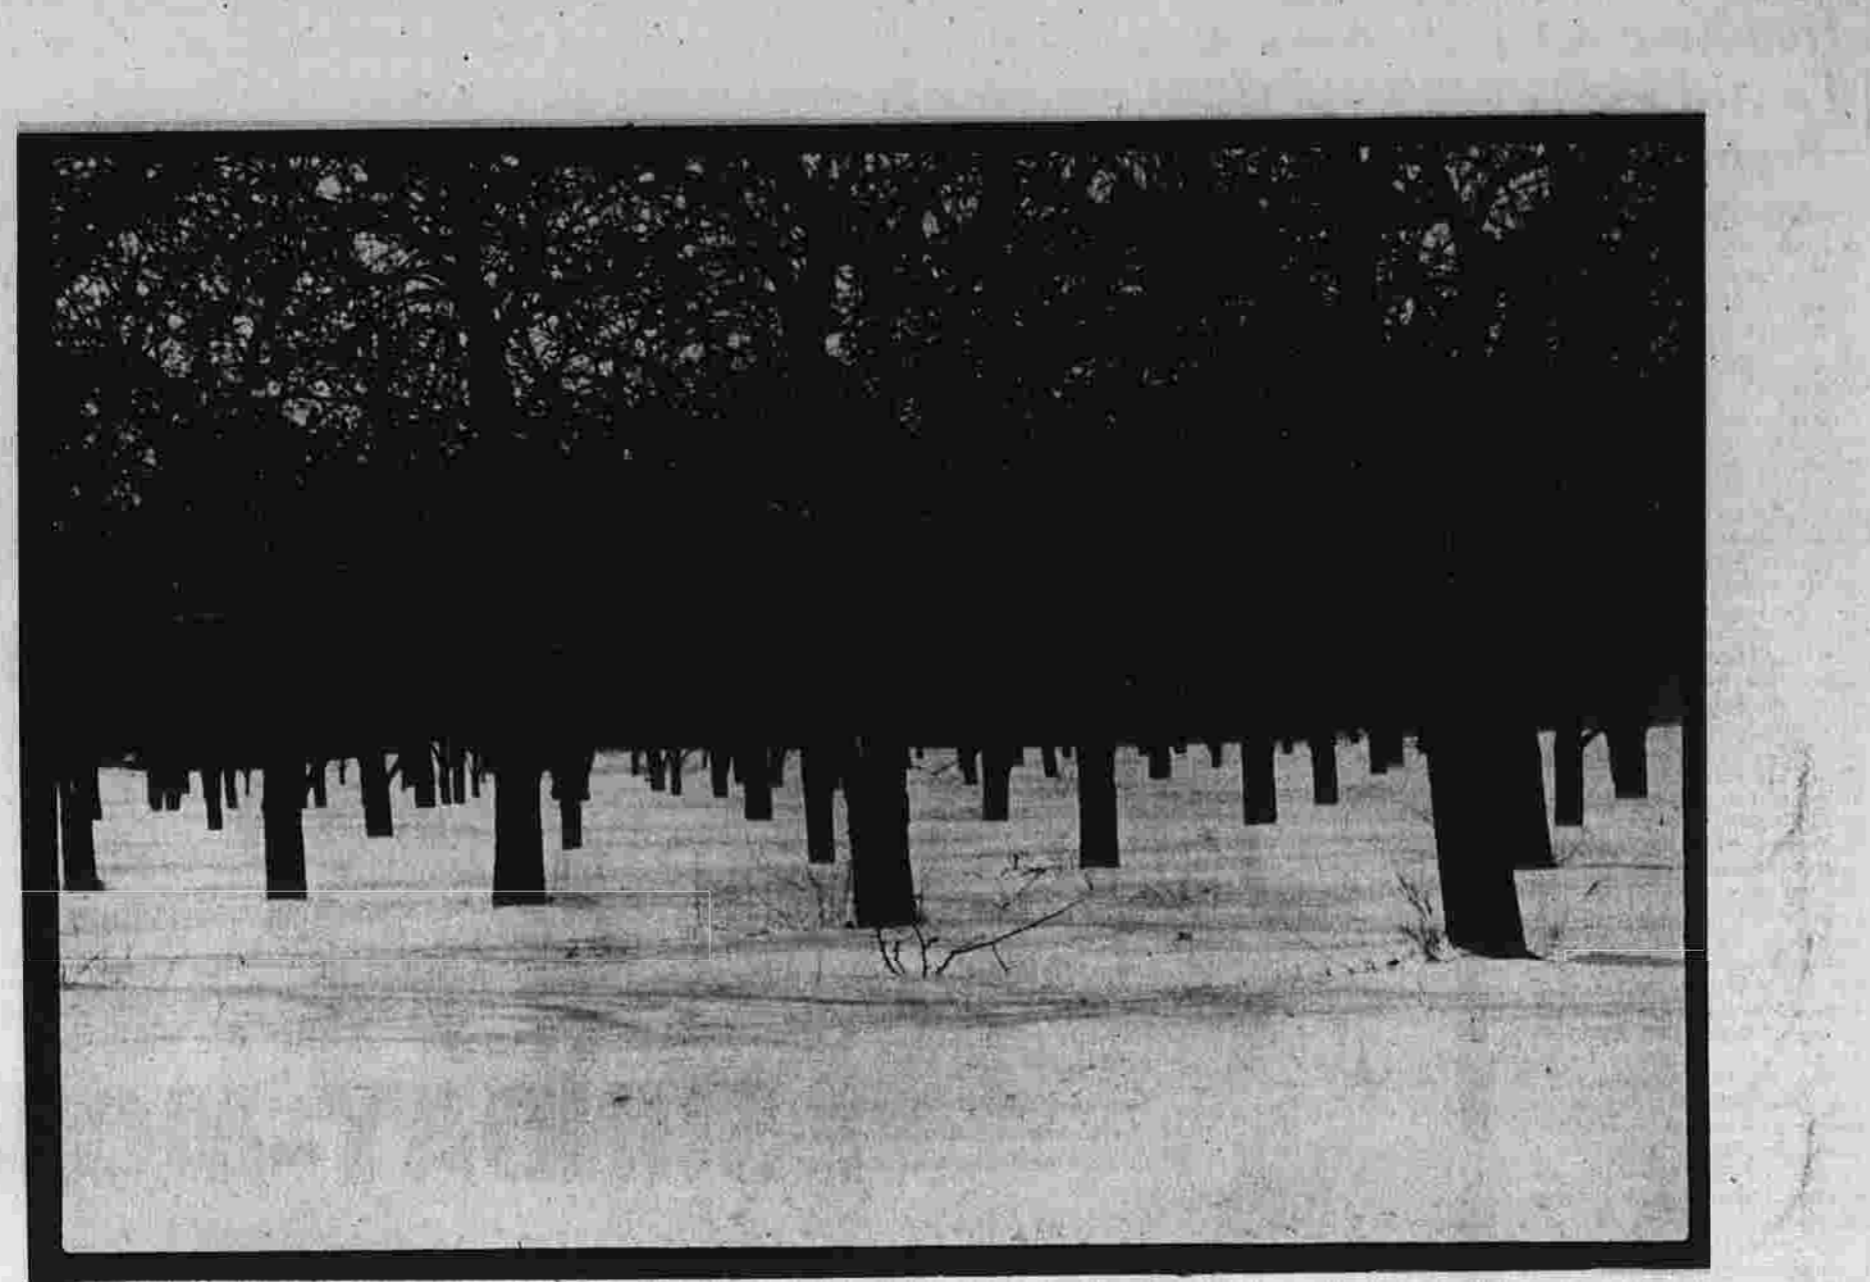

Lately there have been a good many references, in Washington news gossip, to the possibility that Richard Nixon may really have been the one who won the narrow election in 1960. Mr. Nixon is given credit for having chosen, in spite of what seemed persuasive evidence that fraud might be proved in enough crucial voting districts to at least count the result, to take his defeat gratefully and allow the inauguration of John F. Kennedy to proceed.

Mr. Nixon, if these reports are valid, deserves full credit for his decision to spare the nation the agony and confusion and paralysis which would have been involved in any attempt to plunge a national election result into such a dispute.

But Mr. Nixon, as a practiced careerist in the world of politics, may also have realized that results are seldom reversed once they have been proclaimed. The time to catch mistakes, or fraud, or dead man voting, is before, not after, they have been tabulated. Timing, unfortunately, counts more than pure principle.

Science Monitor: In sea power much has been made of the growth of the Russian Navy. But Mr. Laird points out that its usefulness is limited by shortage of all-year ports, shortage of ports far from home waters, and absence of aircraft carriers to give air cover when far away. An American warship has greater operating range because it does have ports far and air cover almost anywhere in the world.

In other words, Mr. Laird has totally confirmed what we have been saying all along about the status of the extra race; yes, Russia is coming up faster than the U.S., but it is coming up from behind and there is still in most weapons areas a considerable American lead. In one area, numbers of deliverable nuclear warheads, the U.S. is actually widening the gap and now has more than double Russia's strength. There is no need to push any panic button. — CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR.

The 1972 Issue? Current Quotes Connecticut Yankee

By D.J.R. BRUCKNER The Los Angeles Times

The white political leadership of white America is making its ideas perfectly clear in this election year. There are some real problems for the candidates to take stands on: The war, the arms race, unemployment, the economy, the health care system, the cost of conduct of local governments, the environment. But it appears that what the political leaders will fight over is the most effective way to beat the blacks, the browns, the yellows, the reds, the oranges, the purples, the greys, the blues, the greens, the pinks, the whites, the blacks, the browns, the yellows, the reds, the oranges, the purples, the greys, the blues, the greens, the pinks, the whites.

Each of these leaders gives his own reasons, but what they are all doing is obvious. Sen. Edmund Muskie has made it clear he does not think he could win the presidency with a black on the national ticket. Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) has made it clear he is willing to give constitutional sanction to racial laws by proposing an antibusing amendment. Gov. George Wallace of Alabama clearly believes that the old South will rise again—in the North, on Capitol Hill. And Mr. Nixon's view, as he says, are well known.

He has tried to construct a Supreme Court that will decide in the law according to his preference. He has said he favors equal job opportunities, but his administration joined the Southern bloc in the Senate this year to beat back efforts to give the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission independent enforcement powers. He has repeatedly stated his opposition to what he calls "forced economic integration of the white."

His opposition to school busing has never been a secret. He has created his own opportunities to talk about it. He has strengthened the forces in Congress which want to prohibit the use of federal funds to pay for busing, thus depriving local school boards of help they need to follow court orders. And his willingness to consider busing a constitutional amendment prohibiting busing has greatly improved the chances of House members who want to bring a discharge petition to a vote, to force out of the House Judiciary Committee an antibusing amendment proposed by Rep. Norman Lent (R-N.Y.).

The danger is obvious. If an amendment of that kind were sent out to the state legislatures, or conventions, in a campaign year, all other business of government and all other political purposes would be hidden behind it. They will be hidden behind it in the Florida primary on March 14, when a busing referendum, with no binding authority, will be on the ballot.

What can happen nationally is evident in the Florida situation. Gov. Reubin Askew has fought patiently and decently, but hard, to promote racial equality in his state, and to use school busing to achieve integration. He maintains this now, inevitably, he will be drawn into the battle over this referendum, and thus into a presidential primary campaign he would rather stay out of.

By A.H.O.

"I serve notice on them now that we are going to meet this issue some time. They must come back and face the music. The band is playing here. They are being paid $42,000 a year, not to give their views, and sometimes differing views, to the voters of New Hampshire and Florida, but to cast their votes in the Senate."—Sen. Hugh Scott, the Senate minority leader, after a number of senators missed a crucial vote on the school busing issue because they were on the campaign trail.

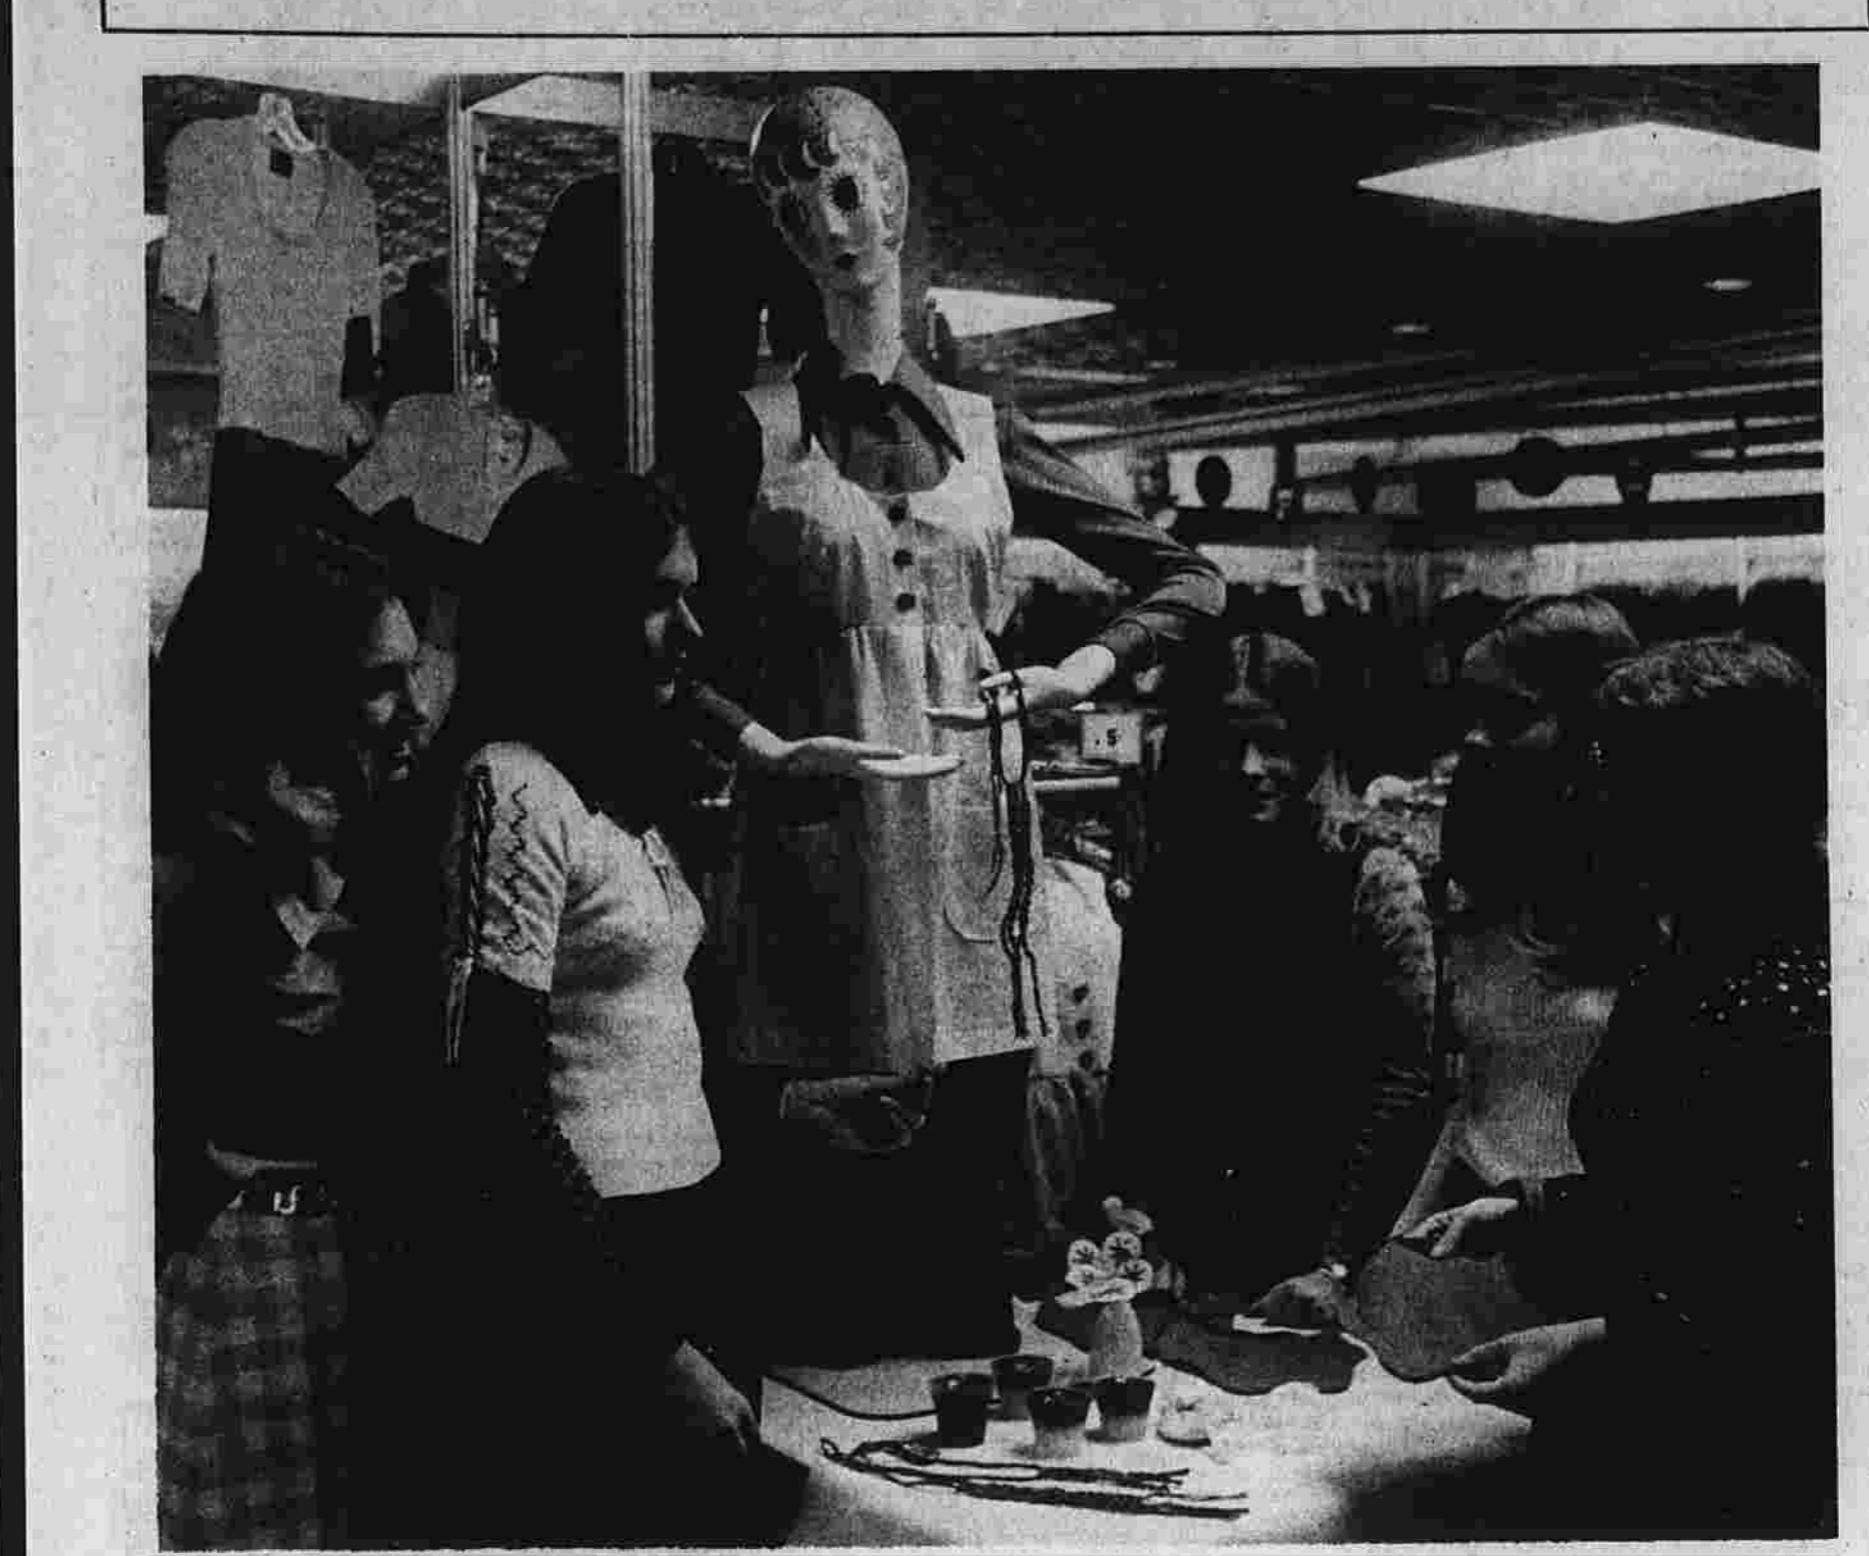

"We have seen no indication that the framers of the Fifth Amendment intended to include fetal life when they provided that no 'person' shall be deprived of life without due process."—The Appellate Division of New York State Supreme Court in upholding the constitutionality of the state's abortion law.

"It is not healthy for President Nixon to have his picture taken so often, his spirit becomes a prisoner in many little black boxes."—A Chinese interpreter commenting on the horde of photographers accompanying President Nixon.

"This court is not unmindful of the very real possibility that petitioners are still engaging in a 'game' and attempting to perpetrate a colossal fraud upon both this court and the federal prison system. Nevertheless, the court cannot declare the petitioners' religion illegitimate."—U.S. District Court Judge Newell Rosenfield in an order prohibiting prison officials from barring the Church of the New Song, started by two inmates as a game, from holding services at Atlanta's federal penitentiary.

"I hope we can say to those who would keep us angry, confused and divided that we're more concerned about a problem of transportation."—Gov. Reubin Askew urging Floridians to vote against an antichool-busing proposal.

The Best in Volleyball

March 5 - ABC's Monday Night Special will feature Japanese women's volleyball. The 18 members of the champion team have won a few prizes.

The girls spend eight hours a day at least six hours each day of developing and improving their volleyball skills. The training sessions are reported to be far more exhausting than the regular factory work day.

Apparently hard work has paid dividends as the Japanese girls won the world championship in 1962, a gold medal in the 1964 Olympic Games and a silver medal in the 1968 Olympic. Six members of the United team have already been selected for this year's Japanese Olympic squad.

The United girls range in age from 18 to 27.

Next to baseball, volleyball is the national sport in Japan.

The girls with the United team are recruited from all parts of Japan by company scouts who attend all major basketball tournaments, which are similar to and get the same exposure as basketball tournaments in the United States.

Other squad members are not the thousands of girls who each year come to the factory on their own to demonstrate their skills in public tryout sessions in the company gym.

While all girls must work an eight-hour day, when an important tournament approaches, their work day is extended to four hours so that four hours can be devoted to additional hand training on the volleyball court.

In their spare time, the girls have enough surplus energy to pursue other hobbies. Some are artists, others are avid readers. All live in dormitories provided by their employer and rarely leave the grounds except to play volleyball.

Courses in flower arrangement are provided, a must for young Japanese women.

End of the Line

The Aetna World Cup Tennis Tournament March 10-12 is already a sellout for the Saturday and Sunday matches. March 11-20 and only a small number of tickets remain for opening night at Trinity College. Next year the Aetna Cup will be staged at the University of Connecticut where 10,000 could be accommodated.

Air time March 6 will be 8 to 9 o'clock. It should be interesting viewing.

Off the Cuff

While the officiating, Bob Pateaux has again turned in a top-grade job as director and referee of the Rec Men's Volleyball League which operates at the West Side Rec. John Avenius Latvian expert copped regular season championship honors with the best record in volleyball league history. The

By EARL YOST

Money and prestige will be at stake Sunday afternoon at the Holiday Luncheon and the final of the 1972 Men's and Women's Duxin Bowling Tournaments should be staged. Action starts at 2 o'clock.

Shooting for the top spot in the Men's Division will be Tony Marzilli and Fred Williams, two veteran snail plinners. Both necessarily will take their way through the qualifying and round-head-to-head rounds to reach the final match, a best of seven game set.

Rolane Ough, who reigned as queen of the duckpinners in 1967, will be out to annex a second crown when she stacks up against Agnes Chausy in a best of seven match.

No tournament can be successful without the proper guidance and Paul Correnti and Amy Pirkey of the Holiday Luncheon staff will be on hand to see that it will be the first time that either McCurry or Marzilli will

Kaako said he is not too concerned about the Sibert situation. "I would be ready to go to the bullpen," he said, "but I don't think I could take a chance. What if I broke a leg or got hit by a car?"

Under ABA rules, Gibbons is ineligible to join the Nets until next season. He will continue his education at the midwestern school.

Jim Chones Admits $$$ Got to Him

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Chones, the latest college basketball player to sign with the pros, admits that the million dollars got the best of him.

"I had to sign," said the Marquette star who was presented to the press Friday by the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association.

Chones, attired in a mod brown suit and flanked by three members of his family, answered questions about the ethics of leaving a college team in favor of a national championship.

"What do you have to say about charges that you had regard for the other kids?" he was asked.

"The kids didn't resent it — they knew I had to sign," said the 6-foot-11 Chones, considered one of the best college centers in the nation as a junior. "I talked with them before I signed. They understood it was a matter of priorities. They knew I placed my family above everything else."

Chones, who signed for a million-dollar-plus, long-term contract with the Nets, said he would be ready to go to the bullpen, but I don't think I could take a chance. What if I broke a leg or got hit by a car?"

Under ABA rules, Gibbons is ineligible to join the Nets until next season. He will continue his education at the midwestern school.

Joe Torre Mar Be Next In Shuffling of Cards

NEW YORK (AP) —

Bing Devine, the general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, last Tuesday said a 20-game winner and indicates he is not above doing the same with a most valuable player.

Devine, who shipped Steve Carlton to the Philadelphia Phillies for right-hander Rick Wise Friday, said the deal was made because "unusable" salary differences with his southpaw ace.

He also declared, "We're bottled down to an unsolvable situation with anyone who is still under contract."

Among the unsigned players is Joe Torre, last year's MVP in the National League.

Mickey Lolich, the Detroit Tigers' ace left-hander, is another pitcher who hasn't yet considered spring training, and a pitcher who is being considered to spring training, and a pitcher who is being considered to spring training, and a pitcher who is being considered to spring training.

ments and the need to maintain a sound financial condition. CL&P said during 1977 interest charges had increased 67 per cent, state taxes 37 per cent and municipal taxes 18 per cent.

CL&P said nearly $1 billion will be needed to meet customer demand during the next six years and that the major part of these expenditures "must be provided through outside financing."

CL&P sought increases of $22.3 million, or 11.9 per cent, in electric rates and $3.4 million, or 9.5 per cent, in gas revenues.

CL&P said rates for municipal street lighting would not be affected. Hartford Electric Light also cited "actual cost increases, a large construction program, the need for large outside financing, and the maintenance of the company's financial integrity."

were visiting the destroyer because the South Vietnamese are taking over the coordination of naval gunfire support from ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

About three hours later, an Army UH1 helicopter that had been undergoing overhaul was making a check flight near Camp Beaufort Bay when the pilot radioed he had to make a crash landing because of engine trouble.

Communist forces kept up their harassing mortar and rocket attacks in South Vietnam, and scattered ground fighting also was reported. One company-sized enemy force attacked a government platoon June 10 south of the demilitarized zone, and the South Vietnamese reported five of the enemy and one of their own men killed and several government troops wounded.

Iona Goods Returned

Over $12,000 worth of merchandise stolen from Iona Manufacturing Company's Manchester warehouse was returned to police yesterday afternoon by two men under arrest by police for their alleged part in the thefts.

Police said the merchandise — blenders, food mixers, electric can openers, and shoe polishers — was returned by Leo D. Russo, 42, of Madison, and Michael J. Bernardo Jr., 32, of West Haven.

Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor said it appeared all of the stolen items were returned, and most of them were taken immediately to Iona. Police kept some of the merchandise, "to prove the case in court," Sartor said.

Sartor said arrangements for return of the merchandise were made through Atty. Charles Villano of New Haven, representing the two men who are charged with first-degree larceny.

Police agreed to stipulations of Atty. Villano that they not question his clients as to the whereabouts of the stolen goods. Capt. Sartor quoted Atty. Villano as saying the return of the stolen goods was made upon counsel's advice.

A total of six people have been arrested in connection with the wholesale thefts, possibly the largest industrial thefts ever in Manchester.

On Monday, Feb. 21, police stalked out the Iona warehouse on Electric St., and stopped a van as it was leaving the warehouse. In the van were Russo and Bernardo, police said, as well as about $2,400 worth of electrical appliances.

Russo and Bernardo were arrested at gunpoint, and were subsequently released on bond for court appearance March 13 in Manchester.

On Tuesday, Feb. 22, police reported that there had been two earlier arrests in the case — Edward L. Brown, 30, of Hartford, and James W. Havens, 24, of Ellington, were charged with first-degree larceny last week.

Brown and Havens are free on $5,000 non-surety bonds each, and are scheduled to go to court March 6.

On Wednesday, Feb. 23, an East Haddam man and his wife were arrested on a Circuit Court 12 warrant charging them with second-degree larceny.

The couple, Eugene E. Monte, 43, and Lorraine Monte, 37, were arrested after police investigation revealed some evidence they were connected with the thefts.

Vernon

Man Injured On Snowmobile
Vernon Police are continuing to investigate a snowmobile accident Thursday which sent a Vernon man to the hospital with serious injuries.

Police said Guy Daigle, 40, of 63 Irene Dr., was headed north on an abandoned railroad bed between Center and Regan Sts., when his snowmobile plunged into an open ditch excavated for sewer lines.

A spokesman for Rockville General Hospital said today that Daigle was still in serious condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Gilman White, 34, of Hunter Rd., Tolland, was arrested by Vernon police yesterday on a Circuit Court 12 warrant charging him with non-support of his minor children. He was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance in Rockville March 21.

Roger M. Boisseau, 18, of 298 Long Hill Rd., South Windsor, was arrested by Vernon Police yesterday on charges of fourth-degree larceny, in connection with an alleged theft from a local business last week. He was released on a $150 non-surety bond for court appearance March 21 in Rockville.

Robert S. Caldwell, 17, of 75 Range Hill Dr., Vernon, was issued a summons yesterday for failure to obey a stop sign at Loveland Hill and Old Town Rds. in Vernon. Court date is March 21, Rockville.

Glenn E. Johnson, 18, of RFD 4, Rockville, was issued a summons yesterday for failure to obey a traffic control signal at W. Main and Union Sts. in Rockville. Court date is March 21 in Rockville.

Fire Calls

Town firemen went to 77 Weaver Rd. yesterday at 2:20 p.m. to put out a car fire.

The Truck Was Too High

Police repair crew works on traffic signal light at Main and Bissell Sts. yesterday afternoon after the light was hit by a 13-foot-high trailer-truck. Police said the accident at 1:20 p.m. involved a truck owned by Cooper-Jarrett Inc., Wallingford, operated by Dale Piper of Meriden. After repairs, the ground-to-light distance was 13-feet 2-inches. Snow Falls, Swath of I-84

Light snow fell on Manchester early this morning leaving about 3/4 inches, according to measurements taken at the town highway garage on Olcott St.

Accidents and other storm-related difficulties were few. George Ringstone, assistant highway and sanitation superintendent, said that town salt trucks hit the road a little after 4 a.m. this morning and plows were sent out beginning about 5:30. By 8:30, all plows were on the road.

He expects the cleanup operations will be "in fairly good shape" by about 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The National Weather Service at Bradley International Airport says there is a 100 per cent chance of precipitation today. Snow will change to rain before ending tonight.

High temperatures will be between 35 and 40 today, in the mid 20s tonight and between 35 and 40 again tomorrow when it will be mostly sunny with only a 10 per cent chance of precipitation. The weather service reports, however, that there is a chance of snow again on Monday. When it snows it pours.

Ulster Aide Escapes Plot

Prime Minister Brian Faulkner called the IRA gunmen "ruthless and murderous desperadoes with no regard for human life," and ordered stepped up security across the British province in case the attack on Taylor presaged assassination attempts against other top officials.

William Cardinal Conway, Catholic primate of all Ireland, said his coreligionists would be "appalled by this utterly revolting" attack.

British Prime Minister Edward Heath sent a message of sympathy to Taylor's wife, and Premier Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic called Taylor "fearless and forthright" and described the would-be assassins as "evil men with evil purposes."

Tolland Grand List at $48,730,830; Increases 68.5 Per Cent

By BETTE QUATRALE (Herald Correspondent)

Tolland's Grand List jumped by 68.5 per cent during the past year, due primarily to the effects of revaluation. According to the statistics just released by the Board of Assessors, the net Grand List for 1971 stands at $48,730,830 compared to $28,915,475 for the prior year.

The Grand List is subject to review by the Board of Tax Review which will begin hearing taxpayer grievances Wednesday.

The town's gross Grand List, based on the Oct. 1, 1971, assessment date is $49,729,420 with exemptions totaling $998,590.

Forest land frozen at 10 mills equals $8,210 and is not included in the gross or net Grand List.

The burden of taxation shifted due to the effects of the revaluation. While the value of dwelling units increased by only 27.5 per cent, the house and building lots registered a 400 per cent gain. Raw acreage increased by 300 per cent.

Commercial and manufacturing businesses registered grand gains on buildings equipment and inventory ranging from 71 per cent to 485 per cent.

The new Grand List will assure the reduction of the mill rate now standing at 71 mills, and will redistribute some tax burdens when the new budget is adopted this spring and tax bills are mailed out in June.

The publication of the Grand List by the Board of Assessors came without comment, as the assessors found themselves racing a legal deadline to complete the list in time for the holding of the tax review board hearings.

The computation of percentage increases in the Grand List, particularly relating to land, supports the panic plea of large land owners in December.

The assessors had warned the land would be considered far more valuable now than it was ten years ago, before Tolland became a booming community. The town has had the largest growth rate in the state during the past decade.

The revaluation computes the grand list at 83 per cent of market value as of 1971. The previous Grand List had been computed on 65 per cent of 1960 property values. State law requires towns to reevaluate their grand lists once every ten years.

The local revaluation was spread over a two year period to reduce the costs involved in a given year.

The summary of the current revised Grand List as prepared by the Board of Assessors is listed below with last year's values in parentheses. Percentage increases are provided where applicable. Some categories were regrouped, making comparison impractical.

Dwelling units are valued at $24,121,205 ($18,909,800), a 27.5 per cent increase. Only 35 new houses were included on the list compared to 145 the previous year.

The number of barns and garages, etc. decreased from 1,161 to 898, but the values increased to $591,400 ($515,760).

House and building lots are valued at $13,026,815 ($2,860,915), a 400 per cent increase.

Acres, mines and quarries are valued at $3,295,319 ($829,040), a 300 per cent increase.

The value of commercial and manufacturing buildings is $2,580,830 ($1,494,415), an increase of 71 per cent.

The traders and merchants inventory increased to $610,450 ($114,060), a gain of 435 per cent.

Commercial furniture, farm machinery, and mechanics' tools totaled $322,520 ($166,010), a 94 per cent increase.

Cables and conduits declined in value to $383,370 ($478,360); as did boats, $36,790 ($85,530), and the category known as "others," $83,560 ($172,470).

Cattle increased in value to $33,370 ($12,390).

The goods of manufacturers was not included in the summary this year, but machinery, water power and dams were for the first time at $522,810.

The major generalized category breakdown shows real property valued at $42,706,700 ($23,536,605), an 81 per cent increase.

Personal property and motor vehicles are valued at $6,022,070 ($5,378,570), a gain of 11 per cent. Both personal property and motor vehicles have been consistently reassessed at current values rather than at 1960 values as used in other categories.

The revaluation was conducted by Appraisal Consultants of Connecticut at a cost of $28,000.

Mayor John Thompson, Town Manager Robert Weiss, and Town Planner J. Eric Potter met yesterday morning in Hartford with representatives of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development to discuss the status of the town's application for federal funds toward the purchase of Case Mountain.

Weiss said there is "nothing specific at this point," with the chance for federal funds "about the same."

HUD last summer denied, but kept on file the town's application. If it is eventually approved, HUD money would cover half the $683,000 cost of the open space land with the town and state required to split the remaining cost.

Also discussed was the town's application for funds for many water system improvements in town. Weiss said there seems to be little chance of getting funds in the 1972-73 fiscal year, but in the following year "serious consideration" could be given to money for renovating the Cooper Hill treatment plant, believed by town officials to be the source of taste and odor in west side water.

In the meantime, Weiss says the town is exploring "temporary expedients" for solving the problem this summer.

Jay Giles, water and sewer superintendent, says he has begun investigating events since June, July, and August of 1968 to try and uncover anything which might have triggered the west side water problem.

As a recent hearing on the situation, west side residents told town officials there was a sudden deterioration in the quality of west side water about two or three years ago.

Giles, who has only been working for the town since late July, says that new sand was added to the filters at the Cooper Hill plant in June of 1968. He plans to contact the town's two previous water and sewer department heads to ask them about this additional sand.

Giles says he has more or less eliminated the Love Lane well as a source of the problem. He noted that the well was only used one week in May and two weeks in July last summer, but complaints continued into October. It was suggested at the hearing that the Love Lane well be investigated.

Giles and William O'Neill, director of public works, feel the problem is due to algae growth in the water which could be filtered out if the Cooper Hill plant was renovated.

Meanwhile, only one resident of the west side has called the water and sewer department office to offer information about their water. Town officials urged that residents call so that perhaps an unusual clue to the problem might turn up.

Town officials virtually assured residents at the hearing that a temporary solution would be tried for this summer, the time when the problem is at its peak, and there were strong indications that there might be a referendum on plant renovations in the fall.

Giles has not decided on a temporary approach to the problem, but says, "We're going to do something."

Lauds Town Crew

Of last weekend's snowstorm, Weiss said this week, "I want to publicly commend the highway department for the excellent job they did." He also praised the recently acquired snowblower. "Our snowblower did magnificent duty." He said it loaded snow as much as eight times as fast as conventional front end loaders.

Weiss came under sharp criticism recently for buying the snowblower under a two-year lease purchase agreement without putting it out to bid. The Board of Directors told Weiss not to use the procedure again.

Attend Meeting

John Harkins, assistant town manager, attended a meeting Wednesday of the Connecticut Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration at Albertus Magnus College in New Haven. The subject for the afternoon and evening program was "Creating an Optimum Environment in a Democracy" with Dan Lufkin, commissioner of the state department of environmental protection, the featured speaker.

Pushing Porno Bill

Town Counsel David Barry will be meeting this week with the attorney for the General Assembly's judiciary committee to discuss the bill being considered by the committee to tighten state laws concerning pornography. "What I'm trying to do is get it out onto the floor for debate," Barry said.

Barry notes that a similar type bill was passed recently in the New Jersey legislature and one is pending in the New York legislature.

The bill was introduced by State Rep. Francis Mahoney, 19th district. Barry has been directed by the Board of Directors to support this bill on behalf of the town.

Tax Collections

Town property collections were at $11,494,142 at the end of January or about 95.4 per cent, according to the report of Ernest Machell, town collector of revenue. Last year at the same time, collections stood at $2,500,000, or about 75.5 per cent.

The total General Fund was at $13,319,944 or 77.7 per cent of its anticipated total as compared to last year at the same time when there was $12,006,596 in, or about 75.5 per cent.

The water fund Jan. 31 was at $461,227 or 75.9 per cent as compared to $290,742 or 48.9 per cent last year at the same time. The sewer fund was at $214,162, about 47.9 per cent, on Jan. 31. Last year it was $181,476, about 43.2 per cent at the same time.

Some 90.1 per cent of the fire district fund was in by Jan. 31, amounting to $962,187 as compared to $795,151 last year at the same time, about 88.4 per cent.

The Special Taxing District had 80.5 per cent of its collections in by Jan. 31 with a total of $31,067. Last year the $24,056 collected by that time was 73.2 per cent of the fund.

Receives Rebate

The town received a check last week for $482.90 representing the town's pro rata share of the plumbing fixture anti-trust settlement recently approved by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. The town was eligible for the reimbursement because it was a class action covering parties in several states. The check represents overpayment by the town on plumbing fixtures purchased from Sept. 1963 to June 1966 from the Kohler Co.

To Re-Establish Commission

A permanent Commission on the Aging will apparently be re-established. Mayor John Thomson has asked that there be on the Board of Directors March 7 agenda an item calling for the appointment of a committee to establish the commission. A similar commission became inactive after the completion of the Senior Citizen's Center on Linden St.

Young America Discovers Will

According to James Whitmore, Will Rogers is being rediscovered by today's generation of young Americans.

The veteran star, who brings his highly acclaimed one-man show "Will Rogers' U.S.A." to television as an hour-long special Thursday, March 9, at 8 p.m. on CBS, says that one of the great personal satisfactions he has derived from barnstorming the country these past two seasons playing the great humorist is the pleasure of introducing Rogers to college audiences.

"When we open the show," says the actor, "you sense a disinterested curiosity. Then, as they discover Will for themselves, they just fall in love with him."

Whitmore, who in no way resembles the Oklahoma humorist and plays Rogers without using makeup and utilizing a minimum of props, professes no expertise as an assayer of the feelings of young people.

Syndicate Shows Fill Extra Time

By CYNTHIA LOWEY
AP Television-Radio Writer

As the season creeps toward the beginning of summer returns next month, it becomes increasingly evident that the plan to return half an hour a night of prime time programming to local stations has not worked well from a number of angles, including the viewers'.

The idea, promulgated by the Federal Communications Commission in an effort to stimulate development of local programs, only has stimulated a raft of syndicated ones. Many are imitative and inept; others are canceled network series with a new life, and some more are old shows that died natural deaths and were revived for syndication.

"Variety," the show business weekly, reports that a study of shows seen in larger cities shows that the most successful are a few programs that moved off the networks into syndication—notably "The Lawrence Welk Show" and "Hoe Haw."

Among the five-a-week shows that are modest hits are "Truth or Consequences," "To Tell the Truth" and "What's My Line?"—each is older than a lot of its viewers. They are doing so well, in fact, that next season "I've Got a Secret" will come off the shelf—with Art Linkletter in Garry Moore's old spot, and so will "The Price is Right."

Robin Returns

Robin Strasser, who created the role of Rachel Clark in the daytime drama, "Another World," and played it for four years, quit the show almost four months ago. Her departure drew numerous letters from fans asking for her return. So she returned — "The role was too important to write out," according to producer Paul Rauch.

Timing Change

Switching to the wheelchair-bound Chief Ironside role posed several acting problems, according to Raymond Burr, star of NBC-TV's "Ironside" series. He explains: "An actor must rely on his sense of timing, which he learns and develops over the years. I learned timing to walk, to gesture and then I found that it didn't work in a wheelchair. I had to learn timing all over again, this time in a wheelchair."

Original Drama Coming to NBC

David Wayne, Robert Webber, Wendell Burton and Geraldine Brooks will star in "The Dark Side," a one hour original drama to be colcoast on NBC later this season.

"The Dark Side" is a "duet for three players," according to its writer, Edward Adler. "The 'duet' refers to the play's two ongoing conspiracies," he said, "each of which features two of the principals playing against the third."

The plot of the drama unfolds through the eyes of a storyteller, played by Hurd Hatfield. Also in the cast are Val Avery as a garage mechanic, and Phil Leeds and Adler as detectives.

Lebanon Hit By Israelis In Fourth Day

Israeli troops and tanks battled Palestinian guerrillas in southeast Lebanon for the fourth day today and then began withdrawing from their forward positions, Lebanese witnesses reported.

On Sunday, the U.N. Security Council demanded that Israel pull back its forces. Informants said Israeli infantry and armored units had pulled out of the village of Hebbariye, in the Arkoub region which guerrillas had controlled, shortly before noon.

The Palestinians said fighting continued around Rashayya, another major village in the region.

Israeli fighter planes were providing an air umbrella over the area, but there was no report that they had resumed bombing and strafing. The guerrillas said their anti-aircraft guns were in action.

Israeli sources in Tel Aviv admitted that action was continuing inside Lebanon but gave no details of today's operations. A communique said one Israeli soldier had been wounded, and a spokesman reported "about 20 terrorists" killed in ground fighting.

Witnesses on the Lebanese side of the border said they spotted 36 Israeli armored vehicles moving through Hebbariye. They reported 13 houses in the village had been blown up.

Machine-gun fire went on throughout the night and today.

U.N. Demands Withdrawal

Israeli batteries in positions in the occupied Golan Heights of Syria opened up on the wooded slopes around Rashayya, Foulkhar, they said.

Palestinian guerrillas on the scene claimed to have mined exit roads in the area, and Arab radio reports said the guerrillas were bringing in reinforcements from Syria. Israeli officials said they would heed the Security Council resolution adopted earlier today, calling it "one-sided and cynical." The government had no immediate official comment, but an authorized official declared: "The Security Council is not going to interfere with our defending ourselves. Its resolution does not take into account the attacks we have suffered."

Britain, France, Belgium and Italy sponsored the resolution, which "demands that Israel immediately desist and refrain from any ground and air military action against Lebanon and forthwith withdraw all its military forces from Lebanese territory."

The Israeli attacks were in retaliation for guerrilla raids that killed four Israelis. But a provision in the resolution "deploring all actions which have resulted in the loss of innocent lives," failed to get the nine votes necessary for adoption by the 15-member council.

Israeli Ambassador Jacob Doron expressed regret that the resolution failed to mention what he called "the root cause" of the fighting—Lebanon's fall-

Allies Inside Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces launched a third operation into Cambodia Sunday amid another surge in fighting that killed or wounded nearly 200 enemy and South Vietnamese troops, the Saigon command announced today.

A communique claimed 138 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in nine engagements, while South Vietnamese casualties were 20 killed and 27 wounded.

The new operation into Cambodia was west of South Vietnam's southern M'ong plateau, about 180 miles northeast of Saigon. Spokesmen described the operation as a "reconnaissance in force" by 1,000 to 1,500 men to check infiltration into South Vietnam. Six enemy had been reported killed so far, and there have been no South Vietnamese casualties, the Saigon command said.

Two other operations totaling 5,000 men are under way in Cambodia 150 and 220 miles farther south, aimed at blocking infiltration toward Saigon and into the western Mekong Delta.

One of them produced the first major fighting inside Cambodia by several weeks, north of the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway, when a South Vietnamese task force spearheaded by an armored column ran into heavy enemy fire. Fifty-two North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were reported killed in the clash 12 miles from the Vietnam border, along with 16 South Vietnamese killed and nine wounded.

U.S. fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships supported the South Vietnamese.

South Vietnamese Rangers on the third drive reported light contacts with enemy troops 15 to 20 miles east of Takeo and reported killing six. They said one ranger was wounded.

On South Vietnam's eastern coast, government infantrymen came under a 60-round mortar barrage followed by a ground attack near Dai Do, a district 45 miles southeast of Saigon. The South Vietnamese reported 14 enemy killed, all by air strikes, and said nine government troops were wounded.

In the northern part of the country, government forces claimed 52 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in three engagements south of Hue and Da Nang. They said one South Vietnamese was killed and 14 were wounded.

Three South Vietnamese troops and three enemy were reported killed and four South Vietnamese were wounded in a fight in the U Minh forest. And

Crews Hunt 400 Lost in Flooding

MAN, W.Va. (AP) — National Guardsmen and hundreds of volunteers today found additional victims of the Buffalo Creek flood disaster as they began an intensive search of the 20-mile hollow that was virtually wiped out Saturday morning. An estimated 400 persons were missing.

Helicopters flying rescue missions brought five survivors from the Appalachian hollow this morning, persons who had been isolated for 48 hours since an earthen dam crumbled and let loose an 18-acre lake which devastated 14 coal camps and towns.

The official dead toll remained at 61, but reports filtering in from the flood area indicated many more had been found. An estimated 400 persons were missing.

Shortly before noon, three mobile health units equipped with physicians and emergency medical supplies set out up the hollow.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, landed at Man at 11 a.m. and said he would soon tour the flood area.

Randolph said he was exploring all available angles to obtain massive federal aid in the wake of the flood that has destroyed a way of life for an estimated 7,000 persons. More than 4,000 are reported to be homeless.

Local officials and state policemen claimed a lid on all official information.

All residents of the hollow whose homes escaped damage in the flooding were being evacuated by guardsmen, authorities said.

A spokesman said the evacuation was ordered to permit a cleanup of the entire area, and to enable all survivors to receive typhoid shots and medical examinations.

Newsmen were under orders to remain away from the devastated area while recovery and evacuation efforts were under way.

Meanwhile, attention began to focus on the cause of a break in an earthen dam which precipitated the flash flood in Buffalo Creek hollow Saturday morning. Waters from an 18-acre lake were unleashed.

Ben Tudor, general superintendent of the Buffalo Mining Co., said the situation had been building for a long time.

He said the state had denied the coal company permission on many occasions to send some of the slag and sludge which had accumulated in the firm's lake into valley streams, relieving pressure on the dam.

"They were too concerned about the trout downstream," Tudor said. "It either had to be the people or the trout and now both are gone."

Authorities said they expected to find many more bodies as bulldozers began searching the remains of 14 Appalachians.

Nixon On TV

NEW YORK (AP) — All three major television networks announced plans for live coverage of President Nixon's return tonight from his trip to China. The arrival at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington was tentatively set for 9 p.m.

Nixon Back in U.S. After Historic Week

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — President Nixon returned to the United States today after a historic week in China during which he pledged to withdraw all U.S. forces from Taiwan some day and agreed with the Chinese to develop bilateral trade, exchange programs and contacts between the two governments short of formal diplomatic relations.

As expected, there was no change in the two governments' opposing positions on Vietnam.

The Spirit of '76 landed the President and Mrs. Nixon at Anchorage's Elmendorf Air Force Base at 12:04 a.m.—5:04 a.m. EST. The presidential party was to rest for nine hours in Anchorage and will arrive in Washington tonight.

Nixon left Washington Feb. 17 and arrived in Peking on Monday, Feb. 21, the first U.S. president to visit China while in office.

"This was the week that changed the world... The Chinese and American people hold the future of the world in their hands," Nixon said at his final all U.S. forces from Taiwan banquet with Premier Chou En-lai in Shanghai Sunday night.

Nixon and Chou summed up their talks and separate discussions by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Chi-Peng-Fei in a 1,700-word communique issued Sunday. Explanations of the communique were given American newsmen at a briefing by presidential adviser Henry Kissinger and Marshall Green, the assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific Affairs.

The communique (1) set forth statements of position from each side summing up their differing positions on Taiwan, Indochina, Japan and Korea; (2) expressed mutual adherence to certain general principles of international conduct; and (3) announced agreement to expand relations in various fields "to broaden the understanding between the two peoples."

Nixon at the banquet Sunday night noted that the communique showed areas of disagreement as well as agreement.

"But what we have said in that communique is not nearly as important as what we will do in the years ahead to build a bridge across 16,000 miles and 22 years of hostility which have divided us in the past," the President declared. "What we have said today is that we shall build that bridge."

Muskie Calls Unity Aim of Democrats

By SOL E. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

"Unity" was the game and "harmony" was its name Saturday night as more than 1,500 state Democrats jammed the Hartford Hilton for their annual Jefferson-Jackson Dinner.

The unity and harmony were stressed on the national level by Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie, and on the state level by Connecticut Sen. Abraham Ribicoff and former Gov. John Dempsey.

Muskie, the frontrunner for Democratic nomination for president, said "I don't want to be president on the terms of appealing to disunity in the country and to the various divisions among us. The selection of a national leader must be on the basis of unity only. That is what is meant by a national leader."

Ribicoff and Dempsey concentrated on praise for Democratic State Chairman John Bailey. Both sought to heal the wounds opened four weeks ago when Emilio Daddario, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1970, criticized the party's leadership and aligned himself with party dissidents.

Saturday night, Daddario was one of the 32 dignitaries at the head table introduced by Bailey, who called him, "My friend, Mimi Daddario."

Daddario was not called upon to speak. He received moderate applause—equal to that given most of the 32 introduced. Only Muskie, Ribicoff, Dempsey, Ella Grasso, Gloria Schaffer and Robert Killian received a warmer welcome.

About 1,750 tickets had been sold for the Saturday event—most of them at $100-a-plate, but many at $25. The Democrats netted close to $100,000, toward wiping out their 1970 campaign deficit and toward putting some aside for their campaign this fall.

The 1,500 who attended were seated in the Hilton's Ballroom and Terrace Room, in several dining rooms on the fourth floor, and in the hotel's Guardsmen's Restaurant.

Bailey took note of the attendance when he remarked, "A turnout like this, on a cold, snowy night, means something special—that we'll win in '72."

Plane Misses Home, Four Survive Crash

BLOOMFIELD (AP) — A single-engine Skylark plane crashed behind a house early this morning, police said. No one was reported seriously injured.

Three of the plane's four occupants were treated and released at Mt. Sinai Hospital.

They were identified as Eugene Young and his wife, Elizabeth, of Vincentown, N.J., and Ronald Ward, 18, of Vineland, N.J.

The pilot of the plane, Sheridan Sexton, 30, of Vineland, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police said Sexton was apparently trying to make an emergency landing when the plane struck tree tops and crashed. The plane was en route from Rhode Island to New Jersey, police said.

The extent of damage to the plane was not immediately known.

The plane had stopped at Brainerd Airport about 2 a.m. and was on its way to Bradley

Field. The Bradley Field tower was in contact with Sexton when the plane went down, after apparently developing carburetor trouble.

Several Bloomfield residents, hearing the sputtering engine, notified the fire department that a plane was in trouble.

The plane fell at about 5 a.m. into an apple orchard that separates two farm fields off Arnold Dr. It took about 20 minutes to free the pilot, then all four were taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital by ambulance.

Because first reports indicated that a fire might develop and because it was not known whether the plane was large or small, the police and fire departments sent all available equipment to the scene. In addition, a crowd of about 100 persons gathered there.

Mrs. Claire Scapellati, whose house is about 75 yards from where the plane crashed, remarked, "It sounded just like a snowplow."

The hunger strike began Friday when about 100 to 150 inmates refused to eat. Saturday and Sunday, a majority of the inmates joined the hunger strike, Manson said.

With the convicts locked in their cells, the customary recreation periods and work in the prison shops have been suspended, the commissioner said.

They were given sandwiches through their doors, but many refused to eat, officials said.

"We are continuing to make food available to all the inmates concerned" all the 1,050 in-
