The Richard Martin School fifth and sixth graders gave a performance Monday afternoon of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" for students and parents.

Cast in the leading roles were Neil Berggren as Ebenezer Scrooge; Burton Hilton as Bob Cratchit; Andrew Milowski as Marley's ghost; Shaun Stanton as Fred; Liz Handley, Matthew Glosky and Allen Anderson as the spirits; Robert Michael as Fenswig; Carole Murphy as Mrs. Cratchit; Dawn Collins as Tiny Tim; and Becky Seibert as Peg.

During and after the performance, carolers sang "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen" and "Adeste Fideles." The piano accompanist was James Nardulli, a sixth grade pupil.

Manchesters loose goose is back in the news. It's come home to roost (or, is it roast). It's a lost and found and lost and found story.

Regarding street openings, no one "shall make any excavation in or dig below the surface of any street, street right-of-way or sidewalk unless he has obtained a permit to do so issued by the chief administrative officer of the Town of Coventry."

The officer will compile a manual listing all types of work to be performed in, on, over or under any of the streets or highways in the town, by anyone other than the town, for which a permit is required.

The second ordinance stipulates that the Town Council may adopt any regulations it deems fitting to control the issuance of the permits, and these regulations are to be included in the manual.

The council may waive the requirements for the sale of a substantial lot whenever it finds that the sale of particular property to a particular owner would benefit the health and general welfare of the community.

As to the sale of real estate that conforms to existing zoning regulations, such sales shall always be by sealed bid, with the bidding open to all those interested.

Prior to any real estate being offered for sale, the council shall refer the proposal to the Planning and Zoning Commission as required by state statute.

Some Lamé Ducks Finding Transition Difficult WASHINGTON (AP)—Some congressional veterans deposed by their constituents in the 1972 elections are finding it difficult to make the transition from public to private life.

The election defeats caught many with their plans down. Some will go back home to practice law or just take it easy. Others will stay around Washington as consultants, lobbyists or public employees of some other branch of government.

That's especially true of those who served several terms and still have considerable influence in Congress and the government in general.

None of the lame duck legislators is likely to go hungry. Some are eligible for the maximum pension of about $3,000 a year, based on length of service including up to five years of military duty.

The oldest of the lame-ducks, both in age and seniority, is Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who at 84, was defeated in his party primary by 30-year-old Elizabeth Holtzman. He is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and has been in the House 50 years.

Ultimatums Given Hanoi And Saigon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration strategists see Hanoi as stalling on peace negotiations, rather than scuttling them, in an attempt to strengthen its bargaining hand.

The secret Paris parley can get back on the track quickly once the North Vietnamese decide to resume serious talks, officials said. But they do not foresee this happening quickly, and they said no further meeting date has yet been set between Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho.

Presidential adviser's top deputy, headed home from a quick Southeast Asian trip. Senior South Vietnamese officials in Saigon said President Nixon has given both North and South Vietnam an ultimatum to sign a peace agreement, threatening Hanoi with continued bombing and Saigon with a cutoff in economic and military aid.

While the White House and the State Department declined comment, other U.S. sources suggested that the Saigon report was overdrawn although they did not deny Nixon's pressure on both Vietnamese antagonists.

They said Nixon policy on bombing of North Vietnam, which resumed on an intensive scale after breakdown of the negotiations, has been to relate the air action to Hanoi's interest in progress in the peace talks.

And Kissinger made clear in his public report last Saturday, they said, that they will not let Thieu block a peace agreement if one is reached which Nixon spoke with a cutoff in economic and military aid.

They speculated that the North Vietnamese may be willing to see what troubles over the war develop between Nixon and the incoming Congress. They said Hanoi also may anticipate further difficulties between Washington and Saigon or communist gains on the battlefield.

Concerning Political Activity Police Union Request Voted Down By CRC

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) Should the charter restrictions against Manchester policemen holding elective and appointive office be lifted? The Charter Revision Commission doesn't think so, and it voted 9 to 4 last night to reject the recommendation, proposed several months ago by the Manchester Police Union.

Section 10-5 of the town charter prohibits any member of the police department from holding political office or from serving on appointive commissions.

The police union asked for a change which would provide a leave of absence without pay and the suspension of earned benefits for policemen who wish to seek political office, with the pay and the earned benefits.

By JUNE TOMPKINS (Herald Reporter) Women are buying everything under the sun this year for Christmas giving. And Christmas getting. Storekeepers readily admit that members of the fair sex do most of the looking and most of the buying. And, in some instances, if they don't do the actual buying, they hint very strongly how and where the gentlemen's money may be spent.

The ever-vain lady is not going in very heavy for wig buying because, in the past few years of wig popularity, she has already acquired at least one wig. But she is bringing her wig in for setting and reconditioning. And she is also getting her once-a-year permanent. To keep bright and gay with the holiday spirit, the business of hair coloring and frosting is at its peak.

Mothers are brave when they buy records for today's young people. Buy them they do, however, but not without the wise advice from the music department managers who keep their fingers on the pulse of the rock record set. They're more secure in the selection of records for their husbands which fall in the category of the big band favorites. Some select guitars for their better halves, sons, brothers, or boyfriends.

Although men's clothing stores are labeled as such, it is the women who are the popular shoppers. With men's shirts, ties, jackets and pants being designed in all colors of the rainbow and wonderful fabrics, women are having a spruce selecting the best looking shirts and ties to be worn by the best looking men in their lives. They seem to prefer the knit wear items. Wallets, handkerchiefs, belts are still popular items, but are bought more as extras or stocking stuffers.

Christmas Shopping Is A Women's Whirl

Would a woman think of a travel agency as a source for Christmas shopping? Yes, she would. This year, the woman's ingenuity has inspired her to buy a gift certificate at a travel agency for that person who has everything, for parents, or for the boss in the office.

The craft shops are a source of countless ideas for the lady shopper. This year, she is especially attracted to hanging pottery planters. Fused glass items are a big attraction as well as the dyed fabric wall hangings.

Tennis anyone? Now that indoor tennis courts are growing in popularity, the ladies are very conscious of their tennis style. In backyard tennis, he said, "The field of tennis skirts and dress outfits. They buy an extra outfit for their favorite kaffeeklatch partner while they're buying one for themselves. A new racket, racket press, or the new colored tennis balls are a good choice for the male tennis player."

Speaking of sports, one store owner said that the bicycle business this year is "phenomenal." And he didn't mean for boys, either. Women, he said, are buying bicycles "like crazy." He also said that he was surprised when they're buying one for themselves. A new racket, racket press, or the new colored tennis balls are a good choice for the male tennis player.

Probably an afterthought for the parley, The meeting never took place — because, Zvirner said, the committee members were busy at the Zwerner meeting. Connecticut Co. buses have been idle since Nov. 25 in Hartford, New Haven and Stamford since the company was struck in a contract dispute by drivers and mechanics of the Amalgamated Transit Union. Buses operated in Bridgeport, Waterbury and New Britain by the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Co. have been in their garages since the company shut down service Oct. 10. Both companies say they need subsidies to keep operating.

Plane Collision Kills Nine

CHICAGO (AP) — Two airliners carrying 138 persons collided on a fog-shrouded runway at O'Hare International Airport, killing nine persons in Chicago's second air tragedy in two weeks.

The collision late Wednesday involved a North Central Airlines jet with 65 persons aboard and a Delta Airlines Convair 440 with 86 passengers and a crew of seven.

The Cook County morgue said the nine who died were North Central passengers. One Delta passenger said after the accident that "two seconds could have made the difference in all our lives."

The crash occurred as the North Central DC9 — flight 875 — to Madison, Wis., and Delta and International Falls, Minn. — was taking off. The plane clipped the tail of the Delta craft, which was taxiing to a holding area after a flight from West Palm Beach and Tampa, Fla.

Thirteen persons aboard the North Central jet were admitted to a hospital and 19 other passengers and a crew of four were uninjured.

John Shea, former Manchester town counsel, explained that the restriction is traditional — placed against almost all persons involved in law enforcement.

"The decisions they face daily may influence their judgment," he said. "The field of law enforcement is of such particular character and its gravity is such that participants should be as objective as possible, and free of political influences and pressures as possible."

Shea, placing policemen, attorneys, judges, prosecutors and other law enforcement personnel in the same category, said, "The greatest scandals in the North have the rotund toymaker, however, may have to read a couple of inquiries more than to be sure he isn't reading in something that wasn't intended."

One young man asked, "How are you doing with Mrs. Santa?" Two young ladies inquired, "How are you and your wife doing?" Apparently they also have an inkling that their younger sister has a head start toward women's lib, because they inserted that "Kathleen wasn't a toy fire engine."

One boy, after listing for himself a group of gifts that would delight the heart of anyone his age, enclosed requests for his dog and cat. "For the first, a hard hat, a collar, and a leash," and for the second, "A double side bowl and stuffed rug."

Another wrote, "Please send me a doll that wets her pants." Probably an afterthought for the doll's comfort and not wishing to add another chore to her mother's day, she added, "Don't send me a frequent wetter because I go to school in the day." A number showed their interest in the state of domestic

Two Robberies Net $5,000

By DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter) Two armed robberies in Manchester Wednesday night netted two separate gunmen nearly $5,000, Manchester police reported today.

The holdups were apparently unrelated, police said. An estimated $3,000 in cash was taken in a Tip-on pickup at Top Notch Foods Inc., 260 N. Main St., and nearly $2,000 in cash and checks was taken from a man making a night deposit at the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. branch at 220 W. Middle Tpke. shortly after 10 p.m.

Today, Manchester Police were working on several clues in the two robberies. One Delta passenger said after the accident that "two seconds could have made the difference in all our lives."

No New Taxes Promised by R. I. Governor

PROVIDENCE (AP) — Governor-elect Philip W. Noel said Wednesday the budget he will propose to the General Assembly for the fiscal year starting next July 1 will not require new or increased taxes.

The pledge went further than his campaign statements that it appeared no tax increase would be necessary, but that he could not promise one would not be implemented.

He said he could promise no extra taxes because current levies are expected to produce sufficient revenue, funds from federal revenue sharing are available and he has had a chance to look over budget requests.

U.S. Dues to UN Cut

Grudging to the last, the General Assembly of the United Nations bowed to the inevitable and approved 81 to 27 a reduction in the regular assessment of the United States to a new ceiling of 25 per cent for any one member.

Since 1956, the United States has sought the 25 per cent limitations "as a matter of principle" on the grounds that it was not healthy for an organization to depend upon one member out of 132 for one-third of its total support.

In actuality, the United States has paid more than one-third of the costs of UN operations, through voluntary contributions on a basis of matching funds from other nations for social and economic programs.

The General Assembly fixed a limit of 30 per cent on the assessment of any one member in 1957 but let the U.S. share stand at 31.52 per cent.

Finally, Congress decided on its own that the cut would be effective with the 1974 budget.

Later, the UN budgetary committee voted 87 to 60, with 23 abstentions, to recommend the new ceiling. UN legal counsel ruled the question required a two-thirds vote for approval, which it does despite the vigorous opposition of Soviet Russia and Cuba.

Russia's share is 14.18 per cent, less than half what U.S. has been paying, yet Ambassador Malik cried that the U.S. was arm-twisting on a world scale and taking from this "impeccable organization a measly $13 million dollars."

Topping off his tirade, Malik threatened that Russia reserved the right "to take corresponding measures." Russia has never paid more than 5 per cent in voluntary contributions as compared to America's average of 40 per cent.

Spokesmen for the United States promised no reduction and possibly an increase in the level of voluntary pledges.

It took assurance that no other member would have to pay more as a result of the U.S. cut to win approval. Admission of East Germany and West Germany, expected next year, should provide about 10 per cent of the budget, enough to cover the U.S. cut and to relieve the 69 poorest member nations, who will pay 200ths instead of 400ths of 1 per cent.

Malik's derivation of the dollar amount involved and his threat that Russia might reduce its ignoble share matches his charge that the U.S. used methods "smacking of the cold war" to win the cuts.

Obviously, the cold war has not thawed completely.

Capital Fare Bury the UN

WASHINGTON - Except for providing a collection of diplomatic Malafios with luxurious hotel suites and fat expense accounts, does the United Nations today offer any rational excuse for its continued existence?

I think not. The recent 76 to 34 vote rejecting strong international action against terrorism and calling for a "study of its causes should convince even the most bubbleheaded do-gooder that a death certificate be prepared forthwith and the so-called "peace" organization be given an indecent burial in some obscure Potter's Field.

In fact, the mob of two-bit "nations" - most of them black African and of doubtful legitimacy - which rammed through the "study" resolution did not even condemn terrorism as such. Instead, they predictably denounced "the continuation of repressive and terrorist acts by colonial racist and alien regimes in denying peoples their legitimate right to self-determination and independence."

Which is to say that countries such as Algeria, which sponsored the resolution, most Arab states and black Africans regard terror as a legitimate instrument of national policy against their enemies. And of course the Soviet Union, Red China and other nations in the Communist bloc went along for political profit.

"The philosophy expressed here is that the end justifies the means," said Austria's Felix Nettel. "We cannot accept this philosophy. We have lived through the suffering brought by this kind of philosophy. He did not have to name names - Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin.

Aside from their interest in influencing the so-called "emerging nations," Peking, Moscow and their lackeys were voting for what might loosely be called their principles. They have used terrorism as a "legitimate instrument of national policy" in the past and naturally desired to keep their options open. Next month, for instance, pathetic Burundi might be ripe for a Czechoslovakian-type intervention - or Cambodia.

Well, the outlaw bloc almost surely is due for a kick in the teeth. The United States, Great Britain, Canada, Israel and Italy among others have reluctantly decided, their only recourse is to by-pass the UN and take unilateral or collective action to deal with world terrorism. Economic sanctions against countries which refuse to prosecute skyjackers and other terrorists are stronger weapons than speeches in the General Assembly. Not even the Russians and Chinese are rich enough to survive such sanctions, they would destroy the Algeria of the world community.

What points up the awful irresponsibility of the UN is that neither of the resolutions seeking action against terrorists was outrageously repressive. One called for the convening of an international conference early next year to draw up a convention against terrorism. The other called for the UN International Law Commission to draft a convention to be "considered" by an international conference. But no. The outlaw bloc of 76 would take no chance. It insisted upon retaining the right to massacre another 26 members of the Tel Aviv airport, to slaughter another 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team at Munich, to mail letter bombs to officials of countries they happen not to like, much to murder another Kennedy.

No wonder Britain's John Freeland announced that "indeed we will redouble our own national effort against terrorism. Like Israel's Yosef Teohob, he was saying that from now on "governments determined to combat terrorism could not expect anything useful from the United Nations."

So be it. Perhaps there is still time for civilized men to take over from the brutes and their rightful United Nations shell game.

Hussein Looks Inward

AMMAN, Jordan - With his borders peaceful for the first time since the six-day war, King Hussein has gingerly pulled back from the anti-Israel Arab front with what amounts to a "plague on both your houses."

Hussein, his astute 25-year-old son, Prince Hassan, and his pro-Western government have endured all they can from the feuding Arab front with its empty threats of military action.

Having recovered from his blood civil war of 1970-71 against the Palestinian guerrillas and with his Syrian border just opened to lucrative trade, Hussein has decreed an end to rhetoric. Facts are being seen here as fact, and Fact No. 1 is that Israel's military preeminence leaves only two roads open to the Arab states - economic development for future strength and continuing diplomatic pressures for recovery of lost lands.

The capital city of Amman is almost unrecognizable today, its tidy appearance symbolic of the King's new three-year development plan. With Prince Hassan given large economic power, King's plot is to make Jordan a center of small industrial export to the rich oil states of Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the Persian Gulf and desert.

With a profitable sheep ranch, cattle to come and hundreds of acres planted to alfalfa, onions and other cash crops, this enterprising pioneer has at least opened the prospect for major economic change in what has been primordial desert. His wells, over 300 feet deep, have brought uninterrupted water to the surface for two years now and the government may risk its own investment in the endless search for arable land.

The politics of the new Jordan is obvious. There is less talk here about the Palestinian refugees. No one admits it, but there is hope that far more of them can be brought into the Jordanian economy than seemed possible a few years ago.

The oil-rich Persian gulf area is a lush employment market for the far better educated Palestinians and Bedouins who make up the truncated state of Jordan. Thus, 20,000 Jordanians are now teaching school in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and the Gulf states, and Jordanian technicians run government-owned television stations.

"Now, Joe. When the ceremony begins, walk straight and don't look too pleased." - Maria Bernardin; to her son photographed as a cardinal, an archbishop of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Cincinnati.

"We have won the election. This is the most important historical event that ever occurred in the labor movement in this country." - Arnold Miller, a retired coal miner, claiming victory in his race for presidency of the United Mine Workers.

Police Station Visitors Mugged
LOS ANGELES (AP) - All visitors with the exception of government employees and news representatives are being photographed as they enter police headquarters here, a department spokesman says. The spokesman said the mug shots were being taken to help investigators if a bomb or other destructive device is planted in the building.

Photocopies of driver's licenses and cards showing when each person was issued are being taken from the building as fled along with the photographs, the spokesman said.

Today in History

Today is Thursday, Dec. 21, the 35th day of 1972. There are 10 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1620, the Pilgrims went ashore from the Mayflower at Plymouth, Mass. On this date: In 1898, stadium was discovered by Pierre and Marie Curie.

In 1945, U.S. Gen. George Patton died from injuries suffered in a car accident in Heidelberg, Germany.

In 1984, Charles de Gaulle was elected to a seven-year term as the first president of the Fifth French Republic.

In 1960, Saudi Arabia's Premier Emir Faisal resigned, and King Saud took over full control of the government.

In 1966, eight children were killed when a trailer truck overturned and dumped 10 tons of sand into a crowded school bus in Windsor, Ont.

Ten years ago: After a summit meeting in the Bahamas, the United States and Britain called for the creation of an international nuclear force to protect the North Atlantic area and invited France to join them.

Five years ago: In Cape Town, South Africa, the first man to undergo a heart transplant, Dr. Roy Calne, died 18 days after the operation.

Today's Thought
Until one feels the spirit of Christmas - there is no Christmas. All else is outward display - so much tinsel and decorations. For it isn't the holly, it isn't the snow. It isn't the tree nor the firelight's glow. It's the warmth that comes to the hearts of men when the Christmas spirit returns again. - Pipeluis

Public Positions On Peace Talks Summarized

By The Associated Press
Here are the public positions of the North Vietnamese and the Americans concerning the stalled Vietnam peace talks as stated Saturday by Henry A. Kissinger and Tuesday by Hanoi's No. 2 man in the negotiations, Xuan Thuy: "Why there isn't a ceasefire?"

Bombing Policy Reviewed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The resumption Monday of U.S. bombing above North Vietnam's 20th parallel is the latest installment in an on-again, off-again bombing policy dating back more than eight years.

The first American bombing raids against North Vietnam came Aug. 45, 1964 following the Gulf of Tonkin incident, which two American warships, the USS Maddox, and USS Turner Joy, allegedly were attacked by communist patrol boats.

Those raids were directed against North Vietnamese coastal bases, patrol boats and oil installations.

However, the first sustained bombing raids did not come until Feb. 7, 1965, in retaliation against Viet Cong attacks against American ground installations in South Vietnam.

The bombing continued unabated until May 15, 1965, when President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered a halt in hopes that North Vietnam would make a reciprocal move to de-escalate the war.

The bombing resumed four days later.

On Christmas Eve of that year, the bombing was halted again as part of a holiday ceasefire. The raids remained in abeyance until Jan. 31, 1966, while U.S. officials in Washington waited for a "peace signal" they hoped would lead to an end of the war.

The raids were halted briefly several times in 1966 and 1967 for holiday observances but there was no major change in U.S. bombing policy until March 31, 1968, when President Johnson announced a bombing halt in an area north of the 20th parallel including "90 per cent of North Vietnam's population and most of its territory."

This curtailment, announced during the same speech in which Johnson disclosed he would not seek re-election, was followed by the agreement for the Paris peace talks.

On April 7, 1968, U.S. military sources in Saigon said U.S. units had been ordered to bomb no further north than the 19th parallel and on Oct. 1968, Johnson ordered an end to all U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Except for periodic "protective reaction" strikes, there was no more bombing of North Vietnam until last April 6 when, without formal announcement, U.S. planes resumed the large-scale bombing following a North Vietnamese invasion into South Vietnam.

Hundreds of U.S. bombers engaged in that raid which U.S. officials said at the time they would not rule out the possibility of continued raids.

On May 8 President Nixon announced that he had ordered the mising of all North Vietnamese ports and said that "air and naval strikes against military targets in North Vietnam will continue."

On Oct. 22 Nixon limited U.S. bombing operations to the 20th-parallel "Panhandle area of North Vietnam south of the 20th parallel."

U.S. planes resumed bombing north of the 20th parallel Monday and the White House has indicated such raids will continue "until such time as a settlement is arrived at."

Why: The Americans want to introduce thousands of military observers, "creating a foreign military army of occupation in defiance of Vietnamese sovereignty and contrary to the principles of the agreement."

Kissinger: "We wanted some reference in the agreement, however vague, however elusive, however indirect, which would make clear that the two parts of Vietnam would live in peace with each other and that neither side would impose its solution on the other by force."

The cease-fire supervisory force: Kissinger: "What remains on the agreement itself is a fundamental point. It is, however, a point that has been accepted already two weeks previously and later withdrawn, so we are not withdrawing a new fundamental point. We are raising the acceptance of something that has already once been accepted."

South Vietnamese sovereignty: Thuy: Washington is trying to "perpetuate the division of Vietnam" and deny the "reality" that two parallel administrations and armies and three political forces exist in South Vietnam.

Y Series To Begin In January

The central program department of the Hartford Region YWCA has designed two new series to help broaden the horizons of the contemporary women.

"Explore," a program designed for housewives contemplating going back to work or volunteer involvement, will include reading, discussions, films, and workshops geared toward self-understanding and action on new opportunities. The program will run for six weeks from Jan. 17 to Feb. 14 at Asylum Hill Congregational, Asylum and Huntington Sts., Hartford, from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Wednesdays. Cost is $10 plus $5 membership to non-members. Baby-sitting is available for a small fee.

The second series is entitled "Discover," and will highlight the special needs of the young, single, working girl with talks by guest speakers prominent in their field followed by small group discussions. From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By Vivian F. Ferguson

My house is always a mess at Christmas. It starts at the back door where piles of Christmas cards are being addressed. Next comes the kitchen. My kitchen table is my desk and where I type this column. The old butler's pantry is awash with gift paper, boxes, ribbon and the like.

At this point in time, I make the same statement every year, "I'm never going to make it to Christmas." I always envy the ladies who start their baking early, have all their gifts wrapped and can serenely entertain guests at this season without having to run around and pick things up.

I have come to the conclusion that this is really the way I live all the time. My friends make generous statements like "Your home has that lived-in look" and "you live such a busy life." This came vividly to mind when a reader said to me one day, "How do you manage to live such a perfect life?" I thought, "If that is the impression I'm giving in the column, I'd better change that one."

The thing I like best at home are the family gatherings. I used to take it easy on weekends but now have two children away at school so there is only one child home during the week. It pleases me no end that all are home every weekend and make every effort to get here. So, I now cook on Saturdays and Sundays.

Last Saturday, I had planned to travel to Boston for a special story for this column. I won't tell you why because I may do another time. The weather looked so bad in the morning that I cancelled out. Instead, I went to the grocery store. A perfect time to cook with the snow coming down.

As I stood at the kitchen window watching the snow, I thought about the recipe I was making... the most often requested of all the recipes I have given you over a 3 1/2-year period. Plain old spaghetti sauce. For a long time, I did not put it in the column thinking it too common. Since it does appear in the Herald cookbook, many have phoned us and asked for it.

Vivian's Spaghetti Sauce: 4 cans Italian plum tomatoes, 4 cans Italian tomato paste, 4 cans tomato soup, 1 lb. can sliced mushrooms & liquid, 2 lbs. sweet Italian sausage, 2 lbs. medium hot Italian sausage, 2 lbs. ground chuck, 1 large or 2 medium onions, chopped. Seasoning to taste: garlic, crushed, oregano, rosemary, sweet vermouth.

Remove sausage from casing. Sauté chopped onion in small amount of olive oil until transparent. Using large skillet, add sausage meats and ground chuck. On high heat, stirring, cook only until pink disappears from meat.

Meanwhile, in large kettle, pour in Italian tomatoes—mash with potato masher. Then add all other ingredients including liquid from mushrooms. Take each paste can, fill half-full with hot water and rinse out cans, adding liquid to kettle. Then, add meats and seasonings to taste. Simmer 2-4 hours. Last hour, check seasonings and correct, if necessary. Best if stored in refrigerator and served another day. My be frozen.

This produces a very thick meaty sauce. The tomato soup is not normally found in Italian spaghetti sauce. You will still have a deep red sauce but one that is not harsh and acid to the stomach.

Shapely Manufacturer Makes, Sells Bikinis

LAKE HAVASU CITY, Ariz. (AP) — Randeoe Campbell is an unlikely looking businesswoman at 24, she's attractive, blond, and sexy. Her business: manufacturing bikinis.

"That's how she makes her livelihood," says her mother, Mrs. Bill Campbell. "When we moved the family boat business here from Glendale, Calif., in May, 1961 we wanted Randeoe to come along. Out of that came the idea for her to make bikinis."

When asked if she's had any complaints about her work, Mrs. Campbell replied: "Only one. I made a pair of trunks for my boyfriend. He was skiing at about 80 miles an hour when he hit the water. The pocket ripped off. He was quite upset. I think he was real lucky the trunks didn't rip off."

She says her business is still a one-woman operation.

Not long after the Campbell's moved here Randeoe started to make microscopic sized bathing suits. It started out as a gag. But during the first month of her sewing venture, she had 200 orders for bikinis, along with swimming trunks and hot pants. Randeoe's gag had turned into a business.

"Now she sells to stores in Parker, Ariz., and some other places," her mother says. "She started out in a room at our shop, but she wasn't accomplishing much and moved the business into an apartment."

At first, Randeoe worked for her father, who had heard women have more patience than men in fabricating the various parts of cabins for luxury boats.

"Maybe I did have more patience than the men," she says, "but I bet I liked more, too. These fiber glass particles are awful."

About 20 yards of "smile" material cloth bearing the drawing of a smiling face went into her first venture — five bikinis, three pairs of trunks and two sets of curtains for a dentist, his family and his boat.

"I was sore at the whole world when I started that job," she says, "but it's hard to stay mad looking at all those smiles."

Everybody Benefits from Increases

(Sixth in a Series.)
 By BRUCE BLOSSAT
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — NEA — This will give you some idea of what it means to change the Social Security-Medicare system. In important ways, it has just been done in two stages during 1972.

Providing a 20 per cent across-the-board increase in cash benefits affected the whole spectrum of 28.1 million Social Security beneficiaries.

They, and the millions sure to be added to the rolls in the years ahead, are also touched seriously by the changes which tie future benefits to rising living costs, and the maximum tax base to gains in the general earnings level.

When the President on Oct. 30 signed the more comprehensive 1972 law, it promised early gains for 3.8 million widows, 1.7 million disabled persons who may become eligible for Medicare through age 65, 1.6 million persons who want to go on earning some money though drawing retirement benefits, 500,000 who just want to keep working past 65 and find now they will get higher benefits when they do retire, 150,000 low-wage workers whose special minimum payments under the income surtax had been removed.

NEW YORK (AP) — The outlook for your personal financial situation over the next few weeks contains some good news and bad. First the bad: — We are accustomed to hearing that Social Security benefits keep rising. During 1972 we will learn the reason why this is possible. Your contribution, and that of your boss, will rise to $631.00 from $482.

Not only will the percentage of tax increase, but the tax base goes up also. In 1972, you paid at the rate of 5.2 per cent of the first $9,000 earned. In 1973 the rate goes to 5.85 per cent and the base is $10,800.

There is a double dose of bad news in this for workers who earned, let us say, at least $12,000 in 1972. Such workers ceased having money deducted for Social Security some time last fall.

Now, suddenly, the deductions resume with the first paycheck of 1973 — and at a higher rate.

As never before, credit cards are helping make this a beautiful Christmas for millions of families. Buyers have gone wild, and when the figures are all in they'll likely show that records of various sorts were set.

While the Christmas buying surge is consistent with the trend toward freer use of household money that set in earlier in the year, it probably has been abetted by the feeling that peace in Vietnam was imminent.

Willingness, as well as ability, is a factor in spending. The ability is there because personal income has been rising at 4.5 per cent a year. Willingness depends upon mood, and that too apparently has been present, at least to now.

The problem now is paying off the bills. Some merchants feel that when the tab is added up it will produce a reaction in which the big Christmas spending spree returns to their abstemious ways in the new year.

Joining them in that estimate are some economists who are already proclaiming that the personal savings rate will rise again to near 10 per cent of take-home pay after dipping down below 7 per cent at one point recently.

Some good news is coming also. From February to June the Internal Revenue Service will be passing out refund checks to reimburse taxpayers for overwithholding during 1972.

How much this will amount to for particular individuals is difficult to ascertain, but estimates of the grand total range from a low of $7 billion to more than $10 billion.

What is clear is that many thousands of Americans decided to use Uncle Sam as a bank in 1972 and then declined to change the amount withheld for their paychecks even though

Bay State Clamming Resumes

IPSWICH, Mass. (AP) — Clamming has resumed in selected areas along the shores north of Boston for the first time since mid-September when the toxic "red tide" silt down much of the shellfishing industry along the East Coast.

Ipswich, one of the largest producers of soft shell clams in Massachusetts, is expected to be able to open all its clamming areas by the middle of January.

Most other areas along the New England coast have been opened as traces of the red tide have begun disappearing from the shellfish which they infect.

Matthau Enjoys Living

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP) — The average comedian is about as much fun to be with offstage as a 65-year-old Anglican bishop with an acute case of gout.

Not our man Walter Matthau, the current top banana among film laugh makers. He is as natural as sunshine and cheerful as a mountain spring.

Walter weathered dire poverty in his childhood and six years ago survived a life-threatening heart attack. With a background such as that, Matthau doesn't need anyone to tell him how to enjoy his present success.

"Life to me is funny, real humorous," he said at a luncheon at the new Park Lane hotel here. He was celebrating the completion of his most recent film, "Pete 'N' Tillie," in which he and Carol Burnett star.

"I don't know why, but life seems to make me laugh most of the time now. I try to have a philosophy for every specific moment. It changes so rapidly I guess I don't have a general philosophy."

Now 59, although he could easily pass for an athletic 40, Walter reached the peak after a long apprenticeship in both living and acting.

After his father deserted the family when Matthau was only 3, he, his mother and a brother moved through a series of cold water East Side tenements because they were unable to pay the rent.

At 11, Walter was acting in a Yiddish theater at 50 cents a performance. During the intermissions he sold soft drinks in the lobby.

After earning six battle stars as an aerial radioman and bomber gunner overseas during World War II, he worked his way through acting school working as a floor scrubber and caddy waiter.

Slowly he became known as a competent and conscientious craftsman in Broadway plays and as a Hollywood film villain.

Then his 1960 appearance in the stage play, "The Odd Couple," made him a comedy sensation. His next film, "The Fortune Cookie," in which he teamed with Jack Lemmon, confirmed his success. Since then it has been roses, roses, all the way for Matthau.

He still tends to think of himself as a character actor rather than a star, and likes to play in serious as well as funny films or shows.

"My only preference is for good roles," he explained. "They can be about anything, anytime, anywhere."

"I became an actor because I like to act. I'm good at acting a lot of money out of it. What would I be if I weren't an actor? Dead probably. There's an occupation for you, isn't it?"

"I'd like to live to the year 2000—that would make me 80—just to see all the numerals change."

"But I have to have a certain amount of excitement, or I create it myself. That's why I 'Horses that come in first—casseroles, because steaks or roasted birds remind me too much of the whole animal—anything covered and smothered with gravy and with no bones in it—spelling tests with people I meet while traveling—girls' bottoms, because watching them gives me a tremendous feeling of security—the sound of Mozart and the voices of my wife and my son Charlie—reading Charles Dickens and Arthur Miller's plays—bakery smells and the smell of freshly cut grass—all kinds of people—and having dinner with Truman Capote when he's in a good mood; he's a great, great gossip with a great mind."

And here are his dislikes: "Raw clams—white and wine—girls who drink beer—all music written since Beethoven composed his last symphony—automobile horns—the feel of crepe—Shakespeare I find dull and Baudelaire impossible—people with studied mannerisms who are out of synchronization—and people who had break for keep trying to whisper to me."

Anything else on your mind, Walter?

"No," said Matthau. "There's less there than meets the eye."

SOMEBODY GOOFED
 RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Walter Ingalls, who ran for the California Assembly post in his area in the recent election, received a wire from U.S. Sen. John Tunney, a fellow Democrat, which read: "I'm sorry you were not successful in the recent election." But Ingalls was elected.

Christmas Shopping

Items for women this year are the big lockets and the long ropes worn around the neck. Women are also choosing jewelry items. Timepieces are a perennial favorite for Christmas giving. Of course, the diamond solitaire for the holiday engagement is also a favorite.

Christmas is not without the beautiful board. Most department managers concur that the turkey has taken a back seat when it comes to the main course. It's the roast beef that women are buying, a top favorite, with ham a close second choice. It is presumed that the availability of turkeys this year makes the holiday choice to something other than poultry a welcome one.

Items should never be underestimated, for with the centuries of Christmas shopping and giving, each year they prove that there is always something new, or some new idea under the sun which adds to the joy of the holiday.

Two Robberies

The witness said the suspect's car had two different registration plates, both New York plates.

Police checked service stations in the area, but no one had seen the suspect's car. Police didn't have an official total of the amount of money taken from the store, but they estimated the amount at about $5,000.

The second robbery Wednesday night occurred at about 10:10 p.m., police said. A part-time employee of Electronic Jungle's branch store at Butterfield's Department Store was putting a night deposit in the bank's deposit box when he was approached from the rear.

The employee, Neal Norkon, 48, of Dartmouth Rd., told police he was just opening the deposit box when he heard a man say, "Hey, you - Drop the bag."

Norkon said he turned around and saw a man holding a "frontier-type six-shooter" revolver. Norkon dropped the deposit bag, got in his car and drove away as the gunman ordered.

The brown deposit bag contained $1,225 in cash and $589 in checks made out to Electronic Jungle, police said.

Norkon said the holdup man was a white male, age in his late 20s, of slim build. The suspect had adhesive tape partially covering his face. Norkon told police the man was wearing a black three-quarter length coat, a red tartan neck sweater, and possibly dungarees. He had short, curly black hair, Norkon said.

Police said they didn't know whether a getaway car was used by the robber.

Fire Calls

At 5:20 p.m. Wednesday town firemen answered a call to 20 Meadow Lane to extinguish a small fire burning in the kitchen. Damage was minor firemen reported.

Red Tape Snags Yule Spirit

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Even the spirit of Christmas can't seem to cut through bureaucratic red tape.

Las Vegas City Commissioner Hank Thornley suggested to his fellow commissioners Wednesday that a huge collection of unclaimed bicycles piling up behind the police station be given to orphans and underprivileged children.

But city officials said state and municipal codes are so prohibitive that such gesture would be illegal.

House Cleaning Move for Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) - The Baltimore Colts, hoping to recapture the contender's role they held for so many years in the National Football League, have started what apparently will be a widespread house cleaning.

General Manager Joe Thomas commenced the cleaning process Wednesday by firing interim Coach John Sanjusky and his five assistants.

"If you're going to spring clean, you have to do it from top to bottom," said Thomas in announcing the Colts' second coaching shakeup in a little more than two months.

Sanjusky, who took over the Colts reins when Don McCafferty was fired after directing the club to just one victory in its first five games this fall, said he learned he had been dismissed when he came to the office Wednesday afternoon.

"Thomas called me into his office and said, 'I have bad news for you. I've decided to clean house. You and the other coaches are through,'" Sanjusky related. "He said he was going to make changes from top to bottom. I was at the top so I was the first to go."

Under the guidance of the one-time pro tackle, Baltimore won four of its last nine games and finished in third place in the American Conference East.

"I'm disappointed about his decision, but not bitter," Sandusky said. "I took the job when Don was fired because one of us (assistants) had to step up and fill out the term. I knew there was no guarantee that I'd be brought back next year."

Sanjusky's appointment to fill in for McCafferty in October had helped to quiet some discontent among veteran players, shocked by Thomas' businesslike approach after years of pampering under former Colts' owner Carroll Rosenbloom.

Thomas said he had no one in mind to replace Sandusky and that, although it "would be nice" to have a new head coach by the start of the college player draft next month, this was not imperative.

Inter-League Play Up Before Owners

NEW YORK (AP) - The possibility of limited inter-league play and designated pinch-hitters for the 1973 major league baseball season is a matter club owners will hammer out at a joint meeting next month.

In an apparent effort to stimulate interest, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Wednesday that club owners would take under consideration natural rivals opposing each other for not more than six games.

The American League favored such a rule and the National League opposed it during the recent winter meetings in Honolulu. The meeting is set for Jan. 11-12 in Chicago.

California Angels and Los Angeles Dodgers, and the St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City Royals.

Kuhn also said the owners will consider adoption by both leagues, or by either league, of a rule which would allow a designated pinch-hitter for the pitcher without the pitcher being removed from the game.

The designated player would be permitted to pinch-hit several times during the game.

Although it was not mentioned in Kuhn's announcement, the owners also are expected to discuss the proposed transfer of the San Diego National League franchise to Washington, D.C. and the player contract negotiations.

NFL Czar Rejects Urging Of Nixon to Lift Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite the urging of President Nixon, the National Football League playoff games during the next two weekends will not be shown on local television in the cities where they are played.

Pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle rejected Wednesday the request of the President to lift the blackout in the playoff cities.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, who negotiated with the NFL Tuesday and Wednesday on behalf of Nixon, said in a statement: "I have advised Mr. Rozelle that as a result of the league's decision, the Nixon administration would strongly urge the new Congress to re-examine the entire antitrust exemption statute and seek legislation that is more in keeping with the public interest."

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said President Nixon agrees wholeheartedly with Kleindienst's statement.

Pro football received an antitrust exemption in 1961 when Congress specifically permitted any joint agreement by organized professional team sports for the sale of television rights which permitted pro football to offer its games to a TV network as a package instead of individual stations.

In 1966, legislation again was passed to permit the merger of the American and National Football Leagues into the current NFL and the television exemption was extended to the combined leagues.

The debate over the blackout has been the subject of congressional scrutiny for the past few years and came to the forefront last fall before the Senate communications subcommittee chaired by Sen. John P. Pastore.

The Rhode Island Democrat told Rozelle that unless something was worked out for lifting the TV ban on regular season games, in addition to the playoffs, he would push ahead with a bill similar to that requested by Nixon.

On Sunday, Green Bay will be in Washington against the Redskins for an NFC game and Cleveland will travel to Miami to meet the Dolphins in an AFC contest.

The Justice Department statement, supported by Nixon, could add new strength to his commitment.

Rozelle said he didn't want to see pro football, as had pro boxing, become what he called a "studio show."

He said in a statement that six of the last 10 conference championship games have not been sold out and that since 1967, when playoff games were begun, only 11 of 17 were played to capacity.

The NFL begins its playoff games Saturday with the Oakland Raiders in Pittsburgh against the Steelers in an AFC game and Dallas at San Francisco against the 49ers in an NFC game.

On Sunday, Green Bay will be in Washington against the Redskins for an NFC game and Cleveland will travel to Miami to meet the Dolphins in an AFC contest.

Nine-Man Parade To 1,000 Club

NEW YORK (AP) — O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills, with a bit of help from the Washington bench, led a nine-player parade into the National Football League's 1,000-yard club this season.

It would have been 10 but for a fumble punted.

According to the final and official regular-season statistics released today by the league, Simpson led all ground-gainers with 1,251 yards, surpassing Washington's idle Larry Brown in last Sunday's game against the Redskins.

Simpson went into the game 66 yards behind Brown's 1,182 but ripped through Redskins for 101 yards and the NFL rushing title.

Brown was kept out of the game, won 24-17 by Buffalo, because of a slight injury.

Also breaking the 1,000-yard mark — as the 1962 league record of six players tumbled — were Ron Johnson of the New York Giants with 1,182 yards; Larry Conka of Miami, 1,117; Mary Hubbard of Oakland, 1,065; Franco Harris of Pittsburgh, 1,055; Calvin Hill of Dallas, 1,036; Mike Garrett of San Diego, 1,031; and John Brockington of Green Bay, 1,029.

And for a while last Sunday, Dave Hampton of Atlanta was a member of the club, too, reaching 1,000 yards on the second play of the final quarter against Kansas City.

But minutes later, he lost six yards on a pitchout, which he fumbled, then recovered. He carried just once more, for one yard, and wound up with 996 for the season.

Norm Snead, who quarterbacked the Giants to a respectable 8-6 mark, finished as the National Conference's

No. 1 passer. Earl Morrall, who took over for injured Bob Griese and led the Miami Dolphins through more than half of their perfect season, topped American Conference passers.

Harold Jackson of the AFC's Philadelphia Eagles led the league in pass receptions with 62 for 1,048 yards. Oakland's Fred Biletnikoff was the only repeat winner, taking the AFC receiving title with 58 for 802 yards.

Philadelphia also had the NFL's top pass interceptor in Bill Bradley, who grabbed off nine opposition aerials. Mike Senaugh of Kansas City led the AFC with eight.

Jerrold Wilson of the AFC's Kansas City Chiefs topped the league's punters with a 44.8-yard average. The No. 1 NFL punter was Dave Chappell of the Los Angeles Rams at 44.2.

On punt returns, Ken Ellis of the Green Bay Packers led everyone with a 15.4-yard average while the AFC leader was Chris Farasopoulos of the New York Jets with a 10.5 average.

On kickoff returns, the NFC again had the top man in Ron Smith of the Chicago Bears, who averaged 30.8 yards. Bruce Laird of the Baltimore Colts led the AFC with a 29.1-yard average.

And in scoring it was Chester Marcol of Green Bay, the rookie place-kicker, whose accurate toe was so instrumental in bringing the Packers back to the playoffs, kicked all 29 extra points and made 33 of 48 field goal attempts for 128 points.

Bobby Bowfield of the Jets hit 40 of 41 conversions and 27 of 37 three-pointers for 121 points to lead the AFC in scoring.

Fatal Ending

ANGERS, France (AP) — Roger Expert's emotion at catching a 15-pound pike was so great that he fell over dead on the spot.

"It's the biggest catch of my life," exclaimed the 61-year-old amateur fisherman before dying in front of his horrified wife and son. He had battled with the fish for a half-hour before landing it.

Cheney Tech Home With East Granby

Ken Maynard

Marc Beaulieu

Cheney Tech will be hoping the spirit of Christmas is with them tonight as they host East Granby High at the Beaver gym at 7:30. Tech sports a 3-2 record and had their three-game winning skid snapped Monday in Somers.

If the spirit of the holidays is with the Green and White, old St. Nick will leave Cheney with a victory present. If old Scrooge is out, Tech will square its record at 3-3 and hope that their Dec. 27 game with Bolton is successful so that they can go into the New Year with a winning record. Cheney to date has average just over 60 points per game with the best offensive showing of the season coming against Somers. Tech has been holding the opposition to 59 points per contest.

The three top scorers for the Beavers are Tom Tomko with a 16 point average; Marc Beaulieu netting 13.2 and Ken Maynard, coming on strong in the scoring column lately, sorts a 10.8 per game average.

SENIOR LEAGUE

Two games highlighted Senior League action last night at Hill Junior High. In the opener, Langdon VV rolled past Allied Building, 107-40. The second game featured two well-balanced fives with Ansdal's besting Moriarty's 29-41.

Rick Marille netted 25 points for Langdon with Rick Raimond adding 24. In a losing effort, Phil Chak posted in 12 markers.

With the lead changing hands 14 times, Ansdal's put on a final surge with four minutes remaining to put the game out of the M's reach.

Jack Redmond led the balanced Ansdal attack with 29 points while Ray LaGace netted 24. Moriarty's Dave McKenna tallied 26 and Kent Smith contributed 25 points.

Tuesday night in Bristol, despite questionable officiating by Jim Healy and John Levantino, only 17 personal fouls were called, five of which belonged to Eastern. The Bristol team committed only one personal foul in the first half and that occurred with 3:30 remaining.

Eastern is one of the few high schools in the state that takes movies of its games. It's similar to the football films which allows the club a second look at its weaknesses and strong points.

It seemed when the Indians played Eastern, every type play developed. Eastern's Al Stocki got hurt on a loose ball and was taken out of the game. He was replaced by Bud MacDonald who jumped in his place.

On one play an Eastern player skidded on the floor, his teammate booted the ball and a Manchester player finally held the opposition, all without a foul being called.

Jump ball was whistled quickly when an attempted field goal got stuck behind the rim and backboard. Ruling is it's a dead ball and a jump is permitted between any two opposing players at the free throw line.

Eastern ranks closely with Manchester's Clarke Arena for having one of the worst playing surfaces in the league as all reported skiable.

Mt. Tom, Powder Ridge, Sundown and Mt. Southington are all reported skiable.

Mt. Tom, following Brodie Mountain in the use of the Hedco snow gun that produces 350 gallons of water per minute into snow, ranks second to Bromley in the East when it comes to snowmaking capabilities.

The new snow-maker has replaced 14 guns which the area has moved to other locations on the slope. About 95 per cent of Mt. Tom is serviceable by snowmaking equipment.

The annual Cops & Robbers exhibition basketball game featuring the men in blue against the men in cloth will be held on "Super Bowl Sunday," Jan. 14, at East Catholic High.

Proceeds from the comic spectacle will benefit the IOH, Teen Center and CYO. Manchester Junior Women's Club is the sponsor.

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Ed Ratleff, Long Beach State's outstanding guard, figured the 49ers would beat Jacksonville by 25 points Wednesday night for the Nassau Classic college basketball tournament.

Long Beach did better, whipping Jacksonville 97-70. Ratleff, a 6-foot-6 backcourtman and Olympian, walked off with the most valuable player award after a 24-point effort.

"I'm surprised I got the MVP," Ratleff said, "because I didn't shoot too well. When I don't shoot well, I try to concentrate on playing defense and guiding the team." Ratleff hit nine of 22 from the field in helping the unbeaten and sixth-ranked 49ers to their sixth triumph of the season.

Ratleff said, "I try to play each game mentally beforehand and try to figure how we're going to play them. I knew we'd beat Jacksonville by 25 points."

Roncoe Poindester, a 6-foot-5 sophomore, contributed 20 points on five field goals — for Long Beach State which jumped to a 44-20 halftime lead and coasted to victory, dealing Jacksonville its second loss against five triumphs.

Jerry Tarkanian, 49er coach, said, "Our defense took Jacksonville out of the game. I told them that defense was going to win it for us and to be patient with their shooting. They were the toughest team we've faced so far."

Tarkanian claimed his first unit was the best defensive unit in the nation.

Don Wandin, Jacksonville coach, praised Long Beach as an excellent, all-around team with solid depth. "Ratleff is a very unselfish player with a great attitude," he said. "Their rebounding ruined us."

Henry Williams and Leon Benbow each had 18 for Jacksonville.

Oral Roberts, ranked No. 16, scored a hard-fought 74-66 victory over Hofstra for third place in the inaugural two-day tourney which drew 3,879 fans Wednesday night at the Nassau Coliseum.

Richie Fuqua's 21 points and Davis Vannoy's 18 led Oral Roberts.

Foul Rule Hurts Some Clubs

Since the new common foul rule in basketball has been inaugurated, with the idea behind it to speed up the game a bit, it appears to be slowing down the action and taking the luster away from a good aggressive foul-shooting club.

To date this rule has had an effect on the game. When Manchester Community College played Central Connecticut, the Cougars didn't go to the foul line once, an act unheard of in past years.

Tuesday night in Bristol, despite questionable officiating by Jim Healy and John Levantino, only 17 personal fouls were called, five of which belonged to Eastern. The Bristol team committed only one personal foul in the first half and that occurred with 3:30 remaining.

"I'm surprised I got the MVP," Ratleff said, "because I didn't shoot too well. When I don't shoot well, I try to concentrate on playing defense and guiding the team." Ratleff hit nine of 22 from the field in helping the unbeaten and sixth-ranked 49ers to their sixth triumph of the season.

Ratleff said, "I try to play each game mentally beforehand and try to figure how we're going to play them. I knew we'd beat Jacksonville by 25 points."

Roncoe Poindester, a 6-foot-5 sophomore, contributed 20 points on five field goals — for Long Beach State which jumped to a 44-20 halftime lead and coasted to victory, dealing Jacksonville its second loss against five triumphs.

Jerry Tarkanian, 49er coach, said, "Our defense took Jacksonville out of the game. I told them that defense was going to win it for us and to be patient with their shooting. They were the toughest team we've faced so far."

Tarkanian claimed his first unit was the best defensive unit in the nation.

Don Wandin, Jacksonville coach, praised Long Beach as an excellent, all-around team with solid depth. "Ratleff is a very unselfish player with a great attitude," he said. "Their rebounding ruined us."

Henry Williams and Leon Benbow each had 18 for Jacksonville.

Wicks No Match Against Jabbar

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidney Wicks can't play center in the National Basketball Association. Who says so? Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Milwaukee Bucks.

The question came up after Jabbar scored 44 points and grabbed 21 rebounds in leading the Bucks to a 123-104 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers Wednesday night.

The Blazers moved the 6-foot-8 Wicks from forward to center on defense against the 7-foot-2 Jabbar, who enjoyed one of his best shooting nights by making 21 of 27 shots.

"They've done that once or twice before, but I don't think it does any good," Jabbar commented.

Can Wicks play center in the NBA? "No," replied Jabbar.

Why? "Same reason I can't play guard," laughed Jabbar.

Wicks did all right on offense scoring 32 points in a Los Angeles beat Baltimore 96-90, Detroit whacked Philadelphia 141-113, New York thumped Houston 124-102 and Kansas City-Omaha tripped Seattle 121-110 in other NBA results. There were no games scheduled in the American Basketball Association. Big Will Chamberlain stuffed in three baskets and Jim McMillan scored eight points as the Lakers snuffed out a Bullett rally to win their 27th game against only five defeats.

Curtis Rowe tossed in 35 points, his pro career high, in leading the Pistons over the 76ers. The luckless 76ers suffered the loss of starter John Block, who was hit by a ball during the program warmup which tore the ligaments in his right wrist.

Willis Reed and Dave DeBusschere each scored 26 points as the Knicks broke open a close game to down the Rockets after leading by only 65-64 in the third period.

Nate Archibald's 33 points paced the Kings over the Sonics. It was Seattle's 11th straight defeat on the road, a club record.

The defeat followed a report in the Seattle Times that Tom Nissalke, coach of the Sonics, may be fired before the end of the year.

"It's the first I've heard about it," said Nissalke. "I was promised a complete three-year time period, it states that in my contract, to get to the playoffs. Unfortunately, some of the guys we've counted on to do well, haven't."

Jackpot Winner

Mrs. Robert Schettler of 11 Flower was the $60 jackpot winner on the Channel 2 "What in the World" program last night. Her entry, which she took to the studio in person, was a plastic form bearing 24 packets of spices, each tied with a red or green ribbon. Topping the tree form was a packet of frankincense and myrrh.

Each of the four panelists selected two packets at random and was asked to identify the spices by odor.

Mrs. Schettler didn't see last night's telecast because she was on her way home from Philadelphia. She said that the Herald was the first to break the news to her this morning. She said that she submits questions to the program once or twice a year and tries to make them timely. She has won on two other occasions, but last night's $60 was the largest windfall to date for her.

Mrs. Schettler trained in the intravenous course at Hartford Hospital, has been on its staff since 1964, and has been an intravenous therapist for the last two years. A native of Iron Mountain, Mich., she studied medical technology at Michigan Technological University in Houghton.

Students Visit Children at MMH

Thirteen students from Raymond Horton's English class at Manchester High School entertained children at Manchester Memorial Hospital yesterday with original tales, recorded on cassette tapes with background music and sound effects.

The students were Joanne Beller, Richard Barrett, Lorraine Burrows, Nancy Childs, Cherise Duna, Deborah Fuller, Cathy Lescorart, Thomas Neumann, Gary Rauchle, Donna Sanchini, Carol Scallion, Margaret Walker, and Helga Wirtz.

They concluded their visit by singing a number of Christmas carols.

Arrangements were made through Mrs. Joan Bendisen, director of volunteers at the hospital. Joseph Mazzotta, MHS principal, assisted in providing transportation for the group; and George Emmerling, MHS principal, visited with young patients during the program.

Suit Seeks Right To Acupuncture

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - West Coast Medical Group and two patients desiring acupuncture treatment have filed suit in Superior Court seeking to strike down as unconstitutional rights to privacy, enjoyment of life and liberty, and equal rights.

A. Wenke set Jan. 4 as the date for a hearing.

The suit represents potential acupuncture patients A. Everett Leopold and Joyce Solomon, said the restriction denies the public its constitutional rights to privacy, enjoyment of life and liberty, and equal rights.

Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke set Jan. 4 as the date for a hearing.

'No-Fault' Divorce Proposed

HARTFORD (AP) - The new chairman of the Connecticut legislature's Judiciary Committee announced their support yesterday of a "no-fault divorce" bill which would allow divorces on the general grounds of "irretrievable marriage breakdown."

"This would not turn Connecticut into a divorce mill," said Rep. James F. Bingham, R-Stamford, "States with no-fault divorce have shown no increase in rate of divorces."

"The attorneys in Connecticut are overwhelmingly in favor of reform," added Senator-elect George Guiders, R-Weston. Guiders said the proposed new system would "restore a good deal of respectability to the entire procedure."

Bingham conceded, however, that he had not discussed the measure with Gov. Thomas J. Meskill and did not know what the governor's reaction would be.

Bingham offered a "no-fault divorce" amendment to another bill in the last legislative session, but it failed by seven votes to win the approval of the House.

Guiders, who has been a member of the House for the past term, said he did not favor the concept when Bingham introduced his amendment, but after looking into the way the century-old system works, changed his mind and now backs Bingham's proposal.

"All it does is remove fault as grounds for divorce," said Bingham.

Instead of the specific grounds of adultery, desertion, insanity and "intolerable cruelty," all of the problems of marriage which lead people to seek divorces (including adultery and the rest) would be under the single general category of "irretrievable marriage breakdown. No longer would unhappy married people have to "bare their souls for the public," said Bingham.

However, the decision whether to grant a divorce would still be in the hands of Superior Court judges, who would have to determine whether there had been an "irretrievable breakdown" of a marriage.

Questions of alimony, child custody and support would continue to be handled by the courts, with an additional provision that either parent, or just interested person, could demand that a lawyer be named to represent the children's interests.

This, said Bingham, should discourage unhappily married couples from using their children as "pawns" in a divorce action.

If both husband and wife wanted a divorce and agreed that their marriage had broken down irretrievably, they could obtain a divorce almost automatically - after a 90-day "cooling off period."

But if one person wanted to make another attempt to hold the marriage together, a "conciliator" would be named and both partners would have to meet with him or her at least twice.

According to Winsted attorney Thomas White, who also attended the news conference, the Connecticut Bar Association's board of governors will consider endorsing the no-fault divorce concept at its next meeting Jan. 14. Preliminary returns from a

Paperwork Fouls Up Delays Freedom
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Two and a half months ago, the case charging Paul Garrett with stealing a pack of cigarettes was dismissed. This week, he was released from Metropolitan Jail.

Employment Still Rated Below Par

HARTFORD (AP) - Employment in Connecticut was at an unsatisfactory level in September and October despite an improvement during the year, according to a report from the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co.

The unemployment rate remained at an excessive 7.3 per cent in September, seasonally adjusted, the report said. "But that is markedly better than the traumatic 9.4 per cent rate in October, 1971, according to the report."

Employment in October was 2 per cent higher than in October 1971, according to the report.

The Connecticut Business Index, based on bank withdrawals and payroll levels, showed a new two-month average high during September and October and a cumulative gain of 14.4 per cent over the first 10 months of 1972.

The report also said that manufacturing work week in the state rose from 41 hours in January to 41.7 hours in October.

"Manufacturing output is expected to continue to increase in the months ahead on the heels of a considerable increase already recorded since Jan. 1."

"Excessive unemployment remains in some areas with high concentrations of manufacturing. The report said unemployment is at 10.4 per cent in Bristol, 8.3 per cent in Bridgeport and Torrington and 7 per cent in some other areas."

"Personal income increased in September to bring a 10 month increase of 8 per cent."

No-Fault Insurance Changes Proposed By Legislators

By DON MEIKLE
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD — Now that no-fault insurance for auto accident injuries is about to go into effect, the "next logical step" is to extend the no-fault concept to property damage, says one of the legislators who led the fight for no-fault during the past two years.

Sen. Joseph I. Lieberman, D-New Haven, says he and Sen. Lawrence J. DeNardis, R-Hamden, may also recommend a higher monetary "threshold" to cut down further on lawsuits for "pain and suffering" damages.

Lieberman and DeNardis are expected to co-sponsor a bill next year that would broaden and extend no-fault coverage.

Meanwhile, Connecticut's first no-fault legislation, which goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1973, is under constitutional attack in a lawsuit which is scheduled for a hearing Jan. 2 in the court of Common Pleas in New Britain.

"The more you study it, the more it looks like a can of worms," says Louis Gentile, the private detective from New Britain who brought suit against the no-fault law.

Referring to the new law's ban on "pain and suffering" damages for injuries which cost less than $400 to treat, Gentile said: "My rights are not for barter or sale."

Whether Gov. Thomas J. Meskill will accept a raising of the "pain and suffering" threshold from $400 remains to be seen. The Governor did express concern about this aspect of the new no-fault system before he signed the bill into law earlier this year.

Lieberman says extension of the no-fault concept to property damage is going to encounter resistance from the insurance industry. "That's one major element in the no-fault coalition that we won't be able to count on next year," he said. "The industry is going to resist any changes in 1973."

The Insurance Association of Connecticut, the industry's leading representative and lobbyist, is taking the position that the legislature should wait and see how no-fault works for one year before making any changes.

However, if the General Assembly does nothing in 1973, the delay will actually be more than one year, and may be as long as two years.

The industry may be apprehensive about the possibility of being ordered by government to cut insurance premiums more than it wants to. A 10 per cent cut in the cost of personal injury coverage under no-fault was mandated by the legislature when it passed the landmark bill this year, and further cuts are not likely to hurt the popularity of the politicians who demand them.

It's up to insurance Commissioner Paul Alternatt to monitor the insurance industry's experience with no-fault and to recommend more reductions in premiums if they are warranted. It was not the intent of the legislature to boost the profits of insurance companies, backers of the law argue, but to make the system of paying damage claims more efficient and more equitable.

Trial lawyers who stand to lose clients and fees because of no-fault's effect on smaller damage suits claim that profit

"collision" and "comprehensive" insurance coverage.

The $400 threshold for lawsuits for "pain and suffering" damages means that some injuries, such as cracked ribs or "whiplash" which may cause a lot of discomfort but don't cost much to treat, will no longer come before the courts.

However, any disfiguring or disabling injury or broken bone is exempt from the "pain and suffering" threshold and may be taken to court no matter how little it costs to treat.

Anyone who suffers an injury which results in more than $400 in economic losses may sue for "pain and suffering" damages as before.

There will be no need for injured Connecticut drivers or members of their families to sue for economic losses up to $5,000. The insurance company must pay up to that amount, no matter who is at fault, and it must pay within 18 days of the filing of the claim or be hit with interest charges of one per cent per month.

The law requires every motorist to carry minimum coverage of $20,000 for each driver for whose injuries the driver may be held liable, plus $40,000 minimum liability coverage for each accident, plus $5,000 liability coverage for property damage, plus $20,000 per person-$40,000 per accident protection against accidents caused by uninsured motorists.

Since these are already the minimum levels required by the state's Financial Responsibility Law, insured motorists will not have to buy any additional coverage. Their no-fault protections will go into effect on Jan. 1 without any action required on their part.

It is the uninsured Connecticut driver who will be subject to additional penalties on Jan. 1. Uninsured motorists were already in jeopardy, running the risk of financial disaster and loss of license under the Financial Responsibility Law if they were involved in an accident. But as of Jan. 1, they also will be subject to criminal penalties of up to 90 days in jail and a fine of up to $500.

Obviously, if this system is to work well, everyone has to be insured, and mandatory insurance for all Connecticut motorists is one feature of the new system. Insurance will not be "compulsory" in the sense of forcing a motorist to buy insurance in order to register an automobile, but it will be "mandatory" in the sense that someone who gets in an accident will be subject to criminal penalties as well as loss of license and registration if he is not insured. The fine distinction between "mandatory" and "compulsory" can be characterized as you don't absolutely have to buy insurance in order to drive a car, but you'll be in trouble if you get caught without it.

No-fault will not cover motorcycles or commercial vehicles—only private autos. And property damage to automobiles will continue to be compensated through the old system of pinning the blame on someone, or through

Soviets Invading European Small Automobile Market

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Ruth Klausen commutes 70 miles a day to her bookkeeping job, driving a roomy four-door sedan that is changing traditional Danish thinking about Soviet cars.

"We used to have French and German cars, but this one beats them all," Mrs. Klausen says after operating the Soviet-built car for a year. "It was very cheap, we have no repairs, it never lets me down even on cold mornings and the whole family can crowd in over weekends."

She was talking about the Shigaly Vaz 2104, better known as the Lada or the Russian Flat. The Lada is made by the Soviets under a licensing arrangement allowing them to utilize Italian know-how from the Fiat company. It is the first Soviet-built car to be truly competitive with Western European products.

Part of its success is due to its very un-Russian looks which reflect its Italian heritage, and because it sells for about $5,500, half of that being sales taxes and customs duties. Its delivered price is about $700 cheaper than a comparable Western make.

The Lada does not sell nearly as well as the Volkswagen, Volvo, Opel or Morris, but it is outselling U.S.-built cars 2 to 1 in Denmark this year. In fact, it is one of the few Soviet-made items that outsells American products in Western Europe. Danes consider U.S.-made cars too big and expensive.

The Lada accounts for about 70 per cent of the 1,200 Soviet-built cars sold in Denmark this year. The sales are double last year's.

The Soviets have been selling cars in Denmark for over 20 years — without much luck until the Lada came in. The Volvo is sold almost exclusively for taxicab use.

Danish experts who tested the Lada generally gave it good marks. But they noted that the Lada does not have disc brakes on the rear, its ventilation is unsatisfactory and its steering is somewhat heavy.

A Lada can be fixed at most repair shops in Denmark, and Italian Fiat parts are used to some extent.

Global Lottery To Be Studied

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly decided at its closing session Tuesday night to study the possibility of a global lottery to raise money for the United Nations.

The vote was 94-3 for the U.N. secretary to look into the matter during the coming year. Thirty nations abstained, including the United States, China and the entire Soviet bloc.

Police Report Two Girls Arrested On Drug Charges

Manchester Police raided another local apartment Wednesday night and arrested two 18-year-old girls on drug charges.

Police, armed with a Circuit Court 12 search warrant, entered an apartment at 55 Clinton St. at about 7 p.m., and found a small quantity of a substance believed to be marijuana.

It was the second drug raid in two days. Tuesday night, police nabbed four Manchester girls and a Wethersfield man after a search of two apartments at 66-58 Wells St.

Arrested Wednesday night were Linda Bancroft and Sharon Tersavich, both of 55 Clinton St. Both were charged with illegal possession of a controlled non-narcotic substance.

Both girls were released on $500 non-surety bonds. They are scheduled to appear in court at Manchester Jan. 8.

Both Tuesday and Wednesday night raids were made after lengthy investigation by Manchester Police.

The suspected drugs seized in the raids will be sent to the state's toxicology laboratory for testing.

A Manchester man, Michael G. Zolvik of 24 West St., was beat up at Cooper and Pleasant Sts. early this morning, according to police.

Zolvik told police the beating occurred at about 1 a.m. Police said he was not seriously hurt.

According to police reports, Zolvik was assaulted as he stopped his car at a stop sign at the Cooper and Pleasant Sts. intersection. Two unidentified men, who had been following Zolvik in another car, pulled the victim from his car at the intersection, police said.

Zolvik said he was beaten for about five minutes, and then the two assailants left. Investigation is continuing.

Ahola A. Willocks, 24, of East Hartford, was charged Wednesday night with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) at King's Department Store at the Parkade, police said.

Willocks was released on a $250 non-surety bond for court appearance Jan. 8.

Ira Rutchik, 21, of 19 Florence St., was given a written warning for operating a motor vehicle at a speed too fast for conditions, after a Wednesday afternoon accident on Garden St.

Police said Rutchik's car struck a parked car owned by Desmond Vogelsang of 66 Garden St. The Volkswagen car was pushed into another parked vehicle owned by Northeast Fireproofing Corp. of 68 Garden St., police said.

The Rutchik and Vogelsang cars were towed from the scene.

A motorcycle owned by Leon Smith, 77, of 120 Park St., was stolen from 23 1/2 Church St. sometime Wednesday, police said.

A sewing machine and a cutting board, totally valued at about $275, were stolen from a car owned by Ronald Tuttle of 318 Main St., Vernon, sometime Wednesday night, police said.

The car was parked at the Parkade at the time.

Stereo sound equipment and camera equipment were taken in a Wednesday night break into an apartment at 12 Spruce St., police reported.

The victim, Paul Shurtlet, said the items were worth a total of about $700.

Richard L. Libby, 19, of Lakeview Dr., Coventry, was charged Wednesday night with a narrow strip of Manchester, police said.

Coventry date is Jan. 15.

Robert Thayer, 28, of 332 Vernon Ave., Vernon, was charged Wednesday night with breach of the peace. He was released on a written promise to appear. Court date is Jan. 16 at Rockville.

Hearing Set
On Land Sale

A public hearing will be held Jan. 3 by the Board of Directors on a proposed ordinance for selling the Town of Glastonbury a narrow strip of Manchester, police said.

The land is part of a gravel road extension of Birch Mt. Rd. The Town of Glastonbury plans to improve and pave the road.

Under the terms of the sale, Manchester would receive the nominal sum of $10, plus assurances that the improved section of road would be fenced on both sides. The real estate to be sold is in the watershed area of the Roaring Brook Reservoir, which supplies Town of Manchester water to Glastonbury customers.

Truman's condition remained unchanged at Research Hospital and Medical Center. The feeding treatment is designed to reduce the dangerous level of poison in Truman's bloodstream.

A hospital spokesman said Truman's blood pressure at 9 a.m. EST was 130-60, his pulse 90, his respiration 18 and temperature 98 degrees.

knowing he gives up other rights, notably, running for public office."

Agostinelli replied, "Those arguments only prove the need for more politics among policemen than among lawyers seeking judgments and among judges — many of whom are not lawyers — and that they must have a higher sense of ethics."

"Whether or not there is a problem is besides the point," said Squatrito. "The policeman can't be placed in a position where it even can be questioned. Can you not see there would be subtle pressures and influences working against him?"

Leonard Seader disagreed with Sullivan's argument that freedom of speech was threatened, and Robert Stone asked, "What political job in town would pay them a living?"

And Odegar said, "Conflict of interest would be hard to define. I can't escape the belief that everyone, with very few exceptions, should be able to run for public office and, if elected, to be able to set policy."

The discussion and the vote took up over a third of last night's three-hour meeting.

The CRC, by a 9 to 4 vote, backed a proposed charter change for doubling the pay of the nine town directors. Under the proposal, the mayor would get $1,500 a year, the board secretary $1,200 and the other seven directors $1,000 each. The scale since 1969 has been $750-$900-$500.

A motion by Agostinelli, to pay the mayor $5,000, the secretary $4,000 and the other seven directors $3,000, lost by an 11 to 2 vote. And a motion by Odegar, for a $1,500-$1,000-$750 was not seconded and didn't come to a vote.

Other proposed charter changes backed last night are:

— Inclusion of a merit system for town employees — to follow the outline of the classification system now used.

— Provision for emergency borrowing by the Board of Directors — to a limit not to exceed one (1) per cent of the

Christmas Mail Peak Is Past

By JOHN A. JOHNSTON (Herald Reporter)

"Everything is going well, and we are in good condition right now," Edward Sauter, Manchester postmaster, summed up the handling of the volume of mail at the holiday season by Main Office and branch station employees.

He expressed his sincere appreciation to the people of Manchester and Bolton for mailing early and preparing packages properly for efficient and expeditious handling.

Sauter said that Wednesday was the peak day for incoming and outgoing mail, 337,000 pieces. Monday was the biggest day for cancellations — 156,150 pieces, including 147,411 letters. As of Wednesday night, he said, cancellations were ahead of last year by some 60,000 pieces.

This year, eight sorters were added to the regular staff, Sauter said, because Manchester assisted in handling Connecticut mail coming into Bradley International Airport from all over the United States.

"After sorting was completed, it was distributed to other state cities. Since Nov. 11, when the two special Christmas stamps were issued, Sauter said, 947,648 eight-cent stamps were sold locally. Of this number, he added, the Santa Claus and St. Lucy Legend issues accounted for some 650,000, with sales divided about equally between the two.

Window service will be provided until noon tomorrow, but there will be none Sunday and Monday. The Main Office will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. On Christmas, there will be one remaining and one outgoing mail. Special delivery mail and perishables will be delivered Christmas.

Survive October

Truman Has Bad Night With Heart

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two survivors of a crashed Uruguayan plane, who inordinately without snow and snow in the Andes, were rescued and said 14 others are still at high altitudes on the mountains, police reported today.

The two men struggled down the mountain to seek aid for their companions still at the crash site and were found by a police patrol.

The plane, a twin-engine propeller-driven "Fairchild" of the Uruguayan air force, was carrying a crew of five and 40 rugby players when it crashed in the mountains of the Andes from Argentina to Chile in a severe snow storm Oct. 13.

The plane crashed in a pass about 125 miles south of Santiago.

Police said a patrol found the two survivors at a remote place called Los Maitenes, about 30 miles inland from San Fernando, a town 110 miles south of Santiago.

But he said that the recent events had raised fears in world opinion that the peace pact was satisfactory and equitable conclusion as soon as possible.

The Pope's message also expressed concern over violence in Northern Ireland and the Middle East.

But the Pope also saw signs of hope in other countries. He noted the Red Cross talks conducted by North and South Korea and the recent exchange of prisoners between India and Pakistan.

U.S. Air Attack Continuing Without Letup

SAIGON (AP) — Punishing U.S. air blows battered Hanoi and Haiphong without any indication of a letup today, and American casualties soared to their highest level in 19 months.

The U.S. Command reported the loss Thursday of two more B2 heavy bombers and two more fighter-bombers, with 16 more crewmen missing. The raised the toll since the massive attack began Monday night to eight B52, four fighter-bombers and 43 airmen.

It was the heaviest toll in U.S. personnel since the week of May 23-28, 1971, when 40 Americans were reported killed in action or missing.

Radio Hanoi claimed a total of 34 American planes downed, including three more B52s and two fighter-bombers at dawn today. It has reported a number of airmen captured but has given no total.

Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency said that air strikes Wednesday and Thursday damaged the main American prisoner of war camp which the POWs have nicknamed the "Hanoi Hilton." The report said the bombing damaged many U.S. airmen captured this week had been sent to the camp.

The broadcast said singer Joan Baez, attorney Telford Taylor and two other American peace activists now in Hanoi visited the camp and inspected the damage.

Commentator China claimed that one of its merchant ships was damaged in Haiphong harbor during a raid Wednesday and its crew "gravely endangered." The Peking government said it "strongly protests this provocation on the part of U.S. imperialism and its closely allied satellites of expanding U.S. war activities."

Hanoi reported earlier that the bombing damaged the Cuban and Egyptian embassies in Hanoi, sank a Polish ship in Haiphong and damaged a Soviet ship.

North Vietnam has reported sections of Hanoi and Haiphong waiting the developments of and hundreds of civilians killed or wounded. Although the Pentagon said that only military targets are being hit, American officials have acknowledged that some of these are in close proximity to population centers. In addition, the B52s drop their bomb loads — 30 tons each — in a saturation, carpet-type pattern over the entire village, spreading devastation rather than pinpoint accuracy.

The B52s are spearheading the blitz, the first time in their 7 1/2 years in Indochina that they have been used in such large numbers against Hanoi. The only other B52 raids above the 20th parallel were last April and May, when the B52s dropped their bomb loads in the Haiphong region.

U.S. officials indicate about 100 of the eight-1/2-ton Stratofortresses are being used each day in the attacks.

Dallas Woman Freed After Ransom Payment

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Kidnapers freed Mrs. Joe M. Dealey Jr., 22, an attractive international socialite, today after her newspaper executive father-in-law paid $250,000 ransom. She had been held 2 1/2 days.

Mrs. Dealey, the former Amanda Mayhew, was unharmed except for bruises caused by tape used to bind her, her husband said. Her jewelry had been taken.

The Dealeys are members of the Dallas Morning News. Mrs. Dealey was picked up at 5:30 a.m. by Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones. Officers said the apparently was dumped from an automobile in Dallas.

The money was paid about 2:30 a.m. after cloak-and-dagger maneuvers that started about 5 p.m. Tuesday at the younger Dealey's modest apartment house.

Joe Dealey said instructions for delivering the money involved telephone calls to his father, who personally delivered the cash.

Dealey was instructed to go from place to place, receiving new instructions at each stop. "At this point the speculation is that this was done to make sure they were not being followed in any way," said Joe Dealey Jr.

Mud Time Weather Forecast

BOSTON (AP) — Robert Frost's two tramps would feel more at home in New England this Christmas than the jolly old gent from the North Pole.

Frost's two tramps, in the celebrated poem, came around in "Mud Time" — that never-never time in April when New England leech-letters between winter and spring.

Christmas will be a lot like Mud Time, according to the National Weather Service.

The forecast for Dec. 22, next Monday, is for mild weather across the entire region, with rain predicted for Vermont and Connecticut.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island may get some rain Christmas night.

It will be fair in New Hampshire and Maine Christmas Day, but the temperatures will be in the 40s in many areas, making the prospects for a brown Christmas better than those for a white Christmas."

Christmas Party Restrictions Irking Union

GROTON (AP) — The "traditional" day before Christmas parties for employees of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics here may turn into a labor dispute.

Anthony De Gregory, president of the Metal Trade Council of Groton, London County, which represents about 6,000 workers at the plant, has threatened to take to arbitration the crackdown on Christmas parties.

Joseph D. Nierce, general manager, said the parties, generally held during lunch break, had caused a cutback in productivity in the past. This year he issued a directive that unusually large lunch bags will be inspected and employees suspected of mooning in the plant will have their Thermos bottles checked.

General Fund In The Black

HARTFORD (AP) — Higher-than-anticipated tax revenues and declining government spending have put the state government's General Fund $18.7 million in the black, says Finance Commissioner Adolf G. Carlson.

That figure doesn't include the $27.5 million in federal revenue sharing funds due this fiscal year, Carlson said in a meeting Thursday with newsmen.

Total tax revenues are expected to top the original estimate by about $5 million, Carlson said.

He said the 7 per cent sales tax, the highest in the nation, will bring in $5.2 million more than anticipated if it remains in effect. Inheritance tax revenues will be $11 million over the original estimate, he said, largely due to the fact that recently "some substantial estates were settled."

Carlson said the predicted surplus plus taxes into account the $16 million to $18 million the state will have to pay out in capital gain tax refunds required by a recent court ruling against collection of 100 per cent of the tax.

The surplus should give the new, Republican-controlled General Assembly "a great opportunity for tax reform," he said.

Pope Fears Bombing May Threaten Peace

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — Pope Paul VI expressed fears today that the resumption of American bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong threatens a peace agreement.

The Pope, in his annual Christmas message to the College of Cardinals, spoke out against the breakdown in negotiations between Hanoi and Washington. He noted he had expressed the hope earlier that the stalemate would only be temporary.

But he said that the recent events had raised fears in world opinion that the peace pact was satisfactory and equitable conclusion as soon as possible.

The Pope's message also expressed concern over violence in Northern Ireland and the Middle East.

But the Pope also saw signs of hope in other countries. He noted the Red Cross talks conducted by North and South Korea and the recent exchange of prisoners between India and Pakistan.

Milk Price Will Go Up In State

STORRS (AP) — Retail milk prices in Connecticut will increase in January and February and then remain stable until perhaps August or September, said a dairy marketing specialist at the University of Connecticut.

"I would think there might be a one-cent per quart increase in January and some modest increase beyond that in February," said Dr. Stewart Johnson of the university-affiliated Connecticut Cooperative Extension Service.

After February, Johnson said in an interview, spring milk production should increase the milk supply and keep prices stable until autumn.

Johnson blamed the predicted price rise on increased demand for milk and milk products and on low milk production last year because of feed crop troubles in the Northeast.

The rising demand for milk products, according to Johnson, stems from the growing popularity of yogurt, low-fat and fat-free milk, butter, ice cream and cheese.

"They're eating cheese like today was the last chance," he said.

Meanwhile, the latest figures for milk production in the Northeast show a drop of 4 to 7 per cent. The production decline followed heavy summer rains, Johnson said, but hurt cultivation of hay and corn feed for cows and increased the price of the feed.

Expanded grain sales to the Soviet Union, China and other nations also added to feed costs, Johnson said.

Johnson based his forecast of retail price levels on analyses and predictions of Connecticut's Federal Milk Order (FMO) program. FMO prices are minimum prices, set by the government, for the sale of farm milk to private buyers. The prices are computed monthly for Connecticut and 50 other regions throughout the nation.

"If the Connecticut FMO has been increasing every month since July, amounting to 3 cents per quart in the 'Class I' milk price," Johnson said, "it could be even more than one cent in February."

The "Class I" price refers to milk of drinking quality, as opposed to "Class II" milk used in manufacturing butter, cheese or ice cream.

Johnson says it anticipates little change in the near future in the price of Class II milk.

"I don't think they're going to increase very much at all, from where they are now," he said. "They shot up so much last year that they're likely to level off through spring."

In past years the federal government has bought and stored large quantities of dairy products whenever supplies were excessive in order to prevent reselling when supplies became short. But such government hoarding hasn't occurred recently, Johnson said, because the commercial prices for milk products have been above the prices the government was paying to fill its stockpiles. Farmers therefore preferred to sell to commercial buyers than to the government, he said.

Johnson is a member of the group of specialists who compose the New England Milk Price Forecast Committee.

Waiting For Someone To Love

This wiggly-waggly lovable pup, held by Jared Tompkins, is hopeful of filling someone's stocking Christmas morning. The puppies' mom, Keemo, presented her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Tompkins of 167 Gardner St., with a litter of seven puppies several weeks ago. The five-week-old pups are available, free of charge, to responsible families. Anyone interested may contact the Tompkins family. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Police Hard To Sell On Realism

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Santa Claus and his helper were left out in the cold on a church roof this week and were further embarrassed by a police interrogation while trying to get to a children's Christmas party.

"I don't know if I want to play Santa Claus again," mused Hamilton Journal News Sunday Editor Rex Richardson, after the Wednesday night incident.

He and a friend decided to make the church party more authentic with a rooftop arrival. But someone swiped the ladder they were using and the two became stranded.

A policeman became suspicious and questioned them when they finally got down. Once satisfied with their explanation, the officer told Richardson:

"I want a toy pistol for Christmas."
