Solons Assess Peace Proposal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"To me this is good news," Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said Thursday of presidential aide Henry Kissinger's announcement that peace in Vietnam is at hand. "I've been for the end of the Vietnam war for years," the senator added. "I'm glad it is ending."

Asked whether the news would help President Nixon's re-election bid, Ribicoff said, "I would expect, if we had a definite peace by election day, this would be a plus for President Nixon. I'm also convinced that if it had not been for George McGovern's making an issue out of Vietnam and pushing it, an agreement would not have been reached at this time."

"It seems to me that an agreement of this nature could have been reached years ago," Ribicoff said. "It is unfortunate that so many lives have been lost in these years."

Ribicoff also said South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu "has no alternative but to give in to American pressure. In the final analysis he is a creature of American foreign policy."

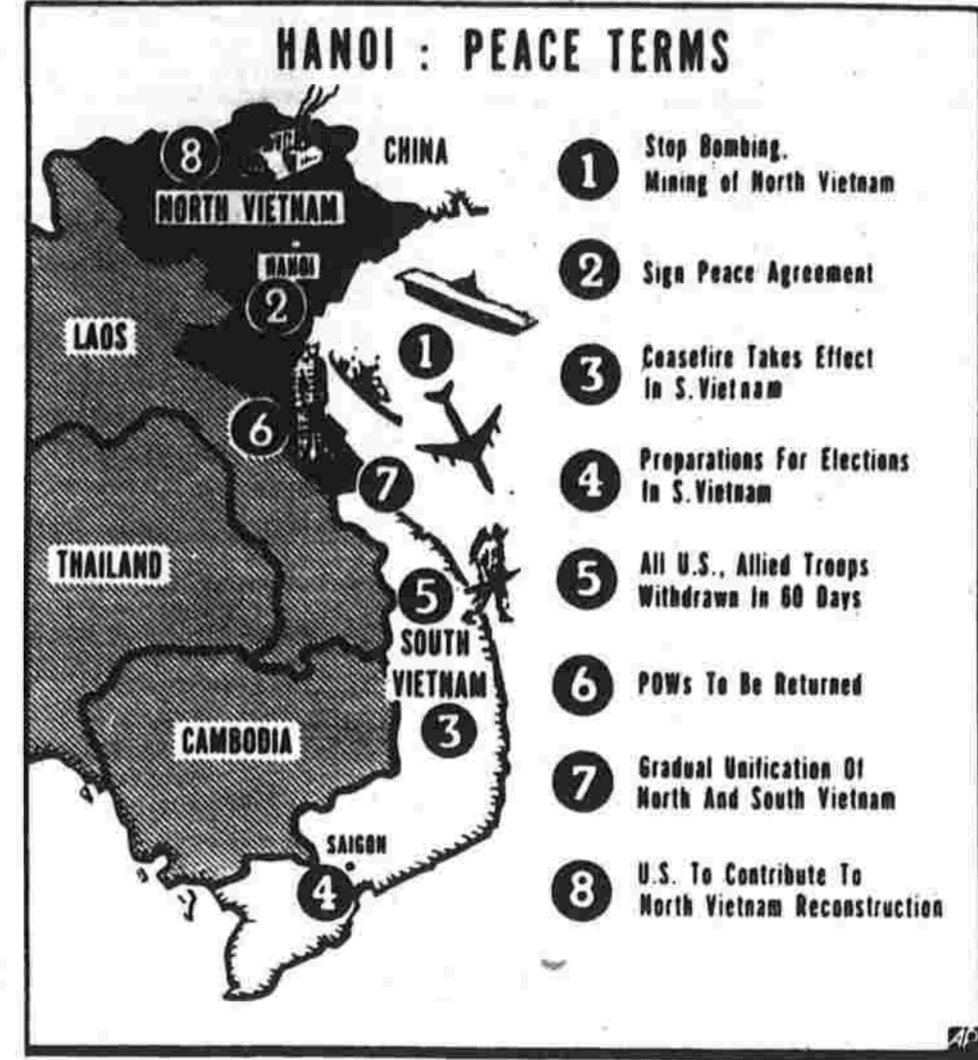

Democratic state Chairman John M. Bailey, asked if the Kissinger announcement doomed the presidential campaign of McGovern, said, "No, I think that George McGovern is very much in the race."

Bailey said he was "very happy" at the news it is near an end.

Rep. Robert N. Giaino, D-Conn., said, "I hope it is so and I hope it comes as quickly as possible." He commended Kissinger and President Nixon for their peace efforts.

Fifth District Congressman John S. Monagan also welcomed "any substantial move toward achieving peace in Vietnam."

"It is not completely clear what

Peace Prospect Reaction Varied Among Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On the heels of reports that an end of the Vietnam war is near, President Nixon says 1972 "is perhaps seeing more progress toward true peace than any time since World War II."

But Democratic challenger George McGovern greeted announcements of an imminent Vietnam settlement by asking that the President explain why it took "another four years to put an end to this tragic war."

Responding to statements from Hanoi of a cease-fire agreement and from presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger that "peace is at hand," candidates had this to say:

—Nixon said he is confident the nation can succeed in obtaining

"peace with honor and not peace with surrender. There are still some differences to be resolved. I believe they will be resolved."

—McGovern: "I hope that these reports of a peace settlement prove to be correct... But the question that haunts my mind... is this: Why, Mr. Nixon, did you take another four years to put an end to this tragic war?"

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said he will make no further mention of Vietnam in his campaign speeches. "I don't want to put the administration in the position where some nounce in what I say will seem to conflict to what Henry Kissinger said."

—Democratic vice-presidential nominee Sargent Shriver: "The United States will realize that this

Peace Settlement Signing Hinges On Final Negotiating Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States waited for a direct signal from Hanoi to open the last round of secret talks that Kissinger promised. "The agreement could bring peace to Vietnam in a matter of weeks, or less."

The presidential adviser, saying "peace is at hand," said an agreement is within sight, "I think it will be done by the end of the week."

But in Saigon, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu raised questions today about just how near at hand peace might be in Indochina, and North Vietnam also cast doubts on a quick settlement.

In London, meantime, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said that, in line with Kissinger's promise to North Vietnam, U.S. warplanes have halted all bombing operations on that nation north of the 20th Parallel.

Although American mines in Haiphong harbor are included in the U.S. military activities above the 20th Parallel, Laird declined, at a news conference to say when the mines might be deactivated or how long the process would take.

Kissinger said the North Vietnamese were asked last Sunday to set the time and place for setting the ambiguities that arose in the push to meet a Hanoi-requested rush timetable.

Opposes Delay

North Vietnam said today, however, it had rejected prolonging of the negotiations and Washington must bear "full responsibility for the fact that the already complete peace agreement has not been signed."

The statement came in the form of an editorial in the official newspaper Nhan Dan, but it did not mention Kissinger, and it was not immediately clear whether it was a response to his comments.

The statement, broadcast by radio Hanoi, said all conditions of an agreement to end the fighting have been agreed to and North Vietnam is ready to sign the agreement with the United States.

In his first public reaction to the Kissinger announcement,

GI Reactions Reflect Change In U.S. Role

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — "I never thought my plans would be screwed up by a cease-fire," said Sgt. Steven R. Lawrence of Portland, Mich.

"Vietnam is better than stateside duty. I work in the PX. You don't have to do anything. I enjoy it, and as long as I've got to stay in the Army I'd prefer to do it here. I just volunteered for another six months here."

The 21-year-old post exchange clerk said he woke up to a broadcast of presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger's news conference and "thought it was still a dream."

Spec. 4 Roy Pablo, 19, of Talofoto, Guam, said he would like to spend eight more months in Vietnam to finish out his one-year tour.

"I like it here," he confessed. "We aren't fighting any war at Long Binh. I've never been outside the base, and I've never seen a Viet Cong in my four months here. We get a swimming pool, movies, so what's to dislike?"

Lawrence, Pablo and many other GIs at this largest American base in Vietnam found it hard to believe that a cease-fire might be imminent. Some thought it was "politician's talk before the election."

"It'll be great if it goes through, but I'll believe it when it

Court Order Ends Strike

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut construction sites are humming with activity today as striking laborers return to work under the shadow not only of tall steel girders but also a federal court order.

The strikers walked off their jobs Monday in a dispute over a so called union dues checkoff system which contractors claim is illegal.

A guarantee that the laborers would return to work today came Thursday night from Arthur Cole, an international vice president of the Laborers' Union.

He responded positively after receiving documentation of a temporary restraining order from U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal. The order brought an end to the walkout by some 12,000 laborers whose strike brought to a grinding halt virtually all the state's major construction projects.

Union officials were summoned to appear in court Monday to answer contractors' charges in their quest for a permanent injunction against the strike.

Blumenthal's order followed separate requests by the two major contractors associations, the Connecticut Construction Industries Association and the Associated General Contractors of Connecticut, Inc.

The contractors continued to claim that the checkoff not only is illegal but also that the Laborers' Unit Board in Washington had no jurisdiction recommending it.

Under the checkoff, 10 cents would be deducted by the contractors for each hour an employe worked. This would be paid directly to the union for what it claims would pay the regular union dues for unemployed members.

Contractors say the union only wants the money to strengthen itself.

The contractors and the union have a pact due to expire in March 1973 and under the terms of the agreement, any the employes, Monday's strike was illegal because the pact contains a no-strike clause.

Also, the checkoff system is not in that contract which can't be altered now, said the contractors.

Food Cost Decline Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid less for beef last month because of a slide in cattle prices and the first dip in midwestern markets since last June, the Agriculture Department said today.

The September retail price of beef, a key indicator in the cost of living, was slightly less than $1.13 per pound on an all-cut basis, including hamburger as well as steak.

That was almost three cents less than in August and 4.4 cents cheaper than the record high in July. In August, however, the price spread—the markup—from cattlemen to consumers was a record 44.8 cents per pound.

Last month, according to a "market basket" report on U.S. farm products food, the midwestern share for beef was 43.3 cents per pound, a decline of 3.3 per cent in a month.

South Windsor Hears Candidates' Views

Opinions on current campaign issues were discussed at a "Next Year Candidates" session last night at the Town Hall in which 30 residents turned out to hear 14th Senatorial District candidates, incumbent Republican David Odgard of Manchester and Mrs. Estelle Flanagan of Clintonbury, a Democrat; and 14th Assembly District candidates from South Windsor, Mrs. Cle Decker (D) and G. Warren Westbrook (R).

Drugs, busing, income tax and abortion were the issues the people were most concerned. On drugs, Odgard said the greatest relief assistance lies in law enforcement with fewer suspended sentences of known users and severer. He called for a "get tough" policy and recognition of the severity of the drug problem by all persons in the state. He cited the work being done voluntarily at the Portland Correction Camp that maintains a "grow and go" attitude and felt this was the most promising way to overcome the problem as opposed to Mrs. Flanagan's proposal to use one-third of the state lottery money for rehabilitation of drug addicts and alcoholics. Mrs. Flanagan felt it was a very little to help a person get well.

On the same issue, Westbrook said he was asked by high school students if he favored legal use of marijuana which he countered with, he would not consider any "pot shops" where one can buy drugs like alcohol, since the effects of the drug is unknown to doctors today. Mrs. Decker said she would work for penalization of drug pushers. Mrs. Decker said she had favored the Project Concern program and at the present time it is the only program in operation. Claiming it is not known that the program is a success or failure at the present time, she said she still felt it was a step in a direction. All other candidates said they opposed the concept of busing by color and that neighborhood schools had much more to offer. On state income tax, Odgard said the bill defeated in the legislature, in his opinion, was disastrous to middle income people. Mrs. Flanagan and Westbrook opposed it and Mrs. Decker said she would not support it but would call for a tax reform as the sales tax is a difficult burden and is the highest in the country, 7 per cent on the dollar. First to speak her views on abortion was Mrs. Decker who like Mrs. Flanagan, Catholics and mothers, felt the emotional impact in this issue. Mrs. Decker said she would consider many factors, but felt the problem should be between doctor and women and the abortion laws should be made legal to remove illicit abortion in the country. Mrs. Flanagan said she would defer comment until she had polled electors and would vote accordingly by their comments. Westbrook said he felt it was between a woman and her doctor, and Odgard said he had voted against the "abortion on demand" bill.

Westbrook cautioned everyone on the effects of revenue sharing, calling it a political "carrot", if he did not believe in paying taxes to receive only 75 per cent of what was paid, back for needed items. He said that excessive control was placed on buildings sought through revenue sharing, but Mrs. Decker said the control as to size of classrooms, etc. was good as guidelines. Mrs. Flanagan, making her first bid for the legislature, said she had talked with young people who expressed concern with older citizens, while the older citizens were concerned with the young, a healthy sign. In consumer protection, Mrs. Flanagan said she would ask for see-through packaging, dated cans, not on labels where they could be changed, would work to reduce the sales tax, and to have the tax age on clothing moved up to the age 15 rather than at ten. In education she said vocational schools should be expanded for students who don't want to go to college but were interested in learning a trade and would be happy working at it. She said she would ask for truth in advertising laws whereby a pet-in-gone-to-a-store for a sale item early in the morning, will find the item available to him. On reapportionment, she said it should be handled by referees and retired judges; aid to parochial schools, she would derive a formula to assist parents with costs as public schools pay $1,000 per child in the system, with no aid to parochial schools. Odgard attacked the Attorney General's office for the slow action it has given to information for environmental betterment supplied by protective agencies. In consumer protection he cited the labeling of generic drugs which were being sold by brand names instead of chemical names, as one of the major accomplishments in the area.

Westbrook, writer of the first bill on tax relief for the elderly, said he said he felt the elderly willing to pay their fair share and did not want charity. He said in order to get a bill passed, liens were placed on homes of the elderly sought through revenue sharing. He said he felt the elderly were suffering most with the capital gains tax if they sell their home and move into an apartment adding that he would work to relieve taxes on fixed incomes. He also said he felt the state should not get into private industry to subsidize a privately owned company when he was asked about the state's role with the privately owned bus firm. Westbrook suggested the state purchase coupons and sell them to the commuters at a reduced price. He felt this would be indirectly subsidizing the companies and directly subsidizing the commuters. He said he would call for bold new studies for mass transit which would include the possible use of monorails to assist in the mass transit problems. Mrs. Decker felt Governor Thomas Meskill shirked his responsibilities to mass transit when he vetoed legislation because it "didn't go his way."

"We can't afford a rubber stamp government — a government by crises," she concluded.

Vernon Notes

Special Ballot Deadline Monday

Monday will be the last day that unregistered residents may apply for special presidential absentee ballots. This will enable those who qualify, but missed the Oct. 14 session, to vote for the offices of president and vice president only.

According to Town Clerk Henry Butler, a resident whose 18th birth date is Nov. 8, the day after election, may also use this privilege by applying no later than Monday. Applications for these ballots are available at the town clerk's office in the Memorial Building, Park Place. Butler said this method does not automatically make these persons voters. They must apply for this "after" the election. He emphasized that Monday's deadline concerns only the unregistered residents.

The deadline for registering absentee ballots is the day before the election, Nov. 6. Anyone wishing further information should contact the town clerk's office.

School Lunches

The following lunches will be served in the Vernon schools next week:

Monday: Hamburg on roll, potato puffs, apple cole slaw, peas.

Tuesday: Shells with meat sauce, wax beans, roll and butter and applesauce.

Wednesday: Beef hash, catsup, buttered toast, corn bread and butter and fruit jello.

Thursday: School in session holiday, no school.

Friday: Fish square, tartar sauce, buttered noodles, mixed vegetables, bread and butter and pineapple.

Art Awards

Mrs. June Linton of White St., Rockville, received the "Best of Show" award and first place in the watercolor category, at the 26th annual art exhibit held by the Tolland County Art Association.

The best-of-show award was made for an oil, titled "Reflection," and the watercolor was titled, "Unfilled."

The Walter Kiar award for the most realistic painting went to Dolores Perault of Vernon for her work titled, "The Glad Pitcher." First, second and third place awards in the oil category, went to Priscilla Souder (first and second) and Trudy Lewis (third). Three awards in acrylics went to Viola Sobol, Jeanne Pehovich and Doreen Baub. The second and third watercolor awards went to Rita Kenway and Marilyn Williams.

In the sculpture category the top awards went to Lloyd Talbot, (first two) and third, Joanne Amsten. In the mixed media, awards went to Doreen Baub, Helen Velch and Peg Wintner.

Honorable mentions were awarded to Jeanne Pehovich for an acrylic; Sue Bourne, watercolor and Madeleine Clugh, a pink alabaster sculpture, plus a slate etching by Paul Whankat.

Bazaar Judges

The deadline for entering the sewing contest being held in conjunction with the "Merry Old Days" bazaar of the First Congregational Church of Vernon, is Nov. 8. Miss Cora Webb of the Tolland County Extension Service and Miss Evelyn Patrick, president of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce, have been appointed as judges for the contest.

Any type of wearing apparel sewn by the contestant can be entered in the contest and anyone wishing to register should do so by contacting Mrs. Richard Eichacker or by calling the church office. There will be two categories, one for 18-year-olds and over and one for 18-year-olds and under. The judging will take place at the Kellie Hall of the church, on Nov. 10 at 1 p.m. On Nov. 11 the entries will be modeled at a luncheon and prizes will be awarded.

Also to be held in conjunction with the bazaar, which is being sponsored by the Women's Fellowship, will be a baking contest under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alcide LaChapelle. There will be divisions for pies, cakes, breads and coffee cakes. Entries must be at the church by noon on Nov. 10. After the judging, the baked goods will be auctioned at a tasting supper on Friday night. Reservations for the supper may be made by calling Mrs. John Lacey and for the luncheon, Mrs. Donald O'Leary or the church office. Mrs. Edward Bruce is general chairman of the bazaar which will open at 9:30 a.m. on Nov. 11.

Shopping Center Faces Three Court Appeals

NEW HAVEN (AP) - Three separate court appeals have been filed in an attempt to block construction of shopping center costing more than $50 million. Owners of property near the site proposed site of the center, along with the nearby Hamden Plaza Shopping complex, claim in their appeals that the town's Planning and Zoning Commission illegally moved the land for the project.

Developers of the center, which would be called Hamden Square, won the rezoning last year by a 3-2 zoning commission vote.

But the Court of Common Pleas ruled that the degree of

Revenue Sharing Fairness Is Moot

With the ink hardly dry on the revenue sharing bill, doubts are already being raised — not about the wisdom of a deficit-ridden federal government distributing taxpayer funds ($8.3 billion the first year) to local governments but about the fairness of it all.

The final formula hammered out between the Senate and the House of Representatives bases each community's share on how many people live in it, how much federal income tax they pay and on the community's tax valuation.

This, the critics contend, tends to favor communities with many wealthy residents and a strong industrial tax base over communities with low-income families and low industry.

As one Ohio county commissioner puts it, revenue sharing "is making the affluent (communities) more affluent, and the others will still have to just struggle along."

In his particular county, the county government will receive about $7.6 million. Allocations to cities within the country range from a little over $757,000 for the largest down to $7,549.

Most counties and large cities, while inevitably saying they would like more money, seem to be grateful for any windfall they may get. It is among the smaller cities and towns, where differences in resident income and tax valuation are most marked, that the most dissatisfaction is found.

Officials in one midwestern community, for example, are protesting that a neighboring community, with approximately the same population but with a higher tax valuation and fewer low-income families, is slated to receive four times as much revenue-sharing money as they are.

The situation is not unlike family heirs squabbling over the will of a rich uncle. In this case, the uncle is named Sam.

The Crisis In Chile

In the two years since Marxist Salvador Allende became President, he has brought Chile to the verge of ruin and revolution.

Allende's efforts to socialize the government have dissipated the trade surplus that existed when he took office and poured gasoline on the fires of inflation.

The cost of living has doubled this year and growing food shortages may force rationing. Chile, despite its potential productive capacity, depends upon imports for much of its food and other consumer goods.

Allende's reforms in practice have reduced productivity on the farm, in the fishing fleets, the copper mines and hurt foreign trade.

Companies large and small have been driven to the wall by government-fixed prices and government-raised wages. The working people, despite whopping pay increases, can't keep up with the skyrocketing cost of living.

Coins have vanished from circulation and paper escudos gyrate wildly. Foreign visitors are required to buy escudos at the rate of $10 a day for the length of their stay. The official exchange rate is 45.95 escudos to the dollar. The black market, which thrives despite severe penalties, ranges from 200 to 300 escudos to the dollar.

Shopkeepers find themselves in an intolerable situation. Unable to prosper under government controls and inflation, they closed their doors with alacrity when the trucks struck. Rightists insist they stay closed; leftists demand they open, and the army is threatening to reopen them under government requisitioning.

The army, which is the key to power, is traditionally dedicated to support constitutional government and has not seized power since 1931.

Allende was elected to serve until 1976 but if the present desperate situation worsens, it is probable he will be forced to resign. This might avoid a military take-over and dictatorship and is the course preferred by freedom-loving Chileans.

Meanwhile, the emergency spreads and clashes with the authorities continue. Chileans are learning the hard way that Communism doesn't work and is incompatible with freedom.

You Can Forget The Alamo

It was a wildly dramatic scene, superbly staged, written and directed.

The candidate stood high on the rostrum in front of the Alamo. The frenzied crowd shouted his name under the pale Texas moon. A strategically placed spotlight cast his giant shadow across the crumbling facade of the heroic shrine.

The candidate's speech writers had provided him with pasted-inflammatory words entwining his fighting campaigns with the historic monument — presumably winding up with the battle call, "Remember the Alamo."

Unfortunately, The Candidate forgot.

"And unfortunately, too, for lovers of wildly exciting drama, the candidate was George McGovern.

of those in the back were talking to each other. After twenty some being drifting away. When it was over, the cheers rang out.

His enthusiasts up front, who had waited three hours for him, cheered and applauded whenever he gave them a chance. But those in the back of the crowd — those who had come to see for themselves — stood with their arms folded.

A middle-aged man slouched against a tree, his coat over his shoulder, chewing his thumb. A teen-aged girl knelt on a car roof, blowing bubble gum. Three stout black women sat stolidly on a park as though waiting for a bus — as though waiting for a bus to nowhere.

The voice rose and fell, rose and fell. After ten minutes, many

Snowmobile Restrictions

Connecticut snowmobile enthusiasts will find land available for their use reduced this year with the termination by Vermont and New Hampshire of the "open door policy" it had with Connecticut.

Citing concern for the environment, the two states to the north thus end recognition of Connecticut snowmobile registrations. Non-resident registrations would still be available for a $5 fee.

One of the new tight laws instituted in Vermont's crackdown on out-of-state snowmobiles should be studied by the Connecticut Legislature. It requires non-residents towing a snowmobile to have written permission of the landowner if they claim to have been invited to ride on privately owned property.

Snowmobilers are increasing in popularity by leaps and bounds, but the right of the private landowner should not be forgotten. Required written permission such as that instituted in Vermont will insure that the land is not abused and that in the excitement of the sport, the snowmobile enthusiast does not infringe on the rights of landowners. ### Vote for Jacobs

To the editor:
On Nov. 7, the Manchester voters will go to the polls to cast their vote for the man of their choice in our national election. At the same time, Manchester voters will be electing, among others, a new judge of probate. Our present judge, the Honorable John J. Walllett, has decided to retire after 45 years of truly dedicated service. His shoes will be hard to fill.

However, I firmly believe the Republicans have nominated a man who will give the people of Manchester the type of service they have come to expect under Judge Walllett's tenure. He is attorney Ronald J. Jacobs and Manchester can count itself fortunate in having such a candidate.

From my dealings with Ron, both personal and professional, I have the utmost confidence that he will maintain the high standards set by his predecessor. Time and again, he has demonstrated to me both legal acumen and human understanding; traits one must possess for this most important office. As evidenced by his campaign pledge, Ron Jacobs will be responsive to the office and to the people of Manchester.

My best wishes to Judge Walllett in his retirement and I urge the voters of Manchester to cast their vote for Ron Jacobs as his successor.

Sincerely yours,

Jay Rockefeller vs. McGovernism

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — The extent to which the pervasive political disease of McGovernism now infects all Democratic candidates across the nation is astonishingly evident here where one of the brightest new Democratic stars is fighting for his political life.

Thus, while John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV tries to keep his campaign for governor on the broad-and-bitter issues of worker's compensation, unemployment and inflation, he is peppered with pointed questions about abortion, amnesty, marijuana and other symptoms of the grave disease of McGovernism.

Typical was a question thrown at him in the clubhouse of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) here one evening. Monongalia County Democratic chairman Sam Angotti had pulled in an enthusiastic crowd of Rockefeller Democrats, and the tall, naive 25-year-old millionaire was in the midst of a highly effective, old-fashioned meat-and-potatoes stump speech.

"What's your stand on amnesty?" an aging World War II veteran suddenly shot out. With just a perceptible pause, Jay Rockefeller shot back: "I'm not for amnesty." He was about to add a qualifying clause, but deftly averted his eyes and the intrusion of an issue having not the remotest connection with West Virginia state politics ended as suddenly as it began.

It was more of the same when Rockefeller went before a thousand students at the University of West Virginia auditorium. Politicians beamed by backers of Republican Gov. Arch Moore, who is running for reelection, hit him with 20 minutes of questions about marijuana, homosexuals, amnesty and abortion.

McGovernism, in short, has become a major obstacle in the meteoric political career of the first of the Rockefeller Democrats in West Virginia.

Without McGovernism, the strip-mining issue is particularly hurtful because some deep-mine diggers in this coal state suspect that the next move will be against deep-mining. Although ridiculous on its face, a McGovernian, including his celebrated status as the richest man in West Virginia ("The one thing he don't need is money so he won't rob us blind," one miner told us).

Signs Define Case Mt. Use Limits

The owners of Case Mt. Thursday posted signs along the fringes of the property forbidding the use in the park of automobiles, motorcycles, minibikes and snowmobiles.

The owners said the use of cycles and other vehicles in late hours has caused residents of the area to complain to the owners asking that steps be taken to cut down the noise. The signs also close off the park between sunset and sunrise. The privately owned property has been used by the public as a recreation area for many years. It is now offered for sale to the town and a group of citizens is undertaking to promote public purchase of the land.

Female 'G-Men' Graduate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI Academy has graduated its first two women FBI agents, who were enroute today to assignments in Omaha, Neb., and St. Louis.

Agents Susan L. Riley, 25, and Joanne E. Pierce, 31, will be equipped like all other agents with 38-caliber pistols and will earn the basic starting annual salary of $12,151, plus guaranteed overtime of $5,000.

Miss Riley is a former Marine Corps lieutenant and Miss Pierce was a Roman Catholic nun for the Sisters of Mercy from 1959 to 1970.

They are the first women to complete the 14-week training program at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Va. The program, the same for men and women, including running two miles in under 17 minutes, performing 25 situps and 15 pushups and proficiency in self-defense tactics and use of a revolver, shotgun and rifle.

They also had to pass courses in such subjects as constitutional law, federal criminal procedure and scientific and detection methods.

Fifth Graders Assist IRS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striving for sensible, simple language in new instruction books to be sent to taxpayers, the Internal Revenue Service has banned the word "spouse."

The developments are evident in instruction books for the 1968 income-tax form, the "short form" that is being revised for use next year after an absence of a few years.

The glossary is on the last 16 pages of the instructions and is a combination of simple and fairly complex terms. For example, "excess" is defined as "more than." "Widow" is "a woman whose husband has died." And "widower" is "a man whose wife has died."

But the glossary also includes short meanings of adjusted gross income, low-income allowance, and percentage standard deduction, terms which some taxpayers may have difficulty with.

IRS Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters made a simple instruction book one of his main projects when he took over the post. And he did so of the editing.

It was he who deleted the word "spouse." "We don't think it's fair to the American taxpayer to think that we are talking about a water fountain," the commissioner reasoned. Instead of spouse, the instruction book has the words "husband and wife." For example, in explaining exemptions it says, "You can take an exemption for your wife or husband if you are filing a joint return."

In the past, the IRS has been heavily criticized for being too technical in its instruction books. And the agency has strived to simplify.

Last year, Walters told a newsmen the instructions were so simple that even a fifth-grader could fill out the return. A number of fifth-grade classes look that challenge; many said the instructions were just too fuzzy.

This year, Walters named an advisory committee that included some fifth-grade teachers. IRS said they have made several suggestions.

One of the changes appears to be the tone. The word "you" is used frequently instead of the taxpayer. The new instructions use this sort of approach: "If you do not want IRS to figure your tax, fill in the rest of your return."

Hilsman To Answer Steele

Rep. Hilsman, Democratic Congressional candidate in the Second District, will hold a press conference in Hartford next Tuesday to answer his opponent's charges that Hilsman was involved in U.S. support of the 1963 overthrow of the Diem regime in South Vietnam.

Republican incumbent Robert Steele Wednesday released two State Department memoranda, signed by Hilsman in 1963, which suggest that the U.S. encourage a coup in South Vietnam.

The two memos, written at the request of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, were declassified in 1968.

Hilsman, who quit his State Department job in 1964 over his disagreement with President Lyndon B. Johnson's handling of the war, denies writing the memos. Hilsman, in a statement Thursday, said, "Mr. Steele's accusations are misleading and distorted."

Meanwhile, Hilsman today called for establishment of a "real jobs bank" to meet the

Rec Homemakers Will See Film

The next presentation of the Beginning Homemakers Club will be on Election Day, November 7 at 10 a.m. at the West Side Rec, 110 Cedar St.

A representative of the SNEFCC will be on hand with film on telephone usage. Topics of her talk include how to teach children to use the phone, how to save money on long distance calls, proper telephone usage, and telephone directory games for children. It is open free to men and women. The pre-school recreation program will be open for children whose mother attend the film.

Participants should register for the film as it will be cancelled if interest is not shown in the film. The West Side Rec number is 643-8796.

Future programs open to the public include a talk by a HELCO official on how to shop economically, the Manchester Public Health Nurses on community services, the Child and Family services on needs of children, a demonstration of Italian cooking and career day for women wishing to return to work in the future. All presentations will be held on Tuesday morning at 10. For specific dates and to register, call the West Side Rec.

Joan Of Arc Warehouse

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Joan of Arc had a coming-out party here Wednesday after spending 14 years in a warehouse, gathering dust.

The life-size bronze statue, showing St. Joan on horseback, banner in hand, was dedicated on the New Orleans riverfront by the International Trade Mart.

The statue first came to the city in 1958, but city fathers considered the $35,000 price tag too high and St. Joan was put in a warehouse so New Orleans could dicker with the French government.

In 1964 the late Gen. Charles DeGaulle gave the statue to New Orleans on behalf of the French cities of Orleans, Paris, Reims and Rouen.

NEW BRITAIN (AP) — Tracks made by a dinosaur 180 million years ago have been discovered within the city limits of New Britain, Central Connecticut State College announced Thursday.

The tracks, located close to Route 72 near the Plainville town line, were found in a slab of shale and sandstone by Dr. Odon S. Ali, assistant professor of earth sciences at the college, a college spokesman said.

The tracks are similar to those found in 1966 in the Rocky Hill area, but are believed to predate the earlier discovery by some five to 10 million years, Ali said.

Campaign Launched To Strengthen Religious Values

NEW YORK (AP) — Religion in American life has launched its new advertising campaign to strengthen religious values in the nation. A task force by the organization's new leader as particularly urgent.

In the last decade, "we in the United States seem to have lost the deep, abiding faith" so essential to personal and national integrity, said Ian MacGregor, national chairman of R.I.A.

But he said there are indications of renewed religious concerns in the decade ahead.

The Candidates Assembly District 56

THOMAS DOOLEY Democrat

Thomas Dooley is seeking reelection to the post of State Representative. A Democrat, Dooley is just completing his first term in the General Assembly. He lives with his wife, Ann, and their two children, in Vernon.

An attorney and businessman, Dooley is a graduate of Clarkson College of Technology and was graduated with honors from the University of Connecticut School of Law. He was associate editor of the University Law Review, formerly practiced law in Rockville and is now assistant counsel for Connecticut General Life Insurance Company.

Dooley is also an assistant professor of management at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Graduate Center in Hartford and has served on the faculty at Manchester Community College. He served in the U. S. Army on overseas duty with the 8th Ordnance Battalion.

New Primary Ordered

HARTFORD (AP) — Superior Court Judge George Saften Wednesday ordered another primary in Torrington to select a Democratic candidate for the state House of Representatives.

The primary will be held Wednesday, less than one week before the election.

The first primary resulted in an apparent one-vote victory by state Rep. John Misickowski over Rep. Aedo Bonetti, but it turned out that a Republican had misread akenly been allowed to vote.

Divorce — California Style Is Cheaper

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Californians apparently are turning in increasing numbers to a do-it-yourself project: divorce.

While statewide figures are not available, San Diego County officials estimate that 15 per cent of the approximately 1,000 divorce filings each month are made without a lawyer.

In Los Angeles County, about 7.8 per cent of the filings this year have been "pro per" without a lawyer. Four years ago only four persons in a thousand filed without legal representation. The attraction apparently is money. Lawyers may charge $250 or more for handling a simple divorce. Without an attorney the cost is just filing fees — $44 in Los Angeles, for example.

Do-it-yourselfism was made possible by the Family Law Act of 1970, which changed "divorce" to "dissolution" and eliminated the need to prove fault. If one partner says irreconcilable differences exist, dissolution is simply pro forma.

A woman who said her husband deserted her after 26 days of marriage recently recalled her first steps toward dissolution. "I picked up legal papers from the county clerk for 56 cents, and they recommended I read what to do next in the law library."

Some law librarians report that the most thumbed book in the house is "How to Do Your Own Divorce in California," by Berkeley lawyer Charles Sherman. He advises, "This book is not written to replace an attorney, but to help you decide whether you need one."

Vicky Williams, a Los Angeles-area housewife who is divorcing her husband proper after more than 20 years, says, "I would recommend do-it-yourself divorce only to couples who have no small children and who can settle community property in a friendly manner." Some lawyers and judges are more wary.

"Pro per" divorces are like a pain in the side," says William P. Hogboom, presiding judge of the Los Angeles County family law court. "Only an expert can tell whether it can be treated with an aspirin or by surgery."

"Most of these cases are so simple that they are not economically feasible for an attorney to handle, but you never know if you have a simple case until an expert looks at it. Do-it-yourself dissolutions may be something like the do-it-yourself wills which were suggested to save clients money, but eventually created more business for the attorneys than they saved."

Aaron Moss, chairman of the San Fernando Valley Law Association, says that without help laymen may make costly errors in property division.

In addition to various books on filing for dissolution, there are complete kits selling for about $75.

One person who sells them says the kits may even have a use the makers don't intend.

"(Spouses) either want to figure out how they can stop a divorce, or they start by scare their husband or wife into thinking a divorce is contemplated."

Worthy Grand Matron Visits Home Chapter

Mrs. John C. Rieg

Mrs. Rieg, a native of the Eastern Star, will open its doors today at the Masonic Temple to welcome Bernice A. Rieg, the worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter, OES of Connecticut, who will conduct the official inspection.

Mrs. Rieg, a native of the Eastern Star, will make her first visit as worthy grand matron to the local chapter. Before her elevation to the Grand East of the Grand Chapter, Mrs. Rieg served as worthy matron of Temple Chapter.

The official inspection will be held at 5 p.m. followed by dinner presented by the Temple Chapter at $30 for all OES members. New members will be initiated beginning at 8, after which refreshments presented by the local chapter will be served.

Mrs. Rieg, whose busy schedule covers a wide range of OES and community activities, also serves as vice president and secretary of the Shady Glen Dairy Store Inc., in Manchester, her husband, John, being president and treasurer. They reside at 2 Eastland Dr.

Giuiletti is a graduate of Rockville High School and the University of Connecticut and this is his first bid for political office. Before starting his career in law, he was a radio telegrapher in the Merchant Marine and was involved in research projects through the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute. He served with the U.S. Army in Europe and was editor of the 8th Infantry Division's weekly newspaper.

Giuiletti was named as a candidate, by the executive committee of the Republican Town Committee, to fill the vacancy created when Peter Durelko withdrew as candidate.

Three Men Campaigning For District Seat

By DON MEKLE, Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD (AP) — The young blonde in blue jeans walking through the lobby of the Aetna Insurance Co. wanted to talk to the Republican congressional candidate about her political possibilities.

Richard M. Rittenband was happy to hear what she had to say.

There enough anti-McGovern Democrats willing to split their tickets and vote for Cotter after they vote for Nixon?

"Frankly, I am counting on it," said Cotter the state 100,000, he's sunk," Rittenband adds.

On the other hand, Rittenband says, "I know a lot of Democrats who are voting straight Democratic this year." He emphasizes the word "straight."

The race in the 1st District seems to be one of calculations. The presidential race and the voter affiliation figures overshadow the candidates.

"If Nixon carries the first by 55 per cent, I'm in," says Rittenband, who appears to have calculated the number of voters who can be expected to split their tickets.

Cotter himself says if Nixon carries the state 100,000, he's sunk," Rittenband adds.

Cotter keeps worrying about Nixon's costliness and their effect on the voters' use of the Democratic party lever on the congressional ticket.

Cotter himself says if Nixon carries the state 100,000, he's sunk," Rittenband adds.

WILLIAM COTTER Democrat

"I'm a Democrat," said the blonde. "I attended the district convention at which Congressman Cotter was nominated.

"I'm going to vote for Nixon," she said. "I haven't made up my mind yet about Congress."

The girl seemed to point up Rittenband's hopes for election in the predominantly Democratic 1st Congressional District. He launched into a speech on "if you want President Nixon and his policies you should give him a Republican Congress."

And somebody offered the blonde a bumper sticker which said "Another Democrat for Rittenband."

Will the 1st District vote for a Republican candidate for president for the first time since 1957? And if it does, will that necessarily mean the defeat of freshman Democratic Congressman William R. Cotter of Hartford?

keeps thinking about that big Democratic registration, which now outnumbers the Republican rolls nearly two to one. Cotter has the district's voting habits going for him; Rittenband has Nixon. There is a third candidate in the race—Charlie Burke of the George Wallace Party—and the two major party candidates have also devoted a little thought to him.

parachaid program, which now appears to be unconstitutional in light of a recent ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court. While the next year's budget for the current fiscal year has a $34 million surplus built into it, without considering $33 million in federal revenue sharing.

"This report is a real 'shocker,'" declared Sen. Robert H. Housley, D-Vernon, who is chairman of the legislature's Appropriations Committee.

Housley claimed the budget actually is "padding by almost $20 million as much" as the $34 million estimated by the auditors.

The two auditors—Democrat Leo V. Donohue and Republican Henry J. Becker, who are employees of the legislature—complained that some state agencies refused to provide the fiscal information they were seeking.

Among those who refused were the State Police Department, the Department of Community Affairs, the Public Works Department and the Department of Mental Health, the auditors said.

However, the departments which did provide fiscal data represented 80 per cent of the General Fund budget, they said, and they estimated the amount of surplus built into the remaining department budgets.

Housley said he understood Pussenschuck was acting at the request of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

Housley, who is not running for re-election, said: "As I leave the State Senate, I urge those who remain and those who will be elected to the public and above all I plead with the members of the press, to demand that the public's business be conducted in a democratic—not a totalitarian state."

The auditors' report set the stage for the Democratic legislature to cut taxes more than the Republican governor wants.

Meskill wants to trim the 7 per cent sales tax to 6.5 per cent and the 6 per cent capital gains tax to 4.5 per cent. Democrats are considering dropping the sales tax to 6 per cent.

Of the estimated $54 million surplus in the budget, over $4 million comes from the Cotter on a sunny day in October when he visited the Veterans Home in Rocky Hill. Cotter is accompanied by Robert Berkwith, a Democrat, who welcomed him. The white-haired World War I veteran in their rocking chairs and institutional haircuts greeted him warmly, almost gratefully.

"He's got 99 per cent of the votes in here," one old-timer assured a newsmen with the Cotter entourage.

Cotter, a handsome, trim 46-year-old bachelor whose thick dark hair is streaked with gray, strode quickly through the corridors and "day rooms," grabbing outstretched hands and calling everyone "sir" in his wake, a campaign aide distributed copies with Cotter's name on them.

"You need it worse than I do," said one grinning veteran, rubbing his bald head and returning the comb.

Outside again in the sunshine, Cotter seemed pleased by his reception. But the wry lines deepened in his forehead when he was reminded that Rittenband was using the ITT-Hartford Fire Insurance Co. merger against him.

Rittenband has consistently reminded people about Cotter's approval of the merger when he was the state insurance commissioner.

"Cotter played politics with the Hartford Fire-ITT merger," says Rittenband.

ABA Game All 'Fouled' Up, Referees Call 86 Personals

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials called "Foul!" at the American Basketball Association game between the Virginia Squires and Denver Rockets.

And foul, foul and foul... By the time Thursday night's match was finished, a single game record of 86 personal fouls had been set and the Squires had a 155-111 triumph.

That wasn't the only record set in the foul-punctuated match by a long shot. Two of the records were set by the Rockets—56 personal fouls with seven players ejected. The Squires set records with 52 free throw attempts and 74 conversions.

The Squires used 44 of those charity points in a record-tying, 53-point fourth quarter to bury the visitors.

Denver Coach Alex Hannum called the foul show, "an experiment."

Hannum said he wanted to illustrate what he considers "a bad trend," in pro basketball.

In the only other ABA game Thursday night, the Memphis Tams 151-98.

Two games were played in the National Basketball Association, where the Milwaukee Bucks topped the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 114-108 and Chicago edged Golden State 94-93.

Boh Love threw in 30 points to pace Chicago over Golden State. Cazzie Russell led 28 for the losers. Love connected on five straight jump shots in the final 3:12 of the game to clinch the victory for the Bulls.

Ron Boone and Zelmo Beaty sparked Utah to a 47-point quarter as the Stars doubled the Tams. Boone and Beaty scored 12 points each in the second-period outburst.

Bob Dandridge and Oscar Robertson led a third-period scoring burst that carried Milwaukee past Kansas City-Omaha.

The score was tied 13 times before Dandridge hit two free throws to give Milwaukee an 80-78 lead with 3:40 left in the period. Robertson and Dandridge then led a surge that gave Milwaukee a 90-80 lead.

NCAA Withdraws Olympic Support

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has withdrawn from the United States Olympic Committee, charging that the USOC has "shortchanged America."

Complete reorganization of the USOC was demanded by the NCAA, its annual meeting, made Thursday by Charles Neinas, chairman of the NCAA International Relations Committee, and Samuel E. Barnes, NCAA secretary-treasurer.

The NCAA's 18-member Council made the decision at its fall meeting in Knoxville, Tenn.

"The NCAA strongly supports continuation of the Olympic Games," Barnes said in a statement. Reorganization has been sought for almost 10 years, he said, and the council has "told our delegates to continue to strive for reorganization from within."

"Not this time. We have had enough." The NCAA is recommending that its 700 member schools not help raise money for the USOC, and not appoint people to USOC committees.

"This action should not be construed as recommending the United States withdraw from the Olympic Games themselves," Neinas said, adding that the International Relations Committee hopes for improvement in the games.

Since Congress gave USOC its charter and funded it, the NCAA hopes Congress will take a good look at it.

Describing the USOC as self-serving, Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said "I don't think it can be reorganized internally. It's a classic case of ineffectual force with enough clout to bring it about is Congress."

"The troubles in Munich at the '72 games are only the latest example of the continuous, countless blemishes of the USOC," Barnes said. He was in Munich during the games.

"We feel we can do more for the student-athletes within the United States Collegiate Sports Council and the World University Games than through the USOC," Barnes said.

Six-Under-Par Round Palmer Shares Lead in Sahara

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Arnold Palmer had a twinkle in his eye as he sat and savored the six-under-par 65 he posted in the first round of the $135,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

That gave the struggling old champion a share of first place Thursday with four others and gave him a good shot for a second time in as many weeks—ending a 15-month victory famine.

"Maybe this time," the 45-year-old figure, already a legend, said with a smile, "maybe this time I can make it stand up."

He led last week's Kaiser International by two strokes after two rounds, but his putting touch deserted him and he finished well back in the pack.

Palmer's 65, forged over the 8,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, put him in a first-round tie with veteran Doug Sanders, rookie standout Lanny Wadkins, Larry Ziegler and Canadian George Knudson, the streaking winner of the Kaiser last week.

"Of course, it's possible they were hurt the worst in the nets by the new league (World Hockey Association). They certainly must miss Gerry Cheevers. He and he's gone to the WHA. That has to hurt."

With a busy schedule of four games in five nights, Johnson decided against any practice for the Bruins today. However, Orr may find skating time at some nearby rink. He will continue skating while taking special exercises and undergoing therapy.

Three Chicago Cubs On All-Star Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's world championship belongs to Oakland but Chicago dominates the 1972 Associated Press All-Star team selected by writers and broadcasters across the country.

The champion A's failed to land any of the 10 first-team berths in the nationwide balloting but four players from Chicago—three from the National League Cubs and one from the American League White Sox—made the squad.

Slugging Dick Allen, the Sox' first baseman, headed the balloting with 407 votes, tops for any player this season. Allen, traded to the American League last winter, batted .308 with 37 home runs and 113 runs batted in.

The three Cubs chosen were outfielder Billy Williams, whose 37 homers matched Allen, third baseman Ron Santo and shortstop Don Kessinger.

Williams, who led National League batters with a .333 average and had 122 RBIs, pulled 364 votes, second only to Allen's total.

Santo batted .302 with 17 homers for the Cubs, and Kessinger finished with a .274 average.

Orr Out Indefinitely, Bruins Now Also-Rans

BOSTON (AP) — Bobby Orr, who underwent left knee surgery last June after leading the Bruins to the Stanley Cup, was declared sidelined indefinitely because of his ailing limb a few weeks ago.

The NHL's most valuable player the last three years, Orr saw only spot duty in three games last week after the Bruins lost to the New York Rangers.

Without their 26-year-old super star, the Bruins looked like just another also-ran as they suffered their third loss in four home games.

Pro Hockey Roundup

NEW YORK (AP) — It was just one of those days for the Boston Bruins who had enough aggravation Thursday to last for a month.

First, the Bruins got word that superstar defenseman Bobby Orr would be lost indefinitely because of his ailing left knee.

Then they went out to play Chicago and the Black Hawks showed no sympathy with a 6-3 thrumping that tumbled Boston eight points back of first place Montreal in the National Hockey League's East Division.

Unbeaten Montreal ripped St. Louis 7-0 for goalie Ken Dryden's third shutout of the young season.

In other games, Philadelphia handed Detroit its first loss of the season, 2-1, and Los Angeles defeated Atlanta 3-1.

In the WHA, Wayne Rivers as the Raiders overtook New England. The Whalers carried a 5-4 lead into the final period but goals by Rivers, Norm Ferguson and Mike Laughton rallied the Raiders.

Quebec got goals on four of five shots in the opening period and then held on to defeat Minnesota. Francois Lacombe, Yves Bergeron, Andre Gaudette and Ken Desjardins scored after the opening faceoff starting the barrage. Jim Pappin, Pat Stapleton, Bill White, Phil Martin and Stan Mikita had the other Black Hawk goals.

Phil Esposito scored twice for the Bruins, who had not lost a game to Chicago since January, 1970.

Joining Williams in the outfield were Houston's sensational young Cesar Cedeno and veteran Pittsburgh star Roberto Clemente. Cedeno batted .320 with 22 homers and 82 RBIs for the Astros, while Clemente, who reached the 3000-hit plateau for his career, batted .312 for the Pirates.

Two Cincinnati players, catcher Johnny Bench and second baseman Joe Morgan, made the team. Bench bounced back from a poor season in 1971 and hit 40 homers while driving in 125 runs for the Reds. Morgan, acquired from Houston in a winter trade, scored 122 runs for the Reds, tops in the NL, and stole 58 bases while batting .272.

The two pitchers named were left-hander Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies and righthander Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians. Both had remarkable seasons with losing teams.

Carlton led the majors with 27 victories and had a 1.97 earned run average, pitching for the last-place Phillies. Perry was 24-16 with a 1.92 ERA for fifth-place Cleveland.

Two Cincinnati players, catcher Johnny Bench and second baseman Joe Morgan, made the team. Bench bounced back from a poor season in 1971 and hit 40 homers while driving in 125 runs for the Reds. Morgan, acquired from Houston in a winter trade, scored 122 runs for the Reds, tops in the NL, and stole 58 bases while batting .272.

The two pitchers named were left-hander Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies and righthander Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians. Both had remarkable seasons with losing teams.

Carlton led the majors with 27 victories and had a 1.97 earned run average, pitching for the last-place Phillies. Perry was 24-16 with a 1.92 ERA for fifth-place Cleveland.

That gave the struggling old champion a share of first place Thursday with four others and gave him a good shot for a second time in as many weeks—ending a 15-month victory famine.

"Maybe this time," the 45-year-old figure, already a legend, said with a smile, "maybe this time I can make it stand up."

He led last week's Kaiser International by two strokes after two rounds, but his putting touch deserted him and he finished well back in the pack.

Palmer's 65, forged over the 8,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, put him in a first-round tie with veteran Doug Sanders, rookie standout Lanny Wadkins, Larry Ziegler and Canadian George Knudson, the streaking winner of the Kaiser last week.

"Of course, it's possible they were hurt the worst in the nets by the new league (World Hockey Association). They certainly must miss Gerry Cheevers. He and he's gone to the WHA. That has to hurt."

With a busy schedule of four games in five nights, Johnson decided against any practice for the Bruins today. However, Orr may find skating time at some nearby rink. He will continue skating while taking special exercises and undergoing therapy.

O'Connell Named
WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Tom O'Connell, a former University of Connecticut basketball player, was named today director of intramural athletics at Brandeis University.

Quebec got goals on four of five shots in the opening period and then held on to defeat Minnesota. Francois Lacombe, Yves Bergeron, Andre Gaudette and Ken Desjardins scored after the opening faceoff starting the barrage. Jim Pappin, Pat Stapleton, Bill White, Phil Martin and Stan Mikita had the other Black Hawk goals.

Phil Esposito scored twice for the Bruins, who had not lost a game to Chicago since January, 1970.

Joining Williams in the outfield were Houston's sensational young Cesar Cedeno and veteran Pittsburgh star Roberto Clemente. Cedeno batted .320 with 22 homers and 82 RBIs for the Astros, while Clemente, who reached the 3000-hit plateau for his career, batted .312 for the Pirates.
