

Christmas Concert At MHS

By JOHN GRUBER
MHS had its annual Christmas Concert in Bailey Auditorium last evening before an audience of moderate size. I can recall when the hall would be bursting at the seams but this hasn't happened for some years now. Perhaps it needs a new format which is unvarying from year to year.

As usual, the vocal responsibilities belonged to Miss Martha White, but we had a new band director this year, Andrew Shreeves. Mr. Shreeves has a large, four-square beat that is easy to follow and his ensemble was pretty good. The intonation was not all that could be desired, however.

Some of this trouble stems from embouchures (lip technique) that are as yet unsteady, but not a little of it stems from careless tuning. It is hard to make kids of this age realize the importance of absolutely accurate tuning which requires extremely careful listening. They want to play, not to listen; unfortunately the audience listened as well.

Tax Notices

Manchester collector of revenue Ernest Macbell announced today that tax bills for the second half of 1972 taxes are being prepared by his office and will be mailed immediately after Christmas. His announcement was in reply to numerous inquiries being received by his office. He said all necessary changes arising from a change in ownership of property are being made, and he instructed those new owners who do not receive the bills to check with the previous owner.

Second-half taxes are due Jan. 2 and will be delinquent if not paid by Feb. 1. Delinquent taxes will be subject to penalty of three-quarters of one per cent interest per month.

Automation in the Mail Room

Part of The Herald's modernization program includes nearly an all-electronic mail room in the circulation department. Now in operation is an automatic bundle machine. The Herald's mail room, complete with a new conveyor system, is expected to be fully automated by the end of the year. From left above are Ted Gerritsen and Gilbert Lyons of Needham, Mass., representatives of the H.H.

Bunn Co., manufacturers of the tie machine; Burr L. Lyons, Herald publisher; Tom Fortune, Herald office manager; and Anton B. Schaefer, representative of Cutler-Hammer Inc. of Milwaukee, Wis., manufacturer of conveyor systems. Schaefer, incidentally, lives in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, which is the home office for the Hagadone Newspapers Group, of which The Herald is a member.

Circuit Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12
Manchester Session
Drug charges against four local men were nolle prosequi. Prosecutor William Collins in Thursday's session of Circuit Court 12 at Manchester.

Nolles were entered in the cases of John L. Antolini, 19, of 49 Congress St.; Lewis G. Hart, 18, of 47 Princeton St.; Richard P. Marziano, 21, of 8 Asylum St.; and Michael J. Wilson, 18, of 40 E. Eldridge St.

They were arrested by Manchester Police in late October after a drug raid at 47 Princeton St. Oct. 20. Police, armed with a search warrant, seized $600 to $800 worth of suspected marijuana, hashish (a marijuana derivative), and barbiturates.

Antolini, Marziano, and Wilson were charged with conspiracy to violate the state narcotics act, and Marziano was additionally charged with illegal possession of non-narcotic substance. Hart was charged with illegal possession of controlled drugs.

A fifth man charged in the same drug raid — Paul D. Gustafson, 19, of 73 Union St. — pleaded guilty Nov. 1 to a charge of possession of controlled drugs. He received a suspended one-year jail sentence and two-year probation.

Hello there! I hope you have been knocking yourself out with Christmas shopping, because it's quite a job these days, that's for sure. Some of you were a little confused about the bus ride to Hartford as stated in last week's column, so here's the story. On Monday morning we will take registrations on a first-come basis starting at 8:30 a.m. The trip is scheduled for the next day, Tuesday the 19th. It will leave the Center at 9 o'clock in the afternoon and leave Hartford at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In this way you will be able to spend about 3 1/2 hours of browsing around and then see the colorful Christmas lights before coming home. We have two buses at our disposal so we can only take 90 people. I would ask that we consider those who do not have a car, or who really means getting into Hartford, because with the bus strike and all, they will have problems getting here to register. Remember one person can register for themselves and for one other person. We will not take any phone calls. My advice is, if it's cold outside, don't come too early. We probably won't be around until about 8:30, and you could get real cold by that time; however, the choice is yours.

Ice Storm
 Last Friday night we had that terrible ice storm, and with it all about ten brave and hardy souls made their way to the Center. They had coffee and a few goodies and played a little cards, but no scores were taken. Nights like that things happen too fast and too late to find a way to announce a cancellation so we leave it up to your own judgment. My opinion is, if it doesn't stay home. Better miss one night of games than have you get into an accident.

Monday morning came around and we had a large turnout of 81 players for our kitchen social bingo and Robert "Golden Voice" Doggart took over the calling of the games in place of the absent Tommy O'Neill, and did a nice job.

In the afternoon we had 60 pinocchio players with the following winners: Floyd Post, 60; Robin Carroll, 66; Ben Noonan, 65; Mary Niekowski, 65.

Pinocchio Results
 The regular morning pinocchio group provided all the action at the Center with the following results: Claire Renn, 58; Katherine Frey, 63; Mike DeSimone, 61; Walter Kohl, 56; Harriet Kenney, 58; John Derby, 58; Mollie McCarthy, 54; Wilfred Messler, 58; Cla Wilson, 51; Floyd Post, 56; Alice Shorell, 53; Vera Bedford, 52; Alice Anderson, 57; and Frances Fike, 54.

In the afternoon we had 17 players for the high triple with the following lucky winners: Eugene Koch, 370; Josephine Schenck, 370; Irving Carlson, 360; Ann Campbell, 360, and Ethel Quish, 310.

Some of you folks have been waiting for more news, and soon you'll be receiving flyers giving you more information.

Radio City Trip
 After a freezing rain Tuesday night, it sort of cleared off by Wednesday morning, and it was a relief for us because we had 90 people rarin' to go to Radio City Music Hall, and we really had to "wait" the weather out. They all arrived on time, and took off with no big problem.

Gloria informed me Thursday morning that they had to buck one of the largest crowds in the history of Radio City, what with all the school children out on vacation, as well as other groups going in. The show was very enjoyable and the dinner was as well. All in all they had a very good day in New York.

Next Wednesday is our annual Christmas party, and I am attending must bring a present. A lady must bring a lady's gift, and a man a man's gift for the same reason. It should be a good day as Santa will pay a visit and we'll wind up with caroling, some goodies to crunch on, and with some live and lively dancing.

Included for the party we'll have a special treat as Mrs. Susan Moody, a teacher at the Buckley School, will bring over a group of young students to sing Christmas Carols for us. It all adds up to one big afternoon of fun.

No-Fault Insurance
 You've been reading about this No-Fault Insurance, and I'm sure some of you are concerned and perhaps a bit puzzled about it, so here's what we're going to do. Mr. Jon Norris, a town director, called me to say he felt there might be a few concerned about this insurance, and has volunteered to attend one of our meetings to try to explain it all to you.

I thought it was a great idea, and so he'll be here at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 27. I'm telling you this now so you can put it into your date book. This should be a big afternoon because we'll have the Round Table Singers coming to

Schedule for the Week

PLAY PERCENTAGES RATHER THAN GUESS
 By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
 Which suit should declarer develop in today's hand—hearts or diamonds? The opponents hold six cards of each suit. How does South know which suit will break favorably? The answer is that South should play the percentages instead of trying to guess in the dark.

West dealer
 East-West vulnerable
 Opening lead — Seven of Clubs

When today's hand was played a few weeks ago in a playoff to pick the North American team for the 1973 world championship, the contract was three airtight and both tables. One declarer went for the diamonds, making five diamonds, two clubs and two hearts, to say nothing of a spade or two.

West dealer
 East-West vulnerable
 Opening lead — Seven of Clubs

The other declarer, unfortunately a member of my team, took the first trick with the ace of clubs and ducked a heart to East's nine. (He should have had a heart to the king in order to return the nine of diamonds for a finesse with the queen.)

East returned the ten of hearts to the king, and declarer had nothing better to do now than lead a fourth heart to the jack. In the meantime East had signaled with the five and three of clubs to show an even number of cards in the suit; and West easily read the situation.

Free finesse was allowed to show the spades, and you may thus miss an easy road to game.

What do you say?
 Answer: Bid one spade. If you rebid the six-card diamond suit, you may never get around to showing the spades, and you may thus miss an easy road to game.

Environmentalists Given Share Of Pollution Fine

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — For the first time in state history an environmental group has been awarded half of a fine imposed on a pollution violator it helped bring to court.

Citizens for Cleaner Environment, Inc., a southern New Hampshire environmental action group, has been awarded $750 of a $1,500 fine imposed by U.S. District Court Judge Hugh Bowles against Granite State Packing Co.

The company was accused of discharging wastes into a sewer that empties into the Merrimack River. It was found guilty of violating the Refuse Act of 1899 prohibiting pollution of navigable waterways.

Lawrence Kelley, lawyer for the citizens group, said he was delighted with the award and planned to call a meeting of the group to decide what to do with the money.

He said it would not be used for attorneys' fees, but "I would expect that we'll decide to give a portion of it to James Hall and his West High School students because they contributed so much good work."

The students alerted the environmental group and helped gather evidence.

Kelley added that his happiness was "somewhat blunted by what is apparently a decision to call a moratorium on further citizen action in similar cases."

He said recent legislation provides that any firm which

Read Your Poll Take Your Choice

Public opinion samplers are like doctors. The one checks the health of the body physical; the other takes the pulse of the body politic or social.

For the one, the patient is the individual; for the other, it is the community at large.

Just as physicians can sometimes disagree in their diagnoses, even more so can the pollsters. And just as hypochondriacs flit from doctor to doctor, hoping to have their worst fears confirmed, commentators can point to this poll or that survey to prove whatever it is they want to prove about the present and future health of America.

Not that public opinion surveys are not accurate or useful. Quite the contrary. Over the years the pulse-takers have refined their methods into highly reliable and valuable scientific instruments.

But like the blind men examining the elephant—one feeling a leg and likening it to a tree, another feeling the trunk and likening it to a big snake—no one survey of popular beliefs or attitudes can give a complete picture of the beast we are all interested in.

For example, pollster Louis Harris reports that, contrary to the idea that the presidential election showed the country moving toward conservatism, the truth is just the opposite.

Comparing the response of a nationwide cross section of 1,658 households to questions asked just before the 1972 election with identical questions asked before the 1968 election, Harris finds a steady drift away from both "conservative" and "middle-of-the-road" positions.

While the number of Americans who place themselves in these two categories still make up 69 per cent of the public, outnumbering "liberals" or "radicals" by better than two-to-one, this is down from 75 per cent five years ago. The number who call themselves "liberal" or "radical" has risen from 15 to 22 per cent, says Harris.

Daniel Yankelovich reports that "our studies of the changing social and political environment show a sharp increase in recent months in the number of people who think of themselves as conservative in outlook."

Yankelovich speaks of a "conservative backlash" from attacks on traditional American institutions and values, particularly those that have taken place on college campuses.

Perhaps reflecting this seeming contradiction between Harris and Yankelovich, a third researcher notes both a mood of pessimism among Americans and a great deal of optimism.

Summing up a series of reports published by Newspaper Enterprise Association, Stanley C. Plog, president of Behavior Science Corp. (BASICO), says that a national sample of the opinions of 1,500 respondents "showed that an overwhelmingly majority—three-quarters of all middle Americans—are deeply concerned about the future." The nation's future, that is.

Yet at the same time, says Plog, a strong majority is quite confident about their own immediate future, at least in terms of jobs and incomes.

When those and other polls are broken down—as they must be—into age groups, occupations, income levels, geography, etc., the contradictions become more understandable. All of them, however they may differ in their over-all diagnoses of the state of health of the body social, report similar conflicting trends and associated worries and anxieties among Americans.

But maybe it has always been so, only we didn't have polls back in the old days to tell us. Maybe our modern penchant for public pulse-taking is a sign, not of a national hypochondria but of a basic national strength, proof of a healthy concern on the part of Americans about where they are and where they are going.

Today's Thought

Another week and he comes! Just think of the careful preparations we often make for the arrival of a friend or relative from near or far. With what new joys and disciplines of prayer, Bible reading, sharing, giving, and love are we preparing our hearts and homes for the arrival of the Prince of Peace this Christmas?

Think of the steps we could take so that His coming would be a life-changing experience for us. I pray that He may come and never leave us.

Roiland Evans and Robert Novak
The Soviet Factor

CAIRO—Egyptian President Anwar Sadat hopes for "good new relations" between Cairo and Moscow, so badly fractured last July, but he believes Moscow's commitment to detente with Washington overweighs every other aspect of Kremlin policy.

In short, although he cloaked his views in an exclusive interview with us here in diplomatic niceties, Sadat and Egypt have no assurance how much muscle Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev will use to champion Egypt's case when he meets with President Nixon next spring.

If that prospect does not change, and change radically, Sadat may abruptly move his country out of the somnolent twilight phase which started with the Suez Canal cease-fire in August 1970. The change could shatter the cease-fire by next spring.

It was clear, Sadat told us in a part of his modest presidential residence facing the Nile, that the first Brezhnev-Nixon summit reached a consensus on the Middle East.

Soviet reluctance to pressure Nixon then on the question of Soviet troops in the Sinai was a concession to the Egyptian Sinai peninsula was perhaps unavoidable, Sadat said as he lay under a shawl. Moscow was committed to the reelection of Mr. Nixon (and so, he added, was he).

Hence, the Middle East, where the Americans and the Russians campaign competing clients, remained in limbo.

But Sadat will not stay in limbo.

WASHINGTON — I don't know whether the new Coalition for a Democratic Majority will rescue the party's liberals from the New Left which looks over George McGovern's campaign, but I welcome it to the Democratic base and handling of equipment.

Throughout the recent electoral brawl, the self-righteous curtain around Saint George seemed to spend most of his time trying to make me feel about the strains and strains of the Democratic party. That fact now heavily reinforces the skepticism in many high quarters here over the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser's decision to accept the August 1970 cease-fire.

For one example, former Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, now head of the Arab League, privately but explicitly criticized the cease-fire. Riad would boomerang against Egypt. Once the Suez Canal had ended, the U.S. would deal diddle Egypt. Riad commands new respect here today.

But as Nasser played that trump card, Sadat has now played his and both Moscow and Washington are dodging Egypt. In a desperate effort to end the dodging, Egypt may now risk thousands of casualties by a renewal of hot war against Israel.

As Sadat told us: "It is better to die with one's head in the sky than live shivering on the ground." That may be only epigrammatic rhetoric, typically Arab, but his implied threat has been marveled at by tens of millions of Americans who are genuinely concerned about public safety and respect for law.

Reuben Plan's Texaco

Reuben Plan's Texaco

Old time Indian (Poncha-tre) recently was heard to say, "Car Owners Who Plan With Plan Be Happy." He was, of course, referring to Reuben Plan, of Plan's Texaco, 381 Main St., Manchester.

The reason the old sage uttered this bit of wisdom is that more and more people are coming to realize that Reuben Plan is not just a run-of-the-mill gasoline station operator. No, Reuben Plan is a skilled, well-trained mechanic with a background covering many years of experience. Like any real craftsman in any trade, Reuben is FUSSY, FUSSY, FUSSY — one who just can't turn out shoddy work. Reuben doesn't discriminate! Whether your car be a '73 Caddy or a '61 Kaiser he'll exert every effort to please you and make your car operate as it should. Mr. Plan is conscientious and he feels his integrity is on the line every time he does a job. Whether the job be minor or major, Mr. Plan's Texaco will not let you deliver any job unless he "can't deliver and satisfy the owner." Reuben will tell you at the outset whether the job is worth doing so as not to waste your money needlessly.

With all Reuben has to offer, he could have had his pick of all companies to align with. Having been sold on Texaco products for many years, Mr. Plan just could not settle for less than the best. It might be noted that Reuben, an ex-military man, was well acquainted with Texaco gasoline and the know-how to stand up to their virtues. Reuben's Texaco is not just a place where you can get your car washed and waxed for a few cents. Reuben Plan can determine the problem positively and expertly and auto dealers recently said, "I recommend Plan's Texaco to many of my customers because of the quality of service and interest in his customer's cars. Reuben takes time to notice minor ailments and points them out to the owners in time, in many cases, to avoid expensive repair bills later on."

Whether a total stranger wanders in or a regular customer who has been a fixture at Plan's Texaco for years, Mr. Plan's emphasis on courtesy is evident.

GOP Must Watch The Governorships

By BRUCE BOSSAT
With nine of the country's 10 biggest governorships in play in 1974, it looks as if the Republicans are going to press some of their veteran incumbents to run again to have real hope of keeping their present 56 split or recapturing the advantage.

In 1969 the GOP held nine of the 10, only Texas being in Democratic hands.

Three—Pennsylvania, Ohio and Florida—slipped away in 1970 and Gov. Richard Ogilvie's loss in this fall dropped Illinois from the GOP list.

Samplings taken at the Republicans' winter Governors Conference suggest that some of their veterans are indeed almost ready to give it another try in 1974.

Massachusetts Gov. Francis Sargent says he is leaning that way and so does Gov. William Milliken of Michigan. Such moves by them would amount almost to third-term bids, since both were elevated from lieutenant governorships early in 1969 when President Nixon pulled their governors into his Cabinet.

Less clear is New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's intent, though the chances of his seeking a fifth four-year term seem to be mounting. His aids told me as far back as the summer GOP national convention that he was entertaining the thought seriously.

Assuming he serves through his present term to the end of 1974, he will by then have become the governor of longest tenure in U.S. history—with 16 years. The present record is 15.

If he bids for 20 years in 1974 he'll have something more on his mind than record tenure. At

'For the Victims'
To the editor:
Christmas cards and words of peace on earth and goodwill toward men do not make that guy any more real, or our love any more true.
When the peace talks are delayed one more day that means another 250 innocent people must die from falling bombs and showers of fire and steel. When they are delayed one week that number rises to 2,450.

Dec. 25 we celebrate the birth of the man who taught the world that love was the way to live and peace the natural order of things. How many will have died by then?
Peace, it would seem is within our grasp. Only one man, General Thieu, stands in the way. He is blocking the path because he is afraid of losing the monarchy he has constructed with American money and military support.
His rivals, political and social, are either in tiny, vermin infested cells or among the

Magnetic Medicine

LONDON (AP) — A woman doctor said the only thing that cured her of severe leg cramps was an "old wives' tale" — magnets.

She urged other doctors to pay more attention to such folk remedies and pointed them out to the owners in time, in many cases, to avoid expensive repair bills later on.

Dr. Helen Evans Reid of Toronto, Canada, was written in the current issue of the Lancet, a British medical magazine.

Dr. Reid said last Christmas she was exhausted by leg cramps that had deprived her of sleep for weeks. None of the normal medical treatments provided any relief.

In desperation, she said, she took a friend's advice on a magnet treatment and it worked. That was last Jan. 1.

She put the three-inch long, horseshoe-shaped magnet between her mattress and the underbed. When she rolled the affected leg muscle over the magnet the cramps stopped.

"Since then, I have had only one occasional cramp and none that lasted longer than four to five seconds," she wrote.

The doctor said it should be easy to determine why the magnet treatment works for her and others but "perhaps the greatest challenge would be to overcome the resistance of our profession to seriously considering what its members consider only a folk remedy."

POSTAL AWARDS
Nine Manchester postal employees were recently cited with awards for locally adopted suggestions, at awards ceremonies held at the Main Office and stations. In addition to these, four employees received superior achievement awards.

Adopted suggestions were for improvement in mail handling procedures, safety, improvement of patron service, utilization of space and elimination of excessive wear on machinery parts.

Receiving cash awards for adopted suggestions were Louis T. Patelli, 137 Sunnyside Dr., and Nicholas H. Pagan, 83 Essex St., Manchester; and Edmund J. Souto, 206 South St., and George V. Wilson, 130 Vernon Ave., Vernon.

Receiving certificates of award were: William H. Marceon, 8 Tracy Dr., Eleanor P. Palmer, 109 High St., Richard L. Demarala, 22 Clinton St., Nicholas Pagan, 83 Essex St., all Manchester; and George V. Wilson, 130 Vernon Ave., Vernon.

Receiving superior achievement awards were: Letter carriers: Walter Nimirovski, 361 Hillside Rd., Manchester; and Paul Manegga, Notch Rd., Bolton. Distribution clerks: Robert Witkowski, 23 Dudley St., Manchester; and Michael Ginnoli, 74 Thrall Rd., Vernon.

GET BONUS
"King's department stores have distributed $52,000 in Christmas gifts and local King's employees shared in the distribution," Rod Fountain, King's manager said. Fountain added that the success of the Manchester King's store was attributable to his employees and thanked them for their efforts.

PROMOTED
William N. Soter of Hebron Rd., Bolton, has been promoted to electronic operations assistant in Connecticut Mutual Life's data processing division. Soter, a graduate of Howell Cheney Technical School, served in the U.S. Navy and was employed by the J. E. Shepard Co. in South Windsor before joining CML in 1969. He is married and has one son.

CONVENTION SPEAKER
Herbert O. Peterson of Vernon, recently addressed the annual convention of the Connecticut Automotive Trades Association at the Sheraton-Norwich.

Mr. Peterson, New England Division engineering manager of the American Mutual Insurance Companies, spoke on "The Occupational Safety & Health Act — The Law and How to Prepare to Comply With It."

Austerity Hits Regional Commission

BOSTON (AP) — New England's governors Friday unanimously ordered an immediate freeze on the hiring of new personnel for the heavily criticized New England Regional Commission and called for an evaluation of the commission with a view toward reducing its size and large number of programs.

Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine, introducing a resolution which was passed without comment, said the governors recognize "that the commission has not fully and entirely fulfilled its expectations and there have been certain shortcomings in the implementation of our programs."

Docking Mechanism For U.S.-Soviet Space Trek Tested

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet and American engineers have made the first tests of a docking mechanism to be used in the joint space mission planned for the last half of 1975.

Representatives from the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration and from the Soviet space center carried out the tests on scale models, a joint statement reported Friday.

"During the meeting, technical problems were discussed, and functioning scale models of the spacecraft docking systems were tested. These were the first joint tests."

Firearms Ban Creates Hardships In Nigeria

Official report three people, including a young mother, have been mauled to death by animals in different parts of one state in recent months, and a wealthy 45-year-old farmer was reported attacked by wild bush pigs.

The firearms ban was aimed at curbing a wave of armed robbery that broke out after Nigeria's 30-month civil war. Stiff penalties are prescribed under the law.

Obudu, Ikrom and Ojoja divisions in the Southeastern state are hardest hit by the ban. Here, elephants, bush pigs and other wild animals roam at will through valuable farmlands, destroying cash crops, laying waste newly tilled ground and threatening hunters armed with no more than sticks or rocks.

A state-owned cocoa plantation northeast of Calabar was invaded by elephants recently. Scores of trees were uprooted, officials say.

"If the animals are not checked, they will do more damage to valuable cash crops and also pose a real threat to the lives of workers and their families," complained a statement from the state-owned agricultural development corporation.

Blue Law Challenge Planned

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Civil Liberties Union (CCLU) says it will back legislation to abolish the state's Blue Laws, which prohibit sales of certain items on Sunday.

The ACLU said "it is unconstitutional for the state to designate Sunday or any other day as a mandatory day of rest, because such laws interfere with the right of individuals to choose their own form and time of rest and worship."

It called the Blue Laws religious in origin and intent and in violation of the First Amendment guarantees separating church and state.

The union also said it might participate in court tests to determine the law's constitutionality.

Federal Welfare Cuts Blasted By Governors

BOSTON (AP) — The governors of the New England states Friday blasted proposed federal regulations which threaten sharp cutbacks in welfare payments to the states and adopted a resolution to consider bringing legal action against the government if the nation's governors are not able to force changes in the regulations.

In dispute are recently announced HEW regulations which will withhold welfare funds from states in proportion to all payments they make to ineligible welfare recipients.

Gov. Frank Licht of Rhode Island said New England states will lose more than $16 million the remainder of this fiscal year if the HEW regulations are not withdrawn.

He said Massachusetts would lose $2.8 million; Connecticut, $2.5 million; Maine, $1.1 million; Rhode Island, $999,000; Vermont, more than $1.5 million; and New Hampshire, $700,000.

"The governors, in the unanimously adopted resolution, called on the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to withdraw the

'T'was The Night Before Christmas'

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan and Harrison H. "Jack" Schmitt had two surprises for Mission Control when they awoke on the moon Tuesday.

First, the lunar explorers joined in a duet of "Good Morning to You" for capsule communicator Gordon Fullerton.

Then Schmitt added this version of "The Night Before Christmas":

It's the week before Christmas and all through the LM Not a creature was stirring, not even Cernan. The samples were stowed in their places with care. In hopes that, with you, they soon would be there.

And he in his hammock and I in my cap And he had settled our brains for a short lunar nap Had just gotten our brains for a short lunar nap When up on the comm he roared across such a chatter, I sprang from my hammock to see what was the matter. Down on the breast of the surface below, Came the cluster of objects as if in snow. And what to my wondering eyes should appear But a miniature rover and eight tiny reindeer. And a little old driver so lively and quick, I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick. I heard him explain as over the hills he did speed "Merry Christmas to all and to you all, Godspeed." "When he finished, Cernan said, "That's the first time I heard that, and I've got to say that's beautiful."

"People always said we ought to have a pet in space," said Schmitt.

"To which Cernan replied, "I don't think we've made it yet."

'Christmas Is' Happy Pupils

Dancing, acting, and singing around the general theme of "Christmas Is—" five groups of Nathan Hale School pupils will present their Christmas program Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the new wing. The children choose the aspect of the theme that they wished to develop.

For "Christmas Is Helping Santa Claus," the kindergarten and pre-primary youngsters will sing "Ringle, Jingle," "Santa, Santa," "Tap, Tap," and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

The theme of Unit A is "Christmas Is Toys." It is "Marching in the 'March of the Tin Soldiers,'" they will sing "The Little Red Caboose" and "Jolly Old St. Nicholas." Mrs. Sandra Katz, the school music teacher, will lead a group from the unit in the use of Orff method instruments.

Unit B's theme is "Christmas Is Greeting Cards." In front of a table depicting a Christmas scene, the boys and girls will sing, dance, and dramatize "Up on a Rooftop," "O Christmas Tree," "Jingle Bell Rock," and "Frosty the Snowman."

Depicted in the presentation of the play "A Christmas Tree for Kitty" will be the theme that "Christmas Is Giving." Unit C pupils will sing "Holy, Holy, Holy Christmas," "We Three

Vernon Library Gearing For Yule

Besides the conventional Christmas decorations, the Rockville Junior Library has many special exhibits especially for the children.

Especially popular is the display of marionette-type puppets named by Ron Parent and the Rockville High School Art Department. Among the puppets are several well-known characters such as Mary Poppins, Captain Hook, Pinocchio, a "Rippee" and a Japanese geisha girl.

Four-year-old Brenna Gottier has again loaned her large doll house for the children to look at and enjoy. The house, all decked out for Christmas, including a lighted Christmas tree, was built by Brenna's father and most of its furnishings are from Switzerland.

The sons of Dr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Purnell (James Purnell in program coordinator for the junior library wing) have loaned their childhood collection of Steiff originals.

These small wool animals were collected over many years and used heavily when the boys were small. The tiny animals are a product of Germany and sold round-the-world.

On Dec. 23, the library will present its annual holiday puppet festival. The "Eileen Tupp" puppet troupe will appear with five enchanting stories for the children. Various types of puppets will be used including shadow, silhouette, rod and hand and even a foot puppet. There will be 120 in all.

The puppet shows, all originals, were written by the three members of the troupe, Miss Eileen Packard of Vernon, James Purnell, Rockville, and James Johnson of Storrs. The show will start at 10 a.m. and another performance will be given at 5 p.m. It is for children in Grades K-5. Free tickets will be available at the library as of Dec. 16.

During the school vacation a special program will be presented on Dec. 27 at 10 a.m. All will be entitled, "Happiness is Giving" and presented. The show is designed for students in Grade 4 and up but all grade levels may attend. This is the first of a series of three ski programs being planned. The other two

Russians Test New Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians test fired two advanced missiles designed for submarine launching some 4,000 miles into the Pacific before ending their current series of tests Thursday, the Pentagon said Friday.

The two SSN-X missiles launched from land in northern Russia landed some 700 miles Northwest of Midway Island.

Some intelligence analysts have reported they believe the missile, called Sawfly, is now operational for Russia's growing fleet of missile-firing submarines.

According to these sources, these have been the longest test launches of the SSN-X, 16 of them this year.

The 4,000-mile range is better than 1,000 miles longer than the range of U.S. submarine-launched missiles.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim declined to provide the details on how the missiles were launched.

Lighty Rites Planned For Monday

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A memorial service is planned Monday for retired Yale University engineering professor and author Lester C. Lighty, who died Wednesday at his home. He was 81.

Joining the Yale faculty 37 years ago, he rose from research assistant to the endowed Robert H. Higgins Chair of Mechanical Engineering. He also wrote several technical books on internal-combustion engines.

The University of Illinois, where he received a master's degree, awarded him an Alumni Honor Award for distinguished service in engineering.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters, a brother, five grandchildren and a great granddaughter.

The Bible Speaks
By Eugene Brewer

In our ultra-permissive atmosphere people have been so intimidated by charges of self-righteous snobbery that they are afraid to embrace any apparently exclusive position. This aversion to exclusivism lies at the root of the flabby ecumenism, cynicism, which now seems to be waving.

We need not fear exclusiveness. Jesus said he came to God and he is God. He also said the way to life is narrow in contrast with the broad way to destruction. Matt. 7:13, 14. There is no compromise in Jesus' alternatives—repent or perish. Luke 10:2.

Paul is just as inflexible, bidding Christians to avoid ungodly yoking with unbelievers, pointing out the irreconcilability of righteousness and unrighteousness. Light and darkness, Christ and Belial. He concluded: "Come ye out from among them, and be ye separate." 2 Cor. 6:14-17.

Obituaries

Mrs. Watt Dies, Librarian

COVENTRY - Mrs. Georgene Larson Watt, 59, of Ripley Rd., a librarian in the government publication department of the University of Connecticut Library in Storrs, died Thursday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was the wife of Donald Watt.

She and her husband were owners of the former Coventry Bookstore, which opened in 1968. They purchased a half million books from a New Hampshire antique shop to open their store in the Kingsbury House on Main St. in South Coventry. Their home, called the Jesse Root Homestead, is one of the oldest homes in Coventry. It was built in 1732.

Mrs. Watt formerly was head of the general reference and government documents at the Connecticut State Library in Hartford.

She was born in Des Moines, Iowa, and lived in Hartford before coming to Coventry several years ago.

Survivors, besides her husband, are a sister, Mrs. Woodford Lawrence of Vincennes, Ind., and three stepsons, Edward Watt, Peter Watt and Andrew Watt, all of Needham, Mass.

A memorial service will be Dec. 29 at 4 p.m. at the Storrs Unitarian Meeting House. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

The James T. Pratt Funeral Home, 71 Farmington Ave., Hartford, is in charge of arrangements.

There are no calling hours.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Anthony F. DeCiantis
The funeral of Anthony F. DeCiantis of 186 E. Center St., who died Friday at Manchester Memorial Hospital, will be Monday at 8:15 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass at St. James Church at 9. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Janet Gorman DeCiantis; and two sons, Anthony David DeCiantis and Michael W. DeCiantis, all at home, whose names were omitted in the obituary in yesterday's Herald.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Robert A. McKinley
VERNON - Robert Alexander McKinley, 84, of 77 Peterson Rd. husband of Mrs. Violet Solomon McKinley, died Friday at a Rockville convalescent home.

Mr. McKinley was born in Fishkill, N.Y., and lived in East Hartford before coming to Vernon 24 years ago. He was a former joint owner of the McKinley Brothers Restaurant and Service Station in East Hartford.

Survivors, besides his wife, are two daughters, Mrs. Harvey Klotz of Vernon and Mrs. Gaylord Paine of South Windsor; a brother, Samuel McKinley of Somers; three sisters, Mrs. Mae Parham of Somers, Mrs. William McGlaughlin of Fontana, Calif., and Mrs. Gertrude Vanderberg of West Hartford.

Private funeral services will be at the convenience of the family. Burial will be in Grove Hill Cemetery, Rockville.

The Callahan Funeral Home, 1602 Main St., East Hartford, is in charge of arrangements.

There are no calling hours.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to a charity of the donor's choice.

Edwin J. Heck
ROCKVILLE - Edwin J. Heck, 57, of 22 Ward St., former member of the Rockville City Council and member of the Democratic Town Committee, died Friday at his home.

Mr. Heck was born in Rockville and lived here all his life. He was employed as a machinist at the Standadyne Corp., Wilson, and was a member and treasurer of the Italian-American Friendship Club.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Eleanor Karpuska Heck; two sons, Edwin A. Heck of Rockville and Robert J. Heck of Florida; a brother, Clarence Heck of Rockville; a sister, Mrs. Russell Merk of Rockville; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Monday at 11 a.m. at the Ladd Funeral Home, 19 Ellington Ave. The Rev. Paul J. Bowman, pastor of Union Congregational Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Grove Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Peace Group To Show Film
The Manchester Committee for Peace & Justice is co-sponsoring the film, "Thai Binh," Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of the Assumption. The film deals with the victims of the war in Indochina.

In addition to the film and a speaker, a simple meal of rice and tea will be served. Co-sponsors are the Clergy and Laity Concerned of New York City and the Fellowship of Reconciliation of Nyack, N.Y. A nominal donation will be asked.

Harvey D. King
VERNON - Funeral services for Harvey D. King of Hubbard Dr., who died Friday at Newington Veterans Hospital, will be Monday at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Manchester. Burial will be in Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 7 to 9 p.m. Manchester Lodge of Elks will conduct a memorial service Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the funeral home.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society or to the Heart Fund.

Somebody Has Lost His Christmas Goose

What are you having for Christmas — roast beef, ham, turkey?

For Lee Fracchia, Manchester's genial and patient dog warden, it might be goose — a plump, bronze nine-pound goose.

Fracchia found a loose goose on Burnham St. yesterday afternoon and he's advertising for its owner. The ad will appear in Monday's Herald.

He says if nobody claims it he'll keep it, ALIVE. He says he'll board it out on a friend's farm.

In the meantime, he's keeping it at the town dog pound and says the owner can claim it by calling the Manchester Police Station.

What does one feed a loose goose? Fracchia says he's feeding it green grass and whole corn.

Police Report

MANCHESTER

The tire shed of Manchester Sand and Gravel Co., New State Rd., was reported broken into early Friday morning. Entry was gained to the building by breaking a padlock on the south door. Twelve truck tires valued at $2,400 were reported missing.

Nothing was taken in a break at Pete's Cigo, 555 W. Middle Tpke., which was discovered early this morning.

James B. Smith, 46, of East Hartford, was charged with intoxication early this morning on Vernon St. He was released on a written promise to appear. Court date is Jan. 8.

Richard J. Estey, 18, of East Hartford, was charged with fourth degree larceny in connection with an incident at Treasure City Department Store at the Parkade. He was released on a $25 cash bond. Court date is Jan. 8.

Raymond D. Dronette, 16, of 91A Downey Dr. was charged with criminal trespassing in the second degree. He was found in the basement of an apartment building at 73-77 Downey Dr.

Two juveniles, unidentified because of their ages, were found with Dronette, police said. They were referred to juvenile authorities.

James D. Brown, 25, of no certain address, was charged with two counts of obtaining money under false pretenses. Police said the charges, lodged against Brown on a Circuit Court 12 warrant, stemmed from the alleged cashing of bad checks at local businesses.

Brown is being held at the Connecticut Correctional Center at Hartford in lieu of a $500 surety bond. He is to appear in court Monday.

Grace Zawistowski, 24, of Marlborough, was charged Friday afternoon with operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Her vehicle was in collision with a car driven by Bruce H. Bernstein, 25, of 47 Benton St. at the intersection of Broad and Center Sts. Police said that damage was minor. No injuries were reported.

Manchester Police reported several accidents which occurred Friday and today, including:

A 2:10 a.m. collision today at Center and Winter Sts. Cars involved were operated by George Hanley Jr., 51, of 68 Delmont St., and Francis E. Brogie Jr., 38, of 34 Nike Circle.

Both cars were towed; no injuries were reported.

A 6:06 a.m. accident today on Vernon St. A car driven by James B. Smith, 46, of East Hartford, went off the road and struck a tree. The car was towed; Smith was not injured.

Most of the other accidents were blamed on slippery road conditions. Minor, if any, injuries were reported. Damage to cars involved was minor or moderate.

About Town

Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Sheridan of Hebron Rd. Bolton, were at Cape Kennedy to witness the Apollo 17 moon shot, which they were able to watch for about 600 miles down range. They were joined by their son Barry, who is studying oceanography at the Florida Institute of Technology in Melbourne, and who returned with them for the Christmas holidays.

The yearly precipitation total to date, the bureau spokesman added, is 61.81 inches; and 1972, by virtue of the overnight storm, moves into second place in all-time annual precipitation, exceeding 1938's 61.63 inches. The leader is 1965, with 62.94 inches. Records go back to 1905.

The spokesman said that the latest storm was the result of two low pressure systems merging over the Southern states and splitting later, with one moving through western Pennsylvania and the other forming off the Virginia coast.

Wetlands Act

"Zoning gives development rights to a tract and environmental protection regulations might neutralize or take away these rights," Potter noted. If a developer is denied use of his property because it is within a wetland area, the town may have to purchase the land, Potter mentioned. He added that there is a remote possibility that a landowner may choose this way of selling undevelopable lands.

The agency which is designated to enforce the act would have substantial work to do, according to Potter. Public hearings are mandated, and the DEP guidelines indicate that an agency will need the services of biological specialists — soil engineers, civil engineers, botanists, chemists, and so on.

Potter recommended that the act and its possible results be examined by town counsel. He asked the Board of Directors to thoroughly study the act before making a decision. "I feel the state is the appropriate body to regulate and enforce the protection of the environment," Potter said, "because of the high degree of control that is proposed and required."

Manchester Mayor John Thompson is apparently being very cautious in planning a course of action. He said, that with the information at hand now, he favors creation of a new board or commission to regulate wetlands in Manchester.

"Conservationists have the strongest interest in the act," Thompson said, "but there are other groups which should be involved." The mayor said a new agency may consist of planning and zoning people, and businessmen, as well as conservationists.

Thompson said such an approach was suggested by Danbury Mayor Gino Arconti, whose city recently established an "environmental impact committee" to promulgate regulations and enforce the wetlands act.

Thompson said he is seeking more information on the Danbury situation. He added that he hopes to have something ready for presentation to the Board of Directors in January.

Snow Storm

a.m. from Nov. 1 through March 31.

HELCO's emergency service reported no problems or complaints. A SNETCO repair department spokesman said that there were no storm-related troubles, "no worse than any other Saturday, and much cleaner than the last storm."

A spokesman for the National Weather Service at Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks said that snow began falling there at 1:31 yesterday afternoon. As of 7 a.m. today, precipitation measurement there was 1.15 inches, with 5.6 inches of snow on surrounding slopes. Flurries were forecast throughout the morning, and as of this writing, there were.

The yearly precipitation total to date, the bureau spokesman added, is 61.81 inches; and 1972, by virtue of the overnight storm, moves into second place in all-time annual precipitation, exceeding 1938's 61.63 inches. The leader is 1965, with 62.94 inches. Records go back to 1905.

The spokesman said that the latest storm was the result of two low pressure systems merging over the Southern states and splitting later, with one moving through western Pennsylvania and the other forming off the Virginia coast.

Benefits to Rise With Living Cost

(First in a Series.)

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA)

The 1972 changes in the Social Security system were the most sweeping in many years. Their biggest goal was to make the vast complex of protective benefits largely inflation-proof and keep it in pace with rising earnings levels over the years.

A series of general cash benefit increases from early 1970 through late 1972 have lifted payment levels by roughly 50 per cent in that span. This has been a pressure game of "catch-up" with spiraling living costs. Leaders in Congress and in Social Security seem to agree this phase now has ended.

From 1973 on, so-called "automatics" come into play in an effort to keep the benefit structure up to date and properly financed.

The new law provides, of course, that henceforth Social Security cash benefits will be increased in reasonably close alignment with increases in the cost of living.

The formula calls for a comparison check of price levels over a year's time, from one June quarter to the next. If the index has risen three per cent or more in that span, there'll be a matching boost in Social Security benefits the following January. If the price advance is less than three per cent, benefits will hold steady. But the comparisons will be made every year.

Another key automatic feature relates to general earnings levels. As these advance, and it is assumed they will go up roughly five per cent a year, there will be a comparable percentage increase in the maximum base from which workers' Social Security taxes are taken each year.

This steady anticipated rise in the tax base, some of it already scheduled and some merely projected, is considered by the experts as sufficient assurance of constantly enlarging funds to finance adequately future benefit hikes. The new law also does call for a scale of tax RATE increases, but these are mostly intended to cover the part of Social Security which finances Medicare's hospital insurance protection.

Medicare & Social Security

Rising earnings levels are newly tied to Social Security in still a third way. Starting Jan. 1, 1973, Social Security retirees may earn $2,100 a year (formerly $1,600) without any loss of retirement benefits. And the amount they may earn in a given month without such loss will rise from $140 to $175. But these limits, too, will advance as earnings levels climb. In other words, the better the national earnings level, the more a retiree can earn and still get his allotted benefits.

There is one more interesting link between living costs and the Social Security-Medicare structure. The part of Medicare called medical insurance, which largely covers doctor bills, requires payment of monthly premiums by beneficiaries. These have been going up from year to year in tandem with rising medical costs.

But from mid-1973 on, government authorities will not be allowed to increase the premiums by any percentage greater than that decreed for Social Security cash benefits under the cost-of-living provisions.

People at retirement age who are qualified for Social Security benefits don't always wish to retire at 65. Heretofore, if they kept on working, it added nothing to their ultimate benefits. From 1973 forward, however, they can collect an extra one per cent in benefits for every year they stay at work up to age 72.

Finally, beginning next year, low-wage workers under Social Security for 30 years can get a special minimum payment of $170 a month ($225 a couple). But the payment drops $8.50 (per month) for each year less than 30 until the regular minimum of $84.50 is reached.

(Second in a Series.)

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Aside from the 20 per cent across-the-board boost in Social Security cash benefits voted last summer, the second-stage Social Security legislation later adopted will give a good lift to some 3.8 million widows and an uncountable number of men retirees.

The widows get the best break, but the way the law has been written will confuse many.

Under the old law, any widow who waited until age 62 or older got a fixed 82.5 per cent of her husband's so-called "primary insurance amount," the benefit he would get if retired at 65 and fully qualified under Social Security.

The new law, as first quickly reported, raised hopes that, starting Jan. 1, 1973, all widows in the 62- and older categories would get 100 per cent of their husbands' full benefit sums. The answer is that some will, but a great many won't.

Roughly 1.8 million widows who were 65 or older at the time they came on the rolls WILL get 100 per cent—but not necessarily 100 per cent of that "primary" amount. If a widow's husband began taking reduced benefits between ages 62 and 65, she can get 100 per cent only of that smaller payment he'd be getting if he were alive.

Another two million widows will get higher benefits than before, but not 100 per cent of anything. If THEY go (or went) on the rolls between ages 62 and 65, their benefits will be reduced according to their place on the age scale.

The closer they are to 65, the more they will get. For instance, a widow taking benefits from age 64 will draw 94.3 per cent of her husband's retirement payment, while a widow who starts on the rolls at 62 will get just 82.9. Again, they have to remember that these proportions are to be measured against what their husbands would be getting if they were alive — and that in many cases this would not be the "primary insurance amount" (full benefits).

Widows of course may get benefits at age 60 (or 50 if disabled), but the 1972 law leaves their payments substantially as they were.

Now, about men retirees. Up to now, if a man retired at 65 and was qualified with sufficient work under Social Security, he would get full benefits, figured on the basis of his average annual earnings up to 65. But if he retired between 62 and 65, his payments would be smaller, partly because his annual earnings still would be "averaged" up to age 65. It was as if he had three zero earnings years at the end.

The new law will, by stages, bring men to a point where, when retired, their earnings will be averaged for payment purposes only up to age 62. It's that way for women right now.

But the full effect of this change won't be felt for age 62 male retirees until 1975—in other words, for men born in 1913. A lesser impact of the new averaging method meantime will be felt for men who reach 62 in 1973 and 1974.

Beneficiaries should remember this is a change in the way earnings are averaged. It does not mean that from 1975 on, men retirees at 62 will get the same full benefits they would if they waited until age 65. The amendment simply puts men on a par with women in the method used to calculate what they can get.

The Love Story of the Century

The date was Dec. 11, 1936. All over the world people sat crowded around their radios as the voice of Sir John Reith, head of the BBC, said: "This is Windsor Castle. His Royal Highness, Prince Edward."

With this brief introduction, the other voice came through: "At long last . . ." Minutes later the short speech ended with "God Bless You

All. God Save the King."

This history-making incident in which King Edward VIII renounced the British throne to marry the twice-divorced American, Wallis Warfield Simpson, will be re-enacted on ABC-TV's "Portrait: The Woman I Love." The special airs Sunday, Dec. 17, at 9 p.m., with Richard Chamberlain and Faye Dunaway portraying the central figures in "the love story of the century."

The sequence covered in the one-hour program dramatizes the first meeting between Mrs. Simpson and the Prince of Wales, through the days when he endeavored to persuade Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin to allow a morganatic marriage, and finally his irrevocable decision to abdicate.

Which one is the imposter?
In 1936, the King of England abdicated his throne to marry an American divorcee. People who knew the real couple could have trouble identifying which picture — the top or the bottom — is the real couple

Have you picked the right couple? The actors are in the bottom picture, with the real couple in the top picture, taken in 1937.

Christmas Customs From Around The World

France

Joyeux Noël

Christmas Greetings in French

The Creche
Most French families have a crèche scene that they put out each year. A crèche is a manger scene. The family of St. Francis of Assisi put together the first crèche hundreds of years ago in France. They used real people and real animals. People copied what they did.

Many Frenchmen go to midnight church services on Christmas Eve. When they return home, they serve a delicious meal called the "réveillon". It is also a custom to serve a cake called a "bûche de Noël", which is made in the form of a log. The children put out their shoes for "le père Noël" (Father Christmas) or "le petit Noël" (the Christ Child) to fill. Many years ago children used to put out wooden shoes called "sabots".

This family is from France. See the crèche. The mother is getting ready to serve a "bûche de Noël", a special Christmas cake.

Germany

Froehliche Weihnachten

Christmas Greetings in German

Saint Nicholas, a kindly old bishop who rides on a white pony, brings gifts to the German children on December 5. December 6 is his day. The children leave out their shoes and he fills them with treats. The children also leave out hay for the pony. In some parts of the country, Saint Nicholas has a helper called Kriss Kringle. The tree (called a tannenbaum) is an important Christmas decoration. Most families hang up an advent wreath.

Spain

Felices Pascuas

Christmas Greetings in Spanish

Christmas time in Spain is celebrated with religious services, family gatherings and much dancing. After midnight Mass on Christmas Eve, people dance in the streets for hours. Most Spanish families have a manger scene called a "Nacimiento". The Three Wise Men visit the children on the night of January 6, bringing gifts. The youngsters leave out their shoes to be filled. They also leave out hay for the Wise Men's camels.

Italy

Buon Natale

Christmas Greetings in Italian

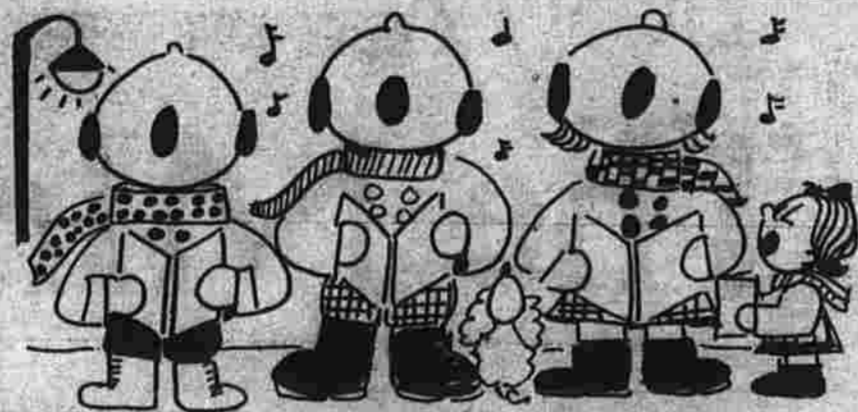

Just about every Italian family has a manger scene. It is called a "Presepio". Though some gifts are exchanged at Christmas, the big gift-giving day is January 6, Befana Day. La Befana is a kindly old witch who comes down the chimney and fills the children's shoes with goodies. She rings a little bell to announce her arrival. One story is that the Wise Men asked La Befana to go with them to see the Baby Jesus. She said that she was too busy, and now she wanders about looking for the Christ Child.

Puzzle-le-do

Blank out the even numbered spaces and you will find a Christmas message. There is a message hidden in the odd numbered blocks.

Christmas Customs In England

Many English families burn a big log on Christmas Eve. This is called a "yule" log. The children hang up stockings for Father Christmas to fill. The English also sing carols and hang mistletoe. They serve a special plum pudding. They also serve a punch in a bowl called a "wassail" after Christmas is called "Boxing Day". At this time of year the families give gifts to policemen, postmen, and others who have helped them during the year.

Christmas Customs In Mexico

In Mexico there is the celebration of the "Posadas". It begins on December 16 and lasts for nine nights, until Christmas Eve. Every night, members of the family and friends march from room to room, pretending they are Mary and Joseph looking for a room in the inn. Every night, they hang up a pinata (Peen-YHA-tuh) made of clay or heavy paper. The children put on blindfolds and try to break it with a stick. When the paper, or clay, is broken, candy and gifts fall to the floor.

Super Sport: J.C. Snead

J. C. Snead, a baseball player during his early youth, decided to concentrate on the game of golf at the age of 22. This was a wise decision. Snead, now 30 years old, won over $90,000 playing on the professional tour in 1971. J. C. is the nephew of Sam Snead, long-time golfing great. He grew up in Hot Springs, Virginia and was an outstanding high school baseball player. He had a .450 batting average. J. C. also played in the minor leagues. His hobbies are fishing and hunting.

Paper Doll

Pomander Ball

This is a spicy smelling decoration that will keep its odor for a long time. You can tie a string around it and hang it on a tree. You can also make several and put them into a bowl. It makes a great gift or decoration!

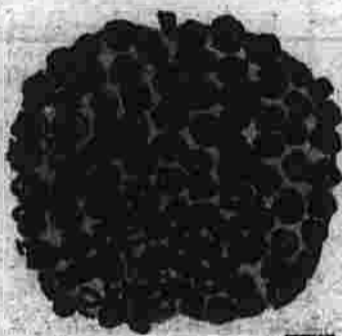

What You'll Need:

- Apple
- Whole cloves
- Cinnamon powder

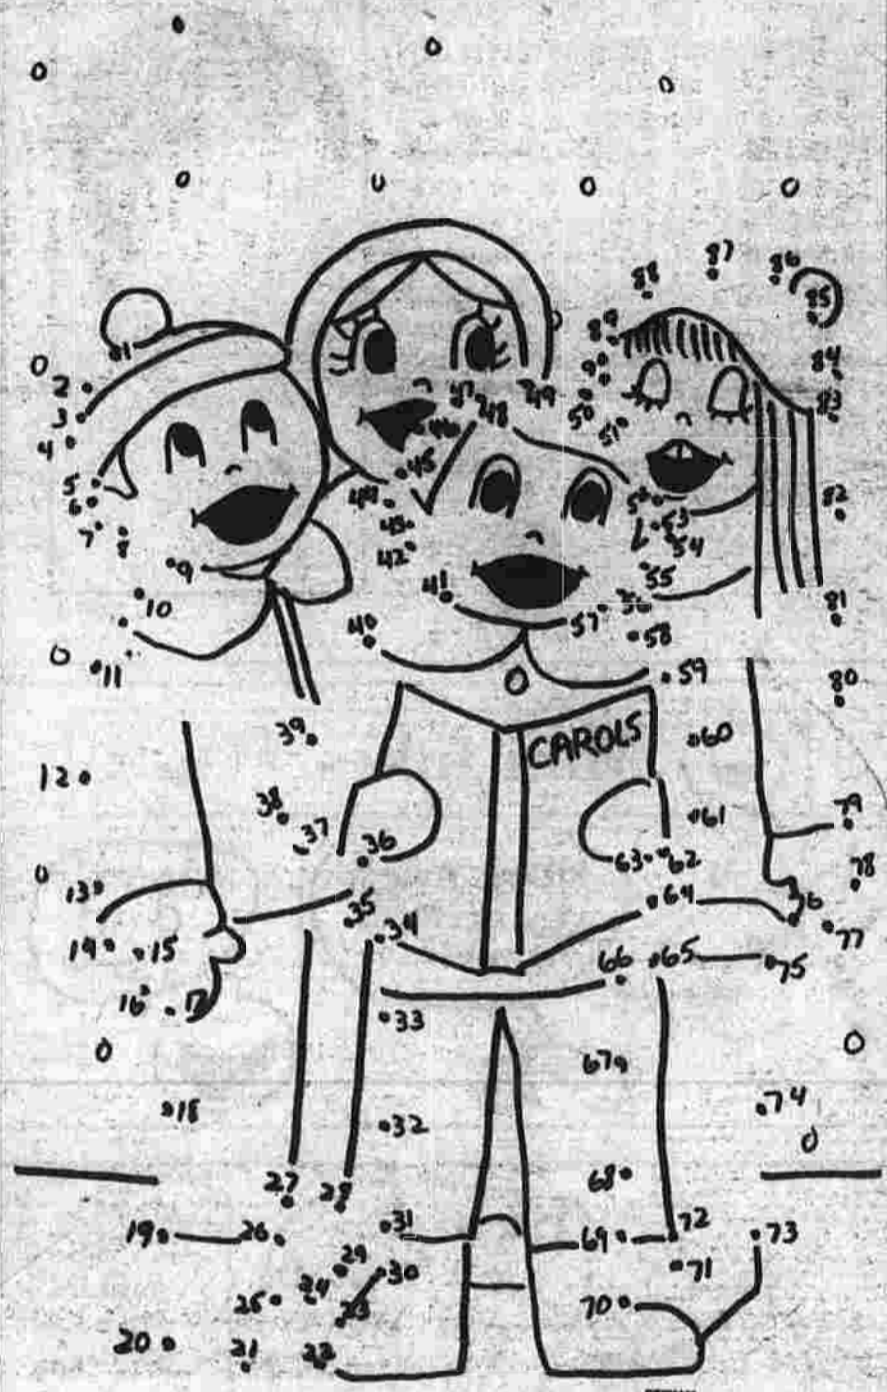

1. Stick cloves into the apple until it is completely covered so you can hardly see the skin. You can use an orange, but it's harder to break the skin.

2. Put a small amount of powdered cinnamon into a bag. Put the ball in, too, and shake very carefully and remove.

3. The fruit will dry out and become hard. The spicy odor will last for months.

Draw Dot-to-Dot Dot and Color

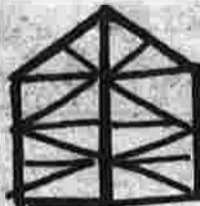

Stained Glass Window Christmas Card

1. Fold white or light colored construction paper into three panels, making panels touch or slightly overlap.

2. Cut off the top of the card to make your window shape. Make both sides even.

3. Outline card with a dark color. Make design on the window and color.

4. Put a Christmas message inside the card. You can use a verse from your favorite carol.

Christmas Shopping Manners That Are Good All Year Round

Agree on a meeting place in case you should get lost from your mother.

Don't handle the merchandise. A clerk will help you.

Stand very still when you are riding on the escalator and hold on.

Don't beg from your parents. Make shopping as pleasant for everyone as you possibly can.
