Bus Drivers Plan To Strike

HARTFORD (AP) — Daily riders of Connecticut Co. buses have 18 days left to find other ways to get where they're going, according to John Thompson, negotiator for Conn. Co.'s Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) locals.

CR&L said it anticipated a $400,675 operating loss this year. The date of the strike threat deadline against the Connecticut Co. is set for Friday at 11:59 p.m. at the Ladd Funeral Home, 19 Ellington Ave., Rockville, with the Rev. Donald J. McClain, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, officiating. Burial will be in Grove Hill Cemetery, Rockville. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9.

David A. Ely, 55, of Forest Rd., husband of Mrs. Mary Sullivan Ely of Windham, died Wednesday at the Veterans Administration Memorial Hospital after a long illness.

Other survivors are her husband, Daniel A. Ely and Richard W. Ely, both of Coventry; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Ely of Lebanon; and his maternal grandfather, Arthur P. White of Essex.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Church, Coventry. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Coventry. There are no calling hours.

Hazel Waters MacDonald, 63, of Waterfield, died Wednesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Benjamin Named To Draft Board

Leonard Benjamin, 31, of Northfields Rd., has been appointed to the Toland County draft board, Local 21, according to an announcement from Charles Bradley, chairman of the board.

Former chairman of the Republican Town Committee, Benjamin is still active in GOP work, and serves also on the Board of Directors of the Coventry Development Commission.

He is a partner in the Saccary-Benjamin Insurance Agency in Coventry and Manchester and a member of the Connecticut Association of Independent Insurance Agents.

A 1963 graduate of UConn, Benjamin and his wife, Carol, have two young daughters, Karen and Karen.

Before making such a request to the council, the board feels it is necessary to determine the amount of community support for adult education.

Those enrolled in last year's courses to see if they plan to participate again this year.

Other reasons for the continuation of adult education are asked to contact school board member Mrs. Wesley Lewis at her Antwin Rd. home. The board is expected to take up the matter at its Nov. 30 meeting.

Democrats Look To Campaign '76

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Gov. George C. Wallace say they plan to work for a broadened Democratic party in the years ahead after George McGovern's smashing presidential defeat at the hands of President Nixon.

And Texan John Connally, who led the Democrats supporting Nixon in the 1972 campaign, says he hopes the lessons of McGovern's electoral disaster Tuesday will produce a "responsible leadership that will bring the party back into the mainstream of American political thought."

None of the three—Kennedy, Wallace and Connally—would say much about his own political future but it took less than 24 hours after Nixon's landslide victory for the first time for 1976 to be raised on the Republican side.

Thieu Demands Reds Withdraw

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu told envoys from South Vietnam today that all North Vietnamese troops must be withdrawn from South Vietnam before an agreement to end the war can be finalized, a newspaper controlled by the president's office reported.

Thieu conferred for nearly two hours with Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., shortly after he arrived in Saigon to urge Thieu to go along with the cease-fire agreement Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger worked out with the North Vietnamese in Paris, Haig is Kissinger's chief assistant.

The newspaper Tin Song, which is financed by Thieu's private secretary, quoted a high-level source as saying that Thieu in his meeting with Haig insisted on the total withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops from the South. Thieu reportedly said he would not accept any private agreements which would drop below the 17th parallel.

The Republic of Vietnam has treated that in South Vietnam there are about 300,000 North Vietnamese troops, not 140,000 as the United States has said, the officials said, "and the Republic of Vietnam demands that these troops must totally withdraw to the North. Any temporary withdrawal of a symbolic number and any under-the-table agreements regarded as tacit understandings will not be considered valid."

The report said Thieu also told Haig that the demilitarized zone must be restored at the 17th parallel as provided in the 1954 Geneva agreement which divided Vietnam.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said he could neither confirm nor deny reports that Haig carried a personal letter from Nixon to Thieu urging the president to accept the cease-fire plan as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the U.S. military command accelerated planning for a complete American withdrawal from Vietnam in the event of a cease-fire.

Nixon Pushing To Re-Shape Bureaucracy

KEY BISCAIENE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's post-election campaign to remodel the federal government could lead to a noisy confrontation next year with the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Thursday the President has a study requested from the Office of Management and Budget on his powers to reorganize the government by issuing executive orders.

Congress has balked at Nixon proposals to consolidate cabinet-level departments, chiefly because of lobbying pressure from such interest groups as farmers, businessmen and labor unions who want to retain their special enclaves in the departments of Agriculture, Commerce and Labor.

Ziegler refused to disclose the results of the OMB report, but he hinted Nixon might use his executive powers to the maximum in his drive to "cut some of the fat out of government" and achieve greater efficiency.

The President "will be well along in this before Congress convenes," Ziegler told members of the press.

If the President's eventual decisions are sharply controversial, congressional Democrats might be tempted to challenge him and interest groups conceivably could take heavy objections into the federal courts.

Franklin D. Roosevelt lost a historic confrontation with a Congress controlled by his own Democratic party when he sought to enlarge the Supreme Court — so he could appoint liberal majority — after winning a landslide victory in the 1938 presidential election.

Roosevelt could not achieve his ends through executive means and sought a constitutional amendment in vain.

Indian Amnesty Pact Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — An agreement recommending against prosecution of Indians who occupied the building.

An Indian who attended the federal building was signed by the Justice Department for the seizure and occupation of the building was signed by White House aides "to prevent bloodshed."

The White House representatives declined to comment. But a government spokesman said any decision to prosecute would not violate the agreement worked out with representatives of the American Indian Movement.

"We're not going to wobble on a promise to set up a task force to study Indian needs," the spokesman said.

Harrison Loesch, assistant secretary of Interior for Public Land Management, said the amnesty agreement was "only a recommendation, and I recommend otherwise."

Loesch said he and Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton "agreed to seek full-scale prosecution."

Political Spying Probe Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continued Democratic control of Capitol Hill apparently assures a congressional effort to disrupt the campaign of "any Democrat who had even a remote chance of getting the nomination."

Earlier, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., had announced plans for an investigation by his Judiciary subcommittee.

Before Congress adjourned, Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee repeatedly tried to organize a full-scale investigation into financial aspects of alleged Republican operations. Blocked by a majority of his committee, Patman nevertheless had staff probes conducted and is considered certain to press again for public hearings.

Mills, who said before the election that an extensive investigation was needed, now says he has no plan to take part himself, but that the Senate subcommittee, with its broad investigative power, would be the proper agency.

He said his prime interest is not so much in the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building which led to indictments against seven men.

Mills said he is more concerned about broader allegations made in stories published subsequently that forged letters, leaked derogatory information and organized sabotage were used to disrupt Democratic campaigns and manipulate the opposition party to the Republican advantage.

Mills, who sought the nomination himself in a relatively low-key campaign, said he thinks he was one of the targets of leaked derogatory information, but added, "I have never been able to trace it directly to the ultimate source."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jean Westwood has declared she will battle opponents plotting to oust her as Democratic national chairman in the first contest of the post-election struggle for party control.

"Jean Westwood is alive and well and intends to remain on the job," she told a news conference Thursday, two days after President Nixon's landslide victory over George McGovern.

But her opponents argued that the massiveness of McGovern's defeat—the loss in 49 states—heightens the need for new leadership at the top.

Mrs. Westwood was McGovern's choice for the chairmanship and was elected the day after he won the presidential nomination.

After stammering quietly for weeks, the outer attempt now is boiling toward a confrontation. A Buffalo attorney, the Democratic National Committee conducts its first post-election meeting.

New York state chairman Joseph Crangle, in an apparent reference to Mrs. Westwood, called Thursday for some "changes" nationally to demonstrate to the public where the mainstream of the Democratic party is.

A Buffalo attorney who has been often mentioned as a possible successor to Mrs. Westwood, Crangle declined during a New York news conference to urge her ouster. But

Democrats Want To Cut Taxes Now

HARTFORD (AP) — The lame duck Democratic legislature should come back into session and cut taxes, Senate Majority Leader J. Edward Caldwell said Thursday.

However, House Speaker William Hatchford is uncertain whether the deal could be done.

"I'd like to come back and reduce the sales tax," Caldwell said in an interview. "If it's possible to reduce it only half a per cent, then we ought to cut it half a per cent."

"It may be hard to get everybody together," said Caldwell, "but I feel we owe the people at least the attempt to do it."

Ratchford, who had been pushing for a one per cent cut in the 7 per cent sales tax before the election, said it might not be possible to get a majority of the House to return to the Capitol, much less agree on any tax cut proposal.

McNeill called in September for a cut in the 7 per cent sales tax to 6.5 per cent and a cut in the 6 per cent capital gains tax to 5.5 per cent.

Hatchford and some other Democratic leaders pushed for a cut of the full percentage point in the sales tax to bring it down to a rate of 6 per cent, but the 19 Democratic senators were unable to agree before the election.

Leadership Battle Shaping Up

McGovern could produce a conservative backlash. Mrs. Westwood, the first woman to head a national political party, asserted that she and Vice Chairman Basil Patterson "have no intention of resigning and I believe that we have the support of a majority" of the DNC.

But at the same time, Democratic leaders who object to the party change McGovern and his allies have come to personally were lining up behind such dump-Westwood leaders as Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, AFL-CIO lobbyist Al Barkan, former DNC Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas, and some Democratic governors.

Jackon, who ran briefly for the presidential nomination, is considered much more conservative than McGovern on many issues. Barkan and Strauss failed to get the support of the full membership of the party.

The last of the Indiana, who were protesting government treatment of their people, left the building Wednesday night shortly after the deadline set by a federal court order.

"We're not going to wobble on a promise to set up a task force to study Indian needs," the spokesman said.

Harrison Loesch, assistant secretary of Interior for Public Land Management, said the amnesty agreement was "only a recommendation, and I recommend otherwise."

Loesch said he and Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton "agreed to seek full-scale prosecution."

Pre-Historic Skull May Upset Current Evolution Theories

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The discovery of a fragmented skull, believed the oldest complete skull of early man, could upset the current theory of modern man's evolution, a Kenyan scientist reports.

Researcher Richard Leakey said the skull is 2.5 million years old and is "almost certainly the oldest complete skull of early man." He estimated it is 1.5 million years older than bones previously accepted as the earliest evidence of man.

Leakey said the skull fragments, along with human leg bones from two other individuals of similar antiquity, was found protruding from a rocky hillside on a wind-swept, scrub-covered desert east of Lake Rudolf in Kenya.

The largely unexplored region is 80 miles north of Olduvai Gorge, Tanzania, where the finds of Leakey's parents, Dr. Mary Leakey and the late Dr. Louis S. B. Leakey, "revolutionized the study of prehistoric man," according to the National Geographic Society.

Leakey, administrative director of the National Museums of Kenya, announced the discovery of the skull and leg bones in reports prepared for a scientific meeting in London today.

"While detailed studies on the new discoveries will take some time to conclude," he said, "preliminary comparisons with other evidence indicate that the new material will take a central place in the rethinking and re-evaluation of the evidence for the origin of Homo sapiens (modern man species)."

He explained that current theory holds that Homo sapiens evolved, within the past 2 million years, from "Australopithecus," a primitive creature having the physical characteristics of both ape and man.

But now, he said, the new East African finds provide "clear evidence" that rather than evolving from Australopithecus, a "large-brained, truly upright and two-legged form of the genus Homo existed contemporaneously with Australopithecus more than 2.5 million years ago."

"Throughout the time range of deposits at East Rudolf," he added, "the two hominid (man-like) lines are represented and it would seem that Australopithecus, as known, can be excluded from our line of ancestry."

Leakey said an almost complete skull was reconstructed from hundreds of fragments, and he added:

"While the skull is different from our own species, Homo sapiens, it is also different from all other known forms of early man and thus does not fit into any of the presently-held theories of human evolution."

Co-leader of the anthropological expedition was Dr. Glynn Isaac of the University of California at Berkeley.

Trade Pact Signed With Poland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trade between the United States and Poland will triple during the next several years under a new trade agreement, American officials predict.

The agreement provides that each government will make reciprocal credits available to finance each other's exports. Credit from the Export-Import Bank reportedly will be available to Poland, officials said.

Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson said current trade between the two countries totals $200 million a year. He said this will probably grow to $600 million over the next several years, and that the United States may realize a trade surplus with Poland by 1973.

Peterson hailed the agreement as leading to "a new era of broadened and expanded commercial relationships" between the United States and Poland. He said there is potential for expanding trade in both agriculture and manufactured goods.

Peterson said Poland has indicated it may purchase from 1 to 1.5 million tons of feed grains if credit terms can be arranged.

Poland is the second Communist country with which the United States has signed a major trade agreement this year. The Soviet Union is the other.

Security Conclave Planned

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The Finnish government is preparing invitations to 34 countries, including the United States, for exploratory talks on a European security conference. The talks are to begin Nov. 23 in Helsinki.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the United States informed the Finnish government the date was acceptable. The North Atlantic Council decided Wednesday all 15 NATO governments were ready to start the preparatory talks. The Finns said this was the last obstacle to distributing formal invitations.

The Foreign Office spokesman said an invitation will also go to Albania, the only country which has not answered a preliminary questionnaire.

The Soviet bloc, the NATO nations and the neutrals will be represented at the Helsinki meeting by their ambassadors in the Finnish capital. If the talks are successful, the security conference will take place next year.

PRESCRIPTIONS FOR LOVE LIFE
LONDON (AP)—Sex aids should be prescribed for couples with unhappy love lives, a doctor recommends. Writing in the medical journal General Practitioner, Dr. Brian Richards said "these aids are in no way kinky but of great medical value."

President's Congressman Offers Help

NEW LONDON (AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Meskill may find that having a legislature controlled by his fellow Republicans doesn't make things easier after all, says former Gov. John Dempsey, who faced the same situation.

"In accepting this great victory, the (Meskill) administration has to accept now for the first time all the responsibilities," Dempsey said Thursday in an interview. "Many times people say 'now the governor has the House and Senate, this makes the job easier.' Well sometimes it does not, as this old veteran knows, some times it does not," said Dempsey.

"I'm talking with tongue in cheek, of course," added Clair W. Burgener, Republican winner in California's 42nd Congressional District.

"I think representing the district in which the Western White House is located is quite an opportunity to establish a little closer relationship with the President," Burgener, 50, said in an interview.

The district which includes Nixon's California home has been represented by John Schmitz, who was defeated in the primary election in a respoinsioned district and ran for president on the American Independent party ticket in the general election.

Burgener began his political career in 1953, when he was elected to the San Diego City Council. He was defeated in a race for the state Assembly in 1966, won in 1968 and was re-elected in 1970. He was elected to the state Senate in 1966 and re-elected in 1970.

In 1945, the President's new congressman was a 23-year-old lieutenant in the Tulsa-based 509th Composite Group and served as navigator on a "picket plane" Aug. 6, 1945, on a secret mission which he later learned was the dropping of the first atomic bomb.

Unknown Also-Rans

(Editor's Note: As it always is after weeks of a political campaign climaxing with the determination of the "Peoples' Choice" at an election, writers sometime go off their typewriters. The following episode was found in the debris of political signs, several toppers, damp crying toppers and a cracked crystal ball. After laborious restorative treatment, it is reprinted as follows.)

Tribute To Famous Unknown Also-Rans In History

Campaigns Should Be A Lot More Fun

Earliest recorded also-ran candidate was a Neanderthal man named Moog. Balloting was different in those days. Voters would cast stones against the candidate they did not favor, the premise being the least "stoned" candidate would survive and was the most fit to serve. So Moog is the first also-ran to get stoned on election day.

(Historical Note: The advent of machine voting, that is the catapult, ended democratic selection of candidates for several centuries, because no one survived.)

The second famous unknown also-ran whose history has neglected was a Roman named Unum E. Pluribus who invented the "thumbs up-thumbs down" balloting system and was its first victim. After winning a primary election against a lion, he became careless in waving his thumb toward the emperor in the general election at the Coliseum.

There weren't too many elections in the dark ages; namely because Monks couldn't get the poll lists out in time and when they did most of the voters couldn't bring themselves to mark up the beautiful illuminated scrolls let alone read them.

However, there was breakthrough in what is now Scotland where an also-ran, one Jack Duncan, thought that Scottish kings, instead of getting the job through the accident of birth, should be hired through the accident of skill. He sold the country on the idea of a golf tournament with the people electing local pros to compete against the king in the championship flight.

All went well and teeing off at the 18th hole were the King, the Vice King, Duncan and his Vice King candidate, a popular bagpipe player who sponsored the tournament. No one is quite sure what happened next; but the Vice King teed off, hit Edinburgh Castle's north tower, and ricocheted the ball right into Duncan's right eye. Duncan lost the game but is remembered as the first wild one-eyed Jack.

After that, kings pretty much had their way and elections were something relegated to poor people who were allowed to elect minor officials, with the exception of the high sheriff and tax collector which were the only jobs that really paid anything but a lot of money almost passed through their hands.

Again the records are obscure but it is believed the next most important unknown famous also-ran was an unidentified village sexton in New England who ran up a 210 to 175 vote for first selectman in a town with only 200 voters. He was the last politician to be pilloried but is remembered for inventing the "graveyard vote"; one of the oldest and most enduring American political traditions.

The unsung also-ran of the 1972 campaign must remain nameless because he had been secretly offered the nominations of both parties. The Republicans offered him an unlimited war chest and several hundred surrogate candidates. The Democrats offered him a less plush war chest but reforms galore.

But our unsung also-ran declined because as he judiciously noted, "Nobody's going to win." And this is exactly what happened Tuesday.

Supports SAM

Dear Sir: At its last meeting, the newly formed Manchester Community Services Council discussed at length the Summer Activities in Manchester program. The Community Services Council is composed of staff and citizens representing the town-based health and welfare organizations and is concerned with promoting effective services to meet the needs of our citizens.

It was the opinion of those attending the meeting that much, at least of the so-called youth problem, is attributable to the failure to provide our youth with meaningful roles to play in the life of the community. The SAM program is planned and operated by the youth of the community and in addition to providing wholesome and enjoyable activities is a means by which they can develop a sense of pride in themselves and in the community that makes these activities possible.

This type of activity cannot fail to stimulate our youth to become involved in improving the quality of life in Manchester for others as well as for themselves.

Johnny

Oh Johnny look how much you've grown, You must be the tallest boy I've ever known.
Oh Johnny I hear you're going to school so soon, You must be the tallest boy I've ever known.
Oh Johnny you hear the man speak, he says the war is going to end, And the enemy will be our friend.

Oh Johnny look how much you've grown, You must be the tallest boy I've ever known.
Oh Johnny I hear you're going off to war to fight with a gun, You must be the tallest boy I've ever known.
Oh Johnny I hear you're going off to war to fight with a gun, You must be the tallest boy I've ever known.

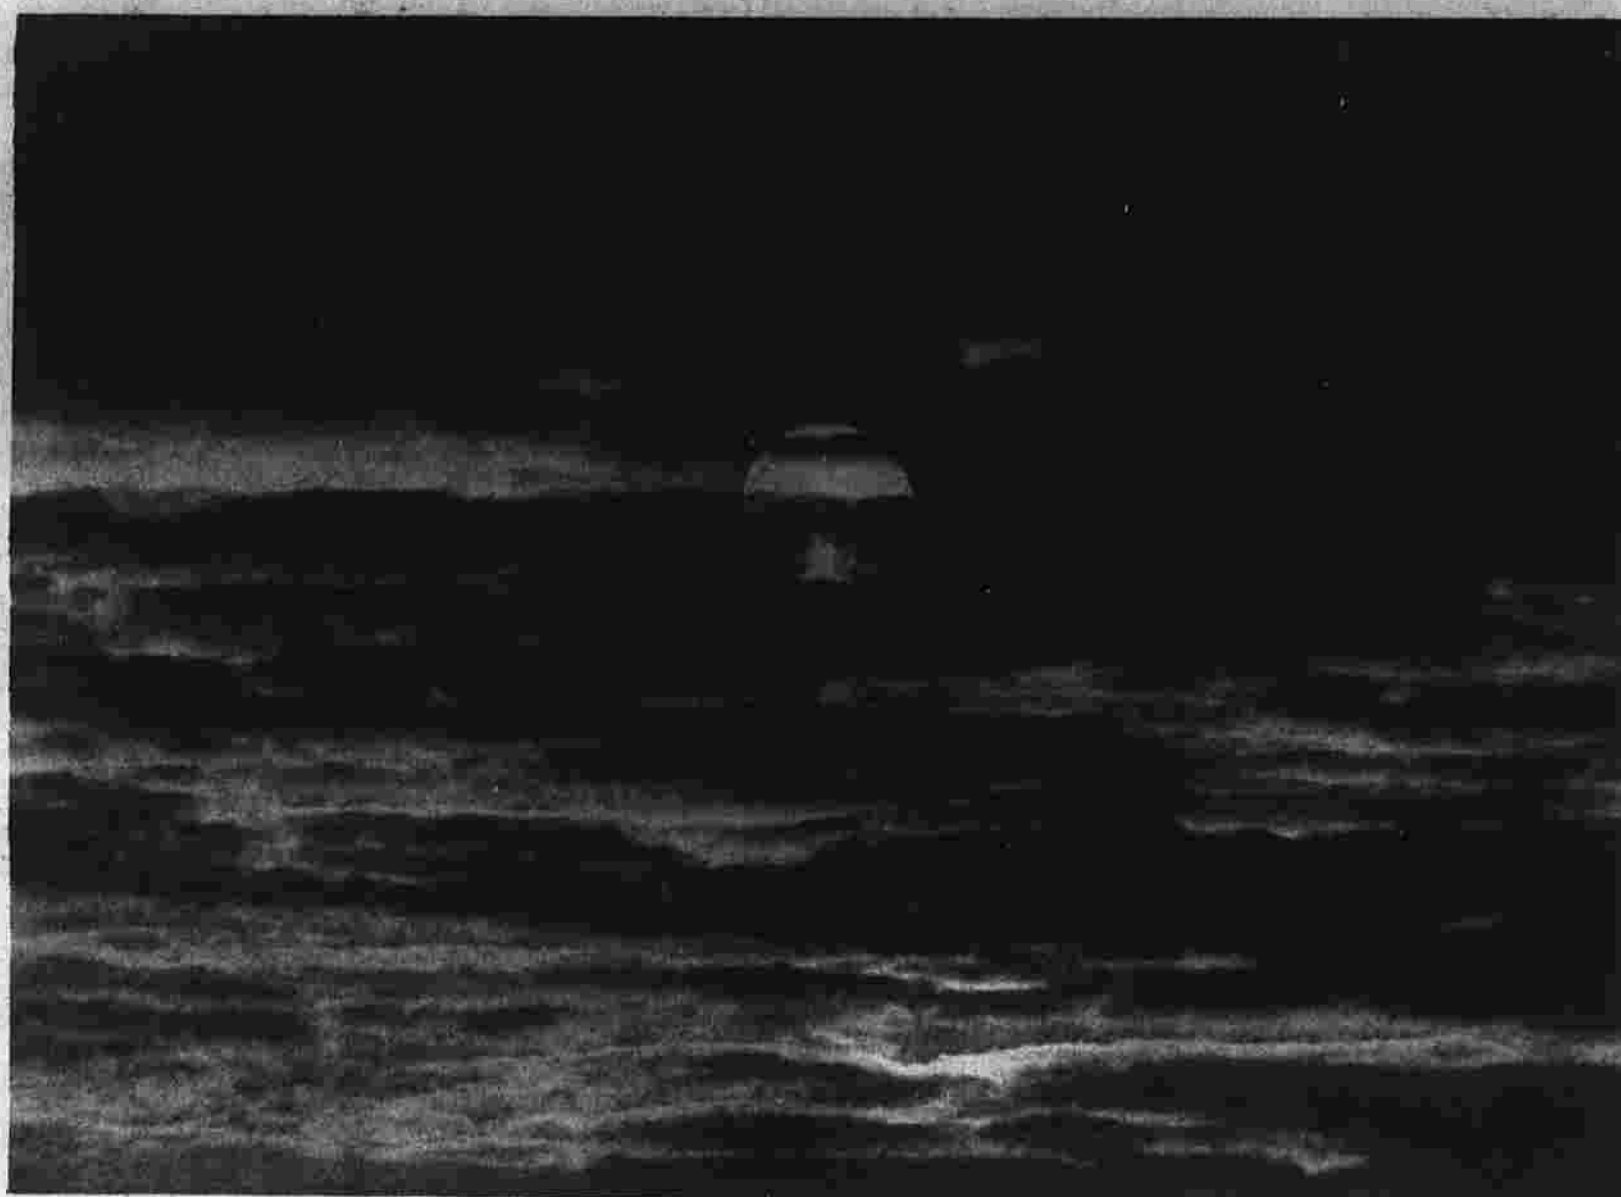

Oh Johnny's mother, why do you cry over that flag draped boy?
Where has Johnny gone, the boys want him to come quick and hear the man speak, he says the war ended today.

groups using our parks occasionally cause noise and litter and engage in drinking. Efforts have been made and will continue to be made to reduce nuisances and to increase effective supervision and clean-up.

It was the unanimous opinion of the council that Mayor Thompson and the Board of Directors are to be commended for their support of the SAM program and that it should not only continue but be expanded into a year-round operation. Our youth and the entire Manchester community should be proud of our SAM program. Many of our surrounding communities wish that they had a youth-run program as good as ours.

Sincerely yours,

He Got Things Done

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon was reelected to a second term because he sold the electorate his argument that he was a man who got things done. As it turned out, he didn't have to campaign after all. His deeds spoke louder and more persuasively than George McGovern's impassioned rhetoric.

In foreign policy especially, the voters revealed they were content to have Nixon run on his record. Whatever doubts they may have felt about the chaotic and sordid maneuvering for political and personal profit within the administration, they bought Nixon as a known quantity. It seems clear that the President succeeded in convincing the voters that North Vietnam would never have entered into meaningful peace negotiations had it not been for his door-opening in Peking and Moscow and his decision to bomb the enemy and mine its harbors. The election results reflected agreement that his diplomacy had produced peace on Hanoi from Red China and the Soviet Union, and his bombing had convinced Hanoi it couldn't win a military victory. Nixon had other foreign policy goodies in his showcase. They included the initial SALT agreement to cool the arms race, trade agreements with Peking and Moscow, and the Russian withdrawal from Egypt.

Meanwhile, he could remind the electorate that he had scrapped all but a scattered few of the 60,000 American troops his Democratic opposition had dispatched to South Vietnam.

At the same time, McGovern's foreign policy proposals consisted mainly of attacks on what Nixon had done. They were fuzzy and filled with automatic thinking; sometimes they differed according to the audiences he was addressing. McGovern's charge that Nixon had prolonged the war for political profit probably wasn't fatal because it came, desperately, at a time when the President already had a big lead in the polls, but it must have turned off some of the undecided.

Indeed, it is possible McGovern's argument that his opposition to the war had forced Nixon belatedly to enter into serious peace negotiations backfired on the South Dakotan. There was the obvious rebuttal that McGovern's candidacy did the prolonging by suggesting to Hanoi that if it waited long enough a much better deal would be forthcoming from a President named George McGovern.

On the domestic front, the voters apparently decided that although Nixon's record was spotty the changes McGovern would make were a touch too radical for the national taste. Prices were too high, but wage-price controls were in effect and the inflation rate had been out in half during Nixon's first term. McGovern's guidelines probably were viewed suspiciously as lacking in teeth.

In fact, Nixon probably scored heavily with his attacks on the "spendrifts" of the Democratic Congress at a time when high taxes were a major issue. Main Street may not be acquainted with all the fine points of government, but it knows that Congress holds the purse strings and that no President can spend more money than is appropriated on Capitol Hill.

There was also the national yearning for domestic tranquility. Nixon had given the public a little peace and quiet and there was the prospect of more to come. Compared with the hard-lining Richard Nixon, George McGovern and his liberal allies toward dissent and street demonstrations seemed permissive. Nixon was for tougher laws to combat crime; McGovern seemed preoccupied with the less spectacular approach of getting at the root causes of crime. The voters opted for arrests today and studies tomorrow.

The whole process, from nominating battles to election, was far too long, too artificial, too smudged up with sabotage and deception — frenzied, ludicrously expensive paper mache parades.

Agnew's talks, loaded with statistics, suffered the same fate.

Honest Dick's Used Car Lot

It was a month ago that Herbert Haney walked into Honest Dick's Used Car Lot to look around and kick the tires. He was immediately recognized by the firm's top salesman, Henry. "Well, well, back again Mr. Haney," said Henry, rubbing his hands, "and what can I show you today?"

"I've been thinking about that red and white, two-door Cassefire Eight. Of course, it doesn't have a synchronous steering, those guaranteed free elections."

"I bought a '64 French model once with guaranteed free elections," said Mr. Haney suspiciously. "It fell apart before I hardly got it home and nobody ever made good."

"You're not dealing with those tricky frenchmen now," said Henry with dignity. "You're dealing with Honest Dick. Look, I'm going to make you an offer you can't refuse. We've got special E-Z terms on that Cassefire Eight. This month only."

"Well, it isn't exactly what I wanted," said Mr. Haney reluctantly. "But if you can make me a good deal..."

"Just step into my office," said Henry happily. So they sagged for hours and hours and finally came up with an 18-page contract with lots of small print. On which they shook hands.

Naturally, Honest Dick, himself, was called in to look the deal over.

"Congratulations, Mr. Haney," he said, after reading all the fine print. "You certainly got yourself a fine bargain there. I don't see any reason why we can't have everything signed and delivered by next Tuesday — or October 31 at the very latest."

So Mr. Haney went home and told everybody he'd bought himself a used Cassefire Eight. While he was somewhat uneasy about it, all his friends said he was doing the right thing.

Then he got a call from Henry. "Everything all right?" asked Mr. Haney anxiously.

"Sure, sure," said Henry. "No problems at all. Delivery's just around the corner. But first would you mind dropping by for one more little chat..."

"If there's no problems," said Mr. Haney, "what's there to chat about?"

"Oh, just a little clarification of language. Like that part about tripartite power steering. It seems it isn't exactly power steering..."

"Look, we've got a contract and you promised to sign it by October 31," said Mr. Haney angrily. "I think we promised to try to sign it by then," said Henry. "Confidentially, we're having a little trouble over the title."

Between the Oak and St. James Sts. intersections were two tall white painted poles one on each side of Main St. Each had a pulley sheave at the top. Long lines were reft through them so the metal snags on the ends could be joined together at the center of the street and hoisted by the down leads or halyards which in turn were made fast by belaying on cleats within reach from the ground.

Whenever an occasion like a holiday or political rally called for raising the large flag over the street, the snags were let down, separated and fastened into the corner grommets of the flag so it could be raised and secured. At election times the candidates' names were displayed on a wide strip of cloth attached to the bottom edge of the flag.

O.C. can remember the Republican flag raising when Democrat Grover Cleveland was successfully campaigning for his second term. After the flag was secured at this location the Republicans had a torch light parade up to the B.S. Carrier store at Highland Park to raise another and have speeches.

Their little yellow (gold) caps, same style as the statue at the center, had big brass eagles on the front. They were used in play war for a long time after, and the coronets on a stick was used more than once to light the way in the old Copper mine.

During the program at the store the night sky was illumined and the air was rent by periodic flashes and crashes of a large cannon over in the lot between the street and Caser's paper mill. Some people claimed that it came from Admiral Farragut's flagship Hartford. O.C. doubts that because it was smaller than any ships cannon he had seen and was not mounted as one would be aboard ship.

Of course it could have been remounted on a wheel carriage like a field piece which it resembled. It was stored in a barn which burned down for a long time the old gun lay in the ruins, where the new Route 6 highway is now.

Some years later a small group of fellows took a foot of blasting fuse and several pounds of powder there on a dark night. The weight of the gun made it necessary for two to lift the muzzle on a pole in the hole to hold it up while others piled fence posts on it.

In went the fuse and powder and all the paper and rags brought for wadding, but it was only half full. The handle of the axe used for driving the wooden ramrod got broken in the dance so the axe head was shoved down the bore. More grass, gravel and anything available was rammed in to the muzzle. It made a wonderful roar and dug a furrow backwards like a plow.

Never heard of anyone in town finding an axe in their shingles, tho some claimed eggs under setting hens were killed.

Optacon Helps Blind Man Cast Ballot

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A young Stanford University scientist says he may be the first blind person to cast a regular ballot without human help in a voting booth. His only aid was a sensing device called the "Optacon."

"The possibilities of the machine are limitless for the blind," Loren School, 24, of Stanford's Applied Electronics

Laboratory, said in an interview. With the book-sized Optacon, they formed Telesensory Systems Inc., to produce the four-pound Optacon. Together with associates, the corporation, said that since began in September, 1971.

Jim Bliss, a former Stanford professor and now president of the corporation, said that since production of the Optacon began in September, 1971.

Louisville 'Banks' Its Prisoners

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Many people might relish a few minutes alone in a bank vault — but not in the one in the basement of the former Louisville Trust Building.

The old vault, believed to be the bank's original, will be used as a holdover for prisoners booked by Jefferson County police. The police have taken over the building as their new headquarters.

HALF BILLION MADE JUST IN JUNE
NEW YORK (AP) — The more than half a billion plastic bottles produced in the U.S. during the month of May 1972, are now reaching American consumers. People are buying more and more products — like detergents, drugs and cosmetics — and food — packaged in plastic bottles than ever before, reports the Society of the Plastic Industry.

Write-In Votes Reflection Of Electorate Peevishness

The write-in ballots chance for free speech, an expression of true conviction, or just plain old pranksterism?

The answer will probably never be known but in the meantime, results of write-in ballots remain interesting to the spectator, especially when submitted under the heading "President."

Some of the results from Tuesday's election in Connecticut show hidden support for various well-known personalities and some not so prominent types.

For instance, a Wallingford voter submitted the name

Corral, while Thomas Cronin, Bob Pizone and Robert West had someone voting for them in Waterbury.

Jesus Christ was the write-in hope of a Westbrook voter.

ABC-TV newsmen Harry Reasoner, a Weston resident, was the choice of an Old Saybrook voter, while perennial favorite Mickey Mouse was thought able to do the job by someone in Stamford.

American Communist Party presidential candidate Gus Hall, unable to get his name on the Connecticut ballot, received several write-in votes, including one from Stamford and one from Hartford.

George Wallace also received write-in support despite John Schmitt's heading up the ballot for the George Wallace, or American Party. Wallace's votes came from Hartford, Waterbury and Chester.

Spotty support also was evident for columnist and conservative spokesman William F. Buckley, U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., and New York City Mayor John Lindsay (all from Stamford); Sen. Robert H. Humphrey, D-Minn. (from Hartford, Clinton, Old Saybrook and Westbrook); and New York Congressman Shirley Chisholm (Clinton, Guilford, Waterbury).

Ralph Nader also appeared in the write-in voting, with at least one Hartford voter and one Clinton voter submitting the name of the consumer advocate.

Also suggested were comedian Dick Gregory (from Clinton), and Democratic vice presidential nominee Sargent Shriver (from Westbrook).

A Hartford elector thought Hartford Mayor George Athanson would be a likely president and still another Hartfordite voted for Dr. Benjamin Spock. Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern also received a write-in vote from Hartford for vice president.

Streamlined Registration Plan Revealed

NORWICH (AP)—The state is going to take the bureaucratic "hass and bother" out of registering new automobiles, Motor Vehicles Commissioner Robert C. Leuba said Thursday.

Leuba told the Connecticut Automotive Trades Association that a streamlined new system authorized by the legislature will be tested in Hartford for three months, beginning Dec. 1.

"If there aren't too many bugs in the system, we expect to extend the dealer registration program to all new car dealers by next spring," he said.

"The new method of allowing dealers to issue license plates and temporary validation stickers will eliminate practically all the hass and bother the public now experiences in purchasing a new car," Leuba said. "And at our motor vehicle offices, our partners no longer will have to wait in line while clerks process six, eight or ten dealers' registrations."

Leuba warned that dealers must "exercise strict security measures over the documents, plates and validating stickers...because of the problems that could develop if some elements of this system fall into the wrong hands."

Brutality Report Forwarded

HARTFORD (AP)—Asst. U.S. Atty. Henry J. Cohn said Wednesday his office has forwarded to Washington a report on alleged brutality stemming from arrests during an anti-war protest in front of the Hartford federal building last May.

Cohn said the report was sent to the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice following a preliminary investigation ordered by federal Judge Jon O. Newman.

The incident resulted in five arrests. One woman's nose was broken at the time, allegedly in a fracas with Hartford police.

Meanwhile, Hartford Police Chief Thomas Vaughn took final departmental action against four policemen as a result of the incident.

Patrolman John Reidy, alleged to have struck Mrs. Norma Newman, breaking her nose, was given a 10-day suspension on a charge of violating department rules. The suspension was waived after two days.

The police board said Reidy "failed to use patience and discretion" but that he did not intentionally harm Mrs. Newman.

Soviet Writer Dies In Labor Camp

MOSCOW (AP)—Writer Yuri Galanskov died last Saturday while undergoing surgery for cancer at the labor camp where he was serving a seven-year sentence for "anti-Soviet activities," dissident sources reported Thursday. He was 33.

The young author suffered from chronic stomach trouble before he was arrested in January 1967 for distributing "Phoenix," a typewritten magazine of his poems and short stories.

The sources said he died at the Potma prison camp complex 200 miles southeast of Moscow. They reported that he repeatedly refused to submit to an operation "because he didn't trust the doctors," but he was operated on last week when his condition became critical.

Galanskov's trial in 1968 was the second major court action against Soviet dissident writers. The first was the trial in 1966 of Yuli Daniel and Andrei Sinyavsky, who received long labor camp terms after their works were published in the West.

MANCHESTER

Keith R. Matte, 21, of 111 E. Middle Tpke., was charged Thursday afternoon with breach of peace (two counts), second-degree assault, and possession of controlled drugs, Manchester Police reported.

Matte was nabbed as he left a Main St. pool hall. Police said he had a small plastic bag containing several pills.

One breach of peace count and the assault charge stem from an alleged fight at Police Headquarters in which Matte kicked one officer in the ribs and struck another officer on the head with handcuffs. Matte was restrained by several officers in the building, according to the police reports, and was finally placed in a cell.

The second count of breach of peace was lodged against Matte via a Circuit Court 12 warrant.

Matte was to be presented in court today at East Hartford.

FBI Chief Opposes Shield Law

HARTFORD (AP) — News reporters should be required to identify their sources of information under certain circumstances, acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray said Thursday.

Gray said he is not in favor of the press's "not its right to publish information, but its right to protect its sources."

Actually, newsmen are not usually subpoenaed for testimony except as a "last resort," he said.

The FBI director, who has a home in Stonington, was in Hartford to speak at the annual meeting of the Hundred Club, an organization which helps the families of police and firemen killed in the line of duty.

In his prepared speech, Gray said too many citizens fail to help policemen do their jobs.

"The unhappy fact would seem to be that some Americans tend to look upon acts of crime—where they are not personally involved—much as the Romans viewed battles in the coliseum," he said.

At the news conference, Gray said the "watergate incident" in which a Democratic headquarters was spied on with the use of electronic equipment had no effect on the presidential election.

"The public reached a determination that this was another political campaign tactic," he said. "They took the attitude of 'a pot on both sides of the street.'"

Gray said there is no question that bugging is a "reprehensible practice" and that bugging devices are too easily available for purchase by the public.

But he questioned whether the state legislatures or the Congress could do any more than they have already done to outlaw wiretapping and bugging by private citizens.

TOLLAND

State Police are investigating a reported break into the Dial-Tone Lounge, Rt. 195, Tolland in which a television set, 115 packs of cigarettes and some change were taken.

Police said entry was gained through an unlocked window sometime between 6:30 and 7:15 a.m. today. The cigarettes were taken from a machine which was broken into. The change also came from that machine, police said.

VERNON

Philip Cochran, 20, of East Hartford was served a Circuit Court 12 warrant early this morning charging him with two counts each of third-degree forgery and third-degree larceny. He was held in lieu of $5,000 bond and was to be presented in Circuit Court 12, East Hartford, today. The charges were made in connection with the investigation of complaints received from Dan Baker Shoe Store and the Dry Quik Package Store, both of Vernon.

Coventry SNET Plans Cable Work

An $80,000 telephone cable project planned to start shortly is designed to handle the increasing toll calling needs of the Coventry and Storrs areas according to Paul Brookman, Southern New England Telephone manager, Williamstown office.

Brookman said, "This underground and aerial cable project, which should begin in a few days is scheduled for completion in early 1973. The cable will run south on Route 159, west on South Eagleville Rd. towards Coventry, along Stonehouse Rd. and onto Lake St."

"While telephone linemen will be working in manholes and trucks will be parked alongside roads, we expect no major interruption with the normal flow of traffic," Brookman said. "The cable that will be placed will be able to carry hundreds of simultaneous toll calls from the Storrs and Coventry areas. We need to have additional circuits for toll calling, because these areas are growing."

But said White House analysts interpreted Tuesday's election results to indicate between 67 and 70 per cent of the nation's farm vote went to Nixon.

That, he said, was proof farmers approve of administration policies. The farm vote, Butz said, was six to nine percentage points higher than Nixon received from the nation overall.

Under the acreage set-aside plan, farmers can plant as much as they want of a particular crop after diverting a required portion of their land from production.

In exchange for keeping some land idle, farmers are guaranteed basic price supports on all they produce and additional direct subsidies on part of what they grow.

More than 50 million acres of potential cotton, feed grain and wheat land are idle under the program. Government farm payments, mostly for those crops, are expected to total about $4.2 billion this year.

Butz said the cost of farm programs disturbs him, although the payments have been needed to boost farmers' incomes. But now, he said, exports are driving and cash market prices are much stronger.

"I want some of those idled acres back in production as fast as we can get them without endangering the level of farm income," Butz said.

"In a dynamic agriculture like this, I don't want to be bound by obsolete patterns of production," he said.

"We ought to have a farm program that will move increasingly toward the market place and away from government control," Butz said. "But I want to move these idled acres back into production progressively," not precipitately.

Hebron Group To Hear Talk On Old Guns

Thomas Edmund Hall, curator of the Winchester Gun Museum, New Haven, will be the guest speaker at Wednesday evening's meeting of the Historical Society, 8 p.m. at Brink's Mill.

The Winchester collection of firearms is among the finest and most complete in the world and is one of the oldest collections in America dating from about 1800.

Before coming to the Winchester Museum, Hall had worked with collections at the John Woodman Higgins armory at Worcester, Mass., with the A.L. Haas and Edwin Pugley collections in New Haven and the V.T. Hammer collection in Bradford.

Hall is a member of the Armor and Arms Club, a national organization with headquarters in New York, and is a charter member of the American Society of Arms Collectors.

The subject of his presentation will be "Firearms in Colonial America."

A short business meeting will be held prior to Hall's talk and a social hour and refreshments will follow.

NEW YORK (AP) — The oldest tree in Brooklyn's Prospect Park was among the casualties "in Wednesday's severe gale, with its 51-inch rain and winds up to 60 m.p.h., the Parks Department said Thursday.

Butz Outlines Farm Program Objectives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraged by a thumping farm vote, the Nixon administration plans to ask Congress next year for an extension of current crop-subsidy programs and for more leeway in administering them.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, in an interview said he will seek an extension of the acreage "set-aside" concept incorporated in the Agricultural Act of 1970. The law expires next year.

Butz, who said he will stay in Nixon's cabinet if the President wants him to, did not spell out specific details of new farm proposals. But he indicated he wants more authority to make "quick decisions" for adjusting production of cotton, wheat and feed grains to market demand.

When the current farm law was under consideration, the administration sought a freer hand in setting program details, including some levels of payment and acreage subsidies.

Congress, however, insisted that minimum guidelines be written explicitly into the law. Butz said such rigidity hampers adjustments when needs arise for more or less production.

Butz said White House analysts interpreted Tuesday's election results to indicate between 67 and 70 per cent of the nation's farm vote went to Nixon.

That, he said, was proof farmers approve of administration policies. The farm vote, Butz said, was six to nine percentage points higher than Nixon received from the nation overall.

Unemployment Drop Noted In New Report

HARTFORD (AP) — Unemployment in Connecticut dropped three-tenths of one per cent from mid-September to mid-October, the lowest in two years, the state Labor Department estimated Friday.

The agency said 88,300, or 6.2 per cent of the work force, were out of work midway through last month compared to 89,700, or 6.5 per cent, in mid-September and 116,100, or 8.3 per cent, in October 1971.

When adjusted for seasonal factors, the October unemployment rate fell to 7.3 per cent, down from 8.7 per cent during the same month a year earlier, the department said.

Average weekly earnings of factory production workers rose from $154.89 for an average 41-hour work week six months ago to $163.88 for 41.7 hours in mid-September, the agency said.

No Honeymoon For A While

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Michael G. Wilczynski was married in the same courtroom where only moments before he pleaded guilty to charges which could keep him in prison most of his life.

Wilczynski faces up to 25 years in prison after pleading guilty to five counts of aggravated battery in connection with beatings at the county jail here earlier this year.

He is already under a 25- to 50-year sentence for assault with a deadly weapon.

After Wilczynski entered his plea, Justice of the Peace Toby Lavetter married Wilczynski and Judy Ginnette Smith, 26 of Tucson. Then he was handcuffed and led to jail.

Wilczynski's attorney said, "They just wanted to get married, and I couldn't talk them out of it."

RELAY OF KINDNESS

PACIFIC, Mo. (AP) — Missouri State Highway Patrol Sgt. F. Neal Brennan used imagination to get three persons home after their auto broke down at night.

Brennan, who couldn't take them beyond a certain point because highway patrolmen are not permitted to leave their zones while on duty, set up a relay with his colleagues.

Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12
Manchester Session

George P. Schmidt, 25, of Windham, was fined $50 by Judge James H. Hanbury Thursday, after a guilty plea was entered on a charge of breach of peace.

The breach of peace charge was substituted for two charges lodged against Schmidt Oct. 24 by State Police. Those charges, second-degree assault and resisting arrest, stemmed from an incident in which Schmidt allegedly kicked a state trooper in Bolton.

Schmidt also pleaded guilty Thursday to charges of hazardous parking and operating a motor vehicle with unsafe tires, and he was fined a total of $55.

Other cases disposed of or nolleed in Manchester Thursday included:

Eugene A. Adam, 34, of Unionville, fined $25 for speeding.

John Barrett, 27, of Wethersfield, fined $10 for failure to drive in the proper lane (originally evading responsibility).

Joseph C. DeFazio, 39, of East Hartford, fined $100 for two counts of disorderly conduct.

Marta P. DeMonte, 31, of 21 High Manor Park, Vernon, fined $100 for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Vincent L. Flores, 24, of Woodside, N.Y., fined $25 for failure to obey traffic controls (originally speeding).

Marie A. Spaulding, 33, of Grant Hill Rd., Coventry, charged of fourth-degree larceny and causing delinquency of children nolle. She pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to obey duties of parents, and that matter was continued to Nov. 30 for disposition.

Brian D. Blake, 24, of 812 Hartford Tpke., Vernon, fined $50 for misuse of marker plates. A charge of operating an unregistered motor vehicle was nolle.

South Windsor State Asked To Study Wapping Plan

BARBARA VARRICK
Correspondent
Tel. 644-8274
The Concerned Citizens for Responsible and Responsible Government, (CCRIG) has requested a study be conducted by the State Board of Education on the feasibility of using Wapping Elementary School as an annex to the high school to solve a student overcrowding problem in the secondary level of education. The plan would mean the redistricting of elementary school children from the Wapping School to other elementary schools in the town.

In a letter to Carl Paternostro of the state building department, the group requested the study be made as soon as possible. The plan for a $1.9 million new addition to the high school was defeated in the Nov. 7 referendum.

Before the election, the CCRIG strongly opposed the building program to house 400 students over the present high school building capacity of 1,200 and asked that Wapping-High School Complex be implemented.

The group geared its arguments to comparisons with the theoretical enrollment projections determined by the Facilities Study Committee of the Board of Education in South Windsor two years ago which is currently being substantiated with statistics that elementary grade student population in South Windsor and the country is decreasing at a rapid pace, expected to double in unused spaces in the elementary level within the next two years in the town.

Hebron School Board To Review Elementary Program

ANNE EMT Hebron Correspondent Tel. 228-3971 Starting with his December meeting and continuing through next June the Board of Education will review educational programs in the elementary schools.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. David Cattanch proposed to the board last night that the review begin with the special program being conducted by Mrs. Mary Bringer.

This would be followed up in January with teacher evaluations presented by the superintendent and in February Mrs. Anne Curran will present the program on perceptually handicapped.

March's meeting would be turned over to the art teacher Mrs. Rose Mary Cocola, and to the music teacher, Emery Tapley, for a review of their programs.

In April, representative staff members will present the reading program and in May, the math program.

The June meeting will review new or special programs as presented by the superintendent, principals and staff members, where appropriate.

In order to give sufficient time to the reviews, the board voted last night to start its Dec. meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Appointments The board accepted the recommendation of the Democratic Town Committee and appointed David Alibee of Amston as a member to fill the vacancy created by G. Earl Porter's resignation in September.

Alibee is a graduate from Keene State College in New Hampshire and received his master's degree from the University of Connecticut. He is a learning disabilities teacher in the Fox Middle School and the Quirk Middle School in Hartford.

Alibee was sworn in at last night's meeting by Mrs. Cynthia Wilson, a board member and a justice of the peace.

Recreation Commission Chairman Eric Emt asked to board to consider relocating the backstops at the Gilead Hill School to enable the Hebron Baseball Association to use the field for Little League games.

Emt explained he had approached the board last year requesting the replacement because of a hazard caused by the sun in the late afternoon which is blinding to the boys and could cause accidents. He called the present placement "extremely dangerous."

The board had no objections to the replacement as long as there would be no cost to the board and suggested that Emt should work with principal Ralph Saccuzzo.

Emt also presented a request from the Middlet Football Association to check the field at Gilead for the removal of large stones that could be dangerous to a child if fallen upon.

The board accepted the recommendation of the Democratic Town Committee and appointed David Alibee of

Dr. Cattanch stated the administration would look into this immediately as it is a hazard to the elementary school children as well.

Transportation Because of an escalation clause in his present transportation contract, the board approved a request from Clark Transportation for a five per cent increase.

The contract had included the increase if the cost of living rose above two and one-half per cent. This increase had been anticipated and the money budgeted in the present budget.

Resignations The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Jennifer

Blevins, a fifth grade teacher, effective Dec. 23, due to maternity reasons.

It ratified the appointment of Mary Lou Pascher as a replacement effective Jan. 1.

Mrs. Pascher is a graduate of State University College, Potville, New York, with a B.A. in 1969. She received her masters in 1972 from Purdue University.

The board also ratified the appointment of Jack Jones as a part-time custodian at the Gilead School at $2 an hour.

Experience Program Paul A. White, principal at the Hebron School, reported that the school is participating in an experience program with Eastern Connecticut State College. Because the college feels that sophomores and juniors need experience associating with children, presently three students have been placed at the Hebron School working with various classes but not as student teachers.

Emergency Principals Dr. Cattanch reported that teachers have been named at the respective schools to act in emergencies in the absence of the building principal.

Covering the Gilead School will be fourth grade teacher Mrs. Doris Scheflich. Sixth grade teacher Michael Klapiak will cover the Hebron School.

Pilot For Presidents Dies In Michigan

FORT HUBON, Mich. (AP) - Lt. Col. Stewart R. Spencer, 52, personal pilot for Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy, died Thursday after a long illness. He also was pilot for a time for President Nixon when he was vice president and later for then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. He retired in 1964.

Demand $10 Million Ransom Plane Hijackers Threaten A-Plant

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Three armed men demanding a $10 million ransom hijacked a jet on a hopscotch flight from Alabama to Canada during the night. Then, after rejecting an offer of $500,000 in Toronto, they ordered the plane back to the southern United States where their threats forced a temporary shutdown of the giant Oak Ridge nuclear station.

This morning, more than 12 hours after the Southern Airways plane carrying 30 other persons was commandeered, the plane landed at Lexington, Ky., for its fourth load of fuel. It arrived there after circling an airport in Knoxville, Tenn., for nearly two hours.

A Federal Aviation Administration official in Washington said the plane planned to return to the Knoxville area after refueling. Unclear was the ultimate destination or motive of the hijackers, who were not identified but were described as jittery and had made several requests for pop pills.

The House also will have a vote on the hijacking. The hijacking was the ultimate destination or motive of the hijackers, who were not identified but were described as jittery and had made several requests for pop pills.

Officials said they were trying to get the hijackers' demands. "We are trying to get the money and parachute pickup here to get the passengers off the plane," a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration at Knoxville's McGhee Tyson Airport said.

Authorities also said relatives of the hijackers had gathered at the airport to try to persuade them to surrender. One of the hijackers reportedly is from Oak Ridge and the other two from Detroit.

Norman Helmske, airport manager, said the trio requested some pop pills while the plane was holding above the airport at 32,000 feet.

A radio station in Knoxville, WROL, said it had monitored conversation between Knoxville airport authorities and the hijackers. The station reported that the hijackers said, "If people here don't cooperate... we'll make this thing look worse than Munich."

Helmske said the armed trio also demanded that "an official document, the nature of which I'm not familiar with, be obtained and placed on board the airplane."

Leadership Post Races In Offing

WASHINGTON (AP) - The race is on among Senate Republicans and House Democrats lining up as candidates to fill three vacant leadership positions.

The defeat of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Gordon Allott of Colorado in Tuesday's election removed the chairman of two key GOP organizations and contests are expected in the choice of replacements.

The House race for majority leader has drawn only two candidates so far - Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., the party whip, and Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., who has no leadership post but is trying to break into the lineup.

One of the biggest changes in the House leadership lineup will take place peacefully, however. That will be the replacement of Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., as chairman of the Rules Committee, by Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind.

Colmer, a conservative, retired from Congress and the liberal Madden succeeds him under the seniority system.

It has been 20 years since top House Democratic leaders had a Rules Committee chairman friendly to them. Colmer took over six years ago from Howard W. Smith of Virginia, who was the leader of the southern Democrats.

The Southerners' hold on the Rules Committee, which must clear all legislation for the House floor, led to the bottling up of bills they didn't like and forced Democratic leaders to grant concessions to the conservatives in order to get action on the leadership program.

In addition to the Rules Committee, the Judiciary, Space, Interior, Merchant Marine, Veterans Affairs and District of Columbia committees all will have new chairmen in the next Congress.

Probate Judge Recount Conducted

Chief election moderator John F. Shea, left, and Town Clerk Edward Tomkowiak begin the recount process for Manchester judge of probate. The scene is Buckland School, Voting District 1. The recount was to continue until all 34 voting machines in the town's 10 voting districts were checked and all absentee ballots re-counted, to determine if Democrat William FitzGerald's 92-vote victory margin over Republican Ronald Jacobs will hold up. Looking on as Tomkowiak reads the figures are Mrs. John Carson, Mrs. John Cronin and Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings. (Herald photo by Buccivecchio.)

Gen. Haig, Thieu Confer In Saigon

SAIGON (AP) - Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., President Nixon's special envoy, conferred for more than three hours today with President Nguyen Van Thieu in an extraordinary lengthy meeting on a proposed Indochina peace package.

There was no official word on whether their conference, the second in two days, had brought the Indochina war any closer to a settlement. The two had met for two hours Friday.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said Haig was spending the night at the villa of U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. He refused to disclose Haig's schedule beyond that and said he did not know whether the envoy would see

Thieu Said Ready To Sign Peace Draft

SAIGON (AP) - Gen. Thieu again before leaving Saigon earlier this week had said that Haig would return to Washington on Sunday.

A senior South Vietnamese official confirmed that Haig carried a personal letter from Nixon to Thieu, and reported it reaffirmed the U.S. commitment to military and economic support of Saigon and said the United States would impose neither a coalition government nor a political solution in South Vietnam.

The official said the letter told Thieu the Nixon administration fully understood that the National Council of Reconciliation and Concord, which is proposed in the draft cease-fire agreement,

Assembly Image Concerns GOP Senate Leader

HARTFORD (AP) - The new senate president pro tempore says he wanted the job "to improve the image of the legislature."

Handsome, 36-year-old Peter L. Cashman of Lyme ascended to the top state senate job during a party caucus Friday after winning re-election Tuesday for a second term.

The public holds the state legislature in "fairly low regard," Cashman said in an interview Friday night, as he outlined his plans to improve that image.

"To begin with, we've got to start on time. At 2 o'clock I'm walking in and hitting the gavel and we'll go. If the troops aren't there, that's too bad," he said.

"There are lots of things we can do; there's absolutely no need for basketfuls of legislation being voted on two minutes before 12 just before adjournment. And I'm going to do everything I can to avoid that."

Cashman said he found his first term in the senate "frustrating" because of what he considered a lack of leadership.

"Beyond anything else, the senate, even more than the house, has got to make an effort to show it can operate effectively and efficiently," he said.

"I'm not talking about being a rubber stamp," Cashman said. "I was an independent senator." When the Republican-controlled senate and the Republican governor disagree, he said, there would be compromise. "But we're not would be only an "administrative structure" and not a coalition government.

Dispute over the meaning of the draft agreement's language on this point has been a major obstacle in the negotiations so far, with Thieu contending that it would allow the Communist side to impose a coalition on the Saigon government.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said Haig was spending the night at the villa of U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. He refused to disclose Haig's schedule beyond that and said he did not know whether the envoy would see going to get in a hassle, where we send him legislation to veto to embarrass him. There will be give and take, but we won't be contentious. We're not going to embarrass the governor."

Cashman has some pet projects he'd like to push, like converting the Highway Fund to a transportation fund, allowing gasoline taxes to be used for mass transit. Another favorite is preserving the lower Connecticut River valley, near his home and where he sails whenever he can. A third proposed project is the creation of a national submarine museum at the grand old New London railroad station.

Cashman and the new senate majority leader, Lewis Rome of Bloomfield, plan to hold more legislative hearings around the state, and he said whenever he can. A third proposed project is the creation of a national submarine museum at the grand old New London railroad station.

Meanwhile, the official Saigon Radio acknowledged publicly for the first time there has been a disagreement between South Vietnam and the United States over the nine-point draft cease-fire proposal worked out in secret talks last month between U.S. Presidential Adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho.

However, Thieu said Le Duc Tho, a member of Hanoi's Politburo, is prepared to resume the secret Paris talks with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger provided it is to "discuss the date and method of signature" of the agreement.

But that was one more than Democrat Patrick Buckley, who had always won in the past by large margins sides will remain in the position they occupy at the moment of the cease-fire."
