South Windsor Open Space Homes To Go Forward

BARBARA VARRICK
Correspondent
Tel. 644-8774

The developer of the town's first "open space subdivision" will be able to go ahead with building plans. Last night the Town Council voted unanimously to approve the open space warranty deed of George A. Coll Jr. and Lester Katz, builders, which covers more than 11 acres of land around the subdivision, located off Graham Rd., to the Town of South Windsor. Established ownership of the land was necessary before building could begin, according to zoning regulations.

A question of liability of land during construction had held up the decision on ownership by the councilmen, but the Town Attorney Thomas Dennis wrote into the proposed resolution a provision that Coll and Katz be required to secure a policy of personal and liability insurance for not less than $250,000-$500,000 and $100,000 property damage, with the town named as the insured. The insurance will have to be maintained by the developers until the completion of the project and the development required by the Planning and Zoning Commission has been completed.

Some 80 homes are to be built on 1/2 acre lots with an entrance to the development located on the "Skyway" open space project to Norman Rd. in the abutting South Windsor Estates will be provided for use of children walking to Eli Terry School.

In other action the council voted unanimously to hold an executive session to discuss salaries of town hall personnel on Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. Before the executive session, the council will meet in a workshop session to discuss and survey and funds for the Mass Transit Commission. If time allows, the financing of a new library building for the town will also be discussed in private.

In other action the council voted to change the rules and

South Windsor 1972 Set Record For New Building

A record building year for South Windsor in 1972 was reported to the Town Council by Town Manager Terry Sprinkel last night.

A grand total of 10,823,061 was reported for permits issued by Building Inspector Ronald McLaughlin, with an additional $4,279,000 for an industrial development.

There were 69 new dwelling permits applied for totaling $1,787,000, and 111 alterations and additions permitted totaling $303,827. The larger share was from 32 apartment buildings, nine condominiums and 118 other building permits for $2,732,434.

Revenue from 1971 permits were more than doubled last year, Sprinkel said, with $7,862,60 anticipated to be received this month as compared to $2,126,60 for 1971.

The largest single developer was G. Fox and Co. on Governor's Highway for $2,750,000, who applied for and built a warehouse store. The Monsanto Chemical Co. on Rye St. applied for a $700,000 permit to build a bottle manufacturing plant. Permits were also issued to Douglas Johnson for $280,000 for a professional building center on Buckland Rd., Industries, Inc. of 489 Sullivan Ave. for $190,000 permit for rebuilding and adding to the company, which suffered a heavy loss in a fire early in 1972. McGrath-Davis (Moller's Marine) $144,000, John Fitch Blvd. for and boating store and warehouse on Saugatuck Ave. $130,000, Bassinger, $132,000 for the town's first funeral parlor and services.

Permits were also issued to Admiral Moving and Storage of Ellington Rd. for $40,000; Joseph Serruolo for car wash on Sullivan Ave. $28,000; Arne H. Delane of 1390 John Fitch Blvd. a flooring enterprise, $20,000; Garland, Inc. service station on Sullivan Ave. $12,000; and Frank Roberker, Sullivan Ave. $12,000.

McLaughlin attributes the "biggest year in the town's history" to the fact that money "loosened up" and the first department approved for the town, he said.

Less Salt On Roads

If you've had any doubts, you can stop wondering whether or not the South Windsor highway department is using more sand on the roads this year than in recent years.

Last night, Town Manager Terry Sprinkel told the members of the Town Council that South Windsor is adhering to new regulations and guidelines by state that require the use of less salt and more sand during bad weather.

Councilman Leonard Sorosiak questioned the amount of a "safer sweeping" of the roads to remove some of the accumulated sand, he said, which would be "hazardous" to someone making a fast stop.

Sprekel said he would prefer to keep from using the salt sweepers, they work in conjunction with water flow from tanks which keep down the dust, but can freeze.

"What we need," he said, "is a real big snow storm without ice."

Coventry Water All From Wells

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent
Tel. 742-8795

Water to customers of the South Coventry Water Supply Company is now being supplied from well water only, according to an announcement from water company president Earl Lassen.

Previously, water had been supplied from two driven wells and from chlorinated Coventry Lake water, all of which was pumped into a 50,000 gallon storage facility on Lake St.

Two new wells were drilled last summer, with facilities and equipment installation completed in September. The Main St. site location of the new wells each produce about 25 gallons per minute, and currently only one of the new wells is in use.

Lassen said that a trial period since October has shown that existing lines can handle the increased pressure. He added that water from Coventry Lake will be used only in cases of emergency, such as fire, or loss of water to the present system.

Vernon Auditors Foresee Need For Finance Official

By BARBARA RICHMOND
(Herald Reporter)

"In view of the town's rapid growth in the past few years and the increased complexity of the accounting for town projects and activities, there will undoubtedly be a point in the future where separate consideration should be given to filling the position of a full-time finance officer."

This was one of many suggestions and recommendations made in the town audit report filed Tuesday. This, like most of the recommendations, had to do with methods of bookkeeping and other related procedures.

Repeating a recommendation made last year by the auditing firm of Lutz and Keller, the firm Pulco, Gillin, Halyo and Campsie this year recommended that the assessor list all town-owned property by list number, its cost or estimated cost, and the current assessed valuation, and reconcile information to the deeds on file in the office of the town clerk.

The firm recommended that an inventory of all general government and Board of Education equipment be taken, listing cost or estimated cost at purchase.

Other recommendations called for: Establishment of controls to property account proceeds of special education grants received from the state and establishment of files to keep all correspondence related to each fund in a monthly report to be submitted to the director of administration.

Other comments referred to the general fund bank reconciliations not being completely reconciled as to date and corrected to cash controls. The Board of Education check and encumbrance registers do not contain account designations; General ledgers are not maintained; Board of Education computer input and output documents are not totally filed and safeguarded.

COURT CASES
CIRCUIT COURT 12
Rockville, Conn. — Allan Pilote, 17, of 130 E. Main St., Rockville, was sentenced Tuesday to not to exceed two years, at the Connecticut Correctional Institution (Cheshire) by Judge Philip Dwyer Tuesday.

Judge Dwyer imposed the sentence on a charge of third-degree burglary, to which Pilote pleaded guilty Dec. 19. Judge Dwyer also imposed a suspended 30-day jail sentence on a charge of reckless driving against Pilote. Additional charges of operating a motor vehicle without insurance while under age 18, and using a motor vehicle without the owner's permission, were nolle (not prosecuted).

Other cases disposed of or nolle at Tuesday's court session included: — Arthur C. Allega, 17, of Bull Cap Rd., Tolland, fined $30 for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

— George Annaral, 39, of 10 N. Park St., Rockville, charged with non-support, nolle. — George A. Cartwright, 25, of 218 Phoenix St., Vernon, threatening and third-degree assault, nolle.

— James J. Foreman, 18, of Broad Brook, third-degree larceny, nolle. He pleaded guilty to third-degree burglary, and the case was continued to Feb. 8 for a pre-sentence investigation.

— Beattie B. Mason, 63, of 164 Vernon Ave., Rockville, failure to grant right of way, nolle. — Daniel J. McCann, 18, of Enfield, operating an unregistered motor vehicle, nolle.

— Frank E. McDermott, 18, of 15 Florence St., fined $15 for passing in a no passing zone. An additional charge of passing on a curve was nolle.

— Gary Mead, 16, of 42 Wappingwood Rd., Vernon, the maximum permitted for fine $10 for operating a motor vehicle without a license, and $15 for failure to drive in the established lane.

— Edward R. Nielsen, 29, of 9 River St., Rockville, disorderly conduct, $50 cash bond forfeited.

— Michael A. Smith, 17, of 185 Main St., Manchester, failure to display headlights and rear marker light, $25 cash bond forfeited.

— Paul J. Taggart, 17, of Rt. 76, Tolland, third-degree criminal mischief, fourth-degree larceny, second-degree criminal mischief, and attempted fourth-degree larceny, all nolle.

— Michael F. Williams, 21, of Windsorville, fined $20 for disorderly conduct. An additional charge of intoxication was nolle.

Vernon Land Owners Sue Town

Seeking permission to sell 30 acres of land, which the town of Vernon expected to purchase, Earl Parker and Irving Sweet, owners of the land, have filed a countersuit against the town of Vernon claiming $200,000 damages.

In November, the town filed a $200,000 suit against the owners of the land, claiming that they were paying to use the dumping area and when the owners indicated they wanted to sell it, the town indicated its intent to purchase and claims it made an agreement to do so with Nov. 10 set as the date for the closing. The town claimed that the owners broke the agreement when they refused to sell the property to the town.

While in the past years, the firm of Lutz and Keller has strongly recommended against the practice of setting the tax rate on 100 per cent collection of taxes, the Town Council has continued to do this and it was not mentioned in this year's audit report. The previous year's report also recommended that more care be taken in the storing of important items and papers to protect them from fire. While steps have been taken in this direction, the situation is expected to be fully cleared up.

Participatory Democracy Needed

The General Assembly of Connecticut has started another session. In the coming weeks there will be many decisions each legislator will have to make. Many will be easy but there will be some difficult ones also on highly-emotional, yet important issues such as abortion, tax law changes, and possibly governmental structure itself.

We believe our present assemblymen, Democrat or Republican, are sincere in their desires to arrive at decisions on these and the other issues which will be in the ultimate best interests of the people of the state.

We believe that mistakes made in judgments during the course of the session will be made but not deliberately. No man or woman is infallible and we, who will be watching the legislative process, should remember this and respect the right of any individual legislator to disagree with us on particular issues just as we expect him to respect our right to disagree with him.

We are not political innocents and we do know there will be times in the coming weeks when our representatives will be voting party or will be taking stands based on their knowledge (or lack of knowledge) of the issue at hand.

We think the people should let the legislators know when they disagree but in order to be fair to the legislator we should to let them know when we find something they have done to be our liking.

Through our communications, as individual citizens, we can do much to shape the production of the assembly. To the extent we exert partisan or emotional pressures on our representatives; we can expect the assembly to be partisan or emotional.

To the extent we offer them constructive criticism and suggest positive solutions to the many problems confronting them, we can expect a constructive and positive session.

The ballot we cast last November was the appetizer in our sitting of democracy. We must now follow through with the rest of the menu—a balance program for Connecticut, which means accepting a lot of things which may not be personally palatable to us but never-the-less good for us.

Now is the time for each of us to resolve to let our representatives know where we stand before the votes are taken. We think this would be appreciated by our representatives who, as we stated earlier, are sincere in their desires to arrive at the right decisions for the good of Connecticut.

Remember, we elected them and we have the obligation to follow through by informing them of our views on the issues. Democracy works only when all of us work at it.

Collective Fidgeting

WASHINGTON—I would hope that colleges and universities across the land will do some collective fidgeting over the mess George Washington University has got itself into over the rape of two GW coeds. However the mess is resolved, GW today cannot be a very happy place.

To recap the text of a recent column, the coeds charged they were sexually attacked in two university buildings. The alleged assailant was acquitted after a jury trial, but the mother of one of the coeds sued the university for $1.5 million on various counts of irresponsibility. Now GW stands accused of having unfairly given aid and comfort to the suspect's defense counsel in an attempt to strengthen its own case in the civil suit.

That charge was leveled by one of the chief prosecutors, judges and others involved in the rape trial in a news story published by the Washington Star-News. It has prompted two GW professors to attack in print the university's role in the rape case.

"If press reports are to be believed," said Prof. Hugh Y. Bernard, the university "has been guilty of utterly despicable, contemptible, base and thoroughly disgraceful conduct." Prof. John Banzhaf issued a statement published in the official university newsletter, charging the GW President Lloyd H. Elliott's initial explanation "contains loopholes big enough to drive a truck through." Banzhaf has successfully demanded that the GW Senate investigate the university's alleged involvement in the rape trial.

The Star-News quoted witnesses as saying that medical reports were "minimized" and other records "impounded," allegedly in the university's attempt to win acquittal for the accused rapist. An acquittal, of course, would be the best defense in the civil suit.

Banzhaf really went after the GW administration. A state-mandated investigation on Dec. 7, said Banzhaf, "does not mention, much less deny, a number of major allegations, curious in omits many details, and does not categorically deny that the university assisted the defense of the rape suspect." Of the press reports, he said he had no reason to doubt. Bernard said "They show that this university conspired with the defense in what amounts to an unworthy attempt to thwart the ends of justice, obstruct the prosecution of a self-confessed rapist and sodomist, suppress reports and evidence if it possessed that would have facilitated the government's case, and tried to throttle its own staff and employees by the exercise of their constitutional right to free speech."

Bernard's use of the phrase "self-confessed rapist and sodomist" is legally inaccurate. Police did offer a "confession," but it was not judged as evidence because the judge ruled the suspect had not been fully informed of all his rights.

However, that does not get GW out of its pickle. The prosecutor permitted the State-News to quote him by name in charging that the university had assisted the defendant's case. Presumably, his statements and that of other witnesses quoted by the newspaper will be submitted as evidence in the suit against GW.

It is not to prejudice that suit to suggest that the present Director of the State-News, Charles Mansfield, is a member of the "minimized" and other records "impounded," allegedly in the

Today's Thought

Mankind finds that it is easier to immediately fight the new model of living than it is to wait to understand and examine and know what is strange.

We really don't grasp the world and our fellow man; instead we fight with the old images of them that we have constructed out of our past fears.

To accept and then to integrate into a new more complex whole — this is the only way of the future. The future is open to those who bring the separate pieces into new wholes. There is no future for those who would deny the feelings and positions of all others to express their own view as the only view.

Inside Report

Rowland Evans and Robert Novak
Henry and John — No Team

WASHINGTON—President Nixon has confided to political intimates that one reason he did not press John B. Connally to become Secretary of State was his concern that Connally could never work harmoniously with Dr. Henry Kissinger, Mr. Nixon's top foreign policy aide.

As Mr. Nixon views it, a clash of powerful personalities, both skilled in the underworld wars of competing bureaucracies, would inevitably break out if Connally took over the State Department while Kissinger remained in charge of the National Security Council machinery.

Mr. Nixon gave the matter much thought last fall, when William P. Rogers, a victim of repeated humiliations as chairman of the State, was prepared to resign beginning Mr. Nixon's second term. Rogers then changed his mind about leaving, partly because of last fall's flurry of press criticism. White House aides now believe Rogers will stay no longer than one more year.

Kissinger is also believed to be planning his departure around the end of 1973, although developments abroad could change that tentative plan. He has informed colleagues at Harvard, which gave him an unprecedented four-year leave of absence with full protection of tenure, that he does not plan to return.

Thus, the grand entrance on the diplomatic scene of the former Democratic governor of Texas may occur early in 1974 as the possible springboard for a switch in party registration and a run for the Republican presidential nomination. This is precisely the Connally scenario expected by some Nixon-wise White House aides.

Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

With the next Christmas and New Year holiday coming on a Tuesday, you can expect the clamor in business and industry, and government also, to wily not make Monday a vacation day.

One industry leader, though, reached a good decision a few years ago when he simply closed his plant down during Christmas and New Year's and each employee had a vacation whether or not he wanted it.

The boss said the time wasn't productive anyway as far as most employees were concerned and so he locked the doors during that period.

Now that the Christmas bills are being found in the mailbox of most households, it is estimated that the average American citizen's bill for alcoholic beverages annually is now $92 for every member of the family.

Statistics show that the $92 buys nearly 22 gallons of assorted beverages consumed per person, including 19 1/2 gallons of beer and ale, five quarts of wine and champagne, and over four quarts of distilled liquors.

The projection for 1972 indicates the nation's total spending for legal alcoholic beverages will exceed the 1971 total of $12,122,000,000, at retail prices, including taxes.

However, statistics reveal that Americans are consuming less than they were at the turn of the century. There is less beer and hard liquor, but more wine.

Now that another holiday season is history and we are in a New Year, it is time to look forward with more than just passing interest to Manchester's big birthday celebration coming up in June.

BOOK REVIEWS

QUEEN VICTORIA. From Her Birth To The Death of The Prince Consort. By Cecil Woodham-Smith. Alfred A. Knopf. 488 Pages. $10.95.

Queen Victoria and the Duke of Wellington must be running neck and neck in their bid for biographical attention. There is no doubt much nostalgia in our current interest, at the twilight of the British Empire, in two such eminent Victorians.

Going back over half a century, many of us can remember Lytton Strachey's biography of the great queen — artistic, rhetorically beautiful, impressionistic, a bit sketchy but delightful. One of the best was Lady Longford's recent full-scale biography, more thoroughly researched in her own private sources than any of its predecessors.

Both Lady Longford and now Mrs. Woodham-Smith have had free access to the Royal Archives. The results are surprisingly different. It should be said here that since the latter brings her subject up only to the death of the Prince Consort, another volume presumably is planned.

All the biographies stress the trials of the Princess Victoria before she became Queen. Her father, the Duke of Kent, was relatively poor for the son and brother of kings, and died when his daughter was only a few months old. Nor, for some years, was there any certainty the young princess would accede to the throne.

Above all, there was the inconsiderate and selfish treatment she received from her own mother the duchess, who hoped to be regent and queen herself in everything but name for some years after the ascension. And behind the mother, and egging her on, was the ambitious, ruthless, almost sinister Sir John Conroy, the duchess's private secretary and confidential adviser.

Woodham-Smith has described this immense psychological and emotional strain under which the tough will and endurance of Victoria almost gave way, better than any other biographer. The present reviewer can recall, beginning with the queen's marriage, Mrs. Woodham-Smith's touch becomes less remarkable. The book expands into something like an account of the impact of European history on Britain and particularly on the royal family. This takes the focus too much from the queen. As an example, too much space is given to the Crimean War, natural enough for an author who has written so well the heroism of Florence Nightingale and the romantic but futile Charge of the Light Brigade. We shall look forward to the perspective another volume may bring.

WAITING FOR THE MORN-
ING TRAIN. An American Boyhood. By Bruce Catton. Doubleday. 266 Pages. $7.95.

Thousands of authors have written about their American boyhood, but Catton's backward look is a little different from most.

Chronologically it runs from the young princeling world he was born in 1899 — to about 1916, when he went off to Oberlin College to try to establish a college in the timber country, only to find that there were not enough candidates to keep a college going. Then he turned it into an academy at the high school level, before it went under. Catton's father had the unfortunate position of guiding it in its leaner years.

But this is more than a boy's story, or a family's story, for it delves into the absolute stinking of the Michigan pine forests to produce building lumber for a growing America — this was before Catton's birth and the rough work of little railroads built to haul the timber. His chapter on "Death of a Wilderness" is a melancholy tale of an ecological disaster. Woven through it all is a nostalgic view of the life style in the early years of the century.

Catton's mature years proved him to be a genius in the art of telling a story that is both grounded, real and understandable. He had nothing of the dry-as-dust mumble of the prosaic of history but told the story as it was — specifically, in the field of the Civil War and the Reconstruction. He had a cination with that theme in the old veterans he knew in Ben-zonia.

His skill as a historian, and especially a historian who could write with moving and illuminating force, serves him well in this book.

VOICES OF 1776

Wheeler, Thomas Y. Crowell Co. 420 Pages. $10.
History can be told first hand or second hand. Richard Wheeler, an ex-Marine, in his account of the American Revolution, follows the hardest course of all — a combination of the two approaches.

The result is surprisingly effective, considering the complexities involved. It is rather like putting the reader behind a camera on a moving platform. Wheeler, in condensed passages, gives the clarifying background, dates and localities. Then he quotes, sometimes only a paragraph or two and elsewhere up to several pages, from the participants and other observers to catch the color and vitality of the event. This technique probably will not please the academics since the quotations are not a bibliography of about four pages.

Bruce Catton, most widely read living historian of the Civil War, in a foreword, endorses Wheeler's formula, emphasizing that time has made the participants in the Revolution "figures out of a pageant" and "turned them to marble." In other words, the nitty gritty of history which Catton found in such ample supply for the War Between the States has become either lost or largely overlooked in most accounts of the war that marked our country's birth.

And it is this ingredient that Wheeler sets out to find and include as he stitches together with considerable skill his own summaries and the contemporary descriptions of the leading events. Referring to Washington's anger at the confusion caused by his second in command, Gen. Charles Lee, at the Battle of Monmouth in New Jersey, Wheeler quotes one witness as saying the Father of his Country "swore . . . till the leaves shook on the trees, charming, delightful."

And he records the discomfiture of British Adm. Sir Peter Parker when a cannon ball passed so near his "coat tail as to tear it off, together with his clothes clear to the buff," during the attack on Charleston, S.C.

There may be those who will find fault with this book because it furnishes much analysis and description than probing analysis of hidden causes. Nevertheless, the ordinary reader — particularly if he has a fair outline in his mind of the chief events of the Revolution — will find fault with this book because it furnishes much analysis and description than probing analysis of hidden causes.

Token Woman

The otherwise unimpeachable selection of Texas politician Anne Armstrong, co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, to become a cabinet-level counselor to President Nixon was a hurried move to head off criticism from women.

A coalition of women's groups was about to blast Mr. Nixon for failing to include any women in the second-term cabinet, when the White House hurriedly turned to a stunned Mrs. Armstrong. Though Mrs. Armstrong is an effective party politician, nobody claims she has the background for a job originally designed for the estimable Dr. Arthur Burns, now chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

Charter Unit Meets Tonight

The Manchester Charter Revision Commission, when it meets tonight at 8 in the Municipal Building Hearing Room, is expected to take action on a proposal for the popular election of a mayor to be elected at-large and to be someone other than one of the members of the Board of Directors.

The proposal, recommended by Phyllis Jackson, secretary of the CRC and its only woman member, faces considerable opposition among the commission's 15 members. The commission already is on record as opposing a strong-mayor government. It has recommended to the Board of Directors that the council-manager government be retained.

Mrs. Jackson, in presenting her proposal, said election of a mayor at-large would make Manchester's government more responsive to the electors and would return government "to the people, by the people and for the people."

The vacancy exists because of the resignation of William FitzGerald, who was sworn in as Manchester's mayor on Jan. 31 for emergency borrowing without a referendum; the mechanics for creating a Department of Finance, headed by a director of finance; and a formula for waiving bids for purchases.

One proposal already backed by a study committee and ready for a vote is a recommendation for changing the position, "Board of Directors," to "Town Council."

The sword is one that was carried by Dr. Henry Hough, Mrs. Rosebrooks' grandfather. Dr. Hough was appointed on Sept. 29, 1862 as assistant surgeon of the 18th Regiment of Connecticut Volunteers, and served in that capacity until he was honorably discharged on Nov. 8, 1863.

Dr. Hough, born in Barzah, graduated from Colchester Academy and later attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York.

He then entered Yale and graduated in 1836 in a class consisting of 18 students. Mrs. Rosebrooks said his career in medicine extended over 60 years.

Manchester Hospital Notes

Discharged Tuesday: Willard C. Catlett, East Hartford; Samuel Strain, 246 Oak St.; Robert L. Ratches, Willimantic; Harry J. Adams, Andover.

Also, Lorraine E. Fagan, East Hartford; Dennis S. Najjar, 10 Thompson Rd.; Arthur Beault, Coventry; Jamatis baby girl, 83 W. Middle Tpke.; Thelma H. Libbey, South Windsor; Harriet H. Wallis, South Windsor.

The executive board of the Manchester Democratic Town Committee will convene as a screening committee Jan. 16, to interview and screen candidates for a vacancy on the town's Board of Directors. Its meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building's coffee room.

The vacancy exists because of the resignation of William FitzGerald, who was sworn in as Manchester's mayor on Jan. 31 for emergency borrowing without a referendum; the mechanics for creating a Department of Finance, headed by a director of finance; and a formula for waiving bids for purchases.

One proposal already backed by a study committee and ready for a vote is a recommendation for changing the position, "Board of Directors," to "Town Council."

Arbitration Settles Nathan Hale Issue
One disagreement with Bartlett-Brainard and Eacott, Inc. of Bloomfield, contractor for additions and renovations to Nathan Hale School, has been settled by arbitration.

However, several other items await correction before Thomas Monahan, building inspector, will issue a certificate of occupancy and the Town Building Committee will approve the work as completed.

Richard Mankey, architect for the expansion of Nathan Hale, Robertson, and Keeney St. Schools, reported to the TBC last night that an arbitration board awarded the Bloomfield firm $21,305. The general contractor had claimed payment of $38,700.

TBC members will be at the school Saturday morning at 8 to go over the punch list with the contractor or his representative and set a date for the completion of unfinished work.

Two cafeteria kitchen items, which Mankey says do not meet specifications, occupied the attention of TBC members. The stove hood has four filters instead of eight, and counters were not welded.

In November 1970, voters approved a $1,996,000 referendum for construction of additions, renovations, and site work at the three elementary schools. Bartlett-Brainard and Eacott's winning bid on March 5, 1971 was $1,698,300. Monahan last night estimated that something in excess of $60,000 remains to be paid on the entire project.

Library Calendar Available

For the second year, the staff of Mary Cheney Library has prepared and printed a calendar for distribution to patrons. A limited number of copies is available upon request at the main desk. There is also a display in the lobby.

Drawings for facing pages were done by Lynn Beaulieu. The final pages contain a list of major changes in library history from 1940 and the current service hours of the three town public libraries. Legal holidays and religious and other observance days are noted under their dates. However, because of an oversight during production, Memorial Day and Christmas were omitted but an errata sheet calls attention to their omission.

Two Parachutists Hurt In Mid-Air Collision
Two parachutists remained in Manchester Memorial Hospital today, suffering from injuries received in a mid-air collision over Ellington Airport Sunday afternoon.

Both men, members of Connecticut Parachutists Inc. (CPI), a Manchester-based sport parachuting club, were participating in a weekly jump at Ellington Airport Sunday when they collided in mid-air.

The collision occurred as their parachutes were opening. CPI President Ronald Blake said Angelica and Edson were making a 15-second delay jump from 4,000 feet.

Man Surrenders Self In Hit-Run Fatality

Arthur J. Chenot, 84, of 22 Crestwood Dr., Manchester, has been summoned to court on a charge stemming from an alleged hit-and-run auto accident last week in which an East Hartford man died.

Chenot surrendered himself, through an unidentified attorney, at Police Headquarters Tuesday afternoon, Manchester Police said. Chenot was given a summons charging him with evading responsibility. He was released on a $5,000 non-surety bond and is to appear in Circuit Court 12 at Manchester Jan. 15.

The charge stems from the death of Henry Dziedzielski, 52, at Manchester Memorial Hospital Dec. 27, according to Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor.

Police Report
Katharina M. Bishop, 40, of East Hartford, was charged Tuesday afternoon with failure to drive in the proper lane, after a three-car collision on Spencer St., Manchester Police reported.

Mrs. Bishop and two of four passengers in her car were treated and released from Manchester Memorial Hospital after the 5:11 p.m. accident. Police said the Bishop car, westbound on Spencer St., struck the eastbound car operated by Gregory J. Gozzo, 18, of 83 Ralph Rd. The Gozzo vehicle was stopped in the left lane, waiting to turn onto the entrance ramp to Interstate 84, police said.

The impact turned the Gozzo car completely around, police said, and sent the Bishop car into the right lane. A third vehicle, driven by James D. Campbell, 19, of Glastonbury, was unable to avoid hitting the Bishop car, police said.

The Bishop and Bishop cars were towed. Court date is Jan. 15 at Manchester.

Julian A. Taylor Jr., 37, of Hartford, was charged Tuesday with two counts each of criminal impersonation, third-degree forgery, and third-degree larceny, police reported.

Police said Taylor turned himself in at Police Headquarters, and was charged on a Circuit Court 12 arrest warrant. He was released on his written promise to appear in court at Manchester Jan. 18.

Police said the charges stem from the alleged cashing of stolen checks at two Manchester businesses recently.

Other arrests made or reported:
— Two tires and rims, worth $80, taken from a car owned by John Hains of 34 Ridding St. over the weekend while the car was parked at his cash.

— About $14 in cash taken from a desk at Hill Junior High School last week. Thieves entered the building by breaking a window, police said. Another apparent break at the school was discovered Tuesday, but nothing was reported stolen.

— Baby furniture and college textbooks, valued at more than $500, taken from a second-floor apartment of James Krause Tuesday.

— Someone broke into two tool sheds at a Jarvis Construction Co. building site on Broad St. over the weekend, police reported today, but it was not yet known if anything was taken.

UConn Economist Gives Reasons For High Beef Prices
STORRS (AP) — A strong consumer demand, a buildup of cattle herds and increased costs conspired to send the price of beef soaring in recent years, says a University of Connecticut economist.

Action by President Nixon to ease meat import quotas will have a "short run dampening effect on meat prices," says Dr. Donald G. Stitts, a University of Connecticut economist.

Stitts says that during the same decade, "population and per capita income in the United States increased 13 per cent and 77 per cent, respectively. The major increase in population was in the 18 to 24 age group—the major food consumption period in their lives."

In the long run, he says, "it is going to be nearly impossible to contain the upward movement of food prices, since the costs of assembling, storing, transporting, processing and selling food products will continue to increase."

The beef producer is the first criticized by consumers for the price of beef, but the producer isn't blame, says Stitts in an article in the university's Agriculture Economics Newsletter.

With more than 188,000 headlots in the United States, says Stitts, it would be impossible for farmers to congregate to cut down on beef production so that farm prices of cattle would become more favorable.

"Agriculture is the most highly competitive industry in the United States," he says. "The reasons for the high cost of beef, he says, are: A very strong consumer demand due primarily to higher income; A buildup of herds by producers which reduces the number of marketable cattle; and, Increased costs of labor, transportation and taxes experienced by midwestern.

Responding to the increased demand, farmers attempted to increase beef supplies, he says. "However, in order to increase the future supply of beef, the present available supply must be reduced," he says. "To explain, beef animals must be held back from market for breeding."

"The gestation period for beef animals is about 270 to 277 days; and, it takes at least 10 more months before the offspring is ready for market. This means that it is usually two years from the initial planning stage until a producer has increased his beef supply."

Sharing with producers the brunt of the blame for increased prices are middlemen, he said. "Meat packers and retailers have been criticized for being the middlemen most responsible for increasing the farm-gate price agreement, yet they complain about their lack of profits," he said.

"Meat packers have one of the poorest profit performances of any American industry, with earnings per sales dollar of less than 1 per cent in most years," Stitts said.

Don't Throw Those Beer Cans Away

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Inexpensive houses can be built out of old beer and soft drink cans, according to an inventive professor of architecture at the University of Arizona.

Alvin Miller says he has devised a type of cement-fiberglass block filled with beer and soft drink cans suitable for wall building.

"You'll have the cheapest patio wall in town and nobody will know what's in it," Miller says. "The two basic ingredients are readily available to make the walls, which can be put together by unskilled people."

Miller, who is trying to get his idea patented, says the blocks are made from old cans stacked in the size and shape desired, and then covered with the cement and fiberglass mixture.

The result is an inexpensive, waterproof block that can be used for outdoor walls or in larger, sturdier shapes, for house walls, Miller says. Employing the geodesic dome concept, Miller says he hopes to incorporate the blocks in a low-cost housing plan he is developing.

"The unit is designed to be easily erected with as few skills as possible," Miller says, adding that the cost of materials for a home for four persons could be as low as $2,500.

Excuse Me Mr. Shakespeare

It's almost inexcusable to find fault with a literary figure like William Shakespeare, but I do. For years people have quoted Juliet's scene from the window where she says to Romeo, "What's in a name?" That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. It's a pretty sentiment, beautifully phrased. But if you took Mr. Shakespeare literally, you'd have license to name your children ANYTHING that comes to your fancy. The results could be disastrous.

We thought of naming our first son William Olcott Warren. The William for my father, the Olcott for my husband's family. It's certainly a distinguished sounding name, but his initials would have been W.O.W. Just picture THAT on monogrammed towels and imagine what it would have done to his poor psyche.

My mother's parents were not sensitive to such things and gave her the initials M.T. Durgin. All her friends called her "Empty." Now you can't tell me that being called "Empty" during your formative years doesn't leave a scar.

The worst parental faux pas I know of was made with our poor cousin Paul Partridge Warren. But I won't go into that! Almost as bad was a childhood friend Donald who NEVER knew the right answer in class. His initials were D.U.M.

This all may be merely coincidence, but I don't think so. You've ever known an Eric who was not brave and strong? Or a Pollyanna who was not a "glad girl"? Or a Dwight who was not of presidential lineage? The prettiest, rosiest girl in my high school class was named Candy Sweet. Now it's possible that Candy inherited only pretty, rosy genes, but I think she worked hard at being pretty. She had to!

I bow to Mr. Shakespeare as a great poet and a wise interpreter of human behavior, but in this one instance I think he was all wrong. What's in a name? Possibly everything. A rose by any other name might smell very different. Like a lilac or a lily or even a marigold.

Save the paper wrappers

Save the paper wrappers from butter and keep in a covered container in the refrigerator. Use the wrappers for greasing cake pans, cookie sheets and muffin-pan cups.

Sausage is one of the oldest foods known to man. One of the first cookbooks, dated about A.D. 228, speaks of sausages. They were eaten several hundred years before the birth of Christ.

When pretzels become soggy, put them in a moderate oven and heat them through. Move occasionally so the heat will be distributed evenly and they will taste as fresh and good as when new.

A stainless steel sink has an advantage: it is resistant to heat, stain and acid.

Just for a change, use raisin bread when you are making peanut-butter sandwiches for your youngsters.

For extra delicious crisp results, float celery stalks in ice water in which a teaspoon of sugar has been dissolved.

When making tuna fish or salmon and mayonnaise sandwich filling, add enough raw grated carrots to make a bit of color. This adds to the texture and stretches the quantity.

By placing short strips of reflecting tape, side by side, around wheel rims, they will give headlights of an oncoming car when you drive out of a side street.

To make a simple milk shake, blend together 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Use an electric blender or put ingredients into a jar, cover tightly and shake until foamy.

Mix catchup, orange juice and grated orange rind; pour over wal chops and bake in a moderate oven until meat is tender - about 1 hour.

Before boiling peas, let them stand in boiling water (off heat) for about 10 minutes. The peas should then be easy to crack without breaking the meat.

You can use a cake breaker for slicing "hard-as-a-brick" ice cream.

Good topped dip cupcake tops in maple syrup and then finely chopped walnuts.

Spread newspapers on the floor

Spread newspapers on the floor just before time for the children to come home from school on a rainy day. It gives them a place to put their umbrellas and overcoats without making it necessary for Mom to follow them up with a mop to clean up afterwards.

Tolland Town Postpones Charter Action

The Board of Selectmen agreed to postpone action on the proposed town charter until the November local elections. The CR planned for an April or May election and the placing of the charter into effect in November with the local elections held in accordance with the charter.

The selectmen who have unanimously opposed the town manager concept advocated in the charter, find themselves caught between the necessity of approving the document if it is to be put on the voting machine as they had promised the Charter Revision Commission, or rejecting it.

If they reject the charter, as they would like to, the only way it will be put on the voting machine is by petitions signed by a minimum of 660 resident taxpayers.

The selectmen are looking for a way out of their predicament which will permit the document to be put on the voting machine "for the people to decide" but which will still not require them to approve something they oppose.

The selectmen spent almost two hours last night discussing their problem, without coming to any decision. Calls were made to Atty. King, but failed to resolve the problem.

Indications point to the development of some sort of compromise. First Selectman Erwin Stoetzer feels let down by the CRC, and had hoped after meeting with the selectmen, the CRC would have made compromises itself.

Democratic Selectmen Charles Thifault continually criticized his not receiving a copy of the proposed charter until last night's meeting. After making several unseemly motions urging rejection, he finally saw his motion to delay action until a meeting with King is held accepted by the other two members of the board.

Republican Selectman Charles Luce suggested "accepting" the charter, rather than "approving it" while Stoetzer noted a partial approval of the charter would leave an unworkable document.

All three selectmen want the charter placed on the voting machine and would like to save the taxpayers the extra work of petitioning.

Andover School Board Gains Funds

The Board of Education has received notification from the State Board of Education that it will receive $4,940 more in per pupil state aid than was estimated in the 1972-73 budget.

The total, $125,890, is payable in three installments with the monies going into the town's general funds.

Notification was also received from the Connecticut Light and Power Co. that there will be an approximate 22 per cent reduction in electrical rates retroactive to this past October, which could amount to $800.

The company explained that in the past all electrical schools had been given reduced rates, a procedure which will no longer be followed. Thus all schools will receive the reduced rates.

Also on the plus side, the board approved a request from Lebanon School Superintendent Dann Drew to transport a student to Talcoville for special education. The child was authorized by Andover to meet with present transportation being provided for three other students. The Lebanon board will pay one-quarter of the total cost of transportation for the four students.

A refund check in the amount of $176.63 has been received from the Central Office Committee in charge of superintendency expenses. This refund also will go into the general fund.

Expenses
Even if it might mean a deficit in its operating budget, the board agree that possible safety problems with the boiler in the elementary school should be investigated with any necessary repairs being made immediately.

Board member John Young mentioned problems with the boiler which could be safety factors even though the boiler has passed all state laws and insurance requirements.

Young was requested to work with the administration to search out the problems.

At the same time, a list of maintenance problems throughout the school, in order of importance, will be worked up with a view to presentation to the Board of Finance on the best method of handling the repairs.

An immediate appropriation, not to exceed $800, was authorized by the board to remove sludge from the 5,000 gallon outside oil tank at the school.

Principal Donald Libby explained that Combustion Engineering had discovered approximately one foot of sludge when it was called in to determine why on one occasion the boiler failed to fire.

Libby was authorized to check cost estimates and to have the job estimated.

Oil Increase
Notification was received from Dahl Oil Co. that another increase in oil prices, 0.060 per gallon is effective immediately.

The board had already received a notice from the company last month of a 0.072 per gallon increase.

With the two increases, the board is now paying 13.79 cents per gallon as opposed to the original price of 12.47 cents.

Public Health
The Public Health Nursing Association informed the board that public health nurse Mr. Michelle Gentile will no longer be serving the Andover school. Mrs. Gentile will be replaced by Mrs. Nancy Lack who is presently assigned to the Gilead Hill School in Hebron.

Executive Session
Following the regular meeting, the board went into executive session to consider negotiations for 1973-74 and personnel matters and a request from St. Columba's Church in Columbia for additional facilities for after-school religious instruction.

Presently, the church is using the lunch room for six classes one hour a week on Wednesdays, but the facilities, according to Father Victor, assistant pastor, are overcrowded.

The church is requesting the use of five other rooms in addition to the lunch room to house all six classes.

Bloodmobile
The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Columbia

Congregational Church on Tuesday from 1:45 to 6:30 p.m. Walk-ins are welcome.

By The Associated Press It's unusual for a team that wins by 18 points to get booed, but it happened to Maryland, the nation's second-ranked college basketball team.

Celts After Rerun Of Tuesday Game

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Boston Celtics will be looking for a rerun of Tuesday night's game when they meet the Houston Rockets tonight at Hofheinz Pavilion.

The Celtics, led by John Havlicek, Paul Silas and Dave Cowens, shook off a sluggish start and whipped the Rockets 130-110 Tuesday night for their 30th victory this season.

For the Rockets, it was a 33-23 deadlock in the second quarter and Boston won the first Celtics-Rockets encounter and Boston now has defeated every team in the National Basketball Association.

Houston started to a 30-20 first quarter lead, but some nifty ball stealing by Art Williams and five consecutive points from Havlicek broke a 33-23 deadlock in the second quarter and Boston was on its way.

Cowens, who missed his first five shots in the first quarter, outscored Houston's two centers, Otto Moore and Don Smith, with 19 points and 15 rebounds in the last quarter, they seemed a little worried," said Lucas. The last time the Bucks were in New York, they lost 86-80 to the Knicks on Jan. 21. The Knicks scored the last 19 points and stunted them 87-86.

"I don't feel terrified at all playing against him," said Lucas. "Let them play their normal game, and they appeared to be a little more out of control than usual."

"I don't know what it is," said Larry Costello, Milwaukee coach. "Let them play their normal game, and they appeared to be a little more out of control than usual."

There were no games scheduled in the American Basketball Association.

Buffalo's Bob McAdoo scored 30 points and Elmore Smith added 23 and grabbed 15 rebounds, leading the Braves past hapless Philadelphia.

It was the 12th straight loss and 36th in 39 games this season for the 76ers, who got 23 points from Fred Carter.

Austin Carr's 20 points helped Cleveland beat Phoenix for the first time ever.

The Cavaliers, who had lost all previous 10 meetings with Barry (finished with 30 points and Mullins had 29. Center Nate Thurmond scored 14 points but grabbed 24 rebounds to 21 for the Lakers' Wilf Chamberlain.

Gail Goodrich led Los Angeles with 38 points and Jerry West had 28.

Sidney Wicks hit 23 points and Lloyd Neal added 19 and grabbed 17 rebounds to lead 110, Golden State defeated Los Angeles 112-106 and Portland took Kansas City-Omaha 104-87.

Tribute Paid Clemente in Pittsburgh On Three Rivers Stadium Scoreboard

Roberto Clemente Week Observed in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mayor Peter Flaherty would be placed in the lobby of the City-County Building for the duration of the mourning period.

The senate acted on a broader scale.

"The Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the people of Pennsylvania sorrowfully join the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the family of Roberto Clemente in mourning his tragic and untimely death, read a condolence resolution passed by a unanimous voice Tuesday.

"There be it resolved that the Senate, as a fitting gesture in remembrance of a great sportsman and a great human being, call upon the Commissioner of Baseball to bring about the immediate enshrinement of Roberto Clemente in baseball's Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y."

Clemente, a father of four, died New Year's Eve with four others when their plane on route to Nicaragua with relief supplies for earthquake survivors crashed in the Atlantic Ocean just off the coast of Puerto Rico.

Rest Until Super Sunday

Now that the smoke of battle on the football fields over the weekend has cleared - both on the college and professional scene - one may rest his eyeballs until Super Sunday - Jan. 14 when Miami and Washington meet for the NFL crown.

One wonders if the wrong teams were paired in the bowl games? Ohio State was no match for talent-rich USC and Notre Dame was a pushover for Nebraska. The Buckeyes made out a respectable game against the Trojans in the Rose Bowl for one half before Sam Cunningham and Anthony Davis were turned loose in Pasadena. The Fighting Irish were just plain outclassed by the Cornhuskers in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Perhaps better New Year's Day pairings would have been USC and Nebraska and Notre Dame against the Big 10 representative, Ohio State.

With the Super Bowl two weeks away, it will give football fans plenty of time to discuss and argue, if necessary, the merits of the Dolphins and Redskins before they meet Sunday.

The sentimental pick has to be Coach George Allen's 'Skins. No less than a trio of nationally known oddsmakers have installed Washington as a one-point favorite.

It will probably be even money before the second Sunday in the new year rolls around and one can take his choice. More on this another day.

Roy One of 12

Maryland has no less than a dozen basketball players on full scholarships, including South Windsor's Tom Roy. The latter managed to score just 17 points in his first five games with the nationally-ranked Terrapins in a reserve role. If Roy had enrolled at UConn there isn't any question but he would be a starter this winter and the chances are good that he would boast double figures in both the point-making and rebounding departments.

Howard Cosell will be back on national television starting Sunday afternoon at 8:45 when he hosts the Howard Cosell Sports Magazine ABC 15-minute show. The week's most topical, controversial or overriding sports subjects will be featured. A casualty to the weather again on New Year's Day was the annual New Year's Golf Tournament at the Manchester Country Club. This marked the seventh straight first day of the new year that no golf was playable because of ice, snow and cold weather.

End of the Line

In the January issue of Sport about promising young tackle Mike Reid of the Cincinnati Bengals, his coach, Paul Brown, complains that music reviewers have been unduly harsh. An accomplished pianist, Reid performed with the Cincinnati Symphony last summer. "Of course, the reviewers say that he sounds like a football player playing the piano," Brown said. "But I've always wondered what kind of reviews Liberace would get playing the piano."

UCLA's All-America Bill Walton has come in for a lot of criticism for not playing with the United States Olympic basketball team. Some of the critics have blamed the team's defeat in the finals on Walton's failure to participate at Munich. "My first responsibility is to UCLA," Walton says. "My doctor told me it would be better for my knees if I didn't play basketball at all this summer. Besides, basketball takes up a lot of time so when the season is over I want to forget it. I didn't even follow the Olympics this summer."

John Ralston, Denver Bronco's first year coach, added a new dimension to the squad's Saturday night snack-times this year, that final semi-social get-together before each game. In addition to the usual hamburgers, soft drinks and milk, ice cream was a strong appearance on the menu. Any kind is okay with Ralston, whose being hooked on the stuff goes back to his days at Stanford and even earlier, as long as it wasn't coffee or peppermint flavored.

Jerry Lucas Not Awed Playing Against Jabbar

NEW YORK (AP) — There are some centers in the National Basketball Association who are scared of Milwaukee's towering center, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, but Jerry Lucas of the New York Knicks is not one of them.

"I don't feel terrified at all playing against him," said Lucas. "Let them play their normal game, and they appeared to be a little more out of control than usual."

"I don't know what it is," said Larry Costello, Milwaukee coach. "Let them play their normal game, and they appeared to be a little more out of control than usual."

"You could just see it in their faces in the last quarter, they seemed a little worried," said Lucas. The last time the Bucks were in New York, they lost 86-80 to the Knicks on Jan. 21. The Knicks scored the last 19 points and stunted them 87-86.

"I don't feel terrified at all playing against him," said Lucas. "Let them play their normal game, and they appeared to be a little more out of control than usual."

them on a real hot night. We played good basketball, but they played super."

The Bucks shot 47 per cent from the field, including 12 by Abdul-Jabbar, but the Knicks connected on 52 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Oscar Robertson, hampered by a neck and shoulder injury, had an off night for the Bucks, sinking only five of 17 shots. "If I could have shot well, we could have won," said the veteran Robertson.

Bradley paced New York's balanced attack with 22 points. Walt Frazier scored 18, and Lucas and Earl Monroe 13 apiece. Lucas Allen followed Abdul-Jabbar in scoring for Milwaukee with 14 points.

Made Right Choice

Buchanan Top Defense Rookie

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Opposing players, coaches and scouts always seem to learn about Willie Buchanan before the fans do.

As a college senior at San Diego State, Buchanan drew little attention because opposing quarterbacks practically never threw to a receiver he was guarding.

In his final season he allowed only 12 completions in 46 passes in 1971 but slumped this season as the Chargers finished with a 4-8 record, confirmed a report that he is expected to be traded soon.

The lack of headlines didn't fool the Green Bay Packers, who made the 6-foot-1, 190 pound, cornerback his first draft choice and signed him to a reported six-figure contract.

Their judgement was confirmed by the NFL's interim head coach of the year, Chuck Nutter, who named Buchanan, 22, as the National Football League's Defensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press.

Despite a season in which he started every game, tied for the club lead with four interceptions and made a big contribution to the Packers' vastly improved secondary, Buchanan says he ranked below two other Green Bay rookies - kicker Chester Marcol and quarterback Jerry Tagge - in publicity.

When you get rookies like Chester Marcol and Jerry Tagge on the same team, especially Marcol who's a great placekicker, you're still in the background," Buchanan said with a chuckle Tuesday in an interview from his San Diego apartment, from which he commutes to classes at San Diego State. He needs 11 units for his degree in education.

"It wasn't like I thought," Buchanan said of his first NFL season. "I thought they were going to come bombing me. Jim Hill (Packer safety) kept telling me they know I'm a rookie and they're going to pick on me. But they didn't really try to."

It didn't take opposing teams long to learn about Buchanan. In his first regular-season game, he intercepted a pass and he also established a reputation as a fierce tackler.

Don Doll, who coaches the Green Bay defensive backs, calls his prize rookie "the best open-field tackler in the game."

Clemente's Last Year Perfect One in Field

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The last year of Roberto Clemente's baseball career was a perfect one, in the field at least.

During his 18-years in the Houston Astrodome in 1971 was one of the best ever, by anyone.

Bob Watson, a right-handed hitter for the Astros, slammed a line drive into the right field corner, near the wall. Clemente broke with the crack of the bat, raced full speed to within two steps of the wall, leaped and made a twisting, one-handed grab, hitting the ball on his way down.

As for the Pirate star's greatest throw ever, he major point to the one he let fly against the Cardinals at old Forbes Field here.

Orlando Cepeda was on first and Tim McCarver singled to right. Clemente charged the ball and it skidded through his legs, going to the wall at the 375-foot marker.

Clemente crouched to the wall, picked up the ball, and in the same motion, turned and threw toward the plate. The ball arrived in catcher Jerry May's mitt on the fly and a started Cepeda was out at home.

Clemente was charged with an error for allowing the ball to get by him.

Meriden Kills Proposal To Revive Pro Baseball

MERIDEN (AP) — The owner of the Pawtucket, R.I. Red Sox says his team will be looking for a possible home in Bristol or in Elmira, N.Y. in the wake of a vote Tuesday night by the Meriden city council.

The council voted 11-8, with one member absent, to first approve of the city's Tax Board to go ahead with the plan, but he said he wouldn't proceed without a city council vote of confidence. After the council's vote, he declared Tuesday "a sad day for Meriden."

"I feel Meriden would have been a hell of a good town for baseball," Pawtucket owner Joseph Buzas said after he learned of the council's vote and named Elmira and Bristol as possible alternatives. "If Ceppa Field is ever developed, I will exert all my power to bring an AA team to Meriden," he said.

The objections of several city council members rested on the financial burden that Ceppa's project would place on the city.

Pittsburgh's Franco Harris Steeler Top Rookie

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Franco Harris said before his first season in the National Football League he just wanted "to do a job for the Pittsburgh Steelers."

"I have a very good feeling about the Steelers," said the team's husky, soft-spoken No. 1 draft choice at the start of 1972 drills.

The 220-pound Harris, commander of "Franco's Italian Army," cracked Pittsburgh's starting line-up at midseason and exploded for 10 touchdowns. The son of a black father and Italian mother rushed for over 100 yards in seven games, including six straight, tying Jim Brown's all-time pro record. He finished the season with 1,055 yards rushing.

In short, Harris ruled the field from goaline to goaline and, for his efforts, gained recognition as The Associated Press Offensive Rookie of the Year in the NFL. Harris, who led the Steelers to the first division title in their 40-year history, grabbed 65 of 88 votes in the AP poll of pro football writers. The remaining three votes went to Green Bay placekicking whiz Chester Marcol.

"The season wasn't anything like I expected," Harris said, reflecting on his rookie year which also saw him catch 21 passes for 187 yards and return eight

Business Tax Changes Proposed

HARTFORD (AP) — The "personal" property tax on business inventories and industrial machinery and the sales tax on new equipment should be abolished, the Governor's Commission on Tax Reform said Tuesday.

Commission Chairman Francis E. Baker Jr. called the tax on the personal property of business and industry "the single most detrimental tax in the competitive battle to attract new industry."

Also, the 7 per cent sales tax, which companies must pay when they buy new equipment, discourages modernization, Baker said.

"The commission's program for business is designed to stimulate industry to retool and modernize facilities, to encourage expansion in the state, and to put Connecticut on a competitive footing with other industrialized states in attracting new industry," Baker added.

The commission, whose final report is due Jan. 10, also is recommending elimination of Connecticut's unique tax on insurance companies' income from investments.

Under legislation enacted last year, that tax is scheduled to go out of existence next July 1.

The commission also recommends lowering the tax on insurance premiums on policies sold by Connecticut insurance companies to the same level as the tax on premiums sold in Connecticut by out-of-state companies.

The tax on business and industry's inventories and equipment has been criticized by previous tax study groups, and the legislature began phasing the levy out of existence several years ago. However, the tax crises of the late 1960s slowed the phase-out program.

While calling for complete elimination of the personal property tax this year, the commission proposes phasing out the sales tax on new equipment over a period of years, cutting it in half (to a level of 3.5 per cent) on July 1 and bringing it down to zero by July 1, 1976.

What the state loses in sales tax revenues should be made up by increased corporation tax revenues as industry is stimulated to expand, Baker said.

The commission also proposes to make Connecticut's Corporation Tax follow the federal corporation tax in its provisions for carrying forward business losses to the next taxing year.

"New businesses often operate at a loss and are understandably discouraged by the possibility of paying taxes on profits without recognition of losses," Baker said.

Although the commission is proposing to abolish the tax on the personal property of business and industry, it proposed reforms of local taxes on real property would increase levies on the building and land owned by many companies. By requiring uniform assessments of all types of real property, industrial plants, offices and stores which have been under-assessed in the past would be taxed more heavily.

It contains illustrated spaces for more than 600 stamps from more than 100 countries (1953 to 1972) plus pictures of Scout-related classics dating back to 1900. The U.N. Security Council began the first of its meetings in Africa last January and the discussions were devoted to Africa's problems. The meetings were held in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia. Hailing its role as the host to the U.N., Ethiopia issued three stamps. One stamp depicted the Security Council in session. Another showed the building where the meeting took place while the third in the set portrayed a map of Africa surrounded by flags of participating members in the Security Council.

Region's Economy Growing; But Below National Pace

BOSTON (AP) — New England's economy expanded rapidly during 1972, even though employment, still saddled with a dying textile industry, rose less than half the national average.

Consumer prices, with one exception, leveled off, but that exception, food, increased four times as much in 1972. The wage boom also eased in 1972, even though factory workers reached a new high in weekly earnings.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, in its year-end New England report, said that in the 12 months ending last October, the region's nonfarm employment improved 1.5 per cent over 1971—less than half the national rate of 3.8 per cent.

New Record

Despite this, however, the bureau said the job total edged close to the 1969 record.

Manufacturing was an especially sluggish aspect of employment this year. It increased only 1.8 per cent over 1971, compared with a national rate of nearly 4 per cent.

Fabricated metals, electrical equipment and machinery showed strength, but there was a 3.9 per cent job loss in transportation equipment and a 4.7 per cent loss in the leather industry.

The bureau noted, however, that job losses in the textile industry are being steadily offset by gains in other manufacturing.

Twenty-five years ago, there were 278,800 textile jobs in New England, and now there are only 76,400. But over that period, New England's factory employment has remained almost constant.

Retail Prices Up

Retail prices in the Boston area, the only section that the bureau keeps figures on, increased 3.2 per cent between January and October, almost the same as the 3.1 per cent rise during the corresponding period in 1971.

The bureau attributed the price slowdown to Phase II wage and price controls.

However, the cost of food, which makes up about 30 per cent of most families' expenses, continued to spiral.

For the first time since 1966, the bureau said, the food prices rose more than 5 per cent during the first three-quarters of the year.

They soared 5.4 per cent—more than four times the increase last year.

The biggest culprits were meat, poultry and fish, which increased 8.6 per cent, and fruits and vegetables, which moved up 8.8 per cent.

Even the cost of eating out rose almost 4 per cent.

Another quickly rising expense this year was wearing apparel, which went up 4.8 per cent, a fraction more than last year's rise. In that category, women's and girls' clothing prices rose 7 per cent.

Offsetting these increases, however, was housing—the necessity that takes up the largest part of the family dollar and increased nearly the least.

Overall Costs Up

Overall costs were up 2.7 per cent in 1972, compared to 4.7 per cent in 1971. Home ownership costs increased 1.9 per cent, while in the previous four years, they've jumped anywhere from 6.8 to 10.3 per cent.

Rents, however, outpaced other housing costs. They increased 4.2 per cent.

The best buy this year, according to the bureau, was transportation, which went up in price less than 1 per cent.

Although consumer price increases tapered off this year, they are part of a long, steady climb. In the past 23 years in the Boston area, consumer prices have risen 56 per cent. And in the past 10 years, they've gone up 43 per cent.

Pay hikes and a longer work week pushed New England workers' earnings to a record high this year.

By October, production workers in the region were averaging $147.85 a week—$12.22 more than last year. That was still below the national average $157.90.

Connecticut Leads

Among the six states, Connecticut showed the sharpest advance with weekly earnings of $165.11, followed by Massachusetts, $148.06; Vermont, $139.77; New Hampshire, $128.44; Rhode Island, $128.72, and Maine, $125.96.

The average work week was 40.5 hours, and five of the six states recorded gains ranging from six-tenths of an hour to 1.1 hours over the previous year.

New labor contracts also contributed to rising wages, although labor-management relations appeared smoother than usual, with less than half as many work days lost due to strikes as the previous year.

Many settlements this year called for a 7.3 per cent pay raise, compared with average increases last year of 11.9 per cent. In the construction trade, there was an even sharper decline, with this year's increases averaging 7.1 per cent, compared with 12.6 per cent in 1971 and 17.4 per cent in 1970.

Records Management New Term For Paper Work

The Paper Revolution: U.S. Economy Uses a Million Pages a Minute
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Paper... paper... paper...
So many things are made of plastic these days that now and then one fears we may all be strangled by this magic substance. But if we are to be strangled by any manmade material, it is more likely to be simple old-fashioned paper.
Napoleon Bonaparte said an army marches on its stomach. But the modern U.S. business world marches on paper. The American economy produces an estimated one million pages of new documents every minute, of which some 250 billion pages a year must be stored, temporarily at least.
Business firms alone—leaving out the work of government paper shufflers—now store and maintain more than a trillion pieces of paper in 200 million file drawers. Each year they are adding 175 billion new pieces of paper to this enormous trove. Storage costs alone now run into billions of dollars annually.
The problem of handling all this material has given rise to a new profession—records management—says Dr. Maxwell Pollack, president of Van Dyk Research Corp., of Whippany, N.J., a firm active in communications technology. Dr. Pollack predicts that in the future this paper blizzard will intensify far and faster than have far-reaching effects on the economy.
"More paperwork is inevitable in a fast-paced and increasingly computerized world," he said. "The profession of electronic machines in offices will not cut employee levels but add to them, thus creating a need for new legions of Girl Fridays."
"The clerical work force is growing five times faster than the general population, and now receives about $80 billion a year in salaries."
"The 10 million clerical employees now on the job is almost double the 1940 total," Dr. Pollack noted that despite

Governor States Tax Relief Must Include Average Citizens

HARTFORD (AP)—There will be no tax relief for business and industry in Connecticut this year without some tax relief for average citizens, Gov. Thomas J. Meskillo said Tuesday.
"There has to be reform for everyone," Meskillo said at his first news conference in over three weeks.
The governor, who vetoed a bill last year that would have cut the seven per cent sales tax to six per cent, said he still wants to reduce the sales tax to 6.5 per cent.
"It's a goal," he said. "It's what I hope to do."
To give tax relief to one segment of the taxpayer public without giving a break to any other segments would not be a good idea, Meskillo said.
"I don't think it's politically possible," he added. "I don't think it's politically wise."
The Governor's Commission on Tax Reform is recommending elimination of the property tax on business and industry inventories and

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Panic at the Wheel

Russell's first reaction, when his car knocked down a pedestrian, was panic. He drove to a nearby gas station and cried: "There's an injured man back there in the street."
Then he sped home to hide. It wasn't long, however, before the police tracked him down and placed him under arrest on a charge of hit-and-run driving.
At the trial, Russell protested that panic "can happen to anyone." Also, he reminded the court that he had at least made some effort to get help for the victim.

Nevertheless, he was found guilty of the charge. In spite of extenuating circumstances, said the court, he had committed precisely the act forbidden by statute.
This case illustrates the law's stern attitude toward the hit-and-run driver. Although panic is understandable, it is not forgivable. If you are involved in an accident, you must stop, identify yourself, and—in most states—be reasonably able to anyone who is injured.
Does it matter if you were not to blame for the accident in the first place? Not at all. It is what happens afterward that counts. Nor is it an excuse that you "thought it was nothing serious." Once you have hit someone, it is your duty to get the facts before going on.
On the other hand, you are not guilty if you were truly unaware of the accident. In one case, a nighttime hit-and-run accident was traced to the owner of a station wagon. Telltale bloodstains and threads from the victim's clothing were found on his right front tire.
Yet, the man swore in court that he had known nothing about it until the police came to his house. His driving after the accident had been perfectly normal, with no sign of a guilty conscience. Nor had he made any effort to remove the incriminating evidence from his tire.
A court decided that he was indeed telling the truth. Finding him not guilty, the court said, "Knowledge is an essential element of the crime."

Social Security

Q. My husband retired at age 62. I never worked under Social Security and filed for wife's benefits at the age of 62. If I continue receiving wife's benefits until I am 65 will I be entitled to 100 per cent of my husband's Social Security in the event of his death?
A. Yes. In the first month of entitlement to widows' benefits is age 60 or later, a widow or widower's benefit will be equal to 100 per cent of the deceased wage earner's benefit.
Q. I'm a widow, and I've been working since 1962 when my husband died. In a couple months I'll be 60. Although I'm not disabled, I do want to cut down on my work. Would I be able to get any kind of monthly benefits from Social Security?
A. You may be eligible for a reduced widow's benefit at 60. Call, write or visit your East Hartford Social Security office, 657 Main St. Our telephone number is 244-3717.
Q. My husband worked until he was 70 and died before collecting any Social Security checks. I have been getting widow's benefits for the past two years. Will I have to file a claim for the increase to get the full 100 per cent of my husband's benefit?
A. The amendments provide that widow's and widower's benefits as of December 1972 will have their benefit rate determined effective with January 1973. This will be done automatically, no request need be filed by the claimant.
Q. I am receiving monthly Social Security benefits as a widow and I'd like to get married again. Will my Social Security benefits stop if I remarry?
A. Benefits continue for most widows who remarry after reaching 60. However, the amount of your monthly benefit may change. Check with the Social Security office for the answer on your specific case.
Q. My husband died just a few weeks ago. When I go to the Social Security office to apply for monthly survivor benefits, do I need to take any documents along?
A. Yes. You should bring along your husband's Social Security card for some record of his earnings during the past year (such as a W-2 form), the death certificate for your husband, your marriage certificate and your own birth certificate.

Tolland in 1972

BETTE QUATRALE,
Correspondent
Tel. 875-2845

Tolland spent most of 1972 in financial turmoil prompted by continuing controversy over property revaluations, increased taxes and budget referendums, which threatened to wreck the financial stability of the town.

The powers of government reverted to the hands of the people as referendums were called at the drop of a petition. The powers of government were threatened for several other major items. Petitions were filed calling for the resignation of Democratic Town Chairman Charles Thifault, but were ruled illegal by Democratic Town Committee chairman Robert Taft Jr.

At the end of the year, still another controversy was brewing over the proposed charter for the town calling for a town manager and expanded seven-member Board of Selectmen.

Advocated by the Charter Revision Commission, the proposed charter is unanimously opposed by the Board of Selectmen.

If the selectmen fail to place the charter on the voting machines as promised, petitions will be circulated to obtain signatures of 15 per cent of the electorate, forcing its placement on the voting machines for people to decide.

Tolland acted with typical unpredictability during 1972, approving a $2,385,000 budget at the annual town meeting, only to reject it in a petitioned referendum, but failing to approve a proposed $150,000 cut by a vote of 820 to 820.

Attempts for a compromise $50,000 cut were rejected at a subsequently approved in still another petitioned referendum by a 66-54 margin.

The entire budget controversy filed two months of news and was interspersed by court challenges over the referendum and approved budgets, a case still pending in Superior Court.

The budget controversy resulted in a two-week delay in mailing out tax bills, after the finance board was finally able to set a 46-cent rate, on the revalued $48,730,830 grand

Finance in Controversy

School Approved
Although the budget cuts took a total of $435,000 out of the proposed $2,780,000 Board of Education budget, town residents have given the go-ahead for the construction of the $1.9 million addition to the overcrowded middle school.

The second phase of the school, planned for originally, but still unapproved, contains five additional classrooms as well as specialized facilities for science labs, home economics, industrial arts and a gym.

Two town meetings have been held on preliminary approval items for the project without opposition, and bids are now being prepared for submittal in February.

The Board of Education has sent much of its time this year trying to get its expenditures in the black, despite several problems which have arisen requiring additional funds.

1972 was the worst of four consecutive years of substantial education budget cuts, and the second consecutive year for referendums on the budget.

The $48,730,830 grand total represented a 68.5 per cent increase over the past year due to the effects of revaluation. House and building lots registered a 400 per cent increase in value, while open land increased in value by 300 per cent.

Landowners Fight
This increase, particularly for large property owners, prompted a vigorous dispute, pitting landowners led by Stanley Godz against the Board of Assessors. The dispute continues even though the values were adjusted downwards by the assessors this year. The Board of Tax Review has agreed to overrule the assessors and lower the property values still further to meet the statistics provided by the Connecticut Farm Bureau. The assessors want this means reduction in property taxes for homeowners.

Godz repeated points to the increased land values as prompting the sale of large parcels of land to developers, which will in turn boost local taxes still further.

The year marked a sharp upturn in development activity in town, including many new houses being constructed all over town; construction of several new shopping centers and a new building for the Savings Bank of Tolland. No new gas stations were built.

As the year drew to a close, residents protested a requested zone change to permit the town's limited bonding capacity three years ago, contains five additional classrooms as well as specialized facilities for science labs, home economics, industrial arts and a gym.

Inspector Frank Merrill threatened to bring the matter to court if it is approved by the PZC.

Suits Threatened
The Planning and Zoning Commission had a busy year and faced several threatened lawsuits brought against its actions. The zoning commission has been completely resolved. The law suit over the high raise in the Mobil Oil Co. sign brought by the Mobil and Mary McNamee was withdrawn after a win in court and subsequently ruled illegal by the parliamentarian Atty. Harold Garity, who also offered to meet with both sides to settle the issue. The Democrats are expected to meet the second Friday in January and to reach a decision on the problem, which marked one of the most bitter political fights in this town in years.

Other Events
Several good things occurred during the year, topped by the receipt of larger than anticipated federal revenue sharing funds which will give the town $80,388 a year for the next five years.

The town is holding a option on a new 100 plus acre dam site, near the present dump and a senior citizens housing committee was formed.

The possibility of year round schools and town-owned school buses were studied and dropped. The town plan to IGIE Individualized Instruction Program was implemented at Hicks Memorial School and the high school underwent accreditation evaluation during December, a report on which is still pending.

Fire Destroys Machine Shop

CHESHIRE (AP) — A fire of undetermined origin broke out Tuesday in a one-story machine shop and nearly destroyed the structure before it was extinguished, fire officials said.

Lathes and milling machines were lost along with contents of the Greg Manufacturing Co., fire marshal James Doherty reported.

The blaze apparently started in a reception area of the company's office area and spread through the building and into the attic storage area. It was reported at about 12:35 a.m. by neighbors and was brought under control in about a half-hour, Doherty said.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss.

Congress Mulls Ending Of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is increasing sentiment that Congress should act unless a settlement is negotiated by Jan. 20, when Nixon begins his second term.

Democratic senators planned to consider today a proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy that would make it the policy of Congress to cut off all money for the Vietnam war immediately.

The only conditions on the cutoff would be that the House Democrats Tuesday would be released of U.S. war prisoners and safe conduct for returning American forces.

Senate Republicans, meanwhile, with 17 of their number absent, voted 18 to 10 to support "the efforts of the President to end the tragic conflict in Indochina now through a negotiated settlement."

With the war the prime topic of conversation at the opening of the 92nd Congress, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen: "Members of Congress should be themselves if they want to be responsible for raising doubts in the enemy's mind about the United States position and therefore possibly prolonging the negotiations."

Ziegler's statement followed a heated meeting Wednesday between Nixon and House Speaker Carl Albert.

In organizing for the 1973-74 session, Senate Republicans chose conservatives for two leadership jobs. William Brock of Tennessee defeated Edward M. Brooke of Massachusetts to become chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee and John Tower of Texas won over Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio for chairmanship of the policy committee.

The Senate Democratic Steering Committee reportedly resolved a fight over makeup of the House Select Committee on Vietnam by expanding the panel to 17 members. Sources said the steering panel tentatively agreed to fill Democratic vacancies on the committee with liberal Sens. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota and Mike Gravel of Alaska, and conservative Sen. Lloyd Benetsen of Texas.

Fire Destroys Boston Train

BOSTON (AP) — Firemen utilizing 1,000-foot long pieces of hose and oxygen masks extinguished a fire this morning that destroyed an inbound rapid transit train on the MBTA's Red Line near the South Station Under tunnel.

An estimated 250 transit riders were brought to the surface at the nearby Broadway subway station, firemen said.

Several persons suffered injuries and were taken to Boston hospitals for treatment. MBTA officials said one of their employees was missing, but firemen said there was no one in the mile-long tunnel after another car caught fire.

MBTA officials said several sections of the rapid transit lines were shut down because of the fire and resulting smoke which spread through the network of tunnels. Rush hour traffic, already hampered by an early morning snowfall, came to a virtual standstill in the section of the city near South Station.

Transit officials reported that the train became grounded at the intersection of the two subway stops. Resulting fire ignited the fire, they reported.

Hospital where he was placed on the danger list.

Firemen said two cars of the four-car train which caught fire had been destroyed. A deputy fire chief said one of the cars, a new air-ride model, had exploded and ripped to shreds after another car caught fire.

One of the injured, identified as Robert Parcell of the Dorchester section of Boston, was carried a quarter of a mile through the tunnel by rescuers. He was taken to Boston City and taken to Boston City.

Bus Crisis Meeting Set For Late Today

HARTFORD (AP) — Signs of local willingness to pay part of the cost of resuming bus service in and around the state's six largest cities has prompted Gov. Thomas J. Meskill to join personally in bargaining talks.

Meskill's agreement to meet late this afternoon with a negotiating committee of local officials comes as a glimmer of hope for resumed bus service after weeks of uncompromising disagreement between the two sides.

New Haven Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida and state secretary to report on the number of bombs dropped, shells fired, planes lost, and men killed, wounded, captured and missing since the bombing of North Vietnam was intensified Dec. 18.

The Senate Democratic Conference endorsed a statement of the House of Representatives that the bombing of North Vietnam is in the interest of the immediate resumption of bus service, there may have to be some local contribution.

The amount, he said, "will be determined after all factors have been properly examined and studied."

Assembly Organizing

HARTFORD (AP) — The new Connecticut General Assembly was to settle down to its first round of committee business today after a busy opening session Wednesday that included Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's "State of the State" address.

In today's sessions, the committees of the Republican-dominated legislature, each headed by a pair of Republican lawmakers, were expected to organize themselves for the coming months.

An ebullient Lt. Gov. Clark Hull said Wednesday's opening session was like "the first day of school with new Buster Brown shoes on."

Heur and champagne flowed at a few informal parties after the legislative session as legislators celebrated the beginning of a new General Assembly.

Winter Plagues Most Of Nation

By The Associated Press
Bitter winter weather plagued the intermountain region, the Midwest and New England today, cutting off electric power and closing schools and highways.

A new snowstorm churned across the intermountain region, where travel advisories were posted. Public officials and their critics in Salt Lake City were at each other's throats over snow-clogged streets that have left that city bound up since late last week.

Arctic cold pushed into the midcontinent as far south as Oklahoma in Kansas, 75,000 customers of the Kansas City Power & Light Co. were without electricity at various times Wednesday and early today as ice-laden trees and power lines cluttered the streets and 5 inches of snow covered the glaze.

Parts of Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa were affected by the blizzards that closed many schools and made driving throughout the region hazardous. Three persons died Wednesday in a truck collision near Ottawa, Ill., during a freezing rain storm.

Freezing rain also hit New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont. Gale warnings were posted over the Great Lakes.

Three members of a New York high school swimming team were killed when their chartered bus skidded off an expressway and overturned Wednesday night during the freezing rain near Oswego, N.Y. Sixteen other team members and coaches were injured.

Rain soaked areas of the Southeast into the Ohio Valley and Virginia and a few showers sprinkled the central California coast.

Fair weather was confined to West Coast states and much of Texas and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from -26 at Butte, Mont., to 77 at Miami and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Investment Tax Changes Offered

HARTFORD (AP) — The state tax on stock dividends is discriminatory and should be repealed, but the tax on capital gains affects mostly the wealthy and should be increased, the Governor's Commission on Tax Reform said today.

The commission said the result of its recommendation would be a net loss of $9 million a year in tax revenues to the state government.

By repealing the dividends tax, $28 million would be lost in annual revenues, but by doubling the base of the capital gains tax, $17 million of that loss would be accounted for, the commission said.

The commission proposed to boost the capital gains tax back to the level where the 1971-72 legislature intended it to be — a 6 per cent tax on 100 per cent of long-term capital gains. The state Supreme Court ruled last year that because of the wording of the law, the tax could only be applied to 50 per cent of any long-term capital gain, the other 50 per cent being exempt. The Tax Department is now in the process of returning about $16 million in refunds to capital gains tax payers.

The tax reform commission, whose complete report is to be released next Wednesday, said

Consumer Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national commission has proposed major revisions in the consumer-credit field to make credit cheaper and easier to get, but members said the panel was not unanimous in the recommendations and urged caution in adopting them.

The head of the National Commission on Consumer Finance said in a report to Congress Wednesday that the chief goal is to promote greater competition in the consumer-credit market.

Grumman Loan
BETHPAGE, N.Y. (AP) — Grumman Corp. has been granted an additional $18 million loan by the Navy despite the aerospace contractor's refusal to build 48 more F14 jet fighters for the service under a contract option.

A Grumman spokesman said Wednesday night the loan was authorized by the Navy on Dec. 12, the day after the company said it would not build the additional F14s unless the price were renegotiated.

Stephen G. Kereskes, the spokesman, said the loan was not predicated on Grumman's willingness to build the additional planes. The loan brings to $54 million the company's total indebtedness to the Department of Defense.

Not Ready
BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Some legislative employees apparently haven't quite made the adjustment to women lawmakers in North Dakota.

Rep. Elynor Hendrickson, a Republican from Grand Forks, says she asked the parking-lot attendant if the rest lot at the Capitol was the space reserved for legislators.

The CRC, seven weeks ago, had rejected a proposal for a change to a strong-mayor government. It recommended that the council-manager government continue in Manchester.

"No," the representative replied.

"Then you can't park here," she said the attendant advised.

Popular Mayorality Elections Rejected by Charter Revisers

By SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

The Manchester Charter Revision Commission, by an 8 to 4 vote last night, rejected a proposal for the popular election of a mayor. Called the "Jackson Proposal," after Phyllis Jackson, CRC secretary and its only woman member, it would have allowed the electorate to choose the mayor. Under the existing provision, the mayor (chairman of the Board of Directors) is chosen by the nine directors.

Traditionally, he has been the high vote-getter.

The CRC, seven weeks ago, had rejected a proposal for a change to a strong-mayor government. It recommended that the council-manager government continue in Manchester.

Voting last night to reject the proposal for the popular election of a mayor were Democrats John FitzGerald, Francis Mahoney, Dominic Squatrito, Robert Stone, and Leonard Serdar; and Republicans John Shea, Eugene Montany and Harlan Taylor.

Backing the proposal were Democrats Phyllis Jackson and Frank Stamler, and Republicans David Odegar and Nathan Agostini. Agostini explained that his vote was for the purpose of permitting further discussion.

Abstaining from the vote was Democrat John Sullivan, Republicans John Rotner and Thomas Ferguson did not attend last night.

Mrs. Jackson, in a last-minute plea said, "I think the people of Manchester should have the right to decide by referendum whether they want this change. This proposal deserves more consideration than we are giving it."

She said, "When I used the word responsive, I wasn't implying that Manchester's mayors have not been responsive to the people. They have been."

"Perhaps the right word should be participatory. Being elected by the people, and not by members of the town council, would give a mayor more recognition — at the State Capitol and elsewhere."

"Now, we are electing a mayor by chance — possibly even because of his position on the ballot. Under my proposal, he would be an elected mayor — not a chance mayor."

Odegar, the only other person to speak on the motion, said briefly, "It's appropriate at this time to make the change. I agree we should elect a mayor at large. The people should have the right to vote for their mayor."

In a companion action, the CRC voted unanimously to charter a charter which would direct the Board of Directors to elect a deputy mayor. Although the board elects one now, it is by an informal action — not presently required in the charter.

A proposal by Mrs. Jackson for paying the deputy mayor a salary higher than he receives as a director lost by a 12 to 1 vote.

It was R-Day minus 34 for the CRC last night. It has to Feb. 6 to submit its formal recommendations to the Board of Directors.
