Sheltered Workshop Clients Drawing Social Security

Social Security means more than old-age pensions and Medicare sometime in the distant future. If circumstances are right, the time can be NOW to receive financial assistance. The time is exactly that for about 15 clients at the Sheltered Workshop, 45 School St., who are currently drawing previously unexpected benefits—some retroactive for a year.

The need of their good fortune was planted when James F. Cooper of 188 Ferguson Rd., Hartford, is in charge of arrangements.

Sheltered Workshop. He learned that not only were the workers being paid, but their income was derived from contract work that is covered by social security. In discussing the workshop's operation with Norman Fendell, supervisor of special education in Manchester, Cooper found that the mentally handicapped were covered by one and a half years of work in the workshop as a non-profit organization. When the oversight was rectified, Cooper obtained the necessary application and supporting evidence to qualify the applicants for benefits, and processing was under way.

Shield Law Passage Predicted

BRISTOL (AP) — The General Assembly is likely to pass a law protecting news reporters from revealing their sources if Gov. Thomas J. Meskall doesn't interfere, according to a Democratic state senator about to begin his fourth term.

If Meskall does not do any arm twisting on this as promised he wouldn't, I have reason to expect one (a shield law) would be passed," says Sen. Joseph J. Dineelli, D-Bristol.

He does not speculate on the possibility of a Meskall veto should a shield law get through the 1973 General Assembly.

Dineelli also says he may introduce shield law legislation himself.

If he does, he is likely to have the support of Bristol's three state representatives, all Democrats.

Gardner Wright says he would co-sponsor a shield law measure or, if necessary, introduce it himself.

"A shield law, I hope, would prevent the press from being shot in the back by whoever is in a position of authority."

A Look at Agriculture

While most of us may not consider Connecticut a farm state, its agriculture is an important part of the state's economy. Recently, this was brought to the fore when the state was host to the National Grange Convention in Hartford.

In a highly urban state such as Connecticut, pressure on farm lands for other uses is great. Gone are the days when there were many tobacco farms in the Connecticut Valley and gone are the days of many small family-size farms. But it is important to remember the farms have not disappeared entirely. There are dairy farms, truck farms, tobacco farms and fruit orchards interspersed among our growing urban areas.

We believe the presence of these farms is a boon to the consumer. The availability of local farm products helps, in season at least, to keep food prices down. For example, a Connecticut apple can compete better than a Washington one in our local markets and, more often than not, is tastier.

The state's dairy industry helps reduce our dependence on outside sources for dairy products and helps keep prices of these essential foods down.

We are aware that agriculture, nationally and locally, is undergoing constant change and also the industry is coming under criticism because of its reliance on federal farm programs.

No doubt there should be a critical appraisal made of our national farm policies and programs which in too many instances are patch-work creations without defined goals.

However, whatever appraisal is made, we would like to see it done on the premise that American agriculture is a vital and essential industry and it must be preserved. The ability of this industry to meet our food and fiber needs, as well as much of the rest of the world, makes it essential to our well-being.

The so-called farm bloc may not have the political clout it once had; but economically it is a keystone in our national prosperity. The farmer is a major consumer of our industrial output of petroleum, steel, utilities and other goods and services. Agriculture is a multi-billion dollar industry that is also a multi-billion dollar customer.

Today's farmer is a skilled businessman, a good citizen, and Connecticut's farmers are among the best. May they continue to prosper and serve our great state and nation.

Downtown Under One Roof

Just what Manchester needs: A revolutionary "megastructure," a totally enclosed urban environment which its designers claim portends the shape of things to come in American cities, will begin going up in Atlanta early in 1973.

The 14-story, $65-million complex called Omni International will include — take a break — a hotel of more than 500 rooms, 600,000 square feet of office space, a five-level trade pavilion, 10 movie theaters seating 350 people each, an indoor-outdoor swimming pool, a regulation-size ice skating rink, two tennis courts, international shops and ethnic restaurants.

Expected to be three years in the building, Omni International will encompass 34 million cubic feet of space, including eight million cubic feet of open space for an interior court, or "central meeting place," soaring the full 14 stories and faced with 600,000 square feet of windows. A 200-foot escalator, the world's longest, will rise from ground level to the top of the trade pavilion.

To figure out the hotel and air-condition the central court alone was a mammoth engineering task.

Omni International will adjoin the Omni, Atlanta's new $17-million indoor sports and entertainment facility, and will be serviced by the under-construction Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit System.

General Sherman, too should be living now.

Lot To Be Desired

The editorial that appeared Nov. 15 entitled Nixon's Great Concern left a lot to be desired. It stressed Nixon's "efficacy of patience" and his great goal of peace to be "patient in the knowledge that true peace is on the way."

But the war rages on and there is no peace. BS2s continue to drop illegal anti-personnel weapons bombs on the people of Indochina, and some of the most massive air attacks of the war are being carried on the night now. I wonder if we should again ask the Vietnamese to be patient because "peace" is at hand.

Nixon's "peace with honor" really means peace with Thieu. The human cost of this war is truly staggering, over six million victims, a figure matched only by one other leader in modern times, Adolf Hitler.

As of this moment, over 80,000 civilians are rotting in South Vietnam jails. There are more prisoners in South Vietnam than the combined number of schools, churches and pagodas. Newspapers, universities are closed down, protesters shot or drafted for front line duty, and 50,000 civilians tortured to death under Thieu.

All of this, brought to you, and sponsored by Uncle Sam. Since Nixon's re-election, Thieu has embarked on an extermination picnic in regard to civilian prisoners. Women and children, "political prisoners," are being tortured and killed in Saigon jails. Thieu is not capable of carrying out these policies alone, our tax dollars keep him going.

The violence and aggression continues in Indochina because there is no agreement, and the Nixon-Kissinger "delays and "new conditions" have jeopardized the entire settlement.

Since the U. S. finances President Thieu's operations, he could not, in reality, delay for a moment any agreement that the United States sincerely desired. I join with the Manchester Committee for Peace and Justice in calling on the people of Manchester to write, phone or telegraph President Nixon, our congressmen and our senators and demand the immediate signing of the present ceasefire agreement which will put a stop to this senseless killing and bring our POW's home for the holiday

Three Cheers

To the editor:
Three cheers for the Manchester Board of Directors in its forthright way of expressing intent to provide the town's share of acquisition costs of the Case Mountain tract. This is the culmination of years of concerned consideration and cooperation of many citizens, town officials, and young people who do not want to lose a precious environmental heritage.

While still anxiously awaiting the state's action, we in Manchester at least have taken an essential and decisive stand in favor of conserving a unique wilderness area of this town for all of the people for all time.

Sincerely,
Dr. F. W. Spaulding,
Chairman,

Coattails No Sure Pull at the Polls Government Too Large For One Man to Manage

By BRUCE BOSSAT

You get into some pretty unsettled depths when you search for reasons why a man can win the White House big, as President Nixon has just done, and not pull a lot of his party's contenders for Congress along with him.

In a prior report, I cited the record of the last 40 years, involving 21 general elections, to show that no Republican presidential winner in that span, including the fabled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has had much luck with his coattails. If anyone wants to argue that it's different with the Democrats, the answer is that even there it's a mixed bag and the record reveals erratic results.

Lyndon Johnson's 1964 sweep over Barry Goldwater did add 38 more Democrats to the party's already commanding U. S. House majority. But Republicans in the Senate were so near their irreducible minimum that the Democrats picked up only a single new seat.

Four years earlier, John F. Kennedy edged out Mr. Nixon for the presidency but actually lost 21 House seats and two in the Senate. Obviously, one might say, narrow winners don't have coattails.

Oh? Harry Truman beat Thomas E. Dewey in a 1948 squeaker complicated by two other candidates. But with only 19.5 per cent of the vote, presidential vote, Truman brought in 75 additional House Democrats to produce one of the biggest turnovers in modern times.

The presidential coattail theory probably got its great boost from Franklin D. Roosevelt's days. His first victory in 1932 added nearly 100 Democrats to the House and began the party's era of ascendancy. By 1936, he had helped lift the total another 20 — to a record 333.

Yet even Roosevelt's magic diminished with passing time. Republicans regained 80 House seats in off-year 1938, and FDR could pick off just five of those in winning his third term in 1940. Again, his party lost 42 seats in 1942, and he got back just 21 in 1944.

Clearly, it's risky to talk in simple terms of coattail effects. The jumble of evidence suggests many factors may be at work.

President Nixon's problem is that the government has become too large and too complicated for any one man to manage.

On leaving office as deputy secretary of Defense, David Packard told associates it was impossible to get the department's vast civilian and military bureaucracy under control. The same problem exists at Commerce, State, Health, Education and Welfare, Labor and Agriculture.

Mr. Nixon, of course, not the first president to be frustrated by this problem. Presidents Kennedy and Johnson were deeply disturbed by their inability to get a handle on the bureaucracy. They complained that permanent civil servants in the major departments had come gradually to follow independent courses with regard to policy of the administration in power, be it Democratic or Republican.

President Kennedy made a determined but only partially successful attempt to insert his own men at key points throughout the system. Mr. Nixon, less aggressive in this regard, found he had relatively little control over major departments at the working level, and so drew more of the decision-making directly into White House. In the past four years he has built a sizable staff at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue loyal to him, subject to immediate transfer or firing and responsible directly to his own key aides.

But the result of this build-up has been the development of a White House staff so large, and involved in so many detailed economic policy today is characterized by traits of ponderousness, division of responsibility, rivalry. New organizations — and new missions for old organizations — are clearly required.

SNET PRODUCTS

Southern New England Telephone reports its expenditures for major cable and switching equipment projects in the Manchester area will total $888,000 by year's end. These expenditures cover the installation of telephone poles, underground ductwork, cable, and equipment which routes calls to their destination.

In making available the phone company's figures, local manager Lynn Hoops said, "The $888,000 we're spending will help us maintain and improve telephone service to customers in this area. Last year, we spent about $492,000 here."

On a statewide basis, SNET says it will spend $68 million on this type of telephone construction, compared to $49 million it spent in 1971. Each year, SNET undertakes a construction program to upgrade existing telephone equipment and to provide for the communications needs of a growing Connecticut population. SNET's 1972 construction budget is a record $129 million.

Hoops said, "A large portion of our annual expenditures goes for new telephone cable to meet the expected demand for service. This year we'll spend

Heralding Homes Handiwork Makes This House Unique

The handiwork of the Tauno Kaskela has individualized their home on Wales Rd., Andover, in a unique style. Mr. Kaskela, whose avocation is creating black iron household accessories, has combined his creations with those of his wife who specializes in needlework to make an unusual personalized home.

It began 15 years ago when they built their own home. They planned their ranch home originally to be furnished and decorated in a colonial theme. But their tastes gradually changed to a liking of the "bold" look with Mexican and Spanish influence.

And now, when you walk in their home, you recognize the new look in the black iron accessories, the neopoint wall hangings and dark woodwork.

The living room and adjoining dining room are paneled in pine with a dark pecan stain. A stunning wall hanging opposite the front entrance draws immediate attention with its bold black and white motif. Mrs. Kaskela designed the piece. In neopoint, she worked the designs of Spanish and Mexican crosses around a large arched design. Originally, she worked the floral center in color, but not completely satisfied, she removed all the color stitching and redid it in off-white. The finished effect of the

The cozy kitchen includes handmade black iron hardware used as hanging hooks and drawer pulls.

Besides crafting the metal accessories for the dining room, Mr. Kaskela made the chairs that go with the antique oak dining table.

The master bedroom (originally the garage) features more of Mr. Kaskela's black iron craft.

The residence at Wales Rd., Andover, built 15 years ago by the Kaskelas.

Heralding Homes

she only saw only the handsome turned legs which she envisioned as candle pedestals. Refinished, it became the heavy type table to perfectly fit in with their conversion to the bold look. Mr. Kaskela made the matching chairs Spanish style from oak which his wife upholstered with a pale gold and green cut velvet fabric. Gold drapes hang from forged black iron rods.

A wide side wall shelf hangs by heavy black iron chains and can be used as a buffet. On it, a wooden box of fruit, corn and gourds, has been given the Midas touch with gold spray. A cleverly fashioned wall hanging in a gold frame hangs above the shelf. Gold spray paint has transformed a wide metal mesh screen into a background on which Mrs. Kaskela attaches a seasonal arrangement—nuts and dried flowers for autumn, pine cones and greens tied with bright velvet ribbons for Christmas, wild flowers for summer, and so on. The possibilities are numerous. A black iron candelabra table centerpiece, iron wall scones, and chandelier complete the decor.

The roomy kitchen has the touch which make for coziness—a rocking chair in front of the shuttered corner windows; a wooden spoon holder on iron hooks with a wooden planter beneath and a wicker basket of fruit on the sunny yellow counter. A chest one belonging to Mrs. Kaskela's grandmother adds a homey touch. The original drawer pulls have been replaced by black iron handles. A large iron spoon and fork are part of the wall decor.

Mrs. Kaskela's knitted creations (she started when she was ten) are favorite and colorful accessories in each bedroom. A blue and white shell and cable afghan is casually thrown over the bed in daughter Marsha's room. The matching print drapes and spread complete the scene appropriate for a 14-year-old girl. Guy, 17, enjoys a masculine environment in his pine paneled room with his cactus plants, aquarium and collection of shells mounted on draped fishnet. It's never a dull room with the orange bed spread accented with a knitted throw in gold mohair.

The master bedroom, formerly the garage, is paneled in limed oak and features built-in storage space. Black iron candelabra hang above each side of the king size bed covered with a black and white spread. The vibrant red of a Spanish matador's cape is found in the red and beige cable knit afghan. The Kaskela's native Finland is represented in the bright red wool shawl draped over the bouclair chair covered in material matching the bed spread.

The vanity dresser, once used in a friend's cellar to hold laundry bleaches and detergents, was salvaged and with a treatment of red antique wax has become entirely transformed.

The tasteful selection of colorful throw rugs adds bright spots in the almost entirely paneled house.

Mr. Kaskela's avocation began when he felt he could make some candle holders for the candles his wife brought. He has already applied some of his iron craft to furniture and he plans to make more for their home.

Mrs. Kaskela finds time to do most of the family's sewing, and spends all of the warm weather days working in the rock garden which extends around the edge of the patio at the rear of the house.

The total effect is the pleasing result of two people who, with their family, believe that busy hands are the happiest.

PZC Hearing
The Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Town Office Building to consider a request from Paul J. Coates Sr. for permission to subdivide property on Blackman Rd. into five lots.

The commission's regular meetings, the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, are now called for 7:30 p.m. starting with the review of preliminary plans for subdivisions.

Parent-teacher conferences held this month at both elementary schools were a tremendous success according to the principals.

Paul A. White reported that 92 per cent of the parents and children at the Hebron School attended conferences while at the Gilead School, Ralph Saccuzzo reported 93 per cent attendance.

Both principals feel that the opportunity for parents and teachers to discuss the children's progress and adjustments to school was invaluable to all.

UNICEF
UNICEF drives at both schools during Halloween were also a big success.

The children who participated at the Gilead School collected $28.64 while the Hebron School children collected $35.05 for a total of $63.69.

As a warning project for the month of December, the children at the Hebron School are taking part in the UNICEF Treat of Life Program.

They are saving wrappers from commercial products to earn gifts under the program. Each product carries with it a matching gift to needy children of the world under the UNICEF Program. A Happiness in Good Health Post Office has been set up in the front hall of the school where the children can deposit their wrappers.

It is planned at one of the holiday assembly programs to announce how many of each wrapper have been turned in and to equate them to services to children around the world.

Parilli Possible Mentor

BOSTON (AP) — Vito "Babe" Parilli, former quarterback with the New England Patriots, reportedly is a leading candidate to become head coach of the National Football League club next year.

An "influential" member of the board of directors is in favor of hiring Parilli, according to the Boston Herald Traveler and Record American.

John Mazar quit as the Patriots' head coach Nov. 13, and Phil Bengtson, former coach of the Green Bay Packers, was hired to finish out the season.

Parilli, a 15-year pro veteran, is an assistant coach with the Pittsburgh Steelers, with primary duties the tutoring of young quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Priest Named

HARTFORD (AP) — The Rev. Robert Keating, pastor of St. Jude's Church in Derby, has been named a recipient of the Gold Key from the Connecticut Sports Writers' Alliance, an alliance spokesman said today.

The award will be presented Jan. 29, 1973, at the group's 22nd annual dinner at the Hartford-Hilton Hotel in Hartford.

Long associated with state sports, Keating worked for 11 years with the boys of the Connecticut Restorative and the 1961 School for Boys. In 1961, Archbishop Henry O'Brien asked him to establish the parish, St. Jude's in Derby.

'Wild Card' Spot Goal for Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — They call it "Fun City" but Sunday in New York might just be well called "Sack City" for the Giants and Philadelphia Eagles.

The Giants, suddenly entertaining slightly brightened hopes for a National Football League playoff berth as the "wild card" runner-up team in the National Conference, are very big on sacking enemy quarterbacks. They've done it 29 times, among the most in the conference. Defensive end Jack Gregory has gotten to opposition quarterbacks on 17 of them, tops in the league.

On the receiving end is John Reaves of the Eagles. The rookie quarterback has the dubious distinction of leading the league in number of times sacked. He's been plowed under 27 times, and he's still got four games to go.

Nevertheless, the Eagles' No. 1 draft choice, a 6-foot-3, 210-pounder from Florida, shrugs off the tonnage under which he's been buried.

"I'm not worrying about the rush," Reaves says. "You start thinking about that, you won't be able to execute the passing game at all." He's executed it pretty well thus far, completing 53.1 per cent of his passes. But he had nine of them intercepted.

And he doesn't entirely blame his offensive line for his problems. "Some of it has been my fault. Maybe I've played into the defenses' hands by calling a dropback pattern when the line is winding up and blowing in there."

"The situation has something to do with it, too," Reaves adds. "We've been behind most of the time and they know we have to throw."

When he has to throw against the Giants, he'll be keeping one eye peeled for their star defensive end Gregory. Reaves says, "You have to be conscious of him the way they float him around. The Giants are long on hustle and enthusiasm."

While the Eagles are short on victories—their 2-1 record has them tied with St. Louis for last place in the NFC East—the Giants are still within striking distance of the playoff berth that goes to the team in each conference with the best record among second-place finishes.

At 6-4, they're 1½ games back of Dallas in the East following the Cowboys' Thanksgiving Day loss to San Francisco. And among runner-up teams in the NFC, no other team beside the Cowboys have lost fewer than four games.

Reaves says the Giants' attack will be the passing game at all. The conference's No. 4 passer with a 62.1 per cent completion average and 11 touchdowns. His primary targets are Bob Tucker and Ron Johnson, both in the top 10 in the NFC, and Johnson is also No. 2 in the conference in rushing with 824 yards.

Vikings-Steelers Head Schedule

NEW YORK (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings' once-mighty defense, which allowed 41 points last Sunday in a victory over Los Angeles, tries to clamp the lid on rookie sensation Franco Harris and deal another blow to the hopes of the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

Franco, the powerful rookie running back who played in the shadow of Lydell Mitchell at Penn State, has gained more than 100 yards five times in the last six games to give him a season total of 730 yards on 115 carries. A good performance against Minnesota's Purple Gang figures to boost Franco's chances of earning the National Football League rookie of the year award.

The Steelers, seeking their first division title in 40 years, hope to bounce back after last Sunday's 26-24 loss to Cleveland which dropped their record to 7-3, tying them with the Browns for first place in the American Conference Central Division.

The Washington Redskins put their eight-game winning streak on the line against the Green Bay Packers, and the Oakland Raiders meet the Kansas City Chiefs in other key NFL games Sunday. The unbeaten Miami Dolphins shoot for victory No. 11 against the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night.

In other Sunday games, Los Angeles engages New Orleans, Cincinnati faces Chicago, Baltimore plays New England, the New York Giants host Philadelphia, Cleveland takes on Buffalo, Atlanta is home against Denver and Houston visits San Diego. The Washington-Green Bay contest pits two of the NFL's leading rushers — Larry Brown of the Redskins and John Brockington of the Packers. Brown ranks No. 1 with 1,077 yards while Brockington is third with 780.

Bruins Moving With Orr Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Orr is alive and well—and so are the Boston Bruins. The Bruins overpowered the expansion Atlanta Flames at 7:30 night, as Orr scored one goal and assisted on two others.

It was the fifth straight victory for the defending Stanley Cup champions, who before they went on the streak were playing only 300 hockey.

But Boston couldn't gain ground in Montreal in the National Hockey League's East Division, as the Canadiens routed Vancouver 9-1 in Friday night's only NHL game. Montreal is in first place with 55 points, followed by the New York Rangers, 29, and Boston, 26.

In World Hockey Association play, Winnipeg nipped Quebec 3-1, New England defeated Alberta 7-2, Cleveland came from behind to beat Los Angeles 3-2 in overtime, and Minnesota topped Philadelphia 6-4.

Orr, Boston's superstar defenseman, is just beginning to round into top form following off-season knee surgery. He scored a pair of goals Thursday night.

Or set up Mike Walton for Boston's first goal against Atlanta, which came just 35 seconds into the opening period. Orr got an assist as rookie Greg Sheppard made it 2-0, then scored on a short punch shot late in the third period to make it 3-0.

Boston's final goal was an unassisted tally by Don Marcotte in the third period.

Gerry O'Flaherty scored for Montreal with the game just 22 seconds old, but the Canadiens responded with four goals in the remainder of the opening period and the rout was on.

Frank Mahovlich, Jacques Lemaire and Murray Poirier scored two goals apiece for Montreal, which without Vancouver 38-26, Lemaire now has 9 goals on the season.

Bobby Hull was the hero for Winnipeg, scoring his eighth goal of the season midway through the final period to break a 3-2 tie. His second goal of the night, and he also had an assist.

New England exploded for five goals in the second period to beat Alberta as seven different players scored for the Whalers. Ross Perkins had scored twice within the first 2:27 of the game to give the Oilers an early 2-0 lead.

Cleveland battled back from a 2-0 deficit, then finally beat the Stars on Gerry Pinder's second goal of the night, 4-3 in the overtime. Pinder's first goal came at 4:56 of the third period, just 58 seconds before teammate Gary Jarrett tied the score on a three-man breakaway.

Rookie Terry Ryan's shorthanded goal broke a 4-4 tie for Minnesota midway through the final period.

Al Smith Big Gun In ABA

By The Associated Press
"The guy was just unbelievable," said Coach Alex Hannum of the Denver Rockets after Al Smith, who handled out 19 assists as the Rockets ripped San Diego 130-111 Friday night. Smith's performance was the fourth of his ABA record.

Oddly the record of 23 assists in one game was set last year by another Denver Rocket, Larry Brown.

Marvin Roberts was high for the Rockets with 57 points. He hit 10 baskets in a row in the first three periods. Jerry Chambers paced the Conquistadors with 20.

In other ABA games, the New York Nets beat Utah 109-102, Carolina whipped Memphis 119-105 and Indiana tripped Kentucky 109-99.

The Nets turned back a Utah challenge on Bill Melchioni's two free throws and Johnny Hamme's layup in the closing seconds to beat the Stars by 11 points. "For the first time in my career," said Coach Lou Carnesecca.

George Carter led the Nets with 28 points. Willie Wise was high for the Stars with 26.

Indiana broke loose on a 13-1 tear in the fourth period to whip the Colts. George McClinton led the Pacers surge with 24 points although Mel Daniels led the Indiana scoring with 26. Don Issel and Artis Gilmore each got 20 to lead Kentucky.

Carolina opened an 8-0 lead and stayed on top of Memphis through the first half. Memphis struck out nine times and grounded for fielded out eight times.

Celtics Play Well Rec and Business And Knicks Agree

BOSTON (AP) — With a rematch scheduled for tonight in New York, Coach Red Holzman figured he didn't have time to worry about the Knicks' first period, but other than that he "can't worry all night," Holzman said after the Celtics crushed the Knicks 114-97 Friday night in the first meeting of the National Basketball Association powers.

"I'm going home to have a drink," he added. "Of course, I may beat my wife and I may kick the dog, which would be a good trick because we don't have a dog. I could kick a neighbor's dog, but the last time he bit."

Holzman and Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn agreed on one major point—the Celtics played a good game.

"They played real good," Holzman said. "They forced us to do a lot of things we didn't want to do. And a lot of our guys didn't shoot well at all."

"We played a good game almost all the way through," Heinsohn said. "We were ragged in one spot in the third period, but other than that we played super all the way."

The Celtics out-rebounded the Knicks 51-47 and hit on 46 of 94 floor shots in hitting their record to 17-2. New York is runner-up to Boston in the Atlantic Division with a 17-4 mark. The Knicks shot only 38 per cent, hitting on 35 of 92 field goal attempts.

Center Dave Cowens scored 23 points and grabbed 24 rebounds while playing most of the game for Boston. John Havlicek scored 21 points, Jo Jo White had 18 and Paul Silas 15 who, as many rebounds, but unbranded Don Chaney was the undisputed star.

College Football Roundup Arizona State After Major Bowl Berth

Arizona State is favored to nail down the last remaining major bowl berth tonight when the 18th-ranked Sun Devils meet arch-rival Arizona at Tucson.

A week ago, things looked bleak for the heavy preseason Western Athletic Conference favorites, but colanders Arizona and Utah obligingly lost last Saturday. That snapped a three-way logjam and gave the Sun Devils a one-game lead over the other two.

By winning, Arizona can tie for the title, but the Wildcats' chances of being the host team in the Fiesta Bowl are slim and the mathematical ramifications are too numerous to mention. And Coach Frank Kush of Arizona State isn't too happy about it. He was hoping for an Arizona win last Saturday.

"That would have meant the winner of our game would be the WAC champ and Fiesta Bowl host," he said. "I liked the equal-pressure aspects."

While the Sun Devils need only a win or tie, Arizona must win. And, in that case, so must Utah, which entertains lofty hopes of being the host team in the three-two pitch in the recent World Series. They made one hit, drew eight walks, struck out nine times and grounded for fielded out eight times.

Fortini Named

Pete Fortini, who has guided Ellington High to two state CAC soccer championships the past two years, has been named Soccer Coach-of-the-Year by the Connecticut High School Coaches' Assn. He will be honored Dec. 4 in New Haven.

A graduate of Southern Connecticut State College, where he lettered in four sports, Fortini has compiled a most impressive record of back-to-back undefeated seasons, posting a 13-0-1 mark in 1971 and was 18-0 this fall.

Fortini, assistant basketball coach, is director of the school's physical education department. He resides in Vernon with his wife and three children.

Ellington will have two of its coaches honored at the December dinner. Bob Healy earlier was cited as the group's Basketball Coach-of-the-Year.

'Let the Girls Run' Doc Robbins Says

By Earl Yost
"Let the girls run. What's wrong with letting them run?" Charlie Robbins paused to comment after he started and finished his 27th Five Mile Road Race in Manchester on Thanksgiving.

The 52-year-old practicing M.D. has been a prominent figure in treating the country and distance running for the past 45 years. He's also a former chairman of the Long Distance Running Committee of the AAU in Connecticut.

"This is the only race that I know of in New England where girls, or women, are not allowed to compete," Robbins said. "I think they (the sponsoring Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon) should open the doors to women in another year and I think they should have a special Women's division with prizes, too."

For the past decade, ever since Julia Chase broke the barrier, a number of girls showed up and took part in the Five Mile, all running unregistered.

Last Thursday there were at least 25 girls and women in the field, including several eye-fillers, which didn't hurt kept the excellent crowd around until the finish.

Robbins had a second suggestion to pass along to General Chairman Will Hadden and his committee.

"The age limit should be dropped. If a young boy, or girl, wants to run, don't tell them they are too young. A lot of these youngsters need encouragement at this stage."

One item Robbins fully agrees with is the banning of post entries.

"The field has gotten so big you have to have a cutoff point, just like the Boston Marathon," he noted.

"I can remember when the race was revived, back in 1945. There were eight runners and a dozen prizes," he recalled.

This year there were 560 entrants, including 460 starters and 45 finishers, plus 75 unregistered males and females.

Diane Kelley, a young Manchester High School enthusiast, requested that the Tall Cedars allow women to run. Miss Kelley and several other members of Manchester High School all finished.

It will be interesting to see what happens in regard to allowing females in the 1973 race.

Bridgeport Wins In Final Minutes

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Quarterback Roy Ferreira fired a 23-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Chuck Cornell with three minutes left as Bridgeport preserved its winning streak with a 27-22 triumph over Slippery Rock Friday night in the Knute Rockne Bowl.

It was the 21st consecutive victory for the Purple Knights, giving them the longest winning streak of any current college football team.

After a scoreless first period, Bridgeport took a 14-0 halftime lead on halfback Jim Tully's seven-yard scoring burst and a nine-yard TD strike from Ferreira to Cornell.

But Slippery Rock tied the score early in the second half when quarterback Tim Nunes tossed touchdown passes of nine yards to flanker Ron Layton and four yards to wide receiver Dan Toomey.

Bridgeport came back when halfback Tony Esposito plunged over from the one yard marker, capping a 67-yard drive.

Slippery Rock scored again on a nine-yard pass from Nunes to Layton that capped a 95-yard drive and pulled ahead 22-21 when Nunes hit Ken Marranko with a two-point conversion pass.

Ferreira guided Bridgeport 64 yards before connecting with Cornell for the winning touchdown.

Brown Kicking Specialist Ex-Punt, Pass, Kick, King

PROVIDENCE (AP) — Tyler Chase wasn't thinking about a pro football career when he won the Connecticut state championship in a punt, pass and kick competition.

He was only 11 years old. It wasn't until the last game of the 1970 season, when he was eight years older, that Brown University's record-smashing brother really began to consider putting his talented toes into professional cleats.

In that finale with Columbia, Chase connected from 44 yards to kick the game-winning field goal. He admits the wind behind his back had something to do with it. But after that kick, he says, people began asking him if he was eyeing a pro career.

"As soon as you kick a couple of field goals, they ask you if you're going to be a pro kicker. I said 'don't be absurd,'" he recalls.

But now, winding up a college performance that includes Ivy League records for most field goals in a game, season and career, the 160-pound, mustachioed Orange, Conn., native says "I could think of nothing better than spending my life as a pro kicker."

Coach Len James, who has guided Brown teams to just nine wins in nearly six campaigns and is calling it quits after Saturday's game at Columbia, at least can smile about Chase.

Chase has connected on 10 of 18 field goal attempts this year and is 20 for 31 in his three varsity seasons.

His longest successful boot came earlier this year against Princeton and traveled 46 yards by a Brown player, broke Charlie Gogolik's career record of 16 Ivy League field goals and tied Gogolik's season mark of eight. That mark could fall Saturday.

Chase also was responsible for Brown's only victory in eight contests this season. He split the uprights five times against Penn in the third game of the campaign, breaking the streak of 11 consecutive losses to the Quakers.

"We've asked him to kick field goals that aren't fair to him. To kick a 50-yard field goal into the wind is a shot in the dark," Jardine says of the placement specialist he rates among the top two or three in the country.

Chase missed tries of 52 and 42 yards during last Saturday's 21-14 loss to Harvard. The shorter attempt was the first of his eight misses this year to come from inside 45 yards. Jardine notes that finding an adequate holder has been a problem and may have caused some of Chase's unsuccessful attempts.

Victory Column Eyed by Patriots

BALTIMORE (AP) — The New England Patriots, who are threatening to catch Houston and New Orleans for the worst record in the National Football League, try again to get back into the victory column Sunday in a game with the Baltimore Colts.

The Patriots checked into town with seven losses to a row and a 2-6 record, a mark only slightly better than Houston's 1-11 and New Orleans' 1-8.

In their debut under interim coach Phil Bengtson, the Patriots came within a minute of a victory over the Colts. The Bills struck for 10 points within 46 seconds to pull out a 27-24 decision.

"It was a disappointing loss for our players, but I believe they played with confidence in their own abilities," Bengtson said. "This team is going to win some ball games before the season is over."

The Colts also are having troubles this year as they test several young players, including quarterback Marty Domres. Three weeks ago Domres led the Colts to a 24-17 victory over New England. It was one of Baltimore's three victories this year.

The Patriots have the most vulnerable defense in the league, having surrendered 323 points, an average of 32.3 a game. By comparison, unbeaten Miami has allowed only 127 points in 10 games. Baltimore has given up 205.

New England also has had trouble on offense. Quarterback Jim Plunkett, a rookie sensation in 1971, has been a big disappointment, throwing 19 interceptions.

Because of injuries, the Patriots shuffled their lineup roster Friday. Kicker Charlie Gogolik and wide receiver Hubie Bryant were placed on the injured reserve list, sidelining them for the final four games. Defensive lineman Julius Adams, hobbled by a knee injury, was placed on the move list, putting him out of action for at least two games.

Veteran Ron Berger was activated to replace Adams. Rookie Mike Walker will handle the place-kicking duties.

Miss Tucker took two firsts, one second, one fourth and one sixth in the 12 and under class.

In the eight and under group, Miss Miller scored a first and a fourth.

Other Rec swimmers to place were Debbie Coe and Kim Miller in the Women's Open group.

Meet the Squad' Night Set for Central Sunday

Central Connecticut will unfold its 1972-73 basketball season with "Meet the Squad Night," to be held Sunday from 6:30 to 8:30 at the Hartford-Hilton Hotel.

The program will be highlighted by a scrimmage at 7:30, featuring members of the varsity and junior varsity teams.

Preceding the scrimmage, the program will include a picture-taking period for fans, from 6:30 to 7:15; the introduction of the coaches, players and cheerleaders, 7 to 7:15, and a demonstration by the varsity, from 7:15 to the start of the scrimmage at 7:30.

The demonstration period will center on items of interest and questions submitted by the spectators.

Central is preparing for a 25-game schedule, opening Dec. 2 in the Trinity College.

UCLA to Extend Skein

By The Associated Press
UCLA starts its quest for a seventh consecutive national collegiate basketball championship tonight against the Wisconsin Badgers.

The Walton Gang, as the boys of Coach John Wooden are known, are heavily favored to chalk up their 46th straight victory and take aim at the all-time winning streak of 69 set by San Francisco in 1955 when Big Bill Russell was an undergraduate.

UCLA had a 47-game winning streak broken by Houston in January, 1969, but this year Big Bill Walton hopes to lead the Bruins to a record 61 in a row.

"The players haven't mentioned the record," Wooden said. "Of course I want it. Our chances of doing it are probably in direct proportion to our keeping it in perspective."

UCLA again leads No. 1 in the pre-season Associated Press poll with Houston, the 1968 upstart, down in the 15th spot.

The Cougars opened their season Friday night with a 97-71 triumph over U.S.I.-New Orleans. Dwight Jones scored 19 points and grabbed 12 rebounds although he sat out most of the second half.

Unemployment Contribution Rate Raised

HARTFORD (AP) — All employers in Connecticut who pay into the unemployment compensation fund will have to start making the maximum 2.7 percent contribution next year, Labor Commissioner Jack A. Fusari reminded businessmen Friday.

The increase in payments for some employers is required by the low balance in the fund, Fusari noted.

The fund, which is maintained entirely by payments from employers, provides unemployment compensation to jobless workers.

At present, contributions range from 2.1 per cent of the first $4,200 of each employer's annual pay to a maximum of 2.7 per cent. The rates have been set according to each employer's unemployment experience, with the highest rates paid by businesses with the biggest layoffs.

Fusari also announced that so-called "itinerant" unemployment compensation offices will be closed next year. These offices, located in Wallingford, New Milford, Rockville, Pawcatuck, Old Saybrook, Plainfield, Jewett City and Stafford Springs, had been open one day each week to serve claimants in their areas.

After the end of November, the claimants will have to report to the nearest Labor Department branch office.

Education Center Dedication Set

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The $2.5 million Professional Education Center at the Naval War College is to be dedicated in two days of ceremonies beginning Dec. 6, the college said Friday.

The building, first in the college's $23 million expansion program, will officially open Dec. 7. Navy Secretary John W. Warner will take part in the ribbon cutting ceremony.

Author Herman Wouk will be featured guest at a dinner Dec. 6.

In loving memory of our brother, Gregory Monaco, who was killed in action, November 25, 1946 in France. Deep in our hearts your memory is kept. We loved you too dearly to ever forget. Sweet memories of you we will treasure forever. Looking for you but forgetting you never. Brothers and Sisters

Comptroller Has Trouble

HARTFORD (AP) — State Comptroller Nathan G. Agostinelli said Friday he would like to issue monthly reports on the state government's fiscal situation, but the finance commissioner isn't giving him enough information.

"I've made several requests for the information to Commissioner (Adolf) Carlson, but I'm still waiting for a reply," Agostinelli said. "I'm thinking of sending him a registered letter."

Agostinelli said in an interview that the dearth of fiscal reports is not his fault.

The last report to come out of the comptroller's office was the annual report required by law. It was issued at the end of August and concerned expenditures and tax revenues for the previous fiscal year.

The Democratic legislature, which will be succeeded next year by a General Assembly dominated by Republicans, has frequently complained of a lack of fiscal information from the administration of Republican Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Gustafson, pastor of Calvary Church, will conduct a devotional program for residents of Westhill Gardens, Monday at 1:30 p.m. Ladies of Westhill Gardens will provide and serve refreshments. Plans for the Christmas Fellowship will be announced.

Mary Cheney Library will hold its first Sunday afternoon opening tomorrow from 1 to 5. All services will be available.

Dr. Hans S. Menco, emergency department physician at Manchester Memorial Hospital, recently attended the fourth annual American College of Emergency Physicians Scientific Assembly in San Francisco, Calif. The meeting, whose theme was emergency medicine and management, featured scientific presentations, clinical "do-it-yourself" technique sessions, roundtable discussions on clinical and management subjects, special movies, and technical and scientific exhibits.

Santa's Helpers

Two sidewalk Santas became a Santa's helpers Friday as they and others were trucked to their destinations on New York's street corners for the Volunteers of America. Market Extortion Attempt Foiled

DANBURY (AP) — State and local police foiled an apparent supermarket extortion attempt Friday when they "defused" a device believed to be bomb and found it was a fake.

There was no explosion. An investigation was launched to find who was responsible for the scare.

Police were alerted shortly after 11:30 a.m. when a manager at the Pathmark store on Route 6 reported a telephoned warning that a bomb was in the large supermarket.

Chief James Tallon said the store was told by the caller that the bomb would be detonated if money were not taken to a location spelled out in a note that had been placed outside the store.

A search revealed a cardboard box with an antenna protruding from it in the northwest corner of the store. A note also was found but police did not reveal its contents.

A state police bomb squad was called in from eastern Connecticut and people in the store and several adjoining buildings and parking lots were ordered out of the area.

State Trooper John Mulligan and civilian consultant John Griffin began disarming the box but found it contained six highway flares wired to a model plane radio-control receiver and a battery. Police said the device also was connected to a switch that would be actuated if the box were lifted.

There was no explosion, however, and Tallon said the flares could only have caught fire.

"Whoever made this had some knowledge of how to make a bomb," he added. The box was carried off by state police under an armored blanket as a precaution.

Triangle Flies, Garside Watches

It works. It may have looked like a UFO or a giant manta ray to passing motorists near Brainard Field in Hartford on Thanksgiving morning. It really was only William Radune of Berlin, taking his Dyke Delta up for its "wringing-out" flight.

An advance story on the fixed-wing, steel and fiberglass plane, with fir propeller, appeared in the Nov. 13 Herald.

John Garside of 51 Westminster Rd., a friend of Radune and who helped with odd jobs in the plane's construction, was among about 100 spectators when the craft made its maiden flight.

Thursday. The plane, except for its detachable wings, was hauled by trailer from Berlin to Brainard Field by trailer. The wings went by pickup truck.

The first problem developed, Garside said, when the Delta's battery went dead; then the plugs iced up. The second was overcome when CONNAIR loaned its hangar to thaw out the craft. Another friend of Radune used his car cables to start the engine.

At precisely 11:45 a.m., Garside continued, Radune made a full-length taxi down the runway. At noon, he pulled her up, circled the field several times, and made a perfect landing.

Yesterday, Radune stayed up about two hours, flying within 25 miles of Brainard Field in accordance with Federal Aviation Agency regulations. One run was over the Plainville airport. "It handles beautifully," Radune commented.

The Dyke Delta weighs 1,000 pounds, seats four, can travel 1,000 miles non-stop with one passenger, reach a speed of 100 miles an hour, and was built from prop to tail by Radune, a welding engineer at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp. from plans of John Dyke, Fairborn, Ohio. It is only one of five built to date.

Garside said that he expects to be aboard when Radune is authorized to take on passengers after completing FAA-required solo flying time. "He's a great pilot," the local man said.

The Berlin pilot doesn't expect to be over Manchester for awhile, Garside said, but when anyone spots a white triangle with blue stripes soaring overhead, it will be Bill Radune.

Bolton Bulldogs Plan Extra Game

Boltonites will have another chance to see their champion pony league football team play. The Bulldogs will play a post-season game against the Stamford Road Runners tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. at Herrick Memorial Park. The Road Runners are champions of the Stamford, Waterbury, Bridgeport league.

After capturing the championship in their own league earlier this fall, the Bolton Bulldogs defeated the Staten Island Cowboys 28-8 in an exhibition game last Sunday on the park field.

going into executive session and that they will have to leave."

She claims to have resigned both the post as registrar of voters and as secretary to the town committee "voluntarily due to the unfair pressure exerted by the chairman after I had disagreed with him on several occasions."

"As secretary, I was told by the chairman how to vote on various town committee issues. As a delegate to various conventions, again I was told by the chairman how to vote," Mrs. Hampton declares.

"In my capacity as secretary, I was to send out the call of the meeting to the members," she adds. "The only problem is that the chairman would not give me the call of the meeting on time. When he did this it would usually be after 11 p.m. or he would call me at my place of employment...despite my pleas for him not to call me at work..."

"Because there were instances where I chose to disagree with the chairman, he has chosen to regard me as a dissident Democrat and has so stated that as long as he is chairman, I will never be allowed to serve on any committee or hold any office in the town of Tolland," she states, adding, "How can any one man think he can hold so much power over so many people?"

"I have refused to be told how I am going to vote on any issue concerning the Democratic party. If the majority of the committee feels that something

He is a graduate of the Queen's University of Belfast Medical School, Belfast, Northern Ireland. He is married, has three children and has lived in Manchester since 1968. New Daily Lottery Booming

TRENTON (AP) — Business is booming for the first daily public lottery in the nation.

That was the word from lottery officials here Friday, when the 50-cent tickets went on sale in thousands of stores throughout New Jersey.

"They're selling extremely well," said Jerry Davis, a district office manager for the New Jersey Lottery Commission. "We're getting a lot of calls for more tickets."

New Jersey has had a weekly public lottery since January 1971 but went to a daily operation because of dwindling ticket sales. With daily offerings, the state hopes to increase public excitement and, for the first time, enter into direct competition with illegal numbers operations.

In the beginning, the state hopes to sell an average of 3.3 million daily tickets a week.

Not only is New Jersey trying to compete with organized crime, it hopes to out-sell its other competitors, New York and Pennsylvania, which began weekly sales in 1972.

From a peak of $29.3 million in gross revenues in April 1971, weekly sales plummeted to $15.3 million last month. At one point, New Jersey was selling nearly 10 times as many tickets a week as New York. Last month it sold only twice as many.

With a daily operation, the state expects to produce a net revenue gain of $25 million a year.

Daily tickets cost 50 cents, and payoffs will range from a high of $2,500 to $2.50. Odds of winning the low prize are 26 to 1; the high prize, 100,000 to 1. The top prize in the weekly drawing is $50,000.

Beginning Wednesday, drawings will be held Monday through Saturday.

JOY

JOY (Job Opportunities for Youth) has been reactivated to try to match idle youths with available full- or part-time jobs. Miss Donna Manning, a Manchester High School student, is in charge of the program. She is available at 646-1124 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays to answer calls from people seeking workers or youths seeking work.

Junior and senior high school students who are interested in work may obtain applications at the offices of Bennett and Iling Junior High Schools, Manchester High School, or the Youth Service Center, 14 Park St.

Any Manchester resident with any sort of task that needs doing is asked to call and get a healthy young worker for the job.

Arabs Offer To Guard Shrine

JERUSALEM (AP) — A group of Arab notables from Hebron on the occupied Jordanian West Bank have volunteered to guard Jewish religious articles at a disputed shrine.

The Arab notables met Israeli military occupation authorities after vandals Thursday defaced a Jewish prayer scroll in the Cave of the Patriarchs, revered by both Moslems and Jews. Some Moslems claim the cave is strictly an Islamic religious site.

Religious Affairs Minister Zerah Wahrhaftig called the vandalism a shameful act and called upon Israeli Moslems to condemn the incident.

New Haven Negotiations Resumed

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Negotiations resumed Friday night between The Register Publishing Co., publisher of New Haven's two daily newspapers, and striking pressmen, the company reported.

There was no indication of progress in the stalemate that led to a strike at midnight Wednesday by members of Local 74, International Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union, AFL-CIO.

Friday's Journal-Courier wasn't published to enable the company to make repairs to presses. The company contends the presses were sabotaged by strikers, and the union says company supervisors were at fault.

The company said it planned to publish its usual combined Saturday and Sunday issues of the Journal-Courier and the Register, and would continue regular daily editions of the two papers next week, but that the editions would be reduced in size.

Trinity Coed Raped By Robbers

HARTFORD (AP) — A Trinity College coed was raped Friday in her dormitory suite after she awakened during a robbery at the suite, police said.

Authorities reported the 18-year-old girl, alone in the suite she shares with three other coeds in Jarvis Hall, scared off two of the burglars but was overwhelmed by a third man. This prompted the other two to return, according to police.

The unidentified girl was bound and gagged with bed linen after she was raped. They said the trio then left with a television, a radio, a stereo set and an oven toaster.

The incident was discovered about 12:30 a.m., police said, when the victim freed herself and shouted for help to a couple walking by the dormitory.

Police said an outside door to the dormitory was unlocked for the convenience of people who lived in the dorm but that security officials at the college plan to change that policy.

December - a Big Month in the History of Flying and Moonshots!

The First Flight—Orville Wright set up his camera and asked Captain John T. Daniels, a member of the Kill Devil Hill's Life Saving Station, to push the button. With Orville as the pilot, Wilbur ran beside and helped balance the plane on a 60-foot track. The plane was about two feet off the ground when this famous picture was taken.

The month of December will mark a first and a last in man's conquest of space.

The 69th anniversary of the first flight by man in a power driven plane will be December 17.

The last scheduled manned moonshot by our country will be December 6 when the Apollo 17 launch is scheduled. This will probably be our last moon landing until sometime during the next century.

The First Flight

The inventors of the first "flying machine" were Orville and Wilbur Wright. The pilot of the first flight was Orville.

This flight took place at 10:35 o'clock on the cold winter morning of December 17, 1903, at Kill Devil Hill, a huge sand dune about four miles from Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. The flight lasted 12 seconds and covered 120 feet.

The Wright brothers made four flights that day. The longest was the fourth, piloted by Wilbur. This flight lasted 59 seconds and covered 852 feet.

The Last Moonshot

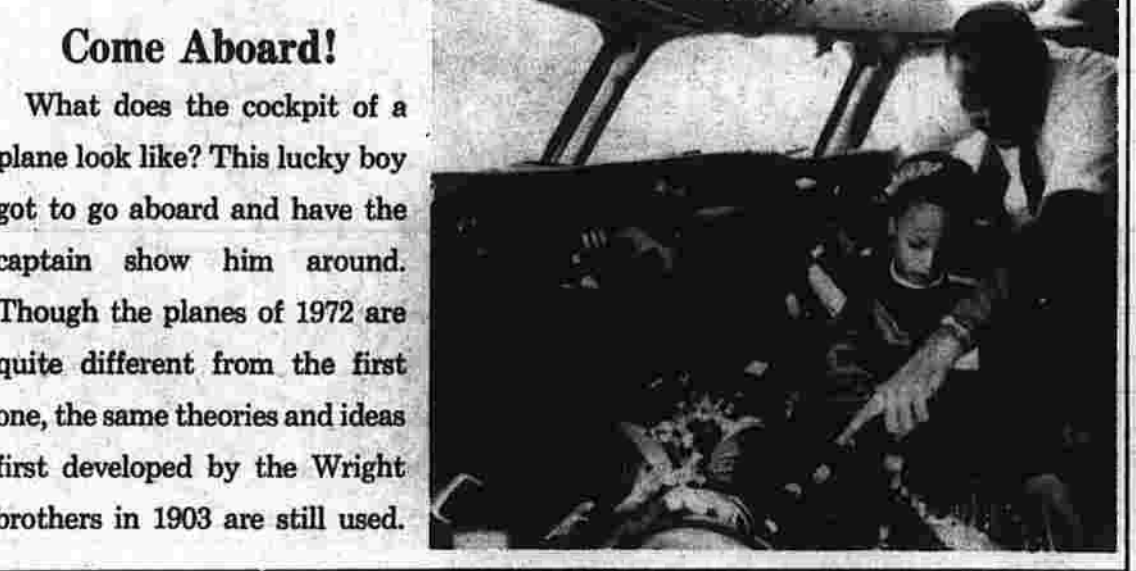

The final moonshot mission will last for 14 days. While the astronauts are on the moon, they will try to find out the following:

1. Has the moon given off any heat in the last three billion years?
2. What happened on the moon during the period between three and four billion years ago?
3. How were the great lunar basins formed?
4. Though surface water has been discovered on the moon, is there any water below the surface?
5. What causes the differences in samples taken from different areas of the moon's surface?

The First Men to Fly Our Last Men on the Moon

Come Aboard!

What does the cockpit of a plane look like? This lucky boy got to go aboard and have the captain show him around. Though the planes of 1972 are quite different from the first one, the same theories and ideas first developed by the Wright brothers in 1903 are still used.

ANSWER BOX

The crew of the Apollo 17 mission. (From left to right), Scientist-Astronaut Harrison H. Schmitt. He is a geologist, so he knows a lot about rocks. Navy Captain Eugene A. Cernan is the mission commander. He was the lunar module pilot for the Apollo 10 flight. Ronald E. Evans will be the lunar module pilot. He is a commander in the Navy. This will be the first space flight for Schmitt and Evans.

Guess What?

The Apollo 17 shot will go up at night!

This will be a night launch because the moon landing must take place at a certain time in order to have the correct sun angles for some of the experiments. The time of lift-off was computed backward from the time of the experiments needed to be conducted. The landing site will be the Taurus-Littrow highlands. This is close to the moon-landing points of Apollo 11 and Apollo 15.

This will be man's longest stay on the moon!

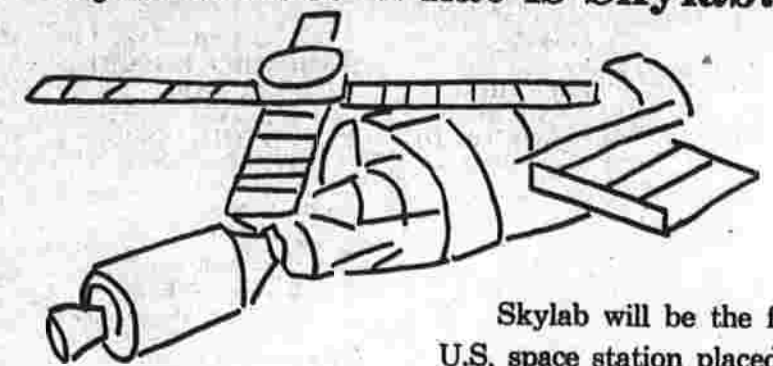

The Apollo 17 explorers will be on the moon's surface about 75 hours, or four hours longer than any other astronauts have stayed. Mission planners hope this will give the astronauts a more relaxed schedule. They need more time to do such things in the lunar module as eating, stowing containers, housekeeping, and getting ready to put on their space suits for walks on the moon. Other crews have had to rush to get these things done in time.

Super Sport: Roger Staubach

Roger Staubach is the star quarterback for the NFL champions, the Dallas Cowboys. Unfortunately, he was injured in a pre-season game and has been out of action most of the season. His team won last year's Super Bowl against the Miami Dolphins. This will be Staubach's fourth year with the Cowboys. He was a Heisman Trophy winner in 1963 when he played for the Naval Academy. The Heisman Trophy is awarded to the outstanding college football player in the country. Staubach is 29 years old and hopes to play ball for another six or seven years.

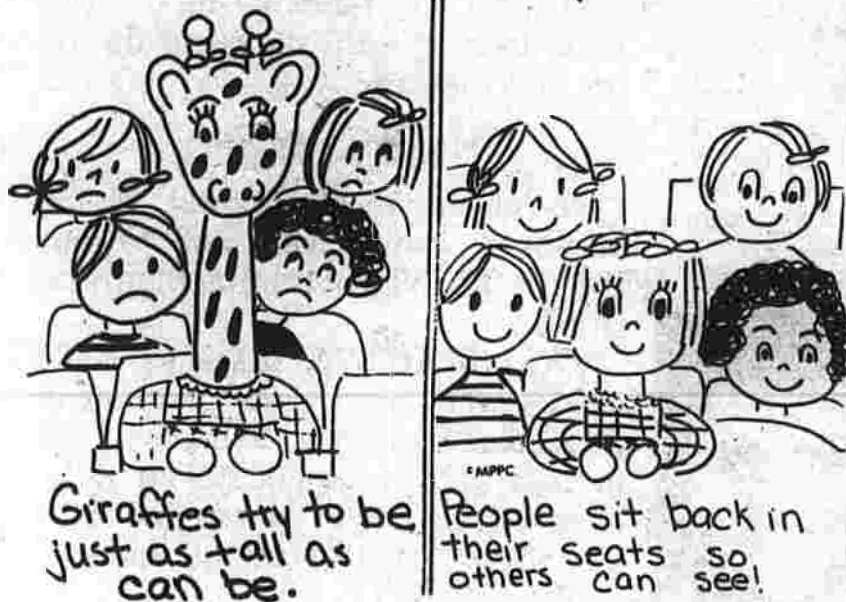

Quiz-a-roo: What is Skylab?

Skylab will be the first U.S. space station placed in orbit. The largest part will be the space laboratory which will be the size of a six room house. The workshop will be outfitted for many medical experiments. Also, the Skylab astronauts will gather information about the earth and the sun. Launch of the unmanned workshop is planned for April 30, 1973. Three astronauts will dock their spacecraft to the laboratory May 1 and begin a four week mission. Later, a second, and then a third crew, will carry out missions in the Skylab.
