There was one old long white-headed fellow who set up his gasoline torch for several successive nights each year. He had an electric battery instrument with a metal handle on the end of each extension wire.

That usually brought in some more nickels. When business slowed down he would take the handles and start swinging arms and kicking up his feet and say, "You see what it does for a 60-year-old man!"

Peace Offer Shouted Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Protesting Indians armed with warpaint and spears today held out the Bureau of Indian Affairs building after shouting down a peace offer made by a U.S. Marshall.

The some 400 Indians, who are protesting their treatment by the government, have occupied the building since dusk Thursday. They have used file cabinets, desks and other items to barricade the building.

Early today, Federal Judge John Pratt refused to hold the Indians in contempt for not obeying a court order to leave the building. The government sought to hold the Indians in contempt, which would have allowed officials to try to evict the protesters.

The Indians planned today to have a memorial service at the Arlington Cemetery grave of Dr. Hayes, an Indian who was among the martyrs who raised the flag on Iwo Jima.

In the early morning hours today, the Indians refused to obey a court order to clear out of the building by midnight, and then shouted down the Justice Department's compromise offer relayed by Assistant U.S. Marshal James F. Palmer.

Palmer told the Indians that although officials "want to cooperate," the Indians would have to obey the court order to leave the building at some point. The offer provided for other accommodations for the Indians.

However, Vernon Easton, a leader of the militant American Indian Movement, said, "We have no intention of vacating this building until the site demands are met. . . we have no indications that any progress has been made" in negotiations with the government on the demands.

Among the demands Bellocort referred to are the dismissal of Asst. Interior Secretary Harrison

North, South Koreans Reach Agreement

SEOUL (AP) — North and South Korea agreed on Wednesday on a five-year, $7.5 billion program of post-war economic assistance for Indochina, including $2.3 billion for North Vietnam U.S. government, sources here revealed.

Officials who disclosed this, added there would be $8 billion for South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia. The aid effort would break down into four programs, for relief, reconstruction, development and stabilization, they said.

Other nations and international agencies, including the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund and the Asian Development Bank all would be expected to join in a massive multi-national effort to heal the scars of the Indochina war, these officials said.

It was disclosed elsewhere meanwhile, that three Asian countries have agreed to give up about 120 of their U.S.-supplied F-4 fighters to strengthen the South Vietnamese air force before a cease-fire goes into effect.

The Pentagon confirmed that South Korea, Nationalist China and Iran all had agreed to lend fighter planes to South Vietnam. Sources said each of the three allies would furnish about 40 jets which is about half of the total of

The South Vietnamese presently have 18 F-4s in an air force that has more than 1,800 aircraft, making it the world's 10th largest. The F-4 is relatively easy to handle and can fly at speeds up to 1,100 miles an hour.

Regarding the status of the cease-fire, President Nixon said Friday that agreement has been reached on a cease-fire throughout Indochina, for Cambodia and Laos as well as Vietnam.

But he repeated that certain "details" remain to be worked out. He said "we will succeed . . . we are going to end this war in a way that will lay the foundation for peace in the years to come."

Post-War Indochina Aid May Cost $7.5 Billion

Negotiation Theme Of Nixon Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today called on Americans to vote for him Tuesday to show their faith that the American people are not going to retreat, are not going to surrender.

"If you approve the beginnings we have made," Nixon said in a nationwide radio broadcast, "I will support his foreign policies 'til the end of the line."

Nixon's prepared remarks, as usual, did not mention Democratic challenger George McGovern by name. Nor did the President reply directly to McGovern's accusation Friday that Nixon has engaged in deception for peace in the years to come.

Nixon denounced as "dangerous nonsense" the idea that peace can be had "merely by asking for it."

The United States has been respected under six presidents since World War II because "we have not retreated from the world as we have not betrayed our allies, we have not fallen into the foolish illusion that we could somehow build a wall around America," he said.

Space Training Plans Set

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Soviet and American spacemen will start training together next summer for the joint U.S.-Russian space docking mission planned for 1976.

The mission, called the Apollo Soyuz Test Project, will start with the launch from the Soviet Union of the Soviet Soyuz spacecraft with two men aboard.

About seven and one-half hours later, an American Apollo spacecraft with three men aboard will be launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The Soyuz spacecraft will link up in space to test a common docking device now under development. The spacemen from the two countries will then exchange visits between the spacecraft.

Officials said crews for the joint mission probably will be named early next year.

The announcement also set July 15, 1975 as the target date for launch of the mission.

March of Dimes Walk-a-thon Tomorrow

Over 1,500 young people have registered for this Sunday's March of Dimes Walk-a-thon in Manchester. The walk, which will get under way at 8 a.m. at Memorial High School, will cover a 23-mile route. Mayor John Thompson will be on hand to give necessary instructions to the walkers.

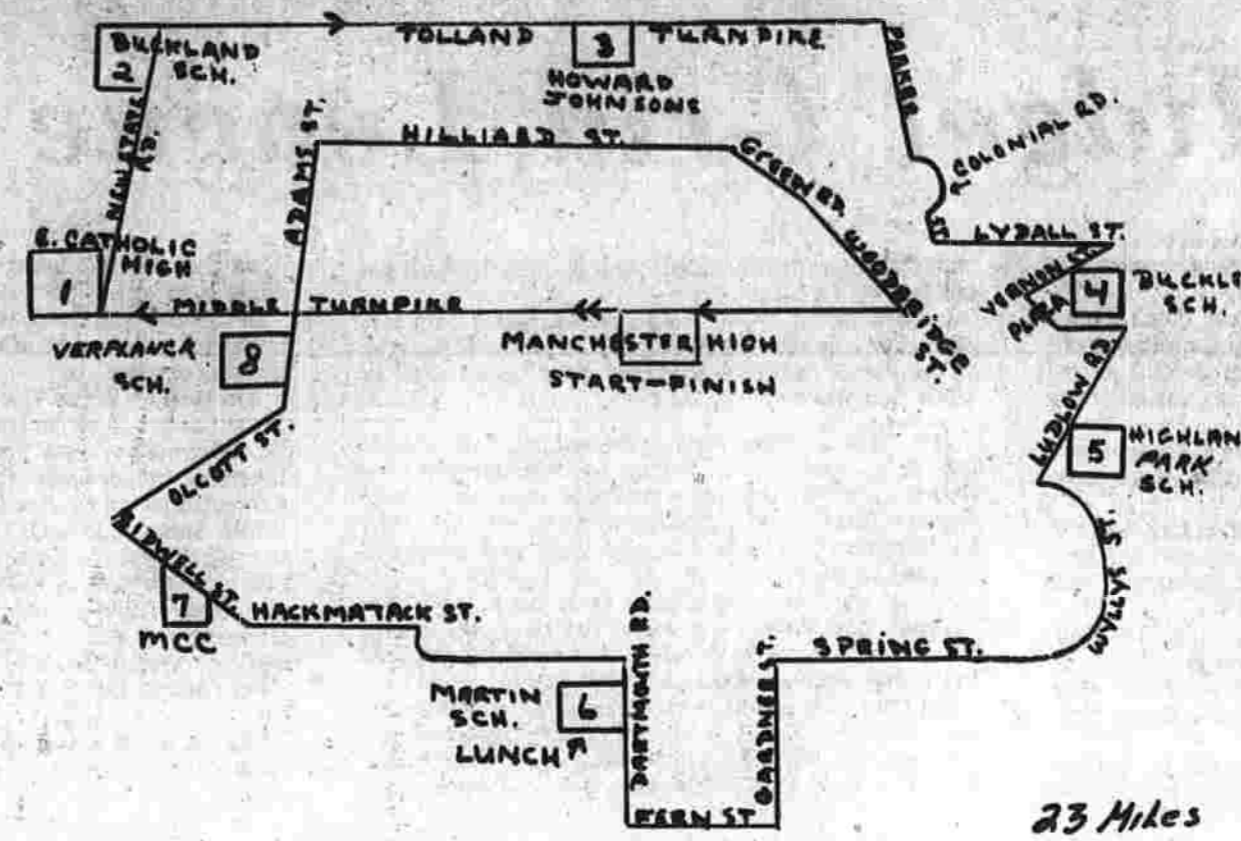

At the conclusion of the walk a free rock concert for all walkers will be held at Memorial High School. The school's student assembly has made arrangements for the popular local band "Bull" to provide music during the walk. "Bull" has appeared at many area activities, and the group is donating its services for the Walk-a-thon. Refreshments will be served after the walk, as well as lunch along the way.

Local businesses, clubs and individuals have donated their equipment, food, and services for the day-long event.

Among the Manchester contributors are: Manchester Packing Co., Pero Orchard, Gremmo & Sons, Mr. Donat, Motta Supermarket, Pathmark, Parkade Bakery, Burger King, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, Richard Harmon of Harmon Realty and Dr. Kenneth Wichman.

Other area contributors include: Coca Cola Bottling of East Hartford; Pepee Produce of Hartford; Pioneer Produce, Hartford; Gordon Fruit, Hartford; Fowler & Hunting Producers, Hartford; Sweet Life, Hartford; Connecticut Celery Co., Hartford; and Wonder Bread Co., East Hartford.

Officials hope all who registered for the walk will be on hand Sunday to help this March of Dimes fund-raising event raise needed money to help eliminate birth defects.

Heralding Politics

By Sol R. Cohen

First District Congressman William C. Cramer has criticized President Nixon for vetoing the Veterans Medical Care Act, recently passed by Congress. "The veto," said Cramer, "will result in the denial of $1.5 million in additional federal assistance to the Veterans Hospital in Newington and the State Veterans Home and Hospital in Rocky Hill."

Noting that the vetoed bill would have provided hospital care for widows and children of veterans killed in Vietnam, he said, "They have given their husbands and fathers for a war that nobody understands and many are ashamed of. The very least that we can do for these people is to provide them with a modicum of health security."

Next Tuesday's election has forced a re-scheduling of the Manchester Board of Directors meeting, originally planned for that night. The board's two meetings this month will be on Nov. 14 and Nov. 21.

Second Best for Bliss

Second best isn't too bad and that's the position Steve Bliss, late of Falls Village and now of Pittsburgh, placed in the National League's Cy Young voting category. The fine Pittsburgh righthander, who missed winning 20 games by one vote, named No. 2 behind Steve Carlton on nine voting slips and third on eight others. Twenty-four baseball writers participated, two from each of the 12 National League cities that claim franchises. Charlie Evans, who will speak here Thursday night at the Masonic Sports program, leads the New York Giants in scoring touchdowns on the ground going into Sunday's game. Evans has four, one more than Ron Johnson. The latter has also tallied three six-pointers via passes. Followers of the Five Mile Road Race are on the upcoming major college cross country runs for possible pre-race favorites here. The New England Intercollegiate Championships will be run Monday in Boston with the ICA's on Nov. 13 at Van Cortland Park in New York. Outstanding New England hurriers include Charlie Duggan of Springfield, Dan Moyilhan of Tufts and Bill Cantin of Connecticut. Thanks to Jack Redman, the result of the Town Doubles Tennis Tournament found Redman teaming with Mal Darling to trim Phil Hyde and Martin Duke, 6-4, 7-5. Redman, currently an assistant football coach at East Catholic, earlier whipped Hyde for the Town Singles crown. The Springfield Kings will be on the road until Nov. 10 when Nova Scotia visits the Civic Center for an American Hockey League battle.

Colorful Bronko

Bronko Nagurski, the great Chicago Bear fullback of the '30s, is one of the colorful characters remembered in an article titled "A Gallery of Football's Titans and Oddballs" in the November issue of Sports Illustrated. Referee Ronnie Gibbs tells of an incident in which Bronko was hounding around in a second-floor hotel room with a team-mate and fell out the window. "A crowd gathered," Gibbs recalls, "and a policeman came up and asked, 'What happened?'" "I don't know," said Nagurski. "I just got here myself."

College basketball players these days are almost as quick to renege on their scholarships as pro athletes are to find an escape clause in their contracts, but Oral Roberts University found a good way to keep one of its best players from "jumping." While at Oral Roberts, Dana Lewis, now property of the Philadelphia 76ers, was thinking of breaking his scholarship and going to the University of Tulsa. Whereupon, one of the vice presidents of Oral Roberts got in touch with Lewis' mother who is very religious. According to Lewis, the official of the school named after the nationally known evangelist, told Mrs. Lewis that he had just talked with the Lord and that He'd said it was his will that Dana stay at Oral Roberts.

Dave Herman, nine-year Jets' guard and Super Bowl veteran, was asked what he would consider a good football draft by the Jets. "Every February I take a look at the players the Jets have drafted," replied Herman, "and if I see there are no guards among them, then I consider that a real good draft."

Duffy Daugherty To Quit Coaching

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Duffy Daugherty, head football coach at Michigan State University for the past 19 years and a Michigan sports legend, has resigned effective the end of the season.

The retired, genial pistol, long a favorite of players, fans and the media, called it quits after several seasons of declining fortunes and unrest among his former supporters. The Spartans were 2-4-1 so far this season.

Daugherty confirmed his resignation, originally to be announced following State's game with Purdue today, after a Lansing radio station broke the story Friday evening by quoting his university officials.

A MSU spokesman said no successor had been found and no one was under special consideration. Daugherty, sporting a 104-64 record, said he would stay with the university, although not in an athletic department role.

"I feel that Michigan State deserves better than it has been getting," Daugherty told newsmen attending his weekly session prior to home games. "I haven't been making it fun for the players lately."

"I told the boys that I didn't want them to go out and win one year and lose the next."

Daugherty himself, usually an optimist, conceded things were not going well.

Scoreless Tie Gives Chargers 1972 Midget Grid League Title

Add the name of the Chargers to the list of champions in the Manchester Midget Football League. Last night the newest entry in the circuit didn't score a point and neither did the Patriots in their showdown game with the title riding on the line and as a result of the scoreless tie Coach George Maloney's youngsters are riding high today.

Blessed with ideal weather the season's largest crowd turned out at Mt. Nebo to watch the regular season finale under the lights.

The Chargers entered play with a record of four wins and one tie. Coach Bill Hayes' Patriots came into the finale with four wins and one loss. The lone setback was administered by the Chargers earlier in the season, 12-0.

It was a hard-fought defensive game by both clubs from the moment Dennis Swales tackled Charger Ed Sadloski on the opening kickoff to just before the final whistle when George Haines dropped Johnny Johnson on the Patriot nine-yard line.

Neither team was able to mount any attack of any sort and play remained between the 30-yard lines in the first quarter with the longest run covering 14 yards by Sadloski which was nullified by a penalty.

In the middle of the second period, Charger B team back Mike Haynie brought the fans to their feet with a 50-yard run to the 24 before being pulled down from behind by safety Dan White.

This left the Charger A team in the best field position to that point. However, a fumble on the first play was recovered by Mike Generis on the Pat 25. Quarterback Dave Romano tossed to end Bob Stoker to the 44 and a first down but Romano's next aerial was intercepted by Sadloski and returned to the Pat 28.

At this point the Pat defense held, but by ends Dan Dumond and Stoker, and forced Johnson, the fastest Charger back, to run inside where Generis, Randy Trudeau and George Haines could make the stops.

The third quarter was more of the same as both teams were forced to kick several times before the B squads returned. The Chargers threatened again on some tough yardage by Dean Altro and Haynie but the Pat defense rose again and a Charger fourth down punt was blocked by Bob Smith to give the Pats the ball on the 60's 30.

Pat quarterback Dan White scooted to the 15 but the play was called back because of a clip and the Chargers held on as the period ended.

Dan Dumond of the Pat Pats recovered another fumble at the Charger 35 as the final quarter started but again fine defensive work by Mark Young, Brian Woodhouse and Mike Ringstone stopped the Pat runners cold. Johnson intercepted an option pass to stall the final Pat thrust.

With Sadloski, Johnson and Erett Georgetti taking turns carrying the ball, the Chargers moved to the Pat 37, the best gain being 25 yards by Georgetti. Stan Zima, Dave Wyman and Randy Trudeau combined their defensive ability and stopped the threat at the nine. A desperation fourth down pass was knocked down by Johnson.

The Chargers last ditch drive stalled at the four as time ran out.

The 18th season is now history. The teams will meet again at the annual awards banquet Nov. 21 at the Army & Navy Club.

Celts Rolling, 76ers Rolled Again

Hoopster Streaks Continue

NEW YORK (AP) - The Boston Celtics just kept rolling and the Philadelphia 76ers kept getting rolled.

The top and bottom teams in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division kept their records intact Friday night.

The Celtics defeated the Baltimore Bullets 107-97 to maintain their first-place record at a perfect 10-0 and the 76ers dropped a 114-101 decision to the Kansas City-Omaha Kings for a perfectly awful 0-11.

Boston led a 24-point lead and led in the final minutes behind Dave Cowens for the victory. Cowens, taken out after his fifth foul in the third period, returned to action in the last period to lead a Celtic charge.

Cowens finished with 18 points, including ten in the final minutes.

Nate Archibald fired in 38 points and added 10 assists to help the Kings throttle the hapless 76ers. Archibald fired in 38 points and added 10 assists to help the Kings throttle the hapless 76ers.

The Celtics led 66-42 in the third quarter when the Bullets came back to tie the game at 66-66.

The Kings led the 76ers by only eight points at the half, but Archibald scored 10 points in the third period to put the game out of reach.

Cleveland ran off 14 straight points early in the first quarter and rolled to an easy triumph over Buffalo.

Buffalo, which shot just 40 per cent from the field for the game, was paced by Bob Kaufman's 19 points and 11 rebounds.

Bob Love scored 34 points, including 24 in the second half, and Chicago put Phoenix for the Bulls' sixth straight triumph.

New York's easy victory was fashioned on a balanced scoring attack led by Bill Bradley and Earl Monroe, who scored 18 points each.

Dr. J. Too Much for San Diego

NEW YORK (AP) - Dr. J. operated on the San Diego Conquistadors and the patient passed away under the basket.

The doctor, also known as Julius Erving, struck the Conquistadors for 33 points and 15 rebounds Friday night, leading Virginia to a 127-123 American Basketball victory over San Diego.

In other ABA games Friday night, Indiana edged Kentucky 116-116. Memphis edged Utah 118-117 in overtime. Carolina defeated the New York Nets 105-97 and Denver defeated Dallas 107-94.

Couch Al Bianchi was less than thrilled with the Nets' performance. "We set the game of basketball back 50 years ourselves and they (San Diego) set it back 100. We were awful," Roger Brown pointed for a perfectly awful 0-11.

Mike Hill Leading In Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - Mike Hill was laconic, as usual, after hurrying a bulky putter and taking the end in the 112,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

Hill, in his usual straightforward, candid manner, said "It makes my objective—making the top 50—look a lot better. That's the only reason I'm here anyhow to make the top 50."

The top 50 money winners this season are exempt from qualifying for next year's regular tour events. Hill is on the line, but his four-under-par Friday put him in a strong position to gain an exemption.

Hill, who has had putting trouble since winning the 1970 Doral-Eastern Open, had a 30-hole total of 135, nine over par on the 7,011-yard Woodlake Golf Club course.

That put him one stroke in front of Orville Moody and Larry Wry, who each had 68 for 198.

Forrest Federer was alone at 37 and a group at 38 included Australian Bob Shaw, former Masters champion Charles Coody, Bill Casper, and veteran Dan Sika.

British Open champion Lee Trevino, finished with a 69 and a hole stroke in front of 40.

Also at 140 was surprise first-round leader Bobby Loy, who went up 10 strokes from a 65 to 75.

Hill 33, has been on the tour four years and has had an exemption each year except his rookie season. The exemption is considered one of the most important possessions on the tour. Hill ranks 58th with $39,424.

"I figure I need about another $2,000 to be safe," he said.

Defeat was tasted by the Illing Junior High football team in its game with the Penney Frosh yesterday afternoon by a 16-0 score. The local record now stands at 2-2-1.

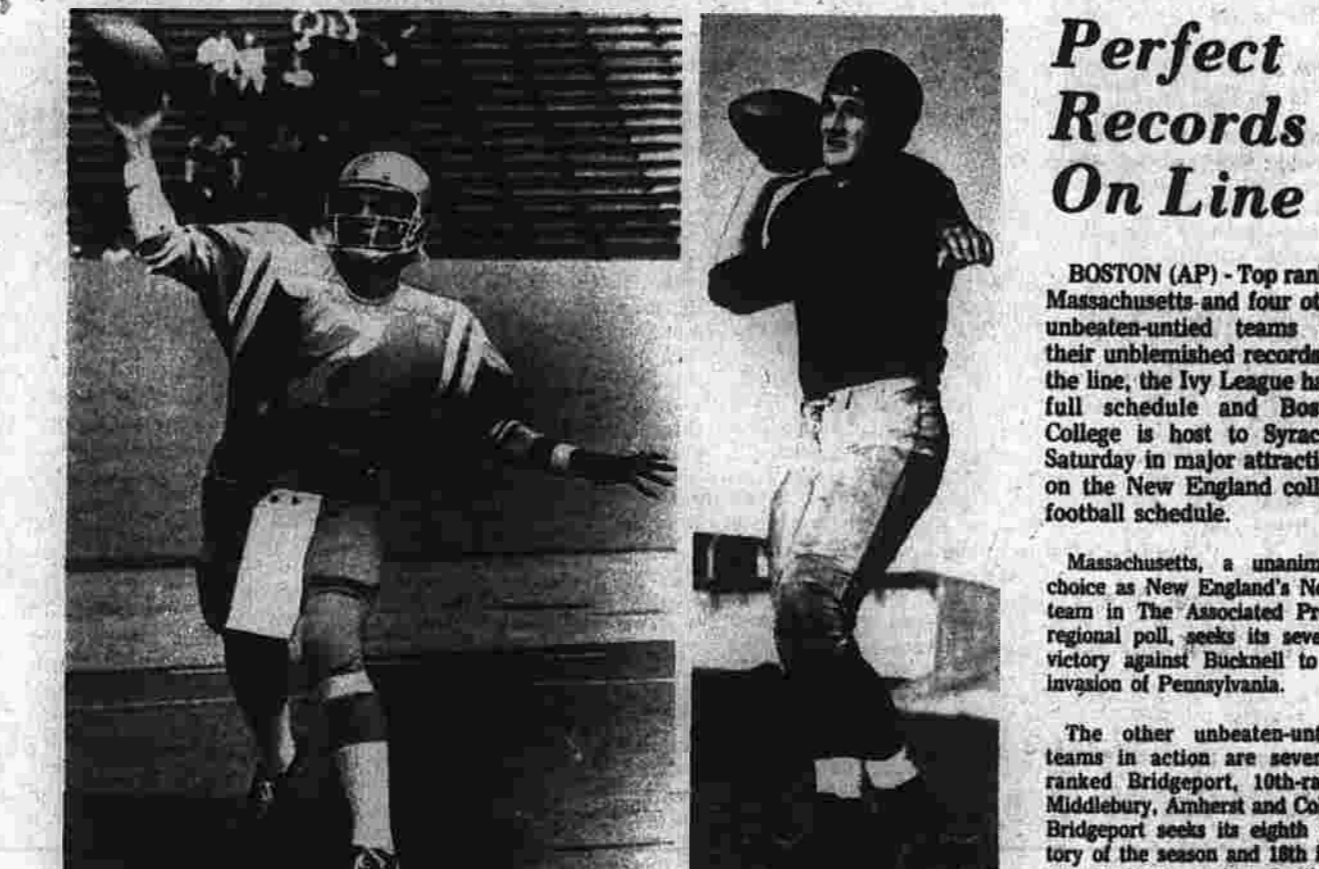

Illing's best drive was from its own 20 to the Penney two where the ball was walloped.

Penney scored eight points in the first period and its defense continued to halt Illing with the half ending without any further scoring.

The winners came up with a second TD in the third canto and put down two sustained illing drives in the final quarter. Two major penalties killed Illing's hopes of getting on the board, one taking away a touchdown.

Jason Dodge and Kit Dutton starred for the losers on offense with Marty Sheridan and Paul Lapine turning in fine defensive efforts.

Friday the mythical town junior high crown will be on the line when Illing faces Bennett at Memorial Field.

Life Is Always Looking Up For NBA's Calvin Murphy

NEW YORK (NEA) - "May I take your coat, Timmy?" asked Calvin Murphy.

Timmy, who is 11 years old and one of the few basketball players in the world shorter than Calvin Murphy, stiffly struggled out of his coat at the door of Murphy's midtown hotel room.

Timmy had pulled strings with a sports writer who doubles as his father) to meet Murphy, the littlest player in the National Basketball Association by at least three inches, says he has hundreds of letters during the season from boys asking how he did it.

Timmy—who one night before going to bed, asked for personal reasons, how the NBA draft works—now asked Murphy if he had ever wished he would grow when he was 11 years old.

"Sure," said Murphy, "and I thought I would since my whole family is big. I've got two brothers who are 6-3 and 6-4. But by the time I reached the ninth grade I was taller than going to grow. So I stopped worrying. I just tried to do the best I could with what I had."

Timmy asked about discrimination. "Remember color?" said Murphy. "But my height, yes. I never once I went to a schoolyard in Brooklyn and Connie Hawkins was king there and I asked to get in the gym. He said, 'I never got in the game. I kid Connie about that now.'"

"My friends, of all people, used to discourage me, like when I went to high school my friends said I was too small to make the basketball team. I tried out anyway. I made all-state my sophomore year."

"Some thing when I went to college. They said I was small. They were right. I was the big boys. I made All-America last year. I straight. So then people said that was college. The pros, those are the big boys. This is my third year in the pros, and I'm still getting a lot of p.t.—playin' time."

Murphy said he did have troubles adjusting to the pros. He was so aggressive first that he was even battling with Chamberlain for rebounds. "I was like, 'fish, huh'!" until he realized to stay a little farther out for rebounds. "I play good defense, take a jump shot when he had one and mostly 'pass the ball."

The photograph inside Timmy's notebook shows a young Calvin Murphy, who is one of many boys who has latched on to Murphy as the symbol of hope for the small man.

Hope for the little man.

The trustees, meeting at Central Connecticut State College, approved a resolution allowing alcoholic beverages on the campuses. Specific rules for each college are to be adopted in the future.

"The board's action follows enactment of Public Act 127 by the 1972 General Assembly granting full rights and privileges to 18-year-olds," said Mrs. Bernice Nijadlik, board chairman.

"Each of the four colleges — Central, Southern in New Haven, Western in Danbury and Eastern in Willimantic is developing regulations controlling both the possession and consumption of such beverages on their particular campus," she said.

53rd District Local Zoning Autonomy Stressed by Brainard

Republican Jesse Brainard, would guard the autonomy of locally elected Planning and Zoning Commissions and Zoning Board of Appeals in the face of what he regards as threatened state takeovers of their responsibilities.

The Republican candidate accuses Democrats of threatening to interfere with this local autonomy during the last three sessions of the General Assembly through the "introduction of numerous bills which would in effect take the decisions regarding land uses, lot specifications, subdivision regulations out of the hands of locally elected officials, placing them in a state agency in Hartford."

The subject of future subdivision decisions to including their impact on the community in the areas of social, environmental and economic situations as advocated by environmental Protection Commissioner Daniel Lufkin, is supported by Brainard.

Brainard would support the strengthening of over-all educational programs, with emphasis placed on the development of skills outside of the three R's, to better meet the needs for "a child's total educational experience."

There are over 400 kinds of crosses. The one shown here is the Greek Cross.

This ancient Greek cross, which must not be confused with crosses of the Eastern Church, is made by stringing seven perfect squares vertically and seven horizontally. The arms are all of equal length, and a perfect circle may be drawn about them, just touching the end of each arm.

2. The ancient Romans voted on pieces of wood or wax tabellae. If a voter wanted a change, he wrote UR for uti rogas, which means "as you asked". If the voter was against the law, he marked an A on the tablet for antiquo which means "for the old".

The first settlers in this country voted by raising their hands. Sometimes they voted out loud. Voting out loud was used by voters in many colonies for years. The voter would announce his choice for everyone to hear. This was an old English custom.

4. Changes were beginning, and as early as 1634 people in Massachusetts voted in secret and used paper ballots. After 1776 all the colonies decided to use paper ballots. The voter used any kind of paper he could find.
