

ZBA To Hear Bolte Appeal

Heading the agenda for tonight's meeting of the Zoning Board is an appeal by Bolte Advertising-Hartford, Inc. The ZBA has been ordered by the Common Pleas Court to hear Bolte's appeal of an order by the town to remove its billboard signs at nine locations.

The 7 p.m. meeting in the Municipal Building hearing room also will include a request for a special exception and variance for a gasoline service station, a petition for a limited repaper's license, and six other requests for variances.

The court ordered the hearing of Bolte's appeal last month after the company sought injunctions to prevent the town from taking legal action to have the signs removed.

Variances that formerly expired last year, Bolte applied to renew them, but the ZBA denied the application after an October hearing. The board voted in its denial that it had adopted new sign regulations in 1970 which prohibit billboards.

Instead of taking the case to court as provided in the regulations, Bolte later petitioned the ZBA for another hearing. After a long discussion at their Jan. 17 meeting, the board members voted not to hear the case. They were acting under board rules that stipulate an application cannot be reheard for a period of one year.

Bolte's attorneys then filed with the pleas court, which ordered that a hearing be held. Bolte also filed for a permanent injunction and $18,000 in damages.

Shut Down Feared At Drugs Center

Manchester's Drug Advisory Center, in operation just over two years, is in critical danger of shutting down in three weeks—for lack of operating funds.

It has put out an urgent plea for funds, cautioning the public, "You may need us later, and we won't be here unless you respond."

W. J. Godfrey, chairman of the Manchester Drug Advisory Council, said today that the center has only enough funds to operate to April 25.

Godfrey said the April 15 closing date "depends on how much money we raise between now and that day." He said the center will stay open until funds are exhausted. "As money comes in, we will keep postponing the closing week by week," he explained.

The center, in addition to the $10,000 provided by the town, depends on contributions for its operations.

Godfrey explained that a $15,000 federal grant received last August cannot be used for operating expenses until about three-fourths of the sum. If we close the center, we will lose the $15,000 grant.

Fingerprints of Virus

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The telltale biochemical fingerprints of a suspected human cancer virus have been found in the healthy relatives and friends of cancer victims, a scientist said Monday.

The discovery supports a provocative but still unproven idea that some cancers might be transmitted from person to person by a virus.

Dr. R. Kingsley Sanders of the Sloan Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York discussed the institute's latest study of the virus at a meeting of scientists from 11 countries meeting at Stanford University for a symposium on Hodgkin's disease—cancer of the lymphatic system.

Sanders and his colleagues reported last September evidence that two different virus-like particles exist in cancer cells taken from Hodgkin's disease patients and grown in the laboratory. The scientists said the next step was to test relatives, friends and others close to Hodgkin's disease victims for antibodies to the cancer virus particles. Antibodies would be produced by the body's natural defense mechanism after exposure to the virus and would be the fingerprints of the virus presence.

These studies, which Sanders said Monday were preliminary and incomplete, showed positive antibody tests in 60 per cent of those who did not have Hodgkin's disease but were closely associated with a victim of the disease.

Tests on workers at Sloan Kettering who have been exposed to the disease and other similar cancers showed 45 per cent with the antibodies.

Studies of "normal" individuals with no history of contact with the disease showed only 30

Bolte Appeal Denied

An appeal by Bolte Advertising-Hartford, Inc., for a rehearing of its appeal of an order by the Zoning Board to remove its billboard signs at nine locations in Manchester, was denied Monday.

The Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) said today that the center has only enough funds to operate to April 25.

Godfrey said the April 15 closing date "depends on how much money we raise between now and that day." He said the center will stay open until funds are exhausted. "As money comes in, we will keep postponing the closing week by week," he explained.

The center, in addition to the $10,000 provided by the town, depends on contributions for its operations.

Godfrey explained that a $15,000 federal grant received last August cannot be used for operating expenses until about three-fourths of the sum. If we close the center, we will lose the $15,000 grant.

Test Results Awaited In Incinerator Case

Black smoke from the incinerator of Crispino's Supreme Foods at 485 Hartford Rd. is considered injurious by the Town Health Department and has annoyed area residents for the last three years. So far, none of the efforts of residents or town officials to eliminate the problem have been successful, according to Mrs. Erika Gutreich of 183 Lyman St.

"It gets so bad we can't work in our yards or open our windows," she said. She added that residents don't smell burning meat as often as before but otherwise the situation has continued in the same way since the store opened on April 15, 1969.

Engineers from the State Department of Environmental Protection made several tests which have been analyzed in state laboratories but the results will not be available to the public until later this week. However, James (Dutch) Fogarty, town pollution control officer, believes the incinerator has been operating in violation of health regulations since at least June 14, 1971.

The first half of the concert was held on May 20, 1971, wrote to Fogarty. "It is the last few years that this incinerator stop emitting smoke that is injurious to the public."

Notice served
Paul Dion, air pollution enforcement officer of the State Department of Environmental Protection, said that he has received many complaints from residents who live near the store.

On June 29, 1971, a notice of violation of the odor regulation was served on Sam Crispino, store owner by the state department. On July 7, 1971, the department received a letter from Crispino stating that the odor violation had been corrected.

State authorities became involved in the situation after an order to shut down the operation of the incinerator was issued on May 10, 1971, by Dr. Nicholas A. Marzullo, town director of health. The incinerator continued to operate.

On July 17, 1971 Atty. Thomas R. O'Marra, then assistant town counsel, wrote to Dr. Frank Foose, commissioner of the Connecticut Health Department, that there was a controversy between Crispino and Fogarty.

In his letter, Atty. O'Marra said "The enforcement of air pollution control regulations is purely within the province of the State Department of Health." The letter requested that the department investigate this matter in accordance with Section 19-104 and other applicable provisions of Chapter 360 of the General Statutes.

(Last full state air pollution control was transferred from the Department of Health to the Department of Environmental Protection, a new commission, contains two buildings that were an integral part of the state's air pollution control system.)

Fogarty's efforts, starting in 1969, to stop excessive smoke from the incinerator were unsuccessful. On July 9, 1970 Dr. Marzullo, notified Supreme Foods Inc. of the existence of nuisance injurious to the health on its premises and ordered the incinerator shut down as of July 20, 1970.

On July 24, 1970 Crispino wrote to Dr. Marzullo that he had made revisions and modifications to the incinerator and would limit the number of persons using the incinerator and be of the American Cancer Society, has been strictly enforced by me as I have gone through a great deal of expense and aggravation trying to correct the situation and I certainly don't want the incinerator closed down just because some of my employees and salesmen or delivery men have been creating this piece of necessary equipment. Crispino said in his letter.

On Oct. 8, 1970 Fogarty wrote Crispino of frequent complaints of heavy smoke emissions. "I must be careful when firing the unit," Fogarty said. "If, in the future, I receive complaints and observe excessive emission, I will be forced to take action which could possibly lead to a shutdown of the unit."

Fogarty, on April 8, 1971, wrote again to Crispino concerning excessive smoke emissions. "I observed violations on April 2 and April 8. On both occasions the duration and density of the smoke was far greater than normal, when an isolated piece of foreign material laid in the charge," Fogarty said. "It appears you are not strictly enforcing the method of firing."

The last sentence of the letter is "I am advised that in the future, I observe any smoke other than normal, coming from your incinerator stack, I will request an immediate stop order." The order, issued by Dr. Marzullo, ordered that the incinerator be shut down as of June 14, 1971.

On July 14, 1971, Fogarty, representing Crispino, on May 20, 1971, wrote to Fogarty. "It is the last few years that this incinerator stop emitting smoke that is injurious to the public."

In his letter, Atty. O'Marra said "The enforcement of air pollution control regulations is purely within the province of the State Department of Health." The letter requested that the department investigate this matter in accordance with Section 19-104 and other applicable provisions of Chapter 360 of the General Statutes.

(Last full state air pollution control was transferred from the Department of Health to the Department of Environmental Protection, a new commission, contains two buildings that were an integral part of the state's air pollution control system.)

Fogarty's efforts, starting in 1969, to stop excessive smoke from the incinerator were unsuccessful. On July 9, 1970 Dr. Marzullo, notified Supreme Foods Inc. of the existence of nuisance injurious to the health on its premises and ordered the incinerator shut down as of July 20, 1970.

On July 24, 1970 Crispino wrote to Dr. Marzullo that he had made revisions and modifications to the incinerator and would limit the number of persons using the incinerator and be of the American Cancer Society, has been strictly enforced by me as I have gone through a great deal of expense and aggravation trying to correct the situation and I certainly don't want the incinerator closed down just because some of my employees and salesmen or delivery men have been creating this piece of necessary equipment. Crispino said in his letter.

On Oct. 8, 1970 Fogarty wrote Crispino of frequent complaints of heavy smoke emissions. "I must be careful when firing the unit," Fogarty said. "If, in the future, I receive complaints and observe excessive emission, I will be forced to take action which could possibly lead to a shutdown of the unit."

Fogarty, on April 8, 1971, wrote again to Crispino concerning excessive smoke emissions. "I observed violations on April 2 and April 8. On both occasions the duration and density of the smoke was far greater than normal, when an isolated piece of foreign material laid in the charge," Fogarty said. "It appears you are not strictly enforcing the method of firing."

The last sentence of the letter is "I am advised that in the future, I observe any smoke other than normal, coming from your incinerator stack, I will request an immediate stop order." The order, issued by Dr. Marzullo, ordered that the incinerator be shut down as of June 14, 1971.

Arrangements have been made by the cultural program committee. Ticket reservations may be made by calling the director of student activities.

The first half of the concert will be devoted to composers of three centuries. L. Weiss; 19th century, "Prelude and Allegro" by Mauro Gilliland.

After intermission, all pieces will be by 20th century composers. "Aire Nocturno" by M. L. Anido, "Two Valses" by Antonio Lauro, "The Bee" by Agustín Barrion, "Serenade Espanol" by Joaquin Albas, "Dance" by Enrique Granados, and "Legende" and "Malaguena" by Isaac Albeniz.

Rubio has studied with Daniel Fortes, Salis de la Maan, and the master, Andrea Segovia. ### Gas Station Allowed At Main and Turnpike

A special exception to allow a gasoline service station at the southeast corner of Main St. and E. Middle Tpk. was granted 4-1 last night by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Along with that permission, the board ruled a variance of the rule that stipulates a gas outlet must be 400 feet from the street.

Opposed in the vote was ZBA Chairman Rudy Pierre, who said he felt a gas station would "add to a bad traffic situation at that intersection."

Other members, however, felt a station would be an improvement because the applicant, developer Sol Levitt and James McCarthy, agreed in plans submitted with the application and presented by Leon Podrove, to deed a substantial radius curve at the intersection to the town.

Podrove, in his presentation, said Richard P. Hayes, a Manchester real estate broker, holds an option to purchase the site from Levitt and McCarthy.

The site, now vacant, contains two buildings that were an integral part of the state's air pollution control system.

Fogarty's efforts, starting in 1969, to stop excessive smoke from the incinerator were unsuccessful. On July 9, 1970 Dr. Marzullo, notified Supreme Foods Inc. of the existence of nuisance injurious to the health on its premises and ordered the incinerator shut down as of July 20, 1970.

Reporter Tells Steps of Story Origin to Print

A Herald reporter spoke to Mrs. Miriam Thayer's Bentley school fourth grade language arts group yesterday afternoon in connection with their newspaper unit.

Most of the talk concerned the steps followed by a story from its origins until it reaches print. He also mentioned some of the procedures in the photo effort method used by The Herald. He also mentioned some of the materials used in various departments of the newspaper were left with the class for future use and reference.

Opportunities were provided for the children to ask questions.

Although the class project concentrated on The Herald, projects requested sample copies of other newspapers published throughout the country and in England. These were compared during the course of the unit and are displayed in the room and corridor. One yellowed copy on exhibit was a 1929 issue of the now defunct Boston Advertiser.

The main objectives of the unit were to be to give the children a newspaper's service separate fact from opinion, increase vocabulary, acquaint the children with newspaper terminology.

$30,000 Loot In Bank Hood

STAMFORD (AP) — A branch of the Federal Trust Co. in Stamford was robbed of about $30,000 today by three men, two of them armed, bank officials said.

The branch was robbed of $28,000 last November.

Shortly after the bank opened, the three robbers entered and ordered five employees into a room and bound their hands and feet with duct tape. One of the robbers, a man in a dark suit, then ordered the employees to get into a room and stand with their hands behind their backs. The man in the dark suit then ordered the employees to get into a room and stand with their hands behind their backs.

District Warns Residents: Don't Remove Sewer Caps

The Eighth Utilities District Board of Directors has warned district residents not to remove the sewer cap in their homes in event of sewer problems.

Directors agreed last night that caps should not be removed without first calling the district public works department. Removing the cap is illegal, directors said, as well as being hazardous — it could flood a basement.

If a main sewer line is clogged, removing the cap would send sewage into a homeowner's basement, the directors said.

If called, district men would determine if the problem is in the main sewer line or in the house lateral. District men will be in the streets for an opening bid when your best suit is a minor.

Please ...  ... and DO it now!

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
The Drug Advisory Center of Manchester was one of the first groups in the United States to address themselves to the drug problem in concert with other agencies dealing with this subject. The results that this group have produced are most heartening but it is sad that their energies are still needed and probably will be for some time to come. We, as individuals, are not so shocked anymore to read of the deaths, the death and the thefts that are brought about by drug abuse. This is also sad for the problem is still with us and we serve your shock, your anger and your help to control it. Your support of the DAC will be of great aid in ridding our Town of Manchester of this problem.
SINCERELY,
Lyman B. Hoops

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
Drug dependence is becoming a characteristic of more and more of our young people. I would hope that the DAC could provide a focus for our concern for these people and a valuable resource for the whole community.
SINCERELY,
The Reverend Eugene F. Charman

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
The pharmacists of Manchester endorse and support the continuing program of the Drug Advisory Center. The efforts made by the DAC to combat this dire problem have been applauded by experts throughout the eastern seaboard and deserve not only your moral but also your monetary assistance.
SINCERELY,
Abraham Zubrow

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
Manchester, through the Drug Advisory Center, has made real progress in helping to control our drug use problem in order to keep funds and expand this work.
SINCERELY,
Dr. Harvey Patel

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
The Drug Advisory Council offers hope to all in Manchester who need help from drug problems. Without it that hope ceases. Its continuation is essential.
SINCERELY,
Atty. Allan D. Thomas

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
A solution for the drug problem in Manchester and the nation must be a top priority. The Manchester Drug Advisory Council needs the support of all of us.
SINCERELY,
R. Bruce Watkins

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
Efforts must be made to reach the potential drug abuser and to redirect the user away from a need to make a valiant attempt in both directions and can use the assistance of a concerned community.
SINCERELY,
Thomas Connors

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
The Drug Advisory Council of Manchester Chamber of Commerce is continuing drug programs that its activities be supported and continued.
SINCERELY,
Dr. John Wright

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
Manchester is fortunate in having a Drug Advisory Center to which young people and their parents can turn for advice and treatment regarding any drug problem. The center needs and deserves the support of everyone interested in the youth and future welfare of our community.
SINCERELY,
Dr. Charles E. Jacobson, Jr.

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
Drug dependency by youth has reached epidemic proportions. The DAC effort appears to be our best approach to reaching out to those who need help - both parents and children.
SINCERELY,
Robert B. Weiss

DEAR CONCERNED CITIZEN:
There is only one real way of overcoming epidemic addiction and that is through prevention. The DAC is contributing a valuable service in this direction to warrant the full support of a community of Manchester.
SINCERELY,
Dr. Tanah H. Atoyntan

Vernon High Court Reopens Jackson Theft Case

By JUNE LINTON (Herald Reporter)
Usually when an appeal is made to the state's Supreme Court it's the defendant who is looking for reconsideration. However in a decision released last night the high court granted an appeal made by the state and found error in a motion to dismiss which had been granted by a trial judge.
The case dates back to Sept. 1970 when James Jackson, then 26, of Vernon Gardens Apt. 26, Vernon was named an accomplice in the theft of a safe from the Rockville Memorial Nursing Home on June 11, 1970.
Ronald F. Strano Jr., then 19, of 10 Allen Dr. Vernon was arrested and later received a suspended sentence and probation for the theft. It was the second of two statements Strano made to police which implicated Jackson and which was the sole basis for the affidavit on which the bench warrant for Jackson's arrest was issued.
Public Defender Leo B. Flaherty Jr. argued a motion to dismiss the charges against Jackson after his arrest contending that Strano's credibility and the reliability of his information wasn't shown in any way in the affidavit. Judge Leo Parakey granted the motion dismissing the charges of breaking and entering with criminal intent and larceny against Jackson.
However Assistant State's Attorney Abbot Schwebel appealed this decision to the Supreme Court. It was argued in Flaherty's place by Atty. Martin Burke. Error was found and further proceedings ordered, but whether this will take the form of another appeal, this time to the U.S. Supreme Court or continue where they left off in Tolland County Superior Court hasn't been determined.
Strano was arrested a few weeks after Mrs. Ruth Macdonald, administrator of the nursing home, reported the theft. In Strano's first statement on June 20 he related that at about 10:30 p.m. on June 11 he pried open a screen and window and removed the safe to a wooded area to be opened, taking between $1,200 and $1,500 from it.
He made a second statement to police on Aug. 6, 1970 naming Jackson as his accomplice. He said they had in the past talked about "pulling a job to get any of the crucial statements of some money" and that he had Strano looking the defendant to phoned Jackson the night of June 11, that Jackson was agreeable and picked up Strano in his car about 9:45 p.m. After taking the safe to the wooded area in Jackson's car Strano said he opened it using a combination provided to him earlier by a girlfriend employed at the world make take occasion.

South Windsor Sewer Work Speeded By Mild Weather

Completion of the sanitary sewer installation expansion program approved by South Windsor voters in the November 1970, $5.3 million bond referendum is expected in December of this year, the Sewer Commission chairman, James Throws told the Town Council last night. Throws said "Barren catastrophes, labor strikes, materials shortages, etc." the sewer commission has approved additional extensions which include the Pleasant Valley Rd. to Northview Dr. request to winter for the expediency of the project.
In his report to the council, Avers Rd. from Graham Rd. Throws said that the net cost to taxpayers, after $845,000 in Federal aid is received from the Department of Housing and Urban Development and $850,000 from the Environment Protection Agency will be approximately $2,522,558, "almost half of what was approved by voters in the referendum," he said.
The entire sewer program Avery Brook, it has agreed to lower sewer lines on Birch Rd. and Kelly Rd. and an area of projects were returned lower than anticipated and were as follows: Contract A, Sullivan Wapping Interceptor, $1,000,000 approved at $1,191,023.50 and approved at $71,973; Contract B, Wapping Interceptor, $1,000,000 approved at $1,191,023.50 and approved at $71,973; Contract C, the Oakland trunk line, estimated at $640,000, was approved at $236,615; and Contract D, estimated $800,000. A reverse agreement between was approved for $919,642.90. Vernon and South Windsor has the original estimate did not being delayed because of some

Opposite Pathmark K-Mart Center Will Soon Rise

By BILL COE
(Herald Reporter)

A K-Mart shopping center containing some 94,500 square feet of selling space and having parking for more than 1,000 cars is planned for a 22-acre site off the north side of Spencer St. opposite the new Pathmark. Construction is slated for the near future.

K-Mart is a division of S. S. Kresge, national discount store chain whose 1971 sales are projected at close to $1 billion.

The change from rural to business on the land, formerly known as the best property, was contained in the courts by area residents after it was granted by the Planning and Zoning Commission, but the developer, Goodrich Associates of New York, for a special exception for a limited area rezoning's license. The ZBA later granted the request conditionally.

Goodrich Associates was represented by Atty. Leon Podvorn, who told the board the license was sought in conjunction with an automotive department in the K-Mart center.

The department would be primarily for sales of tires, batteries and accessories, Podvorn said, but wheel alignment and brake lining services might also be offered.

The department is planned for the extreme southwest corner of the building adjacent to West Cemetery. The building is to be a three-story structure.

Because of its location, ZBA Podvorn noted that a building permit for the center would require some sort of landscaping to buffer the business and cemetery.

Sketch plans presented for the developers showed grass plantings but no shrubbery along the end. However, representatives present at the session agreed to work out the details with the zoning inspector, and a stipulation for the planting was made part of the board's decision.

The shopping center is a permitted use in the area which will

Giles Outlines Costs For Redwood Water

Connecting the L and M Water System in the Redwood Farms development off Hilltown Rd. will cost $122,000 or $26,000, depending on how the connection is made, according to a report by Jay Giles, water and sewer administrator.

Town administrators were asked to report on the matter last August by the Board of Directors. The report was requested by then Director Carl Zimner, who lives in the area and sold many of the houses there. Zimner expressed some concern over summer bays on watering laws and filling pools in the development, as well as the quality of the fire protection.

Two routes for laying pipe to the Redwood Farms development are outlined in Giles' report. One would extend from the end of Hilltown Rd. to the development, and the other would extend from the end of Hilltown Rd. to the development, and the other would extend from the end of Hilltown Rd. to the development.

Washington Whirl

By MAXINE CRESHIRE
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—A "Hollywood public relations man" said that Howard Hughes has agreed to allow himself to be photographed for an authorized portrait that could be released to the public soon.

Perry Lieber, a publicist associated with the billionaire reclusive over the years, is arranging the assignment.

The man who is to get the job has not yet been told, Lieber said. His selection is being kept secret until the last possible moment to prevent his making any kind of personal arrangement to sell the picture to someone willing to pay a substantial sum for its exclusive use.

"Can you imagine what that picture would be worth?" Lieber asked.

Plans now call for the photos to be released to all media simultaneously.

Lieber would identify the photograph only as someone who has been photographed Hughes enough in the past to be able to swear that the man in the new portrait is indeed Hughes.

Lieber has been trying for years to get Hughes to have a picture taken in public to prove that he is alive and well. Even before the Clifford Irving hoax, Lieber wanted Hughes to walk through one of his Las Vegas gambling casinos for a pool of selected cameramen.

If all goes well with Lieber's plans, and the proposed picture is taken and distributed to the world media, he is hopeful that Hughes will take the next step and hold a press conference.

After that, he says, he expects the public's curiosity to be satisfied sufficiently so that the intense interest of recent months will give way to boredom with the whole subject.

Lieber, who works out of Los Angeles, was reached at the Hughes hotel properties office in Las Vegas.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Nifty Ways to Display Baby's First Spoon

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I have two ideas for Frances who wants to display her baby's first spoon. The first (which is best for a jeweler) is to have it made into a ring. The spoon part is cut off and the handle twisted into a ring shape with the design to the front. The child's initials and birth date could be engraved on the inside.

The second is best for stainless steel which does not tarnish. Buy a frame, cover the backing with fabric and then attach the spoon to the fabric-covered back and replace it in the frame minus the glass. Thank you for the column. It has been a life saver many times.—MRS. C. A. R.

DEAR POLLY—Frances might be interested to know that the new thing in our town is using baby spoons to make jewelry. The small sterling ones make lovely pins. The most stunning use I have seen was a spoon with a curved handle hung on a long and rather heavy chain to wear around the neck.—CLARA

DEAR POLLY—One of the girls wanted to preserve her baby's first spoon. I suggest taking it to an arts and crafts shop and have it put on a paperweight or as an ornament on a table.—GEORGIA

DEAR POLLY—Help! What can I do to straighten plastic collar stays that were accidentally left in when the shirts were laundered?—MRS. E. S.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with people who borrow books and never return them. I have nearly 200 books which I am very glad to lend to anyone who wants to read them. I always write my name in the front, yet many are never returned. I try to keep a list of the borrowers but often when I ask someone about a book, the answer is "Oh, I returned that book long ago." Please, friends, look over your bookshelves to see if you have a book belonging to someone else.—BERYL

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Please comment on anxiety neurosis and neuroathenia. Are they the same? What treatment is prescribed for them? Would taking iron tablets help the tired feeling associated with them? Is a full recovery possible? After loss of sleep continuously for two years with my third child, this disorder happened to me? Was that the cause? Please give me your opinion.

Dear Reader—First it is important to realize that everybody has anxiety. Anxiety is a first cousin of fear and it is the usual response to some anticipated danger or difficulty. There is hardly a person who won't have anxiety if someone has a revolver against his head.

Actually, a certain degree of anxiety sometimes stimulates people to perform better than they otherwise would. But persistent anxiety or too much anxiety can actually decrease efficiency.

When the anxiety becomes severe enough to cause problems or interfere with performance or becomes out of proportion to the threat of danger it is properly called an anxiety neurosis. The individual feels uncomfortable and tense. These sensations are changes in moods. In addition, the person may have disturbance in their normal intellectual capacity or they may develop symptoms of illness which may include indigestion, tremor, rapid heart beat, high blood pressure, over-breathing, increased salivation and dilated pupils. The prolongation of this state often leads to fatigue. The listlessness and fatigue that people experience with anxiety gives rise to the term neuroathenia. These people often have feelings of faintness.

According to your letter, you were under continuous strain for two years with your third child. Although you don't explain why this was true, it is reasonable to assume that you had a certain amount of anxiety or that your responsibilities with your other children and running the household, plus the problem with the third child, severely strained your capacity and caused you to be anxious about being able to cope with the situation.

There are many causes for anxiety and anxiety is indeed one of them. It is true that anemia will cause fatigue but there are far more cases of fatigue than there are of anemia. Of course, if you should have iron deficiency anemia, it should be able to be diagnosed very simply and proper treatment should be easily provided.

The usual treatment for prolonged anxiety of the type you describe is reassurance, a physician who can sit down and discuss the various problems with the individual frequently enough for the patient to thoroughly explore his life situations and his problems and by talking about them usually some of the anxiety or fear disappears. For simple anxieties such help is often successful. Transference has been used with varying degrees of success, but for chronic anxiety, it is preferable to have psychiatric therapy to see if the basic problems can be resolved.

ELJEM SPEAKING

There is a certain fascination and gleam of excitement in seeing the first birds of spring as they arrive from their winter quarters, some by one's or two's others in large flocks. Those who know the migration habits of the different birds can almost use them as a calendar.

The amazing punctuality of the swallows returning from their winter quarters in Argus, Utah to Mission San Juan Capistrano (Calif.), has been recorded by the mission fathers for 183 years. During that time they failed only once to return on the same day of the year, March 19th.

Regional records assembled over the years by ornithologists, special observation posts and bird clubs have provided a fairly accurate calendar of the dates certain species may be expected to appear locally. Some of these spring migrants, while others pass briefly on their way farther north. Among the latter are the many and colorful varieties of warblers which go through our area in great numbers during the early spring.

The annual spring bird count of the Hartford Audubon Society is scheduled from May 6th to May 21st as these migrants can be included in their count.

The earliest birds to arrive here are seed eaters. Flocks of robins, cowbirds and red-winged blackbirds have already been seen as well as a number of sparrows, a few bluebirds, some grackles and a meadow lark or two.

With the exception of the fox sparrow which will most likely wander farther north, these newcomers will probably remain here as the weather becomes warm enough for plant life to develop, the time eating birds will begin to appear.

Around the first of April one can expect to see the beneficial marvellous autumnal journey made with such surprising regularity by so many of our birds, the greater becomes our interest in these flights. Ornithologists have fairly well established the migration routes of most of our birds, but are still searching for many answers to fully explain their migration habits. This also is the time when the wood ducks return to their great Groves Nature Center. The great blue heron and green heron have also been seen in the area.

During May and April, marked changes in temperature are less likely to occur and the migration becomes more regular and continuous. In May particularly, many birds arrive within a day or two of a certain date. By the time June arrives, our birds are busily engaged in nest building, egg laying, incubating or caring for their young.

Whenever possible, they will sense the advantage of a good tail wind and some of them have been known to cover 200 to 400 miles in a single night's flight. Any consideration of the phenomena of migration inevitably leads to the question: "How do birds find their way?" What faculty directs them over thousands of miles of land and water with an accuracy that brings them to the same locality, even the same nest site at 100 feet, the speed at which they fly has also been the object of much study.

Through various methods of observation, ornithologists believe that the average speed of our smaller birds is no more than 30 to 40 miles an hour; still something far more potent than eye, ear and memory must lead them over vast expanses of water with no landmarks to follow.

It is not a matter of "distant orientation" or exhaustion along the way, mean that birds possess a strong "homing instinct" or argument in favor of this theory, which, when we may not know all the reasons why birds migrate, but we can know the joy of their return and each spring. No sound is so welcoming as the "homing" call birds bring from the pond or the song of the respective homes is a strong lawn.
