Apollo 17: 'Conclusion Of the Beginning'

Such is human nature that when the voyage of Apollo 17 passes into history, even those who have been most critical of the space program may experience a feeling of nostalgia—and perhaps even pride—about having lived through one of the most exciting and significant eras in human history.

Appropriately, the last manned American mission into deep space of possibly decades to come will be both the most spectacular and the most scientifically rewarding flight of the entire Apollo series.

Among the "first of the last" will be the first nighttime launching, scheduled for 9:53 p.m. Wednesday. If conditions are clear, the tail of fire of the mighty Saturn V rocket will be seen by millions within a 500-mile radius.

The two members of the Apollo 17 crew who will land on the moon on Dec. 11—moon-voage veteran Eugene A. Cernan, commanding, and geologist Harrison H. Schmitt—will stay for a record of 75 hours and make three outside excursions of seven hours each. The third member, Ronald E. Evans, will remain in moon orbit in the Command Module.

Schmitt, incidentally, will be the first scientist-astronaut to have participated in a space flight.

Also to be recorded in the log of Apollo 17 will be some 26 experiments and investigative tasks the astronauts will conduct, nine of which, in this last-chance endeavor, will involve scientific instruments never flown before. Like their predecessors, the astronauts will probe into the moon's history, seeking more clues as to its origin and that of the universe itself.

Another 200 pounds of lunar rocks and soil will be brought back to earth. These, along with an accumulating mass of data from instruments left on the moon, will keep scientists busy for years and help to bridge the gap that is foreseen between Apollo 17 and man's next venture to the moon or another planet.

It is difficult to believe that it all began a short 15 years ago, on Oct. 4, 1957, when the first Sputnik shocked the world into the realization that a new age had dawned and that a "new ocean," as John F. Kennedy later described it, beckoned mankind.

Though it is history, it is difficult to believe that the successful landing of men on the moon and their safe return to earth was accomplished by Apollo 11 on July 20, 1969, a little more than nine years after President Kennedy enunciated the goal.

It is difficult to believe that when Apollo 17 splashes down in the Pacific on Dec. 19, this brief era will have ended.

But it will not be the end. As Eugene Cernan said recently, "It's just the conclusion of the beginning."

Skylab, the manned earth-orbiting laboratory, lies ahead, as does the development of reusable shuttle rockets and the first joint U.S.-Soviet venture. An American space probe continues to wing toward Jupiter and beyond. Mariner 9, still in orbit around Mars, has photographed that planet's entire surface. An instrument landing on Mars, designed to seek evidence of life, is scheduled for 1976.

Aware that he will be the last Apollo astronaut to leave the moon, Cernan reflected on what he would do and think at that moment.

"I'll probably stand there and look back at the earth. I will contemplate the fantastic series of events that brought man to the moon. And I'll look at the planets and the stars, and I'll dream of man one day going there, too."

The Apollo saga will be ended. But not the dream.

1974 Set For New Needy Aged Setup

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
In the developing welfare reform which affects future aid to nearly five million needy aged, blind and disabled, there is more than just the hope of greater efficiency.

First off, as indicated in an earlier report, the minimum assistance payments set under the program to be federalized by Jan. 1, 1974, will be high enough ($130 a person and $105 a couple per month) to draw in more people than now get such assistance.

Half of the 50 states presently apply lower payment standards for the needy aged, blind and disabled than the coming federal minimums. From 1974 on, many of these states will do better, though some still may remain below the poverty line.

The prospective administrators of the new program, the Social Security Administration have, furthermore, a reputation for trying diligently to ferret out people entitled to any new kind of level of benefit.

As President Nixon reminded in approving reform of welfare's adult categories, under present state-county administration many of the affected aid recipients are subjected to inequities and red tape (others would add indignities) which federal control is intended to eliminate.

The states vary widely not only in benefit levels but in eligibility rules. These differences will be wiped out by the federal system guaranteeing a flat sum per month.

Some places, for instance, persons owning their homes could not get adult aid without granting the state a lien on the property. The effect was to give the state title to the home upon his death of a beneficiary who had granted such a lien. People who wanted their children to inherit their homes thus were often deterred from seeking needed assistance.

In other cases, state laws have what are called "relative responsibility" provisions. They stipulate that needy aged, blind or disabled can't get help where a reputation for trying diligently to ferret out people entitled to any new kind of level of benefit.

As President Nixon reminded in approving reform of welfare's adult categories, under present state-county administration many of the affected aid recipients are subjected to inequities and red tape way under which government told people how to spend their money.

The flat federal minimum due to take effect in 1974 will end all this. There is confidence in some government circles, too, that once the program is established and working, Congress will by stages lift the minimum higher to take more and more needy Americans above the poverty line.

For all its proved capacities, the Social Security Administration has its work cut out for it in getting ready for the take-over. The expected new 15,000 SSA payrollers will have to be trained in new techniques and fairly speedy recruitment (with many probably drawn from state welfare agencies).

That Jan. 1, 1974, deadline is a rigid one. From that moment on, the adult needy will be blaming Washington for the difficulties and troubles on their children had been "absent" by being forced to witness those activities. Call the cops.

Current Quote
"Time and the entire progressive mankind of the world support us. They do not support treacherous people. All the difficulties and troubles on the path to ending the war are being created by the U.S. side."
— Nam Dan, North Vietnam's official newspaper, accusing the United States of blocking settlement of the war.

'Thanks, Big Mouth'

WASHINGTON — "Thanks a lot, Big Mouth," said the voice over the telephone from a Maryland suburb. "That column of yours on Thanksgiving really started something. When are you coming out for cancer?"

The voice, which used to be friendly, was referring to a piece in which, tongue-in-cheek, I suggested that as an official holiday Thanksgiving might be unconstitutional because its purpose is to permit working stiffs time to give thanks to God. The First Amendment and all that.

Well, by coincidence, School Supt. Carl W. Hassel of nearby Prince Georges County a few days later warned all school principals that no sacred Christmas music, Nativity plays or any other activities that "promote or give approval to any particular religion" may be used in the county's public schools during the Christmas season. Sure enough, Hassel said "religious celebrations" violated the First Amendment and would therefore not be acceptable.

Hassel has a case. The Warren Supreme Court banned all "religious activities" in public schools in 1963, and you can't get away from the fact that Christmas is — or at least originally was intended to be — a religious holiday celebrating the birth of Jesus Christ.

For all its proved capacities, the Social Security Administration has its work cut out for it in getting ready for the take-over. The expected new 15,000 SSA payrollers will have to be trained in new techniques and fairly speedy recruitment (with many probably drawn from state welfare agencies).

The Pentagon Odd Couple

WASHINGTON — The ambiguity behind President Nixon's selection of Elliot Richardson as his new secretary of defense is revealed by his simultaneous choice of a conservative Texas oil man as deputy secretary to balance him off.

There is no sign that liberal Republican Richardson played any significant role in picking William Clements, a 56-year-old oil-drilling company president from Dallas with no previous public service but intimate contacts with the Texas Republican establishment. The message to hard-liners on Capitol Hill is unmistakable: don't worry too much about Richardson and his cronies.

Even those conservative White House aides who grumbled about Richardson's appointment as caused singular disquiet in the defense community — on the armed services committees of Congress, among middle-level national security officials in the White House, in the Pentagon itself.

It will take aggressive pushing to avoid crippling cuts in the Senate, where defense of the incumbent Republican Senators eliminated four sure national security votes. With the defeat of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the Senate Armed Services Committee looms as an obstacle to authorizing new weapons systems for the first time since before World War II.

One reason the hard-liners suspect Richardson's real to battle for those appropriations is his staff, including systems analysts and ideological liberals. One of his oldest and closest aides is Jonathan Moore, a former Foreign Service officer who took the dovish line on Vietnam during Richardson's job as under secretary of state.

Oddly, administration officials who privately believe Laird lagged in fighting Pentagon waste are not that much optimistic about improvement from Richardson. Even his admirers at the White House concede he did not truly interfere with the entrenched bureaucracy. HEW taste-pickings that his brass-hat Pentagon counterparts.

There is, then, an ambivalence about the new secretary of defense. Although intelligent, efficient and resourceful, he is not quite the uncompromising champion of national defense usually found in that post and, in consequence, is being saddled with a seemingly unmatched deputy.

Vernon Democrats Push Public Hearing On Building Ban

Even though they carry less weight, the four Democrats on the 12-member Town Council managed to rock the boat last night in a push to have a proposed plan to declare a moratorium on commercial building along Rts. 83 and 30 go to a public hearing before the council takes action on it.

Following a lengthy discussion, the hearing was set for Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Vernon Center Middle School.

The Democratic members of the council and James Roche, who is Democratic town chairman, objected to the fact that the item concerning the moratorium was not listed on last night's council agenda.

Mayor Frank McCoy explained that he did not know before the average property owner a first class real deal. Why should they be on a new board to be elected in 1973 to such an offensive program? That new board would have plenty of time to study the zoning ordinance in compliance with state statutes.

If additional tax revenues are needed, why can't Manager Weiss and the Board of Directors get after many land owners, mercantile establishments and certain corporations to pay their fair share like the rest of us are expected to pay? For instance, Manager Weiss has gone all out to promote the purchase of two large tracts of land by the town.

The combined value of these tracts is less than $25,000. Yet, the owners would receive over $1 million should the deal be consummated.

At a time when state officials from Manchester have urged that a 3 or 4 mill decrease be put into effect, it seems entirely out of order for Manager Weiss or any director to promote the purchase of two large tracts of land by the town.

The Planning Commission, in a letter to the mayor, asked that the matter of declaring a moratorium on building along the two routes be discussed by the council, and also asked the mayor to appoint a task force to study the matter with a suggested 100-day time limit. In light of this request, the mayor should not lower their taxes. After all, that is supposed to be the real purpose of federal revenue sharing.

Richardson as perhaps the administration's best governmental manager, asked him to move from HEW. He accepted Nov. 20.

Though he lacks experience in handling Congress over the last four years, considering how cool the Nixon-Laird relationship has grown, Richardson is also likely to have easier access to the Oval Office.

Even those conservative White House aides who grumbled about Richardson's appointment as caused singular disquiet in the defense community — on the armed services committees of Congress, among middle-level national security officials in the White House, in the Pentagon itself.

Rev-Share Checks Out This Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal revenue-sharing checks go into the mail this week and the Treasury Department advises cities and states not to be surprised if they get less than expected.

Charis E. Walker, deputy Treasury secretary, said Monday that the complex formula under which state and local government allotments are figured will not be updated until early next year.

The local governments, Walker said, should be patient until the department publishes the full information on which the checks were based.

Some 39,000 governmental jurisdictions should receive federal payments under the revenue-sharing plan, approved by Congress and President Nixon this year.

The first checks will total about $2.7 billion. The present authorization is for a $30-billion program over five years.

The money goes to state and local governments on a virtual once-over basis. Ed Fox, director of the department's Office of Revenue Sharing, said there will be "a lot of emphasis on reducing property taxes." He said many jurisdictions are expanding to put the money into planning and improving their courts.

The Treasury Department says it will make adjustments in payments where necessary once new statistics are compiled early next year.

Center Congregational Church, 11 Center St., and the Connecticut Bank & Trust Co., 439 Main St., have been designated to receive gifts for mental patients during the first two weeks of this month.

The Hartford Regional office of the Mental Health Association of Connecticut will be coordinating the collection of gifts for hospitalized mental patients to those without families or friends are not forgotten during the holiday season.

In addition to supplying gifts for area patients confined to Norwich and Connecticut Valley Hospitals, the Association has been asked to help brighten the holidays for patients at Blue Hills Hospital, the alcoholic rehabilitation program of the Compass Club, and the Security Treatment Center at Meriden.

Because the majority of patients at these facilities are male, gifts for men are particularly sought. These gifts need not be elaborate or expensive, and since many patients have little money and few personal possessions, practical gifts are most desirable. Among the items suggested are slippers, woolen gloves, socks, underwear and shirts. All articles should be new, and if gift wrapped, labeled as to size.

Further information about this program may be obtained by calling the Mental Health Association at 233-5144.

Feast Of Lights Ends On Friday

Hanukkah, the Jewish Feast of Lights, began last Thursday night and will continue through this Friday.

Small candles are lit in Jewish homes each evening of the Festival beginning with one candle on the first evening and increasing the number of candles by one each successive evening. In the Synagogue psalms of Thanksgiving are said each day during the services in gratitude for the "Miracle" which took place in Judea in the Year 167 B.C.

The "Miracle" which Hanukkah commemorates was the victory which little Judea had attained in its struggle with the mighty power of the Greek Empire. The Greeks who had conquered Palestine in the third century B.C. attempted also to Hellenize the country by suppressing Judaism and by imposing the Greek religious cult upon the people. They built pagan shrines and altars all over the country and placed a statue of Zeus in the temple in Jerusalem. At the beginning of the second century B.C. the Greek policies had become intolerable and the people under the leadership of the High Priest Mattathias and his five sons rebelled and started a guerrilla war against the Greek oppressors. The war lasted several years and in the Year 167 the Jews expelled the invaders, removed the pagan altar from the Temple, re-kindled the Temple lamp and re-dedicated the temple to the Jewish people. Subsequent generations commemorated this event with an eight day festival which they named Hanukkah, meaning dedication. Throughout the ages really don't have much against blue jeans. It's just that I like dresses better. And does anyone remember how nice boys looked in jackets and ties?

My kids say that I just don't understand. They say that blue jeans offer all the variety they need. There are straight leg and flares, hip-bumpers and overalls, fancy studded styles and plain untrimmed styles. And according to the kids, the difference between NEW jeans (those still stiff from the store) and OLD jeans (that are soft and faded) is phenomenal.

"Getting into your old worn jeans is like climbing into a cloud," said my son in a rare poetic mood.

The kids showed me an article about a businessman who made a million dollars by introducing second-hand blue jeans into the European Market. Can you imagine? Apparently to connoisseurs, blue jeans are like antiques. They develop a soft pleasant patina and increase in value with age.

The other day I caught my daughter trying to speed up the aging process. She took a brand new pair of blue jeans and ran them through the washing machine four times, the fourth time with a cup of bleach in the water.

"That's terrible," I cried when I discovered what she'd done. "Why you've just washed a good month of hard wear right down the drain!"

And speaking of washing clothes, the whole business has become a drag for me. When I open the laundry hamper there are no surprises, just blue jeans, blue jeans, blue jeans. At least the girls' jeans have some individuality. Kate has embroidered hearts and flowers on her jeans. Sara covers the holes with peace symbols. The boys' jeans, however, are without any distinguishing features, except that Tom's have longer legs.

I suppose I should stop complaining and look at the positive side of things. Blue jeans are cheap. They don't show the dirt. They never need ironing. They've actually made life easier for me.

It's hard to explain my reluctance to accept them. I

HEW Threatens Cut In Welfare Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Claiming there's a mistake on one of every four welfare checks, the government is threatening to withhold up to $699 million in federal relief funds next year unless states weed out ineligible and overpaid recipients.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced it will begin cutting welfare matching grants in January.

Each state's loss will be equal to welfare-spending errors paid by mandatory, state-run spot checks.

The immediate action, HEW officials said, is to eliminate an estimated 700,000 persons illegally receiving Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC) and another 150,000 illegals receiving aid for the aged, blind and disabled.

The nationwide welfare-mispayment rate is 4.3 per cent, HEW said, with Nebraska high at 9.8 per cent and North Dakota low at 1.2 per cent.

California and New York each stand to lose more than $90 million in federal matching funds next year, the last half of fiscal 1973 and the first half of 1974.

John D. Twinn, administrator of HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service, said the cutsback will be based on quality-control investigations first instituted in 1964 and refined in 1970.

The regulations require states to check on a specific number of welfare cases semi-annually to make sure there are no ineligible recipients, overpayments or underpayments.

The first complete audit, covering 13 per cent of the welfare rolls last March, disclosed errors in about 20 per cent of payments, he said.

Twinn said 6.8 per cent of the 10.3 million persons receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children and 4.9 per

Boston Police Seek Slayers Of Four Women

BOSTON (AP) — The deaths of four young women and the disappearance of another in the Boston area have prompted police comparisons with the Boston Strangler murders of 10 years ago.

But "there's nothing to indicate these cases are all related," Boston Det. Lt. Edward F. Sherry Tuesday said.

Capt. John V. Silk of Lynn police schooled the investigators' views, saying, "So far we haven't come up with anything — except that three of them were to the same school."

Sherry said a number of girls in Boston have been accosted recently while hitchhiking — a threat believed common in at least some of the five cases. They have talked to police, but the descriptions of their assailants were different in each case, he said.

However, police departments in Lynn, Brockton and North Andover, N.H., are keeping in close touch with Boston as they investigate the deaths of women in their areas in recent months.

It was known that Brockton, Cambridge and State Police detectives met in Brockton Monday morning, though no solid leads were reported from their discussions.

All five girls were between 18 and 22, all residents of Boston or Cambridge, all white, all middle class and all attractive. Autopsies indicated that three of them were strangled and the fourth was strangled and stabbed. Rape was established in two cases, but the two other bodies were not found immediately after death, and the time lag complicated autopsy findings.

Sherry said "the most recent case of a string of murders in the Boston area) was 10 years ago, and the so-called Boston Strangler case."

Those 18 murders have never been solved, although Albert DeSalvo has claimed responsibility for them. He is serving

McKinney To Renew Effort For Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Stewart B. McKinney, R-Conn., who got all but one of the votes he needed during the last Congressional session, says he will try again to win passage of legislation establishing regional spinal cord injury treatment centers.

His bill during the last session was an amendment to the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, passed by Congress but vetoed by President Nixon as inflationary.

"I have been assured by the White House that the President's veto wasn't specifically directed at the spinal cord section but at the total bill which he felt was inflationary," McKinney says, adding he's "fairly confident" the spinal cord bill will pass during the next session.

"We cannot allow some 20,000 capable human beings to continue to vegetate," he says, "partly as a result of personal contact with an almost completely paralyzed young man who worked for McKinney's 1970 volunteer election staff."

And No Tip Penthouse Ransacked

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP) — Taxicab driver Robert E. Bailey of Fort Madison may have to wait some time before his passenger pays him for an 85-mile trip.

The passenger was an escapee from the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison.

Authorities said Jerry Joe Everett, 30, serving a 10-year term on two charges of breaking and entering, was discovered missing from a penitentiary dormitory about 6 p. m. Sunday.

They said Everett got into Bailey's cab in Fort Madison and said he wanted to go to Ottumwa, 85 miles away. He was arrested by local police there shortly after the cab arrived at 8:20 p. m.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — After residents were evacuated from the Rialto Center, scene of a penthouse fire last week, the building was ransacked, police reported Monday. A security guard has been arrested and booked with theft.

Three women jumped eight stories to their deaths during the fire last Wednesday, and a fourth person died in the blaze. Two others who jumped remain in critical condition.

Cause of the blaze still is undetermined.

Police said Jimmy Ray Gray, 27, of New Orleans, a security guard hired to protect the building against robberies, was arrested.

Authorities reported today he still is in serious condition, suffering from smoke inhalation and second degree burns. He had been taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Many Power Lines Down For Hours

(Continued from Page 1) At about 1:30 a.m. today, and power was provided by emergency generators until 5 a.m. when service was restored.

Electrical problems at the Memorial Hospital after a long illness. She was a life-long resident of Manchester.

At Crestfield Convalescent Home on Vernon St., power was disrupted twice early this morning. Two generators provided emergency power until regular service was restored.

Manchester fuel oil companies went out on several calls to homes reporting oil burner malfunctions. There were apparently no major problems with heating systems.

Don Willis Garage at 18 Main St., Manchester, reported a power outage during the night. The garage was continuing normal service operations, however.

Local employees reported few problems. Several workers were slightly late for work this morning.

Lydia Inc. of 815 Parker St. said they suffered three or four power outages during the night. No damage resulted, and it was business as usual later this morning.

The Caryle Johnson Machine Co., 32 Main St., was closed today due to lack of power. All employees were sent home.

Town public schools closed because of power outages and reports of live wires at several system buildings. Local parochial junior high and elementary schools were also closed.

Firemen said they found Mrs. Kupec unconscious in the living room. They rescued four children from the second floor, one by ladder and three down the stairs.

The three other Kupec children were not home. Firemen said one of the children, weeping, called a telephone operator and reported the fire. The children ranged in age from 3 to 21.

The fire began about 10:45 p.m. Monday and Mrs. Kupec died at Bridgeport Hospital from burns at 12:15 a.m. today.

When the fire began, her husband was working nearby at Sikorsky Aircraft.

Don Wheeler, spokesman for the Connecticut Light and Power Co. Enfield office, reported that there was a major outage, in both primary and secondary lines, throughout the area serviced by that office.

Weight of ice on the wires, he said, "brought down a raft of them."

Tolland County, he said, was in really bad shape. In the entire Enfield office area, Wheeler said, 18,000-20,000 customers were without power; of this number, 7,000-10,000 are in Manchester.

Marathon Railroad Strike Talks Asked

NEW YORK (AP) - Deputy Mayor Edward K. Hamilton has called for immediate round-the-clock negotiations to end the six-day-old strike by nonoperating employees of the Long Island Rail Road.

Publicly shy negotiators moved the talks Monday at the International Hotel at Kennedy Airport to an undisclosed location. A spokesman for the union coalition said there still was no progress to report.

Wages and pensions are the main issues. The employees rejected an offer for six per cent raises in each year of a two-year contract. A union demand for a 36 per cent wage hike was recently reduced to 28 per cent.

Operating employees - conductors and trainmen, who recently won a 3.5 per cent raise over the course of a three-year contract - are honoring the strike.

Hamilton also repeated his hope that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, due back today from a governors conference in Phoenix, would "make himself available" if needed. The commuter line is owned by the state.

The walkout has handicapped 90,000 daily commuters from Long Island but has not created the highway turmoil that many had feared.

"We passed the test," city Transportation Administrator Constantine Sidamon-Eristoff said Monday after commuters made it to work again without serious trouble by staggering traveling hours and riding in car pools or leaving autos outside the city and taking buses and subways.

In addition to the commuters, the line normally carries a daily load of 80,000 one-way passengers.

The strike also has curtailed freight service, which the railroad claims returned $10.5 million, or about 10 per cent, of its total revenue last year.

The 12 nonoperating unions represent 5,000 carmen, teamsters, clerks, electrical workers and others whose contract with the railroad expired Jan. 1.

Woman Dies From Burns

STAFFORD (AP) - Mrs. Andrew Kupec Jr., a 43-year-old mother of seven, died early today after being found in a burning chair in her home.

Firemen said they found Mrs. Kupec unconscious in the living room. They rescued four children from the second floor, one by ladder and three down the stairs.

The three other Kupec children were not home. Firemen said one of the children, weeping, called a telephone operator and reported the fire. The children ranged in age from 3 to 21.

Columbia New Assessments Bring complaints

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
Tel. 228-9284
Many landowners in town are up in arms over the new assessments recently set on property and dwellings as a result of the revaluation by J. M. Clemishaw Co., of Ohio. Last week's hearings were conducted in the town hall to answer questions on the new assessments and, according to Richard Kristoff, chairman of the Board of Assessors, about 300 persons appeared to complain.

Some, he said, said their assessments doubled while other said it was tripled. Kristoff said a value was placed on a "raw lot," and once the septic system was added, there was an automatic $1,000 increase. If a well was added there was another automatic $1,000 increase.

He said the figure was arrived at by determining an average cost. Therefore, regardless of what a well or septic system may have cost the homeowner, the price of each is assessed at $1,000. The representatives from Clemishaw Co. can raise or lower an assessment when they review the complaint.

Many of the persons attending the hearings were lakefront property owners. Some, it is rumored, are so upset they have said they wish to ask the selectmen to call a special town meeting to discuss the matter.

Kristoff said that until such time as the grand list is completed and the Board of Education, plus estimated income is determined, there is no way to know what the mill rate will be.

Kristoff did say he felt the rate will go down by "a considerable amount," as did First Selectman Howard Bates.

Bates said if anyone does not receive satisfaction from the hearings he then has the privilege of going to the Board of Tax Review in February.

Kristoff said he is in the assessor's office every night during the week and will be glad to answer any questions concerning the assessments.

Street Lights
Selectmen have agreed to install street lights around Yeomans Hall since people attending night meetings have complained of the lack of lights surrounding the hall and the parking area.

Howard Bates, first selectman, said five lights will be installed, and the only cost to the town will be for the ditch which will contain the lighting.

Restaurant Manager Praised For Saving Life Of Two-Year-Old

DANBURY (AP) — A restaurant manager was praised Monday for saving a 2-year-old boy from drowning in a pond behind the eating place.

Police Chief James Tallon said George Holick rushed outside Friday when the boy's 4-year-old brother called for help.

Holick jumped into the pond where little Jonathan Hollister was floating face down about 15 feet from the shore and pulled him to safety. Tallon said the boy was conscious but had taken in lots of water, and Holick patted him on the back to clear his lungs until an ambulance arrived.

"It was the quick response and the quick thinking on the part of George Holick that saved the life of the little boy," the chief said.

Jonathan was released from Danbury Hospital on Sunday to return home.

Gambling Raids Net 13

CLAREMONT, N.H. (AP) — Thirteen persons from the Connecticut River Valley, including a member of the Claremont School Board, were arraigned Monday on various gambling charges following weekend raids here and Lebanon and White River Junction and Windsor, Vt.

All 13 pleaded innocent and a hearing was set for Dec. 20. Among those arrested was Mabel Cutting, a school board member, charged with printing and sale of lottery tickets.

Her lawyer asked District Court Judge Albert Leaby Jr. that the printing charge be dismissed because it isn't legal to print tickets. Leaby took the motion under advisement.

Authorities said organized crime may be linked to the gambling operations netting nearly $500,000 a year.

Col. Paul Doyon, head of the state police, said more arrests were expected from investigations being carried out in other parts of the state.

Doyon said the arrests of 34 persons climaxed investigations by his men, Vermont state police, and local police in Hanover, Claremont and Lebanon.

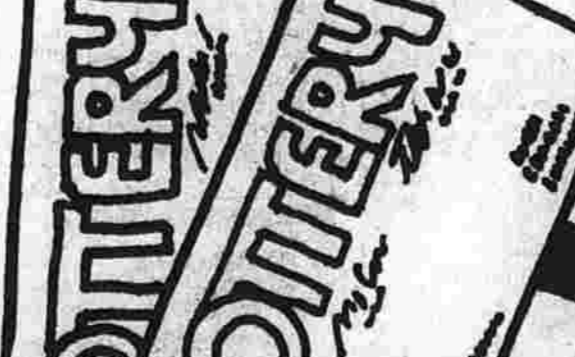

Seventeen were arrested in New Hampshire and a like number in Vermont.

An undisclosed amount of cash and gambling paraphernalia were confiscated. These arrested in Vermont were to be arraigned in White River Junction, the remainder in Lebanon.

Consumer Deputy Doesn't Buy

SEATTLE (AP) — Andrea Mangold has filled her shopping cart during the past two months in 13 stores where she's paid for hardly a thing.

Instead, two of the stores may have to pay fines for selling unsafe toys discovered on the shelves by Mrs. Mangold. A mother of three, she is an unpaid consumer deputy under a pilot program for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.

Under the experiment, consumer volunteers in San Francisco, Chicago, Atlanta, Philadelphia and Seattle inspect stores to see if they're carrying any of some 800 toys banned as unsafe.

The Seattle office of the FDA said that, since the project was started Aug. 15, consumer deputies have checked 6,000 children's toys in 78 stores. One or more types of banned articles were found in 40 per cent of the stores, the FDA reported.

In a suburban discount house Sunday, Mrs. Mangold took less than an hour to fill her cart with toys she said could cause an infant to choke to death, seriously injure a baby's mouth or pinch and puncture a child's skin.

"Some of the managers will get down on their hands and knees checking toys with me," she said.

But that wasn't quite the case with two store managers who she said refused to remove the prohibited playthings. They will be visited by FDA inspectors and warned that continued sales of the offending items will be subject to action under the Hazardous Substances Act. Mrs. Mangold said consumer deputies don't stop with the list of toys known to be dangerous. "I continually find toys that aren't on the list but that I find potentially dangerous to a child," she said.

"I pull them off the shelves and show them to the manager. Some take them off, others won't. I pay for a toy like that and turn it over to the FDA for testing."

She said she also finds that some banned toys have been disguised by the manufacturer or distributor by pasting a new identification number over the number on the FDA blacklist.

Mrs. Mangold held up a rubber squeaker doll to illustrate the point. "See," she said, "old number and new number — and that squeaker plug is still there for a baby to get at and choke on. It's still the same old dangerous toy."

The store manager later took the doll off his shelves. Mrs. Mangold says she frequently attracts quite a crowd, since other shoppers find out her mission.

"People really appreciate what we're doing," she said. "They tell me about toys which have hurt their children, and I make a report."

"And they ask me what to look for, too. Lots of people without children just aren't aware."

Quiz for Connecticut drivers:

What do you know about Connecticut's new "No-Fault" Auto Insurance Law?

The new law goes into effect January 1, 1973, with one of the best packages of "no-fault" benefits in the nation. What do you know about the law and how it will benefit you?

True	False	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	You still have the right to sue if there is death, serious injury, or if your medical expenses exceed $400.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	If you can't work because of auto accident injuries, you will be paid for your lost wages and substitute household services.
True	False	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	By January 1, 1973, the owner of every private passenger car operated in Connecticut must have basic no-fault insurance coverage.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	Required coverages do not apply to motorcycles and commercial vehicles.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	"No-Fault" means: (1) you don't have to prove who is at fault in a car accident before benefits are paid, (2) benefits are paid directly to you by your own insurance company.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	You'll get fast payment of benefits ... usually within 15 working days after your insurance company receives proof of loss.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	An insured owner and all non-car owning members of his family will be eligible for no-fault benefits if involved in a traffic accident as a motorist or pedestrian.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	The no-fault coverage will automatically be included in your policy.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	After January 1, the "uninsured driver" could be fined and sentenced to jail.
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	Insurance rates will be reduced under the new no-fault law.

Every statement is true. The credit for Connecticut's new no-fault law belongs to many. Concerned legislators and consumer groups, auto clubs, the State Labor Council, the news media and Connecticut's insurance companies all worked to create a just and equitable no-fault system.

- Some helpful facts: This is the auto insurance coverage you must have by January 1.
- $5,000 no-fault benefits for each eligible injured person.
 - Liability protection of $20,000 for any one person, $40,000 for any one accident, $5,000 property damage.
 - Uninsured motorist protection of $20,000 for any one person, $40,000 for any one accident.

USC Unanimous Pick in AP Poll

By The Associated Press
Mighty Southern California, the only unbeaten team in the nation, was a unanimous No. 1 choice today in the final Associated Press college football poll for the regular season.

The Trojans, who trounced Notre Dame 45-23 to finish 11-0, have only a Rose Bowl date with third-ranked Ohio State standing between them and their third national championship in 11 years. The final poll will be taken after the New Year's Day bowl games.

received all 50 first-place votes and a perfect 1,000 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The stunning fourth-period loss to Auburn dropped previously unbeaten Alabama from second to fourth with 606 points.

Cheney Hoopsters Boast Potential

By Dean Yost
"We have the shooters and the rebounders this season," noted John Klein, varsity basketball coach at Cheney Tech. The Beavers opened their season last Saturday night in a 76-71 loss to St. Thomas Seminary.

The Silk Towners lost four players from last year's 9-16 squad. They were Dave Moeck, Mike Landry, Jim Hartford with good size and a keen eye for the hoop.

Starting for the Green and White clad Beavers will be Landry and Tomko at the guard positions with Beauille jumping at center. Forwards are Maynard and Kuzina.

Also joining Tomko, Maynard and Landry are veterans Tom LeCourt, Dave Kuzina, Jeff Stetz, Dan Welpy, Mark Mainville, and Marc Beauille. Newcomers include John Demers, director of athletics at East Catholic High, reports he has recommended John LaFontana, his first assistant, to be named head football coach.

Knight Recalls Glory Days

Magical was the way the late colleague Pat Boudic dubbed Bobby Knight on the basketball court and the name was most fitting for this man. He was, without question, the most exciting basketball player to perform his talents with a local team in the past 30 years.

"I'll never forget Manchester," the still trim whiz recalled. "The fans out there were the greatest of anywhere in the country. I can recall when we had a practice on a Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning, several hundred fans would be out watching, and cheering, just like in a game."

"I love basketball but I think one of this will be enough. I work a lot with the players but it's not like playing. I can still move pretty good."

Cliff Demers, director of athletics at East Catholic High, reports he has recommended John LaFontana, his first assistant, to be named head football coach.

Anthony Davis was just the name of another football player, to most football fans outside of the Far West, but after last Saturday's six-touchdown scoring spree against Notre Dame, everyone is aware of this man's greatness as a football player.

Gabriel's Third-Down Magic, Prothro's Trickery Works

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roman Gabriel's third-down magic, aided by some of Coach Tommy Prothro's trickery, was just too much for the San Francisco 49ers to handle. "We would hold them for two downs, and on the third they'd get it," 49ers middle linebacker Ed Beard said.

That told the story of the Los Angeles Rams' 28-16 victory over San Francisco Monday night that made the Atlanta Falcons, 7-5, the new leaders in the National Football League's widest race.

The 49ers fell from first in the National Conference West standings and into a second place tie with the Rams at 6-1. Things are sure to be shaken up again Sunday, when the Falcons meet the 49ers here and the Rams go to St. Louis to play the Cardinals on the next to-last weekend of the season.

"I can't see us letting down the last two games," said Gabriel, who helped the Rams snap a three-game losing streak by throwing a pair of touchdown passes on third down plays.

The Rams made first downs on seven of 16 third-down situations. Four of the times they missed, David Ray followed with field goals, ranging from 12 to 43 yards. Gabriel scrambled away from 49ers' rushers in the second period to fire a 26-yard touchdown pass on third-and-13 to tight end Bob Klein, sending the Rams ahead 10-9.

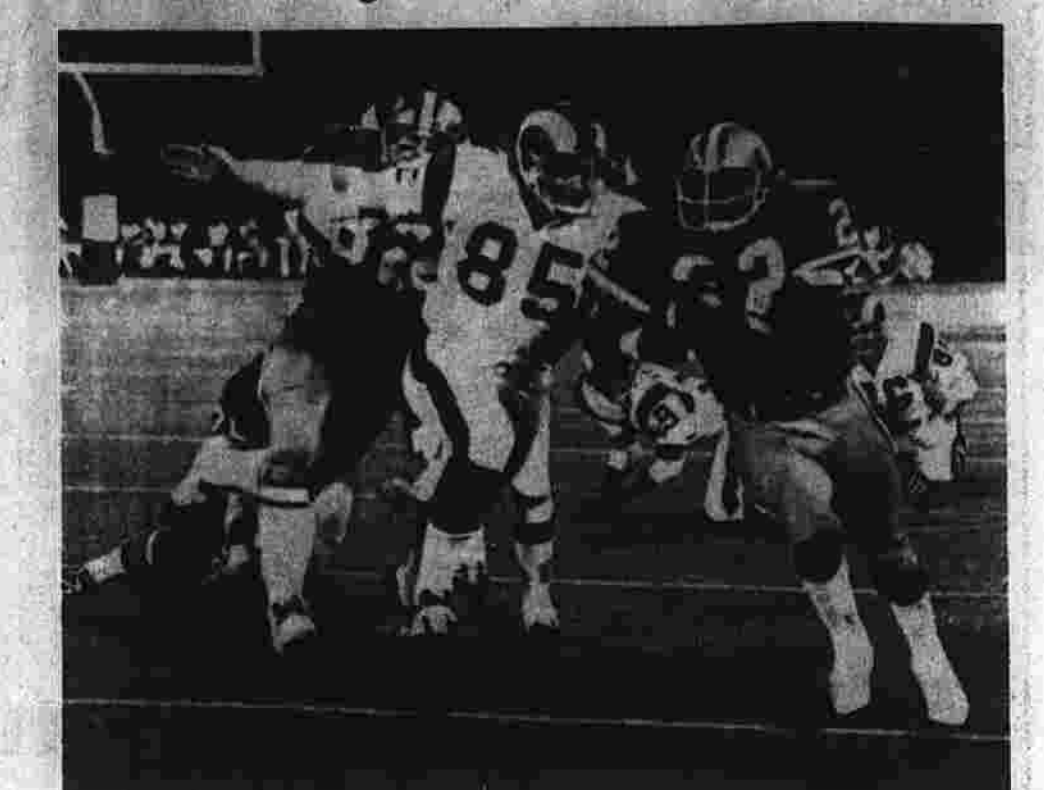

He sent running back Willie Ellison downfield on a third-and-five play in the third quarter that resulted in a 39-yard scoring play and a 29-9 Rams' lead.

The Los Angeles quarterback wasn't involved in his team's first third-down play of the game. Prothro called for "formation zero."

"I first saw that play in 1946 in a Memphis high school game. We ran it out every three or four years," said Prothro, in only his second year as a pro coach.

Rodgers Supported For Heisman Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Two former Heisman Trophy winners agree that the award should be given on the basis of performance on the football field with no regard for what a man might do off it.

"I agree," said Angelo Bertelli, who exploits as a Notre Dame quarterback brought him the high individual honor in 1943. "I say I agree if you think he's the best player in the country."

The opinions of the two football stars of another era came Monday night as votes were being counted at the Downtown Athletic Club for 1972 Heisman, the award symbol of a college football player of the 1972 season.

Announcement of the 1972 Heisman was scheduled to be made today at 1 p.m. EST.

Besides Rodgers, and Hufnagel, leading Heisman candidates are Greg Pruitt, Oklahoma halfback; Bert Jones, Louisiana State quarterback; Terry Davis, Alabama quarterback; Don Strick, leading total offense threat from Virginia Tech, and Rich Glover, Nebraska's star middle guard.

Controversy has swirled around Rodgers, a disadvantaged black from Omaha whose ball-carrying and passgrabbing exploits at the University of Nebraska set all-time national records.

Some electors said that, despite Rodgers' remarkable feats, they could not vote for him because of his brushes with the law.

In 1970 Rodgers and a group of pals staged a $90 robbery in what started out as a prank. Rodgers was placed on probation for a year. The star halfback later was held under suspicion of possessing marijuana, although no charge was ever filed, and arrested for running a stop sign and driving with a suspended license.

"Rodgers may have done a complete turnaround," Kammerer, now an executive with a Boston firm, said, "so I don't think what a man might have done in the past should be held against him. I don't think this is the criteria of the award."

"Frankly, what may hurt Rodgers most is that he didn't produce a big play in a nationally televised game against Oklahoma which Nebraska lost. That's what the voters will remember most of all."

Tiant, Perry, Wood Share A.L. Laurels

BOSTON (AP) — Luis Tiant of the Boston Red Sox, Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians and Wilbur Wood of the Chicago White Sox shared honors today in official, American League records announced by President Joe Cronin.

Tiant, a right-hander picked up by the Red Sox after many considered his career ended because of arm trouble in 1971, won the earned run average for the second time with a 1.91 mark.

Tiant, who led the league with a 1.60 ERA with the Cleveland Indians in 1968, had a 44 mark until promoted to a regular starting job last August. He came close to pitching the Red Sox to the East Division title, compiling a 16-4 record with six shutouts.

Perry, acquired from the San Francisco Giants after the 1971 season, had a spectacular year for Cleveland. He compiled a 24-16 record, sharing the most victories honor with Wood, who topped the league with 29 complete games and compiled a 1.92 earned run average.

Wood, the White Sox' knuckleball artist, had a 24-17 record. He led the league in most starts (49), most innings pitched (317) since Ed Walsh's 303 in 1912. His allowed (325), most batters faced (1,384), runs surrendered (119) and earned runs given (105).

Reliever Paul Lindblad of the Texas Rangers was the only American League's busiest pitcher, making 66 appearances. However, Sparky Lyle of the New York Yankees was the bullpen standout with 35 saves, breaking the record of 34 set by Minnesota's Ron Ferranski in 1970.

Hockey League Meeting Three Topics Due for Action

CHICAGO (AP) — Litigation, expansion and realignment were the top topics on the agenda when the National Hockey League's 16 governors opened their two-day meeting Monday.

The litigation involves the newly founded World Hockey Association and while Clarence Campbell, president of the NHL, avoided referring to the rival league, he said "it's a matter of record that there are numerous court suits involved."

Campbell did, however, cast a dark shadow over Kansas City's chances of making down a NHL franchise.

Kansas City and Washington, D.C., were given conditional franchises for the 1974-75 season with the NHL expanding to 18 teams.

"Kansas City has run into difficulty since the referendum on tax laws was rejected by the voters Nov. 7," said Campbell "and a new form of financing must be found."

Johnston County, Kansas, voters rejected Nov. 7 a proposed two per cent sales tax on motels and restaurants to finance a hockey arena.

"If Kansas City fails to measure up to its obligations, the NHL probably will extend a franchise to Cincinnati. Others in line are Indianapolis, Cleveland and Phoenix."

Campbell said the governors also are studying the reserve clause and taking under consideration a possible realignment of the NHL.

"We could consider realignment on a geographic basis or by conference formulas but that's all a matter of the future," added Campbell.

Purdue Mentor Resigns

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — It was "the hardest decision of my life—but right now I'm not a bit sorry I made it," said Bob Demoss, who resigned Monday as head football coach at Purdue after a three-year record of 13-18.

Demoss submitted his resignation after a "frustrating" season that saw the Boilermakers drop their first game, but then roar back to finish third in the Big Ten with a 2-2 record.

The 45-year-old coach, who has been associated with Purdue for 23 years, decided it was time to make a change.

"There was absolutely no pressure on me to resign," he said. "I just decided it wasn't fair to my family to devote so much time to football and so little time to them."

Eastern Ski Association Votes to Move Quarters

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (AP) — The board of directors of the Eastern Amateur Ski Association has voted to move the group's headquarters to Brattleboro, Vt., next spring.

The association, which represents about 40,000 members in 12 eastern states and the District of Columbia, has been headquartered in Littleton, N.H., for 18 years, according to its secretary Richard Nelson of Brattleboro.

Nelson said the move was approved by the directors at a weekend meeting at Windsor Locks, Conn. It followed two years of study by a committee on locations, which surveyed other possible headquarters sites in Littleton, Pittsfield, Manchester and Hartford, Conn.

Nelson said one of the main reasons the organization chose Brattleboro was its central location. Also, he said, a Brattleboro computer center has been handling a number of computer programs for the association, including its membership processing.

The eastern association is a division which fields the U.S. Olympics ski teams. It sanctions all official Alpine competition in the area under its jurisdiction. Nelson said the competition amounted to roughly 200 Alpine events and 100 Nordic events during the skiing season.

He said the headquarters move would take place in May or June of next year.

(Herald Reporter)
The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission granted two zone changes and approved amendments to town zoning regulations after short public hearings Monday night.

PZC votes on the three hearing items were unanimous and took only a few minutes. The public hearings started at 7:30 and ended at 7:50. There were no comments from the public at any of the three hearings.

South Windsor Driver Charged In Fatality

Nicholas D. Maselli Jr., 27, of Accord, N. Y., has been charged with misconduct with a motor vehicle in connection with an accident Nov. 24 in South Windsor in which three teenagers were killed.

Maselli, upon his release from Manchester Memorial Hospital, appeared at the South Windsor police station with his attorney, where the charges were made. A warrant for his arrest in connection with the accident had been issued by Circuit Court in East Hartford, where Maselli is scheduled for arraignment Dec. 18.

Coventry Moore Tells Of Repair At Dam Gate

At a Town Council meeting Monday night, Town Manager Dennis Moore informed the council what steps have been taken to repair the inoperative gates of the spillway at the Coventry Lake Dam.

Moore said "Engineers representing Grosvenor and Puss, town engineers, entered the stone culvert below the dam outlet and worked their way to the rear of the main gate, inspecting the front of the cement sluiceway, the front gate and the rear main gate."

"The town crew then removed the malfunctioning front gate with the back hoe. Measurements of the old gate were taken and a new gate, made by Beare Machine Shop, and installed, allowing drainage of the inner chamber. Debris was removed from this area which included water soaked logs an old tire and large stones."

"The outlet, found to be nine inches high and five feet long, was more than half clogged with debris. The debris was removed from the spillway and the rear gate was put into place. Both gates were then cemented to allow water to again flow."

In conclusion, the communication said, "both gates can now be controlled. The only limitation is the amount of water the downstream channel can carry."

A preliminary report from the engineers relating to structural damage will be presented at a later meeting.

Regarding the subject of individual abatement orders, Moore said, "At the Nov. 20 meeting, the Board of Health voted to enforce the abatement orders issued to town residents, by court action if necessary."

"Due to the $10 million lawsuit, no court action was taken against those who refused to comply with the orders. However, during the last month, two cases of infectious hepatitis occurred in the lake area where sewerage overflows were prominent."

"The Board of Health and Director of Health Robert Bowen felt that due to the possible threat of a hepatitis outbreak, immediate action should be taken. On Nov. 30, the deputy sanitarian issued a press release announcing the intent. Letters will also be sent to those persons who have not complied with earlier orders."

"Dr. Bowen has stated that the orders have nothing to do with the impending sewer referendum. The board's action was not taken to influence voters one way or another. It was made strictly from the concern for the health of the residents of the community."

In an audience of citizens, Nancy Lucas said she had checked with the State Health Dept. which followed the hepatitis cases "old" and no threat to health. The council referred her to the Board of Health when she questioned why the abatement orders were not pursued earlier. If the intention was to prevent spread of infection.

In other action a motion was made and passed unanimously that a six-member Sewer Authority be appointed by the council to serve two-year terms.

The South Coventry Volunteer Firemen's Association requested for a grant for a new ambulance, replacing the three-year-old vehicle now in use. The request was approved unanimously.

Tollard Subdivision Voted

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night approved a four-lot subdivision submitted previously by David Parker, for property on Suisipic Lake Rd. across from Del-Aire.

The Parker property had been zoned for residential use which was approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals, following a public hearing last week.

The PZC also approved a four-lot subdivision on Sugar Hill Rd., submitted by Everett Gardner.

The PZC will hold a public hearing on the proposed change of zone from residential to commercial sought by The Southern New England Telephone Co. for the Wochumarka property on Dunn Hill Rd. The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall on Dec. 18.

The annual Christmas Carol Sing will be held Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at St. Matthew's Church on Old Stafford Rd.

COME JANUARY, YOU DON'T HAVE TO HAVE AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE. AFTER ALL, YOU CAN ALWAYS WALK.

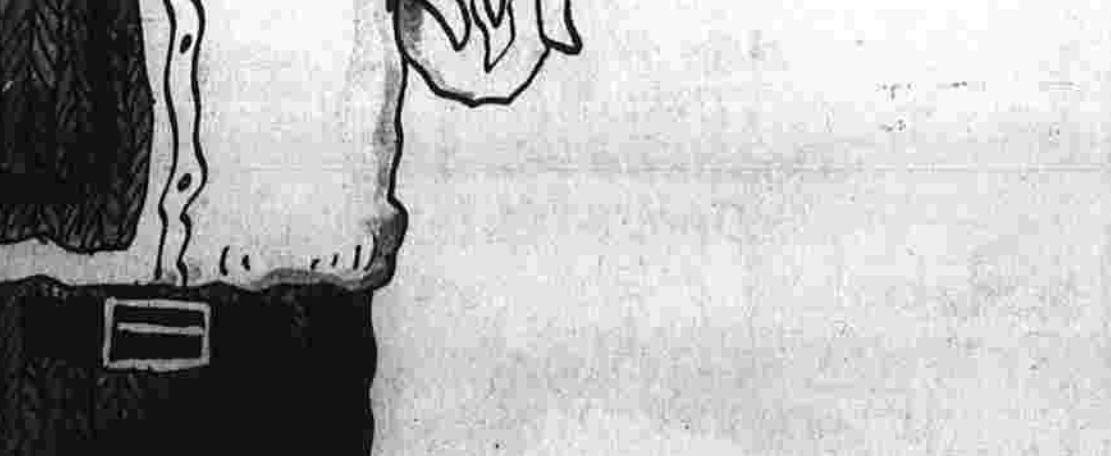

When Connecticut's new No-Fault law takes effect January 1, every car owner in the state will be required by law to have automobile insurance. If you don't and you're caught, the penalties can be pretty severe: like suspension of your driver's license and registration... a fine of up to $500... even a 3-month jail sentence.

If you're uninsured right now, that leaves you facing a problem. Where do you go to get the facts? How do you find the kind of coverage you need?

Stop by and talk to your local Aetna Life & Casualty agent. He's an expert on No-Fault, since he represents the company that's leading the fight to make it law over the country. Because he knows automobile insurance, your Aetna agent can tell you just what the law expects of you, and he'll offer good advice on how to comply. He may suggest coverage through Aetna or he may even recommend another policy. But one way or another, he'll help you get the protection you need.

Maybe our attitude isn't average. But, then, we're not your average insurance company. So find out what you need to do to comply with the new law before time runs out. Contact one of the agents listed on this page or check the Yellow Pages.

Apollo 17 Set For Moon Trek

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen, the last of America's proud Apollo flights to the moon, lifts into darkness on a column of fire tonight — a dazzling display to an epoch of lunar exploration.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt will be in the lunar module for 21 hours. The first American night launch of a man-carrying rocket. Launch crews, too, got in some late sleep with the countdown in a planned hold period until noon.

The skyrazer-tall Saturn 5 rocket and its cargo of men, scientific equipment and sacrificial mice will rise with a hellish roar on a 2,200-foot tail of flame that may be visible 500 miles away.

Weather posed less problems for space officials. Launch director Walter Kapryan said there would be a threat to on-time liftoff only if upper-level clouds contain ice particles that might catch lightning strikes as the rocket slices through. He discounted the possibility.

The rocket can be launched any time during a 3 1/2-hour time period beginning at 9:53. It can be rescheduled, if necessary, for the same hours Thursday.

The wives and children of Cernan and Evans said goodbye to the astronauts across a glass barrier Tuesday night. Schmitt, a geologist and the first scientist to go to the moon, is a bachelor.

Most of the Apollo astronauts, including many of the 10 men who have walked the moon, are at the cape to watch the historic event.

Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin — the first men to step on the moon 3 1/2 years ago — are among them.

"There's a lot of good natured kidding between the veterans and the youngsters," said Alan Shepard, chief of the astronaut office and the first man in space.

South Windsor Aids 'Powerless'

BARBARA VARRICK (Correspondent)

Concern for residents who were without electrical power throughout the day yesterday prompted South Windsor Town Manager Terry Sprunk and Mayor Abraham Glassman to open a school building cafeteria and invite bone-chilled people to come in, get warm, eat and drink hot foods and to relax.

Mark Dr. said she had heard the announcement of the school's opening on the car radio on her way home from work and she and her two daughters, Elaine and Diane 15 decided to take advantage of the hospitality.

Mrs. Kowalski experienced power failure at 1:48 a.m. but power was resumed shortly after noon. However, her home fell victim to the same power failure that closed the high school and, without having electrical power to cook the family supper, the town invitation was a welcome idea to her, she said.

Mrs. Kowalski said her section of town has been plagued by power outages but that yesterday's storm was by far the longest and most severe shortage she had experienced in the nine years she has lived in the town. She commented that the approach by the town officials in their concern for the people was "really great" but felt more people would have taken advantage of the facility had the town had some automatic way of letting them know about it.

Sprunk said he had been in direct communication with the power companies, and at 4 p.m. when the full restoration

Peace Talk Session Lengthy

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger met with Le Duc Thu for 5 1/2 hours today. No statement was issued at the close of the session.

This was the third meeting between Kissinger and the North Vietnamese negotiator since Sunday. On Monday, they held two sessions, each lasting 2 1/2 hours, then called a 24-hour pause Tuesday.

Kissinger was accompanied by his deputy, Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., and William Sullivan, deputy secretary of state, and several other members of his staff.

With Tho were Xuan Thuy, chief of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks, and Nguyen Co Thach, a deputy North Vietnamese foreign minister, and a few experts.

Truman's Condition Serious

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dr. Wallace Graham today assessed former President Harry S. Truman's condition as serious, Research Medical Center announced.

A statement from the hospital at 9:15 a.m. EST by John Drees, hospital information director, said Graham had assessed Truman's condition as serious as 8:35 a.m.

The former president, 85, was taken to the hospital to be treated for what Graham, Truman's personal physician, described as pulmonary congestion, a congestion of the lungs.

The hospital described Truman's condition as "acutely ill with recovery uncertain. Vital signs may be unstable and not within normal limits. A chance for improved diagnosis."

"It was a wacky idea that got people laughing, and also made them aware that people pelted and people can conserve," said Mrs. Spetgong, a 44-year-old mother of two who used to raise chickens and now, admittedly, "raises the chickens" as a member of the Conservation Advisory Board.

Council anted up $2,000 to buy 34,000 extra-hard beige bricks, the kind that won't break up in any kind of water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes.

Last weekend, about 175 persons — mostly teen-agers — distributed 27,000 bricks, two to a house. They will finish this Saturday.

Nature's Artistry
Freezing rain may be brutal on electric power lines but it can be beautiful (within certain limits) on tree limbs. This confair for a while yesterday had real icicles which prove that nature excels man when it comes to Christmas tree ornaments. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Utility Service Mostly Restored

Power and telephone company crews have restored most service which was disrupted in Monday night's severe ice storm, but cleanup of fallen trees and tree limbs was continuing today.

The Manchester area was one of the hardest hit parts of the state in the storm, which brought a mixture of snow, rain, and freezing rain.

The Southern New England Telephone Co.'s Manchester office reported this morning that there were still about 200 customers without telephone service. The company expected to have all service restored by this evening.

The Hartford Electric Light Co.'s Manchester office reported that, with few exceptions, all electrical service in the Manchester-Bolton area was restored by 8 p.m. Tuesday. Between 3,500 and 4,000 Manchester and Bolton customers were without power for some time Tuesday. A total of 21 power company crews, including backup crews from other areas in the state, worked to restore service.

Park and highway departments in Manchester and other area towns continued the cleanup effort today. Many trees and tree limbs, weighted down by ice, fell Tuesday.

Radio Station WINF (1290 kh) at Manchester was not able to broadcast on its regular schedule Tuesday, as power to the station's transmitter on Love Lane failed. WINF didn't get on the air until 3:47 p.m. Tuesday. The usual sign-on time is 4:30 a.m.

Other business and schools, which were forced to close Tuesday because of no electricity, reopened today.

Heavy fog blanketed the Greater Hartford area Tuesday night and today, apparently causing several minor auto accidents. Bradley International Airport at Windsor Locks was not operating at several times during the night and morning hours.

The fog was expected to move away Tuesday night with a strong cold front moving rapidly eastward from the Midwest. Scattered showers may accompany the front, but the cold front, according to the National Weather Service at Windsor Locks.

McGovern Following 'Hands-Off Policy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he is following a "hands-off policy" in the many-sided battle for control of the Democratic party.

Mrs. Westwood says both she and former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas should get out of the race but that she will not step down unless he does.

However, Strauss, whose backers said Monday he has 100 of the 105 votes needed to win the chairmanship, has said he will not withdraw. He has the support of the Democratic Governors Caucus.

The full Democratic National Committee meets here Saturday and is expected to take up the matter at that time. If Mrs. Westwood does not resign the committee would have to vote her out of office before moving to elect a successor.

One of the other likely candidates for the chairmanship is Lawrence F. O'Brien, who on two separate occasions has held the job. An O'Brien supporter said Monday he would make no assessments of O'Brien's strength.

"I think all the national committee members around the country are getting tired of all electric power that is — is man's servant most of the time and sometimes it takes a storm like the one yesterday to drive this lesson home. Paul Farris of 471 Miller Rd. said he would keep warm with his fireplace and gas stove but without electricity he could not pump water so he came to South Windsor's Timothy Edwards School to obtain a supply and paid for a cup of coffee. They were on fire because this was one way they could get out of the water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes.

School Becomes Supply Center

"The kids were so excited, they were on fire because this was one way they could get out of the water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes."

Of her idea, Mrs. Spetgong said, "It's off-beat enough to get people talking and, hopefully, make them aware of how involved all of us are in this pollution crisis."

"If the average family of four flushes a total of 20 times a day we would save 24 million gallons of water every year in Cherry Hill."
