Candidate in Connecticut Town Cyclist Killed

In 1948, the polls were wrong and the people were right, and in 1972, the polls are still wrong and the people are right.

McGovern, expressing appreciation on behalf of himself and his wife Eleanor on the warm reception given them, brought a laugh when he said, "I don't mind being in church at 5 p.m. on a Thursday."

He continued, "If we had the $14 to $15 billion a year we've spent in Vietnam and we renege-shared it with the states, we could reduce property taxes for everyone in the United States by one-third—and that's the direction we should take."

He said on the subject of employment, "If we had our priorities straight, we could slightly reduce the number of men and women who want to work — when we consider the many domestic needs that must be fulfilled — and I make that pledge."

Every citizen should pay his share. The tax loopholes are unjustifiable. It is not fair that so many people earning hundreds of thousands a year are not paying their fair share of taxes."

McGovern, a tall man, wore a grey suit, a blue and white striped shirt, a maroon tie and black shoes.

Survivors, besides his parents, are his wife, Mrs. Joan McVeigh O'Meara, whom he married April 8, a brother, Jeffrey O'Meara of Manchester, two sisters, Miss Diane O'Meara, both of Manchester, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James J. O'Meara of Manchester.

The funeral will be tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass of the Resurrection at St. James Church at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p.m.

Report Says Drugs Plague The Prison

inmates and prison administrators. The department received federal funds to hire an ombudsman last November.

—Recruitment of a full-time psychiatrist, Corrections Commissioner John R. Manson said the department has been trying to hire a full-time psychiatrist for two years.

—Employment of more black and Spanish-speaking personnel. Manson said the percentage of non-white personnel has risen from 2 per cent in 1968 to 10.5 per cent currently.

—Elimination of censorship of mail to legislators. A revised mail policy goes into effect Oct. 1.

—Allowing inmates to write and receive letters to legislators and to members of the news media. Manson said.

—An annual audit of inmates' welfare fund to be published in the prison newspaper. Manson said he has ordered action to implement the proposal.

—Expansion of the work training program.

—Separation of hard-core inmates from first offenders.

—The other first announced Friday by Corrections Commissioner John R. Manson elevates Jose Santos, 34, from a post as lieutenant at the New Haven jail to warden of the Bridgeport Correctional Center.

The appointments came along with major realignment of wardens and superintendents in the department.

Robinson succeeds Frederick Adams, 51, who will head a newly created Central Transportation Unit in the department. He has been warden since July 1969 at the troubled Somers prison.

Manson said the transportation unit was created through a study by the Governor's Planning Committee on Criminal Administration in an effort to save money in transporting prisoners from their cells to court, medical facilities or other institutions.

Succeeding Robinson in Cheshire will be Dwayne Nickerson, 42, who has been jail warden at Hartford for a year.

Warden Francis T. Moore, 29, of the Bridgeport jail shifts to Hartford to fill Nickerson's vacant post and is the first Spanish-speaking person to be chosen for a position as high as jail warden.

John Wolf, 51, warden at New Haven, becomes director of the State Prison for Women in Bruce Goldson, 39, of Ansonia, a supervising captain at the Bridgeport jail.

As a result, the measure, which spells out formulas for sharing federal revenues with state and local governments, will not be considered by the full Senate.

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he's as soon as he cleans up some last-minute assignments from President Nixon.

Of Nixon's 23 original Cabinet appointments, eight have already departed although some have taken other official or unofficial roles in the administration.

With Romney's departure, only Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe will remain of the original Nixon Cabinet.

Romney said Friday he decided to leave the government several months ago, but Nixon asked him to stay on.

Romney, a former Michigan governor and auto company executive, met with Nixon Friday to discuss HUD's efforts to find relief efforts in Luzerne County and other areas hard-hit by the flood.

He held a new conference in Luzerne County, Pa. I have agreed to do that."

Romney gave no indication of when he planned to leave the White House, but he said he would devote himself in the years just ahead in a private capacity rather than a public capacity.

"The President asked me to stay on and deal with the problems of housing and health. I have done so."

"He has asked me to help secure the federal leadership required to mount an effective effort."

"I discussed with the President months ago my desire to devote myself in the years just ahead in a private capacity rather than a public capacity."

Black Warden Gets Post at Somers Prison

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut's first black warden of the state prison in Somers and its first Spanish-speaking warden of a state jail take office on Sept. 1.

Carl Robinson, 34, now warden at the maximum security prison, is a former professional football player. He has been superintendent of the state's boys' reformatory in Cheshire for the past year.

He played professional football with the Los Angeles Rams and Boston Patriots before joining the Corrections Department. In the department, Robinson has been special assistant to the commissioner on minority relations and a teacher at the Connecticut School for Boys in Meriden.

Troops, IRA Skirmish in Ulster

BELFAST (AP) — British troops and guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army skirmished in Belfast early today while in Londonderry soldiers prepared for a confrontation with militant Protestants.

Army headquarters said 20 soldiers and a civilian were slightly wounded by gunfire when they were rolled out of the carriage and let go. A witness told police that the driver of the car, Pamela J. Heritage of 35 Columbus St., probably could not see the carriage until the last minute because of a two-foot-high hedge on the Fleming property. No charges were brought.

Kevin Chesky, 27, of Hartford was charged with making an improper turn, after an accident last night at Main and Birch Sts. involving his car and one driven by Raymond DellaFera of 90 Park St. Court date Aug. 28.

Mary Bromberg, 17, of Willimantic was charged yesterday afternoon with larceny in the fourth degree, in connection with an alleged shoplifting incident at Canal Village on Main St. Court date Aug. 28.

Donald A. Cyr, 31, of 83 Chestnut St. was charged early this morning on Center St. with operating a motor vehicle while his license is under suspension. Court date Aug. 28.

East Hartford Police yesterday picked up Bruce H. Weller, 22, of East Hartford on a Circuit Court 12 warrant charging him with operating a motor vehicle while his license is under suspension. He was brought to Manchester Police Headquarters where he posted a $200 cash bond and was released.

Someone entered a home at 100 Croft Dr. sometime yesterday and stole a bottle of whiskey, 10 bottles of beer, some cigarettes, and five Kennedy golf dollars.

A camera, a box of foreign coins and some keys were yesterday reported stolen from the office of Parkside Associates in the Parkside.

Outstanding Educator

Dr. Paul Paige, a 1952 graduate of Manchester High School, is an associate professor of music at Grand Canyon College in Phoenix, Ariz. He has been on the faculty since 1971. Before that, he was chairman of the local chapter of the Guild of American Organists.
A graduate of Boston University, he received his master's from Northwestern University and PhD from Boston University. He has done post-doctoral study at Harpur College, Endicott, N. Y. After public school work in Massachusetts, Dr. Paige was director of music at Ricker College, Houlton, Maine, 1963-66; and music department chairman at Cazenovia (N. Y.) College, 1966-69.

Rash of Breaks Spurs Action To Hire Full-Time Constables

A rash of six breaks in seven days, has prompted First Selectman Erwin Stoetner to seek permission to hire a full time constable to patrol businesses and residential areas during the early morning hours.
Stoetner will approach the Board of Finance for funds to hire the additional constable. Six business and residential breaks were reported to police during the period from Aug. 2 to the 8th. The latest was a break at the Tolland Electronics store Wednesday night when $3,000 worth of merchandise was stolen.
The breaks have not been publicized by the state police, but rumors have circulated throughout the town, exaggerating the amount of breaks. According to Resident State Trooper Harry Tomsek, "every town gets a rash of breaks and then they subside." He is presently investigating the six breaks, which included one at the Cumberland Farms store on Rt. 195.
Merchants have become concerned, adding more alarm systems and changing their locks. Rumors of the merchants arming themselves against robbery have been discounted.
Stoetner would like to see the businesses tie into the town alarm system, and claimed he hasn't been called about the robberies.
Until an additional constable could be hired for the first morning hours, the early morning patrol will be handled by the constables had complained they had no knowledge of criminal activity in town.

The Bible Speaks

It is popular in our "man come of age" generation to ridicule churches holding fundamental positions. An article in the Sept. 15, 1969 issue of TIME magazine reveals that from 1950 to 1968 five major religious churches proportionately outgrew the national population. Of these, four, including the Baptist, the Methodist, the Presbyterian and the Episcopal, are declining. The fifth, the Lutheran, is increasing. The four major conservative groups each firmly maintains a distinctive position with differing views. Surely this suggests that the "new generation" still is looking for authoritative spiritual guidance from its churches, not from the secular babble of the "social gospel."

Administrative Issues On School Board Agenda

The Board of Education has accepted the reading report submitted by Maria Ceprano, reading consultant. The basic approach which favors children who learn best through a visual method has been the most widespread in the school until this year, Miss Ceprano said. This year, she said, marked more extensive use of the Sullivan program readers, a linguistic approach to reading which she learned best through an auditory approach.

Steel belted tires so tough Goodyear backs them with a 40,000 mile tread life expectancy policy

With proper care and normal driving, you will get at least 40,000 miles of tread wear from your first-class Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tires on your car.
If you don't get 40,000 miles—and provided you are the original buyer of the tires and they are still on the original car—bring the tires and the policy booklet (with recorded mileage readings) to any Goodyear Service Store or Dealer in the United States. They will give you credit for mileage not received on the purchase of new Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tires, based on Goodyear's "Pre-determined Price for Adjustment." A small service charge may be added. Copies of this policy are available at all Goodyear locations.

woodlands of a western Connecticut in 1964, as a result of a gigantic DDT spraying program which covered 3,000,000 acres in an attempt to eradicate the moth, the damage was limited to a mere 125 acres.

But then the use of DDT was abandoned, and the gypsy moth has been increasing in numbers and movement ever since.

Why does a pest which has been on the scene since 1869 wait a hundred years before it suddenly becomes a nightmarish aggressor across the landscape? The foresters and the laboratory scientists which they know, then they might be able to figure out something to stop it. Right now their main hope seems to be confined to a situation in which there are more worms than leaves, which leads to starvation, after defoliation.

Nothing goes on forever unchanged, in the evolving relationship between man and nature. The gypsy moth will, eventually, fade from scene. But whether it will fade in response to some cycle of its own, or in response to any cleverness on the part of man, has not yet been determined.

Delaware's Governor

DOVER, Del.—When you have an objective you think is right, you might have to do all you can to get there. As this suggests, Delaware's Governor Russell W. Peterson of Delaware is a get-things-done leader.

Pawns For Everybody?

The Nixon Administration seems to feel it necessary to lobby against "end the war" measures as they keep rearing their troublesome heads in Congress.

Neither White House nor Congress ever before there is an iron clad agreement for the return of our prisoners.

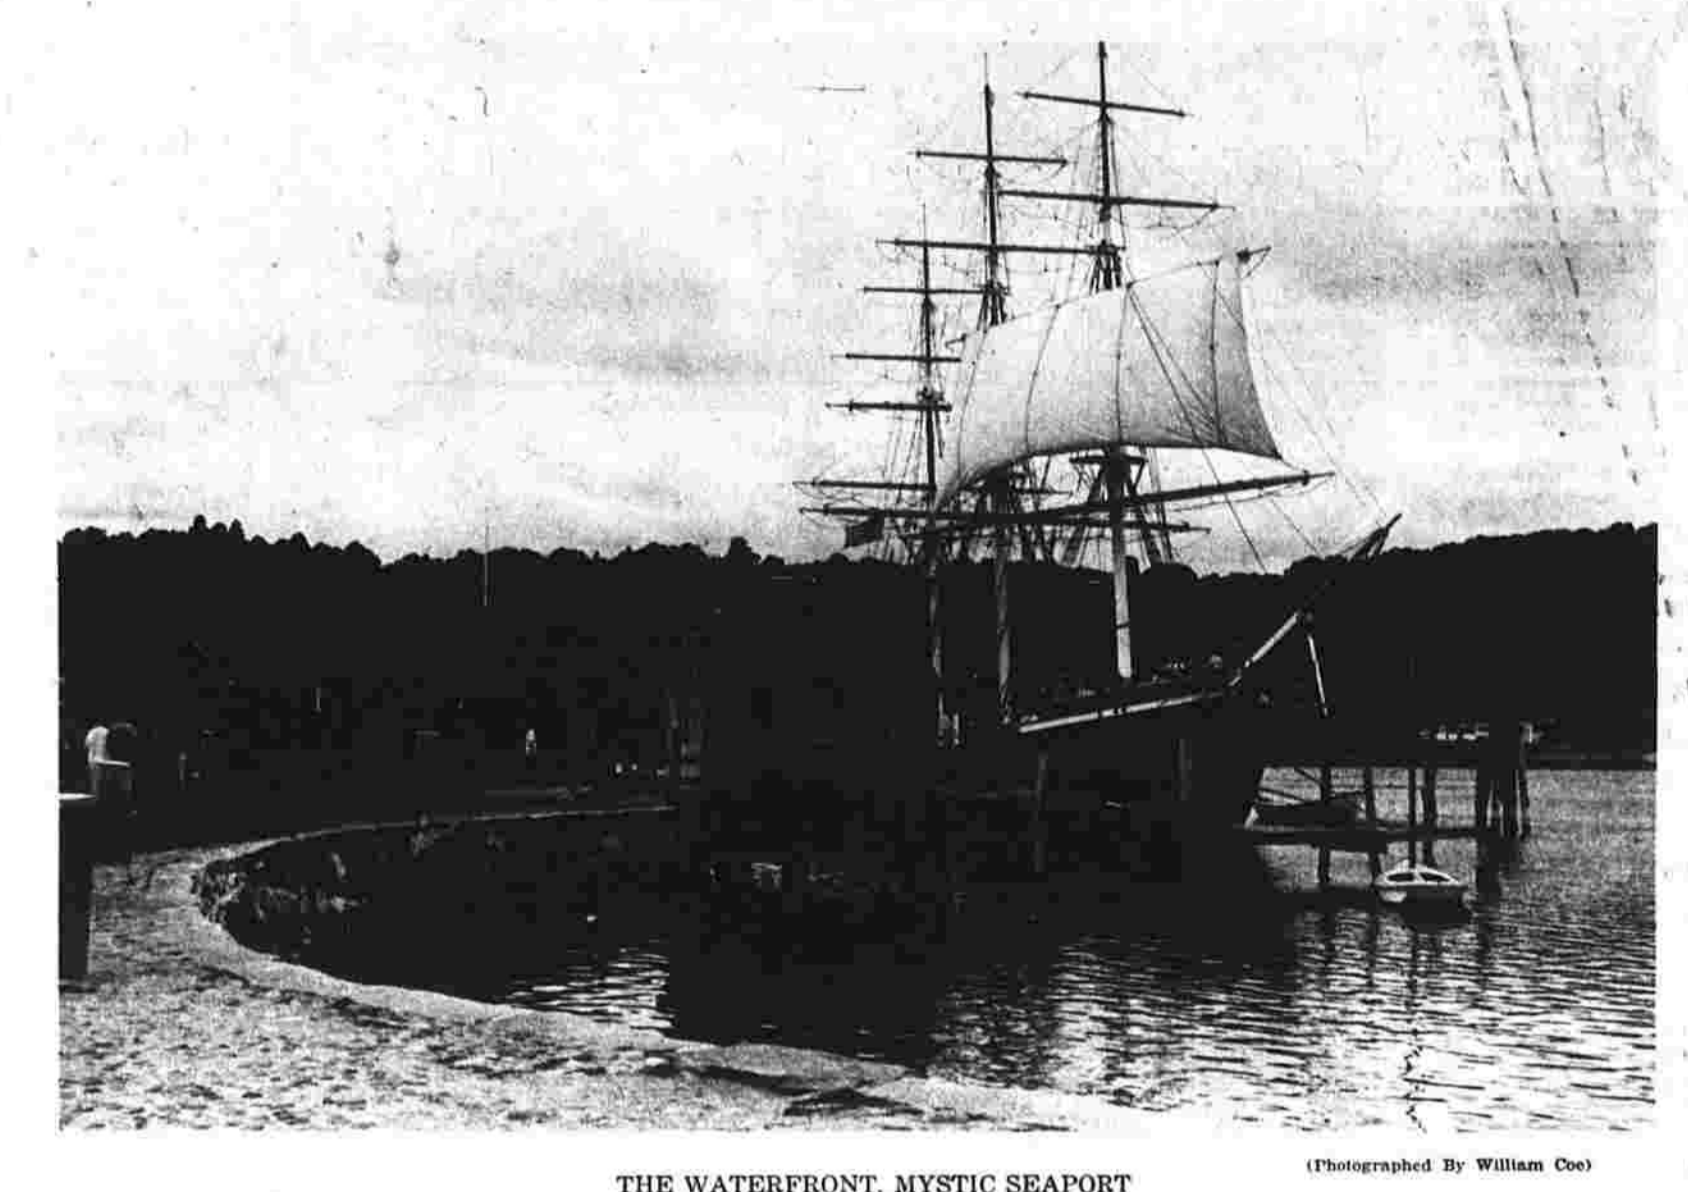

When, every now and then, Candidate McGovern sounds almost as if he were going to bring the war to a total end without waiting for the return of the prisoners, that is the only suggestion there is that anybody would dare trust Hanoi to release the prisoners once the war had ended.

Nobody, however, asks the question which might seem applicable to such a situation.

If the war should end, what would Hanoi want from American prisoners? Is it not perhaps true that the prisoner issue would resolve itself, along natural historic lines, if the war had ended? And is there not a possibility that both sides, really, are now using the prisoner of war issue as the blind behind which they are hiding the things they really want to gain or hold, acquire or refuse to give up, in the peace bargaining process?

One could build an unpleasant accusation — that the prisoners of war are being used as pawns, not only between Washington and Hanoi, but also between the White House and Congress, and that the making of an issue over them has done much more to delay than to speed their return.

The Moth Moves South: Connecticut is supposed to have suffered a little less gypsy moth defoliation this year than last, and this is good news, although general statistics leave their hope and charm if the worms happen to congregate on trees you know.

Inside Report The Politics Of Defense

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — As the Senate neared a decision late last month on the new fleet of missile firing Trident submarines, President Nixon was confronted with a policy decision of profound importance for both national security and domestic politics.

To prevent the Senate from cutting Trident production money, Mr. Nixon desperately needed help from Democratic Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, normally energetic forerunner of the Republican opposition.

Surprisingly enough, it's not the Coastal Zoning Law that has him in hot water. Though hard fought by major business interests, it's now accepted and approved by most legislators.

Mr. Peterson's outlook — an "uphill battle" — to quote one of his closest supporters — tells quite a bit about the trials and tribulations of the Nixon administration.

One of the variables was the Delaware's second largest revenue raiser: last year Mr. Peterson, as Governor, ordered sharp cutbacks in state spending — and proposed another big tax increase package.

"Voters got the idea the governor was not to be trusted on fiscal matters," an aide admits unashamedly. "It hurts our credibility badly." Both his primary and Democratic opponents now hit hard at "fiscal mismanagement," and warn that more of the same would be certain in a second Peterson term.

Connecticut Yankee The Politics Of Defense

By A.H.O.

This desperate character bought some sweet corn from some kids down the road the other day, and that, for any reader who may recall this columnist's favorite avocation over the years, is in the man bites dog department.

For many years, this avocation was the growing of sweet corn for market. When, eventually, the patent in such an endeavor was yielded over to State Senator Roger Edger of Newington, now the state's acknowledged sweet corn king, we persisted in the ritual of at least growing our own.

Plant a field, and you are, without noticing it very much, yielding to the plunder of wild appetites, among which the most voracious and ruthless are those of the morning dove, with a strutting kind of air attack and those of the woodchuck, with a tank-type blitzkrieg along the ground.

Plant a small garden plot and you are, without noticing it, committing any crime or act of sabotage against the country which they had learned to love and which they called their own.

Not a single one of them had committed any crime or act of sabotage against the country which they had learned to love and which they called their own.

Not a single one of them had committed any crime or act of sabotage against the country which they had learned to love and which they called their own.

Obituary

Mrs. Anna L. Sullivan
Mrs. Anna Loney Sullivan, 88, of 396 Hartford Rd., widow of Robert Sullivan, died yesterday at a Manchester convalescent home.

Mrs. Sullivan was born Oct. 12, 1883, in Portadown, Ireland, and had lived in Manchester for 52 years.

Survivors are 3 sons, Robert J. Sullivan, Wilbert G. Sullivan, and William T. Sullivan, all of Manchester; 4 daughters, Mrs. Mabel McArdle and Mrs. Maude Barber, both of Manchester, Mrs. Esther Ristau of Hebron, and Mrs. Sadie Saunders of Glastonbury. 14 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Monday at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The Rev. Edward C. B. Shewell will officiate. Burial will be in East Cemetery.

Friends will call at the funeral home tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the Book of Remembrance at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

John Harvey

SOUTH WINDSOR—John Harvey, 91, of 699 Foster St., died this morning at a local convalescent home.

He was born in Gilford, Northern Ireland, on March 31, 1881 and resided here three years. Prior to that time he resided on W. Middle Tpk., Manchester, for many years.

He was formerly employed at the former Orford Soap Co. in Manchester. He was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

He is survived by a son, Thomas Harvey of South Windsor; 2 daughters, Mrs. Robert (Elizabeth) McKinney and Mrs. William (Mary) Graff, both of Manchester; 2 brothers, Thomas of Reno, Nev., and Christopher Harvey of Gilford, Northern Ireland; 8 grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene, Manchester. Burial will be in East Cemetery, Manchester.

There will be no calling hours. Memorial contributions may be made to the Church of the Nazarene, 400 Main St., Manchester, in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Cora A. Nordby
VERNON—Mrs. Cora Atchison Nordby, 74, of Naugatuck, formerly of Vernon, died yesterday at Waterbury Hospital.

Mrs. Nordby was born in Millville, Mass., and had been employed at Uniroyal of Naugatuck before she retired in 1960. She was a member of St. Michael's Church in Naugatuck.

Survivors are 3 sons, Dr. John H. Nordby of Vernon, Louis A. Nordby of Middlebury, and Robert J. Nordby of Whitman, Mass.; a daughter, Mrs. Robert J. Mariano of Naugatuck; 4 brothers, Robert Atchison, Howard Atchison and Maurice Atchison, all of Millville, Mass., and James Atchison of Cleveland, Ohio; 2 sisters, Mrs. John Miller of Warwick, R.I., and Mrs. Charles Piotraschke of Webster, N.Y.; 10 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2 p.m. at the Holt Funeral Home, 510 S. Main St., Woonsocket, R.I. Burial will be in the Blackstone (Mass.) Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Monday from noon to 2 p.m.

Mrs. Sven C. Erikson
Mrs. Doris Cottrell Erikson, 78, of Noank, stepmother of Mrs. Helen Rylander of South Windsor and Mrs. Marjorie Windor of Manchester, died early this morning at Lawrence and Memorial Hospital, New London. She was the wife of Sven C. Erikson.

Other survivors are a stepson, 13 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Church and Allen Funeral Home, 17 Pearl St., Mystic. Burial will be in Elm Grove Cemetery, Mystic. Friends may call at the funeral home Monday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Joseph Wroblewski
Joseph Wroblewski, 82, of 24 North St. died last night at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Wroblewski was born in Poland and had lived in Manchester for more than 62 years and was an Army veteran of World War I. Before he retired 22 years ago, he was employed at the maintenance department of Cheney Bros. He previously had a Division of Lydall Corp. and a Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford. He was a member of St. Clarence J. Cuczech of John's Polish National Catholic Church and its Men's Club.

He and his wife, Mrs. Agnes Panek Wroblewski, would have 8:15 a.m. from White-Gibson

Rogers Feud

(Continued from Page One) Rogers said he has checked all available statements Shriver made at the time of his departure from Paris in 1970 and found no reference by Shriver then to the peace chance allegedly missed.

Shriver told newsmen Thursday that "Nixon had peace handed to him literally in his lap—he blew it." He observed, "I didn't make a stink out of it—I do not believe in that kind of fireworks."

Rogers referred to Shriver's letter of resignation to Nixon Jan. 27, 1970, which said in part: "I have accomplished the objectives I went to Paris to achieve—the beginnings of at least of peace in Vietnam. I hope your efforts for peace are successful...."

As for the outlook for a peace settlement now, Rogers said hope for a negotiated solution remains, but he made no prediction of an end to the war before the November election.

He said guerrilla fighting may continue for some time without U.S. ground force involvement. He said U.S. bombing policy remains the same pending a negotiated agreement with the enemy.

Turning to Clark's reported broadcasts on Radio Hanoi, Rogers said, "I am frank to say that I was shocked." Americans, Rogers said, "would be shocked to hear his voice on Radio Hanoi while the Thomas Harvey of South Windsor (Elizabeth) McKinney and Mrs. William (Mary) Graff, both of Manchester; 2 brothers, Thomas of Reno, Nev., and Christopher Harvey of Gilford, Northern Ireland; 8 grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

Hanoi's North Vietnam News Agency quoted Clark as telling a news conference Friday that he personally saw evidence of extensive damage to North Vietnam dikes from U.S. made to the Church of the Nazarene.

Clark became attorney general in 1967 during the height of U.S. involvement in the war, but since leaving the Cabinet he has frequently criticized the American war role.

Hanoi's North Vietnam News Agency quoted Clark as telling a news conference Friday that he personally saw evidence of extensive damage to North Vietnam dikes from U.S. made to the Church of the Nazarene.

The Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Manchester, is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Sven C. Erikson
Mrs. Doris Cottrell Erikson, 78, of Noank, stepmother of Mrs. Helen Rylander of South Windsor and Mrs. Marjorie Windor of Manchester, died early this morning at Lawrence and Memorial Hospital, New London. She was the wife of Sven C. Erikson.

Other survivors are a stepson, 13 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Church and Allen Funeral Home, 17 Pearl St., Mystic. Burial will be in Elm Grove Cemetery, Mystic. Friends may call at the funeral home Monday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Joseph Wroblewski
Joseph Wroblewski, 82, of 24 North St. died last night at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Wroblewski was born in Poland and had lived in Manchester for more than 62 years and was an Army veteran of World War I. Before he retired 22 years ago, he was employed at the maintenance department of Cheney Bros. He previously had a Division of Lydall Corp. and a Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford. He was a member of St. Clarence J. Cuczech of John's Polish National Catholic Church and its Men's Club.

He and his wife, Mrs. Agnes Panek Wroblewski, would have 8:15 a.m. from White-Gibson administration or what type of job he is considering. He said only that the job under consideration is a public-service role in the private sector.

The HUD secretary also said Nixon was not unhappy about statements Romney made in a verbal exchange with Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp earlier this week. The two men clashed over how much aid the federal government should provide to Pennsylvania flood victims and Romney accused Shapp, a Democrat, of using the disaster for political purposes.

The Nixon campaign organization and the five men arrested in the case were named defendants, but Shriver dismissed the organization as a defendant on grounds that it is not incorporated and cannot be sued.

O'Brien filed the suit after disclosures linking one of the suspects to the Nixon campaign. In a related development, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a bipartisan two-man commission to investigate the break-in.

Another federal court development may lead to significant changes in the way political campaigns are financed. The action came in a suit filed by the self-styled citizens' lobby, Common Cause, against TRW Inc., a major defense contractor with over $200 million in government contracts.

Common Cause challenged the legality of TRW's Good Government Fund, which is similar to numerous funds maintained by large corporations and labor unions to receive political contributions from their executives. The commonly-used device allows corporations to manage and distribute contributions, although they have been banned from giving funds themselves.

In documents filed here this week, TRW agreed to dissolve the fund and return the unspent money to the executives who kicked in, and the suit was dismissed.

The new 1971 campaign finance law makes it illegal for government contractors to maintain an affiliated employee fund to make political contributions.

Common Cause chairman John W. Gardner said TRW's decision not to fight the case in court "will be to effectively terminate this practice."

Revamp Puzzle Continues (Continued from Page One) didn't go along with arguments that the Supreme Court stay prohibited any action by the district court. The stay, he said, suspended only action by the lower court on the 1971 re-map scheme.

The group of unaffiliated voters joined in an early court action involving the complicated hassle over new House and Senate district lines. Democratic and Republican state leaders have been fighting for the plan they believe will gain the most seats in the General Assembly.

ROCKVILLE — Miss Leona Cuczech, 68, of 59 Spring St. died this morning at Rockville General Hospital.

Miss Cuczech was born March 29, 1908 in Rockville. Before she retired in 1970, she was employed as a bookkeeper at Colt Industries in Hartford. She was a Division of Lydall Corp. and a Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford. He was a member of St. Clarence J. Romney Angry

The Boston Globe said today that Romney's decision to leave was prompted by a "coldly formal" memorandum from the President Monday ordering him to take personal charge of disaster relief in Pennsylvania.

The Globe said the memorandum was signed by Nixon "without including any softening touch, such as 'best regards'."

The newspaper said it began: "Memorandum for Secretary Romney: Reports have come to my attention indicating that relief assistance efforts for victims of tropical storm Agnes are not progressing at a satisfactory rate in the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., area."

The Globe said the memorandum referred to "bureaucratic haggling" and "red tape," and ordered Romney to "end the delays in providing aid."

Enemy Flareup Considered As Political Move

Enemy forces attacked the big Lal Khe base camp along Highway 13 for the second successive day and sporadic fighting continued. Highway 13 was in a secure with Communist forces still just off the road. Associated Press photographer Jacques Tonnare reported from the scene. South Vietnamese bombers were attacking the positions just outside the base.

Heavy fighting erupted in Kien Hoa province in the Mekong Delta, 45 miles southwest of Saigon. Viet Cong troops clashed with government militia forces and killed 12 and wounded 19. The Saigon command said 45 Viet Cong were killed. It was in this fighting that the American adviser was reported missing.

The provincial capital of Kien Hoa was hit with six mortar rounds, wounding six civilians.

The Saigon command claimed 41 enemy troops were killed and 19 weapons captured in the latest fighting. It said five government soldiers were killed and 10 were wounded.

In northern Quang Tri province, 80 miles above Da Nang, South Vietnamese marines were reported still trying without success to cut a secondary highway which the North Vietnamese troops are using to resupply their troops inside the city of Quang Tri.

U.S. sources said the number of shelling attacks against the city remains the same, 15 to 18 a day, but the number of rounds in each bombardment has significantly decreased. The sources emphasized that this could either mean the North Vietnamese are running short of ammunition or they might be conserving it for some big push.

The sources also confirmed that U.S. jets have resumed bombing inside the Quang Tri Citadel after a cessation of several weeks.

Also in the northern sector, field reports said that two South Vietnamese gunships collided in the air over Phu Thu district, 10 miles southeast of Hue, killing three crewmen and wounding five.

Along the central coast, sappers hit the Cam Ranh Bay complex for the third time this week, field reports said, striking at the U.S. Property Disposal Office on the base that was turned over to the South Vietnamese last May.

There were no details available on the latest attack, except field reports that two sappers were killed.

The U.S. and Saigon commands said they had no reports of any attacks on Cam Ranh overnight.

A sapper and shelling attack on Cam Ranh City and its suburbs early Friday killed and wounded 100 Vietnamese, field reports said.

Cam Ranh was once considered the most secure spot in Vietnam during the American presence there, but the security situation has rapidly deteriorated in recent weeks and the

CREDITS OLD PUTTER
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — When Australian David Graham fired a second-round 63 to shatter the Florida Citrus Open record, he gave full credit to a change of putters. After an opening round 75 in which he putted "horribly," Graham switched.

"I pulled an old putter from the trunk of my car," Dave explained, "and I decided to try it the next day."

The result was seven birdies on a par 3 — the best round of a 21-year-old's career.

About Town Tutoring Program Ends Second Year

A party in the Franklin Building of Bannet Junior High School yesterday morning ended a six-week, second-year tutoring program conducted by nine Manchester High School students for about 15 disadvantaged and emotionally disturbed youngsters. Gifts and refreshments were contributed by the volunteers.

Students in their second year of tutoring were Casey Mahone, 16, of 89 Oak St.; Susan Keane, 16, of 164 Maple St.; Kathleen Shanley, 15, of 43 Philip Rd.; and Mary Anne Twarmit, 16, of 70 Otis St.

Others were 14-year-old twins Deborah and Cynthia Shanley, also of 15 Philip Rd.; Kathleen Peterson, 15, of 18 S. Hawthorne St.; Pamela Fraser, 16, of 282 Kennedy Rd.; and Boyd Halde-man, 16, of 21 Westminister Rd. Sessions were conducted on an informal basis, with a great deal of individual attention three days a week from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Some books were loaned by Bannet, and others were donated by Jed Kracella of 376 Porter St. The MHS guidance department raised $15 for the purchase of crayons, paste, coloring books, and other materials.

Nine children in the group were recommended for help and social advantages by a school social worker. The number continued to grow as they brought along friends. "Some related coming at first," Casey said, "but they ended up coming."

"I think we made some accomplishments. Maybe they relate more to us than to teachers because we're kids. One girl who was supposed to be a special problem has been one of our best-behaved."

The AFT is expected to break with its own tradition this year and endorse a presidential candidate, presumably McGovern.

The senator also hopes to appear in Southern or border states other than Texas during Republican convention week, but details were not yet available.

McGovern Friday concluded a two-day swing into New England, his first major campaign trip.

He appeared in Manchester, N.H., Hartford, Conn., and Providence, R.I., before flying to New York City Friday afternoon to appoint former Mayor Robert Wagner as his state campaign director.

McGovern and his wife Eleanor spent today in Kingston, N.Y., at the home of friend and supporter Belmont Towbin, a Wall Street broker.

McGovern plans an appearance Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers" and will stump for support next week in Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin.

After his self-described "listening trip" Thursday and Friday, McGovern concluded that problems most bothering those he talked with were the war in Vietnam, unemployment and their own job security, what McGovern calls an unjust tax structure and the fear of living the latter years of their lives in poverty and sickness.

The Democratic standard-bearer frequently attacked President Nixon for those troubles, blaming most of them on the war.

He repeated on several occasions his challenge to the President to disclose the names of all of his campaign contributors and to face him in a nationally televised debate.

CBS 'Soaps Up' For Daytime War

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Long the undisputed champion of daytime television, CBS is switching 25 per cent of its programming to counter the encroaching competition. Network television in the daylight hours may be a unknown wilderness to many Americans, but to millions of housewives, senior citizens and shut-ins, it's an important part of their lives. It's also important to the financial well-being of the three television networks. It has long been considered a harsh economic fact that nighttime programming produces marginal profits while daytime shows can be real money makers. Advertising rates for daytime television are based on ratings, and that's why CBS has been undergoing changes to bolster its sagging level. In January, R. Donald 'Bud' Grant was brought over from NBC to serve as vice president in charge of daytime programming. His changes are now being felt. 'Starting in September, we will change our morning programming to include three new game shows,' said Grant via telephone from New York. 'These will replace situation comedies, which have apparently run out of steam. We're going for the adult female audience, which seems to like the game shows.' The new attractions: 'The Joker's Wild,' a quiz show with Jack Barry. 'The New Price is Right,' with Bob Barker replacing Bill Cullen; and 'Gambit,' starring Los Angeles disc jockey Wink Martindale—'the best new game show since 'Password,'" says Grant. This is a real change for CBS, which has eschewed daytime game shows since the quiz show scandals of 1959. Gene will be reruns of 'The Lucy Show' and 'Beverly Hills Billies.' 'Family Affair' will be moved to an afternoon spot. Still remaining are the serials—network people don't like to call them soap operas. There are eight of them on the CBS schedule, including the top-rated 'As the World Turns,' veteran of 17 years; plus the runners-up 'Search for Tomorrow,' TV's oldest daytime show at 22 years of age; and 'The Guiding Light' age 21. 'Our serials are still attractive, and they get the highest ratings in daytime television,' Grant said. But he admitted that 'serials have declined in audience from what they were a few years ago. 'The reason, I believe, is because of the increased number of serials. Not long ago there were eight; now the three networks have twice that number.' Grant said CBS continues to reassess its daytime programming, and it's likely that other changes will be made.

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Macy Jr. has quit as president of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, reportedly because of disagreements with the White House. An official familiar with the situation said Macy was extremely displeased with President Nixon's surprise veto June 30 of a bill authorizing $155 million for two years for the corporation. The official, who asked not to be identified, said Macy also was unhappy because the House Commerce Committee went along with Nixon's request and wrote a $45-million one-year authorization to finance public radio and television. The bill includes an additional $10 million for construction purposes. Macy also was disgruntled to find more and more CPB board members drawn from the White House staff, the official said. CPB board chairman Frank Pace Jr. announced the resignation Thursday and said it came about because Macy felt 'recent trends in the industry make it desirable for him to seek some other form of public service.' In his veto message, Nixon voiced concern that the corporation, 'originally intended only to serve the local stations, is becoming the center of power and the focal point of control for the entire public broadcasting system.' The nonprofit corporation was established by the government as an independent agency funded by the government and private sources. Macy said he will leave no later than Oct. 15 after more than two years as CPB president. No successor has been announced.

'Bold Ones' Turning Single

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's a medical television series going to do, in order to beat out the opposition? The answer for "The Bold Ones" is to seek bolder subjects for cure.

When "The Bold Ones" returns to NBC programming this fall, it will be doing a single, long gone are "The Senator" and "The Protectors" segments of the rotating series. Last season saw the demise of "The Lawyers" alternate of the MCA-Universal package.

Only "The Doctors" remain, starring E. G. Marshall and David Hartman.

The man overseeing the singular "Bold Ones" is producer David Levinson, who is well qualified for the job. He is the son of a doctor.

"My father always wanted me to go into medicine," he remarks. "I made it."

Levinson's other qualification is that he produced the eight "Senator" segments of "The Bold Ones." It may well be the briefest, most remembered television series, winning Emmy recognition after its demise.

"There was a little bitterness the night we won," the producer admitted. "I still don't know why the series died. We tried to make it as entertaining as possible, while avoiding melodrama."

The fact is that "The Senator" did not achieve the same ratings as "The Doctors" and "The Lawyers." The latter was jettisoned, Levinson theorized, possibly because NBC figured it would have better luck with a single series rather than a bifurcated one.

"The Doctors" may have made the grade to compete with the medic series of the other networks—ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D." and CBS's "Medical Center."

TV Notes

HIGH-LEVEL TALK
Gary Owens of NBC-TV's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" was a guest recently on the syndicated program, "The Virginia Graham Show," and was told that arrangements had been made for him to talk with his former history professor at Dakota Wesleyan College. So Gary had a chat via phone with Sen. George McGovern.

When asked what has been her most memorable experience during her reign as Miss America of 1972, Laurie Lea Schaefer, who will Crown her successor Sept. 9 on NBC-TV, replied: "Meeting President Nixon at the White House ten days after my reign began."

Art James, host of NBC-TV's "The Who, What or Where Game," spends many hours each month flying a Stearman, an open-cockpit two-seat biplane. His wife, Jane, commented: "Sometimes I think you'd marry that airplane. Art reported: 'I'm seeing a doctor about that.'"

In NBC-TV's newseries, "SEARCH," Hugh O'Brian, as an electronically monitored international agent, will show that he has a pretty good expense account: when he needs transportation in one episode he charters a 747 for himself and a woman companion.
