

Sinus, Poor Planning Or Both Cause Re-Juggling Of Schedule

By JAY SHARBUIT AP TELEVISION WRITER
NEW YORK (AP)—Because of a sinus infection, poor planning, or both, the first 30 minutes of ABC's "Julie Andrews Show" wasn't taken up Wednesday night by a paid Democratic ad for President Nixon.

Instead, the entire Andrews show scheduled for Wednesday night was indeed shown, even though this particular program had been rescheduled to appear the night of Oct. 11.

If this is confusing, imagine what it is for the guys at the three television networks who have to schedule time slots purchased by the Democratic and Republican presidential campaign committees.

Wednesday night may prove to be just an isolated case, but it was the kind of situation that "I'll give networks the writers right up until the day the next president is elected. It worked this way."

The "Democrats for Nixon" committee ordered a half-hour of ABC time, from 10 to 10:30 p.m., for the year's first 30-minute paid television commercial for the re-election of Nixon.

ABC cleared the time and shifted the scheduled Julie Andrews show—which had Robert Goulet as its guest star—to next Wednesday night.

Then early this week, the "Democrats for Nixon" committee canceled its half-hour order. Whereupon ABC hastily restored the Andrews-Goulet segment to its original broadcast date of Oct. 4.

Why was the order canceled? Two reasons prevail.

(They committee officials said they weren't able to put the program together in time," said an ABC official.

"Mr. Conally has a bad sinus infection," said a spokeswoman for the committee, which is headed by a prominent Democrat, former Treasury Secretary John B. Conally.

She explained that the former Texas governor had planned to tape the special half-hour program for Wednesday night until he was laid low by illness and forced to cancel out.

The cancellation gives the regular GOP campaign committee the first 30-minute television salvo on behalf of the President.

It's happening tonight at 9 p.m. on ABC, where the first half of "The Men" will be replaced by what a GOP spokesman calls "a film documentary of the President's record, both foreign and domestic."

The spokesman said no decision has been made yet on further time purchases for 30-minute shows about Nixon.

This apparent lack of firm decision on when and where half-hour campaign spots will be shown isn't limited to the Nixon forces.

The first 30-minute ad for Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., aired Sunday night on CBS. But only after his campaign committee made a last-minute time change to avoid pitting it against "Love Story" on ABC.

The uncertainty of it all is making life extremely hectic for network programming people and the special sales units all three networks have set up to handle political time purchases until Nov. 7.

Are the sales units dealing with coldly calculating politicos who have well-considered television ad campaigns to "sell" their candidate? No way, says one network veteran who declined to be identified.

Cockpit Photo Stirs Up Prop-Wash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Administration has said it is investigating a pilot's cockpit photo of a jet pilot to control a jet aircraft.

An FAA spokesman said there is a maximum penalty of $1,000 for each such violation. He added that he believed a penalty also could be applied to a person unqualified as a jet pilot to control a jet aircraft.

The FAA said it has received from an airline pilot a newspaper clipping saying McGovern, a World War II bomber pilot, was allowed at the controls of a Boeing 727 on a recent flight from New York to Sioux City, Iowa.

The Rocky Mountain News, Denver, also reported that a United Air Lines pilot faced disciplinary action for allowing McGovern to pose for photographs at the controls of a chartered jet on a New York-Washington flight Monday.

State Labor Group Told To Halt Anti-Nixon Drives

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany reportedly has ordered a half dozen or more state labor federations to stop their campaigns to defeat President Nixon.

Sources said that in addition to announced orders to the Colorado and California state AFL-CIO groups similar letters were going to the big labor federation's state bodies in Oklahoma, North Carolina, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and Texas.

"I've been told by the area director for the Committee on Political Education (COPE) that I will be ordered to rescind the 'dump Nixon' resolution adopted at our convention Sept. 14," said President Wilbur Hobby of the North Carolina state AFL-CIO in a telephone interview.

COPE is the AFL-CIO's political arm which is staying out of this presidential race after 17 years of supporting Democratic White House candidates.

"I'm sort of caught in the middle. I am expected to support the organization and not go against the state convention. Neither am I supposed to go against national AFL-CIO policy," Hobby told the Associated Press.

Hobby did not say what action he might take when he officially receives Meany's orders.

Meany reportedly told officials of the state AFL-CIO groups that even if they haven't formally endorsed Democratic Presidential nominee George McGovern, any campaign to defeat Nixon violates the AFL-CIO Executive Council's official policy of neutrality in the Nov. 7 House election.

"I honestly believe that Nixon has not done anything for the working man," Hobby said.

An official of the Oklahoma state AFL-CIO said he did not know of a Meany letter to that effect.

In California, state AFL-CIO President Jack Hemin called an emergency state convention in Sacramento for Oct. 19 to consider Meany's order to rescind its resolution against Nixon.

Carlson To 'Voluntarily' Give Solons Fiscal Data

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—State Finance Commissioner Adolf G. Carlson says he will give the legislature's Appropriations Committee much of the information he refused to hand over under a subpoena.

Carlson cited "executive privilege" Thursday when he showed up at a committee hearing without the fiscal reports subpoenaed by the committee.

He finally promised to provide just about all the information it had demanded "as quickly as possible," but not before a heated exchange with committee co-chairman, Sen. Robert D. Housley, D-Vernon.

Carlson repeatedly answered detailed queries with phrases such as "I don't recall the exact dollars" and "I don't have the numbers in front of me."

At one point, Housley said: "I give up, commissioner. Obviously you're not interested in information. You're interested in harassment."

The committee, which is controlled by Democrats, held the hearing to gather fiscal data on which to base a cut in state taxes.

Both Republican Gov. Thomas J. Meskill and the Democratic legislative leaders have called for tax cuts. But the Democrats say that given more information by Meskill's administration they may be able to cut them more deeply.

Meskill proposed cutting the 7.5 per cent sales tax to 6.5 per cent and the 6 per cent tax on capital gains and dividends to 5.5 per cent.

Carlson warned the committee that despite federal revenue-sharing, the cuts are the largest average earnings of some 50 million persons who pay more than the state's General Fund.

He also said the lottery has not been producing as much money as expected, and that a court-ordered cut in the capital gains tax will have substantial impact on revenue estimates.

The state had been losing 100 per cent of the gains, but the state Supreme Court said it could take only 50 per cent.

Nation's Unemployment Edges Down In September

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's unemployment edged down last month and the total number of Americans at work increased, the government reported today.

The total out-of-work declined 20,000 to 4.7 million, for a rate of 5.5 per cent of the labor force, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

This was down from a rate of 5.6 per cent in August it said.

The total number of employed actually dropped 1.5 million, but since 1.7 million more people were hired than that for the month, the unemployment rate was only two cents per increase.

Hebron Housewife's Life Nearly Back To Normal

By JOHN A. JOHNSTON (Herald Reporter)

In April, Mrs. Patricia Dolan of Wall St., Hebron, was told that her kidneys were functioning at only one-tenth of capacity and that they would cease to perform completely within a year and a half. The diagnosis was nephritis, inflammation of the nephrons (secretory units) of the kidneys.

She weighed 90 pounds then. Today, she is some 20 pounds heavier, and "I never felt better in my life," she said. The great transformation was brought about by a kidney transplant. The donor was her sister, Mrs. Rebecca Best of East Hartford, a physical education teacher at Manchester High School.

The transplant was performed in a four-hour operation May 9 at the New England Medical Center in Boston, Mass., with 11 doctors in attendance from the center and Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in that city.

Two weeks earlier, both of Mrs. Dolan's kidneys were removed. She returned to Boston every three days for dialysis, the kidney machine. At that time, doctors informed her that she had probably had nephritis for about a dozen years. An infection on July 4, 1971, only brought it to a head.

Mrs. Best was selected as the donor after she and another sister, Miss Susan Bennett of Colchester, underwent a series of tests. Mrs. Best was chosen because, she said, "My tissues almost matched like those of an identical twin, which is uncommon."

Her left kidney was removed for the transplant and started to work in less than an hour. "The doctors said it was the best transplant they had ever had," Mrs. Dolan said. Mrs. Best was discharged in nine days, and Mrs. Dolan a day later. Neither has had an unfavorable reaction since. "The only thing it did to me was make me sore," Mrs. Best commented. "They took out my two lower ribs to perform the operation. I waited about eight weeks for a checkup and then started playing softball. I have to stay away from contact sports because a blow to the kidney would damage it."

Mrs. Dolan also has to avoid contact sports, plus seat belts and motorcycles ("which scare me to death anyway"). The first task she tackled upon arriving home, she said, was painting her bedroom. "They said I could do whatever I wanted, and that's what I wanted to do," she added.

For some time, she had two checkups a week, one in Wilimantic and the other in Boston. Later, they were reduced to one a week and now are monthly, both in Boston.

"There is so much satisfaction, it is unbelievable. If anyone can do it, go ahead. There is nothing to be afraid of," Mrs. Best said to this. Mrs. Dolan added: "I'm glad I had such a good sister. God bless her for doing it."

President Pledges No New Increase In Taxes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Nixon pledges that there will be no tax increase in 1973, though his aides have said that the full four years of a second Nixon term would pass without tax hikes.

Democratic challenger George McGovern says he doesn't intend to boost taxes for Americans who live solely on wages.

During a news conference in his Oval Office Thursday, the President said he was restating his no-tax-hike commitment but added that he could fulfill it only with the cooperation of Congress.

There will be no presidential tax increase," Nixon said, adding that avoiding a tax hike would be difficult if Congress does not approve a $20-billion spending ceiling he has requested.

The President said that, "if the Congress continues to pass bills and send them to the President's desk that exceed the budget, the Congress will have voted for a tax increase."

He promised to veto such bills and said he expects Congress to sustain the veto.

Last month, White House aides said there would be no tax increase in 1973.

Meanwhile, McGovern took up the tax question while appearing before the Cleveland City Club on Thursday.

A man told the Democratic presidential nominee that many persons are concerned that, "if you're elected, their income might be practically confiscated and given to those who won't work."

McGovern responded: "Of course this is the Republican line. It's pure poppycock... If you live entirely on wages and salaries, there is nothing in my tax proposals that would increase your taxes."

Furthermore, the South Dakota senator said, his overhauled welfare proposals would give no assistance to persons who are able to work. He said "the only people entitled to welfare" are those whose age, disabilities or family situation prevent them from working.

Nixon and McGovern also voiced more opposing views on the Vietnam war.

The President told the news conference that the Vietnam peace negotiations "are in a sensitive stage" and declined to predict when or if a settlement will be reached. He said the presidential campaign will be a referendum on the Vietnam war.

McGovern has been on the campaign trail since he was elected in California, and he has been marked by a $10-million secret campaign fund. McGovern asserted that the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Sargent Shriver, in every appearance Thursday addressed what he called the corruption of the Nixon administration.

In California appearances, Shriver discussed the "erosion" of an administration he said was marked by a $10-million secret campaign fund. McGovern asserted that the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Sargent Shriver, in every appearance Thursday addressed what he called the corruption of the Nixon administration.

Manchester GOP Picks New Assembly Candidate

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

Manchester Republicans last night named a new candidate for state representative from the 13th Assembly District. He is 27-year-old Hilary J. Gallagher of 342 Center St.

Gallagher, who was nominated by acclamation, replaces John I. Gariside Jr., who was nominated Sept. 7 and withdrew from the race 23 days later last Saturday.

Gallagher, a June graduate of the University of Connecticut School of Law, passed the state bar examination last month and is now an attorney. He is serving as assistant clerk of the Tolland County Superior Court.

The new candidate is married to the former Virginia Dehan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dehan, neighbors of Gariside on Westminister Rd. Dehan is a Democratic justice of the peace, running for re-election in November, and is former chairman of the Manchester Democratic Town Committee.

Gallagher is a 1963 graduate of Manchester High School and a 1968 graduate of Boston College, with a degree in mathematics. He has a private pilot's license and is a member of the Connecticut Valley Flyers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Gallagher of 99 N. Lakewood Circle.

His Democratic opponent in the 13th District is incumbent State Rep. Francis Mahoney.

Gallagher was nominated by Shrewsbury Mayor Joseph J. Zinsler, who is the GOP candidate in the 9th Assembly District, and State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, state chairman of the Committee to Re-elect the President. All stressed the youth angle and called attention to the vigorous campaigns planned by all local candidates.

GOP Chairman M. Adler Doubinsky said he was pleased to have someone with so much enthusiasm and in his age group as our candidate. We're sorry that John (Gariside) has withdrawn, and I know he's sorry. He wanted very much to run, and we wanted very much to have him run. However, his business commitments just wouldn't permit it.

Gallagher, after thanking Odegard for nominating him and the committee for endorsing him, said the presidential campaign will be a referendum on the Vietnam war.

"I expect we all should look forward to doing well in November, provided, of course, that we work at it. We have a fine state, and we have a fine future."

Burlington Fire Takes Three Lives

BURLINGTON (AP)—A couple and two of their grandchildren were killed early today in a fire that destroyed a one-story house in Burlington.

Policemen who attempted to enter the house shortly after the blaze was reported about 1 a.m. were turned back by the flames and heat.

Authorities did not immediately release the names of the dead.

The bodies were taken to Bristol Hospital where dental impressions were taken in an effort to confirm the identifications.

Authorities said the grandchildren were spending the night at the house in the Lake Garda section of this rural town.

The fire gutted the house, and the roof collapsed.

Fire departments from Burlington, Avon, Farmington and Bristol were at the scene.

Authorities are being served with court papers seeking an injunction against printing all federal election material including absentee ballots.

The injunction action is being sought by the Communist Party, in a suit filed yesterday in New Haven Superior Court. The papers were signed by Judge David Shea.

Frank Kalas, owner of Clinton Press was served with papers, after 5 p.m. yesterday and is believed to be the first in the state to receive them. His company prints the election material for nine areas including Manchester, Tolland and Coventry. Primary election material is not affected by the court order.

Deputy Secretary of State Harry Hammer of Vernon called the court order "a technicality." He said he has no objection to the suit but that the court order is not a technicality.

Both sides have agreed to a 24-hour notice provision before a strike or service containment and to a 24-hour notice provision before a strike or service containment and to a 24-hour notice provision before a strike or service containment.

Union members have already given their leaders authority to call a strike if the company does not agree to a 24-hour notice provision before a strike or service containment.

Union spokesmen said the 350 members have been called to a meeting at 10 a.m. Sunday in order to discuss the situation and to an 11th-hour negotiating session with the company will be held at the company offices before that meeting. They said a strike notice could be given at the negotiating session.

Union notices on a C.R.L. bulletin board, referring to both the negotiating session and the union meeting planned for Sunday, said: "If no progress has been made, strike plans will be made at the meeting."

This resulted in less than the required signatures being filed with the secretary of state, prompting the decision to disallow the Communist bid for a spot on the federal election ballots in the state.

Hammer contends the suit is really "a local one in each of the 61 towns, not a state matter, since validating petition signatures is the responsibility of each town clerk."

He expressed sympathy for the printers involved, whom he stated were already behind schedule due to the telegraphed election calendar.

Kalas has been advised by counsel to wait until the temporary injunction is heard Oct. 12 before printing the absentee ballots and other election material. He also said that he can go ahead and print the material, but not deliver it.

The plan for the Manchester ballots and other documents were scheduled for printing today, Kalas said. Absentee ballots should be printed immediately and distributed to the towns, to permit voters enough time to return them before election day.

He is concerned over who should bear the brunt of the overprinting costs which will be necessitated by the court delays.

If the injunction is granted in Superior Court, it will put things (See Page Twelve)

Former City Manager To Address CRC

Carlson F. Sharpe, for 15 years city manager of Hartford and for five years city manager of Kansas City, Mo., will speak in Manchester Wednesday, at a meeting of the Manchester Charter Revision Commission (CRC).

Sharpe is devoting the next four Wednesdays to hearing experts on the subject of council-manager versus commission forms of government.

Sharpe, Hartford's first city manager, has been serving as a consultant to the University of Hartford, Lincoln Institute, which is privately funded, is noted for its research.

Sharpe, who has been with the Institute for about three years, is former president of the International City Managers' Association and a recognized authority on the council-manager form of government.

Union Believes Bus Stoppage Inevitable

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—Officials of the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, AFL-CIO, said Thursday they see "no other way" but to strike the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co., even though another negotiating session is scheduled for Sunday.

The company and the union have been conducting so-far fruitless negotiations in the wake of Gov. Thomas Meskill's veto earlier in the week of direct state subsidies for Connecticut's two largest bus companies.

C.R.L., which serves Bridgeport, Waterbury and New Britain, and the larger Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co., Hartford and Stamford, have said they won't be able to operate much longer without government aid.

The ATU officials for the C.R.L. locals made their strike prediction after a two-hour session with the secretary of state, prompting the decision to disallow the Communist bid for a spot on the federal election ballots in the state.

Hammer contends the suit is really "a local one in each of the 61 towns, not a state matter, since validating petition signatures is the responsibility of each town clerk."

He expressed sympathy for the printers involved, whom he stated were already behind schedule due to the telegraphed election calendar.

Going north on the east side of Main St. from Maple next to the corner market was the home of Milo Russell, a contractor of painting and wallpapering. It was a flat roofed house with porches on west and south sides. Large lawns and numerous large trees surrounded it.

In later years the Bowers Block was built on the south part of Russell's yard. It was used at one time by the post office and converted into stores that extended from the sidewalk.

The northern part of the Russell property was built on for retail stores. Couche's candy manufactory and store there was succeeded by Murphy's restaurant and bowling alley. Now it is the Nassif Arms Co. store.

For quite a long time he putted back and forth with that little backwood wheel. That's more than could be said of many automobiles and horseless carriages of that time.

Next store in the building was Tiffany's jewelry, then in the most northern store was Martin's ladies dress shop and millinery. From Mr. Martin's son Sherman, O.C. took the best canoe he ever owned for long trips.

Employees Seek Job Restoration

HARTFORD (AP) — Five employees at the University of Connecticut's McCook Hospital in Hartford laid off when the hospital's food service was transferred to a private firm, have filed suit in an effort to get their jobs back.

The federal court suit seeks a temporary and a permanent injunction barring the state from laying off the employees. It also seeks $10,500 in damages.

The five were among 33 McCook employees whose jobs were eliminated when the food service department was turned over recently to the Servent-Setter Corp.

The complaint, filed by Neighborhood Legal Services, says the employees were laid off due to process of law in not being granted a hearing before their dismissals.

The suit also alleges racial discrimination, since the food service department is composed mostly of blacks and Puerto Ricans.

An agreement by the city of Hartford and the state in 1967, the suit says, provided for the protection of McCook employees jobs, and that the dismissals violated the agreement.

Defendants in the suit are Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, state Commissioner of Personnel Edward H. Simpson, and the board of trustees of the university.

The plaintiffs are Ross Brown, Ruth Small, Lauretta Jones Ann Sires and Mary Collins.

U.S. District Court Judge T. Emmet Clarke said a hearing on the case would be held Tuesday.

Welfare Snafu Means Sending Out Extra Checks

HARTFORD (AP) — The recent boost in Social Security benefits took a double bite out of some welfare checks in Connecticut this week, and the Welfare Department is going to have to send out about 3,500 supplemental checks.

The higher Social Security benefits forced a cut in the welfare checks of some recipients of Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Disabled, because the aid did not attempt the additional benefits from consideration as income.

A Welfare Department spokesman said Wednesday that while figuring in the higher benefits as income, the deductions from some checks also were inadvertently doubled. The amount of the mistake averaged between $10 and $15 per check, he said, and the supplemental checks will be mailed out on Monday.

The 3,500 recipients affected are those who began receiving Social Security benefits before July 1, 1971.

South Windsor Mrs. Rossi Says Her Role Challenged By Kupchunos

Mrs. Margaret Rossi, the first Board of Education member to speak against current board policies, said today her ability as a constructive participant on the board has been challenged by the board's newest member, Richard Kupchunos.

Mrs. Rossi claimed in a previous Herald article that information labeled "Board of Education Releases," (the subject of her criticism) were erroneous in her opinion as they were not approved by the board as a unit, but were released under the auspices of the board before approval was given to them by members.

According to Mrs. Rossi, Kupchunos stated publicly that her "disapproval of the addition makes it impossible for her to be a constructive participant in the promotion of the project."

In a prepared statement, Mrs. Rossi took exception to "the project" which she termed the "brainiac or Smith-Decker proposal." (the current board approved plan for the $1.9 million addition awaiting voter approval, Nov. 7). She stated that Public Building Commission meeting minutes of June 6 suggest a similar addition and cost, but that the proposal did not come before the board in the proper manner for consideration.

She further says that the board, at the Sept. 12 meeting, was asked to approve an outline referred to in the minutes as the chairman's "format" and were also given written notification of news release assignments and committee appointments.

As Mrs. Rossi was not placed on any committee, she contends she was contacted by newspaper correspondents who were interested in what her part would be in the presentations being made at all schools and the "body recording device" to monitor conversations with two to ten parents in a school room.

LaPolla was to testify against four Rhode Island men indicted in the theft of the 30 rifles from the Westerly, R.I., National Guard Armory last November. LaPolla's body was found about 3 p.m. between his idling car and the armory, which was knocked apart by the blast.

LaPolla's electronic monitoring activity was disclosed to defense lawyers three weeks before he was killed, according to legal papers filed in U.S. District Court in Hartford. The disclosure was made by special U.S. attorney Paul Coffey, a member of the Justice Department's Task Force on Organized Crime and

296 Rode Bus On Wednesday

The Manchester-to-Hartford express commuter bus carried a record 296 passengers Wednesday morning, the Connecticut Department of Transportation (DOT) said.

The Wednesday total was the highest number of passengers on any one day since the bus service started July 10 as a 90-day experiment.

The Monday-through-Friday bus runs from Burr Corners to downtown Hartford had been averaging about 250 passengers a day.

Recent State Bond Commission approval of subsidies for the buses, which are run by the Connecticut Co., will extend the service to Jan. 5, 1973.

The buses leave Burr Corners between 7 and 9 a.m., and return from Hartford from 4 to 6 p.m.

A special bus to the Aetna Insurance Co. leaves Burr Corners at 7:20 a.m. and makes the return trip at 4:15 p.m. A bus to the State Capitol leaves at 7:50 a.m. and returns at 4:40 p.m.

The buses will run next Monday although it is a legal holiday - Columbus Day - according to the DOT.

Dooley Bill Would Ease Curbs on Wives of POWs

State Representative Thomas H. Dooley of Vernon has proposed a change in Connecticut law which could reduce the daily legal fees and frustrations faced by wives and parents of prisoners of war and servicemen missing in action.

Dooley cited difficulties in disposing of property such as a car or home, to which the serviceman has full or partial title, and especially, families who are in Connecticut because it was the serviceman's last tour of duty before Vietnam and might want to move.

Dooley said that although Connecticut has a trusteeship law it is particularly inapplicable to this situation, and he has filed a bill which would establish a very simple procedure consistent with safeguarding the property rights of the servicemen.

The bill would permit the wife or next of kin, subject to the court's scrutiny, to dispose of up to $5,000 worth of property, or to secure consent when necessary, for the affairs of the children.

"It's unwise to pay too much, but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much, you lose a little money—that is all. When you pay too little, you sometimes lose everything, because the thing you bought was incapable of doing the thing it was bought to do. The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot—it can't be done. If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run, and if you do that you will have enough to pay for something better."

CIRCUIT COURT 12 Manchester Session Robert G. Novak, 26, of Woodbridge St., received two suspended one-to-three-year prison sentences Thursday on charges of third-degree burglary (two counts). ### Internal Controls Needed

HARTFORD (AP)—An audit of financial records of the City of Hartford and its school system found a "complete lack of internal controls" and "disregard for accepted business practices" in some areas.

The 140-page audit, prepared by Halcrow and Douglas of Wethersfield, concluded that this led to cases of embezzlement, theft and a budget shortage in some areas.

The audit, released Thursday, cited these cases: The city finance department discovered a $6,156 loss at the Greenfield Street Day Care Center. Subsequently, police arrested an accountant on charges of embezzlement and the money was recovered.

Federal auditors found four cases totaling $1,272 in which money collected in the Weaver High School cafeteria disappeared. Cause of the loss was never discovered, but a report concluded, "There is only one assumption: the money was stolen."

The auditors criticized "non-existent supervision of personnel... obvious lack of management policies and insufficient record keeping procedures" in the cases cited.

City and school officials agreed with the criticism and said they were taking corrective action.

Jaycees Resume Do Something

The Manchester Jaycees will kick off their 1972-1973 "Do Something" campaign this week. Do Something is a campaign of getting people together in their community... the volunteers and the agencies who need those volunteers. Jaycees become the clearing house for communications on volunteer needs telling citizens what the problems are and how they can fight them. The Jaycees are offering the citizens of Manchester the chance to actually help the people in need, the people around them, their fellowman. How did it begin? The idea of "Do Something" began in April 1969 when President Nixon formed the Voluntary Action Program to encourage Americans into volunteer work capacities across America. The United States Jaycees took the original idea and established the "Do Something" project. After formulating the program in four pilot Jaycee chapters, the U.S. Jaycee Board of Directors received the challenge of this program and passed it down to the local chapters in March 1970.

The Manchester Jaycees accepted the challenge of the U.S. Jaycees in March 1971, and has referred volunteers to local agencies filing 205 projects. This year's project chairman again is William Hyde of 140 Sunny Brook Dr. Area volunteer needs are well over the 1,000 level.

Some of the agencies the Jaycees are coordinating with include 4-H Club, Red Cross, Auxiliary of Manchester Memorial Hospital, Big Brothers, Boy Scouts, Child & Family Services, Child Guidance Clinic, FBI, Girl Scouts, Lutz Junior Museum, Manchester Board of Education, Manchester Head Start Program, Manchester Public Nurses Association, Mansfield State Training School, Senior Citizens, Youth Service Department and convalescent centers.

Middle-Age Swingers EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Many middle-aged men have joined in the current trend to wear more colorful clothing, in part, because of fear of growing old, says a professor who is an expert in the sociology of clothing.

"Middle-aged men are among those most enjoying and supporting the current trend to wear more colorful clothing," said Dr. Arthur M. Vener, professor of social science at Michigan State University. "Part of it is just a variation of the old middle-aged delight in buying flashy cars," he said.

"But, more importantly, the older men get these days, the more they want to look and feel young. Being young is out of reach, but they try to look it anyway, and the new clothing is very cheering," he said.

Plans Ahead MAKAWAO, Hawaii (AP) — The election hasn't even been held yet, but Jack Stephens, a candidate for a first term on the Maui County Council, has already announced his intention to seek reelection in 1974.

178 New Voters Are Registered Manchester election officials reported today that new Democrats outnumbered new Republicans at all seven locations where special elections were held yesterday.

They reported a total of 178 new voters signed up, with 68 of them Democrats, 30 Republicans and 86 unaffiliated.

Atty. William M. Bronelli of Princeton St., who was named chairman of the Manchester March of Dimes fund drive by Harry Burke of East Hartford, is a 1958 graduate of MHS, from the University of Connecticut in 1963, and the University of Connecticut School of Law in 1966. He served as Manchester examiner of records in 1965 and 1966. He has been a member of the Democratic Town Committee since 1966. He is engaged in the private practice of law here. He is a member of the Manchester, Hartford County, Connecticut and American Bar Associations. He resides with his wife, the former Nancy Niles of Yakima, Wash. Dr. John Kennedy, superintendent of schools, who had observed a similar "Walk" while in Minnesota, offered his comments and suggestions.

He stressed the need for adequate "check point" facilities, where restrooms and water faucets would be available to walkers, as well as the need for receptacles for trash to be discarded.

James M. Reardon, chief of the Manchester Police Department, pledged his support in this effort, and said his department would provide a cruiser to lead the walkers, as well as another

Sargent Shriver; Moral Outrage

Dear Sargent Shriver:
Recently you accused the electorate of being "brused by the new royalty of political power brokers so it greets scandal with yawns instead of moral outrage."
As a member of that body so brused, we feel it requires a defense since you imply a certain moral laxity on the part of each of us because we have apparently failed to charge the bastions of Watergate or chase the money changers out of the wheat pit.
Our moral outrage capacity is relatively undiminished. To be more precise, it has been virtually untapped in recent years by scandals in Washington and other high places not because we are brused and numb; but because we have long ago learned to distinguish between true moral outrage which transcends partisan outrage which is really what you are talking about isn't it?
Every electorate is asked to turn "the rascals out" regardless of who is in power. The partisan outrage exists and will continue to exist because no politician worth his salt can ignore the desire of certain groups within his party for old-fashioned, down-to-earth politicking which traditionally calls for a certain amount of "mud" tossing.
In assessing your concern for the electorate's moral outrage capacity, we feel you were really talking to your own party for you cannot really expect us to believe that the opposition party faithful would carry this torch for you any more than Mayor Daley would lead a clean crusade in Cook County.
We suspect there is a rising moral outrage in this nation that will ultimately transcend partisan outrage which comes to the fore prior to each election. This is reflected in the rising numbers of the electorate who choose to "unaffili-ate" or espouse to be independent; who may contribute to their church, synagogue, or favorite charity with generosity and regularity but not give a dime to a partisan candidate or party; or who, this really concerns us, do not register to vote or if they do, do not vote at all.
This is the scandal of a two-party system which to us should rise each of us on our hackles in moral indignation because it means neither major political party comes into court, so to speak, with clean hands.

There lingers too many Teapot Domes, too many Bobby Bakers, too many instances of petty grifters in the memories of the electorate, to do anything else but yawn when an already blackened pot tries to further blacken an already blackened kettle.
No, Mr. Shriver, those bruses you see are partisan in origin inflicted by friend and foe over the years by Democrats and Republicans who have cried, "Wolf!" in October and quickly dropped into the whitewash bucket in January.
True moral indignation or outrage is still there and will come to the fore when scandal, alleged or otherwise, is exposed for the purpose of convicting and punishing abusers of the public trust instead of hunting for headlines, becoming a vehicle for special Congressional inquiries which generate more publicity than evidence, and for electioneering oratory. Scandals in public life will continue to exist, we fear, not because they are not exposed; not because the people yawn; and not because some of our office holders are inherently crooked, but when whatever is morally wrong when it is in office, and what is morally wrong before an election is still morally wrong after an election.
Then and only then will the moral outrage sense you feel is lacking return; and those yawns will be yawns of true protest demanding a housecleaning as well as a new housekeeper.
In the meantime, remember you might be able to turn on and off the spigot of partisan outrage, after all, that's what politics is all about. Moral outrage, if it is to be aroused and directed, must transcend events and personalities. It is there behind those yawns and bruses that an awesome power, the electorate, has to change things but the electorate with inherent wisdom is reluctant to mobilize its heavy artillery to kill a fly.
Sincerely yours,
A. Ho Hummer

Other Editors Say Pornography, Revolution in High School Text

IN THE AUGUST ISSUE of The Elks Magazine, we had an editorial about academic freedom being confused with license in the use of a textbook at North Carolina State University. It is an undisputed attempt to subvert the American system of free enterprise, thus a textbook on how to overthrow the very system which permits such radicals to be a hazard.
That is a bad situation for our institutions of higher learning... but now we find a textbook being used in a high school in California that almost makes the college level text look innocuous. This one is titled, "The Movement Toward a New America" and was compiled by one Mitchell Goodman, a self-proclaimed member of the "The Great Conspiracy, in Behalf of the Movement." It is in use in the San Rafael, California, High School... a four year school changed with educating young people from the ages of about 13 to 17 or 18, perhaps the most impressive years.
The book was removed from the classroom BUT WAS PLACED IN THE LIBRARY AND THE TEACHER GIVEN PERMISSION TO USE MATERIAL. It openly advocates force and violence in the

Dull Men

WASHINGTON - The so-called Presidential race? Sometimes it reminds me of the day I sought out a New York prize-fight tycoon named Mike Jacobs for an expert opinion on an upcoming 10-rounder between a couple of dubious heavyweights.
Mike gave his dentures a couple of derisive clacks. "Neither them bums can win," he deposed.
I learned later Mike had stolen grapes, but never mind. The temptation often is strong to suggest that both Richard Nixon and George McGovern will lose the Nov. 7 bout. Mostly, they seem to be running like a couple of candidates for county sheriff in some rural backwater, except that their teeth are capped, their words are bigger and their persons too often calculatedly vague. In their mutual effort to please everybody, down to the last Laplander concealed in some remote northland cave, they are not even amusing, but utter each self-serving syllable in the tone of a third-rate evangelist exhorting a covey of peepshow wastrels to turn into the path of righteousness. Their hot rhetoric, leavened only by ham-handed attempts at wit, tells us that both Nixon and McGovern stand themselves with utter seriousness - even as messiahs.
Thus, neither candidate qualifies even for Menckes' grudging salute to politics for "its high capacity to soothe and tickle the midriff, its incoherence and its ability to entertain." Indeed, since both exude an aura of piety, they cannot even be counted on to offend those who in Menckes' charge make politics "uniquely rat-fuff, raffish, sordid, obscene and a gang of unmitigated scoundrels."
No, Richard Nixon and George McGovern are not bad men. They are merely dull men, of whom it might be said that if you missed what they said last night you have missed nothing for which a session with the neighborhood scold would not compensate.

Inside Report

Roland Evans and Robert Novak
No 'Laying on of Hands'
WASHINGTON - Behind the facade of party-wide euphoria over President Nixon's huge lead in the polls, dissension is rising among Republican candidates for Congress who want - but cannot get - Presidential help in their own uphill campaigns.
Pressure to get Mr. Nixon, who dreams of an all-time record majority, to risk a few points of his own vote by coming to his party's aid is centered in the Republican National Committee and the Senate and House Campaign Committees. Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, the party chairman, is leading the way and hopes to take the case directly to Mr. Nixon.
The case is clear: if the President is serious about making his vaunted "new majority" a long-range proposition, rather than a majority that will dissipate right after the Nov. 7 election, he must also bring in a Republican Congress.
Sen. Peter Dominick of Colorado and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Senate and House Campaign Committees, agree with Dole that if Mr. Nixon deserts from above the partisan battle and makes a deal with the President, he will be undermining the very system which permits such radicals to be a hazard.
The textbook was brought home by the children one of the San Rafael Lodge members in San Rafael and shown to the parents as the main text in course in California that almost makes the college level text look innocuous. Editor:
Mr. Tully, in his column that appeared in his newspaper Sept. 24, stated that American pilots targets in the Indochina war are military ones and that it must be believed that every effort is made to avoid dropping bombs on civilians. He went on to criticize Senator McGovern for pointing out the brutality of American bombing. I'm sure Mr. Tully may indeed be an excellent columnist, although I may not be in a position to judge that. I am, however, in a position to inform Mr. Tully of a few unavoidable facts.
The Air Force manual defines a military target as, and I quote, "...any person, thing, idea, entity or location selected for destruction, inactivation, or rendering non-useable with weapons which will destroy the will or the ability of the enemy to fight." It goes on to say that attacks on such targets will destroy the will or the ability of the enemy to fight. ## Thank You

Twenty-five years ago Oct. 3, 1947, I was exactly one year and seven months old to the day. That was the day that Gilbert W. My father, died. Since I was too young to ever know him personally, I have only known him from scrapbooks and my mother's memories. For the past 25 years there has been an emptiness in the intractability of my brother and myself. We didn't have what everyone else did, a father.
My mother has succeeded through many hardships in the struggle to bring up her two sons alone. My brother, Donald, is married and a member of the Manchester Police Department. I myself, will be married October 7.
When The Herald published on Oct. 2, 1972, in your 25 Years Ago column a remembrance of my father, it was as if he had been brought back to witness the culmination of his wife's hard work. I am proud to say that for 25 years, I can feel he has come back for my wedding. Gentlemen, for that spiritual reunion of our whole family, I thank you.

Shopper's Nightmare

Sept. 15 was my day off from work. My son asked me if he could use my car. I said, "Okay, but take me into Manchester so I can do some shopping. My daddy will pick me up on his way home."
About 2:30 p.m., my shopping done, I called my husband. He told me he wouldn't be coming through Manchester for at least another hour. I said, "Don't worry. Take your time. I'll browse through the stores."
It was unseasonably warm so I removed my jacket and dropped it over my arm. I walked into a store to say that more than 24,000 North Vietnamese civilians have been killed or maimed since April 1, 1972.
I can go on and on citing facts and more facts. I would hope that more Americans would bother to find out the facts. Perhaps our sensibilities have been dulled having never experienced the terror of napalm or anti-personnel bombs ourselves. Perhaps these facts and figures mean nothing, say nothing, where we hold that last-minute fear from that tiny little struggling Asian nation who fireproof is less than 10 per cent of ours. Perhaps we have to protect a dictator in South Vietnam who helped the French fight against his own people, spending billions of U. S. tax dollars to build a police state, sent thousands of our boys home hooked on heroin, abolished freedom of the press, jailed hundreds of thousands of people, murdered political opponents and tortured thousands more. Perhaps we seek our national honor on this President Thieu. Perhaps we have to support a remote control killing from high in the sky while the man in charge campaigns under a banner of "Peace with Honor."
For centuries mankind has dreamed how to fly. All we have to show for it is a saturation bombing.

Food Aid Program In Follow-up Phase

Project FIND, a nationwide campaign to identify and enroll older Americans eligible for Federal Food Assistance Programs, moves into its second, or follow-up, phase this week with the American Red Cross responsible for helping those who qualify to obtain certification for food stamps or commodities.
Project FIND was conceived by Dr. Arthur Fleming, chairman of the White House Conference on Aging. It began Aug. 3 with the mailing of Social Security checks to more than 27 million men and women, most of whom are over age 60. Each person received an explanatory brochure and a franked postcard which they could return if they were interested and thought they needed help in receiving Federal Food Assistance.
Eligibility of each applicant will be determined by the Department of Public Assistance. This will involve a visit by the applicant to the local office of the State Welfare Department which is located in Manchester in the Parkade, second floor over W. T. Grant Co., for an interview with a representative of the Food Stamp Program.
This does not mean any applicant will be receiving "welfare" under the State Aid Program. The food stamps are provided to self-supporting people of low income who are finding it hard to manage due to the ever-increasing cost of living. The volunteers will provide whatever help is needed to obtain certification from local public assistance officials. This may include other needs of the applicant, or in the case of homebound individuals, serving as their proxy or providing needed transportation.
In the Manchester-Bolton area, the food stamp follow-up campaign is being conducted by Red Cross, under the volunteer leadership of Mrs. Willard Horton, as supervisor, with members of the Manchester Junior Women's Club assisting as field workers. They hope that this phase of the campaign will be completed by the middle of November.

Food Aid Program In Follow-up Phase

Project FIND, a nationwide campaign to identify and enroll older Americans eligible for Federal Food Assistance Programs, moves into its second, or follow-up, phase this week with the American Red Cross responsible for helping those who qualify to obtain certification for food stamps or commodities.
Project FIND was conceived by Dr. Arthur Fleming, chairman of the White House Conference on Aging. It began Aug. 3 with the mailing of Social Security checks to more than 27 million men and women, most of whom are over age 60. Each person received an explanatory brochure and a franked postcard which they could return if they were interested and thought they needed help in receiving Federal Food Assistance.
Eligibility of each applicant will be determined by the Department of Public Assistance. This will involve a visit by the applicant to the local office of the State Welfare Department which is located in Manchester in the Parkade, second floor over W. T. Grant Co., for an interview with a representative of the Food Stamp Program.
This does not mean any applicant will be receiving "welfare" under the State Aid Program. The food stamps are provided to self-supporting people of low income who are finding it hard to manage due to the ever-increasing cost of living. The volunteers will provide whatever help is needed to obtain certification from local public assistance officials. This may include other needs of the applicant, or in the case of homebound individuals, serving as their proxy or providing needed transportation.
In the Manchester-Bolton area, the food stamp follow-up campaign is being conducted by Red Cross, under the volunteer leadership of Mrs. Willard Horton, as supervisor, with members of the Manchester Junior Women's Club assisting as field workers. They hope that this phase of the campaign will be completed by the middle of November.
Drake's Honors
Sir Francis Drake, the first Englishman to sail around the world, was knighted by Queen Elizabeth I. Timber from his ship, the Golden Hind, was made into a chair that is kept at Oxford University.

Shopper's Nightmare

Sept. 15 was my day off from work. My son asked me if he could use my car. I said, "Okay, but take me into Manchester so I can do some shopping. My daddy will pick me up on his way home."
About 2:30 p.m., my shopping done, I called my husband. He told me he wouldn't be coming through Manchester for at least another hour. I said, "Don't worry. Take your time. I'll browse through the stores."
It was unseasonably warm so I removed my jacket and dropped it over my arm. I walked into a store to say that more than 24,000 North Vietnamese civilians have been killed or maimed since April 1, 1972.
I can go on and on citing facts and more facts. I would hope that more Americans would bother to find out the facts. Perhaps our sensibilities have been dulled having never experienced the terror of napalm or anti-personnel bombs ourselves. Perhaps these facts and figures mean nothing, say nothing, where we hold that last-minute fear from that tiny little struggling Asian nation who fireproof is less than 10 per cent of ours. Perhaps we have to protect a dictator in South Vietnam who helped the French fight against his own people, spending billions of U. S. tax dollars to build a police state, sent thousands of our boys home hooked on heroin, abolished freedom of the press, jailed hundreds of thousands of people, murdered political opponents and tortured thousands more. Perhaps we seek our national honor on this President Thieu. Perhaps we have to support a remote control killing from high in the sky while the man in charge campaigns under a banner of "Peace with Honor."
For centuries mankind has dreamed how to fly. All we have to show for it is a saturation bombing.

Inside Report

Roland Evans and Robert Novak
No 'Laying on of Hands'
WASHINGTON - Behind the facade of party-wide euphoria over President Nixon's huge lead in the polls, dissension is rising among Republican candidates for Congress who want - but cannot get - Presidential help in their own uphill campaigns.
Pressure to get Mr. Nixon, who dreams of an all-time record majority, to risk a few points of his own vote by coming to his party's aid is centered in the Republican National Committee and the Senate and House Campaign Committees. Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, the party chairman, is leading the way and hopes to take the case directly to Mr. Nixon.
The case is clear: if the President is serious about making his vaunted "new majority" a long-range proposition, rather than a majority that will dissipate right after the Nov. 7 election, he must also bring in a Republican Congress.
Sen. Peter Dominick of Colorado and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Senate and House Campaign Committees, agree with Dole that if Mr. Nixon deserts from above the partisan battle and makes a deal with the President, he will be undermining the very system which permits such radicals to be a hazard.
The textbook was brought home by the children one of the San Rafael Lodge members in San Rafael and shown to the parents as the main text in course in California that almost makes the college level text look innocuous. This one is titled, "The Movement Toward a New America" and was compiled by one Mitchell Goodman, a self-proclaimed member of the "The Great Conspiracy, in Behalf of the Movement." It is in use in the San Rafael, California, High School... a four year school changed with educating young people from the ages of about 13 to 17 or 18, perhaps the most impressive years.
The book was removed from the classroom BUT WAS PLACED IN THE LIBRARY AND THE TEACHER GIVEN PERMISSION TO USE MATERIAL. It openly advocates force and violence in the

Domestic Policy

For workers and industrial dependent on defense spending and the meat-slashes with which some Americans are now beguiled by the political opposition.

We wholeheartedly support an all-volunteer armed force and expect to end the draft by July 1, 1973.

We will continue to pursue arms-control agreements - but we recognize that this can be successful only if we maintain sufficient strength.

Martha's Off To Europe Patched Suitcase and All

By CLEMMEWELL YOUNG
I packed my grandmother's trunk in the summer of 1971, thoroughly enjoying its variety and not being particularly bothered by fellow tourists, who were not as numerous as the news stories led you to believe. Now we know Yellowstone from the eye of a waitress: Hard work, not too much take-home pay, once room and board were removed, but enough to buy the packboard and the sleeping bag, now adding their blue nylon to the clutter in the room, and to save for Europe.

Even in the wilds of what has become her beloved Wyoming Martha practiced her German, for there were many visitors from Germany, as well as from other European countries, and Japan. With only two years of college German behind her, Martha grabbed at any new words and expressions that came out of ordering a meal and, as a fringe benefit, copied down addresses for possible future reference.

"You must bring your tennis racket when you come to Berlin," said the president of a tennis club in that city.

Martha didn't pack her tennis racket, but I noticed that she did squeeze in her long ski underwear after I reminded her that the home of our friends, the Bortellis, in Coventry, England, where she will live during January, has no central heating. I recalled that it had been warm when, under the Coventry, Conn. Coventry, England exchange, we had visited the Bortellis in July 1970, and 90 degrees when Mrs. Bortelli sat at our kitchen table in Bolton in July 1971, describing how happy she was to have finally acquired electric sheets (not blankets) so that she didn't have to put hot water bottles in the beds an hour before her family retired during the winter months.

When I finally went to bed that night last week Martha was nearing the end of her ordeal, but she must have stayed up writing letters after the packing was done because she was difficult to greet in the morning. We had to be in Brattleboro, Vt., at three that afternoon.

Actually, there was one more pile in our brief version of that children's alphabetical memory game: I packed my grandmother's trunk and in it I put extras especially for Brattleboro. Under the Experiment in International Living program, students going to Germany, Practical suggestions — "You really should have something more than clop and sneakers" — invariably led, ("I'll need boots, I'll buy them there.")

I looked at the piles of clothes on the floor. The Army parka would have to go to the cleaner's, Yellowstone, up near the Montana border where Martha had worked, had been cold. The girl's dorm that served the Mammoth Hot Springs area had been heated well into July — the steam coming presumably from a furnace and not from the springs that formed the Disney-like sculptures in that section of the enormous park.

Gardening

with Frank Atwood

Other Jarvis has seen Florida Trumpet Plant growing in the open, year-round, at Cypress Gardens in Florida. The only other Trumpet Plant he knows of is in his own backyard in Manchester. It has recently bloomed, for the third time this summer, with very large, snow-white trumpets that give off a heady fragrance at dusk and again at dawn.

The first frost will finish the bloom on this tropical plant for another year and Mr. Jarvis will dig the four-foot bush, set the roots and plant them in a bucket and lug the heavy plant down cellar for the winter.

He'll give it a little water through the cold months, but the leaves will drop and the plant will appear to be lifeless. In April he will give it more water, move it to the hatchway for a couple of weeks while new leaves start, and then set it back outdoors. He has been doing this chore for 11 years since a neighbor brought the plant from Florida and gave it to him.

The plant will bloom for the first time in late June and, at its best, will put on a tremendous show, with up to 40 blooms and buds. There are many buds on the plant now, but with cold weather coming soon they have little chance to develop.

I found the Latin name of the Trumpet Plant. It is Datura and the white variety is called, naturally, Alba. It seems there is a blue one, another that is blue, yellow and red, and one that is creamy yellow.

Oliver Jarvis shows spectacular white blossoms of his Florida Trumpet Plant, growing close to the Jarvis home at 38 Strickland St. A neighbor brought the plant from Florida and Mr. Jarvis has had it for 11 years, moving it into the cellar for the winter and out again in the spring. (Herald photo by Bucivicius.)

No Green Thumb
"There is no such thing as a green thumb," John Zapadka told members of the Perennial Garden Club at their first meeting of the new season when they visited the Zapadka family's Woodland Gardens greenhouse.

Growing plants successfully, Mr. Zapadka said, "is just a matter of knowing a few simple things. The information is all available from our universities and it is free."

When he had finished telling the club members about the steps needed to have poinsettias in bloom for Christmas and lilacs bloom for an Easter date that changes from year to year, the things did not seem that simple.

Timing is tremendously important for a commercial grower.

"Imagine," he said, "how much a poinsettia is worth if it blooms a week after Christmas, or a lily a week after Easter."

The commercial grower is always counting the days to a holiday when he knows customers will come in numbers. He makes his poinsettia cuttings by the calendar, keeps a record every day of what has been done in the greenhouse and how the plants are developing, and then checks back to compare with last year's records.

He can push his plants ahead or hold back by controlling temperature and light and the poinsettias now are being given artificial light for a few hours after sundown so they have a 14-hour "day" and a 10-hour "night." This goes on for a month, a period during which the buds should be set.

Short Day - Long Night
In another area of the greenhouse, Kalanchoe plants are given light for 10 hours and darkness for 14 hours, the reverse of the treatment for poinsettias. They respond also by setting buds to bloom at Christmas.

Other facts about the nursery business emerged in Mr. Zapadka's talk and a tour of a large greenhouse conducted by his son, Leo.

The most common mistake home gardeners make with house plants is giving them too much water. Roots of African violet plants will rot if the soil in the pot is saturated with water that can't drain away. Water that drains through a flower pot should never be allowed to stay in the saucer. When the lower leaves of a plant turn yellow, the cause usually is excess watering.

On the other hand, as gardeners have to remember, the cause of yellow leaves may be too little water. Knowing which is which is evidence, in fact, of a green thumb.

Mr. Zapadka told the club members that commercial growers are using plastic pots, instead of clay pots, for 80 per cent of their plants. The reason is economic. The plastic pots cost less and they weigh less. They also are almost unbreakable.

Business Mirror Communications Key At Harvard

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) - The Harvard University campus buzzed over nearly 350 acres. It encompasses 357 buildings - dorms, museums, libraries, a stadium and 18 food facilities among them - not only in Cambridge but across the Charles River in Boston.

Nevertheless, because of a management system that not only keeps open the communications channels but refines the information that flows through them, a two-page monthly letter serves to keep the president, Derek Bok, informed of administrative progress.

The letter, addressed by Stephen Hall, vice president for administration, is a distillate of similar two-page letters sent to him by the 10 administrators who run the physical plant of Harvard on a $40-million-plus budget.

Each administrator's letter is also included along with Hall's to the president with details. Each letter consists of four parts: critical indicators, critical milestones, future impact and opportunities.

The first of these, critical indicators, "tells whether the patient is healthy or ill," said Hall in an interview. "If the situation doesn't look good we investigate further."

In the personnel department, for example, an unusual turnover of employees would be a signal for investigation. In food services, if the manhours needed to serve 100 meals rose from its present 20, there would be explaining to do.

Critical milestones are the tracking systems that break general objectives into their specific subparts and plot them on a calendar. If the indicator lags, action is indicated.

Future impact is a list of any potential problems that might force a change in the administrative program, which is made each year for the current year but tries also to take an additional four-year peak into the future.

The section on opportunities is included to encourage innovation and creative thinking. It might include, for example, a suggestion that the university seize a buying opportunity before an expected price increase.

The goals whose progress is depicted in the monthly report have all been defined prior to the

Phone Call Gets One More Vote

DETROIT (AP) - Katherine Gribbs says she'll vote for President Nixon in November, although her husband, Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs, is supporting the McGovern-Shriver ticket. Her political stand was revealed Wednesday after a telephone call from the President, who phoned to congratulate her after she defended politicians last week in a verbal contest with television commentator David Susskind.

She took Susskind to task for implying her husband and other politicians had no integrity, and for distasteful young people. Susskind later apologized to Mrs. Gribbs.

A White House aide said the President agreed with Mrs. Gribbs' stand and said, "She's my kind of girl."

Cromie Headquarters Opened in Tolland

Atty. Richard Cromie of Coventry, the Democratic Party-endorsed candidate for the 53rd Assembly District (Coventry, Tolland and Willington), has announced the opening of his Tolland headquarters.

They are located at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hampton, Walbridge Hill Rd. Mrs. Hampton's husband is also a member of the Tolland County Democratic Club.

She is a former registrar of voters in Tolland, a member of the Democratic Town Committee and secretary of that group. Mrs. Hampton is also secretary of the Democratic Women's Club, and a member of the Tolland County Democratic Club, and also on the Capitol Region Planning Agency.

Barokas is presently a town committee member, has been a member of the Tolland Board of Finance since its inception, is treasurer of the Tolland County Democratic Club, and also on the Capitol Region Planning Agency.

Trainer, a former town committee member, serves on Tolland's Charter Revision Committee, has been a Boy Scout neighborhood commissioner and a member of the Tolland Amateur Athletic Association.

Since the Nixon administration took office in January 1969, interest rates have risen and risen again. The prime rate started around 7 per cent at the beginning of his tenure and rose to an 8 1/2 per cent peak in the summer of 1969.

Then it began to fall, reaching 6 1/2 per cent in December 1971, 5 1/2 per cent in December 1971, and a low of 4 1/2 per cent early this year.

"The rise in interest rates is a solid recovery in 1972, the rate being rising again. It was 5 per cent in April, 5 1/2 per cent in July, and now is 5 1/2 per cent.

"It's a foregone conclusion we'll have 6 per cent rates before the end of the year," said Robert Stovall of Reynolds Securities.

"This man is solely responsible for Connecticut's present woes," Cromie claims in the major campaign issue in the people of Connecticut versus Meskell.

No Credit Crunch Seen In Interest Rate Increases

By JOHN DORFMAN
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Interest rates are on the rise, but most economists remain confident there will be no repetition of the credit crunch which pinched the economy in 1969 and 1970.

Investors, apparently less confident, have sent the stock market reeling at every announced hike. News of prime rate hikes by major banks sent the Dow-Jones industrial average into a 12-point tailspin Aug. 24, and snapped a budding rally on Sept. 28.

With the adoption of a 5 1/2 per cent prime rate by the San Francisco's Bank of America, the nation's largest commercial bank, the 5 1/2 per cent prime became virtually universal - for the time being.

Why are investors so concerned about interest rates? For an answer, one need only go back to 1969.

Prime rates - the interest charged by banks on loans to their most creditworthy customers - were then at 8 1/2 per cent, the highest in the nation's history.

"Companies like the Bell Telephone system had to pay 9 1/2 per cent," recalled Tullford Gaines, an economist with Hillman, Inc., of a green thumb.

"Other companies with less credit had to pay 12 to 13 per cent - if they were lucky enough to be able to get money at all."

With no money available for expansion, many companies had to stagnate or cut back their operations. This in turn affected employment. Housing starts were at a low ebb as mortgage money cost around 10 per cent interest.

The crunch, Gaines said, was a function of a deliberate contraction

Heralding Politics

By Sol R. Cohen

Theresa Parla, a former town selectman and a member of the Democratic Town Committee, has been named to head the Manchester campaign to re-elect U. S. Rep. William R. Cotter, incumbent in the First Congressional District.

The Democrats have three women candidates and the Republicans none, among the six candidates from each party running for election in Manchester's two senate and four House districts.

The six Republican candidates consist of four from Manchester, one from East Hartford and one from South Windsor. The six Democratic candidates consist of two from Manchester, two from East Hartford, one from South Windsor and one from Glastonbury.

Cotter announced Wednesday he has signed the "Code of Fair Campaign Practices" and has urged the two other candidates for the First Congressional District seat to do likewise. The pledge condemns any appeal to prejudice or use of character defamation and innuendo and states a series of "do's and don't's."

Arthur Rittenband, the Republican candidate for the First District, has named Atty. John F. Shea Jr. of Manchester chairman of his advisory campaign committee and Arthur Guineas, a member of the Republican State Central Committee, former chairman of the Manchester GOP Town Committee and former Manchester town counsel and a former state representative. He is a member of the law firm of Martz, Shea and Keith.

Guineas, who lived in New York City and was graduated from Brooklyn College, moved to Manchester for the past 12 years. He resides at 62 Tracy Dr. Guineas is an instructor of marketing at Manchester Community College.

The Rittenband for Congress Committee has announced that Gov. Thomas Meskell will head a long list of top Republican officials who will attend a $60-per-person, fund-raising cocktail party for Rittenband Sunday, at the Tumblebrook Country Club in Bloomfield.

Carl Zinner of Manchester, GOP candidate in the Assembly District (part of East Hartford and part of Manchester), has appointed former Manchester Mayor Parr his campaign treasurer. Zinner is a former town director. Parr currently serves on the board.

Zinner announced also that he has appointed William Dunn and Joseph Vaglio, both of East Hartford, co-managers of his campaign. Dunn is the husband of Barbara Dunn, state commissioner of consumer protection. Vaglio was the leader of Citizens against 1-8 through East Hartford.

Mrs. Cile Decker of South Windsor, Democratic candidate in the 14th Assembly District (all of South Windsor and part of Manchester), has named David Cohen, a life-long resident of South Windsor, her campaign manager.

Cohen, a graduate of Central Connecticut State College, with a master's degree, is a former teacher. He now grows bedding plants and vegetables on his Main St. farm. He is a member of the South Windsor Board of Education and the South Windsor Democratic Town Committee.

Announcement has been made of a "Farmers for Steele" committee, headed by John Lyman of Middlefield and John Savage of Eastford and open to all farmers in eastern Connecticut.

U.S. Rep. Robert Steele of Vernon is seeking re-election from the Second Congressional District.

Democratic Sen. Frank Church of Id. was in Connecticut today on behalf of presidential candidate George McGovern and congressional candidate Roger Hanlon. The latter is seeking the seat held by Steele.

Sen. Church attended an airport rally in Trumbull.

Connecticut YR's (Young Republicans) are holding a champagne cocktail reception Saturday, from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Hartford Insurance Group Tower Suite, Champagne and cold duck hors d'oeuvres, coffee, tea and fruit punch.

CCLU Requests State Banks To Protect Customer Privacy

By Sol R. Cohen

HARTFORD (AP) - The Connecticut Civil Liberties Union Wednesday urged the state's largest banks to back the examination of customers' records by government agents without the customers' permission.

William Olds, CCCLU executive director, said that by opening records to police, FBI agents and congressional committee investigators, banks have played a "key role in the government's increasing surveillance of politically active citizens."

He urged the bank presidents in a letter to "declare publicly to their customers a firm commitment to honor the confidentiality of the information entrusted to them."

Banks should not allow access to individual and organizational records except in response to a subpoena, Olds said. He added that the banks should notify their customers of such action so the customers could attempt to block the release of the records by court action.

"In the ordinary course of his banking business a person discloses to his bank information pertaining to his personal, political and business life," Olds said, "information which most people themselves regard as private and believe to be honored by their banks as private."

"When a bank reveals this information to an outside party, it betrays the trust of its customers and commits a direct assault upon their right of privacy," Olds said.

Acupuncture Warning Issued
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A medical researcher has warned the American College of Surgeons against premature use of acupuncture anesthesia.

His remarks were prepared for delivery at the 58th annual ACS Clinical Congress here.

It is obvious that the key is the selection of location. Our study indicates that the painless area is not related to the selected location of acupuncture points," said Matsunaga.

"It depends on the entire body within hours. Too many acupuncture points reduces the effect of anesthesia."

Vernon Groups Seek Contributions For Portable Incubator
One doesn't have to be arrested this month to have a mug shot and fingerprints taken. Police will do it for 50 cents. And there needn't be a fire for that ride on a fire engine.

It's all part of an attempt by Vernon Police and Fire Departments, and the Ambulance Corps, who have joined with the Tri-City Merchants Association to raise money for a new portable incubator for Rockville General Hospital. The goal is $500.

The opening ceremonies for all these events will take place today at 6 p.m. at the Tri-City Plaza featuring remarks from the various agency heads and Vernon Mayor Frank McCoy. A safety poster contest for third and fourth graders in Vernon schools will be held during the month which has been designated "Safety Awareness Month."

Naturalists say that wolves have some good traits. They are monogamous, good parents and providers, loyal, brave, intelligent and inquisitive. By weeding the weak and unfit from wild animal herds, they upgrade the stock.

Tolland Young Democrats Endorse Thifault

Democratic town chairman Charles Thifault has received the endorsement of the local Young Democrats Club in his primary bid for state representative from the 3rd District.

Thifault filed petition papers containing approximately 400 signatures with the secretary of state last Friday, insuring the holding of the primary. Only 100 signatures were needed, according to Thifault. He is contesting the convention endorsement of Richard Cromie of Coventry.

The Young Dems endorsement, has been announced by club president Rudy Kowalski, and is based on an April endorsement of Thifault, after both he and Cromie had announced their intentions to seek the post.

In a statement released today, Kowalski notes, "The Young Democrats of Tolland realize the 3rd District needs a representative who will act with the best interests of people in mind." He cites Thifault's record as a "hard and diligent worker for the people in Tolland."

"We know the same type of loyalty and enthusiasm will be distributed to the towns of Coventry and Willington," Thifault has shown as selectman of Tolland where "although in the minority he has never given up the fight to support and help the people of Tolland."

Thifault has been confronting the people directly during his primary campaign, according to Kowalski, and is "giving direct answers" to the problems of the district.

Waterbury Business

WATERBURY (AP)—Pilgrim Airlines will discontinue passenger service at Oxford Airport Oct. 15, company President Joseph Fugere announced Wednesday.

He told Waterbury business leaders and officials of the 13 towns in the Waterbury metropolitan area that Pilgrim would like to resume operations at Oxford but would do so only if there are at least two improvements at the airport.

An instrument landing system (ILS) would have to be installed at Oxford and a connector road would have to be constructed between the airport and Interstate Highway 84, a distance of about two miles, before Pilgrim would return, he said.

Fugere said Pilgrim, which also serves the Connecticut airports in Groton and Trumbull, was lucky to average one passenger per flight to and from Oxford. He put much of the blame on the airport's facilities.

Louis Lipman, developer of the Sugar Hill 2 subdivision, met with the PZC regarding his revised plans for a 22-lot subdivision. The PZC recommended the cul de sac shown on the plans be extended to the property lines involved, that drainage be improved and that the grading on the lower road be altered. They reminded Lipman that several lots proposed are considered questionable by Griswold and Foss, adding that approval will be given on individual lots as they are improved.

Permission was granted to Lombardi and Associates for the conducting of percolation tests for a possible multiple family development on the corner of Rt. 195 and Baxter St. although the PZC declined to send Griswold and Foss on the test, until the time comes for approval of submitted site plans.

The PZC has written Henry Kreschko, developer of homes on Peter Green Rd. to install a pipe along the road as approved by the PZC previously, and to Eldredge yard regarding a trailer parked in the Dial Tense lounge parking lot.

Cable TV Challenge Dismissed

HARTFORD (AP)—The state Public Utilities Commission Wednesday dismissed a challenge by a group of community and religious leaders to the franchise of Waterbury's cable television firm.

The New Samaritan Corp. of Hartford and Congregational ministers and business civic leaders from Waterbury filed a petition in May asking the PUC to revoke the franchise of the Waterbury Antenna, Inc., which uses the call letters CATV.

Democratic U.S. Rep. John S. Monagan is a major stockholder in the firm.

The challengers contended the firm had violated state statutes by selling the controlling stock without the approval of the PUC. They also said the firm didn't meet a two-year deadline to provide cable television programs in the franchise area—Waterbury, Middletown and Plymouth.

The franchise certificate was granted in March 1967. The transfer of stock allegedly occurred between Jerrold Corp., which holds many cable television franchises and the Sammons Corp. of Dallas, Tex.

CATV contended that Jerrold Corp. only had an option to buy its stock and that no transfer was ever made to Sammons Corp.

The PUC noted that CATV has an option on an antenna site and that Jerrold Corp. has surveyed the broadcast area and has filed maps with the PUC of 30 miles of proposed cable lines.

McAuliffe Hit Nail on Head

Connecticut's lone representative in the American League playoffs with the Detroit Tigers, Dick McAuliffe, out of Farmington High, hit the nail right on the head when he talked at Yankee Stadium just after the All-Star Game break.

"Woody Fryman is right now the second best pitcher on the club. (No. 1 was Mickey Lolich, an 18-game winner at that second week in August). He could pitch us right into the World Series."

"Duke Sims is a helluva catcher. He can hit that ball. He's going to do a lot of catching for us during the second half of the season," he added.

When we talked, Fryman and Sims had just joined the Tigers. The former was to make his first start on the mound against the Yankees. All Mr. Fryman did was keep the New Yorkers off the scorecard, winning a six-hitter, 6-0.

He had just been acquired from the last place Philadelphia Phillies in the National League where he had an undistinguished 4-10 win-loss record. Fryman was claimed on waivers for in excess of $50,000. It was a worthwhile investment for the big outpour proceeded to win 10 of 13 decisions including Tuesday night's divisional clincher.

Sims was almost an automatic out with the Los Angeles Dodgers, a third-string catcher with a batting average under .100. He was a life-saver in more ways than one. First off, he spelled Bill Freehan in doubleheaders and then worked his way into the lineup against left-handed pitchers. He also filled the bill as a pinch-hitter.

When Freehan suffered a hairline fracture of a finger on his throwing hand, Sims moved into every-day status and wound up with a better than .300 batting average.

There isn't any question, Manager Billy Martin's Tigers would not have won the division without Fryman and Sims. McAuliffe's crystal-balling, it turned out, was just perfect.

Notes from the Baseball Beat

Sports have a day of evening up. Six years ago the Boston Red Sox edged the Detroit Tigers on the final day of the season to gain the American League championship and a shot against St. Louis in the World Series. That was in 1967, remember?

This time around the show was on the other foot and the Tigers wound up winning the A.L.'s Eastern Division on the next to the last day of the season.

One will never know, but the baseball strike which delayed the start of the major league season might just have been the edge the Tigers needed to beat out Boston.

Detroit played one more game than Boston and with one more victory than the Red Sox could gain that half game was the difference between being No. 1 and No. 2.

Boston has no one to blame but themselves for losing out to the Tigers. The club was in the driver's seat going into Baltimore and Detroit for the final two seasons but it just wasn't in the cards for a divisional flag to be flying over Fenway Park next season.

How did my pre-season pennant picks fare? Oakland was tabbed in the West, Baltimore in the East in the American League while Los Angeles and Pittsburgh were the National League choices. That's 5-0, which isn't half bad.

Detroit was tabbed No. 2 in the A.L. East last April with Cincinnati, the N.L. West champ, selected as runner-up in the division.

Playoff winners, from this crystal ball, are Pittsburgh and Oakland with the Pirates going on to repeat as World Series champions.

End of the Line

Long-time manager and sponsor of Manchester Green baseball and basketball teams, Joe Hubbard will be called front and center Saturday night at the annual West Side Old Timers' reunion at the Garden Grove. Tickets are still available from Bill Pagan. Fran Mahoney reports a crowd of 175 is expected. Boston Celtics have announced special group ticket plans at reduced rates in effect. Parties of at least 20 will be taken care of under this promotion. Bob Kennedy, veteran UConn varsity cross-country coach will be after his 100th career win Saturday in an unique situation. The UConn varsity squad will be split up with Kennedy taking one to Vermont while Assistant Coach Bill Kelleher will handle another in a meet at Tufts. Did you hear about the East Hartford High football player who attacked an official in a recent game and was only set down for one month? No decision was reached in the Somers-East Windsor High soccer game this week when the Somers coach took his team off the field after officials banished three players for fighting.

Surgery Set for Marichal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — PITCHER Juan Marichal and third baseman Jim Ray Hart of the San Francisco Giants will undergo surgery next Monday at Stanford Medical Center.

The baseball team announced Thursday that Marichal, bothered all season by a sore back, will be operated on for correction of a disc in the lower back. The 33-year-old right hander, who has won 20 games in six seasons, was 6-16 this year.

Hart, who has a history of injuries, will undergo knee sur-

Oakland's Vida Blue Owes Tigers Thanks

OAKLAND (AP) — Vida Blue owes the Detroit Tigers a thank you.

By reaching the American League playoffs, which open here Saturday, they saved him from a certain one-week demotion to the Oakland A's bullpen. As it stands, Blue is only a tentative starter for the A's in the best-of-five series.

"I'd like to start," says Blue. "But, you know, it's been that type of year. When you're hot, you're hot. When you're not, you're not." The 23-year-old left-hander was the hottest pitcher in his baseball last year, finishing 24-8 in his first full big league season. This season, he pitched hot and cold after a late start caused by his contract holdout against A's Owner Charles O. Finley.

Blue's 6-10 record this year was the worst among A's starters. So was his 2.80 earned run average. Manager Dick Williams plans to start Blue in the fourth game of the playoff, if necessary, in Detroit. But the A's trail two games to one at that point, first-game starter Jim "Catfish" Hunter 2-1 may be used instead.

Williams had planned to use only three starters—leaving Blue in the bullpen—if the Boston Red Sox had beaten Detroit in the East. Boston's Fenway Park, with its close left field fence, is a horror chamber for left-handed pitchers, as Williams—erows from

Mets Tops at Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The New York Mets led the National League in attendance in 1972, as overall league attendance dropped because of the strike-shortened season. The Mets drew 2,134,185, third highest in the league's history but 1,785,734 less than last year.

He said the figures were gratifying in view of the fact the league played 41 fewer games than last year and neither of the pennant races in either division was overly exciting. The Mets drew 2,134,185, the fourth consecutive year the club has topped the two million mark.

Los Angeles had 1,860,858 spectators for second spot, and Cincinnati was third with 1,611,459, the club's second-highest total ever.

Aging Heroes with Bucs

Mazeroski, Pagan Will Be on Bench

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bill Mazeroski and Joe Pagan, who've both known the thrill of World Series-winning hits, will likely spend the coming National League playoffs on the bench.

The two aging heroes of the Pittsburgh Pirates have given way to younger players and seem destined for pinch-hit duty at best against the Cincinnati Reds.

"Maz," the second baseman whose epic homer won the 1960 series for Pittsburgh, played in just 34 regular season games and batted .188. He's already said this will be his last year.

Pagan, who doubled home the winning run against Baltimore in the last game of the 1971 Series, is no longer the club's prime utility man.

"They fit into our plans mainly as pinch-hitters," said Pirate Manager Bill Virdon, once a teammate of both players. "Of course, it's just a day to day thing. It could change."

"I'm ready to play," Mazeroski said after a drill at Three Rivers Stadium.

Though he has grown pudgy with inactivity, Mazeroski may yet have the quickest doubleplay throw in baseball and there's still gold in this tattered glove.

"Of course, the only way they'll probably need me is if somebody gets hurt," said the soft-spoken Ohioan. "And that's exactly what we don't want to happen."

Pagan, at 37 is a year older than Mazeroski, doesn't figure to play much third base with Richie Hebner and Bob Robertson ahead of him.

"I haven't played much, but I have been taking batting practice and doing a lot of running," he said. "If the manager needs me, I'll play."

Pagan, who broke an arm last season, made the Pirate team this spring after losing 15 pounds over the winter. He has not yet decided his future plans.

"I'll wait until the season is over and then give it some thought," said the native Puerto Rican.

Though both Mazeroski and Pagan stand to gain much financially from the playoffs as any regular, they admitted something is missing.

Mazeroski summed it up best when he said, "You just don't get that excited when you're not playing."

Brewers Reassign Catcher Lane

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers have replaced controversial Frank Lane as director of baseball operations, while insisting he still figures prominently in their plans.

Jim Wilson, who pitched a no-hitter for the Milwaukee Braves in 1954, was promoted from head of scouting and player development to Lane's slot — in effect the general manager.

Lane, 73, will stay on as a vice president and special assignment scout.

They were the two major changes in a sweeping front office reorganization announced by president Alan H. "Bud" Selig at a news conference Thursday.

The Brewers finished the season last in their division of the American League — a second straight year as home attendance plunged 131,000 to just over 600,000. However, Selig emphasized the shift "is in no way a criticism of Frank Lane or a minimizing of the outstanding work he has done."

"The first thought on my mind is how do you go about trying to replace a legend?" Wilson said. "Certainly Frank Lane is a

MIDGETS PLAY Battle of Undeclared Clash in New Britain

The halfway mark in the Manchester Midget Football League will be reached tonight at Mt. Noto when the Windsor Jets (0-2) challenge the Patriots (1-1) in the first game starting at 6:30.

In the second tilt the unbeaten Chargers (2-0) go against the Patriots (1-1) at 7:30. The Jets are 0-2, the Chargers are 2-0.

Brad Parlinian, loop president, reports a marked improvement in the behavior of the younger fans due to increased policing and increased supervision by parents at the games.

The University of Bridgeport, 3-0 for the season and owner of the nation's longest winning streak, 13 victories, visits Central Connecticut State College in New Britain.

"We feel there's no question that Bridgeport will be the best team we've played so far," says Lyle Eastman, coach of the Jets, whose team also sports a 3-0 season record. "They're a power offense with an excellent receiver in Cornell. I think it's going to be a real physical game."

Until the action starts, says Lyle Eastman, "But, one started, he can be a murderer, and certainly is the key figure in their long victory streak. He calls the play and says 'I'll win it, I'll win it, I'll win it.'"

UB Coach Ed Farrell denies the pressure is mounting on his Purple Knights to keep their lengthy streak going. He calls the upcoming match "a tough ball game" and says if UB wins, it will "just make four in a row."

"We're not concerned with winning our 14th game," he said. "We're concerned with beating Central Connecticut."

He calls his own offense "fairly balanced," noting that the Purple Knights have gained 870 yards in their first three games, 491 yards of which came on rushes.

Yale, fresh from a 28-7 season opener last weekend over the University of Connecticut, hosts Colgate at the Yale Bowl Saturday. The Elis have never lost two straight to the Red Raiders so they've got extra incentive in trying to avenge their 28-21 defeat last season.

Yale will have to harness Colgate's explosive wishbone attack which earned 371 yards on the ground last year for the New York team. The Elis were ahead 21-7 in the third quarter but Colgate roared back with one in the final quarter.

The University of Connecticut re-enters the Yankee Conference Saturday, traveling to the University of New Hampshire. Both UConn and the Wildcats have 1-1 records.

UConn Coach Bob Casciola has called the contest "pivotal" for the Huskies, noting that "it's tough to come back from a loss in a big game like Yale, and the records prove New Hampshire to be tough for us."

In other games in the state, Trinity, with one loss and no wins, will be at Wesleyan and Western Connecticut hosts Plymouth State College.

In road games, Southern Connecticut will be at Springfield and Coast Guard travels to Norwich University.

Team, Coach Win Skeins On Line Here Tomorrow

By Dean Yost

Striving to remain undefeated and stay atop the CCIL football standings will be the goal of the Manchester High Indians Saturday when they host Wethersfield High at Memorial Field in a 1:30 contest. But also an important factor that Tribe coach, Dave Wiggins, will be seeking his 100th career victory that spans over 18 seasons.

Crosstown, East Catholic High's Coach Cliff Demers stated, "Psychologically for us, this is an important game. Following Saturday's contest with St. Bernard's, we take a two-week break. It's always nice to come off a break with a victory. It has the players a big boost." East travels to Uncasville for the HCC tilt. The Eagles sport a 0-2 conference mark while the hosts are 1-1.

"We had the best week of practice since the start of the season," noted Demers. "They say a good week of practice is followed by a victory. The players and our coaching staff both feel that we are capable of defeating St. Bernard."

"Two of our freshmen, Cephus Nolen and brother Mike, will see a considerable amount of action in the backfield," Demers added. "Joe Davin will return to the lineup, but for how long is questionable," the coach remarked.

The grass seems a little different at Manchester High where Wiggins' mini troops have turned back two strong conference foes in impressive fashion.

The Indians enter the contest sporting a 2-0 CCIL record while Wethersfield, losers to Conard High, boast a 2-1 mark. "Wethersfield is in full strength and it is beginning to shape up to be a real interesting ball game," Wiggins commented. "The Eagles' Bob Burton is probably the best back in the league. He can do everything," Wiggins said. "Our defense, once again will have to rise to the occasion."

Despite a camera malfunction Saturday, Wiggins secured the films from Platt and noted, "Our offensive blocking was 100 per cent better than it was against Maloney. Everyone was doing their job."

Dave McCann will return as the Tribe's regular center, following an injury that sidelined him for a week. The only doubtful starter is John Murphy. "We are going to miss him," Wiggins noted, "He's been outstanding in both games as a defensive end."

The big task for the visiting Wethersfield squad is to attempt to corral the Indians' backfield duo of Steve Samiotti and the hard running Dave Fleishman. If the ground game fails, Rick Milka is capable of putting the ball into the air effectively.

Weekend Picks — Despite the weather conditions, Manchester will defeat Wethersfield in a close one, 21-14. East Catholic, pulling it all stops before the break, will down St. Bernard, 14-12.

Top-Rated USC Faces Acid Test

It is this week that the top-ranked Southern California Trojans are due for a fall in college football?

The Trojans, untied Trojans take their No. 1 national ranking and Rose Bowl hopes on the road to battle Stanford, a team that has upset them two straight years.

The Trojans are a big favorite to make it five in a row, but in the wake of last week's upsets of Colorado and Tennessee anything could happen in this game that headlines another hectic Saturday on college grids.

One thing is sure. The Cardinal, as 16th-ranked Stanford now is known, are primed to make it three straight over the Trojans.

To get up more for USC, commented Coach Jack Christensen. Michigan State, routed 51-6 last week by USC, will try and rebound at home against seventh-ranked Notre Dame in the nationally televised game of the week.

Colorado, which dropped from third to 12th in this week's Associated Press rankings after losing to Oklahoma State, goes against Kansas State while 10th-ranked Texas leads Boston last week by Auburn, takes on Memphis State.

Third-ranked Ohio State plays at California. No. 4 Alabama is at Georgia. No. 5 Michigan, entertains Navy. No. 8 Louisiana State is at Rice and No. 9 Texas hosts Utah State.

In games involving the AP Second Ten, Oregon is at No. 11 Washington, Florida is at No. 13 Florida State, Arizona is at No. 14 UCLA. No. 16 Penn State is at Illinois. No. 18 Mississippi meets No. 17 Auburn at Jackson, Miss. and the Air Force. No. 19 is at Colorado State.

Second-ranked Oklahoma, No. 6 Nebraska, and No. 20 Iowa State have an open date.

Missouri is at Oklahoma State, Arkansas is at Wisconsin, New Mexico at Wyoming, Columbia at Princeton, Pitt at Tulane, Arkansas at Texas Christian and Oregon games at Arizona State in other states.
