Report Bus Strike Impact Slight

ConnCo Official Presents Case

HARTFORD (AP) — The president of the Connecticut Co. said today that a state takeover of bus service in the state's largest cities would not cost as much as some people think.

ConnCo President E. Clayton Gengras told Hartford Superior Court Judge George A. Sadek that "it's mythical that this is going to run into the millions of dollars."

Gengras was in court in an attempt to force the state to grant subsidies to the company and to another bus company, the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Co.

Gengras testified that it was unfair for riders and bus company employees to suffer "for the amount of money that's involved."

Sadek, however, questioned whether the state would find itself paying more and more in the event of a takeover because of the rising costs of running a bus service.

ConnCo and CR&L provide Hartford service in and around Hartford, Stamford, New Haven, Waterbury, Bridgeport and New Britain. Both firms say they have been losing money.

A strike by Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) bus drivers and mechanics against the Connecticut Co. is in its third week. CR&L buses stopped running Oct. 10 while the company, pleading intolerable losses, shut down its operations Monday, the first weekday of the Edward Malley Co. a New Haven department store, said it was "preparing" to make a judgment. But he said "we have had some concern expressed by retailers if the strike is allowed to continue through the Christmas shopping season."

Roger Driva, president of the Edward Malley Co. a New Haven department store, said it was "preparing" to make a judgment. But he said "we have had some concern expressed by retailers if the strike is allowed to continue through the Christmas shopping season."

William Luettgens, vice president of G. Fox & Co. department store in Hartford said Christmas shopping Monday was good.

Driva said a reduction in newspaper advertising resulting from the pressmen's strike at the New Haven Register and Journal-Courier might have "hurt more than a little."

The president of the Stamford Area Commerce and Industry Association, John Mitovich, said it was "premise" to make a judgment. But he said "we have had some concern expressed by retailers if the strike is allowed to continue through the Christmas shopping season."

Robert Simon of the Greater New Haven Chamber of Commerce said "Downtown business was a little soft, probably because people were a little apprehensive about the traffic, but I expect them to realize that the sales force is good and traffic is flowing smoothly."

In Stamford today, emergency bus service was established.

City Officials Split On Gun Control Issue

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The nation's two largest organizations of city officials — the National League of Cities and the U.S. Conference of Mayors — are divided on the issue of gun control legislation, putting their joint lobbying staff in a delicate position.

The Public Safety Committee of the League created the issue of gun control legislation, the first day of the league's four-day annual meeting.

By a voice vote, the committee not only rejected the gun control resolution passed by the League last June, but also deleted the weak resolution passed by the League last year. That one had called for federal laws against interstate sale of firearms and mandatory minimum sentences of 10 years for sale of a firearm in any state.

It stands now, the League's policy statement does not mention gun control legislation. The U.S. Conference of Mayors, however, called in June for national legislation against gun manufacturers, importation, sale and private possession of handguns except for law enforcement personnel, military and sportarm's clubs, a national handgun registration law, state registration for all handguns, and a ban on the sale of handguns to persons who carry guns.

The difference stems from the nature of the two organizations. The League represents 15,000 cities, with small towns or even no towns. The U.S. Conference of Mayors is open only to chief executives of cities with 50,000 persons or more.

The mayors and other city officials divide on this issue. "It's a very delicate position," said one of the city officials. "It looks like the cities are divided."

Open House Grievances Aired Before Board

Atty. Alan D. Thomas, Board of Education chairman, administered the oath of office to three new board members at the start of last night's meeting, which was held at Waddell School: Robert S. Maltempo, Mrs. Eleanor D. Colman, and Atty. John C. Yavis Jr. (See story on Page 18) (Herald photo by Buccivint)

By JOHN A. JOHNSTON (Herald Reporter)

Atty. Alan D. Thomas of Rockville representing the Manchester Education Association, last night charged the Board of Education with the responsibility of removing from their teacher personnel files copies of letters of "reprimand" to some Bennett and Hilling Junior High School teachers, following their non-attendance at open houses this fall.

Views of both sides were aired at a grievance hearing that took up most of the board meeting, held at Waddell School. Kaplan agreed to attend the board-MEA agreement clause that requires a grievance reply to be made within five days. The board will render its decision on or before the regular meeting of Dec. 11.

Labeling the letters of Dr. Richard Lindgren and Allan Cone, Hilling and Bennett principals, respectively, "illegal, unauthorized, and a black mark," the MEA attorney based his arguments on a Hartford Superior Court ruling in a similar case, as well as several articles in the board-MEA agreement of June 20 of this year. The difficulty of the whole situation, Kaplan introduced his arguments, is that "we are dealing with a problem that really doesn't involve the Board of Education. The PTO (which sponsored both open houses) is not a member of the national PTA, and the board is not involved in the PTO." He also called attention to the fact that "the contract, in several areas, contains sanctions open to principals, but they chose to ignore the sanctions. We are starting on the basic premise that the letters of reprimand are illegal and unauthorized."

There is no authority for mandatory attendance at PTO meetings, Kaplan said, and this is inherent in the Superior Court decision of 1970 on a suit brought by the Wethersfield Board of Education against the education association of that town. The court held, Kaplan noted, that "the teachers' failure to attend was not a refusal to render services within the meaning of the statute," which prohibits a professional school employee from engaging in "any strike or concerted refusal to render services."

There is no doubt, Kaplan stated, that the Superior Court's decision is applicable to the situation in which Bennett and Hilling teachers found themselves.

If the principals' letters, expressing "disappointment" at the teachers' absence from the open houses, truly had attendance as mandatory, Kaplan went on, this reflects the open houses as a breach of Article II A4 of the agreement. The section states that "any proposed policy change in writing and provide an opportunity for negotiation."

At one point, when the matter of negotiations was raised, Dr. James P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, objected to the letter of Sept. 3, which named the MEA negotiator and expressed the hope "that negotiations would be concluded by Sept. 28."

He commented that he considered setting a terminal date an example of not negotiating in good faith.

Dr. Wiener said that the tone of "disappointment" in Dr. Lindgren's and Cone's letters, as far as he is concerned, hardly amounts to reprimands.

"The letters themselves aren't," Kaplan replied, "but placing them in the teachers' files is. The consequences make it a reprimand." The principals have a right and obligation, knowing that the boycott — secondary boycott, if you will — has done harm to the school program, to communicate this to the staff.

Students' Assault Sought

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Police continued to search today for an unidentified assailant who pulled a gun during a scuffle and wounded a student, one seriously, at Pontiac Central High School.

Witnesses said the shooting Monday occurred after an apparent confrontation between two students in the first outbreak this year in the once-troubled inner city school.

Sophomore student Timothy Williams, 15, who had been hospitalized in serious condition after being shot in the back, was described in fair condition by Monday night after undergoing surgery.

The other four — two boys and two girls — were released from hospital later Monday. One girl is black, the other four pupils are white, school officials said.

Lt. James Lafare, school police counselor, said the scuffling occurred as classes changed. Police said the trouble apparently began when a student identified as Dale Miller, 15, was kicked and shoved by other students in the courtyard.

Tax Cut Fate Before House

HARTFORD (AP) — Democratic House leaders were trying today to round up enough "lame-duck" legislators to send a bill calling for a sales-tax reduction to Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's desk.

Supporters of the measure claim it would save Connecticut residents a total of more than $5 million during the holiday season alone.

The Republican governor, however, has said that "in all probability" he would veto the measure.

Meskill called for a tax reduction this year but he proposed taking one-half of a percentage point off both the sales tax and the capitol gains and dividends tax.

The measure, which was passed Nov. 21 by a strictly party line vote in the Senate, would only reduce the 7 per cent sales tax to 6 per cent starting Dec. 1.

The Democrats hold a wide numerical majority in the House, but the fate of the bill depends on whether enough of those finishing their legislative

Cabinet Changes Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources indicated strongly today that Caspar Weinberger, director of the Office of Management and Budget, would be nominated to succeed Elliott L. Richardson as secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

President Nixon is expected to announce today his choice for a new secretary of defense. If Weinberger were chosen to head HEW, Richardson would be freed to accept the defense post for which he has been mentioned as a possible successor to Melvin H. Laird.

Nixon, who wants to draw Cabinet members closer to the White House, disclosed Monday that Weinberger will be leaving the management-budget post and will get another top defense job.

The new secretary of defense would be Nixon's first Cabinet change for his second term.

Whoever is appointed as new secretary of defense and other Cabinet jobs in the next four years, Nixon told newsmen Monday, they will be in "closer contact with the White House and of course with the President himself."

Nixon, who has devoted several days since his landslide re-election Nov. 7, to administration personnel changes, told newsmen that he would return to private life rather than take a government post in the second Nixon term.

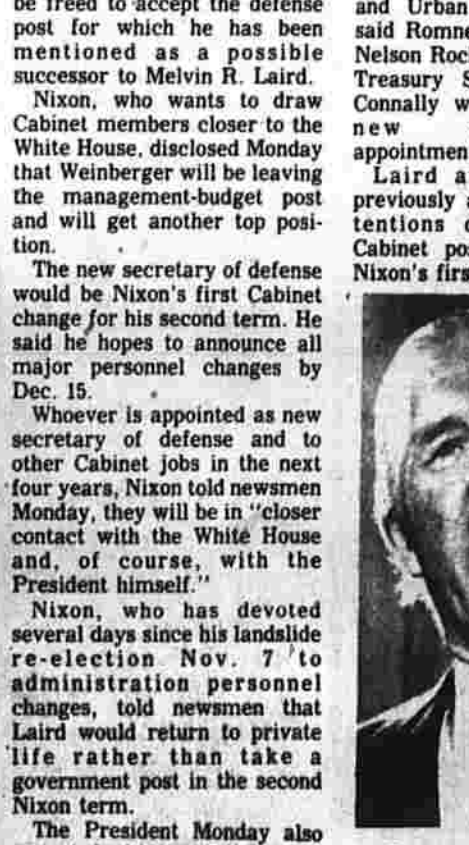

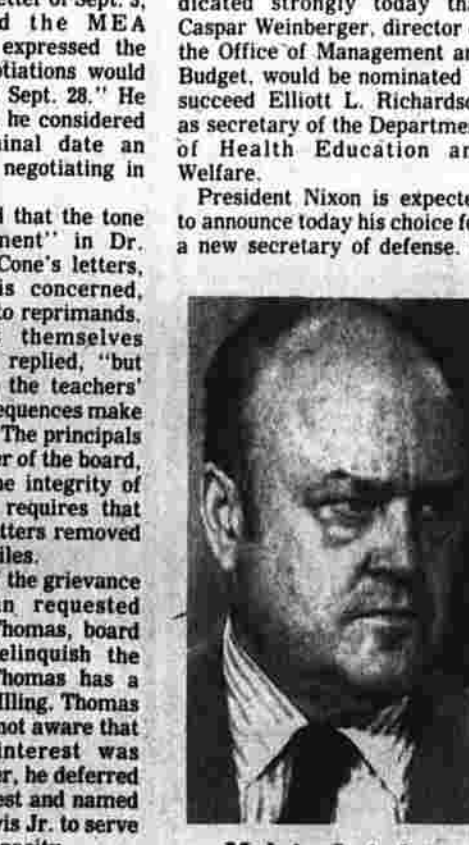

The President Monday also accepted with "special regret" the resignation of George Romney, secretary of Housing and Urban Development. He said Romney, New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally would not figure in new administration appointments.

Laird and Romney had previously announced their intentions of leaving their Cabinet posts at the end of Nixon's first term.

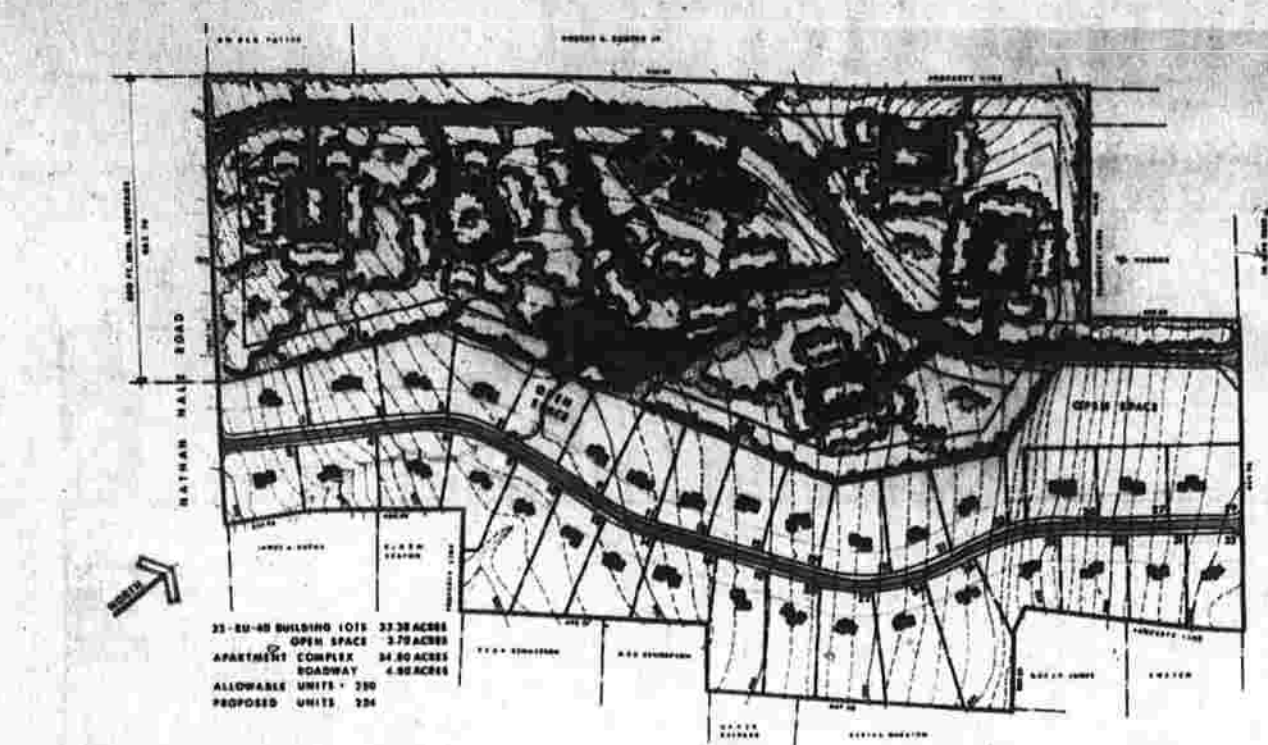

He said Nixon said his aim is to "find a way to make our government more responsive to people."

He said the way to accomplish this "is not to concentrate more and more power in one office, but to have that power given to and delegated to, where it possibly can be, to responsible members of the administration team in the Cabinet, in the White House, or in other agencies of the government."

Because announcing a Cabinet change, Nixon planned to meet Tuesday with Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, chairman of the Republican National Committee, House Republican

This Planned Unit Development project, on South St. in Coventry, was presented to the Planning and Zoning Commission last night by Developers Alvin Goodin and David Rothstein. The proposed project contains 32 individual house lots and apartment clusters to accommodate a maximum of 224 units. Formal application for the project has not yet been made, and will not be pursued unless the Dec. 12 sewer referendum passes.

Coventry PZC Opposes Sewers

HOLLY GANTNER
The Planning and Zoning Commission last night on a 4-1 vote adopted a resolution stating its opposition to the proposed sewer system, at this time, and recommending that the Town Council consider the possibility of declaring, in the public interest, a moratorium on any further building in the lake residence zone R-15 until a comprehensive master plan of development for the lake area has been adopted.

The lake area, it was noted in the resolution, also "consists of private developments controlled by associations operating under special charters from the State Legislature, or bylaws adopted by said associations. Except for a few, the subdivisions, streets and road rights-of-way are privately owned and controlled. This dual form of government is detrimental to the best interests of the town and complicates, compounds and aggravates any reasonable and practical solutions to the problems of the area. The PZC feels that present health and sanitary codes effectively restrict any appreciable amount of new building in the area and action has been taken to abate known cases of pollution. It is our considered judgment and opinion that these measures will, for the time being, prevent further deterioration of the ecology and environment of the lake area."

Sewerage Key To Proposal For Housing

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night heard an informal presentation by builder-developer Alvin Goodin for a planned unit development which would be located on South St. and Judd Rd. The development, for which formal application would not be made until and unless the Dec. 12 sewer referendum passes, consists of 92 acres to be divided into two areas. One would consist of 32 building lots for individual homes, the other would be apartment clusters containing a proposed maximum of 224 units. Of these apartment units, some 60 percent would be two-bedroom units, and the remainder would be one-bedroom.

to comply with the lot size requirements of the amendment and would result in numerous appeals to the Zoning Board of Appeals, and prolonged and costly litigation. Town Attorney has opined that at this time, it is doubtful that any regulation specifying lot area greater than 10,000 square feet would be upheld in the courts.

The entire development would be provided with a storm drain system. Some of this water would be utilized to maintain an adequate water supply for fire protection purposes in a centrally located duck pond, the overflow going through an open area reserved for recreational purposes, to eventually empty into a natural brook.

Also speaking briefly at the presentation was real estate appraiser Francis Kerwin, who estimated that the total development would bring in more than $100,000 per year in tax revenue to the town.

Other action taken through the resolution tables the proposed zone change in the lake area from R-15 to H-40, which would increase the required lot size from 15,000 square feet to 40,000 square feet.

Reasons for the various recommendations were cited in the three-page resolution, which was drafted by Loyszim. It was noted that the public hearing on the proposed zone change to 40,000 square feet "generated widely divergent opinions as to whether or not the proposed change would represent a practical contribution to the solution of existing problems in the lake area."

Reservations about the zone change were cited: "The geometry of the existing subdivisions in the area, including inadequate streets with substandard road rights-of-way, would make it difficult, and in many cases impossible, to increase the lot size in the lake area, seeking this in conjunction with other action, including formation of the Rehabilitation Committee, as a multi-faceted approach to pollution problems, in conjunction with the sewer proposal."

Sheinwold on Bridge

PESSIMISM PAYS IN PLAYING SLAM
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Does it pay to go through life in constant fear that the roof is going to fall at any moment? You're bound to be a cheerless companion but you make a perfectly delightful partner at the bridge table, especially if you are declarer at a slam contract.

West opened his singleton diamond, and dummy won the first trick with the king. The optimistic declarer would plan to take the ace of diamonds next and ruff a diamond in the dummy. Then, perhaps, he would ruff a spade and ruff the last diamond in dummy. This plan, if it worked, would make six clubs with an overtrick.

The actual declarer, a pessimist, knew that the difference between making and losing his slam was close to 100 points. The extra trick was worth only 20 points. For this reason, he decided to safeguard his slam against even the most unlikely bad breaks.

Only Real Threat The chief threat, he soon saw, was that West had led a singleton diamond. If South played the hand "normally," the ace diamonds would be ruffed, and back would come a trump. South would eventually lose another diamond trick.

To avoid this danger, our pessimistic declarer led a low diamond from dummy at the second trick and played a low diamond from his own hand! East won the second trick, but he could do nothing now to defeat the contract.

East returned a heart, and South won. He led his Answer: Pass. Avoid opening a borderline hand when you have to count points for queens or jacks accompanied by higher cards — the same suit, in this case the jack of hearts and the queen of clubs are doubtful values.

Our Campaigns Are Too Long

American presidential campaigns are too long and too costly, tire some for both candidates and voters, inordinately divisive and even dangerous for participants.

It is to the credit of the American people that they survive the boredom of endless repetitions and the inflation of non-issues by overblown rhetoric, and, once the ballots are counted, accept peacefully the verdict of their voters and turn with relief to the more prosaic tasks of life.

It is at least debatable whether most campaigns change a significant number of votes. A good argument could be made that the Democrats lost this year's election when they picked Sen. George McGovern as their nominee.

Points of difference are stressed, even when both parties call for unity and harmony with such meaningless slogans as "Come Home, America," or "Bring Us Together."

Uneasy Peace For Vietnam

Vietnam has had a generation of war and bloodshed, of fighting and being fought over. Peace, if and when it comes, will be an uneasy one.

But for Vietnam, distrustful and uneasy, the struggle will only enter a new phase. The ways of democracy are strange to the Vietnamese, North and South, and a free election, if and when it can be held, may not resolve the conflict.

Capital Fare

WASHINGTON — The suspicion here is that the reason so many so-called faceless citizens are fascinated by the activities of Ralph Nader, crusader against EVERYTHING, is that he is constantly doing such delightfully outrageous things.

Now a U. S. District Court here is contemplating a Nader suit which would force the Treasury Department to recover thousands of dollars paid to White House officials while they were working to re-elect President Nixon.

Nader and his Public Citizens Inc. have asked the court to order Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz to "recapitulate" salaries (and other taxpayers) "unlawfully paid" to Charles W. Colson, Robert H. Finch, Herbert G. Klein and other unspecified members of their staffs.

West Germany gave Chancellor Willy Brandt a vote of confidence after a brief campaign. Brandt, who won a Nobel Peace Prize for his foreign policy, said "The majority has confirmed that we are on the right course."

Brandt's course, like Nixon's, has aimed at more normal relations with his world neighbors. Brandt made non-aggression pacts with the Soviet Union and Poland and he will sign a new treaty with East Germany before Christmas.

As for the risks, the shooting of George Wallace stands as the latest violence in a tragic list.

Points of difference are stressed, even when both parties call for unity and harmony with such meaningless slogans as "Come Home, America," or "Bring Us Together."

One of the workers, a diligent and busy worker, got her threads tangled and tried to disentangle them, but only sent them worse; finally she sent them to the foreman.

The boss, who was a very busy man, looked at the threads and said, "You have been trying to do this yourself."

"Why did you not send me, according to instructions?" he asked.

"I did my best," she said, "I did my best."

South Windsor PZC To Consider Sites For Restaurant, Garage

BARBARA VARRICK Correspondent
Tel. 644-8274
Two site plans will be reviewed by the Planning and Zoning Commission when it meets tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall.
Peter Morris plans to build a Spanish-style restaurant on Sullivan Ave. with a seating capacity for 120 persons.
Raymond Handel of East Hartford will present plans for a six-bay trucking facility, also on Sullivan Ave. He will rent and repair vehicles at the site.
The commission will also take formal action on its newly proposed by-laws designed to specify the responsibilities and authority of the commission.
The commission has been operating under the Connecticut General Statutes.
The proposed new by-laws call for four-year terms for each of the commission's five members who would be elected in groups of two and three in a five-year period.
Disqualification procedure: any commission member who may be directly or indirectly interested in an application before the board "in a personal or financial sense" alternates to give a more active role by participating in all meetings with exception of public hearings, unless he is called on to replace a member at the public hearing.
The by-laws also include a

Daughter Prepares To Take Over Father's Mortuary

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — "Every funeral home needs a woman's touch," says Annette Isaac, a 26-year-old mortician who expects to take over her father's funeral business in a few years.
Miss Isaac feels that a female funeral director, like herself, often can add "that special touch, a certain feeling" to burial arrangements. Often "a man, he just does because it has to be done," she adds.
At first the grief associated with the business bothered her. "You have to overcome it," she explains, and she did. "You have to be able to take over when they (the family of the deceased) can't."
"The only funeral that still bothers me are children's," she notes. She turns over to her father, with whom she runs the M. McDonald Isaac Jr. and Daughter funeral home.
Miss Isaac began a two-year apprenticeship with her father after graduating from the School of Mortuary Science in New York City and passing an examination given by the profession's National Board.
She became a licensed funeral director and embalmer in 1970 and is one of the youngest of the dozen women in Connecticut holding that title.

There will be a panel discussion on "The Abortion Law" consisting of Dr. Walker P. Kosar, obstetrician and gynecologist, on staff at Hartford Hospital; Dr. Walter A. Borden, psychiatrist, on staff at Hartford and Mt. Sinai Hospitals; Atty. Howard M. Kishonoff, state representative; and William Olds, executive director, Connecticut Civil Liberties Union, as panelists.

Members of the Greater Hartford Legal Secretaries Association are reminded to bring in any clothing for the Salvation Army drive. This is good behavior, but thanks to those Samoan mothers who have survived the year.

After rehearsing this in my mind, I wondered how the "Praise Technique" would work on that same boy now that he's a teenager. So when he came home from school, I tried to motivate him to clean the garage.

Look at those muscles! I cried. "Look at that strong back! I'll bet you could clean this garage in no time!" My son eyed me with open amusement. "Come on, ma, stop the commercial! Are you paying for this job, or is it one of those because I'm a member of the family deals?"

Oh well, was it worth a try. I guess those Samoan mothers used another technique on their 15-year-olds.

TOUCH ME!

Dialing a phone was never like this. To make a call, just touch me. One button for every number. Each one keys a different musical tone that triggers equipment to complete a call. Each number becomes a little tune! The touching and tones give me my name. Touch-Tone. I come in the same range of phone styles and colors as my spinning wheel sister. Only I'm faster. You can call me modern. Even futuristic. The Phone Store would like to offer me to all Connecticut customers. But we now have the necessary central office equipment in only a few places.

If you live in Manchester and your number starts with 643, 646, 647 or 649, you can get Touch-Tone. Just call the Phone Store at 643-4107, Manchester. Better yet, visit the Phone Store at 52 East Center Street in Manchester. You can see what I look like. And hear how I work. Just touch me.

Two site plans will be reviewed by the Planning and Zoning Commission when it meets tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Town Hall.
Peter Morris plans to build a Spanish-style restaurant on Sullivan Ave. with a seating capacity for 120 persons.
Raymond Handel of East Hartford will present plans for a six-bay trucking facility, also on Sullivan Ave. He will rent and repair vehicles at the site.
The commission will also take formal action on its newly proposed by-laws designed to specify the responsibilities and authority of the commission.
The commission has been operating under the Connecticut General Statutes.
The proposed new by-laws call for four-year terms for each of the commission's five members who would be elected in groups of two and three in a five-year period.
Disqualification procedure: any commission member who may be directly or indirectly interested in an application before the board "in a personal or financial sense" alternates to give a more active role by participating in all meetings with exception of public hearings, unless he is called on to replace a member at the public hearing.
The by-laws also include a

Vernon To Resort To Double Sessions

By BARBARA RICHMOND
(Herald Reporter)

A modified school day plan (double sessions) as an interim solution for housing Vernon students in the existing school buildings, was approved by the Board of Education last night following a discussion which covered 10 educational alternatives.

The action brought the board back to where it was about six years ago when Dr. Raymond Rammedel, superintendent of schools, told it there would be no new school buildings for the 1973-74 school year. After many meetings the board decided to make plans to add on to the existing high school rather than build another high school elsewhere in town. The board approved appropriations for purchase of land adjacent to the high school and for architectural fees, but twice

Andover Subdivision Rules In Final Draft

ANNA FRISINA
Correspondent
Tel. 742-9347

The Andover Planning and Zoning Commission has confirmed a date for the public hearing for proposed new subdivision regulations. The commission has approved two applications for home-conducted businesses and approved a third application allowing the sale of snowmobiles in town.

The commission, which has been steadily revising the subdivision regulations in an effort to update the 15-year-old zoning standards, last night reviewed the final draft of the proposed new regulations and made a few changes. Members of the commission agreed the regulations were complete enough to present to the townspeople at a public hearing, which will be held Dec. 11, at the Andover Elementary School at 7:30 p.m.

The hearing is for the express purpose of presenting the proposed new regulations to the people and soliciting their comments and advice. Anyone interested is urged to attend the hearing and making their view known.

The commission will meet after the hearing to determine the changes to be made in the proposed regulations if any, and whether to accept them for the town of Andover or reject them and continue working toward better regulations. At any rate, the 8-month long moratorium called for subdivisions will be lifted and the commission will again accept such applications.

The copies of the proposed regulations have been left in the office of the town clerk, and are available for public inspection. Due to the high cost of producing the copies, none are at this time available for distribution. Anyone wishing to familiarize himself with the proposed regulations should read those in the town clerk's office and have duplicated those sections in which their is a particular interest.

Snowmobile Sale

The Commission approved the application of David Cordeur, who does business as a mechanic in the town garage building, for permission to sell snowmobiles.

Cordeur will have a number of snowmobiles on display in the building, and possibly a few turned down appropriations for the actual construction of the new school building.

The administration first recommended that an extended day plan be adopted for the 1973-74 school year at the high school level until additional space is provided, but after further study it was felt that the modified school day plan would be the least of all evils.

The "all evils" being double sessions, extended school day at the high school or middle school levels, the extended school year, a four-day week, various plans of grouping selected grades within the system, creating more classroom space by subdividing cafeterias, libraries and auditoriums and portable classrooms.

In taking its action Monday night the board did so in order to allow high school Principal

Banana Split Split About 500 Ways

WEBSTER GROVES, Mo.
(AP) — Temperatures were in the 30s, but about 500 persons chipped in $1 each to devour a 365-foot-long banana split in five minutes Sunday.

The Louis IX Dessert and Coffee House, which concocted the monster, included 340 pounds of bananas and 120 gallons of ice cream among the ingredients.

The teachers will put in the same number of hours a day but their schedules will vary. Those teaching in the first session will be in school from 7:15 to 1:15 p.m. and those in the second session from 11:15 to 5:15 p.m. The period of 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., according to the present plan, would be open for club activities on a volunteer basis and for student assistance by teachers. The cafeteria program will be modified or possibly eliminated at the high school. At the present time all high school students who are within two-mile walking distance of the school must walk. Under the proposed plan all high school students will be bused due to the early morning schedule and the late afternoon schedule. Additional buses may be added if evening library hours are considered advisable.

The high school administrators have indicated they feel that all physical education and athletic programs can be maintained with a re-scheduling of some

Save energy and heating dollars this winter.

You can help conserve America's limited sources of energy, and save yourself some money in the bargain, while you keep comfortably warm this winter... regardless of what kind of heat you have.

Insulation, for instance. Do you have enough? The National Bureau of Standards tells us that six inches of insulation over your top floor ceiling will pay for itself in fuel savings and your home will be more comfortable in summer as well as winter. (And, many times, installing it is simply a matter of laying it between floor joists in the attic.) Sidewall insulation probably requires professional installation, but, it, too, will quickly pay for itself.

Seal off your house. Can you feel a draft around windows or doors? Weatherstripping and/or caulking is the answer here.

Storm windows and doors will reduce heat loss. They'll also reduce that drafty feeling you get when you're sitting or standing near a window or door.

Keep your heating plant running efficiently. To insure dependable operation, have your heating system inspected and serviced annually by your heating contractor.

Don't block off your heat source. Be careful not to block radiators and registers with furniture or floor-length drapes. Let the heat circulate.

Seal off upper floors. Remember... heat rises. If you have a door at the top of the stairs, especially the stairs leading to the attic, keep it closed. Weatherstripping helps here, too.

Repair leaky faucets, especially hot water faucets. Even a slight leak can waste considerable amounts of water.

Don't play with thermostats. If you like a cooler temperature at night, don't exceed a six to eight degree setback. When airing the house, turn the thermostat to the lowest possible setting. Then, after the windows are closed, return the thermostat to the desired setting.

If you have a fireplace, use it wisely. Be certain to close the damper when the fire is completely out. Don't let your room heat go up the chimney.

For a free booklet offering more suggestions on the wise use of your heating plant this winter and many tips that will help you conserve energy in your home all year long, write Public Information Department, P.O. Box 270, Hartford, Connecticut 06101.

Velvet Smooth Finishing

The First Aid classes being sponsored by the Andover Volunteer Fire Department will begin this evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Firehouse on Center Street.

Anyone interested in registering for the classes should appear at the firehouse before that hour.

Power-Hitting Nettles In Trade to Yankees

HONOLULU (AP) — The New York Yankees made a big hit and the New York Mets completed a double play in the trading game at baseball's winter meetings.

Before the Major League draft on Monday, 16 players including such big names as Tommie Agee and Craig Nettles had changed teams as the free-swimming officials got the 71st annual session off to a rip-roaring start.

The Cleveland Indians traded Nettles and catcher Jerry Meyer for a covet of young hopefu—catcher-first baseman John Ellis, outfielders Charlie Spikes and Rusty Torres and infielder Jerry Kenney.

The Yanks, badly in need of a slugger, snatched the pitching ace from the Cleveland Indians along with catcher Jerry Meyer for a covet of young hopefu—catcher-first baseman John Ellis, outfielders Charlie Spikes and Rusty Torres and infielder Jerry Kenney.

"We traded tomorrow for today," New York General Manager Lee MacPhail said. "The fans have waited long enough for a pennant. We want to win it next year—Yankee Stadium's 50th anniversary."

Taking a cue from their cross-town neighbor, the Mets pulled off a double-barreled swap Monday with the Houston Astros and the Indians.

The National League's center fielder Agee to the Astros for outfielder Rich Chiles and pitcher Buddy Harris. The Mets then completed their day's business with the Yankees.

The announcement that relief pitcher Phil Hentgen had been obtained from the Indians for minor league pitcher Brent Strom and Bob Rauch.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Detroit Tigers got into the act with a four-player deal only a few hours later. The Pirates obtained two minor league pitchers, left-hander Jim For and right-hander Norm McRae, for outfielder Dick Sharon and an undisclosed minor leaguer.

The trade-happy baseball people weren't finished, however. The Cincinnati Reds then dealt outfielder Bill Voss to the St. Louis Cardinals for pitcher Pat Jacques.

There was other business Monday, although anyone hardly noticed. The hierarchy of the major and minor leagues held several administrative huddles, including the draft of players from baseball's massive farm system.

The major league draft, as usual, didn't produce much. Only six players were picked in a breezy, half-hour session, including the Philadelphia Phillies' No. 1 selection of pitcher Mike Brubaker from the Mets' Tidewater club in the International League.

The Los Angeles Dodgers also made news during the hectic day with the announcement that Tom Asa and Marty Basgall had been added to their coaching staff. They replace Danny Ozark, now the manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, and Roy Hofstadter, who left the Dodgers for a coaching job with the Atlanta Braves.

Red Sox Pitchers Not Mean Enough

BOSTON (AP) — Red Sox catcher Carlton Fisk, the American League's ringleader of the 1972, says Boston pitchers might "have to nudge a few guys in the ribs, to keep them from digging in too much at home plate."

"Our pitchers have to gain the respect of the hitters and they can't do that if they are coming close to them with pitches and keep them loose," Fisk said.

"I'd never be in favor of hitting anybody on the head," Fisk said, "but you can't allow a batter to stand up there and dig in with no fear of a pitch coming close to them. You've got to keep the hitters honest. You've got to let them know you'll throw close to them—move them out of their knees and a while."

"I know a lot of people from it on it," the 24-year-old catcher said. "It's part of the game."

"And if our pitching is going to be better next year, we're going to have to do more of it," he said.

Fisk made his comments in an interview published today in the Herald Traveler and Boston Record American.

Miller Heritage Champ

Winning Was Easy With Stars Absent

SILTOWN HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — The absence of Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer made it easier for Johnny Miller to win the $125,000 Heritage Golf Classic on Monday.

Miller said to himself, "Coming into the last couple of weeks in New Zealand, anything can happen," he said.

"But I felt I could handle these guys around me (the challengers), except maybe Tom Weiskopf. You know, most of them are young guys and I figured I could beat them."

"But it would be something else if you're coming into the last few holes and Arnold or Jack or Lee is there."

"Those guys—they're the best players in the world, or looking to be." Miller said.

"But they weren't playing in this one, and Miller casually sauntered off with a front-running victory, his second on the pro golf tour and also his second, unofficially, in as many weeks.

Country Club Elects Tonight

Annual meeting of the Manchester Country Club will take place tonight with Willie Okesinski earmarked to succeed Norm Clark. Social hour starts at 7. Ernie Moore, a talented basketball player out of Windham High, is back in the classroom and Coach Pat Mistrretta is keeping his fingers crossed. Moore could very well be the difference between a winning or losing team in the Westford Cougars. Softball slugger Dave White, at better than 200 pounds one of the heaviest in the field, finished his second try at the Five Mile Road Race last Thursday. Jerry Fitzgerald, highly successful Rockville High football coach, has joined the growing list of retirees from the sport. In seven years at Rockville, Fitzgerald turned out two championship squads. For the record, the first varsity football coach at Rockville High was Ted Ventura.

ABA Planning Special Draft

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The owner of the San Diego Condors says American Basketball Association owners will meet in Louisville Dec. 11 and may hold a special draft of college underclassmen.

Leonard Bloom said Monday his first-year team would have the first pick in such a draft, as well as the No. 1 choice in next regular year-end draft of college seniors.

Two months ago ABA owners voted against a special draft of underclassmen. "But things were different then," Bloom said.

NHL Scoring Parade

Esposito, Lemaire Tied for Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Boston's Phil Esposito is right back where he's been before—Montreal's Jacques Lemaire is up where few have ever been.

Esposito, who has won the National Hockey League scoring title in three of the past four seasons, and Lemaire are deadlocked for the NHL scoring lead with 34 points each, according to statistics released today.

Esposito has gotten his 34 with 4 goals and 30 assists while Lemaire has 19 goals and 14 assists. And those 19 goals by the Canadiens' center puts him in very select company.

No other active NHL player has ever gotten off to as fast a goal-collecting start in his first 22 games.

The last player to have as many as Bobby Hull of the Chicago Black Hawks, Hull, now with Winnipeg of the rival World Hockey Association, had 20 goals in 22 games at the start of the 1964-65 NHL season.

And of all players in NHL history who have ever held the goal-scoring record, only the first two did better than Lemaire—Joe Malone, who set a record of 44 goals in a 22-game schedule and Maurice Richard, the league's first 50-goal scorer who got 24 of them after 22 games of that 1944-45 season.

The runrump goal scorer is Buffalo's Rick Martin with 18, but his eight assists for 26 points puts him out of the top 19 scorers.

Soph Henry Williams hit for 33 points and smearing 13 rebounds. In other games involving the No. 12 Top Twenty, the 15 Houston Oilers, Oklahoma, Southern Mississippi, 104-97 and No. 17, Kansas State favored to win the Big Eight, best San Diego State 79-67.

Ronald Brown converted two free throws with 13 seconds left to give Oklahoma City an 82-81 squeaker over Texas-Arlington. The Panthers converted a Sanford 100-86 with Willie Biles showing the way for the Hurricane with 41 points.

Soph Henry Williams hit for 33 points in leading Jacksonville to a 103-94 triumph over Oklahoma City. Oklahoma defeated Indiana State 94-84, Texas-El Paso edged New Mexico State 56-34, Georgetown, D.C., shaded St. Francis, Pa., 61-60 and Western Kentucky whacked Old Dominion 131-106.

In other games, Eastern Kentucky humbled Eastern 84-83. Denver defeated Northern Colorado 106-97, Oregon State whipped Navy Sub Pac 100-79 and Morehead State beat UNC-Charlotte 83-78.

College Basketball Roundup

Red-Hot Sophs Pace Buckeyes

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio State's red-hot sophomores of 1971 hope to get the chance this season that they missed out on last season—that of dethroning UCLA as the national collegiate basketball champion.

Ohio State's sophomore coach, Fred Taylor, said the team's success so far has been a "big surprise." The team is 15-10 season with a loss to Penn State.

"I hope to get somebody with a big name, somebody with impact," said Myslikin, who had the same aim four years ago before he was relatively obscure DePaqua.

"If I can get a coach who can make people believe in themselves and be serious in mind, but be designed to identify them."

DePaqua, who coached a 15-29 record in four seasons at Pitt, did not attend the news conference but has a left on his five-year contract.

BOSTON (AP) — Senior defensive end Mike McHugh of Maine noted he had several prospects in mind, but he declined to identify them.

"I have to do something to get our running game going and protect Pitt's backfield."

The Patriots, now 2-6 for the season, host the Miami Dolphins Sunday.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Carl DePaqua, who took the job as Pitt football coach when one of the so-called big names would risk it, has been fired, and the search is on for a successor with "impact."

Pitt's athletic director, made an announcement Monday, two days after DePaqua's resignation, that he had fired the coach.

"I hope to get somebody with a big name, somebody with impact," said Myslikin, who had the same aim four years ago before he was relatively obscure DePaqua.

Local Players With Eastern

Ron Siemienski and John Barry, two East Catholic High grads, will be with Eastern Connecticut State College's varsity basketball team in its opener tomorrow night against Western New England College in Williamstown. Barry is nearing the 1,000 point mark with the collegians.

Difficult Day

BALTIMORE (AP) — It's difficult these days to find much encouraging about the New England Patriots.

Intension, however, finds a bright spot now and then.

"I was encouraged by some things and encouraged by others," Bengtson said Sunday following the Patriots' 31-10 loss to the Baltimore Colts in a National Football League contest.

"Our defense played as well as it could at the start of the game," he continued, "but we just didn't have any defense."

Bengtson is a former defense specialist with the Green Bay Packers.

"Baltimore has that good defense and they were hitting well today," he said.

Caseimir Krawinkel, Bengtson's offensive coordinator, often throwing on the move, completed 11 passes out of 26 attempts. He was intercepted three times.

"He had great pressure on him all day," Bengtson said. "We have to do something to get our running game going and protect Pitt's backfield."

The Patriots, now 2-6 for the season, host the Miami Dolphins Sunday.

Successor With 'Impact'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Carl DePaqua, who took the job as Pitt football coach when one of the so-called big names would risk it, has been fired, and the search is on for a successor with "impact."

Ray Cut Free By Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The University of Kentucky Athletic Board voted Monday night to renew the contract of head football coach John R. Ray.

UK President Ois Singletary said that he will appoint a screening committee "right away" to begin looking for Ray's successor. He indicated the committee would be headed by Athletic Director Harry Lancaster.

No target date has been set to name a new coach. Ray's four-year contract is due to expire Dec. 12. During his career at Kentucky his teams compiled a 10-3 record. His 5-8 showings this season and last were his best.

Reviewing his four-year struggle Monday night, Ray said, "It's been a very trying experience and an educational one."

Owner of EHL Blades 'Listening to Offers'

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — General Manager Nate Podoloff of the New England Blades says he is "listening to offers" made to purchase the financially-troubled Eastern Hockey League franchise which is having attendance problems in its Springfield home.

Podoloff told a news conference Monday the team will continue to play in Springfield, at least for the time being.

"I will continue to run the team," he said, "but I will also listen to offers made to purchase the franchise."

Leonard Bloom, Springfield businessman, offered to buy the Blades Saturday, but he withdrew his offer Monday. Gagnon said his religion prohibits him from becoming involved in a "sports of violence."

Podoloff has committed the team to move to Hartford, Conn., in 1974.

In the meantime, offers have reportedly been made to him from interests in Binghamton and Utica in New York to move the team to those cities.

The Blades have been suffering poor attendance as they attempt to buck the established Springfield Kings of the American Hockey League, who have been based in Springfield since 1971.

Only 776 persons turned out to watch the Blades at a recent game against New Jersey in the Eastern States Exposition Coliseum.

The Blades have a 9-13-2 record and are in third place in the North Division of the EHL.

Four Games Mark Rec. Hoop Openers

Last night was the debut of the 1972-73 season of the Rec Businessmen Basketball League. Three games were on tap with two being played at the Community Y while Illing Junior High housed two other attractions.

At the Y, Manchester Honda defeated Groman's & Team, 67-45, while Langan VW topped last year's champions, Blue Moon, 69-79. The final tilt saw Sports Mark turning back the Buzzards, 70-64, and the nightcap had Weston Pharmacy downing Roberts Electric, 75-62.

Tony Morianos netted 19 points to lead Honda over Groman's. Fred Pierson contributed 11. The losers' Steve McAdams, hitting from the outside, canned 23 markers.

Langan's Rick Rehnicke popped in a game high of 35-point explosion, Sports Mark stopped the Buzzards. Daly Michel and Bob McGrath contributed 19 and 18 points respectively.

Elise Moon, minus two of last year's stars, relied upon the scoring of Jim Reynolds and John Goodrow to stay in the game. Reynolds ripped the cords for 31 points while Goodrow recorded 16. Collins Judd added 14 markers.

Pulling away in the fourth period, heeded a 25-point explosion, Sports Mark stopped the Buzzards. Daly Michel and Bob McGrath contributed 19 and 18 points respectively.

Joe McCarthy added 18 markers for the losers.

In the nightcap, Craig Phillips' 30 points helped Weston defeat Roberts. Bruce Henreid contributed 23 tallies in a losing effort.

Central Cagers Prepare For Another Busy Slate

Another figure familiar to Central basketball followers, 7-0 Bob Lake, also is back, and he could become a key man in the Blue Devils' way of doing things as the season rolls along.

"He's looked very good in our pre-season drills," explains Detrick.

Five players up from the Jayvees ranks round out the squad. They include 6-8 sophomore John Ellsworth, 6-2 junior Rich Kichner, 6-3 Mike Henetz, 5-10 junior Ken Farciak and 6-4 sophomore Ron Schieb.

"They're coming along," says Detrick, who expresses satisfaction over Kichner's shooting. The Blue Devil mentioned that in the progress of Ellsworth, who has been displayed by Ellsworth who hasn't been playing the game that long.

In the Trinity-Hartford event, Central's first round opponent will be Hartford, with Trinity and Wesleyan battling in the other game. Win or lose there, the Blue Devils then go on to face the usual challenging challenge featuring such opponents as Bridgeport, C. W. Post, A.C. Springfield, Stonhill, Assumption, Lohoke, St. Michaels and prime rival Southern Connecticut.

Also on the slate is an appearance in the Hartford Tournament, to be played Dec. 28-30 in the new Springfield Coliseum.

Pats Sign New Wide Receiver

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots Monday signed wide receiver Charlie McKee to a contract and assigned him to their last full training camp.

McKee, who played at Arlington, Mass., last year, is a round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, where he was placed on the taxi squad while being in last September.

McKee was then picked up by the Minnesota Vikings, who kept him on their taxi squad until just recently. He has yet to play in a professional game.

First Place Goal Neared

BOSTON (AP) — New England has pulled within two points of the East Division-leading Cleveland Crusaders in the World Hockey Association and Whalers' Coach Jack Kelley pronounced himself "very satisfied" with his team's 5-0 shutout of the Crusaders at Boston Garden Monday night.

Al Smith registered his first shutout in goal, turning aside 34 shots.

Cleveland's cause was aided by the superb goal tending of Gerry Cheevers, the former Boston Bruin returning here for the first time since he jumped to the WHA. Cheevers had 28 saves.

"I was very satisfied with the way we played after the game," Kelley said. "With a team like Cleveland you're not going to get many goals and the guy between the pipes (Cheevers) is a good reason why. If any members of the Bruins organization had played Monday night, they must have done a little watching him. Kelley was also high on his own goal.

"Al Smith has played real well against Cleveland's great goalkeepers. When we beat them, when they beat us 3-0," the coach said. "Maybe he didn't have as many tough shots as he's had in previous games but he still handled himself very positively."

"I thought Larry Pleau's second period goal was the big one for us. It was a tremendous effort."

Helmet Awards

BOSTON (AP) — The New England College Football Writers Tuesday presented their weekly Golden Helmet Awards to University of Massachusetts halfback Paul Metallio and University of Bridgeport quarterback Roy Ferreira.

Ferreira threw his last touchdown passes this year, breaking all records for undefeated Bridgeport.

MacLachlan and Rudomanski had 14 points apiece as the Chargers won the first collegiate game played in the new Veterans Memorial Coliseum.

New Palz was led by Bob Lucas with a game-high of 20 points in the season opener for both teams.

Leading New Haven in rebounding was senior Bill Kirkpatrick with game-high 18 and Tony Simmonelli with 11 as New Haven outbounded New Palz 20 to 10.
