On Dec. 8 a "Respect For Life Day" was held at East. It was inspired from a report at the Resolution of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops adopted April 3, 1972 in Atlanta, Ga.

"Christmas Eve"
Malcolm Boyd wrote in his "Book of Days," "Dec. 24 is Christmas Eve. The big mistake we have made is to place it 'back there.' We have made it ancient history instead of modern life. It concerns angels, shepherds, Mary,

Joseph and an inn keeper, but not us.
We have decided, too, to confine Christmas to Christmas. On Dec. 24, it has not yet arrived (Santa Claus does not come, Johnny, until tomorrow.) On Dec. 25, it's over (We've got to get the tree outside, sweep the room, and clean up. It's all over dear.)

Santa Uses Airplane In Alaska

Native Scene In Manchester's Center Park

ARCTIC VILLAGE, Alaska (AP) - The C130 Air Force cargo plane - its drone echoing off a long, barren, snow-capped mountain ridge - made three rumbling passes over a nearby frozen lake.

Below, park-clad old women and red-checked children, giggling with excitement, huddled close to a roaring bonfire to keep warm.

On the third pass, a handful of paratroopers - clad in red jump suits, one of them wearing a white beard - dropped from the belly of the big plane.

On the way down, the airman shouted, "Merry Christmas," but their voices were lost in the 40-below-zero temperatures that gripped this isolated corner of Alaska where caribou outnumber the Athabaskan Indian inhabitants.

Christmas had come to Arctic Village, 150 miles north of the Arctic Circle and 75 miles from the nearest community.

Santa Claus came five days early, forsaking his sleigh for a C130. It was the shortest day of the year, when the moon shines brightly at noon and daylight comes and goes in a few hours.

The occasion was the eighth Christmas mission to the village by members of the 17th Tactical Air Lift Squadron from Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage.

The plane lumbered in for a landing on the frozen lake, where airman were greeted by nearly all of the 160 villagers as they unloaded 7,300 pounds of toys, clothes and food donated by Anchorage merchants. When the presents had been passed out, the entourage traveled by snow machine and dog sleds the mile to the village for a buffet lunch in the community hall.

Despite his heavy arctic gear, Santa Claus suffered a frostbitten ear, but the kids didn't seem to notice.

One enterprising youngster apparently wanted to make sure Christmas would come again next year to the village, linked to the outside world by two radios and twice-a-month supply flights.

He had erected a sign on the trail winding back to the plane: "Santa Claus, come back next year."

The Greatest Story Ever Told

And it came to pass in those days that there went a degree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.
(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)
And all went to be taxed, every one unto his own city.
And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)
To be taxed with his espoused wife, being great with child.
And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.
And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.
And there was in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.
And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them and the glory of the Lord shone round about them and they were sore afraid.

Father To Son Talk About Christmas

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
Dear Son:
You're 12 now, and after that many Christmases you're probably as jaded by the day as you are delighted. It's a jumbled up time: Crowded stores, music, spending, decorating and lost fantasies.

There's no reason for people to slump around like that, though, now that Christmas has come, now that Jesus has put his reluctant realization, usually unspoken, but plainly evident and gradually a seasonal joke.

Sometimes that sort of thing, the mixture of playing-acting and the real, the getting and giving, the piled up packages and their suggestion of mingled greed and generosity, makes the whole affair seem a kind of hokey-up game.

The actual meaning gets blurred and covered up in the clutter. But it's there somewhere, behind the noise and hectic shuffling behind the over-wanting and over-buying, behind the excitement and sometimes tears of that oddly amalgamated morning.

It's not that the basic point of Christmas is not always there, but simply that we often clog it up, bury it and crowd it out with our ruddled-headed foolishness. And that's not so good. Because we really ought to pay a little more mind to just what the occasion is all about.

Of course, you know, maybe a little vaguely something that it's all about. You see the little models of the kids make at church, the woman with the baby, the animals standing around some strange guys on camels bringing gifts to the Christ child.

It's a strange story, a sort of curiosity. But don't let the fanciful qualities of it make you put it on the same level with Santa Claus. Despite its seeming remoteness from the present, and with all the muddling elements of Christmas, it's about something great and true, right now, this day.

The thing is that when Jesus was born, a new light came into this world, a person who showed us the way of real living and total goodness, who made clear what the mystery of God is really like, and what He wants us to do, and be.

Now, you ask, just what is that? Well, as we Christians see it, you only have to look at Jesus and you know. This man, this very special man, set in a quite surprising, peculiar way. There was a difference here, a newness.

You might even call him a little kooky. Because you know what? He had a chance at being rich and powerful, and he turned it down. He had a chance to head up a big army, be a king, but he wouldn't do it.

He said he had more important things to do, straightening out people who were mixed up and sad, giving them hope, helping people who were poor, hurt or sick, being nice to kids. He said this was more important than being a bigshot or making money; just plain old loving people, bracing them up, assuring them that God stood with them, that the life given us, even though we often foul it up, has a solid eternal purpose.

That's a pretty nice thing to be sure of, you know. It adds a zing to just being alive. It keeps everything around that sort of grim - all the nastiness and meanness we get messed up in, the rotten war, the crookedness and cruelty that goes on, the slothful types coping out, giving up, so pampered they feel pointless, wandering about, turned in on themselves, inflated with desire but short on hope.

There's no reason for people to slump around like that, though, now that Christmas has come, now that Jesus has put his reluctant realization, usually unspoken, but plainly evident and gradually a seasonal joke.

Christmas Heat Wave Down Under
SYDNEY (AP) - Australians prepared for Christmas today as the temperature soared to 104 in downtown Sydney, six major brushfires raged in the eastern part of the country and two infants were reported killed by a four-day-old heat wave.

The temperature also cut into the usual heavy flow of pre-Christmas traffic to vacation resorts. One beach inspector commented: "I think it's just too hot for many people to bother coming here to try to cool down."

The Spirit of Christmas

Christmas. It conjures many things to many people and not just the Christian community alone where it is essentially a religious event.

It is a time that particularly infects the children. It is a time when family bonds, no matter how fragile, seem to be the strongest. It is a time when many men turn inward, even if only for a few moments, to contemplate eternity. And it is a time of joy and hope and light.

Christmas. It has some hidden power that seems to bring out the best in us if we let it. The Jew who is working in a hospital as a Christian worker can spend the event with his family. The child who saves pennies for weeks for a gift to his friend. The carols sung by a multi-racial and many-act group have a harmony which transcends the mere musical one.

The spirit of Christmas pervades all walks of life and for a few hours, or a few days, the accent is on the positive. The greetings seem more genuine, the concerns for the less fortunate more acute, the desires for peace more sincere.

The man across the hall, or the street, becomes a neighbor. The neighbor becomes a friend and the friend a confidant.

Christmas. It is our annual interlude of joy, friendship, peace and hope. It is a great human concept compressed into a few short days. That it is still but an interlude makes it more precious than ever for if we can become enraptured with the Spirit of Christmas for a few hours or a few days; why not all the time? This is a question which only we, each in our own hearts, can answer.

Christmas. May yours be merry and happy and may its spirit be with you in the days and years to come.

Jordan's Cold War

AMMAN—With all thought of hot war along the Jordanian border ended, Jordan and Israel are now jockeying for position in a deadly game of political and economic pressure, with King Hussein's Israeli-occupied west bank of Palestine as the pawn.

Israel's five-and-a-half-year occupation of the west bank has now developed into a not unprofitable rule for the nearly 650,000 non-stateless Jordanian citizens, tens of thousands of whom are employed in Israel proper and making excellent wages. But still for the rule, no matter how the package is wrapped.

With no chance seen here for any diplomatic settlement, the developing commercial and cultural patterns have fallen into a status quo that Israel very much wants to keep intact.

For in the present circumstance, Israel has in both ways—control of the land without sovereignty for the people who live on the land.

Israel is bending over backward to stimulate trade between the west bank and Jordan—commerce over the Jordan River bridges that gives Israel a $15 million trade balance. Israel encourages west bankers to pay visits across the river and get set from under the occupation for as long as any one wants. With no advance notice to the King's government, here in Amman, Israel two weeks ago approved a new policy of giving west bankers permanent passes to cross into Jordan.

For Israel, such conspicuous kindnesses make excellent sense. The reduce the day-to-day impact of the occupation. In short, they create a rationale that tends to suffocate anti-Israeli emotions among captive west bankers. Last summer for example, 100,000 Jordanians and 50,000 Arabs from other countries visited the west bank, the largest number since the occupation started.

On the commercial front, Israel subsidizes west bankers to export their fruits and vegetables across the river to Jordan's east bank. As part of Israel's overall policy to stimulate export for hard currency, Israel pays a 30 per cent export subsidy to these west bank farmers. That subsidy also helps protect Israel's own farmers from west bank competition.

It is precisely this ingenious and far-sighted occupation policy of Israel that is now drawing fire from King Hussein in the new cold war. As he sees it, Israel is establishing a status quo in the occupied Jordanian territory that is bringing economic prosperity to the west bank and making the west bank bankers—in and victims of an unholy alliance.

Pray for Peace

To the editor: The Christmas season is supposed to be a time of peace on earth and good will toward our fellow men.

The newspaper headlines this week show, once again, that peace is not at hand. In fact, the United States has escalated the bombing of Vietnam. This action is being condemned by the Manchester Committee for Peace and Justice and their friends join hands in a Silent Vigil for Peace. The vigil is conducted in front of the Civil War Monument in Center Park at 11 a.m.

I and the people of the community to join us this week and pray for peace.

Pray for Sinners

Sir: I've said this before the election, after the election, and I'll say it again now. Each time it rings more and more true, more and more horrible.

"President Nixon, now more than ever, is a sinner. The bombs that he has set off are a new blackball in effect. Over 200 people may die every day or become maimed for life if this continues.

Only an ignorant fool could say that these bombs do not hit civilians when, in fact, their main target is civilians. What do you think happens when a bomb hits downtown Hanoi as they're doing now?

Has Nixon brought us peace for Christmas? No. Instead we have more POW's, more senseless killing, indiscriminate bombing and four more years of war.

Write your congressman, senators, Nixon himself, tell them you want peace, tell them to cut off the funds. Come with me to Washington Jan. 3 and 4 to talk to them, and pray for sinners, now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

The Wanderer

The Wanderer

The goose that was loose, from home he did stray
He walked, and he waddled along the highway.
He caused consternation, to drivers galore,
arriving in Manchester, with feet that were sore.
He was found by Mrs. Fracchia, and tied to the stake,
This goose caused more trouble than Nell Flaherty's drake.
When Lee found the owner, of this bronze feathered goose,
The bird had escaped, again he was loose
A great hue and cry, arose around town
no peace on earth, until this bird is found
That was the word, in the Herald we read
Most everyone thinking, the poor bird is dead.
In someone's big pot, being readied for dinner
The man who does this, would be a great sinner.
I've just heard the news, this goose has been found
Returned to his owner, all safe and sound.
So now my dear people, go back to your bed
All's well, that ends well, this bird is not dead.
Lee Fracchia is thankful, for the man that did find,
The goose that was loose with the waddling hind.
Merry Christmas to the Herald and its staff, and to Lee Fracchia.

Peace for Those of Good Will

To the editor: As bloody fighting rages all over the world, bloodless fighting rages in the pages of the Herald, as this individual and that individual insists on his way to settle things.

Now is the time for peace, property and freedom from all that enslaves us. This political philosophy, or that political philosophy, promises utopia because our scope is limited by our selfishness and pride.

We who have ears cannot hear the One who has the answers because He does not tell us what we want to hear. He tells us the way it really is, but He is rejected now, just as He was rejected 2,000 years ago, because His peace is spiritual. His property is for eternity. His freedom is for the soul, not the body.

This does not mean that we should not work for the common good, but rather that we should not be disillusioned if we sometimes fail, because living in despair is nothing worse than death itself. The truth does not cease to exist because we do not believe it. There already is peace on earth for men of good will.

Peace Is At Hand Again! And Again...

Dec. 19, 1972 - Presidential Advisor Henry Kissinger met for three hours and forty-one minutes today with Hanoi's Lee Duc Tho in the latter's tent two-and-a-half miles south of here. It was their 1134th secret session.

An Associated Press report that Kissinger was seen to "smile broadly" on leaving the session sent stocks soaring in New York. They tumbled, however, when Reuters called the smile "grim" and the New York Times described it as "wry." An aide explained yesterday that Kissinger merely had a "sneezing fit" in his lobby.

The talks were moved to this arid desert wadi from Paris last year in hopes that the atmosphere (115 degrees in the shade) would be more conducive to a settlement.

Kissinger flew in for the latest bargaining rounds yesterday morning. En route he stopped in Key Biscayne, Fla., and the Single Negotiator. This followed his well-known book on the chess-like nature of diplomacy, "Pieces of Eight."

Exactly what transpired in the secret session was, as always, a closely guarded secret. Reports blossomed this afternoon that the two men were now discussing restoring the land.

Other Editors Say

Peace Deferred

The anguish of the Vietnam war is not yet to end, and naturally this is a cause for widespread disappointment. It is particularly disappointing for the wives and families of American prisoners-of-war who had hoped to be reunited with their absent ones by Christmas. But though, by the even of the American presidential election, Mr. Kissinger held out hope that peace was "at hand," it was Hanoi, not Washington, that was pouring on the pressure for a signed peace agreement before election day.

That President Nixon desperately wants peace there can be questioned. But with an eye to history's later verdict on him, he has been firm in the agreement must be a responsible one in American terms.

As Mr. Kissinger said at his weekend news conference, the United States will not be "blackmailed" or even "charmed" into an agreement until its conditions are right.

Disappointed as we are, peace hopes have been temporarily dashed, but the positions of both Presidents Nixon and Thieu understandable.

Take first President Thieu's position. The agreement is being held out against a settlement under which his enemies in the South could keep up potential to enjoy "privileged sanctuaries" under the truce terms?

This President Thieu is holding out against a settlement under which his enemies in the South could keep up potential to enjoy "privileged sanctuaries" under the truce terms?

Volunteer Santa Knocks 'Em Dead

By ROBERT L. CAMPBELL, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—I was Santa Claus for an hour to a group of Head Start kids. I knocked 'em dead.

"Bob," said my wife one day last week, "I've volunteered you for something."

"My heavens, what?" I asked.

"To be Santa at the Head Start Christmas party," I said.

When I got to the school, the teacher gave me a plastic bag containing the traditional garb. She pointed me to a teachers' lounge, gave me a stuffed white U.S. Navy laundry bag and said:

"You can improvise the 'Ho, ho, ho.'"

I decided the gummed stickers on the small white whiskers had been licked too many times to ever cover my upper lip, so I wedged them under the skull cap to form eyebrows, snapped the beard into place and left it to the smartest urchin to figure out why Santa had a white beard and eyebrows, and a brown mustache.

"Ho, ho, ho," I bellowed in my best Santa voice as I staggered into the classroom under the weight of 50 pounds of stuffed stockings. "I heard there were some boys and girls here waiting for Santa."

Children shrieked, flashbulbs popped, mothers laughed and I felt foolish, but went ahead:

"Ho, ho, ho," I roared as one child started crying in the back of the room, "did everyone eat their hot dogs and drink their milk?"

"Are you the real Santa?" asked one 3-year-old child.

"You bet I am, sister. Ho, ho, ho. Let's see what Santa has in his bag for you," I said as I plopped into a chair with the children clustered around me.

Here's a stocking for Tommy and one for Shellee, and a box of something for Michael and one for Dean," I said.

And so the litany of Christmas continued, with a few filled napkins hurriedly scribbled with names thrust into my hands to keep away the tears from someone's younger sister who, not expected, was being overlooked by Santa.

They clutched my fingers and fondled them as only tots can. They stroked my beard gently and rubbed the white cotton piling on my suit. They looked up at me and treated me, and smiled and laughed, thrilled beyond belief, when Santa's bag turned up something with their name on it. They loved me and I them.

In short, they bought my act.

Heralding Homes Family Noel

Santa Claus with his reindeer will find all in readiness when he arrives at the home of the H. John Malones. There at 84 Prospect St. after many days of preparation, and with Christmas throughout the 11-room house, Dr. and Mrs. Malone and their six children can finally sleep "all snug in their beds with visions of sugar plums that dance in their heads."

The festive preparations begin every year on the first of December in the Malone household when the first armload of boxes is unearthed from the huge attic storeroom. As the various wreaths and decorations are put in their places, another load of trimmings is brought down.

"What did you bring down today?" any one of the children will ask when they come home from school.

the foyer, and a tree in two of the girls' rooms—those are the six trees. An extra tree, called a birthday tree, is in the upstairs hallway. It's for Christopher whose birthday falls on Dec. 22.

The Malones are sticklers for tradition. The big Bible from Mrs. Malone's family is always opened to the book of Luke and placed on the coffee table in the living room. "If we don't do anything else, we have to do that," says Mrs. Malone. "That is absolutely traditional!"

The well established tack holes on the underside of the mantle in the living room are evidence that for many Christmases, "The stockings have been hung by the chimney with care," one for each member of the family.

A porcelain creche modestly adorns the mantle above the massive stone fireplace in the living room above which hangs a balance filled with red and white flowers and New England holly in each scale. The holly grows in abundance in the Malone's yard. The holly is used freely throughout the home in various combinations with flowers or Christmas ornaments.

Festive sparkle is added to a rambling camellia tree in the living room bay window with a string of tiny twinkling lights.

Framed favorite Christmas cards of past years are hung in various places.

Wherever you look, there's something that someone in the family has had his hand in to make the holiday a special one. Inside the front entrance hang felt NOEL panels and large jeweled balls made by Meg and Jennifer. Paper chains for the tree are made each year by Chris and Prudence.

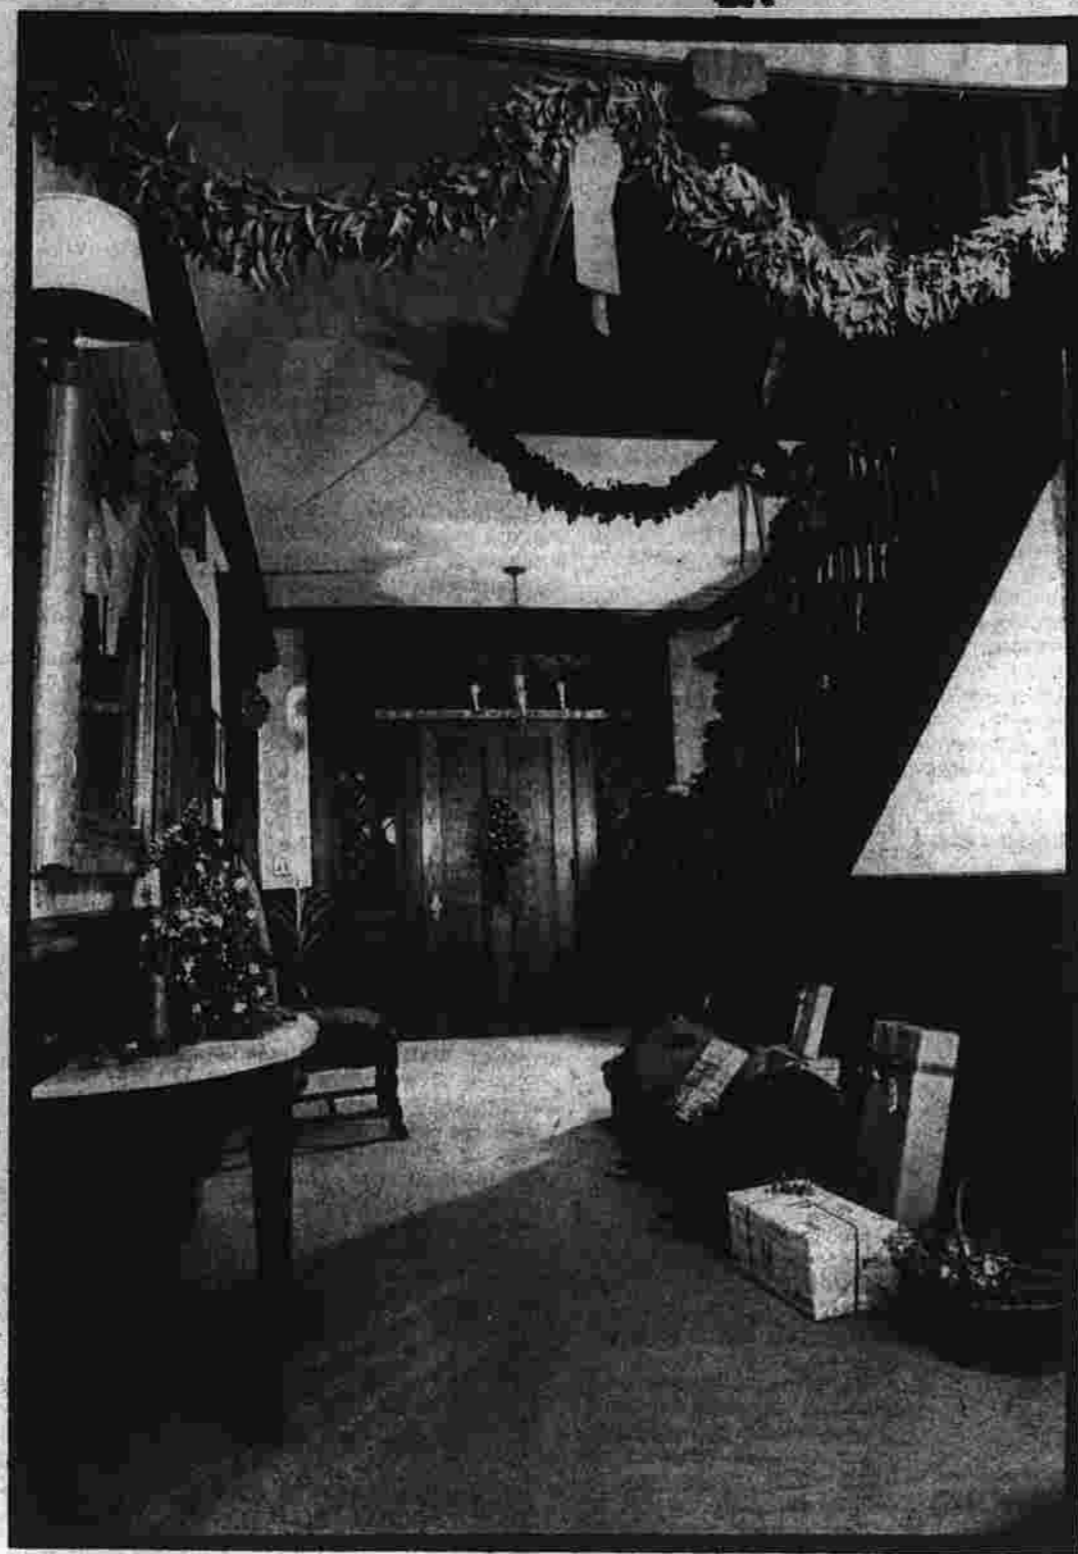

Dr. Malone started about ten years ago to hang thick garlands of laurel at Christmastime from the dark walnut beams in the dining room, hall and living room. No easy job, it takes family participation to see that the swags all hang evenly from the ten foot high ceilings. The garland theme is continued around the stair rail. Caught up with large golden velvet bows, the effect is a low glow of warm color accent against the black walnut paneling in the rooms.

The red and green of Christmas abound in the red cloth panel with green ball fringe on the massive walnut dining table in the baronial type paneled dining room. In the center of the table glitters a centerpiece of a gold pedestal bowl with gold fruit and greens, and gold candles burning in silver candlesticks.

"Good tidings we bring to you and your kin, we wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" from the Malones. Back row, left to right, Laura, Dr. H. John Malone, Mrs. Malone, Jennifer, Sean, and front row, Prudence, Chris and Meg.

By the time Christmas arrives, practically everything but the partridge in its pear tree has been assembled and put in its place. Mrs. Malone refers to their home at Christmas as a Celtic home because it has the six trees which, according to ancient Celtic belief, ward off evil spirits. A family tree in the large family room, a tree on the front porch roof, a candy cane tree, a pine cone tree in

Yule Mail Volume At Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General E. T. Klassen said Friday his service has processed almost 10 billion pieces of mail during the last four weeks, a record high volume for a Christmas season.

He said the volume of mail has been six per cent, or 556 million pieces, more than for the same period a year ago.

Klassen said there has been an unusually heavy volume of mail this week because of late mailings, far exceeding the mail volume received during any prior week before Christmas. He said a number of post offices are running behind because of the late mailings.

He has authorized regional postmasters general to schedule delivery services on Sunday wherever local conditions indicate it is needed in an effort to assure the delivery of parcels by Christmas.

Rec Women's Day Program Has New Special Classes

The Manchester Recreation Department's Women's Day Program will offer mail registration from now to Jan 5. New classes begin Jan 8.

No notification will be sent to participants unless a class is canceled. Payments of fees for classes may be paid in advance, during the week of Jan. 2 or at the first class session.

There are many new special classes now being offered at the West Side Rec. which are not available during the day in the Manchester area. Fees charged for these classes cover the cost of the instructor and are offered as a public service by the Town of Manchester. They are:

Portrait Painting, Thursday, 9:30-11:30 for nine weeks at $12. Judy Marzado, a licensed teacher and professional artist will show students how to paint life-like portraits from photographs. Those with some painting background will find this class helpful.

Inkle Weaving with Pat McGarry. Learn the fundamentals of weaving on the loom. Inkle looms are professional looms available at craft shops. It is used to weave bands, trim and belts. Participants will learn how to thread a loom and basic weaving patterns and colors. Time and day to be announced; four weeks, $8.

Sain Glass Workshop, Ann Madson, Wednesday 1-2:30 for beginners and advanced. Ann will teach beginners how to solder, cut and shape leaded glass decorations. Those with basic knowledge of these techniques will be aided in more advanced projects. Six weeks, $8, includes material for two or three projects.

Shirret Rug Making, Louise McCrady, Thursday 1-3 and Friday 9:30-11:30. Louise is the local originator of this technique. She takes her students step-by-step in the shirret, cutting fabric on the bias, making a square mat, a round mat, and an oval mat. Other projects students can do include making a pillow or wall hanging. When shirret is complete it can be hooked or braided rugs and is reversible. Since the rug uses scrap materials it is also an inexpensive craft. Six weeks, $16, kit, $8.

Other special classes are as follows: Guitar lessons, nine weeks for $12, Monday's 10-11 a.m.; Handwriting Analysis, 1-9 weeks, $12, 1-2 p.m.; Business Law for the layman, Monday's 11-12, nine weeks, $12.

Handbuilding Pottery and ceramics, Wednesday, 9:30-11:30, nine weeks, $5. French Conversations, 1, 11, and 11, nine weeks each at $12. Psychology I, basic introduction to psychology for which participants may apply for college credit. Nine weeks, $12, Friday 10-11.

The days on which classes in Handwriting Analysis, French Conversations and Psychology I are to be held will be announced later.

Free classes, open only to Manchester residents who pay the $3 annual fee to join the recreation department, are: Oil Painting for beginners, 9:30-12, Mondays, nine weeks; Beauty Workshop, 9:30-11:30, six weeks, Mondays; Crochet for beginners, 1:15-2:15, Mondays, nine weeks; Modern Dance, exercises to music, 1:15-2:30, Mondays, nine weeks.

Oil Painting for intermediates, 9:30-12, Tuesdays, nine weeks; Crochet for intermediates, 1:15-2:15, Tuesdays, nine weeks.

Beaded flowers, Tuesday, 9:30-11:30, six weeks for $8. Joan Madden, a craftswoman from Farmington and member of the Society of Connecticut Craftsmen and Connecticut Guild of Craftsmen, will teach women how to turn yard beads into life-like flowers that are lasting. Women can expect to complete several small floral arrangements. Materials will be available at the first class.

Fiber Collage, Friday 9:30-11:30, five weeks for $8 with Willa Nolan, the original creator of this technique. Her work is sold in private gift shops and on exhibit at the Society of Connecticut Craftsmen. She will show how to pull fibers from acrylic materials and turn them into flowers and foliage. She will show how to pull fibers from scrap materials and turn them into flowers and foliage. Participants can make note photographs. Those with some painting background will find this class helpful.

Mail registrations may be sent to the West Side Rec. Town of Manchester, 41 Center St., c/o Bea Shettle, women's program director. Phone registration will be taken the week of Jan. 2 at 648-6706. In-person registration will be taken during the first week of classes, at the class. No phone registrations will be accepted after Jan. 5.

Blue Law Violators Warned NEW HAVEN (AP) — Police Chief Biagio DeLieto and 6th Circuit Court Prosecutor Paul Foty have warned 35 businessmen that they face arrest if they open their establishments on Sundays.

In registered classes to the businessmen, all of whom police say they warned for remaining open last Sunday in violation of the state's Blue Laws, DeLieto and Foty say further openings will result in arrests instead of mere warnings.

THEY ARE SPECIAL. TULSA, Okla. (AP) — James Price, manager of the governmental affairs division, received the Certified Chamber Executive designation recently from the American Chamber of Commerce Executives. The Metropolitan Tulsa Chamber of Commerce thus became the only such group in the nation to have four individual members of its staff with the highest professional recognition.

The earlier recipients were John Barkwith, Marvin Wynn and Clyde Cole. There are only 202 CCEs in the United States.

Heralding Homes

Soft lights scintillate from a crystal chandelier. A much prized etching of their home by Miss Millie Lundberg—a family friend—stands out in a gold frame against the paneled wall.

Above the buffet and just behind the glistening coffee service is a magnificent della robia in the warm tones of the nuts and dried fruit and berries used in the wreath.

The Malone family eats around a large round table in the kitchen by candlelight from lavender candles set in an Advent wreath. Remembrances to be passed out to the various service men are piled in a miniature sleigh on the counter by the kitchen door.

In the front foyer, piled in an antique cradle handed down in Dr. Malone's family, are the gaily wrapped gifts to be delivered to family friends.

The ornaments on the big tree in the family room belong to everyone, for as the family travels, special small items are bought for each child—a tiny bell, a small felt animal, a souvenir of a particular place—so that one day each may have his own meaningful ornaments to put on his own tree.

Overseeing all the Christmas morning activity in the family room are Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus perched on a little spring hanging high overhead.

Christmas trees and wreaths extend to the upstairs area. There's a wreath on each bedroom and bathroom door. An herb wreath from Caprilands decorates one bathroom door. Bits of greenery, a candle, a bowl of ornaments, can be found on a vanity, bedside table, or on window sills.

A small hall area upstairs is special with the family at any time of the year with family photographs lining the walls showing mostly the children from infancy to present day.

Christmas Eve finds Prudence playing familiar carols on the grand piano while the family joins in singing. At other times, there is a delicate tinkling throughout the house that comes from angel chimes on the radiators.

There will be a very Merry Christmas with all the family together: Meg, 21, is a senior at the College of New Rochelle, N.Y.; Sean, 19, attends Providence College, (R.I.); Jennifer, 17, is a senior at East Catholic High School; Laura, 15, is a sophomore at ECHS; Christopher, 13 yesterday, and Prudence, 11, attend St. James School.

As one leaves the Malone's home, a banner over the front door gives a parting thought—"A Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good-night."

Burt Lancaster is host for a rebroadcast of a Christmas special featuring the American feeling toward the holiday, in "Playhouse New York," tonight (Dec. 23) at 8:30 on Connecticut Public Television (Channel 24 in Hartford).

In a segment taped last year at the Mark Twain House in Hartford, Kathy Galvin appears in a dramatization of Twain's "Letter from Santa Claus."

Other featured guests include James Earl Jones, Linda Lavin, Freda Payne, and Peter Yarrow.

The program will be repeated Christmas Day (Dec. 25) at 7 p.m.

Establishment of the American system of government, which has lasted for nearly 200 years, is the keystone for "Inventing a Nation," the fourth program of Alistair Cooke's "America" series.

The special will be telecast Tuesday (Dec. 26) at 10 p.m. on NBC-TV.

Suit Alleges They Part Company On At-Large Mayor Violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has filed a suit against the owner and operator of a Manchester, N.H., apartment building for alleged violations of rent regulations. The Cost of Living Council announced Friday the suit was brought against Vratnes Realty, it claims the company received rent increases in excess of increases allowed by the economic stabilization program. The government seeks a $1,000 penalty for each of the nine violations alleged and a refund of $206 to the five tenants who paid the increased rent.

Drainage Test Simple
Washington — The ideal garden soil lets water soak in, but how can you tell if the ground holds the water too long? There is an easy way to find out. Dig a hole 12 to 18 inches deep and fill it with water. If the water does not drain away easily in five to 10 hours, you can expect to have trouble with plant root zones becoming waterlogged.

BY SOL E. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)
Phyllis Jackson and Leonard Seader are members of the Manchester Charter Revision Commission. Both are Democrats and both are usually on the same side when votes are taken on proposed charter changes.

However, when it comes to a proposal for an at-large election of a mayor, the two have different philosophies on how the proposal should be handled. Mrs. Jackson, who made the proposal, thinks the people should decide — by referendum. Seader, whose subcommittee doesn't like the proposal, thinks the decision (to reject) should be made by the Charter Revision Commission alone.

The recommendation, made by Mrs. Jackson on Nov. 29 and to be debated by the CRC on Jan. 3, is for the town-wide election of a mayor, in a head-to-head contest between candidates from the two parties.

His past, she explained, would be in addition to a nine-member Board of Directors. At present, the mayor is elected by the board from its majority membership. Traditionally, he is the high vote-getter. Under Mrs. Jackson's proposal, the mayor would preside at board meetings, with no vote except to break a tie. He would have veto power, but the veto could be reversed by a two-thirds vote of the board. His other duties would continue to be mostly ceremonial, as now.

"In my opinion," said Mrs. Jackson Wednesday night, "the election of a mayor at-large is very important. It would make for participatory government and would provide more responsiveness to the electorate."

Acknowledging that she voted against a proposal for an at-large mayor form of government, she said it was because sufficient study had not been made to warrant a recommendation at this time. Because, under her new proposal, there would be no actual change in the mayor's powers, she said she now is backing something that is government of the people, for the people and by the people.

"It's very important that the people should get the opportunity to decide this question by referendum," she said. "It's their town, their charter, their government. It's up to us to give them the opportunity to decide. Let's not make a hasty decision here — we are only fifteen persons. There are 22,000 or more electors involved."

Emphasizing again that "it's the people's right to decide who their leaders will be," she pointed out that "the state government has been led for two years by a minority governor and the federal government for four years by a minority president."

Said Seader, "I can't agree that the government would be made more responsive if we elected a separate mayor. We have responsiveness now in our council-manager government. And, if one believes I do that the council-manager government is functioning effectively and efficiently, then to back the election of a separate mayor at-large would be begging the question."

Them backing the commission's right and obligation to make the judgement, he said, "if we as a commission can't make recommendations, then let's disband and place everything on the machines for referendum. There are many other things I can do besides attend meetings of the commission, especially if they aren't needed."

Seader reminded the commission members that their recommendations are submitted to the Board of Directors, which may or may not concur with our recommendations."

Networks Plan Many Christmas Specials

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It would cheer Scrooge mightily to know that the "bah, humbug" spirit isn't dead after all. At least not on television at night. The networks plan to broadcast 19 entertainment programs during prime evening time Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Only three of the shows deal in any way with Christmas.

There are two schools of thought on the reason for this. They are: —By Christmas Eve, a sizable number of viewers are up to their holly houghs in Christmas shows and outside commercials. —Nobody's watching anyway on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day. They're opening presents, fighting Dad for control of the electric train, getting ready for church or visiting friends and relatives.

The prime time shows with at least some hint of Christmas in them all are being broadcast on Christmas Eve this year. One is NBC's "The World of Disney." The show, first aired in 1954, is a combination of live action and animation; it deals in part with group of Mexican children celebrating Christmas. At CBS, "The Dick Van Dyke Show" has the star worrying about spending Christmas behind bars unless he can post $100 for a speeding fine. At ABC, "The FBI" will worry about keeping alive — at Christmastime — a family man who quit a smuggling ring. The other is CBS' "Opening Night: USA." It'll give us an in-depth look at the anguish and thrill of opening night for Debbie Reynolds, Sammy Davis Jr., Milton Berle and the Fifth Dimension. Bah, humbug. —A sponsor, the Prudential Insurance Co., is putting on a three-minute "minicoconcert" of Christmas carols by the Newark (N.J.) Boys Choir instead of the three commercials it normally would air. So much for Christmas in prime time. However at 11:30 p.m. EST on Christmas Eve, NBC and CBS each will start broadcasting Christmas programs well worth watching. NBC will begin with a half-hour special of Christmas music, performed in part by the Robert Shaw Chorale, then switch to the traditional Christmas Eve midnight Mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral here. CBS will present a special Christmas Eve concert, called "Let the Desert Be Joyful," which has filmed at a 17th century Spanish mission, near Tucson, Ariz. At midnight, it'll present a traditional "Lithuanian candlelight service from Colonial Williamsburg in Virginia. Come Christmas night, all will be back to normal on network television even with two Christmas specials. One is NBC's "The Railway Children," a movie about a

Poetic Justice

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — "Call it poetic justice if you will," said the Albuquerque lawyer whose client's home was burglarized. Wednesday to 2 to 10 years in prison by District Court Judge Joseph Baca. Defense lawyer John Carmody said the home of Willie Barrera Blanco, 25, was entered recently while the owner was away. Blanco was unable to stay home and protect his property, Carmody explained, because he was being held in the Bernalillo County Jail here after pleading guilty to burglary. Blanco was sentenced

Transit District Criticized

HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has sharply criticized the Greater Hartford Transit District for seeking to resolve the bus crisis through a statewide negotiating committee. "The district's current meetings with representatives of other communities are pointless efforts at creating a monstrous bureaucratic nightmare," Meskill said in a statement issued Friday. In another development Friday in the bus situation, drivers for the idled CR&L bus line demonstrated at the state Capitol in an appeal for the restoration of bus service. Meskill's comments about the Greater Hartford Transit District (GHTD) followed the district's decision earlier this week to table negotiations with the state on an arrangement to subsidize Connecticut Co. bus service in the Hartford area. The financially pressed company, which also served New Haven and Stamford, was struck Nov. 28 by drivers and mechanics of the Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) in a contract dispute. The GHTD decided to join a statewide negotiating committee that includes legislators and representatives of the Connecticut Council of Mayors in an effort to solve the bus problem across the state rather than in only one area. The state and the GHTD were "very close to a resolution" when the district broke off negotiations, Meskill said. "To withdraw from the bargaining table at this point is a severe injustice to the people of the greater Hartford area," the governor said. Meskill reiterated that he was willing to work with authorities in separate areas of the state "on an individual basis to assist in the formation of transit districts and to seek an immediate resumption of bus service." Robert Zwimer, chairman of the statewide committee and also of the GHTD, said Friday night that he hadn't yet read Meskill's statement and would have no comment before reading it. "But a spokesman for the district who declined to be identified said the GHTD had joined the statewide unit because "we are firmly convinced that the labor union's bargaining requirements preclude settlement in one city alone."

The union traditionally has bargained with ComCo as a single unit rather than with each of its three divisions. John Thompson, chief of the ATU locals at ComCo, has said repeatedly the union will not settle for a contract agreement in one city alone. "The members of the committee are committed to working out a long range solution and hope to meet with the governor as soon as we can," the GHTD spokesman said. Meanwhile Friday, a group of bus drivers from the tri-city Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. braved rain at the state Capitol to demonstrate for a solution to the bus crisis. CR&L Vice President F. Bay Waterbury and New Britain, CR&L Vice President F. Bay Neal of Fairfield, who was designated by the company's directors to assume responsibility for company operations after the recent death of President Paul Rust, said this week that the company might be able to regain sound financial footing with only one year of state subsidies if the state gave the company permission to cut out unprofitable runs. Many of CR&L's financial problems stemmed from losing runs that could be abandoned only after lengthy proceedings with the Public Utilities Commission, Neal said. If the company were free to realign and readjust its routes, he said, the line could run profitably. "If we had one year — without strings — and a subsidy to support our efforts, I am certain that we could place the company on a sound financial footing, or at least reduce deficits to a negligible amount," said Neal.

Unemployment Claims Increase

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut claims for unemployment compensation rose to 42,919 during the two-week period ending Dec. 16 from 41,856 in the preceding two weeks, the state Labor Department said today. Today's report was the first under a new department policy of issuing the statements on a bi-weekly rather than weekly basis. Initial claims rose to 5,666 from 5,059 in the preceding two weeks and continued claims were up to 37,253 from 36,497. Last year at the same time, overall claims were 90,178 with initial claims totaling 6,949 and continued claims 83,229. The rate of insured unemployment (based on continued claims filed during the preceding 13-week period) was down from 3.3 per cent in the last weeks of November to 3.1 per cent, compared to 7.6 per cent in 1972. Areas reporting increased claims during the two weeks ending Dec. 16 were Norwich, up 0.7 per cent; Stamford, 0.8 per cent; Waterbury, 1.3 per cent; Hartford, 8 per cent; and Bristol, 14.5 per cent.

Hanoi Termed Most Heavily Defended Area In History

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers and other warplanes are braving more than 500 missile launchers and antiaircraft guns in striking the vital Hanoi-Haiphong area of North Vietnam.

These figures, obtained from Pentagon sources, show what that area is called "the most heavily defended piece of area in the history of warfare."

The Air Force lost eight of the huge B52s in the first four days of the great raids. And during the first U.S. air raid against Berlin in March 1945, a total of 69 bombers were knocked down out of an attacking force of 700 planes, about one in ten.

In Korea, where American planes faced thin air defenses, the Air Force loss rate averaged one plane per 358 sorties.

A senior officer suggested that the North Vietnamese defenders have an advantage because the strikes are aimed at a limited number of military targets which he said could be anticipated from the pattern of past U.S. raids in the Vietnam war.

Experts noted that the SAZ, one of North Vietnam's principal air defense weapons, was designed by the Russians originally to defend the Soviet Union specifically against the B52, which was the main U.S. strategic threat to Russia before the advent of long-range missiles.

Intelligence reports say there are 26 battalions of SAZs in the Haiphong area comprising a total of 156 missile launchers. In the first three days of the new raids, the Pentagon has said, these launchers sent about 300 SAMs aloft against American warplanes.

In addition, there are more than 300 antiaircraft guns, most of them radar-controlled, shielding the Haiphong area, according to intelligence information.

The B52s are equipped with electronic "black boxes" designed to counter and confuse radar-guided missiles and guns. The bombers also are supported by electronic warfare planes, whose mission is to disrupt enemy radar, and by jets, whose job it is to attack threatening missile batteries.

But Air Force officers say it is unclear to expect these electronic devices to provide 100 per cent invulnerability to enemy antiaircraft fire.

So far as American intelligence can determine, North Vietnamese are using standard surface-to-air missiles and radar, as they have throughout the years of the air war. Experts say they're not aware of any improved weapons being aimed at American bombers.

The North Vietnamese are firing antiaircraft missiles in salvoes, which increases the burden on U.S. electronic countermeasure devices and increases the threat to the heavy B52s, which are much less maneuverable than smaller fighter bombers.

Pentagon officials said the B52s are being used during this series of raids mainly around

Law Holds Parents Responsible

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — A new municipal law that makes parents responsible for a wide range of their children's criminal violations has gone into effect in this south Jersey city.

Under terms of the statute, parents are chargeable if their offspring are found guilty of mugging, vandalism, breaking and entering, loitering, illegal drinking or curfew violations.

"So many of these parents of chronic offenders tell the police or the judge they can't be responsible for knowing where their children are at night," said city councilman John R. Martin, who sponsored the ordinance.

Parents of offending children could be jailed as long as 90 days and given a $500 fine, according to the new law.

Gorra and McKeon Lead the Way As Eagles Trim Bulkeley, 77-63

By Dick Ledbetter
Led by the play of Bill Gorra and John McKeon, East Catholic came away with a convincing 76-63 victory over Bulkeley High last night in Hartford. The win upped East's record to 2-1 while the Bulldogs dropped to 0-4 overall.

Kearns and Joe Whelton gave East the last 14 points, but the period and a 24-12 lead. Whelton took over in the second period. He scored 12 points and directed the Eagle attack. Bulkeley chipped into the East lead through the fine shooting and rebounding of Bruce Palermo and the play of Ed Abate. However, East held a 45-37 margin at the end of the third period.

Gorra offethis. Bulkeley played a very intelligent game. "I hope," he said, "that since we have the whole team together now, we can reach the level we had attained four weeks ago."

By Dean Yost
"Inability to connect from the foul line was our downfall," commented Manchester Coach Jim Moriarty as his charges dropped a thrilling, 59-58, CCIL decision to host Bristol Central last night.

balanced attack early, quick 16-10 lead at the end of the first eight minutes. The visitors used eight consecutive points midway through the period to open the margin. Bristol regrouping its forces began to peek away at the eight-minute advantage and tied the game at 25-25 at halftime.

Appearing to have the game in the bag, Bristol relied on a pick and roll by Swicklas, opened up a 51-45 lead with 2:30 showing on the clock.

Business Bodies

PARTNERS
Robert F. Blanchard of the R.F. Blanchard Agency, 172 E. Center St. has announced that, effective immediately, Paul J. Rossetto has become associated with him as a full partner. The firm's new name is Blanchard & Rossetto, Realtors. It will transact all phases of the real estate business.

Robert F. Blanchard

Paul J. Rossetto

Blanchard is a member of the Manchester and Hartford Boards of Realtors and their respective Multiple Listing Services and belongs to the Connecticut and National Associations of Real Estate Brokers.

He is a member of the Democratic Town Committee and the Manchester Development Commission. A Manchester native, he resides at 535 Hilliard St. He is a 1963 graduate of Manchester High School and attended Manchester Community College and the University of Connecticut.

Rossetto, also a Manchester native, resides with his wife, Claire, and their three children at 88 Ralph Rd. He is a 1967 graduate of Manchester High School and has taken courses in business administration at the University of Connecticut.

Rossetto is a member of the Manchester Board of Realtors and had been associated with another local real estate firm. He is an alternate on the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals, is on the Citizens Advisory Committee and is a member of UNICO.

HANKS 23rd
Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. has been named the 23rd largest correspondent bank or "bankers' bank" in the nation. Last year HNB ranked 44th and in 1970 it ranked 139th.

Commenting on the growth in standings, President Charles E. Lord said HNB is now the largest correspondent bank outside of such traditional Federal Reserve cities as New York, Los Angeles and Chicago. Lord attributed HNB's growth to three factors: The highly efficient use of aircraft, sophisticated data processing techniques and a highly trained correspondent banking staff.

EARN HONOR AGAIN
Frank P. Sheldon, certified life underwriter, and Richard S. Carpenter, C.L.U., local representatives of Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., Hartford, have been awarded the National Quality award for 1972. This is the 25th consecutive time they have earned this honor.

The National Quality award is given in recognition of quality service to the public through maintaining and extending the benefits of life insurance. It is accorded by the life insurance agency management association and the national association of life underwriters. Both Sheldon and Carpenter are life-long residents of Manchester and are very active in civic affairs.

TRUSTEE

Atty. John F. Shea Jr. of 57 Boulder Rd. has been named a trustee of the Society for Savings Bank.

John F. Shea

Shea, a partner in the law firm of Marté, Shea and Keith, 575 Main St., is a native of Manchester. He received his B.A. from Providence College in 1950 and a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Connecticut School of Law in 1953.

PROMOTED

Maurice F. Stapleton of Tolland has been promoted to dial traffic supervisor by Southern New England Telephone Co.

Stapleton joined the telephone company in 1965 in West Hartford and was a central office repairman in East Hartford at the time of his promotion.

He graduated from Ward Technical Institute and attended the University of Hartford.

REVIEW OFFICER

Pierre J. Herszsdorfer of 118 Tudor La., has been promoted to loan review officer with the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co.

Pierre J. Herszsdorfer

Herszsdorfer, a graduate of New York University, came to HNB in 1971 as manager of the loan review section of the credit department. He had previously been with the First National City Bank of New York.

CUTAWAY MODEL

A specially designed animated display, which shows the engineering advances built into the 1973 Monte Carlo, will be displayed at Carter Chevrolet Co., 1229 Main St., on Jan. 25 and 26 and Jan. 29 through Feb. 5.

The exhibit, built by Chevrolet technicians, is in three parts and is mounted on a turntable. The 1973 Monte Carlo has been cut to reveal such improvements as found in the inner workings of the engine, transmission and new mechanical features, as well as the car's new construction details.

The display is electrically powered to animate moving parts.

RECORD SALES

The Felsway Corp., which operates the Shoe-Town store at 244 Spencer St., has reported record sales for November.

For the four-week sales period ending Nov. 25, Felsway reports an increase in sales of 10.1 per cent over the corresponding period in 1971. To date the corporation reports an increase of 16.2 per cent over the sales of the first 39 weeks of their last fiscal year.

Sing Some Songs of Christmas

Tennessee Ernie Ford (center) and some of the singers of the Mike Curb Congregation offer songs appropriate to the Yuletide season during "Tennessee Ernie Ford's White Christmas Special."

The one-hour program airs on NBC-TV tonight (Dec. 23) at 8.

Ford's guest stars will include recording star Lynn Anderson, the Mike Curb Congregation, singer-composer Mac Davis, actress-singer Claudine Longet, and singer Lou Rawls. Also joining Ford will be 11-year-old actor-singer Scott Firestone.

This Week's Highlights

Historic Williamsburg

Historic Williamsburg, Va., will be the setting for two special CBS-TV News presentations Christmas Eve.

"Colonial Williamsburg Carols," a glimpse at the famed community accompanied by appropriate seasonal music, sung by the Williamsburg Singers, will be presented at 11:15 p.m.

A live, one-hour candlelight service from the historic Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg will air at midnight.

World of His Own

← Kevin Hooks (at left) portrays "J.T." in Jane Wagner's Peabody Award-winning drama scheduled on CBS-TV Thursday (Dec. 28) at 9 p.m.

The drama focuses on a little black boy hovering between delinquency and responsibility in a city ghetto. The story, which takes place at Christmastime in Harlem, was filmed on location in New York City.

Jeanette DuBois plays J.T.'s mother; Theresa Merritt plays his grandmother; and Michael Gorrin and Olga Fabien are seen as the husband-and-wife storekeepers who are instrumental in the boy's eventual salvation.

KEVIN HOOKS

Women and Health

"Life, Health and the American Woman," an ABC-TV special hosted by actress Patricia Neal, will be rebroadcast Thursday (Dec. 28) at 9 p.m.

In the two-hour special, physicians and their patients at NIH research centers throughout the country are seen discussing a variety of medical conditions affecting women.

Opening Night

Sammy Davis Jr. → (right), one of the most popular contemporary entertainers, sings in "Opening Night: USA," a CBS-TV musical special airing Christmas night (Dec. 25) at 8 p.m.

Sammy sings "Birth of the Blues," "The Lady Is a Tramp," and "Mister Bojangles" in a segment taped at Harrah's at Lake Tahoe.

Other acts in the one-hour special include Milton Berle and The 5th Dimension. Ed McMahon of NBC-TV's "Tonight Show" is host.

More segments of "Opening Night: USA" are being planned by NBC-TV. Details are to be announced soon.

SAMMY DAVIS JR.

Dope Rap

← Kathy Garver, left, stars in "Pick Up," an episode of NBC-TV's "Adam-12" to be broadcast Wednesday (Dec. 27) at 8 p.m.

She plays a girl implicated in a narcotics transaction. Barbara Hale co-stars as her mother.

Series stars are Martin Milner and Kent McCord as Los Angeles patrol car officers Pete Malloy and Jim Reed.

Plays Lawyer

Arthur Kennedy portrays a top-flight lawyer engaged by an Idaho couple to defend their daughter against a murder charge on CBS-TV's movie, "A Death of Innocence," Tuesday (Dec. 26) at 9:30 p.m.

Let's Make a Christmas Tree for the Birds!

Pine cones spread with peanut butter and hung on a tree make excellent decorations for your birds' Christmas tree.

You can decorate any tree you wish. These children have decorated a tree in their school yard.

Remembering the birds and animals at Christmas is a custom that started in Europe hundreds of years ago.

In Sweden, Norway and Denmark, the farmers chose their best bundles of wheat, rye or other grains and tied them to the top of a pole. Some people believed that the family who raised their pole the highest would have the best luck. Others believed that if a lot of birds came, the family would have good crops that year. Even today, in this country, some farmers in Wisconsin, Illinois and North Dakota put out the poles.

It's a thoughtful idea to feed the birds all year long. But, if you are wondering what to do with your old Christmas tree, why not set it up as a special treat for them? Here are some decorations they would like to eat.

- String Popcorn
Use a heavy string and a big needle. Old popcorn is the easiest to string.
- Cranberry Strings
String cranberries on strings or wires.
- Pine Cones
Tie a string around a pine cone so you can hang it on the tree. Cover the cone with peanut butter. You can mix birdseed, oatmeal, or cornmeal with the peanut butter, if you like.
- Doughnut Treat
Tie a ribbon around a doughnut and hang it on your tree.
- Marshmallow String
Hang marshmallows on a string or even on a twig.
- Grapefruit Pot
Hollow out one half a grapefruit or orange. Fill it with birdseed or peanuts. Be sure to use unsalted peanuts. The salted ones make the birds too thirsty. Hang the treat on limb.

Happy New Year's Day

The custom of celebrating New Year's Day is almost world-wide. Some people's calendars are not like ours, but they celebrate whenever their year starts!

Backward

The custom started thousands of years ago. The Romans celebrated the first day of the year by honoring the god Janus. He was the god of beginning and ending. The month of January is named for him. The Romans would think about what had passed during the last year, and also would look ahead to the new year. That is what we do today.

Forward

The Romans passed on some of their customs to the English. The English used to clean their chimneys on New Year's Day. They thought it would bring good luck. Today, we don't clean chimneys, but we do make resolutions to correct our faults and do better during the coming year.

The Japanese believe that eating a special fish on New Year's Day will bring good luck. In our country, some people, especially in the South, believe that it is good luck to eat black-eyed peas on New Year's Day. Happy New Year!

A Mini Page "How Do You Do?"

How do you make a New Year's card?

What You'll Need:

- Construction Paper
- Scissors
- Glue
- Crayons

1. Fold a piece of construction paper down the center as shown.

2. Draw and cut the clock. 4. Write and cut the year.

3. Draw and cut the face.

5. Paste all three on the cover.

6. Write a message inside!

Happy New Year!
Love,

Super Sport: Jerry Lucas

Jerry Lucas has a good jump shot, a good rebounding touch and one of the best memories in professional basketball. The New York Knicks' star is well known for having memorized hundreds of pages from the New York telephone directory. He is also very good at doing card tricks. Lucas is one of the highest scorers and rebounders in the NBA. He is married and has a family. He was an All-American at Ohio State University in the early 1960's.

How Does Lead Get Inside a Pencil?

1. Lead is really not lead at all. It is a mixture of the mineral graphite, clay, certain chemicals, and wax. The hardened mixture is pressed into strings that we call lead.

2. Most pencils are made of cedar wood. Blocks of wood are cut into strips. Then grooves are cut into the strips.

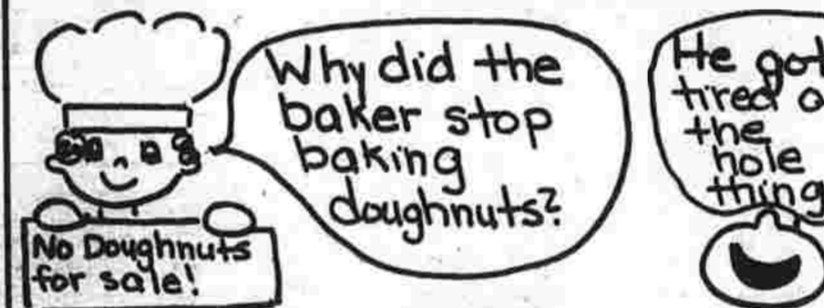

3. The lead is put into the grooves. A top is put on and the parts are glued together.

4. The pencil is shaped, sanded, and painted.

Mini Recipe: Candle Salad

What You'll Need:

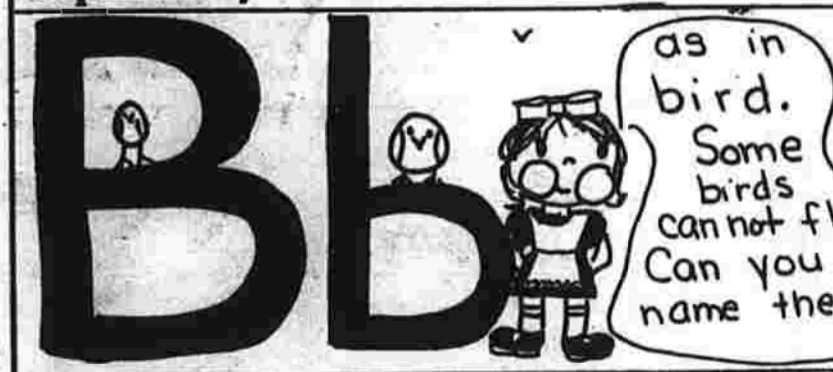

- 1 lettuce leaf on each salad plate
- 1 slice of pineapple per person
- 1/2 banana per person
- 1 cherry per person

What To Do:

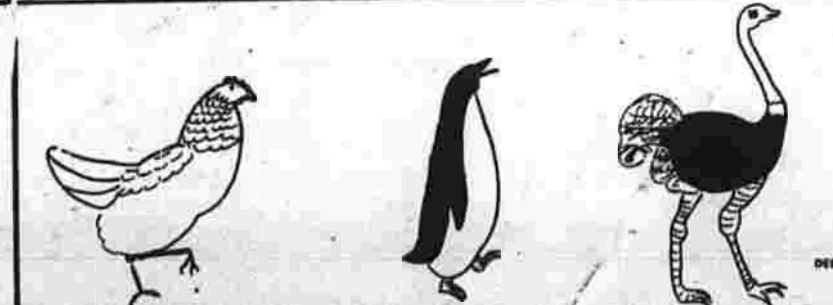

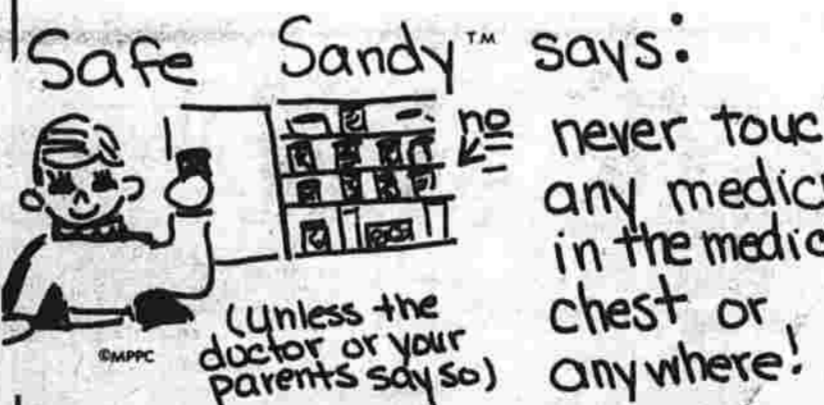

- Put the lettuce leaf on the plate.
- Put the pineapple slice in the center of the lettuce leaf.
- Set 1/2 peeled banana upright in the middle of the pineapple ring.
- To make the pretend flame, put a cherry on the top of the banana.
- Serve with 1/2 teaspoon mayonnaise on the side.

Animal of the Week: the Ostrich

The ostrich, which lives in Africa, is unusual for many reasons. It is the largest bird in the world. It can weigh as much as 300 pounds. Some ostriches grow to be eight feet tall. Though this bird cannot fly, it can run as fast as 40 miles an hour. It is also the only bird in the world with just two toes on each foot. The old story that the ostrich hides its head in the sand when it is afraid is not true.

Cut and color your little paper friends in costumes that are typical of their country. Save your collection.

How to Make Suet Bells for the Birds

Ask your mother for some suet. Suet is animal fat, just like the flabby, white part of a steak that most people cut away. You'll also need paper cups, string and about one half cup of birdseed for each paper cup.

1. Use a pin to stick a tiny hole in the bottom of a paper cup. Pull the string through, making a loop.
2. Melt the suet in a frying pan. Use low heat. Ask your mother to help.
3. When the suet is cool, but not hard, mix in the birdseed and pour the mixture into the paper cups. Set them in the refrigerator to harden.
4. When the suet is hard, peel away the paper cups and you'll have suet bells to hang on the trees. This is a winter treat only.
