

Nation Set For Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fireworks, patriotic pageants and family picnics are among the traditional Fourth of July highlights as the nation celebrates its 196th birthday over a four-day weekend.

An audience dressed in red, white and blue was on hand Sunday in Oklahoma City for "The 1972 Stars and Stripes Show" featuring comedian Bob Hope, singers Anita Bryant and Nancy Wilson and baseball's Mickey Mantle.

Tickets to the $300,000 extravaganza were free but the ticket holders had to come dressed in the colors of the flag. NBC taped the show for broadcast at 9:30 p.m. EDT Tuesday.

"The National Yankee Doodle Dandy" will be selected in Philadelphia from among 13 teenagers who were born on the Fourth and who represent the 13 original colonies.

The youngsters competed in an essay on "What My American Freedoms Mean To Me." Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III will deliver the keynote address during Tuesday's festivities at Independence Hall.

While the Dandy hopefuls declaim, President Nixon and his wife plan to spend a quiet

Accidents Claim Five in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Accidents have claimed five lives in Connecticut thus far in the four-day Independence Day weekend, including four in traffic and one drowning.

A Southington boy, seven-year-old Phillip A. Tota Jr. drowned Saturday when he fell in a small pond near Mt. Southington Lodge while playing with three other boys, police said.

Two persons were killed Sunday in a car-motorcycle collision on Route 147 in Middletown. Killed when the motorcycle struck the left-hand door of the auto were Lawrence Slover, 54, of Meriden, driver of the car, and motorcycleist Frank Hammond, 18, of Middletown, state police said.

Carl B. Larson, 38, of East Granby was killed Saturday in a collision on Route 19 in Granby, police said.

Early Saturday morning Peter Dusterhoff, 21, of New Milford was killed when the car he was driving hit a bridge abutment on Town Farm Road in his home town, police said.

The Associated Press began counting holiday accidental deaths in Connecticut at 5 p.m. Friday and continues through midnight Tuesday.

Pakistan, India Finally Taste Peace

SIMLA, India (AP)—Primordia's western border except in Kashmir. There they will maintain the cease-fire line established by the two-week war in December.

The pact also contained a pledge to settle all disputes bilaterally and peacefully, and said steps should be taken to restore and normalize relations, future and in the meantime, while the representatives of the two sides will meet to discuss the further normalization of relations, including the question of repatriation of prisoners of war and civilian internees, a final settlement of Jammu and Kashmir and the resumption of diplomatic relations.

The agreement gave no timetable, but called for measures to resume communications and air links, promote travel between their countries, reopen trade, and carry out scientific and cultural exchanges.

It said Mrs. Gandhi and Bhutto would meet again "at a mutually convenient time in the future and that in the meantime, while the representatives of the two sides will meet to discuss the further normalization of relations, including the question of repatriation of prisoners of war and civilian internees, a final settlement of Jammu and Kashmir and the resumption of diplomatic relations."

Excluding Kashmir, India seized a total of 5,139 square miles of territory in West Pakistan, while Pakistan took 69 square miles of Indian territory. In Kashmir, where the troops will remain in position, India took 480 square miles and Pakistan occupied 53 square miles.

The agreement said the troops withdrawals would take place within 30 days after ratification by both governments.

Radio Pakistan announced that the Pakistani National Assembly would meet July 10 to ratify the agreement. Under the Indian constitution, parliamentary ratification is not necessary.

India and Pakistan have accused each other of frequent violations of the cease-fire in Kashmir and along the demarcation line in the Indian states of Rajasthan, Gujarat and Punjab.

Revenge Skyjack Fails in Saigon

SAIGON (AP)—A young Vietnamese man who tried to hijack a Pan American jumbo jet with 153 persons aboard to Hanoi in revenge for U.S. bombing of North Vietnam was overpowered by the pilot and shot to death by an armed passenger Sunday.

The hijacker was tentatively identified today as a speaker at antiwar rallies at the University of Washington in Seattle, where he had studied fishery science on a U.S. government scholarship and graduated with honors last month.

The young man, carrying a South Vietnamese passport in the name Nguyen Thoi Binh, met violent death after the pilot tricked him and landed at Saigon, the flight's scheduled destination, in defiance of his demand to fly to North Vietnam.

The 153 other passengers were safely evacuated by sliding down emergency chutes, used to empty the plane quickly in case of an emergency. Several persons suffered minor scratches or bruises and one passenger, a U.S. Air Force lieutenant colonel, broke his leg.

To back up his threats, the hijacker carried a long knife and a package which he said contained a bomb. Vietnamese police sources said two homemade grenades were in the package and there was no indication whether they could have exploded. But the airline described them as harmless "egg-shaped objects" wrapped in aluminum foil.

The hijacking attempt began after the jumbo jet, flight 841, left Manila on the last leg of its San Francisco-to-Saigon flight. Binh, who had boarded in Honolulu, grabbed stewardess May Yuen, 23, a Hong Kong Chinese, as a hostage and sent two notes to the control cabin demanding that the plane be diverted to Hanoi.

The hijacker, in the rear passenger compartment, also talked with the pilot, Capt. Gene Vaughn, 33, of Scottsdale, Ariz., over the intercom.

"I am doing this for revenge," Vaughn said he told him. "Your bombers are murdering and killing our people of the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam. You are going to fly Vaughn said he asked to come closer because the language problem made it difficult to understand the Vietnamese. "This seemed to disarm him mentally and I saw my chance," the pilot said.

"I jumped him. I grabbed the arm that was holding the bomb and it flew onto the floor. I spun him around and got an arm lock on him. He was flailing with a knife in his other hand but all it got was a bit of my laundry. I had incredible strength. I could feel his neck collapsing under my arm. Two passengers made flying tackles and we all went down on the floor."

Vaughn said he managed to move his body away from the Vietnamese while keeping the arm lock on him and shouted to an unidentified armed passenger "Kill the son of a bitch." Five shots were fired, four hitting Binh in the chest.

McGovern Men Due in Court In California

WASHINGTON (AP)—California supporters of Sen. George McGovern are seeking to win back in the courts the 151 California delegates they lost in the Democratic Credentials Committee.

A suit was filed with the U.S. District Court in Washington asking a restraining order to prevent the revised California delegation from being seated at the Democratic convention, which opens July 10 at Miami Beach. A hearing was scheduled this morning before District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr.

The suit alleges that the Credentials Committee acted unconstitutionally when it overruled California's winner-take-all primary, won by McGovern. The committee apportioned 151 of the state's 271 votes among presidential contenders Hubert H. Humphrey, George C. Wallace and others.

McGovern would retain 129 votes, but the loss of the 151 delegates posed a major setback in his hopes to win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot.

Stephen Reinhardt, Democratic national committeeman from California who announced the suit, accused the Credentials Committee of acting "solely from a desire to consider 'loyalty' in taking the delegates from McGovern."

McGovern, still the easy front-runner with 1,276.9 committed votes with 1,509 needed for nomination, indicated Sunday he would be willing to compromise on the challenges to the California delegation, which he lost, and to the Illinois delegation, which his forces won.

"If I thought it would serve the interests of a stronger party and heal some of these

Killings Punctuate Ulster Truce Attempt

BELFAST (AP)—Seven men were killed in Belfast during a violence-ridden weekend that threatened the flimsy cease-fire in Northern Ireland and fanned fears of "eye for an eye" warfare between Protestant and Roman Catholic gunmen.

All seven men were shot in the head, and some were bound and hooded, the trademarks of the Irish Republican Army's execution squads.

But at least two of the victims were Catholics. Although there was some speculation they had been killed by IRA punishment squads, authorities believed they were the victims of Protestant extremists.

Three of the victims were Protestants, and the fourth was a 19-year-old Jehovah's Witness from England who had been working in a camp for poor children since coming to Northern Ireland a week ago. His body was found on a garbage dump, and authorities believed he may have been killed by mistake.

Soon after the sixth body was found early today, gunmen hidden in a factory in a Protestant zone fired about 40 shots into the Catholic Andersonstown district nearby. Guerrillas moved back until British troops fired and stopped the shooting.

Muskie Talks of Coming Convention Defeat, But Says He'd Beat Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Acknowledging the Democratic presidential nomination will likely elude him, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says it is vital "to avoid the appearance of the will of the convention being frustrated by some backroom cabal" against Sen. George McGovern.

Muskie said he is still convinced he would have a better chance of defeating President Nixon than either McGovern or Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey—although he conceded "I have no recent evidence" to support that.

In an interview with The Associated Press, the Maine senator who once led the Democratic campaign to "the end of the road," because while the odds are against him, "the nomination isn't nailed down until the votes are cast."

Here is a partial transcript of the interview:
Q. Sen. Muskie, based on your own experience as a former front runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, what happened this year to conventional political wisdom.
A. It is true the candidates and their advisers, and observers, did not anticipate what has happened. Nevertheless, if what is meant by conventional wisdom is the capacity to identify the forces that are moving and what people are saying... there is a mood for change. The electorate is willing to rock the boat—they made that clear—and there is likely to be when this election is finished a new road map for the government of this country.

Year of Decision

Q. If you were the nominee, could you defeat President Nixon in November?
A. I think so...

Q. Could your opponents for the nomination defeat him?
A. Well, I would hope so. The reasons why the President is vulnerable are the same whoever the Democratic nominee may be. He's vulnerable on his domestic policies and he may still be vulnerable on the war...

Now with respect to Sen. McGovern, his problem is that at the moment his constituency is viewed as a very narrow one. And there are indications he himself realizes this and the need to broaden his constituency.

In respect to Sen. Humphrey, his problem is that he has the image of being a loser at this point, fairly or unfairly.

Q. Do you still feel that you have a better chance than either of the others to defeat Nixon if you get the nomination?
A. Yes I do. I realize of course that I have no recent evidence to support that...

And of course the polls reflect the fact I've dropped out of activity...

Q. Is it possible to stop Sen. McGovern from receiving the nomination and how could that be done.
A. Well, I'd rather have the question put this way: Is it possible for Ed Muskie to receive the nomination? I don't conceive the active pursuit of my own candidacy to be an essentially stop-movement of any kind...

I have the responsibility to continue to the end of the road. Obviously the odds are against my getting down until the votes are cast...

Q. If you did get the nomination, how would you prevent a walkout by the more-serious supporters of Sen. McGovern.
A. I don't see why one should pose that possibility as being a necessary result at all. If the followers of every candidate were to take that attitude, you know, there isn't a viable political process.

There will be one winner and several losers. If the supporters of all the losers walk out of this convention, then nobody can win—whether the nominee is...

Q. Could the many challenges to the credentials of McGovern delegates prevent him from getting the nomination on the first ballot?
A. Since more than 40 percent of all delegates are under challenge, I would assume it's conceivable that the results of those challenges could have a serious effect...

Q. As president, exactly how and when would you end the war and how would you get the prisoners back?
A. I think our negotiating stance ought to be a willingness to completely withdraw, to end all military activity in Vietnam conditioned upon a return of our prisoners.

Q. Sen. McGovern has indicated he would be willing to withdraw without any conditions.
A. Well that's not my position.

Q. Under President Nixon the economy is expanding, inflation appears to be easing somewhat and new jobs have been created. What would you do to improve the things he's done economically.

A. Well, he's reversed himself so often that it's very difficult for a person on the outside, standing on the sidelines, to suggest patchwork measures for policies that were wrong in the first instance...

I think he has mismanaged controls... in a way that has failed to come to grips with pressures upon food prices—on prices generally—while exercising restraints on wages.

That's wrong. I think it's undermined the credibility of his whole policy.

Secondly, he hasn't done a thing about unemployment... His program of tax incentives for business has not produced jobs... I've argued for incentives aimed at the consumer... for more public service jobs, more adequate training programs and other approaches of this sort...

Again, President Nixon has resisted these... He just doesn't believe in those approaches.

So, at the end of the year the picture is going to be continued high unemployment and no real dampening of the basic inflationary pressures.

Q. Senator, are there any conditions whatsoever—the success of the Democratic ticket in November, for example—that would make you once again accept your party's vice-presidential nomination?

A. I suppose it might be possible to pose hypothetical situations which might make me more receptive to the notion. But then I don't see them coming along.

Q. Would you accept, in a Democratic administration, a seat on the Cabinet, or even a seat on the U.S. Supreme Court.

A. I never respond to invitations that haven't been made. I see no reason to now... I am seeking the presidency on the skills and experience I have put together in public life. If that eludes me, as it seems quite likely it will, my next objective is to return to the Senate...

Q. Does Sen. McGovern's proposed cut of the military budget in fiscal 1973 to about $55 billion jeopardize national defense and how much if any would you trim the defense establishment?

A. I'm not projecting cuts for three years... I have reached the conclusion you could cut $11.5 or $12 billion from the fiscal 1973 budget. I think projecting beyond 1973 requires an evaluation of what the state of the world might be in three years. And I simply haven't qualified that...

Q. Is there any possibility you and Humphrey or Jackson and Wallace or others might make common cause to prevent the nomination of McGovern—or to assure the nomination of someone else.

A. I'm not part of any such

R Sox Rookie Average Ups

BOSTON (AP)—Juan Beniquez, the young shortstop of the Boston Red Sox, is a 300-hitter today. Yesterday he was batting .190. Beniquez, called up last week from Louisville of the International League to fill in for the ailing Luis Aparicio, went five for nine in a doubleheader Sunday against the Milwaukee Brewers as the Red Sox took both games, 1-0 and 2-0. Beniquez had two hits in the first game and three in the second, including a sacrifice fly in the 11th inning that secured the winning run.

When told how much his average had jumped (he has had only 30 at bats since being called up), Beniquez said, "I don't usually look at averages. I just want to play." Beniquez, 22, who the Red Sox refer to as "the shortstop of the future," was called up June 25 to fill in for the ailing Aparicio, who had been out for several weeks with a broken finger. He realizes that he must be good to get back into the lineup. "I'm going to try to be a good player," he said. "I'm going to try to be a good player." Beniquez, who is from the Dominican Republic, is the first Dominican to play in the major leagues.

Fairly Pays Off With Clutch Hit

MONTREAL (AP)—Ron Fairly has long been known as one of the most feared clutch hitters in the National League. So, when Fairly strode to the plate Sunday in the ninth inning with the bases loaded and one out, he was the man to watch. Fairly, a veteran, Jacoby Park lead-off hitter, broke a scoreless tie in the bottom of the fourth when he singled home Montreal's second run coming home on an error out of the pitcher's hand.

Montreal's lead was short-lived as the Braves scored three runs in the fifth. Fairly, who had been hitless in his first two at-bats, stepped out of the batter's box, time because his hands were wet. It just gave Rauch more time to think about the jam he was in and it gave the crowd a chance to razz the young right-hander.

Finally on a 2-2 pitch, Rauch allowed John Milner to score from second base. Milner had led off the inning with a double. Krasnowski, who wound up at Montreal after the error, moved to third when Wayne Garrett went to right. Krasnowski, who had scored but held up pitched before and that it was both him.

"I turned out to be a good reliever for driving in three of Montreal's runs," he said. "I should have caught Gar-trouble with his ball. I threw them nothing but fastballs. Didn't get a good start on it and they had me taking after I pitched. I was lucky I didn't get hit on the head with it."

Triumph of Southpaws Respond As Yankees Trim Tribe Twice

The Yankees are in third last year with Boston. The recent opener when Peterson surrendered seven of the nine Cleveland hits during the middle three innings. "Peterson came in the clubhouse and said he was going to try to be a good pitcher," said manager Tom Post. "He's a good pitcher. He's a good pitcher. He's a good pitcher."

Baseball Fans Will Turn Out For First Class Attractions

NEW YORK (AP)—Texas and Kansas City divided the reports of baseball's demise seem grossly exaggerated. Battered by a series of polls and battered first by a pre-season player strike and then by a rain-soaked month of June, the national pastime has somehow survived. Now it is July—baseball weather, at least in the Northeast and Midwest.

Twins—White Sox—Minnesota clipped Chicago in the first game of the season Sunday and San Baltimore trim the Tigers' lead down to one game in the second game.

Red Sox—Brewers—The Red Sox unloaded for 18 runs against Milwaukee in the first game of the season Sunday.

McCovey Grand Slam Ties Record at 14

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a new line in the National League record book today and a new team in the East Division pennant race. The Cardinals, whose hot month has lifted them from 10th place to fourth, just one game behind the Cubs, got eight-hitting grand slam today when McGovey hit four home runs in the first inning of the first game of the season Sunday.

McGovey's blast off Dodger ace Don Sutton in the seventh inning, was a rare opposite-field drive to left field by "The Yuletide Yuletide" of 71 feet by Tito Fuentes, Don McMahon and Jim Howard. Dave Kingman followed with his 18th homer as the Giants broke the baseball game open.

JULY 4th

We Celebrate the Day of our

INDEPENDENCE

July Fourth... a day for remembering the birth of our great nation. This was the turning point for both America and its people. On this day, in 1776, the Declaration of Independence was adopted, making our country free and securing for all citizens "certain unalienable Rights... among them... Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." Today, as then, Americans affirm these rights.
