

Your Right to Future Benefits

(Tenth in a Series) By BRUCE DISSAULT NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Though they yield a little to critics, Social Security authorities strongly defended the system as true "social insurance" and the general idea of the payroll tax deduction as the best means of financing the protective benefits it provides. They deny flatly that such deductions are simply to be regarded as taxes in the same way one views an income or a sales tax. The funds collected from more than 90 million workers and self-employed individuals are not to be used for other than Social Security purposes. Social Security is "insurance" they say, because it shares the same basic principles as group insurance and private pension plans. As with those, it rests on a financial plan agreed to ahead of time. As in those arrangements, the worker is earning credits over his working career, toward protection against loss of income when he retires, becomes disabled, or dies. His Social Security benefits become payable on a predetermined basis when those events—the insured risks—occur. And those rights are legal and enforceable.

Bus-Truck Crash Kills 19

FORT SUMNER, N.M. (AP) — A truck loaded with cattle jackknifed on a narrow bridge near here and slammed into a chartered bus carrying a church youth group bound for a holiday ski outing and religious retreat. Authorities said 19 were killed, 16 injured. The young people were from the Woodlawn Baptist Church in Austin, Tex. Ambulance driver Harvey Stihum said the bus "was hit hard enough so that the front end was pushed about halfway through the bus like an accordion. It was torn all to pieces." The bus wrecked Tuesday night was the second of two school buses carrying the youth group. The driver of the first bus said that after passing the second bus flash and go lights on the bridge.

Simple Funeral Planned For People's President

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — For the final time, Harry S. Truman today travels the half mile from his home to the presidential library that bears his name. And the nation he led from war into the chill of an uneasy peace will have a day of mourning Thursday to commemorate the man whose dearest wish was to be known as "The People's President." Richard M. Nixon, the 37th president of the United States, and Lyndon B. Johnson, the 36th, were to be at the library today to bid farewell to the 33rd. The wreath-laying visits of President and Mrs. Nixon and former President and Mrs. Johnson a day before the burial was planned as the course best for Mrs. Truman and in deference to her wishes for as simple a funeral as possible. Thousands were expected to pass by the coffin in the 21 acres of lying in state. But only 200 — the capacity of the Truman Library Auditorium — were invited into the service Thursday by telephone. The Rev. John H. Lembeck, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, said the Trumans were married in that church 53 years ago and so was Margaret, their only child, 37 years later. Until recent years, Mrs. Truman had been a member of the Parish Altar Guild there, pitching in to polish the brass and prepare the altar. The 87-year-old Mrs. Truman, dubbed "The Boss" by her husband, was in a section Tuesday after word of the former president's death reached her by telephone. But a family friend, Randall Jesse, said she was calm and composed. She and Margaret, who arrived late Christmas day, had spent a last few minutes with Truman that evening. — although he had been unwell for some time. — Truman women, Jesse said, "have both taken this with the greatest style and grace they have always exhibited." Margaret's husband, New York Times associate editor James H. Aronson, and their four sons were to arrive in time for the private service. The 5th Army, which is handling the state funeral, said more than 1,000 servicemen will be involved in the ceremonies, providing a 24-hour escort for the casket. Truman was born in the small town of Lamar, Mo., on Jan. 8, 1894. He was president nearly eight years. On Thursday, at 4 p.m. EST, Truman will be laid to rest in the landscaped courtyard of the library — near the windows of his private office. (Continued on Page 16)

1972 Not a Bad Year

COME JANUARY, YOU DON'T HAVE TO HAVE AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE. AFTER ALL, YOU CAN ALWAYS WALK.

By BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter) The year of 1972 was not a bad year for the Town of Vernon with the exception that death claimed many townspeople, several of them students, and the fact the Board of Education was bitterly disappointed that a referendum regarding a high school expansion program. This was the year the redevelopment project, which took shape with all of the buildings just completed and many of them occupied, something the townspeople have been looking for more than 10 years. Held up because of the recent plumber's strike, the high-rise housing project for the elderly and the moderate income apartment complex will soon be completed. The town is now considering a second renewal project which will probably see the renovation of several buildings in the immediate area of the existing project.

When Connecticut's new No-Fault law takes effect January 1, every car owner in the state will be required by law to have automobile insurance. If you don't and you're caught, the penalties can be pretty severe: like suspension of your driver's license and registration... a fine of up to $500... even a 3-month jail sentence. If you're uninsured right now, that leaves you facing a problem. Where do you go to get the facts? How do you find the kind of coverage you need? Stop by and talk to your local Aetna Life & Casualty agent. He's an expert on No-Fault, since he represents the company that's leading the fight to make it law all over the country. Because he knows automobile insurance, your Aetna agent can tell you about the many ways that No-Fault benefits you. And just what you need to do to comply. He may suggest coverage through Aetna or he may even recommend another policy. But one way or another, he'll help you get the protection you need. Maybe our attitude isn't average. But, then, we're not your average insurance company. So find out what you need to do to comply with the new law before time runs out. Contact one of the agents listed on this page or check the Yellow Pages.

Bombing Targets Listed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. bombers blasted the Hanoi and Hai Phong areas of North Vietnam with more than 1,400 strikes in the past week and devastated scores of military targets, the U.S. Command reported today. The Command, breaking its silence on the heaviest air attack of the Vietnam war, reported in a special communique that more than a dozen different types of targets were attacked, including some for the first time in the war. The report covered the period from Dec. 18 until late Dec. 24, when the bombing over the North was halted for a 36-hour Christmas cease-fire. It was resumed Tuesday afternoon. The U.S. communique said: "Targets struck included railroads, shipping, command and control facilities, warehouse and trans-shipment points, communications facilities, vehicle repair facilities, power plants, railway bridges, railway rolling stock, truck parks, MIG bases, and defense radars, and surface-to-air missile and anti-aircraft artillery sites."

Guerrilla Bases Hit By Israelis

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets crossed the cease-fire line with Syria today to bomb and rocket an Arab guerrilla base, two Syrian army positions and an artillery battery in reprisal for guerrilla attacks, the Israeli military command announced. The air raids broke a five-week lull on the front along the occupied Golan Heights, where the heaviest fighting since the 1973 cease-fire flared Nov. 21. The Israeli command said all its planes returned safely. The targets were all near Chalaf Golan, a civilian farming settlement near where the borders of Israel, Lebanon and Syria meet. The raids were announced minutes after the Israeli command reported that troops in the Golan Heights had discovered seven antitank shells launched from a land mine, and tracks leading across the bridge railing and the trailer swung into the path of the second tank. The buses were heading for Vadiin, a new Mexican school near a major Baptist assembly site, Giorita. "I recognize the fact that it is not much chance that I will ever walk again," he said. "Well, I am still interested in 1978. Whether or not I will be a candidate, I will decide that question later. But my doctors tell me that I am going to be physically able to do whatever I would like to do in '78 and even before that. I am not a candidate at this time, but I am still interested in the point that I do not rule it out."

Looters Prowl Quake-Torn Managua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Looters prowled through the rubble left by the earthquake that devastated Managua, villagers pecked at decomposing bodies and fires burned today in many parts of the shattered Nicaraguan capital. Gen. Anastasio Somoza, the country's strong man, blamed a rash of fires that broke out late Tuesday afternoon on businessmen "trying to get insurance money for their buildings." There also were clashes between groups of survivors combing the ruins for food as well as loot. "We turn into animals when we get so hungry," said one man as he ran from a pillaged supermarket. "We'll do almost anything to get something to eat." The latest official estimate of casualties in the quake Saturday was 2,000 to 3,000 dead and up to 20,000 seriously injured. Rescue workers continued to burn unidentified and unclaimed bodies pulled from under piles of debris. Bodies that weren't burned were buried in common graves.

Town Offices To Close

The Municipal Building will be closed tomorrow in observance of a day of mourning for former President Harry S. Truman. However, garbage will be collected at those homes scheduled for the regular Thursday pickup. Emergency numbers for other town services are highway, 649-5070; and sanitary sewer and water, 649-9697. Richard W. Clark, Chamber of Commerce executive vice president, reported that even except banks and savings and loan associations, which have been closed by proclamation of State Banking Commissioner James E. Hagen. The Main Post Office and branches will be closed, but the lobby will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for box customers. Incoming and outgoing mail will be handled, but the only home delivery service will be special delivery mail. Both Recreation Centers, the Senior Citizens Center, and Lutz Junior Museum will be open, as will the Manchester Water Co. Town libraries and (Continued on Page 16)

Peking Visit Rated Top Story Of 1972

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Nixon's visit to China last February has been voted the top news story of 1972 by editors and news directors of Associated Press member newspapers and radio and television stations. Nixon called the seven-day visit "the week that changed the world." He conferred with Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Zhou En-lai and broke a 22-year vacuum in Sino-American relations. The other top news stories of the year selected in the AP poll were: 2 — The attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as he campaigned for the presidency. 3 — Terror at the summer Olympics. 4 — President Nixon's reelection. 5 — Henry A. Kissinger and his mission to end the war in Vietnam. 6 — President Nixon's visit to Moscow and the signing of the strategic arms limitation agreement. 7 — Sen. Thomas Eagleton and the Democratic vice-presidential candidacy. 8 — The Vietnam war. 9 — Flooding that killed hundreds in Pennsylvania. 10 — South Dakota, Pennsylvania and seven other states.

The Nixon ate their way with ivory chopsticks through an eight-course state dinner. And the President survived innumerable "gambay" toasts, bottoms up, with Mao Tai. As he raised his glass, he quoted Chairman Mao's admission: "So many deeds cry out to be done, and always urgently." By the time the day, indeed the hour, he said, "for our two peoples to rise to the heights of greatness which can build a new and better world." 2 — "Hey, George," called the young man with short, pale blond hair. "Aren't you going to shake my hand?" George Corley Wallace, campaigning May 15 in Laurel, Md., for the Democratic presidential nomination, turned, hand extended, toward the man, hiding his eyes behind opaque sunglasses. Arthur Herman Bremer, 21-year-old from Milwaukee, thrust a semi-automated revolver toward the candidate and fired five times, 18 inches from his target. Wallace was thrown back onto the asphalt. He lay motionless, conscious but stunned, legs twisted crazily, blood streaming from his right arm and oozing through his shirt. Three others, including an Alabama state trooper and a Secret Service agent assigned to guard him, were wounded. Wallace was paralyzed from the waist down, Bremer was sentenced to 63 years in prison. The sentence was later reduced by 10 years. But Wallace, irrefragable, might run again.

"I recognize the fact that it is not much chance that I will ever walk again," he said. "Well, I am still interested in 1978. Whether or not I will be a candidate, I will decide that question later. But my doctors tell me that I am going to be physically able to do whatever I would like to do in '78 and even before that. I am not a candidate at this time, but I am still interested in the point that I do not rule it out."

The Arabs, identified by now as commandos in the Black September organization, called for a bus and helicopters. They would take their hostages to Fuerstenfeldbruck Air Base, where a Boeing 727 would fly them to an Arab capital. But sharpshooters lay in wait. The helicopters landed. They fired. The terrorists began firing. One ignited a helicopter containing the Soviet sky four Arabs in track suits silently scaled the fence surrounding the Olympic Village. Seconds later, four more. They melted into the shadows of a building and pulled out a can of blacking. Faces smeared, they headed for domestic moves. President Nixon flicked aside his Democratic opponent, Sen. George McGovern, in an election day landslide of historic proportions. The incumbent picked up all but 17 of the nation's 538 electoral votes, winning 49 states with 60.7 per cent of the over-all popular vote. Almost as impressive as the magnitude of his win was the narrowness of his coat tails. The Democrats added two seats in the Senate, which promised to be even more of an antagonist to many White House proposals than it had been in the previous four years. Republicans had believed a landslide would give them some (Continued on Page 10)

Here's How

Hostess: Try End Run around TV

By VIVIAN BROWN AP News Features Writer In 1973 consider turning one room of your apartment or house into a mini sports stadium. It would be equipped with enough comfortable seats to accommodate friends, a television screen large enough to be seen from every angle of the room and a wagon that may be used for hot dogs and soda pop. Maybe even a score board. You then may live happily ever after with your husband. One woman thought she had the solution — a late, late party. She was overjoyed at the acceptance. If need be wives would prop up their husbands, drive them to the party, carry them home, they assured her. But the unexpected happened — the hockey game went into overtime. Scratch that party. The football bowl season may well be the worst of all sports seasons, a recent kaffeeklatch group decided, because it occurs at the height of the holiday time. There are not only the bowls, but the super bowls and the super-super bowls. Later the hockey season will parlay one play-off into another play-off. The Stanley cup play-off has been known to wipe out 10-year-old bridge clubs and anniversary dinners. A bucket of ice could be put into a bucket of ice. Entertaining might be revived patently and inexpensively and the mini stadium could make a lot of sense. But if everyone has one, who will visit whom?

Desi Arnaz Jr. and Christopher Norris are a young couple pondering a serious problem in this scene from "Mr. and Mrs. Bo Jo Jones," the filmed story of a teenage couple forced to marry. The movie airs on ABC-TV (Channels 8 and 40) tonight at 8:30.

Hugh Downs: Anxious To Work Again

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Hugh Downs walked out of a lucrative career with the NBC Television network after his last regular "Today" show on Oct. 11, 1971. He decamped for a year of "milling around." His idea of milling was to write a book called "Potential," lecture at Arizona State University and map plans to return to television. Downs dreamed up during the year a book, "For my doctorate," he says, "I'm going to take a step up, combine more difficult things, but these will be designed to aid teachers. I'll start this winter in Amherst with the first research and writing." After he becomes William Cosby, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., "I'll make more films, lecture and I might join a faculty," he says. It's an old dream, but it's still there. He's also written a book, "For children at the seventh grade level. He says he put in "all the things he felt were significant to a kid who thinks older people have it made." It's probably the first of several because that's something else he dreams of doing. "As soon as I get the show out of my system," he says, "I'll go home to Massachusetts and probably do another book." The recently formed little theater group, the Tri-Town Players, will hold open casting Jan. 8 and Jan. 11 for its second production, "The Girl in the Freudian Slip." Casting will be held both nights at 7:30 at the Lottie Fisk Building, Henry Park, Vernon. The play has a cast of three men and three women: Dr. Dewey Maugham, a psychiatrist and his wife Paula who are in their middle forties; their daughter, Leslie, a girl about 18-years-old; an ex-patient, Barbara Leonard who is in her early 30's; Mr. Wellman, a man in his early 20's and Dr. Alec Rice, another psychiatrist and a friend of the Maughams. Anyone interested in trying out for a part may attend either of the casting sessions. They do not have to be members of the theater group. The play is tentatively set for production on March 15 through 17. Anyone interested in further information about casting or directions should call Norman Paul after 6 p.m.

of them and the big drug dealer. Those are the same enemies a lot of whites have. The films may look like they are a put down of all whites and all police, but that is ridiculous. Actually he doesn't think that the black films are designed to make a philosophical or moral point but merely to entertain (and, in the process, make money). He doesn't think they do anything, one way or the other, for black people, nor is that their purpose. They merely let blacks see other blacks on the screen and that is a small accomplishment. Television, as a white, continues to occupy most of Cosby's attention, at least during the TV season. Otherwise, his heart is still in the educational field and he's planning on scooting back to academia as soon as he wraps up for the year. He has his master's degree

Afternoons, evenings and far into the night, if typical, the man of the house is huddled in front of the television. Any wife, who can manage to entertain in the 30 minutes or so between the last football game of the day and the first hockey game, deserves a diamond tiara for effort. These days most entertaining never gets off the ground. More and more women are extending invitations by telephone —

I feel starved for the sound of my people . . .

Cosby Keeps His Causes Going

By DICK KLEINER HOLLYWOOD (N E A) — Black films keep pouring out of the film factories but one of the top black entertainers of the moment isn't happy with them. "The big movie companies," says Bill Cosby, "won't put up money for a good black film. They've found a new gold mine. They require that black entertainers they make have violence, blood, dope and tough language. "My resentment is that I don't see any other kind of black film. Any other types of black characters. (He admitted that he had not yet seen "Sounder" and that film could be one to change his resentment somewhat.) Cosby, starring this season for CBS in his own variety show on Monday nights, feels there is a need for good black films. "Racially speaking," he says, "I feel I'm starved for the sound of my people, the look and feel of my triumphs, my heroes, my triumphs. I still carry in my mind many scenes in movies and plays in which the black man was called 'nigger' and spat on. "I sure would like to see my people in charge one time." He made a movie last year — "Man and Boy" — and he thought that might have been it. As he says, he put all his "universal feelings" into it. Not many people bought tickets to see it. While he doesn't much like the hard-hitting, money-making black films of the moment, he does see some good in them. "For one thing," he says, "they give black people a chance to hear their own sounds." He also believes they make new points along the way. They are anti-drug, even though an addict or pusher may be the protagonist in many of the films. "I see a negative drug addiction point in every black film I've seen," Cosby says. "The drug dealer is the villain." Much white criticism has been leveled at black films on the grounds that whites are always the heroes and the object of the hero's wrath. "The whites these films are after," Cosby says, "are the cop who takes advantage

HIGH CARDS ALONE WON'T WIN FOR YOU By ALFRED SHEINWOLD People sometimes thoughtlessly say that bridge is a game of high cards. If you're lucky enough to be dealt enough high cards, you'll win; otherwise, you'll lose. The fallacy in this kind of claim is shown in a hand played in the recent playoff to pick the North American team for the 1973 world championship. West dealer North-South vulnerable with the ace of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart in dummy. He ruffed a spade in his hand, and ruffed another low heart in dummy. When the king of hearts fell, it was all over. South drew trumps and claimed the rest, making his doubled game contract. "You've simply proved that distribution is luckier than high cards," you may object. Not so. At the other table South passed with his fine distribution, and his opponents bid and made three notrump. Luck is what you make it.

Thursday Proclaimed National Day of Mourning For Truman

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon has proclaimed Thursday as a national day of mourning for former President Harry S. Truman and directed that flags on all federal buildings and facilities be displayed at half staff for the next 30 days.

and said he met critical moments in history "with courage and vision." "His far-sighted leadership in the postwar era has helped... to preserve peace and freedom in the world," Nixon said.

he held it, and in the years afterward he honorably supported and wisely counseled each of his successors. "The nation to which he gave so much will honor his memory in admiration and respect, and the other countries for which he helped keep freedom alive will remember his name with gratitude." — THE TIMES

"I invite the people of the world who share our grief to join us in this solemn observance," Nixon said.

Services goals of promoting sound family life, helping to prevent family breakdown and improving social conditions affecting family life. Torok started working alone, counseling with families in North Hartford and other areas. He eventually became known in the neighborhood. He approached the teenagers many times both individually and in groups, asking them if they wanted to form a club. "They were suspicious of me and my motives," he said, "and it took a long time to gain their trust. "Finally, I began working with seven boys. We met every week. Later, more boys joined the group. Eventually, the word spread and we formed other groups for both boys and girls at varying age levels and in different neighborhoods." Torok added: Today, the group work program is in keeping with Catholic Family program serves approximately 150 youngsters (boys and girls from 4 to 18 years of age) in all communities. They have similar strengths, weaknesses and hopes and goals. They are only culturally different," Torok observes. Although the group work project is confining its activities to inner-city youngsters and their families, people in the Greater Hartford area may contact the Catholic Family Services, 244 Main St., Hartford, for any information on other services available through CFS.

In the years since then, our personal bird count has grown to include many dignitaries of the bird world, with one notable exception: No Cardinals. We tried everything the bird books advised to attract them. We bought the plumpest sunflower seeds, big chunks of suet, and once mixed up a combination of peanut butter and seed that was so good we licked our fingers clean. But all our efforts were to no avail. The Cardinals visited our neighbors. They set up housekeeping on the next street but they didn't show up as fly over the Warren house! We'd about given up when the next morning at breakfast we saw a bright flash of red outside outside our kitchen window. My husband jumped from the table dropping his newspaper in his enthusiasm. "Look! Look! There's a Cardinal at the feeder." "It's beautiful," I cried joining him by the window. "I think it's just beautiful." "Well, I think," said our teenage daughter who was eyeing us over her orange juice, "that you two are for the birds!"

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The nation's traffic death toll for the three-day Christmas weekend totaled 553. That is fewer than the 614 who died in 1971 and far below the record toll of 720 killed over the three-day celebration in 1965. The National Safety Council estimated that from 550 to 650 persons would be killed in traffic accidents between 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 22, and midnight Dec. 25. The council estimates that deaths during holiday periods run about 25 per cent above those in which no holiday occurs. Thus a total of 565 for the weekend would mean there would have been about 452 deaths if no holiday were involved.

Truman's Lack Of Middle Name Bugged Typesetters INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman had no middle name and it caused no end of confusion, particularly to typesetters. He signed his full name with a continuous stroke that allowed no use of a period after the S, and it was commonly assumed he preferred it that way. The middle initial stood, he said often, for either one of his grandfathers — Anderson Shippe Truman and Solomon Young. A reporter once asked about his preference — period or none. "It doesn't matter to me, one way or another — do as you like," he said, and use of the period became official. It appears on stationery of the Harry S. Truman Library in Independence, Mo., on the cover page of the three books he wrote, and — most recently — on the jacket of the biography written by daughter Margaret.

Recruiting Minority Policemen Difficult

By DAN HALL, Associated Press Writer Police officials in a number of Connecticut cities and in the State Police Department say they want to add more blacks and Spanish-Americans to their forces but have trouble finding willing candidates who can pass their written tests. The relatively small percentages of those groups in some city police forces has led to internal dissent and, in the case of Bridgeport, a law suit against the city.

Two of the state's largest cities, Hartford and New Haven, rank about the highest in the percentages of minority group policemen in their departments. "We've actively campaigned for them," said New Haven Chief Biagio DiLieto, whose 425 policemen include 55 blacks and three Spanish-speaking members.

DiLieto complains that many possible candidates cannot pass the required mental tests and those who can often are lured to private businesses. "There's a fierce competition from industry" for the better educated Puerto Rican and black young men, he says. "We've even sent teams of recruiters into the south on what may be a little more program," he adds, but the effort has not attracted any successful candidates.

In Hartford, where there was vocal dissent among the department's black policemen several years ago, the number of minority-group policemen has grown steadily to 59 blacks and seven Spanish-Americans among the 480 sworn policemen, and dissent has become less noticeable. Perhaps equally important to racial calm, both within the force and between the police and the community, is the number of minority policemen in high supervisory positions.

Hartford's fourth ranking policeman is a black man, Maj. Theodore Napper. Blacks also include one lieutenant and eight sergeants, according to a spokesman. In New Haven, the fifth job from chief is filled by a black and the force has two black sergeants. Bridgeport, by contrast, has 14 black policemen and three Spanish-speaking members in its sworn ranks. None of them holds a supervisory position.

Waterbury, with only 280 sworn policemen, has eight blacks and three Puerto Ricans. The 813-member State Police Department remains with nine or ten black troopers and two Spanish-speaking ones, mainly because of its academic standards. However, the department recently abolished a number of requirements, including one for a high school diploma, and commissioner Cleveland B. Pussesech maintains the changes will give greater flexibility in recruiting. Minority-group members of Bridgeport's force, becoming increasingly dissatisfied with their lack of advancement, have gone to U.S. District Court seeking a change. In their suit they contend that the department's employment and promotional procedures, especially testing, are "essentially racially unfair" according to Michael Kosko Koskoff claims the tests are based on "white middle-class language."

"There's an over-reliance on the tests in Bridgeport," he said. New Haven and Hartford, he contends, "use their tests simply to screen out those who are unfit." Bridgeport tends "to use them all the way," almost to the exclusion of interviews, psychological screening and other methods, he adds. Koskoff says the results show up in the composition of the force: about three per cent minority-group representation compared to a citywide percentage of about 27 per cent.

The suit, which is supported by the local black policemen's organization called The Guardians, seeks a change in the testing and promotional procedures that will increase minority-group representation on the force. In New Haven, an independent firm prepares, administers and evaluates all recruitment and promotional exams, Chief DiLieto said.

He said he believes the tests are fair, but he also hopes that a current federally supported study of testing procedures by the State Personnel Department will provide even better methods.

New Haven's force has undergone about the largest increase in black and Spanish-speaking percentages in recent years. The representation of minority-group policemen has risen from less than 8 per cent in 1968 to more than 13 per cent today.

Waterbury, with three major encounters in the last two years between Spanish-speaking residents and policemen trying to maintain order at public functions has increased its number of Puerto Rican patrolmen from one to three in the past five years.

Lt. George Gilchrist, director of Waterbury's Police-Community Relations Division, echoes spokesmen for many other cities when he describes his department's assignment policies. "He says Spanish-speaking officers often are given duties that take advantage of their bilingual speaking ability. Black policemen, on the other hand, patrol in both black and white neighborhoods and find their way into the traffic, community relations, youth and detective divisions, he adds. "As the guy proves himself, he's assigned there," Gilchrist said. "It isn't just because he's black."

QUOTA FOR EX-CONS

ANKARA (AP) — Labor Minister Ali Riza Unsur has disclosed that there are 400,000 unemployed handicapped persons and ex-convicts in Turkey. He said this is one of the gravest ills of the society. The ministry has issued a new set of regulations to employ players asking them to give a job to one handicapped or ex-convict for every 50 people they employ. The ministry also asked that handicapped persons should be given suitable jobs that will not be too heavy or dangerous.

Canadian Scientist Criticizes Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Canadian scientist said today that American industry, private health agencies and government research centers have cast a "veil of secrecy" over much of the information needed to assess the health effects of pollution and cigarette smoking.

He said it is difficult to justify "any but the most tentative conclusions concerning the relative role of pollution and cigarette smoking."

Truman Once Played For GOP Money

NEW BRITAIN (AP) — Former New Britain Mayor John L. Sullivan does not think highly of the person who taught former President Harry S. Truman how to play the piano.

Sullivan said he planned in advance that he and the president would play a piano duet but the Secret Service informed Sullivan that "under no circumstances would they let him (Truman) play the piano," said Sullivan.

Oil Spill Mop-Up Continues

OLD SAYBROOK (AP) — The mop-up effort continued today as authorities attempted to determine the true extent of a 12,000-gallon oil spill near the mouth of the Connecticut River.

A Coast Guard helicopter and boats from the state Department of Environmental Protection, along with officials walking the beaches, were dispatched to determine "where the oil is and where it's going," according to Coast Guard Capt. James L. Fleishel.

The spill of some 12,000 gallons of No. 6 heavy grade fuel oil occurred early Tuesday while the tug Nancy Moran ran aground as it was towing a barge up the river toward Hartford, the Coast Guard said.

Information of the type he suggested is needed for a "dispassionate evaluation" of contentions by those two organizations that cigarette smoking is the chief cause of lung cancer.

He also said the U.S. Public Health Service has tended without proof to discount air pollution as a major cause of lung cancer and chronic broncho-pulmonary disease while putting virtually all the blame on cigarette smoking.

Assessment Changes Urged

HARTFORD (AP) — A little more work by municipalities on an annual basis can remove the inequalities from property taxation, says the Governor's Commission on Tax Reform.

For instance, reassessing property every year instead of every decade would enable municipalities to collect a full measure of taxes from new and improved properties, as well as allow them to decrease the tax burden on deteriorating properties.

Truman Visit To State Recalled

HARTFORD (AP) — An estimated 160,000 people, one of the largest crowds ever to greet a political figure in the state, turned out for former President Harry S. Truman's 1968 visit.

One reason for that, said the study, was that Connecticut towns, in their anxiety to attract business and industry, are inclined to understate industry and then make the homeowner pay a proportionally heavier share of the tax burden.

State Issues Tax Revenue Report

HARTFORD (AP) — Despite the advent of 18, 19 and 20-year-old drinking, Connecticut liquor tax revenues are running behind last year's pace.

The monthly report of the State Tax Department shows liquor taxes down from $10 million during the first five months of the last fiscal year to less than $9.9 million during the past five months, July through November.

Toy Maker Working Overtime

CENTRAL FALLS, R.I. (AP) — Even Santa Claus and his non-snow-eating elves can relax after their labor during the holiday season, but the nation's toy makers are already busy gearing up for next Christmas in a cloak and dagger atmosphere.

"We're working overtime nights and weekends," says Leonard Gray, supervisor of the tightly guarded model shop for Hasbro Industries, Inc., one of the country's biggest toy manufacturers with headquarters in Rhode Island.

Gray works in a restricted area of Hasbro's 100-acre Central Falls plant. The public cannot enter. Patrolling guards and frequent lock changes discourage industrial espionage, a serious problem in the competitive toy industry.

Hasbro has dozens of expensive scientific molding machines clanking away in the Central Falls plant to churn out G.I. Joe action figures and a wide-looking green and yellow plastic children's riding toy called the Inchworm.

Seniors Seeking Jobs Now

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard University Office of Graduate and Career Plans says that more seniors than ever before in recent years are looking for jobs, with many more uncertain of their plans, and fewer going directly to graduate schools.

The results of a survey, answered by 94 per cent of the class of 1972, showed that 31 per cent of the class were looking for jobs when they were questioned in May. This is the highest number since the first survey was taken in 1956.

Much of what we mistake for taste is really smell. Odors of food rest the nose about the same time the food is tasted and when the two come together, they are often mistaken for each other.

Humphrey Predicting Congressional Battle With Administration

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey predicts a major battle in the new Congress over President Nixon's power to withhold spending authorized by the lawmakers.

Humphrey told newsmen Monday the battle is likely to include a bill giving Congress a chance to override any impoundment of funds and also a court test of the President's right to hold up spending.

Under that plan, he said, the President would have to report to Congress when he refuses to spend appropriated funds. Humphrey calls it "usurping the legislative power."

But the President spoke about Moscow's "mushroom rain—a warm rain, with the sun breaking through, that captures the mushrooms and grows and therefore is considered a good omen."

He felt hopeful.

"Spasibo i do vidaniya," he said. Thank you and goodbye.

7—Perhaps no single issue in the 1972 election campaign hurt Democratic presidential hopes more than the handling of the Egyptian affair.

8—George McGovern picked Missouri's Sen. Thomas Eagleton as his running mate, counting on his expected appeal to the young and the liberal. Eagleton revealed he had undergone psychiatric treatment, including shock therapy. McGovern's first pledged "1,000 per cent" support for Eagleton, but later forwent the Missouri air of the ticket.

The move cost McGovern dearly—the polls showed his pre-Eagleton support only in the final weeks.

9—For more than a year allied intelligence has predicted a North Vietnamese military spectacular to test Saigon's army once U.S. ground combat units are withdrawn from Vietnam.

10—It broke like a gray-black monsoon squall on Easter weekend and raged for more than a month. An entire South Vietnamese division was routed and destroyed as a fighting force. And for the first time in the war, a provincial capital, Quang Tri City, was captured.

Washington responded with resumption of air attacks against North Vietnam, the mining of that country's harbors and an over-all air assault throughout Indochina, committed themselves to a policy of restraint in its nuclear age. They had agreed to collaborate in space. Together they would study air, water and soil pollution and how to attack them, and they would cooperate in research on heart disease, cancer and public health.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Communist party, hadn't gotten the trade agreement he wanted. And Nixon hadn't gotten the Soviet influence he had hoped for to end the Vietnam war.

States had been seeking since 1958.

The Communists wanted a signature before Oct. 31.

The powers of a Communist-neutral-Saigon commission, created under terms of the agreement, and other vital points remained fuzzy, however, and, despite hints, there was no specific provision for withdrawal of 145,000 Northern troops.

South Vietnam President Thieu was displeased. He met with Kissinger in Saigon and let it be known he thought the United States was selling out its ally. Kissinger said one more meeting of three or four days in Paris would settle things.

But renewed talks were adjourned twice. The Communists accused Washington of deserting the tentative agreement and for its part, renewed demands for Thieu's ouster.

And Kissinger...typically, he was most visible at a French restaurant with a blonde in his arm.

8—Impossible as it seemed, there he was, Richard M. Nixon, arch crusader against communism, on Soviet television saying: "Dobry večer." Good evening.

Before his firestorm that was over, the very symbol of imperialism and natural energy of the Soviet system had told the Russian people about prospects for a less perilous world.

At summit conference concluded May 27 in Moscow, the United States and the Soviet Union had signed an agreement limiting strategic nuclear arms, negotiated at the SALT talks in Helsinki, and committed themselves to a policy of restraint in the nuclear age.

Slowly the initiative changed hands and the mood of gloom lifted in Saigon. Quang Tri was recaptured and serious threats to two other provincial capitals were crushed.

However, Communist troops made a shambles of the Allied pacification program and Communist flags flew over hundreds of towns and hamlets formerly considered securely in the government column.

Truman Was Proud Of Masonic Affiliation

By WES COOK
Associated Press Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman said in 1949 he considered his election as grand master of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons in Missouri "the highest honor that has ever come to me."

That statement, carried by Time Magazine, resulted in some letters of criticism. One writer said, "If Mr. Truman doesn't consider being President of the United States a far greater honor, the voters should ... return him to his Missouri Masons in 1952."

Truman's reply was that he felt as he did because the office of grand master came unsolicited. He said he did not and could not campaign for it as he did for president.

Truman was twice master of Grandview Lodge No. 618, served as its secretary for a period, and from 1925 to 1930 was district deputy grand master and district deputy grand lecturer for the Grand Lodge.

A Democrat, Truman was appointed to be the Grand Lodge officer in St. Louis. He attended a number of lodges near the Capitol on more than 50 occasions and frequently assisted in the ritual.

He was well versed in the history of the fraternity and in 1950 was master of the Missouri Lodge of Research, an organization with a worldwide membership of Masonic students and scholars.

In addition to 50-year pins, he attended the Grand Lodges of Texas and the District of Columbia, spoke at a lodge anniversary in Philadelphia, and delivered two nationwide radio addresses on "Washington the Mason" and "Freemasonry Serves the Armed Forces."

Prisoners' Gesture Foiled By Statutes

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP)—Inmates at the Walpole State Prison were given Christmas dinner as scheduled Monday, in spite of a request by a group of convicts that the food be given to the needy.

A spokesman for the prison said that as far as he knew, the inmates ate the meal. He said no food was thrown out.

Representatives of prisoners, ex-prisoners and other persons appealed to the Correction Department on behalf of the proposal, but they were turned down.

maximum security prison had asked authorities to give the food to the needy, and they said they would fast so that the Christmas dinner could be given away.

Truman proudly related that 14 other presidents were Freemasons—Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Johnson, Garfield, McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

But only Truman and Jackson served as grand master of their Grand Lodges.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is providing $3 million in relief supplies and other aid to the earthquake-crippled Nicaraguan capital city of Managua, the Agency for International Development has reported.

Under orders from President Nixon, the United States is sending medicine, food, tents, water purification plants and manpower teams to the Central American city.

AID officials said a 40-man emergency relief team has been airlifted to Nicaragua and shipments of trucks, radios and the six heavy-duty water purification plants have either arrived or will be in Managua shortly.

The Catholic Relief Society, acting on AID's behalf in Nicaragua, has been authorized to provide 60,000 pounds of rolled oats and 140,000 pounds of flour to the stricken people.

In addition two mobile field hospitals containing 124 beds have been sent as well as cargo planes and other heavy duty equipment.

Ships containing rolled oats and other grains totaling more than $50,000 pounds have been diverted to Nicaragua, U.S. demotion experts are also on the scene to aid in clearing the wrecked buildings.

The American Red Cross has authorized an initial allocation of $25,000 to its Nicaraguan counterpart for relief and aid and Red Cross officials said more will be provided later.

The private relief agency said it also sending cots, first aid supplies and a medical team to the stricken city and said it is providing help to Americans and other persons who have been airlifted to the United States following the earthquake.

Crime Fund Priorities Outlined

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut Planning Commission on Criminal Administration (CPCCA) says the $8 million in federal crime-fighting money it will distribute in the state during the 1972-73 fiscal year likely will go for eight main purposes.

Those purposes are fighting street crime, organized crime, delinquency and youth crime, drug and alcohol abuse and criminal justice manpower problems, plus improving courts, rehabilitation programs.

Yukon Hootch Goes On Sale

WHITTEHORSE, V.T. (AP)—Scotland has scotch. Kentucky has bourbon. Now the Yukon Territory has its own special liquor, too—Yukon Hootch.

A blend of Canadian and imported rums, Yukon Hootch went on sale last week throughout the territory in conjunction with Klondike '73, a year-long celebration marking the 75th anniversary of the Klondike Gold Rush.

Produced solely for distribution by the Territorial government, Hootch has an alcoholic content about the same as most standard brands of rum and is being sold in 12- and 26-ounce bottles.

Rolfe Thibault, Yukon director of liquor control, said the brew originated during Gold Rush days.

Town Compiling Maps On Developable Land

BY DOUG BEVINS
(Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Planning Department, preparing for a revision of the comprehensive plan of development, is compiling several maps to determine the amount of developable land remaining in town.

Ronald Blake, the town's technical planning assistant, is working on the series of maps, which will include contours, soil characteristics, drainage, water tables, wetlands and waterways, and other detailed information.

The maps, expected to be complete within a few months, would be a tool for updating the comprehensive plan. Town Planner J. Eric Potter, noting that the "master" plan was adopted in 1963 and has had only minor revisions, said certain elements of the plan require updating.

"The future of Manchester—to a great extent—depends on how undeveloped land will be used," Potter said, explaining Blake's work on the maps. The maps may allow planners to forecast population, utility needs, and other development.

According to preliminary guesses, about 30 per cent of the Town of Manchester's area is now undeveloped, according to Blake. Some of that percentage is "committed." Blake added, "Committed" land includes watered areas, parks, open space land, and proposed school sites, Blake noted. Not included in the percentage, he said, is the 110-acre dry-bed Laurel Lake, which the town may purchase for landfill purposes.

Blake emphasized that the 30 per cent estimate is only a rough approximation of the undeveloped land existing now.

"We don't know exactly what we'll end up with," Blake said.

The major undeveloped areas of town are in the four corners northwest, northeast, southeast, and southwest.

The maps being drawn will show whether currently undeveloped land is capable of being developed. "We may find some areas undevelopable," Blake said, "due to soil conditions, terrain, or other reasons."

"We're trying to find out about anything that may tend to inhibit development," Blake said. Bad soil conditions, for instance, may prohibit construction of sewers.

Complete soil studies will be made by the state's Department of Environmental Protection, Potter noted.

Also being considered by the local planners are state plans for relocation of highways. Proposed reconstruction of Interstate 86 (the Wilbur Cross Highway) may advance development of more land along the highway path, Blake said.

Blake pointed to the Manchester section of Interstate 84, which opened more than a year ago. Since the highway opened, many stores and shopping centers have sprung up on Spencer St., near the west end of the highway segment.

The state's Inland Wetlands and Water Courses Act is also being considered in drawing of the unique series of maps. The act, approved by the General Assembly in its last session, calls for municipalities to regulate use of wetlands at water courses.

The town's Board of Directors has not yet taken action on the wetlands act. If nothing is done by the town before Jan. 1, 1973, the state will assume control.

1972: A Photo Review

IT WAS A LANDSLIDE for the Republican ticket. President Nixon and Vice President Agnew took 61 per cent of the popular vote and 49 states for a landmark election triumph. But the GOP did not do so well elsewhere, losing ground to the Democrats in the Senate and in state governorships.

IT WAS ALSO A YEAR OF TRIUMPH ABROAD for President Nixon. The thaw in relations with Communist China culminated in the February journey to Peking and meetings with Mao Tse-tung, top, and Chou En-lai. A Kremlin summit in May with Leonid Brezhnev, below, followed.

"PEACE IS AT HAND" Henry Kissinger announced in October. But finishing touches to the accord were formalized in secret meetings with North Vietnam's Le Duc Tho, above right, dragged on and on.

WAR CONTINUED TO RAVAGE VIETNAM despite intensive peace efforts ranging from Paris to Saigon. The United States ended its ground combat role, but continued bombing pressure on the North. Vividly illustrating their people's tragedy, children flee an accidental napalm attack by South Vietnamese aircraft.

TERROR TOOK OVER THE OLYMPICS when masked Arab guerrillas seized Israeli hostages. Dead in Munich's Olympic Village and an airport shootout: 11 Israelis and five terrorists.

BLOOD AGAIN STAINED a presidential campaign. Alabama Gov. George Wallace was shot while campaigning in Maryland. Mrs. Cornelia Wallace leaved over her seriously wounded husband in a television camera's view of the shooting.

IT WAS ALSO A POLITICAL YEAR for three close allies, but with mixed results. In West Germany, Chancellor Willy Brandt's coalition government won a solid election victory. In Canada Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau lost his parliamentary majority. In Japan, Kakuei Tanaka took over as premier.

HURRICANE AGNES ravaged the eastern seaboard from Florida through Pennsylvania (above, Harrisburg) in a 10-day rampage at a cost of 118 lives and $3 billion in property damage. Two thousand miles to the west, a flash flood devastated Rapid City, S.D., claiming more than 200 lives.

People Can Earn More Under Social Security

Beginning in 1973, people collecting Social Security benefits will be allowed to earn more money while receiving their benefits. Major changes have been made in the earnings under Social Security, according to Joseph Mucciaro, East Hartford Social Security Manager.

These changes will affect approximately 7,000 Manchester area residents.

"Under the new law," Mucciaro said, "people under 72 can earn as much as $2,100 in a year and still get all their Social Security benefits. The old law allowed beneficiaries to earn $1,680 while collecting."

According to Mucciaro, people who are working and collecting benefits will never lose more than $1 in benefits for each $2 earned. The more you earn, the higher your total income will be. Under the new law, payments will be reduced by only $1 for every $2 earned over $2,100 in a year. The old law provided that payments be reduced $1 in benefits for every $2 earned between $1,680 and $2,100 in a year — an extra $1 for every $1 over $2,800.

"People 72 and over will continue to get their full Social Security benefits regardless of earnings," Mucciaro explained, "but changes have been made which also affect 72-year-old

LONDON (AP) — President Nixon's aerial blitz of North Vietnam was generally condemned or questioned last week by newspapers in Britain, on the European continent, and in other parts of the world.

The Sunday Times of London commented: "At least Lyndon Johnson gave a convincing impression that Vietnam for him was a personal agony and that his human sensibilities had not been deadened by office."

The chilling truth about President Nixon is that he has no such personal concern. His statements convey no impression that he considers bombers as anything more than strategic counters on a map of his own devising.

"Mr. Nixon should stop the bombing; Hanoi should resume serious negotiations and accept proper international supervision of a cease-fire," said the Observer, another Sunday British paper.

"But let not America's friends — or enemies — be too self-righteous about the ending of a long tragedy. For there is not much morality, either, in pretending that the abandonment of millions of South Vietnamese to the eventual possibility of a Communist rule they don't want is anything more than another piece of realism, a decision to bow to the circumstances of power."

The Sunday Express said "There may be a good reason for this abrupt and devastating reversal of American policy. But we should be told loudly and clearly what it is."

Social Security

Q. My mother-in-law told me that the new Social Security law allows people to earn more money and still receive their Social Security checks. Is this true?

A. Yes it is. Effective with 1973, a person receiving Social Security benefits will be allowed to earn $2,100, instead of the present $1,680, and receive all their Social Security checks.

Q. If I earn over $2,100 in a year, how much will be withheld from my Social Security benefits?

A. Starting with 1973 Social Security benefits would be reduced by one dollar for each two dollars you earn over $2,100. The amount deducted would depend on how much you earned in a year.

Q. Under the present Social Security law, a person can receive a check for any month he does not earn over $140, no matter how much he earns for the year. Has this amount been changed under the new law?

A. Yes. The $140 has been increased to $175.

Q. If I earned $3,000 in 1972 and earned over $175 in all months, how much would have to be withheld from my Social Security checks?

A. We would withhold $450 from your Social Security benefits.

Q. I am a school teacher and earn over $10,000 a year. However, I will earn less than $175 in July and August. I am 65. Will I be able to collect Social Security benefits for the months I'm not employed?

A. Since you will not earn over $175 in July or August, you would be entitled for those months.

Q. Has the age been changed when a person can earn any amount of money and still receive benefits?

A. No it has not. The age is still 72.

Q. If my wife and I work after we are allowed to earn $2,100 between us?

A. No. You are both entitled to earn $2,100 each.

HIFI STEREO BUYER'S GUIDE 1972—"This receiver delivers excellent performance. Amplifier distortion is unusually low. Selectivity was excellent."

WASHINGTON POST (Nov. 18, 1972) Norman Eisenberg—"One of the best sounding hi-fi systems I have heard. The 4-channel receiver... the last model as far as I know to offer this feature. There's no stinging in other, more familiar, areas of hi-fi performance. Apparently, Lafayette has pulled off the trick of making the LR-440 a very competitive unit. Considering all that the LR-440 offers, its price tag of $100 does not seem overvalued. This, in short, is a prime example of a four-channel receiver."

More Funds Asked By School Board

A public hearing will be held Jan. 3 on a school board request for an additional $200,000 to its current budget. The hearing, by the Manchester Board of Directors, will be at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Directors approved a $10,175,000 budget — up $75,000 over 1971-72. Last fall, Town Manager Robert Weiss estimated that the 1971-72 General Fund surplus would be about $600,000. In early November the town's auditor estimated it at about $415,000.

Obituary

Harold H. Peterson, 59, of 654 N. Main St. died Tuesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Mr. Peterson was born Sept. 21, 1913 in Brooklyn, N.Y., and had lived in Manchester for the past 24 years. He was employed as a cashier at Manchester Memorial Hospital cafeteria. Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Carl McAllister of Manchester and Mrs. Michael Hart of Tolland; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St. Burial will be at the convenience of the family. Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p.m.

Bill Would End Lost Book Taxes

HARTFORD (AP) - It is "absurd" for the state to tax the replacement costs for lost library books, says a legislator who is sponsoring a bill to exempt such transactions from the 7 per cent tax on new books. Under the Tax Department's policy, the sales tax is supposed to be charged to persons who have to pay for borrowed library books which have been lost or destroyed.

Town Offices

(Continued from Page 1) All school offices will be closed. At 12:30 p.m. Friday the Junior Room of Mary Cheney Library will show the films "People Soup," "Winter of the Witcher," and "Norman the Doorman." State Labor Commissioner John A. Fourn said that persons ordered to work on Thursday to state employment offices to qualify for unemployment benefits may report Friday without penalty, in line with L.Gov. T. J. Ryan's proclamation. Acting in the absence of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, Hurl signed the necessary proclamations yesterday, declaring Thursday an official day of mourning and ordering flags to be flown at half staff.

Women's Lib Can Be Costly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Women's Liberation has scored still another victory, this time at the race track. Liberty Bell announced Tuesday its last Ladies Day, at which women are admitted to the track free, would be held on Thursday. J. Thomas O'Brien, executive vice president of Eagle Downs Racing Association which is operating winter races at Liberty Bell, said the freebies violate a new city ordinance banning sex discrimination.

Cannibalism Mars Survival Miracle

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) - Despair and anger followed the disclosure that some of the 16 survivors of an Andean air crash fed on their dead companions to stay alive. Official sources on Tuesday disclosed the cannibalism among the young Uruguayan men during their 49-day ordeal on an icy mountain ledge. A dozen of the survivors staying at a local hotel "were very depressed and went to their rooms immediately" when afternoon papers appeared with the story, a hotel employee said.

Agency May Purchase New Plane

WETHERSFIELD (AP) - The state Transportation Department is seeking $60,000 in its budget request for the 1973-1974 fiscal year to buy a new airplane. Deputy Commissioner Herbert LaRosa of the department's Bureau of Aeronautics said Tuesday, "I think we're talking about an eight-place airplane with a larger capacity than the one we have now." LaRosa said he said a plane bigger than the twin-engine craft the state now owns to transport state officials would give "whoever is flying in the plane the opportunity to get some work done."

Housing Injunction Denied

HARTFORD (AP) - U.S. District Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal said Tuesday he turned down a bid for an injunction against a minimum housing standards ordinance about to be implemented by the city of Stamford. The ordinance requires that, in apartment buildings more than 15 years old with three or more units, a city inspection be carried out of each newly rented suite. The inspector would issue a certificate of occupancy for apartments that passed the inspections. Four apartment house owners and a construction firm had sought the injunction, saying the proposed ordinance discriminated against certain categories of housing and was therefore a violation of the due process clause of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Man's Death Being Probed

Cesar Charlone, the Uruguayan charge d'affaires in Santiago, said the survivors had made a "solemn pact" to say nothing until they had all returned to Uruguay. There, he said, they planned to make a joint statement. One survivor reportedly compared the cannibalism to "a heart transplant," the survivors made to save one person's life: in this case portions of the bodies were used to continue a number of lives. Another survivor described the decision in terms of "the sacred sacrament of communion." "Had we died, it would have been suicide, which is condemned by our faith," the young man reportedly said.

Police Report

A car driven by Gregory R. Naus, 22, of East Hartford, went out of control and struck a tree off Green Manor Blvd. Tuesday, Manchester Police reported. Police said Naus was passing a stopped vehicle on Green Manor Blvd. south of W. Middle Tpk., when the car went out of control, crossed into the southbound lane, went over the curb and hit a tree. No injuries were reported in the 11:38 a.m. accident. Police said a wrecker was needed to tow the Naus car out of mud and snow. Once back on the roadway, the car was driven away, police said. Lumber valued at about $355 was stolen from a construction site at K-Mart Department Store on Spencer St. over the weekend, according to the victim, F. J. Salcer Co. of Freehold, N.J. Also taken from the K-Mart site over the weekend was a construction vehicle battery, worth about $40, owned by P.M.C. Inc. of Hartford. Michael A. Hilley, 17, of East Hartford, was charged with following too closely, and Donald J. Freed, 30, of Chatham, N.J., was charged with making an improper turn. The charges stem from a 5 p.m. Monday collision on W. Middle Tpk. at Exit 92 from I-86. James Daly, 33, of no certain address, was charged Tuesday night with intoxication on Main St. near the Center. He was to be presented in court today at East Hartford. Minor injuries were reported in the accident. Both cars were towed.

UCLA, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, has been accused of taking unfair advantage of visiting teams. According to Will Robinson, coach of highly-regarded Illinois State, UCLA offered his school a lot of money to play the NCAA champs in Los Angeles. "I told them, 'No Thank you. You're paying us just to come out there and get beat!' Homecourt referees, Robinson claims, are UCLA's sixth man on the floor."

Olsen Unlike Others

When most defensive tackles in pro football come anywhere near the opposing team quarterback, their killer instincts are aroused. Not so with Merlin Olsen of the Rams. "I enjoy being a quarterback (Roman Gabriel)," Olsen says in an article in the January issue of Sport Magazine, "and I don't want to see him killed any more than the opponent's guy. I've never believed that you have to hate anybody to play pro football. I know that I differ in that respect from a lot of players and coaches. But I think if you're tuned in to your own responsibilities and what you're going to do, if you're motivated by pride and not by hate, by your goals for yourself and not the actions of others, by your own desire to win—that's a lot easier to do a career to last hatred..." Olsen, who's fast enough and smart enough to get away with it, said he supported President Nixon by having a special campaign button made that read, "Big, Slow, Dull-Witted Linemen for the President."

Blazers in Turnabout After Holiday Partying

By The Associated Press Phil Watson, the Philadelphia coach who blamed the holiday spirit on a couple of weekend blazers, let his Blazers do some real celebrating the night after Christmas. Following losses of 73 to Houston last Saturday and 80 to Cleveland on Sunday, the Blazers, last in the World Hockey Association's East Division, did a turnaround Tuesday night and dumped the West Division's second-place Minnesota Fighting Saints 6-2. In other WHA action, the New York Raiders beat Quebec 5-2, Chicago 3-0 and Houston and Ottawa skated to 3-3 ties.

Games Will Be Hard to Duplicate

This weekend's National Football League playoff games will have a hard job of duplicating the tension, excitement and drama packed into those first twelve offerings which kept viewers glued to their teevee screens until the final gun... Pro hockey starts Friday night on Channel 30 at 8:30 when Bobby Orr leads the Boston Bruins against the Minnesota North Stars. First home stand for the Boston Red Sox in the 1973 American League pennant race is a natural. The New York Yankees will help open the slate April 6 at Fenway Park with day games also the next two days - Saturday and Sunday April 7-8. Once again, the Red Sox' schedule does not list a single doubleheader. Any twinbills at Fenway during the season will be part of makeup games... Rec. Soccer League basketball players have been missing the excellent accounts of their games that Bob Goehring so capably handled in the past. Dave Geer, the world champion axe thrower and woodchopper, will be one of the featured stars at the Connecticut Sportsman Show Jan. 18-21 at the Hartford Armory. Geer, who hails from Lisbon, Conn., has held the woodchopper crown five times... Light poles have been installed at the Robertson Park softball field and lights will be erected before the start of the 1973 season next summer. Robertson was the first local park to have a night lighting unit for softball games. Later the lights were moved to Mt. Neo... Park Supt. Ernie Turek reports the parking lot has been enlarged at the Northville ski area and a warming hut erected. Now all that's needed is snow and power to operate the tow. There has been snow but no power to date... Before picking up his belongings and heading West, and sunny California, Phil Bengtson sung out the praises for New England Patriot quarterbacks, Jim Plunkett and Brian Dowling, as "major leaguers in every aspect."

Unanimous Choices With WHA All-Stars

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) - Four players were unanimous choices Tuesday for the East squad which will face a picked team from the West Jan. 6 in the first All-Star game at Quebec City. They are Tom Webster of New England, Gerry Cheevers of Cleveland, J.C. Tremblay of Quebec, and Ron Ward of New York. Twenty-one players were selected. The West squad will be announced Thursday. Jack Kelley of New England will coach the East and Webster, forwards; Paul Kelly of Cleveland, and Tremblay, defense; Cheevers, goalie. Second team: Wayne Carleton and Ron Clinche, both of Ottawa, and Danny Lawson, Philadelphia, forwards; Rick Ley and Jim Dorey, both of New York, Cleveland, defense; John Hanna, Cleveland, Ken Block, New York, defense; Serge Aubry, Quebec, goalie. Fourth forward line: Larry Pleau, New England; Michel Parizeau, Quebec, and Norm Ferguson, New York.

Michigan Appears to Be Class in Holiday Festival at Garden

NEW YORK (AP) - The Michigan Wolverines are in a field of 10 Holiday Festival basketball teams, but seemingly in a class all by themselves. "Their starting team is as good as any starting unit in the country," says Boston College Coach Bob Zuffelato. "It's going to take a great effort to beat them in this tournament."
The Wolverines displayed some of that strength and practically ran Boston College out of Madison Square Garden with an 88-70 victory Tuesday night. They won their success in Tuesday night's quarterfinals, the Big Ten club raced into the semifinals of this 21st annual event. They'll play Thursday night against the winner of today's St. John's-Tennessee game.
South Carolina, another of the leading teams in the Holiday Festival, also earned a semifinal berth with a 90-64 triumph over Villanova Tuesday night. The Gamecocks will be matched in Thursday night's other semifinal game against the winner of today's contest between Niagara and Manhattan.

Because of the enlarged field this year, some teams were forced to play extra games Tuesday afternoon. St. John's and Manhattan beat North Carolina A&T 75-41. The Wolverines, with Campy Russell scoring 20 points and Henry Wilmore adding 12, rolled to a 47-30 halftime lead.
Wilmore finished with 31 points, Russell had 29. Dave Walker scored 20 points and Mark Raterink contributed 17 and 12 rebounds to the Boston attack. In Tuesday night's second game, South Carolina's Alexander English, who scored 23 points and collected 13 rebounds, was one of the key rookies for the Gamecocks, who had as many as three freshmen on the floor at the same time. Tom Inglesby paced Villanova with 22. Bill Schaeffer scored 40 points to lead St. John's while Mike Moore was Manhattan's big gun with 19.
Elsewhere Tuesday, Rutgers edged Miami 81-79 in overtime and Jacksonville downed Miami, Ohio 66-59 in the opening round of the Gator Bowl tournament at Jacksonville, Fla.
In other major games, Memphis State routed Cornell 90-64 and Wisconsin-Milwaukee beat Long Island University 80-69.
Rutgers earned the right to meet Jacksonville for the Gator Bowl title tonight, nipping Florida on Steve DiPieri's rebound basket with eight seconds remaining in overtime. John Somogyi led Rutgers with 25 points, while Florida's Tony Miller took game-scoring honors with 31 points. Butch Taylor paced Jacksonville's victory with 30 points. Phil Lumpkin topped Miami, Ohio with 14 points. Larry Finch's career-high 35 points helped Memphis State win its fourth consecutive game. Finch got hot during a three-minute stretch late in the first period, sinking five straight shots.
Harold Lee's 25 points and Mark Ewing's 20 keyed Wisconsin-Milwaukee's triumph over LIU. Fred Gibson had 28 points for the losers.

Montréal Increases NHL Edge

By The Associated Press Jean-Yves Talbot, who spent a dozen years with Montréal before switching to St. Louis five seasons ago, probably wished, for a few moments Tuesday night, that he could manage the Canadiens in the uniform of the Canadians.
Instead, he had to wear the disgruntled look of a losing coach—which is exactly what he was as Montréal skated around and over his Blues for a 4-1 victory, their fifth straight triumph.
In the only NHL games, the Canadiens broke losses for three goals to lead the Vancouver Canucks past California 4-3 and Detroit tied Pittsburgh 1-1.
In World Hockey Association play, Houston and Ottawa tied 3-3, New York topped Quebec 5-2, Philadelphia whipped Minnesota 5-2 and Winnipeg edged Boston 4-3.
Ken Dryden turned aside 35 shots for his 18th victory of the year as the Canadiens widened their East Division lead over idle Boston to three points. Only former teammate Phil Roberto managed to lead his scoring for the Blues at 6:36 of the third period.
That cut Montréal's lead to 3-1 but Jacques Lemaire collected his second goal of the night and 29th of the season just 16 seconds later for the final cushion.
Tannahl scored his 10th, 11th and 12th goals of the year for the Canucks to overshadow a two-goal performance by the Golden State Ted MacKenzie. A McDonald scored for Pittsburgh just 22 seconds into the game, then the Penguins club to the top until 6:30 remained, when Nick Libett took a pass from Marcel Dionne and rammed home the tying goal for the Red Wings.

Union Minority Attitudes May Haunt Brennan

By WALTER STOVALL, Associated Press Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — Union leader Peter J. Brennan, President Nixon's choice for secretary of labor, has been subjected for years to criticism that the hard-hat unions he oversees have made little real effort to open their ranks to minorities.

The criticism, certain to be aired when the Senate takes up Brennan's nomination, comes at a time when minority membership in New York's construction unions is estimated by union sources at two per cent.

In Brennan's 250,000-member New York City Building and Construction Trades Council, an alliance of 40 craft unions ranging from plumbers to steepjacks in hundreds of locals — two per cent would be about 5,000 blacks and Puerto Ricans.

A 1968 U.S. Department of Labor study said New York construction unions reported 2,916 minority members, about one per cent of the union's 200,000 total membership at the time. New York City is about one-third black and Puerto Rican.

A comparison of the union estimates and federal statistics indicates union membership in the past seven years has risen by 50,000, while minority membership has doubled — though leaving blacks and Puerto Ricans a fraction of the work force.

Part of the problem is that traditionally, though unofficially, have maintained restricted memberships. Most of the openings were reserved for members' relatives. Moreover, small memberships mean more work for more money in New York's booming construction industry.

Brennan, 54, whose strength as a labor leader rests to a large extent on the fact that his men earn the highest building wages in the country, denies he ever has supported exclusionary policies. He says his unions are autonomous and he does not "run or control any of the unions. I don't have the power to put people in or keep people out."

Questions about Brennan's minority record have arisen anew with issuance of a federal report expressing deep disappointment over a minority training program which Brennan helped formulate two years ago.

The program, the so-called "New York City Plan," was designed to provide on-the-job training for 800 blacks and Puerto Ricans annually. It was found to have "serious defects" in a study compiled by the U. S. Civil Rights Commission by his New York branch.

Brennan refuses to give an opinion of the plan or its implementation. A spokesman for the labor leader says that "it would be presumptuous of him to get into it, now that he is secretary-of-labor designate."

Furthermore, the spokesman added, Brennan no longer has any connection with the program.

If fully implemented and if all the trainees were admitted into

Utility Sued For $500,000

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — A Milford advertising executive who owns 50 shares of Southern Connecticut Gas Co. is suing Southern for $500,000 in the wake of an abortive merger between that company and the Greenwich Gas Co.

John Barrett says in a Fairfield County Superior Court suit that he was the only Southern shareholder to take "affirmative steps" to stop the merger and that Southern and its stockholders have benefited $4 million dollars' worth from the Public Utilities Commission's eventual decision to turn down the merger proposal.

Barrett says he deserves the money because of his time and expenses in opposing the merger plan.

Commercial Banks Up Prime Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — A string of major commercial banks, including the country's third and fourth largest, followed the lead of two other big banks and boosted their prime lending rates Tuesday from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent.

Chase Manhattan Bank, No. 3; Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., No. 4; Chemical Bank and Marine Midland Bank increased the cost of borrowing for their most credit-worthy customers in the face of the Nixon administration's campaign to control inflation by keeping the lid on bank interest rates.

"We are keenly aware of the federal government's desire to moderate upward rate pressures as a part of its effort to bring inflation under firmer control," a spokesman for Chase said.

"However, we believe that holding interest rates at levels which are out of line with the market generally would, over a period of time, cause distortions in the flow of credit, and contribute to the inflationary spiral by placing abnormally heavy demands on banks."

Changes in the prime rate are pegged to fluctuations in short-term interest rates in the

Civilianized Army Surplus Truck

Manchester Mayor John Thompson talks to highway department mechanic Oliver Jenkins, standing on running board of a surplus U.S. Army truck acquired by the town through Civil Defense. The truck was civilianized at a cost of $750. A similar, new truck would cost $10,000 to $11,000. Jenkins built the new cab by himself and supervised the other work. The sander relieves one dump truck from being used exclusively for sanding all winter. In the summer months, the reconstructed truck will have a water tank mounted upon it. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Small Fellow Still Lacks Confidence in Market

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the ironic consequences of the very real efforts being made to rebuild confidence in our securities system is that the confidence of many small investors is, for the time being, shot.

There is little doubt about it. The small fellow has been relatively inactive in the past year. He has been redeeming his mutual fund shares even when he hasn't got a profit in them. He's just getting out and staying out.

This behavior is understandable, because among the revelations made in hearings before the Securities and Exchange Commission is that things have been far from proper in this very image-conscious industry. Very improper, in fact.

Some instances: money and stock left for safekeeping with brokers has been used as if it belonged to the broker; research sometimes has been nonexistent; professional management often has been inept.

The past two years have been excruciatingly painful for the industry, as it would have been for an individual investor posing as a citizen of high motives and conduct, was forced publicly to disclose his moral turpitude. The eventual effect of SEC efforts to upgrade standards and make the markets safer and more understandable for small investors will undoubtedly have a more positive impact some day. But with the mystery goes the awe also.

It is now more widely known, for example, that the investment adviser who claims to have such insight and foresight may really be endowed with little more than great ambition and ego.

Brokers must at a minimum pass examinations administered by either the National Association of Securities Dealers or the SEC. But those who peddle advice only — who do not also sell stock — need not prove their competence.

The chief requirements for being an adviser are to register with the SEC, pay the fees and keep proper records. There are no exams that must be passed or educational standards that must be met.

The SEC now has a committee charged with advising on a program to better implement present legislation or perhaps enlarge its controls over such advisers, some of which misleadingly but accurately advertise: "Registered with SEC."

A greater number of people also are aware of the limitations of mutual funds managers, whose primary qualifications for beginning a fund are that they be able to pay the registration and legal fees and be free of criminal taint.

The SEC exercises no control over the quality of funds. It does not set down minimum standards of experience and education. As SEC Chairman William Casey put it: "It is not in our tradition to give examinations for private educators."

It is awareness of the limitations of regulation from Washington and self-regulation within the industry that has helped make small investors wiser, more able to handle their own affairs, more realistic about their goals.

And while this new realization may be playing a negative role at the moment in the securities industry, in all probability it will have positive and lasting effects when the stock wears off.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Lending Your Tools

Friendly Freddie had no qualms about lending an electric drill to his next door neighbor. But trouble followed fast. While the neighbor was using the drill, he suffered a bad shock. And he put the blame squarely on Freddie.

Freddie was suing the neighbor for damages. The neighbor said Freddie had no business lending him a tool that was dangerous. But Freddie convinced the court that he had been totally unaware of any defect in the drill.

Accordingly, the court held him not liable. The judge said that, inasmuch as Freddie was lending the drill "for free," he should not bear a heavy responsibility for its safety.

Most courts are reluctant to impose liability on the person who is generous enough to lend his tools or equipment. Still, if he actually knows of some hazard, he is usually obliged at least to give the borrower fair warning.

This is particularly true when the borrower is not likely to notice the danger himself. In another accident case, a home owner incurred legal liability by letting a 13-year-old boy use his power saw. Pointing out that the boy had no previous experience with power tools, the court said he was all too likely to get hurt.

On the other hand, the danger may be so obvious that a warning would be superfluous. This was the ruling in a case involving a welding device that had an unguarded electric fan. The borrower, cut by the fan, filed suit against the lender, claiming the lender should have warned him that the blades were exposed.

But the court dismissed his action, saying that the blades—in plain sight—were their own best warning to be careful. As one judge put it, there is no duty to warn the user that a knife will cut, that a match will burn, or that a hammer will smash a thumb.

"No one needs notice," said the judge, "of what he already knows."

Country Music's Man Behind The Scene

By ALAN WILSON
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — On stage is where the glamor of country music lies. But there are those behind the curtain who are responsible for country music's current revival.
Take Larry Hart for example. A few years ago, Hart was a midwestern electrical parts salesman for RCA. Now he's got his own record label, heads a talent agency and is a producer, publisher and songwriter to boot.
What began as a way of occupying idle time has blossomed into a new lifestyle for Hart, 33. In some form or other, he's behind virtually every music scene Nashville has to offer.

In fact, it goes beyond that. Now, at the suggestion of entertainer Danny Thomas, Hart has begun laying plans for about six television-type shows a year to raise money for St. Jude's Research Hospital for Children in Memphis.
Asked to explain his rapid climb to success, Hart said: "I've probably had it easier than most people simply because no one was in any of me trying to squeeze them out of something."
"I'm probably the only person in country music who has never performed or been a disc jockey, he added.

He explained that his lack of on-stage experience serves as a confidence booster with the entertainers he promotes.
"My biggest asset is that I'm not an entertainer. Nobody has to worry about Hart beating them out of a gig and working it himself," he said.
Hart was born in Plattsmouth, Neb., and reared in Nebraska City. After a hitch in the Air Force, he became an on-the-road sales representative for RCA.
"I'd spend a lot of time on the road and just as a hobby started writing songs. Of course, I never thought of doing anything with them.

"No one knew about it," he said, "because I thought it was kinda silly-like to write a song."
A short time later, however, Hart was persuaded to survey the country music industry. He liked what he saw and decided to try it.
His most celebrated accomplishment was the writing of a song called "Ode to The Big Red," which pays tribute to the Nebraska Cornhuskers football team. He's written similar songs about football teams from Alabama, Michigan, Oklahoma, Ohio and Colorado.

British Ruler Statues To Be Displayed Again

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Statues of the Britons who ruled India for more than 200 years are to be restored in West Bengal.
The statues, known as the India-Victoria Memorial, have been in storage five years.
The state's first leftist government, headed by Communists, came to power in March 1967 and decided immediately to banish the monuments, targets of many anti-British demonstrations in the first two decades of independence. The deputy chief minister then, Jyoti Basu, said removal was necessary because the rulers were "reminders of colonial economies for whom we have nothing but condemnation."

The Communists were almost wiped out as a political force in West Bengal by this year's state elections. Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's Congress party took over.
Restorations of the statues in the old capital of the British Raj seems out of step. Elsewhere remnants of the Raj are being eliminated or are being allowed to deteriorate with age.
Siddhartha Ray, the Bengal chief minister, says:
"These fine works of art will no longer remain neglected, and the new generation, reading the inscriptions, will know the type of rulers we had to fight to make the country free."

Stamps In The News

AP Newsphoto
By SYD KRONISH

Sixty-five years ago Lord Baden Powell founded the Boy Scout movement, which has reached into the four corners of the earth to help make better young men. Recognizing this organization on its anniversary, Grenada has issued a colorful eight-value set of stamps.
The stamps depict the following: Boy Scout saluting, Scouts knotting ropes, Scouts from different parts of the world shaking hands, a portrait of Lord Baden Powell. Three of the values have duplicate designs. All the stamps bear the official Boy Scout emblem as well as a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II.
A souvenir sheet was also issued featuring a 60-cent stamp showing a portrait of Lord Baden Powell on a brown background and a 10-cent stamp illustrating Scouts shaking hands on a mauve background.

Speaking of souvenir sheets, the Bahamas commemorated its 1972 Tourism Year of the Americas with a special sheet containing four values. The perforated sheet featured a map of the Bahamas Islands spread across all four values. At the bottom of the souvenir sheet are the words "It All Began Here," and a map of the Bahamian island of San Salvador signifying that this was the first stop of Columbus during his first voyage discovering the New World.

Collectors of British Colonies who are gathering stamps honoring the Silver Wedding anniversary are reminded that a complete set should now include 78 stamps from 36 countries.
Two small territories have announced surprise sets — the Cook Islands and Aitutaki. A small Polynesian island, Aitutaki caused great excitement in the philatelic world when definitive stamps were issued last August.

One of the smaller colonies commemorating the 25th wedding anniversary of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip was the British Virgin Islands who arranged the release of their stamps to coincide with the opening of the stamp exhibition "Expo '72 North" recently held at San Francisco.

A first-day cover of this issue can be obtained directly from the postal authorities in the British Virgin Islands for 55 cents each plus 20 cents for handling.
Remittances of 75 cents for each cover) in the form of a money order should be sent to the Secretary, Philatelic Bureau, Road Town, Tortola, British Virgin Islands.

U.S. collectors can get a total of eight stamp panels in the "American Commemorative Series" at some post offices throughout the country and the Philatelic Sales Unit in Washington D.C.
The panels bear a block of four commemorative stamps mounted with text and accompanied by fine historical engravings from the originals.
The first in the series featured the Wildlife Conservation Stamp Collecting.

Sales price of the panels is $2 each. A package of the first four costs $8 plus 50-cent handling charge. The second four sets for the same.
Orders should be addressed to the Philatelic Sales Unit, Washington D.C. 20036.

"MENU MAGIC" with Nancy Lynn

For your New Year's Eve Party include COCKTAIL MEATBALLS among the Hors d'oeuvres you serve.

COCKTAIL MEATBALLS

Meatballs:
 1 lb. ground beef
 2 cup Grand Union fine bread crumbs
 2 tablespoons Grand Union grated Parmesan and Romano Cheese
 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
 1 teaspoon Grand Union salt
 1 teaspoon Grand Union pepper
 1 Grand Union egg, slightly beaten
 3 tablespoons cooking sherry (or water)
 2 tablespoons Grand Union barbecue sauce

Sauce:
 1/2 cup Grand Union barbecue sauce
 1/2 cup cooking sherry (or water)

- Mix meatball ingredients together thoroughly and form into small balls by using a teaspoonful of mixture for each meatball.
- Brown meatballs in a small amount of butter in a heavy skillet. Pour off fat.
- Mix sauce ingredients together and pour over meatballs.
- Cover pan and simmer 20 minutes. Shake pan occasionally.

Makes about 75-80 small meatballs.

American Christians Embark On Great Evangelism Effort

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
 NEW YORK (AP) — American Christians of nearly every kind have started their most broadly cooperative venture in modern times — to try to strengthen the commitment of this generation to Christ.

The year-long, interdenominational effort, begun on Christmas Day with the first of a two-week period of noontime prayers for its success, involves both Roman Catholics and most of all of Protestantism.

Called "Key 73," its theme is: "Calling Our Continent to Christ." Taking part are fundamentalists, conservatives, liberals, moderates and small and large denominations that previously have shunned ecumenical activities, such as the big Southern Baptist Convention and Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, as well as ecumenical-minded mainline denominations.

"It is the widest, joint effort in the history of North American Christianity," said the Rev. Joe Hale, of Nashville, Tenn., United Methodist director of ecumenical evangelism and a member of the "Key 73" executive committee.

"It has groups working together that have never worked together before. It may do more to build a united Christian front than anything we've ever done."

A central factor drawing such inclusive participation is that each denomination and organization may take part in ways, and to the extent, it chooses, so as not to compromise its position or practice.

It offers "a new style of participation," said the Rev. Dr. Thomas F. Zimmerman of Springfield, Mo., general superintendent of the Assemblies of God and chairman of the "Key 73" executive committee.

However, the five years of planning has been on a cooperative basis and various joint endeavors, both nationally and locally, are contemplated. Altogether, about 150 denominations and groups are formally participating.

They range from major, historic bodies such as the Episcopal Church, numerous Roman Catholic dioceses and the United Church of Canada to black denominations, Pentecostal groups and evangelistic organizations such as Youth for Christ and Billy Graham's association.

The plan was sparked by a 1967 interdenominational meeting arranged by Baptist theologian Carl F.H. Henry, former editor of Christianity Today.

Subsidies For SST Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economist Milton Friedman says government subsidies to develop a supersonic transport plane would be a step toward socialism.

Friedman's statement was submitted to the Senate-Economic Committee in advance of hearings starting today on whether to revive the SST project.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., the committee chairman, said in releasing Friedman's testimony Tuesday that his main objection to development of the SST is that "the government has no business paying for a plane that is strictly for commercial use and private profit."

Friedman said he favors building an SST in the United States "if private enterprise finds it profitable to do so after paying all costs, including any environmental costs imposed by third parties."

But he said he opposes "governmental subsidization of the SST for exactly the same reasons that I oppose governmental subsidization of the production of food, or of automobiles, or of furniture, or of electric power."

"I believe in the free enterprise system," Friedman said. "A governmental decision to produce an SST largely at its own expense is a step toward socialism and away from free enterprise."

Proxmire, agreeing with him, said the taxpayer should not be asked to fund "a plane that will be used by less than 3 per cent of the public and where all the profits would flow to private investors and corporate officers."

He said that during two days of hearings his committee will look into reports that some form of federal assistance for SST development is under consideration by the administration.

Convict Loses Out On Appeal

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut Supreme Court has ruled that a Bloomfield man serving a 6-to-13 year sentence for armed robbery was not deprived of a fair trial by the contents of the judge's charge to the jury.

An attorney for Robert Guthridge claimed that in Guthridge's trial in connection with an April 1970 armed robbery in a Hartford North End home, Superior Court Judge William P. Barber singled out the defendant's testimony for adverse comment.

"An accused person, having taken the witness stand, stands before you just like any other witness, and is entitled to the same consideration, which would include your consideration of his obvious interest in the verdict which you are to render," Barber told the jury.

The high court said Barber's charge was not prejudicial to the defense. Justice Herbert S. MacDonald wrote in the court's unanimous decision that a lower court "may advise the jury that in weighing the credibility of an accused's testimony, they can consider his interest in the outcome of the trial."

The court also rejected a claim from the defense that Barber prejudiced Guthridge's case when he told the jury that "The law is made for the protection of society and innocent persons, and not to protect guilty ones. It and when the presumption of innocence has been overcome and removed... it is the sworn duty of the jury to enforce the law."

One Charged In Robbery

At 10:30 Tuesday night police were alerted by a private citizen of an alleged robbery in progress at Ellmore's Stand on Ellington Rd., South Windsor. The witness stated that a truck had pulled up in front of the stand and three men were loading snowmobiles into it.

Police arrived at the van as preparing to pull out and two of the suspects fled into the woods on foot. The third suspect was apprehended.

Police charged George W. Mateychak, 40, of 74 Stage Rd., Tolland, with second-degree larceny. He was released on a $2,500 non-surety bond. He will appear in Circuit Court 12 in East Hartford on Jan. 15.

The robbery is still under investigation and other arrests are expected soon, police stated.

The Colonial Rd. Issue Began Five Years Ago

The controversy over abandoning a portion of Parker St. and rerouting its traffic through Colonial Rd. can be traced back to a Board of Director's action of five years and two weeks ago.

It was on Dec. 13, 1967 that the board authorized Town Manager Robert Weiss to take two official actions relating to the Parker-Oakland Connector.

The Oakland-Parker Connector (Sheldon Rd.) has been completed at a cost of about $232,500, with $23,500 of it for acquisition of one piece of property. The PUC (Public Utilities Commission), after a public hearing, ordered the town to close the public railroad crossing at Parker St. and Mitchell Dr. and authorize a new public crossing at Colonial Dr. and Parker St. And, after a second public hearing, it authorized Lydall Inc. to use the crossing at Mitchell Dr. as a private crossing.

Weiss explained that the connector would open the area for industrial use and, in the process, would eliminate the bottleneck at Parker St. and Mitchell Dr., where a public railroad crossing existed.

He said Parker St. would be abandoned between Colonial Rd. and Mitchell Dr. and that Parker St. traffic from the south would be rerouted through Green Manor's Industrial Park and exiting at Parker St., near the connector.

He said the abandoned portion of Parker St. would be used by Lydall Corp. for expansion purposes, the public railroad crossing would be closed to through traffic and would be used as a private crossing by Lydall, and a new public crossing would be provided at Colonial Rd. and Parker St.

Weiss said the connector would run from Oakland St. opposite N. School St. to Parker St., near Colonial Rd., with a spur to Mitchell Dr. and Stubs Rd. access to buildings.

He estimated the cost of the connector at $150,000 to $200,000 and the cost of water and sewerlines at $80,000. He gave no estimate for property acquisition.

Except for town abandonment of a section of Parker St. and for Lydall Inc. fulfillment of expansion plans, Weiss' remarks and predictions of five years ago have become fact.

Logging Bids Asked

HARTFORD (AP) — Loggers who want the right to cut dead timber in the Mattatuck State Forest were invited Tuesday to submit bids for the work to the state Department of Environmental Protection.

Theodore Hampton, deputy environmental protection commissioner said that cutting the dead, standing timber would allow younger trees to grow and added that the department "will harvest the trees and earn a return on a resource that otherwise would be wasted."

The high bidder must have the work done by June 1, 1973 at the 60 acres in Waterstown so that hikers and picnickers will not be inconvenienced, Hampton said.

Person Reported Gravely Ill

OTTAWA (AP) — Former prime minister Lester B. Pearson is gravely ill, suffering from a recurring illness that led to the loss of an eye in 1970 when he underwent surgery for the removal of a tumor.

The news was released Tuesday night, first by a family spokesman and later by the prime minister's office. No details were announced.

The illness — never publicly specified — worsened in the past few weeks and doctors are reported to be concerned this time with an area of the 74-year-old former prime minister's neck.

Although he had been under treatment for several weeks, Pearson and his wife Marjory left a week before Christmas for what was planned as a three-week rest with friends in Florida.

Retirement Issue Hearing Approved

HARTFORD (AP) — One federal judge Tuesday cleared the way for a suit against a state employee retirement benefit policy which allows female workers to retire at full pension five years earlier than men.

Men may retire with full pension at the age of 55.

Judge T. Emmet Clark Tuesday approved the application for the hearing, which lawyers for both sides voiced no objections.

New Tax Relief Plan For Elderly Proposed

HARTFORD (AP) — The present system of providing property tax relief for the elderly should be replaced by a more direct, state-funded system of tax credits or rebates, according to a report from the Governor's Commission on Tax Reform issued today.

The commission's proposed new program would be funded entirely by the state and would cost about $15 million a year, said Francis E. Baker Jr., executive director of the commission.

Instead of the present method of freezing local property tax rates when a home-owner reaches the age of 65 and of deducting $1,000 from the assessed value of his property, the commission recommends a system of tax credits to relieve the financial burden on low-income elderly persons.

A high council source said that whatever decision is made on food costs, controls on farm products and import duties should be avoided.

Shultz said the administration would try to increase food supplies while keeping farm incomes steady.

Among the measures being considered, a high council source said, are increased acreage allotments, revised farm subsidy policies, and changes in tariffs and import quotas.

Shultz said any single action would not solve the problem. How the profit-margin rule will be changed was not disclosed, but the high council source said the existing rule can't be retained.

Rising Food Costs Baffles Council

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is planning changes in its wage-price controls, but it still doesn't know what to do about rising food costs.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said Wednesday that if it weren't for rising food prices, inflation would have subsided enough to justify a wage increase guideline lower than the current 5.5 per cent.

Economics officials said the administration probably will change the profit-margin rule, phase out rent controls and change the coverage of the wage-price control program to farm products probably would be avoided.

Shultz said the administration would try to increase food supplies while keeping farm incomes steady.

Shultz said any single action would not solve the problem. How the profit-margin rule will be changed was not disclosed, but the high council source said the existing rule can't be retained.

State Government Cost-Cutting Progress Reported

HARTFORD (AP) — The state has managed to put into effect enough of the Eberthinger Commission's cost-cutting recommendations to save $22,300,000 a year in government costs, but that's only the beginning, Gov. Thomas J. Meskill said today.

"Recommendations to improve efficiency and reduce costs in state government will be submitted to the legislature during the coming session and should result in significant additional savings," said the governor in a statement issued through his office during his absence on vacation.

The Eberthinger Commission itself estimated the total value of its recommendations for cost savings at over $150 million. Meskill said his $22,300,000 figure included only "recurring annual savings."

"This figure," he said, "is only a fraction of what we will eventually accomplish."

Among the specific steps, which have been taken, the governor listed the following: —Improvements to the state data processing center's operation, cutting costs by $850,000 a year.

—Cutsbacks in staff at the Public Works Department, $1.2 million per year.

—Reorganization of the Vietnam Bonus office, $102,000 a year.

—A beefed-up employee suggestion award program, $1.2 million a year in improvements proposed by employees.

—Reorganization of the Motor Vehicles Department, $300,000 a year.

—Letting a private firm handle the food services at McCook Hospital in Hartford, $180,000 a year.

Meskill also praised state treasurer Robert L. Berton, saying that the treasurer's investment policies have boosted the state's income by $5.5 million a year.

Arabs Seize Embassy Six Israelis Held Hostage Nine Hours By Terrorists

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Four Arab terrorists took over the Israeli embassy today, seizing six hostages, but government sources said the invaders agreed nine hours later to release the hostages in return for a safe conduct out of Thailand.

The hostages included Shimon Avimor, Israeli ambassador to Cambodia, and Thai police entered the embassy tonight.

The government negotiated with Pan American World Airways to take the Arabs to the unknown destination.

The Arabs gained access to the compound to start the day's events. Two of them were released while the others remained in the compound. Pan American had refused to carry the Arabs if they were armed, police said.

Sunchal said he saw two other men climb over a side wall of the embassy compound.

The invaders threatened to kill the hostages and talk at the embassy unless 36 Palestinian prisoners were released from Israeli prisons.

About 400 Thai police and army troops with dogs surrounded the compound.

Sunchal said the four men ordered him into the embassy building, rounded up all the staff and about 100 police. Thai employees and about 100 police were taken to the front door and shut all the windows.

The terrorists earlier had vowed to "fight to the end" rather than release the hostages.

The Thai government offered the Arabs safe conduct out of the country if they would release the hostages.

Details of what evolved from this were not immediately clear.

One report was that Thai officials and the Egyptian ambassador reached agreement with the Black September terrorists guaranteeing them safe passage if they released the hostages unharmed. But Pan American had refused to carry the Arabs if they were armed, police said.

Nation Pays Last Tribute To HST

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — After simple funeral services devoid of eulogy, former President Harry S. Truman was buried today in the courtyard of the Truman Library.

Some 250 guests were invited, few of them national renown, in keeping with the unpretentious solemnity that has marked the days since his death Tuesday.

Truman, who had been secluded in her grief in the house they shared for 53 years, was to be at the final rite for the nation's 33rd president and to receive the flag that draped the coffin.

As the nation began a day of mourning proclaimed by President Nixon, thousands still were paying their respects to Truman, lying in state in the marble lobby of the library.

They had lined up on the drives leading to the hillside building before military pallbearers, in slow-motion precision, placed the coffin on a catafalque draped in black silk.

The people waited patiently while Richard M. Nixon and Lyndon B. Johnson had separate, private moments at the coffin of the man who had preceded them in the nation's highest office.

Once the doors were opened, people of all ages streamed past the mahogany coffin in eloquent, silent tribute. They moved through at the rate of nearly 2,000 per hour, and the line still stretched for a quarter mile after midnight.

Margaret Truman Daniel, her husband, Clifton, and their four boys were at the brief ceremonies that preceded the lying-in-state. So were 60 others who had been part of Truman's unofficial life — such as the family maid, a long-time guard and Rose Conway, who for many years was Truman's secretary.

Truman Could Be Caucistic

By Burl Lyons

We imagine journalists will be writing for some time in recalling their experiences with Harry Truman.

As a young reporter, we covered the former President on a whistle-stop train tour of Montana. We were present when he told a reporter for the Spokane Wash. Review: "You must feel real proud, you work for one of the two worst newspapers in the nation. The other one is the Chicago Tribune." It was the Tribune, of course, that came out with the headline: "Dewey Defeats Truman."

On the tour, we were in one area that refers to itself as the Christmas tree capital of the world and a number of those in the audience were waving signs proclaiming such. "I guarantee, you, if you elect the Republicans you'll be lucky to afford a Christmas tree."

Truman was at times difficult for the journalist because he often strayed from a prepared text, as such, and could easily get caught in the mood of the crowd.

"We have covered five presidents and although we have the picture of President Nixon and years truly in the office, we found Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson to be the most personable.

Crime Decreases Noted In Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department said today that, of a dozen New England cities of more than 100,000 population, nine reported decreases in crime in the January-September period of 1972 compared with the similar period of 1971.

The department reported comparative figures for 113 serious crimes — murder and non-negligent manslaughter; forcible rape; robbery; aggravated assault; burglary; and breaking and entering; larceny of $50 and over, and auto theft.

In the following listing of Connecticut cities, the figures are given in the same order for these seven categories, with the first figure the one for 1971 and the second for 1972:

Bridgewater, Conn. — 14 and 9; 20 and 10; 357 and 353; 153 and 116; 2,467 and 2,058; 2,405 and 1,811; 2,822 and 2,244.

Hartford, Conn. — 18 and 14; 29 and 21; 440 and 311; 501 and 445; 1,816 and 1,521; 1,852 and 1,298; 1,732 and 1,730.

Stamford, Conn. — 1 and 4; 15 and 11; 101 and 85; 61 and 57; 1,735 and 1,098; 398 and 327; 546 and 382.

Waterbury, Conn. — 4 and 6; 7 and 3; 102 and 156; 737 and 506; 766 and 738.

Court Sets Remap Case Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments Feb. 20 on the suit challenging the reapportionment of Connecticut's state legislative election districts.

The case originally was to be heard Jan. 15 but the high court pushed the date back and announced it would hear arguments on three other cases, two in Texas and one in Georgia, the same day it considers the Connecticut suit.

At issue is a challenge of the reapportionment plan under which members of the General Assembly that meets Wednesday in Hartford were elected last November. The plan was declared a constitutional last spring by a U.S. District Court but on appeal by the Republican Party the nation's highest court issued a stay of the lower court ruling. The state courts had ruled the redistricting plan was valid under the state constitution.

The plan resulted in the election of a 187-member legislature, 36 seats in the Senate and 151 in the House.

Should the U.S. Supreme Court declare the reapportionment plan invalid, it would necessitate another election in November 1973 to correct the situation. However, the decision would not have any effect on the upcoming session of the legislature next month. If the redistricting plan is upheld, it would serve as the basis for state elections through 1980 when the next federal census is taken.

Fuel Oil Lost At Bradley International

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) — Some 2,000 gallons of jet fuel spilled out of an underground storage tank early today in the freight area of Bradley International Airport, state officials said.

Troopers said that some of the fuel flowed into a 2 1/2-mile drainage ditch leading to local Farmington River, but that firemen expected to be able to stop the slow-flowing fuel with the help of a dike before it reached the river.

The spilled fuel did not create a dangerous situation in the freight area, according to police.

Historic Pictures Needed For 150th Year Edition

As part of Manchester's Sesquicentennial next year, The Herald will publish a special pictorial prior to the June 23-30 observance.

To make this supplement as complete and interesting as possible, the paper is looking for photographs, not available in its files, of Manchester past. They can be of people, places, things—historically significant or not.

Persons wishing to loan pictures may bring or send them to The Herald. Since a great deal of work has to be done well in advance of publication date, the paper would appreciate this being done as soon as possible. Please be sure to include your name and address to insure their return.
