3 POWs Freed By Red Viet

Hanoi (AP)—Three American pilots shot down during bomb raids over North Vietnam were released from captivity at a ceremony organized by the North Vietnamese Army and attended by relatives and U.S. peace activists who had journeyed to Hanoi.
They are Navy Lt. Norris Charles, 27, whose wife Olga, had flown out from San Diego, Calif.; Navy Lt. Markham Garty, 28, whose mother, Minnie Lee Garty, came from Danvers, Fla. and Air Force Maj. Edward Elias, 34, of Valdosta, Ga.
Overjoyed at their new freedom, the three fliers were neat-appeared in new civilian clothing provided them for Sunday's 45-minute ceremony, a unique affair in the annals of warfare.
Each pilot made a statement into microphones before the official release, held before Vietnamese and European television cameramen in a building of the Peoples Army.
Olga Charles, 27, who had had her hair washed and set in a downtown Hanoi beauty shop in anticipation of the ceremony, fought through the throng of cameramen and technicians for an emotional embrace with her husband.
Minnie Lee Garty joyfully put her arms around her Navy pilot son and said, "He's even better looking than I remembered."
Mrs. Garty for the past four years has actively picked Congress and the White House for an end to the war.
Elias, who until Saturday had expected his wife or father to come to Hanoi, said in a statement.

Uganda Invasion Reputed

Many reasons for the attack was to interrupt the expulsion of non-citizen Asians.
Uganda President Idi Amin has ordered the expulsion of non-citizen Asians.

Assembly Convenes On Buses

HARTFORD (AP)—The General Assembly convened this afternoon in special session at Gov. Thomas Meskill's direction to deal with bus problems and to prepare to consider tax reductions.
Strikes against two bus companies that serve the state's six largest cities appear more and more certain with the approach of Oct. 1, when existing contracts expire.
Both the Connecticut Co., which serves the Hartford, New Haven and Stamford areas, and the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Co., with lines in and around Bridgeport, Waterbury and New Britain, say they lack the income to meet union contract demands.
Meskill proposes to take $3 million from the Highway Fund and distribute them to all 169 cities and towns. The money could be used in the six cities to subsidize operations of the bus lines under the direction of transit districts, Meskill says.
Democratic leaders, however, say Meskill's proposal is unacceptable, but they have not presented an alternate plan.
A reduction in the state sales tax, and possibly the tax on capital gains, is expected. Meskill expects Congress to enact a revenue-sharing plan that will mean an extra $19 million for the state government.
The governor wants the legislature to deal with the bus problem and to approve a revenue-sharing measure before taking up the tax proposal.

Minnie Lee Garty joyfully put her arms around her Navy pilot son and said, "He's even better looking than I remembered."
Mrs. Garty for the past four years has actively picked Congress and the White House for an end to the war.
Elias, who until Saturday had expected his wife or father to come to Hanoi, said in a statement.

Police Report

Arrests made by Manchester Police over the weekend included:
Robert J. Boyd Jr., 24, of 41 Griffin Rd., charged yesterday morning with failure to stop sign at Waddell and Hartford Rds. Court date is Oct. 2.
Armando S. Giuliano, 48, of East Hartford, charged yesterday with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Treasure City Department Store at the Parkade. He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for court appearance Oct. 2.
Neil E. Fuchs, 16, of 18 Greenwood Dr., South Windsor, charged yesterday afternoon with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Treasure City. He was released on his written promise to appear in court Oct. 2.
Arnold Browner, 32, of 52 White St., charged yesterday afternoon with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at Treasure City. He was released on his written promise to appear in court Oct. 2.
Each pilot made a statement into microphones before the official release, held before Vietnamese and European television cameramen in a building of the Peoples Army.
Olga Charles, 27, who had had her hair washed and set in a downtown Hanoi beauty shop in anticipation of the ceremony, fought through the throng of cameramen and technicians for an emotional embrace with her husband.

South Windsor Council Bars Eased Public Participation Rule

The Town Council agrees that additional public participation at its meetings is not necessary and last night rejected a request by Mrs. Joan Cashman of Scott Dr. who asked the council to consider public participation in tandem with scheduled agenda items.

Councilman Leonard Sorosiak was willing to consider a change even though he did agree with the existing rule, adding that the meetings are carried out in a very business-like manner, but later joined the unanimous voting council in retaining the present two public participation portions after former Mayor Howard Pitts said that two years before, when he was mayor, the administration followed the current rules and that it was his opinion that it satisfied the needs of the public and the council members.

In other action the council voted to establish a Charter Revision Commission, a subject which caused a conflict between Mayor Abraham Glassman and Republican Town Chairman Robert Sklarner this weekend. Sklarner, in a circular to Republicans town members, criticized the Democratic administration, and charged it with failure to appoint a new commission which would make appropriate changes in replacement appointments for the Board of Education and the Planning and Zoning Commission. By this timely omission, Sklarner said the Democrats assured themselves of a majority on the board and commission for the next three years, adding that all candidates selected would be seated. He also charged that this action deprived voters of a "choice" of elected officials.

In rebuttal, Glassman said that during the previous five years, under a Republican-led administration, the candidate selection problems should have been taken care of by the Republicans, but, by not making appropriate charter changes for the non-election years, and by their anticipation of victory in the past election, the Republicans had "virtually" assured themselves of the majority.

He said that he would assign the new commission, when appointed, the task of delegating approval of Board of Education replacement candidates within the board itself rather than with the council as it is currently done. He said the board is an elective body like the council, therefore the responsibility for filling vacancies should rest with the board.

He also said that the provision that require a replacement within the same political party as the outgoing member will remain the same.

Council Moves To Improve Roads

The Coventry Town Council last night took a major step toward the improvement of the road and traffic situation in the north end by approving the realignment of the North River Rd. - Merrow Rd. area.

There has been concern by both the Town Council and the Planning and Zoning Commission in recent months because of the rapid growth of housing in that area, coupled with the fact that roads and bridges are inadequate to handle increased traffic flows. The route approved for the realignment, subject to final meeting approval, would provide continuous movement of traffic in an east-west direction, with the realignment of Merrow Rd. putting that street into the "major local street" category in accordance with the town's comprehensive plan.

Exact location of the North River Rd. bridge, a part of the realignment plan, is yet to be determined.

Total cost of the project would be $174,000, with this figure broken down into two parts, $125,600 for the bridge, the first priority; and $48,400 for other realignment, second priority. Engineering work for the project was done by Town Engineers.

Unclaimed Bikes

Nearly 30 bicycles of all types remain unclaimed at the Manchester Police station, 239 E. Middle Tpk., according to Capt. George McCaughey.

The bikes have accumulated over a period of three or four months, McCaughey said. They were recovered in various locations throughout town.

Persons who have reported bicycles missing or stolen over the summer may look at the unclaimed bicycles at the police station weekdays during the day, McCaughey said.

Flames Engulf Cars in Crash

Two units of the Eighth District Fire Department rolled at 2:23 p.m. yesterday to a car fire between Exits 93 and 94 of the Wilbur Cross Highway where they found two cars engulfed in a ball of flame following a multiple collision with a tractor and trailer unit in the westbound lane.

According to firemen, all the occupants of the two cars and the tractor unit escaped uninjured. The crash impact apparently ruptured one of the car gasoline tanks and both cars were totally destroyed in the fire. The two units doused the fire in about seven minutes after arrival, however, one unit remained on the scene to cool the wreckage until tow trucks arrived. The truck-tractor unit was not involved in the fire. Firemen used inch-and-half handlines to control the blaze assisted by boosters.

South Windsor Council Bars Eased Public Participation Rule

The Town Council agrees that additional public participation at its meetings is not necessary and last night rejected a request by Mrs. Joan Cashman of Scott Dr. who asked the council to consider public participation in tandem with scheduled agenda items.

Councilman Leonard Sorosiak was willing to consider a change even though he did agree with the existing rule, adding that the meetings are carried out in a very business-like manner, but later joined the unanimous voting council in retaining the present two public participation portions after former Mayor Howard Pitts said that two years before, when he was mayor, the administration followed the current rules and that it was his opinion that it satisfied the needs of the public and the council members.

In other action the council voted to establish a Charter Revision Commission, a subject which caused a conflict between Mayor Abraham Glassman and Republican Town Chairman Robert Sklarner this weekend. Sklarner, in a circular to Republicans town members, criticized the Democratic administration, and charged it with failure to appoint a new commission which would make appropriate changes in replacement appointments for the Board of Education and the Planning and Zoning Commission. By this timely omission, Sklarner said the Democrats assured themselves of a majority on the board and commission for the next three years, adding that all candidates selected would be seated. He also charged that this action deprived voters of a "choice" of elected officials.

In rebuttal, Glassman said that during the previous five years, under a Republican-led administration, the candidate selection problems should have been taken care of by the Republicans, but, by not making appropriate charter changes for the non-election years, and by their anticipation of victory in the past election, the Republicans had "virtually" assured themselves of the majority.

He said that he would assign the new commission, when appointed, the task of delegating approval of Board of Education replacement candidates within the board itself rather than with the council as it is currently done. He said the board is an elective body like the council, therefore the responsibility for filling vacancies should rest with the board.

He also said that the provision that require a replacement within the same political party as the outgoing member will remain the same.

'Know Thy Neighbor'

Vance Packard, author and self-term "observer and synthesizer," has written a new book on the mobile American society called, "A Nation of Strangers."
His critique on the nomadic habits of Americans has caused him to raise a real concern for all of us - natives or transplants.
We have long become accustomed to seeing moving vans and terms like "bedroom" communities, transient labor, migrants, etc.
Packard's book should alert us to the hazards of this increasing mobility but more important each of us should start rediscovering the natural human community.
The Good Book asks us to "love thy neighbor" which can only be done if we take the first step to "know thy neighbor." This could be the seed from which the natural human community can germinate and flourish into that sense of unity and belonging that America once had.

Important Election

Despite the Connecticut reapportionment controversy, present poll indications of a Nixon landslide, headlines in the early campaign stages playing up emotional rather than political issues; the Nov. 7 election is important and each of us should become involved now.
First, each of us should register to vote and this can be done easily in a few minutes. You can register as a Democrat, Republican or unaffiliated.
Second, each of us should read all we can about the state and national candidates and their proposals. Regardless of your political leanings, you should keep your mind open because the purpose of popular vote is not party politics but citizen participation in selecting the best men and women, regardless of party, to represent us.
Third, if you are politically motivated, actively support the party and candidates of your choice both physically and financially.
You will find, with few exceptions, that even those who might disagree with your views will respect them and hear you out if you present them honestly, sincerely and thoughtfully.
And finally, when Nov. 7 rolls around, vote according to the dictates of your conscience remembering that the men and women we elect will be representing us for the next two to four years.
Throughout the campaign and up to the time you cast your ballot remember the right to vote carries with it the obligation to vote responsibly.

More Technology

You can probably scratch another bit of Americana.
The utility meter reader, who has been making his appointed rounds of American homes since candles and fireplaces gave way to gas and electricity, is about to be replaced by technology.
According to a New York Times report, utility firms are developing a number of automatic reading systems to cut manpower costs and ensure accurate readings. These include a device which, plugged into a master box, reads individual meters in an entire apartment building or residential development.
The most high-flying scheme, literally, involves aircraft equipped with remote-sensing receivers which would fly over an area calling in and storing on tape readings from thousands of meters almost simultaneously.
We can assume housewives eventually will get accustomed to not being startled by the call of the meter man at inconvenient moments but how are they ever going to get the dogs to start barking and snapping at a high flying plane.

Charter Changes

Waterbury voters are to have the right to express their views on four important changes in the city charter at the November election. The Board of Aldermen have given final approval to charter changes which, in three instances, will permit a more efficient operation of the government.
Approved by the aldermen after action by the Charter Revision Commission were the separation of the positions of budget director and auditor with proper protection for incumbent Budget Director Arnold E. Furlong; clarification of the procedure for appointing a new superintendent of schools to eliminate a major controversy whenever the position becomes vacant, and institution of the "rule of three" for the appointment of major department heads.

Also approved was a temporary charter change to permit the city to allocate funds for the proper observance of the bicentennial in 1974.
Unfortunately the Charter Commission refused to accept a strong recommendation by the aldermen and others that would have permitted the modernization of the top administration in the Police Department than the Commission thereby deprived the voters of any voice in that area.

Portents of Illinois Disaster

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

CHICAGO - The continued decline of Sen. George McGovern among the white ethnic working class of Mayor Richard J. Daley's Chicago, showing no sign of reversal, threatens a massive landslide for President Nixon in vitally important Illinois.
Our interviews with 61 registered voters (31 Democrats, 20 Independents, 10 Republicans) in two barometer blue-collar precincts on Chicago's mid-Southwest Side defy belief. In answer to a questionnaire drafted for us by pollster Oliver Quayle, there were the astonishing results: Nixon 47, McGovern 8, undecided 6.

him in any interviews we have conducted the last four years. The reasons stated for their approval are that Mr. Nixon has tried, and, at least for now, succeeded, in making the national government work better for the American people. In Vietnam and economic policies, a union plumber supported him because of "those trips he took around the world."
Simultaneously, McGovern's massive attack on the Watergate caper and fishy Republican campaign financing has flopped for us by pollster Oliver Quayle. McGovern voters took any credence in these charges.
Nor can McGovern rely on inbred Democratic loyalty. Some voters voiced intense irritation with the Democratic party and the failure of Mayor Daley's Democratic precinct captains to improve municipal services as in olden days. Dan Walker, Democratic nominee for governor, is much more popular than McGovern in these precincts but still is a long way from a victory. Richard Ogilvie 25 to 24 (with 2 undecided).
In his extreme peril in this former Democratic stronghold, McGovern cannot even clutch reverse coattails.

Wallace Dead Right

WASHINGTON - As the Presidential campaign enters its last eight weeks, Alabama's Gov. George Wallace is dead right. As he has the Southern States' Conference, his followers do indeed comprise the balance of power in the Nixon-McGovern election.
That is the same as saying that if the election were held today, President Nixon would get a shoe in the would be a shoe because as of today every poll of practically every variety of voter shows that Nixon would get the lion's share of the Wallace vote. In fact - again as of today - McGovern would lose a greater number of voters in the North than in the South among Wallace supporters, simply because they are more numerous.
One Louis Harris survey has found that 56 per cent of the Wallace vote is drawn from the South, that 44 per cent from the North. Wallace's support at the governor's sessions. This was a bit curious, inasmuch as a Wallace endorsement would cost McGovern heavily among his liberal-to-left supporters. With Wallace sitting it out, McGovern can romance the Wallace elector-ate without burdening his campaign. Before the last two Democratic primaries - in California and New York - Wallace had polled more popular votes than McGovern. He won the Maryland and Michigan primaries after he was shot down and crippled by a would-be assassin. He is strong in such northern states as Indiana and Ohio, and even makes a good showing in the polls conducted in traditionally liberal New York state.
All this could change as George McGovern's campaign catches fire. The high unemployment rate is an albatross around Nixon's neck, and McGovern is scoring points with his charges that on the issue of tax reform the Republicans are the rich man's party. The charges Wallace used effectively during his primary campaign. Whatever the outcome of the Nixon's team's clumsy handling of its campaign money, including the break-in at Democratic headquarters last June, the residue will be a lot of suspicious voters.
But Wallace's point remains valid. The biggest likelihood is he won or lost a Wallace vote. He proved that during the primaries. The independent?

To the Citizens

Dear Sir:
Your fair share to the United Fund will assist countless people in your community. The Children and Family Services, with its Manchester office located at 110 Main Street, shares in your contribution. This valuable community agency counsels individuals of all ages and from all walks of life. Its varied services include assistance with pre-marital and marital problems, parent-child relationships, foster child care, adoption, unwed parents, and distressed families.
The Manchester Auxiliary members work diligently each year to raise much-needed funds for these services. On behalf of the United Fund and everyone of you who give generously to this worthwhile cause.

Vote Yes

To the editor:
As a taxpayer and parent of children attending the Vernon Public Schools, I'm pleased with the educational and recreational programs provided for the children and urge the taxpayers to vote in favor of the total high school complex so that such programs will continue. Our young people are our future and an investment in them benefits the total community. An additional item on this referendum is an addition to the Talcottville School. This project is totally funded and will further help these "special" children to become productive or semi-productive citizens and not a burden to the taxpayer in future years. Please vote Yes.

School Lunch Program

A notice was received by the parents of the Waddell school that our children would have a new schedule this year. Dismissal time, which used to be 3:00 p.m., would be 2:30 and there a nice big surprise, lunch would be reduced to a half hour instead of the usual hour. In the same notice we were advised that if possible we should continue to allow our children to come home for lunch if they had been doing so in the past. Now that is really funny.
It seems there were not enough funds allocated in our school district for lunch and one hour lunches, with supervision on the playground, to continue as it has in the past.
Doesn't it seem kind of strange that on the front page of the Manchester Evening Herald Sept. 13 one of the headlines read - "Town Surplus $873,000?"
Just exactly how much money is school aid program going to cost? Maybe about $10,000. I am not politically inclined nor will I pretend to be intelligent on the subject of political issues but didn't the Democrats promise that they could do more for less? So many things are promised and so few things are carried out.
I am urging each and every one of you to write to the Board of Education and stand up for their own children's sake. Don't just sit back and accept this. Not only do our children need this but the teachers deserve this time.
Please write some representatives from the other schools come forward to this "Forum" and let us know what is going on in your school.

thoughts on our educational system. To date no answer has been received from him.
With a new bond issue in the offering to finance additions to filling and Bannel, I would suggest that a meeting be held. The reasons are obvious. The public feels that there is a credibility gap on the part of the administration and the Board of Education. In recent years they have told us it was necessary to build two new elementary schools, a replacement for the northwest section of Manchester. Now that both schools have been dedicated in a bond issue, we are told that there is excess capacity in the elementary schools and the administration can abandon the Lincoln School and place the students in other schools with no harm done to anyone. What would all this have done with all the extra seats if the new schools had passed?
The meeting go by fast. Election time will be here shortly. If the bond issues for the junior high schools are to pass, the administration must come up with more facts than were presented at the last public hearing.

Do Our Part
To the editor:
It has always seemed to me that the most important civic effort in the fall is the United Fund Drive. Each year, a group of citizens take it upon their shoulders to remind us all of our responsibilities to others. It is a thankless job, often the solicitor is met with numerous standard excuses why not to give.
The United Fund supports far more of our good efforts than any other fund. They are: Retarded Children, Child and Family Services, Child Guidance, Latz Museum, Manchester Homemaker Society, Manchester Public Health and Family Services, Red Cross, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the USO, YMCA, and YWCA.
Aren't all these worthy of our support? And wasn't that excuse you gave last year a little weak? Let us all take a good look at our responsibilities and be fair in our giving. Let's welcome the chance to do our part this year.
Sincerely,
Watkins Brothers, Inc.

Today's Thought

Update Your Thinking
The concept of the Good Samaritan is still good in many situations. However, it is inadequate for our time. Most hurt and healing comes today not through individuals, but through systems. Most suffering today comes through inadequate and mindless systems.
With this as a given, it behooves those who call themselves Christians to examine all our systems, and do what they can individually and in concert with others to improve them or replace them. Be supportive of those who would move our systems in life-giving directions.

Super Sport: Tony Oliva

Tony Oliva plays left field for the Minnesota Twins. He is one of baseball's best hitters. Twins Manager Bill Rigney rates him as the best hitter he has ever seen. Rigney says "Tony hits to all fields, a spray hitter. It's tough for them to play him anywhere."

Oliva has won three American League batting crowns. Only 14 players in major league history have won that many. Last year Tony hit .337, hammered 22 home runs, and drove in 81 runs. He was born in Cuba.

Vernon Votes Tomorrow On Additions to Schools

A referendum to be held tomorrow from noon to 8 p.m. will ask Vernon voters to act on appropriations for expansion of Rockville High School and the Talcoville School. The proposal on the high school expansion will go on the voting machines as three separate questions. The fourth question will concern the Talcoville School.

Unlike regular elections, there will only be two polling places for the referendum. Voters in Districts 1 and 2 will vote at the Memorial Building, Park Place, Rockville, and those in Districts 3 and 4, at the Vernon Elementary School, Rt. 30.

The Citizens Committee for Education, formed especially to push for a yes vote on the high school expansion, has set up headquarters at 9 Elm St. to accommodate voters who need a ride to the polls or wish information or lobbyist service.

The high school plan being voted on is a revised one, space-wise and price-wise. The original request was turned down in a referendum vote last March. At that time voters were not given alternatives as the expansion plan was presented as one complete package including the core facility, gym and pool. Tomorrow the voters will be allowed to vote on the core facility and if voting yes on that, can vote either yes or no on the pool or the gym. The Electricity: a necessary ingredient for a cleaner world.

It becomes apparent that electricity is going to play a vital role in the gigantic task of cleaning up our environment — like purifying water; eliminating dust and gases before they are released into the air; and getting rid of the mountains of trash and other wastes all of us create every day. For instance, in a recent one-year period, the U.S. Patent Office granted a total of 595 patents dealing with environmental problems. Of these, 297 required electrical energy.

For the most part, those patents are ideas for the future. But even now, equipment depending on electricity is being ordered and installed at an accelerating rate. Here are some of the ways it's being put to work:

Recycling and Reducing Solid Wastes
Solid waste management requires huge facilities to automatically recycle glass, metal, paper, and garbage.

- Ferrous metals are separated from masses of other materials by electro-magnets.
- Air separation devices sort various materials into piles of separate one-of-a-kind categories.
- Automobile bodies are compacted, shredded and baled.
- Waste paper is cut up, reduced to pulp and made into usable paper products again.
- Metropolitan and regional incinerators depend on stack cleaning devices to meet government clean air regulations.

In all these cases, electricity is needed to power the compactors, motors and shredders.

Cleaning Up Our Wasteways
Although most cities and towns today have primary sewage treatment (a process which screens and settles solid waste and organic matter before the residue is dumped into our waterways) there is a great need for secondary sewage treatment. Without an extensive system of secondary treatment, our rivers and lakes are in danger of being depleted of oxygen, which would mean our waterways eventually would be unable to support marine life. Secondary sewage treatment adds the oxygen which supports micro-organisms that attack and consume organic matter in the sewage.

A much more advanced method of water cleaning is tertiary (third stage) treatment.

It is now used on a very limited basis, but may someday be common practice. This additional cleaning requires pumping of waste water through fine filters, and further chemical treatment.

In industry, cooling towers — devices which cool water used for various industrial processes — allow water to be used over and over again. The energy to run the large pumps and motors is almost always electricity.

Clearing The Air
We are all aware of air pollution and the massive effort to solve this problem. Many control devices have already been installed and more will be coming in the future if business, industry and government services are to meet new air-quality standards.

Many of these changes involve electricity.

- The use of electric induction furnaces can substantially reduce the air pollution that's normally associated with metal melting. Furnaces of this type have the added advantage of being able to make greater use of recycled or scrap metal.
- Filtering and scrubbing systems are being installed where burning or processing causes dust, dirt, or gaseous pollutants to enter the atmosphere.
- Another major problem area in air pollution is transportation, especially in urban areas. The use of the internal combustion engine is coming under intense scrutiny. Among the solutions being investigated are electric mass-transportation and, also, the development of internal nonpolluting electric cars, trucks, and delivery vans.

At Northeast Utilities we're doing our best to make sure there'll be enough electricity — not just to clean up the environment, but to support a healthy economy and the normal growth of population, business, and industry as well.

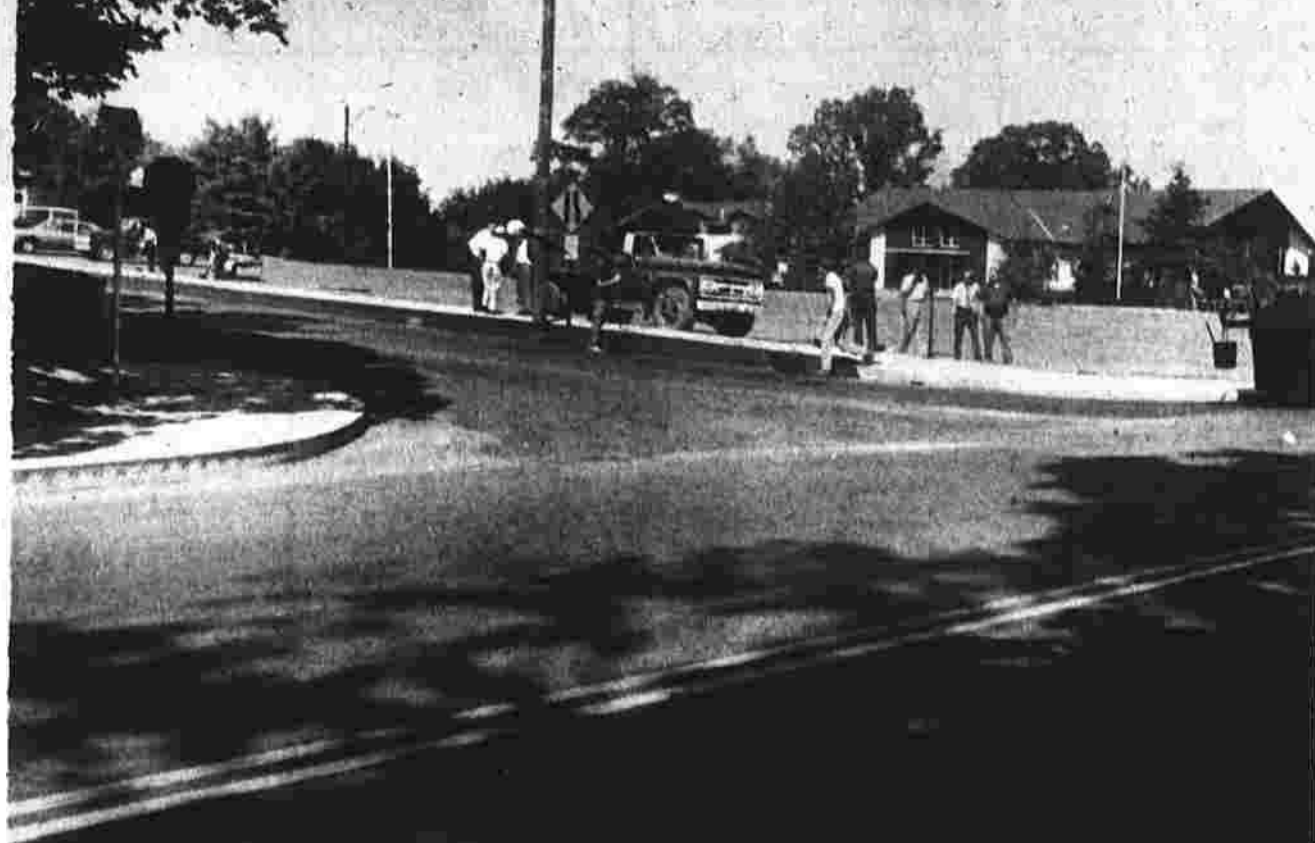

In addition, we're trying in many ways to reduce the effects of our own facilities on the environment, and participating in research aimed at overcoming environmental problems. Also, our industrial engineers are assisting manufacturers in their search for more effective controls.

Today, as we recognize the problems of pollution, we know that electricity will be part of the solution.

Oil Helps Connecticut Schools Make The Grade

Our schools use hundreds of things that are made from oil: desk tops and fiberglass seats, educational films, tapes and records, paint, ink... even the erasers on pencils. But most of all, schools use energy. For heat, light and transportation, 75% of all our energy comes from oil and natural gas (including 40% of our electricity). But today, we're using these petroleum fuels faster than we are finding them. That's why America faces an Energy Gap. We're your local oil companies. Working to bridge the growing Energy Gap. Because it's as simple as A-B-C... a country that runs on oil can't afford to run short.

I'm For A Dining Room

When we built our house, I suggested eliminating the dining room. Our family is geared to informal living and it seemed to me like a poor use of space.

"No dining room?" questioned my husband. "How can you build a house without a dining room?" EVERY house needs a dining room.

"I didn't know you felt so strongly about it," I said. "There was a slight tremor in my voice because building a house is an emotional experience."

So, eventually our house was built, and had a separate dining room. Though I hate to admit it, my husband was absolutely right.

Where else but the dining room table can you lay out a dress pattern? Where else can the children spread out their homework or a cumbersome school project? What other surface is big enough to handle gift wrapping?

The dining room is also indispensable as a temporary resting place for things that are on their way out of the house: clothes for the cleaners or the Penny Saver, packages to be mailed, or books that are due at the library.

And when we have an overflow of house guests, well, there's always the dining room to set up a temporary dining room.

There's no question about it, the dining room is vital to our way of life. I assumed that the whole family agreed, but just tonight my husband and I surveyed the activity at the dining room table.

What's the point? Can you imagine? Oh well, if my husband wants to eat in the dining room, we'll give it a try. Even Betty Friedan would see that men have some rights.

Maybe, if we all pitch in and help with the sugar lumps, we can finish the Taj Mahal, get it off the table, and eat dinner in the dining room tomorrow!

Hebron Board Delays Decision On Teacher Evaluation

The Board of Education tabled action last week on a motion by Edward Hinckley relative to teacher recommendations for reappointment.

New superintendent David L. Cattanch advised the board to permit him time to study the proposal.

The motion calls for the superintendent to provide the board with a brief resume of each teacher's evaluation in the case of teachers having tenure and a complete copy of each evaluation report for teachers on an annual contract noting the classroom observations and a report on absence with the reasons for such absence.

All of the evaluations would be submitted to the superintendent at least one week prior to reappointment requests.

Things are Different for Orioles This Year

'Money Player' Brooks Robinson

NEW YORK (AP)—If there was an unabridged dictionary for baseball, you'd find a simple definition for "money players." The synonym would be "Brooks Robinson."

Baltimore's defending American League champions journeyed to Boston for the start of a must night against the Red Sox Monday night and Robinson gave them the game, drilling three hits to pace a 3-2 Orioles victory.

It was a typical performance for the Orioles' No. 1 third baseman, who's always at his best in the clutch ball game.

Robinson had two singles and a double, scoring two runs and driving in another for the Orioles, now one game back of Detroit which took over the East lead. Boston is squeezed into second place, one-half game behind, while the idle New York Yankees remained fourth, 2½ games off the pace.

In Monday's other games on an abbreviated major league schedule, Cincinnati inched closer to the National League West crown by topping San Francisco 2-0. Pittsburgh's N.L. East clinching remained stalled with New York edging the Pirates 1-0. In the only other game played, Los Angeles edged San Diego 3-2 in 10 innings.

Reds - Giants
Cincinnati's victory reduced the Reds' magic number to five while the Pirates' fourth straight loss left their magic number at three.

Tribe, Hot and Cold In Grid Scrimmage

By DEAN YOST
"We haven't been able to put it altogether yet," commented Dave Wiggins, head football coach at Manchester High. "In four pre-season scrimmages we have either looked good on offense and made defensive mistakes or were just the opposite."

The Indians open their 1972 OCLL season Saturday against a tough Maloney High squad at Ceppa Field at 1:30. Bright spot for the Tribe in its final week of preparation has been halfback Steve Samois. "I've hitting the holes the best I've seen him do in three seasons," Wiggins continued.

"I am going to try and platoon as much as possible, aiming to get as many players into the game that I can. If I find they aren't doing the job adequately, I'll go with my 11 best all the time," Wiggins continued. Maloney enters the Saturday contest with an impressive 16-0 whitewashing over Woodrow Wilson High last weekend. "It was a nice catch, but it makes them all the time," said Wiggins. "You get to know the plays or you're not going to win. Everybody has to."

The Orioles tied the score in the fourth on a double by Robinson and a triple by Dave Johnson, then added two more in both the sixth and seventh after Boston starter Lynn McLoughen and reliever Don Newhauser and Bill Lee.

Robinson rates N.L. better. "I tell you what one difference is this year," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver. "I haven't had any worries about losing the playoffs. In previous years at this time we had it clouded and I was worried about losing the playoffs after winning all those games." The Orioles are not quite ready to be counted as yet, however. They moved to within one game of first place Monday night when they knocked the Red Sox out of the top spot, 5-2. The loss left the Red Sox in second, a half-game behind the idle Detroit Tigers.

"We're just in a position where we can't lose," said Orioles' third baseman Brooks Robinson. "I don't have three hits in the victory. Our backs are against the wall. We've got to fight like there's no tomorrow." "That was one of the turning points in the game," said Kaoko. "It was a nice catch, but it makes them all the time," said Wiggins. "You get to know the plays or you're not going to win. Everybody has to."

Jeff Geyer Leads Tribe

Scott Moffat No. 2 Man with Harriers

By DEAN YOST
Surprising as it may sound, the No. 2 runner for Manchester High's cross country team is Scott Moffat, an outstanding runner from Bennett Junior High.

The only person keeping Moffat from the top position is the Tribe's line distance runner and the 1972 captain Jeff Geyer, a senior.

In a pre-season meeting with Hartford Public last Friday, Geyer covered the Pace Park course in 14:56. "He is a very dedicated athlete and has a good knowledge of the sport," commented Coach Ray Horton. "Geyer is in my opinion probably one of the 10 best runners in the OCLL, if not the best."

Jeff Bacy, a senior and Jim Crafty a sophomore, currently share the third spot on the team. "They both have about the same ability," Horton continued. Julian Martin, Alex Shulthes and David Lemieux round out the seven-man varsity squad.

Working with approximately 45 players, Danielson has been his policy in past seasons, not to have a set JV and varsity club. "If a sophomore is playing golf all the time, it was discarded when I was demoted to the JV's while the top golf JV player moves up to varsity competition," the coach remarked.

Handy Swanson and Ray Sullivan, another sophomore flunk, wearing the colors of Illinois 24, to advance into the quarterfinal round. Bob Birdsey went 5-6 in the 25th hit attack with Dennis MacArthur going 3-4. Dave Viara and Jim McEwan homered while team-mates Bob Kowalski and Birdsey sent two over the fence.

Get Reynolds
FOXBORO, Mass. (AP)—The New England Patriots of the National Football League have acquired on waivers offensive lineman Bob Reynolds from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Reynolds, a former three-time selection for the Pro Bowl, attended Bowling Green and was the Cardinals' second-round draft pick in 1963.

Soccer Potential Good With Tribe

By DEAN YOST
"They are coming along and have the potential to be a very good club," stated soccer coach Dick Danielson, yesterday afternoon as the Tribe went through a light workout in preparation for this afternoon's OCLL contest with Hall High.

Danielson, no stranger to the coaching profession, began his 26th consecutive season coaching the Red and White with a 3-1 victory over last season's OCLL champions, Conard High, Friday.

Bill McLean, a sophomore from Bennett, and Warner Cacace, are bright spots among the current Tribe. Cacace missed last season, but played as a sophomore and according to Danielson, has great desire to play the game.

White "I didn't want to use Sullivan in a pressure opener like Conard, so I went with the experienced Swanson. But I plan to use Sullivan a lot this season."

Malinchak Sets Pace In Victory

MINNEAPOLIS ST. PAUL (AP)—Bill Malinchak drew his National Football League salary chasing kickoffs and punts, charging the kickers and punters.

The seven-year veteran from Indiana, on the taxi squad last week, earned his paycheck Monday night as the Washington Redskins topped the Minnesota Vikings 24-21 in a regular season opener.

Malinchak blocked a punt, picked it up and ran for a touchdown. He recovered a fumble that led to another touchdown, and was on the field when teammate Ted Vector blocked a field goal and deflected another.

"This is what a special teams player always works for," said Malinchak. "It's something that rarely happens. But if you get a couple or three a year, you can't win. Malinchak's touchdown came on Minnesota's first series of the game. The fumble recovery came on the kickoff after Larry Brown, who rushed for 105 yards on 21 carries, rolled in for a three-yard touchdown to give Washington a 17-14 lead with 12:25 to play.

Just 85 seconds later, Charley Haraway swept left end for a seven-yard touchdown that put it away for the Redskins.

Asked why Malinchak was so active just a week after he was placed on the inactive list by Washington Coach George Allen said: "Because he's a good special teams man."

The Vikings outgained the Redskins 382 yards to 203 in total offense. Frank Tarantoni fired touchdown passes of 17 yards to John Gilliam, who made a spectacular one-handed falling catch which is supposed to instant replay in modern stadiums except at half-times and after the game of the Saints said Monday.

Six giant screws—25 by 26 feet each—have been proposed for the stadium. Conard alluded to "certain economic advantages" that would be recognized from the television screens, as well as the boom to athletes.

"We think it will come to pass," Connick said. "It opens up areas for theatrical productions, closed-circuit prize fights and things of that nature."

Rozelle did not refer directly to the Superdome in issuing his condemnation of instant replay in stadiums. The new Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City has one screen capable of showing instant replays, and Rozelle has ruled similarly on that.

Rozelle also said Saturday that some thought had been given to using TV cameras as an aid to officials, but that he felt the time it would take to review films would slow the pace of the game too much.

He added that the plan had been rejected because it "would need a number of cameras and this would not be economically feasible."

Top Scout Effort Baffled Patriots

CINCINNATI (AP)—A sharp study of New England game films, not a "cloak and dagger job," helped Cincinnati's defense turn in an outstanding effort against the Patriots Sunday, Bengals Coach Paul Brown says.

Patriots 31-7 and New England's only touchdown came on a run-back of a blocked field goal. Cincinnati's alertness on defense prompted New England running back Carl Garrett to say, "They were wired in."

Brown said the defense knew from one particular play that they were going to be used because film study had shown that the team picked up "two big tips" from the film of New England's pre-season games.

"When they were going to run their sweeps, they 'tilt' their backs out to the wide side," Studley said. "If they were going to the strong side, they moved them back."

Bengali defensive line coach Chuck Studley said that the team picked up "two big tips" from the film of New England's pre-season games.

Carl Olson Wins Drag Race Title

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP)—Don Garlits and Tommy Ivo are regarded as two top drivers in the AA-Fuel Dragster division, but Carl Olson beat them both in the U.S. Open Drag Championships.

Olson pushed his Chrysler-powered dragster to a run of 6.28 seconds at a speed of 221.67 miles per hour over the quarter-mile strip to beat Ivo Monday in the rain-delayed finals. Sunday, before a storm postponed the championship runs, Olson beat Garlits with the best elapsed time, 6.22 seconds.

Despite two cracked ribs in a garage accident Sunday, Richard Tharp won the Funny Car title Monday. His Blue Max Mustang ran the quarter mile in 6.94 seconds and 218.97 m.p.h.

Ronnie Sox, who has never been beaten at Rockingham, won the Pro Stock championship when Don Carlton jumped the starting light and was disqualified. Sox was checked at 9.39 seconds and 146.57 m.p.h.

MCC Looking Ahead To Challenging Year
Manchester Community College, under the experienced leadership of Coach Bob Corlett, is looking forward to a most challenging year.
Added to the Cougars' schedule this year has been the U. V. teams of Coast Guard, Trinity and Southern Conn. Thus, the Cougars will need plenty of fire power if they are to match last year's 9-4 record and first place in the Connecticut Community College Conference (CCC).

ELJEM SPEAKING
LUTZ JUNIOR MUSEUM

Summer is rapidly drawing to a close, no doubt to the regret of many but also to the relief of some, depending on circumstances.

At the Oak Grove Natural Science Center, the defoliation by the gypsy caterpillar was devastating at first. July looked like November! However, nature proved itself resilient and almost completely replaced the leaves, returning to the trees their full canopy.

A word of caution is in place here to offset too much optimism. The refoliation of the trees was at much cost to their root reserves and as a result the trees are slightly less well prepared for the coming winter.

Some biologists maintain that even a full grown tree in bad shape after three seasons of defoliation and recovery.

The effect is the same as with the elm and maple trees in Hartford's Keeney Park Zoo (Sherwood Forest) which were felled by an almost balmy January into budding prematurely. The buds were lost in the subsequent frost and the tree was forced to produce new ones in order to survive.

For some unfortunate, the summer heralds the season of allergies such as hay fever. For these victims, the pollen count announced on the news is of great importance, because it is owing to the irritant qualities of the foreign proteins (aptly called allergens) introduced by certain pollen onto the mucous membranes in the nose, eyes and throat that allergies are caused.

Holdup Man Makes Good

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—A spurned bank robber arrested last week after the shooting and succeeded the second time around.

Last Tuesday, the would-be bandit approached teller Kathleen Avery at the Wells Fargo Bank, asked for $5,000 and gave her a note saying he had a gun. She refused and he took off.

Friday morning, the same man appeared at Miss Avery's outside window and said, "I'm back. Give me the money." Police said this time she complied, turning over between $5,000 and $4,000 in large bills.

The man fled and was being sought.

At last. A fair shake for the small businessman.

At most banks, only the biggest corporations get the financial breaks. Now Hartford National gives you Credit Line—the loan that brings the same big borrowing power to small and medium sized businesses.

It's as good as money in the bank.

With Credit Line you've got more than just financial advantages. You've got the convenience of a permanent loan. Your one application sets you up with working capital, $50,000 and more, depending on your needs. You can write your own loan any time you like. With no negotiations. No paperwork. And none of the other little aggravations you get with regular business loans.

Credit Line

Take advantage of discounts. But perhaps the biggest advantage of Credit Line is that you can now take advantage of the 10 day trade cash discounts by writing your own loan from your own company. This could mean cold hard cash in your pocket every month.

Borrow our experts, too.

We're one of the largest business banks in the east. With a full staff of financial specialists. These men work closely with all types of corporations, and they can relate their knowledge to your specific problems.

So, stop in at any Hartford National office and see how we can put Credit Line to work for your company.

We're with you all the way

State Sen. Odegard Seeking Re-Election

By SOL R. COHEN
Herald Reporter

Republican State Sen. David O. Odegard of Manchester has announced he will seek re-election to a second term in the State Senate.

The Republican convention in the new Senate District 4 will be Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Bolton Community Hall. The district consists of part of Manchester and all of Gladstone, Bolton, South Windsor, East Windsor, Coventry, Andover and Hebron.

The old Senate District 4 consisted of all of Manchester, Gladstone, Marlborough and East Hampton.

Odegard, in letters to all delegates and alternates to Saturday's convention, announced his decision to seek re-election and pledged, "I will campaign actively and honestly."

He wrote, "In these last two years I have served the taxpayers of the old 4th to the very best of my ability. I hope in these next two years, to serve the citizens of the new 4th with equal concern, loyalty, and hard work they have a right to expect."

Odegard, a Manchester Realtor is 31 years of age and was only 25 when he was elected to the Manchester Board of Directors in 1968. He served until 1971, when he resigned to devote his time to his State Senate job. He served as Manchester deputy mayor from 1962 to 1971.

Commenting today on the short time for campaigning to the Nov. 7 election, he said:

Pay Board Tentatively Okays Aerospace Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bending to a court mandate, the Pay Board has given preliminary approval to a 3½-cent-an-hour pay raise for about 100,000 aerospace industry workers.

Pay Board spokesman Erik Kanter said Tuesday that because of the agency's decision is not final because it has not yet considered fringe benefits in the year-end contracts affecting members of two unions.

"This is in effect a preliminary decision," he said. "It is a partial ruling based on the money portion. We're looking at the total package."

The approval was for a 17-cent-per-hour increase for the second year of the contract plus another 17-cent boost deferred from the first year. Kanter said. Since the first year of the contracts has ended, he said, a total 34-cent increase would start with the second year if it gets final approval.

Rooney Wins Primary Election

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three Democratic incumbents lost to veteran Republican Rep. John J. Rooney turned back challenges to their congressional seats in primaries Tuesday in Massachusetts and Washington and a primary return in New York.

Rooney defeated former Rep. Alford K. Lawton with 2,415 votes in the return of their June 20 primary which the country threw out because of massive irregularities.

Hep. Louise Day Hicks handily won re-nomination for a second term from the 9th District in Boston and veteran Hep. Julia Baber Hanson easily defeated a challenger in the state of Washington's 3rd district.

Other winners were Middlesex County Dist. Atty. John J. O'Leary, who gained the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination in Massachusetts and former Gov. Albert D. Roellin who turned the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Washington.

In Brookline's primary runoff, both candidates said they received numerous reports of new voting irregularities during the day.

Lowenstein, 43, refused to concede and said he would meet today with his lawyers and advisers. "This election is less fair than the last one," he said.

Rooney, 68, the powerful chairman of the House subcommittee on appropriations for the judiciary and departments of state, justice and commerce, is seeking his 13th term in the House.

McGovern Criticizes Press As Agnew Tries 'New Style'

By GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

Sen. George McGovern has criticized the press and the polls, while Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has criticized two issues being used by Democrats, Watergate and wheel and deal.

"We're going to make those polls that those polls before this election is over," McGovern said Tuesday of polls that show him far behind President Nixon in voter preference.

The Democratic presidential candidate also said some newspaper columnists are "so bitter and paranoid about the liberal, progressive movement in this country that they just can't write the truth, they can't write anything decent about any candidate who isn't somebody who is to the right of Genghis Khan."

Senate Votes To Aid Rail-Transit Systems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted for the first time to allow states to spend part of their federal highway allotments to improve rail-transit systems.

By a 49-26 vote Tuesday, the Senate authorized states to divert part of a two-year, $1.6-billion urban-highway fund into rail projects.

That provision, sponsored by Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and John Sherman Cooper, was attached to an $18-billion highway transit authorization bill. The bill was approved 77 to 0 and sent to the House.

Included in the $18 billion is $14.2 billion for use over the next two years to continue federal highway and funding for completing the remaining 20 per cent of the interstate expressway system.

Another $3.8 billion is earmarked for buying equipment and paying off operating deficits in subway and other rail commuter systems.

McGovern Criticizes Press As Agnew Tries 'New Style'

Agnew said Democrats have created an unfounded "innuendo of impropriety" in their allegations that major grain dealers received unfair advantage from the Nixon administration in the U.S.-Soviet wheat trade deal. And he said McGovern campaigns against the country's major pollsters. Louis Harris, was telling a House subcommittee at the Watergate building in Washington.

Agnew said he has a personal theory that "someone set up these people and encouraged them to undertake this caper to embarrass them to embarrass the Republican party."

The vice president planned to campaign in St. Louis today and then continue to Columbus, Ohio, the third stop on an eight-state tour.

Sargent Shriver, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, also was in Minneapolis Tuesday where he told elderly citizens that President Nixon was trying to take credit for a 20 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, even though he opposed it.

Earlier, at a crippled children's home in Pittsburgh, Shriver said Nixon vetoed three money bills

Meskill Saluted At Expo

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Connecticut Gov. Thomas J. Meskill was saluted at a luncheon today as the 31st Eastern States Exposition noted Connecticut Day. It was Meskill's second visit to the 10-day annual fair, having met with other New England governors last Friday.

Included in today's visit was a tour of the Avenue of States, including the Connecticut Building, which almost failed to open this year for the first time.

A year ago, Meskill announced his state would no longer support the exhibits and maintenance of the building.

His decision followed an announcement from exposition trustees that they would keep a fair in West Springfield despite lucrative offers from several Connecticut communities to move to tax-free land in the Nutmeg State.

Following Meskill's palliat, exposition officials negotiated with the Connecticut Farm Bureau Association and the Connecticut Business Industry Association, who agreed to take over the Connecticut Building, and have set up exhibits on the theme of the partnership of agriculture and industry.

The building is a replica of the old State House in Hartford
