

Schedwed, Waldron Honored By Rockville Rotary Club

Nat Schedwed of Manchester and Kenneth Waldron of South Windsor were honored by the Rockville Rotary Club Saturday night, Schedwed for 25 years of service to the club and Waldron as Rotary's "Citizen of the Year."

The annual Citizen of the Year award dinner was combined with a celebration of the club's 25th anniversary at the Hotel Sonesta, Hartford.

Norman Fleishman, president of the club, outlined a brief history of the Rockville Rotary which has been honored by the club since its formation in 1947. The charter was granted on April 7 of that year. Schedwed is a charter member. Two other charter members present at Saturday's affair were Albert Brooks and Dr. Harold Stone.

Schedwed was instrumental in forming the club and since that time has participated in virtually all of its major projects. Fleishman, who has been president of the club since 1968, presented Schedwed with a plaque, said he has been a past president, contributed his time, his talents and of himself, to improving our club and the communities which it serves. "Rotary serves the town-area of Vernon, Tolland and Ellington."

Fleishman cited as one of Schedwed's proudest achievements, the construction of the Horowitz pool in Henry Park. The pool was named for Schedwed's long-time friend and business associate, William Horowitz. Schedwed was instrumental in raising funds to build the pool which is now used each summer by more than 4,000 children a week.

As one of the earliest and most active supporters of the consolidation of the governments of the Town of Vernon and City of Rockville, Schedwed was instrumental in urging legislation which ultimately made consolidation a reality.

He also played a significant role in establishing the Citizen of the Year award. A program instituted at the Northeast Elementary school under the chairmanship of Schedwed, taught children the principles of safe driving.

An director of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce, Schedwed initiated a program which allowed members of business in town to visit each other and share progressive business methods.

Schedwed, certified public accountant, is treasurer of the Amherst Corporation in Vernon. Each year he puts together the Rotary Club's budget. He is a past president of the club and has served on its board of directors for many years.

Schedwed is also active in the Rotary Foundation Fellowship Program which provides graduate level study in foreign countries.

Noting that Schedwed's community service extends beyond the bounds of Vernon, Fleishman said he was chairman of a committee which raised funds to build the Temple Beth Shalom in Manchester and is an active member of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He has also served as president, chairman and director of the board of the Connecticut Development Credit Corporation.

Waldron, an 18th "Citizen of the Year," Waldron was cited for the most part for his work for the Chamber of Commerce.

The award is presented to a man or woman who lives or works in the three-town area and who has excelled in achievement, leadership and/or service toward the betterment of the community.

Waldron, a native of Illinois, has served with the Connecticut Light and Power Co. since 1952. In 1966 he was promoted to position of area manager of the Tolland office. He is now completing a term as president of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce. He has also served as

Budget Accord Nearer

By DAN HALL

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders, reaching general agreement early today with Gov. Thomas J. Meskill on a state spending and taxing program, prepared to present the plan to their caucus.

Agreement on the $1.3 billion budget had hinged during the third day of negotiations Tuesday on instances among the Democrats for cuts in taxation of insurance companies, which is a primary Connecticut industry.

Neither Meskill nor the leaders, however, would discuss details of the agreement until after it is considered by the rest of the legislators later today.

"We've reached an agreement on all issues that were in dispute," Meskill told newsmen shortly before 11 a.m. "There are some items of disagreement" but "none of us anticipate that the disagreement will interfere."

He noted also that the question of the bonding program for capital projects and the highway budget remain unresolved. Both sides agree, nonetheless, that those issues did not threaten the general agreement reached today.

Sen. President Pro Tem Charles T. Altano, D-Suffield, said he agreed with Meskill's general assessment of the budget making process.

House Speaker William R. Ratchford, D-Dunbury, said he hoped to present the plan this afternoon to the House Democrats.

"If the caucus takes place in the right direction we can have a 'hard' caucus Thursday," he said, "and I hope by then we'll be in a position to get the House to act on the budget."

Meskill, meanwhile, was scheduled to fly later today to California for a two-day meeting of a federal committee on which he serves to discuss Phase 2 pay matters for state and local government employees.

Both Ratchford and Altano said they did not foresee any serious problems in winning caucus acceptance of the plan.

"We've never been that far apart," Altano said in an interview.

Red Troops Sever Allied Relief Line

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops attacked from both sides of Highway 11 north just east of Saigon today and stopped a South Vietnamese relief force about 15 miles from the threatened provincial capital of An Loc.

A substantial increase in enemy activity was reported in the An Loc region as the Communist offensive ended its second week.

Hard fighting in southern Cambodia just across the Vietnamese border also raised the threat that the enemy could extend the offensive to the southwestern Mekong Delta, a sector where the enemy could be expected to attack by North Vietnamese army regulars so far. Action in the delta has been limited to an increase in small hit-and-run attacks by local and main force Viet Cong units.

Heavy action also was reported in the central highlands and the southern coast. In the central highlands, fighting Tuesday near Dak To and said 13 government troops were killed and 25 were wounded. But South Vietnamese field officers said their casualties were considerably higher.

On the northern front below the demilitarized zone, sources said the South Vietnamese were carrying the fight to North Vietnam and were taking the initiative and were involved in a major offensive. But there was no report yet of a drive to retake the 10 miles of territory north of the Demilitarized Zone.

Humphrey was in Philadelphia talking to newspaper editors and to address a fund-raising dinner for Israel's Hebrew University. Earlier in the day he picked up the personal support of United Steelworkers President I.W. Abel, who is the endorsement of Abel's 1.5-million-member union.

In another political development, McGovern's Northern California campaign chairman, John L. Burton of San Francisco, announced that the South Dakota senator has dispatched a top political consultant to the West Coast to help to win the June 5 California primary.

Muskie Aims at Humphrey

His speaking schedule in Ohio in both Pennsylvania and Massachusetts can be resolved by devoting more personal campaign time to Pennsylvania.

Humphrey's current position in Ohio, but "in my view, we're going to be the main challenger to Meskill's current side."

Meskill's current side plans call for "only limited" support for the McGovern campaign in Ohio.

McGovern's Ohio campaign is still in a state of flux, with McGovern in his either Michigan or Ohio.

In Boston, one Democratic party insider who asked not to be named said the Muskie camp there is so disorganized that "they don't know how to get their candidate from Logan Airport to downtown Boston."

Town, MEG Hit Accord

By GLEN GAMBER (Herald Reporter)

An agreement with the Municipal Employees Group (MEG) has been reached, according to an announcement yesterday that the contract proposal has not been acted on yet by the board.

The MEG contract is a two-year agreement as is the proposed firefighters agreement. If the firefighters contract is approved, which seems likely because of its similarity to MEG's, contracts with two of the town's four unions would remain to be settled.

The Manchester Police Union has requested fact finding in its contract.

Petition Urges Directors Restore Funds for Schools

By GLEN GAMBER (Herald Reporter)

A petition carrying signatures of 2,577 Manchester voters and urging that the Board of Directors restore to the 1972-73 education budget the $683,000 out by Town Manager Robert Weiss, was unfilled last night to the directors by Dr. Alan Krupp of 21 Agnes Dr.

One of the signers of the petition was Republican Director Mrs. Vivian Ferguson who indicated she signed it not as a director but as a mother and a taxpayer.

Krupp preceded the submission of the petition, circulated by him and his wife during the last two weeks, with a lengthy discussion of the petition's purpose and its weight.

He observed that most of the speakers from the crowd of about 700 at last week's budget hearing favored restoration of the education budget. He said about any tax increase which might result from partial restoration of the education budget.

Mrs. Ferguson said, "I am willing to pay that, but she acknowledged that she is in a better position to do so than perhaps some other Manchester residents are."

Also speaking on the education budget, Herman Schendel Krupp said, "As far as I know this is the only extensive, objective way of showing the public where public opinion lies. This (the petition) was an attempt to accomplish this."

In addition to the petition, Krupp read a letter from the Nurses Association, urged the

Manganelli Retiring, Garofalo Successor

By JOHN A. JOHNSON (Herald Reporter)

Dr. Fred D. Manganelli, director of Howell Cheney Regional Vocational and Technical School since 1953, will retire at the end of the school year. It will conclude about 45 years of association with state vocational and technical education as student, teacher, and administrator.

Yesterday, the State Board of Education named A. J. Garofalo of Rocky Hill, assistant director of A. I. Technical School in Hartford, as his successor.

Last week, the Cheney Technical School gave Dr. Manganelli a watch. Earlier, the senior class presented him with a two-sister piece of luggage.

Born in Castellanro, Italy, Dr. Manganelli came to this country with his widowed mother and settled in Bridgeport. In thinking about summer vacation and recreational opportunities available to youngsters today, he said that they were his job. He was working when he was 12 years old. Dr. Manganelli remembered one summer wedding on his, another tending water for a work crew. However, he laughed, "I have no scars (psychological)."

In 1916, he graduated from the Connecticut State Trade Education Shop, as trade schools were originally called, in Bridgeport. It was the school in New Britain.

He said that most of the speakers from the crowd of about 700 at last week's budget hearing favored restoration of the education budget. He said about any tax increase which might result from partial restoration of the education budget.

Mrs. Ferguson said, "I am willing to pay that, but she acknowledged that she is in a better position to do so than perhaps some other Manchester residents are."

Vernon Residents Hear Details of I-86 Widening

Although only six homes will be removed with service provided to be acquired by the state, to make way for improvements to I-86 as it goes through Vernon, state officials outlined details of the proposed highway widening project.

Questions were asked concerning the action taken by the House of Representatives, to the lay funding for highway improvements and state officials assured residents that the action did not concern this portion of the highway project.

William Ginter, associate highway engineer, explained the changes to be made that road being aligned to the south to provide adequate offset between I-86 and the local road terminal. Ginter said this would safely accommodate the volume of traffic anticipated at the ramp.

An eastbound ramp will be provided south of the existing ramp and opposite the intersection of Feeder Rd. and Bolton Rd. In the westbound direction exit and entrance ramps would be provided from and to the highway, terminating at a new frontage road between Tunnel Rd. and Bolton Rd., Ginter explained.

In addition, Ginter said, new structures would be provided at

Coventry Toasts Exchanged In Testimonial

Selections representing over 100 years of service, going all the way back to 1917 were honored at a testimonial dinner last night in Coventry, Conn. The occasion was a double one: a chance to honor those men who served as selectmen and council members, an international exchange of official heads of two Coventry towns, and a celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Coventry, England, town.

Champane toasts by the official heads of two Coventry towns, began their service to the town in 1923 and 1917 respectively. Richard Gallant, Albert Heckler and A.J. Vinton, who served as selectmen, were Charles Rossi, Nelson Pearce, Bertron Hunt, Lionel Jean, Donald Davis, Richard Stawley, D. William Sleeper, Michael Pease, William Gienney, Hugo Thomas, and James Lead.

Those who were unable to attend were Arthur Sebett, Michael Stephens, Christian Weigold, Charles Nyack, James Coviello and Bruce Wilson.

Gifts were presented to the visiting officials from Coventry, England. An inscribed Reverend bowl, and neck pendants of the Coventry, Connecticut, town shield.

Councilman Wesley Lewis also explained that a large color version of the town shield, hanging on the wall behind the head table last night, will be sent to Coventry, England, in care of young Trevor Wiggins, who will then present it to the Lord Mayor.

Wiggins was on hand here last summer when the town shield was unveiled for the first time. The Lord Mayor said that the shield will be prominently displayed in a recently-renovated basement room of the historic St. Mary's Guildhall in his city.

He explained that the room was remodelled in order to display the vast number of similar plaques and emblems that have been presented to the English city in its exchange programs. Gifts from the Lord Mayor to Coventry, Connecticut, included a Coventry Badge of Friendship for display at the Town Hall, a set of table mats noting historic scenes from the English city, and a book about Coventry, England, for the local library.

and order bigger and more legal and orderly than our own armed fist. It has been because it has represented the abandonment of such more civilized and hopeful possibilities that Vietnam has become a tragedy not only for all those directly involved, but for all people.

With Pistol And Grenade

The suspect arrested for the $500,000 hijacking of a jet has an interesting background as a soldier, a student, and a Sunday School class teacher, and he had some ingenuity in planning and carrying out his exploit.

But the thing that ought to concern everybody has nothing to do with his background or his daring or his cleverness. None of these were sufficient, in any case, to bring him through his exploit successfully.

The single truly important fact about his exploit was that he was able to board the plane he had selected while he was carrying both a pistol and a hand grenade.

Almost Like Studio Travel

Arizona state highway engineers calculate that special screens along our superhighways could cut by at least 50 per cent the amount of the traffic roar they loose upon the city and country through which they travel.

Sleek Train Sidetracked

The appallingly costly demise of the Turbo Train presents a striking example of the economic stagnation that can result when the government takes over functions that have been the preserve of private enterprise. There is every indication that political manipulation was the overriding factor that led to the decision to take the Turbo Train off the Boston and New York run and put it on a West Virginia mountain route for which it never was designed.

A Thought For Today

Psalm 31

I am up to a blind alley, Lord. The props have been knocked out beneath me. I feel as if I'm grappling with the wind for some support or security. I've been pulled up short, Lord. Now I realize how low I've sunk, something or someone beyond and above myself to give stability to my tenuous existence. Maybe it was Your word, Lord. It is Your way of bringing me back to home port, of correcting my focus and reassessing my goals.

I return to You with empty hands, Lord. You know well my sorry plight. I did not find that secret treasure, that pearl of great price. The bright lights that beckoned only led me astray. I became entangled in the bonds of self-service. Everything I touched turned to dust in my hands.

I despise myself today, Lord. Even those I thought my friends turn their faces from me. There is no place to go, nothing to cling to. I can only come back to You and cast myself on Your loving mercy. You are my God. You have never let me out of Your sight. Even when I strike out on my own. You pursue me and hold me to me.

I've stopped running, Lord. From this point on I will dedicate my hours and days into Your loving hands. I seek only Your guidance and the great strength to carry out Your purposes. Restore me, O God, to Your program and design for my life.

Thank You for taking me back, Lord, for renewing my relationship with You. I seek now to walk in Your course for me. I shall abide forever in Your steadfast love. I will proclaim Your praises and live out Your purposes. Enable me to be faithful to You, whatever the consequences, and to celebrate Your love and communicate it to everyone around me.

Kennedy's Fatalistic Mood

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — Early one morning shortly before the bloody 1968 Democratic National Convention opened in Chicago, Hubert H. Humphrey unobtrusively slipped into his Vice Presidential limousine and ordered his chauffeur to drive out to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's handsome house on the Virginia palisades of the Potomac River.

That the Vice President should go to a Senator's house for breakfast instead of the Senate dining room, the Vice President's, was remarkable enough. More remarkable was Humphrey's secret mission: to learn whether, two months after the Kennedy assassination, the last of the three brothers would be willing to take second place on a Presidential ticket headed by Humphrey, by then the virtual nominee.

Although no hard offer was made by Humphrey, the long, intimate conversation over bacon and eggs, secret until now, left no doubt that such an offer would be swiftly and irrevocably rejected.

In fact, so committed was Kennedy against running for Vice President that he refused to bless a Kennedy Presidential boom in the convention a few days later, fearing that if it failed he would then be trapped into taking the second spot.

Four years later, Kennedy is the target of even greater speculation as the Democrats move closer to a nominating convention at Miami Beach which promises to be bloodier than 1968, and Humphrey brokers are once again drooling over the prospect of a "dream" Humphrey-Kennedy ticket.

Promoters of the Humphrey-Kennedy ticket have a scenario that looks more plausible than 1968: by agreeing to play second fiddle to Humphrey, Kennedy would bank impressive political credit with rank-and-file politicians, and also rehabilitate himself with millions of voters for whom the Chappaquiddick tragedy remains the moral bar to a Kennedy Presidency.

However, these promoters say, Humphrey might make a private, one-term agreement with Kennedy if elected Vice President. Kennedy would be pleased to travel as that already devalued in the making of movies and television, where the motorist sits comfortable in a silent motionless vehicle while a screen on which the scenery is already painted is flashed swiftly by at whatever speed the script may call for.

"Worth Fighting For"

To the Editor:

The April 15 deadline to settle up your federal income tax is fast approaching. All Connecticut wage earners can thank their lucky stars that they need not pay any state income tax on 1971 wages.

If the income tax schemes of Rep. George J. Ritzer, the Greater Hartford Process Inc., the various Chambers of Commerce, etc., had been enacted into law it would have meant a disaster for the vast majority of Connecticut people. Even today the powerful Connecticut Education Association lobbyists, many lawmakers, mayors, and their followers constantly declared that the federal revenue sharing plan would without funds from our State unless we pay a state income tax.

You had better make certain your insurance premium is paid before you attempt to cross Center Street to the Town Hall. On two occasions last week, we observed motorists pay no attention to the pedestrian sign. A striped crosswalk would prove beneficial also.

In view of the baseball players strike, Congress is likely to take another serious look at whether Major League Baseball is a sport or business.

Baseball is a great escape from Vietnam, inflation, labor-business strife, and all the other problems that confront us daily. Now the fans are faced with these labor-management arguments straight out of an economics class which is the kind of thing baseball is supposed to divert us from.

We always knew the owners were interested in making money and that professional athletes were concerned with the same. However, the die-hard fan felt the owners were sportsmen, the players would pretend they were just playing games, while the fan pretends that somehow the group of athletes playing baseball in his city were personal representatives.

A new wrinkle has been added to the advertising by cigarette manufacturers. Now they must carry in a black-bordered box at the bottom of each ad, in 10 to 12 point size type, "Warning: The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health." On billboards, the letters must be at least two inches high. Each violation will result in a fine of $5,000.

It appears the obvious career opportunities in the next three decades lie in veterinary medicine and dog catching since it is predicted dogs and cats will outnumber people in the United States 4:1, according to the Dumb Friends League of Denver, Colo. This means our streets will still be unsafe to walk at night.

Could it be that one of the reasons Wallace is picking up votes in presidential primaries is that some retired people think they are voting for Henry who was Franklin Delano Roosevelt's vice president, secretary of agriculture and secretary of commerce? By the same token, the sharp politician attests to the fact that the secret of winning elections is getting your name on the ballot often even though you may lose.

Interesting is the second in a series of public attitude surveys by the National Association of Broadcasters. It reveals that the popularity ratings of the Constitution and Bill of Rights are slipping fast. It also reveals that since the 1966 study there has been a significant increase in public sentiment for more government control of all news media.

Being in the newspaper business we would be amiss if we didn't call your attention to an important week that starts Sunday. It's the annual observance of National Library Week. Purpose of the week is to encourage lifetime reading habits and urge wider use and fuller development of all libraries. The observance is to highlight the value of books and reading in achieving greater inter-cultural and inter-ethnic understanding. The theme is reading makes the world go 'round.

It is good news that the U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to review its 1968 Miranda decision which bars the use of a confession in a criminal trial if the suspect isn't advised of his constitutional rights before admitting his guilt.

Most citizens have had trouble understanding the court's narrow interpretation which presumably could permit a self-confessed criminal to go free.

With school administrators, school board members and town directors pouring over budgets for the next school year, it is interesting that America's annual outlay for education is $70 billion which is the nation's largest single expense, next to defense.

Some will argue that the budget should be higher than the one for defense. That ad commentary is that spending $70 billion annually for education still isn't apparently getting the job done.

Model Block Plans Soon Go Out to Bid

Working drawings and cost estimates are being prepared for the Model Block proposed for downtown Main St. and the project should soon be ready to go out for bid, according to businessman Phillip Harrison.

Harrison, owner of Harrison's, says the project is a modest start to revitalize the declining downtown shopping area, and today that the engineers and make out their own plans complement what the merchants are doing.

Harrison said he hoped that the bank would find it possible to participate in the Model Block concept, but added that the merchants would go ahead in any event.

Both he and Johnson mentioned that the canopy might have to be discontinued in front of the bank, but that special plantings, benches and lighting might be tied in to the overall scheme.

Hay Teachers Ahead

HUNTINGTON, Ind. (AP) — For the first time in history, Roman Catholic parochial schools have more lay teachers than nuns and priests teaching, the 1972 Catholic Almanac shows. It puts the number of lay teachers at 108,844, about 53 per cent of the total.

Harrison and architect Richard Manley unveiled sketches of the plan at a luncheon March 29 and received commitments from several key businessmen to support it.

Preliminary cost estimates for the 500-foot-long block were set at under $400,000. Before the project can get under way, a variance must be obtained from the Zoning Board of Appeals for the canopy. The ZBA is slated to hear Harrison's petition for the variance at its April meeting Monday at 7 p.m. in the Municipal Building hearing room.

The plan has hit a snag, in that the canopy is apparently not in harmony with the Savings Bank of Manchester's plans to rebuild the facade and renovate the interior of its 523 Main St. office.

The office has been designed to have a brick front and an entrance which is higher than the proposed canopy, according to William Johnson, SMB executive vice president.

The bank's own planning was fairly well along before the Model Block project formed up, Johnson pointed out.

However, Manley and the bank's architect, Steven Joncus, are working to see if the two

Sub-Sonic Jet Engine Tested at Pratt-Whitney

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Stockholders of United Aircraft Corp. were told Tuesday the most powerful sub-sonic jet engine ever developed is being tested by the company's Pratt & Whitney Division.

Roman A30 Airbus, Torex Inc. and the new engine is rated at 56,000 pounds of thrust and has been tested up to 62,000 pounds. Only the engine used on the supercruise SST has been designed with more thrust.

The advanced version of the JT9D engine used in the Boeing 747 jumbo jet produces 45,000 pounds of thrust.

Torex said the advanced JT9D engine has completed unsurpassed performance results in its first 75,000 hours of flight.

Torex said there have been only two unscheduled removals of the engines, a record he said was "unmatched by any engine in this or any other size class."

He said the new engine has been submitted to potential customers for evaluation. It may be considered for larger models of the 747 and OC10 or any other American version of the Eu-

First Quarter Earnings Rise At Aircraft

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Inc. reported a 20 percent increase in first quarter earnings Tuesday.

The company said that despite a 300 million drop in sales for the first quarter of 1972, per share earnings rose.

Gwinn said that preliminary figures indicated sales for the three months were slightly in excess of $500 million, compared to $460 million for the same period last year.

He said earnings on common stock were estimated to be in the range of $1 to $1.05 per share, compared with 66 cents per share for the first quarter of 1971.

Gwinn, who explained that operating results for the quarter had not yet been finalized, said the improvement in earnings occurred because of better profit margin.

P&WA Denies Oil Leakage

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Inc. Tuesday denied charges that a pipe belonging to the firm could be the source of an oil spill near the Trinity College boathouse.

The state Department of Environmental Protection had said an analysis of the oil showed it contained a chemical known as "zyglo," used for refinements in metal.

The agency had said it had pinpointed the source of the seepage as the pipe. It said Pratt & Whitney was the only firm in the area which used the substance.

The aircraft company said Tuesday its engineers had run a series of tests and found that the pipe was dry and that it was completely blocked off 10 feet further up the line toward the pipe outlet.

Little League Funds Stolen

JOHANNESBURG, So. Africa (AP) — Motorists of Sandton feel that 777 is the best number for auto license plates. When the state got its separate license plates, car owners were invited to apply for any number between 11 and 20,000. Most opted for 777. Second most popular was 666.

Hospital Cost Bill Stirred

HARTFORD (AP) — "The biggest dollar issue of the session" — a health-care cost-control bill — is being bottled up by the chairman of the legislature's Appropriations Committee, Rep. Morris Cohen, D-Bloomfield, charged Tuesday.

The bill would give cost-control powers to the state Council on Hospitals.

Cohen accused the committee chairman of "arbitrary and undemocratic" attempts to report the bill out for action by the General Assembly.

"Despite the urgent need for curbs on hospital and nursing home costs," said Cohen, "the appropriations chairman arbitrarily and flippantry disregarded the public interest."

The bill carries a price tag of $170,000, but Cohen maintains it could save Connecticut residents many times as much money a year if it slowed the rate of increase in health care costs by just one percentage point.

From East Lyme Hearing

EAST LYME, Conn. (AP) — With two days of sometimes conflicting testimony behind them, state officials have closed a hearing into a major oil spill in Long Island Sound with a basic question still unanswered: who's in charge the next time a tanker goes aground?

The hearing began Tuesday and resumed Tuesday, ending about three weeks after the coastal tanker T.L. Hayes grounded on Bartlett's Reef off Niantic Bay.

Some 80,000 gallons of home-heating oil spilled into the Sound, some of it washing up on beaches in the picturesque summer colony of Niantic.

One estimate placed cleanup costs alone in the $100,000 range. A Chamber of Commerce spokesman said bad publicity may have cost East Lyme a million dollars in summer tourist money.

The hearing brought to a number of facts and disputes about how the accident happened and how the cleanup was handled.

State Environmental Protection Commissioner Dan W. Lufkin closed the hearing by asking how he would like to see the cleanup contractor, if any, be held responsible for the spill.

But Lufkin didn't mention any charges, though he said he would like to see the cleanup firm held responsible for the spill.

At the hearing, Lufkin said it was the Coast Guard that is in command at sea. The cleanup contractor, he said, is responsible for the cleanup of the spill.

Lufkin said he was so dissatisfied with the firm's work that he "laid down the law" to the contractor.

Who's in Charge after Oil Spill?

By MARCO CHARNEY

come after another reading of the lengthy transcript.

Lufkin was willing to say, though, that the state will seek to clarify the law on the matter.

He said he will ask Governor Thomas J. Meskill to "look for a federal review of traffic in navigable waterways" to decide if more controls are needed. He said he also wants the federal government to "improve coordination" between agencies during oil spills.

And, Lufkin said, he will recommend measures that will give the state power to also take control if state officials feel things aren't going right. This time, he said, a lack of authority kept his department restricted to the role of "interested observer."

During the hearing, the question of who is in charge was a repeated point of questioning from the panel, which consisted of Lufkin, two others from his department, and state senators George Gunther, D-Stratford; John Piro, D-West Haven; and Peter Chahman, R-East Lyme.

Lufkin said it was the Coast Guard that is in command at sea. The cleanup contractor, he said, is responsible for the cleanup of the spill.

Lufkin said he was so dissatisfied with the firm's work that he "laid down the law" to the contractor.

responsibility of the tanker's owner, Spentobush Transport Service Inc., to hire a cleanup contractor and get a tug and barge to the scene to off-load the tanker. The firm made those arrangements, Coast Guard witnesses said, but there were later delays in getting the equipment to the scene.

When a tug brought a first barge to the scene and turned back saying the tug drew too much water for safety on the reef, Fleetish testified, he felt he wouldn't want to countermand him. If he were the tug captain in the case, Fleetish said, "I wouldn't want to second-guess the captain's decision."

Later, a spokesman for the New England Pollution Control Co. said he was powerless to do things the way he wanted at the scene because the Coast Guard was in charge. "The Coast Guard had a man aboard the tanker," William Hawley, president of the firm, said. "He had taken control of the operation."

Fleetish, however, had testified that the cleanup firm was making decisions of its own and that Lufkin didn't mention any charges, though he said he would like to see the cleanup firm held responsible for the spill.

Dorsey Nominated Judge In Circuit Court Shift

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A series of shifts in judicial appointments led Tuesday night to the nomination of Community Affairs Commissioner Donald T. Dorsey of Meriden to the Circuit Court.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's committee made no reference to Dorsey, who was a first black man to run for statewide office in 1962, was nominated to be judge of the Circuit Court for a four-year term starting July 25.

Graham also ran unsuccessfully for the Republican ticket for U.S. Congress in the First District and for attorney general in 1968.

Circuit Court Judge Yale Matzkin of Waterbury was named to move up to the Court of Common Pleas. The four-year term also would begin July 25.

James F. Collins, a West Hartford attorney who represented the Republicans in the challenge of the reapportionment plan, also was named for Common Pleas Court to begin Dec. 1.

Circuit Court Judge John M. Alexander of Windsor is to be named to the Court of Common Pleas. His term would begin April 25.

Dorsey would be taking a cut in salary if he were to get the job. He makes $21,500 but would receive $20,000 as commissioner.

Legislation being considered this session, however, would increase the judgeship salary to $23,000.

Dorsey said the governor had called him Tuesday morning and asked if he would like to be appointed to the bench. Dorsey said he had already been away from the state for a month and a half year in public service as mayor and commissioner.

The commissioner said he does not anticipate that the agency will be phased out or merged into a larger agency. He said the agency has a role in day care, housing and technical assistance to communities.

Two-State Drug Raid Nabs Six

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Six persons accused of supplying much of the heroin and cocaine in the Springfield-Hartford, Conn., area were arrested by federal agents and police from two states Tuesday night.

Fourteen agents from the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, assisted by Springfield and Hartford police and Connecticut state police, arrested three suspects in Springfield and three in Hartford. Those arrested included a Hartford bail-bondsman, according to federal agent Peter Gruden, who headed the raids.

Arrested were Alfonso Smith, 38; his brother, Carl Smith, 26; and Allan Brooks, 28, all of Springfield.

Also arrested were Willie Jenkins, 24, of 284 Pembroke St., Hartford; Sylvio Grasso, 64, of 80 Prospect Ave., Hartford, identified as the bail-bondsman, and Charles Glover, 60 of 30 Martin Ave., Hartford, who was arrested at St. Francis Hospital, Hartford, where he is recuperating from back surgery, Gruden said.

Each is charged with sale of cocaine, and other sale, possession and conspiracy to violate narcotics laws charges.

Collins was chosen for the Common Pleas Court judgeship today before U.S. Magistrate Charles Bergen here, and erick Mignone's nomination to be set.

The superior court is confirmed. Gruden said several others have been implicated in the alleged drug supply ring and more arrests are anticipated.

He said a special agent in charge of the ring and purchased that included a state income tax to finance the greatly increased state aid to education.

Carl Smith faced additional charges of resisting arrest and assault on a federal officer, Gruden said.

The raids were the second major offensive against drug traffic in greater Springfield-Hartford area within a month. Some 50 persons were arrested in state and local police raids last month.

New Oil Slick Found in Sound

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — The Coast Guard reported Tuesday that an oil slick about one and a half miles long and 150 yards wide was spotted in Long Island Sound.

"It's almost impossible to estimate the amount of oil that is spilled, and we have no idea from what source this oil came," a Coast Guard spokesman said. He said the slick could be diesel fuel.

He said it was possible that the oil had been pumped from the bilge of a tanker.

The spokesman said cleanup of the oil would have been difficult because the fuel oil was light and was spreading and breaking up into smaller patches.

The slick was headed toward the Long Island shore, and the Coast Guard spokesman estimated that most of the oil would disperse before it reached shore.

Simply giving the towns and cities enough money to run their schools will not ensure that all children will have equal educational opportunities, Sanders told the board.

"Having a flat grant is not enough," he said. "We have to have a 'Delivery system.'"

The only board member to vote against the policy statement was Nicholas Longo of Putnam, who said it might "mislead people into thinking that there's a bonanza around the corner."

Thomas J. Carruthers of Vernon said he would prefer a "more comprehensive plan" that included a state income tax to finance the greatly increased state aid to education.

However, Carruthers conceded that his outgroup support of a state income tax may have caused his defeat in the General Assembly.

Higher Education Chancellor Warren G. Hill, who attended the board meeting, said it was important to note that whether

State Funding of Schools Urged

HARTFORD (AP) — The state Board of Education went on Tuesday in favor of "full funding" of public schools by the state, with local boards keeping control of education programs.

Instead of taking away local autonomy, full state financing will free local boards to devote more attention to educational matters by relieving them of the "distractions" of fiscal problems, says the state board's policy statement.

On the other hand, the state should insist that its funds are well spent, said state Education Commissioner William J. Sanders.

Simply giving the towns and cities enough money to run their schools will not ensure that all children will have equal educational opportunities, Sanders told the board.

"Having a flat grant is not enough," he said. "We have to have a 'Delivery system.'" doctors to send him back to Texas, returned to his native state early today.

He looked tired, worn and pale when he arrived at the Army's Brooke General Hospital after a flight from Charlottesville, Va., where he suffered a major heart attack last Friday.

Before he left Virginia, doctors said Johnson was making "steady improvement."

On his arrival at the hospital here, the former chief executive, 61, stepped from a station wagon and walked slowly with a cane to a waiting wheelchair a few steps away.

He was wearing a gray hat and a dark blue suit. Connected to his chest with wires was a portable electrocardiogram oscilloscope, which monitors the heart.

An aide carried the suitcase containing his personal effects to a rooming house where he will stay.

Mrs. Johnson, wearing a long gray coat, also looked worn. She began teaching at Manchester High School in 1924. He was appointed principal in 1928 and retired in 1962. He then taught secondary school methods at the University of Hartford.

Optimism on Vietnam Stock Market Rises Growing in Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two weeks after North Vietnamese troops swept across the demilitarized zone into South Vietnam, official optimism in the Pentagon is returning but hasn't yet hit pre-offensive levels.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has cleared clear so far of repeating what he has regularly in the past—that Vietnamization is a success. But Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Tuesday offered the most optimistic official assessment of the heavy fighting to date.

"The South Vietnamese are in position and they are conducting offensive thrusts against the enemy. They are fighting well."

Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y., meanwhile, introduced a resolution demanding a full report by President Nixon on military activity in Indochina including specifics on U.S. bombing.

But Sen. James A. Buckley, Con.-N.Y., suggested extending the American support role to include naval and logistic aid for battalion-sized South Vietnamese amphibious assaults along the North Vietnamese coast.

The 1,039-foot vessel, too big to go through the Panama Canal, is expected to sail around Cape Horn at the tip of South America and proceed across the Pacific accompanied by the heavy cruiser Newport News and two destroyers that were reported preparing to depart from Norfolk, Va.

Ships based on the Atlantic port usually sail with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean or on Atlantic and Caribbean cruises.

Latest reports indicate the Air Force has 20 more B-52 heavy bombers and at least 18 F4 Phantom fighter-bombers in the war zone in the air-naval buildup that continues behind a screen of official silence.

Laird and Moorer, speaking to newsmen after giving closed-door briefings to two House committees, steered clear of predicting how South Vietnam would fare in efforts to turn back the army offensive. Adm. Friedman said, at the Pentagon's daily news briefing, "We face several more weeks of major engagements."

Congressmen who attended the secret sessions said the thrust and optimism expressed by the defense chief and the nation's top military officer were the same as their public remarks outside the hearing rooms.

The noon Associated Press stock market prices rose with vigor today in heavy trading. Encouraged by favorable first-quarter earnings reports by several corporate giants and by further forecasts of rising income, the market continued Tuesday afternoon's loss volatile climb.

The Dow Jones average of 3 industrial stocks was up 8.8 to 971.6. It had been gaining steadily since the opening. The breadth of the trend was indicated by the S-P-500 lead that gained 9.5 to 105.5. Many of the glamour and blue-chip items took part in the upswing. Analysts said the gains would be even stronger if it were not for continuing concern over the war in Vietnam.

To Serve Holiday Inn

May Hearing Set On Sewer Lines

By GLENN GAMBER (Herald Reporter)

The Board of Directors has unanimously agreed to hold a public hearing and to consider next month whether or not to extend town sewer lines to Tolland Tpk. near the Vernon town line where a 120-room Holiday Inn is planned.

The board also acted on many other items at its monthly agenda. There was little discussion of the matter at last night's directors' meeting since the move does not commit the town to extend the sewer line.

Deputy Mayor Pascal Prignano said he is in favor of the proposal "in spirit," but he has reservations about the method of financing the project.

He said his vote in favor of the plan would be contingent on a firm commitment from representatives of Holiday Inn that the facility would indeed be built on the proposed site, a parcel on the north side of Tolland Tpk. across from Taylor St. The land is owned by Ted Tridon.

Prignano remarked that he would like to see some preliminary plans of the project and be assured that necessary zoning regulations are met.

At a public hearing last week, other owners of property in the area supported the proposal, saying they had plans for other commercial development in the area. Prignano said he would also like to see some preliminary plans of the project and be assured that necessary zoning regulations are met.

Director Vivian Ferguson spoke in favor of the sewer extension saying that taxes on the Holiday Inn would pay the town's investment within five years.

William O'Neill, director of town owned property, said he proposed that the installation be financed by assessments against the property owners with the town's investment within five years.

Old Phone Books Raise Scholarship Funds

Former Gov. John Dempsey, right, and N. William Knight give a boost to the collection of old telephone directories as Lyman B. Hoops, left, looks on. Dempsey is executive consultant for the Southern New England Telephone Co., which is paying two cents for each old directory turned in for recycling. Knight is executive director of the Manchester Scholarship Foundation, one of the beneficiaries of the funds to be paid for the old books. Hoops is manager of the Manchester office of SNET. On the truck, ready to stack the books, is John King of Prodisco, telephone directory distributor. Books may be turned in at SNET's garage on New State Rd., where this picture was taken; at the phone store at 52 E. Center St.; or at the Rockville phone store, 1 Court St. in Rockville, the Living Memorial Fund will benefit.

Board Reverses Ruling On Vo-Ag School Busing

Unpopular rules regarding the busing of students to Rockville's Vocational-Agricultural Program have been reversed by the Board of Education to change a decision made two weeks ago to discontinue busing three students for $3,200 annually and have parents of the students assume the responsibility of transporting them at a cost of $400 to each, annually.

Teacher Job Ad Motion Lacks Necessary Votes

Unemployed South Windsor residents with teaching degrees who have to look elsewhere for jobs in the school system were disappointed when the motion to bring the town new information on teaching positions failed to attract the necessary votes.

South Windsor Available for Renovation

Money was not for renovating, but for creation of a new field, which was expected to be handled by the Public Building Commission. The town attorney, Thomas Dennis, stated that by his interpretation of the law, the town could not apply as Rockville's program was not a state-approved vocational school.

Avery Heights Water Group Will Meet

Smith then wrote to Llewellyn Turner, executive director of the State Agricultural Department in Hartford, notifying Turner of the board's action. Turner responded to Smith's request for assistance stating that the board should consider the possibility of placing a town sewerage pumping station on an adjacent property.

Andover Negotiations Completed Over Salaries of Teachers

The Andover Board of Education and the Andover Education Association have completed negotiations of teacher's salaries for the 1972-73 school year. The starting scale for teachers begins at $7,625, an increase of $175 over last year's starting salary of $7,450 and increases to $11,120 at the 13th step of the salary schedule which is $200 more than last year.

Bigger Lottery Prizes Deleted

HARTFORD (AP) — In addition to the $75,000 and $20,000 top prizes, this week's state lottery drawing will have only two $10,000 prizes based on sales of 1.9 million tickets during the week of March 28-April 4. The drawing will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at the Drake Hill Mall in Simsbury.

Vernon School Board Hears Public Relations Plan

A public relations policy, using guidelines of the Connecticut Board of Education, will be presented to the Vernon School Board at a meeting Monday night by Dr. Duane Woolwich with the board deferring action on it until next Monday.

Dr. Woolwich, chairman of the public relations committee, defined public relations as a three-fold activity consisting of identifying the various publics the board affects and the various publics which affect the board; keeping a finger on the pulse of the public as to its opinions and its impact; and, finally, to keep the public informed as to the board's actions.

The proposed policy also calls for the board to recognize the importance of keeping the school system employees fully informed of school policies and allow them to have a role in the school-community relations program.

Concerning executive sessions, the policy states such sessions may be held by the board at any time. "They may occur at any meeting and may be held in a confidential manner in the states. However, this must be done by a majority vote, after a formal motion and the board must return to open session by the same process, to take necessary action."

Woolwich presented several other proposals to be considered by the board. He said a policy to meet at least once a month at each school within the district, preferably with a PTO.

Camp Kennedy Opens June 26

June 26 will be eight years to the day since Manchester's Camp Kennedy was dedicated and that is the day the camp for retarded children will open for its ninth consecutive session.

Camp Director Harry P. Smith, in announcing the schedule today, said the camp again will operate for three periods of two weeks each, closing Aug. 4.

Applications for volunteer counselors will be available April 21 at the West Side Rec., 110 Cedar St., and applications for campers will be available April 29, also at the West Side Rec. Camper applications will be due back no later than June 22 and 23.

Smith announced two donations to the camp's Patch Fund — $30 from Daughters of Liberty, Inc., of Manchester; and $25 from Mrs. Karen Mulholland of Waterbury.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The atmosphere rests on the earth's surface with the weight equivalent to a layer of water 34 feet deep. Gravity holds the atmosphere's gases to the earth and the pressure, as well as density, decreases as height increases because the weight pressing upon any layer is always less than that pressing upon the layers below. The World Almanac says.

CRC Hearings Open Tonight

The Manchester Charter Revision Commission (CRC) will hold the first of seven consecutive weekly public hearings tonight. It will be at 8 at Wadsworth School on Broad St.

All public hearings will be on Wednesday nights, in Manchester's seven voting districts.

CRC chairman John Fitzgerald and vice chairman John Shea are urging the public to attend the hearings. "Only if town residents show up to voice their suggestions and opinions in areas of possible charter reform will we know what concerns them the most," they said in a joint statement. The discussion, they explained, can be on any subject contained in the charter.

Invited to tonight's hearing is the Manchester CIOA Agency, whose subcommittee on governmental functions was instrumental in the appointment of the 15-member Charter Revision Commission.

Rham Students Accepted In Honor Society

Six seniors and nine juniors seventh grade students distributed and explaining their GRAM school membership in the school's W.C. Hester Chapter of the National Honor Society. Students are also being informed of their academic, political and class levels and their participation in various school activities and programs.

Rham's Industrial Arts Department has a feature article in the April issue of School of Excellence magazine (accumulated in the April issue of School of Excellence magazine of B or Shop, entitled, "Rham—Ahead in Leadership, Service and To Society."

School Shop, which enjoys international distribution, is, according to Rham, the "hub" of the industrial and technical education field.

The article, which was completed by the department and Paula Bergendoff, Ruth Copas, edited by David Caldwell, concerns safety measures in an industrial arts program.

The Woods II class of the department, which is being conducted in a classroom and speak on their next month.

Participating in the program are Lawrence Green of Green & Green, Fred Beahm of Heber Wood Products who will talk on the "Livelihood of a Cabinetmaker — Carpenter."

Also, William Beale of the Small Business Administration whose topic will be "The Work of the Small Business Administration" and Albert Whittaker from the Willimantic Social Security Office who will discuss "Social Security Benefits."

The one-story frame building has been vacant for more than a year.

"It's a safety hazard—no doors, no windows," said David Nelson, attorney for a firm which wants to clear the land for future development. "It's also an eyesore and a lot of people want to get rid of it."

The city engineer of Commerce has discussed moving the dilapidated structure, but departmental officials have not decided that they should consider the guidance center for additional years ago of Wright, who died in 1969, in the word of long-time also been holding seminars with residents of the neighborhood.

Vernon Policy Sought On School Trips

While granting permission, Monday night to a group of Middle School students to take a trip to Washington, D.C., the Board of Education called for a reassessment of the policy concerning school trips.

The board meeting two weeks ago, David Parker, principal of the Middle School, requested permission for a group of 30 students to go on the trip. The students are from Grades 6, 7 and 8 and belong to a government study club which meets after school. The students have been saving their own money for the trip, May 20-18. Board members expressed concern over the trip, but after a long discussion, the board agreed to grant permission for the trip, but with conditions.

The board also objected to the fact that the trip was not planned to take place during the spring vacation. Two teachers going as chaperones it would also mean hiring two substitute teachers for four release days for the students.

The board has asked Dr. Duane Woolwich, superintendent of schools, to write a policy concerning such trips to the Board of Education.

Grant Provides Reading System

A pre-paid federal grant will institute a beginning reading program in the Vernon School System. Acceptance of the grant was given the approval of the Board of Education Monday night.

Albert Kerdin, assistant superintendent of schools, said the program, developed by the Southwest Regional Laboratory for Educational Research and Development, will tie-in with the Individually Guided Education Program which he hopes will also be approved.

When the grant is received program arrangements will be made with Ginn and Company, developers of the program which has as its goal the mastery of beginning reading skills for kindergarten through the program is designed to teach children recognition of word elements and letter names, a reading vocabulary of 100 words and the ability to attack words composed of learned elements, all designed to provide for a child's future success in reading.

The grant money pays for a programmed training system for the teachers to be involved, and specially prepared materials.

Drug Problem Topic for Clubs

"Where Do We Go From Here?" will be the title of tomorrow's program on drug abuse to be co-sponsored by the Bolton Parent-Teachers Organization and the Junior Women's Club. The panel discussion will begin at 8 p.m. in the all-purpose room of the elementary school.

Members of the panel will include Wayne DeCapua, a counselor at Perception House, a drug rehabilitation center in Willimantic; a resident of Perception House who is presently enrolled in a rehabilitation program; two Bolton High School students, a parent, Bolton high students, and a teacher.

All residents of the community are welcome to attend. The PTO and Women's Club extend a special invitation to students and their parents. Refreshments will be served.

Persons wishing to have specific questions answered by the panel may submit them before the program on question forms which are available at the high school and at Bentley Memorial Library.

Diamond Work

Managers, coaches, and fathers of boys involved in the town baseball program are asked to attend a work session Saturday morning at 9 a.m. at Herrick Memorial Park to prepare the baseball diamonds for the coming season. Those attending are asked to bring shovels, rakes and wheelbarrows.

Club To Meet

The Bolton Junior Women's Club will hold its annual meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the elementary school library.

Full Umpiring Schedule
The area last one of its better baseball umpires when Ray Bianco was transferred by the Great American Life Insurance Co. to its Los Angeles office but the Manchester native is still active in calling the pitches.

In fact, he's seeing far more service these days than at any time when he worked a full spring schedule of high school and college games in this area. Bianco is a past president of the Manchester Chapter of Umpires.

Here's There

Helen Reynolds, four-time Women's Division club champion at the Manchester Country Club, has resigned. Miss Reynolds' reign was from 1960 to 1963. Patty Torza is the current champion, having won the honor the past three years. Annual Spring Sports Night at the Ellington Ridge Country Club will be held Friday night, May 5. Social hour starts at 6 with dinner at 7:30. Guest speaker will be Fred Wallner, head coach of the Hartford College varsity football team. Narragansett Park switches to night racing on Friday and Saturday nights this season. This schedule will be maintained throughout the balance of the current season which ends May 29. Al Schmitt, Manchester has won a berth with the Central Connecticut State College varsity tennis team. Norm Danne is in the 2nd year as varsity baseball coach at Wesleyan University. UConn coach Bob Casciola will unveil his Huskie spring football team at a one-day clinic and barbecue on Saturday, May 6 at Storrs. The clinic will conclude the 15-day spring start with a ceremonial game.

End of the Line

Perhaps Manchester High with a late baseball start—April 11—is better off than schools that started the season early, rather than to East Catholic which started last Saturday, April 8, nine days before Coach Hal Parks hopes to start with his current Indian edition. Rain and weather has already cancelled a bushel of postponements and cancellations on the school front. Jeff Koolich will finish at the school year as a special traffic policeman. Cheney Tech's baseball fortunes may be on the downgrade if the first round of the playoffs can be taken as any measuring stick. Somers High belted the locals, 27-2 last Monday afternoon.

Off the Gaff

Looks for the Manchester State Bank to announce several additional sports promotions in the months ahead. The bank's junior ski competition at Northview last February, was a distinct hit. Speaking of skiing, it is still being held in an impressive way at Northview from Mt. Snow and Sugarloaf. The latter reported 31 additional inches last week. Gale Sayers, one-time student

Baseball Strike Deadlock Remains With Make-Up Salaries the Issue

NEW YORK (AP) — Agreement was reached on striking baseball players and club owners remained deadlocked today solely over the issue of make-up salaries. The owners' offer of $400,000 for each player to be paid over the 12-day-old walk-out in the first place.

At the heart of the problem was a feeling among the players that the owners would try to cheat the salary-wise in rescheduling games to get the strike over as quickly as possible. The owners' offer of $400,000 for each player to be paid over the 12-day-old walk-out in the first place.

Cliff Richey Signs With World Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — Cliff Richey, one of the nation's top ranking pros, has signed a four-year contract with World Championship Tennis and will make his debut as a contract pro next week in a $50,000 tournament in Chicago, N.C.

The New York Times reported terms were not disclosed, although favorable tax situations and deferred payments under the long-term pact with the organization should exceed $100,000 a year.

By altering his status, Richey automatically has become eligible for all events sanctioned by the International Lawn Tennis Federation, which includes the Davis Cup, United States Open and Wimbledon championships.

The WCT, which is financed by Dallas millionaire Lamar Hunt, and the federation have included scheduling and corporate guarantees for tournament participation.

Wildcats May Have Growned At Northwestern Last Time

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The Northwestern University Wildcats may have growled their way into the national championship.

A referendum to change the school's official nickname from the Wildcats to the Purple Haze comes up for a student vote Wednesday. Student leaders predict tradition will take a beating.

There are a lot of really conservative people at this school, said one Northwestern student. He probably would like to keep the nickname Wildcats just for the hell of it.

But Northwestern has had two other nicknames, so there's nothing new about changing the name.

Northwestern, founded as a Methodist college, first called its athletic teams the Fighting Methodists. Later, the nickname was changed to the Northwest Purple.

The school officially adopted the name Wildcats on two former Northwestern football players and on Eric Hutchinson, a senior defensive back on Northwestern's 1971 football squad.

"They all loved the idea," Bandat said. "Hutchinson said he wished the team could have called — Kansas State, Kentucky, or the Purple Haze instead of the Wildcats when he played."

Miller Top Qualifier In Town 10-Pin Play

Qualifiers in the annual Town 10-Pin Bowling Tournament were announced today by Parkade Lanes Manager Bernie Giovinco. A grand total of 93 men and 43 women competed in the tournament.

Seeded in the Men's Scratch Championship play is defending King Dick Cote. Seeking to upset the two-time winner will be the following with their four-game total pinfalls: Edward Miller 877, Ken Tomlinson 799, Frank Galias 792, Bill Perkins 786, Bob Oliver 786, Mike Lettieri 778 and Bob Bassett 766.

The veteran Miller was easily the standout with several strings over 200 in his winning total. Men's handicap division qualifiers were: John Delucio 841, George Valente 831, Edward Wilson 820, Dennis Carlin 816, George McQuinn 813, Bernie Hanter 812, Burt Stratton 809, Larry Briggs 803, Frank Markie, 1971 winner, is no longer a local resident and will not defend his title.
