COUNTING DISTRIBUTION
PUNISHMENT TRIAL CRIME
 BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
 The average defender believes that declares in "playing the hand," and should therefore do all the thinking. Actually, it isn't considered illegal for a defender to do some thinking of his own. Counting declarer's distribution may furnish the vital clue to the best defense.

 Opening lead — 3

West opened the three of diamonds, and dummy played the ace. East gapped and played the king, holding the trick. After some thought, East knew that South started with two spades and four hearts and four cards in each of the minor suits.

Amazing, my dear Holmes! Elementary, Watson. The opening lead shows that West holds three cards higher than the three of diamonds, and he has only one card lower. If West has five diamonds, South has four of them.

South cannot have a singleton spade, since he has bid notrump. Therefore his six black cards must be two spades and four clubs.

Correct! Bid! Armed with this information, East shifted to the three of spades. South played low, and West took the queen. West returned to spades, and East carefully played low. South had to win with the action of spades.

As soon as South led diamonds West could take the ace of diamonds and go back to spades. The defender thus took three spades and two diamonds, defeating the contract.

Daily Questions
 Partner bids one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades, A-8; Hearts, A-8; Diamonds, J-10-7-4; Clubs, K-4-3-2.
 What do you say?
 Answer: Bid two notrump. This shows balanced distribution and 12 to 15 points, with a stopper in each of the unbid suits.

Pain Block from China

Accupuncture in America

EDITOR'S NOTE — American physicians have begun to take an increasing interest in acupuncture, a Chinese method of surgery without anesthesia. Acupuncture is a system of blocking pain by setting needles into parts of a patient's body. Although many doctors are eager to try it, American medicine says by using acupuncture, or whether the process proves out enough through the needles. But the medical authorities start to slow pain signals are blocked, some trained people to carry out, somewhat like jamming it out, says Dr. Paul Hanley, radio broadcaster.

By ALFON BLANKENBERG
 NEW YORK (AP) — Being of scientific bent, Dr. Paul L. Man of Northville, Michigan, stuck two acupuncture needles into his own legs, and then had a surgeon cut a gash in his left leg.

The gash was 1 1/2 inches long and a half-inch deep. It took seven stitches to close.

Man says he didn't feel a thing. He had learned acupuncture in China, where he was born.

Next, Man stuck acupuncture needles into his wife's face just before a dentist pulled out two of her molars.

Mrs. Man still loved Dr. Man. Neither had any anesthetic or pain-relieving drug before or after their surgery.

And neither have a handful of patients in U.S. hospitals where acupuncturists and medical scientists are beginning careful study of this audacious idea from China—that surgery can be carried out without anesthesia except for some slender acupuncture needles, thin needles inserted not very deeply into the skin produce the effect.

Acupuncture is known to have been the only or main "anesthetic" within the last two months at a few centers in the shoulder for a hernia and a recurrent dislocation of the shoulder, for a skin graft, and a tonsillectomy, and in all of these cases, the patients were unaware of the procedure.

Chinese surgeons are said to have performed 400,000 operations with acupuncture anesthesia since 1965 in a branch of acupuncture called "anesthesia." The Chinese say the surgical pain-relief falls in about 10 per cent of cases.

But the Chinese are also saying now that one single needle properly placed in the ear can block out pain arising from surgery on any part of the human body, even to operations on the skull, chest or abdomen, Man adds.

To all this, American medical men are reacting with statements ranging from "total disbelief" to "marvelous, exciting, a new era."

The evidence whether either extreme must modify the view may not be long in forthcoming.

Responsible anesthesiologists departments of medical centers are exploring it," says an orthopedic surgeon who performed an unopposed operation of shoulder repair under acupuncture. The patient was given a mild pain-relieving drug during part of the long operation.

And the anesthesiologist who of same operation says "total disbelief" to "marvelous, exciting, a new era" and temperature and touch.

Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., is a veterinarian who specializes in the treatment of cats. He is located at 125 Main Street, Manchester, Connecticut.

Cat Scratch Fever Is Quite Rare

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D. Dear Dr. Lamb—Could you please explain what cat scratch fever is and its after effects? I have children who play with cats a lot and I would like to know how dangerous it is. They are often scratched by them.

Dear Reader—Cat scratch fever can be caused by any puncture or scratch on the skin. It doesn't have to be from the claws or teeth of the cat. It just happens that the cat is the most frequent source of these minor skin injuries in children.

If it is caused by a cat it is not because the cat is sick. It is just because the germ that is responsible for the illness is on the cat's claws or teeth.

The truth is authorities haven't agreed yet on the exact cause of cat scratch fever, that is, whether it is a bacteria or virus or some other germ. Most investigators think it is a virus.

If the skin is broken the agent penetrates the body's defenses and sets up a local infection. This may be very minor, causing a few red, dened bumps at the site where the scratch occurred. Sometimes there may be little blisters or a scab. Usually the site of the scratch heals without even forming a scar.

The infectious process really hits the lymph nodes and as with other infections it attacks those lymph nodes directly in line with the lymph drainage from the injury. On the hand, the arm pit lymph nodes will be affected. If on the feet or on the ankles, it will affect those in the groin. The lymph nodes swell and become tender and sometimes the skin over them is reddened. Along with this the person may have fever and a generalized, non-specific illness. The lymph nodes soften and gradually return to normal.

Sometimes, the softened lymph node becomes an abscess and may drain. Usually even though the lymph node may contain pus it is not drained because it will then take longer to heal. Rarely encephalitis may follow. This is a very serious type of encephalitis that has been observed following cat scratch fever. Fortunately, this type of encephalitis is very rare and usually doesn't leave any residual brain damage.

There really isn't any good treatment. Antibiotics don't affect viruses and they don't cure cat scratch fever. About the only thing the doctor can do is to provide symptomatic treatment to make the patient comfortable.

I would like to add that considering the large number of cats in families and the number of cat scratches it is rather remarkable how rare this problem really is. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Church Sees a Way To Mideast Peace

By GEORGE W. CORNELL NEW YORK (AP) — More than at any time in the past century, conditions now exist in the Middle East that open "the path to peace" between Jews and Arabs, a broad-gauged but inclusive church study has concluded.

It comes at a time of increased bitterness over the territorial massings at Tel Aviv's airport. But the study, remarkably, has drawn extensive support from those of divergent views on the overall problem.

Each study in the past have faced sharp criticism from one side or the other. But the new one has been applauded, with some qualifications, by specialists of varying sympathies, both on Arab and Jewish sides.

It says that peoples and governments in the Middle East are now in a position to move toward reconciliation in a way that has not been possible since 1945 on the basis of an establishment as a nation.

Oddly, the study says, the changes in Israel and Arab sides have "occurred quite unexpectedly in many ways" since the June 1967 war, which Arabs called a "setback" and in which Israel annexed border areas.

Although the Arab states have remained and occasionally resumed hostilities, the study says, "they have undergone a marked adjustment of attitude not always apparent in public pronouncements."

"This chief characteristic is the de facto acceptance of Israel as a state," the study says. "For Israel, an unforeseen result of the 1967 annexations has been to open a 'window on the Arab world,' sharpening Israel's awareness that its destiny is linked with Arab people."

The study says, adding: "Increasing numbers of Israeli Jews and Palestinian Arabs on both sides of the 1967 cease-fire line recognize that violence has failed as a substitute for negotiation and mutual recognition."

The 21,000-word document was drawn up by a 10-member United Presbyterian commission, headed by the Rev. Dr. Elwyn Smith of Temple University, and accepted by the denomination's recent assembly for churchwide study.

Calling for an approach both "pre-judicial and pre-Arab," it says the time has passed when it is either a Jewish or an Arab hostility to the other.

"That point is increasingly realized in both sectors, with Israel more keenly sensitized to aid identification of stolen goods over the west bank of Jordan and deter house and Gaza containing 75,000 refugees by making the goods Arabs, the study says, adding: 'breakers to sell.'

crimination," they held, no court can order a state to restructure its internal governmental structure in order to achieve racial balance in schools.

That the issue is still far from being as simple as such a summary may make it sound is illustrated by the fact that Judge Merigis, in his sensational and controversial ruling, proclaimed himself to be following the lead of no less a jurist than Chief Justice Warren Burger, President Nixon's head of the Supreme Court.

In the decision he wrote then, Chief Justice Burger held that any practice of building white schools farthest from Negro population centers "may well prove segregated residential patterns which, when combined with neighborhood zoning, further lock the school system into the mold of separation of the races."

That, however, was within a single city, while the Richmond case seeks to cross town boundaries. That, also, was before the President and Congress had taken the more extreme anti-busing stands the Richmond case itself triggered them into. Just how the Supreme Court will shape up on this and other integration issues it has waiting for it, remains to be seen.

But the layman's guess has to be that we are still a long way from allowing either a big city, or a state setting for a big city, to commandeer the school systems of neighboring cities and towns in order to solve its own ghetto problem.

It can be argued that, for this nation to survive, such surrounding communities must play their part. But they themselves must decide to do it.

A President's Farewell
Madame Secretary, Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Permit me to presume upon your kind reception, to extend my invitation to deliver a charge to the graduating class, and address ALL those to whom this invitation is extended.

The stars seem somehow wrong for us at the moment.

Ancient ideas of hostility to learning persist.

To these, a swell of animosity toward youth, born of adult anxiety, is added.

A squall of fiscal uncertainty whips the waters into whitecaps.

At the same time, a restless generation, seeking desperate change, challenges the style and structure of the very vessel in which we seek to navigate these angry waters.

On that day, his own polls showed him 18 percentage points ahead of Sen. Hubert Humphrey. He felt the television "debate" left him unscathed and his crowd was huge and boisterous.

Actually, California gave McGovern his first triumph over Humphrey among racial minorities, heavily among Mexicans and narrowly among blacks.

What makes this so significant is that these are two traditionally Democratic groups that President Nixon has special designs on.

That decision to court, many politicians believe, is a major reason why McGovern apparently lost some 200,000 votes in the campaign's last week.

And it behooves us, therefore, in the light of that shining prospect, and in our several separate ways, to stay with the ship, to hold her "steady as she goes," in calm and storm, until we feel again the fresh impetus of prevailing purpose.

I therefore charge you — graduates, families, friends and colleagues — to do everything possible to preserve and defend it against hostile attack and insidious neglect.

Let those of us who depart the University today, assure those who stay, that far from abandoning ship, we now take up the lines to help the University forward.

And now, to my learned colleagues, of whom I take leave today, I say (if Homer may be permitted to quote Virgil):

"Endure, and preserve yourselves for favorable times."

And to those magnificent young people who leave with me today, and to their families and their friends, I say, May God shed His grace on the careers they pursue with brotherhood. — HOMER D. BARBIDGE, JR., UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT, JUNE 8, 1972.

McGovern: Not Quite Inevitable

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — The fact that Sen. George McGovern's unprecedented four primary election victories in one day Tuesday did not quite lock up his nomination for President may be traced to his decision made on the road in California on Wednesday, May 31, six days before the primary.

On that day, his own polls showed him 18 percentage points ahead of Sen. Hubert Humphrey. He felt the television "debate" left him unscathed and his crowd was huge and boisterous.

Actually, California gave McGovern his first triumph over Humphrey among racial minorities, heavily among Mexicans and narrowly among blacks.

Stamford Board Approves Embattled Busing Plan

By MARG CHARNEY

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Stamford Board of Education has put the capstone on a 10-year program of school expansion and racial integration by approving a controversial busing plan for its elementary schools. But the 73 approval vote Thursday night came only after three hours of oral-emo-tional debate by citizens on the merits of integration and busing. When it was over, the Republican school board chairman blamed President Nixon's anti-busing position and the national debate for much of the difficulty in getting public approval for the final phase. The chairman, Mrs. Audrey said that most voters who approved the program, she said "I disapproved of it" when asked about Nixon's position on busing. She stressed that Stamford voluntarily opted for integration years before "court-ordered busing" became an issue. Three years ago, when the first plans for the district school busing program were approved, she said "there was a general sense in the community that integration was here to stay." "There were specific problems that we had to solve, but we corrected them by making some changes in district lines at the time," she said. "But there was not the general talk against integration" that have gone 100 years or more too long in settling the issues of human rights," said another. "The younger we start with this integration plan, the better it's going to work," said one advocate of busing. "May I ask you if it is really busing that you oppose? ... we are talking about the children of the future, not the children of the past," said another. "What price are the residents of Stamford going to have to pay for this experiment?" asked the Rev. Robert Matej, a spokesman for the Citizens for Neighborhood Schools Association. "Our schools are not prepared for the disturbances and outbreaks that occur from the schools they are connected to," he said. "The current plans provide only for busing 25 per cent of the city's school population, now 20,000, live in that area. The lack of schools in the central city has drawn complaints from some black, and white, parents who are chafing the local chapter of the NAACP, who say the current plans provide only for busing 25 per cent of the city's school population, now 20,000, live in that area. But at the hearing the anti-busing speakers made it clear they wanted the whole program either scrapped or solved for at least a year. Stamford is a suburban city of about 30 miles northeast of New York, and the busing program approved Thursday has roots that go back to a population boom brought on by the fight to the suburbs in the 1950s and early 1960s. In the early 1960s, with schools overcrowded at 15,000 pupils, the city decided to begin racial integration. The first came two new high schools, then a junior high school, and four new elementary schools. With the completion of each new school, four new elementary schools were integrated racially. The final phase involves opening the last elementary school in the city, which is based on one area around each building, and "satellite districts" in the city, most of which aren't contiguous with the schools they are connected to. The current plan provides only for busing 25 per cent of the city's school population, now 20,000, live in that area. "They're just as pretty if you don't know their names," said Esther Wood, "but we can look them up."

She turned the pages of an iris catalogue, illustrated with color prints, and she identified a purple iris with a white throat as High Life, a deep blue and white flower as Stopping Out, a yellow iris with an orange beard as Mission Sunset and a white one as Catalina Snow.

But Mrs. Wood grows iris, and many other garden flowers, for pleasure, and since she has bought all her iris roots from a single source, she always looks them up. A pink iris turns out to be Lorna Lee and a striking bronze-red flower is Ceynes Caper.

Dodgers Rely on Speed, Pirates on Batting Punch

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates and Los Angeles Dodgers, picked by most experts to win the National League division races, warmed up for their weekend confrontation in Chicago's run in the fourth and their respective fanatics Thursday night.

The heavy-hitting Pirates crushed three home runs among their 15 hits and buried San Diego 11-3 while the speed-conscious Dodgers scored the winning run without a hit—Billy Grabarkewitz walked and Bobby Valentine sacrificed him to score. Pittsburgh then won a wild pitch and catcher Gene Lerner was unable to pick the ball up when he slipped and fell at the box seat during the game.

Combined with Chicago's 5-1 triumph over New York, the Dodgers remained one-half game ahead of the Pirates. In the other half of the game, the Pirates won 3-1, West while the world champion Pirates climbed to within 2 1/2 games of the Mets in the East.

Elsewhere Atlanta nipped Montreal 5-3, Philadelphia tripped Houston 7-2 and St. Louis shed San Francisco 6-4. In the only American League game, Texas triumphed the than running. Willie Stargely, Richie Hebner and Jackie Firsiroti all produced their home runs in a 10-inning game that lasted the Pirates. In addition, Al Oliver drove in four runs with a pair of singles and Vince Brown pitched up the first National League triumph.

Cincinnati jumped on Mets' Tom Seaver for four runs in the first inning on singles by Pete Rose and Joe Morgan. Johnny Bench's sacrifice fly in the second inning gave the Reds a 2-0 lead. Steve Garvey and Tom Seaver's two-run homer, Foreman's two-run homer and Don Stenberg's two-run homer off reliever Don McMahon.

CHRYSLER - CARS
Ben Francisco's Ben McDowell had a career day, hitting a grand slam and a single by Tony Perez and Joe Morgan's two-run homer. Foreman's two-run homer and Don Stenberg's two-run homer off reliever Don McMahon.

PHILADELPHIA
Larry Bowa drove in three runs and Tommy Houston belted a two-run homer as the Phillies whipped the Astros and made it two victories in a row for the first time since the 1960s. The Phillies' victory was aided by a grand slam by Billy Champion held Houston to one hit over the first six innings but needed help from the plate lead first in the seventh. Bob Watson of the Astros hit his 10th home run in the ninth.

Seaver Seeks Answer For Lack of Control

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Seaver's seven straight abortive starts, New York Mets ace Tom Seaver couldn't figure out what was wrong with his pitching delivery.

"I've never had the National Anthem, I just pitched and I had to keep the ball down. But my fastball just wasn't good."

"I couldn't get the ball down and I got crushed," said Seaver, who was blasted for four runs in the first inning enroute to a 5-2 defeat to the Cincinnati Reds.

Seaver's inability to complete a game eight times in a row still left him a bit perplexed. "I'm still searching for my movement," he said. "I've had a hander, who has managed to win eight games and lose only one in the last two months. I'm still searching for the feel of it... the seaver fastball."

Seaver's fastball or rather the seaver fastball on Thursday's start, Seaver said, was "up, tight, it was the same way in the bullpen, exactly where he wants to throw the ball. Then, once he has the timing, he'll murder."

After that No. 1 pitcher dug them into an early four-run hole, the Mets made a comeback try with a run in their half of the third and two more in the fifth. Cincinnati reliever Pedro Borbon came in and was trying to run on third and the go-ahead run on first with only one out in the fifth inning and Fred Cleon Jones a double-play to kill the rally.

Borbon also pitched out of a jam in the sixth when Seaver laid a pinch-hitter.

"He's still a 20-game winner, no matter what," said Hagen. "He's still a heckuva pitcher."

At the moment, Tom Seaver himself has some doubts.

RSox Open Home Stand Yaz Back in Lineup, Angels Invade Fenway

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox open a 12-game home stand tonight with a welcome addition to their lineup as left fielder Carl Yastrzemski returns to Fenway Park.

Yastrzemski, who had been sidelined with a torn knee ligament since May 15, was given the medical OK Thursday by team physician Tom Tierney.

"The knee is fine," Tierney said, "and he should be able to start by Tuesday night. Yastrzemski would wear a knee brace for a while. He added 20 pounds in the last two weeks. I'm in great shape," Yastrzemski said. "I worked out practically every day on the last. I put on only four pounds. I've come along so fast. I can step right into the lineup."

Yastrzemski said he still had a few problems with the knee, but not enough to make him sit out any longer.

"I can run, can can I run laterally, but I can run straight ahead. I can run the bases. I can hit and I can field," Yastrzemski said. "I've been hitting the ball more in practice during the season. I've been hitting the ball more in practice during the season. I've been hitting the ball more in practice during the season."

Important Meeting Set for ABA

Three Clubs And/or Loop May Dissolve

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Basketball Association begins a two-day meeting next Monday, and among the items to be considered are the reductions of teams and even the possible dissolution of the league.

Sources within the league told The Associated Press on Thursday that Memphis, Pittsburgh and Florida are clubs that may be cut from the 11-team league in order to bolster the financial stability of the organization.

Florida and Pittsburgh appear the prime choices to be cut since the Floridians attract only 57,000 home fans a year and the Condors drew only 58,000.

Memphis, which had an attendance of 130,000, has a good sports building, and despite its drawing difficulty, the sources said some powers in the league would like to save the franchise in that city.

Dissolving the league would make it possible for the National Basketball Association to pick up the strongest teams from the ABA. It would also allow the league to circumvent the restraining order barring a merger of the ABA and NBA.

Hearings before a congressional committee on the merger have been chaired by Sen. Sam Yorty, D-N.Y., who is against the merger.

An ABA source said the dissolving of the league might be tried but it was not likely because of the number of lawyers it would bring from the players and their organizations, which originally obtained the federal injunction barring the merger.

Cash Has Come Long Way From Texas Cotton Fields

NEW YORK (NEA)—There was once a time when Norman Dalton Cash looked forward to the sun setting. It meant day was done.

He worked on his father's farm in Justiceburg, Texas, from the time the sun rose above the cotton fields until dark. Hard work, long hours, little pay.

It was profitable, though, in that young Cash built himself a sturdy body, one that would allow him to hit baseball long distances; that powerful talent took him far—from the cotton farm.

Now (at the risk of straining a metaphor) the sun is setting again for Cash. He is 37 years old and knows that each season may be his last.

Junior and Senior Direct One-Act Plays

This year two students have taken advantage of the unique opportunity to experience their first-hand, by directing one-act plays of their own choice.

Clara Greenfield, a Junior, presents "Dark Lady of the Sonnets" by George Bernard Shaw, and Chuck Clark ('72) offers "Impromptu" by Tad Mosel.

"Dark Lady" is a play for the establishment of a National Theater of England. The main character, the Bard himself (played by Alan Sandals) is portrayed as a smooth-tongued, rather absent-minded, highly type, a great one with the ladies. Queen Elizabeth (Linda Larivee) is the most beautiful, stubborn woman of legend, who, however, cannot resist a compliment. Shakespeare's mistress, the Dark Lady (Linda Larivee) and the typical cockney palace guard (Warren Calright) complete the cast.

"Impromptu" is one of the few rarely well-known writer of one-acts. His "Impromptu" is considered by many critics to be a minor classic. The four characters, Whitford (Susan Donovan), Ernest (Bob Rios), Tony

(A. J. Macrelli), and Larnal (Linda Claranhan) find themselves placed on a stage and told to improvise. In the ensuing confrontations the masks of the four slowly slip until their true personalities are revealed.

Marie Gordon ('71) is assistant director for "Dark Lady," and Laura Hilyrak ('74) is rehearsal assistant. Assistant director for "Impromptu" is Jill Genshert ('72).

The plays will be presented tonight at 8:15.

Tickets cost $1, and will be available to attend all activities during the festival weekend. Otherwise, tickets for each event can be purchased for 50 cents each.

Announcers Selected

Dear ye! Dear ye! The Announcer's Club has selected new members for the coming year. New members are Diane Hilyrak, Chady Sterling, Pam Frazier, Mark Zarbo, and Bill Lautman (all of '71); Marty Ferrera and Joel Krut (both of '72).

They will join present announcers Kathy Donovan, Cathie Johnson, and Dan Silver. To follow the pattern of past years, the club had to consist of five girls and five boys.

Members are chosen on the basis of their voice quality and pitch as they read through announcements in front of a panel of judges — in the present announcers.

Stay tuned for some pleasant listening next year! Cat
