Dita Beard To Give Bedside Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of senators travel to Denver this weekend to take bedside testimony from Dita Beard, the sitting International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. lobbyist who may hold the key to whether her company received preferential treatment from the Nixon administration.

A seven-member Senate Judiciary subcommittee will take three days of testimony starting Sunday from the 37-year-old Mrs. Beard, recuperating from a heart ailment in the Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Tuesday a new report from Mrs. Beard's doctors said her health has improved sufficiently since she entered the hospital three weeks ago to allow longer interviews than had originally been planned. Three-day sessions are scheduled.

The committee has wanted to hear from Mrs. Beard since a memo allegedly written by her was published by syndicated columnist Jack Anderson. The memo appeared to link the settlement of three antitrust suits against ITT to a pledge by the firm to help finance the 1972 Republican National Convention in San Diego.

Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst asked the committee for the hearings in order to answer the allegations of Anderson. Kleindienst's nomination to succeed former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who resigned March 1 to run President Nixon's re-election campaign, must be confirmed by the committee.

Kleindienst, Mitchell and ITT President Harold E. Green have testified since the committee began its hearings March 2 and each has denied any link between the antitrust settlement and a $400,000 pledge cited by Anderson.

Mrs. Beard landed a giant bombshell last Friday night when she said in a statement from her hospital bed that the memorandum cited by Anderson was a fraud and a hoax. She said she had written one but it

What will soon be a sanitary sewer manhole stands alone in a ditch by the side of Greenwood Dr. Davoren and Connelly of Hartford is installing the sewer line there, the last portion of a project authorized by the Board of Directors over a year ago to alleviate problems of some residents with septic tanks.

The Hartford firm was low bidder for the work at $24,142. A total of $20,226 has been appropriated for this and two other sewer projects, one on Overlook Dr. and another on Greenwood Dr. The other two projects have already been completed.

To the left and right of the manhole can be seen the reason this portion of the project was bid three times before an acceptable bid was received, namely a considerable amount of rock ledge in the area which had to be blasted to clear a path for the sewer. (Herald photo by Pinto)

That Hospital Bill At Hartford

Not only the management of Connecticut hospitals, but their "customers," as well, need to be concerned about the new revival, in the General Assembly at Hartford, of a proposal to place too large a degree of state bureaucratic supervision over them.

The nature of the political drive at Hartford is easily analyzed. Rising hospital costs - part of all the inflation of every kind which is controlling the national economy - are very much in the headlines.

Some of the argument made at Hartford in supposed illustration of the economies and efficiencies hospitals might achieve, if there were some kind of state board riding herd on them, have listed practices and systems already in effect at Manchester Memorial Hospital thanks to the imagination and enterprise of local hospital management.

As for the cost of everything in general these days, including hospital care, there obviously has to come some day of reckoning. But if any legislative body wants to address its talents to the problem, it is best to do so in a way that is not only politically astute but also ethically sound.

Who really needs such legislation? Not the hospitals, and not their patients. The need, we suggest, is limited to people in elected office who think they can make points for themselves by a grandstand play in an area of great public concern.

Senator Muskie, confronted with two races in which he faced only one other candidate at a time, managed to avoid any further deterioration of his candidacy, but he did not do much to improve it.

In the popularity side of the Illinois primary, he was facing nothing more than a somewhat eccentric ghost of the 1948 Eugene McCarthy. To defeat, by a margin of two to one, a name which wasn't even really a candidacy, was no great victory.

Inside Report

The Hypocrisy On Busing

In some sections of the deep South, a White House spokesman suggests that the arrival of real integration agreements would mean much less busing, rather than more busing.

And what this possibility illustrates and brings up to the surface is the real nature of some of the emotions and instincts which lie beneath the busing and which render it such a risky business for a President of the United States or a would-be leader of any major political party to try to handle.

The Journal reporter located circumstances such as these: White children who have been riding a bus 20 miles a day in order to get to a pure white school have been taken off the bus as soon as some black children also began to ride the same bus to the same school.

Nobody in the South calls it busing when black children are transported long distances, past white schools, in order to keep them segregated in a black school of their own.

The philosophy underlying this was summed up by one citizen in Alabama who said: "If a kid's got to ride a bus 50 miles to get to school, I'm in favor of it. But I'm not in favor of carrying them one mile to achieve integration."

This is, of course, a report of the rather naked nasty side of the busing issue. One thing that can be said for those who both practice and preach that way is that they are at least honest and open in admitting their motivation.

There is more than can be said for those who regard busing for purposes of integration as something that must be halted immediately but who have no complaint against busing designed precisely for purposes of segregation.

But there is practically nobody who, when he understands it, has the right to climb into the critic's seat and accuse others of hypocrisy. There is some of that in most of us, and the real cure, if there is such, lies not in battling self-exempting accusations back and forth, but in getting down, humbly and prayerfully, to our common need for some kind of grace which might reorganize the deep, instinctive recesses of our human hearts.

One man, one vote has failed. The old Warren Court doesn't exist any more, but the can of worms it opened with its "one man, one vote" ruling is still discharging its writhing contents. Would that the court has stepped down from its lofty philosophical plane long enough to spell out just how it thought mere mortals - and politicians at that - were expected to make its convoluted formula work.

Golda's Newest Worry

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON - Although Israel's public mood toward President Nixon is more euphoric today than at any time since he took office, Israeli fears of a U.S.-Soviet deal at the expense of Israel during Mr. Nixon's mission to Moscow now threaten to undermine that surface harmony.

The real existence of these fears, in fact, is beginning to corrode Nixon's prestige in the relations established between the President and Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir during their long, private conversation here in December, details of which are still a White House secret.

What Mrs. Meir now wants is assurance that President Nixon will bar any Middle East agreements with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev and other Soviet leaders during his week of summit talks in May. Considering the fact that Mrs. Meir has now extracted virtually everything she asked for, including a new batch of Phantom fighter bombers and other advanced military technology to guarantee Israel's continuing superiority over the Arabs, this desire to keep the Middle East off the Nixon-Brezhnev agenda is angering the President's foreign policy advisers.

If the Russians raise the Middle East with the President, one told us dryly, "the President will talk no matter what they want in Tel Aviv." Actually, Administration experts see little if any chance of a deal with Moscow to break the deadlock that finds Israel still in control of all Arab lands seized five years ago. But the Israelis, always terrified by the spectre of a settlement "imposed" on them by the great power, sharply disagree on grounds that Moscow has a major card to play and strong incentive to play it.

The Russians designed the Rogers plan out of hand, but U.S. strategists now believe Moscow regrets that hasty turn-down. Calling for complete Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai peninsula, the Rogers plan was also totally unacceptable to Israel. It still is.

The Soviet incentive, in Israeli eyes, is obvious, and that is Moscow's increasing need to satisfy its Arab clients by bringing about Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai peninsula. Soviet prestige has been steadily declining within the Arab world, with two major setbacks: The humiliating failure of a Soviet-backed Communist coup d'etat in Sudan last year; and the highly visible Soviet help to India in the India-Pakistan war last winter. Arab states, led by Egypt, were bitter that the Russians might hold it possible to help India achieve what it wanted in South Asia but for almost five years have been powerless to help the Arabs achieve a return of the conquered Arab territories.

According to this Israeli scenario, Soviet leaders might hold other President Nixon a plan to reduce the estimated 14,000 Soviet military technicians and advisers now in Egypt as an inducement for Mr. Nixon to resurrect the discarded Rogers plan. If any such arrangement were hatched in Moscow, it would remove one of the earlier Soviet objectives - the fact that the Rogers plan carried a "Made in Washington" label.

The Nixon administration reaction to these Israeli suspicions is extreme irritation. No matter how ephemeral a Nixon-Brezhnev agreement on the Middle East may be, Mr. Nixon's top advisers deeply resent any effort by Israel to limit his freedom of negotiation at the Moscow summit.

Sales of U.S. built cars last month set a record for any February, exceeding the previous high set in 1965 according to the Bureau of Advertising. U.S. auto makers sold 697,724 cars during the month, an increase of 8.5 per cent over the same month in 1971. M.S. has been called an abbreviation in search of a word. Advocates of women's liberation have pointed out that the letters are just a manufactured designation for a female person of unspecified marital status and don't really stand for anything. However, a quick dip into the dictionary reveals: M.S. means, variously capitalized or uncapitalized, Master of Science.

It also denotes a medium ship, master sergeant, maximum stress, mean square, medium shot, metric system, multiple sclerosis, missewreper. Some of the above words have a definite woman's liberation ring to them. And since little is already carried such a heavy freight of meanings, how about one more, even by taking the owner's name.

Col. William Dickson, William Glenney, George Dolieris, and Jack Byrnes were among these property owners expressing their opposition to the road. Also speaking against the road were representatives from the Coventry group that is taking the lead in the local Stop 184 movement. Residents Responsible Planning, Daniel Manley, Brian Heath and Joseph Kornblod spoke about the Stop 184 drive and the contention that highway money should be spent on studies of mass transportation methods, as well as the feeling that the highway is "inevitable." The REP is claiming that the route is inevitable, and that it can indeed be stopped.

Other arguments by the REP were that the route through Coventry will cause uncontrolled growth, destroying the rural charm of the "last green mile" in the center paths in the polis, that the state has neither offered nor studied alternatives to a highway, and that in its own study of the impact on the environment the state offers no justification for the highway.

Sen. George Aiken of Vermont made a strong case for a single national election in August. The amendment makes sense. Under their plan, and following the single primary, there would be a runoff between the two leaders four weeks later if none got as much as 40 per cent of the vote. It would mean two national campaigns, one before August and one before November, with a third in between in event of a runoff. It would also mean reducing the national conventions to the dull task of choosing vice presidential nominees and adopting party platforms, functions hardly justifying present elaborate procedures.

Manstead and Aiken say the present hodge-podge of state primaries is a poll on a poll, an unfair to the candidates and to the voters, and that the increase to 26 this year from 14 in 1968 doesn't signify enhancement of the democratic process but rather an attempt to get in the limelight and attract campaign spending. Candidates who have won primaries have been rejected by the national convention, contrary to the current popular one-man, one-vote concept. It seems the present state presidential primary system is bad and getting worse. It is mind-numbing, nerve-racking, enormously expensive and stretched over far too long a time. The results of individual primaries generally involve purely local concerns and candidacy may be made or broken by a ridiculously small percentage of eligible voters. The Manstead-Aiken amendment deserves careful study.

The San Diego, Calif., police have budgeted $284,758 to pay for training men in riot control in advance of the Aug. 21 Republican National Convention. Poll at Meeting Shows Majority Against Highway

The Coventry Town Council polled the audience of well over 100 at a special 184 meeting last night, after hearing comments on the proposed link of the highway through town if it receives final approval. Results of the straw vote showed 81 "totally opposed" to 184, 18 opposed to it in Coventry and 2 in favor.

Albert Bradley, chairman of the Town Council, told the assembled residents that the council had called the special hearing in order to gather information and opinions from town residents during the month, an increase of 8.5 per cent over the same month in 1971. The Wall Street Journal meanwhile says predictions of a record year for the U.S. auto industry look good.

Finance Board Takes Up $2,789,390 School Request

Several good natured barbs were tossed back and forth between members of the Tolland Board of Education as the Board of Finance, during last night's presentation of the $2,789,390 school budget proposed for next year.

Both boards realized the budget will cut, the question is by how much.

Two large expenditure areas have yet to be reviewed by the school board members, according to Dr. Kenneth MacKenzie, both dealing with purchases of new equipment.

The Capital Outlay account jumps from $1,104,000 to a requested $103,200 including requests from all the schools, plus a $50,000 item for the purchase of three portable classrooms for the middle school.

The requests have been trimmed slightly by the superintendent who told of returning a $40,000 equipment request from the high school industrial arts department alone.

According to the budget breakdown, $325 is requested by the health department in all the schools; $55,668 is requested by the high school; $7,457 by Meadowbrook; $6,415 by Hicks; and $2,894 by the middle school.

An additional item which appeared to be flexible was the replacement of equipment, which jumps from $1,500 at present to $15,500.

Included in this category is a Meadowbrook request for a copy machine, filmstrip projectors, trapezoidal tables, photocopier, 24-inch paper cutters and musical instruments.

Hicks is seeking a record player, classroom clocks, projection screen, filmstrip projectors, teacher desks and chairs.

The high school is seeking a reconditioned offset press, replacement bases for microscopes, typing cabinet, 15 Royal typewriters, 44 projection lamps, an abrasive cutting machine, a gas stove and two sewing machines.

No requests are submitted by the Middle school because of the recent equipping of the school.

Detailed Presentation

Dr. MacKenzie presented a line by line description of the budget, fielding occasional questions from the finance board during the almost four hour meeting.

The finance board was interested in determining just how

Board of Education Explains Its Budget

During the last three years, the Tolland schools "have only offered a minimum school program due to retrenchments in the level of school support by the Community," according to Dr. Kenneth MacKenzie, superintendent of schools.

The superintendent's comments were made during the presentation of the $2,789,390 budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year, and will attempt to complete the board's commitment itself to Dr. MacKenzie's agreed summary could prove beneficial for all the new programs the board has committed itself to.

Dr. MacKenzie agreed the board would make the $2,789,390 and will attempt to complete the board's commitment itself to Dr. MacKenzie's agreed summary could prove beneficial for all the new programs the board has committed itself to.

The school board did delete a $40,000 appropriation for the budget which would have been used to purchase a fleet of school buses for the town. The board instead will attempt to obtain a one-year school bus contract for the town, delaying the start of the local acquisition program for one year.

Acknowledging the severe financial problems which occur in the town every year at budget time, Dr. MacKenzie has detailed the budget to a great extent where they fall further and further behind each year, according to the superintendent.

The teaching position requested for the LDC program will be two-thirds reimbursable from the state.

Middle School Positions

Increased enrollment in the Middle school fifth and sixth grades will require three additional teachers.

A similar situation occurs with the art teachers where a part time teacher can no longer be shared with the high school and a full time person is requested.

Music again, is a prime problem. At present the middle school, largest in town shares its only music teacher with the 500 student Hicks school.

"What we are doing in reality, is denying both student bodies an opportunity to develop their talents in music... this must be remedied," MacKenzie pleads.

Specialized Staff

Physical education is short staffed at both the high school and the middle school, if a health program is to be taught effectively by the physical education staff additional teachers are needed.

The middle school enrollment will surpass 900 students in September and only two gym teachers are at the school.

Specialized Positions

An elementary guidance counselor is being sought to relieve the 1,250 student to one counselor load in grades K-4, permitting both Meadowbrook and Hicks to have their own counselor.

An additional guidance counselor is requested for the student counselor load to 250:1 still above the generally recommended 200:1 ratio.

The middle school guidance staff is seeking a clerk.

A speech therapist is being sought full-time, whose salary will be two-thirds reimbursable from the state.

"We cannot postpone the employment of a full-time speech therapist any longer," Dr. MacKenzie says, adding the state requires the position.

A request for a school psychologist is also included as a "must" item.

Teacher aides are being sought for instructional assistance in the Meadowbrook British Primary system and the Hicks School Individually Guided Education program. The 14 aides requested are budgeted at $32,000.

The 13 teaching positions are budgeted at $8,000 each or $104,000.

Plan Unveiled in Tolland For Small Shopping Center

Preliminary plans for a small shopping center on Marrow Rd. are being presented to the Planning and Zoning Commission tonight by developer Eldredge Yost.

The shopping center will consist of a Chamberlain Farm store, two rental stores and a gas pump island.

According to plans submitted, the center will be constructed next to the Marrow Rd. fire station at the intersection of Rhodes Rd.

Approval for a gas station at the location was granted by the Zoning Board of Appeals in April, 1970.

The plans were delivered to Crisscross Planning engineers for the commission for review, with the requirement that the engineers advise the site to inspect any drainage tests being made.

Robert Farms

Several residents of the Buff Cap Rd.-Paines Rd. area appeared before the PZC in opposition to the plan for the construction of the Robert Farms operation destroyed by fire last month.

A petition signed by about 20 residents of the area was filed with the PZC, asking the commission to revise its zoning regulations which prohibit pig-breeding on the farm, and egg processing plants.

Complaints of the stench emanating from the farm, of heavy feed supply trucks which drive through the area, and of kettling game.

The Board of Education will hear a report describing the plan on a trial basis at the middle school, during tonight's meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. in the board's offices at the Hicks Memorial School.

Also on the agenda, is a review of the school bus transportation bid forms and a report on the in school teacher-union contract.

Three items have been submitted to the board from Richard Borsini, schoolmaster, including a request involving data processing services; in service days for accreditation and recognition of merit-awards.

Players on the winning team were Captain Dale Babes, Delia Mimick, Barbi Bolduc, Susan Evans and Candy Clancy.

The girls will play an all-star game April 7 at the high school. In April 9 they will play in a girls tournament to be held with Ellington and Enfield at Tolland High School.

Two at UConn Get Fulbright Study Grants

STORRS (AP) — Fulbright grants for work abroad next year have been awarded to an American literature teacher and an authority in Italian government at the University of Connecticut.

Dr. Richard L. Taylor, an assistant professor of English, plans to spend the 1972-73 academic year in Rumania teaching American literature to students at a university in Timisoara near the Hungary-Yugoslavia border.

Dr. Norman Kogan, director of the Center for Italian Studies at the university, is conducting research at the University of Rome.

"One inescapable fact is that more children require more classrooms, more teachers, more textbooks and more supplies," MacKenzie contends only one teaching position was added last year despite an approximate 200 student increase. A comparable increase in student enrollment is expected in September.

In effect the proposed budget provides for making up the difference in staff positions for the two-year period.

A major item boosting the capital outlay budget from $11,500 to $15,500, is the proposal to purchase three portable classrooms for the middle school. It will be up to the Board of Education to determine whether the classrooms should be purchased outright for $40,000 or whether the amount should be bonded over a period of years.

The $50,000 cost is offset by a $25,000 state grant which will be returned to the town's general fund.

The school board did delete a $40,000 appropriation for the budget which would have been used to purchase a fleet of school buses for the town. The board instead will attempt to obtain a one-year school bus contract for the town, delaying the start of the local acquisition program for one year.

Officials Discuss Health Service Contract Wolcott Group Plans $25 Million Track

The Bolton selectmen met with the town's health service officials in these terms. He said that over the past few months, he and four representatives of the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association have been planning for town health programs for the coming year. Those present expressed concern over a recent decision of the Board of Education to renew its contract with RPHNA when it expires June 30.

Harold Laws, chairman of the Board of Health, explained that if the town and school do not purchase the nursing services in a "package," the town will forego a state grant of approximately $4,700.

Laws termed the school board's decision to terminate its portion of the contract "arbitrary" and said "it has opened the door to health care in our town."

The town health officer Dr. Robert Buttrick said that he has been planning to meet with the selectmen and school director last week after hearing that the contract with RPHNA had been canceled, said he had doubts about the efficacy of a non-coordinated health program for the town and school, stressing the importance of continuity of service between the home and the school.

It was noted that the school nurse is not allowed to enter the home, and must refer any school problems to a social worker or public health nurse. Under the present system, the school nurse is also the town nurse and, thus, is able to work with problems from both aspects.

Reasons questioned

Although the school board has cited rising costs as the major reason for the decision to pull out of Rockville, several persons present last night expressed the belief that the reasons were other than financial.

Connecticut track, Burnham said. As envisioned by Farmington Development, Yankee Downs would be able to accommodate up to 25,000 persons on special occasions, would draw 12,000 to 15,000 on an average night (all races would be held at night), would have only horse racing—both thoroughbred and harness, and would employ about 1,000 persons while pouring $25 million a year into the coffers of the state.

"We've tried to do things the proper way," said the doctor. "We get our community behind us before we take another step," he said, referring to Wolcott's approval of a zoning change that cleared the way for construction of a racetrack.

Burnham said he hoped the state would not go ahead with its tentative plans to allow dog racing and jai alai as well as horse racing. He said that this would displace the value of horse racing as a money-raiser for the state, and the establishment of additional horse tracks would displace the financial potential of a single racetrack.

town and school participation in the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association for the 1972-73 fiscal year is $19,895 which would be reduced by the grant of approximately $4,700.

Woods Hole Haddock Crop First Spawned in Pens

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — Haddock, a traditional and popular food fish, is being spawned in captivity for the first time in the United States at a government marine laboratory in Narragansett, R. I., it was announced today.

The National Marine Fisheries Service at Woods Hole said 12 sexually mature haddock were placed in experimental tanks Feb. 17 under very rigidly controlled temperatures. "As the haddock spawned in captivity, the females enlarged noticeably," said Dr. Geoffrey Lawrence, who directed the experiment.

On the afternoon of March 3, there were eggs in the water," he said. "When we came to work the next morning, there were eggs in the water so we knew the fish had spawned."

Attention! Attention! TAKE A BUS WITH US

The Connecticut Department of Transportation would like to determine how many commuters in this area would use an express bus to reach the central business district of Hartford. As part of the Department's program to reduce traffic on highways and thereby increase the safety and efficiency of the system, they are supporting efforts to encourage people to leave their cars in the suburbs and utilize mass transit or car pools.

At this time it is not known if there is sufficient interest in the other areas to support a similar service east and south of Hartford. The Department of Transportation will analyze the information which commuters provide by completing and mailing the questionnaire below.

Water Firm Purchase Tabled, Engineer Foresees Problems

If the town of Vernon decides to buy the Vernon Water Company it will also buy problems, according to town engineer Leonard Saccary.

The engineer was asked to make a report on the water facility which is owned by Barney Moses of Vernon and has been put up for sale.

After listening to Saccary's report, the Town Council, Monday night, voted to table the matter of buying the facility for 90 days until further information is obtained.

The company, which serves 72 customers in the Vernon center area, was up for sale about two years ago. At that time the customers were given first option to purchase it. A definite interest was shown and at a meeting, the customers were told the offer called for the sale of stock units of 100 shares at $200 a unit. The customers were to come up with a minimum of $70,000 toward the purchase price of $112,000. They failed to negotiate an agreement, the town showed little interest in the purchase and the company was taken off the market.

It is now back on the market at an asking price of $210,000, "free of all obligations." It was suggested by Moses' attorney that payment could be made at the option of the town, either in cash or as an installment sale by mortgage for any future excess with a payment of $50,000 in parson. It was noted that some cash and the rest amortized 150 additional homes would be over a period of 10 years with interest at four per cent per annum.

Added School Staff Sought To Expand Library Hours

The Board of Education took a step toward extending the hours the school libraries will be open but has yet to figure out a way to find salary money for additional library staff.

The action was taken at a special meeting of the board, Monday night, when it was decided to investigate as to which type of staff would fit the need for additional hours which will require six additional persons to work 15 hours a week each.

Board member Robert DuBren stressed the fact that the school libraries are not open in books and the hours they are open. He suggested that each library be assigned a director to handle the books. Sweden Eyes New Growth In Drug Use

Sweden's main addiction problem has been amphetamine and other pharmacological drugs, rather than heroin. However, the size of the pill addict population has been stabilizing and that young people have apparently been staying away from pills.

The data of the upswing in early 1972, the attorney general said, seemed to involve the use of hashish.

Singer Stretch-Your-Dollars Sale

Letters have been sent out to Democratic Town Committee Members, by Mrs. Marie McCarthy, asking support for her bid as vice chairman of the town committee.

The town committee will reorganize in April and Chairman Alster Brooks has indicated he will not seek re-election to the office which he held for two years.

Mrs. Marie Johnson, present vice chairman has also said she does not plan to seek re-election. Besides Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. Helen Daly has indicated she is interested in the post of vice chairman.

Mrs. McCarthy has been active in the Democratic party for many years. She said she plans to follow up her letter, asking support, with an outline of ideas and policies she would like to see implemented.

One Touch Sewing stretches your sewing. Get this Touch & Sew portable zig-zag machine by Singer. One touch starts a smooth, even buttonhole. One touch winds the Singing exclusive Push-Button Bobbin inside the machine. Choice of great Singer stretch stitches.

The name of Mrs. Marie Johnson has also been mentioned. Mrs. Johnson is a member and secretary of the Board of Education and she feels her first obligation is to that board. She said she does not intend to campaign actively for the post.

Rockville Public Housing Rents Increased

Starting April 1, rent increases of $5 a month will go into effect on the town's state-financed housing projects for the elderly.

Francis Pitrat, executive director of the local Housing Authority has been notified that the state has given its approval to the rent increase which will bring the monthly rents to $200 a month and the one-bedroom two state projects at Franklin Park, East and 52 Grove Street, will hold its annual "Bands in Battle" contest, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. at Rockville High School.

Book Review

THE CONSPIRACY, by John Hersey. Hersey, the author of "Hiroshima," has written a book about the life of Nero, who had become a disciple and devotee of the emperor, more interested in orgies than in running his empire.

The author's researches are impressive. He has been able to visit the localities of Nero's life, and he has interviewed the principal figures in the tale: the Roman poet Lucan and the philosopher Seneca, both of whom have left Nero's name. From the plot standpoint, two of the most active figures are Tigellinus, commander of the Praetorian Guard, and Pallas, head of the secret police, both of whom are in the thick of the effort to identify the conspirators.

THE ABSENCE OF BELLS, by Michael Rubin. McCarrawell. The tortured heroine of this novel is a young woman who is so surrounded by lies and duplicity that it is a wonder she retains a semblance of sanity.

Her name is Lynn. She has had a "breakdown" and is getting treatment from a headshrinker. Her husband is a industrial psychologist, also has his problems, but his unemployment is that he makes a production out of "understanding" her. Their son is at a private school. Lynn has analyzed everyone in sight, and she thinks he does.

THE WORLD OF ART, by Robert Payne. Doubleday & Co. $12.50.

When so many specialists appear to be using the various arts in a socially self-disciplinary, grim, even masochistic way, it is a pleasure to find an author who expresses unashamedly the exaltation he experiences so frequently in re-creating the history of the world's great pictorial and plastic creations.

Mayor Daley Gets Setbacks

By F. RICHARD CICCONI
CHICAGO (AP) — Two major setbacks in the Illinois primary have shaken Mayor Richard J. Daley's long reign as kingpin of the Democratic party in Chicago.

Not since he came to power in 1954 as chairman of the Democratic committee of Cook County (Chicago) has Daley suffered a single primary election as embarrassing as either the Berg or Simon setbacks after his indictment in connection with a police raid in which two Black Panther leaders were shot to death.

With 4,924 of 5,243 county precincts reported, Hanrahan had 350,872 votes, or 42 per cent, to 246,948 votes, or 29.6 per cent for Berg. Donald Page Moore, an independent Democrat, collected 236,101, or 28.3 per cent.

At the same time, unofficial returns gave Dan Walker, 46, a former 100,000-a-year corporation executive, a light victory for the party, with 212,000 nomination over the regulars' choice, Lt. Gov. Paul Simon. Walker had 183,731 votes, or 81 per cent, with 90 per cent of the state's 10,558 precincts counted. Simon had 459,006 votes, or 49 per cent.

There were 100 missing precincts in Cook County, including 79 in Chicago, where Simon held a 4-3 edge over Walker in the voting. They were not expected to change the outcome of the contest.

The 70-year-old Daley, in his fifth four-year mayoral term, was quick to make peace overtures to the rebels. He told party workers and newsmen, "The people have spoken... it's always a good thing when the people speak."

Daley said he would support

Package Store Bill Approved by House

HARTFORD (AP) — A bill allowing liquor stores to sell state lottery tickets was passed by the House Tuesday and sent to the Senate for final action.

Present law restricts package stores to the sale of alcoholic beverages, ice, mixers such as soda and ginger ale, and package cocktail mixes.

Another measure passed by the House and sent to the Senate would exempt from the state sales tax, meals which are service to patients in nursing and convalescent homes.

The sales tax was not applied to such meals until last year, when the State Tax Department decided that inflation had raised the price of food to the point where at least one daily meal should fall under the sales tax on meals over $1.

Among those who spoke in favor of the bill was Deputy Majority Leader John P. Pandrea, D-Meriden, who last year had sponsored a bill extending the sales tax to meals under $1. Pandrea said that elderly persons who had to live in nursing homes had enough problems, and having to pay a sales tax on their meals was "the final irony."

Watertown H.S. Suspends 300

WATER TOWN (AP) — Officials at Watertown High School suspended 300 students Tuesday after the students failed to return to school on time following a bomb scare.

Police said that for the second annual legislative session, could not have lifted the tax on nursing home meals until 1973, she said.

The House also amended a bill that would legalize and clean up the "Las Vegas" nights staged by non-profit organizations which raise money for charity by conducting games of chance. These fund-raisers have been held for many years in Connecticut, but the state police threatened this year to close them down.

The amendments tacked onto the bill, which had already been passed by the Senate, would reduce the penalties for

Michael J. DiBella Jr., business manager for Miss Manchester, will direct and produce the 1972 Miss Manchester Scholarship Pageant sponsored by the Manchester Jaycees. It will be held April 1 at Bailey Auditorium of Manchester High School.

DiBella directed and produced the first Miss Manchester Pageant in 1969 and since that time has been named to the official state judges committee and has judged in town pageants throughout Connecticut. He and his wife, Jan, have been official business manager and chaperone since 1969.

This year's production entitled "April in Paris" will feature Miss Connecticut, Patricia Anne Doyle, to her sponsor William Hatchford said after the season that the bills were "not important enough" for consideration by the House.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A six hour, three-day work week? They had it here 400 years ago, scientists believe.

These Utopians were hunter-gatherer nomads who inhabited what is now western Cape Province before the arrival of white settlers.

University of Cape Town archaeologists have been studying them and believe they lived off the fat of the land in an area north west of Cape Town.

A vanished people were known as Bushmen and Strandloppers. They had a variety of tools with which they worked pottery, bones, shells and ornaments. They painted on cave walls.

Burnap Brook Park Proposal

A new proposal has been drawn up by the Andover Recreation Commission suggesting the use of the Burnap Brook area as a recreational park.

The 80-acre site, which is owned by the town, runs behind Rt. 9 between Wales Rd. and Burnap Brook Rd., backing up to Shoddy Mill Rd. and including the portion of land now in use as a dumpsite.

Mrs. Susan Losee, who drew up the map, said that the areas indicated for use as a ballfield, tennis courts, and other facilities are just suggestions, and that as the area is developed into a park, topography, local needs, and finances will dictate the uses and priorities which are made.

Andover, at the present time, does not have what could be termed a park. Although the town does own different parcels of land, there is no location for picnicking, or with benches, or with any recreational facilities. The school does have a playground and a ballfield, used primarily by the school children.

Mrs. Losee said that a $2,000 budget request was made to provide access into the site with an improved dirt road. She said that she believes much volunteer labor can be conscripted to assist in the preliminary work, and has met with considerable enthusiasm for the project.

Dow Jones Peak of 1,000 Unconquered

BY JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — In the decade of the 1960s the vigor of the U.S. economy thrust the Dow Jones Industrial Average to 965 points, the equivalent of a bursting young for an "assault" on the Himalayas.

Now, six years later, that peak is still unconquered. No amount of economic upthrust has been enough to pierce the sky, which in this instance is the 1,000-point "barrier."

To call it a barrier seems until you consider that smaller, faster growing companies, some of them are indeed an obstacle to the Dow Jones.

The Dow Jones is made up of 30 companies that already have had great growth and now are huge. They represent nearly one-third of the nation's industrial output.

Partly this week the DJIA was above 960, a level reached several times since 1966, a level that always referred to as a dead end. But they are elephants, not mastodons or dinosaurs or minded founder of Wright Invention Service, notes that the 1960-1968 period the DJIA one "where forces are re-grouped, energies replenished for an assault" on the top, smaller companies.

Will it be done? A clue to the curious behavior of the DJIA may be found rather in a comparison with some other averages. In the past 10 years, for example, the DJIA price, for example, the DJIA price, has fallen to double, but the American Stock Exchange Index has more than quadrupled.

Amex stocks generally are of smaller, faster growing companies. The DJIA is made up of 30 companies that already have had great growth and now are huge. They represent nearly one-third of the nation's industrial output.

Companies of that size are John Wright, the statistics show above 960, a level reached several times since 1966, a level that always referred to as a dead end. But they are elephants, not mastodons or dinosaurs or minded founder of Wright Invention Service, notes that the 1960-1968 period the DJIA one "where forces are re-grouped, energies replenished for an assault" on the top, smaller companies.

Strong and healthy as they are, they are no match in speed to the smaller companies. The DJIA is also a weighted average, where the weight of a stock is proportional to its market value. A big decline in a high priced stock has greater effect in the DJIA. Since then, the DJIA has been a lesser known company has grown to one of the largest in the world.

In 1969, American Telephone and Telegraph, largest service or average, in the world, replaced a lesser known company in the DJIA. Since then, the DJIA has been a lesser known company has grown to one of the largest in the world.

Microfilming Proposed For Vernon Land Records

It took 107 volumes to contain real estate recordings for the town of Vernon for a 150 year period while in the past 15 years, 18 volumes have already been filed.

Town Seeks Bids On Two Projects

The town will open bids April 10 at 11 a.m. for the Municipal Building for sealing the bottom of Globe Hollow Pool and for removing tires from the town sanitary landfill.

In the bid form, two blanks are available, one for those who would charge the town to remove the tires and one for those who would charge the town to recycle the tires.

Using the compact book method requires a special camera with special attachments, Butler explained. The cost of leasing such a camera would run to about $700 a year.

The microfilm process will cost the town about $700 more a year than the present system, excluding the cost of the camera, Butler said.

East and West Talks Continue In Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — East and West German negotiators today started another two-day round of talks on an agreement to ease road, rail and water traffic across the border dividing their countries.

Their last meeting in East Berlin March 8-10 showed they are making some progress toward solving practical problems such as the halting of infrequent rail traffic across the border.

East Germany wants to speed up train service from West Germany to Communist-enslaved West Berlin next week. The German government will temporarily put provisions of the 1971 four power Berlin agreement into effect for the March 29-April 5 Easter period.

SDS Permitted On MIT Campus

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard University Tuesday granted Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) permission to use college facilities for a national convention on racism from 8 p.m. March 31 through April 2.

Dean Archie Epps said the permit does not cover the full amount of time asked by SDS. The group asked to begin the convention Thursday, March 30, but Epps told the group he could not grant them the time on Thursday or all day Friday because classes would be in session.

However, the Harvard Crimson, underground newspaper, in Tuesday's edition quoted an SDS spokesman saying they plan to start Thursday anyway. Epps said Harvard granted permission for the convention because the university continues to respect its traditional freedoms where groups can have meetings, but this does not imply endorsement of the views of those groups.

The SDS earlier sought to use Massachusetts Institute of Technology facilities for a national convention on racism from two days of the proposed two-day session, but were turned down by MIT officials. About 30 persons picketed University Hall for about an hour today over the SDS-meeting issue.

The annual banquet will begin with a social hour at 6 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7. The occasion will be held at Fiano's Restaurant, Bolton.

Connecticut Opera 30 Years Old

By JOHN CHUBBER — This week is Connecticut Opera Week in Connecticut, by proclamation of Gov. Thomas Meskill. The organization is thirty years old, having produced its first opera, a "Carmina," April 14, 1942. Strictly speaking, it has a few days to celebrate its anniversary, but it has a production tomorrow evening so it seemed appropriate to celebrate this week.

When you say Connecticut Opera you say Frank Pandolfi. It was he who started the organization, and he is still its executive director. Even the legendary Gatti-Casazza only heard two years ago in Italy will mark the thirty years of the voice of a tenor he heard last year in France. Nor does he stick to European stages exclusively; many Americans have sung with Connecticut Opera.

After thirty years Frank has things reasonably well under control, but one never knows when a disaster will strike. A "Samson and Delilah" as a real dilly. The originally planned money for Samson, he worked hard and was in the role. First she was called to say she was down in Italy. A phone call disclosed known in the field of Romberg musicals and was associated with the Schuberts, who certainly know nothing about music, but she was powerful in the some new singer he may want to engage; they already knew about it, it seems heavily on Italian and French opera, and recently French and even Russian opera have been done.

Mr. Pandolfi's real strength is in casting. He has a phenomenal memory for voices and can decide that a soprano he heard two years ago in Italy will mark the thirty years of the voice of a tenor he heard last year in France. Nor does he stick to European stages exclusively; many Americans have sung with Connecticut Opera.

Columnist Releases TTT Memo of Chile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department authorized the U.S. Embassy in Chile to do its best to keep leftist President Salvador Allende from taking power in 1970, according to a secret memo attributed to two officials of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The memo, a copy of which was released by columnist Jack Anderson, lists its authors as Hal Hendrix and Robert Korry. Hendrix is a former State Department official who moved to the firm on political grounds in 1967. Korry resigned his post in 1971 and now works in Washington as a consultant for the Overseas Private Investment Corp. He was not available for comment Tuesday.

Allende did not win a majority in the election, and the contest was to be decided by the Chilean congress. At the time the memo was dated, Sept. 17, 1970, anti-Communist forces in Chile were seeking to close support for Allende's closest competitor in the three-way race, conservative Jorge Alessandri.

The memo was one of several dozen released by Anderson. He claims they were written by TTT officials during the critical period leading up to the inauguration of the Marxist president.

The memos do not spell out the extent of any U.S. involvement in the alleged efforts to prevent Allende from taking power. But in one memo released by Anderson, TTT official J.D. Haines, the author, said he approached a White House official and announced TTT was prepared to assist financially to prevent Allende's taking power.

In his column published Tuesday, Anderson said TTT and Central Intelligence Agency officials "were plotting together and Paine's neighbors would see to it that gang milk is brought to the Chilean army to pull a coup.

But Paine protested, saying his doctor told him that gang milk was best for stomach ailments and his wife was pregnant. The deadline was extended while city officials tried to find a way of moving the animals out of town without depriving Paine of the milk.

Mayor Henry Glascock said Tuesday the goats have been accepted by a nearby farmer and his family. Paine's neighbors would see to it that gang milk is brought to the Chilean army to pull a coup.

Panel Agrees Equal Schools Pose Unequal Finance Problem

While money is not the sole condition for providing a quality education, it is certainly a necessary one. So said Dennis Keenan at last night's panel discussion of education and means of financing that education.

Senator Housley said that he felt "We're here to talk on something in which I'm not sure we have any options at all." Housley explained that everywhere in the country action is being taken, on local and state levels, and that perhaps by the fall of 1972, not too long a time away, the U.S. Supreme Court will speak on the issue of educational standards to go by.

Keenan, a member of the Education Board of Education noted that now there is in Connecticut a wide gap between towns in the amount of effort they put forth to provide money for education and in the quality of education and in the quality of the schools.

He said Darlen paid $1,500 per child for education in the town of Greenwich and just $500 per child, and that there is a wide relationship between what a town pays and what it receives. "A wealthy town pays more and receives less," Keenan said. Referring to a school district in Andover, Keenan said, "Our base is just not wealthy enough to support a school district with a high level of quality in education."

Local Control

Valdis Vinkels, a member of the town's Board of Finance, said that whatever the system proposed for financing the system of education in the future, he would hate to see anyone lose their control over the schools.

Vinkels said that he feels it should be unnecessary for actions testing constitutionality and other factors to be brought to the courts. "The courts should be the last resort," Vinkels said, saying that instead the state legislature should address itself to the problems of education and its financing.

One solution, Vinkels said, is to have the state subsidize the schools with local funds from state to towns, with grants designed to meet the needs of each town. In this way he felt that there would still be local control over the standards and methods of education.

This concept was later challenged by State Senator Robert Housley who said that local schools should be financed through the state legislature in the administration of the schools.

Legislature Working

Mrs. Dorothy Miller, state representative from the 5th District, told the gathering of nearly 100 people that in the other 20 or so states where the property tax has been challenged and declared unconstitutional as a base for education, the state legislature has taken no action at all. "They have acted only following the decisions of the courts," Mrs. Miller said.

She said there is presently a study committee in the legislature studying this very problem and hoping that the study will see them complete their study.

Mrs. Miller told the group that there are a number of bills that have been drawn up and presented, dealing with education and its financing. There is pending a "Fair Share Bill" where 80% of the total cost of education would be paid by the state. There is another bill which would seek to reduce the education financing, distributing the ADM funds according to present need, effort and ability.

CC Affirms Opposition to I-84

The Conservation Commission voted Monday to write to state legislators and agencies, affirming its stand on Interstate 84.

Mrs. Carolyn Graham, secretary, read to the commission a statement taken at a January meeting, which was then amended slightly, and reads as follows: "No need has been demonstrated which justifies the environmental sacrifices which would be caused by construction of the proposed segment of I-84 through Andover, and the construction of a recreational center area as a recreational center and park.

Jerome Griner suggested that in the future, it would probably be to the benefit of both groups where, if they had projects that overlapped, they got together and made plans for developing an area or other proposals.

Members of the commission indicated they would individually attend the April 4 hearing on I-84 at the Coventry High School.

League Conference

Mrs. Mary McNamara, president of the Andover League of Women Voters, said that the state league is holding a conference on April 29 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the North Haven Congregational Church.

Guest speaker at the conference will be Mrs. Sidney E. Street Jr., who is the treasurer of the national League. The main subject to be discussed will be the proposal made by the national League to increase all members dues to a standard budget request of $600 which of this money remain with the local group, and $4 each be local to support the league on the state and national levels.

Mrs. McNamara said the conference is open to all league members and there will be a registration fee charged. Persons wishing further information should contact either Mrs. McNamara or Mrs. Nancy Richards.

Girl Scouts

Mrs. Edward Yessman, troop organizer for the Andover Girl Scouts, has arranged for a leadership plan for the coming school year.

To Attend Play

Mrs. Marge Campbell, leader of the 8th Grade Junior Girl Scout Troop 5288, said the troop will be attending the "Trigon" play at the Rham Auditorium on Friday evening at the Rham Auditorium.

Exciting the troop will be the play in part of the troop's repertoire for completing the dramatic badge.

Andover

mission is unconvinced that public necessity and convenience would be served in any degree by such construction."

Land Development

The commission discussed the development of the proposed tract behind the school, and it was proposed that it be put in at the recent budget meeting, which the commission hopes to meet with the school board in the near future.

Catholic Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — The credibility of the Roman Catholic Church under Pope Paul VI is at its lowest point in 500 years, says the Rev. Hans Kung, a German priest and theologian of the Birminghams.

Mrs. Edith Birmingham, lifelong PTA member, said the school board has no choice but to obey the dictates of the state as regards education, to the extent of electing school board officials, and working out the annual school budget, even that must be sufficient to provide the education the state demands.

Housley said that in the last 20 years, the state has adopted various state standards for education, but through laws, but through regulation of the State Department of Education, he said, all children have equal educational opportunities, and that when that ruling went into effect, the town of Union had to provide a kindergarten class and had to provide a kindergarten class for that child.

Unless the towns move out of the State of Connecticut, Housley said, the state has no choice but to obey the dictates of the state as regards education, to the extent of electing school board officials, and working out the annual school budget, even that must be sufficient to provide the education the state demands.

So in many respects, the education system in the state has been more and more state regulated since the late 19th century, and more state control is in reality non-existent.

PTA Presentation

Following the panel discussion was sponsored by the Andover Parents and Teachers Association, continuing the theme set by school principal Donald Libby at the beginning of the school year of "Where do we go from here?"

There will be a meeting of the Andover Board of Finance on Monday at 7 p.m. at the town office building. It was not scheduled for last night as previously reported.

Norman Whitney, local attorney, asked whether there was any measure of good education financing, distributing the ADM funds according to present need, effort and ability.

Michael York Is A Lover of Tea

By WAKA TSUNODA.

NEW YORK (AP) — Offer Michael York tea, but no sympathy.

At 29, York is one of these successful English actors who steadily get starring roles in major films.

For a man with such a detached attitude, he has done a lot already. At the age of 16, he joined Michael Croft's National Youth Theater, and toured England and Europe in Shakespeare productions. At Oxford, he was a member of the Oxford University Drama Society and received further training in Shakespeare. After graduation, he joined the Dundee Repertory Company at a salary of $43 a week. Then he was accepted by Sir Laurence Olivier's famous National Theater, and made his debut in "Much Ado About Nothing" with Maggie Smith and "A Man for All Seasons" with Dirk Bogarde. "Red and Blue" with Vanessa Redgrave, "Smashing Time" with Rita Tushingham, Zeffirelli's "Romeo and Juliet" with Anouk Aimée, "Something for Everyone" with Angela Lansbury, and "Cabaret" with Lisa Minnelli.

"It could change any time," he says calmly, but hastily finds a wooden chair and knocks on it.

"I'm often cast as a writer. It's quite a responsibility," he laughs. "Excuse me, I must get another cup of tea. I'm a fanatic for tea."

He comes back holding a steaming cup containing almost colorless liquid. "Chamomile tea," he explains happily.

York is an honor graduate of Oxford University with a major in English language and literature, but at this point he says he is "satisfied with being an actor. Of course, I'd like to branch out."

A Nerry Thief

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — William Henderson found his stolen car at a service station near a letter box in Washington, D.C., and returned home to find it empty.

"It wasn't hard getting volunteers," said John Sampson, a letter carrier who organized the work Tuesday. "We put the word out at one station, and it spread all over the area. It just snowballed."

Widrig, a Los Angeles fireman, said he spotted a fire recently, leaving a 20-year-old wife, a year-old son and a house that needed repairs.

New Dam Threatens Ancient Rock Carvings

By DAVID KIRBY

Associated Press Writer

LISBON (AP) — Portuguese archeologists are engaged in a race against time to save several hundred important prehistoric rock carvings from being drowned behind a dam scheduled to be built on the Tagus river late next year.

The brown colored carvings are believed to date from the late Stone Age to the Iron Age. They were found earlier this year at a rock outcrop lining the banks of the river in a rugged and near-deserted part of Portugal.

The river flows between the banks at this point. As a result many of the carvings have been badly damaged by water erosion.

Despite this, archeologists have found many well defined and an ancient symbol known as Capra-Ix, now extinct in Portugal.

Although the meaning of many of the symbols still is

Much Work Remains for Connecticut Legislature

HARTFORD (AP) — The General Assembly committees have done most of the legislature's grade-work, but almost all the major battles lie ahead at this point half-way through the 1972 session, legislative leaders said Tuesday.

"I think we're going to be hung up on the budget," Senate Majority Leader J. Edward Caldwell said when asked about the progress of the legislature and the prospects for early adjournment.

The Democratic leaders are looking for money to finance a modest pay increase for state employees, Caldwell noted, and this means juggling the priorities of the budget submitted by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

House Minority Leader Francis J. Collins said the minority GOP is willing to discuss budget differences.

"They're talking about shifting priorities," he said in reference to the Democrats' search for funds to finance pay boosts.

Collins conceded that there isn't a rather obvious deficit, but he said the legislature is able to do what it wants to do on the floor of bills.

Senate Minority Leader Alden Ives said: "If we're going to later deadlines, Ratchford said he had asked them to report all of their bills out by March 10, and several committees succeeded in doing that."

"It's possible," said Collins, "that relations with Meskill were good on both over last year. Ratchford himself said an April 15 adjournment would depend on the nature of the battle logged a record 175 votes."

Union Vote Set By P&W Workers

NORTH HAVEN (AP) — More than 3,000 workers at the United Aircraft Corp. Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Division plant in North Haven will vote May 5 on whether to continue with the United Auto Workers as their bargaining agent or switch to an independent union.

The date for the vote was set Tuesday after meetings between representatives of Local 1224 of the UAW, the independent aircraft workers union, and the National Labor Relations Board.

The election comes as a result of a petition filed by the UAW, which called for a union election. The P&W plant, signed by more than 30 percent of the eligible employees.

The number of workers eligible to vote in the May 5 election is 3,265.

The company says it will not recognize either union as the bargaining unit until the election.

Satisfied But Irked

TORONTO (AP) — Most English-speaking priests in Canada are satisfied with their work but would like to see some major changes in it, a study shows. It finds that more than 80 per cent of them would like to spend more time preaching and developing Christian community among the laity rather than being kept busy administering buildings, personnel and raising funds.

Houley Scores Cost of Emcee On Lottery Day

HARTFORD (AP) — If the state lottery drawings need a master of ceremonies, then Gaining Secretary Joseph B. Burns, who has a reputation as an emcee, can do the job instead of a $300-a-week paid performer, a Democratic lawmaker said Tuesday.

Sen. Robert D. Houley of Vernon said he was startled to learn that Bob Steele, a WTTV radio personality and father of Congressman Robert H. Steele of Vernon, is receiving $300 for each appearance at a weekly lottery drawing.

Antibusing May Be Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second set of Nixon's pro-education bills, a bill designed to improve the quality of education and to earmark $2.5 billion in federal aid on schools with high concentrations of poor and minority pupils.

Sen. Mitchel withdrew the NAACP's support for the Nixon program in a false promise to support the Nixon proposal and is included in the legislative package before the conference committee.

As an indication that the administration realizes it has little chance of getting its proposals adopted in the current House-Senate conference, separate moratorium and equalization bills were introduced in the House Monday by key Republicans. Extensive hearings on the proposals have already been planned.

Stamps in the News

By BYD NEWBISH AP News Service

Four U.S. stamps featuring overlapping silhouettes of athletes will salute the Olympic Games. They will be issued in Washington, D.C. Aug. 17, preceding the summer games to be held in Munich, Germany.

The four denominations—8 cents, 8 cents, 11 cents and 15 cents—will depict an adaptation of the official symbol of four sports: Cycling bobbed racing, sailing and track.

According to the U.S. Postal Service, the denominations reflect the geographical scope of the Olympics. Three of the stamps are for postal rates effective in the U.S., Canada and Mexico (6 cents for postage cards, 8 cents for surface letters and 11 cents for air mail).

Looking ahead to 1973, the U.S. Postal Service has announced that there will be a commemorative stamp to honor the 600th anniversary of the birth of Nicolaus Copernicus, Polish astronomer. Also reported is the resumption of the Historic Preservation Series and the American Painting Series in 1973.

Although maxi-cards are gaining in popularity, the mini-cards are still holding their own for favorites for special collectors.

The International Stamp Collectors Society has produced a first day issue mini-card for the 1972 "Flamingo" commemorative stamp. It features a full color reproduction of the lithograph of Noah's Ark, showing the animals climbing up the gangplank.

Bolte Will Appeal Its Billboard Case

By BILL COE (Herald Reporter)

Bolte Advertising - Hartford, Inc., will appeal in the courts a Monday ruling of the Zoning Board of Appeals which upheld an earlier decision of the ZBA denying the firm renewal of variances on nine billboards in various locations in town.

Atty. Walter Twachtman of Schatz & Schatz, Hartford, who presented Bolte's case, said today that he has not been officially notified of the ZBA decision, but that it had already been decided to go to court if the board found against the company.

The board Monday voted 4-1 to deny Bolte's appeal for relief from an order of the zoning enforcement officer to remove the signs, on which variances had expired.

In the meantime, board member John Caglianella said today that he did not make remarks at the Monday meeting critical of Town Counsel David M. Barry. Both are Democrats.

Caglianella stressed that he was merely recommending during discussion that all opinions of the town counsel regarding matters important to the ZBA should be in writing.

Bolte gained a court order for a rehearing of its case last month after the ZBA turned down its appeal for another hearing in January.

At Bolte's original hearing last October, the board denied new variances on the nine signs. Such signs had been non-conforming uses, but it had been the board's custom to allow them to exist by renewal of variances, usually for two-year periods.

In 1970, however, the town passed new zoning regulations prohibiting billboards.

In the 4-1 decision Monday upholding the zoning enforcement officer and denying Bolte's appeal, Caglianella cast the only dissenting vote.

He based his vote on what he felt were "new facts" brought out at the hearing. Before the balloting he asked for tabling, saying that the record of the hearing should be transcribed and given to Barry for study. His suggestion was lost, however, when other members pressed for a vote.

Atty. Barry did not attend the meeting, and there was some discussion over whether he should have been there or whether he had offered a "verbal opinion" as to how the board should proceed.

The executive session is not recorded, unlike the public hearing, and who actually said what is not "on the record" and now appears unclear.

But Caglianella emphasized today that he did not criticize Barry for not attending the hearing or putting his opinion in writing — as stated in yesterday's Herald account of the session.

Atty. Barry also stated that he "gave no opinion in the case, nor was I asked for one. Thus I had no reason to be at the meeting," he said.

Barry said that if he had been asked officially for advice in the case he'd have put it in writing.

But he said there was no reason for him to render an opinion since the court had ordered another hearing of the Bolte petition.

Barry said the only discussion he has had in the case has been informally with Town Planner J. Eric Potter.

In Bolte's request to the court to force the rehearing, the company asked for a permanent injunction against removal of the signs and $15,000 damages.

The committee director, Brian Hollander, is coordinating plans for the center which will be designed to treat chronic alcoholics and keep them out of jail and the courts.

The way is now clear to draw up the final incorporation papers and next proceed with funding, he said today. The center already has a commitment for one-fourth of its projected yearly budget of $400,000 and will apply for the rest through the National Institute of Mental Health, according to Hollander. He said it is hoped the 28-bed center will be operational by the end of this summer.

Trustees Okay MMH Part In Center for Alcoholics

Manchester Memorial Hospital will be among six area hospitals working together to establish a detoxification treatment center for alcoholics.

A vote permitting the Manchester hospital to participate was passed last night by the hospital trustees at their monthly meeting. They had previously given the informal go-ahead to join in planning for the center.

A nonprofit corporation is being created to run the center, which will probably be set up at the University of Connecticut's McCook Hospital in Hartford and be federally funded.

In addition to Manchester Memorial and McCook, the other incorporators are St. Francis, Mt. Sinai and Hartford Hospitals and the Institute of Living. The detoxification center idea is being pursued by a committee formed by the Greater Hartford Chamber of Commerce and Greater Hartford Community Council.
