Elmer A. Weden Dies on Coast

Elmer Alfred Weden, 74, of 2675 Sir Francis Drake Blvd., Fairfax, Calif., former Manchester businessman and chairman of the board of trustees of Manchester Memorial Hospital from 1957 to 1961, died Wednesday night in Fairfax. He was the husband of Mrs. Dorothy Chandler Lynch Weden.

Mr. Weden was vice president and general manager of the J.W. Hale Department Store from 1933 until 1960 when the store, together with its sister store, C.E. House, was sold.

For 14 years, he was a member of the board of trustees of Manchester Memorial Hospital, serving during the time when three major expansions were made in the hospital. In May 1957, he was elected chairman of the board to succeed C. Elmore Wadsworth. While the duties of the chairman of the board took a great deal of his time, Weden considered them his favorite hobby.

In 1955, he organized the Connecticut River Bridge Association to reconstruct and rebuild the Charter Oak Bridge in Hartford. Talking about the bridge in 1961, he said, "It's remarkable when you think of the number of bridges being built now, the fight we had to get that bill passed."

During World War II, he was chief registrar of the Draft Board to register all draft-eligible Manchester men. After the war, he served as chairman of Draft Board 3.

He was chief observer for the three listening posts of Bolton, Glastonbury and Marlborough when World War II broke out. He was also a member of the Bolton Post continued to operate for two years after Pearl Harbor.

He also served as president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Retail Division, as commander of the American Legion, and president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce. He was president of the Manchester Cancer Drive.

Mr. Weden was born June 24, 1898 in Boston, son of John and Marie Weden, and graduated from the High School of Commerce in Boston in 1915. He joined the Air Force during World War I and spent a year at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., training as a pilot. The remainder of the war, he was a teacher of other pilots.

After his discharge in 1919, he attended the Pace Institute of Accounting. Just before coming to Hale's in 1929, he was manager of the Controller's Congress of National Retail Drygoods Association.

He and his family lived on Keeney Dr., Bolton, before moving to California in 1941. He was chief observer for the three listening posts of Bolton, Glastonbury and Marlborough when World War II broke out. He was also a member of the Bolton Post continued to operate for two years after Pearl Harbor.

He also served as president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Retail Division, as commander

Auditors Cite Need For Curb On Executive

HARTFORD (AP) — The executive branch of state government headed by the governor has too much power in several diverse areas, the state auditors said Wednesday.

The governor exercises too much control over federal revenue sharing money, the spending of borrowed money on projects authorized by the legislature, and the treatment of legislative employees, the auditors said in their annual report.

The auditors, who are employees of the legislature themselves, called for general assembly control over renewing funds, abolishment of the state bond commission, legislative control over mass transit spending, and consideration of a merit system for legislative staff.

The auditors also renewed their annual plea for strict control over the state payroll, and urged approval of the comptroller's plan for a "comprehensive electronic system" to make out paychecks for state workers.

With the present inadequate controls, "the state is in the position practically of giving each department's payroll clerk blank checks with no assurance before they are cashed that the proper names or amounts have been entered on them," said the auditors.

The nine court suit contents Russell and Nancy Greene "falsely and maliciously defamed" Superintendent William Barrs during the period from July 24 through Sept. 21 last year.

During that time, a controversy arose in Preston over school counselling practices. The suit claims the Greens alleged that Barrs had tampered with his employment contract to improperly extend it for one year.

Court Cases

CIRCUIT COURT 12 East Hartford Session
Four men under arrest in connection with a drug raid in East Hartford Tuesday night are being held at the Connecticut Correctional Center, Hartford, on bonds set Wednesday by Judge Philip Dwyer.

The four men are charged with illegal possession of controlled drugs with intent to sell, and illegal possession of non-narcotic controlled substance. Their next court appearance is set for tomorrow at East Hartford.

The men, and the bonds set in court for them, are:
• Philip W. Gordon, 21, of 820 Tolland Tpk., Manchester; $10,000 surety bond.
• Robert J. Hunter, 25, of 59 Henderson Dr., East Hartford; $7,500 surety bond.
• Timothy J. Donahue, 20, of 126C Sycamore Lane, Manchester; $10,000 surety bond.
• Lawrence L. Donahue, 25, of 88 School St., East Hartford; $7,500 surety bond.

The men were taken into custody after East Hartford and Manchester Police searched a house at 68 School St., East Hartford. Police said eight pounds of suspected marijuana were seized in the raid.

The raid was the result of a lengthy investigation by Manchester Police.

Rham Event Postponed

Because of the national day of mourning and the closing of schools in the area, the Eastern Connecticut Industrial Arts Association meeting scheduled for Rham High School this evening has been postponed until Feb. 8 at 7:30 at Rham.

Cease-Fire Slated To Begin At 7 P.M.

To Sign Peace Agreement Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers left today for Paris to sign a historic Vietnam agreement which he said would "usher in an era of peace."

"Very soon, as a result of these agreements, the world will be in peace for the first time in a long time," Rogers said.

Rogers spoke to newsmen briefly at Andrews Air Base in Maryland before setting off for the French capital Saturday. Rogers will join his counterparts from North Vietnam, South Vietnam and Vietcong in signing the pact to end the lengthy Vietnam conflict. The cease-fire is slated to go into effect at 7 p.m. EST Saturday.

"We hope and expect shortly thereafter that a cease-fire will take effect in Laos and Cambodia, too," Rogers said, adding, "So finally this long and difficult war will come to an end."

Aides said that in signing the intricate Vietnam agreements, Rogers will be signing a document which will fix his signature a total of 72 times.

"Our doubts arise out of our membership in the ICC in Vietnam under the old 1954 Geneva agreements. Sharp said, "It has been a farce, and we don't want to repeat that."

The old ICC was stymied by straitjacket procedures and obstructive tactics by the parties.

Sharp saw an improvement in rules for the new control group. In particular, they give member freedom to report alleged violations without an anonymous approval from the other three.

Laird Details POW Release

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today operations for bringing out U.S. prisoners of war from North Vietnam will start this week, with more than 100 to be home within two weeks.

Laird said the POWs will be flown nonstop from Hanoi to Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines over a route that will first take them over Vietnam in Laos.

The trial was recessed Thursday because of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's funeral, but U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica told the jury Wednesday that it could expect to receive the case by the end of next week or early the following week.

Many Cities Plan Cease-Fire Events

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bells will toll, flags will be flown and many Americans will attend special religious services Saturday as the nation takes note of the official beginning of the Vietnam cease-fire.

An eternal "flame of hope" atop a 10-foot concrete pillar will be dedicated at the Albuquerque International Airport in honor of prisoners of war and men missing or held in Vietnam.

Saturday will be a "Special Day of Celebration and Prayer" in Lorain, Ohio, as POWs will be given initial medical examinations at Clark before they are flown to Travis Air Base in California, and dispersed to one of 31 military hospitals nearest their homes.

A parade marking the end of the war is being sponsored in Tall City, Ind., by the local American Legion post. Offerings at a "Thanksgiving" service in Midland, Mich., will be sent to rebuild Buch Mai hospital in Hanoi.

'War's Still On' For Marines

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans and nearly 400 North and South Vietnamese were reported killed today and Thursday in a storm of attacks across South Vietnam matched by the heaviest American air strikes in eight months.

"The war's still on," the commander of a U.S. Marine air wing commented after the death of one of his young security guards during a rocket attack on the Bien Ho Air Base.

Seven and a half hours after the prodawn attack at Bien Ho, a second American serviceman was killed when his observation helicopter crashed in flames near Phan Thiet, on the coast 100 miles east of Saigon.

The U.S. officials said the helicopter apparently was shot down. A second crewman rescued suffered slight wounds.

The U.S. Command also reported that 11 U.S. servicemen and 12 American civilian advisers and technicians working with the South Vietnamese air force were wounded in the rocket attack at Bien Ho and another at the Da Nang Air Base.

The South Vietnamese command said there were 112 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks during the 24-hour period during the previous 24-hour period when the United States and North Vietnam announced that fighting would stop at 8 a.m. Saigon time on Sunday, or 7 p.m. EST Saturday.

Mordavsky was the only high school instructor to participate in this project.

The others were all college instructors.

Other professional activities included the chairmanship of the 110th meeting of the CIA leadership conference held at Rham in 1972 and as a professional activities committee member of the NEIATA Connecticut Convention in 1971.

While teaching at Rham, Mordavsky has had two articles published in the "School Shop," a national industrial arts magazine.

In November 1969, he authored "Female Participation in Industrial Arts" and in April of 1972, he was co-author with other members of the industrial arts staff, of "Rham Ahead to Safety."

Police Exam Certification Demanded

STAMFORD (AP) — The Police association has voted to go to court unless the results of a recently invalidated examination are certified.

Association President Robert Hughes said Wednesday the results of the exam are "a gross failure, and that unless the results are sent to the police commissioner, the organization will sue the city."

Last month 63 officers took the test to qualify for future promotions, but the personnel commission threw out the examination because study guides used by the test takers were identical to the test itself.

However, chairman James A. Frisbie said the commission had no intention of inferring those who took the test cheated.

The association called for an investigation of how personnel tests are conducted. Hughes said, to avoid similar problems in the future.

Iceland May Try Bombing Volcano To Divert Lava

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — The government ordered evacuation of all civilians remaining on the volcanic island of Heymeyr today as geologists considered bombing the erupting crater to divert streams of lava into the sea.

The evacuation was ordered after the wind shifted fiery clouds of ash toward the capital of Vestmannaeyjar.

As the ash descended on the town it set ablaze several houses. Officials reported it piled in the streets, making it impossible to carry out.

Geologists are consulting American bombing experts from the Iceland NATO base in Keflavik to see if it is possible to blast the lava on a track to the sea.

Buildings were busy piling heavy earth barriers to stem the lava flow toward the town. The three-mile-wide island off the north coast is practically split in two by streaming lava after a rift running north to south.

The number of houses were buried by ash. All flights to the stricken island have been halted because of the deadly black cloud rising thousands of feet into the air above the crater and drifting across the island out to sea.

The sea persons allowed to remain on the island are rescue workers, a handful of officials and police.

The main crater, only a few hundred yards behind Vestmannaeyjar, hurried glowing lava into the air at regular intervals. Each eruption was accompanied by a deep-throated boom.

Most of the island's 5,500 inhabitants were evacuated shortly after the volcano erupted Tuesday. Only an estimated 200 people remained on the island when the Icelandic government issued its total civilian evacuation order.

Most of the civilians who remained were elderly people reluctant to leave their homes.

Our Dependence On Oil Imports

Now, as never before, the United States is dependent upon oil imports. Like every other industrial nation, America runs on oil. Homes are heated by oil and when a shortage occurs, as it has this winter, many households and industries face hardship.

The administration has lifted all restrictions on oil imports for home heating and increased all petroleum imports by nearly a million barrels a day. The action following an earlier suspension of Western Hemisphere preferences for oil imports.

These steps might assure adequate supplies of heating oil for homes and business for the remainder of the winter and will remain in effect through April 30.

However, retiring George S. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, warned that domestic refineries must increase production by 5 per cent to meet the demand. The highest estimate of available imports is 350,000 barrels a day, he said, compared to the need for 3.8 million barrels on a "cold day." This indicates that Midwesterners, who have been plagued most by fuel shortages, should pray for a mild winter.

Lincoln blamed the shortages on low inventories last fall, distributional problems in the Midwest, and on refineries which he said went "on a gasoline binge." Warmer weather has eased the situation somewhat and Lincoln said he was reasonably confident that lifting import restrictions would assure that nation of getting through the heating season.

Rep. Ray Madden, Indiana Democrat, blamed the government for doing too little too late and the oil industry for being interested only in profits.

President Rank Ikard of the American Petroleum Institute said the nation needs "comprehensive and coherent energy policies." There is no argument about that.

President Nixon is planning a message to Congress within the next few weeks dealing with energy problems and policies, including the import program. The Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs is holding hearings on our growing dependence on foreign supplies of oil and natural gas. Every American is concerned.

Any interruption of imports from the Middle East, a constant threat in view of the volatile and disturbed situation there, could mean gasoline rationing and severe discomfort to millions of Americans.

That is reason enough for the Alaska Pipeline to be pushed to completion along with new sources of fuel energy, such as atomic plants.

Cold Car Seat Can Be Peril To Health

A cold auto seat, the kind you encounter when you get into a parked car on a frigid winter morning, is more than unpleasant. It can cause all kinds of trouble, from backaches to rheumatism to kidney problems.

So says the 1973 edition of Baer's Agricultural Almanac, quoting Swedish experts, who ought to know something about frigid winters.

Not only does a cold car seat cause aches and pains; it also lessens the driver's skill at the wheel, the Swedes declare, bringing on a loss of ability to make judgments, a decline in the sense of feeling and a drop in percision of muscular activity.

One Swedish auto manufacturer provides electric heating for the seat through a wiring system activated when the ignition key is turned on.

This phenomenon sounds like something new for the venerable almanac, published by John Baer's Sons of Lancaster, Pa., and "a useful guide and entertaining companion for farmer, suburbanite and city-dweller" for the past 148 years.

Then again, those open-air buggy seats must have been a mite shocking to our ancestors on frosty mornings back in the last century.

Capital Fare A Sick Joke

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON—It is comforting to note that assorted members of Congress finally are saying that maybe the time has come for reform of the nation's welfare system. Apparently even a legislative body is capable of discovering that some things in this country aren't working.

Practically everybody else, notably including those harassed souls who try to administer the dole in our big cities, decided long ago that Federal regulations made a sick joke of a system that in fiscal 1973 will cost the taxpayers $24-billion. But when President Nixon proposed a renovation which, in fact, would have increased some benefits, he was assailed by the opposition on Capitol Hill as a monster who would solve the problem by starving the poor to death.

At any rate, although the Nixon reforms were passed by the House they were talked to death in the Senate in two successive Congresses.

In indeed Congress now is prepared to tackle the problem seriously, we can all thank Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., a bonafide liberal, who has spent arduous years studying the situation. The product of her work is contained in a report by a Senate-House economic subcommittee on fiscal policy, headed by Mrs. Griffiths, which some of the lady's colleagues seem actually to have read.

In a statement accompanying the report, Mrs. Griffiths described the welfare system as "an administrative nightmare," and said present welfare laws are so "complex and irrational" that they encourage mistakes and cheating and prevent systematic detection. The answer, said the lady the sticking point on Capitol Hill is that the proposal for using to make sense out of the system has come from Richard Nixon. In the sleazy tradition of all opposition parties, the Democrats are unwilling to enact legislation for which Nixon might get a crumb of credit. And yet so far no Democrat has come up with a viable alternative to the Nixon plan.

Cutting Agnew's Staff

WASHINGTON—The White House has decreed an important reduction in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's tiny personal staff which will strip him of long-time aides J. Roy Goodearle and Herbert Thompson—a move certain to be interpreted as a sign of Agnew's political decline.

Agnew has had at least two conversations with President Nixon since the election, but the staff reductions ordered by White House major domo H. R. (Bob) Haldean and former personnel chief Frederick Matok apparently were not discussed.

Rather, the Vice President's staff was "routinely" ordered to be trimmed down as part of Mr. Nixon's overall staff reduction inside the White House. Many key White House staffers, however, were promoted to high jobs in the cabinet-level departments and remain closely linked to the White House operation. That is not true of Goodearle, who has been Agnew's political liaison chief.

Appreciation

To the chiefs and firemen of the Town of Manchester Fire Department and the surrounding communities who were so helpful to our department in preventing a major fire loss from being catastrophic, I thank you.

To the Salvation Army, who along with firemen, braved the elements and served coffee and soup, I thank you.

There is probably not a closer knit bond between any group of men than there is between firemen. Having been associated with the fire service for as long as I have, and especially to the 8th District Volunteer Fire Department, I would like to express my appreciation to each and every member of their services, which were far above and beyond the call of duty in the crisis we faced together Jan. 8-9.

To the women (mothers, wives, sisters, daughters and friends) of the firemen who made sandwiches, coffee and offered shelter and warm clothing, I thank you.

We are prisoners of this Earth, and can't escape. The victims of a system, that holds our fate. Like ants upon a hill, we turn and run. When the mighty shout, and tell us fire the gun. The law of balance, shall be kept intact. The murder of our people, a well known fact. The poor and innocent no place to go. No choice to disobey, and so the flow of human life goes on, yet someday soon, The Lord above with justice will call High Noon.

CRC Will Decide Charter Language

The Manchester Charter Revision Committee, when it meets Wednesday for its 25th session since being appointed, will consider and take final action on its recommended charter changes.

It will receive a legal-draft of its 11 recommendations, as prepared by a subcommittee and approved by the town council. The final report, following CRC approval Wednesday night, will be presented to the town Board of Directors on or before Feb. 6, the mandatory deadline.

The subcommittee drafting the report consists of John FitzGerald, who is CRC chairman; John Shea, its vice chairman; Phyllis Jackson, its secretary; and Robert Stone.

The 11 recommendations by the CRC are: ... To permit emergency borrowing without a referendum, but after a public hearing, to a limit in any one year of 1 per cent of that year's tax levy. ... To double the yearly pay for the Board of Directors—to $1,500 a year for the mayor, $1,200 a year for the board secretary, and $1,000 a year for each of the other seven directors.

... To make changes and deletions in those charter sections which refer to sewer assessments and rates, so they may conform to state statutes — which supersede them. ... To delete the charter reference to police grievance procedures, so that the procedures spelled out in the police union contract may be followed, as required by state statutes.

... To provide a merit system concept for town employees, with the concept to adhere to existing personnel rules. ... To create a Department of Finance and to consolidate all fiscal operations under a director of finance, who would be the town controller.

... To place the Park Department under the jurisdiction of the director of public works. ... To change the designation, "Welfare Department," to "Department of Social Services."

... To delete the mandatory requirement that the building

Time Extended For Course Signup

VIVIAN KENNESON Correspondent

Board of Education Chairman James Cornick announced that registration for the Adult Education program will extend to Monday evening. At that time courses that do not have a minimum of ten students will be eliminated.

Courses began this week, with highest enrollment in gymnastics. Environmental mapping and documentation registered 22 persons, most of whom were non-residents. Other popular courses were real estate, introduction to psychology, chorus and creative stichery.

Registration for the microbiology course is low. The University of Connecticut is considering accepting credits of those who take the microbiology course, which should increase registration. According to Cornick, a decision will be made by UConn today.

Courses which now appear to be dropped are tailoring, contract bridge, horticulture, typing, modern math and photography. There is a possibility of combining silk screening with art, and refinishing with beginning woodwork, if enrollment increases. Gourmet cooking will begin about Feb. 7 and golf will begin in March.

Courses Monday are beginning woodwork, photography, modern math, silk screen printing, typing, chorus. Wednesday classes are refinishing, horticulture, tailoring, art, stichery, bridge, silmastics and environmental mapping and documentation. All classes are from 7 to 9 p.m. Registration fees are $5 for Toland residents and $10 for non-residents. Manchester Community College courses are: Introduction to psychology (3 credits) Monday and Wednesday, 7:45-9:15 p.m. (tuition $52.50); Biology 141 (Microbiology) (4 credits) Monday and Wednesday, 7:10 p.m. ($70); Principles of Real Estate (no credit) Monday evenings, 7-9 (94$).

The event, which is open to the public free of charge, is being sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society of the church. Coffee and dessert will be available.

The Crusade advanced leadership of South Union Methodist Church will meet tonight at 8 at Reception and Cooper Halls of the church.

JWC Sponsors Poster Contest

The Manchester Junior Women's Club is sponsoring a poster contest in conjunction with their live theater program "The Mother Nature Story" to be performed Saturday, Feb. 10 at 2 p.m. in the Manchester High School auditorium. The play depicts a day in the life of mother nature and her struggle against littering. Trees, birds, bees, clouds and the wind are all featured in this original play which will be performed by the Storytellers, a University of Connecticut drama group.

The contest is open to Manchester school children, kindergarten through sixth grade. Posters should carry out the theme of the play and may be done in any media. There are no size requirements, however, each poster should contain the following information: name of play, place, time and date. This information is not expected from the kindergarten children. Posters will be picked up Friday, Feb. 2 and should have the child's name, grade and school on the back.

The posters will be judged on originality with winners announced Tuesday, Feb. 6. There will be a first prize winner in each grade. They will each receive two free tickets to the play and have their posters displayed in Bailey Auditorium the afternoon of the event.

Mrs. Barry Casey, arts chairman of the Manchester Junior Women's Club, is in charge of the event.

Gardening with FRANK ATWOOD

One of the Outstanding Young Farmers in the State, as announced Tuesday, Feb. 6, by the Connecticut Jaycees is a grower of nursery stock, Leonard Mulnits, 31 of Mulnits Farms, East Windsor. Trees and shrubs, grown at Mulnits Farms, will be sold this spring at retail nurseries all the way from Connecticut to Washington, D.C., and Wisconsin.

This is a tremendous business, developed from what was a small family farm in Leonard's grandfather's time, with a few cows, some hay, corn and potatoes and a few acres of broadleaf tobacco. Today it grows trees, shrubs and shade tobacco on 400 acres of rich Leonard Valley soil.

The family farm has become a corporation of which Leonard is vice president. His father, Emil O. Mulnits, is the president. Leonard's brother Emil A. Mulnits and their cousin, Tom Crockett, are also in the company.

The cows, the hay and the corn disappeared long ago at Mulnits Farms. Potatoes and broadleaf tobacco continued to be important crops for some years longer. Then as the market for trees and shrubs expanded the Mulnits tried a few acres of this new crop. There are 250 acres of trees and shrubs.

Working Inside Now
Shade tobacco, more costly to grow but more valuable when sold, took the place of broadleaf and is grown now on 75 acres. Together, the nursery stock and the tobacco bring in a gross revenue of more than a million dollars a year.

Work never stops at Mulnits Farms. Now, in what would otherwise be a slack season, 20 men, all Puerto Ricans, are "baling" trees in a warehouse. The trees were dug by machine in November and the roots washed free of soil. They have been stored with bare roots in a warehouse that has been kept cool, dark and moist. They are alive and healthy but dormant.

On the warehouse floor is a pile of staked post, moist, ripened with measured amounts of fertilizer and liquid limestone, with water and lime. A square of heavy, green plastic is laid over a metal tub of the size and shape of an old-fashioned washbasin and several shovelful of the mixed peat are placed in the bottom. Then a tree is held upright in the tub while more peat moss is packed around the roots and tramped down firmly. The edges of the plastic are drawn up and secured "ball" and securely tied. The tree goes back in storage with enough moisture and plant nutrients to keep it healthy for several months.

Move in Trailer Trucks
The trees will start moving out of storage in April, going first to areas where planting can begin early. By the middle of May the spring shipping will be completed. There will be smaller shipments in the fall, when trees are dug and sold directly from the field. An estimated total of 225 trailer loads of nursery stock will leave the farm loading dock this year. It is a strictly a wholesale business.

Preparing the trees in mid-winter spreads the work load and relieves the pressure in the desperately busy early weeks of spring. While trees are still moving out, then, small trees to be planted this spring will come from other Connecticut nurseries where they are started as rooted cuttings in a greenhouse and then grown outdoors for two years, or perhaps three. They will grow at East Windsor for another five to eight years.

Maples, to take another example, will come as "whips" from Oregon where they have been growing for one or two years and will stay at Mulnits Farms for two to seven years. The largest maples, perhaps 18 feet tall, are a luxury product, ordered by retail nurserymen who have customers willing and able to pay a high price.

MID-WINTER Auto CLEARANCE

You'll make a great deal on a new or used car right now at your local area dealer. Stop in today and see for yourself!

The Guidance Department at East is taking a giant step into the future with a program, launched by Mrs. Henrietta Cass. It's called career orientation.

In speaking with Mrs. Cass, I learned that this new program is an attempt to do more for students to inform them about job opportunities in career and vocational fields.

In the past it has been impressed upon students that, to get anywhere in this world, you had to go to college for years at least. But why go to college for college's sake? And wouldn't it be nice to get the job of your choice once you've put in your six (or more) years.

The Guidance Department thinks so.

There are many job opportunities at your fingertips that need either four years or less than four years of training to qualify. It is important not to waste years of your life, end up with no more than what you started with, plus experience in filling out hopeless job applications. Find out what's available and interesting to you, then plan your life and education accordingly.

The Guidance Department did exactly that. They sent letters to the area Chambers of Commerce for information concerning people with established careers who would care to spend time with interested students informing them what their particular job offers and requires.

Then at the Parents' Night held last November, the Guidance Department presented its idea to the parents and enlisted their aid in the program also. A file was compiled of interested parents and their occupation, available to discuss with students their careers.

Career Education is stressed by the government. The New England Resource Center for Occupation Education (NERCOE) of Newton, Mass., has published that in the 70's, 67 per cent of the career opportunities are in public and personal service. Many of these jobs do not require a four-year education. Employment in manufacturing is on the decline.

Many jobs that hold bright futures have been overlooked. The Guidance Department can help you to not miss these career success but it is true that better decisions are made with full knowledge of what's available.

Occupational and career literature for your information is available in the guidance office. Go in and acquaint yourselves with the many job opportunities open to you. Here are some of them:

English, journalism, graphic arts-printing, radio-television, library science, engineering, architecture, history, foreign service, home economics-food-tortilleries.

Also, retailing, child development, art-design, hotel-motel, industry, food service, law enforcement, special education, social welfare, safety, agriculture, forestry, outdoor life, salesmanship.

Also, traffic management, air lines, health-nursing, music, drama, environment, automobile industry, marine science, mathematics-computer science, drafting, physical education, club management, medicine, dentistry, podiatry, pharmacy-pharmacology.

Two Courses Offered Rham Area Residents

Recreational and cultural director Gordon MacDonald has announced that chess lessons and a candlemaking course are being offered to area residents.

Chess lessons, which will be from 9:30 to 11:30 on Saturday mornings at Rham High School for ten weeks, will be taught by Michael Tanny, a member of the U.S. Chess Federation and Michael Zotta, both instructors have competed in many New England chess tournaments and both are on the faculty at Rham.

There will be a charge of $1.50 per lesson if the minimum number of ten students register. This charge will be reduced as the number increases up to maximum of 20 registrations.

Each person should plan to bring his or her own chess set to the class which is for beginners as well as more advanced chess players and is open to adults and interested young people.

Candlemaking classes in weaving and business law have also been scheduled by MacDonald for the Andover Congregational Church.

To register for the chess lessons or candlemaking course or to obtain further information charge is $1 per class payable in advance at the first lesson. It will be limited to the first 15 people who sign up.

Students are asked to bring candle wax or paraffin to the first class. Other materials such as wicking, dye and hardener, will be provided by the instructor for a nominal charge.

Classes in weaving and business law have also been scheduled by MacDonald for the Andover Congregational Church.

Old Codger's Cogitations

The site of East Catholic High School was known as 'Toby's Hill' because it was said to have been the place Chief Toby and the remnants of his tribe lived when the Hop Brook area was first settled by the white colonists.

Will be were trailed to one very large pine. The entrance hole was small and ten or twelve feet up from the ground. But someone had staked his claim to it in a very clever way.

Usually a batch of wild honey was chopped out after the bees were stung with smoke. That practice left the opening so large it was no longer useful for bees.

But this fellow had carefully sawed out a slab about a foot square, taken his honey and fitted the door back in so bees would continue to make a hoard to be collected next year and probably repeated many years.

We didn't molest that secret and never went to it again. It was some lucky fellow's private property and he deserved it.

Just before the Hockman wooden bridge was a Logan family's home, said to have been the toll-gate keeper's abode. Just past the bridge the driveway into the Foster's home was said to have been the entrance to the shun-pike.

O.C. never learned how it got back to the pike beyond the toll gate. Most probable way seemed to meet Adams St. so it could make connection with either Middle or Tolland turn-pike.

Memorial Project Gets Under Way

First steps were taken this week to get the renovation of the Vernon Memorial Building under way with Mayor Frank McCoy met with William Swain of the Philadelphia office of the Economic Development Administration (EDA) to set up guidelines for the project.

Last fall the town was awarded a grant of $300,000 to renovate the 84-year-old building on Park Place which is a memorial to the veterans of the Civil War. The building, now used for some town offices and the Circuit Court, will be renovated to make use of much unused space at the present time.

At the meeting which was held Monday the alternatives for arranging offices were studied by town officials. Swain, architect Dan Wright, consulting engineer John Pozzato.

As soon as the engineers and architects finish their work and the plans are approved by EDA, final bid documents will be prepared. This hopefully will be in about one month. Federal officials have agreed that the contract may be speeded up in an effort to avoid delaying the work.

Vernon Library Low on Books, High on Borrowers

While the Rockville Public Library has fewer volumes per capita than is recommended for a town of the size of Vernon, the circulation of library materials, per capita, is 53 per cent higher than the state average, according to the annual report of the staff of the adult library.
The number of volumes is 1.7 per capita as against the 2.5 recommended, and the circulation is 8.1 per person with the state average being 5.3. During the year 1965 books were added in the adult library, bringing to a total (including those in the juvenile section) of 50,228 volumes. The population of Vernon is 27,700 and the library has 18,606 borrowers registered.
Added to the library this past year was a collection of paperback books, many of them donated to the library, which has helped lift the burden of the ever-increasing cost of hard cover books, the library staff said.

The record library now has 1-192 records and Mrs. John Goddard who directs this portion said the top hits of 1972 were "Jesus Christ Superstar," "Gospel," and "A Horse With No Name."
The offering of extra programs provided by the library, the report noted that until this past year every age group was covered except the junior and senior high school levels. In November, in order to fill this gap, a pilot program "Coffee House" was started. The report described this as an "eclectic effort with the dual purposes of providing an educational experience in a social atmosphere. The program couples entertainment with discussions about any subject with resource people and materials available.
During the year the library has received many gifts, among them a microfilm reader donated by Mrs. Hurr. It is a member of the Board of Trustees. The staff said microfilm of the more popular magazines will be purchased in the future, thus releasing space which has been previously used for storage of back issues of periodicals.
Several groups within the Vernon Junior Women's Club service the Franklin Park Library (for senior citizens) plus providing books and exhibits for the library. The League of Women Voters and the Jaycee Wives have also arranged for displays and made contributions.

The Tolland County Art Association keeps the library attractive with its various exhibits including a monthly "one-man" art show and a "Picture-of-the-month."
Youth Open House
Our Lady of Fatima Council, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor a youth open house, Saturday at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 15 Prospect St. from 7 to 11 p.m. The club plans to make this a weekly program whereby teens from Ellington, Vernon and Tolland may drop in to meet with their friends and participate in such activities as card playing. Those attending will be asked for a 25-cent donation.
Veteran Participates
U.S. Air Force Sgt., Thomas E. Schiebel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Schiebel of 28 Michael Dr., participated in a recent U.S. Reading and Study Command joint service training exercise at Ft. Stewart-Hunter Army Airfield.
Sgt. Schiebel is a 1966 graduate of Rockville High School and received his associate degree from DeVry Institute of Technology, Chicago, in 1968.

Town Realtors In Opposition To Added Tax

Members of the Manchester Board of Realtors have joined the state's real estate industry in opposing a one per cent tax on property transactions, which was recommended by the Governor's Commission on Tax Reform.
Louis Dimock, president of the Manchester Board, said today it is "morally dishonest" for the tax reform commission to propose a new real estate tax while at the same time the commission urges property tax relief.

The commission, in its report to the governor, recommended that the present $1.10 conveyance tax on each $1,000 transaction be increased to a $10 tax. The state would receive the additional $8.90, and municipalities would continue to retain the $1.20.
Dimock said the proposed tax may inflate the price of homes, as well as adversely affecting the state's business and industry economy.
Prices of homes would almost certainly go up, Dimock said, because the seller would pass the tax cost to the buyer. The tax would be a hardship to the young, poor, and the retired, Dimock noted.

Dimock mentioned that a young couple trying to buy a home would probably find it difficult to pay a one per cent tax when it is already difficult for them to come up with a down payment.
"It is directly contrary to our efforts to increase the opportunity to buy homes," Dimock said.
Dimock pointed out that in the case of a $30,000 home, a one per cent conveyance tax would require that the buyer pay another $300 at the time of closing.
The tax reform commission, in recommending the increase in conveyance tax, noted that 37 states levy a real estate transfer tax, either at the state or local level. The commission added that its recommendation is substantially higher than that imposed by most of the other 31 states.

The commission did not feel that the proposed rate would be burdensome, however, "in view of the continuing trend of rapidly increasing real estate values."
State tax officials estimated that a one per cent conveyance tax would add $18 million to the state's annual revenues.
In Manchester, Town Clerk Edward Tomkiele clerked about $2,760 in conveyance taxes during the 1971-1972 fiscal year, at the $1.10 per thousand rate. If the proposed $10 per thousand rate had been in force, Manchester property sellers

Yanks are Back-Houk, Excitement Promised

By Earl Yost

"The Yankees are back. It takes time. We'll excite a lot of people," Manager Ralph Houk promised yesterday as he keynoted the 13th visit of the New York Yankee Winter Caravan into Connecticut.

"Per usual, the Yankees rolled out the red carpet... and the Waverly Inn here food - as front office, players and announcers entertained 170 members of the news media and guests.

"Baseball is in for a great year after last year's pennant fight and the World Series. I'm excited about the coming year. The designated pinch-hitter rule is good for baseball," he added.

"Tightly clutching an unlit cigar in his left hand, next to a large World Series ring that members of championship teams receive, Houk told the Yankee Caravan in his always optimistic manner.

"Our club played up to its potential last year. We just ran out of gas. We were just not quite as deep as we would have liked to have been.

"The young players now feel that they can win the pennant. They think they can beat the other clubs and they learned that you have to play as a team. That everyone has to go all out and forget about his own batting average, or pitching performance."

"Last year the Yankees were in the thick of the American League East flag race until the final three weeks and wound up fourth, six games back of the champion Detroit Tigers.

"Our club will be well set going into spring training. "We went to the winter meetings and felt that there was no way we could make a deal in that didn't want to give away any of our pitchers.

"Now we think we can do it. If these guys can't, we had better give up," he offered.

deals in that didn't want to give away any of our pitchers. "Now we think we can do it. If these guys can't, we had better give up," he offered.

"For me, it's managing. OK, I won 363 games, am in the Hall of Fame. I've been very lucky. But now I want to manage."

Spahn also said he liked the designated pinch-hitter rule now in effect in the American League.

"I think the game eventually is heading toward total specialization," he said. "There are a couple of things I have reservations about. One is that it takes away from the pitcher as an athlete."

Spahn, the winningest left-hand pitcher in baseball, was honored Thursday night at the Boston Baseball Writers' Dinner. He started his major league career with the old Boston Braves just before he went into the service during World War II.

"This is where it all started, and I'm happy to return here," Spahn said. "I never dreamed when I first came up with the Braves that eventually I would be honored by being voted into the Hall of Fame."

"I'm only sorry that other great players couldn't have gone along into the Hall of Fame with me."

Spahn, now 51 and a coach with the Cleveland Indians, received two awards from the writers, one honoring him as a Boston Brave player, the other being the Judge Emil Fuchs Memorial Award for contribution to baseball.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Baltimore Orioles told the Boston writers what they wanted to hear - that the Red Sox would be the team to beat in a rundown of the 1973 American League East race.

"I like my own team, but I have to like the Red Sox," Weaver said before being honored at the writers' 34th annual dinner.

"The Red Sox have some outstanding young players, and with pitchers like Luis Tiant and Marty Pattin, they are going to be tough to beat," Weaver said.

Sanchez was spotty, making great plays one day and then throwing the ball away in the next. The Yankees feel that Nettles is the difference between first and fourth place in the final standings.

Only time will tell if the 50th anniversary of Yankee Stadium will also be the year of the Yankees.

Spahn's Goal; Managing Job

BOSTON (AP) - With election to baseball's Hall of Fame behind him, Warren Spahn is asking "What's next?" He's also providing the answer: he'd like to manage.

Spahn said his election to the Hall of Fame Wednesday was "the greatest thing" that has happened to him, "but I'm not about to sit around now that it has happened."

"A man's as good as dead when he prides within himself, and whenever he accomplishes anything, he must say, 'what's next?'"

"For me, it's managing. OK, I won 363 games, am in the Hall of Fame. I've been very lucky. But now I want to manage."

Spahn also said he liked the designated pinch-hitter rule now in effect in the American League.

Eagles Nip Hearts In Best Showing

By Dick Ledbetter

Balanced scoring and excellent defense provided East Catholic with a 66-60 win over Sacred Heart last night in Waterbury. The victory lifted East's record to 10-3, while Sacred Heart fell to 7-4.

It was East's best showing of the year as they led most of the way over a physically gigantic team. The Hearts boasted a front line of 6-9, 6-5 and 6-4.

Play started even as the Hearts' front line went inside, while East scored on its running game. With four minutes left, East ran off 10 consecutive points for an 18-7 lead. The quarter ended with East leading 81-11.

The second stanza was a fast-paced, high-scoring affair. For East, Joe Whelton was setting up the offense and also taking the outside shot. He scored 10 points and led the first break to keep East ahead. For Sacred Heart, Bill Moff and Tony Eason shot well and cut East's lead to 39-33, at half time.

The third quarter was very much like the second. Whelton and Bill Gorra were the main offensive figures for East. The Hearts briefly led, 51-49, thanks to the shooting of Brian Murphy, but Whelton and Gorra scored consecutive baskets to put East ahead, 53-51, entering the last period.

The last quarter saw East play excellent defense and scoring to win the game. Whelton led the high. The Waterbury team had several shots inside, but they missed and East came down with important rebounds. East played deliberate ball on offense and Joe Martens contributed seven points to lead the quarter scoring.

There was balanced scoring for the Eagles with Whelton leading the offense with 20 points. He also had six assists. Gorra followed with 15 while Martens added 12 markers.

At the charity stripe, John McKean went 8-8 to add to his single basket for 10 points. A team East was 20 out of 25 from the line. East committed only five turnovers while outbounding the Hearts. McKean had 13 recoveries. Gorra 11 and Martens eight.

Both teams sport a 9-2 conference record. Overall, the Rams are 10-2 and have won their last seven games. East Hampton plays Boston High 7:30, Cromwell High, 8:00 and Coventry 7:30. Rocky Hill travels to Rham all in Charter Oak Conference pairings.

Bolton High, loser Tuesday night to Rocky Hill, has been mathematically eliminated from post-season play. Both Rocky Hill and Holyoke have already clinched tourney berths.

Manchester Community College, minus Lamont Freeman for the best rest of the season, travels to Holyoke tonight to face Holyoke Junior College.

Despite only one Tribe center, neither double figures, in their most recent outing, five players scored eight points apiece to display the best scoring effort this season.

The Tribe's defense will have to stop Al Stocki, 20, Cromwell High, Dave Gleason and Skip McGinn in order to post a victory.

One of Rocky Hill's two defeats came at the hands of Simsbury early in the season, 64-57. The other loss was accomplished by unbeaten Bloomfield High.

The Rams, with a potent high-scoring attack, must display a fine defensive game as well to remain in second spot.

Pat Connelly has been consistently leading the scoring parade for Coach Bob Corlet's Rams while Steve Krajewski, Dick Horemann and Tom McDevitt also have been contributors to the point-making.

Fairbanks, 39, who flew to Boston Thursday, said before leaving Norman, Okla., that he would take the job if "suitable contractual arrangements" are finalized.

A news conference is expected to be held later today to make the official announcement.

The Patriots have reportedly offered Fairbanks a package at least equal to the $200,000-a-year, five-year contract Penn State Coach Joe Paterno turned down earlier. Fairbanks was reportedly making about $40,000 at Oklahoma, including an annual salary of $27,500 and other fringe benefits.

William Sullivan, Pats' president, has been traveling around the country for more than a month in search of a man to pilot his club, which finished second in the 1972 season. Although club officials have become the first man in more than a decade to win the Philadelphia trophy last year, blew to a 77 at Pebble Beach.

Lyle's Number Retired - in Basketball

Sparky Lyle's number has been retired in basketball. This Lyle's the No. 1 relief pitcher of the New York Yankees related to the press during yesterday's 13th annual visit of the Yankee Caravan to Connecticut.

Lyle, who was credited with 35 saves last year, was hobbling on crutches after suffering an ankle injury while playing basketball. He'll be on crutches another two weeks but doesn't expect to miss any spring training which starts Feb. 22 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Looking back at his phenomenal year, Lyle confessed, "It was a once in a lifetime time. I'd be happy with five saves this year, and a pennant."

He promised, "If we get off to a good start, the race won't even be close."

"The designated pinch-hitter rule will save me a lot of embarrassment," the outpawed said. He's one of the poorer hitters in the majors.

Manager Ralph Houk, sitting at our table, leaned over and said, "He's a real pro. He never offers any excuses when you take him out of a game. He never criticizes anybody."

Special Day April 15
Bob Fishel, Yankee vice president and public relations director, noted that this being the 50th anniversary of Yankee Stadium, "many special days are being planned. There will be designated days throughout the season."

The first will be April 15 - the first home Sunday - when the Red Sox visit.

"We hope to have Bob Shawkey on hand to throw out the first ball. He was the starting pitcher in our first game at Yankee Stadium 50 years ago," Fishel said.

These promotions do not include Bat, Ball, Old Timer Days.

Excitement Back in Big City
"Excitement has come back to New York, the kind that was missing for a long time," Mike Burke, Yankee president noted.

"In 1966 we were in the cellar for the first time in half a century. We were a genuine contender the last half of last season. Excitement comes with winning."

"I think we can win the pennant. We decided to go for broke and traded young promising players (John Ellis, Rusty Torres and Charley Spikes) for Graig Nettles and Matty Alou."

The long-haired prexy noted that renovation of Yankee Stadium won't start until after the 1973 World Series - which he hopes will be played in New York.

When Lee MacPhail talks baseball, you listen, for this baseball brain has a key job in bringing the Yankees back to championship heights, the general manager said.

"Ninety-seven percent is the Year of the Yankees. This ball club is capable of winning the pennant."

"Last year we felt that we were just one hit away from winning and we came up with two." The two are the aforementioned Nettles and Alou.

MacPhail feels that designated pinch-hitter rule will add a new dimension to the game. More on this another day.

UCLA Matches Longest Win Streak In College Basketball at 60 Games

CHICAGO (AP) - Big Bill Walton does it all for top-ranked UCLA. And he had to do it again Thursday night as the somewhat pressured Bruins matched college basketball's longest winning streak of 60 games.

Walton's season high of 32 points and a whopping 27 rebounds steered UCLA to an 87-73 victory over lowly Chicago Loyola which didn't know it was licked until the closing minutes of a finale on a Chicago Stadium twin bill.

UCLA Coach Johnny Wooden, who takes his Bruins to Notre Dame Saturday to try for the magic 61st straight victory, said the 61-1 Walton turned in "his normal performance."

But it took all the wondrous Walton's shooting and defensive skill to offset 27 UCLA turnovers. They kept hustling Loyola in the game until a late spur put the Bruins 17 points ahead at 79-62 with 5:41 remaining.

Although Notre Dame lost in Thursday night's opener to Illinois 87-84, Wooden cautiously looked ahead to Saturday's nationally televised game at South Bend - the scene of UCLA's last defeat, an 89-82 upset by the Fighting Irish on Jan. 23, 1971.

"I know how tough it is to play before that Notre Dame student body because I used to teach as well as coach at a South Bend high school," said Wooden.

The Irish now have a 6-4 record, including an earlier 856 loss to UCLA, standing 15-0 for the season as the Bruins aim at their seventh straight NCAA title and ninth in the past decade.

The Bruins now share the record of 60 successive victories set by Bill Russell-led San Francisco from 1954-56 and Wooden said "we are a very proud team in matching the record."

Loyola Coach George Ireland had a tip for any possible upset of UCLA after his Ramblers kept a partisan Chicago Stadium crowd of 15,817 howling for an upset until late in the game.

"You need two hot-shooting guards, hitting 50 or 55 per cent to whip UCLA," said Ireland, whose Ramblers have an 8-6 record.

While UCLA was extending its streak, third-ranked North Carolina was upset by Virginia 84-78, suffering its first home court loss since 1970.

Freshman Wally Walker threw in 25 points, hitting 12 of 13 shots from the floor the pace the Cavaliers. He also grabbed 10 rebounds. Barry Parkhill contributed 23 and Jim Hogobood 22 for the winners, whose spread offense neutralized the Tar Heels' height advantage.

Southwestern Louisiana, ranked No. 12, wallpopped Rhode Island 124-81 with Dwight Lamar scoring 32 points and Roy Ebron grabbing 20 rebounds. Ebron, a 6-foot-9 junior also scored 23 points.

St. Louis dominated Wichita State 75-56 with Jesse Leonard testing in 20 points. Kreamin Cost secured a career high 36 points, leading Brigham Young to a 93-79 romp over Arizona. Memphis State blew an early lead, then bounced back to beat Louisville 81-76 for its 11th consecutive victory.

In other major action, Idaho State nipped Northern Arizona 60-57. Furman outlasted Davidson 102-94. George Washington whipped Catholic 104-78. Drake nipped Cincinnati 74-72 and Tulane topped Stetson 76-63.

Egan Brings Houston Five Against Celts
BOSTON (AP) - Star basketball player John Egan returns to New England tonight, this time as the coach of the Houston Rockets, in a National Basketball Association meeting with the Boston Celtics.

Egan, an 11-year veteran in the NBA who became the Rockets' coach when Tex Winter was fired last Sunday, started for Providence College. Before that, he played for Weaver High School of Hartford, Conn.

Egan will be seeking his second straight win as coach. In his first game, the Rockets defeated the New York Knicks to end a 10-game losing streak.

The Celtics, who lead the NBA Atlantic Division, will be going for their 10th consecutive win in New England tonight, this time as the coach of the Houston Rockets, in a National Basketball Association meeting with the Boston Celtics.

The Rockets were the last team to defeat the Celtics, winning 121-112 on Jan. 3. Egan doesn't expect an easy night at Boston Garden.

"Everyone has trouble with Egan," he said. They are so explosive. The only way to beat them is to try and stop that break that breaks them."

Egan is also very high on Boston's center, Dave Cowens. "He has become the complete player," Egan said. "I think he helps Boston most of all defensive border, where he starts everything."

Egan Guides Rockets To Upset Over Bucks

NEW YORK (AP) - Johnny Egan must be doing something right. When he assumed the duties of head coach of the Houston Rockets last Sunday, the Rockets defeated the New York Knicks, and Thursday night they made the Milwaukee Bucks their second victim 129-125.

Despite a 20-point spree by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Rockets fought off a furious rally by the Bucks to seal the victory.

Rudy Tomjanovich scored 29 points to lead the Rockets whose team total was the highest against Milwaukee this season.

The Bucks cut a 109-91 deficit with nine minutes to play to 124-119 with a minute to play. Mike Newlin then clinched it with a 20-foot jump shot.

In other NBA action, the Phoenix Suns defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 112-100, the New York Knicks struggled to top Buffalo 99-92 and Golden State defeated Kansas City/Omaha 129-115.

In the only game scheduled in the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers edged the Kentucky Colonets 96-94.

Conference Feb. 13 In Police Dispute

An informal conference on the labor dispute between the Town of Manchester and the Manchester Police Union Local 146 has been set for Tuesday, Feb. 13.

The session will be held at the Municipal Building, starting at 10:30 a.m., and will be moderated by an agent of the State Labor Relations Board (SLRB).

The meeting will be closed to the public and the press. SLRB Agent John Gaspic said the "presence of outsiders tends to inhibit the parties involved."

Both the police union and the town have filed complaints with the SLRB. The union claims that the town has failed to pay for the cost of the police department through state reimbursements.

The Feb. 13 conference is likely to take the whole day, SLRB Agent Gaspic said. If no agreement is reached, the matter may be scheduled for a formal hearing before the union; the town claims that the union is guilty of poor faith bargaining.

The dispute apparently centers on the wording on an emergency sick leave provision in the 1972-1973 police contract. The union claims that Weiss is in the contract wording from "unlimited" to "additional" sick time; Weiss said the "unlimited" is a new demand.

The union has voted to reject the 1972-1973 contract, and Weiss has ordered that the old 1970-1972 contract will be in force until the dispute is resolved.

The Feb. 13 conference is likely to take the whole day, SLRB Agent Gaspic said. If no agreement is reached, the matter may be scheduled for a formal hearing before the union; the town claims that the union is guilty of poor faith bargaining.

Anniversary Mass... A second anniversary Mass for Mrs. Violeta Bendell will be celebrated Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Mary's Church, Coventry.

Prayer Vigil Set At South Church... About 100 members of South United Methodist Church will pray for the success of the church's Stewardship Crusade at a two-day prayer vigil on Saturday and Sunday.

The crusade, under the direction of Rev. G. George Davies, field representative of the United Methodist Field Services, will combine the 1972-73 annual giving campaign for current operating expenses with a $200,000 capital funds drive.

Some board members, however, felt such a building effort would be acceptable to the State Department of Environmental Protection and to HUD (the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development).

The next step would be an action by the bonding commission on a $150,000 allocation, and state's 25 per cent share toward the $600,000 cost of the parcel.

HUD already has promised $298,953 as the 50 per cent federal share. Its allocation is projected on an acceptable appraisal figure and on a 25 per cent, or $150,000 allocation by the state. The remaining 25 per cent, or another $150,000, would be the town's share.

On a motion by State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, who is one of its five members, the State Bonding Commission today tabled a proposal for allocating $400,000 toward state purchase of 23.7 miles of railroad right-of-way.

The purchase, from the Penn Central Railroad, would be for the abandonment tracks running from the southern part of Manchester to Rockville-Vernon, then through Bolton, Andover and Colchester to Willimantic. The right-of-way is in plans of the State Department of Transportation for completing a right-of-way to the Rhode Island line.

The tabling action today was unanimous, after Agostinelli explained that, although he approved of the purchase, he thought the timing was wrong. The 11 or 12 months, the bonding commission are Gov. Thomas Meskell, State Treasurer Robert Bertoni, State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli, State Finance Commissioner Adolph Carlsh.

Agostinelli remarked, "In recognizing our existing transportation problems, notably the lack of bus transportation, the state should be acquiring land and spending money for future, long-range transportation uses, even though I think this proposal is a good one."

"I feel strongly that our bus transportation problem should be solved before another is tackled."

O'Neill Penalizes Refuse Collectors

Director of Public Works William O'Neill, after meetings with representatives of three private refuse collectors charged with dumping out-of-town refuse at Manchester's landfill area, has informed them of the following penalties:

General Sanitation of Newington — A 30-day suspension of permit and a $200 fine. Tobacco Valley Rubbish Removal Co. of South Windsor — A 45-day suspension and a $100 fine.

Anthony Battelleo of Manchester — A 15-day suspension and a $200 fine. In addition, each will be in a 15-day probationary period, following the suspension, when their refuse trucks will be

Vernon New School Plan Hinges on Public

By Barbara Richmond (Herald Reporter) The Board of Education takes the request for an appropriation of some $8 million for expansion of Rockville High School to a referendum for the town.

Discussions of school space needs at a special meeting last night, the board members agreed they could not see any way to bring the question of the high school to another referendum unless the people of the town join forces and indicate they will support such a request.

The town was asked to approve a resolution to the school expansion program. The first time the plans were presented as a single package with a price tag of $8.6 million which included a pool and additional gym facilities.

The second time the question was broken down into three separate questions but was still defeated in a narrow vote. Board chairman Joseph Powers said, last night, "Without some type of additional building, double sessions will go into a long-term situation."

Because there is a space shortage at the Middle School level as well as at the high school, the board voted a few weeks ago to put the high school on double sessions next fall. The Middle School will use the new building which will be housed there, back at the regular high school.

With architects William McHugh and David Evelett, the board discussed the possibility of constructing an annex to the present high school facility (on adjacent land already purchased) to accommodate 600 students. This is the number now housed at Sykes.

The proposed building would house 200 classrooms, a small library and a small cafeteria, annual estimated cost of $1.7 million.

If such a building were constructed it could be completed in 11 or 12 months, the architects said and while being built it would not interfere with classes at the existing high school. Some board members, however, felt such a building effort would be acceptable to the State Department of Environmental Protection and to HUD (the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development).

The next step would be an action by the bonding commission on a $150,000 allocation, and state's 25 per cent share toward the $600,000 cost of the parcel.

Pray For Peace Success Tonight

Manchester Mayor John Thompson has asked town residents to take time at 7 p.m. today for a moment of prayer and thanksgiving for the cease-fire in Vietnam.

Paris (AP) — Agreement on the war and restoring peace to Vietnam was signed today in the ballroom of an old Paris hotel near the Arc de Triomphe.

For the United States it means the end of the longest war in its history and a conflict paid for in the lives of nearly 46,000 men and billions of dollars.

The signing took 18 minutes and ended with champagne toasts.

Separate documents were set aside for signing later in the day by the United States and North Vietnam.

Outside the old Majestic Hotel demonstrators booted the U.S. and South Vietnamese envoys and cheered the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, as they arrived and left.

The demonstrators waved North Vietnamese and Viet Cong flags and sang the "International," the anthem of socialism.

This prompted an official protest from the South Vietnamese to the French government. The demonstrators marred "the serenity" of the signing ceremony.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers signed for the United States and Foreign Minister Tan Van Lam for South Vietnam.

On the other side, Foreign Minister Nguyen Day Trinh signed for North Vietnam and Mrs. Nguyen Tri Binh for the Viet Cong.

The main agreement signed by the four parties calls for the end of the fighting in Vietnam at midnight Greenwich Mean Time — or 7 p.m. EST.

The delegates signed at a table and then walked back into an adjoining room they did not shake hands. But one informant who was present said the atmosphere in the adjoining room was relaxed and all four parties exchanged champagne toasts to peace and friendship.

Each delegation was given a copy of the documents, bound in different colored, gold-embossed covers.

The U.S. copies were in navy blue; the South Vietnamese in brown; the North Vietnamese, red, and the Viet Cong, green.

The close of the ceremony was delayed a bit because some copies had to be taken back to the envoys for signatures in the original rotation.

The champagne toasts lasted about 15 minutes and the envoys then left the conference hall without making any statements and returned to the waiting cars just as the sun broke through an overcast sky.
