

Pathmark believes you have the right to know the price of your prescription.

Almost a year ago, the Federal Government asked stores to post base prices of merchandise they sell... prescription medicines included.

The base price is a guide for setting the maximum price allowed under Phase 2. But in almost every case, it's not the price you actually pay at Pathmark.

Surely, for products as important to you as prescriptions, you want to know all the facts... the current price as well as the base price.

Therefore, from now on, the Phase 2 posting in our prescription departments will include the item, amount, base price and current price of the most-needed items.

Come into a Pathmark Prescription Department. Check our new, informative sign. Talk to our Pharmacists. Like all Pharmacists, they're helpful and concerned.

Find out in advance — at Pathmark — what your prescription will cost. You have a right to know.

Hurricane Veers Off

BOSTON (AP) — Hurricane Dawn, which had been headed for the New England area this morning, appears to have stalled 150 miles northeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., the National Weather Service said at noon. The weather service said the hurricane was likely to remain in the same area until tonight, then move Northeast and out to sea Saturday. The highest winds in the hurricane were about 75 miles per hour, the service said. The advisory warned small craft from Cape Lookout, N.C. to Cape Cod to remain near safe harbor.

Sharing Bill Hits New Level

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $34.8-billion revenue-sharing bill has cleared one of its biggest Senate hurdles, but at least 25 more amendments remain to be considered before it can be passed. Senate Democratic leaders gave up on hopes of passing it today and said they now expect the final vote to come Monday. Sponsors had feared most a proposal defeated 49 to 34 Thursday which would have required that the grants to states and cities be subject to renewed approval by Congress this year. The amendment was offered by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

He and other members of the panel argued that, without it, Congress would lose control completely of a big share of the funds paid by the nation's taxpayers. The amendment would have required that the Appropriations Committee act on the revenue-sharing grants each year as a part of the regular money bills. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee, led the fight against the McClellan proposal.

Long said the nation's governors, mayors and county commissioners were abandoning the program would be unworkable if it were based on annual appropriations. The bill as it came from Finance makes the grants automatic throughout the five years of the program.

Headquarters Opens

Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey, left, in a characteristic pose, talks politics with Manchester Democratic Chairman Ted Cummings. Bailey was the honored guest last night at the formal opening of Manchester Democratic campaign headquarters, at Main St. and E. Middle Tpke. In a brief talk to a standing-room-only crowd, Bailey reminded "Democrats everywhere" of 1948 national campaign, "when Harry Truman was called a sure loser in every poll, yet won the election." He emphasized that "the name of the game is 'Win the Election,' and urged a vigorous campaign, "to elect all Democrats — from the White House to the State House." (Herald photo by Bucevicius.)

Allies Fall Back Near Da Nang

Saigon (AP) — South Vietnamese forces have abandoned the town of Tien Phuoc, south of Da Nang, in the face of a tank-led North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault, the Saigon command announced today. "The defenders retreated from the town to the east," said Lt. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the Saigon command. He said they linked up with hundreds of reinforcements that moved into the area on foot and by helicopters. The government troops are now operating one to six miles east and northeast of Tien Phuoc, Viet said.

Tien Phuoc was the second district town overrun by the North Vietnamese in the Da Nang region in less than a month. Que Son, 10 miles farther north, was captured a week later, but is still not entirely secure. There was no word on either military or civilian casualties in Tien Phuoc. Col. Tran Van Nhat, hero of the siege of An Loc and the new commander of the 2nd Division, took direct control of all operations in the area 40 miles south of Da Nang. The Tien Phuoc district chief helped lead the assault on the deputy chief was killed. "They lost their leadership," said one officer. "That is taking over in an effort to get things organized." The U.S. Command, said American helicopter gunships destroyed a third PT76 tank that

Germans Watch Threats

Bonn (AP) — The West German government says it is doing all it can to counter the threat of retaliation from Arab terrorists demanding the release of the three guerrillas held for the attack at the Olympics. The Black September Palestinian group said in a broadcast from Cairo Thursday it would "deal Germany a heavy blow" if the three terrorists are not released. "We will show the German imperialists, who dragged the honor of the great German people in the mud, what a heavy blow we can deal them if our comrades are not released and the bodies of our dead fighters are not returned to us," the broadcast said.

The spokesman for the West German government, Conrad Ahlers, said "all imaginable and necessary" security precautions had been taken. Earlier, the Interior Ministry said it had received word that terrorists planned to mail bombs to Jews in Germany in packages and letters for the Jewish New Year. Rosh Hashanah, which begins at sundown today. There are approximately 32,000 Jews in West Germany, concentrated in such large cities as Berlin, Hamburg, Cologne, Stuttgart, Frankfurt and Munich. Eight Black September terrorists invaded the Israeli quarters at the Olympic Village early Tuesday morning, killed two members of the Israeli Olympic squad, took nine others hostage and threatened to kill them unless Israel released 200 Arab guerrillas serving prison terms in Israel. Late that night the terrorists and their captives were flown by helicopter to a military airfield outside Munich where a Boeing 727 was waiting, ostensibly to fly them to the Middle East. Five police sharpshooters had already taken up positions at the airfield and after the helicopters landed and some of the terrorists emerged, the police began firing.

In Munich, meanwhile, Police Chief Manfred Schreiber told a news conference his forces opened fire on the guerrillas because the Israeli hostages were "practically doomed when Israel rejected demands of the terrorists." However, it was still not established whose bullets killed the Israelis.

Love Cuts International Barrier

BY SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) They met. They fell in love. They set their wedding plans. And they expect to live happily after.

It all sounds simple and might even evoke a comment of "just like that" from cynics — except that it wasn't simple and it wasn't just like that. Actually it required an assist from Cupid and his helpers to make our story come true.

Mary Lopez, 26, of Manchester, and Mario Salerno, 22 of Syracuse in Sicily met during the summer of 1971, when Mary and her mother visited relatives in Italy. They were introduced to each other, fell in love, corresponded by mail upon Mary's return to the United States, and planned to get married Aug. 5 in St. James Church, Manchester.

For his visa in May, Italian authorities refused to grant him one. Mary says the Italians don't want to lose their good young men, and place many obstacles in their path when they want to leave the country for other places.

That's when Cupid and his helpers entered the picture. Cupid is Connecticut Sen. Lowell Weicker and his helpers are Manchester Town Director Vivian Ferguson and Pauline Burns, a secretary to Sen. Weicker.

Mrs. Ferguson is a friend of the Lopes family and her daughter, Lori, is to be Mary's maid of honor at the wedding. When delays and red tape forced a cancellation of the planned Aug. 5 wedding, Mrs. Ferguson called Sen. Weicker in Washington, explained the situation and asked if he could do anything about it. He could and he did. He assigned Miss Burns to go to work on it, and she did.

A visa was issued to Mario in mid-August but, for reasons unknown, the Italian travel agency with which Mario dealt withheld his plane ticket. Finally, a ticket was issued to him on Aug. 25 and he booked passage on a trans-Atlantic flight, for Sept. 1 arrival at Kennedy Airport, New York.

He arrived on time and Mary and her family were on hand to meet him and drive him back to Manchester. But it just wasn't in the cards. To Mary and her family, it was only logical that a young man coming from Italy would arrive on the Altalia Line. They waited for hours — but Mario was not on any of the Altalia flights.

Mario, too, waited for hours. The difference was that he waited near the Pan AM terminal. He had traveled Pan AM. Finally, after hours had passed and after Mary and her family had returned to Manchester, Mario, despite almost no knowledge of English, reached the Lopes home by telephone. An excited Mrs. Lopes told him to take a taxi to Manchester. Mario got into a cab and told the driver where to take him. The cab driver drove Mario to the taxicab garage, transferred him to his own car and drove him to Manchester, without a meter but at the going rate of $100.

South Windsor 310 Protest Road Swap

A public petition signed by 310 South Windsor residents opposing the takeover of Buckland Rd. by the State Highway Department was presented to the Town Council at a public hearing Wednesday. Atty. Harold Cummings filed it, acting in behalf of a number of Buckland Rd. land and homeowners.

Some 60 residents also attended the meeting, most of them from Buckland Rd., stating reasons why they were against the town turning the road over to the state for inclusion of it in the state highway system.

Explains Plan
Before residents had their chance to speak, Mayor Glassman explained that in April the town found it was in a position of either making major repairs to the only north-south corridor from Manchester into South Windsor which would cost some $700,000 or to find another method of getting the road repaired and maintained for less money to the taxpayers.

Glassman said he was successful in getting the state to agree to accept the road provided town money was used for redesigns and repairs culverts, and secure right-of-way easements from homeowners for 60 feet of the road, of which 44 feet would be the paved portion. Interest in turning the road to the state has been considered for more than 20 years by the town, he said, but because of the increasing volume of traffic to the five corners intersection, the state was now interested in accepting the road, when in the past it had not been as receptive to the idea.

Joins State Roads
Glassman further noted that Buckland Rd. joins four other state roads at the intersection of Rt. 74, Ellington Rd., Oakland Rd. or Rt. 30, and Sullivan Ave. Glassman pointed out the three requirements by the state could be carried out for approximately $125,000, and once turned over to the state highway system the state would be responsible for maintaining and repairing the road. He also noted that he did not feel that any other major change would be made in the road in the immediate future as

Bolton Committee To Study Forms of Town Rule

A committee will be chosen to study Bolton's form of government with a view toward adapting or improving the town meeting form to meet the changing needs of the town, according to First Selectman Richard Morra.

Atty. Harold Laws, former town counsel, who has served on several town boards and commissions in the past decade, has been asked to head the study group, Morra said.

The Democrat and Republican town committees will each be asked to recommend three persons to participate in the study, which is expected to take between six months and one year. During that time, the group presumably will study the existing town meeting form of government and compare it with alternate forms. Possibilities for consideration are a district representative system with selectmen at-large and councilmen, or a town council system. Charters and systems of government in other towns of the state comparable to Bolton in population and composition will also be studied before any recommendations are made.

The announcement was made at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Selectmen.

In other business conducted at that meeting, the selectmen granted an increase of $125 per year to Louis Paggioli for rental of the town dog pound, bringing the annual total to $500. In his letter requesting the additional funds, Paggioli cited increases in the cost of dog food, heat and electricity as well as increases in the length of stays due to advertising requirements as the major factors.

Contacts Named
Two persons were named to represent the town on Capitol Region boards. Paul Brown of Volpi Rd. was named to serve as liaison between the town's elderly and the regional commission on the aging, while Peter Siens of School Rd. was appointed to serve the same function on the regional Drug Advisory Council.

Marcus Bill
The voted not to pay the $672.40 bill from Marcus Communications for repair to town radios referred to them earlier this month by the Board of Finance, on the grounds that such payment would deplete two budgets—the town highway and CD radio budgets. Instead, the board will suggest that the finance board make an additional appropriation of $672.40 to the highway budget to cover the payment.

The bill has been a matter of

Best Method
The town was asked, if it were allowed to do the repair work without the state taking it over, would the width of the road be the same? According to Town Engineer Emil Lucek, the town had previously worked out plans for widening Buckland Rd., and even though work was done independently of the state, the engineers had decided that the best and most feasible method for repairing Buckland Rd. for the future would be widening to the same dimensions as requested by the state, or 44 feet of paved road with the entire easement to 60 feet.

Lucek also noted that a check was made for one hour on Buckland Rd. Wednesday to determine the number of vehicles using the road. Although he did not stipulate at which hour the check was made, he said 600 cars passed through the large intersection to and from Buckland Rd. Approximately two months before the public hearing, the council members had unanimously agreed to the state acquiring Buckland Rd. and maintaining jurisdiction over it in the future. At one time Wednesday night, the entire council was asked to defend its position. In essence, the members agreed that new information was received from the residents where before they had no ready information available even though the matter has been tossed around in the town for several months.

Advisory Votes
An advisory vote showed 58 persons against the town fulfilling the state agreement obligations for preparing the road for state takeover and 60 persons opposed the town taking over the Buckland Rd. widening project to 60 feet and keeping it as a town road. They favored fixing it up and widening it to 30 feet.

After the hearing, former Mayor Howard Fitts said he was not aware that the widening to 60 feet could constitute a four-lane road into South Windsor, and in light of the new information he would probably reconsider his position.

Also, Glassman said he is sure that with the town continually growing at the pace it is, traffic problems will continue to increase. He did note, however, that the hearing was for all town residents and mostly Buckland Rd. persons attended, adding that all statements made would be reevaluated and would have an influence on the final decision of the council.

But one resident, Ervin Higgins of Ellington Rd., felt a little different. He pointed out the Ellington Rd. was acquired by the state and it is very well maintained but that cars race two abreast on this road as well as on a widened Sand Hill Rd. He added that when the drivers reach Buckland Rd., they have to slow down, because of its condition. He advised the council to leave it the way it is.

Another resident asked that the road be widened to 30 feet and paved to be like Foster Rd., however, Mayor Glassman stated that traffic conditions determine the type of road and Foster Rd. does not have the same overall number of vehicles traveling on it per hour as Buckland Rd. does daily.

Columbia Salary Dispute Settled

The Board of Education and the Columbia Teacher's Association have settled their salary dispute, with the board giving the teachers $150 over and above the annual $500 increment. This is with the exception of those few teachers who are already at the maximum on the salary scale.

Donald Tuttle, chairman of the board, said "according to the mediator, the cost to arbitrate would be about $2,000." He added, "I felt it would be better to give the teachers a better offer than to put $2,000 into arbitration. The increase will make the starting salary for new teachers with four years of college, $7,900."

No Records
First Selectman Howard Bates questioned, at the board's recent meeting, where town records of minutes prior to 1965 were, since he could not find them. Bates assumed office in 1971.

Former First Selectman Joseph Stegda said no minutes were kept prior to the time when he came into office in 1965. Selectmen said residents will be allowed to use old tables that belong to the town. Some new equipment is becoming weak and damaged and an inventory will be taken by custodian William Bender.

The town has received a work order totaling $29,412 for town aid materials and/or maintenance, winter maintenance, tree maintenance and traffic control, according to Donald Foley, division engineer of construction for District II.

Selectmen have not complied with a question from Dan Lufkin, commissioner of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP).

Lufkin wrote in January requesting that plans for repairs to Columbia Lake Dam be prepared by a state registered engineer and be submitted to his office for approval.

Selectmen hired Robert Ahearn to look into the matter, although he is not a registered engineer.

The DEP thinks sufficient time has elapsed for the submission of engineering plans. Selectmen must fire an engineer to fulfill the request.

The board discussed town-owned lawn mowers and decided if they were not in use, the mowers will be put out for bid.

Showman Turns To Housing
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Entertainer Isaac Hayes is turning his talents from the keyboard to the drawing board. Hayes announced Wednesday he and a group of black businessmen are sponsoring $100 million in housing projects for low income families across the country.

"I have chosen this particular project because it meets one of the most important needs today — housing for black and poor people," the Academy Award-winning composer said. Hayes said construction and development of garden apartment communities in various sections of the country will house more than 20,000 people in the next five years. Specific housing sites have not been chosen, but Hayes said he would like to see a majority of the units built in the South.

One of Hayes' associates in the forthcoming venture is Al Bell, chairman of Stax Records of Memphis. Stax produces and distributes Hayes' records. The names of other businessmen involved were not disclosed.

The Democratic Town Committee will be filling town vacancies, according to Mrs. Irene Glasser, vice chairman.

Anyone interested in serving on the committee may contact Jerome Rosen, Pine St., as soon as possible.

Political 'Fat Cats'

There seems to be a lot of debate going on about who is giving how much to whom in the current presidential campaign.

This concern may have some minor bearing on the election but we feel it is being distorted out of proportion.

However cherished the concept might be to those of our neighbors who are partisan in their political philosophy; the fact remains that neither political party can or has ever waged a national campaign without substantial and large contributions from "fat cats" within the party.

There is a fallacy too that such large contributions will inevitably influence the candidates if they are elected. We can't speak for all "Fat Cats," but the few we have known over the years are too smart to expect to make deals on a national level. On the contrary they, long before the common man gets on the band wagon, have studied the political candidates long and hard and if they decide to contribute it is on the basis of the man's whole track record, not what he might or might not be able to do if elected.

In other words, a large contribution to a candidate doesn't necessarily mean a deal has been made but on the contrary it means the contributor feels his interests are best protected if his candidate is elected.

Notes elected candidates and voters should be concerned about the fundamental issues of this campaign such as inflation, the war in Southeast Asia, and many domestic issues. The voters are ill served as precious campaign time is taken up with what has no bearing on candidate qualification—who is giving how much to whom.

Token Release

The token release of three prisoners of war by the North Vietnamese is good news for their families and we rejoice with them in their good fortune.

However the fact remains there are several hundred other American POWs languishing in prison camps. How many is not known for sure since the North Vietnamese have steadfastly refused to release the names of those they hold captive.

Obviously the announced intention to release the three men is political and timed to influence the American public as the 1972 Presidential campaign begins in earnest.

We don't know how much propaganda effect the release of the three most fortunate men will have on the candidates or the electorate.

We cannot help feel that many, many more American prisoners, wives and children of Americans listed as prisoners of war or missing in action in Southeast Asia would be grateful and relieved of the heartache and uncertainty to that now exists if the Government of North Vietnam would publish a list of prisoners and the status of their health.

Clearly the North Vietnamese could reap a larger harvest of international goodwill from such a humanitarian action than it can expect from the token release of three men.

Praises Youth

Gentlemen:
I am writing in praise of the local boys and girls who worked on shade tobacco farms in Manchester and East Windsor this summer, and in thanks for the cheerful and untiring efforts of Mr. Simon Wierzbicki of the Connecticut State Employment Service who helped make the programs possible.
Willing and industrious, these boys and girls stayed on the job throughout the season and were a pleasure to work with. Showing respect for their supervisors and each other, they conducted themselves in a manner which should make their parents proud.
In this day and age it is reassuring to see such groups of well behaved, hard working youth.

Very truly yours,
William P. Haas, Jr.

Urges Boycott

To the editor:
In response to Michael Lepter's letter from the Towland County Farm Bureau I can only say that there are many sides to the problems of the migrant workers and the lettuce boycott. In the last few weeks I have learned more of the implications of this situation and I still support the lettuce boycott.

Cesar Chavez is trying to unite the farm workers so that they can work together for better working conditions. Six per cent of the farms in California hire 70 per cent of the workers. It is in this large agribusiness where whole counties are planted in one or two crops, that the thrust of the union and the boycott is aimed.

'Discovery of Jesus'

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON—Man and boy, I have always held that as far as possible religion should be a private matter between homo sapiens and the deity of his choice, but I'll come down on the side of Gen. Ralph E. Haines and his right to parade his "discovery of Jesus."
Haines' chief of the Army's Continental Command, has been doing some evangelizing around the country, such as speaking at an assembly line worker had been given the sack for putting his own arm around God before his foreman. Haines speaks in a spiritual context. In so doing, he is reiterating the ancient dictum that man need not neglect his obligation to Caesar when he renders God's things to God.
Besides it coincides with something akin to ill grace for a member of Congress to squawk that a general might be using taxpayers' money to finance his evangelism. Stratton and his colleagues in both House and Senate get fat expense accounts for travel, which they use mostly for trips home to nurture their political fortunes. If Sam Stratton can run for election on the taxpayers' money, I guess I stand still for General Haines trying to save souls on his expense account.

A Thought for Today

"The Great Gift of Life
"For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord."
Romans 6:23

There is quite a difference in being paid and getting a present. One is earned and the other is free. One is a reward—the other a gift. Sin pays those who serve it and the wage is death, complete separation from God. God gives us life—now and forever—if we come seeking His mercy and forgiveness. Where God is—there are love, joy, hope and peace. All this is ours thru faith in His Son. "Thank you God for all of your wonderful gifts—but most of all for life itself!"

That 'Middle-Age Suspicion'
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Do you have "middle-age suspicion?" If so, you are suffering from one of the commonest maladies of our times, but one which is rarely diagnosed, because it isn't ordinarily recognized by doctors as a medical entity any more than menopause in men is.
But the symptoms of "middle-age suspicion" are recognizable to most experienced personnel executives, marriage counselors and others dealing in the problems of mental health. It is a condition in itself that tends to be self-perpetuating and is quite difficult to isolate and combat.
It affects both men and women, although it is perhaps more often noticed in men.
What is "middle-age suspicion" and how can you tell if you have it?
"Middle-age suspicion" is a neurotic feeling of self-doubt and inadequacy shown by people in their middle years who begin to distrust and suspect the motives of others to a degree unjustified by the facts.
You should suspect yourself of being a victim of "middle-age suspicion" if many—or most—of the following things are true of you:
You are convinced that there is a conspiracy in the office to ease you out of your job or to keep your merit from being fully recognized.
You can't take criticism of any kind anymore without losing your temper.
Some of the younger men at the office, you feel, are poking fun at you behind your back.
You pick on other members of your family more than you used to.
Even your wife complains you are beginning to lose your sense of humor.
You feel that every repairman you deal with is dishonest.
You may have lost one or more friends recently—or at least offended them—by impugning their loyalty.
More and more you mope about this being a "dog eat dog" world and that every man is determined to take advantage of every other man.
Any fresh sign of the ravages of time—the thinning of your hair, the appearance of a new wrinkle—causes you to become morose for days.
What can a man do if he recognizes these signs of "middle-age suspicion" in himself? Well, if he's still got any honesty and common sense left, he might look in the mirror and make himself a little speech: "I listen, old timer, there is nothing wrong with it yesterday. What's really wrong with yourself is you."

Family Praises SAM Concerts

Hula Is Graceful - But "Rocks" Irreplaceable

BY BETTY RYDER
Sand, sea and surf are fun, but the scintillating rhythms of Hawaiian guitars and native drums don't compare with the "right on" sound of rock music heard at the SAM concerts in Manchester, according to the youngsters of Maj. and Mrs. Eugene Mastrangelo, formerly of Manchester, now of Maryland.
Maj. and Mrs. Mastrangelo recently returned with the family from a four-year tour of duty in Hawaii where Mastrangelo was an analyst with the U.S. Air Force. Here, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Mastrangelo of 159 Maple St., the family found the youth activities offered in Manchester far superior to those in other areas they have traveled. Patti, 14, thought the "sound" was great at the SAM concerts and "wished they had something similar for kids in Hawaii." Another daughter, 16-year-old Gina, was greatly impressed with the Teen Center activities.

Heralding Politics
By Sol R. Cohen
The non-partisan Southern New England Telephone Co. which follows a hands-off policy in political campaigns is reminding campaign workers to avoid utility poles when searching for spots to display posters. SNET officials point out that attaching posters, signs and banners (political or otherwise) to a telephone, telegraph or electric light pole is regulated by law and that state statutes provide for fines up to $50 for violators. SNET says it is primarily concerned with the safety of those of their employees who have to climb poles, pointing out the hazards of the metal nuts, staples and other fasteners used to attach posters to the poles. Because of the extra work required to bring Manchester voter lists up to requirements under redistricting, Town Manager Robert Weiss is authorizing Manchester's registrars of voters to put on more help. He says the registrars' office will require an additional appropriation of $1,000 to implement the plan and that he will request the Board of Directors to approve the plan at its October meeting.

Tolland Night School Being Planned
The Board of Education agreed Wednesday night to embark on a fledgling adult education program at the high school which will include five subjects and hopefully be underwritten by funds to be donated by a private trust. Although the board expects to make token expenditures, it was tentatively budgeted at $700. Registration fees from adults and high school students enrolled in the program will probably run from $3 to $5 per course, and with anticipated trust funds money should meet most of the expenses of the program. The courses to be offered would include beginning woodworking, graphics, clothing for children, gourmet cooking, and possibly courses of particular interest to senior citizens. The graphics course would include the techniques of silk-screening and probably focus on making Christmas cards, among other items. All the courses are considered to have high interest potential, and are among the most popular at Rockville High School's evening program with the exception of the graphics course not offered there. According to the tentative outline of the program, the course would be offered in 10-week semesters, one night per week for two hours, beginning later this month. The board will forego the state reimbursement of 12 cents per pupil hour for those who complete the course, so that it can charge more for the state allowable $2 per course, in order to make the program nearly self-sustaining. The adult education program is viewed by board members as a means of involving the community in the schools, and to extend the benefits of the town's schools to a broader segment of the population. The private trust is being established by a group of residents who have agreed to donate funds to a trust to be used for a top priority item to be determined by the Board of Education. The school board agreed the establishment of the adult education program does have top priority. Other Business The school board signed its Scotty doesn't know how to drive yet ...but he's learning.

Whether he's learning the right way, or the wrong way, depends on you. His parent. You're his guide. All the way from toddling to driving. When you get behind the wheel, he'll be watching - closely. So watch yourself. If you want him to be a safe driver, be sure you're a safe driver. And when he's ready, high school driver education also can be an excellent teacher. Teenagers who take these classes average half as many traffic accidents and tickets as those who don't. That's why new car dealers encourage driver training...and save taxpayer dollars...by loaning more than 30,000 new cars each year to our schools for these classes. So check out the driver education course at your youngster's school. Or consider a qualified private driver training school. The important thing is to see that your children learn to drive the right way. By formal instruction. By every means possible. A lot depends on it. Your kid's future as an adult. Red Sox No. 1 in East At Least at Moment

BOSTON (AP) — They started it in the bleachers, picked it up in the rightfield corner and then it spread to the rest of the park. Boston Red Sox fans were telling everyone, "We're number one."

I wasn't watching the scoreboard," pitcher Sonny Siebert said in the dressing room Thursday night after hurling the Sox to a 10-4 victory over the New York Yankees. The fans were watching the scoreboard, however, and saw that Baltimore beat Detroit 9-0, lifting the Red Sox into the top spot in the tight East Division race in the American League.

"I heard some fans start yelling in the ninth inning, but I didn't make the connection," Siebert added.

Siebert limited the Yanks to 9 hits as he moved his record to 12-11 for the year. He also helped his cause by striking two singles and slapping a home run in the sixth. The round-tripper was his first of the year and the 12th of his major league career.

Fleet-footed Tommy Harper had a good night too. In the opening frame he walked, scored, went to third on a wild throw by Yankee catcher Thurman Munson and then scored on a sacrifice fly by shortstop Luis Aparicio. Harper also homered in the second, walked in two other innings and reached first once after being hit by a wild pitch.

Third baseman Rico Petrocelli slammed a homerun to the centerfield bleachers in the sixth and left fielder Ben Oglivie brought home two runs in the fifth with a double in other off-innings.

"I'm not going for homers," he said. "I'm just trying to get on base because Yaz (Carl Yastrzemski) and Reggie (Smith) are hot right now."

Siebert said, "Look at the spirit on this ball club."

"I have a feeling the team is going to finish strong," he added. "I feel I'll be right there with them."

The Yanks trail the Red Sox by 2½ games, but Yankee leftfielder Roy White isn't too worried.

"It's more fun playing when you're in last place," he said.

Harper also said he isn't particularly worried for the long ball. "I'm not going for homers," he said. "I'm just trying to get on base because Yaz (Carl Yastrzemski) and Reggie (Smith) are hot right now."

Siebert said, "Look at the spirit on this ball club."

Siebert Did Well On Mound, At Bat

BOSTON (AP) — Charles Wilfred Siebert was the man reporters wanted to talk to after the game. The newsmen even invaded the inner sanctum of the trainers room, where he was resting his right elbow in ice water, to get their hands on him.

Siebert, who goes by "Sonny," had just pitched his first complete game in a couple of months as he led the Boston Red Sox to a 10-4 victory over the visiting New York Yankees Thursday night, pushing the Sox to the top of the tight East Division race in the American League.

Siebert not only led the Yanks to nine hits, gassing out four, but he socked a towering home run over the high left field wall in the sixth inning. He also laced two singles in four trips to the plate to help his cause.

"I have a feeling the team is going to finish strong," the 35-year-old hurler said. "I feel I'll be right there with them."

Siebert said he didn't feel that he was helping the club much during the first part of the season. Thursday's victory pushed him over the 500 mark, making his record 12-11.

"Iant (Luis) has picked the ball club up," Siebert said.

talked about his fellow pitcher, and now I'd like to tell you about the guys up there."

The fans in Fenway, who had seen on the scoreboard that Baltimore downed the then-leading Detroit Tigers 9-0 to boost Boston into first place, began chanting in the top of the ninth.

"We're number one," they yelled, but I didn't make the connection.

Siebert seemed to falter in the ninth, when he allowed a couple of singles after two men were out.

"I had good stuff," was his comment on his evening's work. "Every game is important, any ballplayer will say any time he is asked. Siebert said it. But he is also aware of the division standings.

"With it this close," he said, "we're not going to let anything slip the last 27 or however many games."

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Tom McVie was named Thursday player-coach of the Eastern Hockey League's Johnstown Jets. He was given a one-year contract.

One Game Meant Much To Sox, Red and White

NEW YORK (AP) — Never before has one game meant so much to so many Sox.

In Boston, the Red Sox trounced the New York Yankees 10-4 Thursday night and moved into first place in the top-try American League East for the first time all season.

In Chicago, the White Sox won their eighth straight game, but they were still behind Oakland 5-0 in what Manager Chuck Tanner called "our biggest game of the year" and remained within hailing distance in the West Division three games behind the A's.

Elsewhere, Baltimore crushed Detroit 9-0, Minnesota blanked Texas 4-0, Kansas City struck out 10-4 Thursday night and moved into first place in the top-try American League East for the first time all season.

Midget Football Fund Drive Set

The Manchester Midget & Pony Football Association kicks off the 1972 season with its annual town-wide fund drive tomorrow morning beginning at 10 a.m. The boys participating in the drive will be identified by the colors of their shirts.

And when the ceremony ended, Matthews walked toward the stands, twirling the gold medal on its chain as the whistles and bands rolled down upon the field.

"Is it a protest?" No way," replied Matthews, the speaker for the day. "I'm just glad that we have been selected as a qualifying team for the balance of the schedule."

Notes Off the Cuff

If the New York Yankees win the American League pennant, the most valuable player award has to go to relief pitcher Sparky Lyle. Detroit's Mickey Lolich will most likely be tapped for the honor. Richie Allen of Chicago is the only other bonafide nomination from this corner and the White Sox must win out if this is to become a reality.

The Chicago Cubs' Steve Carlton is the manager-of-the-year in the A.L. Before concluding the schedule with three games in Baltimore, Detroit and Milwaukee, Fred Peterson of the A.L. will be Friday, Sept. 15, at 6:30 a.m. Mt. Nebo.

Fan Accepts Offer But... Catcher-Umpire Exchange Words

BOSTON (AP) — Boston outfielder Reggie Smith literally offered a heckler the shirt off his back Thursday night, and his cap, too, and suggested if the fan could do any better to come down and take over Smith's position in right.

The unidentified heckler accepted the offer, before the start of the Boston-New York game, but a park attendant intervened and removed the would-be substitute.

Smith, the object of constant jeers for the past month, tossed his cap on top of the dugout, and when a fan stepped atop the dugout roof to oblige, Smith removed his uniform top, too. Then the attendant intervened.

Smith played, went 1 for 3 in a 10 to 4 victory over the Yankees.

Pro Basketball Merger Receives Senate Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two professional basketball leagues may merge, a Senate subcommittee said Thursday, but only if they give up their complete hold on players.

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee approved a bill that would allow the American Basketball Association and the National Basketball Association to merge.

Tacked on to the measure, which now goes to the full Senate Judiciary Committee, were amendments which would:

- Virtually eliminate the disputed reserve clause for pro basketball by allowing teams to control players for no longer than two years.
- Give visiting teams no less than 30 per cent of the home team's gate receipts.
- Black out all telecasts of pro basketball games on Tuesday and Friday nights and all day Saturday within a 75-mile radius of high school, junior college or collegiate games.
- Eliminate the proposed $15 million indemnity payment each ABA team would pay to the NBA if the two leagues merge.
- End backlogs in all sports of bowl and "un-scheduled" playoff games if the games are sold out.

"At least part of the freedom of the professional athlete has been preserved with the amendments," said Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., a staunch opponent of a merger unless players' rights are protected.

The bill, introduced in the Senate more than a year ago, would permit the two leagues to merge "if such agreement does not decrease the number of professional basketball clubs so operating."

U.S. Cagers Set for Russia in Finals

MUNICH (AP) — "The Russians are stronger than we are," U.S. Basketball Coach Hank Iba said. "We'll see if we're quicker than they are."

Quarter-inners Vince Matthews and Wayne Collet showed they were quicker than anyone else—but how they performed while standing still seemed to leave something to be desired.

"We'll have a tough time keeping them off the backboard," Iba said of the Russians Thursday night after his club demolished Italy 68-38 in the semifinal game which followed the Soviet Union's 77-67 victory over Cuba. Both teams carry 84 records into Saturday night's gold-medal final.

Matthews and Iba Milburn highlighted the best day of the American track and field squad Sunday at the 200-meter Olympic Games—but some of Matthews' and Collet's actions on the victory stand, somehow reminiscent of the black-gloved protest by U.S. athletes four years ago, angered some of the 30,000 Olympic Stadium spectators.

Milburn from Opelousas, La., stood erect, facing the flag as the Star-Spangled Banner was played after he'd won the 110-meter hurdles in a world record-equalling 1:52 seconds. France's 200-meter runner, Steve Prefontaine, finished 1:25 in the 400-meter dash. Collet stepped up from his tier and joined Matthews on the podium as the national anthem began. They stood squarely, facing away from the crowd. Matthews, with his arms folded and Collet with hands on hips, chatting occasionally as the music played on.

And when the ceremony ended, Matthews walked toward the stands, twirling the gold medal on its chain as the whistles and bands rolled down upon the field.

"Is it a protest?" No way," replied Matthews, the speaker for the day. "I'm just glad that we have been selected as a qualifying team for the balance of the schedule."

Quarter-inners Vince Matthews and Wayne Collet showed they were quicker than anyone else—but how they performed while standing still seemed to leave something to be desired.

"We'll have a tough time keeping them off the backboard," Iba said of the Russians Thursday night after his club demolished Italy 68-38 in the semifinal game which followed the Soviet Union's 77-67 victory over Cuba. Both teams carry 84 records into Saturday night's gold-medal final.

Matthews and Iba Milburn highlighted the best day of the American track and field squad Sunday at the 200-meter Olympic Games—but some of Matthews' and Collet's actions on the victory stand, somehow reminiscent of the black-gloved protest by U.S. athletes four years ago, angered some of the 30,000 Olympic Stadium spectators.

Milburn from Opelousas, La., stood erect, facing the flag as the Star-Spangled Banner was played after he'd won the 110-meter hurdles in a world record-equalling 1:52 seconds. France's 200-meter runner, Steve Prefontaine, finished 1:25 in the 400-meter dash. Collet stepped up from his tier and joined Matthews on the podium as the national anthem began. They stood squarely, facing away from the crowd. Matthews, with his arms folded and Collet with hands on hips, chatting occasionally as the music played on.

And when the ceremony ended, Matthews walked toward the stands, twirling the gold medal on its chain as the whistles and bands rolled down upon the field.

"Is it a protest?" No way," replied Matthews, the speaker for the day. "I'm just glad that we have been selected as a qualifying team for the balance of the schedule."

Stripped of Gold Medal DeMont Not Talking On Return to States

NEW YORK (AP) — Rick DeMont, the 18-year-old San Rafael, Calif., Olympic swimmer, whose gold medal in the 400-meter freestyle may not be his to keep returned to the United States on Thursday night, but refused to meet with newsmen.

A spokesman for Pan American World Airlines, which flew DeMont and 173 other members of the American team here from Munich, said the young swimmer did not want to come out because he had a close connection to California. DeMont is a member of the Santa Barbara, Calif., swim club.

The spokesman said Port Authority police escorted DeMont to a vehicle and drove him to the plane.

The Executive Board of the IOC announced Wednesday that DeMont's medal was being vacated because he had used a drug containing ephedrine to ease an asthmatic condition. Later, the Olympic review service issued an amended standing showing DeMont disqualified and Australia's Brad Cooper moved up to first.

But an IOC spokesman said the organizing committee had changed the list without authorization and the question of

Pro Football Roundup Coach Skips Disaster During Bengal Drill

The Old Coach averted disaster on his 64th birthday. Paul Brown, coach of the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League, was standing on the sidelines during the Bengals' practice. He looked up and beheld 260-pound Sherman White barreling toward him.

White, a tackle defensive end, was pursuing Dave Lewis in an attempt to block him. As Brown dived to the ground, White went over him.

Brown, who has learned quick reflexes from his years of high school, college and pro coaching, suffered friction burns on his elbow and forehead in avoiding a head-on collision.

"I guess that the Old Coach averted disaster," Brown commented after he picked himself up from the artificial turf.

The incident happened Thursday on the eve of the start of the last exhibition weekend in the NFL, which has the the Bengals' practice on the Atlanta Falcons Saturday night.

The weekend activities actually got under way tonight with the San Francisco 49ers at Los Angeles and the Philadelphia Eagles at Buffalo.

In Saturday night, in addition to Atlanta at Cincinnati, the New York Jets are at San Diego, Oakland at Dallas, Chicago at St. Louis, Washington at Pittsburgh and Kansas City vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee.

Three Sunday afternoon games will be Baltimore at Denver, Cleveland at New York Giants and New Orleans at Houston. Monday night, the Dallas Cowboys will play the Oakland Raiders at Dallas.

Don Wilson went the route for Houston, scattering 10 hits.

EXPOS-METS Isidor Moore fired a live-batter and Ron Woods crashed a home run, carrying Montreal to New York. Backed by a 10-hit attack from Jim Lofgren, the Mets held a 12½-game lead in the East after Thursday night's 4-2 loss to the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds are 7½ games in front in the West despite losing a doubleheader in the San Diego Padres, 2-0 and 5-1.

PHILS-CARDS The heated Bateman-Crawford confrontation couldn't ruffle the steady Carlton, who was consistent in the 23rd inning while nothing his 23rd victory.

Carlton wound up with nine strikeouts and posted his league-leading mark to 272 and erased Jim Bunning's former Philadelphia record of 208. The Cards won 2-1, with Carlton's 21 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

"I'm reporting his sleep," said Bateman, describing the alleged fifth-inning incident.

Bateman said that he objected to the plate umpire's call on a pitch thrown by Steve Carlton. Bateman insisted it was a strike, not a ball as called by Crawford.

GOP Stymies Houley Plan of Action

HARTFORD (AP) — The legislature's Appropriations Committee found itself unexpectedly on the control of the Republican Thursday, and co-chairman Robert D. Houley was unable to launch any strong action against the House administration.
Sen. Houley may have been hoping to subpoena administrative officials in his quest for fiscal data, but he had to content himself with the creation of new subcommittees to look into various aspects of the current state budget.

The committee, led by a Republican majority in attendance, chose to once again, through subcommittee, ask the question of the same information, which he has consistently denied.
Houley complained in a statement issued to news media that the committee was dominated 22-15 in membership by Republicans.
Although the committee is members of the majority party showed up for Thursday's meeting and Houley had to lead the committee through the 13 Republicans on hand.

Houley, a Democrat from Vernon, said he was disappointed that the committee was dominated 22-15 in membership by Republicans.
Although the committee is members of the majority party showed up for Thursday's meeting and Houley had to lead the committee through the 13 Republicans on hand.

The Appropriations Committee's report into the state government's fiscal situation is supposed to give Democratic legislative leaders the information they need to make a case for a special session to cut taxes.

The fire department reported volunteer firemen answered 27 calls during the month of August, including 13 emergency calls.
Included in the emergency category were two structure fires, a gas washdown, a car pedestrian accident, a miscellaneous call, and two still alarms, as well as two mutual aid rescue calls.

Non-emergency calls included 11 drills and work details.

Boy Bounced, Escapes Hurts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Police said a 3-year-old boy tumbled from a moving car on a busy interstate highway, bounced across two lanes and walked across two lanes of traffic and escaped with only minor cuts and bruises.

Young Raymond Wagnenicht, of West Chester, Ohio, was riding in a car driven by Patricia Stradman 22, of West Chester, when the mishap occurred on Interstate 75 Wednesday.

Miss Stradman said the car was traveling about 60 miles per hour when young Wagnenicht opened the rear door and fell out.
Witnesses said the boy bounced and rolled nearly 150 feet, but rose and walked across two lanes of traffic to the median strip.

Three drivers stopped to help, and the car of one of them was hit from behind by a fourth car.
No one was seriously injured.
"1 touched the door and it opened," said young Wagnenicht, who was held for observation at Children's Hospital.

Gardening

with Frank Atwood

The first job after breakfast every day for Mrs. John McParland is to water the plants in her porch boxes and pick off the faded blossoms. She thinks it pays to do this work at the same time each day. The plants respond, she is sure, to this regular attention.

Elizabeth McParland, her husband and son, John, live at 86 Florence St. They have a duplex house. The McParlands occupy one side, with rooms on first and second floors, and they rent the other half of the house. Both families, and their neighbors on the street, enjoy the beauty of the porch boxes.

There are six of the boxes set on the wide and solid porch rail. There are two boxes each side of the front steps and one at each end of the porch. There are so many plants in each box and they grow so luxuriantly that they make an apparently continuous display, except for gaps at the steps and at the corner posts.

White cascade petunias with their ruffled flowers and variegated green-and-white vines drop more than two feet below the porch rail. The general impression is of red and green, topped by the scarlet spikes of salvia and splendid red geraniums. There are softer colors in the pet, open-faced blossoms of impatiens and the green, yellow and red tones of coleus leaves.

Mrs. McParland calls her flower selection "a little bit of everything."

Must Have Water Daily The plants are new each year, purchased from a local nursery. Peat moss is mixed with the soil to help hold water for the roots, but daily watering is essential. The boxes are only six inches deep and the plants are so large and have so many leaves that they use their supply of water rapidly. On hot days they are watered a second time in the afternoon.

The McParlands are two of the many people from the North of Ireland who came to Manchester in the great days of Cheney silk mills, most of them to work for Cheney's Mrs. McParland, then Elizabeth Madden, came with her mother and seven of her brothers and sisters. Her father and two older brothers were already here. Two more children were born in Manchester when John McParland was 16 when he came with the Madden family. Because of his age he had to travel with some other person

Enemy Attacks Refugee Camp

SAIGON (AP) — Attacking by night in a blinding rainstorm, a score of Viet Cong sappers rampaged through South Vietnam's biggest refugee camp on the northwestern edges of Da Nang today, taking a heavy toll in life and property.

The sappers escaped the lightly guarded Camp Books compound—once a U.S. Marine supply base—without losing a single man, Phouc reported.

The sappers also hit two adjoining South Vietnamese militia outposts but there was no immediate word on casualties or damage at these locations.

It was the closest ground attack to Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, in more than a year although the northern port city has been the target of frequent shelling.

The refugee camp houses more than 50,000 civilians who fled Quang Tri province when it was captured by the North Vietnamese May 1.

State Educators Suing for Raise

HELP (Higher Education Legal Program), an ad hoc group supported by contributions from individual staff members at the four levels of state higher education, is instituting a class action suit against Gov. Thomas Meskill.

Much of the impetus for the step originated at Manchester Community College in late winter when it became clear that the governor's economy measures would have a decided impact upon the salaries of the state university, colleges, community colleges, and technical colleges.

Court action has been prompted by sharply reduced 1972-73 state appropriations for higher education, which resulted in the governor's "freeze" of annual increments. The suit is aimed at attempting to force Gov. Meskill to honor commitments made by boards of trustees to their professional staffs.

Announcement of the forthcoming litigation was made yesterday by AUY Burton Weinstein, Bridgeport labor and education lawyer and HELP counsel. He was joined in the conference by Mrs. Kay V. Bergin of Matatuck Community College in Waterbury, president of the Connecticut state librarians, state hospital nurses, and administrators of state agencies receiving their annual contracts; however, employees in the same higher education positions did not.

She added that restoration of the contractual increments to higher education faculty

Democrats Suffer More Setbacks

HARTFORD (AP) — Democrats, who have been trying to prevent a Nov. 7 General Assembly election, have suffered two setbacks in court.

A three-judge federal panel denied a motion Friday to reinstate the old House and Senate districts for the election, and the Democrats were told it would be three to four weeks before the state Supreme Court would hear a separate legal action.

Chief Justice Charles S. House took aim Friday on the first week in October as the earliest time possible for a Supreme Court hearing after meeting with lawyers on all sides of the reapportionment issue.

The judges said they still thought the 1971 plan was unconstitutional, but they said it was preferable to the old districting plan which was struck down in 1960.

Democrats, who have maintained that the 1971 reapportionment scheme violated the voters' right to elect members of the General Assembly at a general election held on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November in this year, as provided in the state Constitution.
