Intricate Peace Plan Unveiled

Kissinger Outlines Prisoner Return

WASHINGTON (AP) — President adviser Henry Kissinger said today U.S. prisoners known to be held in North Vietnam will be turned over to American medical personnel in Hanoi at intervals of two weeks or 15 days after signing of a Vietnam peace agreement Saturday.

Speaking at a White House news conference, Kissinger disclosed for the first time some of the mechanics for returning the 479 U.S. prisoners known to be held in North Vietnam and Laos.

"American prisoners will be released at intervals of two weeks or 15 days after signing of a Vietnam peace agreement Saturday," Kissinger said, with total time frame coinciding with the 60-day withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Vietnam.

Prisoners held in North Vietnam and Laos, he said, will be received by U.S. medical teams in Hanoi and will be flown in American planes to locations to be selected by U.S. officials.

Kissinger did not say when the first American POWs would be released.

It was announced before Kissinger's news conference that the United States and North Vietnam have agreed to return all prisoners "without States."

A document spelling out the agreement on handling POWs also says that the return "shall be carried out at places convenient to the concerned parties."

Again, the document released by the White House does not say what those places will be.

The places of return, the document said, will be agreed upon by a new temporary joint military commission made up of representatives of the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

The only specific time schedule stipulates that "the return of all captured persons... shall be completed within 60 days of signing of the agreement at a rate no slower than the rate of withdrawal from South Vietnam and Laos of U.S. military personnel and those of other countries."

The document covering withdrawal of U.S. military personnel from both sides provided that the seriously ill, wounded or maimed, and old persons and women shall be returned first.

"The remainder shall be returned either by returning all from one detention place or another or in order of their dates of capture, beginning with those who have been held the longest," the document said.

McGovern Delighted But Puzzled

LONDON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern said today he is delighted but puzzled by the ending of the war in Vietnam.

The South Dakota Democrat, told reporters at Heathrow Airport: "Of course I am delighted with the President's announcement. I wish it had come many years earlier. I hope that the agreement will be satisfactory and that it will endure."

However, McGovern said he remains puzzled because the agreement could not have been reached before Christmas.

"What still puzzles me is why the same agreement was not available to us earlier," he said. "I do not have the information which would let me get this agreement before Christmas and just prior to the heavy aerial bombardment."

"There may have been good reasons but I confess that I am still puzzled."

Town-Union Dispute Before State Board

By DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

Town Manager Robert Weiss' filing of a complaint with the State Labor Relations Board (SLRB) concerning the town's contract with the Manchester Police Union was preceded by an informal conference between the union and the town, and the union, and would be moderated by Gaspic.

The conference would be held on Jan. 5, Weiss said, but the manager refused to bargain.

If agreement is not reached in an informal session, the matter would likely be set up for a hearing before the three-member SLRB.

The low-police union dispute apparently centers on the contract wording of an emergency sick leave provision. The union, according to President James Sweeney, claims that Weiss changed the contract wording from

Commission Force To Be Supervisors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington and Hanoi unveiled today the details of an intricate peace package that limits an impending cease-fire to South Vietnam, but U.S. negotiator Henry Kissinger said the package agreement will be signed Saturday before the Vietnam cease-fire takes effect at 7 p.m. EST that day, does not call for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South — but it does call for all foreign troops to leave Laos and Cambodia.

Expanding among stated terms of the agreement, Kissinger told a White House news conference that U.S. prisoners held in North Vietnam and Laos will be turned over to American medical personnel in Hanoi at two-week intervals while U.S. forces withdraw from South Vietnam.

Kissinger said the United States seeks "a peace that heals, and one that will last. He said the U.S. aim is to move from hostilities to normalization and conciliation with North Vietnam."

"...We believe that under conditions of peace we can contribute throughout Indochina to a realization of the humane aspirations of all the people of Indochina," he said, "and we will in that spirit perform our traditional role of helping people realize these aspirations in peace."

The presidential adviser said the U.S.-Hanoi agreement forbids the use of base areas in Laos and Cambodia to infiltrate Communist troops into South Vietnam.

He said it is "our firm expectation that within a short period of time there will be a formal cease-fire in Laos... leading to the withdrawal of all foreign forces" and ending the country as a corridor for infiltration.

President Nixon, claiming all conditions for "peace with honor" have been met, announced Tuesday night agreement on a Vietnam accord to end America's longest war.

In a television-radio address, Nixon told the nation that the peace pact calls for an internationally supervised cease-fire, release of all American war prisoners within 60 days after the cease-fire, an accounting for all missing in action, and — within the same 60-day period, withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam.

The pact was hailed by South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and announced in bold terms by radio.

In essence, the agreement that he and other officials attempted to discuss the contract with Weiss, but the manager refused to bargain.

On Jan. 5, Weiss said he would file a complaint with the SLRB, and that the 1972-1974 contract, which was not signed but had been in effect since last July, would be suspended.

The settlement package calls for a four-year international control commission force of 1,160 persons to go to South Vietnam as a peace-keeping force. The number contracted with the original Hanoi demand for a ceiling of 250 personnel and an American suggestion of 5,000.

Despite the imminence of the cease-fire, Communist attacks in South Vietnam doubled the number of Communist forces trying for last-minute gains before the truce takes effect. The agreement disclosed for the first time that both the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union are proposed as participants in an international conference to be held within 30 days to guarantee that the peace plan works.

Other conference participants being proposed by the United States and North Vietnam are France, the United Kingdom, the four countries of the international control commission — Hungary, Canada, Indonesia and Poland — and the Secretary-General of the United Nations.

Hanoi and Washington also would participate.

The 1972 agreement declares that the South Vietnamese people have an inalienable right to self-determination and "shall decide themselves the political future of South Vietnam through genuinely free and democratic general elections under international supervision."

The South Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong are barred by the agreement from "all hostile acts, terrorism and reprisals" once the cease-fire begins. Another section bars "discrimination against individuals or organizations that have collaborated with one side or the other."

To help shape South Vietnam's political future a National Council of National Reconciliation and Concord will be set up with equal representation given to the Saigon regime, the Viet Cong and neutral parties.

"The council shall operate on the principle of unanimity," the document said.

The agreement envisions signing by the Saigon government and Viet Cong of their settlement package calls for a four-year international control commission force of

Notable Johnson Quotes

By The Associated Press

Here are some notable Lyndon B. Johnson quotations:

The time has come for Americans of all races and creed and political beliefs to understand and to respect each other. So, let us put an end to the teaching and the preaching of hate and evil and violence.

Let us turn away from the fanatics, from the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream." — Address to joint session of Congress, Nov. 27, 1963, five days after succeeding the assassinated John F. Kennedy as President.

"Today is a triumph for freedom as huge as any victory won on any battlefield. Today the Negro story and the American story have blend." — On signing the Civil Rights Act, July 2, 1964.

"In a land of great wealth, families must not live in hopeless poverty. In a land rich in harvest, children just must not go hungry. In a great land of learning and scholars, young people must be taught to read and write." — Inaugural address, Jan. 20, 1965.

"As President of the United States, I have concluded that I should now ask the Congress, on its part, to join in affirming the national determination that all such attacks will be met, and that the U.S. will continue in its basic policy of assisting the free nations of the area to defend their freedom." — Special message to Congress accompanying the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, May 5, 1965.

"We intend to convince the Communists that we are not defeated by force of arms or by superior power. I have today ordered to Vietnam... forces which will raise our fighting strength from 75,000 to 125,000 men almost immediately. Additional forces will be needed later and they will be sent as requested." — Nationwide television address, July 28, 1965.

"I shall not seek, and I will not accept, the nomination of my party for another term as your President." — Nationwide television address, March 31, 1968.

Abortion Ruling Reaction Mixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Catholic church leaders have deplored the Supreme Court decision guaranteeing American women the right to have medical abortions during the first six months of pregnancy.

Otherwise, there was mixed reaction to the court's 7-2 ruling Monday that the states may not interfere with this "right of privacy" only in about the last three months of pregnancy, when the unborn child is developed enough to live outside the mother.

John Cardinal Krol of Philadelphia, the highest-ranking Catholic prelate in the United States, called the decision "an unspeakable tragedy" and said "it is hard to think of any decision which has had more disastrous implications for our stability as a civilized society."

He added: "Abortion at any stage of pregnancy is evil. This is not a question of secular morality, but instead concerns the law of God and the basis of civilized society."

Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York asked: "How many millions of children prior to their birth will never live to see the light of day because of the shocking action of the majority of the U.S. Supreme Court?"

Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., called the decision a catastrophe for America. "It is a shocking display of a few men arrogating to themselves the judgment at what stage the life of an unborn child may be terminated," he said.

Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma said the issue is one for state legislatures. "I deeply regret this additional intrusion by the federal government into matters the state should resolve," he said.

On the other hand, the leading proponent of liberalized abortions in the California legislature said the decision makes "abortion on request available throughout the nation."

"The state has no overriding interest which would permit it to interfere in this very private decision," said State Sen. Anthony Beilenson, a Beverly Hills lawmaker who authored the 1967 California Therapeutic Abortion Act.

Man-In-The-Street Reactions Noted

By The Associated Press

Lyndon B. Johnson's five years in the White House have earned him for achievements in civil rights and other social legislation but remained staunchly divided on the policies he pursued in Southeast Asia.

A number of persons interviewed randomly by The Associated Press after the former president's death Monday described a personal affection for Johnson and many said they felt history would judge him a great president.

Wills Edwards, 26, the student body president at Cal State University in Los Angeles, said he was drafted and sent to Vietnam during the Johnson administration. But, Edwards said, "I don't blame Lyndon Johnson for being sent to Vietnam. He came in at a trying time. I blame Congress more than anything for that. Really, he was one man I respected and had quite a bit of affection for."

Edwards, a black, added: "I think history will show him to be one of the greatest presidents ever in the field of civil rights and social legislation."

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fletcher remembered the time in 1964 when Johnson spoke with them on the front porch of their cabin near Key, Ky., and that night announced a plan to ask Congress for $250 million to aid Appalachia.

"He was sure an awful good man. I got along awful good when he was in there," Fletcher said. His wife added, "A lot of people in these parts appreciated him as president. There just can't be a better man. He was so nice."

John Eastwood, 40, of Clovis, N.M., called Johnson's death "a tremendous loss" and Kenneth R. Bradley, 18, of Longview, Tex., said Johnson "changed the atmosphere somewhat regarding civil rights. He helped people open their eyes and showed that people must live together."

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kurz of Philadelphia, a retired osteopathic physician, said, "I remember Johnson as a kind and compassionate man." Few remembered the president from Texas without some mention of Vietnam.

Three Replacements Debut Over Weekend

By JAY SHARBITT AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Three mid-season replacements in the current television year made their debuts over the weekend. One was merely good; the other two were great.

NBC's "Bobby Darin Show" is in the good category. It premiered Friday night with Darin in peak singing form. It's fun to hear a singer who knows how to work with a big band. Too many vocalists fight them or get drowned out when the brass section kicks in.

Over ABC, two great shows made their debut Saturday night. One was "Here We Go Again," the other "A Touch of Grace."

Master of Disguises Resumes His Identity

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patrick Wolfe wears a conservative suit and tie now and spends most days behind a desk.

"I sat in a restaurant one day with a guy who spent an hour warning me about Pat Wolfe. He even gave me a perfect description of myself."

Nixon's Challenge

The President's inaugural address brought expected reaction along party lines. The Republicans generally praised it and Democrats took, generally, a wait and see attitude. Both seem to be waiting for the President to spell out in detail what he painted with a broad brush.

So conditioned has the Congress become to direction from the White House, leaders in both parties apparently missed the salient thrust of the message, which we feel was that now is the time for individual initiative and action in meeting the challenges ahead.

Your national government has a great and vital role to play. I pledge to you that where this government should act, we will act boldly and lead boldly. But just as important is the role that each and every one of us must play, as an individual and as a member of his own community, the President said.

Thus the door has been opened for ideas, concepts and approaches to problems from the grass roots and from the Congress. Granted, the President will be spelling out in detail, certain programs for certain areas of national concern. But, if we interpret his intent correctly, he has tossed the ball to us as individual citizens, members of this community and this state, to come up with some creative ideas of our own rather than wait or rely on the federal government for the answers.

There is nothing startling or new in this concept of people doing what they can for themselves and leaving only to government those things the people cannot do for themselves. Abraham

Lincoln, more than 100 years ago, voiced the same philosophy. What is different is that all signs point toward an administration actually committed to trying to turn back to the local government and the people responsibility long assumed by the federal government.

How broad and deep this reversal will be may appear when the President submits his budget message. It would appear now that many programs for the states and cities in such areas as subsidized housing, education, welfare, etc., will be cut back in federal funding. Already cries of anguish are being heard in Connecticut and throughout the land. And these are mainly based on "impounding" of already appropriated funds.

The challenge is double-edged for the Congress. It is caught in the middle. One edge is that the administration recently restructured for the turning revamping of the executive branch now is geared to make some hard-nosed economic judgments about federal programs with only passing consideration for politics. The other edge is the pressure on the Congress from the states, cities and people, who have become "hooked" on many federal programs to the extent that they all panic if they are told the wire is dry.

The President prides himself in his ability to gauge public opinion. His address will put this to test. His message was loud and perfectly clear.

Will "Each of us (on our own and through our elected local, state and national representatives) ask not just what will government do for me, but what can I do for myself?"

Check That Date Again

Anyone who isn't still catching himself starting to write '72 on checks instead of '73 can count himself an exceptional person.

"We receive about 200 to 300 misdated checks daily each January," says Fred H. Remmert, vice-president and cashier of Continental Bank of Chicago—which is actually not many out of the 250,000 checks the bank processes every day.

The "stale" checks taper off in mid-February, but the bank still gets a few trickling in as late as March.

But not to worry overmuch. If all other portions of a check are in order, banks usually will tolerate the error and process the check.

And not to feel stupid if you have made the mistake. One bank which prepares employee checks for another company forgot to reprogram its computer and gaudied this year's first run of checks "1972."

Their checks had to be destroyed and new ones issued.

Washington—I can't understand it. At great personal effort, I wrote the greatest Second Inaugural Address ever written. And all I got was one of these darn rejection slips: "We have no use for this material at this time..."

The way I looked at it, Mr. Nixon always wants the best. And the best Second Inaugural Address ever written, historians agree, was Mr. Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address.

Of course, Mr. Nixon couldn't give Mr. Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address word for word. Every ardent insid on delivering his speeches in his own style.

So I simply inserted some of Mr. Nixon's words in between Mr. Lincoln's words to give the text the flavor of Mr. Nixon's comfortable style. And I typographically emphasized Mr. Lincoln's words so Mr. Nixon would know whose words were whose.

"Hi, Hi, there, my fellow Americans—my fellow countrymen. In answer to Mrs. Irwin's evaluation of the PTA Jan. 19, I would like to suggest that parents who are not aware of or not satisfied with the PTA's accomplishments get involved and offer their ideas and support to PTA rather than discuss PTA's failures with their unmotivated neighbors."

The problem with PTA today is that the "P" in PTA is silent and that "A" is completely missing. How can "parents and teachers" work together to provide the best education for the town's children when the majority of the members attending PTA meetings are teachers?

"I think I can say that frankly I can even say fervently do—and, by that, I mean all decent Americans—hope and fervently do as I said before, to you on this occasion, pray—now, by this, I don't mean in any way to cast aspersions on my fellow Americans who, for reasons of their own, don't pray—that this night's seizure of war, just and necessary though it was in the defense of, in my opinion, freedom, may speedily pass away, which has always been my game plan and I've stuck to it."

"With malice toward none—I have never, rightly or wrongly, held any malice toward anybody, no matter how vicious their attacks on me, on the right, which I have always been for, rightly or wrongly, as God, no matter what His race, creed or color, gives us to see the right, and with the support I hope of Congress and every decent American, let us strive to finish the work we are on in this country, which we made tremendous progress these past four years, to bind up the nation's wounds which were the result of the misguided spending and permissiveness of the previous administration, and to achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, Republicans and Democrats alike, and with all nations, which just wraps up the whole game."

And that's what I have to say about that.

We didn't attend the President's inauguration. We were in a Boston suburb attending the meeting of the New England Daily Newspaper Assn. and learning more about the newspaper business.

We have been to Washington, and to the White House, and we prefer to visit that city in the spring when the cherry blossoms are out and hopefully there are no demonstrations. Though we have never encountered a demonstration yet of the magnitude described by the electronic media.

But the inauguration got us to recalling the addresses of the respective presidents and the scriptures they chose to symbolize their terms of office which are often more revealing than the inaugural address.

Abraham Lincoln's famous second inaugural address, in which he pledged "Malice toward none, charity for all, firmness in the right," is a masterpiece of eloquence.

In 1933, Franklin D. Roosevelt addressed a nation deep in a depression and promised a "New Deal" for Americans. He took the oath with his hand resting on the 13th Chapter of 1st Corinthians which begins: "Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become a sounding brass or a tinkling symbol."

Warren G. Harding took the oath using Micah, Chapter 6, Verse 8, which asks in part: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly." It is generally agreed that the Harding administration subsequently was one of the most unjust and corrupt on record.

And after a brilliant career in which he had risen from being an orphan at 10 to President of the United States at 49, Herbert Hoover confidently took the oath of March 4, 1929, with his hand on Proverbs 29:18: "Where there is no vision, the people perish." Seven months later the bottom dropped out of the Stock Market and by the end of Hoover's administration, nearly 16 million men and women were unemployed.

Currently before the House of Representatives is a joint resolution which provides for a single six-year term for a President.

There are arguments, for and against, of course but it does seem the resolution has some merit. A single term would probably free criticism from political and personal attacks back to politics. Nearly every President is believed to be acting from political motives as he looks forward to re-election.

If a President served just one, six-year term, he would also be free from worrying about reelection and could devote his complete concentration to running the country.

At any rate, President Woodrow Wilson once said that four years is too long for a bad President and not long enough for a good one. He was probably right.

Our congratulations to those responsible for the creation of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches. It can't help but lead to better understanding and good-will and God speed ahead.

While New England residents are laboring over the possibility of a severe fuel shortage, parts of the Midwest appear in more dire straits.

Sixous City, Iowa, for one is having some real problems. One college is still operating at all because of the critical fuel supply and some thought is being given to closing schools for a period of time to make oil available to critical facilities such as hospitals, institutions.

Right now our city is struggling to find additional fuel supplies. At the same time there is an additional problem. The city has been told that only 75 per cent of its request for diesel fuel for the next six months can be met. That's the fuel that is used to drive the city's garbage trucks, motor graders and other equipment.

If you are not yet thinking about your 1972 income tax return, you soon will be. One gets the feeling from all the talk about taxes these days that Americans are on the verge of being taxed to death. Therefore, you might find these statistics refreshing.

The United States devotes 27.9 per cent of its gross national product to taxes. By comparison, in Sweden it is 43 per cent; the Netherlands 39.7 per cent; Denmark and Norway 38.7 per cent and Great Britain 36.6 per cent.

The primary reason, of course, for the high percentage in the Scandinavian countries is that they are pioneers in developing the welfare state. They have national health insurance, free or heavily subsidized university education, transferable pension rights and substantial government help in job location and training.

When you think of the future, it appears some of our political leaders are giving a lot of thought to sending us down the same path.

There is a profit in business, that's for sure, but a real myth is a survey conducted by Opinion Research Corporation which found that most Americans estimate business profits at 28 per cent. That is, that the average corporation nets 28 cents on the sales dollar.

The fact is that U.S. business as a whole nets less than 3 cents on the sales dollar. On total 1971 sales of $1,650 billion, the U.S. Department of Commerce reports corporate profits in the U.S. amounted to $47.4 billion, after taxes. If the profit figure were 28 per cent the figure would be $462 billion. That's almost $400 billion worth of misunderstanding.

Some companies make profits of over 3 per cent of course, but even the largest and most successful don't come close to the mythical figure of 28 per cent that exists in the public's imagination.

Those who think profits are immoral and those who regard profits as public resources, are living in unreal worlds if they think business is averaging a 28 per cent net help the sales dollar.

American business reinvested some $30 billion in retained earnings in 1972 and will increase that amount substantially in 1973. Others will invest billions more in expectation of future earnings. If there were no profits, there would be none of this investment.

Profits are the lifeblood of business. Without them there is no incentive to take risks. The fact is that the fabulous ego of business is neither so large nor so golden as rumor financing, maintaining and managing the economy, a reward for risk taking.

A 28 per cent $462 billion fee admittedly would be out of line, but, in a trillion dollar economy, we don't believe a management fee of 3 per cent is too great.

The Inaugural Address Mr. Nixon Didn't Use

Washington—I can't understand it. At great personal effort, I wrote the greatest Second Inaugural Address ever written. And all I got was one of these darn rejection slips: "We have no use for this material at this time..."

The way I looked at it, Mr. Nixon always wants the best. And the best Second Inaugural Address ever written, historians agree, was Mr. Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address.

Of course, Mr. Nixon couldn't give Mr. Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address word for word. Every ardent insid on delivering his speeches in his own style.

So I simply inserted some of Mr. Nixon's words in between Mr. Lincoln's words to give the text the flavor of Mr. Nixon's comfortable style. And I typographically emphasized Mr. Lincoln's words so Mr. Nixon would know whose words were whose.

"Hi, Hi, there, my fellow Americans—my fellow countrymen. In answer to Mrs. Irwin's evaluation of the PTA Jan. 19, I would like to suggest that parents who are not aware of or not satisfied with the PTA's accomplishments get involved and offer their ideas and support to PTA rather than discuss PTA's failures with their unmotivated neighbors."

The problem with PTA today is that the "P" in PTA is silent and that "A" is completely missing. How can "parents and teachers" work together to provide the best education for the town's children when the majority of the members attending PTA meetings are teachers?

"I think I can say that frankly I can even say fervently do—and, by that, I mean all decent Americans—hope and fervently do as I said before, to you on this occasion, pray—now, by this, I don't mean in any way to cast aspersions on my fellow Americans who, for reasons of their own, don't pray—that this night's seizure of war, just and necessary though it was in the defense of, in my opinion, freedom, may speedily pass away, which has always been my game plan and I've stuck to it."

"With malice toward none—I have never, rightly or wrongly, held any malice toward anybody, no matter how vicious their attacks on me, on the right, which I have always been for, rightly or wrongly, as God, no matter what His race, creed or color, gives us to see the right, and with the support I hope of Congress and every decent American, let us strive to finish the work we are on in this country, which we made tremendous progress these past four years, to bind up the nation's wounds which were the result of the misguided spending and permissiveness of the previous administration, and to achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, Republicans and Democrats alike, and with all nations, which just wraps up the whole game."

And that's what I have to say about that.

stop lights installed for the safety of all the school children. Where are these concerned parents when PTA has established that social life involving parents, teachers and children is unimportant to a child? Perhaps if more parents took the time to go together to these "tag sales" and other "fund raising events," such as complete sets of cassette tapes for the libraries, educational films, etc., that the school could not have had available to them so soon, and which is utilized by all children not just PTA members children. PTA consistently informs their members of these purchases. PTA has initiated book mother programs and endorsed bills for widening of streets, and worked to have

Cafeteria Program, Curriculum Studied

BY JOHN A. JOHNSTON (Herald Reporter)
Two major items on Monday night's Board of Education agenda were a discussion of the cafeteria program's financial status, with a request by Dr. J. P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, that the personnel and finance committee make an intensive study; and a curriculum progress report by Dr. Alfred B. Tychsen, who assumed the position of assistant superintendent of schools for instruction and curriculum Jan. 1.

Dr. Kennedy reported that the current cafeteria program is more successful financially than in the last few years. Daily lunch sales are up 400-450, he said, and the federal government has increased its per meal subsidy from six to eight cents. However, he added, no government surplus ground meat has been received, and turkey and chicken shipments have been cut sharply.

In a report submitted to board members, Dr. Kennedy said, "Current sales for the year to date are $190,000 and our expenditures to date are $198,000, showing a deficit of $8,000. This, however, does not take into account inventory of June 1 for $2,000 and an estimated inventory at this time of approximately $14,000, which in effect would reduce the deficit at this time to approximately $1,000 for the year. Combined with the carryover deficit of $2,265, total deficit at the end of the year would be $3,265 (1971-72 expenses), the cafeteria operation is approximately $18,000 in the red.

Ray Demers, business manager, said that the state reimbursement check for the October cafeteria program was received Jan. 19, a slower repayment than usual. Commenting on Demers' report and the superintendent's observation that hourly cafeteria workers have not received an increase since the last minimum wage increase, Beldon Schaffer said that cafeteria workers are "working heroes," adding that the board should "face up to the problems, make the cafeteria program a 1973 priority, and get it back on the road."

The board appointed Mrs. Beverly Parrelle, a resident of West Suffield, to be a social worker at East Catholic High School under the supervision of Mrs. Madeline J. Hickey, who plans to retire at the end of the school year after 28 1/2 years in the system and Joseph Meyers, industrial arts teacher at Bennett for 17 years, effective Jan. 22. Other resignations accepted were those of Mrs. Lynda Ewald, effective immediately, and Robert A. Matuszewski, Lillian G. Simmers, Bentley Grade 4 teacher, for retirement purposes at the end of the school year after 11 years in the system.

The board accepted, with special recognition, the resignation of Mrs. Madeline J. Hickey, who plans to retire at the end of the school year after 28 1/2 years in the system and Joseph Meyers, industrial arts teacher at Bennett for 17 years, effective Jan. 22. Other resignations accepted were those of Mrs. Lynda Ewald, effective immediately, and Robert A. Matuszewski, Lillian G. Simmers, Bentley Grade 4 teacher, for retirement purposes at the end of the school year after 11 years in the system.

The board passed his motion to express concern over the proper state agency about the undue delay in school reimbursements, with copies of the letter to be sent to town representatives in the General Assembly.

Mrs. Eleanor Coltman, educational policies and communications committee chairman, reported that she met with the high school student assembly Jan. 15 for preliminary consideration of the physical education requirement for graduation. She is reserving recommendation pending more discussion, and the assembly's presentation of its

Curriculum Report
Dr. Tychsen said that during his first few weeks in Manchester, he has consulted with several persons to see what is going on in curriculums and to suggest what he would like to see done within the guidelines given him. With long-range goals of more individualization, standardization, and career education, he added, the staff must come up with 1) goal statements in each program; 2) measurable objectives within those goals; and 3) performance objectives (what a child should know at the end of a year in a certain subject), with provision to be made for levels of ability.

To that end, he continued, committees are being named at the elementary school level in social studies, science, mathematics, and language arts, each composed of one principal and a representative from each school; secondary school levels in the same areas; and kindergarten through Grade 12 in special areas.

"I hope that by next fall," Dr. Tychsen concluded, "the elementary mathematical performance objectives and those in language arts at the secondary level will be developed."

Dr. Kennedy added that released time in-service training is one way to implement Dr. Tychsen's aims. He briefly outlined plans for a first day of released time, drawn up by Bennett and Tilling Junior High School teachers. He said that he would bring two or three more plans to the board soon and hopes to have coordinated released time program formulated by the end of the year.

Process Denies Conflict

FARMINGTON (AP) — The director of Greater Hartford Process said Tuesday criticism of a study of future growth patterns in his organization is conducting for the town of Farmington is unfounded. Peter Libassi and Farmington Manager Stephen Flis told newsmen they knew of no conflict of interest on the part of anyone involved with the $30,000 contract to present the town with several alternate plans for developing the East Farms area.

Teachers Over 'Contract Flu'

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Teacher absenteeism returned to normal today after a wave of what officials called "contract flu" which left four public schools virtually without their regular teaching staffs Monday. Second Man Arrested

HARTFORD (AP) — Julian A. Taylor, 37, of Hartford Tuesday became the second man to be arrested in what state police described as the theft of some $17,000 worth of securities from the state comptroller's office. Taylor was charged with first degree forgery and larceny by receipt of stolen goods and released on $2,500 bond. Last week Walter B. Fredericks, 41, also of Hartford, was booked on the same charges. He was released Tuesday on $5,000 bond. At the time of Fredericks' arrest, police said they found in his Tower Avenue apartment a quantity of the securities bearing serial numbers matching those reported missing from the comptroller's office.

Unemployment Bill Aimed At Tapping Federal Funds

HARTFORD (AP) — A bill that would make $600,000 in federal funds available for Connecticut's unemployment compensation program was a favorite report Tuesday by the legislature's Labor Committee. It was the first bill to emerge from committee during the new legislative session. The Labor Committee chairman, Sen. William Pownall, R-Seymour, and Rep. John Matthews, R-New Canaan, called for quick passage of the bill by the General Assembly to keep the jobs checks going out on schedule. About 180 to 200 permanent employees of the State Labor Department's Employment Security Division are threatened by layoffs next month because of "a severe and acute shortage of funds," said the committee chairman in a statement. To keep the Unemployment Compensation Fund from being depleted, the state is borrowing $5 million from the federal government on Feb. 1, the chairman said. In the meantime, the state must tap the $600,000 which has accumulated in so-called "Reed Act" funds available to

Many Great Society Programs Being Dismantled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many of Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society social programs are being dismantled at the time of his death, victims of a budget squeeze and his successor's different approach to domestic problems. Model Cities, urban renewal, housing subsidies and manpower training are among the Johnson-era programs falling before President Nixon's budget ax. But other major legislative accomplishments of Johnson's term—especially Medicare and antidiscrimination laws—will long endure. Three factors have prompted Nixon's moves to phase out or sharply curtail Great Society social-spending programs. "First is their steadily rising costs," Nixon wants to hold federal spending this fiscal year to $50 billion, and next fiscal year to about $45 billion. To do this mandates sharp cuts in big-ticket programs. Second is the fact that Nixon and many of his key advisers attached level of glory to the programs. Nixon calls it New Federalism—he and his aides contend more can be accomplished at lower cost. In the past month, a number of Great Society programs have been hit by a series of cutbacks, freezes and fund impoundment. For example, an 18-month moratorium has been placed on all new commitments for federal-housing-subsidy programs for low- and middle-income families, a federal-aid system established by legislation Johnson initiated. Likewise, a freeze has been imposed on new financing for Model Cities and urban renewal, as well as for manpower-training programs. In addition to the temporary measures applying to current fiscal-year spending, Nixon's previous budgets have curtailed operations of the poverty-fighting Office of Economic Opportunity. Some major OEO programs, such as Head Start, have been shifted to other agencies or eliminated completely. Of all the social programs Johnson pushed through Congress, perhaps the most enduring has been Medicare, the system of medical care for the aged financed through Social Security. Medicare was first proposed by President John F. Kennedy, but Kennedy couldn't get it through Congress. Johnson did

Church Chooses Wardens

John Ferguson of 476 Woodbridge St. and Clarence Maron of Vernon were elected wardens of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church Monday night at the annual parish meeting at Neil Hall of the church. BARBS

By PHIL PASTORET
My neighbor keeps his hanger from one year to another, to keep from having to construct a new one. Quick—where's old all the junk you've discarded they dragged out to sell before Christmas? No, Gwendolyn, a "hang over" isn't a fellow clinging to the edge of a cliff. Putting the decorations away is a great method of finding the twenty-five dollars worth you couldn't locate in storage before Christmas. (DEVELOPER: ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Tolland Disagreement Delays Payloader Purchase

VIVIAN KENNESON
 Correspondent
 Tel. 875-4704

The board of finance met last night with First Selectman Erwin Stoetner, selectman Charles Luce and Road Superintendent William Sevick to award a bid for the purchase of a payloader. After several hours of controversy, however, a decision was not reached.

According to Board of Finance chairman Stewart Joslin, the bids were: Allis Chalmers, $25,500; John Deere, $26,335; Trojan, $27,000; Michigan, $28,220; and Caterpillar, $28,992.

The Board of Selectmen voted Tuesday morning to recommend purchase of the Caterpillar, which was the recommendation of the road superintendent. According to Joslin, this recommendation is based on the Caterpillar's record of service and reliability. Joslin also stated that the Caterpillar was the only bid which met all specifications drawn up by Sevick.

The Board of Finance will meet again tonight to further evaluate the merits of the bid. It is expected that a contract for purchase of a payloader will be awarded and that a date will be set for a town meeting for approval of the purchase.

School Closing
 All Tolland public schools will be closed tomorrow, the day of President Johnson's funeral, in respect to the late President, according to the Board of Education office.

Constables Answer Complaints
 Town Constables answered 36 complaints last week, including six police assists, three automobile accidents and five other alarms. They also aided the Tolland Volunteer Ambulance Association with an ill person and performed traffic duty at a structure fire.

Patrol hours totaled 154, with 1,837 miles clocked. The Constables checked 22 unoccupied homes and checked businesses 736 times. One summons and six minor vehicle warnings were issued.

Tolland Elderly Surveyed On Housing Need

Over 200 questionnaires to determine the need for elderly housing units, were mailed today to residents 62 years of age and older. If any qualified person does not receive this form in the mail, additional copies are available at Town Hall.

The questionnaire seeks the ages and incomes of persons over 62. Persons need not identify themselves and all information will be kept in strict confidence. Housing Authority chairman, Donald G. Miller, stressed the importance of the return of the form within one week.

The state program of housing for the elderly, administered by the Department of Community Affairs, provides a direct grant to housing authorities for the development of housing for the elderly. The program, financed by the state and administered in each community by the local Housing Authority, enables older persons to enjoy an independent and decent life in the town where they have been and will continue to be useful, valued citizens.

The program provides funds for the construction of rental apartments especially designed for occupancy by elderly families with limited financial resources at rents they can afford. The grant covers total development costs including the purchase price of the land.

A committee to study housing for senior citizens was formed about 15 months ago. Through research, speakers and visits to existing units, the committee determined this type of housing is needed in Tolland. The Housing Authority plans to make application to the Department of Community Affairs soon, based on the results of the survey.

Arts of Tolland
 At a recent meeting of the newly-formed Arts of Tolland, groundwork was laid for a summer arts and crafts program for children.

The program may include pottery, leather crafts, creative stitching, music, drama, ballet, photography, painting and sculpture.

Chairman William D'Antonio stated the group's goal is to raise $10,000 each year to insure a continuous program. The long-range goal is to establish an Arts Center for the community. Mary McNally was placed in charge of a fund-raising mailing which will be sent to all Tolland residents.

A public meeting will be held Jan. 30 at 8 p.m. at the R.E. building of the Congregational Church. Anyone interested in becoming a member of the organization is urged to attend the meeting.

Arts of Tolland is a non-profit and non-political organization.

Troop 15 Camping
 Boy Scout Troop 15 will be camping this weekend at a privately-owned camp ground on Cook Rd. Scout Master Kenneth Johnson will accompany the troop.

The group, under the direction of Dan Ater, specializes in children's programs, and has performed in the greater Hartford and Woodstock areas. As an added attraction the Burger King Group will be on hand to greet the children and hand out a few surprises. There will also be a contest in connection with the play for children in kindergarten through sixth grade. Details of the contest will appear within several days in area schools and the newspaper.

Emanuel Church Cites Anderson On Retirement

Eric S. Anderson of 20 Coburn Rd. was honored Sunday at the annual meeting of Emanuel Lutheran Church for having served the congregation for the past 15 years as church treasurer. He received a gift from the congregation and a citation.

Rodrick J. MacLean Sr., financial secretary for the past 13 years, also received a commendation but was unable to attend the meeting. In the financial reports, income was indicated to be about $104,000, and of this amount $22,000 was paid out in benevolence. Florence L. Johnson, Memorial Funds treasurer, reported a balance of nearly $3,000.

A "faith" budget of $128,000 was adopted for 1973. Pledges that were received in November have not been counted and will not be unless finances fall below operating needs, according to the treasurer.

It was also voted to extend a call to the seminary for an interim for the coming year and also to look for someone on a part-time basis to help coordinate the youth program and the Christian education activities.

Earl Anderson reported from the Emmanuel housing board that all apartments were now rented in church property at 38-40 Church St. and a new roof and storm windows have been installed. The pastoral reports indicated a slight gain with a total confirmed membership of 1,196 and baptized members numbering 1,501.

Hebron Industrial Arts Program Success

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

Almost 100 youngsters, both boys and girls, are participating this year in a unique industrial arts program for fifth and sixth graders at the Gilead Hill School in Hebron.

This program, which is now a regular part of the school's curriculum, is a result of a pilot program started last January through the cooperation of the Regional District 8 Board of Education and the Industrial Arts Department at Rham High School.

A little over a year ago, Gilead Hill School principal, Ralph Saccuzzo, explored the possibility of the pilot program with J. Colin Pusheer, principal at Rham, and David Mordavsky, Industrial Arts Department co-ordinator at the school, both of whom endorsed it.

The facilities at Rham were used three days a week, one hour a day, for 18 weeks with the only cost to the Hebron Board of Education being for transportation of the students from Gilead Hill to Rham.

In most cases, material was supplied by Rham from scrap materials and Mordavsky volunteered his time to teach the course.

Evaluation of this pilot program showed it to be enormously successful, according to Saccuzzo, particularly for those students who had been so-called "problem" children.

"These children," Saccuzzo

stated, "had been uncooperative, lacking in self-discipline and unwilling to apply themselves to their studies. However, in the shop program that requires physical mobility and manipulative type activities with tangible results, these students were able to contain themselves and learn."

Funds for the implementation of the program in the curriculum were voted in last year's budget and the program was underway.

Equipment

With the $1,600 allocated for equipment, the administration purchased a variable speed scroll saw that can be geared down to run as slowly as possible, a drill press, a miter box and all the necessary hand tools.

Between $350 and $400 was spent to purchase materials and in the future only additional materials will have to be purchased.

Safety

Safety is the big factor stressed throughout the entire program which teaches not only woodworking but also copper tooling and plastics.

The four elementary teachers who teach the industrial arts course, Mrs. Cynthia Strouse, Robert Merrill, Mrs. Olivia Patch and Mrs. Donna Drauder, were involved in in-service workshops conducted by Mordavsky before the start of the program.

The purpose of these workshops was to give the teachers the basic knowledge and techniques necessary to adequately prepare them to implement the program as well as teaching the students the importance of safety practices.

No visitor, not even the principal, is permitted to visit the workshop without first putting on safety glasses. Children are required to roll up their sleeves when using the equipment.

In addition, yellow lines mark the floor around the saw and drill press and each child knows these must not be crossed when the machine is in operation by another student. And, on the saw, a piece of metal makes it impossible for a child's hand to come close to the blade.

Periodically, Mordavsky visits the shop to continue training to answer any questions the teachers may have, to observe the program in operation and to see if anything else can be improved.

Workshop

The workshop at the school consists of two large, bright classrooms, one of which is used for woodworking and the other for plastics and copper tooling.

Two big workbenches with vises on each corner are in use constantly during the classes as the children put finishing touches on their pieces of work. At the same time other children are taking turns sanding their pieces on the drill press while still others are using the scroll saw, cutting out their projects.

Then, according to one student, you "pop it out" and that's all there is to it.

Reactions

Both the teachers and students reactions, according to Saccuzzo, are "terrific." There are some students who used to dread coming to school but now look forward to school because of the industrial arts program.

"These students," Saccuzzo stated, "are not only doing well in industrial arts and enjoying the sense of accomplishment and success they were never able to in the academic area but their attitude toward school in general is changing to a more positive one. They are finding that learning can be enjoyable."

Although the program is only in operation at the Gilead Hill School, Paul A. White, principal at the Hebron Elementary School, hopes that in the near future it may also be implemented at that school.

State Purchases 40 New Cars

HARTFORD (AP) — The state is buying 40 new cars in the first major auto purchase since Gov. Thomas J. Meskill took office two years ago.

Finance Commissioner Adolf Carlson, who announced the purchase Tuesday, said the purchase of new cars is not inconsistent with Meskill's policy of keeping the state's auto fleet at a minimum.

The over-all effect of new vehicle purchases will continue to allow for an orderly reduction in state-owned cars, consistent with the governor's policy in cost reduction without impairment of service to Connecticut residents," said Carlson in a prepared statement.

With fleet discounts, the average price per car was only $2,600, and the total cost of the purchase was around $1 million, Carlson said.

The purchase was needed to replace aging vehicles which are being retired one by one, the commissioner said. The old cars will be sold at auction.

Carlson said the new cars will be in a variety of "standard colors" instead of the traditional black, because black cars don't fetch as high a price at auction.

All of the 40 new cars which the state has already agreed to buy, another four cars will be purchased for use by Atty. Gen. Robert K. Killian, Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer, Comptroller Nathan G. Agostinelli, and Treasurer Robert I. Berdon. Bids for these full-size sedans have not yet been received.

All of the 40 new cars are American-made, Carlson said, the state rejected the bids of buying foreign-made subcompacts.

The autos were purchased through Connecticut dealers.

Of the 400 cars, 216 are compact — all Chevrolet Novas; 127 are "intermediate" size — 82 American Motors Matadors and 45 Dodge Chargers; 18 are full size sedans all American.

Ambassadors, and 39 are station wagons — 14 Plymouth and 25 American Motors Ambassadors.

British Uncover Phone Racket

LONDON (AP) — Government investigators have uncovered a nationwide racket by British telephone operators who for years have been making free calls all over the world. The Post Office, which runs British telephones, is said to be losing $4 million a year in revenue.

Authorities apparently first stumbled onto the racket last March when they were tracking down "phone freaks," youngsters and electronics buffs making free calls by using special gadgets to duplicate impulses that open telephone circuits without going through switchboards.

They arrested a young student and found out about the racket reportedly being run by telephone service personnel themselves.

Budget Items Clarified by Dr. Kennedy

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, Dr. James P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, departed from the agenda for a few moments. He said that he wanted to clarify a misunderstanding that arose from his explanation, at the Cape Canaveral, Florida.

Her Love Affair With Afghanistan

BY JUNE TOMPKINS (Herald Reporter)

Rhea Talley Stewart has had a love affair with Afghanistan. It began in April 1966 when Mrs. Stewart, a native Virginian, visited Iran (she says she still calls it Persia, she likes it so much better), a place she had always wanted to go. While there, she went into Afghanistan and was so intrigued by the country she began to read all about it. She hit upon a period of the country's history that so fascinated her she felt she just had to write about it, she says. "The period she chose, to hear and see her describe it is, as some might say, like 'something out of a book.' But, instead, she chose to put it in a book."

As she relates the events, the political intrigue, and her own involvement in developing her story, one senses the pagantry and magnitude of a Cecil B. DeMille extravaganza. There is even a central figure—a King Amanullah (pronounced A-mun'-ah-lah). Mrs. Stewart exudes excitement as she tells the story of how King Amir Amanullah wrestled Afghanistan from the British during a short border war and succeeded in breaking British control over Afghan foreign affairs. He broke traditions with the Afghan society when he introduced reforms in education and dress. He built schools for boys. He built schools for girls who were customarily secluded according to ancient Moslem tradition. He encouraged women to remove their veils and to adopt modern dress. Mrs. Stewart goes on to describe the villain of the story who, as the son of a water carrier, connived to have King Amanullah overthrown. The villain then took over the throne. King Amanullah went into exile into Italy with only the possessions he took with him. Since the overthrow of the rightful monarchy, comments Mrs. Stewart, Afghanistan has made certain progress, but, at the same time seems to have suffered as a result. Increased building construction has taken away much of the grazing land on which the animals depend for their livelihood. The Afghan population has increased to contend with and rid disease. Afghanistan has reached a state of depression and famine, Rhea Talley Stewart of 179 Boulder Rd., holds her book, "Fire in Afghanistan, 1914-1929" which was released by Doubleday & Company, Inc., last Friday. Mrs. Stewart began the book during the summer of 1967. (Herald photo by Bucevicius)

Stewart says, because of these factors. Now, however, the Afghans are beginning to see the merits of King Amanullah's ideas. The people with whom Mrs. Stewart has come in contact during research on her book read like King's Who's Who. She never met King Amanullah, she has met his family. She attended the funeral of his wife, Queen Souraya. Her body was flown from Rome, where she died, to Jalalabad and was buried near the King. Mrs. Stewart has made five trips to Afghanistan. She has dined with a Baluchi tribesman in a hotel in Kabul. She has had complete access to the Political Secret Papers for the British Empire which were made accessible to the public during research on her book. Mrs. Stewart hopes to visit Kabul, she says, she has studied newspapers home and abroad. She has also seen something of the recreational activity of Afghanistan in the form of an horrendous sporting game called Buzkashi, a polo-like game played with a beheaded calf instead of a polo ball. The event, which was held on the King's birthday, was also attended by Princess Alexandra of Greece. On more than one occasion, she said she felt she was being spied upon. Mrs. Stewart feels that if her book ever reaches Afghanistan book stores without being banned, it will create a sensation among the natives who have been unaware of the many truths which she says she has exposed. According to Mrs. Stewart, she suspects the first book might be sold at a smuggler's stand in the Khyber Pass. Mrs. Stewart, who says one can find round trip for $45 to Kabul, hopes to visit Afghanistan again sometime. Originally an 1,100 page manuscript, this 565 page book is replete with intrigue and history of a little known country surrounded by Iran, Russia, China and India.

HAMMARSKJOLD. By Brian Urquhart. Alfred A. Knopf, 630 Pages, $12.95. This is the inside story of what Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden did as secretary-general of the United Nations from 1953 to 1961, written largely from his private papers by an English U.N. official who worked closely with him and Ralph J. Bunche.

He denies that Hammarskjold was a religious fanatic, an impression some have got from reading the latter's poems. The big concern in much of this period was communism, and it becomes apparent that a lot of officials, not to mention nonofficials, were convinced that the United States was coming out of World War II only to get into another war with the Soviet Union as the enemy rather than as an ally. Not a few Americans were eager for that — they thought that the United States, with its atomic arms, could make a pre-emptive strike against Moscow and bend the Russians to Yankee will.

Those who lived through this era may choke or exult at many of the incidents and words included here. But it will be hard for either foes or advocates of such views to deny that strange things went on in the years between Japan's surrender and the Korean outbreak. Ben Bassett Associated Press

THE TRUMAN ERA. By I.F. Stone. Random House, $7.95. An odd thing about this book is that it is a reprint — it was originally published 20 years ago. Pathmark's tips for the Money Manager...

If you're trying to stretch your shopping dollar, but have run out of ideas, we at Pathmark have a few that may help. Basically, all they require is a little planning... a little extra attention to detail. But you'll be amazed at the difference they make. So here goes — 6 shopping tips that make good money-managing "cents"!

- 1 Pick up our Pathmark Value Planner every week when you check out. Plan your shopping at your leisure. And don't forget to look for the valuable coupons and the Mark of Value checkmarks.
2 Try the red, white and blue Pathmark label. You'll like the quality. You'll love the price.
3 Use our Unit Pricing Labels. Find out if the larger size will save you money. Then decide whether you'll be able to use the larger quantity.
4 Try substitutes: (A) Peanut butter, cheese, eggs, frozen fish and beans are rich in protein and cost a lot less than meat. (B) Non-fat dry milk is as nutritious as whole milk. (C) Margarine fills in nicely for butter. (D) Apples and oranges, when they're in full supply, can economically replace tomatoes.
5 Make your meat money go further. Casseroles, stews, chili, stuffed cabbage go far and, like other ground beef recipes and liver, have high nutrition value.
6 Plan tomorrow's meal today! Choose main dishes that can help make a brand-new dish the next day.

John Willard
Eyes Super 75

A 47-year-old Manchester man in one of 15 persons eligible for tomorrow's Super-75 drawings in the state lottery.

The drawings will be held at 10:30 a.m. in the Greenwich Civic Center.

John E. Willard of 151 Hartford Rd. won $5,000 last Thursday, on a ticket he purchased at Bess Eaton Doughnuts. By winning the $5,000, he became eligible, as did the 14 others, for tomorrow's $70,000 top added prize plus several $10,000 added prizes.

Willard said "it was hard to believe" he actually had a winning ticket last week, when he checked it against the number drawn. "I was little things, but nothing that magnitude, ever," he said.

Town To Proceed With Rifle Range

With the receipt last week of federal acceptance of the necessary safeguards for a rifle range planned for Building D at the former Nike Site purchased by the town in May 1970 for $50,000, construction of the facility is proceeding, Assistant Town Manager John Harkins said today.

Contracts already have been awarded for the iron and steel needed for the rifle range and the construction will be handled by members of the Manchester Rifle Club, assisted by town employees. The materials will be supplied by L.E. Esoworth & Sons of Hartford, $2,025; and Edgcomb-Milford Inc. of Milford, $131.59.

apparently broken by a shotgun blast. The incident occurred at about 2:15 a.m. Sunday. Albert Fournier Jr., of 373 Pleasant Valley Rd., South Windsor, told police he was alone at the restaurant when the window was broken. Fournier said he heard a car approach; there was a loud noise; the plate glass window broke; and the car drove away. Fournier was unable to give police a description of the vehicle.

Police said lead shavings were found among the broken glass. The size of the hole and the force of impact indicated that the window was shot out with a shotgun, police said.

Highway Ban Asked

HARTFORD (AP) — State Sen. Nicholas A. Lenge, R-West Hartford, has proposed a one-year ban on highway construction.

The measure would prohibit use of state funds to plan, design, buy or construct any interstate highway. During the moratorium, Lenge calls for the state to study mass transit systems as the ability of interstate highways to handle commuter rush-hour tieups.

The Ecology League, a group of people from six towns in Litchfield County, have gone on record supporting the Lenge proposal.

The league in addition proposed an 11-member commission to assist the state Transportation Department in a study of mass transit systems as the ability of interstate highways to handle commuter rush-hour tieups.

Anniversary Mass
A first anniversary Mass for Peter L. Massaro will be celebrated Saturday at 8:30 a.m. at St. James Church.

Shotgun Blast Breaks Window
apparently broken by a shotgun blast. The incident occurred at about 2:15 a.m. Sunday. Albert Fournier Jr., of 373 Pleasant Valley Rd., South Windsor, told police he was alone at the restaurant when the window was broken. Fournier said he heard a car approach; there was a loud noise; the plate glass window broke; and the car drove away. Fournier was unable to give police a description of the vehicle.

Police said lead shavings were found among the broken glass. The size of the hole and the force of impact indicated that the window was shot out with a shotgun, police said.

Extradition Waived
A Manchester man under arrest for recent incidents in town was being returned from Illinois today after he waived extradition, according to Manchester Police Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor.

The man, Bruce C. Hammond, 24, of 101J Tudor Lane, was being held in Edwardsville, Ill., on a stolen car charge, Sartor said. Detective Sgt. Raymond Mazzone of the Manchester Police

Vernon Sykes Made Annex To Middle School

Adopting a recommendation made by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Raymond Ramstell, the Board of Education Monday night made Sykes School an annex of the Vernon Center Middle School and agreed to have it under the supervision of David Parker, principal of the Middle School. The Sykes school will be used as a school year in house Grade 6 students in the school system. It presently houses the freshman class of the high school. The high school will go on double sessions next year and therefore all four classes will be housed at the school. The move was made due to a space problem at the high school and the Middle School.
Dr. Ramstell had previously recommended that all Grade 6 students be housed at the one school and this was supported by the board, for many reasons, one of the prime ones being that it would eliminate a problem of selecting who will go to the school. Using it just for sixth grade will mean there will be pupils from all over town.
Presently Parker has two assistant principals at the Middle School. He indicated at a previous board meeting that he would not be in favor of having the Sykes Building as an annex of the Middle School but was not at Monday night's meeting to further object to the board's move. Next fall there will be one assistant principal at the Middle School with Parker, and another assistant will be at the Sykes School, under Parker's jurisdiction.
Edward Masker who is now principal of Sykes School under the jurisdiction of Martin Fagan, principal of the High School, will move to the high school next fall, giving that school two assistant principals.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A hurricane gets its power from condensing water vapor over warm water. A frontal storm develops when a cold air mass collides with a warm air mass. The neutrons, neutral beta particles and gamma rays from the sun, get its energy from both processes. The World Almanac says this phenomenon wasn't discovered until weather satellites began to track storms.

FOR THE BIRDS, Gurnar and Agnes Barford fastened this sheaf of wheat to the sapling in Argyle, Wis. It's an old Norwegian custom.

Real Estate Clinic On MCC Schedule

The extension and business careers divisions of Manchester Community College will offer a real estate clinic, consisting of three non-credit courses, during the spring semester. All courses will start next month and last 12 weeks.
"Real Estate Principles and Practices," which is approved by the VA, will be presented in four sections. It is a survey course for persons who wish to increase their general knowledge of real estate or qualify for the state broker's licensing examination. Topics will include market analysis, property rights, mortgages and deeds, interest rates and sources of funds, and title closing.
The class will meet Tuesdays, Feb. 6-May 1, 7:30-9:30 p.m., Room 13 on the main campus, with Norman Hohenal as instructor.
"Real Estate Appraisal I" is designed to convey an understanding of the basic philosophy of the art of appraisal, aid students in acquiring the ability to apply the principles and techniques of residential appraisal, and help them to make use of the principles and techniques in improving their performance as real estate salesmen, brokers, or appraisers.
The class will meet Tuesdays, Feb. 6-May 1, 7:30-9:30 p.m., Room 13 on the main campus, with Alfred Werber as instructor.
"Real Estate Appraisal II" aims to create an understanding of and assist students in the application of the techniques and principles of appraising income property. The course is intended for real estate salesmen and brokers who have completed "Real Estate Appraisal I" or who have had practical experience in appraisal.
The class will meet Wednesdays, Feb. 7-May 2, 7-9 p.m., Room 21 of the Hartford Rd. building, with Donald Moline as instructor.
Information about costs and application forms may be obtained by calling the extension or business careers at 646-4900.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Obstructing an Officer

Without any doubt, punching a policeman in the nose would amount to the crime of "obstructing an officer." But what about the associated lesser infractions that arise daily between citizen and constable? Where does the law draw the line?

Generally speaking, you may be guilty of this offense even if you do not resort to any force at all. Take the case of a youthful demonstrator who "went limp" when the police ordered him to climb into a patrol wagon. Charged later with obstructing an officer, he argued that he could not be punished for simply doing nothing.

Nevertheless, the court found him guilty as charged. The court said his refusal to obey a lawful order not only delayed and obstructed his own arrest but also delayed and obstructed the arrest of others.

Affirmative action, of course, is even riskier. Thus: A motorist lost his temper when he found a meter maid beside his parked car, writing up a ticket that he felt was unjustified. First, he refused to accept the ticket. Then, when the meter maid tried to put it on his windshield, he blocked her path and deflected her arm. A court concluded afterward that these actions, added together, did constitute the offense of obstructing an officer.

This does not mean, however, that a policeman has to be treated with kid gloves. Reasonable resistance is within a citizen's rights. In another case, while a man was being placed under arrest in a tavern, his wife informed the police—with vigor—that they had no right to take him away. Still, she did not interfere physically with the arrest. Nor did she use threatening language.

Held into court for obstructing an officer, the woman was found not guilty of any offense. The court said: "Policemen are no more exempt from criticism than cabinet ministers."

Social Security

Q. My husband was ill for about eight months and out of work. He never went in to file for disability benefits under Social Security. He died in January 1972. Is it possible to collect any benefits he may have been due?

A. Under the new law survivors of deceased individuals who died before they filed for disability benefits can file for any benefits due them. You should contact the Social Security office to file a claim.

Q. My brother said that since my husband died in 1970 I could not file for any disability benefits due him. Is this true?

A. The new law says in cases of deaths which occurred after 12/31/69 survivors have until Jan. 31, 1973 to file applications for any retroactive benefits due.

Q. How long must a person have been out of work before he would be entitled to disability benefits? Does this also apply to deceased disabled individuals?

A. Prior to January 1973 a disabled person would not receive any benefits for the first six months of his disability. He would be paid benefits starting with the seventh month, for example, if a person was disabled for only four months there would not be any benefits payable. This applies to both living and deceased wage earners.

Q. Has the new Social Security law changed the disability waiting period?

A. Yes. Prior to January 1973 a person must have been disabled six months before benefits were payable. Effective in January the waiting period is five months. This means benefits would start with the sixth month of a person's disability.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures by SYD KRONISH

As the political cold war seems to be melting, so is the stamp cold war, and thus more philatelic news is becoming available to U.S. collectors. Poland's Postal Department advises that a new set of eight stamps has been issued honoring the Polish Cavalry through the centuries. Each stamp depicts an equestrian soldier from a different period in Polish history. The 20 gr features a Polish knight from the 10th century. The 40 gr shows a cavalrman from the 13th century. The 60 gr depicts a horsemann from Wladyslaw Jagiello's Cavalry of the 15th century. The 1.35 zl has a cavalrman from a banner's company of the 17th century. The 4 zl pictures a soldier from the National Guard Regiment of the 18th century. The 4.50 zl shows an equestrian from the Congress Kingdom period (1815). The 5 zl illustrates a cavalr hero from the Light Cavalr Regiment in 1920. The 7 zl depicts a horsemann from the Light Cavalr Regiment of the Polish People's Army of 1945.

Stamp collecting will be given considerable impetus with the formation of a special stamp and coin division by the Hobby Industry Assn. As a singular salute to this occasion, the U.S. Postal Service has designed a special pictorial cancellation to be applied to a decorative cover at the 36th convention of the Hobby Association in Chicago, Feb. 4-7. The cancellation with its slogan "Saluting the World's Hobbyists" should appeal to collectors of pictorial postmarks. It depicts the silhouettes of a father, mother and two children in a circle framed by the words "Hobbies for All People for All Seasons." A limited edition of these first day of show pictorial cancelled covers is available by mail, and will be sent in a protective envelope for 50 cents. Requests should go to the Stamp and Coin Division, Hobby Association of America, 200 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10010.

When is a U.S. stamp not a stamp? The answer: When it is a Duck Stamp. Although duck stamps fall in the revenue category, they have caught the interest of many collectors who treat them like regular postal issues. If you want to find out more about duck stamps, you can obtain the latest edition of "Duck Stamp Data," a booklet issued by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior. While illustrating winning duck stamp designs from the past, it briefly tells the story of the conservation movement, beginning with the Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp Act of 1934. Copies of this booklet are available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, at 30 cents a copy.

A recent auction in New York of U.S. rare issues resulted in a total sale of $546,987.50. On sale were stamp items seldom seen at auction previously. Included were the 1 cent Blue "C" Grill of 1867. The only existing copy was last sold in 1917. This time it sold for $27,000 despite imperfections. Another rarity, the 30 cent carmine and blue of 1869 with flags inverted (used condition) brought $22,500. The catalog price is $20,000. This sale is evidence that the demand for fine, rare stamps continues and philatelists are willing to pay top dollar for items they desire.

Cyprus has issued a new three value set and a souvenir sheet with the main design featuring the Nativity Wall painting in the Church of the Holy Cross of Agia Nafsa, near the village of Planastassa, completed in 1466. Each of the three stamps depicts a portion of the large painting. The 10 mils shows the bathing of the Child Jesus. The 20 mils features the Magi. The 100 mils illustrates the Nativity. The souvenir sheet features the whole painting.

It doesn't cost you anything extra to get an extra special beef roast

One reason you expect the beef at fine restaurants to be good, is because they age it. At Stop & Shop, we age our beef too — for tenderness and flavor... naturally, without additives. We seal it first in protective plastic so there's no dehydration, no waste to add to the cost... just extra tenderness and flavor when it's fresh cut at your Stop & Shop store. "Quality-Protected" Beef is not just a name. It's a guarantee.

Signs of the Times in NBA

Sign of the times: When the National Basketball Assn. came into being in 1946, there were 21 players under six feet, with 11 teams. Today, with 17 teams, only one man, Norwalk's Calvin Murphy at 5-9 is under six feet. Spring training exhibition games for the Boston Red Sox and New York Mets start March 3 when the two clubs meet in St. Petersburg, Fla. The New York Yankees open March 7 at Orlando against the Minnesota Twins. Boston will conclude its Grapefruit League slate April 1 with the Mets and Yankees ending their Florida stay March 31 and heading home with two exhibitions against one another. Just Wondering - If the major league pitchers will still take batting practice now that the designated pinch hitters will be used in the American League. According to the CLAC Basketball Tournament listings of schools, Weaver High will compete in the Double A event, and in the past, although a Class A school on the basis of boy enrollment, Weaver has 430 boys. Double A schools list 600 and over boys. New Haven District Board of Basketball Officials has followed the practice of the Central and Eastern Connecticut Boards and will be guided by a commissioner who will handle all assignments, effective next season. One of the biggest pluses of this arrangement is that it gives younger officials a better chance of breaking into the varsity category and cuts out many officials who work two varsity games in one day. The C's have in Carlton Fisk's family. His older brother, Calvin, once caught for the Baltimore system. Two younger brothers are now with the Cedric and Calvin. The father's name is Cecil. The Red Sox catcher's two children are named Carolyn and Carson. Quick now, name the only man who won both the world's heavyweight boxing and wrestling crowns. The late Primo Carner is the answer. Two of the finest centers in NBA history, came up from the ranks of the Harlem Globetrotters, Sweetwater Clifton and Wilt Chamberlain. The latter did play a game in Manchester, an exhibition at the Clarke Arena a decade ago.

Champs to Be Feted

Gene Johnson reports Moriarty Bros. baseball team will be honored for winning the Greater Hartford Suburban Twilight League last season on Saturday night, Feb. 24 at Wille's. The MB's have dominated play for the past decade. Former boxer Bob March reports he's so impressed with George Foreman, new world's heavyweight boxing champion, that he's ready to get into the boxing game. Foreman's upset win breathes new life into the boxing game. "Boxing can't be dead if thousands show up around the state to watch closed circuit telecasts which has been the case for at least a half dozen bouts in the last two years," Mike Simmons, new varsity football coach at Rockville High, was named winner of the Thom McAn Award in 1960 as the No. 1 back with Manchester High's football team. Dick Tingley, Rockville High director of athletics, is an avid skier and top volleyball player. Tickets are available for UConn basketball games Feb. 3 Maine, Feb. 13 New Hampshire, Feb. 15 Vermont and March 3 Boston University. Brian Herosian, John Ilnberg and Charley Horan have been named tri-captains of the UConn baseball team now in training for its five-game Florida schedule in March.

Fire Ruins Race Car Of Donohue on Coast

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A fire of undetermined origin raced through a garage at Riverside International Raceway Tuesday evening, destroying three cars including Mark Donohue's Formula A road racing car valued at $100,000, authorities said.

The fire began at about 8 p.m. and was contained in less than 30 minutes but Donohue's car was considered beyond repair. Donohue, recent winner of the 1972 Indy 500, was named last year's Indianapolis 500. Authorities said an additional $150,000 in damage was done by the fire in a corrugated metal building just opposite the main grandstand. Two workers in the building when the fire erupted escaped without injury.

Balanced Scoring Key for Tribe

Register Easy Win In CCIL

By Dean Yost

Fast-breaking Manchester High combined a balanced scoring attack to defeat visiting Conard High of West Hartford, 62-45, last night at the Clarke Arena. Due to a mix-up in the final minutes, spectators turned out for the contest.

Coming off a slow moving, cold shooting first period, Manchester's offense began to move in the second eight minutes. With just 2:36 left the Tribe took command of the lead, and behind baskets by John Feeney, Ray Sullivan, Connie McCurry, Larry Perry and Phil Stoneman's jump shot at the buzzer, erected a 26-18 margin at halftime.

Taking very little time in the dressing room during the break, the local gears were ready for the final 16 minutes as they continued their assault at the hoop. Coach Jim Moriarty, substituting freely throughout, used a big team for defensive measures and then inserted his smaller cagers for his offensive success.

The victory put Manchester one game below the 500 mark with a 5-6 record while Conard also sports a 5-6 CCIL record.

"I think we have finally turned the corner," Moriarty noted in reference to his club's consistent four quarter effort. "We'll be ready for our remaining eight games."

Manchester, from the field, came up with its best showing to date netting 24 of 47 attempts for 51 per cent while Conard topped 44 of 86 shots for 51 per cent.

Perry was the locals' top scorer with 10 points with Tom Tucker, returning to the lineup, netted nine. Four players, Rich Habern, Stoneman, Kurt Carlson and Sullivan each contributed eight points apiece.

Conard's Bob Massie tallied 16 markers while Dave Lombardo cashed in 11 points.

Manchester will host Bristol Eastern at the Clarke Arena Friday night at 8:15 in a CCIL tilt.

East Used Its Speed In Trimming West

CHICAGO (AP) — The secret of success in the National Basketball Association All-Star game was speed, rebounding and substitutions.

"Our entire plan was to run 'em, run 'em, run 'em and get the boards," said Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn after his East team swamped the favored West Tuesday night 104-84.

That was half the story. The other half was a substitution pattern that saw Nate Archibald and Sidney Wicks combine for 21 points in the first quarter for the West, then sit on the bench until the fourth quarter, when it was too late.

"You try to figure out who you want in the last quarter," said Bill Sharman, the coach of the West. "It was your best men in there if it's close."

"In an All-Star game everybody has to play," echoed Archibald, the mini-guard for the Kansas City-Omaha Kings whose bench-warming prompted a chant of "We want while the East was breaking open the game in the third quarter.

The West went into the game as a slight favorite, primarily because of a towering front line featuring Wilt Chamberlain, Wicks, Seattle's Spencer Haywood, Golden State's Nate Thurmond and Detroit's Bob Lanier. Despite the absence of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, who withdrew for personal reasons, they figured to overwhelm the East.

But Boston's Dave Cowens, who led the West with 15 points and both teams with 13 rebounds, spearheaded a hustling, hanging board effort that won him the Most Valuable Player prize. And he had valuable rebound help from Celtics teammate John Havlicek, Baltimore's Elvin Hayes and New York's Dave DeBusschere and Walt Frazier as the East accumulated a rebounding edge of 65-53.

"Everybody won the game for us," Heinsohn said. "We had all the fast break guys and that's the way we played the game."

Heinsohn used various combinations of eight men-Cowens, DeBusschere, Frazier, Pete Maravich, Havlicek, Hayes, Lenny Wilkens and Jo-Jo White-for most of the game. Sharman substituted more and the West was more ragged.

"Trying to play 14 men is impossible," the Laker coach said afterward. "Turnovers hurt us badly."

"We tried to run with them," he added. "But I guess they had a little more speed."

Over in the East locker room, Havlicek confided.

"The only advantage we had was speed," he said. "The only question was if we could get the rebounds because we knew we could beat them down the floor."

The East victory raised its edge in the series to 15-9 and broke a two-game West winning streak.

College Hoop Roundup

Marquette Encounters Ups, Downs in Game

NEW YORK (AP) — The Marquette Warriors have certainly had their ups and downs this season.

"Their offense consisted of no more than just putting the ball up and letting their big guys slam it down," said Northern Michigan Coach Glenn Brown after dropping a 76-55 basketball game at the 10th-ranked Warriors.

After the Warriors lost their first two games of the season last week, a soft-tough opponent was welcome relief.

"I think we played relatively close together for this kind of game, but that should be our easy one for a while," said Marquette Coach Al McGuire. "Northern Michigan did the best they could — but we're just too strong."

The Warriors, virtually unbeatable at home where they've lost only once in the last 84 games, have plenty of road engagements the rest of the way. They will play only three of the next 11 games at home.

Northern Michigan's starting front line averages about 10 inches shorter than Marquette's. But while it's not a dramatic height advantage, the Warriors are more of a physical team.

"And they shoot better than we were led to believe," added Brown.

Skidding Cougars Lose Five in Row

Erasing a 13-point deficit midway through the second half, Trinity College JV's rallied to defeat Manchester Community College, 73-70, last night in Hartford in a non-conference outing.

Indiana, Wildcats Triumph

The second-place Indiana Pacers and Kentucky Colonels continue to ride the American Basketball Association treadmill Tuesday night.

Both teams, but so did the Utah Stars and Carolina Cougars, the clubs directly above them.

Utah maintained its 334-game bulge over Indiana in the Western Division by shading Denver 106-104 while the Pacers were beating the New York Nets 110-103.

In the Eastern Division, Carolina stayed 2½ games in front of Kentucky with a 124-112 squeaker over Memphis while the Colonels were trouncing Dallas 131-112.

Ron Boone scored 27 points and James Jones 25 as Utah fought off a late comeback by Memphis led by 1:45 left and Willie Wade scored on a layup with one minute to go. Ralph Simpson passed the Rockets with 24 points.

Indiana, led by George McGinnis, took charge in the second half after trailing by as many as 10 points. McGinnis had 15 points, 10 rebounds and five assists. He scored 23 points in the second half.

Memphis led Carolina 110-117 with 1:27 left but two by Ed Manning put the Cougars ahead for the first time since early in the game. Baskets by Billy Cunningham and Joe Caldwell put it out of reach and saddled the Rams with their 10th consecutive setback.

All five Kentucky starters scored in double figures as the Colonels coasted past Dallas. Dan Issel was high with 33 points, Walt Simon had 29 and Artis Gilmore 27.

NHL Players Experienced

NEW YORK (AP) — Experience will be on the side of the Philadelphia Flyers as they take on the Boston Bruins in the 26th annual game next Tuesday night.

The announcement was made after the NHL's All-Star game in which the East defeated the West 10-8.

Don DeJardin, general manager of the Flyers, made the announcement and said Loughery, a 11-season NBA veteran, was given a contract which will cover the present season and the following two years.

Loughery, 32, becomes the NBA's youngest coach. He played with Detroit and Baltimore before joining the Flyers in a deal for Archie Clark. "Rubin was in his first season as coach of the '7ers" who currently have a 4-7 record.

Mike Simmons Rockville Coach

Handed the reins of guiding the fortunes of the Rockville High varsity football team next fall is Mike Simmons, former Manchester High standout. He'll succeed Jerry Fitzgerald who resigned following the 1972 campaign.

"Mike Simmons was the only man I recommended for the job," Dick Tingley, Rockville High director of athletics reported. Simmons was one of a dozen qualified candidates who applied.

Simmons, who was a fine running back at Manchester High, graduating in 1961 after being named the top back the previous fall, served as an assistant to Fitzgerald for six years.

Currently varsity track coach, where he has been most successful, Simmons will give up that sport in accordance with a department rule. No man coaches two sports, Tingley said.

"Mike has all the qualities that I look for in a coach," Tingley added. "He has a good technical background, the personality and the know-how."

Simmons is one of several brothers who starred in sports at Manchester. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simmons.

The new coach teaches driver education at Rockville High.

Simmons is a graduate of Upper Iowa College. He worked as both the offensive and defensive backfield coach since 1967 with the Rams.

With double sessions starting in the fall, Simmons will have only juniors and seniors to work with. Rockville is a member of the well-balanced Central Valley Conference.

Schoolboy Basketball

THE fight for second spot in the CVC center sees both Rockville High and Simsbury High next last night. The showdown for these two clubs will be Friday in Simsbury. Following Friday's encounter Rockville goes against undefeated Bloomfield High Feb. 2.

Simsbury followed by the undefeated Coventry five. Portland is 6-0 in the CVC while the Pats are 6-3.

Freshman Walt Jackson led Portland with 20 points followed by Jeff Salinsky with 18 markers.

Coventry's Dave Gankofskie had 14 while Joe Locke netted 12 and Carlson chipped in 9 points.

BOLTON — Finding a winning combination hard to find, Bolton battled Rocky Hill down to the wire before running out of gas. John Spellman, John Ciccarello and Gary O'Brien directed the winners' attack with 19, 17 and 10 tallies in that order.

The Bulldogs' John Struff caned 14 tallies followed by Paul Groves and Walt Behrmann with 11 and 10 points.

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Roy Rubin of the lowly Philadelphia 76ers was fired Tuesday and replaced by Kevin Loughery, who will serve as player-coach of the National Basketball Association team.

Despite Sluggish Start, East vs. Back Xavier

By Dick Ledbetter
Patience and perseverance paid off for the East Catholic last night as they gained a 46-44 victory at the hands of Xavier. The win upset East's record to 9-3 overall and 2-1 in the CVC. Xavier is now 3-1 in the conference and 6-5 overall.

While it was not an outstanding showing for East, they did look impressive in the second half coming back to control the game.

The first quarter went entirely to the Falcons. Running off 10 consecutive points, they built up a 14-4 lead. East made numerous turnovers and missed a number of layups. East was lucky to be behind by only 10 points, considering the way they were playing.

Action in the second stanza saw East settle down a little and begin to look its normal self. However, the team still looked bad and Xavier couldn't take advantage. The inside work of John McKeon brought East four points closer at halftime, 21-15.

The third quarter was fairly even, but McKeon and John McKeon brought East four points closer at halftime, 21-15.

The third quarter was fairly even, but McKeon and John McKeon brought East four points closer at halftime, 21-15.

Marty Kearns played excellent defense. Xavier remained out in front through 35-32.

East's poise and composure were the factors which contributed to taking control in the final stanza. McKeon, Gorra and Riccio, who subbed for Martens, all were tremendous off both boards. They scored to give East a four-point lead, 41-37, with two minutes left. It was a close battle from there on, with East displaying a calm, deliberate offense. Gorra sank a basket and a foul shot with 10 seconds left to put East in front, 46-44, and Xavier was unable to tie. It was a pleasing victory for Coach Stan Ogrodnik. The performance was that of a team which had enough composure to keep battling even though things weren't going right.

Ogrodnik said, "I was really proud of the way the team hung in all the way. Their poise allowed them to turn around an atrocious beginning." He spoke of individual players. "Gorra and McKeon did a really good job off the boards. Marty Kearns pulled off a couple of key plays."

Gorra led East's offense with 13 points while McKeon added 12 markers. Game honors went to Xavier's Bill McKinley with 15 markers and Siano canned 12 tallies.

Ring Fans Want Foreman and Ali

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — George Foreman, the new heavyweight champion of the world, says he'll let the people dictate his next opponent — and the voice of the people is ringing in a rising swell.

"Give us Foreman vs. Muhammad Ali," they said. That blue ribbon pairing is unlikely to come off this year. All, 31 and faced for the second time with a long period of ring rust may be forced to cool his heels for a couple of years.

"I think Foreman will make us wait a while," said Angelo Dundee of Miami, Ali's trainer who predicted Foreman's victory over Joe Frazier. "He would be a real contender."

"But it would make one whole of a fight."

Dundee got an echo from Ali's long-time trainer, coach, trainer, Drew (Bundini) Brown. "They just gonna sit and let us grow old," lamented Bundini.

Meanwhile, there were other complications. Foreman and Jerry Quarry must dispose of a mysterious paper admittedly signed by Sadler agreeing to a return bout with Frazier. Former Golden Gloves champion, who floored Frazier six times in 4 minutes 35 seconds, was scheduled for a stunning second round upset in Kingston's National Arena Monday night.

The new champion offered came from Chris Dundee, Miami Beach promoter and brother of Angelo Dundee. He offered $50,000 to meet Ellis in Miami Beach March 19.

Foreman wasn't listening.

"I'm not going to spend a couple of days relaxing on this tropical island and then fly to Minneapolis to be with my wife, Adrienne, and their 18-day-old daughter, Michi."

Derby Stars in Springfield

Twenty-year veteran John Parker, a full Cherokee Indian, and his partner, George Adams, the 280-pound Parker will lead the International Roller Derby Hawks against the National League Chiefs tonight at 8 at the Springfield Civic Center.

"I'm not going to talk about the victory," replied the 65-year-old Litwack in his typical low key style. "It was the association with those nice young athletes, the future citizens who were going to take over. I wouldn't want to mention names. Some were more talented and went on to become professionals. But there were good ones too, who became lawyers, teachers, dentists. They all made contributions."

The graying Litwack, whose reputation in college basketball is that of a coach who has done more with less playing talent than most, is retiring because of problems with his health.

Litwack will be succeeded by his assistant, Steve Casey, a former high school coach who has been a Temple Braves' star since he was directed the team several times this season when Litwack was sick.

Spahn Elected To Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Warren Spahn, the winningest left-handed pitcher in major league history, was elected today to Baseball's Hall of Fame.

"It's the greatest thing that ever happened to me," the balding Spahn said at the news conference announcing his election. "I'm very thrilled, especially at making the Hall of Fame the first year I was eligible."

Former New York Yankee pitching ace Whitey Ford, also on the ballot for the first time, missed making the Hall by only 29 votes with a total of 255.

Ex-Pittsburgh Pirate slugger Ralph Kiner, who was a near-miss candidate for the past three years, received 235 votes and the late Gil Hodges, former Dodger first baseman and New York Giants manager, was fourth with 218.

Hodges got 57 more votes than in 1972.

Robin Roberts, winner of 20 games in six consecutive years for the Philadelphia Phillies in the early 1950s, received 213 votes in his first shot at being enshrined in the Hall at Cooperstown, N.Y.

The 51-year-old Spahn, currently a pitching coach with the Cleveland Indians, amassed a 245-245 record in the major leagues from 1942-65. This was the first year he was eligible for the Hall of Fame.

The announcement was made by the Baseball Writers Association of America. He needed approval by three-fourths of the members who participated in the voting. Spahn was the only one who received the necessary votes.

Although Spahn completed his major league career in 1965 and could have been eligible for election to the Hall in 1970 under the five-year waiting period, he had to wait until this year because he pitched briefly in the minor leagues in 1966 and 1967.

Spahn received 316 of 380 votes. A total of 284 were required for election.

With three shooters firing identical scores, the Manchester High rifle team captured its third win in four starts this season outshooting 15 teams in Wilmamite, 88-87.

Junior Karl Turek, having fired a higher standing score than any other shooter, an encouraging feature in this non-league match was the continued improvement shown by the juniors on the squad.

The Board of Assessors has been granted a two-week extension to complete its tax work by the State Tax Department.

The assessors have until Feb. 1 to complete the Grand List and print the abstract.

According to Richard Kristoff, chairman, the reassessment has set them back and more time was needed to do the work.

He said they are using a new abstract this year. Instead of the previous method of hand written work, it will be typed and in three sections: automobile, real estate and personal property.

The extension will automatically move up the hearings of the Board of Tax Review (BTR) and will put additional pressure on them since their work must be done by the March 3 town meeting on the budget when the tax rate is set.

The general feeling is that the BTR will be bombarded with complaints since the reassessment has left many people dissatisfied over their land assessments.

The BTR has not yet filed a schedule with the town clerk.

Bolton churches will join with others throughout the nation in observing the annual "Week of Prayer For Christian Unity."

As in past years, the town's four churches will begin the week with an ecumenical potluck supper and program. The program will be Sunday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at St. Maurice Roman Catholic Church, Fleeton Rd.

Highlight of this year's program will be the appearance of Rev. Robley Whitson, a well-known theologian and ecumenist, whose specialty is ecumenism.

Father Whitson, a Roman Catholic priest, is currently teaching theology and anthropology at Hartford University in New York and was visiting scholar at Princeton Theological Seminary where he established the Academy of Advanced Religious Studies.

His published works include "Mysticism and Ecumenism" (1968); "The Resurrection Gospel" (1969); and "Religions in Convergence" (1972). He is currently working on a volume on the Acts of Luke.

The program will begin with the showing of the award-winning film "Parable" at 5 p.m. followed by a potluck supper at 5:30 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring a dish to share.

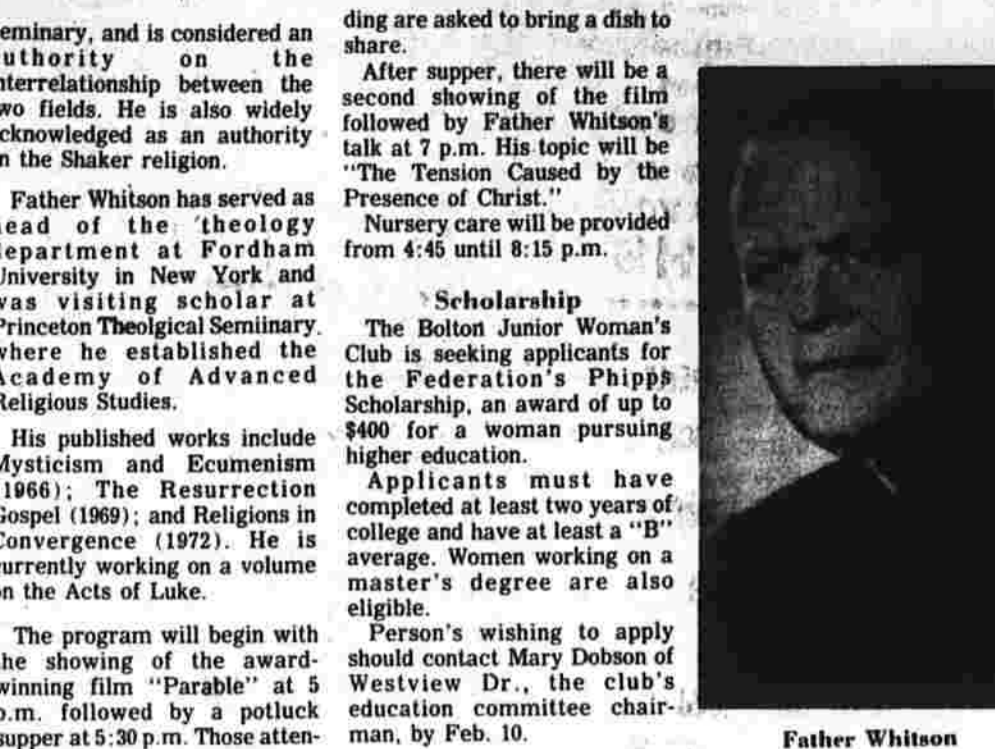

After supper, there will be a second showing of the film followed by Father Whitson's talk at 7 p.m. His topic will be "The Tension Caused by the Presence of Christ."

Nursery care will be provided from 4:45 until 8:15 p.m.

Proposed Budget Under $270 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much of what remains of the Great Society's 1974 budget message, ready for delivery to Congress on Monday, reportedly will call for total outlays of around $268 billion or $269 billion.

Some of the targeted programs, such as the Rural Electrification Administration, date back to Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal, but many of the housing and urban programs are legacies of the "Great Society" hopes of the man who was being buried today in his native Texas.
