The Trash Pile Dam

Coal mining operations on Buffalo Creek had slag and sludge waste to dispose of.

They began to dispose of it, in 1965, by dumping it into a particular spot on the ravine through which Buffalo Creek flowed. Eventually the trash pile grew big enough and solid enough to begin to function as a dam, backing up the water of Buffalo Creek until it formed three long narrow lakes.

This impounded water the mining operations then employed for a coal cleaning plant, which ingested the water and then spewed it out again with coal dust added to it.

That was the cycle. The mining operation dumped its waste where it would eventually constitute a dam forming a lake that could be used for washing the coal.

The key thing wrong with this was that the pile of waste, although it functioned as a dam, might not have legally been a dam, so that it was not subject to the supervision or equipped with the safeguards that might have been routine for a dam which was labeled a dam.

There were, for instance, no sluiceways or gates which could be opened through the trash pile when the waters behind it seemed to be piling up too much.

The other day a heavier than usual rain came along, built up pressure behind the trash pile dam, and eventually broke through it, sending a high wall of water down through the narrow but inhabited valley, and thus putting into the record another of the great human tragedies so often connected with West Virginia and the mining industry.

The trash pile dam had held all right for 10 years, and some of the people who lived under it refused to leave.

By the other of what was involved in this process and of the assessment by each side of the reliability of the other in being able to pursue this for the amount of time necessary to see it prevail.

If that was what we were seeking, it is also what we have got. The understandings actually reached at Peiking are as tentative and as loosely strung together as Dr. Kissinger's sentence structure. The main agreement comes down to one about process and direction. But the difficulty of having the process move in the prescribed direction is underlined by the fact that, in the final communique for the meetings, neither side has surrendered any significant part of its fundamental position on these specific confrontations which now exist between them.

Neither of us has abandoned its own particular client in Vietnam, although there may be some significance in the fact that the Chinese side of the communique refers only to the peace points of the Viet Cong and not those of Hanoi.

We have not abandoned Formosa, although there may be some significance in the fact that we have set up as a future promise, on a timetable of our own choosing, the withdrawal of our own military force from territory both sides admit should be considered Chinese, whatever the regime governing it.

Neither of us has agreed to take its own special power interest out of Korea, even though the final communique in principle scattered throughout the communique denounced power politics in every form and degree.

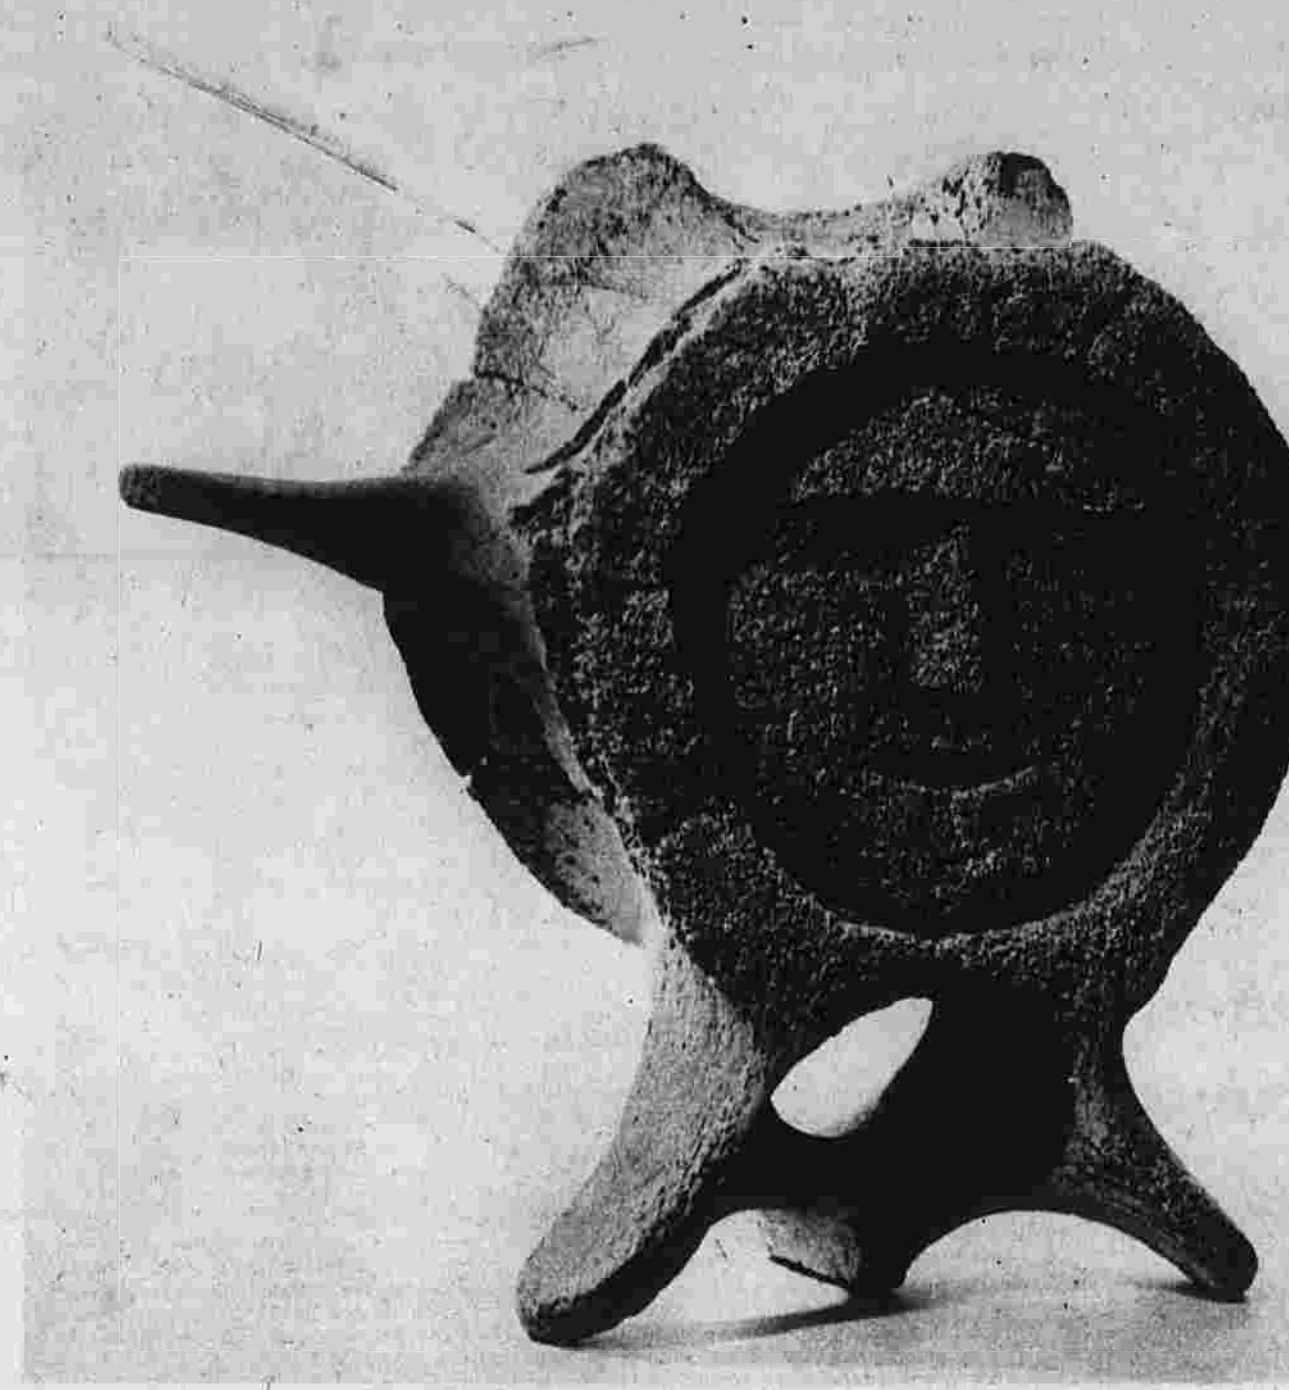

So the communique itself outlines and retains, without removing them or without diminishing them very much, the concrete issues which stand between the two great powers, keeping them from passing through any gate of instant heavenly understanding.

What will really count will be, as the President himself said in his final toast at Shanghai, "what we will do in the years ahead."

That spirit, and the fact that the communique itself is more loaded with reservations than with agreements, speak well for the sobriety and purposefulness of this high encounter, and it will be almost entirely in the future, rather than in anything which has yet been negotiated, that it will be determined whether or not "this was the week that changed the world."

That is, for the moment, an extravagant claim, understandable, perhaps, from a President who has just put all the various muscles of his total being into a supreme high tensioned effort at unanimity, but not acceptable as a reflection of any reality.

It could be made into a most important week in the history of the world. We have to applaud President Nixon's imagination and courage in seeking it out; we hope it goes to him that his own nation accepts his venture with high approval based on low level hopes rather

Judging The Journey

We take, as the fitting but difficult task for a discussion of the results of the China trip, a long sentence from Dr. Henry Kissinger, produced by him in the course of his testimony of our correspondents in Shanghai.

"The basic objective of this trip," said Dr. Kissinger, "was to set in motion a train of events and an evolution in the policy of our two countries which both sides recognized would be slow at first and present many difficulties and in which a great deal depended on the assessment by each side of the understanding by the other of what was involved in this process and of the assessment by each side of the reliability of the other in being able to pursue this for the amount of time necessary to see it prevail."

Inside Report

McGovern Draws Blood

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

MANCHESTER, N.H. — The ties employed by Sen. George McGovern in an arduous night of campaigning around Manchester last week explains the unease now pervading the New Hampshire campaign. It was the number of lives lost will focus some temporary attention on the danger in a trash pile dam.

Jail For Drunk Drivers?

In recommending that the state set a mandatory jail sentence for drunk drivers, McGovern has proposed a penalty that has not been used in this country, but has been enacted in Scandinavia.

He is completely right that liquor is involved in 50 per cent of all traffic fatalities and that there is a little question but that a combination of enforcement and an enforceable deterrent could bring down the number of lives lost to driving under the influence.

In Norway the penalty is so stiff that people don't drive after more than one drink, while in Sweden, a law that is almost as tough has had an indistinguishable result for many years. In general, one beer or wine would be safe enough to avoid a jail sentence, but even one Scotch could get you into the mandatory jail, as determined by blood test.

The General Assembly now has several choices before it. It can do nothing, it can adopt the Governor's suggestion of a mandatory seven-day jail sentence or it could adopt a program somewhere in between. But whatever is done, steps have to be taken to step up enforcement by setting up more state police road inspections at night. If individuals believe there is a probability of their being stopped every six months, a major deterrent is provided, even with current laws.

It would be possible to adopt the Swedish system which has two degrees. The less severe degree, punishable by fine, requires that a driver have no more than a certain percentage of alcohol in the blood, the more severe penalty is reserved for above that figure. The latter draws a jail sentence. In all cases, conviction requires a blood test. In Sweden, Alcotest balloons are used to determine whether a blood test is required.

As the objective is to keep drivers off the road whose coordination is impaired, blood level requirements may be set at different levels. But at the moment, it is obvious that on Connecticut highways, many drivers are convicted as judged by cars actually weaving. It is clearly possible to put these drivers in jail — perhaps for a full week, perhaps for less. Some judges maintain that even one day in jail is a sobering experience, especially inasmuch as a second drunk driving conviction does require a mandatory jail term.

A jail sentence for those whose driving abilities have been clearly impaired would be an experiment worth trying. We are not sure that a jail sentence of as long as a week is even necessary, but we are sure that this is an enforceable penalty — say compared to a license suspension, which is not. Right now ten per cent of those on state highways either have no license, or driving under suspension. It would behoove the legislature to take a hard look at a new law. It might not be popular, but it might be very effective. —MIDDLETOWN PRESS

Part of our promised award for anybody who came forward with constructive solution for the problem of parking at the State Capitol may have to go to State Transportation Commissioner A. Earl Woods, for his effort to indoctrinate state employees with the idea that, if that is the direction they come from, they can park their cars at Corbino Corner in West Hartford and ride a "Commuter Express" bus to their jobs. This might lead to some alleviation of the parking jam around the State Capitol.

Tony Podesta, the inclusive young operative from Muskie's national headquarters who runs the New Hampshire campaign, has been reassured by superiors in Washington that this small state's primary is no longer as significant as formerly; whether Muskie gets 50 per cent or 60 per cent is not all that important. Undoubtedly true. But the fact George McGovern is drawing blood here is proof, that Muskie operatives cannot chase the specter of 1968 from their memories.

That explains why a Muskie aide angrily telephoned McGovern headquarters over a flyer written by University of New Hampshire students attacking McGovern's second term as Democratic candidate in 1970.

A Thought for Today

Everything We Have

Sometimes it seems impossible to do what God expects of us. We should then remember that God doesn't expect us to give anything, except every thing. He doesn't expect us to write a great sermon, to donate a fortune to His work, even to convert another soul. He only expects that we give all in try. We do not have to accomplish a particular goal; we have only to give everything we have.

Tolland Opposition Repeated To Zone Change Bid

Opposition to the proposed zone change from residential to commercial for property at Merrow and Anthony Rds. was voiced by about 20 people attending last night's Planning and Zoning hearing.

The opposition came not only from residents of the area involved but from concerned residents throughout the town.

A repeated plea was issued by the PZC not to grant the zone change until the comprehensive plan now under way is completed in June.

In many respects last night's hearing appeared to be a replay of the largely attended hearing just a year ago, involving the rezoning of the entire strip of Merrow Rd. from Anthony Rd. to the Coventry town line.

That hearing had been attended by about 300 persons and resulted in the support for the town comprehensive plan. Only 25 people attended last night's hearing on the zone change request sought by Robert Freegreen for a portion of land which he owns, and on which an option is being held by real estate men Lester Babbin and Thomas Crockett.

Several speakers urged the PZC to stand by the previous decision that the Merrow Rd. zone change to commercial would not be in the best interests of the town.

Prognosis was represented by Atty. Robert McGinnis, a Toland resident, who was the only person to speak in favor of the zone change.

Protests Ground Rules

Under the ground rules laid out at the start of the hearing by PZC Chairman Douglas Prior, no cross-examination or rebuttals were permitted. The same ground rules were used during the public hearing on the same application hearing three weeks ago.

McGinnis protested the cutting off of comments, claiming this was a function of holding a public hearing on what time has been supported in the courts. "The PZC is not acting properly by not permitting rebuttals," he contended.

The PZC stood by its initial ruling, closing its hearing without permitting questions to be answered or rebuttals presented.

In his initial presentation, Atty. McGinnis said that 402 foot frontage on Merrow Rd. and 284 foot frontage on Anthony Rd. of the land was backland surrounded on three sides by houses in the Tolland suburb subdivision.

At present the commercial zone ends across the street. McGinnis claimed the zone change should be permitted and was in harmony with the residential zone area, and was the "highest and best use of the land."

The proposed zone change would have "minimal impact on the neighborhood since substantial commercial development is already in the area."

He denied the application amounted to spot zoning, and described the PZC's role as determining what growth is best for the town, not just certain groups, including both the property owner involved and abutting land owners.

Tolland's commercial growth is not developed to the extent of other towns of similar size, he claimed. Local boards have control over the location of gas stations, McGinnis noted, noting you don't have to oppose commercial development just because you don't want more gas stations.

Domino Theory

Several of the opponents pointed to the dangers of permitting the commercial zone to pass the present boundaries of Anthony Rd. claiming it would be a "foot in the door" and lead to the domino theory of continued commercial zone changes until the zone reached the town line.

Agreeing with Atty. McGinnis's description of the road as the most heavily traveled road in town, the opponents interpreted this differently.

McGinnis used the heavy traffic to justify expansion of the commercial zone, which would create extreme safety hazards.

They pointed to a state Liquor Control Commission ruling made about a year ago, denying a package store application to open the street from the requested zone change. The denial was based on the hazardous traffic location, particularly a "poor site" according to Charles Mayer, a resident in the area.

Tolland PZC Clarifies Role Of Advisory Group

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night delivered its formal charge of purpose to the Town Plan Advisory Committee, clarifying the committee's role in the preparation of the town plan.

The charge was accepted by Edwin Vickery, advisory committee chairman.

The PZC envisions the role of the advisory committee as providing the maximum involvement of the town's residents in the updating of the town plan.

"Once completed, the plan must relate to the needs and desires of the town's residents, reflecting what they want the town to become and how it should get there," the PZC notes.

The PZC will retain control over the development of the town plan, with the advisory committee answering to the PZC. The consulting town planners, North East Development Group, will serve as a liaison between the PZC and the advisory committee and will guide the advisory committee.

The first draft of the town plan is due for completion by July 1, according to the PZC guidelines, although the commission recognizes the state of the task in view of the time limits imposed.

The PZC also offered its assistance to the advisory committee whenever requested. Periodic written reports will be required from the consulting planner as well as from the advisory committee at key points during the development of the town plan.

Application Withdrawn

Louis Lipman, developer of the 66-1st Sugar Hill subdivision off Kelsey Rd., has withdrawn his application in reply to a request for a time extension sought by the PZC.

The PZC has threatened to turn down the application on the basis of insufficient information being submitted if the extension was not granted by the developer.

PZC Chairman Douglas Prior asked the board to consider a possible tentative approval of the overall layout of the subdivision as requested by Lipman over the telephone, preempting night at 8 at the United Congregational Church.

The Board of Tax Review will hold the first public hearings on taxpayer grievances tomorrow from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and from 7 until 9 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Memo Reveals ITT Deal With Republican Chiefs

By DON McLEOD (AP)

WASHINGTON (AP) — A memorandum attributed to a lobbyist for International Telephone and Telegraph Co. reveals that the company has agreed to finance the Republican National Convention aided in getting favorable settlement of major antitrust suits against ITT.

The memorandum, attributed to D.H. Beard of the ITT Washington office and directed to W.R. Merriam, an ITT vice president and head of the Washington office, was made available by columnist Jack Anderson.

"I am convinced," the memo said, "because of several conversations with Louis R. Mitchell, that our noble commitment has gone a long way toward our negotiations on the mergers eventually coming out as we would like."

"Certainly the President has told Mitchell to see that things are worked out in a timely manner," Anderson, in his syndicated column today, said the memo was written by a lobbyist for the company.

The memo also said that the company has agreed to finance the Republican National Convention aided in getting favorable settlement of major antitrust suits against ITT.

Riker Powers Gamecocks To Romp Over Notre Dame

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a happy birthday for Tom Riker, happy hunting for Southwestern Louisiana and a happy hot hand for Travis "The Machine" Grant in college basketball Monday night.

Riker celebrated his 22nd birthday by pouring in 32 points and leading eighth-ranked South Carolina to a 109-83 romp over Notre Dame, the 50th victory of the season for the Gamecocks.

Riker hit 15 of 20 field goals, attempted leading 87 shots and scored in double figures. The winners shot 62.2 per cent from the floor. It was the best exhibition of shooting we've had in my years at South Carolina," said Coach Frank McGuire. "The Warriors were sensational."

If Riker was hot, Grant was better. The Machine, leading small college scorer in the nation, exploded for 48 points in Kentucky's 124-87 victory over Eastern Michigan. The output pushed Grant over the 1,000-point mark, the fourth in college history to pass that plateau.

The Gamecocks won their 49th straight game in a 19-game unbeaten streak for Eastern Michigan, the No. 2 small college team in the country.

Southwestern Louisiana, ranked No. 11 in the country, edged Oklahoma, 29-24, for the runner-up spot, with a 90-73 victory over arch-rival Northwestern Louisiana. Dwight Lamar, the nation's

Statistics Show West's Game Assets

NEW YORK (AP) — How valuable is Jerry West? Strategically, he's worth 45.5 points a game to the Los Angeles Lakers, who lead the National Basketball Association with 110.8 per game average.

Rangers' Front Line Nears Club Record

NEW YORK (AP) — There have been some great three-man attacking lines in the history of the National Hockey League but New York's unit of Jean Ratelle, Rod Gilbert and Vic Hadfield, is on the threshold of an achievement never accomplished by any other trio.

Gilbert's next goal will give him 40 for the season and with Hadfield and Ratelle already past that plateau, it will make the Ranger line the first ever to have all three members with 40 or more goals.

a week up to

cash income when hospitalized for a covered sickness or accident

This cash is just like wages. It is for you to spend as you wish—paid directly to you in addition to any other insurance. Last year, one out of every seven people in the United States was hospitalized. This means that nearly half of the families in this country may have someone in the hospital in 1972—and many of them may not be fully prepared for this unexpected crisis.

REPORT MEDICAL COSTS SOAR

Newspapers report that in the past few years the cost of a hospital stay has nearly tripled . . . and it's still going up! Even a short stay can cause a financial crisis.

BENEFITS START FIRST DAY

Even though you now carry health insurance to help pay your hospital expense, the chances are that you will need extra cash . . . your Group Insurance, Workmen's Compensation, etc., may not be enough protection. Remember, while you're in the hospital, your other expenses, such as rent, food, telephone, etc., continue. That's why the American Hospital Income Plan pays you directly . . . up to $100 a week in cash as an additional income to spend as you wish—in accordance with your own needs. And best of all, you're paid from the FIRST DAY you enter the hospital. And you will continue to be paid every week you are in the hospital . . . up to 100 weeks.

ACT NOW

A sudden accident or illness can strike anytime. It's too late to apply for this coverage when you are flat on your back in the hospital.

THESE ARE YOUR CASH BENEFITS

PAYS CASH . . . up to $10,000 for each covered accident or illness, starting your FIRST DAY in the hospital at the rate of $100 a week for you . . . $75 a week for your spouse when hospitalized . . . $50 a week when one of your covered children is hospitalized.

GUARANTEED RENEWABLE TO AGE 65

This policy is guaranteed renewable to age 65. Once your policy is in force the Company guarantees never to cancel your policy for any reason except non-payment of premium. When you reach your 65th birthday you will be eligible for our Senior Citizens Medicare supplement plan.

EXCEPTIONS AND LIMITATIONS

They are: war, nervous or mental disorders, pregnancy, rest cures, care in a U.S. Government hospital, drug abuse, dental treatments and conditions you had before the start of your policy. Meanwhile, you are protected from the first day of hospitalization for every covered illness and accident. (Note: This pre-existing condition exclusion is dropped after the policy has been in force for 2 years. For applicants 63 or 64 years old, the waiting period for pre-existing conditions is adjusted, since this policy is only guaranteed renewable to age 65.)

OUR PLAN PAYS:

The FIRST $68 of hospital expenses.

Your choice of $20-$50 a day for as long as 365 days, after 90 days of hospitalization.

HERE ARE THE ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS:

Q. What is the American Hospital Income Plan? (GP 651-69—Conn.)

A. It is a plan to provide you with needed CASH when you or someone in your family is in the hospital.

Q. When do my hospital benefits begin?

A. On the VERY FIRST DAY you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness.

Q. How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?

A. $100 per week for you . . . $75 per week for your spouse . . . $50 per week for each covered child.

Q. Will this Plan pay in addition to my other insurance?

A. Yes! We pay you CASH even if you're already covered by Group Insurance, Workmen's Compensation or any other insurance. Actually, our Plan adds cash income to your other insurance benefits.

Q. What do I need to do to qualify?

A. Just complete and mail your enrollment form. It's that easy.

Q. How can you offer so large benefits for this premium?

A. When we enroll a large number of people at the same time, our processing and administrative costs are reduced . . . these savings come back to you.

Q. Can I cancel my policy?

A. Of course you can!

Q. Will you cancel my policy if I have too many claims?

A. No. We guarantee never to cancel your policy because of too many claims. We also guarantee that we will never refuse to renew your policy until age 65 unless you fail to pay your premium before the end of the grace period.

Q. Will my premium ever be raised?

A. Not unless there is a general premium increase for all policies of this form in your state but remember . . . premiums will always be based on your age at the time the policy was issued.

Q. Is anything excluded from coverage?

A. There are a few reasonable exceptions required to permit these rates: war, nervous or mental disorders, pregnancy, care in a U.S. Government hospital, rest cures, dental treatment and drug abuse.

How many Senior Citizens with Medicare have told us—"I thought I was fully covered but . . . We SENIOR CITIZENS need more help when struck by illness or accident."

EXISTING CONDITIONS COVERED

Medicare does not pay all hospital bills! Now Senior Citizens can get CASH payments when hospitalized. This important plan is designed just for Senior Citizens . . . EVEN CONDITIONS YOU NOW HAVE ARE COVERED FROM THE VERY FIRST DAY YOUR MEDICARE SUPPLEMENT PLAN IS IN FORCE. What a comfort to know that you can get immediate coverage for these conditions.

EXAMINE POLICY WITHOUT COST

Do not send any money but if you feel you will need cash payments when hospitalized, mail the coupon below . . . today. You will receive your actual policy, clearly spelling out your cash benefits. Examine the policy for 10 days, discuss it with your doctor and your insurance advisor. If you agree that this protection is just what you need to help fill the gaps in your Medicare coverage, keep the policy and make your monthly payment—before the 10 days are up, and you will be protected during this period.

CASH DIRECTLY TO YOU

No complicated forms to fill out. Just send the coupon and your policy will be on its way. CASH benefits are paid directly to you in addition to any other coverage you may now have.

GUARANTEED RENEWABLE

The modest premium is possible because this plan does not duplicate Medicare coverage—it takes over where Medicare leaves off! Good protection for the Senior Citizen takes into account what Medicare DOES and DOES NOT PROVIDE and that is exactly the kind of hospital coverage our program offers you. PLUS: This policy is GUARANTEED RENEWABLE for life. Benefits never reduce because of age and your premium rate will always be based on your age—NOW! AND REMEMBER, CONDITIONS YOU NOW HAVE ARE COVERED FROM THE VERY FIRST DAY YOUR POLICY IS IN FORCE.

ONLY A FEW EXCEPTIONS

This policy does not cover: drug abuse, mental or nervous disorders, dental treatments, suicide, Workmen's Compensation cases, confinement in extended care, federal or state facilities.
