

Two Zone Changes Approved by PZC

BY DOUG BEVINS
(Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission granted two zone changes and approved amendments to town zoning regulations after short public hearings Monday night.

PZC votes on the three hearing items were unanimous and took only a few minutes.

The public hearings started at 7:30 and ended at 7:50. There were no comments from the public at any of the three hearings.

The zone changes granted were rezoning (from Rural Residence to Residential Zoning) of a 2.4-acre parcel on the south side of Hartford Rd. The Horace and Bidwell St. property is owned by Realtors

Herman Frechette and Albert Martin. According to their attorney, David Golas, the rezoning was sought to allow construction of two-family homes.

In his presentation before the PZC Monday night, Atty. Golas said the rezoning was a logical extension of existing Residential Zoning in the area. Herbert Frechette and Martin, said the area is well-suited for two-family dwellings.

Frechette and Martin recently built several duplex homes on Horace St.

The second rezoning, sought by Circle Associates, will allow construction of a convenience food store at the Hartford Rd. site. The subject parcel, on the south side of the road, is approximately at the West St. intersection.

Circle Associates' agent, Atty. Leon Podrove, said it is likely that a Seven-Eleven store will occupy the premises.

It was Circle Associates' third attempt to gain zoning approval of plans for the food store. The PZC denied a change to Business 4 Zone in September, and the town's Zoning Board of Appeals denied a use variance earlier.

In presenting his case, Atty. Podrove said that the Hartford Rd. area is a "mixed bag" of uses. PZC members, in granting the rezoning request, agreed with Atty. Podrove.

The zoning regulation amendments approved Monday night will permit several special uses in business zones. These uses are tennis and badminton courts; skating rinks; and health and recreation clubs.

Town Planner J. Eric Potter, explaining the amendments, said they were suggested by Atty. John LaBelle, representing developer Alexander Jarvis.

When the PZC adopted amendments in September adding these uses to Industrial Zones, Atty. LaBelle noted that such uses were mentioned in the zoning regulations only once — in the Industrial Zone requirements.

Potter said such uses are deemed legal uses in all business zones except Business 1 Zone (neighborhood business), and the purpose of the amendments is to facilitate interpretation of the regulations.

South Windsor Driver Charged In Fatality

Nicholas D. Maselli Jr., 27, of Accord, N. Y. has been charged with misconduct with a motor vehicle in connection with an accident Nov. 24 in South Windsor in which three teenagers were killed.

Maselli was injured in the accident when he apparently failed to negotiate a curve in the truck he was driving on Sullivan Ave., forcing the car in which four teenagers were riding off the road. The South Windsor police station with the accident had been issued by Circuit Court in East Hartford, where Maselli is scheduled for arraignment Dec. 18.

He was released after posting a $5,000 surety bond.

Tollard Subdivision Voted

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night approved a four-lot subdivision submitted previously by David Parker, for property on Sulpice Lake Rd. across from Del-Aire.

The Parker property had been under a lot of residential zoning which was approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals, following a public hearing last week.

The PZC also approved a four-lot subdivision on Sugar Hill Rd., submitted by Everett Gardner.

The PZC will hold a public hearing on the proposed change of zone from residential to commercial sought by The Southern New England Telephone Co. for the Wochumarka property on Dunn Hill Rd. The hearing will be held at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall on Dec. 18.

The annual Christmas Carol Sing will be held Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at St. Matthew's Church on Old Stafford Rd.

First Selectman Erwin Stotzner will serve as Master of Ceremonies. The choral portion of the event will be directed by Robert Velard with Mrs. Arlyne Garrity providing the accompaniment on the organ. James Cornish, chairman of the Board of Education will perform as soloist. The event is jointly sponsored by the Girl Scouts and the Board of Education.

Moore Tells Of Repair At Dam Gate

At a Town Council meeting Monday night, Town Manager Dennis Moore informed the council what steps have been taken to repair the inoperative gates of the spillway at the Coventry Lake Dam. A communication submitted by Moore said "Engineers representing Grosvenor and Puss, town engineers, entered the stone culvert below the dam outlet and worked their way to the rear of the main gate, inspecting the front of the cement sluiceway, the front gate and the rear main gate."

"The town crew then removed the malfunctioning front gate with the back hoe. Measurements of the old gate were taken and a new gate, made by Beare Machine Shop, and installed, allowing drainage of the inner chamber. Debris was removed from this area which included water soaked logs an old tire and large stones."

"The outlet, found to be nine inches high and five feet long, was more than half clogged with debris. The debris was removed from the spillway and the rear gate was put into place. Both gates were then cemented to allow water to again flow."

In conclusion, the communication said, "both gates can now be controlled. The only limitation is the amount of water the downstream channel can carry." A preliminary report from the engineers relating to structural damage will be presented at a later meeting.

Regarding the subject of individual abatement orders, Moore said, "At the Nov. 20 meeting, the Board of Health voted to enforce the abatement orders issued to town residents, by court action if necessary."

"Due to the $10 million lawsuit, no court action was taken against those who refused to comply with the orders. However, during the last month, two cases of infectious hepatitis occurred in the lake area where sewerage overflows were prominent."

"The Board of Health and Director of Health Robert Bowen felt that due to the possible threat of a hepatitis outbreak, immediate action should be taken. On Nov. 30, the deputy sanitarians issued a press release announcing the intent. Letters will also be sent to those persons who have not complied with earlier orders."

"Dr. Bowen has stated that the orders have nothing to do with the impending sewer referendum. The board's action was not taken to influence voters one way or another. It was made strictly from the concern for the health of the residents of the community."

In an audience of citizens, Nancy Lucas said she had checked with the State Health Dept. which followed the hepatitis cases "old" and no threat to health. The council referred her to the Board of Health when she questioned why the abatement orders were not pursued earlier. If the intention was to prevent spread of infection.

In other action a motion was made and passed unanimously that a six-member Sewer Authority be appointed by the council to serve two-year terms.

The South Coventry Volunteer Firemen's Association requested for a grant for a new ambulance, replacing the three-year-old vehicle now in use. The request was approved unanimously.

COME JANUARY, YOU DON'T HAVE TO HAVE AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE. AFTER ALL, YOU CAN ALWAYS WALK.

When Connecticut's new No-Fault law takes effect January 1, every car owner in the state will be required by law to have automobile insurance. If you don't and you're caught, the penalties can be pretty severe: like suspension of your driver's license and registration... a fine of up to $500... even a 3-month jail sentence.

If you're uninsured right now, that leaves you facing a problem. Where do you go to get the facts? How do you find the kind of coverage you need?

Stop by and talk to your local Aetna Life & Casualty agent. He's an expert on No-Fault, since he represents the company that's leading the fight to make it law over the country.

Because he knows automobile insurance, your Aetna agent can tell you just what the law expects of you, and he'll offer good advice on how to comply. He may suggest coverage through Aetna or he may even recommend another policy. But one way or another, he'll help you get the protection you need.

Maybe our attitude isn't average. But then, we're not your average insurance company.

So find out what you need to do to comply with the new law before time runs out. Contact one of the agents listed on this page or check the Yellow Pages.

Apollo 17 Set For Moon Trek

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen, the last of America's proud Apollo flights to the moon, lifts into darkness on a column of fire tonight — a dazzling display to an epoch of lunar exploration.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt will be launched to be fresh for the 8:53 p.m. EST blastoff — the first American night launch of a man-carrying rocket. Launch crews, too, got in some late sleep with the countdown in a planned hold period until noon.

Crowds arriving for the spectacular fireworks were greeted by bright blue skies and unseasonable warmth. But the forecast was for considerable high cloudiness and lower visibility with gusty winds.

The astronauts were pictured as "all charged and ready" for the 13-day journey that may be man's final visit in this century to his celestial neighbor. This is the day for which they've trained for 16 months — and even so, there was some launch-eye practice in simulators.

As always, there were some hitches as crews readied and tested the spacecraft and prepared the loading of the liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen that fuel the 36-story Saturn 5 rocket. But officials called the countdown one of the most trouble free in the 11-flight Apollo series.

The skyraper-tall Saturn 5 rocket and its cargo of men, scientific equipment and sacrificial mice will rise with a hellish roar on a 2,200-foot tail of flame that may be visible 500 miles away.

For the half million or more people expected in the area, weather conditions were not perfect. The forecast called for considerable cloudiness at 12,000 feet — the altitude the rocket reaches in less than a minute.

Weather posed less problems for space officials. Launch director Walter Kapryan said

South Windsor Aids 'Powerless'

Concern for residents who were without electrical power throughout the day yesterday prompted South Windsor Town Manager Terry Sprunkel and Mayor Abraham Glassman to open a school building cafeteria and invite bone-chilled people to come in, get warm, eat and drink hot foods and to relax.

Mark Dr. said she had heard the announcement of the school's opening on the car radio on her way home from work and she and her two daughters, Elaine and Diane 15 decided to take advantage of the hospitality.

Mrs. Kowalski experienced power failure at 1:48 a.m. but power was resumed shortly after noon. However, her home fell victim to the same power failure that closed the high school and, without having electrical power to cook the family supper, the town invitation was a welcome idea to her, she said.

Mrs. Kowalski said her section of town has been plagued by power outages but that yesterday's storm was by far the longest and most severe shortage she had experienced in the nine years she has lived in the town. She commented that the approach by the town officials in their concern for the people was "really great" but felt more people would have taken advantage of the facility had the town had some automatic way of letting them know about it.

Peace Talk Session Lengthy

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger met with Le Duc Thu for 5 1/2 hours today. No statement was issued at the close of the session.

This was the third meeting between Kissinger and Thu since President Nixon's security adviser returned to Paris on Sunday. On Monday, they held two sessions, each lasting 2 1/2 hours, then called a 24-hour pause Tuesday.

Kissinger was accompanied by his deputy, Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., and William Sullivan, deputy assistant secretary of state, and several other members of his staff.

Town May Waive Special Sidewalk Assessments

BY SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Board of Directors is considering a proposal to waive sidewalk assessments for business property owners assessed 50 per cent of the cost of concrete sidewalks. When landscaping and other improvements are taken into consideration, the assessment amounts to about 25 per cent of the total cost.

In drafting the ordinance, Barry will consider adding a recommendation by Town Manager Robert Weiss — to make it mandatory for developers of business property to install sidewalks and to absorb the entire cost.

The board spent very little time discussing the proposed ordinance. John Norris said he thinks the proposal has merit, on the basis that sidewalks benefit all people, and not merely the abutting property owners.

Anthony Pietroniro warned that the proposal "would open a Pandora's Box of problems."

The Hartford Electric Light Co.'s Manchester office reported that with few exceptions, all electrical service in the Manchester-Bolton area was restored by 8 p.m. Tuesday. Between 3,500 and 4,000 Manchester and Bolton customers were without power for some time Tuesday. A total of 21 power company crews, including backup crews from other areas in the state, worked to restore service.

Utility Service Mostly Restored

Power and telephone company crews have restored most service which was disrupted in Monday night's severe ice storm, but cleanup of fallen trees and tree limbs was continuing today.

The Manchester area was one of the hardest hit parts of the state in the storm, which brought a mixture of snow, rain, and freezing rain.

The Southern New England Telephone Co.'s Manchester office reported this morning that there were still about 200 customers without telephone service. The company expected to have all service restored by this evening.

Goofy Idea Conserves Water

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Six months ago, Tilly Spetgong, a serious gal with a goofy idea, walked into City Council carrying a brick. Councilman Steve Morgan ducked under her desk.

"He must have thought I was going to throw it," she said, "but all I wanted was to put one into every toilet tank in town."

The unusual proposal to save water stunned Council, but it was approved. And it so convulsed this residential community of 65,000 across the Delaware River from Philadelphia that it swiftly accepted the scheme — to become probably the first in America with a brick in nearly every toilet.

The idea is that the brick will take up space in the toilet tank, displacing a small amount of water that is not necessarily needed for flushing.

"It was a wacky idea that got people laughing, and also made them aware that people pollute and people can conserve," said Mrs. Spetgong, a 44-year-old mother of two who used to raise chickens and now, admittedly, "raises the chickens" as a member of the Conservation Advisory Board.

Council acted up $2,000 to buy 34,000 extra-hard beige bricks, the kind that won't break up in any kind of water and enough for every toilet in the town's 17,000 homes.

Last weekend, about 175 persons — mostly teen-agers — distributed 27,000 bricks, two to a house. They will finish this Saturday.

"The kids were so excited, they were on fire because this was one way they could get involved in ecology," said Mrs. Spetgong.

Of her idea, Mrs. Spetgong said: "It's off-beat enough to get people talking and, hopefully, make them aware of how involved all of us are in this pollution crisis."

"If the average family of four flushes a total of 20 times a day we would save 24 million gallons of water every year in Cherry Hill."

Truman's Condition Serious

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dr. Wallace Graham today assessed former President Harry S. Truman's condition as serious, Research Medical Center announced.

A statement from the hospital at 9:15 a.m. EST by John Dreeves, hospital information director, said Graham had assessed Truman's condition as serious as 8:35 a.m.

The former president, 85, was taken to the hospital to be treated for what Graham, Truman's personal physician, described as pulmonary congestion, a congestion of the lungs.

The hospital described serious condition as "acutely ill with recovery uncertain. Vital signs may be unstable and not within normal limits. A chance for improved diagnosis."

McGovern Following 'Hands-Off Policy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he is following a "hands-off policy" in the many-sided battle for control of the Democratic party.

Mrs. Westwood says both she and former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas should get out of the race but that she will not step down unless he does.

However, Strauss, whose backers said Monday he has 100 of the 105 votes needed to win the chairmanship, has said he will not withdraw. He has the support of the Democratic Governors Caucus.

The full Democratic National Committee meets here Saturday and is expected to take up the matter at that time. If Mrs. Westwood does not resign the committee would have to vote her out of office before moving to elect a successor.

One of the other likely candidates for the chairmanship is Lawrence F. O'Brien, who on two separate occasions has held the job. An O'Brien supporter said Monday he would make no assessments of O'Brien's strength.

Violence Continues In Belfast

BELFAST (AP) — Gunmen pumped bullets into the chest and head of a man today and left his hooded body on a Belfast street.

It was the fifth killing in Northern Ireland in 24 hours and raised the confirmed toll in the province to 664 dead in more than three years of violence.

The man was not immediately identified but was believed to have been a Protestant. He was about 30.

Two of the other four men were killed by British troops; the third was an army man and the fourth died of a shrapnel sidewalk as his three young children watched.

 The point that South overlooked was that there was no need to hurry to draw all of the trumps. He could find out about the clubs before drawing trumps. It was even possible to find out about the diamond break before drawing all of the trumps.

There were two different ways to make four hearts. Both depended on leaving the trumps alone.

Odegard Appears On TV Special
 State Sen. David Odegard of Manchester will be one of the featured guests in a Connecticut Public Television (CPTV) special Thursday night.

The program, a special edition of "The State of Connecticut," will deal with the problems of the aging in the state. The half-hour show will be aired at 10 p.m. on Channel 24 in Hartford.

Other guests on the program will be John Doyle, the governor's administrative assistant; and Shalom Bloom, executive secretary of Connecticut's Department on Aging.

Host of the program will be CPTV's Doug Webster.

Odegard, Doyle and Bloom were participants in a national conference on aging held in Washington, D.C., this week.

To illustrate the devotion of the North Vietnamese, Franchi cited the case of two Americans. One died in 1967, but in reply to a number of requests, the North Vietnamese said that they had no information about him and kept his widow "in limbo" for the next three years.

Another was a member of an unambushed group. An American search party found no traces of any, and the Communists insisted that they had taken no prisoners but that all had been killed. Three years later, Franchi said, the picture of one appeared, held under guard in South Vietnam.

The U. S. government, he said, has a list of 1,512 POW's. VIVA has confirmed 512 known ones, but expects the return of only 378. The North Vietnamese, he explained, may very well hold prisoners after the end of hostilities to obtain concessions while bargaining.

Children's Books Spice Gift List

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Book Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — In the holiday season booksellers have a selection of titles for the youngsters that stretches from here to there and back again — from perennial childhood favorites to the latest stories to enchant the young.

Here are some highlights among the fall outpouring of books:

In the usual classifications of "all ages" or "12 and up" the publishers assume that informative nonfiction can compete with story-telling, so there are such items as "Brian Wile-Smith's Twelve Days of Christmas" (published by Watts), illustrated by the author; "Golden Toes: Football's Greatest Kickers" (St. Matthew's Press) by Don Kowal; "Famous American Explorers" (Rand McNally) by Bern Keating; "The Dance of Africa" (Praeger) by Lee Warren; "Ralph Nader's Crusade" (Macmillan) by Richard Curtis; and "Hockey: Greatest All-Stars" (Hawthorn) by Howard Liss.

Other items include "Animals of the African Year" (Holt, Rinehart), with an ecological viewpoint; by Jane Burton; "Circus Heroes and Heroines" (Hammond) biographical sketches by Rhina Kirk; "American Indian Inspiration" (M. Evans), a how-to book by Alex and Janet D'Amato; and "The Beginnings of Art" (Four Winds Press) by Philip Van Doran Stern.

The fiction for this group includes "North Star" (Macrae Smith) by A.E. Schraft, in which a 16-year-old girl feels the first stirrings of romantic attraction; "Only Earth and Sky Last Forever" (Harper), a tale of American Indian life by Nathaniel Benchley; "The Wanderers" (Four Winds Press) about the Irish travels of four individuals, by Elizabeth Coatsworth.

Other fiction includes "The Beethoven Medal" (Crowell) written and illustrated by K.M. Peyton, about his character Patrick Pennington — the author has won a Carnegie Medal himself; "The Fairy Tale Treasury" (Coward, McCann), 32 tales edited by Virginia Haviland and illustrated by Raymond Briggs; and "The MacLeod Place" (Children's Press) by the Newbery Medal winner William H. Armstrong, a story set in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

For the younger set, variously described as ages 7 to 11, the nonfiction selections include "SOS — Save Our Earth" (Grosset and Dunlap) by Giancarlo Mancini, an illustrated ecological book; and "Young People's Illustrated Encyclopedia" (Children's Press) a reference tool for grades 3 to 6.

Among the fiction titles for the younger group are "The Witches of Worm" (Atheneum) by Zilpha Keatley Snyder, author of two Newbery Honor books, a story of a little girl and a cat named Worm; "The Hermit and Harry and Me" (Little, Brown), written and illustrated by Nancy Jewell, a Caldecott Medal winner; and "The White Sparrow" (McGraw-Hill) by Fadrac Colum, winner of a Regina Medal.

The small fry, in the age ranges of 3 to 7, 4 to 8 and 5 to 9, are interested mostly in story telling, but there also are some nonfiction items for them, such as "Push Pull, Empty Full" (Macmillan) written and illustrated with photographs by Tana Hoban, a book of opposites; "Hoot's Alphabet" (Viking) with words by Hootie, Tobias and Lisa Baskin, illustrated by the famous artist Leonard Baskin; and "Color Seeds" (Vanguard) written and illustrated by Irma Haskins, in which the uses of color are explained.

In the story field some selections are "The Web in the Grass" (Scribner) by Bernice Freschet and Roger Duvoisin, the latter the illustrator and Caldecott Medal winner; a tale about a spider; "Dr. Gardner's Stories about the Real World" (Fremont-Hall) by Richard A. Gardner; "The Cowboy's Christmas" (Atheneum) written and illustrated by Joan Walsh Anglund; and "The Ballad of William Sycamore" (Little, Brown), a frontier story by Stephen Vincent Benet, illustrated by Brinton Turke.

Other fiction items include "Try and Catch Me" (Harper) by Nancy Jewell, illustrated by Leonard Wetgard, about a little girl's interest in animals and objects around her; Walt Whitman's poem "I Hear America Singing" (Delacorte) illustrated by Fernando Krahn; "Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible, No Good, Very Bad Day" (Atheneum) by Judith Viorst; and "Snail and Caterpillar" (American Heritage Press) by Helen Pierris, illustrated by Pauline Baynes, a tale of England's Kate Greenaway Medal.

THE BELEAGUERED Democratic National Committee is travelling over its chairmanship, George J. Mitchell, Maine attorney and close friend of Sen. Edmund Muskie, could wind up in the seat.

Trees Planted In Memory Of Israeli Athletes

STAMFORD (AP) — West Germany's consul-general has helped plant 12 fruit trees in memory of the 11 Israeli athletes and one West German policeman killed in the terrorist raid on the Munich Olympic Village in October.

Count Harald von Posadowsky-Wehner told the crowd of about 100 gathered Sunday along the bank of Mill River in Scitzi Park that the raid was "cold-blooded murder and one of the most tragic happenings of recent times."

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Stamps from "Down Under" dominate the philatelic headlines this week.

Australia honors its pioneers with seven new stamps which will be part of a new long-term series for this country. Depicted are aspects of pioneer life in an Australian agricultural environment about 100 years ago.

The key stamp in this series is a 5-cent portraying pioneer society. It shows a farmer's family posed in the style of a 19th century studio photograph. The other stamps depict subjects which are representative of the activities of this family. The subjects feature pioneer shelter, food, water, communications, transport and commerce.

The Australian postmaster general's office also has released its 1972 Christmas stamps which this year are based on religious themes.

The stamps are based on texts chosen from the New Testament. The passages illustrated are "Suffer the little children to unto Me." (St. Mark 10:13-16) and "I am the light of the world." (St. John 8:12). The 7-cent adhesive shows Christ with a group of children, while the 35 cent depicts a dove of peace and colors radiating from darkness to light.

New Zealand pays tribute to its distinctive natural splendors with a four-stamp commemorative issue dedicated to "The Lakes of New Zealand."

The 6-cent value shows Lake Waikaremoana, carved out of forested mountains and a spectacular point of interest. The lake itself is star-shaped. On the 8-cent stamp appears Lake Huiyas in the heart of the Southern Lakes District near Queenstown. The 18 cent illustrates Lake Wakatipu, longest of the lakes extending for 32 miles. The 23 cent pictures Lake Rotomahana of volcanic origin which came into being only in 1886 after the eruption of Mt. Tarawera.

U.S. stamp collectors will be glad to know that the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum of History and Technology in Washington D.C. has re-named and redesigned its Hall of Stamps and Mail. The new section salutes 125 years of U.S. postage stamps.

Once known as the Hall of Philately and Postal History, the exhibit gallery has been distinctively redesigned to house the National Postage Stamp Collection and to display the colorful history of the mails — from Sumerian clay tablets of 2500 B.C. to airmail lifted by rockets and missiles. Collectors visiting the nation's capital will find this a worthwhile journey through stampland.

A Maryland stamp collector recently turned the purchase of some 8-cent U.S. commemoratives into a many-thousand dollar bonanza. He bought several panes of the 8-cent Emily Dickinson stamps and included was a full pane of 50 with the wording and denomination omitted.

The stamps were sold at auction in New York and the "discoverer" was well rewarded. Tom Sawyer is still a popular figure in America. An additional 35 million copies of the recently issued Tom Sawyer 8-cent commemorative have been ordered from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The increase was prompted by large orders from local postmasters before the stamp was issued on Oct. 13. The total printing is 170 million.

Predicts Ambitious Goal For Women in Politics

In the half-century since they won the right to vote — and the concomitant right to run for office — women have never totaled more than a handful in the U. S. Congress.

With the defeat of Maine's Margaret Chase Smith, there will in fact not be one woman senator when the 93rd Congress convenes in January.

Yet within six congressional and three presidential elections from now — just 12 years — women will hold half the 435 seats in the House of Representatives and a third of the 100 seats in the Senate.

Or such is the confident prediction of Helen Delich Bentley, chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission and one of the ranking female officials in the Nixon administration. She bases her prediction on trends she sees among under-30 voters today.

A former newspaper reporter herself, Mrs. Bentley told a meeting of women journalists at the University of Minnesota that the role of women in the federal government has expanded greatly in recent years.

For example, no less than 119

women have been appointed to top-management positions. These include:

A member of the Council of Economic Advisers; a member of the Atomic Energy Commission; the chairman of the Tariff Commission; the chairman of the National Endowment for the Arts; a staff assistant to the President; five generals and one admiral; a judge on the U. S. Tax Court; and the Treasurer of the United States; the director of the U. S. Mint, and, of course, Mrs. Bentley as head of the Maritime Commission.

In addition, she says, in the past 15 months 1,300 women have been appointed to middle-management government jobs in Washington.

These, however, are appointments. The goal of some 250 elected women representatives and senators in the 99th Congress in 1985 remains an extremely ambitious one. But if the goal is not achieved, it may be due in part to something else Mrs. Bentley touched upon.

In her experience, she has found that men, especially young men, have more faith in the abilities of women than do the women themselves.

Changing The Election

The recent national election campaign brought on a spate of criticism of its length and costs and some proposals for reform, none of which has caught the popular imagination.

Representative William Keating, Ohio Republican, suggested some worthwhile changes that got nowhere in the last Congress, partly because of apathy.

He has proposed a bill that would establish election day as a national holiday, with uniform voting hours across the country, and fix the date 30 days earlier in an effort to cut the length of the mind-numbing campaigns.

Keating's bill will confront another Democratic majority but the Democrats have been demanding election reform of all kinds and doubtless would look with favor on creating another holiday as something for everybody.

A holiday might enable more people to vote but it just might cause a lot more of them to go fishing. Since arbitrary switching some historic observances to Monday has become popular, Congress might consider shifting the election from Tuesday to Monday. That would create another three-day holiday weekend, which could really cut down the number of voters, since most long holidays cost some 500 to 600 lives in traffic. Uniform voting hours would be readily possible, requiring polls here to open and close three hours earlier, local time, than West Coast polls. This would end the argument that early returns from the East affect the judgment of Western voters.

Everybody, with the possible exception of a few candidates, would welcome a shorter campaign. But moving election day forward would work only if the national conventions are held at the usual time. It would really shorten the campaign if election day were moved to coincide with Labor Day. This would avoid creating still another holiday with the same kind of efficiency that celebrates the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln on the first day of neither.

Or, if a new holiday is really necessary, why not make it the first Tuesday in September, the day after Labor Day?

Vote Yes

To the editor:

Conventy residents, your support is needed. Once again a sewer referendum looms on the horizon and once again opponents declare too much, too soon, for too few.

Too much: Right, any amount added to our already outrageous taxes is too much but think, inevitably you will have to pay and with each additional postponement the dollar figure increases.

Too soon: Yes, according to the RRP and the P&Z, the "Master Plan," an impact statement, and a "commission" to study possible approaches. After procrastination: By the time all the foregoing are completed to their satisfaction the tragedy of abatement orders, eridion, pollution, law suits, etc. will be a grim reality rather than a vague threat.

Too few: "Only a few residents will benefit" is the cry. In five years of lake residence we have never quite gotten used to the sequal and sub-standard existence of a "few", certainly the advent of a major improvement is bound to uncover and rectify much of this. Besides, the section of sewer proposed is just the beginning, eventually the benefits will reach each and every resident directly. In the meantime, by severing the lake and village area, a beautiful natural resource and a business area will be preserved for everyone's enjoyment and use.

Please, in the name of planning, prevention and progress, vote yes December 12.

Obvious Solution

WASHINGTON — Commenting on Detroit's determination to weed out of the 1975-76 deadline for antipollution devices on new cars, an Environmental Protection Agency official has come up with an obvious solution to the automakers' dilemma.

Robert L. Sansom, assistant EPA administrator, says the industry should shift to smaller, low-fuel consumption engines or smaller cars, on account of auto exhaust emissions are the nation's single most important source of man-made pollutants.

Sansom's suggestion makes such sense I wonder why he has not been arrested and sentenced to two years with Jane Fonda. We are the only people in the world who demand that our horseless carriages be built along the general lines of a railroad locomotive, with a built-in speed calculator to make them eligible for the Indianapolis 500.

At the risk of being denounced as an un-American nut and stripped of my citizenship, I suggest there is no need for a family car that sleeps six, with running water, electric refrigerator and swimming pool laid on. If a citizen desires to sit by a roaring fire or throw a Christmas party, he should be satisfied with the facilities afforded him by his humble abode and not insist on enjoying such amenities while barreling along the highway. I, for one, do not need a car that goes 120 miles per hour, or even 70. On the infrequent occasions when I grudgingly venture onto those speedways exponentially-labeled turnpikes or freeways, I am content with a nice, steady 55-mile-an-hour pace. I do not desire to be hailed as a latter-day Barney Oldfield, but would prefer that my obituary describe me as an old curmudgeon.

Nevertheless, I often have no choice but to risk my precious life and those of my loved ones. Stern and ominous signs warn that any speed under 65 will subject me to a summons for driving recklessly.

Europeans, whose capacity for survival has been verified by the fact that they are still eating after centuries of practically weekly wars and lousy government, have never built big cars. If you except such luxury items as the Rolls Royce and the jumbo model Mercedes.

One reason is their inbred frugality and neglect of the ostentatious. But mostly they drive smaller cars so there'll be room to drive them. In some European cities you can go too ruddy fast, of course, but there are few leeches everywhere.

Meanwhile, there is another argument for Detroit switching to smaller cars, and less powerful engines. Automobiles account for 40 per cent of U. S. petroleum consumption, and as everybody knows — except apparently Detroit — the country already is in an energy crisis.

Although American oil wells produce one-fourth of the world's output of petroleum, it is yet only two-thirds of the country's needs. As a result, the U. S. now consumes one-third of upon thousands of guns and tanks, not to mention the Viet Cong guerrilla who accompanied him. And as the Viet Cong were better shots, our casualties mounted.

Once again, it seemed we had no choice. The following June, Nixon announced our civilian advisers would be given weapons to protect themselves. And many uniforms so no one would think they were soldiers.

At first, all went reasonably well, although there were some local crises of protest: "No, no, point it the other way" or "To go into a bombing run you push the stick forward like this... Let go! Let go!"

The first blow came when Hanoi, which had finally agreed to withdraw its 145,000 troops from South Vietnam, simply announced it had honorably discharged them from its army on the spot. Henceforth, it said, they were merely civilian advisers to the Viet Cong.

So as the skirmishes continued in Vietnam, I am assuming over another 500,000 innocent civilians.

Of course, not that many civilians wanted to go. So we had to draft young men to and discredited Mr. Nixon retired to his ranch in San Clemente.

"I kept my promise to bring our soldiers home and end the war," he said. "All I wanted to do was win the peace."

But as journalist Halberstram summed it up in his brilliant conclusion: "In Vietnam, you can't win nothing."

Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

It goes without saying that probably all retailers aren't experiencing it but Business Week says retailers are in the midst of a boom and there are indications that it will continue well into next year.

Sales in October were 11 per cent ahead of the same month a year ago and for the first 10 months of this year are up more than 9 per cent from the same period in 1971.

Business Week says October's showing was helped by a 20 per cent boost in Social Security benefits which added about $8 billion to the spending stream.

Are you getting your share, Mr. Merchant?

Many of you have commented on our Then and Now Photo Feature started by our managing editor, Hal Turkington.

In regard to this feature, and Manchester's forthcoming anniversary celebration, we appreciate the loan of old-time pictures. We plan a special edition next June calling attention to Manchester's anniversary and our hope is to make the edition nearly an almanac.

Your pictures can be returned in good condition and we would appreciate any assistance you can lend us. Just ask for Hal when you bring them in or make a telephone inquiry.

It came as no surprise when one newspaper company notified us last week that it was increasing the price of newsprint $5 per ton effective Feb. 1. The action seems almost routine in the newspaper business although there are wage-price controls and the company is well within the guidelines.

Manchester has more than its share of jay walkers and those who even walk across an intersection with a green light.

At any rate, in Washington, D.C., a jay walker who is seen by a policeman as he ignores lights and cuts through traffic at any point in the block to get across the street gets a ticket on the spot and has to pay a $5 fine.

In Washington, more than 10,000 jay walkers have been given tickets this year. The stepped up police department drive against them is intended to reduce traffic fatalities. It might just be a good source of revenue for Manchester also.

The next time your congressman tells you that he at all times endeavors to keep you informed, you might just dispute that statement.

Congressional Quarterly says that this year Congressional committees held more than a third of their meetings in private despite a 1970 law which sought to open more meetings to the public and press.

The House is the worst offender. This year it has barred the public from 44 per cent of its committee meetings while the Senate closed 37 per cent.

Despite the 1970 law, there has been no reduction, percentage-wise, in the number of closed meetings.

You might find it of interest that out in DeKalb, Ill., the City Council got into a hassle over the sale of alcoholic liquor on a Sunday if that day happened to fall on New Year's Eve.

DeKalb has a never-on-Sunday rule and an amendment to the ordinance which would have allowed the sale was defeated. Then an ordinance was "re-presented" for action at a future meeting which would permit the sale of liquor on every Sunday.

It was pointed out that between now and the year 2050, New Year's Eve will fall on Sunday 10 times. After this year, the next New Year's Eve on Sunday will be in 1979.

The crux of the argument which defeated the proposal was that drinking on New Year's Eve even though it falls on Sunday is no different than any other Sunday.

The American Legion magazine says that the next session of Congress is expected to be the major battleground of a drive toward national no-fault auto insurance. The push for such insurance was stalled on Capitol Hill last spring, in part because trial lawyers oppose the measure, and in part because the administration feels that states should be given a chance to take their own action.

The magazine says that over the past two years, however, there's been less than eagerness shown by state legislatures to adopt no-fault insurance.

Only four states have approved it, one is Connecticut of course, where the law takes effect Jan. 1.

The magazine adds that proponents say the no-fault system will lower auto insurance costs; opponents argue that such a law would remove a major deterrent on negligent driving responsibility.

A nine-year-old boy was getting his mail ready for Santa Claus. "Please send me $50.00 for an electric train. My dad just got out of the hospital, so he can't afford to buy me one this Christmas."

An alert postmaster forwarded the letter to a welfare agency, but it inadvertently wound up at a regional Internal Revenue office. One of the tax men felt sorry for the lad and mailed him a check for $50.00. When the youngster received it, he proceeded to write another letter.

"Dear Santa: Thanks very much for the money, but next time please don't send it thru IRS. They figured I'm in a 90 per cent bracket and kept $45 for deductions."

Bennet Concerts Listed Next Week

On Monday through Thursday next week, the Bennet Junior High School music department will present concerts of seasonal sacred and secular music by an instrumental and three vocal groups. All programs will be given in the Main Building auditorium at 7:30 a.m. They are free and open to the public.

The 70-voice eighth grade choir, under the direction of Walter Gryzb, will open Monday's concert with a group of carols — "Angels We Have Heard on High," "O Holy Night," "What Child Is This?" and "Silent Night."

A quartet of Jeanice Baskie, Anna Cowan, Dawn Hilyak and Leslie Tumbling will sing "Do You Hear What I Hear?" Sharon Boudreau, Daniel, will perform " Coventry Carol" and "Jolly Old St. Nicholas," and Christine Hajdak will solo in Irving Berlin's "I'm Dreaming of White Christmas."

The choir will conclude the evening with "Deck the Halls," "O Christmas Tree," "Carol of the Bells," "Silver Bells," and "The Christmas Story." Kathleen Graff will be guitar accompanist.

The seventh grade choir will get Tuesday's "A Merry Christmas Happening" under way with "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Go Tell It on the Mountain," "Unto Us a King Is Born," and "Christmas Bell Carol." Melvin Lumpkin is director of the 70-voice group. Accompanists will be Sandra Bellone, Nora Harmon and Beth McClain.

Before the choir returns for its final appearance, specialty numbers will be featured. A trio of Lorraine Grube, Silie Lundberg and Laura Waterpool will render the Appalachian carol, "I Wander as a Wanderer," and "Let It Snow." On the double horn, Jeffrey Lumpkin will play "Noel," arranged by his father, Cynthia Quakenbush will perform a Christmas baton specialty; Beth McClain and Mr. Lumpkin will be heard in a piano duet, "Christmas Overture," and Lori Lumpkin will play a guitar solo of "Silver Bells."

Winding up the concert, the choir will sing "The Snow Lay on the Ground," "Lumpkin, Fum, Fum," and a Jewish folk dance, "Havah Nagelah." Dancers for the last number will be Amy Traub, Judi Cooper, Martha Dworkin, Adele Risler, Christine Silver, Doreen Dowhnan and Lara Hirth.

A quartet of instrumentalists will open Wednesday's band concert with Johann Sebastian

Court 'Educating' Itself For IBM Case

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge and opposing legal teams in the antitrust suit involving International Business Machine Corp. left Tuesday for the midweek moon launch at Cape Kennedy, Fla.

During the trip, IBM hopes to demonstrate that, contrary to the government's charge, it holds no monopoly on guidance and tracking computers used in the Wednesday moon shot.

A technical briefing on the Cape Kennedy trip was to be held in the federal courtroom of Judge David Edlestein, who is hearing the antitrust suit, now nearly four years old.

In reply, IBM has cited 60 manufacturers of computer systems and 4,000 firms engaged in computer-related work as evidence in its opinion that its business is "open and strongly competitive."

In the largest antitrust action on record, the government brought suit against IBM on Jan. 17, 1969, the last day of the Johnson administration.

The government charged that IBM discouraged competition in violation of antitrust laws by shaving profit margins in some areas to obtain business, and even taking a loss.

The Justice Department began its investigation of IBM operations in 1965. Since then the firm's share in the computer sale and lease market has been estimated as high as 74 per cent. IBM was formed as an office equipment firm in 1911, and now is the world's largest computer manufacturer.

The government seeks to break up the huge IBM complex into separate units, claiming it holds a monopoly in the rapidly expanding computer field. Computer operations last year were the main source of IBM's $3.3 billion revenues.

Following the moon launch, judge and lawyers will stop on their way back at the Goddard Space Center in Maryland, for a similar look at computer operations there. Edlestein has defined as the mission of the journey to "educate" the court himself — in the scope of IBM's computer role in space travel.

Bolton Vocational Plan Sought in School

By JUDITH DONOHUE
Correspondent
Tel. 649-8409

A vocational education committee formed several months ago by the Bolton Board of Education recently submitted its findings to the board with the recommendation that a far-reaching vocational orientation program be implemented for students from kindergarten through high school.

Noting that work is the next step for at least 40 per cent of the high school population, the committee feels that more must be done to prepare students for the career world.

At the K-8 grade levels, the committee suggests that a sequential curriculum be adopted and that materials and special activities in careers be offered once a week in the classroom. They further suggest that teachers be given a considerable amount of leeway in their introduction of material and that they be encouraged to modify and add to the curriculum.

High School
On the high school level, a cooperative work-experience program is being suggested. Such programs, which can be arranged through the State Department of Education, are geared for students who wish to receive on-the-job training in a specialized field a few hours a week. Work periods would alternate with regular classroom periods and be under the supervision of the school.

School guidance counselor Jeff Heinz notes that this phase of the program will require a great deal of scouting and ground work in locating potential employers.

The school board is being asked to study all the materials and proposals being offered by the committee and to take action soon so that the committee may know in which directions it should proceed. Goals of the program include:

• To provide students with a wide range of occupational clusters, resulting in attitudes of increased respect for all types of work.

• To provide each student with the program which will best enable him to make a successful vocational choice, and to provide him with the means to realistically evaluate his own skills and values.

The program should stress the concepts of multi-potentiality and job clusters so that the students will explore many career possibilities. Accordingly, students may be made flexible, according to Heinz, so that they will be able to adjust to the ever-changing world of work.

The Manchester Jaycees are continuing their program of acting as a clearing house for area agencies that have a need for volunteer workers. Through the "DO SOMETHING" campaign, the Jaycees solicit volunteer needs from local agencies and attempt to fill them with local residents.

Through last year's "DO SOMETHING" program, the Jaycees supplied in excess of 300 volunteers. This year there is a need for over 400 people. Thus far the Jaycees are encouraged by the number of volunteers but there is an immediate need for additional volunteers by the following agencies:

MANCHESTER HEAD START PROGRAM needs adults to work with individual or small groups of children in the preschool classroom. Volunteers should have an interest in story telling, art or music, and must be available 9:15-1:15 during the regular school year.

LITERACY VOLUNTEERS OF GREATER HARTFORD needs adults or youths over 16 to teach illiterate people over 16 years of age to read and write. An 18-hour training program is mandatory, for which there is a $15 charge for books and training material.

THE MEADOWS CONVALESCENT HOME needs adults to help with group games, instruct in simple arts and help with field trips. Youths can also help by attending to those patients confined to wheel chairs or by entertaining at afternoon parties.

There are but a few of the volunteer needs. The job qualifications are varied. Some demand the trained skills of a therapist, the knowledge of a teacher, or the talent of a musician. All demand the desire to help.

If you would like to help or would like to find out more about volunteer needs, please contact the Jaycees or complete the form below and mail to "DO SOMETHING" c/o Manchester Jaycees, P. O. Box, Manchester, 06040.

Wins City Report Award

BOSTON (AP) — New Canaan, Conn., has surpassed five other state winners in its class to win an annual New England Municipal Report award.

New Canaan won the outstanding merit award for towns with 10,000 to 25,000 residents. In second and third place were East Longmeadow, Mass., and Waterville, Maine.

Two other Connecticut towns won recognition in the contest. Greenwich took second place among towns in the largest category and Kent won honorable mention in the 1,000-2,500 population class.

The contest is conducted by the New England Council to stimulate excellence in the reporting of municipal activities.

Nation's Fertility Rate Down To 2.1

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time, the nation's fertility rate has dropped below the "replacement" level of 2.1 children per family that is needed to achieve zero population growth, the New York Times reports.

While the nation's population is still growing, it appears that the annual rate of increase this year will be about 0.7 per cent, little more than half the annual rate of 1.5 per cent averaged during the 1960s, the Times said today.

The Times gave this account, based on new figures in the federal Monthly Vital Statistics Report.

For 19 consecutive months both the birth rate and the number of actual births each month has been lower than in the same month the year before.

Figures for the first nine months of this year showed the estimated fertility rate was 2.08 children per family. This compares to 2.39 children per family for the same period of 1971.

Analysts say the significance of the new rate is that the country has broken through the "2.1 barrier" for the first time. The 2.1 children-per-family figure is what the nation would need to eventually stabilize its population, assuming no immigration, and this is the goal of the zero population growth movement.

The figure is 2.1 rather than 2 to account for girls who die before reaching child-bearing age.

If the 2.1 fertility rate were maintained for 70 years the population would stabilize at about 320 million. It is now about 209.3 million.

The fertility rate decline is attributed by population experts to a variety of factors, including the desire of women to have smaller families, the growing proportion of young women who stay single, the number of married women who are having children later, the number of working wives, more effective contraception and liberalizing of abortion laws.

Court Rules States Can Close Bars Having Nude Dancers

WASHINGTON (AP) — On a 6-3 vote the Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the states can shut down bars that feature nude dancers and other "bachelorette revelries."

Justice William H. Rehnquist, in a sexually explicit majority opinion, said the First Amendment freedom does not go beyond books and movies to "gross sexuality" in public.

Rehnquist, he said, the 1st Amendment in ending prohibition gave the states broad controls over the sale of liquor in bars and night clubs.

The ruling came in a case from California where, officials said, "acts of sexual intercourse, masturbation sodomy, bestiality, oral copulation and flagellation" were being passed off as "dancing and entertainment."

Rehnquist agreed with the state's appeal. He said prostitution, indecent exposure to young girls and rape flourished near California bars and night clubs in which "live entertainment" was featured.

The decision upholds 1970 regulations authorizing the state's Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control to suspend or revoke a liquor license when officials conclude there is conduct "contrary to public welfare or morals."

The regulation had been declared unconstitutional in April 1971 by a three-judge federal court in Los Angeles expanded to consider a suit brought by a group of bar owners. That ruling said the state could regulate movies and nude "entertainment" only if it proved at a trial that the exhibitions were obscene.

Justice Rehnquist, in announcing the reversal, said "The department's conclusion, embodied in these regulations, that certain sexual performances and the dispensation of liquor by the drink ought not to occur simultaneously at premises which have licenses was not an irrational one."

Forming the majority with him were the three other Nixon administration appointees, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Harry A. Blackmun and Lewis F. Powell Jr., as well as Justice Potter Stewart and Byron White.

The court's strenuous liberal bloc, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall, dissented.

MAHRC Party Set Saturday

The Manchester Association for the Help of Retarded Children will hold its annual Christmas party for retarded youngsters Saturday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Robertson School.

All Manchester retarded children are invited. If parents have not been notified and wish them to attend, they are asked to call Mrs. Merrill Colton, chairman, at 649-5995.

Entertainment has been arranged by Mr. and Mrs. James Harrington. Assisting Mrs. Colton will be Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sullivan, Mrs. Rosalind Dymek, Mrs. Lina Lechart, Mrs. Sylvester Benson, Miss Dorothy Colton, and Mrs. Evelyn Mirabile.

Santa Claus, naturally, will pay a visit; the Traveler's clowns will liven the occasion with their antics; and music will be provided by Kenneth Woods at the piano, William Cavanaugh on drums, Joseph Secchiaroli on saxophone, and Gordon Lanson on bass.

MAHRC has hosted the party at this season for 30 years. As has been the custom for several years, about 50 residents of the Manchester State Training School will be guests.

Police Report

MANCHESTER
John P. Foullof Jr., 18, of East Hartford, was charged Tuesday with third-degree larceny via a Circuit Court 13 warrant, Manchester Police reported.

Foullof, who turned himself in at Police Headquarters, was released on a $250 non-surety bond. He is scheduled to appear in court Dec. 11 at Manchester.

Police said the charge stems from a recent theft of property from the 47 Cobb Hill Rd. home of Victor Nadsky.

Mark W. Rollinson, 19, of 40 Foley St., was issued a summons Tuesday for failure to set handbrake, after his unlicensed truck rolled into a utility pole on Eldridge St.

Police said Rollinson left the vehicle parked. It rolled across the street into the pole and an iron railing at 183 Eldridge St., police said. The mishap occurred at about 3:30 p.m. Court date is Dec. 18.

Manchester Police reported about ten other accidents which occurred between 1:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Damage was minor in most of the accidents, and no injuries were reported.

SOUTH WINDSOR
A car driven by Craig J. Chess, Julian A. Taylor, 27, of Hartford, was charged with six counts each of third-degree forgery and third-degree larceny, Vernon Police said.

The charges were lodged on a Circuit Court 12 warrant. Details of the alleged crimes were not available.

Taylor was released on a $1,000 non-surety bond. He is to appear in court at Manchester Dec. 18.

Arthur Strickland, 22, of 32 Park Pl., Rockville, was issued a summons for failure to drive a reasonable distance apart after a three-car accident on Rt. 89, Vernon, Tuesday.

Vernon Police said the Strickland car struck a car operated by Maria I. Casadie of 8 Gaynor Pl. The Casadie vehicle was pushed into a car operated by Ronald E. Leach of Sandy Beach Rd., Ellington, police said.

All three cars were towed. No injuries were reported. Court date is Dec. 19 at Rockville.

ELLINGTON
Thomas Ferguson, 47, of 78 Forest St., Manchester, was charged with disregarding a stop sign, after an accident in Ellington Tuesday afternoon, State Police reported.

The 3 p.m. accident at Rt. 140 and Tomoka Ave., involved Ferguson's car and a school bus operated by Leo J. Javal, 23, of 2 West St., Rockville. The school bus, owned by the George Negro Bus Co. of Bolton, was carrying 22 Ellington High School students at the time of the accident.

A passenger in Ferguson's car, his daughter Leigh, 16, suffered multiple injuries. She was listed in satisfactory condition today at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

No other injuries were reported, State Police said.

Both vehicles were towed from the scene Tuesday.

Court date is Jan. 15 at Manchester.

Fire Calls
Town firemen were called to 11 Fairfield St. at 11:37 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a fire in the basement.

Firemen said damage was limited to the basement area.

The occupants, Mrs. Colleen LaPointe and her three children, were in the house when the fire started, but they got out without injury.

The small blaze apparently started in a mattress in the basement, according to firemen.

MCC Art Exhibit, Carol Sing Friday

The annual Manchester Community College student art exhibition and Christmas sing will be held Friday night in the Hartford Rd. building. The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

The evening will open at 8 in the cafeteria with a selection of traditional and contemporary music by the MCC chorus. The 23 students and two faculty members are under the direction of Robert Yater. There will also be a community sing.

Approximately 80 students from the humanities class will perform seasonal tunes and original compositions, required as part of course study, on tonettes. These simple, inexpensive, flute-like instruments are used to teach students the fundamentals of music by actually playing.

Following the musical portion of the evening, a reception will be held in the Stairwell Gallery, where student creations in many media will be on display. These include drawings, acrylic and oil paintings; sculptures welded in metal; sculptures of plaster, polyester, wood, and found objects; ceramics; hats; macramé; and weaving.

Sales Tax Cut Unlikely Before July 1

MERIDEN (AP) — Citing past legislative history, state Tax Commissioner George Brown says any reduction in the state's seven per cent sales tax by the 1973 Republican-controlled General Assembly probably won't take effect until July 1.

"Of course, the legislature can make it effective any time they want," Brown said today.

"But more than likely, following past history, any tax reform legislation would be held off until the start of the new fiscal year, July 1, rather than begin at the start of a new fiscal quarter such as April 1."

In a speech to the Meriden Rotary Club Tuesday, Brown said that any tax reform should be embodied in one package rather than enacted piecemeal.

Control Data Corporation, Control Data Corporation, located at 41 Progress Dr., came to Manchester in 1971 having relocated from Burlington, Vt. The corporation is among the largest 150 corporations of its kind in the United States.

As a computer-oriented company, CDC is known for its large, scientific oriented computers. But its success and reputation in that field has led to its branching out into the "total services concept" reaching all markets in the computer industry.

Control Data Corporation is one of the few computer companies to make its own peripheral products such as disk drives, terminals, controllers, etc. Part of the peripheral products group is the Business Forms Division. The Forms Division is a nationwide marketing organization supported by six manufacturing facilities strategically located across the United States. The Form Division Plant in Manchester, occupying 72,000 square feet, is one of the largest and a key part of the manufacturing organization.

The Forms Division is an amalgamation of several regional business forms companies. Skilled forms manufacturing and marketing personnel from these divisions have infused the Forms Division with a high degree of professional competence. This "know-how" is being employed to produce and sell a CDC forms product for every phase of data processing.

Under the total services concept, particular emphasis is being placed on the ability to provide comprehensive service to users of electronic data processing equipment.

...A feeling by many Americans that domestic and international tensions are easing which, say consumer psychologists, may be translated into a greater willingness to make long-term spending commitments.

...A feeling of affluence or at least of greater financial security, resulting from the buildup of savings.

Some observers, including the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, feel also that this year's savings figures might be distorted by over-withholding of income taxes resulting from elimination of the tax surcharge.

Some people, it is felt, may have reduced other forms of savings, knowing they were due to receive a refund check early next year from the Internal Revenue Service.

By the same logic, some families also may be spending heavily now in anticipation of being reimbursed by the IRS next spring. In all, the total of refunds is expected to be around $8 billion.

If that total were added to the savings rate it would now be well over 7 per cent instead of around 6.4 per cent. But even that rate would represent a substantial drop from the spring of 1971.

Model Aircraft Popular Chicago — There are about 500,000 Americans who fly model aircraft as a sport or hobby.

It is because of this enormous market power that retailers in recent years have been especially attentive to consumer moods and why the study of consumer attitudes and expectations has risen in importance.

Just a little more than three decades ago relatively few Americans had what is called discretionary spending power—that is, a choice in how their money was to be spent. For millions of people, all money earned was committed to necessities.

Consumers today have an increasing amount of discretionary income and, as a result, their behavior is less predictable in retail markets. Even when able to spend, it has been found, they may not be willing to spend.

Many explanations for resumption of spending have been offered, and to some degree all may be factors: —The rise in real buying power as inflation eases and

Personal Debt On The Increase

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are going heavily into debt again after imposing a Spartan-like regimen on themselves beginning in the summer of 1969, when economic and other fears overpowered the buying instinct.

In October alone they added credit of $1.22 billion, a record for any month. Excluding home mortgages, it brought consumer credit to nearly $150 billion and the peak of the surge may still be many weeks away.

The greatest single category of credit is for the purchase of automobiles, although the more recent increases quite likely reflect in part the activities of early Christmas shoppers.

Regardless of the use to which the money is being put, it is considered highly significant as indicative of a fundamental change in consumer psychology, from fear to confidence, from lethargy to enthusiasm.

The malaise that afflicted consumer buying had been accompanied by a surge in the rate of savings that peaked at 8.6 per cent of take-home pay in the second quarter of 1971.

Since that time the rate has been declining, although there were indications it was leveling off at a rate around 6.4 per cent. A drop of that magnitude adds at least $15 billion a year to sales.

It is because of this enormous market power that retailers in recent years have been especially attentive to consumer moods and why the study of consumer attitudes and expectations has risen in importance.

Just a little more than three decades ago relatively few Americans had what is called discretionary spending power—that is, a choice in how their money was to be spent. For millions of people, all money earned was committed to necessities.

HOLIDAY PARTIES

MOTHERS OF TWINS
The Tolland County Mothers of Twins Club is planning its annual Christmas party Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Lake Street School in Vernon.

Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute gifts and a puppet show will be presented. Refreshments will be served after the program. Mrs. Barbara Bruno is chairman of the event and Mrs. Edie Sedrozniski is in charge of the show.

The club's regular monthly meeting will be held a week early this month, on Dec. 13, at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Nancy Landerman, Baxter Rd., in Storrs. There will also be an identical set of twins at the meeting to talk of their childhood. A Christmas party will follow. All members are asked to bring a grab bag gift.

VFW CHILDREN
The annual Christmas party for children, sponsored by the VFW Post and its Auxiliary will be held Saturday, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Post Home.

Registration fee is $1 per family for ages 2 through 9, for members and their guests.

Registration may be made at the Post Home or by calling Cary Crane, 96 Essex St. Deadline is Friday.

Pi Beta Sale To Aid Appalachian People

The Manchester Area Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi will hold its annual Arrowcraft sale Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Community Hall of Mott's Supermarket, 587 E. Middle Tpk.

Handcrafted articles of weaving, woodwork, and jewelry will be sold. These unusual items are examples of the handicrafts of the Appalachian Mountain people. Traditional designs have been woven into table linens, handbags, stoles, and blankets. Native wood carvings, bowls, toys, and brooms are among many of the items offered.

Funds derived from this sale will help support the Arrowcraft School of Arts and Crafts in the Appalachian Mountain area. This university-accredited school had its beginnings in 1912, when it was first established as a Settlement School as a memorial by Pi Beta Phi Fraternity to its founders. In addition to educating the young, the school encouraged and promoted the revitalization of handicrafts of the area. Pi Beta Phi, through its sales of Arrowcrafts made at the school, provides the outlet for the goods made by the mountain people.

Warnings For Christmas Shoppers

Commissioner Barbara Dunn of the Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection has issued a list of warnings for Christmas shoppers.

"Shoppers will save money and unnecessary hassle if they follow these shopping tips," said Mrs. Dunn.

1. Make a careful Christmas list. Buying on impulse makes money disappear fast, and unwisely.

2. Keep your sales slips. You may need them to exchange the item or to get a refund. Often a sale is final, so make sure you know the conditions of the sale for each gift.

3. If you buy an item with a guarantee, make sure that you know what is guaranteed, and the conditions of the guarantee. Have all guaranteed statements written on the sales slip. Make sure the person who receives the gift will be able to take advantage of the guarantee.

4. Be especially careful of your wallet, pocketbook and your money in the crowded stores. That jostle you feel may be an experienced pickpocket at work.

5. Know the company you do business with. If there is doubt about a certain company, check with the Better Business Bureau before you buy there.

The Same Look

1327 10-18

Mother and daughter will look so nice when wearing this pretty style! No. 1327 with retro-groing is in sizes 10 to 18. Size 12 bust - 2 1/2 yards of 45-inch; plus 1/2 yard contrast. No. 1328 with retro-groing is in sizes 3 to 9. Size 4 - 1 1/2 yards 45-inch plus 1/2 yard contrast. TWO SEPARATE PATTERNS.

10. When you buy, beware of bargains that seem too good to be true. They may be just that.

11. Credit cards are as valuable as money. Guard them carefully at the counter. Make sure that the salesperson has returned yours before you leave.

12. Credit cards are a convenience at Christmas rush time. They save time, but don't let the deferred payments tempt you into spending more money than you can afford. You'll have to pay that bill sometime, remember.

"With these suggestions, the careful Christmas shopper can save money and cut down on after-Christmas annoyances," said Mrs. Dunn.

Hospital Postpones Rate Hike

NEW BRITAIN (AP) - Efficient improvements will permit New Britain General Hospital to postpone a room-rate increase scheduled for Jan. 1, the hospital said Tuesday.

A cost-efficiency study has saved the institution $89,000 this year and will continue making comparable savings during the next few years, a spokesman said. That, the elimination of much overtime and donations enabled the hospital to hold the line on rates.

New Britain General has planned to increase its 874 average room rate on Jan. 1 to $70. The statewide average is $60, according to the hospital.

Park Injuries Decline
Washington - Despite a 15 per cent increase in visits in the National Park system in 1971, there was a 22.6 per cent decrease in visitor injuries requiring medical treatment - 3,717, compared with 4,797 in 1970.

Serve An Apollo Meal At Home

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. - While our Apollo 17 astronauts are eating their meals in space, you might like to serve your family the same type meals at home.

Although the serving of food in space requires special preparation, packaging and equipment, the same basic foods can be prepared at home.

Each astronaut selected his own meals from a list of more than 100 items, and each meal was prepared and packaged by the life support division of Whirlpool Corporation.

Dr. Larson says that astronauts' meals are tasty, nutritious and provide approximately 2,500 calories per day. He suggests the following menus for those who would like to prepare meals that correspond to what Astronauts Corra, Evans and Schmitt will eat:

December 7 menu for Eugene A. Cernan: breakfast: spiced oatmeal, cinnamon toast, bread, sausage patties, mixed fruit, instant breakfast, coffee; lunch: corn chowder, frankfurters, bread, white, cat sup, apricots, orange, grapefruit drink; dinner: turkey and gravy, port and potatoes, brownies, orange juice, lemonade.

December 8 menu for Ronald Evans: Breakfast: scrambled eggs, bacon squares, peaches, cinnamon toast, orange juice, cocoa; lunch: lobster bisque, peanut butter, jelly, bread, white, cherry bar, citrus beverages; dinner: shrimp cocktail, beef steak, butterscotch pudding, orange drink.

December 9 menu for Harrison Schmitt: Breakfast: sausage patties,

Top Artists

The following artists were chosen as winners in the "Art of the Mouth" contest sponsored by the Manchester Art Association at their November meeting: Myrtle Carlson, "Tulips and Iris" first place; Barbara Atwood, "Flowers in August," second; Marilyn Mann, "Flowers," third; Mary Botticello, "Field Flowers," fourth; Kay Adams, "Happiness," fifth; Agnes Green, "A Daisy," sixth; and Helen Wams, "Flame," seventh.

All of the winning paintings can be seen on display throughout various banks, libraries, and artist supply stores in Manchester.

'Tis The Christmas Shoplifting Season And Stores Are Ready

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer

"The Christmas shopping season, and store detectives across Connecticut are decking their halls with TV cameras, peepholes and one-way mirrors. "The greater amount of people around, the greater amount of sticky fingers," says a security official at a Bridgeport store. "More professional shoplifters work at this time of the year," says Joseph Case, a detective sergeant at Macy's in New Haven. "They like to work in crowds."

Many security men won't let their names or the names of their stores be used in print. But, promised anonymity, they talk frankly about their shoplifting problem and how they plan to fight it.

"We are prosecuting all our shoplifters," says the top security man at a major Hartford store, "and more people are tending toward our policy now. The arrests for shoplifting are up 200 per cent in the past 10 years."

"In Sears there is a company policy where we do prosecute all people who are picked up for shoplifting," says Joseph Bachand, chief of security at the Sears store in Waterbury. The security men complain, though, that neither catching nor prosecuting the thieves is an easy job.

Connecticut law does not give store detectives a blank check to search a shopper, shopping bag or a purse just because he suspects a shoplift.

"You take your chances whenever you do a search," says a Hartford security man. "If you do the search and you find something stolen, you're okay. But if it turns out you were wrong, you could get slapped with a lawsuit for false arrest."

"Our agents will do everything up to putting their heads in a customer's pocket to see if he's hiding something, but we can't be sure about stopping and searching him unless we see him putting something in there."

Some store officials also consider the penalties for shoplifting too light. Most shoplifting involves merchandise worth less than $50, they say, and the biggest punishment that can be meted out for a first offense is a $100 fine, 30 days' imprisonment or both.

Many shoplifters manage to get acquitted of the charges or get extremely light sentences, the officials say.

"I'd say the only time they don't get off is on third or second degree larceny charges (for stealing larger amounts of goods) or if it's their fifth or sixth offense," says Joseph Bachand at Sears. "It's not helping us at all."

To catch shoplifters, merchants are investing in large amounts of cash in detectors, often known as "floor operatives," special mirrors and electronic devices.

High Court Requests Nader

HARTFORD (AP) — The state Supreme Court refused Tuesday to order a Superior Court judge to rule on the issues in Ralph Nader's attempt to dissolve the giant merger of Hartford Fire Insurance Co. and International Telephone and Telegraph.

The well known consumer advocate is appealing the lower court's March 30 ruling that he was not sufficiently involved in the merger to challenge it.

The Supreme Court's unopposed order means that when it hears Nader's appeal, it will be considering only whether the Superior Court has jurisdiction to make the ruling.

Nader's lawyers also tried to get the high court to order Superior Court Judge Walter J. Sidor to consider issues concerning alleged disadvantages to Hartford Fire stockholders that Nader had raised, but the judge had rejected.

"The more I'm in government, the more I realize that the mercurious probing scrutiny of public affairs by the media is the bulwark of our freedom," Hull said in an interview.

"It's the people business we are running. The public has almost an untrammeled right to know anything it wants to know about its government at all levels."

Hull said that the shield law issue is complex, and he maintained confidential information vital to criminal proceedings should be available under certain circumstances.

Hull's general backing of a shield law conflicts with that of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, who opposes such laws. Asked about Meskill's recent speech at Yale University opposing shield laws, Hull said: "I think it was a forceful statement of his views. I obviously disagree."

"The governor has said his independent thinker, and he wants him that way," Hull said. "I disagreed with the governor on the abortion issue; I disagree with him on the shield law and I will disagree with him on capital punishment."

Drug Abuse Increase Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of drug abuse cases recorded by the Connecticut Health Department has increased more than eight times in the past five years, according to a report by a Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the panel, called attention to "ample and alarming evidence that barbiturate abuse is a major health problem reaching into every region and stratum of American society."

Bayh, releasing the report quieted Connecticut's Toxicologist Abraham Siskin as reporting that the Health Department found 83 cases of barbiturate abuse in 1967 and 781 cases last year. That is an increase of 832 per cent.

The senator also quoted Hartford Police Sgt. John Telesky as reporting that illegal users of barbiturates, or "downers," have less contact with police than persons addicted to narcotics because the barbiturates are less expensive and can be obtained more easily.

Sizeable thefts of the drug in Connecticut that were listed in the report include 1.35 million doses taken last November in Danbury and 92,000 stolen in New Haven a year earlier.

The detailed report contains information from 25 states, including Connecticut.

It also noted that the number of barbiturates seized by Rhode Island police during the five-year period increased nearly 400 per cent.

Joseph Cahill, drug control administrator for Rhode Island, "believes that the sources of these drugs are massive diversions from their inventories by prescription forgeries, over-prescribing, theft and deliberate conversion to contraband by persons lawfully authorized to have such drugs under their control, the report said."

Fibreglass Panels Form House in Tolland

Something new in contemporary home construction is being offered by the A.F. Edwards Co., 357 E. Center St. This home under construction is being built according to the specifications of Donald and Margaret Seligman, the owners, in Tolland. Seligman, lower left, discusses plans with sales manager Dan Harner as workmen assemble the fibreglass segments. The segments of a sandwich type of construction—the exterior and interior being fibreglass with a layer of polyurethane insulation between, can be arranged in any configuration. The interior surface is an off-white, but there is a choice of exterior colors. No gutters or downspouts are required. The panels are paint impregnated and will not require painting. This type of construction is adaptable to either a two-level or single-level dwelling.

Vernon To Get Traffic Light

The Town of Vernon has been notified by the State Traffic Commission that a traffic signal is warranted for the intersection of West St. and Ridgewood and Regan Roads and it is expected work will start soon.

Police Chief Edmund Dwyer, who also heads the Traffic Authority, asked the state, last summer, to make a study for signalization of the area where several accidents have occurred and according to the state the study was made and the minimum warrants for the signal were satisfied.

Rockville Shopping Area Steps Approved

The stairway that led from Brooklyn St. down to the Rockville shopping area will be replaced but instead of the original 44 steps there will be 24.

The Vernon Town Council voted Monday night to build the stairway. In the spring after hearing a report by Town Engineer Leonard Sweeney, the council voted to go with plans to build a steel stairway and to appropriate not more than $5,500 from the contingency fund to do the job which will go out to bid.

Sweeney said the estimated cost to build the stairway is $3,550 which includes the detail work but not the concrete footings which he suggested can be constructed by the town's public works department for $200 or 300. He also suggested that the stairway be covered which will cost an additional $1,250. He added if the sides were also enclosed the total additional cost would be $2,850 but recommended only the top covering for the present time.

Plans are to install the steps at the original site which comes down from High St. to Brooklyn St. opposite the Tober Baseball plant if the town has a right-of-way there.

Residents of the High St. area petitioned to have the steps installed noting it is the only means of access, by foot, to the downtown area. Sweeney said the steps will be built at a 33 and one-half degree angle in keeping with safety codes and

Vernon Notes Knowlton Rangers Visit School

Life in the Revolutionary War days was re-enacted for students at the Vernon Center Middle School Monday when the Knowlton Rangers of Coventry visited bringing with them equipment used in Revolutionary days and dressed in the uniforms of those times.

The Rangers were assisted in their demonstrations, which included the firing of a "Brown Bess" a weapon used during the Revolutionary war, by Mrs. Carol Woodbury, a special services teacher at Middle School. Also assisting was Paul Nicholas, a math teacher at the school. Mrs. Woodbury is a member of the auxiliary of the Knowlton Rangers and Nicholas is a member of the Rangers. Mrs. Grace Cratty who heads the social studies department at the school said the students found the demonstration a practical one on how life was lived in New England at the time of the Revolutionary War.

Listening Sessions The Liturgy Committee of St. Bernard Church Council will begin a series of "listening sessions" in the homes of parishioners in January in an effort to build a spirit of community between members of the church by listening to ideas and suggestions for the parish.

The visiting team will consist of a priest, a sister and a lay member of the council and the person living in the home where the session is held will be asked to invite other Catholics in their neighborhood to join the discussion.

Carol Groups The Vernon-Ellington Newcomers Club members will be Christmas Caroling at Rockville area rest homes on Sunday starting at 6:30 p.m. Anyone wishing further information should contact Mrs. Robert Price. The December meeting of the club has been cancelled.

State Supreme Court Retains Remapping Jurisdiction

BARTFORD (AP)—The state Supreme Court reaffirmed Tuesday its intention to retain jurisdiction over reapportionment of the legislature at least until the U.S. Supreme Court rules next year on the constitutionality of the new districts.

The state's highest court said it may have further work to do if the nation's highest court rejects the reapportionment plan.

Should the General Assembly fail to act within the framework of a designated time schedule, this court will take such affirmative action as may be necessary to insure that a valid plan of apportionment may be available for the state election to be held in November 1974," said the state Supreme Court.

In other words, the state Supreme Court indicated it will take a hand in the proceedings if the U.S. Supreme Court rules the plan invalid and sends the matter back to the state legislature.

The U.S. Supreme Court would be more likely, however, to send the case back to the lower federal court which has ruled the new districts unconstitutional.

The state Supreme Court also reiterated Tuesday its previous statement that the plan which was in effect for this year's

Rent-A-Santa Program Flourishing on Coast

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Santa Claus standards are higher than ever this season, and old St. Nick himself might have a tough time getting hired by department stores.

So says Tressa Houck, operator of a Santa Claus employment service for four years in Palo Alto, just south of San Francisco.

"There are black Santas, bilingual Santas and Santas of all sizes and shapes," said Mrs. Houck, whose Western Girl agency has placed more than 400 Santas around the county over the years.

In an average day, she said, Santa may interview 1,200 children.

For the $3 an hour they are paid, the fat, jolly gents are expected to work six days a week; avoid smoking and drinking like the plague; eschew drugs, even prescription types; roll out the Santa-spiel endlessly—and be prepared for the worst.

Some kids get so excited they wet their pants—and Santa's—while telling Mr. Kringle what they want for Christmas.

"We always keep a spare pair of pants handy," said Mrs. Houck.

College-age men make the best Santas, she said, because "they get along best with children and can take the wear and tear."

"It's not easy. They need a mother's patience, a child's wonderment and most importantly they've got to believe in the spirit of Christmas."

And each little kiddie gets the same speech with the precision of the guard-change at

A book dealing with the necessity to adapt existing churches and build new ones to keep step with the demands of people and the times has been written by a former Manchester resident and published by Beacon Press.

Edwin Lynn

The author of "Tired Dragons: Adapting Church Architecture to Changing Needs" is Edwin Lynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lynn of 47 Green Rd. A registered architect and ordained minister, he lives at the Northshore Unitarian Universalist Church in Danvers, Mass. He is also vice president of the Religious Arts Guild, and a member of the Guild for Religious Architecture and the American Society for Church Architecture.

Lynn's unusual dual background has given him a unique understanding of the problems of religious architecture. His book emphasizes the need for churches to be used throughout the week and changes in the sanctuary to allow increased participation and celebration in worship. He presents a simple way to improve space utilization, as well as case studies of cooperative building of new churches.

A 1953 graduate of Manchester High School and a 1959 cum laude graduate of Syracuse University, Lynn first worked as an architect in Colorado, where his work was involved in the Great Books Discussion Program. Working with people in this and other endeavors led to his receiving, in 1967, a master of theology, with a major in social psychology.

Armentano Authors 'Myths of Antitrust'

Dominick Armentano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Armentano of Stony Rd., Bolton, has recently published a book entitled "The Myths of Antitrust," a study of classic anti-trust cases. The work is reportedly the only comprehensive treatment of the entire body of anti-trust cases in existence.

Dr. Armentano was educated in Bolton and was president of the first graduating class at Rham High School.

He was graduated cum laude from the University of Connecticut in 1962 and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He earned his MA and PhD degrees from UConn where he taught economics before joining the faculty at the University of Hartford where he is now associate professor of economics.

South Windsor Private Meetings Protested

The Concerned Citizens for Responsive and Responsible Government (CCRRG) said today it finds it disappointing that Board of Education Chairman James Arnold has "deemed it necessary for the board to retreat to the isolation of a series of private meetings" to discuss alternatives to the overworking of high school personnel.

In a written statement, the CCRRG said the board policies dictate that executive sessions are held "only when the subject being discussed involves personnel." They said non-public meetings, private discussions, "cocktail parties" (a term used by Chairman Arnold at public meetings in regards to the board's private sessions) "are nothing more than a clumsy attempt to subvert the public's right to know."

They further stated that they doubt these excursions into "cocktail parties" will contribute to a positive solution to the problem of overworking of the high school. The CCRRG concludes that "in view of the board's past record, privately held non-public meetings seem to contribute more to the problem than to the solution."

Accordingly, the CCRRG claims it is the right of the public who have amply expressed their concern, to fully be informed of any developments the board may make in reaching a solution to this problem, they say.

South Windsor Fund Voted For Study Of Charter

The Town Council Monday approved a request for $400 to be used by the Charter Revision Commission for study of the town's charter.

The members say they reason that an alert, active citizenry is one of a town's greatest resources. The CRC has already held a meeting and is looking into one specific area of controversy. Upon the request of Mayor Abraham Glassman, the commission will determine the best method of making all elections in the future more competitive, rather than continuing to have a situation that will occur during the next town election. The current charter guarantees the election of all candidates chosen by their parties.

Council also tabled action on the appropriation of money for construction of six tennis courts and will consider eight bids ranging from $17,400 to $22,700 for lighting of the courts, and bids from $41,400 to $85,000 for the construction of the courts only.

The council appointed Edward Pastula as a member of the Personnel Board of Appeals and Fr. John Curry Gay, co-pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Church, to the South Windsor Housing Authority to fill a position left by Rev. James Birdsall due to a parish transfer.

Christmas Mail Deadlines Near At Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service today reminded customers of the recommended deadlines of Dec. 10 for mailing holiday parcels and Dec. 15 for cards and letters to be delivered within the contiguous 48 states.

Postal employees will devote about 140 million man hours to processing the Christmas mail.

Hebron Landfill Plan Bids Received

At its recent organizational meeting, the commission elected Robert Craig as chairman and Gerald Cross as vice chairman and Mrs. Evelyn Croston as secretary.

Former chairman Eric Emt called the commission, stating that, because of his interest in youth activities, he does not have the time to give as chairman. However, he wished to remain on the commission.

The Recreation Commission will sponsor a Christmas decorating contest for private premises with prizes being awarded for most original and for creative uses of lights.

The "Holiday of Lights" contest is under the direction of recreational-cultural director Gordon MacDonald and residents interested in being judged should send a postcard with their names and addresses to the Recreation Commission, Town Office Building.

A mouse was the only living thing aboard the rocket. The day was July 21, the year 1958 and the missile a puny Thor-Able rocket that made a successful 5,000-mile suborbital flight.

"They didn't get the mouse back," Barbree recalled. "The poor mouse died. It was probably the most expensive mouse trap we ever built."

Barbree, a native of Blakeley, Ga., is NBC's resident newscaster at the Cape. You don't normally see him on television during the big ones.

Organized by James Cello, physical education director for the elementary schools, the clinic was a culmination to an after-school program prior to the start of the Hebron youth basketball program.

Police said the youth, Robert J. DiBella, had been reported missing Monday by his father. The cause of his death remained unclear.

Girls Cello also is presently conducting an after-school basketball program for girls in Grades 4, 5 and 6. This program is held two days a week at each of the elementary schools and will continue until Dec. 22.

Assisting Cello with the program are fourth grade teacher Mrs. Cynthia Strause and Mrs. Anne Emt.

Beginning this week several agencies in town will be participating in a pilot program at Rham High School which has been instituted by Mrs. Roberta Ash's stenography II and secretarial office practice classes.

For 1½ hours a day, girls will be going out on a work-study type program helping with secretarial and clerical chores at the agencies.

Participating in the program are the Town Officers, Miller Real Estate Agency, McDonald Real Estate Agency, Tupper Real Estate Agency and Adams Insurance Co.

Legion Party The annual American Legion Jones-Keele-Batson Post Children's Christmas party will be held Dec. 17 at 2 p.m. Members' children and grandchildren up to the age of 12 are welcome to attend.

The Post requests that members inform it by Friday as to the number and ages of children who will be attending.

Food Drive The Young Pilgrim Fellowship (YFP) of St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be participating Saturday in a canned goods food drive sponsored by the Tolland Association of Pilgrim Fellowships.

The youngsters will be canvassing the town door-to-door between 2 and 4 p.m. seeking canned goods that will be donated by the association to needy families in the area for Christmas.

Elections At its recent organizational meeting, the YFP elected Ann Megson as president for the year. Others elected were Kathy Thomas, vice president; Elizabeth Burt, secretary; Kim Porter, treasurer; and Michael Donnelly, chaplain.

Baby-Sitting The YFP is offering baby-sitting services to area mothers who might wish to leave their children on Saturdays while they go Christmas shopping. The service will be at Phelps Hall from 1 to 5 p.m. and there will be a charge of $1 per child.

Space Reporter Notes 'Old Gee Whiz' Is Missing

By JAY SHARRUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It is far better to light a candle than to curse the darkness. Bear that in mind as the CBS, NBC and ABC television networks cover the last of the great candle-lighting tonight.

It's the Apollo 17 launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., heading for America's last manned moon landing in the foreseeable future. Network television coverage of it will start shortly after 9:30 p.m. EST if the launch isn't delayed.

For the old hands on the Cape, the night probably will contain an equal blend of jubilation, sadness, nostalgia and, if the burn is good, hard liquor in the saloons of nearby Cocoa Beach after the launch.

For Jay Barbree, the blastoff of astronaut Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt is a far cry from the first blastoff he covered for NBC News as a radio reporter.

A mouse was the only living thing aboard the rocket. The day was July 21, the year 1958 and the missile a puny Thor-Able rocket that made a successful 5,000-mile suborbital flight.

"They didn't get the mouse back," Barbree recalled. "The poor mouse died. It was probably the most expensive mouse trap we ever built."

Swiss Priest Ordered To Stop Teaching

FRIBOURG, Switzerland (AP) — Prof. Stephanus Pfluetner, noted Roman Catholic theologian who says sexual happiness is a basic human right, will stop teaching at Fribourg University under a Vatican order that seems bound to touch off a showdown between Rome and the Swiss Conference of Bishops.

Authoritative sources say the Fribourg cantonal (state) government was advised by the father general of Pfluetner's Dominican order in Rome that the German professor has lost his "Missio Canonica" or right to lecture at the theological faculty.

The move came in spite of repeated efforts by the Swiss bishops to cool the issue by having Pfluetner agree to a loyalty statement and redefine some of his "twelve theses on sexual ethics" that were called incompatible with accepted dogma. He declined the retraction demanded by his Rome superiors earlier this year.

In essence, the "theses" presented to a small audience in Bern last fall suggest that the sexuality of a mature individual be controlled by his conscience and responsibility.

"Society has no right to interfere with the sexual freedom of a mature human as long as this activity does not have any socially damaging effect," it says.

Withdrawal of Pfluetner's right to teach still requires approval by the Fribourg state government. An 83-year-old treaty ordinarily grants the Dominican order its way at the state university that gets an annual subsidy from the Swiss government of about one million francs, about $200,000.

The government has put off its decision pending a conference of the bishops starting Sunday. The case is likely to figure as its most prominent issue. Some bishops are known to be deeply concerned over Rome's rigid position that seemingly paid little attention to their compromise efforts.

In October, Bishop Franziskus Nestor Adam of Sion, president of the Swiss Bishops Conference, traveled to Rome for a meeting with Pope Paul VI. Cardinal Serey, prefect of the Congregation of Faith, it failed to soften the Vatican stand.

Swiss Catholics also have appealed to Jean Cardinal Villot, Vatican secretary of state, that any move in the case should be coordinated with the Swiss bishops.

Apollo Landing Sites

This drawing shows scheduled landing site for Apollo 17 in relation to landing sites of the previous Apollos. The Apollo 17 launch is set for tonight with the lunar landing scheduled for Dec. 11, 113 hours after liftoff. (AP drawing)

Specially Trained Crews To Hover Near Apollo

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The nighttime launch of Apollo 17 on Wednesday has meant "blindfold practice" for the specially trained Air Force crews assigned the job of rescuing the astronauts if the moon mission is aborted.

An hour before the 9:53 p.m. EST liftoff, the "beach boss" — Lt. Col. Raymond A. Boyd — will be in the air aboard one of four helicopters hovering in stacked formation about five miles north of the launch complex.

Three HH3C choppers, known as Jolly Green Giants, will be poised to dispatch crews of doctors, firefighters, frogman and hatch opening specialists to find the command module on land, in a swamp or in the Atlantic Ocean.

"Our response time is 30 minutes," said Boyd, 51, a Vietnam veteran.

Within a half-hour from the time the mission is aborted, the helicopter teams can find the capsule, drop the pararescue team and retrieve the astronauts.

"Our biggest problem at night, of course, is visibility," Boyd said. "We have had very extensive training for night sea recovery not only for Apollo 17 but for Skylab."

Rescue at sea is the most probable, extracting the astronauts from an overturned command module in marshes near the Cape is the most difficult, Boyd said.

To compensate for a lack of visibility Boyd has added two Army UH1 helicopters with powerful xenon search lights that illuminate 1,000 square feet of ground.

At sea, new procedures and an extra copier have been added to the first nighttime launch of a U.S. manned space flight.

"In the daytime the pararescue team can jump out of the helicopter but at night the pilots have no depth perception — they can't tell if they're five feet or 30 feet above the water," Boyd said.

So, the three-man teams trained as frogmen will be lowered in nylon mesh webs. The other two helicopters will drop flares to provide light and smoke flares to determine the wind direction.

In all, there are 84 men assigned the job of helping rescue the three astronauts should it be necessary. Nine have the responsibility of getting the astronauts safely out of the capsule.

One of the pararescue crew is Sgt. Jules Smith of Dallas, Tex., who has had experience plucking fighter pilots from the Pacific Ocean and daytime rescue training for Apollo 16.

"There's a million to one chance that anything will go wrong but that's why we're here," he said. "If those guys need us, we'll get 'em."

Another of the pararescuers is Sgt. Transtio Trujillo of Tucumcari, N.M., who admits there is an element of danger in working at night.

"There's always some risk, but not much for us," he said. "We can do our job with our eyes closed and have," he said, explaining part of the sea-rescue training was done "blindfolded" without flares.

Seminar On Space Ship Will Watch Apollo 17 Launch

NEW YORK (AP) — As the Apollo astronauts prepare to board their spaceship for the moon, dozens of philosophers and futurists will be studying the significance of the flight aboard a ship at sea.

A seminar on space, called "Voyage Beyond Apollo: A conference on the total environment and the future of civilization" will be held on the S.S. Statendam.

The ship set sail from New York Monday evening and will arrive off Cape Kennedy in time for the launch tonight.

Scientists and writers like Norman Mailer and Katherine Anne Porter and other ship passengers will have a chance to listen in on discussions about "Interstellar Communication," "Ecological Intelligence."

Miss Porter said she hadn't been on the boat long enough to draw any parallels yet with her last book, "The Ship of Fools."

She said she plans to write an article for Playboy magazine about the Apollo 17 cruise.

"I'm taking the seminar for my own education because I haven't really paid much attention to these space shots from the scientific angle," she said. "Man in his restlessness has always been trying to leave terra firma. What is it that makes life so difficult on earth that man always wants to get away?"

Miss Porter, 82 years old, confided that she never thought she'd still be alive this year "so this moon shot and trip is very exciting for me."

Norman Mailer, wearing a suit and a maroon turban and his greying hair trimmed, was sipping champagne in his cabin with his sister and with his wife, the former Carol Stevens.

"I can take or leave the seminars, though I guess I will participate in the discussion on the arts," he said. "What I'm really looking forward to is seeing the bird go up at night."

He suddenly remembered he'd forgotten his field glasses. "How monumentally stupid," Mailer exclaimed to his wife.

The idea for the seminar cruise was conceived by futurists Arthur C. Clark, Robert Duncan-Eassman and Richard Hoagland. "I'm disappointed that more people didn't sign up for the seminar," said Hoagland, "but the people that did come will have a major impact when they return. We also plan a book and a film documentary from the seminars."

"The space age is the most important cultural change since man started using tools and fire," said Stein, handing out a copy of his speech entitled "The Third Industrial Revolution."

Teenagers Arrested

GREENWICH (AP) — Four teenagers, two from the Bronx, N.Y., were held today on $5,000 bond each on charges of possession with the intent to sell drugs, police said.

The arrests came Monday as police seized 30 pounds of marijuana which had an estimated street value of $10,000, according to police.

Details of the incident and arrests were held released.

Charged are Howard Forman and Stephen Diicola, both 19 and both from the Bronx; Peter Merkle, 17, of Old Greenwich; and Michael Crane, 17, from Riverside.

Social Security

Q. I am a housewife; however, each year I sell Christmas cards for a few months. My net earnings are between $50 and $600 a year. Is this considered self-employment and do I receive Social Security coverage for this work?

A. You receive Social Security credit for your earnings as a self-employed person if you have net earnings from self-employment of at least $400 in a year. If your net earnings are less than $400 in a year, you can't get Social Security credit.

Q. I have an insurance agency and my wife works for me on a full-time basis as my secretary. We file a joint tax return. When I file my self-employment tax return, how much of my wife's earnings are reported for Social Security?

A. If you and your wife are not actual business partners, your wife's earnings are not covered by Social Security. Net earnings go only to the one who manages and controls the business.

Q. I own and operate a farm. My 18-year-old is working on a full-time basis as my secretary. He is self-employed. Since his net earnings will be over $400 for the year, he must file an income tax return and pay the Social Security self-employment contribution regardless of his age.

Q. I recently purchased a small neighborhood store and I would like to know how to correctly figure my net earnings for Social Security?

A. Count as your net earnings for Social Security the gross income from your trade or business, less all of your allowable business deductions and depreciation. The following kinds of income do not count for Social Security credit: dividends from shares of stock and interest on bonds or other interest-bearing instruments issued by corporations, unless received in the course of business as a dealer in stocks and securities. Interest from loans unless you are engaged in the business of lending money. Rental from real estate unless you are a real estate dealer.

Q. How do I report my self-employment earnings?

A. After the end of any year in which you have net earnings of $400 or more from self-employment, complete the following forms, Form 1040 (U.S. Individual Income Tax Return), Schedule C (Profit or Loss from Business or Profession), Schedule SE (Computation of Social Security Self-employment Tax). Send the income tax return and schedule along with your self-employment contribution to the Internal Revenue Service. File your calendar-year return on or before April 15 of the following year.

Madge had always been a restless sleeper. But matters went from bad to worse when a young couple with a baby moved into the apartment upstairs.

The court thereupon tossed out Madge's complaint, saying that a moderate amount of noise must be accepted by those who choose to live in apartments.

Pollution Regulations Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Proposed regulations that could reduce pollution from aircraft by 10 to 80 per cent by 1979 have been announced by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Additional regulations are proposed for 1979 that could cut pollution even further.

One of the first of the new regulations would prohibit discharge of excess fuel during engine start-up and takeoff as of Jan. 1, 1979.

Standards to limit emissions of carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and smoke would take effect for all new engines on Jan. 1, 1976, under the proposed rules.

Sanson said existing engines would be capable of meeting the 1976 performance standards without major modifications, although they would require top performance.

Sanson did estimate the proposed regulations would cost the industry about $151 million.

The proposed regulations for 1979 would reduce carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions by about 80 per cent from the 1976 levels.

Hong Kong Stock Market Booming Like Skyrockets

HONG KONG (AP) — Speculation on the Hong Kong stock market has become a craze. To keep abreast of the news, factory workers carry transistor radios, and rush to telephones every 15 minutes or so to place orders. At grocery stores, the middle-class amaahs excitedly exchange tips instead of hurrying home. They are speculating on a booming market which has been on the rise since 1969. Their preoccupation with share prices has led to complaints from bosses. But factory owners and housewives are hardly in a position to grumble — they are playing the market with equal frenzy.

"Speculation on the stock market is colony-wide and classless — from the poor to the super-rich capitalists," one broker says.

An amaah whose monthly salary is about $100 has become a property owner. In the past three years she has bought two apartments, each costing about $5,000, and a five-acre farm on an offshore island.

"I bought all these from the money I made on the stock market," she confided to friends.

William Hsu, who owns two factories manufacturing women's panties for U.S. and European markets, said: "I made twice as much money from the stock market in the last three years as from the factories."

A 35-year-old housewife who used to spend her days playing mahjong, a popular and noisy Chinese gambling game, now does her gambling in her broker's office. She watches share prices on closed-circuit television from 10 to 5.

She helped her husband, formerly a banking clerk, set up an import-export firm two years ago. Last year they formed a small knitting factory.

"I used to be nothing but a housewife. Now I have become respectable," she joked.

People like these have set the market afire. Lacking the sophisticated investor's knowledge of market intricacies, they often lay out their money as if they were in a casino rather than a stock exchange.

Prices and indices have been pushed so high that they now seem divorced from the shares' earning capacity.

A widely quoted indicator, the 33-stock Hang Seng index, has reached 2 1/2 times the figure of a year earlier. Turnover on the market one day recently totaled $16 million compared to an average of less than $2 million 12 months earlier.

The figure seems incredible when it is remembered that Hong Kong has a total population of only four million.

With the increasing amount of business, the number of stock exchanges has risen from one to four. The number of brokers has multiplied from 60 to 500.

About 200 companies are listed on the stock market and only 60 of them are act. "The money is good but I don't think I can stand the pace much longer," he said. "I go without lunch, and friends and strangers call me at all hours of the day and night. They want to buy stocks but there are not enough to go around."

Two Chinese-language newspapers once on the verge of collapse are doing a roaring business after switching from international news to reporting latest stock market developments.

A betting bookie says: "There has been so much money pouring into the stock market that my business is down at least 20 per cent."

Financial and banking experts repeatedly warn that prices of Hong Kong stocks have risen beyond the point of reason — that many speculators are bound to be hurt in an inevitable collapse. One Chinese banker declared: "Stock prices in Hong Kong defy all economic law. Playing the stock market is dangerous. You can get burned severely."

MacArthur Film Biography Planned

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Next from the man who gave you "Patton", a film biography of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. It was perhaps inevitable that Frank McCarthy, himself an Army general, should have been dubbed to produce the biography of MacArthur. McCarthy persevered for more than a decade to film the life of another flamboyant World War II general, George Patton. Hollywood dearly loves to repeat success, and "Patton" was a real winner. It grossed $57 million against a cost of $12.5 million and won an Oscar for best picture. George C. Scott, as Patton, won the best actor Oscar.

The draw of "Patton" was demonstrated this month when it appeared as ABC's Sunday Night Movie. It drew a whopping 65 per cent of total viewers in the Nielsen survey. Its rating was 34.5, topping the usual No. 1 show, "All in the Family," which had 31.5.

Richard Zauck, who authorized "Patton" as production head of 20th Century-Fox, recently announced "MacArthur" as a project under his new contract with Universal. The producer: Frank McCarthy.

"I just spent a month at the MacArthur Memorial Library in Norfolk, Va.," said the urbane McCarthy in his new Universal office. "The literature on MacArthur is endless; there have been at least 150 books written about him."

"There is also voluminous material published by the government. MacArthur wrote his own versions of all his battles, and they are part of public record. Fortunately for our purposes, anything

The producer said he had not approached the MacArthur family for permission, since he doesn't intend to portray them and no clearances are needed to portray a dead man.

"How to compress MacArthur's long career as a soldier is a problem. At present, McCarthy figures the script will cover only World War II and beyond, with emphasis on MacArthur's relief by President Harry S. Truman as commander during the Korean War.

"Again, it was fortunate for our research that MacArthur appeared for two days before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations commit He added: "In Patton, we had scenes where you saw whole armies. There was no such fighting in the Pacific war. Everything was done in close formation."

McCarthy said it's too early to think about casting of MacArthur. He's quite certain that it won't be George Scott. "In fact, Scott was asked who he thought should play MacArthur. He suggested Cary Grant."

Foreign Press Views

LONDON (AP)—The Sunday Times of London says the massive technological effort which is culminating in this week's Apollo 17 moon trip may never be repeated again, partly because the payoff was less than expected.

Other British papers commented editorially last week on President Nixon's cabinet reorganization and a reported plot by Libya to oust Jordan's King Hussein.

The Sunday Times article, headlined "What We Got for 10 Billion Pounds," $4 billion, said:

"Man is withdrawing from moon exploration, not because of the hostility of the lunar surface or of interplanetary space, but because of indifference back at home...."

"America has vindicated her technological honor following the deeply felt humiliation of being beaten into space by the Russians; the payoff in terms of international prestige has not come up to expectations; the hope that space had vast military potential has proved an illusion...."

Turning to political developments in the United States, the Liberal Guardian commented: "President Nixon, who has begun to announce the members of his new cabinet, made a solemn promise that he would not extend the power of the White House at the expense of individual cabinet members...."

"It would be well to remain skeptical. The President moved into the White House with the same aim; but, in his first four years, the staff has increased by 25 per cent and nine new satellite offices have been created...."

"What is wrong with such a system is that the President cannot possibly bear all the arguments from his own aides. Only a cabinet minister, dealing day to day with the problems of a department, can begin to grasp the needs of the people he serves. The President needs to be exposed to this experience, not defended from it...."

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said the charge made by King Hussein of Jordan that Libya is now involved in an armed military coup against him is evidence of the anarchy which now governs relations between the Arab states in the Middle East. Col. Kadafi, Libya's unpredictable leader, using the flood of money which pours in from oil companies to cause trouble wherever he goes. "King Hussein is the target for Libya's and Syria's venom because he successfully confronted the Palestinian guerrillas and drove them from his territory and because it has long been clear that he is prepared to live with Israel," the paper said.

Shield Law For Scholars Proposed

BOSTON (AP)—The lawyers for Harvard Prof. Samuel I. Popkin have asked the Massachusetts Legislature to enact a "shield law" for scholars and researchers. Popkin was recently released from jail after serving a portion of a sentence for contempt of court after refusing to tell a Grand Jury what he knew about the Pentagon Papers.

The scholar shield law was filed by Sen. John M. Quinlan, R-Norwood, for Popkin's attorneys in the case, William P. Homans Jr. and Daniel Klaucock.

Quinlan said he hoped the bill would provide "a balance between the sanctity of academic freedom and the government's duty in certain instances to investigate the commission of specific crimes...."

He said the legislation provides that a superior court judge may lift the scholar's privilege only if there is convincing information can prove, subject to appeal.

Rep. Cotter Ends Campaign In The Black

HARTFORD (AP)—U.S. Rep. William Cotter, D-Conn., reports he (failed) his successful re-election campaign $757 in the black. According to his financial report filed with the secretary of the state's office, Cotter collected $95,393 in campaign contributions and spent $94,636. The 1st District Democrat received 293,810 contributions, 42,820 donations and 22 individuals gave $500 amounts.

Bigger Turnouts Expected

Following an impressive one-sided opening game victory on the road against Yale last Saturday night, Coach Dee Rowe will lead the University of Connecticut basketball team before the home folks tonight at Storrs.

Coming in will be the Holy Cross Crusaders with action slated to start at 8.

"Last year we drew 46,000 fans to see our home games and this year we expect to do 60,000," Rowe reported. "We expect to play before 100,000 spectators both at home and away." UConn's field house, site of home contests, can accommodate 4,000 with all seats reserved.

Tonight's tilt will be the first of three at Storrs. Rutgers moves in Saturday night and Massachusetts is due Tuesday night in a big Yankee Conference meeting.

During the pre-Christmas holiday break, UConn will host the Connecticut Classic which will feature four standout Eastern clubs, Harvard, Syracuse, Yale and the Huskies. Rowe made an interesting point on the luncheon board.

"College basketball in New England has increased tremendously in the past few years, both in numbers and caliber. There are more outstanding teams than ever."

Now in his 18th year of coaching and fourth at UConn, Rowe is surrounded by former players as assistant coaches. "I like it this year. I just hope that we can attract the good Connecticut student-athlete to stay at home."

He could have been referring to Walt Lockett, the former Bridgeport Kolbe High sharpshooter, who broke all Tom Roy's state and New England career scoring marks and wound up this year at Ohio University with the varsity.

Roy was another case of an outstanding athlete who went out of state. The former South Windsor High giant is now with Maryland.

High School Coaches Move Up

"I like to see high school coaches in Connecticut move up," Bill Detrick, Central Connecticut State College mentor, notes. "It's good to see college coaches produced from the high school ranks. I was one and my assistants were, Pat Riera and Ron Pringle. Dee's (UConn Coach) Dee Rowe's top assistants are former high school coaches, too, Don Perno (St. Paul's) and Bob Staak (East Hartford)."

"We coaches," Dee Rowe claims, "have had to readjust our ways and thinking more in the past few years than ever before. The motivation is completely different than it was a few years ago with young men."

"When the Vernon Pioneers whipped the Vernon Shamrocks recently for the Charter Oak Midget Football Conference, it brought together two former Manchester High players as rival coaches, Jimmy Roschi-lead, the Pioneers to the crown with a losing margin. Both were outstanding backs. Suffolk Downs closed its 1972 meeting last Sunday and reported a 62-day attendance of 197,746 with $24,500,871 being wagered. Jimmy Salzano wound up as Trinity's second leading ball carrier with 344 yards in eight games for a 43 game average. The sophomore back carried the ball 81 times and gained 944 yards for a 4.1 average. He also caught nine passes for 99 yards.

Indian Gridders Mentioned

Steve Samiotis (back), Tyle Eastman (end) and Mark Odell (guard) received honorable mention on the New Haven Register's All-State All-American offensive team while John Murphy (end), Bob Walsh (linebacker) and Eastman (back) were mentioned on defense. All performed with Manchester High this fall. Joe Davin, line East Catholic defensive back, who was named to the first All-Suburban team by the Times, was a second team choice on the Register's Class B-C defensive unit. Holiday Lanes will host the fifth annual Hip Correnti Open this weekend with first prize $500. Second place will bring $250 and third $150 at the local duckpin center.

Patriots' GM Fired, Carl Garrett Back

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP)— General Manager Upton Bell of the struggling New England Patriots is out and star running back Carl Garrett is back in.

In a hectic day for the front office of the National Football League team Tuesday, the board of directors and Patriots' owner William Sullivan fired the 34-year-old Bell, a former professional football commissioner's son who started out as a 365-a-week dressing room attendant. Bell had one year remaining on a reported three-year contract.

Sullivan said later Tuesday that the Patriots feel they need one man to run the team, and that man should be coach first and general manager second. He said the team does not want a strong coach will be given full authority to run the team.

In another move, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle ordered the Patriots to put Garrett back on the team. Garrett, the leading ground gainer on the team, had been suspended indefinitely for missing practice by entering a contract with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Garrett, his representatives and Bell met with Rozelle in New York Monday for a six-hour hearing on the running back's situation.

Bengton, who suspended Garrett two days after he had been called to replace Pats' coach Jim Mazar, said he would meet with Garrett soon to talk over the situation. He declined to say whether Garrett would be in the huddle or on the bench for the Patriots' remaining games at New Orleans Sunday and Denver on Dec. 17.

"In 37 years in football I'd never seen anything like this," Bell said. "I aim to make it smoother for my brothers. Nobody deserves the route I took."

Rodgers on the Heisman in a landslide. Oklahoma running back Greg Pruitt was a distant second, Johnny's fellow Cornhusker, middle guard Richard Glover, was third.

Tuesday's announcement came amid controversy over the 21-year-old Rodgers' brushes with the law, including a $90 gas station holdup near the Nebraska campus in 1970.

"I'm a better man today," said Rodgers. "It's no secret I've been in trouble. I feel I've overcome this. The award gives me a great deal of pride."

Rodgers received 301 first place votes and 1,310 points from newsmen voting for the Heisman Trophy. Pruitt got 117 first and 966 points. Glover's totals were 99 and 652.

Rodgers is a slender, 175-pounder who caught 14 career passes for 2,667 yards and 26 touchdowns. He also returned kicks for a 15-yard average and ran the ball 133 times for 838 yards.

During the "Rodgers Era" at Nebraska, the Big Eight powerhouse won national titles in 1970 and 71 and won 82-1 this fall. Johnny will end his collegiate career New Year's night against Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl.

Coach Bob Devaney said get a lot of credit for what he did when receiving the Heisman.

The performance, made all the more remarkable since it was carried out despite a dislocated

'Without People I Am Nobody' Davis Somebody at USC

LOS ANGELES (AP)— "Without people I am nobody," says Anthony Davis, a somebody these days on the University of Southern California campus.

The 20-year-old sophomore tailback finds himself much in demand. He's The Associated Press Back of the Week for his sensational six-touchdown performance in the top-ranked Trojans' 45-23 victory over Notre Dame Saturday.

He enjoys the recognition: "I can't see myself ego-tripping off it. I learned a lot. Basically, life is hard."

"I tell it like it is," says Davis. "I know I can play football. In high school, it was the same thing, but it means a lot more now. I'm in the limelight. I'm nationally known. Newspapers and people who read them can make you and they can break you."

Davis doesn't take his accomplishments for granted yet he believes there's quite a bit more to life than scoring touchdowns.

Buffalo, which included 12 completions in 24 attempts for 138 yards and seven rushes for 40 yards, earned for Domres the title of The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

The 25-year-old Domres, obtained in a trade with the San Diego Chargers after the Colts had played their first preseason game, credits the attitude of Unites with enabling him to be virtually oblivious of the pressure.

"I've had good rapport with him, and he's never made me feel uncomfortable," Domres said. "He never makes suggestions to me during a game unless I ask him specifically what he thinks. He leaves me pretty much on my own."

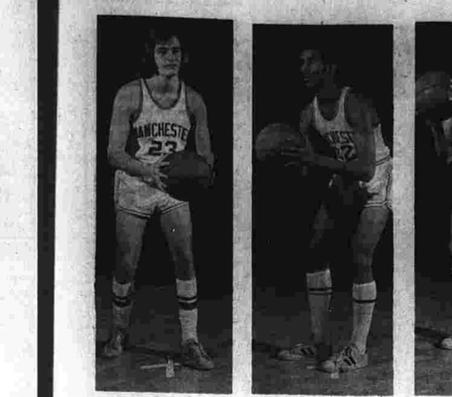

Joe Thomas, Baltimore's new general manager, acquired Domres as a No. 2 quarterback, then insisted that he play after firing Domres from the Colts.

Cougars Open Tonight

The 1972-73 edition of the Manchester Community College cagers will take to the court tonight against Eastern Connecticut State College JV's at East Catholic High. Game time for the season opener is 8 o'clock.

Coming off a dismal 5-16 campaign, Manchester hopes new faces Ernie Moore, Bill Peoples, Lamont Freeman and Stan Alexander can change things around for the Cougars.

Pro Basketball Roundup

Chicago Bulls Coach Dick Motta said he was surprised that the Bulls couldn't do enough. "He's probably the most amazing player I've ever had," Motta said after Heard led in a second-half shooting spree and finished with 24 points as the Bulls romped to a 130-108 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons Tuesday night.

Tomjanovich led Houston with 22 points. "The Knicks moved into a first-place bid with Boston in the NBA Atlantic Division after Bill Bradley and Dave DeBusschere engineered a third-period rally, DeBusschere while Walt Frazier added 27 for the Knicks. Nate Archibald, the NBA's leading scorer with a 34.3 average, had 26.

Pete Maravich, held to only four points and 14 left in the second half, played Wesleyan in a 78-69 basketball victory over Worcester Tech.

WPI, aided by 20 points from Rick Turner, played Wesleyan even in the first half, but could not keep up thereafter.

Cheney Tech Impressive In Turning Back Bolton

By Dean Yost
Suptaining Cheney Tech put it altogether last night and defeated Bolton High, 67-59 on the Beavers' home court.

Taking advantage of Bolton turnovers and some aggressive rebounding by Marc Beaulieu and Ken Maynard, Cheney opened a quick 7-0 and never looked back.

Entering the third period, as the light power began to fade, so did Cheney as a hot-handed Dave Behrman popped in eight points and the hosts led only 50-43 with ten minutes remaining.

Cheney, Tech was led in the scoring department by Beaulieu with eight markers and Maynard with seven.

With just under four minutes showing on the clock, Cheney again widened its point spread to 10 points and then fought Bolton basket-to-basket until the buzzer.

Cheney, having difficulty from the foul line, netted only nine of 23 attempts and hooped 29 field goals. Center Beaulieu was Tech's high point-collector with 16 while Tom Tomko recorded 14 and Bolton, three times during Marquette Better Than UCLA?

NEW YORK (AP)— What's this? Ray Mears, Tennessee coach, comes right out and says Marquette would beat the mighty UCLA Bruins, who have ruled college basketball for six straight years and won 48 in a row.

Mears made his surprising comment after the nationally 11th-ranked Marquette Warriors had whipped his 14th-ranked Vols Tuesday in Milwaukee.

Louisiana State upset 11th-ranked Memphis State 94-81 and No. 13 North Carolina swamped Dartmouth 128-86 in other games involving teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty.

Louisville beat Dayton 75-58, Indiana humbled Kansas 78-55, DePaul took Northwestern 88-but he fouled out with five minutes left. Soph. Don Washington tossed in 26 to spark North Carolina over Dartmouth as the Tar Heels set a school scoring record.

Another soph., 5-foot-9 Greg Boyce, paced DePaul over Northwestern with 52 points. New Mexico reeled off 13 straight points at the start of the second half in downing New Mexico State before 15,139 at Albuquerque.

Allen Murphy scored 18 points in leading Louisville over Dayton and Steve Downing was high for Indiana as the Hoosiers whacked the Jayhawks.

Spreader Funds Denied

ANNA FRISINA Correspondent
Tel. 742-9347

The Board of Finance Monday night turned down the Selectmen's request for a new spreader to be used with the newly acquired town truck.

First Selectman Robert Post appeared before the board with the town's road form, John Hutchinson, to request the appropriation of $3,000 necessary to purchase the additional spreader.

The finance board, in turning down the request, said that if the town could do without one for now, the Selectmen should wait until the spring budget meeting, at which time they should ask the town to appropriate the funds.

Three Trucks
The town this year purchased an additional road truck, giving Andover three trucks, one of which is about nine years old, one about six years old, plus the new one.

Post said the selectmen and road foreman felt that, with the new truck, it would be possible to place three trucks out sanding when the need occurs, and in the event of a breakdown, there would be still two trucks going. This type of road equipment is not interchangeable from one truck to another, hence, the need for a third spreader.

The selectmen also felt that wear would be divided among the three trucks, making less wear and tear annually for each truck. Because of the huge surplus (over $100,000) available to the town, the selectmen felt that perhaps it would be more economical to purchase the needed spreader now, rather than wait.

Glass Bins
Post said that the question of glass bins did not come up before the finance board, since the plan was redesigned and it is estimated that the bins can be built for the allotted $1,700.

At some future date, should the situation warrant, an expansion or more permanent material can be provided for the glass bins, he said.

Overtime Pay
The question of time-and-a-half for town employees came under considerable discussion. Presently, town employees are paid on a straight time basis, regardless of the number of hours worked.

The finance board informed the First Selectman that the matter of whether to pay overtime is properly decided only by the selectmen's office.

Operation Checkmate

State Police assigned to the experimental "Operation Checkmate" made 75 motor vehicle arrests during the program's second week, according to State Police Commissioner Cleveland Fuesenich.

"Operation Checkmate," a highway safety program designed to identify and apprehend drunk, reckless, and speeding drivers, started about two weeks ago. There have been 150 motor vehicle arrests to date.

For the week ended Dec. 3, the 75 arrests included six drunken drivers, 1 criminal arrest, 23 speeders, 6 unlicensed operators, and 2 operators whose licenses were suspended. The balance was made up of other motor vehicle charges.

In addition to the 75 arrests, State Police apprehended a hit-and-run driver sought by Waterfield Police.

The statewide program involves 24 state troopers who recently graduated from the Connecticut State Police Academy. They work throughout the state from 7:30 p.m. to 3 a.m., the period deemed most critical on the state's highways.

Capital Outlay Rising

New York - U.S. business is expected to increase its capital outlays 9.7 per cent in 1973.

Those persons who have a rock or mineral collection may bring these in for exhibiting.

Those persons who are interested in the jewelry making aspect of rock collecting may arrange for another session at a later date dealing with this phase of the lapidary art.

Anyone desiring further information concerning the program, can call Gordon MacDonald of Lakeside Dr. in Andover.

Columbia Two Boards Seek Planning Unity

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
TFC 229-9224

The Conservation Commission (CC) and the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) met recently to set up guidelines so the two boards could work together in harmony for the betterment of the town, according to Austin Doscher, chairman of the CC.

Doscher said other towns such as Marlborough, Coventry and Mansfield work with both commissions, especially where subdivisions are concerned.

The CC asked for suggestions from the PZC on its ideas for a conservation plan for the town.

The CC can license natural features such as the town's unique streams, members advised the PZC.

Dr. Bruce Bradford, chairman of the PZC, said both groups have the same ideas in mind, the town and the proper planning and growth of it.

Bryant Andrews of the PZC pointed out the zoning part of the PZC is interpreting regulations and said the CC could be helpful in the planning end.

He added there are large areas where the two groups should work together and could be effective, however he said it would be redundant for the two groups to approve a subdivision.

Andrews said there seems to be "hangup" between the two commissions in that the CC wants to duplicate what the PZC already does.

The CC members said they wanted to work jointly with the PZC on planning. Doscher said he felt the CC would have a lot to offer.

Andrews said he felt perhaps a subcommittee within the two commissions might be the best way to handle the matter.

The two groups agreed to keep closer contact with each other so both commissions would know what the other is doing.

Bradford said that at present he would be against anyone other than the PZC to implement.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Elementary school principal George Patros has announced that both the elementary and center schools have recently been placed on the National School Safety Honor Roll of the National School Safety Council.

This is the third year for the elementary school and the fifth year that the center school has received the honor.

To qualify for the recognition, the schools have adopted a regular safety program, good safety education program.

The Bolton Volunteer Firemen wish to advise townspeople that they will be selling Christmas trees again this year to raise funds. Spruce, Douglas fir, and Scotch pine trees will be sold nightly at the Douglas beginning Dec. 13. Hours will be announced later.

The Christian Education Committee of St. George's Episcopal Church will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall.

Apollo 17 En Route To Moon

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men of Apollo 17 straggled toward the moon today, leaving behind the cares of a crummy computer that delayed their journey for nearly three hours. They left on man's last planned 20th century lunar voyage with a liftoff lightshow which turned earth's night to spectacular.

"Good show, babe! Little late, but good show!" cried a relieved and elated commander Eugene A. Cernan as he and crewmate Dr. Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans rocketed away from Cape Kennedy.

"We had to work at it," said Mission Control. "Glad we made it."

"Guess who else is," said a happy Jack Schmitt, a Harvard-trained geologist who became the first American scientist in space.

After the launch, the first ever in darkness, the astronauts orbited earth twice and then were propelled on a path toward the moon, where they hope to find the missing link in man's knowledge of lunar evolution.

The flight is the last of the 11-man Apollo series, the climax of a rush toward a landing on the moon which began in the early 1960s with a challenge to the nation by President John F. Kennedy.

From the current president, Richard M. Nixon, the astronauts received wishes of "luck and Godspeed."

Nixon said in a statement: "Those who come after will stand on the shoulders of the men of Apollo and their dedicated support team."

plan to outfit the confused computer. The new system worked and Apollo 17 blasted into space at 12:33 a.m. EST, less than an hour before the ever-changing position of sun, earth and moon would have forced a 24-hour, or perhaps as long as a month's postponement.

Despite the countdown, the launch 32 hours ago was World spectacular.

While hundreds of thousands of persons watched from Cape Kennedy viewing areas, the 36-story Saturn 5 rocket lifted the Apollo 17 lunar module from its nest of concrete and steel, climbing into a nearby clear, black Florida sky.

For more than six minutes, the rocket's 3,000-foot tall of flame burned away the darkness and lit the sand flats and Atlantic beaches where the awed crowds watched.

Gathering speed and gubing thousands of gallons of fuel per second, the gleaming white rocket climbed like an ascending comet and sped away.

The fiery birth of the last Apollo mission could be seen for hundreds of miles. Residents in Miami Beach, nearly 300 miles south, watched the launch from their homes.

"It looked like a Fourth of July firecracker shooting into the sky," said one man. "It was a beautiful, spectacular sight."

Apollo 17 ends an American moon adventure which started in 1961 with Kennedy's pledge of the skill, treasure and technology of the nation to putting a U.S. spaceman on the moon by the year 1970.

The drive toward the moon was triggered by the Soviet Union's launch of the first man in earth orbit, an event which dramatically demonstrated how far behind America was in space technology.

Kennedy's commitment to "landing man on the moon and returning him safely to earth" was fulfilled in July, 1969, with the lunar landing of Apollo 11. It had cost the nation more than $25 billion and produced technology unimagined before.

Apollo 17's launch was viewed by the famous and near-famous stars of the entertainment world. Those at Cape Kennedy for the launch included Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Governor Wallace of Alabama, congressmen, ambassadors, foreign dignitaries and a group of stage and movie stars.

The first two men to walk on the moon, Apollo 11 crew members Neil Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., also were there.

Pathway To The Moon

Apollo 17, riding on a flaming Saturn V rocket, cuts a white-hot swath across the night sky over Cape Kennedy, Fla., early today after a delay in liftoff. This view shows a display of lunar lander and rockets at the space center museum. The Apollo 17 is headed for the moon and will be the last mission in the Apollo series.

Charter Revision Group Ponders Many Proposals

Should Manchester pay its town manager a yearly salary equal to what it pays its superintendent of schools? Should Manchester pay its town manager a yearly salary equal to what it pays its superintendent of schools? Should Manchester pay its town manager a yearly salary equal to what it pays its superintendent of schools?

Manchester Board of Directors may not approve a total school budget. It may not tell the school board how to spend its funds. Consequently, Agostinelli's proposal is for a charter provision "which would guarantee that the superintendent of schools salary would not exceed that of the town manager."

Agostinelli, in recommending a charter provision "which would guarantee that the superintendent of schools salary would not exceed that of the town manager," emphasized, "I'm talking about the job — and not about the money."

Manchester's superintendent of schools receives $31,500 yearly. It's town manager receives $24,787. Under Connecticut State Statutes, the superintendent's salary must be at least 10 percent more than the town manager's.

Truman's Condition Critical

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, fighting congested lungs and a weakened heart, remained on the critical list today but medical officials said his condition was improved.

A statement issued at 10 a.m. EST by Research Hospital and Medical Center, where Truman was taken late Tuesday, said: "His age (88) and the potential of sudden change require that he continue to be described as critical."

The statement said Truman's temperature, "somewhat controlled but fluctuating," peaked at 102.8 at midnight. It added that "the major concern is still heart failure."

John Drevos, hospital public relations director, had reported earlier that Truman's vital signs were stable.

Philippine's First Lady Out Of Danger

MANILA (AP) — A dark-suited man slashed President Ferdinand E. Marcos' wife, Imelda, today with a foot-long bolo knife as she was congratulating winners of a beautification contest.

A helicopter took Mrs. Marcos to the Makati Medical Center where she was reported "safe... out of danger."

The hospital said the 42-year-old first lady of the Philippines was slashed on her arms and hands and lost a lot of blood.

Guards shot and killed the assailant, who was not immediately identified.

Dr. Constantino Manahan, director of the medical center, said: "The first lady suffered several slashing and penetrating wounds in the left and right arms. None of them are very serious. She is definitely out of danger."

Three other persons were wounded by the knife-wielding assailant. Congressman Jose Aspiras suffered head cuts that required nine stitches. A member of the beautification program committee, Linda Amor Robles, 22, suffered a serious slash wound in the stomach. A third man, identified only as Mr. Soriano, also was cut.

After emergency treatment at the hospital, Mrs. Marcos smiled weakly at a large group of relatives, officials and members of the diplomatic corps who were on hand as she was wheeled out of the operating room.

Marcos, with a grim look on his face, was holding her left hand. Her right hand was bandaged. She was taken to the presidential suite on the ninth floor of the hospital for the night.

The attack occurred at an amusement park in Pasay City, adjoining Manila.

The award ceremony was being televised live, and the attack was seen by the Manila TV audience.

A statuesque beauty who takes an active part in her husband's political career, Mrs. Marcos has shared in the controversy generated by her husband's maneuvers to remain in power.

Marcos, a war hero, was elected president in 1965 and re-elected in 1969, but the constitution barred him from a third term. For a time there was speculation that his wife would be a candidate to succeed him, but instead a

Pearl Harbor Anniversary Marked Quietly

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — It was 31 years ago today when the surprise attack by the Japanese carrier armada crippled the U.S. Pacific Fleet here, but the anniversary of the attack is being observed quietly.

One scheduled event to mark the day was the lowering of colors at sunset and a wreath laying aboard the USS Arizona memorial by 20 members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association. No speeches were planned.

The Navy, which planned no ceremony for this year, said the normal one-hour weekday boat tours of the harbor and the shuttle boats to the memorial will be conducted as usual.

Veterans organizations and private citizens were invited by the Navy, however, to present wreaths at the memorial during the day.

The site of the attack, which shocked Americans on Dec. 7, 1941, and brought the United States into World War II, today is a point of interest to the thousands of Japanese tourists who visit the islands in greater numbers each year.

Town Salaries Up 10 Per Cent

HARTFORD (AP) — Municipal officials in Connecticut got average salary boosts of 10 per cent in the past two years, says a survey released today by the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council (CPEC).

But the report says the salary increases were less on the average than those handed out in the preceding two-year period.

The median salary of town and city managers rose from $19,000 to $21,250 in the past two years, an increase of less than 12 per cent, the study says. But in the earlier period, the pay rose about 17 per cent from $16,246 to $19,000.

Overall figures for 24 categories of public officials show an average salary increase in the past two years of about 10 per cent, compared to 18 per cent in the previous period.

The CPEC said the slowdown in the rate of salary increase could be partly attributable to the application of Phase I and Phase II federal guidelines by the state's municipalities.

Elsewhere in the survey, entitled "Compensation of Municipal Officials in Connecticut," the CPEC reports "a growing emphasis on professional skills" among administrators.

The number of council-manager governments in Connecticut increased during the past two years from 23 to 28, while the number of salaried assessors serving in place of boards of assessors also grew. The number of salaried assessors increased from 42 in 1970 to 48 in 1971, while Boards of Assessors dropped from 115 in 1962 to the current 81.

The organization also reports an increase in full-time city planning directors from 39 in 1970 to 41 in 1971. The number of town and city clerks compensated solely by salaries increased from 66 in 1962 to 127 this year.

In another finding, the CPEC says the median salaries for school business managers increased more in the past two years than those of school superintendents. From 1970 to 1971, in towns with a population over 75,000, the median salary for business managers rose from $18,900 to $27,125, an increase of 42.8 per cent. During the same period, school superintendents' median salaries in towns of the same population increased from $30,000 to $32,500, or only 8.3 per cent.

There are similar trends in towns of different population levels, the CPEC says.

The report released today was the 12th annual edition of the study.

Sharing Checks May Vary Greatly From Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first revenue-sharing checks are going out 17 days before Christmas but many state, city and county officials won't be in a holiday mood when they open their mail.

The Treasury Department conceded Wednesday that earlier estimates of how much state and local governments were to receive are far off because of new, updated data cranked into the formula in recent weeks.

One state, not identified, will receive 20 per cent less than originally estimated. About 6,000 government units will receive 50 per cent less than estimated earlier, while 7,000 units will receive 50 per cent more.

A number of large cities are affected. The Treasury withheld the names until senators and congressmen can see the amounts first.

The checks, totaling $2.6 billion, are due to be mailed Friday, but Congress will get the word Thursday afternoon. State and local governments probably will get their checks early next week. They'll be dated Dec. 11.

The changes are so dramatic because the earlier estimate was based on 1967 data on the tax effort of state and local governments. The new data are based on a 1970 survey.

At a news session Wednesday, at which his name was withheld under the ground rules, a Treasury official told reporters: "There are very substantial shifts within states."

The Treasury is urging patience. The officials said a grievance procedure will be set up, but nothing can be done until the final data on which the distribution is based become available early next year.

All appeals probably will be handled together, the official said, because changing one figure affects all other amounts.

How About Unlimited Numbers For GOP

BOSTON (AP) — A bill "to honor the historic session of the 1972 Presidential election" in Massachusetts has been filed for the 1973 session of the state legislature.

It provides that license plates issued by the state, which now carry only the state name and registration number, would bear the legend, "The State With A Conscience."

Massachusetts was the only state carried by Democratic candidate Sen. George McGovern in last month's election.

Comment Session

An unresolved problem which reportedly dates back to a February complaint has brought to the attention of Town Director Vivian Ferguson Tuesday, Mrs. Ferguson was conducting a Board of Directors comment session.

The complainant — a woman — resides on Waddell Dr. She claims her Wetherell St. neighbor accumulated junk in his back yard, that the junk emits putrid odors, that the neighbor allows his cows to roam the neighborhood, that he has drain pipes from his basement emptying water into his yard, that the water runs into the right-of-way, and that it forms puddles there and freezes in cold weather.

She asked that a stop be ordered for the activities.

A resident of Keeney St. — also a woman — said she opposes the installation of sidewalks on Keeney St. She recommended that the children walk to Keeney St. School along a 10-foot right-of-way owned by the town and that it be marked as walkway.

A third woman said she is against the proposal for closing Parker St., between Colonial Rd. and Mitchell Dr. She recommended that Parker St. be improved and kept open.

And, the lone man who appeared at the comment session said he is opposed to revaluation of town property at present. He called it too costly and too early and charged that the appraisal consultants are only out to make money for themselves.

Willimantic Given Water Supply Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has granted $420,000 to the city of Willimantic, Conn., to improve water supply and distribution systems, Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., announced Tuesday.

Steele said the funds will be used to improve water treatment plants and dumping station, and for construction of new gravel-tracked wells. Also included in the project are plans for construction of a lagoon and new transmission lines.
