Claims Support

MANILA (AP) — Claiming blanket authority from public meetings his supporters have been holding, President Ferdinand E. Marcos was reported preparing today for major new decisions on the future of the Philippine government.

Presidential sources say returns from more than 73 per cent of some 32,000 "citizens assemblies" showed near-landslide support for Marcos' martial law rule.

Guillermo de Vega, a presidential assistant, said Marcos within a week would decide whether to abandon a promised plebiscite on the constitution, whether to allow congress to convene as planned Jan. 22 and whether to reconvene the constitutional convention.

Policemen Slain

Belfast (AP) — Guerrillas killed three police officers in Northern Ireland Sunday night, climaxing two days of the heaviest bombing in the province in months.

At least eight bombs exploded, and British army experts defused two others. One blast wrecked a Belfast tavern frequented by Roman Catholics Saturday night and wounded 25 persons.

The Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army was blamed for most of the bombings, but Protestant extremists were believed responsible for at least two of them, including the Belfast tavern blast.

Nominate Indian

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Democrats have selected an Indian, Emil Notti, to run for the congressional seat that was held by Nick Begich, presumed dead in a plane crash.

Notti, 38, will face Republican Don Young in a special election March 6.

Loosen Ties

LONDON (AP) — Australia's new Labor government is going to ask Britain to give up its last vestiges of authority over the former colony, says Sen. Lionel Murphy, attorney general and minister of customs for the commonwealth.

"It is unbelievable that 73 years after Australia became a commonwealth, Britain still has residual legislative, executive and judicial authority over Australia," Murphy said Sunday.

Other officials emphasized that Australia will not break all its special ties with Britain and become a republic. They said Queen Elizabeth II still will be regarded as the constitutional head of state.

Clinton Official Has Lion Problem

CLINTON (AP) — "I have a lion in my town," says Clinton First Selectwoman Margery Scully. "I don't want a lion in my town..."

Robert Tucker, who defied an order by Mrs. Scully to get his lion out of town by midnight Saturday, looks at things differently.

"It's a case of what you like," Tucker said Sunday. "Some people go to the track and spend money, some drink. I like animals."

The animal in question is Kimba, a 120-pound, eighth-month-old lion which is living on Tucker's 14-acre farm for several months. A temporary 90-day permit expired Dec. 27, but was extended until midnight Saturday.

Mrs. Scully said she was concerned with public safety. "If it ever got loose and mutilated someone I couldn't live with myself," she said.

The next step, Mrs. Scully said, would be decided in a meeting with town council.

Tucker said the answer was simple. "I'm willing to fence in five

Coventry Land Purchases Spur 'New Town' Rumors

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent
Tel. 742-8795

Speculation continues to grow in Coventry over the possibility that recent sales of large parcels of land might be connected with Greater Hartford Process' "new town." The land, about 1,100 acres which has sold for in excess of a quarter of a million dollars, is all located in the town's northwest section, some of it near the borders of Bolton, Tolland and Vernon.

The Town Council met Sunday morning in an informal session to discuss and review the matter, which has many residents believing that the old airport issue is being revived or that the area is perhaps the planned site for a race track.

But a review of the procedures seems to indicate that the best bet is Greater Hartford Process.

Six parcels of land turned up in the land records at the town hall in November, all connected with a Rochester, New York man, Edwin Larken. Larken is an attorney, and is also connected with a project in Wayne County, New York, outside Rochester, called the New Wayne Communities.

Investigation has shown that this project is a "new community" projected for 50,000 people within 20 years. While Larken himself has been unreachable, it is known that he does put together packages of this type.

Officials of Greater Hartford Process have, when contacted, said that, where their new town is concerned, their policy is to neither confirm nor deny the possibility that Coventry is the chosen site.

In the meantime, several council members have received numerous telephone calls from residents in the area where land is being purchased, indicating that increasing pressures are being applied to landowners to yield to either option or outright sale of their properties in the next few days.

Town Councilman Robert Keller has himself been approached and asked to sell his 20-acre parcel of land, which fronts on Rt. 44A. The land sold so far, while not in contiguous parcels, is bounded roughly by Rt. 44A, the Bolton and Tolland town lines, and Carpenter Rd. The council estimates that, in addition to the already recorded 1,100 acres, another 1,000 is being sought by the developers, judging by reports from residents who have been approached and asked to sell their land.

The council, in a statement issued following the Sunday morning meeting, expressed concern over the apparent secrecy of the matter. Members said that, in an effort "to seek definitive answers" officials of Greater Hartford Process, the Department of Environmental Protection, Cong. Robert Steele's office, and officials of other towns have all been contacted, with no answers forthcoming. The council has also requested an immediate meeting with Larken himself, "to shed light on these developments." While not commenting on the merit or lack of merit involved in a planned "new town", town officials have expressed concern that, because of the nature of such a project, local zoning regulations could be by-passed in favor of direct legislation by the developers.

Several factors have been cited by various town officials as lending weight to the Greater Hartford Process "new town" theory. These include the land's proximity to both I-94 and I-86, plus the fact that the state is actively pursuing the installation of sewers in the southern part of town, which could then be easily extended to the area under speculation.

Several Communities Marking King Day

By The Associated Press
Public schools in at least five Connecticut cities were closed today in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

In many schools which remained open officials planned commemorative services for King, slain in Memphis, Tenn., April 4, 1968, by an assassin's bullet. Had he lived, King would have been 44 years old today.

Local officials ordered the public school closings in Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport, Norwalk and Waterbury.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill named the memorial day in a proclamation, but he left observances to individuals, urging schools to hold commemorative programs. Last year Meskill vetoed a bill that would have made King's birthday a state holiday, saying the price tag would be too high.

In a number of communities, churches held observances on Sunday. Stamford Mayor Julius Wilensky addressed a crowd of some 200 persons at the Wilson Memorial Church of God in Christ.

Wilensky said King "waged his noble fight for social justice the hard way, with non-violent but effective methods that earned him respect of both black and white Americans."

Haig Said To Be Delivering Revised Pact To Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Official South Vietnamese sources said today that Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr. is bringing a revised draft peace agreement to Saigon. And a leading newspaper quoted an unnamed source as saying a cease-fire might occur before Feb. 3, the Tet new year.

The newspaper, Tin Song, often regarded as the official voice of President Nguyen Van Thieu's palace, quoted another source as saying the Saigon government was "neither optimistic nor pessimistic" about peace.

Haig, the U.S. Army vice chief of staff, was flying to Saigon to report to Thieu on the latest round of private Paris peace talks between Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho. He was due here early Tuesday.

Thieu, meanwhile, met with members of his National Security Council, his closest group of senior aides, to lay groundwork for the meeting with Haig.

Official sources said the meeting lasted eight hours, the longest ever held by the council, and involved an intensive review of Saigon's positions on an Indochina peace settlement.

From reports relayed from Paris by his own chief negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, and through U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, Thieu already knows what changes have been made in the latest version of the draft agreement which originally was negotiated last October.

Well informed sources said Saturday that Saigon saw "encouraging signs" in Paris on the issue of South Vietnamese sovereignty, which Thieu says must be provided for in any agreement he will sign.

The sources said Thieu had rejected a new Communist proposal which would provide for North and South Vietnam to be recognized as separate states if the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government was given equal status as a third.

At the same time, the sources indicated the possibility of a compromise by Thieu on his demand that the agreement specifically provide for the total withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam.

Under the reported compromise, the sources said, there would be a "tacit understanding" on withdrawal in the peace treaty itself. But those provisions would be spelled out in one of the accompanying technical protocols.

There has been no official comment on this report.

Israeli Premier Meets With Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Golda Meir conferred with Pope Paul VI today amid expectations that the first papal audience accorded an Israeli premier might lead to formal diplomatic relations between the Vatican and the Jewish state.

The unexpected arrival in Rome of a ranking Israeli official in charge of religious affairs indicated to the possibility of the start of talks over the future of holy places in Jerusalem, controlled by Israel since the 1967 Middle East war.

The official, Meir Mendes, the deputy director general of Israel's Ministry for the Religious Affairs declined to discuss with newsmen his plans while in Rome. He described his visit as private.

Mrs. Meir's car drove into St. Peter's Square shortly after noon. She had earlier been at the Quirinal Palace where she had a talk on the Middle East with the Italian president.

Scores of armed policemen stood watch on two large balconies commanding the wide Via della Conciliazione and St. Peter's Square as the car reached the Vatican escorted by a dozen motorcycle-mounted policemen.

About 200 persons watched Mrs. Meir entering through the Gate of the Bells. Policemen in the square nearly outnumbered the watchers.

Vatican sources said the discussions between the Pope and Mrs. Meir centered on the Middle East as well as the status of Jerusalem. The informants also said the Vatican may have decided to play a role in the search for an Arab-Israeli settlement.

Fuel Oil Meeting Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., and Norris Cotton, R-N.H., said today the New England Congressional delegation has called for a meeting with top administration officials to discuss "an imminent fuel oil crisis" in the region.

The meeting was set for 3:30 p.m. Tuesday. McIntyre said among those asked to meet with the New England delegation were Treasury Secretary George P. Schultz; Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton; George Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness; and Peter Flanagan, a presidential assistant.

McIntyre said the oil supply industry has warned that unless corrective action is taken immediately a fuel oil shortage is imminent.

"We'll be particularly interested in finding out what federal actions are now being taken to assure adequate supplies of home heating oil in our region for the rest of the winter," he said.

He said he hoped "the administration realizes that an overhaul of (the oil import) quota system must be carried out if we're going to insure necessary supplies of petroleum products."

Welfare Reform Slated For Only Minor Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare reform, a thorny issue on Capitol Hill during President Nixon's first term, is slated to get only minor attention in the 93rd Congress.

While President Nixon may submit some new welfare proposals this year, tentative schedules of the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance committees leave little time for a major attempt to change the system.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee chairman, said in an interview he hoped to approve some relatively minor legislation on welfare early in the session.

But any big bill would have to originate in the House. Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., succeeded in getting that chamber to pass Nixon's welfare-reform plan in the last two Congresses, but each time the Senate killed it.

This year Mills has indicated he will have his hands full with tax reform, reciprocal trade, national health care, and reform of private pension plans.

Mills has said also he sees little to be gained from another battle over welfare reform in view of the frustrating results of his two previous efforts.

Administration officials say, meanwhile, their new welfare proposals probably will contain some of the features of Nixon's Family Assistance Plan (FAP) first submitted in 1969.

The two principal provisions of FAP are a guaranteed annual income of $2,400 for a family of four and benefits for the working poor.

If they again are included, the plan will continue to be in difficulty in the Senate Finance Committee. Conservatives who dominate that panel cited these provisions as unacceptable in their successful drives to defeat the House-passed legislation in 1970 and 1972.

The Finance Committee has six new members in this Congress, but its conservative-liberal balance is the same.

Long won a promise from Mills last session that the House would send to the Senate early in 1973 a welfare bill containing some provisions of earlier bills. Long says he still

Military Actions Halted

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP)

— President Nixon ordered a halt Monday to all offensive military operations in North Vietnam "because of the progress made" in Paris peace talks, the Florida White House said.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon's order took effect at 10 a.m. EST and includes "bombing, shelling and any further mining of North Vietnam."

The White House spokesman described the move as "a unilateral gesture" that followed an exhaustive presidential assessment of the negotiations.

Ziegler refused to discuss reports that Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's peace negotiator, and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho have, for all practical purposes, already reached an accord.

He did say in response to a question:

"Dr. Kissinger will be returning to Paris at some point in the relatively near future."

State Government Said Unresponsive

HARTFORD (AP) — The head of the state National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says state government, including Democratic legislators, has become unresponsive to the needs of "little people."

"Many legislators, Democratic and Republican, have turned their backs on the little people in the state," Ben Andrews said Sunday night on WTIC-TV's "Face the State" program.

Among legislation Andrews said could be passed would be a reduction of taxes that fall heaviest on the poor, such as the sales tax.

Andrews repeated his allegations that Gov. Thomas J. Meskill hasn't opened enough doors to involvement by minority people in state government.

"There's a lack of responsiveness...to needs of many people, not just blacks," Andrews said. "There's been a cutback on the national level as well as on the state level in areas that are meaningful to us."

It isn't so much doing the wrong thing, Andrews said, as failing to consider reperussions of state decisions on minority groups, as well as failing to include minority people in the decision-making process.

Andrews said that discrimination is less obvious today, but that doesn't make the situation for blacks any better than 20 years ago.

"We're worse off now than we were 10 years ago, or even 20 years ago," Andrews said.

"Discrimination has gone underground," he said. "It's harder to recognize. Its more complex."

But, he said, it's still there. "Racism has become a part of the American system, like mom's apple pie and baseball," he said.

"Our concern is with the institutionalized kind of racism," Andrews said. The hallmarks of "institutionalized racism" are "lack of concern, lack of sensitivity...unwillingness to accept minorities in management positions," he said.

One result, he said, has been a difficulty in recruiting. "People are unwilling "to get involved because they don't understand...the issues are so complex."

DECEPTIVE PLAY WINS
VITA TRICK
 By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
 You can't cheat an honest man, veteran men agree; but the statement is almost meaningless because practically everybody has a touch of larceny in his makeup. This is deep philosophy, of course, but nothing is too deep for regular readers of this column.

North dealer
 Neither side vulnerable
 Opening lead - Six of Spades
 West opened the bid. Six of Spades, East put up the king and South won with the ace. Declarer made his next play without hesitation, but let's study the hand for a moment before we go on.

South is sure to win two spades and three hearts. He needs four tricks more to make the contract. He can win three tricks in either clubs or diamonds, but he must win one trick in the other suit.

South's Reasoning
 If South tackles either suit in a straightforward manner, the opponents will take the ace of the suit and lead a second spade. When South gets around to the second minor suit, the enemy will be ready to take that ace and the rest of the spades. South will therefore be defeated.

The best chance to make the contract is to "steal" one trick in clubs or diamonds. South did just this by leading the jack of diamonds at the second trick, appealing to West's larceny.

West nonchalantly played low, hoping that South planned a finesse and that East would be the one to take the trick.

Cognac Caches Gave Their Locations Away
 Cognac, France—In the great cognac warehouses in southwestern France a watchful eye is kept on the stores of this precious spirit, which divide daily as thousands of gallons are poured into the air and deposited a blackish film on rooftops and building fronts.

This telltale mark helped the U.S. Coast Guard forces in World War II detect hidden stores of cognac.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"

by John Gruber

I have recently returned from holidays in Germany. Of course, for me, a holiday includes going to opera and I'm going to tell you a couple of productions I saw there, since despite the fact that they are standards which can be seen in the U.S. there are differences in production in which I think you might be interested.

Christmas Night I went to "Die Meistersinger von Nuerberg" at the Theater in Stuttgart. Stuttgart is a city of about a million-and-a-half people, and like most German cities has a resident opera company and a season about 40 weeks long.

"Meistersinger" is my favorite opera, and possibly the one I know best. In fact, it is one of the few operas I have memorized right down to the second bassoon part. In this regard I was obviously ahead of Josef Duennwald who conducted; he didn't know the score.

I understand he was not the regular conductor for this work, and substituted because of illness. Nevertheless he was of little help to the orchestra which should have known the work cold in any event. Herr Duennwald kept his nose in the score all evening and provided nothing more by way of direction than a steady beat.

Wagner's music-dramas depend on the orchestra every bit as much as they do on the singers, so I can't say the performance was exemplary. The singers themselves, as might be expected in a stock company, were uneven.

I enjoyed the Eva and the Magdalena immensely. It was such a relief to have two singers apparently in their twenties who might conceivably be in love with Walther and David, respectively. In this country you always get a big named star, at least for Eva, who is in her forties and built along the general lines of a nuclear submarine.

Eva was sung by Irmgard Stadler and Magdalena by Ursula Sutter, neither of whom I had heard of, let alone heard in actuality. Both sang musically and with good diction. They also moved around

Firemen Complete Plans For Feb. 24 Ladies Night

Committees have been named and plans are being completed for the 29th Annual Town of Manchester Fire Department's Ladies' Night.

Miss Amanda Dennison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Dennison of 700 Spring St. and a sophomore at the Stoneleigh-Burnham School in Greenfield, Mass., received high honors for the first trimester.

Miss Nancy Banks of Meriden has been assigned to work in the Manchester Municipal Building starting Wednesday, under the program, Minorities in Management and Planning, being co-sponsored by the Capitol Region Council of Governments.

Other co-sponsors are the Capitol Region Planning Agency, the University of Hartford, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and the four towns participating in the program—Manchester, Hartford, Bloomfield and Windsor.

Miss Banks is a 1972 graduate of Southern Connecticut State College, with a degree in Political Science. She and the other participants in the program are enrolled in the University of Hartford Graduate School of Public Administration as full-time master's degree candidates.

Tickets are available at any of the Town of Manchester firehouses, on a "first-come first-served basis," announced Stavitsky.

Swedes Profit On World's Misfortunes

How would you like a minimum unemployment salary of $7 a day? Or a 90 per cent salary during sickness?

Or half your dental bills paid? If these and other proposals are adopted, you'll have them if you happen to be a Swedish citizen.

The new social reforms were announced recently in Sweden, considered by many as the world's most advanced welfare state, as a part of the Social Democrat government's $13.9 billion budget which will be financed mainly by employers.

It will mean an increase, along with increases for defense and foreign aid, of 8.5 per cent in the nation's budget. However, one must remember Sweden is in a unique position in the world today. It has not been ravaged by war nor has had to fight a war in this century. Its neutrality, rigidly or wrongly, has enabled it to cash in on war through sale of its weaponry to participants on both sides.

The point we are making, in the light of its government's recent criticism American involvement in Southeast Asia, is that the Swedes are enjoying their favored welfare state status largely because it is a "political parasite" which has profited in many instances off the misfortunes of the rest of the world.

We realize there are those in this nation who equate the Swedish welfare state as an ideal which the U.S. too should strive to achieve and have formulated a so called "peace bonus" concept to finance it. This concept, already shot down by most economists, simply stated propounds that the money now being spent on the war can be diverted to social reforms if the war is ended.

This ignores the vastly different roles of the two nations, the U.S. and Sweden, in the world today. Where Sweden generously contributes millions to foreign aid, we even more generously contribute billions. Where the Swedes are a small rather homogenous country, the U.S. is large and diversified.

Where Sweden is in effect an "isolationist" today and has been for decades, the U.S. is not and hopefully as far as many emerging and underdeveloped nations of the world are concerned, will never become isolationist again.

So while the Swedish welfare system might make some liberal mouths water; it should be remembered Sweden may be able to do these things only because other nations of the world have chosen the more expensive and arduous course of involvement with their neighbors in peace and in war while Sweden opted for the free ride.

And as wonderful as the socialized Swedish world is painted by some; we don't detect any great rush to the ships sailing for Stockholm.

Congress Spins Its Wheels

Congress is spinning its wheels in debating a cutoff of military funds for the fighting in Vietnam. Every member, from Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, on down, knows well that it is not possible for them to legislate the release of American prisoners of war held in North Vietnam.

Hanoi, only Hanoi, can end the war. If Hanoi really wants to end the war, there are two ways to do it quickly.

The first is to accept the ceasefire agreement, return the prisoners of war, and let the American troops pull out without harassment. The second, which might appeal to Hanoi, if it had any understanding of America, would be to free all the prisoners and leave the next move to President Nixon.

American anti-war sentiment and the doves in Congress would re-double their efforts to force a shutdown of American activity in Indochina and the administration might have to leave South Vietnam to fend for herself on the theory that "Vietnamization" has made a successful defense possible. As the Paris talks resumed in a frigid atmosphere, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird told Congress South Vietnam now is able to defend itself.

In any event, we have not undertaken to defend South Vietnam forever or to guarantee peace in Indochina. Our objective is to end the fighting in an honorable way and that would be possible if North Vietnam shows good faith in concluding the settlement almost reached in November. The United States has done all that could be expected by an ally. The future is up to the Vietnamese.

Hanoi has consistently overrated the strength of anti-war sentiment in the United States and particularly in Congress. While moves in Congress to cut off funds for continuing the war may have hardened Hanoi's determination at the peace talks, Hanoi should see there isn't too much difference in the Democrats' position and that of the administration.

The Democratic caucus voted to cut off funds but only after arrangement for return of the prisoners. So the caucus action leaves the peace negotiations right where they have been all along — in the hands of President Nixon and Henry Kissinger. Surely, they are entitled to silence from Americans, rather than partisan carping, as they press on with their patient peace effort amid difficulties sufficient to try the patience of a saint.

This is the time for the negotiators on both sides to reach at least a minimum agreement without raising new difficulties.

Whether North Vietnam wins its point that there is one Vietnam, not two, is going to be settled eventually by the North and the South, whether in peaceful negotiations, at the polls, or in more bloody fighting.

The promise of American aid to rehabilitate the war ravaged areas should be persuasive in bringing both sides to see the wisdom of peace, however troubled.

In response to the letter to the editor titled "Indictments," if the purpose of Ms. Embardo's letter to the editor was the rouse other people's wrath and emotions, she certainly was successful in doing just that to me.

For a person who claims that President Nixon is a liar and a cheat she certainly seems to breathe these very same characteristics upon herself. Her opinions about President Nixon must have been deprived with little forethought and research. Any learned person would see that if this nation would listen and follow the recommendations of this President our country would be in much better shape.

How can anyone be anything less than ashamed and embarrassed when they make such crude and slanderous statements about President Nixon when they themselves are so uninformed?

I also find it amusing that Ms. Embardo had the audacity (or is it stupidity?) to call President a "traitor to our country."

It is people like her who usually are called traitors. She has fallen for all of Hanoi's tactics to make this country divided, thereby making peace settlements more difficult. It is the pressure by these "left wing groups" to put President Nixon sign the original, or any peace agreement, that is so traitorous.

Maybe she needs to grow up and become more informed. She should try reading the periodicals that are writing with different biases. Her "indictments" sound like quotes taken directly from "The Militant" or "The New Republic." She might try reading "U.S. News and World Report" or the "National Review" to get a less, left-wing attitude. After reading more and deriving substantiated accusations maybe someone will

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's refusal to permit Secretary of State William P. Rogers to testify on the bombing of North Vietnam now threatens him with this reprisal: a Senate boycott of all his nominations to high diplomatic posts in the second Nixon administration. The threat is still unspoken and will never be spelled out by dovish Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But the implicit threat is now accepted as reality by the Nixon administration.

This response is surely regarded by Mr. Nixon as a powder-puff reprisal, reflecting congressional impotence in the face of the Vietnam war. But thoughtful Republicans, both in the administration and in Congress, know that Mr. Nixon's post-election hauteur in handling Congress regarding Vietnam is further eroding his relations with Capitol Hill. By refusing to permit Rogers even to make a token appearance, the President is stockpiling adversity that could plague his second term.

If Rogers had been allowed to testify, it is doubtful whether the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, with the full consent of conservative Democrats, would now be demanding "commitments" that Nixon appointees agree to testify after they take office as a price of confirmation. Thus, one of Mr. Nixon's highest officials has quietly informed the White House that Mr. Nixon must allow Rogers to appear before both Fulbright's committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee or risk alienating "all our friends"—Republicans included—in Congress. This official says privately that once Rogers shows up in Capitol Hill—even if he says nothing—the dozen or so high-level diplomatic appointees will be cleared quickly. "When Bill Fulbright gets his word, you can count on him," he adds.

The list of diplomatic appointments is headed by Kenneth Rush, moving from deputy secretary of Defense to ambassador to the White House as ambassador to the State, and William Porter, emissary at the Vietnam war, was virtually promoted to under secretary for political affairs. The list of ambassadors is long and growing. Not one has yet been scheduled for an appearance before Fulbright's committee.

Fulbright's last public statement on the explosive crisis now building between Congress and the President on the Vietnam war was virtually an ultimatum: either the President gets a settlement in the Paris talks by Jan. 20 or the Foreign Relations Committee begins hearings on end-of-war legislation.

In truth, neither this nor any other committee in the Democratic-controlled Congress can force Mr. Nixon to agree to testify after they take office as a price of confirmation. Thus, one of Mr. Nixon's highest officials has quietly informed the White House that Mr. Nixon must allow Rogers to appear before both Fulbright's committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee or risk alienating "all our friends"—Republicans included—in Congress. Thrall Bid Before ZBA

A request for a variance to allow parking of school buses on land at Highland Park is scheduled for a public hearing tonight by the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA).

The variance request, submitted by Manchester Business owner Elmer Thrall, is one of four items set for hearings. The session is to start at 7 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room.

Thrall wants to park the buses on the south side of Interstate 84, west of Glen Rd., on former property of the Boise Cascade Corp. Thrall bought the land, which supports a tiled, old, now-closed, Case Bros. paper mill, last June.

This is Thrall's second attempt to get a variance from the ZBA for school bus parking. The first request failed due to the ZBA's inconclusive voting last May.

Thrall's contract with the Manchester Board of Education requires that school buses be stored in town, but the town's zoning regulations do not allow school bus parking in any zone. The subject site at Highland Park is in a Rural Residence Zone.

The vehicles are now housed in an old Cheney Bros. garage on Pine St., a "nonconforming use" which existed before the adoption of zoning in 1938. Parking buses in that garage has caused area traffic problems, Thrall has said, and has been a nuisance to area residents.

The other items on tonight's ZBA hearing agenda are: • K.L.I. Associates' request for a variance for special use of a floodlighted free-standing identification sign at 18-28 Prospect St., Residence Zone.

• K.L.I. Associates' variance request for a similar sign at 160-185 New State Rd., Residence A Zone.

• A variance request by Green Road Realty, Inc. to use premises at 229 Green Rd. for a wholesale store, Business I Zone.

Council To Discuss More School Funds

BARBARA VARRICK Correspondent Tel. 644-8274

Three requests for supplementary funds totaling $14,873 for the current school budget will be discussed and considered by the Town Council when it meets at 8 tonight in the Town Hall.

$11,167 is being salaries requested for teacher salaries and is necessary to meet arbitration ruling rendered June 15, 1972, between the South Windsor Education Association and the school board.

The teacher's contract was settled after the filing of the 1972-73 fiscal budget in April, and, although a pay increase was considered in budget deliberations and included in the approved budget, the amount was later agreed to in the final contract settlement.

Also being requested is $1,876 for additional life insurance for school administrators for rate and coverage increases and $1,830 for implementation of four stages of a five-phase drug education program submitted to the council by a committee on Youth Activities and approved, in part, by the board last week.

The council will consider the use of the town-owned Sand Hill and Nevers Rd. property for the Wapping Fair this year.

The appropriation of $750 for a townwide mass transit survey study is also being requested by the mass Transit Commission and the council will hear reports from Alfred Sancho, chairman of the Park and Recreation Commission, and Henry Jaskulski, chairman of the Public Building Commission.

Legion Auxiliary Meeting The January meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. E. Miller Unit 133 of South Windsor will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Stewart, 40 Oakland St., Wapping.

Members who have not received their gift books are asked to call Mrs. Stewart at her home and she will see that they are received. All must be placed in the district by Jan. 28.

Zone Rules Scrutinized

What's A Home Occupation?

By DOUGLAS BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

The thorny question of what constitutes a customary home occupation is being faced by Manchester Town Planner J. Eric Potter as he is preparing a proposal to amend the town's zoning regulations.

Potter says there is a need to define home-conducted occupations "more effectively" in the regulations. The result, he says, is expected to be "liberalizing and at the same time restricting."

Potter said recently that he has already prepared a rough draft of the proposed amendment, as part of the preliminary work in a full-scale revision of the zoning regulations.

The proposed amendment will "fill in voids" which exist in the present regulations. Potter said. The town's Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) has recently been asked to rule on an appeal dealing with the home occupation question, and the ZBA members — uncertain about what the regulations allow — have asked for advice from the town counsel.

The matter will be discussed by the ZBA tonight, when they will make provision for the decision of the appeal brought by Jeroline McCloud of 115 Woodland St. Mrs. McCloud appealed an order by the town zoning enforcement officer to cease ceramic making and related instruction at her 115 Woodland St. home.

Also at issue in the McCloud appeal is the zoning regulation provision for accessory uses. At a November hearing, Atty. Robert Gordon (representing Mrs. McCloud), said ceramics is considered an art, and the zoning regulations allow "the office or studio of an architect, artist, musician, engineer or lawyer, real estate broker, or insurance agent."

The clause continues, "Such offices shall be situated in the same building used by the said professional as his private residence and not more than three persons shall be regularly engaged in the professional activity."

The customary home occupation provision of the regulations allows occupations "such as dressmaking and millinery, when situated in the same building used as a private residence by the person providing no more than three persons shall be engaged in the activity."

The wording and provisions of both the customary home occupation and accessory uses clauses is under close scrutiny by Potter in preparation of the amendments.

"The existing zoning does not accommodate all uses," Potter said. "We must provide for them," he added.

Several uses of land, which apparently should be regulated by zoning regulations, are not even mentioned in the present regulations. Such unmentioned uses include storage and parking of school buses, garbage trucks, or trailers; or the keeping of animals which are classified somewhere between pets and livestock.

The proposed amendments will make provision for the keeping of horses, Potter noted, in explaining the regulations.

The amendments now being drafted — which will soon be the subject of public hearings — will conform to the anticipated revision of the entire set of zoning regulations, Potter said.

The first full-scale revision undertaken since zoning was adopted in 1938, the changes will basically involve rewording and rearrangement of the regulations.

The present regulations rely on many cross-references. For instance, the rules for Residence B Zones state that all uses allowed in Residence A Zones are allowed in Residence B Zones. To determine what is permitted, one must read both the Residence A and Residence B Zones sections.

The present regulations "are so inadequately written," Potter said, "that there's a great area of doubt and confusion, both in the minds of town officials and the public."

The revision job, expected to be completed within a few months, will eliminate the many cross-references, making the regulations easily readable.

The compilation of zoning regulations was "never in good shape," Potter said. "Bits and pieces were added here and there over the years," he explained.

"It's a big job," Potter noted, "and we're taking it a little at a time."

The book of zoning regulations now totals about 80 pages, plus amendments that were approved since the last publication in February 1972.

The couple plan a late summer wedding.

Mrs. Bruce Sterling Byrne

Center Congregational Church was the scene Saturday of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Jane Emmerling of Manchester and Bruce Sterling Byrne of Broad Brook, Conn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Emmerling of 175 Sunny Brook Dr., Manchester.

The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Byrne of Broad Brook.

The Rev. Windrop Nelson of Manchester officiated at the candlelight service and performed the double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with arrangements of white mums and yellow pompanos. Walter Gryzb of Manchester was organist. Doris Steiner of Manchester was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pearl and white gown with a long train. She carried a colonial bouquet of white sweethearts roses, white miniature carnations, white pompano sprays, white statice and baby's breath.

Miss Susan Elaine Emmerling of Manchester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

She wore a gold velvet gown with white mums and streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Marie Sterling of Manchester, cousin of the bridegroom; Miss Gloria Kimball of Williamatic; and Miss Susan Tomatic of Cheshire.

They wore purple velvet gowns fashioned like the honor attendants and carried single white mums with purple bows and streamers.

Miss Amy Elizabeth Perkins of Centerbrook was flower girl. She wore a long gold velvet gown and carried a white freesia basket of purple and white carnations and white and yellow pompons.

Edward Perkins of Centerbrook was best man. Ushers were Kenneth Ryback of Warehouse Point; William Harrington of Broad Brook; and Bruce Hoffman of East Hartford.

James Mark Emmerling of Manchester, the bride's brother, was ring bearer. A reception was held at Manchester Country Club, after which the couple left for Nantuxet Island, Fort Traveling.

Mrs. Byrne wore a navy blue and red checked pantsuit with white accessories. They will reside at 88 Old Ellington Rd., Broad Brook, after Jan. 21.

Mrs. Byrne is a graduate of Manchester High School and the University of Connecticut, where she received her BS in child development. She is employed by INESCO, in Waterfield, a subsidiary of Hartford National Bank.

Mr. Byrne, a graduate of East Windsor High School, attended Collegiate School in New York City and the University of Connecticut. He is employed by the Adjutant General, State of Connecticut. He is currently serving as a second lieutenant in the Connecticut Army National Guard.

Mrs. William Thomas Magnotta

Miss Lorraine Marie Scully of Ellington, became the bride of William Thomas Magnotta of Manchester, Saturday, at St. Luke's Church in Ellington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Scully of 9 Penfield Ave., Ellington. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magnotta of 32 Marshall Rd., Manchester.

The Rev. Maurice Sullivan of Ellington, officiated at the Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Karen Coughlin of Hartford, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Wilinski of Manchester, cousin of the bridegroom; Miss Sharon Magnotta of Manchester, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Bette Luniewski of Manchester; Miss Patricia Scully and Miss Cheryl Scully, both of Ellington and both sisters of the bride.

David Spencer of Manchester, was best man. The ushers were Terry Wilinski of Manchester, cousin of the bridegroom; Robert Magnotta of Manchester, the bridegroom's brother; Jack Boosfield of Columbus in the designing, manufacturing and finishing of wood products. He is president of the P.M.G. Industries Inc., East Hartford.

The couple plan a July 14 wedding.

Town Gets Payment From U.S.

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
Tel. 238-9224

First Selectman Howard Bates said at the selectmen's meeting that the town has received its second revenue-sharing check for $31,851 making a total of $65,943 with the first check received in December. The selectmen have not indicated how the money will be spent.

Russell Inzing asked the selectmen to include a clause in the warrant of the next town meeting to set aside the revenue.

Inzing indicated that if the selectmen failed to include the clause, a petition would be forthcoming which would force a town meeting on the matter. The selectmen said that the normal channels should be followed which would mean that the Board of Tax Review next month would hear any complaints from taxpayers.

Inzing said he and "many other people" think the land assessments are "way out of line."

He said if selectmen wait until the Board of Tax Review does its work it will be too late to do anything about the valuation.

According to the charter, a petition would have to contain the names of about 100 people to force a town meeting.

The selectmen have set a town meeting for Jan. 26 to hear town reports.

Bates said there would be an inclusion in the warrant for an appropriation of $1,000 to be earmarked for senior citizens and the naming of a town commission to handle the money if it is considered legal by the town council.

The board voted to pay the bill for town reports mailed to each taxpayer. It was necessary to print 216 more reports at a cost of $270 plus 16 cents to mail each copy.

Tolland Club Shows Its Crafts

The Arts Committee of the Tolland Junior Woman's Club has arranged a display of various crafts created by club members. The display, on exhibit at the Tolland Public Library contains many items which have won blue ribbons in local, county and state contests.

Included in the display are: quilts by Mrs. Thomas Morgan; knitting by Mrs. Paul Palmer; crewel embroidery by Mrs. Richard Carlson; embroidery by Mrs. Thomas Matthews; and crocheted and plastic flowers by Mrs. Roger Herberg.

The Tolland Juniors are looking for applicants for the Phipps annual scholarship, presented by the Connecticut State Federation of Women's Clubs to a woman who has completed at least two years of college and continuing work towards a bachelors or a master's degree with a B or better average. Those interested in applying may contact Mrs. James Godin, Andrew Way.

The Education Committee of the Tolland Juniors will hold a story hour for three- and four-year-olds Jan. 27, from 10-11 a.m. at the library with Mrs. John Robinson and Mrs. Jerald Wachs serving as storytellers.

The committee will hold a workshop meeting Jan. 25 at 8 p.m. at the Godin home to make hand puppets for use during the committee's story hours and for the kindergarten classes at Meadowbrook School.

Mid-Year Exams Cut Hoop Slate

By Dean Yost

It's mid-year examination time at local and area high schools and an abbreviated schedule marks play until Friday night when all nine schoolboys clubs are in action.

Today's lone attraction pits Wolcott Tech at Cheney Tech in an afternoon start. Cheney enters the contest with a 4-3 overall mark and has lost five of its last six outings. Tom Tomko, out with the flu in the Beavers' league, is expected back into the lineup.

Tuesday's schedule finds Weaver High traveling to East Catholic in a non-league affair. Rockwell meets treks to Windsor Locks in a Central Valley Conference game. In the Charter Oak Conference, Bolton visits neighboring Coventry while Cromwell stops at Rham High in Hebron.

Manchester Community College, losers in its last two games, is home Wednesday against Great Groton at Hartford C.C. in a CCCC meeting. Manchester will enter the conference game with a 4-1 record.

Friday night for the first time in the 1972-73 basketball season all three local and six area schoolboys clubs will be active.

Locally, East entertains Springfield Tech while the Manchester Indians meet Meriden at 7 p.m.

Manchester's Stan Alexander and Lanart Freeman followed Moore's 33-point outing with 11 and 10 markers in that order.

Eastern Outclasses Cougar Five, 87-68

Manchester Community College suffered its second consecutive setback this week as Eastern Connecticut State College won, 87-68, Saturday night in Willimantic.

The Cougars now sport a 7-3 over-all mark. MCC will play Greater Hartford C.C. Wednesday night at East Catholic then Norwalk Community away Saturday.

Eastern, a club which has steadily pulled away from Manchester, is in command throughout the 40-minute contest.

The victors took a quick 4-0 margin and increased it to 19-15 at the 10 minute mark. At the half, Eastern enjoyed a comfortable 43-30 advantage as they steadily pulled away from Manchester.

"We were flat," stated Cougar Coach Pat Mistretta, "when we are not kept emotionally we are not a good team. Our defense was awful. We got beat to every loose ball and they beat us badly off both boards. We didn't deserve to win."

The only bright spot for the Silk Towners was Ernie Moore's 33 points and 11 rebounds as he performed in his hometown.

The balanced Eastern array placed four players in double digits with Rick LaVigne leading the way with 24 points. Steve Synder

Robbers Win

Once again the Robbers held the upper hand in their annual court battle against the Cougars.

Last night at East Catholic High, the Robbers posted a 44-36 decision before a crowd of 700.

Approximately $700 was realized in the Manchester Junior League's annual basketball fund-raiser for the IOH, CYO and Manchester Teen Center Funds.

Manchester's Stan Alexander and Lanart Freeman followed Moore's 33-point outing with 11 and 10 markers in that order.

Breather Scheduled For Celts

The victory over Atlanta guaranteed Celtics Coach Tom Heinsohn a return birth as coach of the East Team in the NBA All-Star Game in Chicago Jan. 22.

He will be joined by John Havlicek and Dave Cowens. Six other players from the Eastern Conference are yet to be named.

Jo Jo White led the Celtics in the Philadelphia game, dropping in 29 points. It was the Celtics fifth straight victory, and it was a contest in which Boston led by as much as 31 points twice in the third quarter.

White got support from Havlicek with 17 points, Paul Silas with 16 and Don Chaney with 14.

The Celtics return home Wednesday for a tilt with Portland and play again Friday at Boston.

Friday's game will be highlighted by Tom Sanders' 17-point performance.

Sanders is scheduled to receive gifts from the Celtics, his teammates, Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., the city of Boston, the NBA, the Celtics' Top Off Fan Club and from his alma mater, New York University, among others.

Mayor Kevin H. White is to present Boston's gift.

Maryland Strategy Backfires in Loss

NEW YORK (AP) - Norm Sloan has dealt a blow to strategy and at the same time, given Maryland's Atlantic Coast Conference title hopes a kick in the pants.

Professing "no game plan," North Carolina State's coach went into Sunday's blockbuster meeting with Maryland and was unarmored with strategic plays.

It turned out better that way, as David Thompson tipped in a field goal with three seconds left to give third-ranked North Carolina State a tense 78-75 victory over the No. 2 Terrapins.

"We didn't have a last-shot play," confessed Sloan. "We didn't know when we were to play. We didn't even have a game plan. We just had general organization and tried to make something happen."

What happened to Maryland might not have happened if Coach Lefty Driesell had not used his game plan.

The Maryland coach, his team holding an 8-1 lead, led UCLA roughly five minutes left, decided to freeze the ball.

"The theory was good," Driesell said later. "The idea was to make them foul. They did and we had our best shooter at the line but it didn't work."

Tom McMillen, an 85 per cent free-throw shooter this year, missed two vital one-on-one situations and then Waltrip jumped on the mistakes.

Tom Stoddard tossed in a field goal and Thompson sank two free throws to tie the score 65-65. Then Tom Burton fired the ball toward the basket rim and Thompson picked it off in the mid-air and put it through.

North Carolina State, 11-0, thus remained one of two major college unbeaten in the land, knocking Maryland, 10-1, out of the dividing class. The top-ranked UCLA Bruins show a 12-0 record after whipping California

Northwest Tops Eagles To Repeat Earlier Win

Northwest Catholic has East Catholic's number.

For the second time in 11 days the Indians dealt the Eagles a loss by winning Saturday night's Hartford County Conference thriller, 63-60, at the University of Hartford gym.

In the conference, Northwest now sports a 2-1 record and 7-2 overall. East dipped to 3-2 in the HCC with both losses being administered by Northwest.

For Northwest this was the first time in the 10-year history of the two clubs that green-clad Indians won the seasonal series.

Playing before a capacity house, East came out with a spotty offense which saw Northwest take a 16-11 lead after the first eight minutes of play. Northwest enjoyed the margin when outside shooter Mike Klimas came out nine of his game 16 points.

With the Indians' 6-8 center Steve Balkun controlling both backboards, East managing only one shot at the hoop, closed the deficit to 30-27 at the half behind Joe Whelton's eight points.

"If we didn't dig our hole so deep early, I think our momentum could have caught them, but the deficit was too much," East Coach Stan Ogronik noted.

"All I ask of my players is to give 100 per cent. We played as hard as we could, but were beaten by a bigger team. They gave it all they had," the mentor added.

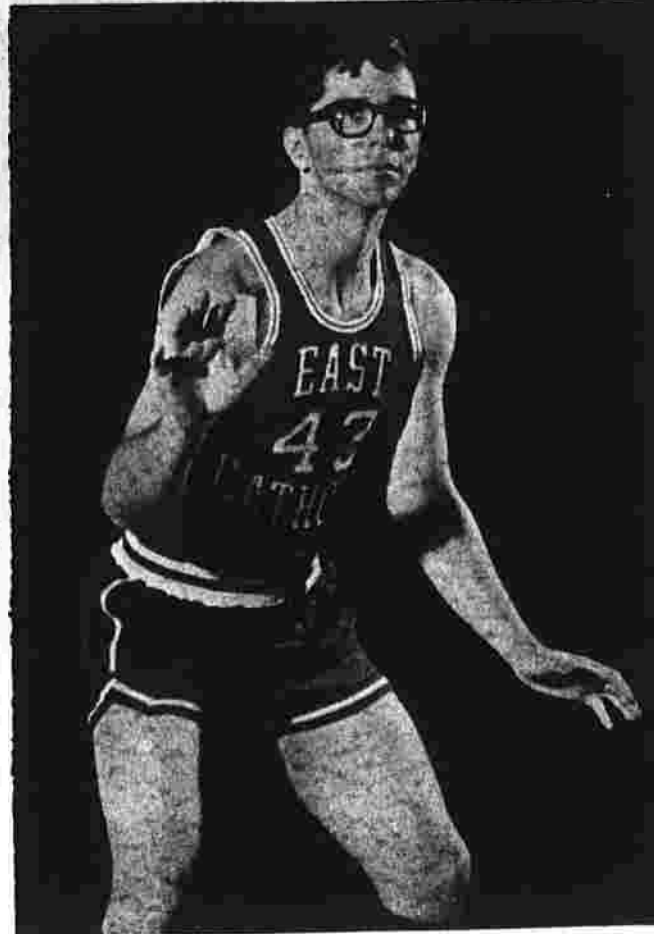

Balkun hauled in 23 rebounds and Mike Klimas netted nine rebounds.

Northwest's Jim Hickey was the game's top scorer with 19 while Klimas had 15.

The Eagles' McKean netted 18 while Whelton and Gorra followed with 18 and 13 markers respectively.

UConns More Comfortable Playing in Cold Weather

Freezing Connecticut seems to be more comfortable than sunny Florida for the University of Connecticut basketball team.

In an action Saturday night involving Connecticut basketball teams, Fairfield beat Brown, 79-69; Bridgeport beat Middlebury, 81-63; Colby stomped Colgate, 76-71.

Wesleyan won 5-4, held a 30-23 halftime lead and Middlebury never came closer than that 16-point margin for the remainder of the contest. Middlebury's cold shooting saw the Panthers convert only 35 per cent of their attempts from the floor.

Coast Guard never seriously threatened Colby College, as Brad Moore led Colby to victory with 24 points in the game at Waterville, Maine. Coast Guard and Colby each added the contest with a 4-2 record.

The Warrior of Eastern Connecticut State rose to leads of 12 and 20 points before finally dumping visiting Rhode Island College by a 22-point advantage. Goo Charrier had 25 points for Eastern, while Bill Coleman scored 22. Eastern's record now is tied at 5-5.

Quinnipiac traveled to Connecticut and rolled up six straight wins midway through the last period to gain a lead they held for the rest of the game.

The Huskies held a comfortable 42-33 halftime lead but let Connecticut close the gap to 49-45, with 15 minutes remaining.

Connecticut then rolled up six straight wins midway through the last period to gain a lead they held for the rest of the game.

State Has 365 Non-Public Schools

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Civil Liberties Union (CCLU) says that 65 per cent of the 365 non-public schools in Connecticut are church-related. Non-public school enrollment is 101,679, compared with 667,761 students in state public schools, the CCU says in statistics prepared for a federal court challenge of the state's enrollment law.

A preliminary test of the suspected drugs, made at Police Headquarters shortly after the 3 a.m. incident, showed the plain-like substance to be marijuana, and the tablets were tested further by the state's toxicology laboratory, police said.

ZBA Allows Variance For Bus Parking Area

BY DOUG BEVINS (Herald Staffer) The Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) Monday night granted a variance to Elmer Thrall, owner of the Manchester Bus Service, to allow parking of school buses on the property at Highland Park.

ZBA members voted unanimously to approve Thrall's second request, which was substantially different than the first request which failed last May.

The ZBA, voting in closed session after public hearings, attached three conditions to the variance — that the 1.84 and Glen Rd. sides of the parcel be screened, that the ground be treated to hold down dust in summer; and that lighting of the parking lot be "subdued" so it won't create a nuisance for area residents.

The public hearing on Thrall's request was relatively short, and there was no public opposition as there was when Thrall first requested a variance last year.

Mr. Thrall, representing Thrall, said the major differences in the two applications were that the new one involved a smaller area for bus parking, and that the new plans would do much less damage to the environment.

The old proposal would have required removal of much of the natural screening (trees and shrubs) in the area, Shea said. But the new plans, which shea attempted to answer some of the objections, call for removal of no trees whatsoever.
