School Board Denies Three Grievances

The Board of Education Monday night heard three grievances during the regular following discussions after adjournment.

Atty. Andrew Mossina of Waterbury, retained by the Manchester Education Association, said that he represented about 10 teachers who felt that their supervision of after-school activities without compensation was discriminatory. He argued that the nature of the assignment, rather than the time, should determine compensation.

The agreement between the board and teachers states that "night duties, weekend assignments, a day vacation assignment, such as dances, rallies, and athletic events, shall be considered exclusive of the school day."

William S. Deakin Jr., assistant superintendent of schools for personnel, commented that the arbitrators removed after-school events from the 1971-72 agreement, working. He added that the working was not by accident.

The other grievances involving John Leonard, a teacher of Buckley School read a board statement on flexibility and in matters concerning the annual State Convention will be discussed. Refreshments will be served after the meetings.

Members of the Manchester Emblem Club will serve refreshments at the Manchester Lodge on Elks Day program tonight at 8 at the Elks Home.

Judy Kohls, also in town on the same grade level had only 18 or 20. Kenneth Krivance of Manchester High School represented John Leonard, a teacher of English at the school, whose grievance was that he has 147 students in a literature course and is unable to assign and correct the number of papers he would like to do. Deakin reported that two-year agreements had been negotiated at the school administrators' association and school nurses and dental hygienists. The first

Meskill Makes It Real; New Song Is Official

HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has formally declared "The Hills of My Connecticut" as the official state song—until the legislature decides otherwise.

Meskill's choice of the song written years ago by the late Jesse Greer had been announced last week. The governor's selection capped a state song contest which had produced no contenders capable of winning the approval of the state arts commission's panel of judges. But Meskill went ahead and picked "The Hills of My Connecticut" anyway.

His executive order issued Tuesday said: "It is appropriate that our state have an official state song to be played at official occasions, and at national and international functions."

The governor, a graduate of Trinity College, launched his search for a state song after trying of hearing "Booth" and "The Hills of My Connecticut" at the state house, at official occasions, and at national and international functions.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's super envoy for secret and no-so-secret missions, is heading for Peking under cover of a barbed-wire announcement that has raised the question of answers.

With Soviet President Nikolai S. Podgorny on route to Hanoi, word of Kissinger's departure late today or early Friday spurred speculation of new Vietnam peace move.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler publicly denied any link between Kissinger's trip to Peking, his fourth, and Podgorny's journey. And he said the Nixon strategist plans no side trips or meetings with non-Chinese representatives during his talks with Peking leaders June 19-25.

But the White House spokesman left wide open the probability that Vietnam will at least be discussed, as did the brief joint announcement of Kissinger's visit issued Wednesday here and in Peking.

Kissinger is going, it said, "for concrete consultations with Chinese leaders to further the normalization of relations between the People's Republic of China and the United States and continue to exchange views on issues of common interest."

Kissinger's first, secret journey to China last July set up Nixon's summit session seven months later. He led an advance team to Peking in October and accompanied Nixon there in February. Meanwhile he went on a series of secret trips to Paris for Vietnam negotiations. Those trips were disclosed in January.

The presidential aide's five-week trip to Peking, he said, was agreed on last month, and that Peking could have canceled it if the Chinese intended to follow up their anti-U.S. rhetoric with tough deeds.

And Podgorny's call at Hanoi, the source said, had been expected as the Kremlin reports to its allies on the U.S.-Soviet summit. The United States has held similar sessions with its allies, including Kissinger's just-concluded trip to Japan.

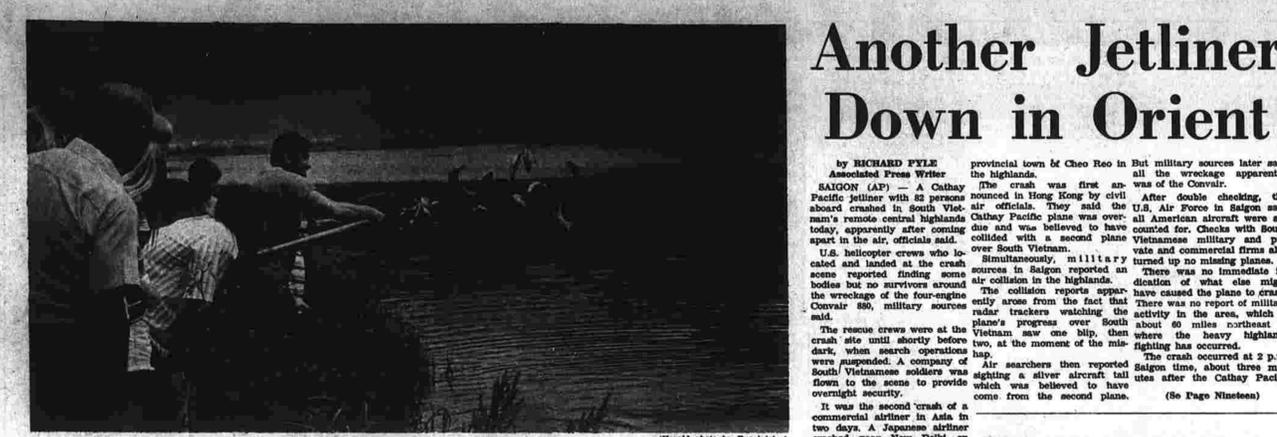

Nonetheless these administration sources are not discouraging speculation that Peking and Moscow might be prevailed upon to influence Hanoi toward a peace settlement. They say: "Both the Chinese and the Soviets have shown Vietnam is a secondary issue with them, ranking below their other priorities including their dispute with each other."

Administration sources ruled out Nixon's new mining and bombing of North Vietnam as promoting the party, despite Peking's charge Monday that

Court Stalls Tolland Vote

By BETTE QUATRALE (Herald Correspondent) Tolland's budget referendum, scheduled for next week by an act yesterday by a Superior Court judge, has been delayed.

An emergency town meeting has been called for Wednesday night at 8 in the Elks School gym, to authorize the Board of Selectmen to borrow money to pay the town until the budget dispute can be resolved.

King will try to move up the court date, in an attempt to reduce the delay involved. An "ex parte" injunction is granted in emergency situations according to law, and is based on the hearing of only one side of the issue.

Atty. Martin Gould, counsel for Ralston and the TEA, explains the town cannot appeal the injunction, adding this form of injunction is issued only when the judge feels the evidence is strong enough, that the other side need not be heard.

Ralston feels optimistic regarding the success of his court case, especially since the granting of the injunction yesterday in Tolland County Superior Court.

"I feel good, we will win and go back to a binding town meeting form of government," the local teacher declared.

Although he admits the case will interfere with getting out the tax bills, Ralston feels the "basic future of the town meeting form of government has become a steadily increasing concern during the long running budget dispute as residents and town officials alike, find his decisions increasingly dictated by petitioned referendum.

U.S. B52 bombers began their second week of saturation raids around the North Vietnamese port of Dong Hoi in a campaign to wreck war materials believed destined for an attack on Hanoi.

More than 200 B52s dropped 500 tons of explosives on the area, on Tuesday. The strikes were reported by the U.S. Command.

The U.S. Command reported earlier that four other bridges on the northwest line were destroyed.

Another Jetliner Down in Orient

By RICHARD FYLE Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — A Cathay Pacific jetliner with 22 persons aboard crashed in South Vietnam's remote central highlands today, apparently after colliding with a second plane in the air, officials said.

U.S. helicopter crews who located and landed at the crash scene reported finding some bodies but no survivors around the wreckage of the four-engine Cathay Pacific jetliner.

The collision reports apparently arose from the fact that radar trackers watching the plane's progress over South Vietnam saw one blip, then two, at the moment of the crash. Air searchers then reported a collision in the highlands about 40 miles northeast of Saigon, time, about three minutes after the Cathay Pacific jetliner crashed.

But military sources later said all the wreckage apparently was of the Conqvir. After double checking, U.S. Air Force in Saigon said all American aircraft were accounted for. Checks with South Vietnamese military and private and commercial firms also turned up no missing planes.

There was no immediate indication of what else might have caused the plane to crash. There was no report of military activity in the area, which is about 40 miles northeast of Saigon, time, about three minutes after the Cathay Pacific jetliner crashed.

It was the second crash of a commercial airliner in Asia in two days. A Japanese airliner crashed near New Delhi, Wednesday, killing 84 of the 98 persons aboard.

First reports had said the four-engine Conqvir 880 collided with another unidentified aircraft. This was largely discredited by officials after checks disclosed no other planes, military or civilian, were missing.

The plane carried 72 passengers and a crew of 40, airline sources said. It was en route from Bangkok to Hong Kong on the final leg of a flight that originated in Singapore.

The crash site was reported to be about 200 miles northeast of Saigon and about 30 miles southeast of Pleiku near the border with Laos.

Most of the invited Senate and House members showed up. In an urging approval by Sept. 1 of a treaty with the Soviet Union, the Senate is expected to approve the arms curbs he initiated in Moscow so broader disarmament talks can begin in October.

Speaking informally, Nixon said summit conversations last week were held in a "rough" manner. He said: "Each side won and the world was won."

The early-morning appearance by Nixon and Kissinger marked the latest administration maneuver in seeking congressional approval of "first step" arms accords.

Most of the invited Senate and House members showed up. In an urging approval by Sept. 1 of a treaty with the Soviet Union, the Senate is expected to approve the arms curbs he initiated in Moscow so broader disarmament talks can begin in October.

Members of the five key committees directly involved in the negotiations were expected to be present. The Moscow treaty to limit defense spending was expected to be approved by two-thirds of the Senate.

A companion five-year agreement to curb offensive missiles directly involved in the negotiations was expected to be approved by two-thirds of the Senate.

The President said he had seen speculation as to who won or lost as a result of his Moscow trip.

He said he did not expect Congress or the nation to accept the agreement "on blind faith."

Loose Money Bargain

WASHINGTON (AP) — A buyer for $1 billion in government money, cheap—starts at 810 per ton.

If the federal government could advertise a product it is having a hard time getting rid of — worn-out U.S. currency — that's probably the way it would read.

Federal reserve banks are beginning to grindup cash instead of burning it, because many localities have antismoking laws to protect the environment. Treasury officials say grinding eventually will be the only way they will dispose of old dollars.

But what to do with the old product — a fine, light green stuff — has presented problems of the Treasury Department, it is trying to sell it.

So far, only one company, a Kansas well-drilling outfit, has been interested in buying the little-chopped cash. The David Kud and Chemical Co., Treasury officials say, is buying ground-up dollars from

But it does seem to be where the law is. We are not sure it is not also where the best and most lasting kind of progress toward an ultimate brotherhood of Americans is going to have to be found. If there is going to be freedom of any kind for any American there will have to be, it seems to us, some perpetuation of the right of free association in private assembly.

At the same time, there have to be certain high and pious hopes for the manner in which those who entitled to such rights of private association choose to exercise them.

We would hope that, in time, a change in the way the members of such organizations feel about fellow Americans would develop within these members themselves, from the inside.

We doubt that the attempted employment of legal gimmicks from the outside is going to promote such a change, or produce adjustments which really please anybody.

There are areas in which the state has what seems to us an almost complete ability to try to work, by all the means available to it, for the cure and the elimination of discrimination. Any area in which any direct functioning of the state itself, as in maintaining and operating schools, in preserving law and order, in administering welfare, in letting contracts for public projects, in exercising its zoning and planning powers, is involved would be such an area. And in such areas even the state's indirect tolerance of intolerance should, we think, be something for which the state could and should be held legally responsible.

But when the function involved is a controversial situation in private, and not in any sense a function of the state itself, then the change and cure must come from inside the people inside the organization. It would be false emphasis, we think, to regard this Supreme Court ruling as any real setback for the cause of civil rights in America.

General Turns Fiction Into Fact

Because it is so close to what we have become used to in the fiction of the nuclear age, few of us have yet realized precisely what it was which happened over in Vietnam in the events for which Air Force General John D. Lavelle was subsequently dismissed and demoted.

But what actually happened was that General Lavelle took the war out of the hands of his Commander-in-Chief in the White House, and waged it as he himself thought it ought to be waged, bombing where he thought the United States ought to bomb, and then manufacturing false justifications for and descriptions of the action.

During this period, President Nixon, the Commander-in-Chief, was actively engaged in trying to promote diplomatic progress toward peace in Vietnam. During this period the President himself did not actually know what his bombers were doing in Vietnam. But what his bombers were doing was known to Hanoi. The action ordered by General Lavelle in the field could have amounted, then, to sabotage of the President's efforts for peace, and may actually, in fact, have been responsible for the fact that the negotiations at Paris did not resume, before the Moscow trip, as Washington had some hope they might.

To state it again: this was an instance in which a military officer, disagreeing with the way his superior, including his President, Commander-in-Chief, was running a war, substituted his own judgment and command for theirs, and implemented his own judgment by sending American planes and personnel on at least 20 separate bombing missions at targets he himself selected.

The detail in which what actually happened out in Vietnam fell short of the use of the word "fiction" was in the nature of the bombs dropped. They were not nuclear, which meant they did not lead to instant world crisis.

All this required the complicity of a number of individuals in the service, but it did not become known to the Commander-in-Chief for instance, until it had all happened.

Then, after the fact, disciplinary action was taken.

It was the sort of thing which couldn't happen, except in fiction, but which did happen.

We would be fools if we were not shaken up a bit by such an instance of secret, hidden usurpation of power and decision by an individual who, when brought to account for it, thinks he would probably do the same thing again, and who probably is receiving plaudits from some who agree with his objectives without realizing the highly important imbuement which was involved.

The Rehnquist Opinion

To those who believe that every possible means must be employed through every possible avenue to erase from all of American life the stigma of discrimination, the Supreme Court ruling about state liquor licenses for private clubs which limit their membership racially will come as the end news of an important admission lost.

The six to three decision of the Court, in an opinion written by Justice Rehnquist, holds that the granting of such liquor licenses is constitutional, with the reasoning being that a state's refusal to issue a liquor license "does not reflectly implicate the state in the discriminatory guest policies" of the licensed private club to make the state itself responsible for the discrimination.

This ruling may not be where civil rights crusaders may think America's heart ought to be.

Kindness On State Highway

The people of Connecticut should feel grateful to those who supported and carried out the coffee break safety project at sites rest areas on state highways during the Memorial Day weekend. The fact that more than 15,000 motorists took time to stop for the free coffee and doughnuts is proof enough that this program serves an important purpose.

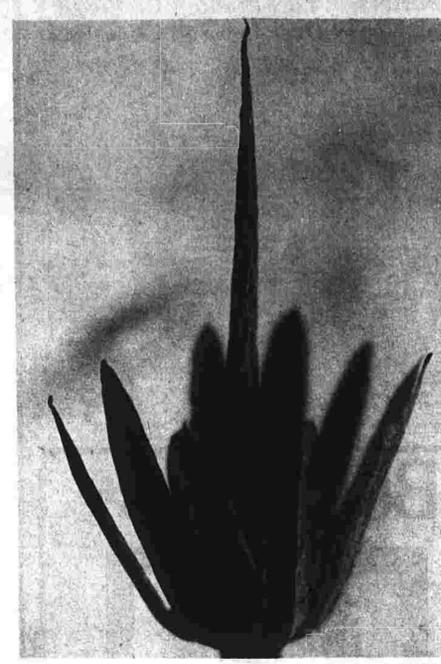

It's impossible to know whether lives were saved by the program. But we cannot rule out the possibility that a number of drowsy drivers escaped death or injury by the friendly presence of the volunteers at refreshment areas. Thus reminded, those drivers might well have made the stop that kept them "alert, safe and alive."

At any rate, it was a warming sight—even if one didn't need the refreshments—to see so many people caring enough about others to give up part of their holiday time.

In the unselfish spirit of the holiday were the 150 volunteers from the Manchester High School Student Council and the Connecticut Citizens Band Conference (CBB), who manned the rest areas. And the Connecticut Insurance companies who paid the cost of the refreshments are to be congratulated for supporting a program that both served their business interests and a humane cause.

The good feeling engendered by the coffee-break project is symbolized by the experience of the first time in our 1972 interview is erosion in the McGovern Phenomenon—non-liberal Democratic voters supporting McGovern despite disagreements with his more radical policies.

An example of this erosion is one 81-year-old carpenter who says he voted for Humphrey in 1968 and would again in 1972. But not McGovern. "I feel he

The McGovern Phenomenon Fades

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

NEW YORK—The astounding tide for President Nixon in two statewide election districts of the borough of Queens suggests that Sen. George McGovern as Democratic nominee for President must dramatically move toward the center to avoid catastrophe.

This strong conclusion is based on answers by voters to a questionnaire prepared by pollster Oliver Quayle's organization. They indicated bipartisan admiration for Mr. Nixon's White House performance mixed with widespread defections among Democrats who either are unfamiliar with McGovern or consider his positions too leftist.

The two ethnically mixed districts, selected for us by election analyst Richard Scammon, contrast sociologically—one a lower-middle-class Jackson Heights neighborhood of rundown apartment houses, the other a middle-class Flushing suburban-style neighborhood of new homes. But their voting records are similar and recently have proved barometers of statewide results. In 1968, Hubert Humphrey comfortably carried both districts against Mr. Nixon.

Hence, our interviews with 81 registered voters (conducted with Eleanor Seaman, Quayle's national field director) yield eye-popping results: Nixon, 82; McGovern, 23; Gov. George Wallace, 1 write-in; undecided, 5. What's more, of 47 registered Democrats, 26 favored Mr. Nixon compared to McGovern's 18 and a undecided—a defection rate above 50 per cent.

Although this is partly attributable to the fact Democrats have not yet coalesced around a nominee, we found surprising confidence in Mr. Nixon—an extremely high 71 per cent positive performance rating (68 per cent among Democrats). "He used to be hesitant," explained a retired even if one didn't need the refreshments—to see so many people caring enough about others to give up part of their holiday time.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.E.O.

When the people of Connecticut elected Thomas Meskill to be Governor of this state, they functioned on various levels of perception, understanding, political conviction, philosophy, and, most important and decisive of all, certain gut instinct.

They liked—or a majority of them liked—what they thought was his style.

They were ready for a long-delayed alteration of political power in their state.

They might not have been as ready for a change if John Dempsey had still been running. But, with Dempsey out of it, Meskill, rather than Jim Daddario, represented the kind of change they preferred.

Having elected Meskill, the expectation and the hope that he would impose his own style of Connecticut public life, the voters of Connecticut have been quick to approve the atmosphere of fiscal austerity he has tried to impose and they have been reluctant, on the other hand, to see sharply with such contrasting legislation as that in which the Governor has stored the state into the gambling business.

The people of the state have, generally speaking, adopted a contrasting legislation as that in which the Governor has stored the state into the gambling business.

"Government By Crisis"

To the Editor,

I would like to express my opinion concerning the budget crisis in Tolland.

I feel that the petition circulated against the budget is engaged in a battle of wits at the expense of education and needed town improvements.

As a result, the school children are pawns in a game entitled "What's running out of this town, the majority or the minority?" This is a legacy of the past, in which Tolland had "government by crisis," and, unfortunately, the same climate still prevails.

The Board of Finance originally proposed the 46 mill rate budget as a needed one, but its chairman, Stuart Joslin, didn't "do his thing" by publicly backing his board's budget.

The compromise budget of 46 mills is now receiving public attention by the Finance Board only because time is running short and the town may be forced to borrow the money to operate.

I would like to see the town adopt an ordinance increasing the amount of signatures on petitions by a percentage of the total voter population which would represent a majority. I believe this same proposal is being considered by the Charter Revision Committee in their adoption of a new charter.

I would like to applaud school board member, Robert Dean, for his efforts in presenting the basic needs of the present school system, but the biggest convokers of all are my two older children who attend the Tolland Middle School and have first-hand knowledge of their education needs.

I think it's about time Tolland came out of its darkness and into the light.

Mrs. Rita Traylor Rhodes Rt. 1, Tolland

Tolland's Budget

To the Editor,

On Monday night, June 12, the citizens of Tolland assembled for a town meeting to decide either on a budget or on a referendum to decide the question of a budget. However, the citizens were prevented from acting on this issue because a small minority had circulated a petition and gotten 200 signatures to call the referendum.

Thus the 200 or so citizens of Tolland who showed up at the town meeting to exercise their right to vote were probably witnesses to the death of the town meeting form of government in Tolland. Apparently, those who are advocating the 46 mill budget feel that their position is not defensible in an open town meeting when questions can be raised as to what town services and educational necessities will have to be cut to meet this budget.

The 46 mill budget is the obvious choice when the facts are on the table. The town meeting program will suffer. The 80-100 cut in the education budget is also undefensible to any parent who approaches the question with an open mind. So much of the Board of Education budget is fixed cost subject only to inflation that if it is cut it made it will have to come from educational tools like books. Children are educated by books not by buildings but a budget cut will affect the former but not the latter. The 46 mill budget can only appeal to those who truly cannot afford the increase, a very small number of people, or those who don't care about Tolland or its children, or those realtors who want to flood the town with new houses and sell them by quoting our low mill rate.

Those who attended the town meeting did however get to choose the date for the referendum. So on June 20 we get to vote our choice. I hope that the citizens of Tolland will agree with me that there is no choice. The 46 mill budget is the only one that will allow Tolland to provide the services and the education that we and our children need. Vote NO-YES on June 20.

Tech Graduation Tomorrow

Joseph P. Murphy, associate commissioner of the Division of Vocational Education of the Connecticut Department of Education, will award diplomas to 87 graduates of seven courses and one post graduate student.

The occasion will also be the occasion for the presentation of awards to the students, parents, relatives, and friends, he will also be bidding goodbye. The exercises will end his 46 years of affiliation with the state vocational system as student, instructor, and administrator. During the last 19, he has served as director of Cheney Tech.

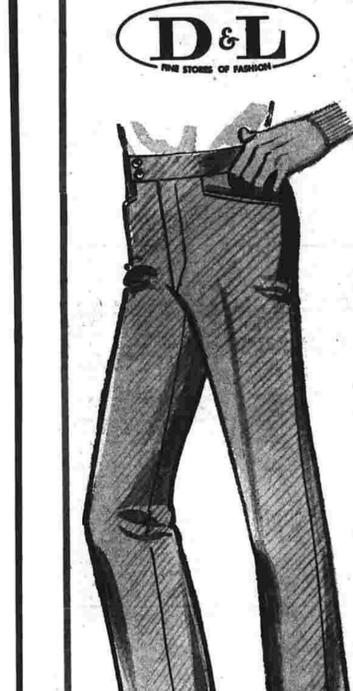

The main speaker will be Carmen F. Domarrumma, professor of history and politics and chairman of the department of politics at Fairfield University. He did his undergraduate work at Furman University and graduate work at Fordham and Columbia Universities.

He taught at Fordham two years and has been on the Fairfield faculty 26 years. His memberships include the American Historical Association, the American Judicature Society, the Medieval Academy of America, National Council for Social Studies, and American Heritage.

Stephen M. Krutash, Student Council president, will review the last four years; and the Rev. Rosalind J. Fournier, co-pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, will give the invocation and pronounce the benediction. An ensemble from the Manchester Salvation Army Citadel Band will provide music before the exercises. For the procedural and recessional, and during the evening.

Bridges, Fuel Depots Hit In New Assault on North

Salon headquarters said, and for the fourth successive day, fighting erupted on the southern outskirts of the district town of Tuyen Sinh, on the Cambodian border.

These are targets that we think are going to contribute directly to an attempt to take Hanoi, one U.S. official said. These are the battlefield supply areas, the forward fuel depots, the ammunition storage areas, the reserve unit bivouac areas, all the support units they're massing there in an attempt to take Hanoi.

At An Loc, there's nothing but North Vietnamese gunners doubled their fire on the provincial capital. Field reports said about 600 shells hit the city during the 24-hour period ending at dusk Wednesday, double the daily average for the past several days.

One American adviser said there is no longer any serious fighting at An Loc. The South Vietnamese can move two or three kilometers out from An Loc without much resistance, he told Associated Press correspondent Richard Blythe at a command post on Highway 19 south of the town.

O'Marra Candidate For District Board

Atty. Thomas R. O'Marra, 29, of 30 Schaller Rd., announced today he is a candidate for director of the 8th District. He is seeking the vacancy to be created when the three-year term of Joseph Lutz expires.

Lutz, elected to the board in June 1969, has announced that for personal reasons, he will not seek re-election. Edward McKeever, another whose three-year term expires this year, has announced he will seek re-election.

The 8th District's annual meeting will be next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of Bradley School on Hallister St.

In addition to electing two directors to three-year terms, the taxpayers will elect a president, treasurer, clerk and tax collector, all to one-year terms. They will vote also on a proposed budget and tax rate for 1973.

O'Marra, who was assistant Manchester counsel until last November, is assistant chief of leasing in the State Public Works Department. He has a part-time law practice from his home.

He said the state's "Little Hatch Act" does not conflict with his job with the state and his intention to run for 8th District director, because the elective positions in the 8th District are non-partisan.

He said today, "I have explored my candidacy with prominent people in the district and am gratified at their support. I hope to justify their confidence in me if I am elected."

O'Marra, a graduate of Fairfield University and the University of Connecticut School of Law, is married to the former Mary Catherine O'Connor of Manchester. The couple has four children: Thomas Jr., 4 1/2; Meghan, 2 1/2; Bryn Daniel, 1 1/2; and John Michael, four months.

Douglas Eichman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Eichman of 23 Scarborough Rd., has been selected a member of the New England Conservatory Chorus.

He is a 1969 graduate of Manchester High School and will enter his senior year at the conservatory in Boston, Mass.

The group is sponsored by Cultural Presentations of the U.S. State Department and is directed by Lorna Cooke DeVaron. Its repertoire ranges from works by 19th century composers to the final chorale from Leonard Bernstein's "Candide," "Ogi," and "My Fair Lady," by Lerner and Loewe.

Before going on to the continent for concerts in a number of cities, the chorus group will stop in Ireland for a few appearances. One performance will be given at the Phoenix Park residence in Dublin of John D. J. Moore, U.S. Ambassador to the Republic of Ireland.

The chorus' last two concerts will be given as the U.S. State Department participant at the Cultural Olympiad in Munich, Germany.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By VIVIAN F. FERGUSON

The story of Herbert Bascome, chef tourant at the famous Princess Hotel in Bermuda, is an old-fashioned success story. It is the story of a hard-working young man who kept his eyes and his nose open. It is the story of continuing enterprise and creativity.

As Herb tells the story today, he is modest, unassuming yet informative. He wanted a job as soon as his nose was open. The U.S. Air Force maintained a base in Bermuda, so he made his way there. (It is now a Navy air base). Any serviceman can tell you what KP duty entails. That is where Herb began.

He must have been an observant young man who was willing to learn and take on responsibility. The day came when a short-order cook was needed. Herb smiles as he remembers. "No, it really wasn't too difficult. There were a lot of hamburgers and sandwiches. . . It wasn't too long before he was cooking full meals. In all, Herb spent seven years at the base.

Less than 10 years ago, the Hotel and Culinary College came into being in Devonshire, Bermuda. Herb was one of the help in the many hotels, guest houses, restaurants, etc. resulting in the school which also provides an opportunity for the native Bermudian.

Each year from August to November, Herb leaves The Princess to study at The Greenbrier Hotel in White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. Here is one of the finest training schools for chefs in the world. I was attending a special tour of the kitchen there some years ago. Herb spends six days a week observing and adding to his fund of knowledge.

As chef tourant, he spends long hours on his feet. It doesn't bother Herb a bit. He still finds time to create wedding cakes for private parties on his own time. A bachelor for the time being, he hopes someday to work in Europe to add to his learning.

A tourant, as explained in a previous column, is the "turning" cook. He must know everything that goes on in the kitchen. This is a highly responsible position from which he can become the sous chef, the head man or chef de cuisine "the executive chef."

The Princess Hotel has three kitchens. One serves the main dining room; another the pool, coffee shop and room service; the third catering to the special gourmet dining area. The Princess is the only hotel in Bermuda that features an à la carte dining room in addition to its main dining area. There is an extra charge, of course, for this kind of service but it is well worth it. One ate looking at the beautiful blue Bermuda water under crystal chandeliers. Fresh flowers and flickering candlelight add to the atmosphere.

My husband and I visited Bermuda recently. My first and only previous trip took place over 20 years ago on a honeymoon. My pleasant memories remain for Bermuda as a beautiful spot. It is impossible to describe the deep blue of the water interspersed with a lovely green indicating coral rock below. It is peaceful and restful like a beautiful watercolor.

Eighty-five per cent of Bermuda's visitors come from the United States of which the major portion comes from New England, primarily Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Bermuda takes its name from Juan de Bermudez, a Spaniard who discovered the islands in 1503. He failed, however, to claim them for his country. It took more than a hundred years for a lucky mishap which led to British colonization. The British flagship "Sea Venture" was wrecked on the rocks of the island in 1609. The command of the British Ad. 2 miral Sir George Somers came to grief on the rocks of Bermuda during a storm. It had been on

Manchester Area Plans Conference of Churches

Forty people representing 13 churches and Bolton churches met Monday to organize a Conference of Churches which will replace the present Council of Churches. The main objective is to coordinate the present hospital ministry, pooling resources for pre-natal counseling and organizing general counseling services.

A task force of 15 people, many of whom are Roman Catholic, has been working on a suggested structure for the conference during the past several months, speaking to clergy young people who feel a need and governing boards of local churches.

The Rev. Robert Hloff, vicar of St. George's Episcopal Church in Bolton and head of the task force, commenting on the aims of the proposed conference today, said, "Such a conference would enable Roman Catholic and Protestant churches to participate together in a wide range of activities and do many things which no one church can do alone."

The conference would operate in four divisions, the Rev. Mr. Hloff said. These are Christian education, special ministries, Christian social action and church extension. Each member church has been asked to send one delegate to each of these divisions.

At Monday's meeting, the delegates divided into the four divisions to discuss their possibilities in each area.

The division of Christian education would include a school teacher workshop; sharing of resources including curriculum, staff and learning materials; in favor of this new, more representative Christian organization training; setting up

Enters Ministry

Alan Stuart Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson of 20 Coburg Rd., will be ordained into the holy ministry Sunday at 4 p.m. at Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Paul Kennedy, assistant to the president of the New England Synod, will be the ordinator and preacher. Others participating in the service will be the Rev. C. Henry Anderson, pastor of Emmanuel, Hargrave and Johnson, Acadia, N.S.; the Rev. Mr. Hloff, vicar of St. George's Episcopal Church in Bolton and head of the task force, commenting on the aims of the proposed conference today, said, "Such a conference would enable Roman Catholic and Protestant churches to participate together in a wide range of activities and do many things which no one church can do alone."

Stokowski Draws London Praise

LONDON (AP)—Leopold Stokowski's 80th anniversary symphony orchestra, led by his first appearance with the London Symphony, drew praise from critics and the public.

The sellout crowd of 4,000 gave thunderous applause after Stokowski led the orchestra at the Royal Festival Hall in the same program performed during his first appearance with the London Symphony in 1912.

Newspaper critics gave Stokowski more praise than half of George's. "Anybody can live to be 80, but only Leopold Stokowski will obtain quite such a every 3 earned."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Operation Needed To Correct Hernia

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would you please help us with our problem. My husband is 46, weighs 140 pounds and is five feet six. He has a hernia in the lower abdomen. It is not painful and seems to be of recent origin. Does surgery seem the best correction and how permanent and limiting is the future? I read somewhere about injections. Are they safe? Is surgery under local anesthesia possible?

Dear Reader—If your husband does have the usual type of hernia and what the surgeon and his team are used to doing for the best results, really is not major surgery, but it is very important surgery.

Did you know the Black Death was back? One of the greatest scourges in the history of mankind, the Bubonic plague, has made a reappearance. Its sudden return appears to be related to the back-to-nature movement and particularly in the so-called hippie communes. Dr. Darwin L. Palmer in Albuquerque, N.M., has been studying the disease in the Southwest. In a 1970 outbreak near Albuquerque there were 13 cases and the largest outbreak of the plague since 1924.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. We will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Clayton Howards Wed 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton E. Howards of 215 Keeney St., observed their 25th wedding anniversary yesterday.

The couple was married June 14, 1947 in Stine (Maine) Baptist Church, by the Rev. Benjamin Dugar Jr. and have lived in their home at which Mrs. Howards is the proprietor. Three Plead Innocent In Art Thefts

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Three persons have pleaded innocent in Worcester County Superior Court to indictments related to the May 17 robbery of four paintings valued at more than $1 million from the Worcester Art Museum. Two Gauguin, a Picasso and a Rembrandt were taken by two men who wounded a guard as they fled. The paintings were later recovered undamaged. One of the three arraigned in the art robbery, David Segura, 37, of Worcester, also was arraigned at the same time Wednesday in connection with a robbery of the Greenstate branch of the Worcester County National Bank May 18. He pleaded innocent to the charges in both cases and was released in $5,000 cash bail. Carol Nester, also of Worcester, was arraigned on a charge of being an accessory after the art robbery. Her bail was set at $100.

Sugar Beets Falter In Maine Test

ARUNTA, Maine (AP) — Industrialist Fred H. Valuing says his sugar beet venture in Arundel County aborted because the wrong beets were used. But he's convinced sugar beets can become a viable second crop for the county if transplanted beets from the south are used.

Claiming that Maine could have a "sugar beet industry of significant magnitude within 3-5 years," Valuing said his misadventure with an Eastern refinery operated by Maine Sugar Industries resulted because the plant used beets of poor quality grown from seeds rather than from transplants which already have two months' growth.

The nationally known businessman gave several hours of sworn testimony Wednesday before the governmental operations subcommittee of the Legislative Research Committee. It is looking into the latest refinery lease which the Maine Industrial Building Authority granted to Magnum Northern, a new firm controlled by Valuing.

MEI lost the refinery by foreclosure when it defaulted on $10 million of loans guaranteed by the MEI.

The subcommittee peppered Valuing with questions about the past operations of MEI, his connections with Magnum Northern and the future outlook of the sugar industry.

Citing several questions that must be resolved before new efforts with the beets can pay off, Valuing said it is up to all parties concerned to "put our shoulders to the wheel on a fair course of action and place this industry back on the tracks."

The controversial figure said poor publicity was adversely affecting the backing of the sugar beet venture by MEI's 8,000 stockholders and said positive thinking about "a hell of an investment up there" would do a lot of good.

Valuing conceded that

FREE Car Wash When you say "Fill it up"

Shell announces an honest-to-goodness free car wash. Whether you need twenty gallons, or two, we'll wash your car free -- and fast -- with every fill-up.

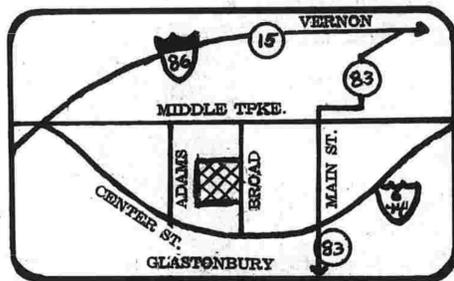

This is not just an introductory offer. It's the way we do business at the new Shell Car Wash in Manchester.

CONVENIENTLY LOCATED AT 344 BROAD STREET, NEXT TO THE MANCHESTER PARKADE. Easy come, easy go. It's easy to get to, and 4 traffic lanes with 2 pump islands and 16 pumps keep things moving.

SHELL'S CAR WASH IS QUICK, CONVENIENT AND REALLY CLEANS. Our new equipment douses your car with over 50 gallons of water. And 9 whirling brushes really do a cleaning job. You simply sit in your car as it moves through the tunnel. Your car's exterior is washed and dried in only 90 seconds. So forget about washing your car yourself. We'll be happy to do it for you. Faster. Better. And for free.

WE'RE READY WHEN YOU ARE. WE'RE OPEN FROM 6 A.M. TO MIDNIGHT, SEVEN DAYS A WEEK, RAIN OR SHINE. So whatever time is good for you is good for us.

ALL MAJOR OIL COMPANY CREDIT CARDS WILL BE ACCEPTED thru August 19. This will give you plenty of time to apply for and receive your own personal Shell credit card. Having your own Shell card will make it easy for you to purchase quality Shell gasoline and, at the same time, keep the cleanest car in town.

FREE CAR WASH WITH A FILL-UP. NOW OPEN 6 A.M. TO MIDNIGHT SEVEN DAYS A WEEK, RAIN OR SHINE, IN MANCHESTER AT 344 BROAD STREET NEXT TO THE MANCHESTER PARKADE.

They Were Saved in Rapid City Flood

"My name is Yvonne and I'm five years old and I saved my puppy," said this little Rapid City, S.D. girl after she, her mother and grandmother rode out the flash flood last weekend in the second-story bedroom of their home. The house was swept off its foundation by the flooding Rapid Creek and sailed several feet before coming to rest against some large trees. (AP photo)

HEW Eases Requirements On Hospital Charity Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — associated director in Chicago, said he is not totally satisfied with the compromise but thinks it averted a legal challenge. "We still have some real reservations about the 10 per cent," he said. "That says in effect that the hospital's obligation for charity is twice the amount of the loan. If you multiply 10 per cent for 20 years you come up with 200 per cent."

Such facilities have been required by law since 1948 to provide "a reasonable volume" of free services to poor people. However, we do believe hospitals have a responsibility to provide "a reasonable volume" of services to poor people, Dr. Drake added.

The partial retreat was confirmed Wednesday by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare although one official, reluctant to disclose details, declared that even the number of members on a public advisory committee was that the proposal was not a rigid requirement, because state Hill-Burton agencies could raise or lower the free-care level based on each hospital's financial condition.

The issue was brought to the attention of the National Health Program on Health Problems operating under the leadership of the National Health Foundation, which filed suit against the Hill-Burton program in 1968. An undetermined number of federal court suits against hospitals in Louisiana, Colorado, West Virginia, Florida and the District of Columbia.

Last year the Florida suit was settled when the hospital agreed to establish free-care procedures. The 10th U.S. Circuit of Appeals ruled that the Hill-Burton program was unconstitutional because it required hospitals to provide free care to indigent patients at the rate of three per cent of operating costs or 10 per cent of the original loan or grant.

The first proposal made public in mid-April would have required a formula of free-care equal to at least five per cent of operating costs or 25 per cent of net income, whichever was higher.

The American Hospitals Association estimated that the government received up to 2,000 letters, all but five per cent opposing that plan.

The AHA, with a membership of about 7,000 hospitals, had warned that private patient rates might be forced up nationwide to cover the costs of expanded free care.

Bruhn Says Male Dancer Now Accepted in America

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newswriters Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The biggest change in America's attitude toward male dancers that Erik Bruhn has seen in his 28-year ballet career has been the acceptance of the male ballet dancer.

Bruhn, 41, regarded as the best male classical dancer in America, you would find the first to realize that it was look- ing for a male dancer, very professional and quite different from today. People would ask what you do and you hesitated to admit being a male dancer. You'd probably be slapped verbally or stared at oddly.

"Since I came from Denmark where male dancing was highly respected, I was shocked at this country, both live and on television. The Russian and Danish companies visited here. When they saw them, the American public took like crazy to male dancing."

The American Ballet Theater, with whom Bruhn has danced most, has toured widely in the United States and Bruhn danced principally, heroic roles up to the time he came to America.

The training is great discipline, the exercising can strengthen a child even if he isn't going to be a dancer, "yond Technique."

"The training is great discipline, the exercising can strengthen a child even if he isn't going to be a dancer, "yond Technique."

ERIK BRUHN

Many dancers have become great who started studying on the advice of a doctor: "Your child is too weak. You have to build up his muscles." It could never weaken a child.

"A child needs to have demands and discipline put on him. They like it, too. They're disciplined in the state schools in Europe if they're not going to be good enough; we don't leave that up to the student. And if a child is in it a year or two and then has to stop, it's heart breaking for him."

"Oh, it's a big change since 1948-50, when I was here for the first time. I thought then, 'When will this ever change?' and now it seems to have happened in no time at all. Now you discover schools and interest and talent in every part of the states. We used to go into areas where people attended our one-night stands of ballet out of boredom. Now, they can talk about our performances from a background and they have comparisons to make."

The Danish-born Bruhn now is in a transition period, with some feelings, one of them relief, with time on his hands he hasn't yet really planned how to use, generally optimistic.

In the near future, Bruhn says, he'll travel to some places where he has previously been, "working like a slave," in rehearsals and performances, to see them like a tourist. And he'll write a book or short stories or both, fiction, not an autobiography. He already has written a book about ballet.

Decisions Made By Zoning Board

The Zoning Board of Appeals has acted on four cases which it heard earlier this month, and scheduled a public hearing for June 22 to hear one appeal.

Decisions made include the granting of front-line variance on Old Coventry Rd. to Leonard Oligio, granting of a rear-line variance to William Kenyon, Rt. 31, for construction of a garage, and denial of a front and side-line variance to Ronald Nadeau, Rt. 44A.

Also denied was a request by Gas Land Inc. of Springfield, Mass. for construction of an gas station on Rt. 44A and Rt. 31.

The June 22 appeals will deal with Nadeau's appeal once again, for a side-line and front-line variance, in order to allow construction of an in-ground swimming pool in connection with his business, Sabrin Pools.

The earlier appeal, denied, was to allow also for subsequent construction of a building to replace the pool, but this request is being dropped by the applicant.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices plodded ahead in today's stock market, but with none of the verve that marked Wednesday's market.

The noon Dow Jones average of 29 industrials was up 3.47 to 962.26.

Gaining issues on the New York Stock Exchange led the losers by about 7 to 4.

Brokers said Wednesday's gain of 8.20 in the Dow average and today's firmness might be related in part to peace hopes among buyers. There was considerable interest in the visit to Hanoi of Nikolai Podgorny, president of the Soviet Union, with an interest in soft loans and in presidential adviser were lower, in view of a proposed hearing on the issues by a U.S. Senate committee.

On the American Stock Exchange, a block of 26,700 shares of largest industries sold at off 1/4.

Block trades, which serve as indicators of participation by institutional investors, were fewer than in Wednesday's session.

The noon Associated Press 50-stock average was up 1.3 to 329.8. Industrials rose 2.1 to 495.8, rails were up 1.0 to 121.1, and utilities were unchanged at 122.0.

Aircraft issues were ahead, as were some of the metals and most of the oil stocks. Others were mixed.

A block of 42,000 shares of Cadence Industries sold at 10, unchanged, but the price moved up later to 11 1/2.

The company said it would accept all tenders on its 5 per cent convertible subordinated debt.

Voter Limits Still Confused

By DON MEKLE
HARTFORD (AP) — Despite the clear mandate of the U.S. Supreme Court, there continues to be much confusion over residency requirements for voters in Connecticut. The confusion is not surprising in light of the fact that the state's constitution is silent on the subject.

The nation's highest court, in its decision in Dunn v. Blumstein, has held that a state's residency requirements for voters are unconstitutional if they are not reasonably related to the state's interest in the election process.

The court's decision is based on the principle that a state has a legitimate interest in the election process, but that this interest is not unlimited. A state may require that voters be residents of the state for a certain period of time before they are eligible to vote, but the requirement must be reasonable.

In Dunn v. Blumstein, the court struck down a Tennessee law that required voters to be residents of the state for one year before they were eligible to vote. The court found that this requirement was not reasonably related to the state's interest in the election process.

The court's decision is significant because it means that states can no longer require that voters be residents of the state for a long period of time before they are eligible to vote. This is good news for people who have recently moved to a new state and want to be able to vote in that state.

Under the bill presented to the legislature, no citizen will be able to establish residency during the 30-day out-of-period, but their names would not go on the voting list until the first election after they return to the state. This means that if a person moves to a new state, they will not be able to vote in that state until the next election.

There are many other constitutional questions raised by the bill. For example, it raises the question of whether a person who moves to a new state can vote in that state if they have not yet established residency. The bill does not answer this question.

The bill also raises the question of whether a person who moves to a new state can vote in that state if they have not yet established residency. The bill does not answer this question.

Pillory Back As Punishment

FULTON, Me. (AP) — Judge Hugh F. Williamson of the Calumet County Magistrate Court says he will ask for authority to use the pillory as punishment.
Malvin G. Underwood of Fulton reproduced the device and gave it to the judge.
Williamson said Wednesday, "A pillory constrains the hands and feet." He also demonstrated how it would be used.
In colonial times, an offender would be sentenced to be confined there from several days and passers-by could throw things at him.
"Our ancestors were not soft on criminals," the judge said. "They wanted to make an example of them."

Business Mirror Industry on Defensive But the Battle Obscure

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — It would be difficult to single out any one industry as being more on the defensive than another today, but government officials and industry spokesmen are all on edge.
The first complaint, as he sees it, is "Much advertising is being done by the defense industry at the moment. It is a very noisy industry and it is difficult to hear anything else." His response to Commissioner of Defense: "Very little advertising is being done by the defense industry at the moment. It is a very noisy industry and it is difficult to hear anything else."
Unfortunately, some advertising is still being done by the defense industry, insurance, banking, securities, health care, forest products, electric utilities, as among those on the defensive postures, but it is difficult to see the intensity of the battle.
With some certainty you can say that the advertising industry has already put some of the battle behind it. Cigarette makers, although their battle with health authorities is hardly over, have discovered a new and profitable formula: Diversify into other products.
And you can say with confidence that the advertising industry at the moment is high on the list of those arguing the case most vociferously, if only because articulation is their modus operandi.
Paul C. Harper, Jr., chairman of Goodman, Harper & Steers, Inc., summarized the industry's attitude toward advertising in a speech earlier this year to the Hollywood Radio & Television Society.
He called it "A Frenzied Chat with Commissioner 'K,' who said that the government and consumers in a speech earlier this year to the Hollywood Radio & Television Society.

Malvin G. Underwood of Fulton reproduced the device and gave it to the judge.
Williamson said Wednesday, "A pillory constrains the hands and feet." He also demonstrated how it would be used.
In colonial times, an offender would be sentenced to be confined there from several days and passers-by could throw things at him.
"Our ancestors were not soft on criminals," the judge said. "They wanted to make an example of them."

Business Mirror Industry on Defensive But the Battle Obscure

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — It would be difficult to single out any one industry as being more on the defensive than another today, but government officials and industry spokesmen are all on edge.
The first complaint, as he sees it, is "Much advertising is being done by the defense industry at the moment. It is a very noisy industry and it is difficult to hear anything else." His response to Commissioner of Defense: "Very little advertising is being done by the defense industry at the moment. It is a very noisy industry and it is difficult to hear anything else."
Unfortunately, some advertising is still being done by the defense industry, insurance, banking, securities, health care, forest products, electric utilities, as among those on the defensive postures, but it is difficult to see the intensity of the battle.
With some certainty you can say that the advertising industry has already put some of the battle behind it. Cigarette makers, although their battle with health authorities is hardly over, have discovered a new and profitable formula: Diversify into other products.
And you can say with confidence that the advertising industry at the moment is high on the list of those arguing the case most vociferously, if only because articulation is their modus operandi.
Paul C. Harper, Jr., chairman of Goodman, Harper & Steers, Inc., summarized the industry's attitude toward advertising in a speech earlier this year to the Hollywood Radio & Television Society.
He called it "A Frenzied Chat with Commissioner 'K,' who said that the government and consumers in a speech earlier this year to the Hollywood Radio & Television Society.

Chrysler Makes Another Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has announced its second price increase in as many months with a shift of former options to standard equipment. The automaker said Wednesday that the latest increases range from $14 to $120 on all of its 1972 V8 engine passenger cars to cover two changes in equipment items from options to standard.
The increase affects 81 of the company's 99 models and applies only to cars shipped to dealers on or after next Monday.
Chrysler said the increase coincides with installation of new electronic ignition system on all V8s and the use of larger engines in all standard-size station wagons.
On May 22, the company raised the price on some models from $17 to $113 when it made power front disc brakes, electric clocks, deluxe wheel covers and an automatic wagon tailgate lock standard on a number of its top-of-the-line models.
Chrysler said both price increases are within the 4.5 per cent guidelines set by the Federal Price Commission.
