Connecticut Crime Rates Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) - Four Connecticut cities reported decreases in most categories of serious crime from the first six months of 1971 to the first six months of 1972, the FBI said Thursday. Bridgeport, Hartford, New Haven and Stamford reported drops in all or all but one of the FBI's seven categories of serious crime. Waterbury, however, reported increases in five of the seven categories. The crimes covered in the FBI report are murder and non-fatal injury, rape, robbery or burglary, aggravated assault, burglary or breaking and entering, larceny of motor vehicles, larceny of other goods, and auto theft. Hartford was the only Connecticut city to show a decrease in all seven categories. Stamford reported increases in robberies while New Haven noted a rise in aggravated assault.

Crime Rate Now Campaign Issue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS - Crime has always gone unreported. Flying back to Washington from Los Angeles with Nixon, McGovern's report that serious crimes increased 33 per cent over the last three years. Asked by newsmen what the figure should be, Ehrlichman said there had been a 20-per cent decline. That, with other questioning, it developed that McGovern and Ehrlichman were talking about two different sets of statistics. However, questioned by newsmen Ehrlichman checked and reported that the 1967-72 hike in the number of serious crimes had been 19 per cent. McGovern's statistic was misleading as well as wrong, he said.

Lower Drinking Age Begins Sunday

By DOUG BEVENS (Herald Reporter) - Connecticut 18-year-olds get their first legal chance to drink at bars and restaurants Sunday, when a state law lowering the age of majority goes into effect. No one is more aware of the new law than the 18-to-20-year-olds, except owners of establishments who will be serving liquor to them. Many bar and restaurant owners have given a lot of thought to their prospective new clients - some are anticipating an increase in business, some are expecting a decrease. Even trying to discourage younger patrons. David Woodbury, owner of David's Restaurant at the Manchester Parkade, said he's been working for the past six months in preparation for his new customers. David's has always appealed to the young (21- to 25-year-old) and will now try to welcome the 18- to 20-year-olds. Woodbury said.

Manchester Bar Owners Give Views

Sportsman's Tavern, 200 Spruce St., doesn't expect an increase in business. He said youths will be more attracted to disco-type bars. The tavern owners in Manchester said they mostly cater to the "older crowd," but some increase in business may be noted for a short time. There's a good chance that many 18-year-olds may be turned away from bars and restaurants because they lack positive identification.

Mr. Bourret has served as pastor of Concordia Lutheran Church since January 1968. Before coming to Concordia, he had served parsonages at the King Lutheran Church of Windsor and in Manchester, N.H. His status becomes "Awaiting a Call." The probable extent of his Lutheran ministry while on leave of absence will be in the role of pulpit supply in churches without a pastor.

Monday Bus Service Still Up In The Air

HARTFORD (AP) - Just a weekend away from a possible bus service standstill in Connecticut's six biggest cities, the principals involved seemed to be taking a wait-and-see attitude.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, calling it a labor-management dispute, refused to sign a bill passed by a special session of the General Assembly ordering his administration to spend money to keep buses rolling through the end of the fiscal year.

But at the same companies, Connecticut Co. in Hartford and Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. in Bridgeport, negotiations with the Amalgamated Transit Union ended Friday with little hope for settlement before Monday.

Although the old contract expires midnight Saturday, the effect of a strike by drivers and mechanics would not be felt until Monday. Sunday bus service is virtually non-existent.

Welfare Reform Compromise Includes Three-Plan Test

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate today reached a three-way split over welfare reform by adopting all three plans - but only temporarily.

The compromise - to experiment with the various ways of providing welfare families a guaranteed annual rate - was chosen any method permanently may have improved the chances for Senate passage of the massive legislation containing Social Security revisions as well as welfare reform.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., a central figure in the debate on the measure, said Friday that, contrary to earlier predictions, the measure might still become law this year.

News for Senior Citizens

by WALLY FORTIN
Director

Hi everyone,
This is Wally's side-kick, Gloria Benson, home minding the store while Wally is escorting 61 Seniors on a cruise to Nassau. I do hope they are having a ball and come home with lots of tales and pictures. Wally was pretty worn out working on our new fall program so I hope he is relaxing and taking it easy.

Monday started off with a BANG. I arrived at work to find at least 30 Seniors waiting for me so they could register for our trip to Sterling Gardens. Wally thought this trip might be hard to sell as everyone seemed to be excited about the Canada trip, but before noon we had sold out one bus and had people on a waiting list. The Center was really hopping so I covered Alice Vezozzo to answer the phone while I worked on the registration.

40 For Bingo
Although 61 of our gang were in Nassau, we still had 60 playing bingo on Monday morning. My good pal Bob Doggart did the calling and Anna Haupt and Cell Wandt graciously sold tickets and made coffee. They were assisted by My Tivan and Mildred Tenner.

On Monday afternoon we had 54 players for pinocle. The winners were: Gus Gull, 711; Peter Frey, 692; Emma Russell, 687; Cis Wilson, 684; Mary Nackovsky, 671; Wilbur Messier, 668; Bea Moonan, 660; May Derby, 651; Mary Thrall, 646; Robert Schuber, 632; Betty Jensen, 624; Monette Johnson 624; Claire

On Tuesday afternoon the bowlers in the Senior League were knocking the pins down at the Parkade Lanes. The results went something like this: The Angels had high triple with a 2000. High team single went to the Markers with a 727. Marge Hall had high triple for the Hall with 306. Ann Hoffman had a high single with 154, and Mary Chaves had high average 133.3. The high average for the men was Clarence Peterson's 154.4 while Joe Picant held both the high single with a 183 and a high triple with a 517.

All day people were inquiring about the Canada trip. I couldn't give them all the answers because Boss Man Wally was so busy getting ready for the Nassau trip that he forgot to mention the price. I'm sure that in next week's column he'll have the whole story. I know it's going to be a great trip and hope we can fill two buses for him because he's been working extra hard to make this a very reasonable trip as well as an enjoyable one.

The trip is scheduled for Oct. 23 and the registration is on Monday Oct. 9. As far as the price, I can only repeat Wally's column which said, "If you thought less $125 you would be getting close."

International Nite
We have our tickets ready for our first International Nite, falling on Columbus Day, Oct. 12. We naturally had to have Italian Nite. Now hold on to your hats because for two dollars here is what you get:

We start off with a large appetizer, then baked lasagne, egg plant parmigiana, green bean casserole, Italian bread and butter. For dessert, brique tortoni and a beverage. Plus this delicious meal we will be entertained by those Champion Singers, "The Sweet Adelines."

Tickets are limited to 100 persons so come in and purchase yours before they go.

Wednesday rolled around and I prepared for my first Fun Day without Wally.

In the morning we were saddened to hear of the death of an old member Frank Terhune. We send our sympathy to his family.

In the afternoon we were told that Eva Lutz and Edith Deard were doing nicely at home. We were exceptionally pleased to have a birthday girl at our program, 93-year-old Nellie Moran. With Mrs. Noel at the piano, all sang "Happy Birthday to Nellie. We then turned the program over to Nils Carlson who showed his lovely slides of our recent trip to Newport.

New Teacher
I am happy to announce that Mrs. Barbara Folstad is our new teacher in crewel embroidery. Because we are a little late in getting started, Mrs. Folstad is only able to come to the Center on Thursdays from 2 a.m. to noon. Next semester she feels she would be able to come on Fridays as the past. Next Thursday she requests that you bring a kit or something to work on.

On Wednesday and Thursday my pals Anna Haupt and Cell Wandt helped with the office chores so I could type this report. Believe me I needed the help because the last time I typed my typing I think it was about 8 words a minute.

On Thursday we had 40 players for pinocle. The lucky winners were: Grace Windsor, 601; John Gally, 597; Wilbur Messier, 590; Mabel Kenney, 589; May Derby, 558; Walter Hols, 553; Ellen Kierman, 550; Peter Frey, 541; Maud Johnson, 535; Robert Schuber, 536; Mabel Wilson, 536.

In the afternoon we had four tables of bridge with the following high scores: Helen Curran, 4,940; Ivy Siddell, 4,810; Mary Thrall, 4,570; and George Last, 4,200.

On Friday night the setback winners were: Thomas Murphy, 132; Fred C. Kniffa, 121; Hans Fredericksen 120; Charles Tucker, 119; Slim Duhring, 119; Paul Schuetz, 118; Albert Quillet, 118; Claire Hens, 118; Helen Moske, 117; Agnes Marcel, 116; Esther Anderson, 116.

Our food and Christmas Bazaar will be Tuesday Oct. 3. We will be setting up tables on Monday night, so get your articles in Monday if you can.

A reminder to you folks that on Wednesday afternoon we will have the opportunity to meet Dr. James Kennedy, superintendent of schools, and Dr. Richard Lindgren, principal of Hill

Large mural adds depth to otherwise small living room.

Electric exhaust in kitchen island eliminates all smoke from grill.

The Harry Charette home at 250 Henry St.

Heralding Homes Face Lifting a Cape

Who says a traditional small cape can't have a complete face lifting? When the Harry Charettes thought about moving from their Henry St. address to a new home two years ago, it occurred to them that it wouldn't be easy to leave a neighborhood they liked and where they felt they belonged. And so, with help they made some alterations inside and outside, used new color schemes, and now when Mrs. Charette speaks of her home, she enthusiastically says, "I just love my home. I love the colors and everything in it."

A last-of-its-kind color scheme, orange, brown and green, and wall openings for the downstair rooms including a sparkling new kitchen and a small family room between the kitchen and new bath.

The center entrance was widened so that large openings have replaced the original doors on either side of the entry. Curved walls at the foot of the stairs have altered the former harsh square look. Brown, tan and rust braided stair treads match the rug of the living room and dining room on either side of the entry leading to utility separate areas.

The combination of orange treed wallpaper and barn siding used in the living room gives a totally new look. The large mirror over the sofa reflects the fireplace wall and additional piano alcove making a lastly small room appear twice its size. Early American furnishings include several antique pieces which Mrs. Charette has refinished or antiqued to her liking. Removal of the fireplace mantel and flanking the edges with the barn siding will have added to the new look. Simple black and white Revolutionary figure etchings over the fireplace are decorative yet unobtrusive.

The focal point in the living room is an electric organ with an imitation pipe rack in front of the double windows at one end of the room. Mrs. Charette's favorite pastime is playing "beater style" and she uses the various percussion and solo stops on the fully equipped organ which, when heard through the four speaker cabinets, sounds like nothing short of the mighty console at Radio City Music Hall.

The dining room has been transformed into a charming colonial room with colorful wall treatment. An orange painted lower half is topped with a Revolutionary period print paper in green, red and brown. An antique green corner cupboard matches the green captain's chairs surrounding a dark pine trestle table. The milk glass collection in a pine bush and white half window shutters contrast with the bright orange ball-fringed curtains. A green metal electric hanging candleholders completes the picture.

Mrs. Charette's dream which is "nicer than I ever dreamed" is the all new, brand new kitchen. Like a magazine ad, it has everything from a no-wax flagstone tile floor to an island unit with a built-in facility which automatically and electrically eliminates all smoke and grease from the frequently used grill. Here, too, orange is used extensively in combination with dark oak stained cabinets and a brick wall. With no kitchen window, a center hanging lamp with a bright orange mesh shade provides a sunny atmosphere anytime. Reflections in the hanging copperware add more bright spots in the kitchen.

The kitchen opens into a family area which is accessible not only by door, but by a large pass-through over the stainless steel sink to a snack counter on the other side. The small size of the white-walled family area is deceiving because of the continued use of orange color in wall-to-wall shag carpeting with matching drapes. Rattan furniture with gold floral print cushions suggests a casual atmosphere which is further enhanced by a corner fountain in a setting of lush greenery.

A recently designed patio provides for graceful outdoor living and entertaining. The upstairs area is presently undergoing a similar redecorating program.

The Charette family includes Stephen, 16, and Cathy, 14. They both enjoy hearing their mother play the piano and organ. Mr. Charette is chief designer at the Research Laboratory, United Aircraft Corporation in East Hartford.

St. John's Polish National Catholic Church

The parishioners of St. John's Polish National Catholic Church with their pastor, the Rev. Walter A. Hysko, will celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the Polish National Catholic Church of America.

The observance will start at 4 p.m. tomorrow with a solemn Pontifical Mass to be celebrated in English by the Rt. Rev. Walter A. Skowkiewicz, bishop ordinary of the New England Diocese. The bishop will also preach a sermon and administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to 23 confirmands. It was 75 years ago, in Scranton, Pa., that the Polish National Catholic Church came into existence in the United States. It is the only recognized American member of the former Catholic Union of Utrecht; the only American church with which the Episcopal Church has sanctioned intercommunion; and perhaps the only immigrant-formed church in this country to create a branch back in the homeland.

The Polish National movement is the first significant religious reform movement among the Polish peasants in centuries. Some 15 per cent of the Polish churches in America are Polish Catholic.

The Very Rev. Leopold Dabrowski, dean of the Connecticut Churches, will be the master of ceremonies, assisted by visiting clergy from Connecticut and Massachusetts. The music for the occasion is under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Anderson.

Offers Recital

Norman S. Slade of 101 E. Middle Tpk. will present an organ recital tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Concordia Lutheran Church. The program is the first of a series of "Musical Vespers" scheduled at Concordia.

Tomorrow's recital will open with "Freude und Fuge in G" by Johann Sebastian Bach. Other works include "Introduction, Passacaglia and Fuge" by Healey Willan, "Sonata No. VI by Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy," "Fete" by Jean Langlais, and two preludes for synagogue worship, "Shofar Vayenafsh" by Herman Berlinski and "Chassidic Interlude" by Herbert Fromm.

The Musical Vespers are designed for the entire family and will provide monthly performances of music within the framework of the traditional vesper liturgy. A baby-sitting service for infants will be provided, and there will be a social hour after each program.

Born and educated in England, Slade is an Associate of the Royal College of Music in London and also an Associate of the American Guild of Organists. He serves as organist at Temple Beth Shalom and as organist-choirmaster at St. James Episcopal Church of Glastonbury.

Group Attends School Parley

Six staff members from Manchester High School and Howell Cheney Technical School attended the fall conference of the Connecticut Association of Secondary Schools, held Thursday and yesterday at Banner Lodge, Moodus.

John Garofalo, reactor Tech director, was a keynote speaker at a workshop panel discussion on general and technical high schools. Attending from MHS were Principal George Emmerling, Joseph Mazotta, vice principal, Miss Anne Beecher, guidance director, Neil Lawrence, occupational coordinator, and Thomas Rodden, Cooperative Occupational Education Program chairman.

Speakers on the theme of "Career Education for the 70's" were Michael Russo, U.S. Office of Education; Dr. Bruce Reinhardt, Ohio State University Center for Vocational Education; Dr. Randolph Nelson, University of Bridgeport; Dr. William J. Sanders, state commissioner of education; and Prof. William T. Gruha, University of Connecticut.

Today's Thought

"Even those who have renounced Christianity and attacked it, in their inmost being still follow the Christian ideal, for hitherto neither their sublimity nor the ardor of their hearts has been able to create a higher ideal of man and of virtue than the ideal given by Christ of old. When it has been attempted, the result has been only grotesque." Dostoyevski

The Bible Speaks
by Eugene Brewer

The most helpful word in the English vocabulary is the "now generation" is discipline, whether imposed by others or by self. Rebellion against limits, controls, rules is in the name of freedom. Yet there is no discipline freedom diet!

This pseudo-liberty attacked the Biblical concepts of Christianity under the guise of theological liberalism, resulting in the rejection of doctrinal and moral rules and the creation of a cheap religion that makes few demands upon anyone.

A comparable disregard for cultural discipline is producing a generation of ignoramuses. A meaningless maze of colors, a raucous bedlam of sounds, phrases uncertainly strung together saddy past for art, music and literature.

Resistance to discipline has minimized the humanities and virtually eliminated the classics from school curricula. The anti-discipline trend indulges and protects school cliques, community punks, and national crime syndicates.

When a people becomes too weak to govern itself, eventually it is forced to accept others who will.

Tiant's Magic Genie Delivers Once Again

BALTIMORE (AP)—Luis Tiant says he had a magic genie. His name is Carl Yastrzemski. Tiant picked up his 15th victory of the season and his 11th since Aug. 1 Friday night in the Boston Red Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-2 on Yastrzemski's 10th-inning two-run homer. "He's my magic," Tiant said pointing to Yaz. "That must be the fifth time he's hit to win a game for me this year."

Yastrzemski could only recall two other occasions this season when he had homered to give Tiant a victory. "I can remember one in Milwaukee and one in New York," the slugger said. "But if Luis says it's five, I believe him."

The home run, which ticked the glove of outfielder Don Buford, was Yastrzemski's seventh in September and enabled the first-place Sox to maintain a 1 1/2-game edge over Detroit in the American League East pennant race. They picked up a half game on idle third-place New York. It also eliminated the Orioles, league champions for the past three seasons, from the race for the division title.

September has proved to be the savior of a potentially disastrous season for Yastrzemski. Along with the seven homers, the man who led the Sox to the 1967 World Series has 22 runs batted in, has scored 20 runs and is batting .303 this month.

"I'm going to be sorry to see September pass," said Yastrzemski. "But I'm certainly looking forward to October."

Prior to Yastrzemski's winning blast, the Orioles' Jim Palmer had practically matched pitches with Tiant. Luis Aparicio's one-out home run in the first gave the Red Sox a brief lead. The Orioles tied it in the bottom of the frame on a walk to Don Buford, a throwing error on a double play attempt by Doug Griffith and a double by Boog Powell.

Baltimore took the lead in the sixth on Powell's home run, before Boston tied it on three consecutive two-out hits by Carlton Fisk, Dwight Evans and Griffin. The late-season spurts of Tiant and Yastrzemski are reflected in the standings. The Red Sox are 15-8 in September and have held down first place every day but one since Sept. 18. "It's a relief to have Baltimore out of the race. Now we can concentrate on just two other teams," said Yastrzemski.

"But," he continued, "this thing is going to be decided next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday" when the Sox clash with the second-place Tigers.

While Yastrzemski was eyeing the Detroit series, Tiant was thinking farther ahead. "You know that car they drive the Detroit series, Tiant was thinking farther ahead. soaking in a tub of ice. Well, I'd like wine with a tape deck and air conditioning. "Win one more game, Luis," Yastrzemski shouted, "and we'll give you the key."

A.L. Eastern Race Cut to Three Clubs

NEW YORK (AP) - Bye, Bye, Birdies. And then there were three pennant scramble in one of the survivors not in the very best of health.

Boston finished off Baltimore, eliminating the Orioles 4-2 Friday night with Carl Yastrzemski's two-run 10th-inning homer applying the coup de grace.

Second place Detroit remained 1 1/2 games behind with a 12 1/2 run cover over Milwaukee while the elite Yankees slipped four games behind and retained only a slim chance of forcing a playoff for the division crown.

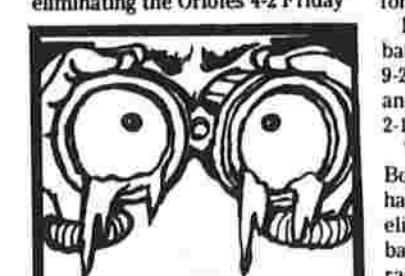

In other games, Kansas City battered Oakland's West champs, 9-2, Chicago downed Texas 5-1 and California nipped Minnesota 2-1.

With five games left for both Boston and Detroit, the Sox have a magic number of four to eliminate the Tigers and clinch baseball's last remaining division title.

The battle, almost certainly, will go down to the final three-game series between the two teams in Detroit next week.

Luis Tiant tossed a five-hitter to finish off the Orioles and end Baltimore's three-year reign atop the American League.

The Tigers kept pace, bombing three Milwaukee pitchers for 11 runs in their first three innings and coasting past the Brewers. Jim Northrup led the romp with five runs batted in, Willie Horton

Winning Close Games Not in Orioles' Bag

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles had been fading out of the pennant race in the American League East for a week, but final elimination still caught some of them by surprise.

"What's the magic number now?" asked Frank Cashen, the club's executive vice president, after Boston had whipped the Orioles 4-2 in 10 innings Friday night on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer.

"We really have our backs against the wall now," said outfielder Merv Rettenmund.

Both were informed that the loss to Boston, the sixth for the Orioles in their last seven outings, spelled mathematical elimination for 1972.

"We went down hard all season," said manager Earl Weaver, who had piloted the Orioles to three consecutive American League titles in his first three full seasons as manager. "We went down hard too many times."

The latest defeat gave Baltimore a 12-17 record in games decided by two runs, and the Orioles are 24-32 in one-run contests. Two years ago, they set a league record by winning 40 one-run games.

Weaver apologized to Jerold C. Hoffberger, Baltimore's boss, who had piloted the Orioles to three consecutive American League titles in his first three full seasons as manager. "We went down hard too many times."

"The other teams haven't played any better," he said. "We came back to them." He noted that first-place Boston, for instance, has 83 victories now as compared for 83 for all of 1971 when the Red Sox finished 18 games behind Baltimore.

"I'm sorry, too," Hoffberger said. "You don't worry, starting next year, you'll win five in a row."

Mets' Pitching Ace Racks up 20th Victory 3,000th Hit Awaited But Scorer Unswayed

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The fans were anxiously awaiting Roberto Clemente's 3,000th hit, but Tom Seaver and the official scorer were unswayed.

Seaver allowed just two hits—none by Clemente as he pitched a complete game, 10-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

The officious took the spotlight in the first inning when he charged Met second baseman Ken Boswell with an error after Boswell had batted.

Clemente reached first on the play, triggering major confusion. "We called him an umpire, who concluded he had gotten the one more hit he needed to reach 3,000."

The crowd rose for a standing ovation and the umpires halted play and presented Clemente with a ball, but the umpires evaporated in an instant when the words "Error second baseman" flashed across the scoreboard.

Boswell said after the game that he agreed with the ruling by Luke Walker, veteran baseball writer and sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

"I had a better than average chance of getting him," Boswell said. "I thought it was an error."

Clemente had a different view, saying, "There was no way he could have reached first."

However, the Pirate right-fielder added that he preferred the error ruling.

"When I get number 3,000 I want it to be a clean base hit—no question about it," Clemente explained. "That's the way I think it should be."

In his remaining three times at bat against Seaver, Clemente struck out, grounded out and flied to rightfielder Rusty Staub on a scorching line drive in the last inning.

"I hope I get this hit Saturday. I can rest Sunday," said Clemente, who was cheered on Friday night by 1,000 of his fellow Puerto Ricans who flew here for the weekend.

"I think I'm capable of leading a team," Clemente added. "I won't play anymore. Being rested for the playoffs is more important to me than getting 3,000."

Clemente wasn't the only Pirate who found the going tough against Seaver, who struck out 13 in winning his 20th game of the season.

"I was conscious of Clemente needing one more hit for 3,000," said Seaver. "But I figured if he got it, he got it. I was more concerned with winning 20."

The Met right-hander got the only run he needed in the ninth inning when Wayne Garrett struck out Seaver and scored on a sacrifice and scored on a single by Tommie Agee.

The run spoiled another strong pitching performance by Pirates starter Nellie Briles, who allowed just five hits and lost his third 1-0 game in a row.

The victory marked the third time in Seaver's career that he has won 20 or more games.

"The first year I won 20 was in

Jim Palmer, Friday's losing pitcher who has a 2-10 record for the season with a 2.07 earned run average, said he had felt for several months that the Orioles were "not going to blow anybody out this season."

"I'm a realist," he said. "For the past month, I didn't see any reason for us to suddenly play better or hit better."

"I think we'll just have to say this season was a learning process; that we'll have to do things differently in the future to win. We're not going to blow anybody out, but we can win in other ways. We still have good pitching and good defense, and we should have better hitting."

Most of the Orioles said they still believed they could win the division title until suffering a doubleheader defeat in Boston on Sept. 20.

"But when you hit about 220 as a team all year," said veteran third baseman Brooks Robinson, "you're not going to win most of the time."

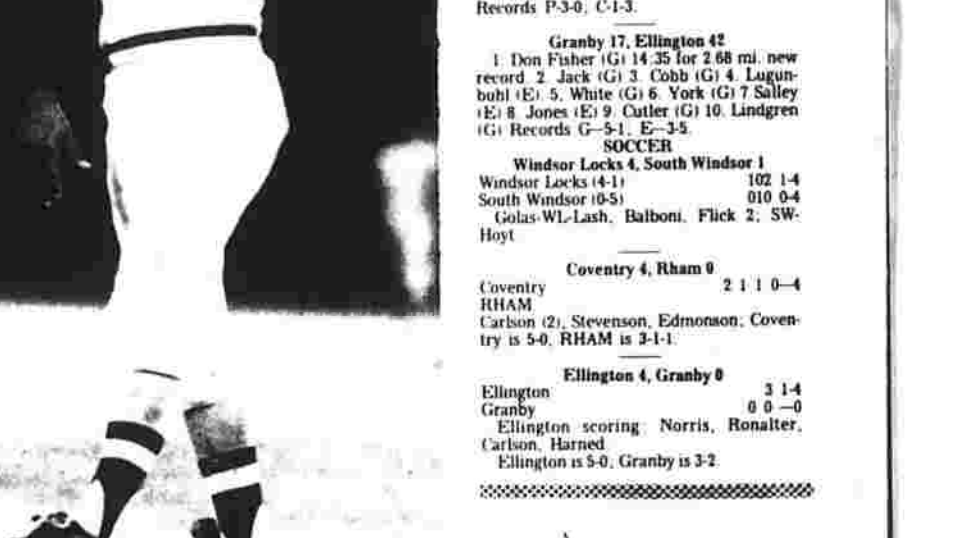

Robinson was asked if the rest of the division had caught up with the Orioles, who won 100 or more games in each of the past three seasons.

"The other teams haven't played any better," he said. "We came back to them." He noted that first-place Boston, for instance, has 83 victories now as compared for 83 for all of 1971 when the Red Sox finished 18 games behind Baltimore.

"I'm sorry, too," Hoffberger said. "You don't worry, starting next year, you'll win five in a row."

Roberto Clemente Tosses Back Ball

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Bruins have been over-impulsive in their two victories so far this season. Nevertheless, the Bruins won—and that's what counts.

The Pack, meanwhile, isn't back—at least not by the halcyon days of Vince Lombardi and the Green Bay Packers, who were improved over last year. If Scott Hunter stays healthy, the Packers could pull some surprises this season.

Dallas 24, Green Bay 17—The Cowboys do seem destined for a fall, but this isn't the worst it's ever been. The Packers are still a real shot at it.

In Friday's other National League game, the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Chicago Cubs 4-1, the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1, the Houston Astros defeated the San Diego Padres 5-2 and the San Francisco Giants routed the Atlanta Braves 14-3. The game between Philadelphia and Montreal was rained out.

The Bruins jumped to a 3-0 lead, but then played like a disorganized minor league club. Of course, that's pretty much what the Bruins have been since they were founded in 1907. The Bruins have helped salvage a year he described as "very inconsistent, very frustrating."

In the middle of the year I was throwing terribly. I was recalled. I thought it would be a 13-13 season, but I just stuck with it. I think I'm capable of leading a team.

"I hope I get this hit Saturday. I can rest Sunday," said Clemente, who was cheered on Friday night by 1,000 of his fellow Puerto Ricans who flew here for the weekend.

Halfway Golf Leader Far From Surprised

BETTENDORF, Iowa (AP)—Don Iverson, who never before has challenged seriously for a major title, wasn't at all surprised to find himself leading into the third round of the $100,000 Quad Cities Open Golf Tournament.

Iverson, winner of $20,200 and the coveted Newmarket Classic title this season, was two strokes in front of a lamed quartet of 140. They are rookie Larry Walkers and Bob Wynn, who matched him in the gusty winds and 40-degree temperatures, Doug Olson, with a second round 71, and Gibby Gilbert, 72.

Deane Beman, who won this event last year, stayed in strong contention with a 69 for 141. He was tied with Bob Payne, 69, and Dave Marad, a playoff loser last week who had a 70.

"I've improved a good deal since last year. But my problem is that I've always managed to have one poor round—and that can be very costly."

While the Board of Education didn't endorse a proposed Booster Club by Manchester High Principal George Emmerling and Ted Martin, acting director of athletics, such a move is not dead. The first Booster Club, organized by public-spirited citizens two decades ago, saved football from being abolished at MHS. The first Booster Club president was Ray Moszer, former Fordham football player and now a dentist in Manchester. Look for Dave Wiggin to be named director of athletics at Manchester High within the near future. He'll combine the post with his present duties as head of the physical education department for the school system. Martin is now teaching school in the Vernon system after launching his career at the Robinson School in West Hartford. Martello was one of the finest baseball and basketball players to come out of Rockville High in years. He later flashed on the mound with the Wesleyan University team.

Fifers and Drummers Called Forth

The Bolton Fife and Drum Corps will have its fall registration Monday, at 6:30 at the elementary school on Notch Rd. Members from towns other than Bolton are welcome. Anyone, from 8 to 80-plus, male or female, may join. Classes will be held Monday nights, from 6:30 to about 8:30.

Bolton doesn't have a Fife and Drum Corps? Maybe nobody has seen it yet, but if participation is strong this year, Mrs. William Loalbo of Hebron Rd., organizer and president, hopes to have it "on the street" for the Bolton Memorial Day parade. It will take about two more years of drill before it would be ready for competition, she said.

It all began about two years ago when Mrs. Loalbo, now the mother of five, realized she needed music for her baton twirlers to march by. She had organized these classes, too, mainly because other twirling groups were full and she wanted her own daughters to learn the discipline.

The twirlers, who were initially sponsored by the Bolton PTO, also give girls who don't make the cheerleading squads a chance to learn skills, and, when they are ready to perform in public, a chance to do something for the town, Mrs. Loalbo said.

Twirling classes meet Tuesday nights at the school. Instructors are the Farina sisters, international state champions from Agawam, Mass. (There are openings here, too. Call Mrs. Loalbo.)

The twirlers are now sponsored by the Bolton Fire Department, whose members have an eye toward living up their parades. Starting from her own past experience as a musket carrier and color guard in a Lawrence, Mass., corps, and receiving information and encouragement from the corps in this area, especially from Stuart Squires of Coventry's Nathan Hale Corps, Mrs. Loalbo founded the Bolton Fife and Drum Corps two years ago.

The fire department, which agreed to sponsor this venture also, contributed four drums. The Bolton Athletic Association contributed two more. Money from a fund drive and the Junior Women enabled the new group to purchase the remaining instruments. The prescribed ratio of fifes to drums, Mrs. Loalbo said, is two to one — usually 10 drums and 20 fifes, plus two musket carriers, plus a three-person color guard.

The executive branch of the incorporated, non-profit Bolton corps is composed of Mrs. Donald Holbrook, vice president; Mrs. Sherwood Holland, treasurer and Mrs. Anthony Malucci, secretary. Atty. Harold Laws is legal advisor.

Bill Smith of Vernon, a member of three other corps, is the drum major, and is in charge of arranging for instructors, all of whom are experienced. State Representative Dorothy Miller, a former Vernon corps drummer, is technical advisor.

Anyone interested in drumming, piping, or just carrying a

TV on a Credit Card?

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I've been covering TV for 20 years or so. In that time I've probably seen 15 new pay-TV systems demonstrated. They were all going to be the saviors of the industry but they all pooped out after a while.

Now there's another one and maybe this will be it. We certainly could use a savior for TV (for lots of other things, too). And, theoretically, pay-TV is the answer. If you can get a few million people to pay for entertainment, you can afford to put on some pretty decent shows.

Anyhow, I went over to the offices of Optical Systems to watch its president, Geoffrey Nathanson, demonstrate the new system. It starts with a small black box on top of an ordinary TV set. Nathanson turned it on, switched to a certain channel and the screen showed a mess of garbage—all squiggly lines.

Then he inserted something that looked like a credit card in a slot in the box. That decoded the transmission and there was a championship fight. The system is already starting in San Diego, where it's called Channel 100. Installation is inexpensive—free, actually—because the company "piggy-backs" on existing cable-TV installations. Customers pay $12 a year service fee and a $20 deposit for the box.

They order their credit card tickets in advance—for first-run movies, major sporting events, whatever—and they are also given a "Wild Card," in case they decide they want to watch something at the last minute. They can call up and are told how to punch holes in the Wild Card so it will decode the transmission.

In San Diego, they are starting with a program of movies—new ones and classic ones. A season ticket—the season is 13 weeks—costs $1.50 per week. Or you can buy admission to one particular film for $2. The Wild Card costs $3.

'Masterpiece' Back on CPTV

By JOHN A. JOHNSTON

The award-winning series, Masterpiece Theatre, returns for a new season this fall on CPTV (Channel 24 in Hartford) with William Makepeace Thackeray's "Vanity Fair" as the initial offering. The first episode of the five-part dramatization will be shown Sunday, Oct. 1, at 9 p.m.

The program will be repeated every Saturday at 5 p.m., starting Oct. 7.

The film adaptation of the classic Victorian novel of social satire, which ridicules hypocrisy and sham, stars Susan Hampshire as Thackeray's charming villainess, Becky Sharp. Miss Hampshire portrayed Fleur in

"The Forsyte Saga" and Sarah Churchill in "The First Churchills."

The plot is set against Napoleon's sweep through Europe, culminating in the Battle of Waterloo, which provides one of the most dramatic parts of Thackeray's work.

Unlike the usual novel, there is no hero—neither Joseph Sedley, the older or younger Pitt Crawley, Rawdon Crawley, or Capt. Dobbin. But Becky is the heroine—schemer, plotter, gold-digger, social climber—who picked up the "rocks" of scorn that bruised her as a wife and cast them back at the society that threw them.

"Vanity Fair" is a model of structure, mood, and style. If Dickens was a creator, Thackeray was an innovator. Many of Dickens' characters are caricatures; Thackeray's are people. Dickens was out of his element when writing of the French Revolution and the wealthy; Thackeray was right at home with the upper middle class and aristocracy and delineated their mores masterfully.

Other season offerings will be "Cousin Bette" by Honore de Balzac; "The Moonstone" by Wilkie Collins; "Tom Brown's School Days" by Thomas Hughes; and "Point Counter Point" by Aldous Huxley.

Ali McGraw and Ryan O'Neal star in "Love Story," the contemporary romantic classic to be broadcast on ABC Sunday, Oct. 1, at 9 p.m.

Nation's Capital Is New ABC Star

"Washington, D.C. is a star!" says Sam Rolfe, creator of ABC's new satiric spy series, "The Delphi Bureau."

"I had no idea this city was so photogenic," Rolfe said. The sparkling city on the Potomac is the base for the new program, Part of "The Men" trilogy, which debuts Thursday, Oct. 5, at 9 p.m.

Laurence Luckinbill plays Glenn Gregory Garth, a unique super-spy with a photographic memory and speed-reading ability. Ann Jeffreys co-stars as his boss.

Olympic Champion In Hope Special

Olympic swimmer Mark Spitz, in his first theatrical appearance, will be a guest on the season's first Bob Hope Special, Thursday, Oct. 5, at 9 p.m. on NBC.

A pre-dental student from Carmichael, Calif., Spitz is the first man to win more than five gold medals at the Olympics.

FILMED IN HAWAII

"The Little People," a Warner Bros. TV production created by Garry Marshall, is filmed entirely in Hawaii.
