

Lobbyist Calls Memo a Fake

WASHINGTON (AP)—The filing lobbyist for International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. says her initial was forged on a memorandum used by columnist Jack Anderson to link her company's financial commitment to the Republican National Convention with a settlement of three anti-trust cases against ITT.

Mrs. Dita Beard, in a sworn statement, said Friday she wrote an interoffice memorandum to her boss but it was not the one used by Anderson. She said the Anderson memo was a fraud and a hoax.

In rebuttal, Anderson said Mrs. Beard acknowledged the authenticity of the document before he wrote columns beginning Feb. 29 linking the settlement with ITT's convention commitment and setting off a Senate investigation.

Immediate reaction indicated that the Senate Judiciary Committee will make arrangements to take sworn testimony from Mrs. Beard as soon as possible in an effort to resolve the contradictions.

Mrs. Beard, being treated for a heart ailment in the Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital in Denver, issued her statement simultaneously through her lawyer, David Fleming, and Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott in Washington.

She said she prepared a memorandum last spring for W. R. Merriman, head of ITT's Washington bureau, about plans for the GOP convention in San Diego.

"However, it was not the memo Jack Anderson has put in evidence before the Senate," the 53-year-old lobbyist said. "Mr. Anderson's memo is a forgery, and not mine."

"I did not prepare it and could not have since to my knowledge the assertions in it regarding the antitrust cases and former Attorney General (John) Mitchell are untrue."

"I do not know who did prepare it, who forged my initials in it, how it got into Jack Anderson's hands or why," she said. "But, I repeat, I do know it is not my memo and is a hoax."

Fleming said Mrs. Beard had not disclosed the memo before because she was "in a sheer state of shock."

Mitchell, Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and Harold S. Geneen, ITT president, also have denied the allegations.

Anderson and his associate, Brit Hume, repeated testimony they gave to the committee last week saying Mrs. Beard confirmed the memo as hers when Hume confronted her with it Feb. 23.

They said, as further proof, she reconfirmed that she had written the document when Hume interviewed her in her home the following night.

Hume said she referred to the initial next to her name on the document as "my own little D."

"She said words to the effect, 'There's no use trying to fool you about it,' and she said, 'You know I wrote it, of course I wrote it,'" Hume said.

ITT's Washington office issued a statement Friday and quoted two staff members present at the Feb. 23 meeting as saying: "In the course of the discussion with Mr. Hume, Mrs. Beard said that if it were not for a penciled initial 'capital D' beside her typed name, she would swear the memorandum was not hers."

The ITT employees were identified as John V. Horner, director of news services for the company in Washington, and Bernard A. Goodrich, deputy director for news services.

State Group For Wallace Eyes Liberals

SHELTON (AP) — State leaders of Gov. George Wallace's American Party say they will go after liberal legislators next fall.

"We are out to defeat left-leaning candidates or any other candidates we believe are out to subvert the American way of life," said Robert Barnabel, 34, of New Haven, state party chairman.

Barnabel said in an interview with the New Haven Register the party has already selected congressional candidates to run in the state's 1st, 4th and 6th Districts, but he refused to name them.

Democrat William Cotter represents the 1st District, Republican Stewart B. McKinney the 4th and Democrat Ella T. Grasso the 6th.

"We won't run against legislators we feel are basically pro-American," Barnabel said.

"We are after legislators with high ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) ratings," he said. The ADA grades legislators on their voting records in terms of the liberal group's position on political issues.

Most of the Wallace supporters in Connecticut are blue collar workers with no political experience, said Thomas Pallone, 27, state party secretary.

"Our executive committee has a strong background in conservative politics, but the grassroots people in our organization are inexperienced," he said.

The party's executive committee conducted a strategy session Thursday night at Pallone's home.

Barnabel indicated the party has already begun to collect the more than 6,000 signatures required to get party candidates on the ballot.

He said the party now has local organizations in 14 Connecticut communities, and that the party plans to expand to 60 before the November election. He said the party plans opening campaign offices in Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport and Stamford after the April 4 Wisconsin primary.

Government Up in Air

Crime in the Skies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has moved on two fronts to stop airline crimes from happening or, if that fails, to speed up prosecution of those charges with such crimes.

The nation's major airports were ordered Friday to prepare comprehensive security programs and submit them to the Transportation Department for approval.

At the same time, the Justice Department directed all 83 U.S. attorneys to push for speedy trials of persons arrested for aircraft hijacking, extortion attempts and bomb threats against the air industry.

The Transportation Department directed airport operators to tighten access to areas where airplanes land, take off, or maneuver on taxiways and loading ramps. The order covers the 631 airports served by scheduled airlines.

The Airport Operators Council International scheduled a seminar here April 4-5 to discuss ways of implementing the new regulations.

The new rules set forth by the Federal Aviation Administration require airport managers to designate those areas of the airport where aircraft move, and to take steps preventing unauthorized persons or vehicles from entering those air operations areas.

In addition, the operators must identify areas having little or no protection against unauthorized access.

Within 90 days, the operators must submit for FAA approval plans and timetables for upgrading security and identifying persons and vehicles entering such areas.

The rules complement those the FAA issued earlier requiring the airlines to upgrade passenger and cargo screening and tighten security in and around parked aircraft.

150 Inmates Riot At Walpole Prison

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — About 150 inmates at Walpole State Prison, angry over the stabbing of a black inmate, burned the prison library and smashed windows, furniture and television sets Friday night. A state official said the outbreak apparently had racial overtones.

More than 100 state troopers were rushed to the nearby Foxboro state police troop, but they did not enter the prison. By 3 a.m. today officials said all prisoners had been returned to their cell blocks.

Shortly after 3:30 a.m., Correction Commissioner John Boone told newsmen, "We talked to some of the residents and we feel things are secure. Tomorrow (meaning Saturday) we'll go back and feel the temperature of the cell blocks."

Boone said substantial damage was done.

The commissioner hastened to the state's largest prison facility, housing about 800 inmates, as soon as he learned of the incident. He arrived at the prison about 1:30 a.m. with State Commissioner of Public Safety John F. Kehoe.

Mel Bernstein of the State Office of Human Services, meeting with newsmen in the visitors' waiting room, said both black and white inmates discussed the stabbing "in terms of a racial incident."

The man who was stabbed, Ronald Stokes, 22, of Boston, was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston where he underwent surgery for a stab wound in the back. His condition was described as fair.

Stokes' assailant was not known but Boone said he was "almost positive" he was white.

Three inmates were treated at the prison for smoke inhalation. Two guards were cut about the eyes by flying glass and a third was temporarily blinded by smoke, Bernstein said.

He said that after the stabbing, some 30 black inmates went down to cell block 3 and "discussed" the stabbing with about 30 white inmates "in terms of a racial incident."

As word of the stabbing spread through the 11 cell blocks, fires began erupting, Bernstein said. Desks, chairs, TVs, "anything they could get their hands on" were burned, he said.

When the Walpole Fire Department was called, the 150 prisoners were herded into the gymnasium, corridors and auditorium, the official said, adding they were later taken back to their cell blocks.

At no time was there any fighting among the prisoners, he said, or were any guards attacked.

Prison Supt. Robert Donnelly, supervising the 15-year-old facility, said the men would be fed today in small groups to reduce the danger of further outbreaks.

Boone said he thought the incident was completely spontaneous. "A rumor got started that it was a racial riot, and when men are locked up in institutions and things like that happen, they begin to fear one another."

Boone said the prison population is divided about 20 per cent black, 10 per cent Spanish-speaking and 70 per cent other whites.

Bernstein told newsmen "a small amount of tear gas" was used in restoring order, but he did not say where and how the gas was used.

Delegate Chase Heads Westward

CHICAGO (AP)—The presidential primary focus shifts toward the Midwest this weekend as three contenders for the Democratic nomination stump through Illinois.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota converged on the state to seek some of the 170 delegates Illinois will send to the Democratic National Convention.

Muskie and McCarthy are entered in the presidential preference primary next Tuesday. It does not affect the composition of the convention delegation, a point McGovern noted in declining to enter his name.

McGovern has entered delegate slates committed to him in 19 of the state's 24 districts. He hopes to gather as many as 104 of the 160 delegate seats open for election.

The other 10 seats will be appointed at large by the state Democratic organization, controlled for the past 20 years by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley. Until this year, all delegates ran uncommitted.

Muskie forces have endorsed 105 delegate candidates in 17 districts.

On Friday, Muskie addressed a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Peoria; McGovern took a tour through Stateville Penitentiary in Joliet, and McCarthy donned a pair of ice skates and took in a teen-age hockey team's workout on Chicago's North Side.

After the Peoria dinner, Muskie told a news conference that the President Nixon's nationally televised message on the school busing was misleading.

"The Supreme Court has never ordered busing for the sole purpose of achieving racial balance," he said. "I don't know of anyone who believes racial balance can be achieved by that method."

"Recognizing its limitations," he continued, "busing has been a useful tool in some instances that ought not to be rejected."

McCarthy also marched in the annual Chicago St. Patrick's Day parade.

All three had heavy schedules of campaign appearances right up to primary voting time.

Meanwhile, some of the major criticism of the President's antibusing posture came from antibusing advocates themselves.

Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington said Nixon's proposed moratorium on court-ordered busing is unconstitutional and could lead to a possible breakdown of the entire Bill of Rights.

"You can't turn around and stop the decree of a court in which that decree is calling for implementation of a constitutional provision," Jackson said, adding the only way to halt busing is through the constitutional amendment he supports.

And Alabama Gov. George Wallace, in Birmingham, Ala., said the President should take stronger action, stopping court-ordered busing plans now in effect.

"People want action now and not talk," the governor told a state conference of educators. He said the President's statement was a result of Wallace's overwhelming victory in the Florida primary last Tuesday.

Wallace campaigned on a strong antibusing platform.

Meanwhile, at a news conference at the Capitol, Jackson refused to name contributors to his campaign, saying many were business and government officials whose jobs might be in jeopardy if it became known they were backing him.

Jackson thus broke with many other Democratic hopefuls who have voluntarily released lists of their contributors.

In other political developments:

HUMPHREY: Minnesota Sen. Hubert Humphrey criticized Nixon's delay in taking a stand on the busing issue. If the President had spoken up before the primaries, Humphrey said, the Michigan headquarters, Wallace "wouldn't have been in the race."

position he was in Florida. Humphrey flew later to Pittsburgh, Pa., where he spoke at a St. Patrick's Day dinner.

LINDSAY: New York Mayor John Lindsay denounced Nixon's plan as "a giant step backward."

He said the proposal "totally ignores the constitutional mandate of equal protection of law."

CHISHOLM: Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, another Democratic aspirant, said in Washington Nixon's plan pre- saged a return to "plantation

U.S. Jets Smash Red Supply Trail

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. military sources disclosed today that American fighter-bombers and gunships made one of the most successful raids of the war against the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in Laos two nights ago, triggering 800 secondary explosions and 600 fires.

Sources said the American planes apparently hit paydirt against large-sized supply depots, sending up large quantities of ammunition and fuel in flames.

Much of the damage was done, sources said, by one 7th Air Force AC-119G gunship armed with television cameras and infrared devices that can spot camouflaged installations at night and rapid-firing 400-MM cannon that can destroy them.

At the same time, the 7th Air Force confirmed reports that several North Vietnamese tanks had been knocked out in Laos and released photographs, one of which clearly showed the destroyed and damaged tanks.

The Air Force said American warplanes destroyed 15 tanks and damaged 14 more between March 3 and 8 in two areas of southern Laos — Sepone and Chavane.

Two of the tanks destroyed were Soviet-built T54-56s, the most powerful North Vietnam has. The 40-ton tanks have a range of 200 to 250 miles, speeds of up to 30 miles per hour. They carry a 100MM gun and two machine guns.

The Air Force said two of the T54-55 medium tanks were destroyed March 4 by Air Force F4 and Navy A7 fighter-bombers south of Chavane, about 40 miles north of the tri-border region where South Vietnam's central highlands join the border.

Two Die in Maine Blast

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — An explosion demolished a two-story dwelling here late Friday night killing two and injuring three other persons.

Found in the rubble of the home were the bodies of Mrs. Amanda Castonguay, 81, and her daughter, Miss Rita Castonguay, 46.

A civil defense rescue unit and firemen used a bulldozer and power shovel to dig the bodies from the ruins.

The blast blew out the entire west wall of the house causing the upper story to fall in the ruins.

The women were sleeping in the second floor.

The three injured persons were all reported in satisfactory condition in St. Mary's General Hospital.

One of the injured, the owner of the building, Raymond Rioux, 56, told police he had gone to bed and was sleeping on the first floor when the explosion occurred.

Rioux's wife, Rose, 53, and Judith Talon, 50, suffered first and second degree burns. Firemen said the furnace was found split apart, but the exact cause for the blast was not determined.

News for Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Here we go again, and I don't hesitate, because if you should start off with the top of the morning to you even though you're old, it's no history for you to be able to live like a King or a Queen for a week.

Would you believe that the night of our big Irish Dance, the westerner popped a load of snow on us and right when things were about to happen? It was a little snow, but it was just too late to call things off. We just said, like the old Irishmen we are, the show must go on, and believe me it did.

We didn't get the big crowd we would have had, the weather cooperated, however, those who braved the weather, Tom Trishman, the lot, had a real bang going time.

Things started off by some group singing led by Wally O'Connell. From there the fun was entertained by a lovely group of youngsters from the St. John's School of Irish Dance.

This group deserves a world of praise for coming out in the weather and, believe me, the seniors enjoyed them very much. To keep things lively, they had Irish Tommy O'Hall and his Irish talking fiddle. The performance was great, and we thank the youngsters and their parents for coming. We hope to have them again soon.

Next came a break for a little Irish punch, put together by Judy O'Wolfe. Soon the band was bouncing faster than the snowflakes dropping above, to the delightful tunes of Johnny Nevo's Orchestra. Like always, the gang was in the mood for joy, very pleased with the music.

We had a coffee break and some goodies prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laticano and his students. Mike Kelly, the cream of vegetable soup, tender chicken salad, ice cream sundae, and a beverage. Thursday's will be homemade minestrone soup, chicken salad, and a beverage. Friday it will be pate, chicken salad, and a beverage.

Monday we started out with a nice crowd for our Irish social, and in the afternoon we had 84 playing pinocle with the following lucky winners: Ellen Sherman, 74; Andy and Rose; Esther Anderson, 67; Robert Schubert, 66; Inez Mahoney, 64; Florence North, 64; Grace Baker, 64; Mary MacGowan, 64; Leo Schneider, 64; and the high average of 197.7. The high single of 109 went to Margery Hall.

Tuesday was the final day of our painting, visiting, etc. to the Parkade. We were very happy to see it come to an end; however, we hope that all the artists will pick out some of their paintings and hold them aside, because many of them are very good. Dockworkers Asked To Stay on the Job

By WALLY FORTIN

SAF FRANCISCO (AP) — Thomas Gleason declined in spite of considerable grumbling from the dockworkers' union to allow the International Longshoremen's Association's contract to be approved.

The ILA is awaiting action on a proposed 3.6 per cent first-year wage boost. The ILWU and PMA as well as the new contract with the ILA. A spokesman for Pacific Maritime Association, the 122-member union, said it expected to meet early next week with longshore leaders to discuss the proposed increase.

Getting back to trips, don't forget the registration for Monday, April 10th. That's going out "one cent" off the negotiated settlement. The week of April 17th. More on this later.

Last Friday morning we had a fair turnout for our kitchen social games in the morning. In the afternoon, we had a large group was busy working in the crowd embroidery class, and in the evening we had 57 playing setback with the following lucky winners: Mike Kelly, 124; Bob Albert, 124; Michael DeStrom, 124; Esther Anderson, 124; William Schneider, 124; Agnes Babinina, 124; Alice Brown, 124; Mary Johnson, 124; Wilfred Mosler, 124; Joseph Babb, 124; Florence North, 124; and the high average of 197.7.

14 Are Injured In Bay State Fog

By WALLY FORTIN

FOURTEEN persons were injured, none seriously, in a pileup of about 20 vehicles in dense fog in the eastbound lane of Interstate 90 late Friday afternoon.

The accident at the Worcester-Auburn line left a twisted tangle of smashed vehicles strung across the roadway for a distance of 50 or 60 yards. A Worcester Telegram reporter said he counted 14 automobiles, four trailer trucks, two buses and a pickup truck at the scene. The tangle took a fleet of 15 to 20 tow trucks to clear away.

The ILA is awaiting action on a proposed 3.6 per cent first-year wage boost. The ILWU and PMA as well as the new contract with the ILA. The Bible Speaks
By Eugene Brewer

At the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science last December, Dr. John Moore, a professor of molecular biology at Michigan State University, read a paper in which he stated that evolution is more "biological" than "theological." Moore further charged that evolution is more "biological" than "theological," and that it is a religion but not a science.

In view of such findings, it is past time that evolution be presented as the unproven hypothesis that it is. Any editor who, in textbook or in classroom, claims creation as a proven fact is guilty of doublethink either through ignorance or bias. In either case he is unworthy of his students' confidence.

Lakers Inch Toward NBA Record, Upend Bucks in Well-Played

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Almost nobody expected the final regular season meeting between the Milwaukee Bucks and Los Angeles Lakers to be such a dramatic affair. The Lakers, who have won 47 of their 55 games, and the Bucks, who have won 35 of their 55 games, met in a game that was as much a test of will as a test of skill.

The Lakers, who were favored to win, did not disappoint. They won 118-107 in a game that was as much a test of will as a test of skill.

who team won the season series with Milwaukee four games to one and clinched within three games of the all-time record for victories in a National Basketball Association season.

At 6:12, Los Angeles made four triumphs in the last five games to crack Philadelphia's mark of 68 victories in 1968-69.

Milwaukee's Kareem Jabbar, scored 20 points and led the team to a 118-107 victory.

Celts Clinch Title

HERSHY, Pa. (AP)—Playing superbly on a St. Patrick's night here, the Boston Celtics, bringing back reminders of Celtic teams that ruled over the National Basketball Association for better than a decade, clinched their division title in smooth fashion.

They just went out there and seemed to have made the best of when it counted.

Coach Tom Heinsohn said after the game that the Celtics were "in the zone" and that they were "playing like champions."

He singled out Havlicek and guard Jo White for special praise in Friday night's clinching game. White scored 24 points and had 10 rebounds.

Havlicek, who scored 20 points and had 10 rebounds, was named MVP.

The Celtics' victory ended a season that was as much a test of will as a test of skill.

Andover Budget Requests Reflect Slight Increases

Most of the smaller budgets presented at the public hearings this week reflect the increasing costs of operation, with budgets creeping slowly upward.

Many of the budgets submitted requested appropriations identical to last year's, and some were only slightly higher. Some persons indicated that while they were not requesting more funds this year, they would no longer be able to keep to that figure next year.

The Board of Assessors submitted a budget for $2,558, up slightly from last year's $2,800. A request of $800 was included in the budget for assessors school to permit further professional training.

The town treasurer submitted a request for $855, which is $105 over last year. The difference was requested in order to buy a rebuilt checkwriting machine at that price, since the old one needs either repair or replacement.

The town's Insurance Commission was in the fortunate position of asking for only $6 more than last year. The total budget came to $11,967, which figure covers all the insurance needs of the town.

The town clerk presented a budget for $1,796, and listed an anticipated income of $3,780 from various fees. The town attorney requested a figure of $2,500, the same as last year. The tax collector also requested the same appropriation as last year, $2,192.50, as did the town's Memorial Day Committee with a request for $160.

The zoning agent again asked for a budget of $225, and the Planning and Zoning Commission an amount of $400. The constables asked for $2,495, an increase over last year's $2,000. The constables this year asked for $450 to purchase a radio, and noted that there are now two active constables serving the town, and equipment must be purchased to outfit the second constable.

Andover's share of the budget for the Public Health Nursing Agency this year comes to $11,678.85, just a little over $100 greater than last year's request. The income expected from Andover is estimated at $4,100 for the coming year.

The registrars presented again this year a budget request for $560 and the Zoning Board of Appeals again asked for $100.

John Storm presented an increased budget from the Capitol-Region Planning Agency for $480, recommending that the increase over last year's $340 not be paid, but that last year's figure be used. Storm said services would not be curtailed and the CRPA is depending too much upon meeting its budget needs from the member towns, some of which can ill afford it.

The Board of Tax Review again asked for a budget of $125 and Clifton Horne pointed out that this includes the same salaries requested by the tax review board for many years.

Selectman Percy Cook said that Dr. Mervyn Little, the town's health officer said he would continue in that position for one more year at the same rate of $300, but would not be available after that time, because he is trying to limit his activities.

Building official Percy Cook this year asked for a budget of $840 plus salary, the salary figure left blank because of the finance board's study on salaries. Last year's total budget for this position was $600, however, true costs were difficult to establish, Cook said, because the work is accomplished in conjunction with other duties. Cook said he made a time study of the actual hours involved and finds 20-25 hours weekly are necessary to do the job.

The dog warden is asking for a budget of $1,123, up slightly from last year's $1,055, again reflecting higher operating costs. The finance board indicated its budget would stay approximately the same as last year which was $150. Budgets were not received from the town's Drug Advisory Council, the Capitol Region Council of Governments, and the Probate Court.

The finance board will review and compile all the budget requests, then they will schedule a public budget hearing and will present the entire proposed town budget and their recommendations regarding it.

Following the public hearing, the budget will be presented in final form at the annual budget town meeting held the first Saturday in May, where the public will either accept or reject the final budget.

Golf Clinic

Recreation and Cultural Director Gordon MacDonald said that Andover residents will be able to avail themselves of a newly set up golf clinic starting April 21.

The clinic will be held at the Blackledge Country Club in Hebron, and will be conducted by the club's golf pro, Carroll Erickson, Jr., for a period of 6 weeks.

Erickson was formerly the pro at the Tumblebrook Country Club and the Norwich Country Club.

There will be a charge of $15 for the series of classes which will be kept to a maximum of 10 persons. The classes will be held every Friday afternoon some time between 1 and 3 p.m., depending on the number of enrollees. Persons interested in signing up for the golf clinic are requested to call MacDonald for further information.

Selectmen's Agenda

The Board of Selectmen will be meeting for their regular monthly meeting on Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the town office building.

The agenda lists a discussion of the sanitary landfill area and the costs of operating the same. Andover leases use of its dumping area to the town of Bolton for some $15,000 annually. The selectmen will also discuss the renewing of the 5-year lease with Bolton and the amount to be charged.

Also to be taken up at the meeting is a review of proposed equipment purchases and their costs. The selectmen hope to charter commission and routine have in a number of bids so that the relative costs can be compared.

Also to be taken up will be tentative candidates for the Prisms, tel. 743-9947.

MCC Students Get Training In Hospitals

Eleven Manchester Community College sophomores enrolled in the occupational therapy assistant program have entered area hospitals for a 12-week clinical training period.

The students and hospitals are: Jude-Lynn Carter, 69 Farmstead Dr., South Windsor, Hartford Hospital; Mrs. Dorothea Zablansky, Cider Mill Rd., Tolland, and Ariens Swolka, East Hartford, Hartford Rehabilitation Center; Marilyn Kaatz, 68 Alton St., and Barbara Maxham, 55 New St., University-McCook Hospital in Hartford.

Also, Cheryl Hiscox, Norwich, and Kerry Kelly, New Britain, Cedarcrest Hospital in Newington; Sandra Ryan, 53 Strickland St., and Arleen Solis, Duxbury, Mass., Connecticut Valley Hospital in Middletown; Jacqueline Dobson, 55 Wells St., and Deborah Iselb, 20 Madison St., Mansfield State Training School.

Half of their full-time, practical experience will be with psychiatric patients, and half with the physically disabled. They will be supervised by registered occupational therapists. Satisfactory completion of the clinical work is a requirement for the associate in science degree. Hospital assignments were preceded by six weeks of classroom study.

The MCC program is the only one in the state approved by the American Occupational Therapy Association.

New Britain Man Challenges Ella

BURLINGTON, (AP) — John F. Walsh, a New Britain Republican, Friday announced he would challenge Democratic incumbent Rep. Ella Grasso in the 8th Congressional District race this year.

The 41-year-old attorney said Mrs. Grasso "is not really happy" in Washington, adding she wants to run for governor in 1974.

Walsh said she took the nomination reluctantly when she was kept from running for the U.S. Senate.

He said she has failed to be a "full-time congressman," calling her a "figurehead congressman."

Walsh is a member of the law firm that used to include Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

He also is politically close to GOP state Chairman J. Brian Gaffney.

TV: Mixed Blessing for the Movie Industry

By CHARLES CHAMPLIN
(c) The Los Angeles Times

HOLLYWOOD — It is one of the wilder ironies of our time that television has been so bad for the movies — and so good.

Television has siphoned off something like four-fifths of the movie-going audience. The movies used to have roughly 100 million customers every week; now there are perhaps 20 million.

One of every two Americans never goes out to a movie at all, ever, according to a survey taken for the movie producers themselves not too long ago.

And yet, whatever television may have done to the economics of the Hollywood studios or the theater chains, the medium has also made it possible for more people to be seriously interested in the movies and their gaudy past than ever before.

Television has taken the movies of the past out of dead storage and put them back in circulation. The tragedy of the movies has always been that they almost never had a shelf-life like books. There was never an available library of movies.

The early moguls thought of their movies as being as perishable as grapefruit (or lemons). If a movie bombed out on first release, it was put away to decompose, forgotten and unseen. Even if it was a success, when its initial release had soaked up every dime in sight, the movie was considered dead as an empty bottle.

Television changed all that. And while it was possible to be appalled at those gray, grainy, choppy old flicks which kept the used car commercials from colliding in the thin hours before dawn, those revivals whetted an appetite for more.

The last time I counted, there were something like 250 movies visible on television in a week in Los Angeles alone.

You used to have to be a film zealot with access to private collections, a first-rate museum or a campus series to see the range of movies now visible on television.

I grew up in a small town in upstate New York. It had a movie house (no more) but the diet was mostly Buck Jones and B-minus thrillers. I'm now catching up on movies I've been wanting to see for 30 years or more.

The pleasure of getting involved with Film Odyssey which appears in 212 U.S. cities, is that, never having had access (until fairly recently) to a good revival theater or museum programs, I'm having a chance to see movies like "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," "M," "The Blue Angel," "Potemkin" and "Grand Illusion" (to cite only a few). They're the movies often written about but hardly ever seen unless you're lucky.

What comes as a surprise, although it shouldn't be, is that they're such lively viewing. A classic anything tends to sound dull almost by definition. But a movie obviously becomes a classic because it never loses its power to entertain, and because its insights into human nature never go out of date.

The revivals of great old movies on television point up something else—that the movies are still a very young art-form, so young in fact that some of the pioneers who invented the language, as it were, are still around and still provocative.

Television may have shrunk the number of paying customers, but it has given the movies the most appreciative and best-informed audiences they've ever had. The blessing has been well-disguised, but any movie-lover (and I'm definitely one) will agree it is a blessing.

Coming Attraction: Real Trials on TV

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The man who is probably America's most famous trial lawyer believes that courtroom proceedings should be televised.

F. Lee Bailey says they should—and will. He is convinced that it's only a matter of time until trials are regularly available on home screens. He says some Minneapolis cases are already being televised.

"Televising trials," Bailey says, "is now feasible because the equipment has become unobtrusive. It doesn't disrupt the court anymore to have cameras around. And I think it would be a good thing for justice and for informing the public."

It would make existing lawyer shows on TV seem pretty pallid, of course. And Bailey is pretty strong—but not as strong as you might think—in his opinion of the legal shows now offered by the networks.

"They range," he says, "from bare mediocrity to pretty good. But I don't watch TV very much."

That becomes pretty obvious when he mentions the shows he thinks are pretty good—he cites "most of The Defenders and some of Judd for the Defense," and both those shows have been off the air for some years.

Bailey has a new book, "The Defense Never Rests," which deals with some of the important cases he has handled. And he says there is some interest among Hollywood movie producers in taking parts of the book—notably, those sections dealing with the Shepherd and Coppolino cases—for a feature film.

He thinks that acting training would be advantageous for lawyers (although he had none) but says there is one big difference between acting and appearing in a courtroom.

"There are no retakes in court," he says. "Lawyers must give everything they've got the first time."

Elwood Dowd and Friend In Hall of Fame's 'Harvey'

Jimmy Stewart re-creates his acclaimed portrayal of Elwood P. Dowd, whose friendship for an invisible rabbit named Harvey causes all sorts of problems, in the new "Hallmark Hall of Fame" production of "Harvey." It will be colorcast on NBC Wednesday, March 22 at 8:30 p.m. pre-empting "NBC Mystery Movie."

Helen Hayes co-stars as Dowd's widowed sister, Veta Louise Simmons, a good-hearted woman constantly distracted by the antics of her brother.

Also starring in this adaptation of the Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy by Mary Chase are Ariene Francis, Martin Gabel, Fred Gwynne, John McGiver, Richard Mulligan, and Jesse White.

Miss Francis appears as Betty Chumley, wife of Dr. William Chumley, played by John McGiver. Dr. Chumley is the head of Chumley's Rest, a sanitarium. Gabel is Judge Omar Gaffney, Veta's friend and lawyer; Gwynne is the cab driver; Mulligan is Dr. Lyman Sanderson, a psychiatrist at Chumley's Rest; and White is Wilson, the hospital attendant.

Stewart starred as Dowd in the original Broadway production of "Harvey," which also featured White as Wilson. The two shared the stage with Miss Hayes in the 1970 Broadway revival.

The play opens on a festive note as Veta and her daughter hold a party for the Ladies of the Wednesday Forum. Then Dowd appears and introduces Harvey to the guests—who make a hasty departure.

Veta takes Elwood to Chumley's Rest but, before she realizes what is happening, she becomes the patient. Confused and disheveled, she finally is released. Ensuing events soon make it clear that her confusion is shared by the staff members of the sanitarium, among others.

In spite of the tumult, Dowd remains friendly and calm. He continues to give out his calling cards and always introduces Harvey to anyone who happens to be near.
