Safety Glass Legislation Requested

ROCKVILLE - Gov. Thomas J. Meskill will press for legislation to require that automobile windows be equipped with plastic or safety glass in place of their own cinder and stone.

Meskill said a survey of several state hospitals indicated many injuries result from the shattering of breakable glass in such applications. He urged legislative action to guard our Connecticut residents, particularly our youngsters, against their own carelessness and enthusiasm.

He said that Process and Devo were aware of the need for sewers in the area, and were satisfied with road access to the site, feeling that the town was not dependent upon the final location of 184. What effect the proposed sewer system, not yet approved by voters, would have on the site will have to be studied, particularly since the sewer proposal as it now stands, would service only the southern portion of the town.

Some discussion at the Saturday meeting also centered on the fact that Coventry's problems in the lake and village area must be solved, and cannot be put aside to devote all energy to the sewer project. It was stressed that Devo and Process intend to treat Coventry as an entire community, and that they would work with the town in this area as well, offering whatever assistance they can.

Another topic of special interest to the PZC, was the proposed system of social service moratorium on other development within the town. Sheas said they would look into this.

Noting that the new community will not be instant city, Sheas said that the development of the new community would offer "an unmatched opportunity to plan, design and control, to examine redevelopment and establish good life support systems. There will be opportunities to respect the

Seats Excellent For Parade View

Connecticut's delegation to Pres. Nixon's second inauguration had excellent seats to view the passing parade, whose route was "The Spirit of '76." They were just about the best in the house, directly across from the Presidential reviewing stand and next to the press box. It was about as perfect as any parade could be, surpassing the one four years ago.

Leading the parade was a musical unit from Old Saybrook, appropriately garbed for the theme in colonial uniforms. The Governor's Foot Guard Bands and units of the Post and Horse Guards represented our state.

On Inauguration Day, it is traditional for Congress to open their offices to people from their areas. Many Connecticut people went to Rep. Robert Steele's office for refreshments before and after the swearing-in ceremony. Steele arrived a few minutes late, having returned from his South American trip in the early hours of the morning. His wife was with him.

Before the Inaugural Ball, a Connecticut cocktail party was held at the Statler Hilton, headquarters for the state representation. Five balls, including a special one for young people, were held. The Connecticut party attended the one at the Smithsonian Institute's Building of History and Technology, where they had good four years ago.

Six bands and various ethnic entertainment went on simultaneously, various points throughout the building, including the Lester Lanin and Ray Block Orchestras, a steel band from the Virgin Islands, and an Afro-American singing group.

Upon leaving the ball, guests received an official inaugural book, a hard-bound volume beautifully executed. Gentlemen were presented with cuff links, and ladies a pendant that can be worn on a chain or charm bracelet.

All official inauguration events were overwrought. There was often poor control of traffic. There was, however, a general feeling of happiness and gaiety at all functions. It was as though the huge celebration of all ages and from different backgrounds were at once together. People spoke to total strangers as if they were longtime friends. This was a moment of history, sometimes frustrating, but well worth it.

This system eliminates the indignities of the fixed route bus system, Goodrich said. "It doesn't leave little old ladies standing out in the cold, waiting for the bus."

A map and frame was stolen from the tennis and parking area at Wickham Park last week, police reported. Replacement cost was estimated at $160.

Police Department reports all outdoor winter activities like skating, coasting and hockey have been canceled until further notice.

Cold weather and snow is necessary for all maintained areas to be used again.

Warren D. Goodrich, a Union Aircraft Corp. research engineer, said the Transportation Department paid him $66,000 to develop the plan, which would use computers to schedule minute-by-minute the runs of 90 buses among depots in Hartford, East Hartford, Windsor Locks. The fare would be 10 cents per passenger mile.

But with U.S. negotiator Henry A. Kissinger returning from Paris after displaying public handshakes and smiles with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho, it appeared that Nixon was poised to break his months-long silence on the peace negotiations.

The indications were fortified by the fact that Nixon was spending the morning in his White House suite in the Executive Office Building.

The hideaway suite is often used by the President when he is preparing major speeches or announcements.

Technical experts of the United States and North Vietnam met Monday night in detail the operation of the agreement.

Both Lam and the Viet Cong's foreign minister, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Xuan, were excluded from the secret talks between Kissinger and Tho.

Reports from Saigon said President Nguyen Van Thieu has approved the agreement in principle but still may have to be consulted on the final wording.

Medical insurance and retraining of the high school athletic field are two items that will require further study. The first, Dr. Kennedy said, may be $2,000 overbudget; on the second, a decision will be made whether to place it in the operating or capital improvements budget.

Other requests: $50,000 for installation of burglar alarm systems at all schools, with connections to central control; $25,000 for conversion of a shower room to media center at Buckley; $21,500 for anti-pollution controls on incinerators.

An avalanche of several hundred million dollars was offered for sale in Switzerland, a senior Swiss National Bank official said.

Joseph Blumenfeld was hearing a continuation of a decision in June 1971 by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas F. Murphy.

Murphy granted a preliminary injunction opening the airport's north-south runway to its full 5,600-foot length.

Volcano Erupts REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) - An armada of fishing boats and planes evacuated 5,000 Icelanders early today from a small island off the southeast coast after a volcano on the island erupted for the first time in history.

By dawn the lava had reached the outskirts of Vestmannaeyjar, the only town on the island of Heymey, but by then only 300 of the 5,300 islanders remained to be taken off.

Secretary of State George Shaffer recalled her impression of Johnson when he visited her home in 1963.

"I never realized how handsome he was until I saw him that day in person," she said Monday. "Later I was struck by how tired and worn he became so suddenly after he became president."

Like many other Mrs. Schaffer praised Johnson's domestic accomplishments, saying "he was caught in the quagmire of Vietnam."

None more highly praised those accomplishments than John Briscoe, president of the State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

"I think we've lost a man who brought more leadership to the fight against poverty and inequality of opportunity, for equal rights and for a better job situation than any other American president we've had," said Briscoe.

Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, the Third District's emissary to Washington for 14 years, said Medicare, civil rights legislation, voting rights laws, housing programs, aid to education -

On Sept. 9, 1960, Johnson brought his vice presidential campaign to Hartford where he discarded a prepared speech and delivered an off-the-cuff exhortation to his listeners to disregard the religious issue in John F. Kennedy's quest for the presidency.

On another trip, in 1963, Johnson spoke at a testimonial for the late Sen. Thomas J. Dodd who in 1967 was censured by the Senate after an investigation into his financial affairs.

When Johnson inherited the presidency, he inherited the stars in Indochina. Following his election as chief executive in 1964 by a landslide margin, he greatly expanded the U.S. involvement in Indochina and opposition to the war mounted at home. The war eventually was a major factor in his dramatic announcement in March of 1968 that he would not seek reelection.

On Monday, 51 minutes before he was pronounced dead, Secret Service agents responding to his pleas found Johnson slumped on the bedroom floor of his ranch in Johnson City and began a desperate 85-mile trip by air to Brooke Army Medical Center here in hopes of saving his life.

Col. L. R. Hieger, chief of pathology at Brooke, performed an autopsy on Johnson's body late Monday night and listed the official cause of death as coronary thrombosis.

The former president had severe coronary artery disease, with complete occlusion of three major arteries to the heart. A third artery was about 60 per cent occluded.

Complete results of the autopsy await further evaluation, said Dr. George (See Page 10)

The Sewer Commission is meeting tonight at 8 o'clock and will discuss the Avers-Sullivan sewer extension project, part of a $2.2 million project approved by voters two years ago.

The new business commission will discuss the Rye St. sewer extension line from Sullivan Ave. to the Mansanto Chemical plants.

OPTICAL ILLUSION SNARES DEFENDERS
By ALBERT SHEINWOLD
Bridge players are creatures of habit. The expert you to ruff your losers in the dummy. If you don't ruff, they assume that you cannot have any losers.

West opened the queen of hearts, holding the trick. South ruffed the next heart and looked around for a way to develop 12 tricks.

If he ruffed his losing diamond in the dummy, he would wind up with a losing club in each hand. There was no chance of deceiving the enemy if he kept the king of hearts in dummy.

The defender with the ace of diamonds would see clearly that he had to hold on to that card for dear life, and he would allow the other defender to stop the club.

South Windsor Ideas Offered For Spending

BARBARA VARRICK
Correspondent

Stabilization and reduction of town taxes was emphasized for use of the Revenue Sharing program received by the town at an informational meeting of the Town Council with the public.

He suggested that books, rather than library construction be purchased, and further suggested that the Capital Goals and Improvements Fund, the two-million tax levy be discontinued easing the burden on the tax payer.

Also attending were officers of the newly formed South Windsor Association of Citizens. Its president, Alan Ober commented that South Windsor currently pays the highest amount of taxes when compared with surrounding towns, except Hartford.

Echoing Ober was citizen Raymond Hollowell of 534 Deming St., who said that this was taxpayers' money coming back to the town and placed his vote for tax stabilization over repair and construction of roads.

South Windsor's Town Clerk, Charles N. Egan came as an invited guest. He said that the town will be subject to a referendum to eliminate the car tax for stored cars already accumulated in the town building. He said that the police department, which has been in the building for only four years, has 20 cars already and space is beginning to get tight.

He further suggested additional informational sessions as more become known of the funds.

Mayor Glassman said that a meeting concerning Revenue Sharing and Capital Goals will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Town Hall and invited the public to this workshop session.

Andover PZC Deletes Rule On Early Plans

ANNE AMT

Action by the Andover Planning and Zoning Commission last night voted to delete all reference in proposed subdivision regulations to preliminary plans.

Aronsen, an expert on zoning regulations, informs the commission that there is no provision in the state statutes referring to preliminary plans or preliminary approval of this section in the proposed regulations, the commission was attempting to "temper the regulations."

An finally, the commission agreed to leave in the section on substantial compliance, whereby it would save the authority to approve a subdivision in spite of the fact that one lot may be slightly short of the required acreage.

Aronsen informed the commission it could be in violation of its own regulations by keeping this section in and that it could also be taking over the functions of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

In spite of the fact that the commission could be challenged to change and a section could be declared illegal, the entire regulations could not be affected.

To overcome this possibility, one section in the proposed regulations states that if one lot is a subdivision, it does not void the entire regulations.

Approval
Final approval of the regulations, which already have gone to a public hearing, was withheld pending incorporation of the above changes.

Aronsen also agreed to leave in the section where such a situation occurred and the supreme court ruled that if there was a subdivision of the property without approval of the commission, the commission has no power to approve an illegal subdivision.

Lyndon B. Johnson, 1908-1973

Lyndon B. Johnson, who died unexpectedly Monday, was a unique man on the American political scene. He not only understood power but knew how to use it. He was a master politician yet despite all his power and political influence, it was the tragic events in Southeast Asia that ultimately frustrated him and made him decide to bow out of the political scene.

Southeast Asia and Lyndon Johnson, the realist, saw a divided nation in 1968. Rather than divide it further, he elected to step aside.

Whether he could have been elected if he had decided to stay in the running can only be speculated. The Democrat bearer, Hubert H. Humphrey, Johnson's vice president, came from behind to almost upset front-running President Richard Nixon. The fact remains though, Lyndon Johnson felt strongly enough about his country that he could not and would not divide it further with a campaign defending his Southeast Asian strategy.

It is ironic that this ugly war which caused Lyndon Johnson to stand aside and which has taken four more years of dying is apparently about to end.

Today the attention of the world is focused on two cities: Paris, where hope is high that a cease-fire and the first steps toward ending the Southeast Asian tragedy seems now at hand; and Johnson City, Tex., where men of good will everywhere look and mourn the passing of a man who believed in the correctness of the actions he took on behalf of his country as a congressman, as a senator, as vice president and as President. The peace which eluded him cannot be regarded as a personal failure for it was a failure in which we all share.

His party loyalty made him accept the vice presidency after being defeated for the presidential nomination by the late John F. Kennedy. Fate in the form of an assassin's madness elevated him to the presidency Nov. 22, 1963. He soon took command and won the presidency on his own by a landslide in 1964.

His strength was in domestic relations and his brand is on many social and civil rights programs. But beginning with the ill-advised Gulf of Tonkin Resolution America became more and more mired down in

Reporter Recalls Johnson During White House Years

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following dispatch is by a correspondent who covered the White House through the Johnson years.

By FRANK CORMIER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson often talked longingly about retiring to his native Texas hill country. Yet when retirement came, many friends wondered what would keep him alive.

The conflicting allures of the Washington power center and the frame ranch house on the banks of the Pedernales were evident to all who knew him. Both localities could be called "home."

Johnson, who often claimed he never wanted to be president, stood in the family graveyard at the ranch shortly after decisively defeating Republican Barry Goldwater in the 1964 campaign.

"If Goldwater had won the election," he said—and pointed to his own grave—"that's where I'd be right now."

Yet he frequently voiced intentions to retire to teaching, his occupation until Washington captured him in 1931. He wanted to build a presidential library at the University of Texas in Austin—a building that would encompass an auditorium where he could give some lectures.

Nation's Leaders Stunned By Johnson's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by President Nixon, the nation paid tribute today to Lyndon B. Johnson as the president whose domestic achievements were overshadowed until his death by the war he couldn't end.

"No man had greater dreams for America than Lyndon Johnson," said Nixon of his predecessor in the White House. "Even as we mourn his death, we are grateful for his life, which did so much to make those dreams into realities."

Johnson's deeds matched his dreams of civil rights and social progress, said others in appraising the five-year administration, the greatest of whose death stunned the capital Monday night.

In a refrain echoing through the appraisal by many of Johnson's associates, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said: "As President, his brilliant leadership on the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 have earned him a place in the history of civil rights alongside Abraham Lincoln."

"And his efforts to help the poor, the sick and the oppressed stand out as landmarks of America's concern for those too weak to help themselves."

Thrust into office by tragedy, Johnson coped first with the mountain racial turmoil of the mid-1960s, but watched the nation become more deeply rent as American soldiers died by the thousands in Vietnam.

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who coalesced antiwar forces behind his surprisingly strong challenge to Johnson's expected bid for re-nomination by the Democratic party in 1968, said of the dead president: "If he was to be faulted, it was not for lack of dedication or commitment, but for taking upon himself or to himself too much of the burden and of the responsibilities of government."

On March 31, 1968, Johnson shocked the nation with the announcement that he would neither seek nor accept re-nomination.

Senators, congressmen and lifelong Johnson associates joined many who never knew the ebullient, often sharp-tongued Texan in voicing sadness at his death.

And in North Carolina, the state legislature stood in meditation while the chaplain mourned, "A great American is dead. He was not a perfect man, but he cared, he gave and he tried."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, roundly defeated by Johnson in 1964, said: "The country has lost a great political leader, a dedicated American, and I have lost a friend, the memory of whose friendship I will forever cherish."

Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic presidential nominee long at odds with Johnson over Vietnam, said the Texan "did more to advance public support for education and civil justice than any other president... His public career was marked by a deep sense of compassion for his fellow citizens."

Terence Cardinal Cooke, archbishop of the New York, Roman Catholic Archdiocese, said Johnson "renewed to extend the vast resources of the nation to all Americans. May his courageous spirit and his faithfulness in bearing public responsibility continue to inspire the leader of our country."

President Nixon's Tribute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the text of President Nixon's statement on the death of former President Lyndon B. Johnson Monday night:

To President Johnson, the "American dream" was not a catchphrase—it was a reality of his own life. He believed in America—in what America could mean to all of its citizens and what America could mean to the world. In the service of that faith, he gave himself completely.

In over 30 years of public life, he knew times of triumph and times of despair—he knew controversy and adulation. Yet, no matter what the mood of the moment, at the center of his public life—and at the center of his spirit—was an unshakable conviction in the essential rightness of the American experience.

As I said at the dedication of the Lyndon B. Johnson Library, he was a "partisan of principle." He was a dynamic leader, a unique personality and a man of great ability and unshakable courage.

Twenty-eight days ago, America lost one of its greatest presidents,

Harry S. Truman, a man whose stature has grown enormously as we have gained more perspective on his achievements.

It is particularly heartbreaking that even as our flags fly at half staff in President Truman's memory, another of our leaders has fallen. Yet just as their names are linked in death, I believe that America will come to understand that they are also joined in greatness.

At this sad hour, as we mourn the loss of two great leaders, all Americans will realize more than ever their debt to those who have gone before, and their obligation to carry on the work which they advanced with such devotion.

In my inaugural address just two days ago, I spoke of how my thoughts went back to those who stood in that place before me and of the dreams they had for America. No man had greater dreams for America than Lyndon Johnson. Even as we mourn his death, we are grateful for his life, which did so much to make those dreams into realities. And we know that as long as this nation lives, so will his dreams and his accomplishments.

Junior Borrowers Set New Library Record

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter) Emphasizing its theme of "Junior Lib" and at the same time capitalizing on the latest publishing trends, the Rockville Public Junior Library has been able to update and experiment in every area of service with the result being that junior borrowers have set a new yearly record of 116,335 books borrowed.

The 5.5 per cent "non-inflationary" rise in circulation and other library statistics for the past year, are outlined in a report just released by James Purnell of the library staff.

During the year the library conducted a concentrated repair program in an effort to revive and circulate older volumes with the result that only 347 books had to be discarded, a drop of 50 per cent from the 1971 figure, according to the report.

The library took in 2,246 new books during the year, 81 of which were gifts and brought to 17,295 the number of volumes available and on the shelves in the library.

During the winter months, the library's business has been the busiest month since 1967. The number of books checked out in one day was broken twice in 1972, first on June 26 with 1,112 books, and then a big one on July 1 with 1,242 books.

Trigging cooperation between the various schools in town, the library staff it feels, that are classroom circulated and used for the Community Y. Members are reminded to bring a sack lunch.

The Confession of St. Peter will be observed with Holy Communion Wednesday at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

On Wednesday, there will be a Drop In for conversation and coffee. Participants may set up their own pins for duckpin bowling, table tennis, volleyball, bridge, or ping-pong. Adult women are welcome. Baby-sitters are available from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Koffee Krafter from the volunteer leadership of Mrs. Linda Lippman is an informal group who enjoy creating and those who enjoy creating and those who enjoy creating.

Winter programs, sponsored by the Manchester YMCA, will begin this week with sessions held at the Community Y, 80 N. Main St.

Morning Out classes are offered on Tuesdays for eight consecutive weeks, beginning Jan. 23. Classes include: slimnastics, 9 to 9:45 a.m.; Doris Lammers, instructor; slim jeans (pound wise), 10 to 11:30 a.m.; international cooking, 10 to 11:30 a.m.; intermediate bridge, 10 to 11:30 a.m.; Judy Taylor, instructor; and Haiku (Japanese poetry), 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Lyndon B. Johnson was sworn in as President of the United States in the cabin of the presidential plane at Dallas, Texas, Nov. 22, 1963, after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Judge Sarah T. Hughes, administered the oath as Mrs. Kennedy looks on. In the background are Harry S. Truman, leaving the nation without a living former chief executive. Nixon ordered flags on all federal buildings, already lowered to mark Truman's death, flown at half staff for 30 days following Johnson's death, to which he retired after leaving the White House.

Mild Manners and Tender Heart Belie Pair of Devastating Fists

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) - The boxing world woke up today with a new heavyweight champion, a 24-year-old former delinquent whose mild manners and tender heart belie a pair of the most devastating fists the game has seen.

George Foreman sent Joe Frazier spinning to the ice blue canvas six times Monday night and stopped the fierce, hard-punching defending champ in 1:35 of the second round in a staggering upset.

Foreman appeared almost of the verge of tears moments afterward when newsmen swooped down on him in his tight little dressing room in the catacombs of Kingston's National Stadium.

"I didn't want to hurt him any more," he said. "I kept begging Yancey Durham Frazier's trainer and manager to stop it."

The swiftness of the turnover of boxing's most prized crown was almost unbelievable.

Certainly, he and his supporters had no idea that he would lose the title under such circumstances and thus forfeit what promoters has said would be a $20 million extravaganza between Frazier and Ali in June, probably in Houston's Astrodome.

Now the heavyweight division is in disarray. Foreman is the new king and will call the shots. Neither Frazier, who forfeit what promoters has said would be a $20 million extravaganza between Frazier and Ali in June, probably in Houston's Astrodome.

afterward. "I want a long rest. I want to go home and see my new daughter."

"After that, I want to go all around the country - to Houston and cities like that - and talk to kids. I want to tell them they can do anything they want if they try. I am an expert."

The new champion received $375,000 against 20 per cent of the fight's gross while Frazier was guaranteed $850,000 against 42 1/2 per cent, but it is Foreman who now is in a position to talk to promoters in million-dollar terms.

"I saw him before the fight," said Angelo Dundee of Miami, trainer for Ali. "I said, 'George, we want to talk to you after you win' and he smiled and said, 'you know, Angie, you're one of my favorite people.'"

Dundee was one of the few experts who predicted a victory for the young giant who grew up in a disadvantaged background in Texas, once played hide-and-seek with the cops and had his hair turned around by joining the Job Corps.

A blow to boxing's big manipulators, who now must completely redesign their future plans, Foreman's triumph was heady wine for the Jamaican majority in the surprise crowd of 36,000 which almost filled the combination soccer field and cycling dome that is Kingston's National Stadium.

When the battered and bleeding Frazier was led to his corner and referee Arthur Mercante raised the right arm of the new champion, the crowd went wild.

Jamaicans had made Foreman their personal hero during the last week of his training. They even cheered him when he shadow-boxed.

Earlier in the day, Frazier had attempted to outstare the challenger at the weigh-in, at which the champion tipped the scales at 214 and Foreman at 217 1/2.

"I'm going to sit you on the ground, George," Frazier warned his rival. But Foreman didn't scare easily.

Frazier, a renowned aggressor, who has whipped his opponents into submission with a head-bowed, nose-in attack that resembles a berserk pile-driver, came out swinging. But Foreman didn't back up an inch. His 6-foot-3 inch frame erect in his familiar stand-up style, he lashed out with twisting left hooks.

Snap. Frazier's head went back but the champion continued to move forward, swinging, Snap, snap.

Midway through the first round, Foreman caught the champion flush on his forehead with a thundering uppercut. Frazier crumpled to the floor but bounced up, taking the regulation eight-count.

Frazier hung on gamely but moments later, a pair of thudding rights dropped the champion a second time. Before the end of the round, a third smashing blow sent Frazier spinning underneath the bottom strand of red rope.

The champion's eyes were glazed and his legs were like jelly when he staggered to his corner at the end of the round.

As the bell for the second round sounded, Frazier came out courageously, throwing left hooks. A crashing right to the jaw sent him to the canvas for the fourth time.

The referee had trouble getting Foreman to a neutral corner. Foreman walked toward Frazier's corner and began looking at Yancey Durham, the champion's manager, as if asking him to intercede and stop the fight. But Yancey didn't intercede.

Frazier rose unsteadily to his feet and then - boom, boom - two left hooks by Foreman sent the champion reeling to the floor again. For the second time, Foreman pleaded with Frazier's corner to throw in the towel but there was no response. Frazier rose again and again a fusillade sent him into the ropes and down to the floor.

This time Durham jumped into the ring. The time was 1:35 of the second. It was over. There was a new champion.

Cheney, in order to qualify for post-season play, must win two of its last four remaining games.

Deadline at 16:16 after the first eight minutes. Stafford's offense went to work and built a 33-28 margin at halftime. The victors increased the lead to 49-39 with only one period left and outshot the Beavers, 19-10, to clinch the tilt.

Gary Barsaule was the game's top scorer with 18 points while Kres Almond, Dick Deary, and Buck Hajos followed with 17, 12 and 12 markers in that order.

Cheney's Mark Vinknezt again led the offensive effort.

Weekly College Poll

North Carolina Gains on UCLA

NEW YORK (AP) - UCLA, moving in on college basketball's all-time winning streak, and North Carolina State, moving in on UCLA, continue to run 1-2 in the Associated Press' weekly poll.

The up-ranked Bruins, after improving their streak to 59 with two victories over the weekend, polled 41 first-place votes for 638 points.

The Wolfpack, meanwhile, remained second but managed to cut into UCLA's 104-point lead of last week. North Carolina State, which received 575 Long Beach State rounded out the top five with 555.

The rankings got a shake-up after that with new positions in the remaining places.

Indiana made the biggest jump, rising from 12 to 14 in the nationwide voting from sports writers and broadcasters.

The rest of the Top Ten included No. 7 Missouri; No. 9 Alabama and No. 10 Marquette.

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Brigham Young; Florida State; Iowa State; Louisville; Michigan; Oral Roberts; Oklahoma; Oregon State; Oklahoma City; Penn; Santa Clara; St. Joseph's; Southern Cal.; Syracuse; Tulsa; Vanderbilt; VPI.

Sanders Given Coaching Role

BOSTON (AP) - Tom Sanders, the Boston Celtics' senior assistant, assumed the title of coach today as the National Basketball Association team resumed practice for a game with the Houston Rockets Friday night at the Garden.

Sanders had only seven players, including himself, on hand for the scheduled workout at Christian Academy in Lexington, John Havlicek, Dave Cowens and Jo Jo White were with Coach Tommy Heinsohn in Chicago for the annual All-Star Game.

Veteran forward Paul Silas also was missing. He was in Chicago for a meeting of the NBA Players' Association. He is vice president of the group.

Before leaving to coach the East in the 23rd annual All-Star Game, Heinsohn criticized the NBA rule which prevents a team from having more than three players in the mid-season classic.

"We're one player short," Heinsohn said. "Paul Silas should have been back in the squad. He's definitely an all-star forward. I don't agree with the three-player limit. I think the best players should be on the team."

The New York Times reported that Sanders had acquired Unitas, Hadi said. "Well, I'm leaving."

The only question apparently is where is he going? Houston's trade of Unitas means the Oilers will have two first-round choices in the NFL draft - their own No. 1 over-all pick and Atlanta's, which is No. 14.

Tilden, a 280-pound, seven-year veteran from Montana, was the Oilers' leading tackler last season although he played out his option after contract squabbles.

"Tilly was a happy hero," said General Manager John Green, "but he's been unhappy wherever he's been. After two years, he sees the light and greener pastures. He's happy now. In fact, he's already in Atlanta."

Intricate Peace Plan Unveiled

Kissinger Outlines Prisoner Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — President adviser Henry Kissinger said today U.S. prisoners known to be held in North Vietnam will be turned over to American medical personnel in Hanoi at intervals of two weeks or 15 days after signing of a Vietnam peace agreement Saturday.

Under the protocol, the United States, North Vietnam and the other warring parties are obligated to exchange complete lists of captured military personnel and civilians on Saturday, the same day as the agreement is signed.

The latest Pentagon list shows 587 captured and another 1,335 missing. A big question is how many of these men listed as missing are in POW camps in North Vietnam, South Vietnam or Laos and how many have not been found.

Within 15 days after the cease-fire, the signatories will agree on choosing two or more national Red Cross societies to "visit all places where captured military personnel and foreign civilians are held."

The United States long has contended that the North Vietnamese have violated Geneva Conventions on treatment of prisoners of war by refusing to allow the International Red Cross to inspect POW camps.

The protocol appears to open the way to a prisoner exchange with North Vietnam as part of the prisoner exchange.

It said the four party joint military commission will send military teams "to observe the return of the persons... at each place in Vietnam where such persons are being returned, and at the last detention places from which these persons will be sent to the places of return."

Commission Force To Be Supervisors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington and Hanoi unveiled today the details of an intricate peace package that limits an impending cease-fire to South Vietnam, but U.S. negotiator Henry Kissinger said the package agreement will be signed Saturday before the Vietnam cease-fire takes effect at 7 p.m. EST that day, does not call for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South — but it does call for all foreign troops to leave Laos and Cambodia.

Expanding among stated terms of the agreement, Kissinger told a White House news conference that U.S. prisoners held in North Vietnam and Laos will be turned over to American medical personnel in Hanoi at two-week intervals while U.S. forces withdraw from South Vietnam.

Kissinger said the United States seeks "a peace that heals, and one that will last. He said the U.S. aim is to move from hostilities to normalization and conciliation with North Vietnam."

"...We believe that under conditions of peace we can contribute throughout Indochina to a realization of the humane aspirations of all the people of Indochina," he said, "and we will in that spirit perform our traditional role of helping people realize these aspirations in peace."

The presidential adviser said the U.S.-Hanoi agreement forbids the use of base areas in Laos and Cambodia to infiltrate Communist troops into South Vietnam.

He said it is "our firm expectation that within a short period of time there will be a formal cease-fire in Laos... leading to the withdrawal of all foreign forces" and ending the country as a corridor for infiltration.

President Nixon, claiming all conditions for "peace with honor" have been met, announced Tuesday night agreement on a Vietnam accord to end America's longest war.

In a television-radio address, Nixon told the nation that the peace pact calls for an internationally supervised cease-fire, release of all American war prisoners within 60 days after the cease-fire, an accounting for all missing in action, and — within the same 60-day period, withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam.

The pact was hailed by South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and announced in bold terms by radio.

In essence, the agreement and four accompanying diplomatic documents, called protocols, would close to Washington-Hanoi draft agreement attempted to discuss the contract with Weis, but the manager refused to bargain.

If agreement is not reached in an informal session, the matter would likely be set up for a hearing before the three-member SLRB.

The low-police union dispute had been in effect since last July, would be suspended.

So police are now working

1,160 persons to go to South Vietnam as a peace-keeping force. The number contracted with the original Hanoi demand for a ceiling of 250 personnel and an American suggestion of 5,000.

Despite the imminence of the cease-fire, Communist attacks in South Vietnam doubled during the number of days proposed as participants in an international conference to be held within 30 days and to guarantee that the peace plan works.

Other conference participants being proposed by the United States and North Vietnam are France, the United Kingdom, the four communist nations (Cuba, Indonesia, Laos and Cambodia) and the Secretary-General of the United Nations.

Hanoi and Washington also would participate.

The 70-page agreement declares that the South Vietnamese people have an inalienable right to self-determination and "shall decide themselves the political future of South Vietnam through genuinely free and democratic general elections under international supervision."

The South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong are barred by the agreement from "all hostile acts, terrorism and reprisals" once the cease-fire begins. Another section bars "discrimination against individuals or organizations that have collaborated with one side or the other."

To help shape South Vietnam's political future a National Council of National Reconciliation and Concord will be set up with equal representation given to the Saigon regime, the Viet Cong and neutral parties.

"The council shall operate on the principle of unanimity," the document said.

The agreement envisions signing by the Saigon government and Viet Cong of their settlement package deals on matters, hopefully within 90 days following the cease-fire.

McGovern Delighted But Puzzled

LONDON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern said today he is delighted but puzzled by the ending of the war in Vietnam.

The South Dakota Democrat, told reporters at Heathrow Airport: "Of course I am delighted with the President's announcement. I wish it had come many years earlier. I hope that the agreement will be satisfactory and that it will endure."

However, McGovern said he remains puzzled because the agreement could not have been reached before Christmas.

"What still puzzles me is why the same agreement was not available to us earlier," he said. "I do not have the information which would let me get this agreement before Christmas and just prior to the heavy aerial bombardment."

"There may have been good reasons but I confess that I am still puzzled."

Town-Union Dispute Before State Board

By DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

Town Manager Robert Weiss' filing of a complaint with the State Labor Relations Board (SLRB) concerning the town's contract with the Manchester Police Union was preceded by an informal conference between the union and the town which was scheduled, Gaspic said. Such a conference would include representation of both the town and the union, and would be moderated by Gaspic.

The union, represented by Assistant Director William Wilson of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (Council 15), filed a complaint Jan. 9, charging that Weiss had refused to bargain with the union.

Weiss was apparently unaware the union filed a complaint first, according to SLRB

The starting point for the four-hour march was 16th and Constitution, a point within view of the White House and near the Washington Monument.

The sleek, black gun carriage bearing the late president was trailed by some caparisoned horse. Black Jack, remembered by millions of Americans for his rideless journey in the funeral march for John F. Kennedy, now graying at 26, black jack also carried the reversed cavalry boots and silver saber for Herbert Hoover and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Silled bands and marching units from each of the military services and academies led the caisson, with the limousine bearing in order the Johnson family, the presidential party, other chiefs of state, the vice president, congressional leaders, the Supreme Court, the diplomatic corps and other government leaders.

Notable Johnson Quotes

By The Associated Press

Here are some notable Lyndon B. Johnson quotations:

The time has come for Americans of all races and creed and political beliefs to understand and to respect each other. So, let us put an end to the teaching and the preaching of hate and evil and violence.

Let us turn away from the fanatics, from the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream." — Address to joint session of Congress, Nov. 27, 1963, five days after succeeding the assassinated John F. Kennedy as President.

"Today is a triumph for freedom as huge as any victory won on any battlefield. Today the Negro story and the American story have blend." — On signing the Civil Rights Act, July 2, 1964.

"In a land of great wealth, families must not live in hopeless poverty. In a land rich in harvest, children just must not go hungry. In a great land of learning and scholars, young people must be taught to read and write." — Inaugural address, Jan. 20, 1965.

"I shall not seek, and I will not accept, the nomination of my party for another term as your President." — Nationwide television address, March 31, 1968.

About Town

Xi Gamma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, will meet tonight at 8 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Freeman, 67 Olcott Dr. Members are reminded that the chapter will observe its birthday with a "pint or pound" party.

It was announced before Kissinger's news conference that the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to return all prisoners "without States."

A document spelling out the agreement on handing POWs also says that the return "shall be carried out at places convenient to the concerned parties."

Again, the document released by the White House does not say what those places will be.

The places of return, the document said, will be agreed upon by a new temporary joint military commission made up of representatives of the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

The only specific time schedule stipulates that "the return of all captured persons... shall be completed within 60 days of the signing of the agreement at a rate no slower than the rate of withdrawal from South Vietnam and other countries."

The document covering withdrawal of U.S. military prisoners on both sides provided that the seriously ill, wounded or maimed, and old persons and women shall be returned first.

"The remainder shall be returned either by returning all from one detention place or another or in order of their dates of capture, beginning with those who have been held the longest," the document said.

Observing Day Of Mourning

Town, state and federal offices will be closed tomorrow, just as they were four weeks ago — in observance of a day of mourning for a former President of the United States.

Tomorrow, it will be for Lyndon B. Johnson, the nation's 36th president, who died Monday, Oct. 22, at the home of Harry S. Truman, 33rd president, who died Dec. 26.

In Manchester, the Municipal Building and all other town offices, the libraries, the public and parochial schools, the Senior Citizens Center, Project Head Start, the Probate Court (including the next session), the Circuit Court, the State Offices and the banks all will be closed.

Refuse and garbage will be picked up on schedule. Emergency numbers are 649-5070 for the highway department and 649-5071 for the water and sewer departments.

Chamber of Commerce officials reported that, with the exception of banks and savings and loan associations, closed by order of the state banking commission, most if not all Manchester businesses will remain open.

Manchester Postmaster Edward Sauter said that, except for special-delivery mail and collection of box mail, all services will be suspended. Collection of box mail and Sunday schedule. The lobby of the main post office will be closed.

Abortion Ruling Reaction Mixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Catholic church leaders have deplored the Supreme Court decision guaranteeing American women the right to have medical abortions during the first six months of pregnancy.

Otherwise, there was mixed reaction to the court's 7-2 ruling Monday that the states may not interfere with this "right of privacy" only in about the last three months of pregnancy, when the unborn child is developed enough to live outside the mother.

John Cardinal Krol of Philadelphia, the highest-ranking Catholic prelate in the United States, called the decision "an unspeakable tragedy" and said "it is hard to think of any decision which has had more disastrous implications for our stability as a civilized society."

He added, "Abortion at any stage of pregnancy is evil. This is not a question of secular morality, but instead concerns the law of God and the basis of civilized society."

Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York asked: "How many millions of children prior to their birth will never live to see the light of day because of the shocking action of the majority of the U.S. Supreme Court?"

Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., called the decision a catastrophe for America. "It is a shocking display of a few men arrogating to themselves the judgment at what stage the life of an unborn child may be terminated," he said.

Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma said the issue is one for state legislatures. "I deeply regret this additional intrusion by the federal government into matters the state should resolve," he said.

On the other hand, the leading proponent of liberalized abortions in the California legislature said the decision makes "abortion on request available throughout the nation."

"The state has no overriding interest which would permit it to interfere in this very private decision," said State Sen. Anthony Beilenson, a Beverly Hills lawmaker who authored the 1967 California Therapeutic Abortion Act.

Man-In-The-Street Reactions Noted

By The Associated Press

Lyndon B. Johnson's five years in the White House have earned him for achievements in civil rights and other social legislation but remained staunchly divided on the policies he pursued in Southeast Asia.

A number of persons interviewed randomly by The Associated Press after the former president's death Monday described a personal affection for Johnson and many said they felt history would judge him a great president.

Wills Edwards, 26, the student body president at Cal State University in Los Angeles, said he was drafted and sent to Vietnam during the Johnson administration. But, Edwards said, "I don't blame Lyndon Johnson for being sent to Vietnam. He came in at a trying time. I blame Congress more than anything for that. Really, he was one man I respected and had quite a bit of affection for."

Edwards, a black, added: "I think history will show him to be one of the greatest presidents ever in the field of civil rights and social legislation."

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fletcher remembered the time in 1964 when Johnson spoke with them on the front porch of their cabin near Key, Ky., and that night announced a plan to ask Congress for $250 million to aid Appalachia.

"He was sure an awful good man. I got along awful good when he was in there," Fletcher said. His wife added, "A lot of people in these parts appreciated him as president. There just can't be a better man. He was so nice."

John Eastwood, 40, of Clovis, N.M., called Johnson's death "a tremendous loss" and Kenneth R. Bradley, 18, of Longview, Tex., said Johnson "changed the atmosphere somewhat regarding civil rights. He helped people open their eyes and showed that people must live together."

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kurz of Philadelphia, a retired osteopathic physician, said, "I remember Johnson as a kind and compassionate man." Few remembered the president from Texas without some mention of Vietnam.

Man-In-The-Street Reactions Noted

"I think you have to have greatness to make it to the presidency and it's just so sad when someone like that dies. The last few times I saw him on TV as president, there seemed to be so much sadness on his face. I guess it was Vietnam," said Claudia Vores, 28, of New Orleans.

Cynthia Dee Samson, a 21-year-old Fort Worth Tex., graduate student, praised Johnson's efforts to help minority groups but said "the escalation of the war raised doubts in the minds of my generation. It brought about a loss of respect in my generation and for the whole country."

Mike Fallon, 23, a student at the University of Maryland, said, "I worked very adamantly against Johnson in 1968, but I don't think he's as bad a president as people who are against the war think."

Timothy Lange, 26, a graduate student at the University of Colorado Boulder campus, said "it was because of Johnson's Vietnam bombing policy in 1968 that I first became aware of the war and came out against it. Throughout his term of office, his policies made me more and more into a political radical."

To Joel Klein, a New York businessman, Johnson "seemed like a guy who could get things done," while Don Foy of Cincinnati said "he didn't have the strength to carry out the things

Only in the last three months — at a point when the unborn child was developed enough to survive outside the mother — can the state prohibit abortions, according to the ruling.

Justices Byron R. White and William H. Rehnquist dissented. White said the court apparently views the convenience of the pregnant mother more than the continued existence and development of the potential life she carries.
