Local Support Of Education Varies Greatly

HARTFORD (AP) — Localities paid a statewide average of 56 per cent of all their funds into education during the 1971-72 school year, with the figure more than 80 per cent for some small towns, the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council, Inc., reported today.

The statewide average was about the same percentage as in the past five years, the CPEC said in its bi-monthly news letter.

poorer towns, resulting in unequal educational opportunities. In Connecticut, the amounts spent by towns on education vary widely.

The Governor's Commission on Tax Reform has suggested a reform that would retain the property tax as the principal funding for schools, but would attempt to equalize school expenditures.

The plan calls for updating grant lists to current market value and establishing a base year value over the base year would be placed in a State Equal Educational Opportunity Fund for redistribution to tax-poor towns.

Grand Jury Hearing Frisina Case

By DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter) An 18-member grand jury, sworn in today in Tolland County Superior Court, began hearing evidence in the case of John O. Frisina of Andover, charged in connection with the Christmas Day shooting of his wife, Anna.

The grand jury is considering an indictment of murder sought by State Attorney Donald Caldwell.

The grand jury retired to the jury room at 11 a.m. today after receiving instructions from Judge Joseph Danahy. The jurors will hear the evidence in secret — only Frisina will be present when the jurors hear the testimony. Frisina will not be present during the jury's deliberation.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Danahy emphasized that jurors must only determine whether there are "reasonable grounds for belief that this accused committed the crime of murder." The judge also outlined the basic rules of evidence, the origin of grand juries, and defined

Bruins Fire Tom Johnson

BOSTON (AP) — The slumping Boston Bruins, fighting for the key to defending the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup, today fired Coach Tom Johnson and replaced him with Armand "Bep" Guidolin.

Harry Sinden, managing director of the Bruins, made the announcement that Guidolin, currently coach of the American Hockey League Boston Braves—the Bruins top farm club—would take over the coaching duties.

The move came as the Bruins continued to slump, a three-week slide that has dropped them into third place in the NHL's East Division. Sinden said the change in coaching would take effect immediately. He said Johnson would remain with the team in an administrative capacity.

Manchester Hospital SLRB Appeal Rejected

Manchester Memorial Hospital's appeal of an order by the State Labor Relations Board (SLRB) requiring the hospital administration to bargain with a new union certified as representative of dietary employees ended in a dismissal today in Tolland County Superior Court.

Judge Anthony J. Armentano, ruling in favor of the board, said, "It cannot be said that the order and action of the board was unreasonable, arbitrary, illegal, or in abuse of its discretion. The order did not violate the hospital's right of free speech and expression in violation of the Federal and State Constitution."

The dispute stemmed from the hospital's refusal to negotiate with the union over a period of several months and was declared by the SLRB to be in violation of state law, and the board ordered compliance.

The hospital's legal counsel filed the appeal originally with Hartford County Superior Court for a hearing.

The appeal is over a ruling by the SLRB certifying Local 1199 of the Drug and Hospital Union, AFL-CIO, as bargaining representative of all full-time employees in the dietary department below the rank of executive chef. Workers in April 1971 chose the union by a vote of 24-21 after several months of hotly contested campaigning.

In September 1971, the board said Local 1199 asked the hospital to bargain at the end of July and again at the beginning of August. In August of 1971, the hospital informed union officials that it was rejecting their request to negotiate.

In turn, the board declared the refusal was illegal, because the board had already certified the union as bargaining representative for the employees.

Following several other requests from the board to negotiate, the board in its Sept. 22 order told the hospital to "cease and desist from refusing to bargain collectively" and to begin bargaining "in good faith" within 15 days of the order.

Following the board action, the hospital's attorney filed an appeal to Superior Court.

Town Plans Pilot Program For Paper Collection

Director of Public Works William O'Neill is planning a pilot program for curbside collection of bundled newspapers. "The program," he said today, "will be conducted in the very near future and will be in one section of town."

Until the program is started and until it proves successful enough to extend to all sections of town, he is advising town residents to save and bundle all newspapers and deliver them to a drop-off station at the Olcott St. Disposal Area.

The station, at the entrance to the landfill area, consists of bins for paper and for glass. Constructed by town forces, it was financed partly with town funds and partly with a $12,000 interest-free advance from Lydall Inc.

Lydall is buying the salvaged newspaper and is recycling it for its manufacturing process. It is receiving credit for its purchases up to the $12,000 cash advance. The glass is being sold to an out-of-town recycling facility.

O'Neill said, "It is to be hoped that Manchester people in increasing numbers will bring bundled newspapers and color-separated glass to this facility. It can be easily reached in a passenger car without endangering the vehicle."

One of the prime movers for the resource-recovery station has been the Manchester Conservation Commission, mainly through the efforts of Mrs. Theresa Parla, its chairman.

O'Neill said the funds realized from sale of the newspapers and glass, after repayment to Lydall Inc. of its $12,000 advance, will go to a project recommended by the Board of Directors. The Conservation Commission has recommended the receipts go into a fund for Case Mt. purchase. Acquisition of Case Mt. by the town depends on a $150,000 allocation by the state and a $150,000 allocation by the town.

Up, Up, Up, And Away...

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Tadaashi Yamabe, 55, was helping lay a telephone cable in an underground conduit early this morning when an explosion ripped through the tunnel.

Yamabe was shot 40 feet into the air through an open manhole and came down feet first through the tile roof of a two-story house. Tsunehiro Nagakawa, awakened by the noise, looked up to see Yamabe hanging through the roof.

Yamabe was hospitalized with a concussion and burns but said: "I'm lucky I was standing under the open manhole. Otherwise I might have broken my neck against the roof of the tunnel."

Nobody else was hurt. Officials believe one of the workmen struck a match to light a cigarette and ignited leaking gas.

mission for Control and Supervision. Michel Gauvin of Canada, told newsmen arrangements were being made for the release of prisoners this week, "probably by the middle of the week."

Prisoner of war lists given the United States in Paris listed 99 U. S. servicemen and 27 American civilians held by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam. There has been no indication when the release of the 465 Americans reported held in North Vietnam and Laos might begin.

The South Vietnamese military command reported that Communist cease-fire violations had fallen below 100 for the first time since the truce went into effect Jan. 28. The command reported 89 incidents during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

Scores of U.S. aircraft ferried teams of 20 to 40 men of the International Commission and of the Communist side of the Joint Military Commission to seven regional headquarters to begin field operations after nearly a week's delay. U.S. and South Vietnamese teams already were in place. These sites included Hue and Da Nang in the northern provinces, Pleiku in the central highlands, Phan Thiet on the central coast, Bien Hoa in the Saigon region, and My Tho and Can Tho in the Mekong Delta.

Two other U.S. C130 transports flew to Hanoi to bring more North Vietnamese support personnel and equipment to Saigon for the Communist delegation to the Joint Military Commission. Five C130s brought more than 200 North Vietnamese support personnel from Hanoi on Sunday.

In Hue, the senior Canadian on the International Commission team said he hopes to get a team into Quang Tri Tuesday for a brief inspection. Quang Tri province was the scene of heavy fighting last week.

American sources in Pleiku said that the Communist members of the Joint Military Commission's regional team there raised two demands at a meeting today. First they insisted that the Americans dismantle all military bases and installations instead of turning them over to the South Vietnamese. And secondly, they demand that civilian war refugees be returned to their native villages, most of which are in territory controlled by the Communists.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"
by John Gruber

Victoria Thompson plays the new role of Janice Frame in NBC-TV's daytime serial, "Another World," seen at 3 p.m. Monday through Friday on Channels 29, 22, and 30.

You aren't going to believe this, but it really happened just about the way I shall relate it, allowing for a couple of minor errors in remembrance over a period of years. What brings it to mind is the fact that James McCracken and Sandra Warfield are billed for the next opera at the Bushnell, "Samson and Delilah."

My dear Sir, came the reply in French, "I don't even know where I am, let alone where Hartford is." The upshot was he said he'd try but he had to come to the country for pleasure, not business.

Of course I showed up at the rehearsal, this was too good to miss. "The Philadelphian" tenor was on hand, and for some reason they started with Act II. He didn't make out too well, and was carrying the score around, singing sometimes in French and sometimes in German.

Some drunk provided an interlude by trying to get in the East Stage door and they threw him out. He came back and they threw him out again. "Will you go over and warn them on the West Stage door?" they asked me.

Frank had a standy in Italy when he called only to find he had been in an accident the night before and was in the hospital. Just then I happened to walk into Frank's office. "Can you sing?" he inquired.

Black Omnibus Worth Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A new one-hour television series called "Black Omnibus" is appearing this month on local stations in major U.S. cities. You might keep an eye out for it.

The first show is great. Twelve more are scheduled, generally for week-end and in varied time slots. You'll have to check local program listings to learn when they are on.

But if the shows keep the quality of the first effort, viewers who tune in will get two things — top-notch entertainment and a low-key crash course in the heritage of America's black citizens.

Each "Black Omnibus" program, according to the press release, explores black involvement in "music, comedy, the arts, history, politics, literature, youth and religion."

That's quite a task. Fortunately, the show has good writers and an excellent host — James Earl Jones — pulling it all together.

The first show never lagged. It began with a quiet explanation of the series by Jones, followed by a brisk jazz-rock number from a group called the Nite-Lites.

Then came a relaxed interview with two football greats — Jim Brown and Baltimore defensive back Ray Mears. Brown, now an actor and founder of the Black Economic Union in Los Angeles, talked dispassionately about the need for blacks to know the realities of economic power — and to have that power.

PLAY TO SHUT OUT DANGEROUS OPPONENT BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Any good lawyer can assure you that the laws of your country or state permit you to play a trick in a game of drawing trumps. This shows the wisdom of legislators in all parts of the world and should silence any naysayers.

West opened the jack of diamonds, and dummy won. There was no need to draw trumps because declarer had no tricks in the side suits that needed protection.

South began by running all of dummy's top diamonds, and the idea was to get rid of the king of spades as quickly as possible.

What do you say? Answer: Bid 3-NT. Since you have 9 points, the combined count must be 25 to 27 points. Moreover, you have two tens and a nine to help partner to 25 points. Do not be content to invite a game when you can afford to bid it by yourself.

Club discarded. A trump to dummy's king was followed by the ten of spades. East naturally played low, and South discarded a low club. This allowed West to win with the queen of spades.

West returned a trump, but now declarer could draw trumps, ending in the dummy, followed by the nine and eight of spades, on which he discarded low clubs. West still got his ace of clubs, but he couldn't stop declarer from winning 11 tricks.

The key to South's campaign was that he prevented East from gaining the lead. East would have been happy to lead the jack of clubs through South's king, and then the fall would have been in the fire.

Another good segment involved actress-dancer Paula Kelly, teaching four young girls various modern ballet steps as part of volunteer work she does in her spare time.

Theatre Time Schedule

State Theater — "Sword In the Stone," 6:10-8:00; Short Subject 7:30.
Burnside Theater — "The Getaway," 7:15-9:30.

Your partner opens with 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the combined count is as low as 25 points. Do not be content to invite a game when you can afford to bid it by yourself.

Battle Of The Budget

President Nixon has presented a budget calling for record expenditures of nearly $269 billion and faces a donnybrook with the Democrat-controlled Congress to stay within even that awesome figure. While the President's budget will cut some sacred cows away from the trough, it is by no means a bare-bones austerity program.

Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee is a tough-minded Texas Democrat, George Mahon, known for his hard-headed realism on money matters. He cautioned that while the deficit may be less for fiscal 1974 than this year, it is still sizable and still poses an "enormous problem," and that's the truth.

House Speaker Carl Albert, Oklahoma Democrat, did what he conceived to be his partisan duty, crying: "The President proposes dismantling and destruction of the great social programs and the great precedents of humanitarianism inaugurated by Franklin D. Roosevelt and advanced and enlarged by every Democratic President since," and that is demagoguery.

Two things are certain in the budget battle ahead. Nixon will have the vociferous opposition of Democrats who have followed the spend-and-spend policies of their former leaders like sheep. The other is that the mass of taxpayers will pray for another Nixon victory.

Overmedication Often Overstated

One of those truths we take for granted these days is that we live in a drug-oriented, overmedicated society.

Deluged with drug advertising on television, watching their parents pop aspirins and tranquilizers, it's only natural that kids — who are apparently incapable of independent, rational thought — stick needles in their veins. Or so it is explained by many experts.

But while an undetermined number of people use medications excessively, "at the same time, another undetermined but certainly greater number of people who should be on medications ignore them because they don't get medical attention, can't afford it, refuse it, fail to get prescriptions filled, endure pain needlessly in accordance with the Puritan ethic, or are being educated to equate drug use with personal failings."

So writes C. Joseph Stetler in a letter to Science, submitting the novel conclusion that "on balance, then, we are probably an undermedicated society."

He adds that critics give little attention to the present gains drug therapy affords society in lives saved, illnesses aborted or relieved, hospital stays shortened or prevented entirely, time saved on the job, etc.—all of incalculable human and economic benefit.

Stetler writes as a representative of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, a fact which in some eyes will cast suspicion on anything he might say about drugs.

It is always useful, however, to question accepted wisdom, if only to keep the wise men in touch with reality.

Today in History

Today is Monday, Feb. 5, the 36th day of 1973. There are 229 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, Mexico became a federated republic of 28 states. On this date: In 1782, the Spanish captured the Mediterranean island of Minorca from the British. In 1783, Sweden recognized the independence of the United States. In 1790, the first lawyers were admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court. In 1818, the United States signed treaties of friendship with Denmark and Portugal. In 1937, a bitter controversy began when President Franklin D. Roosevelt proposed adding six new justices to the Supreme Court. In 1945, in the Pacific war, U.S. forces were mopping up the Japanese in the Philippine capital of Manila. Ten years ago: In Canada, a vote of no confidence in Parliament ousted the conservative government of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker. Five years ago: The Johnson administration proposed a Mystery—Why Did North Vietnam Settle?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Negotiations with Communists anywhere are a mystery, and those with Hanoi ending the Vietnam war are surely no exception. Given the inherent, impenetrable secrecy of Communist states, it may be we shall never know the such mysteries. But there is precious little curiosity on the part of some critical American public figures and many allegedly diligent American foreign affairs reporters.

The greatest unsolved mystery on Vietnam is what brought Hanoi to the private bargaining table on Oct. 8, 1972, with serious negotiating proposals. Talk with the North Vietnamese had begun four years and five months earlier, on May 10, 1968. In all that time, no move toward real give-and-take had been made. Hanoi's "proposals" usually called for unconditional withdrawal of U.S. forces and at best, the disguised surrender of the Saigon government through enforced creation of a "coalition government" in South Vietnam, which Hanoi obviously expected to dominate quickly. Military and political issues were deemed inseparable.

So, again, why the absolutely stunning reversal on last Oct. 8? Was there effective pressure from Peking and Moscow? Did our bombing and mining of the Hanoi-Haliphong area truly hurt? Did Hanoi suffer from the failure of its big frontal assault across the Demilitarized Zone into South Vietnam in early 1972? It could have been any of these things, or some combination, or something else we know nothing of. Except for some haphazard questions about the possible role of the bombing and mining and the Peking-Moscow influence, the matter has not been hotly pursued.

Yet the answers to that inquiry contain the real key to why we stand today at the door to peace.

As a matter of fact, our diligent foreign affairs experts never explained why Hanoi

Today's Thought

"Use the present opportunity to the full, for these are evil days. So do not be fools, but try to understand what the will of the Lord is." — Ephesians 5:16-17

All men complain that they don't have enough time. "If only we had twenty-five hours in a day," some say. Yes, we are busy and have a lot to do. But maybe the problem is that we look at our lives from too human a point of view.

There is always time to do what God wants us to do, but we must put ourselves completely into each moment that He offers us.

We shouldn't ask God for time to do this and then that, but His grace to do conscientiously, in the time that He gives us, what He wants us to do.

CURRENT QUOTES

"We will ensure that all product-safety commissioners will testify under oath at confirmation hearings so that we can determine whether or not verbal assurances were requested by the administration or agreed to by the nominees." — Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, reporting that President Nixon's appointees to the new Consumer Product Safety Commission will be grilled by the Senate to determine if they made any secret pledges to the White House.

"The mission will be regarded as a very historic thing. It's a follow-through on having the doors opened between the Soviet Union and the United States and continuing with a cooperation and a program of good will." — Vance D. Brand, one of the three American astronauts who will participate in the joint U.S.-Soviet space mission scheduled for 1975.

Wooden Medal for Klassen

WASHINGTON — With the mail service collapsing around his ears, Postmaster General B.T. Klassen gets the wooden medal. All he can think of is a press release announcing that the so-called U.S. Postal Service wants to standardize envelope sizes and charge extra for odd-size items.

Naturally, even this alleged improvement is not tomorrow's stuff. The standardization would not be put into effect until July 1976, to give big mailers time to use up present envelopes.

It figures, of course, Klassen, former president of American Can Co., is determined to run the postal system like a business instead of the public service decreed by the Founding Fathers. Indeed, I would not be surprised to wake up some morning and find that Klassen had decided to abolish all mail service on the grounds it had failed to make a profit.

Chambers Ask View Of Sunday Sales

Taxes and Sunday store openings are the subjects of a questionnaire sent to all members of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the South Windsor and Enfield chamber groups.

The results of the three-chamber poll will be promptly related to the state legislators and other appropriate bodies with a view to obtaining maximum consideration of membership views in upcoming legislation, Miss Evelyn Parizek, president of the Rockville chamber said.

Concerning taxes, the chamber members are being quizzed as to whether they would put surplus funds, if there should be any, to use to reduce the state debt or to reduce existing taxes.

They are also being asked if they prefer the retaining of current sales tax exemptions on children's clothing and personal services and simultaneously reducing the sales tax by one-half per cent.

Chamber members are also asked if they are in favor of: Elimination of the current six per cent tax on dividends as long as we have no state income tax; some relief in business taxes such as gradual elimination of the local personal property tax; the concept of equalizing the cost of education throughout Connecticut; an increase in present real estate conveyance tax from $1.10 per thousand to $10 per thousand with the increase going to the state; unemploy-

Alienated Youth Topic for Priest

The Rev. Paul R. Shanley of Boston will speak Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at South United Methodist Church about his experiences working with alienated youth over the past 20 years.

The event, which is open to the public, is being sponsored by the commission on missions and Christian social concerns of the church. Refreshments will be served later in the evening.

After being forced to leave the streets because of adult violence and hate, Father Shanley began the apostolate to communism and has established a rest and recreation farm in Vermont for the young professionals who work with alienated or drug abusing youth.

He is a former campus minister at Boston State College and was also appointed to the Mayor's Task Force on Juvenile Crime in Boston.

Jobless Rate Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped slightly last month to 5.9 per cent of the work force, lowest in 2 1/2 years, the Labor Department reported today.

The actual number of Americans out of work rose 560,000, but since it normally climbs more than that in January, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a decline on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The 5 per cent jobless rate, down from 5.1 per cent in December.

Dental Health

(Feb. 4-10 is the 25th annual National Children's Dental Health Week. As part of the observance, The Manchester Evening Herald, in cooperation with the Manchester Dental Society, today begins a series of six articles on facts you should know about dental health.)

I recently had my regular dental examination and, while my teeth were being cleaned, the hygienist started talking about something called dental plaque. What is plaque?

Dental scientists have now determined that dental plaque—often called bacterial plaque—is the chief factor in both tooth decay and gum disease. Gum disease, as you know, is the primary cause of adult tooth loss.

Basically, plaque is a sticky, colorless layer of harmful bacteria that is constantly forming on your teeth.

For a long time, dentists have known that sugar and starches are acted upon by bacteria in the mouth to create acid. It is this acid which attacks tooth enamel, eventually eating through it to create what is called a carious lesion, or decay.

And, because bacterial plaque is constantly forming on teeth, the acid is almost ever-present, reaching peaks when sugars are eaten. Now, that describes plaque's role in tooth decay. Let's discuss how it is also the chief factor in gum disease.

Because plaque is constantly forming in the mouth, it is found on other oral structures, including the gums. And plaque and bacteria find it especially comfortable to lodge in the areas between teeth, right around the gum line, where the toothbrush doesn't reach.

This means that the bacteria in plaque are constantly irritating the gums and plaque is not removed effectively at least once a day, the gums eventually become inflamed.

Plaque begins to build up on the tooth structure, especially near the gum line causing the gums to recede. Plaque will also eventually harden into a substance called calculus, or tartar. Even after the formation of calculus, plaque will damage the gums by its continuing presence.

Thus, we have a dual process: the plaque continues to irritate the gums, while at the same time, some of the plaque is hardening and forming calculus deposits on the teeth.

Unless this continuous process is halted, both by a thorough cleaning of all teeth at least once a day and by professional cleanings, to remove calculus, the gum problems become very serious. Unchecked irritation and recession of the gums ultimately results in destruction of the tissues supporting the tooth and may even result in damage to the bone underneath the teeth.

Then, the disease process is irreversible and the tooth is lost.

Indeed, bacterial plaque is oral health's greatest enemy and is also an alert and effective home oral hygiene program can control its harmful effects.

Beauty Tips

Removing Cold Cream
Remove the heavy layer of cold cream from the face with cleansing tissues. To remove the last vestiges of cream, use cotton pads soaked in good quality witch hazel. Use the reverse side of the same pad to apply panicle or other skin makeup. Makeup goes on smoothly; skin is toned.

Sensitive Skin
Winter clothing and blankets sometimes irritate baby's sensitive skin. Soothe with a patting of good quality witch hazel.

Only Scalp
If scalp tends to be oily, massage between shampoos with good quality witch hazel. Use witch hazel instead of water to moisten the hair before parting and combing.

Courts and Press Still in Conflict

By LOUISE COOK The Associated Press Writer Conflicts between the news media and the courts continue at every level of the legal system over issues ranging from a stray dog to political espionage.

A hearing is set for Feb. 21 in the case of Oscar Melina, publisher of the weekly Calaveras County Enterprise in California, who is charged with contempt of court in connection with an editorial he wrote. The case is believed to be the first of its kind.

The editorial criticized a judge's handling of the case of a dog who strayed into his yard. Noting that the judge, Justice Court Judge Howard Blewett, had ordered the dog trapped, had filed a complaint against the owner and had then presided over the man's trial, Melina wrote:

"In our view, this gives credence to some local lawyers' notion that our local judiciary courts have a strong resemblance to kangaroo courts."

In another pending case, the Tennessee Supreme Court is considering whether an appellate judge was right in freeing a Chattanooga television personality who had been jailed for refusing to disclose a news source. At issue is whether the appellate judge exceeded his authority. A ruling is expected before the court reconvenes in March.

John F. Lawrence, Washington bureau chief of the Los Angeles Times, was jailed briefly in December for refusing to surrender tapes of an interview with a key witness in the Watergate case. The Times lost an appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia and was preparing to take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court when the witness involved agreed to testify.

The newspaper was freed from jail on a contempt charge stemming from his refusal to disclose the source of the story. The judge, Charles Manson trial. His release pending appeal was ordered by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

A key factor in many of the cases in the Supreme Court ruling last June that the U.S. Constitution does not "except" newsmen from performing the duties of the press is the right of newsmen to obtain information relevant to the grand jury's task.

Several measures are pending in Congress that would provide newsmen with immunity from testifying about confidential sources. A bill proposed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association...

Weekend firing at the Holiday Lanes in the annual qualifying test for the Town Men's and Women's Duckpin Bowling Tournament...

Cloughsey's 802 six-game total placed a field of 62 which included a number of top stars of another day...

Back in the championship flight are two ex-champions, Larry Bates, who turned the trick three times, and Ed Bujaucius, who copped two crowns.

Women's play will join defending champion Tony Marriello, who was seeded, into the maximum 120 pins via this system. Quarterfinals will be Sunday afternoon at 2.

There is almost an entirely "new look" in the Women's Division. The seven qualifiers were Carol Nioche, Mary Ar-brecht, Joan Colby, Helen De, Holly Urbanetti, Diane Bernard and Nancy Belsky. This group of 42. Close behind was Al Pirkey with an even 800 total.

First leader Don Simmons was next in line with 795.

The top 15 scorers will join defending champion Tony Marriello, who was seeded, into the maximum 120 pins via this system. Quarterfinals will be Sunday afternoon at 2, all best of five sets.

Time Running Out For Hoop Quintets

By Dean Yost

Thursday, Feb 22 is the last date for high school basketball games to count for CIAC tournament consideration. Clubs still with a fighting chance are Manchester High (6-8), Cheney Tech (6-8), and South Windsor (7-7). East Catholic, Rockville and Ellington have already qualified for post-season play.

This week could be very decisive for Cheney Tech which must win all three remaining games. Tech in action only once this week travels to Torrington.

Beavers out of the tourney. Ellington High, breezing along, sports an impressive 13-1 mark and now has won 10 consecutive games. The Purple Knights of Coach Bob Healy are the present CIAC Class S champions.

East Windsor (11-3) has six tough outings left. Tuesday they venture to Hamden High and battle South Catholic Friday night at the University of Hartford.

East's outlook now is to win as many games as possible so that it can get a high touring rating and avoid any first round play. The Eagles are the defending CIAC Class 1 title holders.

Ellington High, breezing along, sports an impressive 13-1 mark and now has won 10 consecutive games. The Purple Knights of Coach Bob Healy are the present CIAC Class S champions.

Ellington has six contest remaining, which are in the NCCC. Presently the Knights are 9-0 in the conference.

Rockville High snapped Connecticut's eight-game winning streak but the Rams, with a 11-3 overall mark and 10-3 CVC record, will try to keep behind Ellington in the standings.

Rockville has lost the services of sharp-shooting Pat Connolly. The loss could hurt the Rams in their stretch drive. Connolly was averaging around 20 points per outing before breaking his hand.

South Windsor, stumbling through a tough season, has six tilts left and must win 50 per cent of them. Of the foes left, the Bobcats whiffed three of them, lost to two others and will play Northwest Catholic to wind up the season.

Flying Flip by Don Chaney

76ers' Schueter, Boyd Defend

Philadelphia's Bob Taylor and Boston's Ross Brooks stood in their respective goals, face masks in place and indifference a little brawl going as they passed the puck back and forth.

The two rookie goalies deserved the little break in the action in the third period Sunday night as the Philadelphia Flyers and the Boston Bruins battled to a 2-2 National Hockey League tie before the usual 15:03 at the Garden.

Taylor kicked out 38 shots and Brooks 37, but they drew the biggest hand from the crowd as they passed the puck 180 feet to each other while Boston's goal-tender played the puck.

The Flyers were left waiting for the law of averages to go their way. Since Nov. 12, 1968, they have tied two games and lost 13 in 15 appearances at the Garden.

Philadelphia took a 1-0 lead on rookie Bill Barber's 19th goal in the eighth minute of the first period.

Then Boston rookie Greg Sheppard tied the count at 11:23. Then Ken Hodge sent the Bruins ahead 2-1 with a power play goal late in the second period.

"I didn't think we played too badly," Johnson said. "Philadelphia played well, and the puck just wouldn't go in for us. As so often happens, when the puck doesn't go in for you, one does at the other end."

Phil Esposito, Boston's league-leading scorer, was Taylor's chief victim. The Philadelphia goalie robbed Esposito on four shots alone in the second period.

"Esposito had enough chances to stall it away for us, but the darn thing just wouldn't go in," Johnson said. "Give their goalie credit, too."

The Bruins, who were wounded 7-3 by the New York Rangers Saturday night, were ordered to a late morning practice today as Johnson seeks to get them back on a winning path.

Stemkowski's first goal hit an empty net after Sather had drawn Myre to one side and then hit Stemkowski the other way. His third came following his own interception at center ice. The middle goal had a bit of a scrambling off an Atlanta skate into the net.

"I played it that way," said Stemkowski, with a perfectly correct face. "I play a lot of New York. There's a word in the dictionary—'ricochet.'"

Challenged to spell it, Stemkowski demurred.

It was the second straight game he checked the Bruins. Fames, who managed only 10 shots at Ranger goalie Gilles Villeneuve in three 20-minute periods, was terrific.

"We lost to a pretty good hockey club," said Bernie Geoffrion, Atlanta's first-year coach. "They played an outstanding game. It's a good club. They've been in business 50 years."

Reminded that the Rangers are only 47 years old, Geoffrion shrugged. "What's three years to them," he said.

Then and ...Now

When hearts were gay and life moved at a more leisurely pace, Laurel Park, on the south side of W. Middle Tpke., was an amusement institution in these parts. One made his way there by horse and buggy, later by trolley car, still later by automobile in its early days, and the more hardy by shanks' mare. It was a favorite spot for annual Sunday School picnics, probably because of its accessibility and limited opportunities to spend hard-to-come-by money. There was little more than a merry-go-round, pavilion, a few animals, rowboats for rent, and open space for do-it-yourself entertainment. The first thrill was crossing a narrow of the lake on a bridge that always seemed to be ready to meet the fate of the one at San Luis Rey, before one ascended the hill to the park proper. Could anyone have dreamed, even wildly in those days, that the bucolic entrance to Laurel Park would give way to apartment buildings, much less that the site might become a possible sanitary landfill area? Program Report Issued By Meskill

HARTFORD (AP) — Jobs were found for 1,895 welfare recipients during the first seven months of a program designed to match recipients with jobs. The performance during January shows that we are approaching this goal.
Meskill said the program resulted in 175 jobs for welfare recipients during the first two weeks of January.
"I am sure that for many of these recipients this program will be a major turning point in their lives," Meskill said. "It gives them a starting point for the transition back to independence and self-determination, the only truly valid goal for a welfare program."
Under the program, the Welfare Department and the Labor Department work jointly to find jobs for the recipients. Meskill called the program "an excellent example of interagency cooperation for the benefit of all Connecticut citizens."

POW Releases To Start
SAIGON (AP) — The chairman of the international cease-fire commission said today that the first groups of American prisoners of war to be freed in both North and South Vietnam would be handed over about Saturday.
Michel Gavuin of Canada, the chairman of the International Commission for Control and Supervision (ICCS), said newsmen as he entered a meeting of the commission: "I don't have any specific time or date, but I know it's around the 10th for American prisoners."
After the meeting, he expanded on this and told newsmen: "There are no definite dates, but I understand American prisoners will probably be released around the 10th of February, some of them, not all, from Hanoi."
Gavuin said he also understood that shortly after the first group of Americans is released, Vietnamese prisoners would be freed or exchanged in South Vietnam.
Gavuin mentioned two possible sites for the transfer of prisoners held by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam: the An Loc area, 50 miles north of Saigon, and Phu Hoa, also north of Saigon.
It was at first reported that Gavuin was referring to a town called Phu Hoa in the Mekong Delta, but officials later said it was the town north of Saigon.
Members of the U.S. Military Command announced that 2,000 more American troops were withdrawn from Vietnam during the past four days, dropping U.S. strength to below 200,000 men for the first time since December 1964.
Under terms of the cease-fire agreement, all U.S. troops are to be out of Vietnam and all prisoners released by March 28. The Joint Military Commission — made up of the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong — asked the International Commission to have three of its permanent members meet in Hanoi on March 10 to discuss recovery terms ready to move out on two hours' notice.
"They're on sort standby," an official said of the eight-man teams. "They are ready to be available within a few hours." Each team includes two representatives of the nations in the commission — Canada, Indonesia, Hungary and Poland.
The Pentagon said Monday that it hoped some American prisoners would be freed by the middle of the week.
Commission officials said the order of release would be American prisoners first, then Viet Cong followed by South Vietnamese and North Vietnamese.
U.S. prisoners handed over in North Vietnam will be flown direct to Clark Air Base in the Philippines. U.S. prisoners released in South Vietnam will be given preliminary checkups at hospitals in Saigon, Pleiku, and Da Nang, then flown to Clark. But if they appear well enough, they, too, may be flown direct to Clark.
The commission officials said prisoners released in South Vietnam could be photographed by newsmen but not interviewed.

School Board Adopts $11.7 Million Budget
BY JOHN A. JOHNSTON (Herald Reporter)
Three 1973-74 budgets, totaling $11,731,796, were approved by the Board of Education last night for submission to the Board of Directors.
Dr. James P. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, said that March 1 is the date for the start of the fiscal year. The $11,731,796 figure approved by board members to fund operating expenses in the fiscal year is $65,823 less than the $11,425,973 budget recommended by Dr. Kennedy Jan. 8, and is a $1,080,491 (10.3%) increase over the 1972-73 budget.
The $55,421 reduction was effected by two decreases totaling $60,000 and two increases totaling $5,424. The decreases were each for $30,000. One was for the transfer of the renovation of the high school athletic fields to the capital improvements fund, and the other was the discovery that the fringe benefits item for employes (medical insurance) had been budgeted.
The two increases were $3,000 for home economic department supplies, and $2,424 for a summer pilot program for children with learning disabilities. All other decreases were for program budgeting and $861,232, respectively, resulted from technical transfers within program budgets.
Beldon Schaffer, personnel and finance committee chairman, commented that "While the committee believes the 1973-74 budget to be realistic and designed to minimize necessary, it wishes to go on record to the community that such cuts be made by the directors. The Board of Education will then be forced to consider dropping programs, reordering priorities and possibly closing additional schools."
Passing at one point in his presentation budget changes Dr. Kennedy said, "Our best information now is that the Emergency Employment Act (several school system non-

Commission Backs Laurel Lake Purchase
BY BETTY RYDER (Herald Reporter)
Discussions of the inland-wetland act and the proposed purchase of Laurel Lake highlighted the Manchester Conservation Commission meeting last night. The Laurel Lake plan was endorsed.
Guests included Mayor John Thompson; William D. O'Neill, director of public works; and Atty. William E. Fitzgerald, judge of probate.
Mrs. Theresa Parla, commission chairman, expressed the desire of the commission to administer the inland-wetlands act as it pertains to Manchester, stating that the purpose of the commission was "to conserve land and resources."
Mayor Thompson cited a few problems which might arise when it was necessary to decide with landowners which land is to be purchased.
"To conserve land and resources," Mayor Thompson said, "is the goal of the commission. It is the duty of the commission to see that the land is used in a way that is beneficial to the community and that it is protected from development that would be detrimental to the environment."
The commission will be holding a public hearing on the Laurel Lake purchase on Feb. 22, when a plea will be entered. Defense Atty. George Sherman of Hartford said he intended to file various motions in the interim.
The water pipe used to regulate the amount of water to fill the skating rink was clogged with debris and caused soil erosion. With the amount of debris in the skating area itself, it will be almost impossible to use the area for the remainder of the season," Turek added.
The rink was in operation for only six days prior to the washout, according to the Park Department.
Also, at the opposite end of the rink, where the warming shelter is located, gushing water undermined the walkway and caused serious erosion. The banks near the brook and fish ladder were gullied by the water.
The last day of rink operation was Thursday night, the day the rink was washed out.

Gun Control
WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to ban handguns called "Saturday night specials" has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., introduced the bill Monday which follows a guideline set recently by President Nixon for legislation to ban the small, inexpensive and cheaply manufactured handguns.
The bill would ban the sale of handguns with a magazine capacity of more than 10 rounds, and would require a waiting period of 30 days before a handgun could be purchased.
The bill also would require a waiting period of 30 days before a handgun could be purchased.

Nixon Pledge
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has pledged the continued government efforts to hold down food prices, saying success of his Phase 3 economic program depends in part on what happens to the cost of food.
Food prices are a key to making Phase 3 work," Nixon said at a farewell meeting Monday with the Phase 2 Pay Board and Price Commission.
In his instructions to the defense jury, Judge Danahy said the jurors' only duty is to return a verdict on the basis of the evidence presented to them. "Reasonable grounds for belief" is the standard for a conviction.
The case against the defendant is based on the evidence presented to the jury. The jury must find the defendant guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

Stennis' Condition Worsens
WASHINGTON (AP) — The condition of Sen. John C. Stennis worsened following news of a hospital spokesman said his chance of recovery "is considered grave." The senator was shot twice in a holdup a week ago.
The 71-year-old Mississippi Democrat was in the operating room at Walter Reed Army Medical Center for 45 minutes after doctors suspected a blockage had developed in his small intestine, said hospital spokesman Jan. Fragg Garland.
He said that while no blockage was found, "this additional surgery has resulted in a worsened condition." He remains very seriously ill and the prognosis is considered grave.
Garland added that the next briefing was scheduled at 3 p.m.
Stennis, 71, and his son, John Hampton Stennis, and daughter, Mrs. Margaret Syme, were at the hospital during the night. Members of his staff also were present.
Stennis chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and one of the most influential members of the Congress. First elected to the Senate in 1947, he ranks seventh in seniority among 100 senators.
He was shot twice in the front of his home last Tuesday evening by two male teen-agers after they robbed him of his wallet and wristwatch.
The FBI and police have not arrested any suspects.

Governor May Offer Some Tax Relief In Budget Message
The message will be sketched out in public comments from time to time, the final details were closely guarded as the package was being put together.
Legislative leaders were to be briefed at 3 p.m., with a briefing for newsmen scheduled to follow at 5 p.m. The reporters will hear from Meskill's top fiscal adviser, Finance Commissioner Adolf Carlson. The public delivery of the message itself by the governor to a joint session of the House and Senate is scheduled for 7 p.m.
The message is not expected to be a long one, perhaps lasting only 20 minutes, but it is expected to be highly specific—unlike Meskill's "State of the State" message on Jan. 3, when he made only three specific proposals.
Having promised "good news" for industry, having recently criticized the state's fiscal picture, and having said
