Superintendent of Schools Dr. David Catanch announced yesterday that the 1972-1973 professional agreement between the Regional District 8 Board of Education and the Rham Educational Association (REA) has been signed by both parties following mediation.

After almost eleven months of negotiations, an impasse was reached and the REA requested the State Board of Education for mediation.

Two sessions were held—on the 21st of this month from 7 p.m. until 4:30 the following morning and the other on the 22nd from 7 p.m. until 2:30 a.m. on the 23rd.

Details of the contract are expected to be released sometime today when the board meeting in the very near future.

Andover Classes Start In First Aid

ANNA FRISINA, Correspondent
The Andover Volunteer Fire Department last night conducted the first of an eight-week series of classes dealing with first aid procedures.

The classes being conducted have been set up so that the average man or woman could acquire the basic knowledge of first aid that is called for in many day-to-day situations.

At a recent Cub Scout Pack 28 meeting, Philip Holmes received a gold arrow and Scott Unsworth a bear badge. Denner and assistant denner awards were presented to Holmes, Danny Williams, Otis Wirth, Paul Aldrich, Bennett Coates, Randy Simmons, Frank Wilkes, Harold Hutchins, Richard Craig, Andre Chicoine and Victor Vik.

Both girls have had considerable experience in candle making and have shown their creations at the Hebron Harvest Fair as well as other fairs in the area and at craft shows.

Residents of all ages are invited to attend and are requested to bring their own wax or paraffin. Wicking and dyeing may be purchased at the workshop for a small charge.

Junior Women's Club, will be held Dec. 7 at 12:30 p.m. at the Gilead Congregational Church. A pot-luck luncheon will be served and there will be games and prizes.

The Manchester State Bank decided recently to repurchase a year ago when it bought $10,000 in Israel Bonds. Here, Emanuel Hirth, left, Manchester chairman of the bonds sale, delivers them to Edmond E. Parker, bank president. This is the 25th anniversary year of Israel.

South Windsor School Board Asks Town To Improve Playground

The Board of Education this week came close to tabling action on a proposal to bring the Pleasant Valley Elementary School playground up to standard with other playgrounds in the town, but voted unanimously to support request to the Town Council to consider providing the necessary funds from the town budget.

Rowley said the need to upgrade the playground is eight years overdue and should have been completed when the contractor of a new wing on the school used the playground portion as part of the addition site.

Paups at Bushnell With Fred Waring

Talia Paups of 444 Hilltown Rd. will appear with Fred Waring when the famous choral conductor brings his Fred Waring Show to the Bushnell Dec. 10 at 8:15 p.m.

Paups was born in Germany to Latvian parents, and although his middle-European forebears were farmers and hunters, Talia chose music for a life career. He was encouraged from childhood by his father, Vilis, who was a concert singer in his native Latvia.

He is a former student at the Hartford Conservatory and the Julius Hart School of Music and plans to study at the Hart School of Music at the University of Hartford. Proficiency in a violinist, as well as a singer, earned him first chair in the second violin section of the All-Eastern Orchestra, while his singing ability qualified him for a two-year voice scholarship.

After a successful audition for Fred Waring, he gave up for the present — plans to continue his music studies and joined the Pennsylvanians.

Paup's musical studies were interrupted by a term of service in the U.S. Marine Corps, where he received two consecutive meritorious promotions and was selected "Marine of the Month."

Tickets for the Fred Waring Show are available at the Bushnell Box Office.

Opening lead — Jack of Clubs
West led the jack of clubs, and South tried the first finesse by putting up dummy's queen. When East covered with the king of clubs, South could win with the ace. Nothing gained, but also nothing lost by this first finesse.

Now South had to get rid of his low club. He led a trump to the ace, returned to the king and queen of spades and then led the jack of hearts.

West played low, and South wisely put up dummy's king rather than risk the finesse. East would then have the ace of diamonds and the rest of the clubs.

Quartet To Premier

The premier performance of the University of Connecticut Health Center's Talcott String Quartet will be held Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the Health Center's auditorium in Farmington. The public is invited.

The quartet was organized about a year ago. The Talcott group, named for the Talcott Ridge area near the Health Center, was formed to help enrich the cultural life of the Health Center's medical and dental schools and the Farmington area.

The program will include works by Tchaikovsky, Mozart and Riel.

Tryouts Set For LTM Work

The Little Theatre of Manchester has announced tryouts for open casting for "The Rainmaker" which LTM will present in the East Catholic High School auditorium in February. Tryouts will be held at the LTM rooms at 22 Oak St. Sunday at 7 p.m. and Monday at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday is held open for call backs for those whose the casting committee wishes to hear a second time.

There are seven parts available in this show, according to William Siddons, chairman of the casting committee. One woman between the ages of 26 and 32 is needed. There are six male roles of varied ages available.

All who are interested in being associated with LTM are invited to attend these tryouts.

Premiere Showing Canceled

Due to unforeseeable circumstances, the Manchester Junior Women's Club has been forced to cancel the premiere showing of the movie "1776". The benefit premiere was to be held December 20, 7:30 p.m., at the U. A. Theater East, Manchester Parkside. The club wishes to apologize for any inconveniences caused by this cancellation.

Proceeds from the premiere were to go to the Manchester Memorial Hospital for the purchase of a defibrillator. This is a machine used to restore heart action to normal following cardiac arrest. The club hopes that in the near future enough money may be raised to purchase this life-saving piece of equipment.

Pilot, 72 Years Young, Gives Private Flying Lessons

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Airplane buff Charles W. Miller has four planes parked in the hangar at his own airfield near Lakeland where he still gives flying lessons at the age of 72.

"I'm giving the working man a chance to fly," said Miller, who charges only $8 an hour for solo time and $10 for dual lessons. "I don't make any money, but I stay young — that's my payoff."

During his half-century of jockeying airplanes, Miller has accrued 22,000 hours of flying time — almost 3 1/2 years in the air.

His first flight was in 1918 at Urbana, Ill., which he said "started the wheel rolling." Soon thereafter he bought his first plane, a JED.

He soon became a barnstormer making stunt flights out of Murray, Ky., and was awarded a certificate on May 19, 1933, from Postmaster General James A. Farley for his first-and-only mail run during National Air Week.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — Eleven months ago Floyd Helvie didn't know an Australian crawl from a turkey trot.

Now Helvie is swimming up to two miles a day in his 1 1/2 hour workouts at a local health spa.

Not too unusual, except Helvie is 76 years old.

Helvie said he began accompanying his wife to the spa for her treatments and decided to get into the swim of things.

"I've always wanted to learn to swim, but never did. I sat around watching everyone else, figuring I'd pick it up from them. It didn't work," Helvie said.

"Finally, I got hold of this book on swimming and started reading it. That was it. Before you know it I was in the water trying out some of the things the book said to do."

"And I've been swimming ever since, almost every day of the year. You couldn't get me out of the water now."

Governor Discusses Education

STORRS (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill says he's willing to consider popular election of trustees for state colleges and universities.

Such an election would be a "very accountable way of having an institution run. The trustees would have to answer to the voters or in other words, to the taxpayers," Meskill said Thursday.

Asked to clarify a recent statement that state schools are driving private educational institutions out of business, Meskill said students are encouraged to apply to state schools because it costs less.

"What's happening with our state schools with their free or modest tuition and with private institutions having to increase their tuition year in and year out is that we have the economic pinch on students," he said.

The difference in cost between both types of schools is "so great that a student can go to a state school and afford a brand new automobile for what it would cost him to go to a private school without an automobile," Meskill said.

He suggested students should pay for their own education because they'll have to "pay their way through life."

"There is no ride in this life. The idea of a free education is a fallacy," Meskill said.

Escapee Admits Guilt

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — A 37-year-old Bridgeport man has pleaded guilty to escaping from the Somers state prison and re-arresting the warden's daughter three years ago.

Arthur DiLorenzo made the plea in Bridgeport Superior Court and was held in $10,000 bond for sentencing Jan. 5.

The state said DiLorenzo was working at the home of Warden Frederick Adams on July 31, 1969 when he entered the home, held a knife to Nancy Adams and physically assaulted her. He then left the prison grounds in her car but was captured the same day in downtown Hartford after being cornered and shot in the hand by police, authorities said.

In 1970 he was committed to Connecticut Valley Hospital for mental treatment, but walked away a year later. He was arrested again after the robbery of McKenney Logan at his Bridgeport home.

DiLorenzo pleaded guilty to robbery with violence, 3rd degree robbery, escape from prison, binding with intent to commit a crime and aggravated assault. He faces a possible 10-year prison term, but prosecutors told Judge Archibald Tunick that the state would recommend a term of 8 to 15 years.

Temporary Bus Route Requested

STAMFORD (AP) — Mayor Julius Wilensky Thursday asked the state Public Utilities Commission to approve free temporary bus service being operated by the Stamford-Darien Council of Churches.

The bus, driven by a minister, makes two morning and two afternoon figure-eight trips through the city.

Mayor Wilensky said the bus service does not run on routes held by the Connecticut Co. shut down by a strike this week.

Wilensky said the bus will serve inner-city residents, especially those that work at two community hospitals.

The driver is the Rev. Ronald Crouse, the associate minister of the First Congregational Church in Stamford. The route began on Tuesday but patronage has been light, officials said.

Wednesday 21 people rode the free bus.

Trash Burning Blamed Boston - Ninety-eight per cent or more of all the forest fire in the Eastern United States in 1971 were man-caused, the U.S. Forest Service reports. Many of these resulted from the burning of trash and other debris near wooded areas; this is the most prevalent cause of fires in the North-Central states also.

O'Neill Seeking House Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts says he has the votes lined up to be elected Democratic majority leader of the House next Jan. 2.

An old pro who has spent 36 of his 60 years in politics, O'Neill said in an interview he has far more than the 121 votes he needs to succeed Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who disappeared in an Alaskan plane crash Oct. 18.

But Rep. Sam Gibbons of Florida, O'Neill's rival for the job, thinks he has stopped O'Neill short of capturing a majority of the House Democratic caucus and is counting on an issue-oriented campaign to bring him victory.

"I didn't think I had a chance I wouldn't be up here working as hard as I am," Gibbons told newsmen.

Unlike Gibbons, who is firing off letters to all members of Congress every few days outlining his views on congressional procedural party reform and national issues, O'Neill is careful to avoid controversial stands.

He is on the leadership escalator as party whip and feels he can move up smoothly if he doesn't stumble. He declines direct answers when asked to comment on issues raised by Gibbons.

On one of the most controversial issues in Congress—seniority—O'Neill has taken a strong stand in the past. He told an interviewer that Ralph Nader's Congress Project recently that if he thought it possible to "throw the seniority system out on its ear."

O'Neill said: "I'd give the speaker full power to make committee assignments... I'd have him distribute party chairmanships on the basis of party loyalty and consistency, and if a chairman didn't cooperate I'd throw him out on his ear, too."

But he is not pressing the issue publicly. "I'm realistic enough to know it's never going to happen here," he said.

O'Neill's hammerlock on the majority leadership by virtue of his position as whip underscores a second question that will be before the Democratic caucus in January. At present the whip is appointed by the majority leader, but a strong move is developing to make the job elective since it has become a starting point for almost automatic promotion to speaker.

O'Neill is opposing the proposed change. As majority leader he would want the right to appoint the whip, whose main job is to line up votes for the majority's legislative program.

"I know there is an escalator effect and that it has given me a big boost, and I'm sorry for the other guy," said O'Neill. "But that's the tradition. The majority leader should have a whip he can work with and not always have to be looking over his shoulder."

Gibbons supports the proposal.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Rough Riders, a volunteer army regiment of ranchers, cowboys, Indians and college students, were highly publicized in the Spanish-American War. The World Almanac says: "Though the unit was forced to embark for Cuba without horses, it helped capture San Juan Hill. This forced the Spanish fleet to sail to sea, where it was defeated."

Commission Favors User Payment Of Projects

The commission's executive director, Theodore Schad, told a series of public conferences scheduled in January. The commission's recurrent theme was that water should be priced at its free market value and that those who benefit from federal water projects should pay for them—with interest.

In a 112-page draft report, the commission urged that the full cost should be recovered for such future federal projects as municipal water supply, irrigation, navigation, hydroelectric power, water-based recreation, municipal waste collection and treatment, flood control, drainage and shoreline protection.

Repayment would be accomplished through free-market pricing or user charges. If farmers had to bear the full cost of federal irrigation projects, Schad said in an interview, "the consumer might be paying a little more for food, but on the other hand, he would be paying less in taxes to support irrigation and farm subsidies."

The impact on the household would not be very much, although he would be paying more for his pollution abatement. Sewerage is about the lowest utility charge anybody pays now," he added.

User charges on industrial water from federal projects and on federally maintained waterways would increase consumer product prices, Schad said. But he added that they might also encourage water-saving industrial processes and a more economical choice of transportation.

The report itself, studying various influences on farm prices, said increased cost of irrigation water would tend to raise the prices of such crops as corn, wheat, soybeans and hay, although the price of cotton might still decrease.

"The price of beef goes up under every assumption," Schad said, "and the price of milk comes down."

Many of the commission's more than 200 proposals strike at the huge dam-building, irrigation, and flood-control projects that supply some of the richest staples in the federal pork barrel.

The National Water Commission was created by Congress in 1966, to study the nation's water resources and to report by Sept. 30, 1973; it planned to gather public comment on the present draft report before issuing a final report next year.

The Commission is headed by Charles F. Luce, board chairman of Consolidated Edison Co. New York City's electric utility.

Castro Does His Duty

Cuba finally has recognized the skyjackers as common criminals and is ready to talk with the United States about what can be done to prevent ransom payments and passengers and fleeing to the island for sanctuary. Fidel Castro, Cuba's Communist dictator, has finally accepted responsibility for the 85 planes that have been hijacked and landed on his shores.

The Cuban government would like to keep its image as a haven for political refugees but it can't afford to become known as welcoming murderers and thieves.

The United States, sharply aware of the key role Cuba has played in the plans of hijackers, is eager to engage in the proffered discussions and to reach an agreement for extradition of hijackers who flee to Cuba.

Cuba has notified the United States that it will bring to trial the three hijackers who forced a Southern Airways jet with 31 passengers to land there.

The United States has requested extradition of these three and of four others who hijacked an Eastern Airlines plane Oct. 29 and are accused of murder, air piracy and kidnapping.

Getting an agreement with Castro will not be simple or easy. Apparently, the Cuban government has confiscated the ransom money hijackers have brought in. So far, it hasn't returned any of it.

Castro may insist upon retaining the money as well as demanding the return of some Cuban exiles who have fled to the United States.

Denying sanctuary to hijackers in Cuba would be perhaps the most effective deterrent to further skyjackings and an effective deterrent must be found.

An agreement with Cuba on this essential problem could lead to a better feeling between the two countries and set the stage for further discussions of mutual benefit. The time seems ripe for the effort.

On Spring The Rod

Last year some 24,000 paddlings of Texas students were officially recorded. Two high school boys thus chastized and their fathers have brought suit, to have the Texas law allowing "moderate corporal punishment" declared unconstitutional. The Supreme Court of the United States, in effect, said "booh" to the appellants by refusing to hear the case.

Only a few days before the Texas decision, an unruly high school student in Brooklyn slapped a teacher in the latest of a series of incidents which teachers said put their lives in jeopardy from teenage gangs and intruders.

The next day after the slapping, 59 teachers walked off the job, calling for more security patrols and protection. The group of teachers returned to their classes the following day but a fight is brewing over whether they shall be paid for the day missed.

Members of the Board of Education condemned the walkout as "irresponsible." This same board had done nothing about any of the previous incidents in which teachers were browbeaten.

Common sense would seem to rule in favor of a paddling when needed, rather than the permissiveness that allows physical attacks on teachers.

A spokesman for the Dallas School District, against whom the suits were brought, commented: "We have always felt we have the right to administer corporal punishment and that our policy is legal. We don't think it is the best method of discipline, but it has to be available. In some cases, it is the only thing that will work."

District Judge W.M. Taylor held: "The evidence has not shown this policy to be arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable, or wholly unrelated to the competency of the State in determining its educational policy."

Although some teachers may have abused the practice, Judge Taylor said this did not show "that the policy itself is unconstitutional."

Dallas School Superintendent Nolan Estes said "We're delighted. We think the policy is a good one."

It may not be the best policy but it beats the Brooklyn policy all hollow.

Open Forum

Full-Time Judge
I was elected Judge of probate by a small plurality. This was due to many factors. The chief factor was the fine quality of my Republican opponent, attorney Ronald Jacobs. I hold him in the highest esteem. I want to assure everyone that I will give full time to the office as I promised and will hold court and keep the same hours Judge Waller normally maintained before his illness. Further, it is my intention to expand office hours and the office will be open either on Thursday evenings or Saturday mornings, depending on the needs of the people. After I take office Jan. 2, the hours will be advertised in all papers having a circulation in Manchester.

I publicly thank my wife for her faithful support, my daughters for campaigning door-to-door with me, and the many people who made financial contributions to my campaign. I thank the 6,000 plus residents who were courteous to me in my door-to-door campaign, regardless of their political affiliation. I want to thank the Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings, my campaign manager, Herb Stevenson, my treasurer, Harry Maidment, my publicity manager, Jay Slager, and all of the other people who assisted me in any way. There will always be a special place in my heart for those 25 people who gave up an evening to take me to the homes of their neighbors and friends to introduce me.

I assure every resident of the Town of Manchester that as Judge of Probate, I will act in the best interest of the people who come to my court, regardless of race, color, creed or political affiliation. Before I close, I would personally like to apologize to not delivering any type of speech to those people that were in attendance at the services. It would have made it hard for me to give a brief summary as to the present status of Indian people today in such limited time but I hope in the future that I have the opportunity again to meet with you and discuss the shortfalls and achievements for Indian people in the State of Maine. The Manchester area remain in existence forever.

Wallace Not Going to Go Away

WASHINGTON - George Wallace is not going to go away. He will be a pain in the neck to the Democratic Party for four more years, to pitter a Nixon slogan, and this time the party will ignore him at its peril. The Alabama governor has his mercenaries in low plotting strategy designed to give him a piece of the action at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Democratic National Committee. "We want a helluva lot," said a Wallace aide by telephone from Montgomery. "We want to be recognized by the Democratic Party."

Indeed they do. Among other demands, the Wallaceites want seats on the party's executive committee; a share of the 25 new seats on the national committee; representation on the commission that will rewrite the party's charter, and revision of the so-called "reform" rules that no longer govern selection of delegates to the national convention on a quota basis.

Whether Wallace's demands will be met is beyond the ken of any common garden variety of columnist. The liberals in the party are a tough bunch, too. However, the liberals are also practical politicians, and they are not a little angry to show Wallace the door as they did after he polled 10 million votes as a third-party presidential candidate in 1968.

"Hell," said the governor's aide. "They let us out of practically everything, including the drafting of new reform rules - which let the election for McGovern. Up to the last minute, the governor didn't even know where he'd get any hotel rooms in Miami Beach, and this after his great showing in the primaries."

Unless the party has taken leave of its collective senses, it won't treat George Wallace quite so cavalierly this time. His Presidential ambitions were shot down by a would-be assassin, but he has a valid argument in his claim that the votes of his supporters guaranteed Richard Nixon's reelection. Wallace says Nixon got 20 million Wallace votes, which seems a trifle high. A more realistic figure would be no higher than 15 million.

Still, the fact remains that George McGovern got few of the Wallace votes, so few as to be meaningless. And although the proportions of the Nixon landslide suggest he might have made it without the Wallace vote, the Democratic Party paid dearly for its snub of the gutsy little governor in such important states as New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania and California.

Thus, the party's dilemma as D - for DeWitt - Day approaches. Wallace is the spokesman for a philosophy that is anathema to most of the Democrats who run the party - or at least have done so up to now. Compared with the Republicans, the party is still essentially liberal. Forgetting McGovern for the moment, Humphrey, Muskie, Jackson and, above all, Teddy Kennedy, have little sympathy for Wallace's views. Among others they are pledged to maintaining the party's posture to the respectable left of the GOP. On the other hand, the job of these men is to win elections for the Democratic candidates, and winning elections requires votes. Even if Wallaceites accounted for only 10 million of the votes that went to Nixon, that is a bloc which must be given consideration. Give a Prohibition Party candidate a head start of 10 million surplus ballots and he'd make a race of it.

So I do not envy the Democratic Party as it prepares for the Dec. 9 pig-

What Agnew Must Overcome by '76

By BRUCE BOSSAT

President Nixon will not be the one to decide whether or not Vice President Agnew becomes the presidential nominee for the presidency in 1976. Agnew's performance most likely will determine that.

Second term presidents, even landslide winners, do not have that kind of political leverage. In 1960, President Eisenhower did not "pick" Mr. Nixon as his successor nominee. Nor did Lyndon Johnson name Sen. Hubert Humphrey to take his place in 1968.

Agnew obviously needs strong foreign affairs credentials. Once again, his first-term swings around the globe left a notorious flavor. A tone of "let's see the head of state and where's the golf course." He hopes to make some key visits abroad, and the impact this time will have to be more solid.

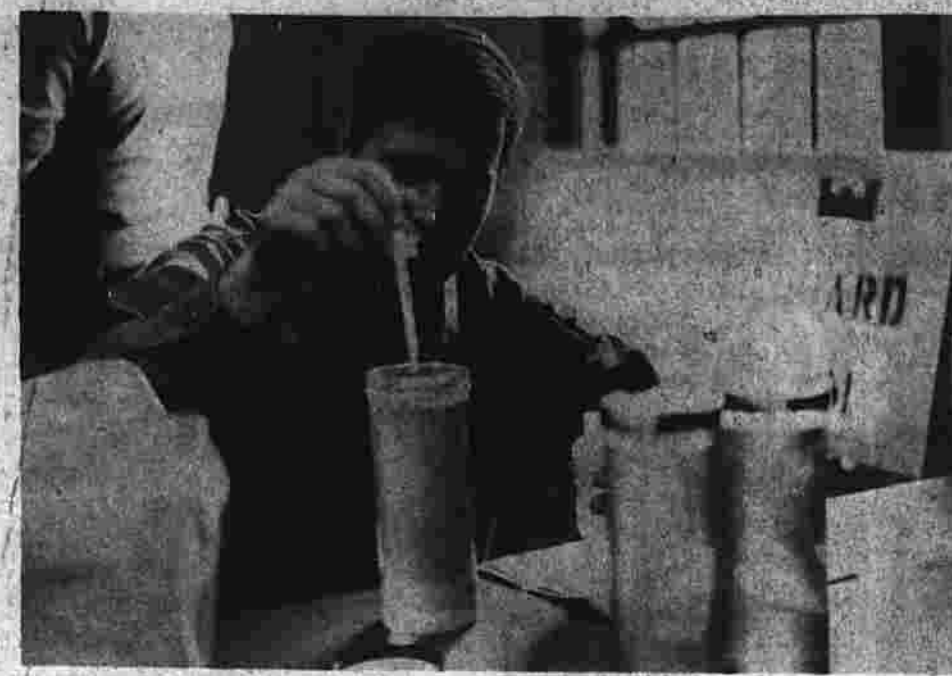

He'll get help in this field from Mr. Nixon whether the President intends it or not. Mr. Nixon sees himself as a foreign policy President, and so does the country. Some of that national pride certainly to rub off on Agnew. Surely, people can say Mr. Nixon gives him some tips!

Agnew's most promising prospect, however, is the domestic issue arena. He knows it better. He never misses a governor's conference, and while there he is attentive, properly interested, questioning in a way that suggests knowledge and competence.

It is clear Mr. Nixon has less interest in domestic matters. The issues are more confusing, more debatable. Agnew can here more easily do what he needs badly to do, establish some independence for himself without violating basic loyalty to the President.

Families are meeting with about 60 inmates at the Utah prison now in one of six sessions each month. The families also attend parole hearings and communicate with the prisoner's real family if he has one.

Working on a Water Sample

Pfc. Richard Dotchin, a member of the 746th Signal Co. of the Connecticut Army National Guard at Camp Meskill, works on a water sample from state lakes and streams threatened by pollution. Water samples are shipped to the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency's national research center, Corvallis, Ore., to be tested for eutrophication. This is a condition in which phosphate discharges spur the growth of algae and rob water of its oxygen and nutrient value. Cooperation between the CANG and the federal agency will continue until August next year, when procedure recommendations to combat pollution are expected to be presented. Pfc. Dotchin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dotchin of 58 Dougherty St.

Utah Prison Tries New Rehabilitation Tactic

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — A 47-year-old convicted killer, greets the mothers and fathers at the barred door shaking each hand and patting the children on the head. His family home evening at the Utah State Prison, one of six monthly gatherings of Mormon families with their "adopted" wayward sons — 60 per cent of them nonmembers of the church. The prison chaplain, a Mormon, calls it "the most successful prison rehabilitation program in the world." The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) also has taken steps to start the family-to-prisoner program at prisons in Texas, Nevada, California and Oregon. Officials said that of 140 released prisoners here given adopted families during their terms only two have returned to prison in the program's five years. This compares with a national prisoner return rate of around 70 per cent, said visiting Richard Sumner, a Lutheran chaplain at a federal prison in Ft. Worth, Tex.

"They have made such good use of the effect of a whole family, giving the inmates a more-oriented experience of love," he said. "Mormons would be used to start the program in Ft. Worth where about 500 inmates — many from other prisons — are now quartered, Chaplain Sumner said. He said families and prisoners of all faiths would eventually be matched up in the program.

"Families are meeting with about 60 inmates at the Utah prison now in one of six sessions each month. The families also attend parole hearings and communicate with the prisoner's real family if he has one."

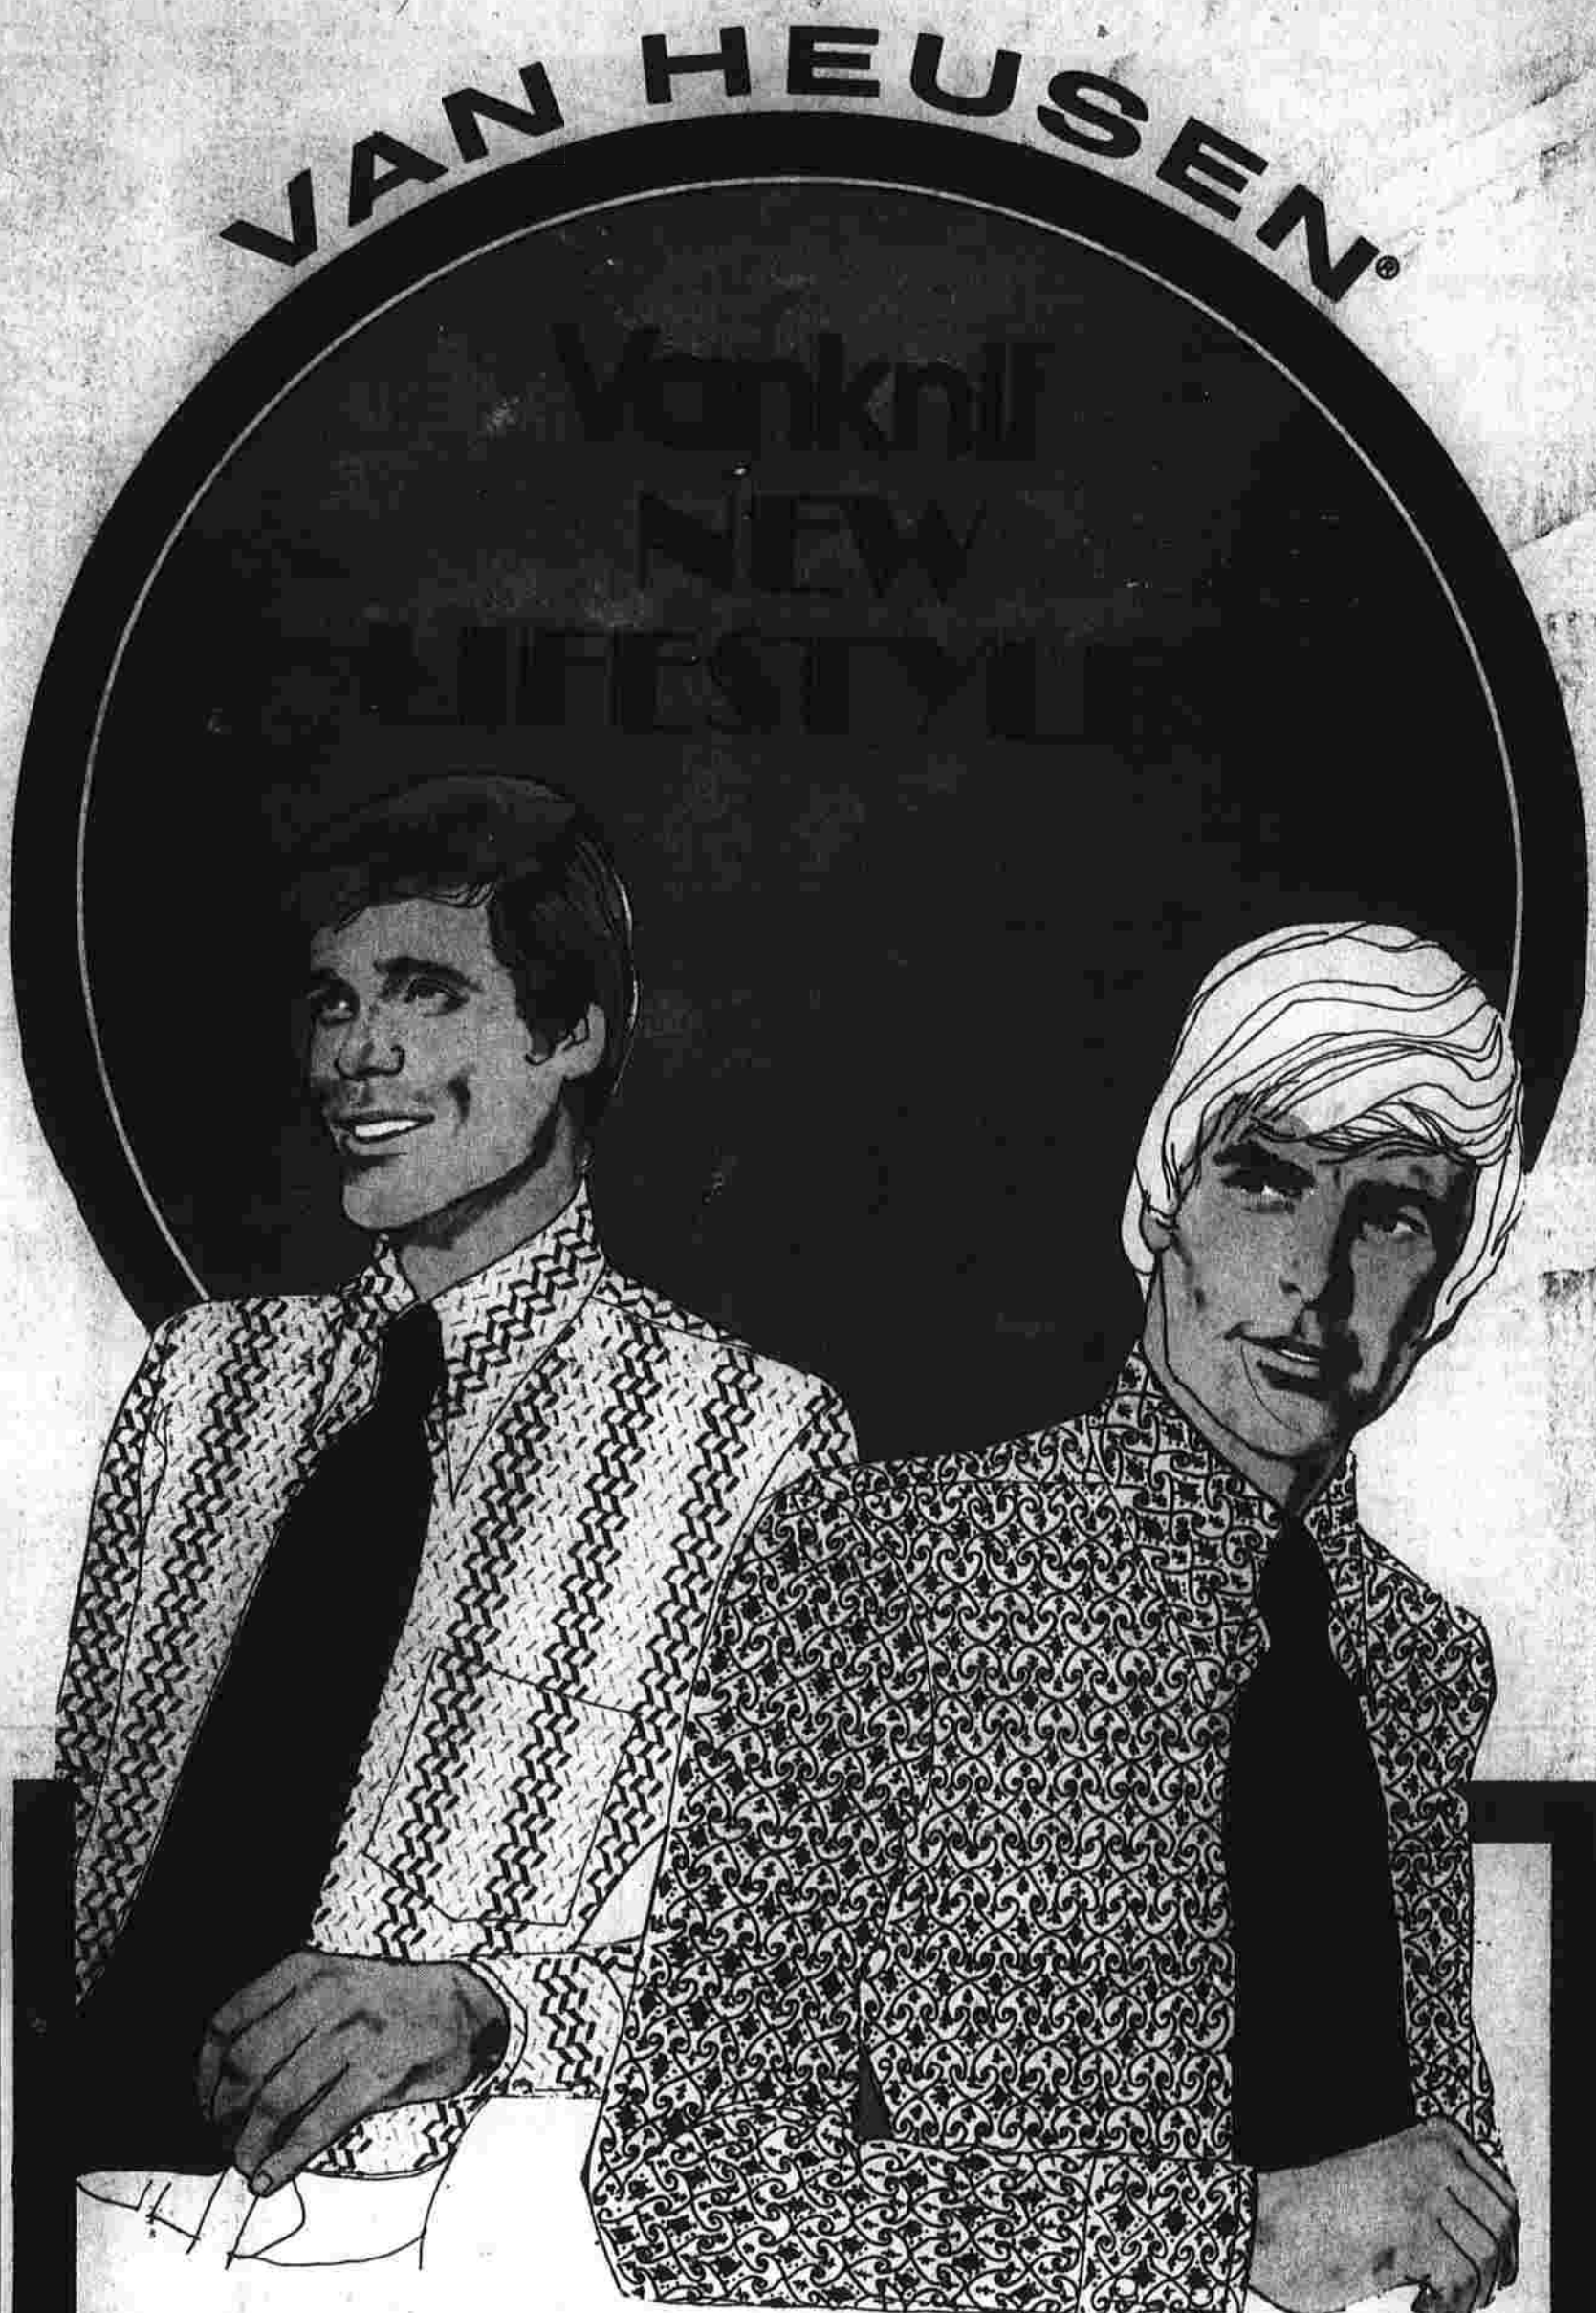

Chaplain Alan Blair of the Utah prison said the idea is to bring a model family into the prisoner's life, a family that will watch over him and his real family when he is in prison and continue its concern after he is released. The Dan Ingersoll family visited Larry, the inmate who presides over one Monday night session. His job is to welcome the families and announce the opening song. "Let us all press on in the work of the Lord," w "That was why we lost Jim," said Bishop Heber J. Guerts, who heads the prison program as an unpaid church assignment. He says Jim was released only three months after he began meeting with the Thomases. "Now we have a chance to start over."

"They all understand the risks involved," Asst. Warden Ted Gee said of the families, who are volunteers recruited through the church's social services division. But if the families face risks, some of them also claim to have enriched their own lives by the experience. "It's brought our family closer together and gave us someone else to be concerned about," says Thomas.

Town Woman Will Receive SA Order of the Founder

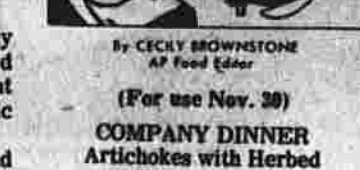

A Manchester woman will become the fifth American Salvation Army worker to receive the "Order of the Founder," the Salvation Army's award of merit. This international award has only been presented to four other Americans during the Salvation Army's 85 years of history. Mrs. Helen J. Sorenson of 383 Hilliard St. will be presented the coveted award, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Hartford Citadel Corps. Lt. Commissioner Branwell Trigg, territorial leader of the Salvation Army in the 11 eastern states will be in Hartford to make the presentation. Maj. Donald Sellen, divisional commander in the Hartford area, announced that this will be a public event and all are invited.

This medal of merit with a supporting citation is awarded with a view to marking distinguished and memorable service such as would, in the spirit of achievement, have special commendation from the Army founder, William Booth. Mrs. Sorenson's honor is being bestowed upon her because of her unusual dedication of service to people. For the past 25 years she has given of herself unreservedly to the needs in Hartford. This is particularly noticeable in her work among alcoholics. She has also worked regularly each Monday evening with the Honor Court program held at the Police Court building in Hartford since its original founding 7 years ago. She has given leadership to the Alcoholics Anonymous program at the Salvation Army's Central Services Building in Hartford. Mrs. Sorenson's work as welfare director at the Salvation Army represents personal consultation, interview and assistance to many thousands of families and individuals who have benefited from her direct personal interest.

She is the daughter of veteran Salvation Army Soldiers and was attached to the famous Bowery Corps in New York City in the early days of her youth.

COOKING IS FUN

Other leading Salvation Army officers, provincial and divisional friends throughout the area will join in the public salute for Mrs. Sorenson. Lt. Gov. T. Clark Hall and Mayor George Athanson of the City of Hartford will also be present.

Letter Carriers Elect Chambers

Charles Chambers has been elected president of Branch 1077, National Association of Letter Carriers. Other officers are Richard Farrell, vice president; Roland Eckstrom, secretary; Thomas Gronitro, treasurer; and Richard Tourtellotte, sergeant-at-arms.

Shaping Up

The holidays and the parties that go with them will be a lot more fun if you're looking and feeling your best. Shaping up usually involves slimming down. How about pre-New Year resolution to take it easy on deserts and other rich foods? And how about a simple but regular exercise routine? Stretching and bending exercises can do wonders. Touching the toes from standing or sitting position; lying on the floor and rolling the body scissors-fashion, are effective exercises. So is the popular "Bike Pedal." Follow each session with a warm bath or shower. Finish up with a witch hazel massage—adds to muscle tone.

Long and Short

Knit dresses can be turned into jumpers by adding a layer underneath. For a new look wear a long-sleeved turtleneck sweater under a short-sleeved dress. And for even more coordination, wear shorts to match the sweater.

Shield Law Need Debate Continues

By The Associated Press
Wednesday night the State Sen. Joseph I. Lieberman, D-New Haven, said he would introduce next year a proposed "shield law" to protect freedom of information Commission officers to work with other media groups "toward a Connecticut response to attacks on the press."

Meanwhile, The Waterbury Republican said in an editorial that "it does not seem possible that man can write any shield law that will provide the press with greater protection than presently exists in the Constitution."

Pointing to the First Amendment's freedom of press provision, the newspaper said, "If the press cannot continue to operate in the future as successfully as it has in the past 180 years, there is no shield law that man can devise which will better stand the test of time."

Lieberman said he would introduce the newsmen's protection bill because of the recent jailing of two newsmen on this issue (efforts to have them divulge sources of confidential information) and the crude and alarming comments on these jailings from public officials, including our own governor.

"There are times in a democratic society when the precious liberties that all of us enjoy are threatened in ways that are indirect and not very clear to very many people," Lieberman said in a statement. "This is because so many of the freedoms we have depend on the liberties extended to others. When these others are deprived, we do not immediately feel it, but we are hurt none the less."

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill said last week newsmen have no right to frustrate the administration of justice by refusing to divulge their sources of information.

Long before children can develop friendships with other children, dolls and stuffed animals help them to express love and friendship. These toys share pleasure and displeasure and give comfort when children feel misunderstood or lonely. Often children particularly enjoy a baby doll when there is a newborn in the family. They use the doll to imitate their mothers' activities with the real baby.

By playing games children find out that rules are sometimes necessary and binding for everybody. They recognize the difference between fair and unfair play and realize that it is more comfortable to win than to be a good loser. Games combine a wide range of experiences, intellectual, sensorial and physical, with pleasant competition and repeated fun.

Commission Will Change Party Complexions

—HARTFORD (AP) — The Regional Commission that manages water supply and sewage for Hartford and six surrounding towns will pass from Democratic to Republican control for the first time in 20 years by 12 appointments by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

New members taking office Jan. 1 include Sen. Roger Eddy, R-Newington, who did not seek reelection this year, and Judith Haddad of Wethersfield, a housewife and former teacher who is the second woman to serve on the Metropolitan District Commission in its 46-year history.

Among those replaced is Hartford Democratic Chairman Michael J. Zazzaro.

Policemen Sued For $250,000

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A 17-year-old Windsor youth, claiming he was shot in the back without proper reason by Hartford police, has filed a $250,000 suit against Hartford police chief, two Hartford policemen and a Windsor policeman.

The suit filed in U.S. District Court claims that the two Hartford policemen had no reason to shoot at plaintiff Ronald Alexander, 17, and another youth on Nov. 18, 1971 because the two had not been involved in a violent crime.

According to legal papers, Alexander and the other youth were running from a stolen car and that before firing the shot that hit Alexander, the two policemen thought the

Monroe Child Killed When Hit By School Bus

MONROE (AP) — Laurie George, a 9-year-old Monroe girl, was struck and killed by a school bus she was trying to board near her home Thursday, police said.

The bus driver, John Crawford, 66, of Bridgeport, was charged with negligent homicide.

Police said the driver did not see her, and that she apparently walked in front of the vehicle. She was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Vincent's hospital at 8:30 a.m.

Rosy Employment Future Predicted

NEW BRITAIN (AP) — State Labor Commissioner Jack Fusari predicts a rosy future for employment in Connecticut.

"Employment in the state has made massive improvements during the year and prospects for 1973 are even brighter. People are going back to work," Fusari said in a speech to the Kiwanis Club.

"In New Britain alone, we have seen a drop in overall unemployment from 6,000 in August to 3,800 in October. Statewide unemployment has decreased from a high of about 131,000 earlier this year to 86,000 last month," he said.

University To Honor Playwright State's Birth Rate May Be Lowest In The Nation This Year

HARTFORD (AP) — Playwright Tennessee Williams will receive the honorary degree of doctor of literature from the University of Hartford on Sunday, the university announced Thursday.

The university's board of regents and the board of directors of the Hartford Stage Company are holding the special theater arts convocation to honor Williams on the 25th anniversary of the New York premier of his Pulitzer Prize winning play, "A Streetcar Named Desire."

There were 3,411 births during December last year, the lowest monthly total for that year. The last time the total dipped below 3,000 was in April 1946 when 2,795 births were recorded.

Bowers said the prediction after figures showed that in October, for the first time in 26 years, the monthly total of births in the state dropped below 3,000.

'L'il Abner' Show Smooths Out

BY JUNE TOMPKINS
One wondered if the South Windsor Country Players would get their "L'il Abner" off the ground last night. What with a sketchy rehearsal that sounded more like a rehearsal and a series of slow entrances at the start, it looked like the Dogpatchers were just too unsure of themselves to shine outside of their native moonshine hills.

SOUTH WINDSOR

A break and entry at Thrall's Garage, 1708 Ellington Rd., was reported to South Windsor police yesterday. Stolen was a 1968 Ford Mustang in change and an unknown amount of money taken from a cigarette machine that had been jimmied. Entry was gained through the removal of a rear window and the breaking of the lock on the office door, police said.

Personnel Changes Announced

HARTFORD (AP) - State Motor Vehicles Commissioner Robert Leuba announced Thursday transfers of four branch managers and 12 assistant managers in a move he said will "improve public service."

Leuba commented that the "most significant accomplishment to be achieved by the new program of rotating management is to bring to different locations assignments and talents and techniques which have been developed elsewhere."

He said the transfers will broaden the knowledge, experience and background of management personnel within the department.

The managers to be transferred effective Dec. 15, are Albert Gasecki from Waterbury to New Britain; Mary Ahern from New Britain to Manchester; William Lang from Norwich to Willimantic to fill a vacancy; and Irma Lanni from Old Saybrook to Norwich. The Old Saybrook manager's post will be temporarily vacant.

Coventry Board Postpones Action Of Filling Hopkins' Post

The Board of Education last night postponed action on the resignation of Dr. Robert Hopkins, director of pupil personnel services, and along with it, action on recommending Dr. Donald Hardy, superintendent of schools, to fill the post.

Hardy is recommending that the resignation of Hopkins be accepted on the agenda as was in executive session, and the board expects to hold a special meeting sometime next week on these matters.

Hardy is recommending that the board hire an administrative assistant, and appoint someone from within the guidance department to the position of coordinator of guidance, for approximately the same salary that is now being paid to Hopkins.

Among the duties of the administrative assistant would be responsibility for organization, administration and supervision of all pupil personnel services, including the department of curriculum; and assistance in preparation as well.

Hardy is also recommending that a full-time educational psychologist be hired to replace the three part-time psychologists now working on a contract basis, to provide services to all four schools.

Field Trips Discontinued. Judgment of the school staff members will be the final factor in determining student selection. Edward Mahoney, principal of Capt. Nathan Hale School, stated, "when limited to 30 students for an overnight trip we must be able to have discretion."

Board member Robert Walsh opposed the criteria of student selections stating "field trips should not be rewards" and said he felt that children who do not meet these requirements would possibly benefit more and would be highly motivated by the opportunity to participate in a field trip. The board approved a motion to form a committee revising field trip guidelines, to be presented at the Dec. 22 meeting.

In other action, the board granted a leave of absence to Custodian Fred Williams until Sept. 1973 due to poor health. The Organization of Mothers requested and received authorization to sponsor a dental health program by a certified hygienist at Robertson School.

Mrs. Carol Ann Barry was appointed to the position of librarian clerk for Robertson School, replacing Mrs. Eunice Bell, who resigned.

Richard Bednarz, coordinator of Adult Education, asked the board to "start the program fresh in September." He said that a partial survey indicated interest but "there may be a budget problem" and he was having difficulty finding teachers to participate.

Young Demos The Coventry Young Demos will hold an 8 p.m. meeting

Vernon Houley Endorsed

Retiring State Senator Robert Houley received the unanimous endorsement of the Democratic Town Committee, MCC, for a replacement on the Town Council.

Houley, who has served two terms in the Senate, did not seek re-election in November. He was nominated for the council to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Frank DeTolla. The council is made up of four Democrats and eight Republicans with a Republican mayor. Houley had served on the council prior to seeking election to the Senate.

Houley's name was placed in nomination by State Representative Thomas Dooley who said he was sure Houley's renewed presence on the council will mean a great deal to the town. He also cited Houley's "uncanny ability to perform" and noted he was more interested in good laws than good politics.

It is expected Houley's name will be presented to the Town Council at its meeting Monday night, for acceptance. At last night's meeting a resolution was adopted by DeTolla for his years of service on the council.

DeTolla told the committee he just wanted to step back for a while and take a look at his top priorities. He said, "I like to think I will be back and I hope I will be named." Because of the inclement weather, last night, the Town Committee meeting had been cancelled but as all members could not be reached and many showed up, the meeting was held.

Vernon Town Brings Suit Over Landfill Site

The town of Vernon has filed a $200,000 suit against the owners of a landfill area in Ellington. The suit, filed in Tolland County Superior Court, charges the land owners, Earl Parker and Irving Sweet with breaking an agreement concerning the sale of the land.

Vernon has been using the landfill area, under contract, for the past few years. The owners indicated they wanted to sell the property which is located on Rt. 146 and The Town Council agreed to have Mayor Frank McCoy sign a bond for deed and a referendum appropriated $175,000 for the purchase. The writ states that the town made an agreement with the owners and had indicated there is no need for alarm concerning a disposal area. However, he has been criticized by Democratic members of the Town Council.

Democratic Town Committee Chairman James Roche termed the action, "the biggest blunder the town has ever seen," and Councilman Thomas Beaulieu termed the situation, "a potential economic catastrophe to our town."

The mayor added he will be consulting with Richard Borden, Roland Gledhill, present town treasurer, and two former treasurers, Robert Deming and John Daigle as to the overall impact of the revenue sharing funds. The first half year's payment is due to come in December, another half-year in January and a third payment in April 1973.

Vernon Mayor Studying Use of Shared Funds

Methods of the best use for federal revenue sharing funds which will be coming to the town of Vernon over the next five years are being studied by Mayor Frank McCoy who said he feels strongly that the funds should be applied so as to relieve the property tax on the individual homeowner as far as possible.

The mayor has attended several conferences concerning revenue sharing at which representatives of municipal leagues and the U. S. Treasury Department have outlined the ways in which revenue sharing money can be spent.

Emphasizing his strong feeling about using the money for relief of property taxes, the mayor explained that the groups governing the amount of funding allotted each town contains a factor involving maintenance of tax effort and a comprehensive study of all fiscal aspects will be necessary.

Mayor McCoy said he has instructed all department heads to furnish Town Planner Joseph Pastie with updated capital improvement budgets with the hope that some of these capital improvements may also be achieved through the revenue sharing funds.

The mayor added he will be consulting with Richard Borden, Roland Gledhill, present town treasurer, and two former treasurers, Robert Deming and John Daigle as to the overall impact of the revenue sharing funds. The first half year's payment is due to come in December, another half-year in January and a third payment in April 1973.

Market Pros Not Getting Excited

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market averages may be rising into the clouds, but the minds and spirits of many securities professionals have not joined them there.

Agency Shop Provision Upheld

PROVIDENCE (AP) — The state Supreme Court upheld the legality of agency shops, provisions requiring non-members of teacher unions to contribute a proportionate share of collective bargaining expenses.

In an unanimous decision, the court emphasized that a teacher's union may assess non-members of the union for the cost of negotiations which bring benefits to all of the members. The court said the non-members could not sue for any fringe activities in which the union may engage.

BOSTON (AP) — The Brookline home of newly designated Defense Secretary Elliot L. Richardson was sold Wednesday for $175,000, papers filed at the Suffolk County Registry of Deeds showed.

The purchasers, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin R. Kaufman, took immediate occupancy. Approximately 2.5 acres of land went with the house.

investors other than the institutions, which have so dominated the market in recent years that they find themselves competing with nobody but themselves.

Essentially, explains one broker, the J.D. Winer Co., the institutions "have been playing games with themselves for the past few years, chasing each other up the peaks and down the valleys of the Dow Jones industrial."

During this same time, the small investors have been selling out — not to obtain money to go on cruises or to indulge in luxuries, as was indicated on television recently by the leader of a mutual fund group, but to invest in homes, income real estate, and other "safer" investments.

The small investor, contrary to popular myth, is a wise and conservative money manager rather than a fool. He withdrew from the market rather than tolerate high commissions and inferior service.

Says John Wright, a professional who handles hundreds of millions of dollars out of Bridgeport, Conn., the small investor "exercises superior, not inferior judgment." The pro, he suggests, should be so.

When the small investor withdrew and left the market to the institutions and the trading games they play, he took with him a good deal of the market's liquidity. He left the market like a machine without grease.

Instead of prices falling or rising smoothly and by small amounts, as is the case when there are plenty of small buyers and sellers, there developed a staircase pricing pattern as big institutions found themselves trading only with each other.

Now the professionals and institutions are back in the market and pension funds, the bank trusts, the insurance companies — hope that the small investor can be induced back in 1973 to give the market a boost out of the current pattern.

They are figuring also that funds might begin flooding in from foreign investors, particularly that analysis would seem correct on paper.

investor, especially after his experiences of the 1968-1970 period.

In that time many small investors grew up. They saw their investments turned into speculations by the in-out trading of institutions. They learned of inept management on Wall Street. They became aware of low ethics.

Instinctively conservative, they may not rush back to an industry that embraced them when it needed them and then scorned them for the more profitable business of institutions.

Justices Reminded Of Oath Deadline

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
Tel. 228-9224

Town Clerk Mrs. Rita Cloutier wishes to remind recently elected justices of the peace that in order to officially qualify they must take the official oath of office, furnish their signature and date of birth on prescribed forms in her office. She says this must be done on or before Jan. 2, 1973.

The elected Republican justices are Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchins, Donald Tuttle, Reginald Lewis, Mrs. Grace Pringle and Richard Dana.

Elected Democratic justices are Terry D'Italia, Henry Beck, Mrs. Frances Malek, John Webb and Richard Urban.

Mrs. Cloutier said Republican registrar, Mrs. Grace Pringle, has appointed Mrs. Arja Kovas as her deputy and has filed a certificate of appointment with the town clerk. This is in compliance with the Conn. General Statutes. Democratic registrar Mrs. Laura Szegda has not yet filed a certificate of appointment of a deputy.

Open House
Principal Clarence Edmondson said an "open house" at Porter School this week was well attended.

The annual event which permits parents to tour the school and visit classrooms in session was delayed to allow the completion of construction on the portable classrooms.

The classrooms are used by Mrs. Dorothy Taggart's fifth grade, and Mrs. Susane Kacynski's second grade classes.

Student Council
Porter School Student Council members have settled down to the serious business of student government now that the elections are over.

After two weeks of hard campaigning, registered voters to the polls earlier this month and elected Fayne Lyon, Jim Jensen and Joyce Desautels from the Ambassadors.

Mark Danks, David Bradford, Nancy Gadoray, Charles Lester, Lori Kasman, Tom LeClair and Patti Williams of the Monarchs completed the legislative body of the junior high.

Principal Edmondson administered the oath of office at an assembly and the new officers gave their acceptance speeches. A victory dance followed in the gym.

Nancy Gadoray was elected secretary and Mark Danks treasurer.

Class Trip
The graduating class of 1973 sold a total of $4,300 in magazine subscriptions. The money will be used toward a class trip to New York City in June.

The Women of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold their annual "Christmas in the Country" fair tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the parish hall, Rt. 44A.

Mrs. Roland Amundson, general chairman, advises that a wide variety of gifts and specialty items will be available at the fair.

Booths featuring handmade gift items, hamebacked goodies, Christmas greens and decorations, white elephants, and remnants have been set up.

A children's room featuring a fish pond and gifts for the small pocketbook will be another attraction, according to Mrs. Amundson.

The Manchester Garden Club, Captains of Coventry, Trevor Jones with ironwork; portrait painting by Myrtle Carlson, Milford, with pressed flower creations; Robert Woods with rock gems, Bonnie Kelly with handmade cards and Sarah Covey Jewelry will also occupy booths at the fair.

A refreshment stand will offer food for shoppers during the day.

All—Electric Homes Up
Lampville, Tenn. — More than 66,000 residential customers were added to TVA power distributors' lines in fiscal 1972, the largest number in many years. About two-thirds of the new customers moved into all-electric homes, bringing the total number of such homes in the region to 800,000, or 34 per cent of all homes.

College Boards

The College Board Scholastic Aptitude and Achievement Tests will be given at Manchester High School tomorrow. Students who have registered to take the SAT at MHS should be in their seats by 8:30 a.m. Those taking the Achievement Tests in the afternoon should be in their seats by 1:30 p.m.

For both the SAT and Achievement Tests, students will need two soft No. 2 pencils. Parking will be in the student parking lot, and students are to enter the building through the entrance to the cafeteria lobby adjacent to the student parking lot. All testing will be in the cafeteria.

G. Stillman Keith stands beside a Norway spruce grown in his Christmas tree plantation on Lewis St. Christmas trees are a hobby for the Manchester realtor. (Herald photo by Bucielvicius)

Gardening

with Frank Atwood

A Manchester realtor, G. Stillman Keith, who has always liked the out-of-doors, finds growing Christmas trees is a pleasantly rewarding hobby. On a one-acre lot, once part of his grandfather's farm on Lewis St., near Mt. Nobo, Mr. Keith has a plantation of about a thousand trees. He'll cut a hundred or more of them between now and Christmas. Next spring he'll set out about a hundred small replacement trees.

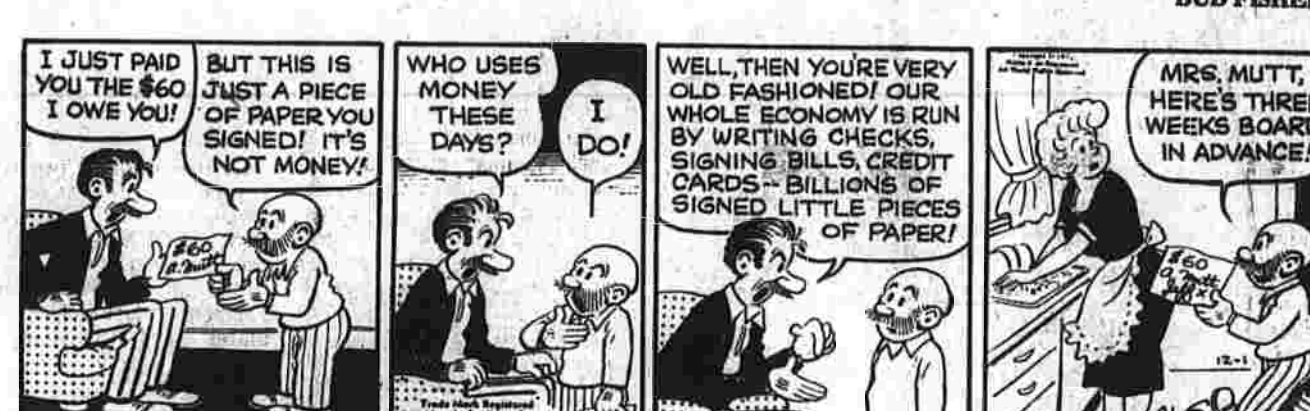

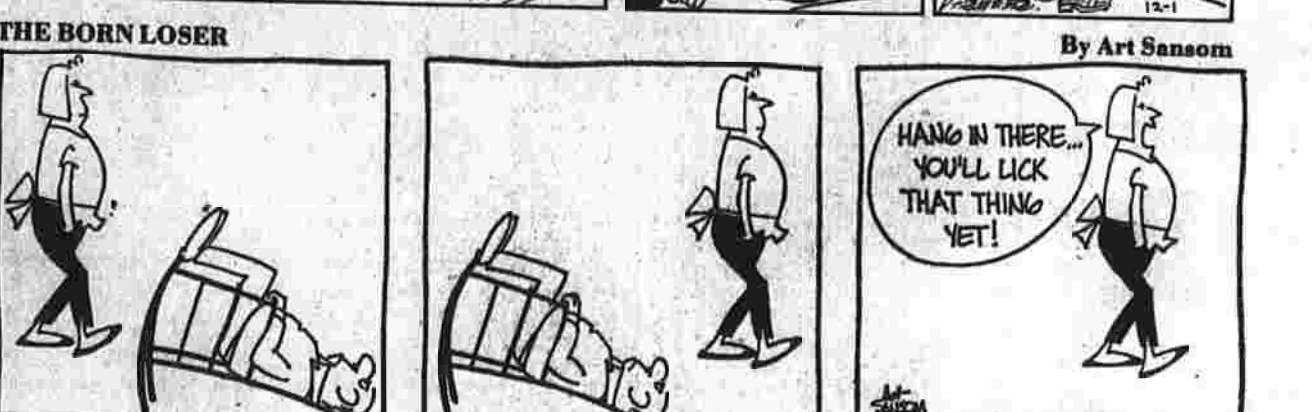

It takes from four to seven years for a Christmas tree to grow to marketable size. The turnover is slow and the profits modest. There is very little involved, of course, but not more than a businessman can accomplish in his spare time, with the help sometimes of a high school boy.

Mr. Keith likes to watch his trees develop from year to year and he likes to see his customers take home really fresh cut, thickly branched and fragrant spruces to be hung with ornaments and surrounded by wrapped packages in their living rooms.

The trees are cut to order, each selected personally by the buyer walking through the lot. Some are chosen well in advance of Christmas and tagged with the customer's name.

This year Mr. Keith is offering to give a tree to any church, school, service club or fraternal organization that wants one.

Some of the older trees this year are bearing cones on their upper branches and, if the customer likes comes but the tree is too tall for the room where it will be set up, it can be cut three or four feet above the ground and just the top of it used.

MHS Students Attend Council Conference

On Saturday, Nov. 18, 19 MHS Assembly members and officers attended the Connecticut Federation of Student Councils fall conference at John Winthrop Junior High School in Deep River. Along with the students came Mr. Glaeser, assembly adviser.

The Manchester High delegation arrived on time for the first General Assembly, which was the first event of the day-long conference. Along with MHS, representatives from other schools' student councils from across the state were present. Dr. Gilbert Demar, superintendent of schools for Regional District 4, gave a few opening words of welcome to all the students and teachers in the auditorium. He was followed by Bruce Houghton, president of the CFSC, who proceeded to give a brief outline of the day's events.

After the introductory remarks all the student delegates were divided into groups, of whom each worked for an hour in a workshop-type atmosphere. Each separate group, or "swap-shop," was comprised of students from different schools. Here, we exchanged ideas and past records of successes and failures.

One of the main topics talked about was that of the open campus concept. Many schools have been bogged down in their progress toward achieving open campus because of the insurance policies regarding students. Many of these policies require that the student stay on school grounds and in classrooms.

Another of the main topics mentioned was the changing of the curriculum of schools. Some of the ideas were: initiation of work-study programs, whereby a student would study and work at a subject relevant to the occupational area he would go into; career planning program, in which a student would spend ¼ of the school year working on a job relevant to the occupational area he would go into.

This idea is similar to the program now at MHS. An all-around activities night was one of the fund-raising ideas mentioned in the swap-shop. This is where a school would hold several activities in the same building at the same time. The activities could be anything and anything goes.

After the swap-shops came the second General Assembly, held in the auditorium. The main feature of this event was a brief speech by Sen. Lowell Weicker, which was endorsed by the student delegates. The theme of his speech, he claimed, was honesty between representative and citizen and honesty between politicians alike. A belated lunch period followed the speech.

Following lunch the student delegates were again divided into groups; each group went to a separate seminar. Each seminar discussed a different topic. One seminar was a discussion of the comparison of student councils and high school representative and alternate systems from each hemisphere. They have found that the open council, as at MHS, is harder to run because of the difficulty in scheduling meetings.

The seminars were endorsed by the regional meetings and the final General Assembly. Each seminar broke up and students proceeded to any one of three regional meetings, depending on which region their school is from. These meetings and the final conglomerate General Assembly just summarized the conference as a whole and sort of thanked all the students and faculty that had attended.

It was these students and faculty that made the CFSC fall conference the success that it was. Reviewing the day as a whole, the conference was not only enjoyable because of the contacts made with many other students from different schools, but because it also presented a very informative and highly interesting array of ideas.

Life Without You...

In a family the oldest must set a good example for the youngest to follow. They must teach, to the best of their ability, the correct way of doing things and the wrong way of persisting in surfacing one must fix the error.

"Nice thought, isn't it? All the elders I've met have been very cooperative in leading the poor lost sheep on to the 'right' path. It's too bad that the lost sheep don't cooperate too. Perhaps I should tell you of a particular sheep I had in mind. Wilma Wool, the youngest member of our family, was among the first to be panicky when her college fever hit the house.

A few weeks ago when I started to apply to colleges, the inevitable became apparent — BIG SISTER is leaving home. This in itself did not phase me. In fact, my brother rather liked the idea of having one less junior mom to worry about. My one sister started looking forward to an extensive vacation project enabling them to each have their own room.

So you see the alarm at my leaving was almost nonexistent. Then they came across the great discovery. I am the only one in the house who can understand the directions on the back of a brownie mix package. The though ranged from MCC to freezing enough brownies for a year. It was decided that I should teach the poor lost sheep how to make brownies the RIGHT way. I think I learned much more than Wilma did. The object of the game has changed since I was chief of brownie batter. Now, its not how many you make but how much you can smuggle out of the kitchen without getting caught.

After sitting the broken egg shells out of the mix we discussed the difference between an eight-inch pan and a thirteen by nine-inch pan. Finding no success in that area we moved on to the oven. I never realized that there are so many ways to short circuit a Westinghouse range.

Hawaii, Goal

Yes, it's true. You may have noticed the symptoms-bleary eyes, voices reduced to whispers the Round Table Christmas season has started, with the opening concert held tonight at St. Mary's Church, and the Community Carol Sing on Sunday night. (You can come. It's going to be at Center Park, behind the library, at 7.)

We started the year with a considerable number of new members, but they are coming through quite well, as was proven at our first three concerts this fall. We are looking forward to a successful year topped off by a trip to Hawaii over April vacation. We plan to make a short stop in California before going on to Hawaii, where we have invitations to sing at Ponahō High School, and the Rotary Club.

Round Table has been working hard to raise the $21,000 needed to finance this trip, and already has about $2,000 in the bank. Here, we have generous donations from local organizations.

Everyone will get a chance to hear Round Table and the MHS choirs sing at the public Christmas concert of Dec. 15, in the Auditorium, so come if you enjoy good music.

Math Team Is No Problem

As the result of two tryout sessions in early October, team members of the Manchester High School Math Team have been announced.

Club adviser Mrs. Roberta Thompson selected the 10 team members after tabulating the results of two exams administered at the try-out sessions.

The following students were chosen: Seniors—Gary Bujacius, Bill Boll, and Paul Backofen; Juniors—Diane Treadwell, Jerry Bujacius and Rick Diamond; Sophomores—Marcia Spano, Mickey Simon, Mike Lombardo, and Cindy Sheldon.

Nov. 15, 1972, the Math Team competed in its first meet of the year in the Capitol Area Mathematics League. The Manchester team placed seventh out of 25 teams, for a total of 62 points. Individual scores were as follows: Gary Bujacius 16

Paul Backofen 7
Jerry Bujacius 11
Diane Treadwell 13
Mickey Simon 5
Team Question 10

This probably means nothing to you if you have no knowledge of how Math Team meets are run or scored, so...

While it is a team total that determines a school's placement in each meet, every team member work individually to make this count. During a meet, every student is given three ten minute tests. Each test contains three mathematical questions of varying degrees of difficulty.

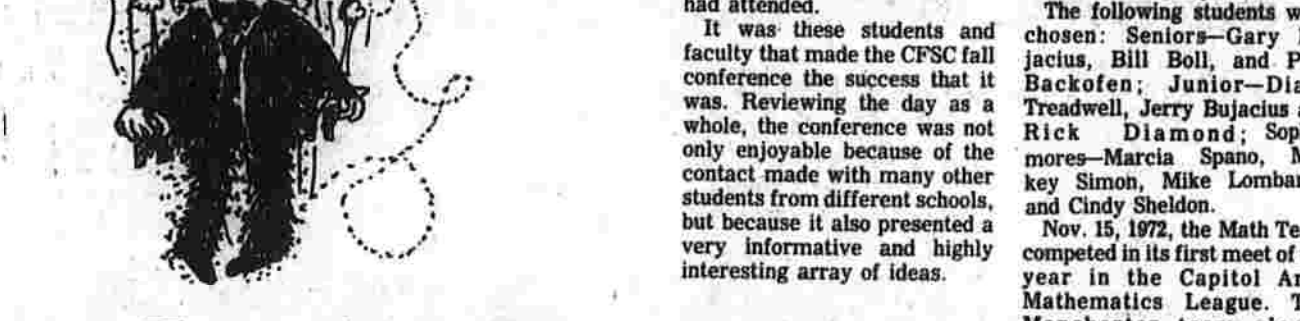

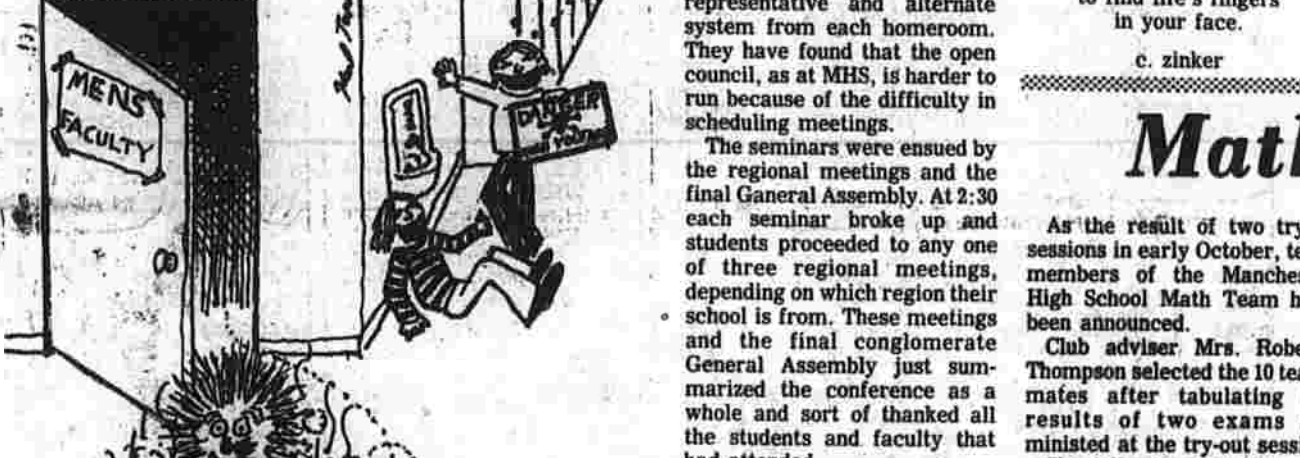

Correct answers earn each individual a predetermined set of points: 1st question: 1 point; 2nd question: 2 points; 3rd question: 3 points. Individual scores of team members are totaled together, and the sum of these scores account for the bulk of the team score. Bulk, of course, is not the only factor in determining a team's ranking. The following students were chosen: Seniors—Gary Bujacius, Bill Boll, and Paul Backofen; Juniors—Diane Treadwell, Jerry Bujacius and Rick Diamond; Sophomores—Marcia Spano, Mickey Simon, Mike Lombardo, and Cindy Sheldon.

Not Just Wallpaper

Contrary to belief the posters on the walls of MHS are not covering the cracks and chipped paint. The posters are pleas to the students to submit art work, short stories, poems and photographs to Aridian. Sophomores and maybe a few juniors and seniors might be wondering what the Aridian is. The Aridian is an arts and literary magazine published by students at MHS. In order to make the Aridian a magazine that is interesting and enjoyable, the students must submit their poetry, stories, art work, photographs.

Start writing and drawing. The Aridian staff knows there are talented authors and artists wondering in the halls of MHS. Any sophomore, junior or senior can submit his or her works, either in Room 111 or put them in the large envelopes available in the English Rooms.

Education is in a constant state of flux, sometimes it is a very slow change and often, some changes prove more fruitful than others. A new and different type of school has begun within the walls of MHS; and it is called the Fun and Free School.

The curriculum includes courses such as photography, creative stitchery, modern dance, macramé, Israeli dancing, rap sessions, improvisational piano, guitar, and conversational French. Most of the classes commenced last week, and a few such as improvisational piano, guitar, and conversational French began this week.

The attendance in some of the classes reached fifteen, which, considering that these classes are held after school and are non-accredited, is proof that people are interested in learning. But it is what they learn and how they learn it that makes something interesting to an individual.

A diverse curriculum was chosen so that many of MHS students and faculty would be reached rather than just a few. The classes are very informal, some may even be held out of doors on warm days. Both faculty and students are involved in the Fun and Free School as instructors and participants.

Hopefully better communications between faculty and students will result as we work together on this new and different entity at MHS.

Although you may have missed the first two classes of a course, you may still enroll by attending the next class. The rap sessions will always be welcoming more people.

If the first semester of the Fun and Free School prove worthwhile, a second semester will be added with additional courses. Suggestions for new courses or topics to instruct a course may be left in room 200.

We are reaching out to you with something fresh and vibrant. Why don't you reach back by responding. — Andy Burr

Books For Sale

Well folks, it is nearing that time again when everyone's screaming out Christmas carols and good cheer and giving out those great presents. Now I know all you unfortunate students have been racking your brains for a new, unique gift for that sweet brother, sister, or aunt. Your worries are over because once again, its time for another fabulous book sale!

Excited?

The library is holding it, and members of the National Honor Society will help with the sales. Prices range from fifty cents to a dollar twenty-five.

Categorized from some of your favorite classics, science fiction, ecology, mysteries to plays, poetry, and some books of Shakespeare for you English scholars. The book sale will be held December fourth through the eighth, from eight o'clock to three o'clock. All English classes are scheduled to come. So come on in and browse, or buy a book for a friend. Or yourself. — Debbi Don

Hubeaps And Bull ...Good Music

A week ago Wednesday, the Manchester High Student Assembly sponsored the annual Alumni Dance. The dance was open to anyone and was attended by students from schools throughout Manchester and many college students who were home on Thanksgiving vacation.

With the dance being such a great success you can be sure it will get two top bands for more years. This was a very important dance for the Student Assembly. Had not been such a success, it would have been the last dance for MHS. — Dave Jacobs play was the local group entitled Hubeaps. Playing for this band are the local Manchester High students Yogi Holmes and Stanley Wojcikowski. This band plays a variety of early rock and roll. The drum and bass were in the 1960's to match their music.

Assembly Success

A couple of weeks ago a special assembly concerning the history of rock was held at the High School. Mr. Bill Strommen, staff lecturer of Rick Trow Productions, who led the assembly, brought the auditorium back through their childhood of music right up to what's popular today.

The era of the 50's when presented, brought back memories of Elvis Presley's 'Hound Dog' and the teenagers of the fifties hopping in their bobby socks and saddle shoes.

The assembly it was pointed out as we grew up the music we listened to grew with us. Our infancy could be compared to the Beatles that struck the country in the early sixties. It moved on to say the least as new ideas and new attitudes became prevalent the songs and lyrics had more meaning like many of Simon and Garfunkel's songs. The evolution of the Motown Sound was depicted by such stars as Little Richard and the Supremes.

The most important fact of this assembly was the greeting it received by the student body. On the whole it was a great success.

Back to the batter. Wilma has made another discovery. Raw brownies are delicious. A hairy batter better known as big brother wants a taste too. This is when the foot stomping started.

"I want a taste!" Stomp!

"You can't have it!" Stomp! Stomp! (She's a little difficult to understand with the spoonful of brownie stuck in her mouth).

"Come on Wilma! It's not fair!" Stomp!

"I got to save it all for the pass so go away!" Stomp, as she shovels another spoonful in.

She gave up after I couldn't explain why you can't save the batter to eat later. She's finishing it herself now. Far be it for me to interfere. My gosh! I've got to run. I'm small something burning. — Bridget Bossidy

Army & Navy Club Trophy Retired

The Army & Navy Club football trophy was retired by Manchester High following the Thanksgiving Day 16-15 win over Windham High. Coach Dave Wiggin holds award as tri-captains Jim Colla, Lyle Eastman and Steve Samiotis look on. Three wins were needed for permanent possession.

Steelers Selected To Check Browns

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh will crack the Cleveland Browns' six-game victory streak 27-20 in Sunday's showdown, almost assuring the Steelers of a National Football League playoff invitation.

Grinning from last week's 121 prediction record, that's our call on the American Conference Central Division showdown where even the loser has a shot at a post-season berth.

Los Angeles-San Francisco is a Monday night game and, being a Steve Spurrier believer from his 1966 Heisman Trophy year at Florida, I go with the 40ers 27-20.

Here's a game-by-game look with a pumped-up percentage of 737 after missing only the New Orleans upset of the Rams last weekend:

STEELERS 27, BROWNS 20—Pittsburgh hasn't lost at Three Rivers Stadium this year and the combination of Franco Harris' running and a bullish Steeler defense will make me go with them over Cleveland every time.

FORTY-NINERS 27, RAMS 20—The heat won't get to Spurrier and the guy is a born winner. San Francisco will blow it if John Brodie is returned to quarterback.

PACKERS 17, LIONS 14—Another showdown and Green Bay will take it on a Chester Marcol field goal. Now doesn't that sound positive?

DOLPHINS 27, OILERS 10—Poor Bill Peterson. The likeable former Florida State and Rice coach doesn't deserve to be No. 26 in a 26-team league.

RAIDERS 34, CHARGERS 21—Oakland wraps it up amazingly early in the AFC West.

PATRIOTS 27, MINUTEMEN are flouted by the 60-minute men as Miami leads its 12th straight one-to-one 14-0 regular season.

REDSKINS 37, EAGLES 10—No contest as Washington inches nearer NFC East crown and host role for a first round playoff game Christmas Eve.

VIKINGS 21, BEARS 10—Chicago long ago wasted away and Minnesota still clings to hope for playoffs despite loss to Steelers last week.

COWBOYS 27, CARDS 10—St. Louis is almost to hopeless stage and Dallas can't afford to lose before rematch with Redskins, if then.

BENGALS 10, GIANTS 7—New York's playoff hopes perish.

JETS 28, SAINTS 21—Jets, Jets alive for another week. CHIEFS 34, BRONCOS 17—Kansas City has to save face now since it'll be watching the playoffs on TV.

COLTS 20, BILLS 14—The Marty Domres Era folks from Baltimore make it three straight as General Manager Joe Thomas keeps saying, "I knew I was right."

Back-of-Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Jauron, Yale's spectacular senior who led a 28-17 victory over Harvard in his collegiate career, was named Thursday the Ivy League's Back of the Week for the first time this season.

It was a one-time Massachusetts schoolboy star from Swampscott, called the Elias against Harvard, carrying 28 times for 15 yards and two touchdowns.

University of Connecticut basketball team. The election of Vaughn, who averaged 13.4 points a game last season, was announced Thursday by Coach Dee Hooke.

Thurgay will lead the Huskies against Yale Saturday night in a season opener.

Nelson, a free agent who was released earlier this year, is expected to be meeting traditional rivals. No. 12 Tennessee will be at Vanderbilt, while No. 11 LSU will play at Tulane at night.

As for charging an entry fee, most races do. To date, Will Hadden, general chairman for the Tall Cedars, and his committee, have felt it not necessary.

Personally, a $2 tab is too high in that many of the runners also have to take out AAU memberships, which seem to be going down.

These comments are passed along to the race committee for their consideration.

Two Vernon men, Wilson Deakin and Bill Dumas, have dominated the weekly football contests carried in the Herald this season, each winning up to double winners.

Deakin, Manchester assistant superintendent of schools for personnel, scored the first double ... One wonders if basketball should be carried on at a college that can attract only nine upper classmen, which is the case this fall at Trinity College.

Deakin, who has numbers and come out a winner ... Speaking of numbers, Cliff Demers, East Catholic high school coach, reported he went through the full 1972 schedule with just two offensive tackles, Jimmy Koop and Glen Galbreath.

Manely, 21, divided this 1972 season in the Class A Midwest League and the Class AA Texas League with a combined 11-4 record.

Nelson Signed

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have signed John Nelson, a free agent who was released earlier this year, to a one-year contract.

Nelson, a rookie tight end, was placed on the Oilers' last squad Thursday. To make room for Nelson, the Oilers waived rookie defensive tackle Ken Brannetter.

'Get Me Williams - We'll Win Pennant' - Weaver Baseball Trade Deadline Saturday Morning

HONOLULU (AP) — "Let's make the trade or forget it," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver.

The Orioles almost did something with the Atlanta Braves Thursday at the winter baseball meetings, but wound up doing nothing.

As a result, Weaver went swimming instead of making a trade.

But the Minnesota Twins, Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs passed up the Pacific to make the only two deals of the day. First, the Twins sent handyman Cesar Tovar to the Phillies for outfielder Joe Lis and pitchers Ken Sanders and Ken Reynolds.

Then Minnesota traded south-paw reliever pitcher Dave LaRoche to the Cubs for righthanded pitchers Bill Hands, Joe Decker and Earl Manely.

Atlanta slugger Bob Williams was the man that Weaver coveted. "Get me Williams—and we'll win the pennant," the Baltimore manager had said while toiling on Waikiki Beach.

Ironically, the big names were agreed upon by the teams, but a little known player busted the deal.

The Orioles were set to send shortstop Mark Belanger, pitchers Pat Dobson and Eddie Watt and catcher Johnny Oates to

Atlanta slugger Bob Williams was the man that Weaver coveted. "Get me Williams—and we'll win the pennant," the Baltimore manager had said while toiling on Waikiki Beach.

Ironically, the big names were agreed upon by the teams, but a little known player busted the deal.

Bobby Orr Enjoys Big Night

BOSTON (AP) — super Bobby Orr and the Buffalo's high-scoring Boston Bruins Thursday French life clashed with a night.

Don Marcotte took a pass from Orr and flipped it behind his back into the net for the winning goal with only 2:10 left in the game at the Boston garden before 15,003 fans. But it was Orr's two goals—one on an unassisted slap from near the blue line—and two assists that helped lift Boston to a 5-4 victory over the Sabres.

The game, which brought Boston to within one point of the New York Rangers, second place New York, turned into a classic final period thriller.

Boston had opened with the game's lone goal in the first period on a long slap shot by Orr, his seventh goal of the season. Buffalo's Rene Robert tied the game early in the second period, then the Bruins' Ken Hodge and the Sabres' Rick Martin exchanged goals to knot the score at 2-2.

Leading Cowboy in Rodeo Gets Bucks Several Ways

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—Phil Lyne doesn't get back to George West, Tex., too often. George West, that's the name of the town. Population 1,878.

"This ol' boy ran cattle round here," he hoot 1900 or so I reckon."

"Phil was raised there on his father's ranch, and he's granddaddy and a great granddaddy were there before him. The Lyne name goes back almost to the Alamo, in San Antonio 100 miles to the north. And the Lyne's even ran cattle on Matagorda Island over in the Gulf of Mexico."

Reason Phil doesn't spend much time at home is that he's got to riding saddle broncs on his head.

He's the best, too, the leading performer on the Rodeo Cowboy's Association circuit which has sanctioned 567 rodeos this year, with pay-offs of more than $4 million.

In other words, he's the top cowboy in the world. "That means something at the lunch counter back in George West."

"I started roping calves at the age of 4. Got a picture showing me doing it at 6. I was thrown off a steer at 10; started bulldozing at 13; got to riding saddle broncs at 18."

Phil Lyne is 25 years old. No moustache, no shaggy hair—he's clean-cut western. No mistake about him being a cowboy. He walks wide-spread in his pointed boots, black Stetson square on his head.

But he's no ordinary, drifting cowboy. He went to San Houston State till his sinuses started acting up on him, then transferred to junior college in Uvalde, winding up at Southwest Texas State, where he lacks seven hours for graduation.

He doesn't take home cowboy ahead. He's $30,000 a year in all around championship. He's a national champion in all around championship. He's a national champion in all around championship.

His versatility amazes the other cowboys because Phil's not very big for his line of work. He's 5-8 and 160 pounds, not much for wrestling a frisky calf to earth and looping a rope around his legs. He's done it in 3.5 seconds at the National Finals.

Biggest rodeo he ever had was in Houston when he won the bull riding and the calf roping for prize money of $7,125. "That's the best I've ever had," he says. "I've had three bad rides and couldn't see the sky."

He travels light. No suits, four changes of cowboy clothes in a small bag, and a bronc saddle.

OLD CODGERS CODGITIONS

When O.C. was a boy, the land on the west side of Main St. was higher than on the east side all the way from Forest St. to Center St. As the business center of the town developed, the west side has been cut down and east side filled until the terrain has little to suggest how it formerly looked.

Going north from Brainard Pl. there was a row of large trees in the highway. The widest and most used part of the highway was west of the trees but there was a drivable road on the east side of them. That roadway and sidewalk on the east was much lower than the part to the west. For a short distance about Pearl St. the east side rose high enough to require no filling.

North of Pearl St. O.C. remembers a two-family house with one half painted one color and the other a quite contrasting color. The ownership of the building was divided between families that could not agree. The white picket fence in front was uniform throughout its whole length. Evidently someone ran out of paint or hard feelings before they got that far.

Mr. George Howe had a grocery store on Main St. near Center. All groceries were specifically referred to were occupied by homes and door yards.

There was a very large and old spreading elm tree on the east side.

South Windsor Road Topic Of Council

At a workshop session of the Town Council Wednesday night the widening of Buckland Rd. was discussed.

Mayor Abraham Glasman said the council is in agreement that the specifications of the state highway department to widen the road to 44 feet of paved road, with a total of 60 foot right of way, was too severe.

Cost estimates for work to be done on the road and to widen it to 25 feet were presented to the council by Town Manager Terry Spenkel and Town Engineer Emil Eaceli. Eaceli said the road would be widened to 44 feet of paved road, with a total of 60 foot right of way, was too severe.

Brennan Termed Blunt, Colorful

NEW YORK (AP) — Peter J. Brennan, nominated to be the next secretary of labor, first came to President Nixon's attention 2 1/2 years ago when he rallied blue-collar workers in support of Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Antiracist protests were at their height at the time and a group of hard hat workers had beaten up some peace demonstrators on Wall Street five days earlier.

Tapping his obvious frustration, Brennan helped organize a giant pro-administration rally that drew tens of thousands of construction workers to lower Manhattan under a sea of American flags.

Nixon responded by inviting Brennan and other New York labor leaders to the White House where they presented him with a hard hat. He told them he found their public support "very meaningful."

This year Brennan, a life-long Democrat, helped organize labor leaders and unions to back the President for re-election.

Asked whether his appointment was a payoff for the campaign work, Brennan told a news conference, "My part was small and I want to make it perfectly clear that there was no paying off from anybody."

Brennan, 54, is a ruddy-faced, heavy individual who speaks in a blunt, colorful manner that leaves little doubt about where he stands.

He started his life in uniform as an apprentice painter after finishing high school. After time out for Pacific submarine service during World War II, he returned to New York.

He was elected business manager of his local in 1947 and 10 years later became head of the Greater New York Building and Construction Trades Council, with about 250,000 rank-and-file members.

In that post he has come under fire from civil rights leaders who charge that slacking trades discriminate against minority workers. A question about the charge brought a quick display of temper.

"I'm all for it (minority hiring)," he shouted. "Look at the record." He contended that the criticism is "a lot of political hooey" and declared that New York had made great progress compared with other areas.

A husky figure at 205 pounds and just under 6 feet tall, the white-haired Brennan lives with his wife, Josephine, in a West Side Manhattan apartment. They have three grown children.

Brennan said he has no particular hobbies or athletic activity but that the people he works for "always make sure they keep me in shape — they keep me on the run."

Bogdanski Sworn In

HARTFORD (AP) — Judge Joseph S. Bogdanski of Meriden has been sworn in as a justice of the Connecticut Supreme Court, succeeding Justice Elmer W. Ryan, who has reached mandatory retirement age.

Bogdanski, 61, was an all-American football team end at Colgate University. He was nominated in the 1965 to the Court of Common Pleas and in 1969 to the Superior Court, both times by Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff.

Justice Ryan, who will become 70 Saturday, served on the Supreme Court for six years and 10 years on the Superior Court bench.

Both received degrees from the Yale Law School.

Irish Poised For IRA Showdown

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish government was poised for a showdown with the Irish Republican Army today after the IRA denied responsibility for the bombing in the heart of Dublin meted opposition to controversial new anti-terrorist laws.

The legislation was rushed through parliament Friday only three hours after two powerful bombs exploded in cars, killing two men and injuring more than 70 civilians and police.

Despite an immediate IRA denial of responsibility for the explosions, opposition to the legislation of Prime Minister Charles Haughey's Fianna Fail party collapsed.

The new laws were approved in the lower chamber by 70 votes to 23 — a government majority of 27. Most Fine Gael party legislators, who had led the opposition, abstained.

Lynch planned to huddle the prime minister had talks with police and army chiefs immediately after the crucial vote. Observers in Dublin believed this was the IRA's first denial of responsibility for the explosions "obviously" were the work of either British army agents or of the extreme loyalist groups in the North.

The Protestant Ulster Defense force, a paramilitary group in Northern Ireland, denied any part in the blasts.

The first bomb erupted outside Liffy Bar at Liberty Hall, headquarters of the Irish labor unions. The front of the tavern was demolished as patrons ran screaming for cover or lay bleeding in the street.

The second bomb went off outside Cleary's department store just off O'Connell Street, the IRA's main headquarters.

That explosion killed a bus driver and a ticket collector. The IRA reportedly had been given in Belfast but were not relayed in Dublin in time.

United States Wins Round On Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. diplomats at the United Nations had something to cheer about today — an unexpectedly decisive first round victory in the campaign to reduce American dues from 31 1/2 to 25 per cent of the U.N. budget.

The General Assembly's budgetary committee voted 67-20 to approve the U.S. request late Friday. A similar margin is probable when the Assembly votes — barring a major shift by 32 countries that obtained from the committee vote.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush stood up after the voting and exclaimed to those nearby: "The real winner is the United Nations."

It was a contrast to the scene 13 months ago when Bush left in total dejection after losing a campaign to save Nationalist China's seat.

The United States has made a major effort to have its dues cut, and a stated agreement between Congress and the United Nations. Under the U.N. charter, the world organization fixes dues of members, but Congress had ordered that the U.S. share of membership be set at 25 per cent starting with 1974.

On this year's U.N. budget of $203 million, the reduction would have trimmed about $15 million from the U.S. share of $64 million.

Bush and U.S. Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., the U.S. delegation member who led the campaign in the budgetary committee, had argued it was not the amount involved so much as the principle: It was a disproportionate share of the total. The highest contribution of any country was the Soviet Union's 17.4 percent on its $35 million share.

Byrne questioned the 12 jurors and 6 alternates about the jury's impartiality before denying the mistrial.

Pentagon Papers Trial Delayed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The defense in the Pentagon Papers case, arguing that the prosecution pulled a last-minute switch in the evidence it plans to present, has had the trial put off another week.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne said Friday the trial would begin Dec. 12 and the defense contentions would be heard in the interim. He had said earlier he hoped to start the trial next week.

Byrne ruled that the jury picked four months ago would remain intact. The defense had moved for a mistrial and a new jury on grounds that pretrial publicity had destroyed the jury's objectivity.

The alleged evidence-switching involved more than 600 pages of the secret Defense Department study of the Vietnam war — documents which defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo are accused of leaking to the news media.

Prosecutors submitted a list last summer of the 610 pages they intended to use as evidence.

Defense attorney Charles Nesson said Friday that the government has just submitted a new list on which more than two-thirds of the pages have been changed.

"That means that two-thirds of the government case is based on pages we have not done preparation on and that two-thirds of the preparation we have done is wasted," Nesson said.

Byrne questioned the 12 jurors and 6 alternates about the jury's impartiality before denying the mistrial.

Democrats Face Task Of Building New Image

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats must erase their image as "inefficient, confused and angry partisans" if they are to win back the presidency in 1976, says the party's chairman Jean Eastwood.

Mrs. Westwood, whose resignation has been called for by a number of powerful Democrats around the country, said in the last two presidential elections "the American people perceived a party in disarray: one segment feeling shut out, and various segments quarreling."

"The Republicans, of course, took full advantage of our troubles both times, and made every effort to separate our candidate from one section or another of our normal constituency," Mrs. Westwood said. Her remarks were contained in a formal report which she was required to submit to the 303-member Democratic National Committee before it meets here Dec. 9.

Mrs. Westwood, chosen personally as chairman last July by unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern, made no direct mention in the report of the controversy surrounding her own future at party headquarters.

Mrs. Westwood, of West Jordan, Utah, noted that Democrats have made gains in the Senate, governorships and state legislatures while maintaining control of the House of Representatives despite President Nixon's two victories in 1968 and 1972.

"So many parties that it is ridiculous to say that we cannot do it nationally. Of course we can."

"But we must erase the image which we allowed to grow, and which the Republicans fostered, of a Democratic party made up of squabbling, inefficient, confused and angry partisans," she said.

Both the "experienced professional and the idealistic innovator" among Democrats must be recommended by the DNC of several new programs aimed at bulging future Democratic candidates and strengthening the DNC itself.

Another portion recommended a Campaign Security Team "to protect Democratic candidates against the forger, wiretapping, burglary and acts of disrupting sabotage." This was an obvious reference to the alleged burglary and bugging of DNC headquarters last spring by operatives of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Santa Returns Cop's Favor

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I couldn't go home and face my kids if I gave Santa Claus a ticket," patrolman V.T. Campbell said.

Santa, in the person of Mose Hannon, was in a bit of trouble Friday when his auto collided with another car while rushing to a Christmas party where he was to be guest of honor.

But the spirit of Christmas prevailed and Campbell decided not to ticket either driver.

A reward Santa gave Campbell a lollipop.
