ICC Orders Railroad Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered an investigation into the operation of financially ailing northeastern railroads.

The order affects a number of major lines, including the Penn Central, the Boston and Maine, Erie Lackawanna, Central of New Jersey, Reading and Lehigh Valley, Penn Central is reorganizing under the federal bankruptcy laws.

ICC Chairman George M. Stafford, who announced the study, said the purpose of the probe is "bringing order out of economic chaos." He said all ailing railroads in the region would be required to file by March 15 reports on proposed reorganization.

Tollard Evaluators Regret School Funds Cuts

VIVIAN V. KENNESON

 Tel. 875-4704

The shortage of operating funds is repeatedly mentioned in the evaluation report of Tolland High School. The Board of Education recently released the report which was made by a NEASC visiting committee last December.

"We cannot fail to report that the 1972 school budget was cut a total of $471,590 by the town meeting and by a referendum." This amount reflects a 6.9 per cent cut. The report continues: "It is obvious that a quality level of education cannot be sustained unless the community recognizes its obligation to fund the schools properly." The committee's report dismays at the lack of equipment, materials and supplies, even in those basic to instruction.

The committee stated that extra staff efforts, money-raising projects and financial expenditures by teachers cannot replace the community's responsibility to its children.

The report urged the school committee "to undertake a vigorous plan of community action to inform the citizenry of the problems created by the lack of funding." If financing for the schools is not improved, "a good school plant and a fine staff will be severely hampered. Since the major financial commitment has already been made in plant and staff, it appears extremely wasteful to see these strengths become negated for the want of

Federal Spending Cuts May Affect UConn Programs

STORRS (AP) — A smaller state budget for the University of Connecticut is not as potentially dangerous for the university as are proposed federal cuts in education spending, Edward V. Gant, UConn's acting president, reports.

Under Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's budget proposal UConn would receive about 3.6 per cent more than its current budget but that's less than the school requested, Gant said.

"Any time you get more money than the previous year, you can't describe it as 'bad,' although it's not what we expected," he said.

But he feared that under federal spending cuts, public and private universities may well get less than in previous years.

In one program alone, Gant said, UConn stands to lose $550,000 in federal money.

He said that while state budgets were important, higher education in general will be more greatly affected by recently announced reductions in federal programs.

Mrs. Dunsmore, a 61-year-old office supervisor, has been receiving the cards from all over the world every Valentine's Day since 1928 but has no idea who is sending them.

"It's nice to know he hasn't forgotten me," she said. "I really look forward to getting them."

More Free Lunches Proposed for Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Free school lunches, already accounting for one out of three served each day, will be made available to more needy children regardless of family income under a new Agriculture Department proposal.

The rule change, ordered by Congress in liberalized child-feeding legislation last summer, will give discretionary authority to local school administrators for determining individual hardship cases among pupils.

A child from a family of four currently must be served free or reduced-price lunches if the family's income does not exceed $4,110 a year. States may set income eligibility as much as 25 per cent higher for free meals and up to 50 per cent more for reduced-price servings.

Under the proposed regulation, a child could be eligible for free meals when income is more than the guidelines if there is undue financial burden on the family.

The department said the proposed regulations will be open for public comment until March 16, and set July 1 as the deadline for putting them into effect.

That means the new authority for giving special attention to hardship cases would not be in effect generally until school begins next fall.

The Nixon budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 calls for free-lunch spending of $68 million, an increase of $43 million from the current year.

The department's Food and Nutrition Service said it has no estimate on how many additional children might be brought into the free-lunch program because of the rule change. About 8.5 million now receive free or cut-price meals out of a total of 25.2 million children eating school lunches.

"When schools determine whether children are eligible for free or reduced-price meals, they would not count that portion of family income spent for unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expense due to the mental or physical condition of a child or disaster and casualty losses," the department said in explaining the proposed rule.

More than three-fourths of the lunches served needy children are free. The reduced-price meals cannot cost a child more than 20 cents per serving according to federal rules.

For those children who pay regular prices, the charges vary but average 30 to 35 cents per serving in elementary schools and around 50 cents in secondary schools, officials say.

16 Million Deer(s) Won't Get Valentines

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

Deer in America, just like people, are having a population explosion. There are more than 16 million of them in the country today as there were in 1900, the National Shooting Sports Foundation estimates. The statistics: 500,000 in 1900, 16 million now.

How liberated are U.S. women really getting? Well, when it comes to liberating their figures, they are getting more liberated all the time. A survey by Today's Health magazine to which 11,000 of its readers responded found that 40 per cent of them are now willing to venture outside their homes without wearing a bra. It looks like this spring will be a great season for girl watchers.

POWs Won't Have to Repay Life Insurance Benefits

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAR
 Associated Press Writer

A Veterans Administration official says that at least eight U.S. prisoners of war who at one time were believed dead will not be required to repay life insurance benefits paid to their families.

Their beneficiaries were paid insurance claims or death gratuities ranging from $5,000 to $10,000.

The servicemen were named on the official prisoner of war list released by Hanoi Jan. 27. The beneficiaries their beneficiaries received fall under the category of "overpayment."

Thomas Kiernan, department director of insurance service for the VA in Washington, said U.S. Code 38, section 3102, would be a deciding factor in settling the "overpayment" insurance dilemma.

The section states that payments and overpayments will not be recovered if it is decided that the beneficiary collected them believing the insured was dead and that recovery would defeat the purpose of the benefits or would be "against equity and good conscience."

Kiernan said the first step in settling the matter will be to ask the released prisoners to return the payments. If the servicemen says he no longer has the money, the case will be turned over to the VA committee on waivers, Kiernan said Monday.

Frankie de Escosido, Calif., and Lt. Cmdr. Robert Doremus of Wilmington, Del., were among the POWs flown to freedom Monday.

In addition to the four men named, Kiernan said he knew of four others in the "overpayment" category. He refused to identify them.

He said "overpayment" claims made after that date will be handled by Servicemen's Group Life, a division of Prudential Life Insurance Co. in Newark, N.J., which administers the VA life insurance program.

Although Servicemen's Group Life is a civilian firm not bound by the U.S. Code, Kiernan said the company "follows the principles outlined in section 3102."

One case is that of Marine Pfc. Ronald L. Ridgeway. Remains believed to be those of Ridgeway were found in Vietnam and were shipped back to the United States for burial four years ago.

Ridgeway's mother, Mildred Ridgeway, and her estranged husband shared equally in his $10,000 service life insurance.

Mrs. Ridgeway of Houston, Tex., said she had been reluctant to accept the $5,000 because she couldn't believe her son was dead. Subsequently, his name showed up on the POW list released by North Vietnam.

"When they gave it to me, I told them: 'If he shows up, I can't ever pay it back,'" Mrs. Ridgeway said, adding that now it is "all gone."

The families of at least three Navy men received life insurance benefits. The men, Lt. Porter A. Hayburn of Tucker, Ga., Capt. Fred A.W.

Only A Reprieve

The Penn Central is rolling again. The question now is for how long. Two fundamental issues are involved and both have to be resolved. The railroad is in bankruptcy and harsh economic measures are being proposed to get it solvent again. The reduced-crew issue is one of these and runs head-on into a rail union tradition which makes the cause of job classification preservation a basic tenet. One need only recall the long and bitter battle by the unions to keep firemen on train crews long after the steam whistles became silent.

Wrapped in the banner of safety, the union contends a third brakeman is necessary. Management, perhaps biased by a potential saving of many million of dollars, sees it differently. Within the next three months, hopefully this issue can be resolved. But even its solution will not mean Penn Central is over the hump.

Its trustees have indicated the ailing railroad, the nation's largest, will need $800 million or more in federal assistance if it is to survive even on a smaller trackage basis. This dilemma quite naturally spawns many solutions to the problem. First off, of course, is nationalization which actually has few sincere advocates expect as a last resort.

Some of the other ideas are getting support and before the solution is found many of these may contribute in some form to the solution. A. H. Chesser, United Transportation Union president, has proposed the government take over the right-of-way of bankrupt or marginal railroads. His idea is that the federal government provide the railway roadbed in the same way the government does for trucks through the highway system. The rolling stock and operation of the railroads would stay in private hands and we presume the railroad would provide maintenance of the railroad and trackage under some contractual basis.

We do not know what the financial burden of owning the rights of way are to Penn Central or any other railroad but we do know the proposal will have tough sledding in many states and counties where the property on rights of way is a substantial factor in keeping local property taxes down. So some type of payment lien of taxes enters the picture. But assuming, for a moment, that such a plan could be implemented and in effect the ailing or bankrupt railroad is relieved of a substantial fixed cost which now exists in its operations. It would appear to us that a substantial amount of federal funds would have to be turned over to the railroad since, we assume, its debt obligations involve lien against the right of way asset as well as its other properties.

In the case of a railroad which may have been given huge land grants to construct its lines, this would mean buying it back. In other cases, it will be buying property restricted to one use for the benefit of one class.

In either case, it represents partial nationalization and does not assure correction of the two basic reasons the railroads are in financial trouble today; inadequate management and archaic work rules compounded by a patch-work national transportation policy through the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is actually no policy at all because most regulations are contradictory, obsolete often unnecessarily restrictive, and political rather than economic in nature.

We would hope that whatever group the President selects to resolve the Penn Central issue will not lose sight of the fact that basic problems facing the railroads cannot be sidetracked forever by Congress and the rest of the arbitration procedures.

We must consider urgently a national transportation policy that the speculative type of management the rail industry has been known for in the past; the obstructionistic tactics of many of the rail unions which still cling to turn-of-the-century rules; and politicians who, in the past, have painted the railroads as big fat cows that can be blamed for everything from low commodity prices to high food prices depending on whose vote they are trying to get.

As it is now the Great American Train robbery is the longest running soap opera in our history. We'd like to sit back and laugh but it is no longer funny.

Romans 12:10 "Love one another with brotherly affection; outdo one another in showing honor."

This is Valentine's Day, long associated with love and expressions of kindness. It was assigned to us - be they great or small - that we find fulfillment and happiness - we will stop complaining and do our best. "He that is faithful in little - I will make ruler over much." ### The Fallout From Howard Johnson's

NEW ORLEANS—Corrosive fear in this Mardi Gras city that new violence might break out during the annual celebration at the end of this month is certainly not substantiated by facts and obviously alarmist, but it is the inevitable fallout from the Howard Johnson hotel massacre.

Reassurances from city officials are indisputable. The Jan. 7 slaughter by a black sniper at the Howard Johnson was no signal for planned revolution and ought not to cause alarm about the Mardi Gras. Nevertheless, white citizens of New Orleans felt both themselves and visitors they fear the worst—a fear with clear racial overtones.

Quite apart from the Mardi Gras, racial tensions here are clearly aggravated by the shoot-out. What makes this particularly regrettable is that this Deep South port city, superficially at least, had been making a peaceful transition from white domination to black-white partnership under the leadership of liberal Democratic Mayor Moon Landrieu. But the Howard Johnson fallout shows the frailty of racial harmony in any big city, North or South.

That harmony has been heavily attributable to Landrieu's skill. Elected in 1969 with 90 per cent of black voters (constituting one-third of all voters) and a minority of the white vote, Landrieu has avoided the racial polarization that has critically wounded Mayor John V. Lindsay in New York.

While tossing party hacks out of city hall and replacing them with blacks, Landrieu has won over substantial elements of the business community (especially downtown merchants) cheered by his aggressive sponsorship of the Superdome sports arena next to city hall. Even old organization Democrats are coming into line for Landrieu.

Once example is a leader of the Italian bloc here who opposed Landrieu in the 1969 Democratic primary but told us he supports his reelection this year. "I think Moon would be an absolute cinch this year—if it weren't for this new situation," he added. What new situation? The Howard Johnson shoot-out. The possibility that heightened racial tensions could polarize to the point of defeating Landrieu is actually most unlikely. Nevertheless, the black-white political leadership here, contrasting sharply with increasing racial polarization in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other Northern cities, now gives signs of being more apparent than real.

Law enforcement officials here privately complain that responsible black leaders

Hi Neighbor

We received a letter which contains some good points regarding education and the proposed new Coventry community. We'd like to share them with you: "The Kennedy Bill 627, passed by the State Legislature in 1967, can be utilized by Hartford Process in the proposed new Coventry community. This bill would allow busing of low income group children into neighboring towns and the state will be footing the bill. "The Kennedy Bill allows a double ADM (average daily membership) grant and a transportation grant to the sending town's general fund, as an example, Coventry in turn pays the receiving town out of the Board of Education budget. This would relieve Hartford Process of its promise to provide schools within the new city district and would definitely necessitate creation of a large regional school system for the entire area including Bolton, Vernon, and parts of Manchester. "The per-pupil cost for each child being bused is based on the receiving town's per-pupil cost but doesn't include amortization fees. "The surrounding towns should be cognizant of this possibility due to decreasing enrollment in their schools and the fact that there has been legislation introduced to regionalize school systems with a small enrollment."

This is Vocational Education Week and we aren't surprised to learn that Connecticut's programs are serving 75 per cent more persons than was the case just three years ago. And while on the subject of education, Manchester High conducted another successful Career Day last week. We are interested in the future of Downtown Manchester, should circle Feb. 20 on their calendar. That's the evening the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee hopes to get the pulse of the folks regarding future planning. Since any future program is certain to revolve around the subject of money, it's pretty important that the hearing room in the Municipal Building be packed. The show goes on at 8 p.m.

A friend says the best way to stop the noise in the car is to let her drive.

In a short excursion the other day we observed three motorists who ran red lights and two motorists who passed other vehicles in full view of no passing signs. In view of the alarming accident rate, it got us to wondering how come there aren't more.

In this day of seemingly rising prices, it was surprising to read in the Middletown Press that room rates for all accommodations at Middlesex Memorial Hospital will be decreased by 25 per cent.

The story said that the lower rates are due to an unexpected increase of about 5 per cent in patient services (mainly in out-patient and ancillary areas) in the first three months of the current fiscal year and cost-saving efforts by employees and physicians. The REA (Rham Educational Association) has scheduled an all-day flea market called "Petiteport Lane," for May 5 to raise funds for its scholarship fund. In the Connecticut Business and Industry publication, it was pointed out that over the past decade the state's population increased about 19 per cent while the United States as a whole increased about 14 per cent. Various projections place the state's population through 1980 at between 3.4 million and 3.6 million. Prof. David Pinsky of the University of Connecticut estimates that during the decade of the 1970s an unprecedented 603,000 youths will enter the labor market.

"This growth in the work force will require an increase of more than 22,000 jobs each year during the '70s just to take care of the number of new workers. Since World War II, the average number of new jobs during peace time years was 10,000." In the face of possibly more automation in industry, it could be that creating the number of new jobs required, according to projections, will be an extremely difficult task.

Railroad Merger Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission administrative law judge has recommended the eventual merger of the bankrupt Boston and Maine Railroad company with the Maine Central and the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad, it was announced Tuesday.

In a report, Victor A. Von Rimpff also recommended a modification of the B & M trustee's reorganization plan which sets Sept. 31, 1973 as a tentative date for the merging from bankruptcy. The report must be approved by the full ICC.

Imports 6.7 Per Cent Of U.S. Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imported goods and services accounted for 6.7 per cent of total domestic demand in the United States last year, the Commerce Department reports. That was an increase from 6.2 per cent in 1971. Further, excluding services, the demand for foreign-made goods was 6.2 per cent of total demand for goods, up from 7.5 per cent in 1971. The report said U.S. demand increased for foreign automobiles, food, consumer goods and industrial materials and supplies. U.S. exports as a percentage of total output remained steady at 6.3 per cent. The Commerce Department figures were released to help show why the United States has acquired a trade deficit in the past two years. Domestic demand for goods and services was figured by calculating the percentage of imports to gross national product.

Hoyt Fund For Children Established by RPHNA

By Barbara Richmond (Herald Reporter)

Just about everybody in town knew the secret, everyone but Miss Ruth Hoyt, that is, because the secret was about and for her.

Miss Hoyt, administrative supervisor of the Rockville Public Health Nursing Association, Inc. (RPHNA) will be retiring on March 1 after 20 years of service to the association. Last night the board of directors of the association announced the establishment of the Ruth E. Hoyt Fund for Children which will be a perpetual fund in her honor.

Although Miss Hoyt inadvertently learned of the plan when the announcement was made about the fund, she was totally surprised when the announcement was made about the fund. She was told that the fund would be named in her honor and that certain areas of town were designated in smaller letters. This would include Rockville, Talcottville, Vernon Circle, Vernon Center and Dobsonville.

In putting the proposal to Tuesday's meeting, Lawrence Halpern explained the rationale used in putting the recommendation together.

He said the commercial and industrial growth of the entire town included the revitalization of Rockville Center through redevelopment can best be served by a single municipality association, rather than a fragmented association, since the same municipal services are offered throughout all sections of Vernon.

In urging the necessity of such a move, Halpern said the Rockville section of Vernon will realize more growth and development as a by-product of the Vernon suburban growth, noting in particular the Vernon Circle area, than if it stands alone as an increasingly abandoned commercial area.

He added that the town has been legally recognized as Vernon for nearly 10 years, since the town governments were consolidated.

Needs fulfilled by this fund will be determined by the staff and approved by the administrative supervisor on the spot, Mrs. Barton explained. Establishment of the fund was not the only surprise Miss

Task Force On Zoning

The Mayor's Zoning Study Task Force will hold a public hearing tonight at 7:30 at the Administration Building to get some views of the townpeople as to what direction the committee should take concerning plans for further development of the town.

The committee was appointed several weeks ago by resolution of the Town Council. It was directed to study all current zoning regulations with particular attention to those regulations which pertain to industrial and commercial development.

The forming of the committee was prompted by a serious concern for the commercial development along Rts. 83 and 30 and proposals made by Mayor Frank McCoy to the Planning and Zoning Commission were also stimulants toward the creation of the task force group.

The mayor had proposed that a moratorium be put on building along Rts. 83 and 30 until some changes could be made in the zoning laws. This proposal was abandoned when it was found that there apparently is no legal precedent in this state for such a procedure. Atty. Harold Cummings is chairman of the task force.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Bias in Bicycles?

To help his employees get around the premises, a large company kept a supply of bicycles available at all times. But all the bicycles were of the "men's" variety. Women workers finally went to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission with a charge of "discrimination on the basis of sex."

At the hearing, they pointed out that men's bicycles were just not suitable for them, especially since they were also forbidden to wear slacks. This impressed the Commission, which duly upheld their complaint.

The bicycle case is typical of the wide variety of issues that have arisen under former Title Seven of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. Women have also complained — almost always with success — about hiring practices, dress codes, height requirements, smoking privileges, hours of work, and seniority rules.

"Title Seven," said one court, "rejects the notion of romantic paternalism toward women and seeks to place them on an equal footing with men."

In fact, men too have won victories under the same law. For example, the Commission found sex discrimination in another company that gave half-hour lunch periods to its women employees but only 20 minutes to men.

Nevertheless, Title Seven does not apply to hardship situations that are not based on discrimination between the sexes. Take this case:

A saleswoman accused her department manager of violating Title Seven by deliberately making her life miserable. She claimed he made fun of her, gave her hard assignments, and hawled her out viciously.

It turned out, however, that her fellow sign in the same department had the same tale of woe. Since male and female employees were being treated with equal harshness, the Commission decided to turn down the woman's complaint.

The Commission said she had not proven a violation of Title Seven, but merely that the department manager was a very nasty fellow.

Coventry Democrats Oppose Process Community

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent
Tel. 742-8796

The Democratic Town Committee last night, on a 15-4 vote with 9 abstentions, passed a motion against an added population of 20,000 and 6,000 additional dwelling units.

The thrust of the motion, which refers to Greater Hartford Process' proposed "new community," indicates the town committee's concern that a community of that magnitude would mean the end of Coventry as it now exists, and a complete change from the way the town was when residents, seeking a rural atmosphere, moved here.

Abstaining on the vote were those town committee members who serve on the Town Council and the Planning and Zoning Commission. The motion was made by Richard Cromie.

In other business last night, the Democrats, on a motion by David Roach, also went on record as being in favor of the use of revenue-sharing funds to lower taxes. A motion by Claire Connelly to support an equal rights amendment to the Constitution was also passed.

Janet Kearney and Tony Felice were appointed to fill two existing vacancies on the town committee.

Board of Welfare, Virginia Diehl was elected chairman, with Jean Capanello, chosen vice chairman. Other members of the board are Laura Forte, who was chosen secretary, and Carol Curry.

Mrs. Diehl reports that much progress has been made since the initiation of Board of Welfare of the Town Hall on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 9 to noon and on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9. A member of the board to be reached by calling 742-8845 during these hours.

It is the responsibility of this appointed board to give temporary emergency aid to needy families when necessary. The board works in close conjunction with the State Department of Welfare and Public Health Nurse Association. Its members belong to a state organization of local general assistance administrators who can also assist them in the proper handling of cases.

Tax Use For Education Above Average in Area

Manchesteer was slightly above and area towns well in excess of the statewide 58 per cent average of local property taxes needed to finance public school expenses in 1971-72, according to a report recently released by the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council (CPEC).

In Manchesteer, the percentage was 57. Area town percentages were Hebron 90, Ellington 83, Bolton 80, Columbia 79, Tolland 78, Andover 77, Vernon 69, South Windsor 68, and Coventry 67.

Of the state's 169 towns, 31 spent 80 per cent or more of their property taxes to finance public schools, 98 spent between 60 and 79 per cent, 40 spent less than 60 per cent.

For the most part, the CPEC study said, larger cities and longer-established urban centers spent less than 58 per cent of their 1971-72 property tax dollars, probably because a larger portion usually goes for such services as police and fire protection, welfare, highway maintenance, parks, and recreation.

In 1972-73, the CPEC report continues, total state school enrollment dropped for the first time in 29 years. It was 660,027, down by 1,051 from 661,078 pupils in 1971-72. Teacher education graduates in 1972, however, were up 229 from the previous year, rising from 1,270 to 1,509.

The drop-off in school enrollments in the same years was particularly sharp at the elementary school levels, the CPEC found, dropping from 7,704 in K-3 from the previous year's 7,898 total. Despite the decline, state institutions graduated 1,362 persons with pre-elementary and elementary education degrees in 1972, an increase of 88 over 1971.

Because the state's birth rate has been on a general decline during the 1960's and early 1970's, CPEC says, the drop in public school enrollment will continue.

Super 75 Hopeful In South Windsor

A South Windsor man is eligible to win the Super 75 lottery drawing being held Thursday at the Norwichtown Mall, Rt. 2, Norwichtown.

Stanley A. Kavarsky of 97 West Rd., South Windsor, qualified for the drawing by winning $5,000 in last week's lottery. The super prize of $75,000 will go to one of the 18 claimants eligible for this week's drawing, two runners-up will receive $15,000 prizes.

Thursday's lottery will also mark the third "Losers Take All" lottery and eight 1973 Pontiac Grand Am's will be given away across the state.

Campground Amendment Rejected by Town PZC

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

After almost a year of work and two public hearings, the Planning and Zoning Commission, in a surprise decision, voted last night 5-0 to reject a proposed amendment to the zoning regulations which would have allowed public recreational campgrounds in R-1 and R-2 zones.

For information about winter sports phone 643-4700.

regulations were set Mastandrea, Charles Eaton and Russell Anderson. Roy Wirth, who abstained from voting, stated following the decision that he thought "this is the worst thing the commission has done. I am disappointed."

Although chairman Wilbur Dennis did not cast a vote, he stated just prior to the vote that "other than some changes, they (the regulations) should be adopted as written."

Objections
Objectors to the proposed regulations strongly objected during the hearing held prior to the commission's vote.

Main objections stemmed around maintenance of roads in controlling dust, policing the campground, traffic noise, and depreciation of property values.

Fear of turning Hebron into a "summer slum" was expressed by one resident who claims to have seen just such a situation happen in the Cape Cod area.

Both Mastandrea and Eaton felt that approval of the regulations would only create more problems than could be solved.

Mastandrea also felt that "this is the type of planning that Hebron should not be concerned with at this point."

The only person speaking in favor of the regulations at the hearing was First Selectman Aaron Reid. "Out tax basis is bad enough, we cannot stand any more building than we are getting at this time," he said.

Reid preferred to see the land tied up as open space land for camping than for a subdivision with all its problems.

Reactions
Following the decision, Reid's stunned comment was, "This is crazy, to me." He asked the commission, "How come you went through all these months working on them (the regulations)?"

Although Selectman Pete Dallaire could not attend the meeting, he stated later that he was "disappointed" in the decision, feeling that a "campground would be a decent little industry for Hebron."

Dallaire referred to how a campground in town could take a "few hundred acres out of circulation for a few years" and still bring in tax money to the town.

In his estimation, two campgrounds in town with 400 sites could bring in approximately $37,000 a year in taxes without having to provide any services.

Present Regulation
With this rejection, the only recreational facilities, such as camping, are permitted, with a Zoning Board of Appeals variance, for facilities owned and operated by a recognized national non-profit organization such as the Easter Seals Camp for Crippled Children on Jones St.

Rham District Rham Soph Wins Hallmark Prize

"It was a shocker!" was the reaction of Jonathan Little, a sophomore at Rham High School in Hebron, on learning that he had won a special Regional Hallmark Honor Prize (one of only five given) in the secondary school competition sponsored by Scholastic Magazine of New York.

Being a recipient of this honor is a first for Rham student and the second time Jonathan has achieved a first as he was the youngest student at Rham ever to win a blue ribbon in this competition.

Three other firsts were also achieved by Rham students with the winning of a blue ribbon for sculpture, a golden key award for jewelry and a place winner in photography. In all, 18 entries from students at Rham received recognition.

Jonathan still does not know which of his two entries received the award and will not know until the awards ceremony on Saturday.

While he calls his work "gruesome," his art teacher, Mrs. Barbara Wythe, refers to it as "science fiction oriented."

Jonathan's work, she said, is "unusually creative," a point he agrees with.

In painting, Jonathan said, I try to "find something very unnatural to the person's eye, something they have never seen before."

His two entries were a pen and ink of skeletons and an opaque water color of a planet.

Mrs. Wythe imagines the pen and ink is the winner.

Blue Ribbons

Rham's blue ribbon in the sculpture category was won by senior Jordan Burrill, a third-year art student.

His winning entry was a portrait head done in clay and cast in polyester resin.

The golden key award, in jewelry, was won by Elaine Reynolds. As was the case with Jonathan's award, Elaine does not yet know whether it was her wire necklace with a lapis lazuli stone or her forged bracelet with a snowflake obsidian that won.

Other Awards
Place winners from Rham in the junior high division of the competition were Bonnie Atherley, Diane Stasiak, Roger Soucy, Kevin Kelly, William Long, Tony Sylvester and Nicholas V. Mucci.

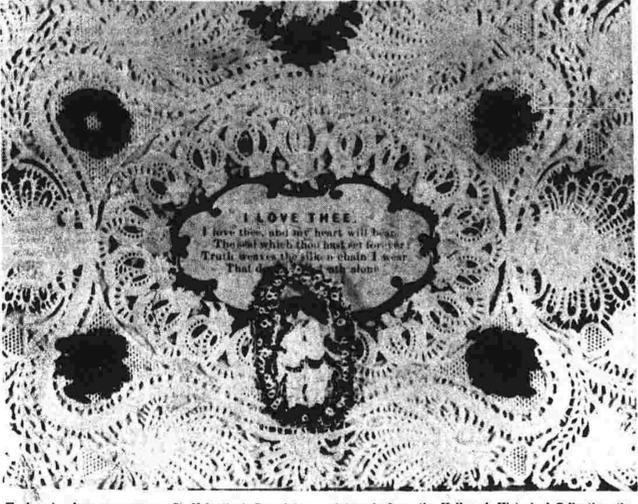

In the senior high division, place winners were David Billard, Elaine Reynolds, Debra Goodrich, Sally Parker (2), David Johansson (2) and Raymond White (2).

The award winners entries will be on display at the Austin Art Center of Trinity College until Feb. 25.

The work of Jonathan and Jordan will then be placed in national competition in New York City.

Jonathan Little, Rham High School, is the winner of the Hallmark Prize for his sculpture.

Exchanging love messages on St. Valentine's Day dates back to ancient Rome. Handmade valentines were used in Europe, especially France, in the 1600s and 1700s. This one picture is from the Hallmark Historical Collection, the largest and most valuable collection of antique cards in the world.

Words About Love

BY BETTY RYDER

"Love makes the world go round," or so they say, and Valentine's Day just seems to make it spin so much faster.

According to some researchers, the celebration of Valentine's Day evolved from the Roman Lupercalia festival on Feb. 15 honoring Juno, goddess of women and marriage. In 496 A.D. Pope Gelasius ordered that Feb. 14, eve of the pagan feast, be celebrated as St. Valentine's Day in memory of Valentine, a priest martyred on that day in 294 A.D. for refusing to renounce Christianity. It is further believed that prior to his execution, the priest wrote a far-well note to his jailer's daughter, signed "From your valentine."

Opinions of true and lasting love differ and Oscar Wilde (1854-1900) summed it up with "One should always be in love. That is the reason one should never marry."

Napoleon Bonaparte (1769-1821) was of the opinion "Love is the idler's occupation, the warrior's relaxation, and the sovereign's ruination."

Yet, there are those who will dispute Robert Herrick's (1591-1633) statement, "No man, at one time, can be wise and love."

Comical cards, floral gifts, and balm for a broken heart, still help rank Valentine's Day as the oldest holiday celebrated in the western world, dating back almost 1,500 years.

As long as young hearts flutter - and old hearts remember - the sentiment lingers on.

Historic valentines, dating from the early 19th century, will be on exhibit at the 29th annual National Antique Show in Madison Square Garden, New York City, Feb. 17-25. This one, made in Germany, is on loan from the Hallmark Historical Collection.

THE FERRARI IN THE BEDROOM. By Jean Shepherd. Dodd, Mead. 289 Pages. $6.95.

Funnyman Shepherd's specialty is the year. In this collection he dips into his "Past Recollections of Trivia" to jeer at some of the absurdities of modern life, particularly in a curious place called Manhattan. There also are some of his nostalgic recollections of life back there in Indiana, when he was a boy.

An airline flight on which he speculates about the hippie and the hardhat who were aboard, a zany description of how a television show was filmed and a rumination about cab driving in New York are among his take-off points for flipping out smart cracks.

There is a piece that mocks the Women's Lib idea, and another on motels he has visited, including one fabulous place in snowbound Wyoming, and an item that makes a mockery of the home handyman.

The nostalgia themes include his youthful experience in a gasoline station and visit with his father and uncle, and the Indianapolis Speedway. There also is an exuberant piece about an old catalog from a firm that sold a wide variety of knickknacks.

Shepherd is always amusing, even when he is pressing a little too hard. His type of humor has its own flavor, somewhere between Mark Twain and Groucho Marx, and he is never dull.

Miles A. Smith

THE SATURDAY NATION. By John Hermanden. Manyland Books Inc., New York. 151 Pages. $4.95.

Irony and humor run rampant in "The Saturday Nation," the story of some university students in the Southwest.

The characters are stereotyped. Radical students in dilute in sex and drugs and expose the hypocrisies of the establishment.

The father of one of the students is so wound up in the business world that he has no time for his lonely wife, who therefore sleeps with one of the students and smokes marijuana chronically. The sheriff is a bumbling idiot who charges in court that an Indian fed some pot to his horse.

The inevitable conflicts between such extremes provide much of the humor and irony, which extends to the author, John Hermanden of Yuma, Ariz.

Hermanden, 54, is in real estate in Yuma and is a former bank president, hardly a likely background for a writer that is somewhat sympathetic to the students.

In the book, none of the characters, not even the students, emerge as flawless heroes. There are really no villains until the final pages when racial prejudice and fear lead to the sheriff's horrifying massacre of some of Sylvester's Indian friends, a kind of Kent State tragedy with many victims.

The tragedy and violence is not really so horrifying because it is so out of step with the rest of the book, rather like a sudden tragic ending to a Laurel and Hardy movie.

Racial prejudice and how it can lead to violence is a serious subject, and the author obviously takes it seriously with such a tragic ending.

But the first 145 pages do not build any basis for such an ending. Comedy and tragedy can be mixed in literature, but tragedy must be developed, not tossed in at the end.

Apart from the ending, the book has enough drama and laughs to be entertaining.

THE TOOTH MERCHANT. By C.L. Sulzberger. Quadrangle. 278 Pages. $7.95.

This remarkable novel defies classification, but that doesn't keep it from being a hum-dinger.

It's in the picaresque tradition, and as the jacket proclaims, it's a thriller that makes James Bond seem an effete type of hero. It's a term of kind of erudition - the author delights in obscure history, legend and folklore, and in big, dictionary words - along with sex, fantasy and satire.

The hero is a scampish Armenian named Kevork. Scamp is familiar with all the brotchels espionage and smuggling, and has enough hubris to talk cold turkey to a prime minister or a premier.

The plot? The teeth involved in the narrative Kevork is blackmailed into becoming a spy against the Russians, but that is only an opening gambit. Before long Kevork has come upon the dragon's teeth and starts a quest in some of

The Board of Selectmen, although agreeable to seven residents recommended by Harvey Desruisseaux for an ambulance study committee, is interested in hearing from others in town who might be interested in serving on the committee.

The board had been approached by Desruisseaux at its Feb. 1 meeting with the possibility of such a committee to study the need in town for an ambulance, and, if such a need exists, to make recommendations as to how the ambulance would be administered and funded.

The seven residents recommended by Desruisseaux for this committee, besides himself, were William J. Lee of Bergland, Amston; Bruce DeGray, Amston; William V. Borst, Main St.; Paul E. Jones, Millstream Rd.; and Mrs. Eric Emt, Burnt Hill Rd.

These seven represent all areas of the town; however, the selectmen felt that despite Desruisseaux's assertion that the request for the committee was in no way "affiliated with the fire department," too many of the seven had ties with the fire department.

The selectmen tabled the appointment of the committee until its Feb. 15 meeting and requests any resident interested in serving to contact them before this meeting.

Vets' Day Goes Back To Nov. 11

HARTFORD (AP)—Connecticut legislative committees met in three cities Tuesday to consider topics ranging from women's rights and taxes to the establishment of a world trade center in Bridgeport.

In other legislative developments, the House of Representatives voted to restore Veterans' Day to Nov. 11 and Republican leaders moved to repeal a bus subsidy bill vetoed by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill but restored to life by the state Supreme Court.

The Human Rights and Opportunities Committee, meeting in Hartford, heard testimony from women's groups, female lawyers and others who urged the body to support a bill outlawing what they termed sex and marital status discrimination in credit transactions.

Many witnesses also expressed support for bills that would give maternal and paternity leaves to couples with newly born children, abolish limited labor hours for women and establish a Commission on the Status of Women to protect the rights of women.

In Hamden, the Finance Committee heard strong opposition from several speakers to Meskill's call for an increase in the real estate conveyance tax from $1.10 to $10.00 per $1,000 of sale value. Also at the hearing, spokesmen for several groups, a historical society and a nursery school attacked Meskill's proposal to let exempt institutions not owned by the state for water and sewage services.

The House of Representatives stamped its approval on a bill to return Veterans' Day in Connecticut to Nov. 11, the anniversary of the World War I armistice. The 1969 legislature moved the holiday to the fourth Monday in October to create a three-day weekend, but some veterans had complained the new date had little meaning for them.

The Republican legislature's Transportation Committee drafted and reported favorably on a bill to repeal one portion of a mass transportation bill passed by last year's Democratic legislature. Meskill had vetoed the portion in question, which orders the transportation commissioner to use state funds to ensure the operation of buses in line with the public's general welfare, but the state Supreme Court ruled Meskill's partial veto invalid.

Meanwhile, Meskill's proposal for gasoline tax surcharges as a means to subsidize bus service met opposition in the Republican and Democratic caucuses of both legislative houses.

Officers and committee members of Scandia Lodge, Vasa Order of America, will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Rodney Anderson, 75 Tumblebrook Dr., South Windsor.

These are only a few of the excellent reviews received by the Tandara Puppets/Marionette Theater of Bucharest which will be presenting two performances, 6:30 and 8:30 p.m., on Friday at the Hebron Elementary School, Rt. 85, Hebron.

The company uses two basic types of puppets, some of which are life size, in giving unlimited variety to their performances. These are marionettes on strings and hand-and-rod puppets.

Prize-winners and audience favorites at numerous world festivals, including Grand Prix and Gold Medal at the First International Festival of Puppets/Theater of Bucharest touring company of 18 has made nearly thirty foreign tours. They are presently on a North America tour and their program is presented in English.

Don Cristobal, who performs in "The Three Wives of Don Cristobal," is one of the many puppets that will appear in the program Friday evening at 6:30 and 8:30 at the Hebron Elementary School by the Tandara Puppets/Marionette Theater of Bucharest.

Pathmark consumer report

How to be an even better shopper

more of your time than usual to get accustomed to the new shopping aids. But, hand in hand we can help you stretch your dollars.

The Pathmark Value Planner

Planning ahead is the surest way to save. Every Home Economist in America has long recommended advance planning before you get to the store as the best way to save money. The Pathmark Value Planner is your shopping guide. This weekly folder, given to you as you leave the store, enables you to plan your next week's shopping at your leisure... And at the same time, prevent costly impulse buying. The Value Planner lists the following week's prices, plus valuable shopping tips, recipes, and money-saving coupons. It allows you to budget your food shopping in advance.

The Pathmark Mark of Value

Each week in our advertisements, our circulars, and in our Value Planners, you will note a check marking system. This device, developed by Pathmark, calls attention to the many values we have. Again, it is another way to help make your dollars go farther. We call it the Mark of Value. Here's how it works.

PATHMARK REMINDER: A reminder box for you to check if you need the item that week.

PRICE REDUCTION: Our check to make certain you don't miss any extra savings that come along.

BUDGET HELPER: Our double check to point out your budget helper in a particular category. Pathmark's twin tools - the Mark of Value and the Value Planner - help you be an even better shopper.

Unit Price Labels Tell You Product Cost Per Measure

There are times that one product's size costs considerably more per quart or per pound than another, it depends upon the manufacturer - how he has priced it. For some time now, Pathmark has had cost per measure information on our shelves.

Now we have the new, officially authorized UNIT PRICE LABELS. Look for them, they'll take the guess work out of comparative shopping by telling you your best buy in a particular product PLUS your best buy in a particular category.

By using our Unit Price Label you can compare the Pathmark brand price to the National Brand. Then you can see for yourself where you save!

Single Item Pricing Eliminates Needless Buying

You needn't be an accountant or a math major at Pathmark. Everything is priced by the item. One box, one jar, one can, one more than you need to get the benefit of a lower price... The price is usually low to begin with. When you don't buy what you don't need... you save money.

Save 24-Hours A Day***

It is relatively easy to understand why our being open 24 hours a day will save you money. For one thing, we bring you value, quality and savings around the clock. When you need certain items in an emergency, we're here to serve you, day or night. You don't have to pay more by going some place else. By staying open 24 hours we are able to get maximum productivity from our stores... they have to be open anyway so our night crews can be on hand for the next day... we can help reduce our expenses and keep costs down. That's how you can save money 24 hours a day.

*some store hours may be limited

Pathmark Butcher Block Boy Helps You Save Money!

Just this past week, we've introduced a whole new program in our meat departments. We call it Butcher Block Meats. While we cannot control the prices of meat and poultry, we at least can help guide you along money-saving ways in the purchase of these products. To help deliver this message, we have created the Pathmark Butcher Block Boy who will tell you how you can get the best value, quality and price.

Price Per Serving

For some weeks now, our meat departments have been posting Price Per Serving charts. These charts list important fresh meats, items, the number of servings per pound, and the price per serving. This is an informative message prominently displayed giving precise data on what it would cost you to feed your family on a particular item. It offers you the opportunity to switch to another less costly product, if that particular cut you are seeking doesn't really fit into your budget.

U.S.D.A. Choice/Grade A

Why bring the Government in on this? The Government stands behind you, and is your guarantee of quality. The U.S.D.A. stamp makes an important difference in quality. Quality + Price, is another means of telling you about Pathmark value buys.

Triple Inspection Policy

We all know what's been happening to the prices on fresh meats week after week. It's simply a problem of supply and demand. The more people who want and buy fresh meat, the less the supply, the greater the price. We can't do anything about that, nor can we tell you not to buy fresh meat. You naturally want the best for your family, and you are right! But there are things we can do to help you understand and try to get more for your money. That's where our triple inspection policy comes in. First, the meat is inspected by the Government; secondly by Pathmark; and finally by you - through two-way, see-through trays that let you see both sides of the story. As an added protection, our label carries the final sale day so you are assured of bringing home fresh meat. And, there's even an inspection number so you know that each package has been checked for value.

Butcher Block Formula

Our Butcher Boy is a very busy little fellow. He's working hard, day and night, to see that the standards we want for Pathmark meats are kept at all times. His picture on our new label is just one part of your guarantee that these standards have been met. His formula: Value + Quality + Price, is another means of telling you about Pathmark value buys.

We have been telling you about how to save money. But we can prove it to you. The proof is in our very own Red, White and Blue Pathmark brand. If you were to compare an average order:

Reluctant Directors Add Water Plant Funds

Cooper Hill Plant the culprit. We're stuck with the problem." Anthony Pietrantonio also asked a question: "Would the voters have bought a proposal for a $74,000 facility the way they voted approval of a $50,000 one?"

And Pascal Prignano remarked, "It seems to me when we spend over a half million like this, we should at least know where to pinpoint the faulty estimates and of whom to ask the questions."

Weiss replied, "In estimating the cost of any public facility, it is a problem to know what the bids will come in at." He again cautioned against re-bidding. "The new bids could come in higher."

The vote followed.

During the portion of last night's meeting set aside for comments from the public, the incorrect estimates and of whom to ask the questions were criticized by several persons.

Charles Pillard, president of the Manchester Property Owners Association, "I agree, it's not the board's fault. From now on, however, the board should take a long, hard look at proposed appropriations — before they're voted upon."

Also critical of the situation were: John Eicholzer, Herman Schendel, Mrs. Peter Sadioski, Frank Utkis and Balila Pagani. All spoke on the same theme — that there is no reason for a mistake of that magnitude.

In other actions last night, the board:

Approved an ordinance for purchasing for $450 a parcel at the radius of Hilliard and Broad Sts.

Approved an ordinance for purchasing for $750 a parcel at the radius of Main and Woodland Sts.

Approved a state-funded

$560 appropriation to the Educational Special Projects Fund, for a work study program.

Approved a 50 per cent state funds, $24,000 appropriation for lighting and resurfacing two tennis courts at the high school and for resurfacing two tennis courts at Hilling Junior High.

Approved an $11,000 appropriation for the expense of a scheduled March 13 referendum.

Approved a $180,500 appropriation from the Revenue Sharing Fund for highway construction on Hilliard St., from Broad St. to the beginning of North End Renewal.

Approved a $250,000 allocation from the Revenue Sharing Fund for a sidewalk construction program.

Approved a $1,000 transfer from the Assessor's Account to the General Manager's Account, to pay the town's share for the expense of an administrative assistant here for one year.

The vote was 7 to 1, with Pietrantonio voting "nay." He explained he had voted against the program when it was first proposed.

Approved a $2,500 allocation for materials for repairing a raft at Globe Hollow Swimming Pool. The vote was unanimous and with minor discussion.

When Farr asked about the cost, Weiss explained that the wood being used is specially treated and is expensive. The labor, he said, will be by town forces.

Returned to the Water Reserve Fund $183,000 set aside in October 1969 as the town's share for acquiring Manchester Water Co. land under an open space program. The program was rejected in a low-vote referendum. The action was unanimous and with little discussion.

Tabled a proposed $15,000 appropriation for improvements to the Mt. Nebo parking lot. The action was unanimous and with little discussion.

Except where noted, all of the actions were unanimous and with no discussion.

White House reporters could only surmise that the dramatic return of the first American war prisoners from Vietnamese cells had triggered an unparalleled display of spontaneous Nixonian jubilation. Or, possibly, an exercise in innovative public relations.

Nixon kept departing from set patterns throughout the day, surprising and amazing newsmen who thought impromptu presidential behavior had become history when Johnson left the White House four years ago.

1972 law and enact new amendments once the new legislation reaches the floor of the House and Senate.

"There is only one thing we can do and that is repeat the bill," Rome told newsmen.

The prohibition against the use of state funds to benefit officers and stockholders of companies was put into the bill after Meskill blasted what he called the "millionaire mismanagement" of some firms. This was understood to refer to E. Clayton Gengras, wealthy owner of The Connecticut Co.

Rome also said he is proposing to amend the part of the law which appropriated and distributed $3 million in state grants for local roads so that the money can be used by municipalities for bus subsidies as well as street and highway purposes.

New Haven Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida said: "If nothing else, this decision shows the need for a statewide solution rather than individual ad hoc arrangements such as the governor is seeking to make with individual transit districts."

Guida heads a steering committee composed of officials from several communities with curtailed bus service. He has been outspoken in his opposition to Meskill's proposal for ending the bus stoppage.

"If the governor stalls, the cities will seek legal remedies to insure he complies with the law," said the mayor.

Leroy Jones, New Haven's development administrator and a leading participant in the bus negotiations, said such action could come within "two or three weeks."

One way to seek release of the funds is through a writ of mandamus in court, he said.

Accord Said Near On Police Contract

Tuesday's conference on the labor dispute between the Town of Manchester and the Manchester Police Union Local 1495 resulted in "very significant progress," according to Town Manager Robert Weiss.

The union alleged that Weiss changed the emergency sick leave provision wording from "unlimited" to "additional" in seeking the word "unlimited," was demanding a new item in the contract.

The contract was never signed. All other town union groups have signed working agreements.

Monday's conference was attended by Weiss and Town Personnel Supervisor William Wilson, for the town; Sweeney, Union Vice President Gerald Calve, and Union directors Samuel Matosopo and James Taylor, for the police union. Police Chief James Reardon attended the session as an observer.

The matter probably will not go before the three-member SLRB for a formal hearing. Policemen are now working under the terms of the old 1970-1972 contract. Weiss ordered a reversion to that contract when the union voted Jan. 4 to rescind its ratification of the 1972-1974 police contract.

Both the union and the town filed complaints with the SLRB.

Police Union President James Sweeney said today the program when it was first proposed.

"There is only one thing we can do and that is repeat the bill," Rome told newsmen.

The prohibition against the use of state funds to benefit officers and stockholders of companies was put into the bill after Meskill blasted what he called the "millionaire mismanagement" of some firms. This was understood to refer to E. Clayton Gengras, wealthy owner of The Connecticut Co.

Rome also said he is proposing to amend the part of the law which appropriated and distributed $3 million in state grants for local roads so that the money can be used by municipalities for bus subsidies as well as street and highway purposes.

New Haven Mayor Bartholomew F. Guida said: "If nothing else, this decision shows the need for a statewide solution rather than individual ad hoc arrangements such as the governor is seeking to make with individual transit districts."

Guida heads a steering committee composed of officials from several communities with curtailed bus service. He has been outspoken in his opposition to Meskill's proposal for ending the bus stoppage.

"If the governor stalls, the cities will seek legal remedies to insure he complies with the law," said the mayor.

Leroy Jones, New Haven's development administrator and a leading participant in the bus negotiations, said such action could come within "two or three weeks."

One way to seek release of the funds is through a writ of mandamus in court, he said.

Prisoner Vignettes

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) - Any event, no matter how serious, has its light moments. Here are some vignettes on Monday's return of the first 143 American prisoners of war from North and South Vietnam.

"I had 40 tigers on my hands," said Air Force Col. Al Lynn, 50, of Honolulu as he told reporters of the excitement of the first group of released American POWs to flow out of Hanoi. One ambitious bachelor, Lynn said, had arranged a date with one of the flight nurses within 30 minutes of boarding the plane.

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Everett Alvarez of Santa Clara, Calif. endured nearly nine years of captivity in North Vietnam. But when he was released he seemed alert and surprisingly fit. Boarding the American plane in Hanoi that took him out of captivity, Alvarez noticed one of the flight nurses on board and shouted to a companion: "Hey, what's that? There's women aboard!"

Air Force Capt. Galand D. Kramer of Norman, Okla. prisoner of war at the Hanoi Hilton for more than six years, drew cheers from waiting crowds at Clark Air Base when he stepped off his plane and produced a handkerchief-sized flag that said "God Bless America and Nixon." What the crowds didn't know was that it was not the first time he flashed it. Pilots who flew into Hanoi to pickup the POWs said Kramer, in his exuberance over being released, pulled out the sign and waved it at Gia Lam Airport just before boarding the flight to freedom.

Air Force Sgt. Ron Zgodia of Buffalo, N.Y., was loadmaster on the C-130 transport that preceded the CIA evacuation jets into Hanoi, bringing in personnel to help in the prisoner transfer. Zgodia, of Polish descent, ran into some Polish members of the International Commission of Control and Supervision who were there to observe the transfer. He tried out on them some of the language he remembered from around home. "It was great," he said, "one of the best times I've had. They even gave me some Polish sausage."

Just before releasing 27 American prisoners of war in the jungles of South Vietnam, the Viet Cong returned to them personal items confiscated at the time of their capture. A State Department spokesman at Clark said that the day before his release one unidentified man got back a wedding ring taken from him five years earlier. The man was not entirely sure the ring was his. There were no initials, but the original wedding ring did not have initials either. So he accepted it and it was a perfect fit.

Hijack Accord
 WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and Cuba are expected to sign an anti-hijacking agreement by the end of this week, it has been learned.
 The official time frame was put at a "few days" by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in Miami Beach, Fla., Tuesday night. But it is understood this means by Saturday at the latest.
 Only minor details remain to be worked out. They concern such matters as arranging for the signing and exchanging texts, and officials say there is no chance of a breakdown over these procedural matters.
 Even though high administration officials from President Nixon on down through Rogers have acknowledged an agreement has been reached, no one would discuss the substance of the accord.
 Nixon said Tuesday that Rogers would disclose the contents at an appropriate time, but sources said the silence resulted from an agreement with Havana not to disclose details until all procedural matters were concluded.

RECORD SALES

Rogers Corp. of Manchester and Rogers, Conn. has reported record sales of $33,450,000 for 1972, with profits before extraordinary items amounting to $51,000, or 61 cents per share. Sales were 18 per cent above the $28,372,000 in 1971, when net profits were $113,000, or 13 cents per share.

The extraordinary charge associated with moving the company's Mektron circuit business from Connecticut to Arizona reduced the 1972 gross earnings of $51,000 to $25,000, or 25 cents per share.

Rogers' president Norman L. Greenleaf predicted "With sales rising to another record, with the Mektron move behind us, and with the greatly expanded operations in Arizona settling down, we expect that 1973 will see a substantial increase in earnings."

MANAGER

Lloyd Odell, 24 Vernon St., has been named manager of the Tolland office of T.J. Crockett, Realtor and insurance.

EARNINGS IMPROVE

Lydall, Inc., 615 Parker St., saw its earnings continue to improve during the final quarter of 1972, according to Millard H. Pryor Jr., president.

Pryor also indicated that the company's financial condition was strong and that there should be "significant additional improvement" in earnings in 1973, particularly in the steel ball division which has been profitable since August.

Pathmark To Freeze 400 Prices 60 Days

The Manchester Pathmark Supermarket is one of the 99 supermarkets throughout Connecticut and other eastern states that will freeze prices of approximately 400 products for the next 60 days, effective immediately.

"In making the announcement, John O. Whitney, president of Pathmark, described the outlook for controlling prices on beef and most produce items as "bleak."

"The blunt truth is that there is nothing at all we or any other retailer can do about the price of beef, fresh produce and many other commodity items in the event of wholesale increases," he said.

Products involved in the freeze range from tea and spaghetti to canned fruits, paper toweling, paper napkins, household cleaners and other staples. According to Whitney, Pathmark will offer price protection on items it can control for a 60-day trial period "and longer, if possible."

Whitney further stated that 640 wholesale price increases have been passed on to retailers by manufacturers in the six-week period since January 1.

"During the past week alone we have had wholesale price increases of more than 60 times passed along to us," he added. "It is costly and self-defeating to have to raise

Chamber Joins Area Council

The executive board of the Greater Manchester Area Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting yesterday, approved membership in the North Central Connecticut Council of Independent Chambers of Commerce.

The purpose of the council is to stimulate interaction and exchange of information among the independent chambers of North Central Connecticut.

It was pointed out there are no dues. Also, membership in the council doesn't imply the official endorsement of the Manchester Chamber on policy and statements presented on any issue by the council.

The board yesterday gave its formal approval to the Accreditation Report of the Manchester Chamber and it will be forwarded to the U.S. Chamber for action.

A plea was sounded for Whitney to push harder for new chamber members.

It was announced the chamber's annual banquet has been set for Friday, April 27. Attention was also called to the chamber social which is slated for Feb. 21 at the Manchester Country Club. The social provides an opportunity for the community to meet Richard G. Clark, the chamber's new executive vice president.

Stamps In The News AP Newsfeatures By SYD KRONISH

"Disarmament Decade" is the theme of the first commemorative stamp for 1973 by the United Nations Postal Administration.

The U.N. General Assembly decided in 1969 to designate the 1970s as the Disarmament Decade. It called on governments to intensify their efforts for the cessation of the nuclear arms race, nuclear disarmament, elimination of all weapons of mass destruction and for a treaty on general and complete disarmament.

Collectors of unusual covers, particularly those specializing in American history, will be interested in a new series being issued in a numbered limited edition by the International Stamp Collectors Society.

The Republic of Tunisia has issued a single stamp in honor of "Stamp Day" in that country. The design features PTT headquarters wrapped in symbolic coils of communication wire, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency.

Stamp EXPO South will be held in Anaheim, Calif., March 24. More details will be forthcoming on this stamp show which is a popular annual event for Southern California collectors.

Social Security

Q. Has the deductible for the doctor bill part of Medicare been increased?

A. Starting this year the annual deductible for the doctor bill part of Medicare has been increased from $50 to $60.

Q. If I can qualify for home health care, how much will Medicare pay?

A. Beginning with 1973, Medicare will pay 80 per cent of the reasonable cost instead of the 80 per cent under the old law.

Q. I was 65 four years ago. I never filed the doctor bill covered under Medicare. I was told that since I did not sign up within three years after I was 65 I could never sign up. Is this still true?

A. No. This provision has been dropped. You can now sign up for doctor bill coverage any time. However, the premium will be 10 per cent higher for each full year a person could have had doctor bill coverage but did not sign up for it.

Q. My husband never worked under Social Security. He says he will not be covered by the hospital part of Medicare because of this. Is there any way he can get this coverage under Medicare?

A. Starting this year a person who hasn't worked long enough under Social Security to be eligible for hospital insurance may choose to enroll for this coverage. However, there is a monthly premium charge of $33 and more in later years if hospital costs rise. Medicare under this provision begins in July 1973.

Q. Can I get a leaflet explaining the recent changes in Medicare?

A. Yes. You can write, phone, or visit the Social Security office and ask for the leaflet "Highlights of the 1973 Medicare changes."

Have a question about Social Security and its retirement, survivors, disability and Medicare benefits? Write to Questions and Answers, 657 Main St., East Hartford, Conn. 06108.

Deadline Lifted To Join Medicare

Some people do not have the doctor bill insurance part of Medicare because they did not enroll during the first three years they were eligible. These people now have a chance to enroll, according to Joseph J. Mucciaro, East Hartford Social Security office manager.

"Under the old law, you had to sign up in an enrollment period that began within three years after you became eligible for the medical insurance. The three-year deadline is eliminated by the new law," Mucciaro said.

These people can now sign up for this coverage in any general enrollment period—January, February and March of every year.

The basic premium is now $5.80 a month. However, the monthly premium increases by 10 per cent for every 12-month period they could have been enrolled but were not.

Under the new law, disabled people newly eligible for Medicare benefits and almost everyone who reaches 65 after June 1973 will automatically be enrolled for the medical insurance part of Medicare unless they say they don't want it.

"If they do decline the protection," Mucciaro said, "and later decide they want it, they can enroll at any Social Security office during the first three months of any year."

The medical insurance part of Medicare helps pay for doctor bills and other medical services. It is funded by individual premiums and general revenues of the federal government.

13th Win Easy for East, Toughie Slated Friday

By Dick Ledbetter

East Catholic won its record to 13-4 last night with a convincing 70-40 over East Hartford at the latter's court. What started out to be a close contest turned into a mismatch as the Hornets couldn't contain the Eagles.

BILL GORRA

Coach Stan Ogronik commented, "You have to say Bill Gorra and Joe Whelton were in the spotlight. John McKeon also had a fine game."

Whelton ended up with a game-high total of 30 points, plus six assists. Gorra was tremendous, scoring 25 points. He was 11 of 11 from the floor and a perfect three for three from the line. He also led rebounders with 13. McKeon also reached double figures with 10 and Marty Kearns came up with several key steals. "We can start legitimately thinking about Friday now," Ogronik said.

The Eagles entertain undefeated Holy Cross High of Waterbury. The latter has been tabbed the state's No. 1 club.

The first quarter was pretty even for both sides. The inside work of Mark Plefka was offset by the team play of East and action ended with the Eagles leading, 15-4.

East's superior play completely overshadowed the Hornets in the second quarter as Whelton directed the attack. Whelton put the tempo. With Whelton putting the ball up from the outside, Gorra and McKeon did the work underneath. East went to a pressure defense which caused East Hartford to commit one turnover after another. Outsourcing the home team, 14-4 in the final four minutes, East rolled to a 44-24 halftime edge.

The second half turned into a sloppy, run and shoot game. Entering the final eight minutes, the locals led, 58-38. Whelton added 14 points in the final stanza.

Bad Skubel tossed in 22 points for Vinal. Bolton's Paul Groves netted 10 markers.

The Cavaliers moved back within four points, but got no closer as a late-game rally failed. Barry finished with 8 points.

Nate Archibald, who's been doing this sort of thing all year, bombed in 49 points to lead 100-80. In the first quarter, Kansas City-Omaha checked out of the game with a sparkling percentage of 50.

By halftime, the Trail Blazers' victory over Buffalo was a sure thing. They had run away to a 61-41 intermission lead and nearly doubled that spread in the third period.

Geoff Petrie had 25 points, 12 of them in the first quarter, while Terry Dischinger added a season-high 21, 13 in the third period, that wiped out the Braves' hopes.

NEW YORK (AP) - On Valentine's Day 1973 there is, as usual, no love lost between Bowie Kuhn and Marvin Miller.

Peering over opposite sides of the baseball labor file, Commissioner Kuhn and Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, continue to fire high, hard pitches at one another.

The commissioner charged Tuesday that Miller is trying "to create confusion in the minds of the clubs, players and public regarding the bargaining could degenerate into name-calling. For the moment, I feel this is what Mr. Miller wants and is trying to ferment."

"To avoid this," Kuhn continued, "I have directed that any other response come only from the major league presidents and that it be temperate and businesslike."

"The clubs have pressed for a three-year agreement on all issues," the commissioner said, "I sincerely believe that three years of peace during which we can concentrate strictly on baseball, are vital to the financial health of baseball, players and clubs alike."

Kuhn said that Miller might question his judgment because he is supporting the club position. "I must remind him however that four years ago, I resolved a threatened spring strike... by urging the clubs to increase their offer on pension proposals. As a result, an agreement was reached."

Informed of Kuhn's statement, Miller said, "I fully understand why he is so defensive about the role he has played as coordinator of the owners' negotiating committee."

This latest round of rhetoric in organized baseball's labor headache began Monday when Miller held a press conference and charged baseball with threatening an illegal lockout. This followed a directive by the two league presidents ordering teams not to open training camps early for pitchers and catchers.

Miller will present the owners' latest proposal to the 24 player representatives on Friday and that the offer will likely be turned over to the entire membership for a vote. But he indicated that such a vote by the players "will be extremely difficult unless they are allowed to gather at spring training camps."

Bruins on Spree To Trim Canucks

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Bruins lead the National Hockey League in scoring and the Vancouver Canucks own one of the most porous defenses, but for one period it was hard to separate the two teams.

The Bruins scored four goals on just 10 shots on the net in the first period, then managed just four shots on target in the middle period. However, they defeated the Canucks 7-3 for their fourth victory in a row under new coach Ben Guider.

"There's no way a team such as ours should have only four shots on goal in a period," Guider said. "Four shots in 10 minutes is just the type of club that can hurt you."

Guider, who has stressed defense since taking over from Tom Johnson 10 days ago, admitted he was "disturbed when the players skated off the ice with only a 4-2 lead after two periods."

"I gave them a little talking to, but they knew what they were doing," Guider said. "I didn't have to tell them much. There's such a thing as playing too defensively. In a game like this, there's no reason we can't play offensively as well as defensively. In the second period we were moving in too close, trying to make the good play and waiting too long to shoot. Maybe there was just a little too much concentration protecting the lead."

The Canucks, who have surrendered 36 goals in five consecutive losses, jumped into the lead on a goal by Gerry O'Flaherty midway through the first period. However, the Bruins struck back for four consecutive goals before the buzzer.

Vancouver scored on a power play for the only second period score. Then the Bruins tallied three times while unloading 17 shots on the net in the third period for the easy victory.

Veteran Johnny Bucyk scored his 28th and 29th goals and rookie Greg Sheppard hit his 16th and 17th in leading the Bruins.

Don Marcotte connected for his 39th, Phil Esposito his 37th and Fred Stanfield his 16th, while Bobby Orr collected three assists with some dazzling work.

"This is the way it's been for us all year," Vancouver coach Vic Stasiuk said. "We're not big enough to be defensive. We can't check with authority."

The Bruins, ousted from the Garden by the annual invasion of the Ice Folies, took off today on a six-game trip. They meet the Flyers in Philadelphia Thursday night and then head west.

"This is the way it's been for us all year," Vancouver coach Vic Stasiuk said. "We're not big enough to be defensive. We can't check with authority."

The Bruins, ousted from the Garden by the annual invasion of the Ice Folies, took off today on a six-game trip. They meet the Flyers in Philadelphia Thursday night and then head west.

Guider, who has stressed defense since taking over from Tom Johnson 10 days ago, admitted he was "disturbed when the players skated off the ice with only a 4-2 lead after two periods."

"I gave them a little talking to, but they knew what they were doing," Guider said. "I didn't have to tell them much. There's such a thing as playing too defensively. In a game like this, there's no reason we can't play offensively as well as defensively. In the second period we were moving in too close, trying to make the good play and waiting too long to shoot. Maybe there was just a little too much concentration protecting the lead."

The Canucks, who have surrendered 36 goals in five consecutive losses, jumped into the lead on a goal by Gerry O'Flaherty midway through the first period. However, the Bruins struck back for four consecutive goals before the buzzer.

Vancouver scored on a power play for the only second period score. Then the Bruins tallied three times while unloading 17 shots on the net in the third period for the easy victory.

Veteran Johnny Bucyk scored his 28th and 29th goals and rookie Greg Sheppard hit his 16th and 17th in leading the Bruins.

Don Marcotte connected for his 39th, Phil Esposito his 37th and Fred Stanfield his 16th, while Bobby Orr collected three assists with some dazzling work.
