Bremer Pleads Innocent

SECRET/TIMOR, Ind. (AP) — Arthur H. Bremer pleaded innocent today in U.S. District Court to federal charges in the May 1 shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a political rally.

The 21-year-old unemployed busboy appeared relaxed, and openly smiling several times during the 15-minute hearing before Chief Judge Edward R. Northrup.

Bremer replied in a strong voice to Northrup's strong questions concerning his name, age, attorney, education and whether he understood the charges against him contained in an indictment handed down Tuesday by a federal grand jury.

The defendant, flanked by several security guards, stood before Northrup as his court-appointed attorney, Benjamin Lipsitz of Baltimore entered the courtroom.

Bremer, who also faces state charges, was accused in the federal indictment of shooting a presidential candidate, assassinating a Secret Service agent, and plotting to protect Wallace, illegally bringing a .38-caliber revolver from Wisconsin to Maryland and using the weapon to commit a felony.

Northrup granted the defense 30 days to file pretrial motions and said the government would get an additional five days to respond. The judge said he would then hold a prompt hearing on the motions and set a date for the trial.

Gov. Wallace 'Improved' — SELWY SPRING, Md. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama was announced today as the Republican nominee for the 1968 presidential election.

Doctors at Holy Cross Hospital where Wallace is being treated for gunshot wounds said in a briefing that over the past 24 hours the governor has shown a "marked improvement in his overall general condition."

Sen. George McGovern won Oregon's Democratic presidential primary by a landslide today, beating out Wallace and other candidates.

McGovern 56 more delegates—23 in Rhode Island, 24 in Oregon—and he added 11 more from Missouri district meetings to swell his first-place total to 205 of the 1,000 votes needed to capture the nomination.

Reports Growing
On Arms Accord

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon summoned his chief strategic arms negotiator today and reports the Moscow talks will have virtually reached agreement on curbing defensive Soviet envoys in the strategic nuclear missiles at present levels.

Ambassador Gerard Smith is coming to Moscow on Thursday from Helsinki, Finland, where he has been negotiating with Soviet envoys in the strategic arms limitation talks. The chief Soviet envoy is Helsinki, Vladimir Semenov, also expected to return here.

As President Nixon met for the fourth time in the Kremlin with Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev, the sources said the negotiators hope to be ready for the signing Friday of a treaty covering the ABM curb and a less formal agreement on the freeze on offensive missiles, both those based on land and those on submarines and surface ships.

The agreement apparently would bar either side from installing improved missiles at existing launch sites. It is expected the agreement will provide for the use of reconnaissance satellites to verify that missile placements are not being increased by either country.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon and Brezhnev met for nearly two hours this morning, and dealt primarily with the strategic arms talks. No details were revealed, but Secretary of State William P. Rogers, President's Adviser Henry Kissinger, President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and other officials were present.

The two agreements were reported ready for signing this evening, both largely prepared by the U.S. side. The Soviet-American cooperation in space exploration was also discussed.

There was speculation that one of the goals of the space agreement might be joint orbital trips by U.S. and Soviet astronauts before the 2000 birthday celebration of the United States in 1976.

The President emerged briefly from the Kremlin today for the first time since he arrived in Moscow on Monday to place a wreath at the tomb of an unknown soldier killed in the defense of the Soviet capital in 1941. The general public was barred from the area alongside the Kremlin Wall, but about 100 Muscovites watched impatiently as Nixon's motorcade made the short trip through closed-off streets.

Mrs. Nixon continued to do the sightseeing for the first family. Her itinerary today included Moscow University, the big GUM department store and a night at the circus.

Nixon will make a longer journey Thursday to the nearby city of Zelenograd to tour an electronics factory, an atomic energy plant and a space station.

Under the new system, which will cost approximately $4,000 a year, no refuse will be exposed. It will be placed in a compactor truck inside the building and pushed into a 4-cu yd container and reduced to a fraction of its original size. This Tri-Pac 7500 container will be removed for emptying then returned to the site.

James C. Hill, manager of CSB & Dupuis, Inc. of Newington, representing the Tri-Pac Division of Industrial Services Inc. of America, a nationwide refuse disposal service, said the container which will be exposed to the public is a "newly designed" and "especially tailored to prevent the emitting of odor or seepage. It will also eliminate the use of three dumpsters which are in use today."

Rep. Virginia Connolly of Simsbury, a Manchester native, was one of the leaders in the House for the strong anti-abortion bill. She was also the strongest proponent of the weakened Senate version, saying the "rape and incest" amendment offered "tremendous loopholes" in the law.

"It is not a question of how one is brought into the world, but a question of the right to be born into the world," she insisted.

Senate Crushes Antibus Moves

By JOE HALL, Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate crushed attempts to strengthen antibusing provisions of a $2.1-billion higher-education bill.

Senate passage, considered likely this afternoon, would set the stage for a confrontation with the House which has tackled antibusing provisions onto its version of the bill.

By a 44-26 vote Tuesday, the Senate defeated an attempt by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to send the bill back to conference with instructions to accept all the House amendments.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., who led the successful effort, noted there are several senators, such as Griffin, who believe the final bill is too weak on busing and civil-rights provisions who feel it is much too strong.

An "unholy alliance" between them "could mean the demise of this bill," Pell said.

It has often been said that the wealth of our nation lies in the education of its citizens.

Walker said the bill, except Pell said, would establish a landmark of creative excellence in American higher education. Unfortunately, that one small section erodes the Constitution for 18 months.

The bill would establish the Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., first general program of federal grants for all public and private colleges and universities. Other sections would provide special funds for schools with desegregation problems, Indian education, vocational education, occupational education for high school graduates, and colleges in serious financial straits; ban discrimination against women in admission and employment at institutions of higher education; and create a national institute of education to engage in research on how to spend school funds wisely.

Good Skiing But No Snow

GARIBALDI, Brazil (AP) — Looking for a really hot winter sport?

Try tropical skiing in Brazil. You can ski all year round in your Bermudas and a T-shirt. There is nothing to your heart's content and an unending supply of champagne.

There's just one hitch: No snow.

Garibaldi, population 4,000 founded by Italian immigrants in Southern Brazil's wine country, has Latin America's only artificial ski slopes.

But so what if there's no snow? Garibaldi has everything else: A 40-seat chairlift, nearly 1,000 meters (more than half a mile) of slopes for beginners and intermediates, ski instructors dressed in flame-red sweaters and ski lodge with a fireplace to warm the after-ski crowd when the mercury hits a low of 29 degrees. There's also an air conditioner in case it gets a bit warmer.

Soon, it will have a skating rink (for the roller skate crowd), a ski-jumping trampline, and a skycraper hotel in the shape of a champagne bottle.

President Medici Ekl David Santini is the brainchild of David Santini, a 38-year-old Brazilian civil engineer who caught the ski bug on his honeymoon in Italy 10 years ago.

Longing to do something for his hometown, he combed Europe for ideas for artificial ski slopes.

After trying everything from plastic to rubber, Santini settled for polyethylene, started a factory which produces bathmats at slack times during the year, and bought the handsome real estate overlooking Garibaldi.

Five years and $150,000 later, without a single bank loan, Santini had cleared the brush around the pine trees and the cactus and stamped 120,000 pieces of polyethylene triangles together on three runs.

Soon, the town of Garibaldi was building its own special light ski in guajuvira tropical wood, and special boots with soft cushioning replacing heavy socks as internal protection.

For the present, Santini, Garibaldi is an 82 mile drive from the coastal city of Porto Alegre. For about $3 a ski buff can rent skis, shoes, and an instructor for an hour on the slopes, with the lift thrown in free.

Sitting on polyethylene is faster than on snow. The snow-powder technique works, but it takes a bit longer to turn. Advantaged skiers may parallel turning and braking does not stop you as suddenly as on powder or even crudely snow.

If you take a tumble, the matchstick style "hairs" of the polyethylene give you about the same reception as a bathmat would if you slid out of your tub.

To make your trip smoother, Santini has devised a system to lubricate your skis with two sponge-covered rollers impregnated with simple gas station motor oil. You "grease up" before every time you go down.

Fine 'Oliver' Lifts Troupe To New High

By HOLLY GANTNER

The Coventry High School Footlighters were, until recently, just another group of high school students playing at putting on plays. But on May 15 and 16, when "Oliver!" arrived at the high school auditorium, all that changed, and one can only hope that it's the beginning of a trend.

Under the leadership of a new faculty director, Miss Kristina Elias, the Footlighters presented an "Oliver!" that evoked every possible emotion. By her own admission, Miss Elias "worked the kids to the breaking point" and obviously in the process won their love and admiration, for it was a joyful and exuberant group of players, completely in tune with the mood of their play, that brought an entire audience to its feet at the final.

Whether through necessity or desire, two of the main characters were played by girls. Charlyn Beckhold, a naturally lanky and scrawny girl, was a perfect choice for the title role and did a fine job. Laura Zucard, who long blond hair hid her den under a huge white hat, was just right as the Artful Dodger, giving that character just the proper amount of cocky self-confidence. The only criticism was that she is too pretty to look like a boy.

George Coon, the sole faculty member in the cast, portrayed Fagin in fine fashion, and obviously had a wonderful time doing it.

Leering, sneering and looking something like the victim of a shipwreck, he pranced around the stage to the great delight of his students in the audience.

The part of Nancy was played by Laureen Poppo, whose performance was notable for her staging of "As Long as He Needs Me." Not a particularly good singer as such, she gave that ballad such feeling, emotion and inflection that it was truly a high spot of the evening.

Bill Sykes was played in properly villainous style, complete with purple caps by Jim St. Martin. Coon's relief was well taken care of by Michele Jacobson and Tim Carden as Mrs. Corsey and Mr. Bumble, the two middle-aged and argumentative newscasters.

Others in the cast included Dale White, Heidi Miller, Karen Kelley, David Smith, Jim McKeon, Pat White, Jane Manley and Kim Haddad, and they were all fine.

In staging the play, Miss Elias made full use of the curved, stepped stage at the auditorium, using it for street scenes, and even moving the cast into the aisles before scenery covered only of a painted backdrop depicting London rooftops, and scene changes were indicated by the use of a wrought iron post with a sign designating the particular scene. All in all, it was an excellent example of maximum use of a notably limited stage facility.

The entire cast, after inviting the audience to join in the finale singing of "Consider Yourself," paid tribute to its new director and her assistants, Susan Litchinger, by calling them on stage and presenting them with flowers.

One doesn't expect Broadway caliber in a high school musical production, but it would be hard to imagine any high school in the area doing a better job. Perhaps we can look forward to more such evenings in the future at Coventry High School.

Home for Dogs A Little Catty

AFTON, Minn. (AP) — Peter Nelson's adoption agency long ago went to the dogs—and that's no catty commentary.

Nelson runs his Animal Adoption Center on a 70-acre farm and generally has about 175 dogs and 20 cats on hand.

"We don't send the animals to research laboratories," the 75-year-old Nelson said of the center's efforts to find homes for wayward animals.

Each year the center takes in about 8,000 dogs and cats. About 25 per cent must be destroyed and that is one aspect of the operation "we hate to do."

On the brighter side, the center returns about 2,000 lost animals to their owners each year and finds new homes for the rest.

The center retains legal ownership of adopted animals.

"We own the animal, it's never theirs," Nelson said. "If we check and find out a dog or cat isn't getting a good home, we take it back."

Finances are a problem for the nonprofit center, Nelson said. The chief sources of revenue are donations and the 600 center members who pay a $5 annual fee. Nelson said the deficit last year was $5,000, but that operating costs totaled $40,000.

Nelson, who needs $7,500 to finish a catery, said he refuses to be discouraged by money problems.

"It'll come eventually," he said.

MONTVILLE, Conn. (AP) — A New Britain man being held at the Hartford Correctional Center pending trial on several charges escaped from officers Tuesday in front of the Montville Correctional Center.

Kenneth Burak, 20, was to have been held temporarily at Hartford and then transported to hearings in the Montville area on additional charges.

Officer Mike J. Ponsathien of the Montville facility said Burak was holding a bag in his lap when the car containing him and the two accompanying officers arrived at Montville. Burak threw the bag at one of the officers and then darted away, according to Ponsathien.

Warden Preston E. Nicholson of the Hartford Center said Burak had been handcuffed when officers took him from Hartford and that the handcuffs had been secured to a belt around Burak's waist.

State troopers and correctional officers began a hunt for Burak near the Montville center, aided by a dog.

The Weekend Of The Vandals

We all seem helpless in the face of such a weekend of vandalism as that which came off the police blotter last Monday morning.

Once, a community felt that it owed itself, and could secure to itself, the safety of its own property.

Once, the night spirits of a town contented themselves with activities not quite as senseless as the breaking of windows, or drag racing across lawns.

Once, the police might begin with a rather good idea of who might be involved in what piece of vandalism, and have a relatively good chance of arranging for some of those responsible the petty annoyance of some kind of date in some kind of court.

But the flood of night time destruction, the population of desperates, the shifting, weaving pattern of disturbance have so augmented themselves they engulf and saturate a community beyond its own capacity to tend them off.

Many Of Us Are Guilty

"It's the death of our democracy," a neighborly woman said, finally breaking the silence that followed the news of the shooting of Governor Wallace.

It is not that, of course. At least not yet. But our democracy does, as it may, the post-mortem surely will record this shooting as one of democracy's many mortal wounds.

And already we are being treated, as before, to cries that "we are all guilty," that we are all responsible for this.

Persons of the cloth exchange opinions about the stability of democracy, kidnap, and—reluctantly—even killing, if necessary, and they are hailed as heroes by a disoriented segment of society that says it believes in peace and brotherly love.

Senator drew reassuring distinctions between the things some of his political enemies, and indeed some of his own friends and supporters, have said he has been saying, and the things he himself says he really has suggested.

In case such remedial discussion of various specific economic issues might not seem reassuring enough, the Senator's letter to his big business friend contains with a few additional tranquillizers.

First, the Senator notes that, whatever he has discussed in the way of taxation, it will be Congress which originates and acts on any new measures, not whoever is President.

Secondly, he asks his friend, whose first name is Belmont, to "please bear in mind that my proposals for tax reform represent only one facet of a total economic program designed to stimulate and restore the vitality of the American economy."

Finally, Senator McGovern has a nice paragraph which reads as follows: "In traveling about the country, I have found the vast majority of Americans in a rage against the injustice of our present tax system. I believe that their anger is justified and, if not soon rectified, represents a threat to the free enterprise system in which you and I so strongly believe."

How firmly Senator McGovern and his big business friend do believe in the free enterprise system is illustrated by the coupon soliciting contributions which is included in the advertisement, as well as a free enterprise movement advertising full page in the Wall Street Journal.

"Business and Professional People for McGovern" begin their scale of suggested contributions at $25 and go up to $100 to $200 to $500 to $1000 and then to a final blank $ line to be filled in at still higher amounts by the real big shots who want a piece of the McGovern action.

We will leave it to the Democrats and the Republicans to decide which of them is the more happy, or the more worried, by the emergence of the Wall Street McGovern.

REOC Resolution To the Editor, The following resolution was adopted by unanimous vote of the Campbell Council, which has 560 members, at a council meeting May 15, 1972.

Whereas the Knights of Columbus, Campbell Council No. 573, posits the right to life of unborn children from moment of conception, and Whereas by reason of actions of the Federal Court for the district of Connecticut, the State of Connecticut is without an effective law protecting said rights to life, and Whereas the general assembly has been called to a special session to consider this urgent matter, now therefore be it resolved that Campbell Council No. 573, Knights of Columbus, formally urge adoption of a strong and effective law prohibiting abortion and protecting the rights of unborn children and be it further resolved that the recorder is instructed to send a copy of the foregoing resolution to the Manchester district representatives and to the above.

"No Law Is The Best" To the Editor, I happen to believe that it is wrong to destroy a human life at any time from the moment of conception on. However, being a man it is easier for me to decide as I will not be faced with whether or not to have an abortion.

I admit that it is my religious beliefs that lead me to this position. I also think that in regard to any law concerning abortion, the religious beliefs as well as the moral code of the legislators enter into their decision.

Bible And Flag

BY REV. DAVID POLING, NEA Columnist

For more than five years this column has questioned the American policies in Vietnam. The arrogance of American power and the death of several administrations has all but destroyed a small Asian country, and continues to carve up this land in hurried ways.

One reader, a newspaper publisher in Ohio, responded to these thoughts by offering an alternate opinion. They are not mine, but they deserve a large hearing and they represent a vast group in this country. He writes:

"Please remember that through our history we've been sending dogmatic missionaries to places throughout the world where they weren't wanted. You, those of us who contribute to foreign missions do so with the feeling that someone out there is doing something for less-fortunate human beings. But in the main, I see very little done in the problems of the world being solved by our unselfish and devoted services to people overseas."

"My point is this: WE WERE asked for the same or more, we agreed to do, years ago. When we treated the Asians we made a normal commitment. I find it hard to see it as moral that we would back out of the situation and leave those people with, NO chance for freedom. Mainly, just because we

The taxpayers of Wisconsin are probably applauding University of Wisconsin President John Weaver. The president declared an increase in his present $40,000 annual salary saying he felt it wouldn't be in the best interests of the university.

The inner city home ownership program is a multi-billion dollar disaster for the federal government but for real estate speculators and financial institutions it is probably a money tree harvested with little risk.

The result is that the federal government has become the largest absentee landlord in America. George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, estimated the other day that the Federal Housing Administration will have some $2.4 billion in unpaid mortgages.

A hometown organization that needs your support is the Porter School hearing difficulties clinic in Manchester. Under the direction of hard-working Bill Elsie, the campaign is under way to raise funds to construct an urgently needed building addition.

"The support of private enterprise, whether in the manufacturing of goods or rendering of social services, is the most worthy cause of our time and we wouldn't agree with him more."

We hope you'll respond. True, there are many worthy causes. But we think you'll agree that our first obligation is to help those, in this case children, here at home. Your check might be mailed to the Community Child Guidance Clinic, 100 North Main St., Manchester, and marked in care of the building fund.

The Vocational Information Program at Manchester High School has met with keen interest from both employers and students. As of last week, I. Donald Brooks, coordinator, reports 182 students have visited 90 participating agencies in observing 33 different vocations.

Some 40 students have explored 12 vocations at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Loyal Inc. has hosted 24 students in the field of business.

We've happy The Herald has participated in the program and we have been pleased with the interest shown by students. At the same time, another 175 students could have observed an additional 175 career interests if stations had been available. We would like to see more employers express an interest in the VIP program for the 1972-73 school year. It isn't a work-study program, there is no cost to the employer, the student simply explores the particular vocation in which he has expressed an interest to try and determine if he might like to pursue it as a career.

In this day when there is a climate of disrespect for law and order and the rights of others in our land, there are plenty to blame. Some of those charged with the administration of justice, which is betrayed when it is delayed, have allowed criminals to mock the judicial process and take advantage of the system they would destroy.

Some school officials who encourage or condone violence and cravenly cajole lawmakers have sown the seeds of their own silence. Some senators who have demanded amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters have added to disrespect for the law and are just for lawbreakers.

Good news for prisoners, Idaho Sen. Frank Church says he has 40 cosponsors for his bill to increase Social Security benefits 20 per cent, affecting the 27 million Americans who get monthly checks. While the Welfare Reform Bill passed by the House nearly a year ago provides for a five per cent increase, Rep. Wilbur Mills came out for a 20 per cent increase after he announced his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. As chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mills usually gets his way on taxes.

The amount of income subject to the 6.2 per cent Social Security tax would be jumped from $10,000 to $12,000 in 1973, after the election. The Church proposal is expected to reach the Senate floor in the mid-time and exceed certain passage.

Our wish for each of you is a pleasant, safe and sane Memorial Day weekend. A glance at some newspapers in scattered parts of the country reveals some communities plan to ignore the Monday holiday bill adopted by the Congress and have traditional parades and the like on the original day, May 30. This for some the celebration will probably stretch into four days.

Jackie Tells Reporter She's Still Same Woman

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Jackie tells reporter she's still same woman.

Visiting Tehran with her husband, Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, Jackie was buttonholed by an Iranian woman reporter and asked whether she is the same old woman as today as she was when she was the wife of President John F. Kennedy.

The reporter, Maryam Khazami of the English-language newspaper Kayvan International, gave this account of the interview:

"Why do people always try to see me through the different names I have had at different times?" Mrs. Onassis asked. "People often forget that I was Jacqueline Bouvier before being Mrs. Kennedy or Mrs. Onassis. Throughout my life I have always tried to remain true to myself. This I will continue to do as long as I live."

"I am a woman above everything else. I love children, and I think that seeing one's children grow up is the most delightful thing any woman can think about."

"I have been through a lot, and I have suffered a great deal, as you know. But I have had lots of happy moments as well."

"I have come to the conclusion that we must not expect too much from life. We must give life at least as much as we receive from it."

"Every moment one lives is different from the other, the good, the bad, the hardship, the tragedy, the love and the pain are all interwoven into one single inseparable whole that is called life."

"You cannot separate the good from the bad. Perhaps there is no need to," she explained. "Mrs. Onassis recalled she had been a reporter herself before Onassis first marriage and the job taught her a lot about life."

"My job was to ask a single question from six or seven different people each day and then photograph them while they talked," she explained. "Often it was difficult to get anything. It taught me not to expect too much from life and to take things for granted."

Mrs. Onassis admitted that she "loves to live in style." Prior to her encounter with Democratic Town Committee, Mrs. Khazami said, she was speaking to local reporters. "I get afraid of reporters when they come to me in a

80 Students Show Learning Problems

More than 80 students at Porter School have learning difficulties, according to Principal Clarence Edmondson. Edmondson said a partial evaluation revealed that 21 students have been identified with having serious learning problems and at least 64 students have learning problems in a lesser degree. He told the Board of Education that those in the latter group will need special programs and material planning.

He suggested a class for elementary age retarded students be initiated at the school and that a specially trained teacher be employed. Edmondson also recommended that a special education teacher-side be hired and a special education coordinator-conciliator be employed on a part-time basis.

According to Edmondson, the special education needs are for children who are of normal intelligence but have been unable to learn, primarily in the reading field.

Edmondson also told the board it would cost an estimated $90,000 to improve lighting in 12 classrooms and rooms of the old section and 11 rooms in the new section. Publicity Blamed For Nuptial Split

NEW YORK (AP) — Singing star Tiny Tim's wife Miss Vicki blames what she calls his love of publicity for the breakup of their marriage.

In an article in the June issue of Ladies Home Journal, she said her love for the singer, who she met in 1965, began to wane when he insisted that they be married on Johnny Carson's television show Dec. 17, 1969, over her objections.

Edmondson recommended that a teacher be employed to help service students with speech and hearing problems. He also recommended that two full-time "vulgar qualified" teachers be employed to work with emotionally disturbed children. He said there are 11 children in the school who are in the program.

The taxpayers of Wisconsin are probably applauding University of Wisconsin President John Weaver. The president declared an increase in his present $40,000 annual salary saying he felt it wouldn't be in the best interests of the university.

The inner city home ownership program is a multi-billion dollar disaster for the federal government but for real estate speculators and financial institutions it is probably a money tree harvested with little risk.

State Puts Bite In Canine Care

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Medi-Cal might be good for people, but there will be no Medi-Cal for a dog.

That was the decision Monday by the California Revenue and Taxation Committee, which killed a bill that would have made Fido's veterinarian bills tax-deductible.

Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Hayward, introduced the bill after sending both his son and his dog to be treated the same day. The veterinarian's bill was higher than the doctor's bill.

The reporter, Maryam Khazami of the English-language newspaper Kayvan International, gave this account of the interview:

"Why do people always try to see me through the different names I have had at different times?" Mrs. Onassis asked. Police Report

Dwight G. Peterson, 16, of 46 Hillside St., was arrested by Manchester police last night on charges of attempted obtaining of narcotic drugs by forged prescription.

He was picked up at the Lennox Pharmacy, 200 E. Center St., after he allegedly tried to buy drugs on a forged prescription form.

Held overnight on $200 surety bond, he was to be presented in Circuit Court 12 at East Hartford today.

Martin E. Moyle, 18, and Edward J. Phillips, 20, both of Hartford, were arrested yesterday on charges of second-degree larceny. Police said the charges are in connection with a reported stolen from Kennedy Rd. last week.

Court date is June 5 at Manchester.

Four unidentified persons are suspected of being connected with the theft of $30 to $50 from Large Drug Store at the Parkside yesterday.

Police said three men and one woman came into the store at about 4 p.m. When the cashier left the register to help one of them, the others started laughing, then left the store. Checking the cash register, the cashier found some $20 bills were missing.

It is believed, police said, that the coughing obscured the noise of the cash register drawer opening.

More than $200 was reported missing last night from the Hess gas station on Broad St.

David C. Bruce, 25, of 25 French Rd., was issued a summons yesterday afternoon for operating a motor vehicle while his license is under suspension.

He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for court appearance June 10.

Marilyn A. Hoppel, 231 Center St., was arrested last night on charges of intoxication, after an alleged disturbance at her home. Court date is June 5.

Breaks reported yesterday in enclosed entrance of a home at 10 Hartus St. in which items worth $45 were taken; a break into a house at 163 Edgemoor St. in which a radio valued at about $40 was taken; and a break into a storage bin at 1111 Downport Dr. in which luggage worth about $100 was taken.

Vandalism reported yesterday included damage to 200 cement blocks at a construction site of Spencer St. Value of the loss was put at $150. Also vandalized was a truck at the construction site.

Second Oil Spill Keeps Beaches Soaked

Gobs of molasses-like No. 6 oil continue to float up onto shores and beaches around Grotton, Conn., Eastern Point after this morning's second oil spill of some 100 gallons from a barge belonging to Seaboard Barre Co. docked at the Hess Oil Co. dock at the same dock. Both spills occurred while the oil was being pumped onto the barges. Hess Oil Co. employees and the Coast Guard have been trying to clean up the mess. (AP photo)

Thornton Buys Hartford Ball

A spokesman for the Manchester Band & Gravel Co., at New State Rd. and Adams St., today reported his company has purchased the Hartford Ball Co. plant on the Hartford Ave., Hartford, Conn. The purchase is only of Ball's ready-mix concrete plant on Hyubone Ave., plus 25 mixer trucks, and not of any other Ball Co. facilities. The Ball Co. ready-mix plant on N. Main St., Manchester, is not involved. It remains Ball property.

The Ball Co., since 1878 leading supplier of concrete, crushed stone, sand and gravel to the Hartford area, had its headquarters in Newington.

Because of the unavailability of top officials of both companies today, details of the transaction have not been announced.

College Notes

The Manchester Band & Gravel Co., which has 143 S. Lakewood Circle, has ready-mix concrete plants in Manchester, Columbia, Eastford, Storrs and Tolland. In addition, it has a sand and gravel plant in Keosauqua, Mass.

Sex Being Deflated

NEW YORK (AP) — If Americans continue to insist on treating sex as the most important force in a person's life, they will eventually take all the fun out of it, says a prominent Roman Catholic theologian.

The Rev. Eugene C. Kennedy, writing in Redbook magazine, says the "sex-is-everything myth" that prevails in our society is responsible for the high divorce rate and most "sexual hangups." He added: "If we continue as we have to misrepresent sex, ultimately we will destroy its potential richness and dilute its significance. ... It will not even be, if the grim-faced generation so rampant in the past, gives us any evidence, much fun any more."

Prison Guard Hurt in Fight Unconscious

SOMERS, Conn. (AP)—A 43-year-old prison guard remains in critical condition today after suffering multiple head injuries when he and six other guards were involved in a fight with inmates Monday at the maximum security state prison at Somers.
Joseph Greely of Enfield had not regained consciousness since being admitted to St. Francis Hospital in Hartford Monday night. Hospital officials described his condition as critical but "stable."
Of the six other guards admitted to the hospital with head injuries, cuts and bruises, two have been released and the others are listed in satisfactory condition.
The guards and one inmate were injured on the recreation field at the growing state prison when a dozen inmates reportedly grabbed baseball bats and attacked the guards. The inmate, Eraldo Corrado, 26, was admitted to McCook Hospital in Hartford for a skull fracture. He is in satisfactory condition.
The state's Department of Corrections Commissioner John M. Wilbur said that more than 800 inmates at Somers were confined to their cells Thursday night because of the situation at the prison, a "tense."
He said he can't comment on the incident until the state police finish their investigation.

Head Housing, Transportation

Housing and transportation are two of the major commitments of the high school at the Shrine Spring Ceremonial to take place in Manchester on Saturday, June 3.
The committees have as chairman David R. Nichols, housing, and Frank Faggoli, transportation.
Model accommodations have been made in the area for many of the visiting dignitaries, some of whom will spend the week-end here, several of the Shrine units will have hospitality suites where they will entertain their own members and new candidates.
Transportation includes shuttle bus service and cars for the most tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center. Reservations close tomorrow for the group's June outing. Members are reminded to bring items for a kitchen social.

Moscow Tomb Is Visited

MOSCOW (AP)—President Nixon today on a half-hour visit outside the Kremlin Wall at a spot where other American presidents are likely to stand if Nixon's summit talks in Moscow succeed.
The visiting chief executive left the Kremlin for the first time since his arrival Monday to place a wreath at the tomb for the Soviet Unknown Soldier of World War II.
Nixon in effect was paying tribute to the millions of Soviet citizens killed in one of history's most terrible bloodbaths. As the President noted within hours of his arrival here, the United States and the Soviet Union were allies in the battle against Hitler's Germany and have never been wartime enemies.
The tomb, topped by an eternal flame at ground level, lies beneath the ancient crenelated Kremlin Wall, close to a circular brick tower pecked with gun ports.
As two military aides slowly carried the enormous wreath toward the tomb, Nixon walked alone a few paces behind, followed by a group of Soviet officials that included Anatoly Dobrynin, the ambassador to Washington.
Nixon helped place the wreath on a gilt stand, smoothing the red and white ribbon that said in Russian and English: "The ambassador of the United States of America."
Then he stepped back and stood facing the great standing monument, head slightly bowed, for nearly a minute.
Two Red Army soldiers stood at rigid attention, holding rifles with fixed bayonets, on each side of the red marble monument. Somber classical music sounded softly from concealed loudspeakers, returning directly to his quarters in the Kremlin.
The only witnesses to the ceremony were the scoring officials, newsmen, photographers and security agents. Other U.S. security men were carried out by agents in the advance contingent which arrived weeks before Nixon. In addition to searching for electronic bugs, the specialists checked out such other details as the quietest route to the nearest hospital.
The visible show of U.S. respect for the Soviet Unknown Soldier was Nixon's Moscow visit has been another back in the motorcade, the specialists checked out such other details as the quietest route to the nearest hospital.
The same is true for Mrs. Nixon's security. When the First Lady visited a Moscow school Tuesday, her Secret Service agents were far outnumbered by Soviet plainclothesmen.
But wherever the President goes, he is flanked by a very wonderful and very nice one of the items on the security checklist is an inspection with sophisticated devices to make certain his private conversations are kept private.

Tollard Industrial Plant Permitted to Expand

Industrial expansion continued in the news this week, as FIFCO, Inc. was granted permission to construct an addition to its present plant.
The addition will be used as a displayroom for the whole sale and retail sale of wall decorations, pottery and picture frames.
The approval follows on the heels of increased building activity in the park precipitated by last week's town meeting approval of the sale of industrial park land to E. Mold Co. of Manchester and to Kenneth Corporation, a plumbing contractor.
The town's new 48-mill rate, made possible due to the town-wide revaluation in 1971, credited with stimulating development in the revitalized park, by both town officials and by owners of the industrial park.
The sale of the subdivided remaining lot west, phased out the original portion of the park, purchased many years ago for a school site, but later converted to an industrial park.

Bush Complains Communists Bar U.N. in Vietnam

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The United States ambassador to the United Nations says Communist countries have treated the U.N. in its attempt to help end the war in Vietnam.
George Bush said Tuesday night the governments of Russia, the Peoples Republic of China, North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front have repeatedly insisted that the U.N. have nothing to do with Vietnam.
"North Vietnam said that any action we might undertake to null and void Peking in 1967 said the U.N. would be 'meddling' if it asked, and just two weeks ago, Peking publicly reiterated that stand," Bush said at a dinner marking the 1956 anniversary of the Institute of Living, a private mental health institution.
"It will take a fundamental change in attitudes by the Communist countries to enable the U.N. to play any role in the Southeast Asia conflict," Bush added.
"But who knows, perhaps in the event of an internationally supervised cease-fire, the U.N. might play a role in Vietnam," the ambassador said. He didn't specify what role might be.
Bush, a former congressman from Texas, is the son of Connecticut's former Republican U.S. Sen. Prescott Bush.

Jittery World Watches the Summit

By WILLIAM L. BYAN
Special Correspondent
Moscow has informed the Russians and the world that the Soviet leaders' talks with President Nixon are "taking place in a complicated international situation."
It is so complicated that the Kremlin seemed immensely anxious to be heard by the world. The message across to those who were jittery about the meeting, including North Vietnamese, was charged to integrate decisions on current talks of policy with "long-term perspectives" and aims of the struggle for peace, freedom and independence of peoples and for social progress and socialism.
For all these decades the struggle for revolution around the world. The phrase "international revolutionary peace, freedom" has meant the struggle for revolution around the world. Pat Finds Smog in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Pat Nixon's entrance was Lada Fedoseeva, a 23-year-old math major who went to the top of Moscow's tallest building today and found that the Soviet capital has it here. We wish your daughter could visit the Moscow State University.
So thick was the gray haze that the short-haired good spoke of "Columbia University," he said to Mrs. Nixon. "The area not see the Kremlin about five miles away from the 23-story Hunter College for a year while her parents served at the University.
Even the massive Lenin Stadium, about a mile away, was partially obscured.
"If the weather were good, not meet any of them. One official would be much better off speaking English. She later said, "Mrs. Nixon's guide were-reading for final exams. on her tour of the university. Mrs. Nixon paused to chat with about 10 students seated at a table with their instructor. Soviet's official policy of atheism. One girl in a red sweater who spoke English said answer to a reporter's question that Nixon asked who attended it. Nixon would visit them. Asked her impression of the student, she said, "I think she is very wonderful and very nice." The First Lady also ventured into one of the libraries where students were said to read books with green lampshades.
"I would love to go to the very wonderful and very nice." No reply was heard.
Once again the First Lady was accompanied by the wife here, another back in the motorcade, the specialists checked out such other details as the quietest route to the nearest hospital.
The same is true for Mrs. Nixon's security. When the First Lady visited a Moscow school Tuesday, her Secret Service agents were far outnumbered by Soviet plainclothesmen.
But wherever the President goes, he is flanked by a very wonderful and very nice one of the items on the security checklist is an inspection with sophisticated devices to make certain his private conversations are kept private.
The check in Moscow was accompanied by the wife here, another back in the motorcade, the specialists checked out such other details as the quietest route to the nearest hospital.

Schools Get Go-Ahead For Summer Work-Study

The Board of Education, Monday night, gave Dr. Raymond Ransdell, superintendent of present George Gerhart's schools, the go-ahead to apply for funds for a summer vocational work-study program.

The board specifically for Northeast School: Dorothy a summer program to run from July 1 through August 31.

There were six events in the Field Day for the Boy Scouts and five for the seniors.

The Moose Patrol of Troop 25 took top honors for fishing.

The Seniors of Troop 11 will receive a ribbon for their superior knowledge of state history.

The best time for a summer trip is June 1 in order to allow the administration time to determine district lines and the location of classes for next September.

Residents new to the town may call the office of the Superintendent of Schools for information regarding September entrance and the pre-kindergarten screening program.

All children who will become five years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1972, are eligible for entrance to the September 1972 Survey.

Shipper Sees Oil Need Hike

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — The president of the American Institute of Merchant Shippers says the nation's oil needs will more than double by 1980. James J. Reynolds of Washington, D.C., told the Army's Corps of Engineers, Tuesday night, that the increasing dependence upon imported crude will require a beamed up domestic tanker fleet and expanded deepwater ports to accommodate the giant ships. Reynolds testified at the first in a series of eight hearings to be held at various Atlantic port cities on the need for and possible locations of deepwater oil ports. Conservationists, in testimony reminiscent of previous oil port and refinery hearings, opposed oil development in Maine. Dr. David Harrison of Bar Harbor, representing the Sierra Club, said only offshore artificial islands should be considered for deepwater oil handling facilities. Questioning the extent of the predicted energy crisis, Richard Anderson of the Maine Audubon Society said: "I think we'd better all turn out our lights after we walk home." As in the past, representatives of the cities of Portland and Eastport favored oil development. Both municipalities have been considered as sites for oil terminals. Prof. Orlando Delong, a member of the Maine Environmental Improvement Commission, said he hopes the Corps recognizes that "Maine citizens want to control the fate of their own state." Suggesting that the Corps establish some personal contacts with the IBC, Delong said: "Decisions made in Washington or Dallas on this matter won't be well received in Maine."

Veterans Graves To Be Decorated

The various Organizations represented on the Permanent Memorial Day Committee of Manchester will decorate Veterans graves in the local cemeteries beginning tomorrow evening. The veterans groups will be assisted by four Boy Scout units and members of the Young Marines. It has been noted by members of the committee that vandalism and other forms of removal of the graves markers have taken place in many of the cemeteries. The task of locating all of the graves of veterans to be honored is increasingly difficult. The families of a veteran whose grave does not have a flag on it should contact the representatives of the responsible organizations and give information so that its location can be recorded. The American Legion, assisted by Scout Troops 27 and 66 will decorate graves in East Cemetery Saturday. Buckland Cemetery will be decorated by the Marine Corp League and the Young Marines on Friday. The Veterans of Foreign Wars Circle will meet tonight at 8 at the home of Mrs. John McKoon, 40 Spruce Street, at the home of St. John's 23 Richmond Dr.

Work Completed At Salter's Pond

Manchester Chamber of Commerce Chairman Raymond Ames (Portland the Forties) of the Chamber's City Beautification Committee announces that the committee has cooperated especially with Boy Scout Troop 26 in planting 21 spruce trees, 4 maple saplings, 15 Forsythia shrubs, 10 hydrangea bushes and pachysandra. (Also, there has been laid 80 lbs. of lime, 80 lbs. of fertilizer and 80 lbs. of grass seed over a 5,000 sq. foot section of bank along the south side of the pond with the purpose of correcting erosion in the area. The blue spruce trees are to serve as a town boundary line for 156 feet running east to west on the eastern side of the swimming pool as a buffer planting between the Lydell St. homes and the park area. The pachysandra will serve as ground cover on the bank of the pond. Wood chips are also added on the bank to protect the seeded area from washing out with rain. Four maple seedlings have been planted near the buffer of blue spruce. Appreciation is also expressed to the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. for its donation of 40 spruce trees." Ames said.

Statues Moved to Safety

ROME (AP) — Ancient statues are being moved from the Appian Way to a safer place in a museum just three days after a vandal smashed Michelangelo's Pieta to pieces in the Vatican. Astonished tourists told police of people stripping the "Queen of Roads" of its Australia, allegedly disguised most precious relics, leading them on trucks and carrying Peter's Basilica Sunday, officials said.

Social Security Q's and A's

Q. My son gets monthly social security student benefits. If he transfers to another college or starts attending classes on a part-time schedule, must he report it to Social Security?
A. Yes. He should notify social security if he marries, is legally adopted, stops attending school full time, changes schools, earns more than $1,680 in a year, or is paid by his employer to attend school at the employer's expense.
Q. I know my social security student payments stop with the month I'm 22. I will be 22 in September. Must I still fill out and return the end-of-year report for student status?
A. Yes. Be sure to show on your report whether you will return to school in the fall. If you plan to continue in school after you're 22 and your earnings don't go over $140 a month during July and August, you will still get checks for the months of July and August. If your earnings will exceed $1,680 for the year and $140 in July and August, you may not be eligible to receive a check for these months.
Q. I will be 65 this summer and plan to file for monthly social security retirement benefits. My daughter is 19 and attending the University of Connecticut. Since I want to apply for student benefits for her, what information about her will I need?
A. You'll need her birth certificate number (it may be the name and address of the College she attends, the date the school term will end, and the dates of the following school term.
Q. My 20-year-old son, who has been getting social security payments since his father died, was recently awarded a full scholarship. Since the scholarship pays all his school expenses, will he still receive social security payments?
A. Yes. His scholarship does not affect his social security payments.

Parade Marshal Appoints Staff

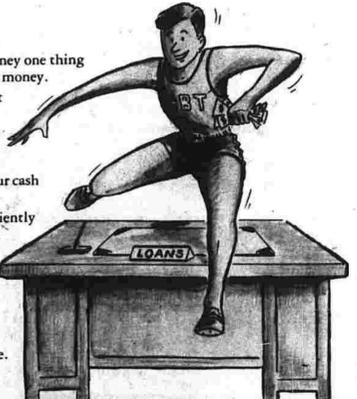

Henry Wierzbicki, parade marshal for the Memorial Day Parade to be held Monday, has made the following staff appointments: M. Sgt. Francis O'Coin, USA (Ret.), chief of staff; Lt. Col. James C. Bayless, USA (Ret.), Peter Cordara, Marine Corps League, and Edward Dupre, Veterans of Foreign Wars, deputy chiefs of staff. The marshal's honorary staff who have been invited to march include: John W. Thompson, mayor of Manchester; members of the Board of Directors; Robert B. Weiss, town manager; James W. Hearden, chief of police; W. Clifford Mason, chief of the Town Fire Department; and Ted Laguard, chief of the 8th District Fire Department. Honorary marshals will be appointed and invited to march on the staff of the marshal as well as a representative of the Korean Conflict, and the Vietnam Conflict. The Marshal's headquarters will be the porch of the Army & Navy Club. The parade will move out promptly at 9:30 a.m. In case of inclement weather, the decision to hold or cancel the parade will be made by the marshal in consultation with other officials and announcement will be made prior to 8:30 a.m.

About Town

Book Review

THE GODS FORGOTTEN. Brooklyn—and other places. By GLADYS SCHMITT. HAR-COURT BRACE & JOVANOVICH, $4.95. The Hebrew word "Elohim" is a plural noun. A strange medieval tale of a religious community, this novel goes deeply into the workings of the human mind. The time is the end of the 10th century and the scene is a small town in the mountains of the Pyrenees. Once it had been a center of learning, but a fire had destroyed it. A hundred years later, a man named Elie Wiesel's grandfather was a rabbi in the town. He had turned it into an island, and for a hundred years the monks had been isolated, thinking the rest of the world had been destroyed by equal tidal waves. They were a people forgotten by God.

In 1859, Menahem-Mendel seemed always to be wrestling with angels—and losing. He destroyed his writings, but they had survived. He might have said them tomorrow. On a side note, the very one holds back is more powerful. On commitment: "The road is for horses." On adversity: "It's hell on earth, but it's a paradise in the sky." On God: "He resides where He is allowed to enter." The story is a concentration camp. Eliezer's "Souls On Fire" has to help people who can stand to be haunted a little.

THE TWILIGHTS LAST GLEAMING. By Leon Arden. Crown, $2.95. A Hasidic Master could be rich—but was mostly poor. This novel pokes fun at the contemporary issues and the names fall outlandish on the modern American ear: Elimelech, Mendel, Simcha, Bunim, and others. The author is a Hasidic Master who has had a habit of writing letters to politicians. The dialogue is full of the finds that significant for the future.

ORCHESTRA WILL RECORD 27th Amendment. Detroit (AP)—Aldo Ceccolo, 38, has been named principal conductor of the Detroit Symphony, effective with the 1973-4 season. Ceccolo was born in Milan in 1934 and entered conducting in his early 30s after having been a pianist. He has recently been most conducting in Europe and America. He will conduct nine weeks of concerts in Detroit in his first season and a minimum of 12 weeks in his second.

Michigan Votes 27th Amendment. Lansing, Mich. (AP)—Michigan has become the 18th state to ratify the women's rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The Michigan Legislature gave its nod to the measure when the Senate approved the amendment by a vote of 20-10 Monday night. The House passed an identical measure 60-10 last Thursday. Ratification by 28 states is required to add the 27th amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The Menu Offers Tin and Selenium

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Proving that traces of selenium are critical to life, scientists here spent another 15 years proving that tiny bits of chromium, tin, vanadium and fluorine also play vital roles in chemical processes that deprive mammals of health and vigor and even death.

Today, Schwartz, a scientist at the U.S. Veterans Administration Hospital here is regarded as the pioneer of trace element research. He's one of the world's leading authorities on which chemical elements—often in amounts that comprise less than a millionth of the total diet—are essential to life.

Trace element study has become one of the most important fields in nutrition research and Schwartz' modest laboratory concentrates on understanding them. The research has not just scientific curiosity.

Selenium deficiency now has been linked to several diseases in mammals, including muscular dystrophy and liver disease which occur in man. Selenium-containing compounds may become effective medicine.

Sewer Assessments Delayed By Protests

Vernon

Action was deferred on setting sewer assessments for homes in the Box Mountain, Trolleyville, Rt. 20 and Vernon Circle area, after more than 100 homeowners appeared at a public hearing Monday night to object to the proposed costs.

The hearing was conducted by the Town Council on Tuesday. Mayor Stuart Neff presiding. Mayor Frank McCoy disqualified himself as he owns property in the area. The prime aim of the homeowners, according to Paul Chuck of Michael Dr., was "to get the rate lowered."

"It's quite possible that many of these trace elements even though not yet discovered might be responsible for some diseases," Schwartz said.

But the past two decades of painstaking research by the 20-year-old German immigrant is only the beginning. He points to a chart on the wall of his crowded office.

It lists 17 more elements once thought to be either poisonous or of no consequence to man's diet that now are under suspicion as effective medicine.

Gov. Wallace 'Improved' Realtors Support Anti-Burglary Plan

Wallace, said he wrote Wallace at about 2:15 a.m. to tell him of the primary results.

"Governor, you came in second in Oregon," Stanton said.

And, Wallace replied: "Oh, that's great! That's real fine. We didn't even get to go there."

Wallace was shot by an assailant last week during a campaign rally in Laurel, Md.

Doctors at the hospital, said the neurologic condition of Wallace's paralyzed legs remains unchanged. They have said they are encouraged by evidence of some involuntary reflex action in Wallace's feet and some sensation down to the mid-thigh region of both legs.

In today's report doctors said Wallace's temperature, blood pressure and kidney functions are all normal. They said he underwent surgery on a tilted ankle Tuesday without difficulty.

'Superstar' Promoters Facing Injunction Suit

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — last May and have been charged with attempting to enjoin admission, Clancy said.

Three Roman Catholic clergy men in Stamford from staging were staged recently by their road production of "Jesus Christ, Superstar" has been filed in federal court. A hearing others were staged in Winfield scheduled Thursday.

The suit maintains that the three have violated copyrights held by the plaintiffs, according to John Clancy, a Bridgeport lawyer representing the copyright holders.

Clancy said his clients have filed other suits elsewhere against other unauthorized producers of the rock musical, and some have resulted in the kind of injunction sought in this suit. In other cases, however, the groups involved appeared to have no connection to religious groups, Clancy said.

The three Stamford clergymen referred to in court documents simply as John T. O'Reilly, Jack Coyne and Robert Cassidy, are affiliated with an organization in Stamford known as the Contemporary Mission, according to a spokesman for U.S. District Court in New Haven.

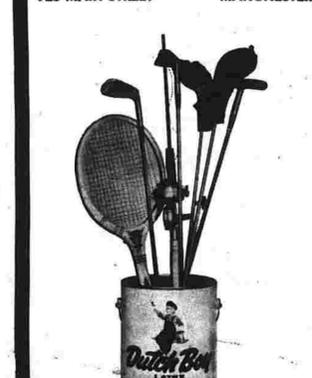

The complaint filed by the copyright holders says the clergymen have been staging van of Thomas Vogt, 24, co-producer of the rock musical at "various parts of the United States" under the name Inter-national Rock Opera Co. since

Stamps In the News

By STD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures

Great Britain's first postage stamp with a musical theme honors the centennial of composer Ralph Vaughan Williams.

Later this year an eight cent stamp will be issued by the U.S. Postal Service to commemorate osteopathic medicine, a healing art that originated in this country.

The historic visit of President Richard Nixon to the People's Republic of China has inspired a series of stamps.

Norway has issued two new stamps and a miniature sheet to pay tribute to the 100th anniversary of its postmark.

Three new issues have been produced by Luxembourg. One set of two is for "Europe" and features a star design.

Did you know that? Pietro H. LaGuardia, honored on the new U.S. 14-cent stamp, is the first American of Italian descent portrayed on a U.S. postage stamp.

'Antiwar Protest' Helps a School FAIRFIELD, Iowa (AP)—About 100 Parsons College students have raised $500 to finance a unique antiwar project.

The Family Lawyer

For Health's Sake

At a state university, all incoming students were required to have chest X-rays. But at least one young woman found this intolerable.

However, the court overruled her objection. Noting that X-rays can reveal tuberculosis and that tuberculosis is infectious, the court said:

Religious freedom, of course, ranks high in our constitutional system. But it does not outweigh the necessities of public health.

But when this law was tested in court, it was held to be unconstitutional. The court said a total ban simply could not be justified.

Putting the "health" label on an unreasonable law, said the court, did not make it reasonable.

East Nips Northwest, Tournery Hopes Alive

By DICK LEDBETTER

Russ Hildeman went out Tuesday afternoon and won a must game, 2-0, over Northwest Catholic in West Hartford. He blanked the Indians on two hits and a magnificent winning six strike victory against two losses.

It put East at 2-1, with just one game remaining. Northwest was eliminated from the tournament as its record fell to 1-2-1.

East needed this one to have a shot at the State Tournament. They can make it if they defeat St. Thomas Aquinas after noon at home at 4:45.

The game was a thriller throughout the first three innings, as both teams combined for only one hit. Finally, in the fourth, East nicked Indian starter John Burke for one run on three hits. The runner was a single to right to lead off. With one out, Ron Soucier got a single through the left side to push McKee on second. After an infield pop, Joe Banning singled left to tie McKee with what proved to be the winning run.

East's other run came in the sixth. Soucier's second single drove in Pete Horvat, who doubled earlier in the inning. East managed only three hits. Meanwhile, Blodreau was in control throughout. He allowed singles in the first and seventh and the only other runner to reach base was John Scully, who reached on an error by Horvat. Blodreau didn't allow a walk and struck out eight Indians batters.

East's offense was excellent except for the dropped fly ball by Horvat. The only substitute was Pucky Paquette who replaced Horvat in the eighth.

Burke pitched an adequate ball game, but was outclassed by Blodreau. Burke walked three, while striking out six. "You can't ask for a better pitching performance," Jim Penders commented. "Once you get on, Ron Soucier got a single through the left side to push McKee on second. After an infield pop, Joe Banning singled left to tie McKee with what proved to be the winning run.

Penders was very generous in his comments about Blodreau.

That was probably Russ's strongest game of the season coming against someone like Northwest. Russ has really earned his captaincy. He's won six of our eight games," said Blodreau.

East's whole season is on the line. The only other runner to reach base was John Scully, who reached on an error by Horvat. Blodreau didn't allow a walk and struck out eight Indians batters.
