About Town

Vernon
Delta Chapter, RAM, will meet Wednesday at 7:30 at the Masonic Temple. The Royal Arch Mason degree will be exemplified. Harold Whiting, high priest, will preside. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

A meeting of St. Anne's Mothers Circle will be held Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. James Szarek, 6 Evergreen Rd. Mrs. J. Gremmo will be co-hostess.

The proposal is a modification of a previous one made by board member Dr. Daniel Woolwich. The original plan called for one representative to be elected by the student body to speak in matters of concern to students. This proposal was narrowly defeated several weeks ago and Woolwich and another board member, Steven Marcham, were appointed to meet with students to revise the plan.

The new scheme calls for several students from the high school, to be known as "Student Advisors to the Board of Education" to be representatives of the entire student body on each permanent committee of the board.

Woolwich said this new scheme seeks to broaden the base of student participation by delegating the responsibility for attendance at committee meetings to several individuals, one student per committee. He said the purpose is to provide an active interchange of ideas between and among board members and the student body of the high school.

The plan carries with it a list of privileges and responsibilities that the student representatives, it will, besides allowing a student to sit in on committee meetings, allow attendance at any regular or special meeting of the board if the meeting involves topics which have previously come before the committee. This would also include topics which the student feels are related to the workings of that committee.

During the meetings the student advisor will be allowed to speak on any issue on the agenda or motion before the board other than those which would be executive committee issues. The student may recommend resolutions and motions for the board's consideration but will not be able to make any motions.

The student advisors, like the board members, will receive copies of the agendas for regular meetings. These include the minutes of the meeting.

She was released on a $500 bond on Monday. Court date is March 5.

Democratic Club Will Elect Slates

The Democratic Club of Manchester will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m., at the Marine Club on Parker St. The purpose is to elect representatives of the entire student body on each permanent committee of the board.

He said the purpose is to provide an active interchange of ideas between and among board members and the student body of the high school.

Nixon Tells Nation Budget Cuts Sound

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon defended his budget cuts today as the way to make the family dollar go further and predicted that food prices, while continuing to rise for several months, should come down in the second half of the year.

In a nationwide radio broadcast, Nixon said doing away with many social programs under the budget had been unfairly criticized. But he said the cuts were necessary to bring relief to the American household without damaging the prosperity of our farmers.

Defending his decision to abandon most mandatory wage and price controls, Nixon said, "The idea that controls have virtually been ended is totally wrong. We still have firm controls. We are still enforcing them firmly. All that is changing is our method of enforcing them."

Turning to the federal budget, he said the nation has the best chance in years to curb its growth and added, "that will do more than anything else to protect your family budget."

Nixon disclosed that he will send to Congress the economic sectors of the State of the Union report on Thursday.

He said he wanted to talk about the economy "in personal terms, about its impact on you and your family."

Nixon said his measures to bring more jobs and reduce the rate of inflation as well as make the nation more competitive in trade may pay off this year.

"If we do these things, 1973 can usher in a new era of prolonged and growing prosperity for the United States unlike past booms, this new prosperity will not depend on the artificial stimulus of war."

Without fixing a precise mathematical formula, the justices ruled 5 to 3 that the deviations from perfect equality can be greater than in the drawing of U.S. congressional districts.

Justice William H. Rehnquist spoke for the court as it upheld all but one minor facet of a 1971 agreement by Virginia's General Assembly. The case was the first to reach the high court under the 1970 census.

The justices said that in a decade of one-man, one-vote rulings the court has always maintained the "dichotomy" of insisting that congressional districts be drawn more nearly equal than the districts for state legislatures. Therefore, he said, a four-judge federal panel in Richmond was wrong when it upset the assembly's plan to redraw the House of Delegates and the Senate.

The court's decision was announced later this week by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Top Court Eases Rules On Districts

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court today granted the states considerable leeway from the one-man, one-vote standard in apportioning their legislatures.

Without fixing a precise mathematical formula, the justices ruled 5 to 3 that the deviations from perfect equality can be greater than in the drawing of U.S. congressional districts.

Justice William H. Rehnquist spoke for the court as it upheld all but one minor facet of a 1971 agreement by Virginia's General Assembly. The case was the first to reach the high court under the 1970 census.

Rogers Lauds Lao Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State William P. Rogers today hailed the ceasefire in Laos as an important move toward an overall peace in Indochina and said U.S. bombing there will halt by mid-night EST tonight.

Rogers, appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee just after the Laos cease-fire agreement, said he had not had time to study it in detail.

"But I am very pleased to be able to confirm that a Laos cease-fire to go into effect noon Laotian time Thursday (midnight EST tonight) has been reached by the rival Lao parties, Rogers said."

"The accord provides for cessation of a new position. The government within 30 days and withdrawal of all foreign forces within 60 days after the government is formed, Rogers said."

As a result of the agreement, all U.S. bombing in Laos will halt as of noon Laotian time Thursday (midnight EST tonight) has been reached by the rival Lao parties, Rogers said.

"The Laos settlement is yet another important step in the over-all solution to the Indochina problem," he said.

Removal of foreign forces from Laos would be a major move toward a lasting Southeast Asian peace in the U.S. view. The Vietnam peace agreements signed in Paris Jan. 27 provided for a pullout of foreign troops from neighboring areas.

Nixon-Meaney Moving Toward Compromise

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - President Nixon and labor chief George Meany appear to be moving toward a compromise on protectionist legislation aimed at reversing the massive U.S. deficit in foreign trade.

After a 40-minute visit from Nixon Monday, most AFL-CIO leaders reserved judgment until they see what legislation the White House will propose. But Meany said Nixon's approach so far was "very practical."

Nixon, who devalued the dollar 10 per cent last week as a first step, reportedly told labor leaders he would ask Congress for an array of options to bargain a nation-by-nation basis, erecting barriers to imports from nations that refuse to lower their trade walls to American products.

"I think the whole idea has a whole lot of merit," Meany said.

"Whether we go along depends on the details," added the president of the 13.6 million member labor federation.

A Meany aide said the air of compromise grew out of a Nixon move toward the protectionist demands of labor leaders who long have complained that the declining U.S. position in world trade is eliminating American jobs.

"It is an indication that some people are beginning to see the problem," United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel said of Nixon's current stance on foreign trade.

But Abel, chairman of the AFL-CIO economic committee, said he could neither support nor endorse Nixon's legislation until he sees the details.

Chief Warns Against Use Of BB Guns

South Windsor Police Chief John Kerrigan today reminded residents to be careful with BB guns.

The ordinance prohibits discharge of BB guns within 500 feet of a residence.

Chief Kerrigan said there have recently been numerous complaints of damages caused by shots from BB guns.

In the last day, police reported BB gun vandalism on Kelly Rd., High Ridge Rd., Clinton Dr., and Glenwood St.

The ordinance provides for substantial fines for conviction.

Petain's Remains Stolen From Grave

PARIS (AP) - Police placed a guard outside the national cemetery at Douaumont camp at Douaumont today to keep out the body of Marshal Philippe Petain, the World War I hero who headed the collaborationist Vichy regime in World War II.

The coffin containing Petain's remains was stolen from its tomb on the barren Ile d'Yeu in the Atlantic Ocean, reviving the controversy over the hero's Verden.

Petain was named deputy premier in 1939 as the French army was crumbling before the Nazi blitzkrieg. Premier Paul Reynaud resigned after the rout was complete, and Petain took over as premier.

Various newspapers condemned the profanation of the tomb, but they could not agree on what he had done. It seemed linked to the election of a new National Assembly next month, and the left-wing Communist said: "It threatens to put the authorities in an embarrassing situation."

Petain's supporters say that he should get his "dearest wish" of burial among the soldiers he led at the 1916 Battle of Verdun. The French National War Veterans Association contends that the Douaumont cemetery is reserved for "fighters who died for France" and, since Petain collaborated with the Nazis, he should not be buried there.

Petain spent the rest of his life on the Ile d'Yeu, dying there in 1951 at the age of 95.

Most Merchants Favor Planner for Downtown

By DOUGLAS BEVINS (Herald Reporter)

Most of Manchester's downtown merchants seem to favor the hiring of a downtown planning consultant, proposed by the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee, although there was a split among merchants speaking at Tuesday night's special meeting of the committee.

About 40 persons, most of them downtown merchants, attended the two-hour session at the Municipal Building. Town officials, however, had invited to downtown people.

About ten merchants said either directly or indirectly they favored hiring of a consultant. Only two speakers flatly opposed the idea.

The Downtown Action Committee has agreed to action the services of a professional consultant to coordinate a plan of action for the downtown area. The committee has asked the town's Board of Directors to allocate $10,000 (half the consultant's one-year fee) and is seeking a commitment for the remaining $10,000 from downtown interests.

The two speakers opposing the consultant proposal Tuesday night were Stanley Jarvis and Burton D. Pearl. Jarvis, vice president of the Manchester State Bank and co-chairman of the Main Street Guild, said the hiring of a consultant would leave downtown dormant for several years. He called for immediate action.

Pearl, owner of B.D. Pearl & Son, an appliance store at 649 Main St., said money used for a professional consultant would be "foolishly spent." The Downtown Action Committee should do the planning, Pearl said.

Committee Chairman William Steith, presiding at the meeting, explained that the committee isn't a professional planning group, and members don't have the time to do everything. A professional consultant, Steith said, could look at the downtown problem with more insight and objectivity.

Assembly Ponders Shield Law, Taxes

HARTFORD (AP) - Connecticut legislators pondered proposed legislation to make up for low profits in other states where they cut prices to light local brewers.

Montano's proposal drew support from Fred Biebel of the Connecticut Wine and Spirits Wholesalers Association but opposition from spokesmen for the U.S. Brewers Association and the Distilled Spirits Institute.

The shield law proposal, drafted by the legislature's Judiciary Committee, would let newsmen keep their sources confidential except under certain circumstances. Its "shield" would be inoperative when information from newsmen's informants was needed to "prevent injustice" and the information could be obtained through no other channels.

The shield would also be inapplicable in cases involving capital crimes or charges of slander or libel.

J. Warren Upson of Waterbury, counsel for the Connecticut Council on Freedom of Information, said the law would protect the established newspaper press; newspapers in business one year or longer with a paid circulation and registered as second-class postal matter. It would not shield other papers, including some "underground" newspapers, nor meeting notes, press releases, or other news items, and also protect radio and television newscasters.

The chairman of the state Liquor Commission told a legislative hearing that Connecticut needs a bill prohibiting

Students Give Up Sit In

STORRS (AP) - Some 20 protesters gave up a peaceful, six-hour occupation of a University of Connecticut conference room Tuesday night after some of the protesters said a confrontation with university police would do nothing to help their cause.

The demonstrators, most of them women students, left the room in Guiley Hall after Association spokesmen said Orr warned them they would face criminal trespassing charges if they remained, a university spokesman said. Guiley Hall is an executive office building at the university's main campus that houses the office of university Acting President Edward V. Gant.

Spokesmen for the demonstrators said they were denied of tenure to a woman faculty member and about other issues related to women's rights and the role of women at the university.

A rally in support of the demonstrators' cause was set for noon today in front of Guiley Hall.

The occupation was "peaceful all the way through," the university spokesman said. He said the conference room had been closed to the protesters since 6:30 p.m. closing time. Spokesmen for the protesters initially said they would remain in the room until Gant came to meet with them.

The demonstrators named among their prime concerns the denial of tenure to Marcia Lieberman, an assistant professor of English, because of what university officials called "professional reasons."

Quake Hits Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A moderately strong earthquake shook Los Angeles early this morning. Thousands of frightened residents called authorities but there were no reports of injuries or heavy damage and vital services were not disrupted.

The National Earthquake Information Center at Boulder, Colo., said the quake measured 5.2 on the Richter scale. It happened at 6:46 a.m. in Los Angeles at 9:46 a.m. EST.

On Feb. 9, 1971, a quake measured 6.5 on the Richter scale hit the city, claiming 64 lives, injuring more than 1,000 persons and causing more than a billion dollars damage.

Today's quake was felt in at least a 200 mile radius of Los Angeles and woke thousands of residents.

It swayed downtown skyscrapers, sending early morning office workers grabbing for their desks. Store windows shattered, and pictures were knocked from walls.

The highway patrol said store rockslides tumbled down on coastal highways in the Malibu area, and 30 miles to the east a major road in San Bernardino said it "felt like the engine fell out of my car."

A patient in Hollywood Hospital said patients were walking up and down the halls "in a frenzy" though there was no apparent damage there.

Anti Abortion Bill

PROVIDENCE (AP) - A controversial bill to reinstate Rhode Island's strict anti-abortion law passed its first legislative hurdle Tuesday and was expected to move closer today toward Senate passage.

The measure, widely supported by lawmakers in both legislative chambers, would mandate that human life begins at the instant of conception and thereby attempt to put back into effect a 1967 law that abortion statute declared unconstitutional Feb. 8.

Israelis Down Jet, 70 Killed

TEL AVIV (AP) - Gunfire from Israeli airplanes shot a Libyan passenger plane today and forced it down with a loss of about 70 lives, military sources reported.

The plane was shot down about 12 miles from the Suez Canal in the occupied Sinai Desert.

The Israeli military spokesman said 13 survivors were taken to a hospital.

The plane apparently was en route from Cairo to Beirut.

The spokesman gave this account: - The Libyan 727 entered Israeli airspace 50 miles from the Suez Canal over the Mediterranean coastline, and flew over Israeli military positions.

Israeli warplanes rose to intercept the aircraft and opened fire after the pilot ignored orders to land. The plane was hit and forced to crash land about a dozen miles from the canal.

The pilot of a Lebanese airliner flying four minutes behind the Libyan plane said he heard the pilot say on the radio, "We got hit." The Lebanese pilot said in Beirut that there was no indication the Libyan plane was out of control.

Airliners flying between the two Arab capitals customarily make a detour that adds an extra 35 minutes to the one-hour flight.

The crash landing was believed to be the first time a Libyan aircraft has been caught in the Middle East dispute. It came only 12 hours after Israeli commandos returned from a raid on seven Arab guerrilla bases in northern Lebanon.

Military sources said the plane was returning from a mission to drop supplies to the Suez Canal. Israel captured the Sinai Desert from Egypt during the six-day war of 1967.

Libya's leader, Col. Muammar Kadhafi, has been a fiery opponent of Israel in Arab meetings and other public speaking occasions, and he has provided funds from his ample oil revenues to aid the Palestinian guerrilla movement. But his country's armed forces have not been engaged directly against the Israelis.

Solons Favor Year Round Daylight Time
FAIRFIELD (AP) - Year-round daylight saving time would reduce street crime, automobile accidents and fuel consumption, says U.S. Rep. Stewart L. McKinney, R-Conn., at a hearing before the House Commerce Committee today.

McKinney said Consolidated Edison, the New York electric company, estimates that the hour change would reduce peak usage by five per cent.

"Implementation would greatly assist in conservation of natural resources," said McKinney.

McKinney said the accident rate was very heavy during twilight commuter hours, and that muggers thrive on darkness.

McKinney said the bill is a very shrewd bargain, he observed President Jerry Wurf of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Workers.

An aide to Meany, concurring in this view, said it would be a mistake to see the Nixon-labor meeting as an indication the AFL-CIO might be moving into the Republican political sphere.

Recalling that some AFL-CIO unions split into political camps for and against Nixon's reelection, with the bulk remaining neutral, Meany said, "that was a message to all supporters of all parties that the AFL-CIO is not in the pocket of anybody."

Bradley Use Up During 1972

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) - A 300 per cent increase in the use of Bradley International Airport's international wing has been reported by the state Department of Transportation.

When the wing opened in 1971, 82,876 international travelers passed through it, the department said. In 1972, the number increased to 197,366.

In all, 2.35 million air passengers traveled through Bradley, the state's largest airport, according to the department.

66 Die In Crash

PRAGUE (AP) - Sixty-six persons were killed and 34 injured in the crash of a Soviet jetliner at Prague Airport Monday, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported today. It said most of the survivors had slight injuries.

The dead included four of the crew members, 37 Russian passengers, 17 Czechoslovak Cubans, 1 Pole, 1 East German and 1 Romanian, CTK said.

The Aeroflot TU154 burst into flames and broke apart while landing after a flight from Moscow.

UAC Workers Win Back Pay Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) - A National Labor Relations Board law judge has ruled that six United Aircraft Corp. employees are entitled to more than $54,000 in back pay.

In a ruling released Monday, the judge recommended that the full amount of back pay sought by the workers be paid by the firm. The workers were fired in 1968 for allegedly conducting union business during normal working hours. However, in an earlier decision the NLRB ruled that the discharge was not a discharge under the law and ordered the men rehired with full back pay.

The judge said the employees of the Pratt and Whitney and Hamilton Standard divisions of United Aircraft in the Hartford area were involved in the dispute. All were stewards of the International Association of Machinists.

After the first NLRB ruling, the men were rehired in 1969

They Need a Safer Home

These three kittens who lost their mittens wandered into the Sewage Treatment Plant on Olcott St. one cold night last week to warm their paws. They found the accommodations most comfortable and the larder well supplied with succulent kitty favorites. Jim McVeigh, treatment plant operator, holds Spook, as Duke prefers the chair, and Samantha lounges in the wicker bed. Although the two black males and the mottled female are adored and cared for by all who work at the plant, it is considered a dangerous environment with all the heavy machinery and doors constantly opening and closing. Rather than have the young felines meet with an accident, the plant employees would like to see their furry friends located in a more secure home. A kitty, anyone?

Which Doubtless South had to guess which opponent started with a doubtless in diamonds. It was clear that East still had the ten of diamonds, and the hand could not be made if East also had the queen.

It looked as though West had started with three diamonds rather than with only two. Hence South pushed the jack of diamonds through West's Q-4.

The Scrimshaws, Charter Changes Hearing

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Last week, an ad in the television section of a newspaper here said: "A brush-fire breaks out and threatens to destroy the Loud home in tonight's episode of 'An American Family'."

When edited to 12 hours for public television, this mammoth home movie made the trials of the Louds a shade better known than those of Joe Everybody wrote about them and dissected them.

For my dough, all this gab about "An American Family" is an ominous sign. It may mean the start of a wave of television documentaries about other troubled American families.

BOOK REVIEWS

HUMANLY POSSIBLE: A Biology of Man

By Jean Rostand. 182 Pages. $6.95.
The French biologist Rostand happens to be something of a philosopher, but the essays in this volume are not forbiddingly esoteric - he writes of both themes in a manner the layman can understand.

The opening chapter, "A Biologist's Mail," is a sort of warm-up period in which the author takes an opportunity to range over a good many problems that have arisen from his statements in speeches, articles and lectures.

The heart of the book is contained in the next two items, "Present and Future of the Human Person" and "The Limits of the Human."

He concentrates on such elements as the human genes and how they change. So great is his respect for the individual human life that he is conservative on such questions as abortion and mercy deaths. He is concerned about dehumanization - whether of the body or of the mind.

Another of his chapters is on biogenetics, that rather frightening prospect that some day the laboratory might produce something right on the verge between the inorganic and the organic, and give scientists the power to create new forms of life - with all the responsibility that this might entail.

The book is interesting enough for the concerned general reader to grasp, and it conveys in a small space some of the future's problems.

IN THE LIGHT OF HISTORY

By J. H. Plumb. Houghton, Mifflin. 283 Pages. $6.95.
There is a wide variety of topics in this collection of essays, book reviews and articles by a prominent historian - English, but well-acquainted with America who specializes in the 18th century.

The book's Part One is devoted to that century and ranges from such subjects as Henry VIII, Edmund Burke and "British Attitudes to the American Revolution" to such offbeat things as "The Royal Porcelain Craze." It is for browsing by readers with a taste for history.

Part Two, which has the same title as the book, puts into perspective some of the 19th century phenomena as the historian sees them. A piece on "Secular Heretics," for example, contrasts modern hippies with their counterparts in other generations and other centuries. The same is true of women's lib, fads in clothing and attitudes toward death.

It also has a comment on riots in the city, and "A Walk in Detroit" is a perceptive observation on urban problems. "The Anarchy of Art" is an exceptionally clear-eyed overview of modern art. Part Two demonstrates Plumb's wit and insight.

Part Three, "Other Times, Other Places," contains an article on Pepsy, a piece on the hypocrisy of the outwardly prudish Victorian period, and a lucid explanation of what made the Edwardians what they were.

Well worth reading.

AMONG THE DEAD. By Edward Bryant. MacMillan Co. 210 Pages. $5.95.
Imagine a future in which the population has exploded. Things are so crowded that conventional foodstuffs either no longer exist or are very hard to come by. Especially meat. And then a neighbor invites you to dinner and serves - meat.

Edward Bryant has created such a world in his "The Human Side of the Village Monster" and his solution to the food problem - not cannibalism, by the way - may not be appetizing but it's certainly thought provoking.

The story is one of 17 by Bryant in this science-fiction collection and probably the best of the group although a good many of the others have a lot going for them. "Shark," for example, deals with the idea of fighting sea warfare by using the inhabitants of the seas as weapons. Think of battling a giant shark - especially if a human brain has been transplanted into it.

"Adrift on the Freeway" deals with unconfirmed reports that invisible, giant birds are hunting and feeding on people as they drive along the freeway. Sounds silly, but it's not, especially when a college professor decides such a fate might be better than his current lot in life.

Evaluation Team Will Visit School

The visiting committee for evaluation of Rockville High School will be at the school March 19 through 22, Martin Fagan, principal of the school told the Board of Education Monday night.

Fagan said the first phase of the evaluation, self-study, has been completed by the school officials and staff. This self-evaluation is the work of 26 committees and involved about 90 meetings on the teachers' side.

The evaluation team does not come in to evaluate the teachers, Fagan explained. He said it evaluates the total program at the high school in terms of philosophies and objectives. He said the entire operation focuses on improvement of the school program.

Three weeks after the team leaves, a written report will be submitted to Fagan. The reports comment, recommend and point out any weaknesses in the school program. Follow-up reports are made after two years and after five years to see if the school has followed up on the recommendations.

Eye Clinic Slated For March 14

The South Windsor Public Health Nursing Association and the South Windsor Lions Club will sponsor a free glaucoma clinic, March 14. Free transportation will be provided to the Glaucoma Detection Center in Wethersfield.

The clinic will be open to all South Windsor residents, aged 35 and over. Testing will be done under the direction of the Connecticut Society for the Prevention of Blindness. The test only takes about three minutes per patient. Registered ophthalmologists donate their time to do the testing.

The nursing association reminds residents that glaucoma occurs most often in those aged 40 and over and is the second leading cause of blindness in adults.

Those planning to have the test must register prior to March 14 by calling 329-9475. Those registering will be handled on a first come, first served basis.

First Aid Course
A first aid course is being offered to the public by the South Windsor Women's Club. The course will begin March 6 and will run for five consecutive Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 at the education building of the Wapping Community Church.

The course will be taught by Charles Woodard, a representative of the American Red Cross. A standard Red Cross certificate, valid for three years, will be issued to those who successfully complete the course.

Class size will be limited to 35 persons and pre-registration is necessary. Mrs. Thomas Reen or Mrs. Thomas Doherty of Maskell Rd. should be contacted for further information or registration. A fee of $1.30 will be charged to defray the cost of the Red Cross Handbook.

Moon Trip Made Him Evangelist

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) - A lunar religious experience that "had a great appeal to a minor miracle" has propelled former astronaut James Irwin on a full-time evangelistic crusade.

From offices in a downtown building the 42-year-old retired Air Force colonel directs High Flight, a non-denominational and nonprofit organization set up last summer to coordinate his worldwide speaking trips.

Irwin said he felt compelled to share it with others, "to become a witness for Christ." He is "a layman with an evangelistic message," he said.

involved in something like this," said Irwin during an interview. "Before Apollo 13 I was never really active in church except for Sunday attendance - I was not a witnessing Christian."

He doesn't have a new religious message, he says, but an affirmation of the relevance of religion in the space age.

Irwin says he felt heavenly inspiration throughout the moon mission 19 months ago, from the "spiritual uplift" of rocketing free of the earth's gravity to seeing the beauty and precision of man's world from deep in space and during the

Hints For Recycling Your Old Clothing

STORRS—Save money by recycling old family clothing, suggests Estelle Keane, Extension clothing specialist at the University of Connecticut.

Notion counters sell replacement pockets, zippers, new belt fasteners, slip and bra replacements, and easiest of all, iron-on patches — some especially designed for jeans.

Miss Keane notes that a teenager will welcome jeans mended in an original way with one of the new wildly patterned patches. But be sure to follow directions. The secret of success with iron-on patches is the right pressure and heat, or the patch will fall away after cleaning, Miss Keane explains. "Shrinks," or those briefest of sweaters, are all the rage

Stamps In The News

George Gershwin, one of the all-time greats in American music, will be honored on a new U.S. 8-cent stamp Feb. 28.

The first in the American Arts series for 1973, the horizontal stamp pays tribute to a composer of some 400 songs. Gershwin was world-acclaimed in 1924 at the age of 25 with "Rhapsody in Blue," a symphonic treatment of jazz. It was introduced by Paul Whiteman in a New York concert and has since been played by major symphony orchestras here and in Europe.

Although his popular tunes had people all over the world humming and singing, it was Gershwin's serious efforts which brought him even wider acceptance. In addition to "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Porgy and Bess," he composed "An American in Paris," "Concerto in F," "Second Rhapsody" and "Cuban Overtones."

Special first-day ceremonies for the stamp will be conducted by the U.S. Postal Service with the cooperation of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, of which Gershwin was a member, in Beverly Hills, Calif. His brother, Ira, who teamed with George as lyricist for many of his hits, will be on hand for the occasion.

Collectors of first-day cancellations may send their requests together with proper remittance to "George Gershwin Stamp," Postmaster, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90213 prior to Feb. 28.

If you would like to obtain a special first-day cover for the U.S. issue on the theme "Disarmament Decade" (described in last week's column), you may do so directly from the World Federation of United Nations Assns. The cover design of a sword crossed by an olive branch superimposed on a map of the world was prepared by artist and author Emery Kelly. The price for a cachet with the 8-cent stamp is 55 cents. One with the 15-cent stamp costs 65 cents. A cover with both stamps is $1. Remittances should be in money order payable to World Federation of United Nations Assns.

All mail orders should reach WFUNA, Room C-104, United Nations Headquarters, New York, N.Y. 10017, not later than March 8.

Eight birds of prey are shown on as many stamps issued by the Federal Republic of Germany and West Berlin. This is the annual Youth Set, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Reprinted are the osprey, osprey, red kite, meadow kite, hawk, falcon, sparrow hawk and golden eagle. It is ironic that these hunters, part of nature's balance as predators, are now themselves the victims of human hunters and several of the species are endangered.

The stamps are available at your local dealer. Visitors to Stamp Expo '73, South, to be held at Anaheim, Calif., March 24, will be the first collectors in the U.S. to see the priceless color error in the 10-cent stamp of Jersey (Channel Islands).

The recently discovered error is being hailed by European collectors as the "find of the century." After its display at Stamp Expo it will be featured at the INTERPEX Show in New York.

The theme of Expo is "Triple Anniversary Year." The tributes are to the 50th anniversary of the first man-made coast-to-coast air flight, the 100th anniversary of the first U.S. postcard and the 20th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party.

Rogers Lauds Laos Cease-Fire

Laos and Cambodia, without setting a date.

Some 60,000 North Vietnamese troops are estimated to be in Laos at the present time. The main North Vietnamese transit route for infiltration into South Vietnam goes through Laos.

Rogers had a less optimistic report about Cambodia.

He said the Cambodian government's unilateral halt to offensive military operations following the Vietnam cease-fire has not been matched by the Communists.

As for South Vietnam, Rogers continued to portray recurring cease-fire violations as only temporary deviations from the Paris accords.

"The provisions of the peace agreement are being translated into reality on the ground, and the draw encouragement from the fact that, despite delays, the trends now are all in the right direction," he said.

"We see no pattern of preparations for the resumption of heavy fighting," Rogers said.

However, intelligence reports reaching the Pentagon tell of heavy movements of men and materiel from North Vietnam into the southern Laotian supply trails.

U.S. military men say they believe most of this is destined for South Vietnam.

The peace agreement specifies that Laos and Cambodia shall not be used for infiltration. It limits all sides to

'Bandit' Missing

"Bandit," the pet raccoon belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hadden of 188 Hilliard St., who won fame in a picture story in the Jan. 17 issue of The Herald, disappeared last night from the Hadden garage. It was the Hadden's custom to let the raccoon run around in the garage every evening for a play spell. Mrs. Hadden says the raccoon is strong and may have been able to push up the door to get out. He is very tame and can be picked up, according to Mrs. Hadden. He disappeared once before shortly after the Haddens bought him about eight months ago, and was found by neighborhood children in nearby woods. A nocturnal animal, he always during the day and becomes active at night. "Bandit," wearing a black collar, may be on a spring vacation, but the Haddens, their daughter, Kim, and dauchand, Heidi, hope for the safe return of their raccoon.

Merchants Favor Hiring Planner

Along with the plan to hire a consultant, "We'll get what's needed," Watkins said, referring to a financial commitment.

Several downtown problems were mentioned at the meeting, as they had been at past meetings, but no decision was reached on the solution to the problems. Mentioned were lack of adequate parking, poor lighting, bad traffic patterns, high taxes, zoning, and others.

Downtown Action Committee members seem optimistic about getting a financial commitment from downtown interests, Sleith said today. The committee's ways and means subcommittee will be setting up meetings with downtown people to determine a basis of financial participation, Sleith said.

Mayor John Thompson, who attended the Tuesday night meeting but did not speak today, it is likely downtown merchants will contribute $10,000, Thompson added that a commitment by the merchants would probably be looked upon favorably by the Board of Directors, when they consider a town contribution March 6.

The mayor said he will strongly recommend town support of the consultant.

Tuesday night's meeting was the second of a series of open meetings with merchants planned by the Downtown Action Committee.

The big winner was 40-year-old Robert Taylor of Winchester, Mass., a milkman. Mrs. Dingwall said she didn't plan to go to Boston for the trial, but her children talked her into going. She said she'll probably never have another chance for so much money.

The $500 she won was the minimum prize for each of the finalists.

Mrs. Athalie Dingwall of 387 E. Main St., a finalist in last night's million-dollar drawing of the Massachusetts State Lottery, unfortunately didn't win the top prize, but she came home with $500 anyway.

She said today her "brief fling with glory" has ended.

"It was a stunner," Mrs. Dingwall said, referring to her eligibility for the top prize in the lottery. She had already won $250 in "The Game," and became eligible, along with 110

South Windsor Vote March 31 On New Library

BARBARA VARRICK
Correspondent
Tel. 644-8274

The decision on whether or not a new library should be built in the town will be made by voters March 31.

Last night, at a regular meeting of the Town Council, the panel voted unanimously to place the $1,180,000 cost for planning, construction and equipment for the new library before town voters in a special referendum to be held at voting places between noon and 8 p.m.

Residents will be asked to vote either "yes" or "no" by using the designated levers on machines.

In the past several months, there has been considerable discussion on the proposed new 25,000 square foot building and presentations have been made to the public through programs sponsored by the Jewish Educational and Recreation Services for every segment of the community from pre-schoolers to senior citizens.

Councilman Leonard Sorosnik said he has had "active input" from residents who are concerned with the amount of money and how it would affect their taxes if the building is approved.

Mayor Glassman said the council would be the next council to meet on the project if approved, nor can it commit the next council to "anything we have done."

Since a stable tax rate is one of the council's commitments, Glassman said, and if full bonding is agreed to by the elected officials, costs for bonding $1 million using a 5.5 per cent interest rate as an example, a 10-year term bond would cost $155,000 annually or a fraction over one mill in South Windsor. The same amount for 15 to 20 years would cost $105,000 annually estimated at a little less than one mill.

Glassman said he is very optimistic for the future as things are looking good in South Windsor. He added that the calendar year 1972 has been one of the best the town has ever experienced in monies received from grants. He said some "negativity" has existed in people in South Windsor, many of who have suffered economic shortcomings, but "things are getting better" in private lives and in the town, and, with stabilization, "we can now have some of the things we have always wanted in life and in the town."

Council was asked to consider another item for the March 31 voter referendum. Donald Marra of Dogwood Lane requested the council to consider an advisory question for citizen interest in a proposed recreation complex being considered for the town. He said citizens could voice their opinion of interest or disinterest in the project before any money was spent on preliminary or feasibility studies as has been done in the past with the school building projects that were defeated in referendum polls.

Glassman said he would find it difficult for the public to accept or reject a plan unless they had a proper handle on what is being proposed. He said the recreation complex is presently "an idea, a concept with nothing held together."

Marra left the meeting before councilmen were able to state their opinions, however, Robert Hornish paralleled the suggestion with "buying a new car without looking into or at it."

On the agenda was a request to allow the expenditure of $5,000 for a feasibility study on the complex which will have resident accessibility to many means of recreation from a music shell to ice skating and swimming.

Councilman Fitts said he felt Marra's proposal was a "cop-out."

Rotary Marks Birthday

Manchester Rotary Club observed its 33rd birthday and the 68th anniversary of Rotary International at its meeting Tuesday night at Manchester Country Club. Center is Art Iling, the first president of the Manchester club; left is Dr. Bernard Sheridan, and at right is Frank Sheldon, past club presidents. The fact that Rotary is truly international was pointed out with the presence of three guests from Japan at the Manchester meeting. Sheridan served as president in 1945; Sheldon in 1952. MPOA Said Likely To Rename Pillard

Charles R. Pillard of 16 Lodge Dr., president of the Manchester Property Owners Association, is expected to be re-elected to the post on March 1, when the MPOA's 15-member executive board meets to elect officers for 1973-74. The board's meeting will be at the Ziper Club on Brainard Pl.

Pillard has been president since mid-1971, when he was elected to fill the vacancy created when Harry Reinhorn resigned the post.

The 15-member executive board, plus four alternates, were elected Feb. 14, when Pillard, Herman Schedel, Lewis Falot, Lewis Southergill and Joel Dodge.

Elected to terms ending in 1974 were: Dr. Frederick Spaulding, Virginia Celinski, Virginia Butterfield, Debrae Coulombe and Stephen Dzielski.

The four alternates are: Marcie Negro, Alfred Kargle, Craig Niles and Ronco Franzel.

Their terms will expire in 1974. Pillard, in a short message at the MPOA meeting Feb. 14, urged the membership to "work as hard as possible for the worthwhile aims of the association."

"The biggest failure of our town officials," said Pillard, "is their failure to recognize the difference between what the town must have and what the town would like to have. We must never forget that honesty in government is the best policy and that each taxpayer, no matter how big or how small, is entitled to equal justice."

Beaulieu Works on Display

"French Dressing," 12 original designs by Lynn Beaulieu, Mary Cheney Library staff artist, opened yesterday in the library lobby. The exhibit will remain until March 10.

The creations, whether Renaissance, 17th century, Empire Period, 1930's, or contemporary, were inspired by 18th century French costumes. Basically, the drawings are pen and ink, the basic colors were done with tempera, but chalk and colored pencils were also used.

Pamphlets providing a guide to the number of each work and its description are available at the display. The following is a brief description of each design:

Black and white evening dress; Francis acket, mouse grey velvet jacket over stiffened white panna; Cavalier, black satin doublet and breeches decorated with

Canal Controversy To Be Aired In March

By GEORGE BRIA Associated Press Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - A bitter Panamanian of Scotch-Spanish blood, Aquilano Boyd, is the man of the hour in Latin American diplomacy. Boyd, 51, is Panama's ambassador at U.N. headquarters. He is masterminded the campaign for a U.N. Security Council meeting next month in Panama. His government claims the festering dispute over the U.S.-run Panama Canal threatens international peace.

"If something happens in this waterway, it will endanger the interests of peace and security of all the countries that are users of the canal," Boyd contends.

"The way things are going, the United States and Panama are on the road to collision because the United States, especially the military, have tried to maintain the status quo that existed at the beginning of the century. Panama is a divided country that has this foreign enclave - a typical colonialist enclave."

He means the 553 square miles of the Canal Zone. Boyd comes first from one of Panama's first families and inherited his concern with the canal. His grandfather, Federico Boyd, was one of the triumvirate that governed Panama when it won its independence from Colombia in 1903 under the auspices of President Theodore Roosevelt's Big Stick diplomacy.

Panamanians revolved when the Colombian Senate refused to ratify a treaty granting the United States the right to build the canal. Roosevelt supported the revolutionary government that signed the treaty, and U.S. forces protected the new regime from Colombian forces. But Panama has never accepted the U.S. view that the treaty has meant American sovereignty and jurisdiction over the waterway since its opening in 1914.

A growing Panamanian spirit of nationalism and dissatisfaction over the American presence touched off riots in 1959 and 1964. Panama's strongman, Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos, has contended since his 1969 takeover that desire for sovereignty over the Canal Zone is "the only religion uniting all Panamanians."

Boyd says Panama will propose that the 15-member Security Council tour the Canal Zone where 50,000 Americans live and work. "The breadwinners are stationed at 14 military installations or work for the Canal Zone government or the Panama Canal Co., a U.S. government corporation.

Panamanians in the Zone, says Boyd, "have experienced all kinds of discrimination." He contends Americans have the best jobs and the best pay and that the canal tolls have not been raised in 60 years "because the merchant marine of the United States has very powerful lobbies."

The result, argues Boyd, is that American shipping receives indirect subsidies while "a poor country like Panama gets less than $2 million a year as a direct benefit from the canal."

A U.S. State Department official commented that while it is true that the tolls have not been raised since 1914, indirect benefits to Panama from the canal came to $168 million in 1971. He added that studies are under way for raising the tolls in new treaties. Toll collections in fiscal 1970 were $100 million.

As for jobs, the official said some security posts are staffed exclusively by Americans to guarantee, for example, a skeleton force to operate the canal in the event of a strike. Other Americans hold jobs on the premise for which there are no qualified applicants in Panama.

Canal Zone wage rates in some instances are three and four times as high as in Panama. Proposed treaties negotiated in 1967 provided for Panamanian participation in the canal's management and an end to exclusive U.S. sovereignty in the zone. The drafts ran into political difficulties both in the United States and Panama, however.

In 1970, Panama notified Washington they were unacceptable. "We hope the Security Council will come out with a resolution inviting the United States and Panama to negotiate a canal treaty according to the self-defense.

Boyd traces his Scotch ancestry to his great-grandfather, Archibald Boyd, who went to Panama during the California gold rush. West-bound travelers in those days used the isthmus as a bridge between the Atlantic and the Pacific. His mother is of Spanish descent.

Boyd was educated at Holy Cross College in New Orleans, the University of Havana and the law school of the University of Panama. In 1956-57, he was Panama's foreign minister. He has also served as ambassador to Mexico, in posts in Washington and Cuba and as president of the National Assembly. He has been U.N. ambassador 10 years.

A Roman Catholic, the father of four girls and a boy, Boyd says one of his regrets is a street fight in Panama in 1964 when he shot and slightly wounded a newspaper editor. They had quarreled over politics. Boyd says he fired in self-defense.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Alligator vs. Shoemaker

With ecology in mind, a state legislature banned the sale of alligator skins within the borders of the state. In short order, a maker of men's shoes went to court with the following objection: "This law is unconstitutional. True, the state does have the power to protect consumers. But here they are not trying to protect consumers. They are trying to protect alligators. That is beyond the scope of legislative authority."

"Protection of animals," said the court, "is necessary not only for their natural beauty and for biological study but (also) for the key role they play in the maintenance of the life cycle."

Not long afterwards, a shoe dealer tried another line of attack on the same law.

"It hurts our chances of making a living," said the dealer. "It destroys our property rights without due process of law."

But again the court upheld the legislation. The court said the shoe dealer simply had no "property right" to begin with in the wildlife of a foreign country.

These cases illustrate the legal issues that have arisen out of efforts to preserve "endangered species." As a rule, courts have looked with favor upon such efforts.

Nevertheless, if the state may act on behalf of animals, it may also act on behalf of hunters. In another case, lawmakers decided to introduce a special breed of deer into remote sections of the state-for the benefit of sportsmen.

Some residents opposed the plan, partly because of the harm the deer might inflict upon the flora and fauna of the region.

But after a court rejected their objections, they were overruled. The court said the state's police power included the right to make the state more appealing and more profitable as a recreational area.

PTA Plans To Collect Clothing

ANNE EMET Correspondent TEL. 228-3971

The Andover PTA is planning a clothing-garage for April 14 as part of its fund-raising program and is looking for children's and adults' clothing.

Residents are asked to save the clothes which are to be clean, ironed and ready to go. Each item will be tagged with a code and price with the donor receiving 50 per cent of the selling price and the PTA receiving the other 50 per cent.

Book Collectors: Principal Donald H. Libby reports that the mid-year check of library books at the elementary school was a great success with all books having been scanned for cards with proper accession numbers.

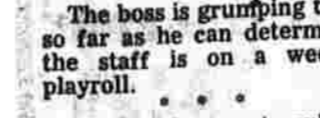

Among the volunteers who assisted with the project were Barbara Foran, Pat Purreault, Joan Cashman, Nancy Hegener, Peggy Yeomans, Rose Bunker, Beatrice Kowalski, Tina Anderson and Carolyn Gaspner who handled all the book repairs.

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night granted a 90-day extension on Sugar Hill II subdivision plans.

The map of plans, originally approved last November, have been held up past the 90-day filing period, according to Atty. A.R. Friedman, representing developer Louis Lipman.

Lipman originally proposed a 33-lot subdivision last April for the extension of his present development which includes Kozley, Eastwood and Lakeview Rds. At the time there was much opposition to the plans from residents of Sugar Hill I, neighboring property owners, and the fire department. Lack of water for

Coventry PZC Under Fire From Residents

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent
Tel. 742-8795

The Planning and Zoning Commission came under fire from several South St. residents at the Town Council meeting Monday night, resulting in the council requesting a copy of minutes of the Jan. 22 PZC meeting, to be referred to Town Attorney John Shea for a check on the legality of PZC procedures.

Residents of the South St. area near the old Coventry Day School protested to the council that they had not been notified, and no legal warning had been published, concerning a meeting of the PZC at which application was sought for use of the buildings for a school.

For the past few years, the old Day School has been a discussion between Bellard and the council went back and forth for some 20 minutes, before Town Councilwoman Rose Fowler intervened with a plea for better understanding between the Town Council and fire department. Noting that the incident at the high school is just the most recent incident in a long history of misunderstanding, Mrs. Fowler asked that "we start anew. We're all working for the good of the town and we can be going off in different directions."

Bellard conceded that a new start might be possible if the council is sincere in its efforts. The council has authorized the hiring of a secretary for Town Planner Frank Connolly. The authorization is good for the extent of Connolly's time to be spent in town—about two months—and amounts to $1,765. Connolly, who normally works for the Windham Regional Planning Agency, is working for the town for a temporary stint, to clear up a number of planning matters. At the end of two months, the situation will be reviewed by the council with the possibility that a permanent planning position be established.

Chief of Police Robert Kjelquist has notified the council that Officer Anthony Casase has been appointed on a part-time basis to serve as community liaison officer. His responsibilities will include assisting the school system upon request in driver education, safety programming, and serving as a liaison to community service clubs for public speaking and/or demonstrations.

Does Advertising - Marketing Create Tastes?

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Whether advertising and marketing create tastes or merely affect those that exist is a moot point that probably never can be resolved in a simple answer.

But there is no question whatever that advertising is sensitive to values and tastes, that advertisers are, in fact, sharper observers of social change, and that in search of success they exploit their findings.

If you can recall some of the ads seen in the past few years, you must likely will be able to discover these underlying assumptions:

1. The emergence of the largest middle class in history.

2. A commitment to the Puritan or Protestant ethic as the means to achieve mobility; conformity, the work ethic, focus on the future and the virtue of self-denial.

Responding to this with "typical" middle-class values, including a commitment to family, or the home, children and clear sex roles.

rather than economic condition alone.

3. A new climate of pessimism about the American dream in general, although not necessarily about one's personal chances for happiness. There is skepticism about business as an institution, for example.

4. As a result, Miss Skelly concludes that admen probably can rely less on their intuitive sense of how America lives and what is important. Some assumptions must be examined "case by case, brand by brand," she said.

Among them:

1. Women want to get a husband and then be super homemakers, wives and mothers.

2. People want to settle down, establish roots.

3. Superior performance ultimately is the most compelling support for a product

Ski Slope Prospector Hunts Coins

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Marshall Hatfield just can't wait to get back on the ski slopes.

But while ski buffs hide their time waiting for the first heavy snow of the season, Hatfield waits until the spring thaw on the mountain slopes.

Hatfield isn't a skier. He is a coin collector.

Hatfield, a native of Wagner, S.D., moved here in 1952 and is a "cushman" at Jackson Hole Junior High.

He recently purchased an electronic instrument that detects metal just below the ground's surface.

The instrument emits a constant low-pitched whine that stops whenever it crosses a bit of metal.

Hatfield, who is married and has five children, then digs into the ground and comes up with a penny, nickel, dime, quarter, or more often — a bottle cap.

Hatfield says he "has pocketed quite a bit of change" while using his device in a local park. But he says the hunting was much better last summer on the ski slopes.

"Obviously, a great many skiers didn't have their money in a snug place when they hit the snow," he said.

What does Hatfield plan to do with the "fortune" he has amassed?

Right now he's saving the money to pay for his coin-collector, which cost $140.

Treasury To Recompute Rev-Sharing Formula

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal Treasury Department will recompute revenue sharing allotments due to Connecticut municipalities using a new formula to determine the adjusted tax rate of local governments, U.S. Rep. Stewart B. McKinney, R-Conn., said Tuesday.

The readjustment will mean increased revenue for most Connecticut municipalities, McKinney said, adding that the Treasury hopes to get the job done before April 1 so quarterly revenue sharing checks due that month will reflect the changes.

McKinney said he has not received a full text of the department's new formula but said it will be published later this week.

He said that some three months ago he and Stamford Mayor Julius Wilensky had asked the Treasury Department's Office of Revenue Sharing to re-examine the old formula under which a community's adjusted tax rate was computed by subtracting federal and state aid from the school budget.

The 4th District Connecticut Republican said at the time this formula was "inequitable" because some communities maintain small school budgets while using funds from other budgets, like the general fund, to meet school expenses.

McKinney said, adding that the Treasury hopes to get the job done before April 1 so quarterly revenue sharing checks due that month will reflect the changes.

McKinney said he has not received a full text of the department's new formula but said it will be published later this week.

Cable Cars Tourist Lure

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Tourists may soon be viewing wildlife in Kenya's Mt. Kenya region from the relative safety of cable cars high overhead.

The cable cars would be the first to go into operation in an independent black African nation.

An Austrian government-sponsored report on the development of tourism in the Mt. Kenya and Aberdare regions in the western part of the country has proposed the use of cable cars to open up the area to tourism.

Tourism, which brings in about 450,000 free-spending American, European and Japanese tourists every year, is Kenya's biggest single source of revenue.

Soviet Communist Party Conducting Member Purge

By ROGER LEDDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Millions of comrades are being investigated to determine their fitness to carry the little red card that labels them among the elite — members of the Soviet Communist Party.

It's the first party purge in 19 years.

Every one of the nation's 14,456,321 card holders is subject to the purge. It will take two years to complete, and no one knows how many will be expelled from the party.

A tame version of Mao Tse-tung's Cultural Revolution, the "card exchange" was devised by party chief Leonid Brezhnev two years ago to "cleanse" the party of "passive and indifferent" comrades.

Special investigative committees have been set up at every level of society — from the small state farm to government ministries — to study members' "everyday behavior, and ideological, political and professional standards."

Behind the ideological rhetoric is a determined Kremlin effort to boost the stagnant economy, revitalize party ranks, crush growing corruption and strengthen the party's influence in Soviet society.

Members have had to turn in their cards for renewal. Only those whose records meet the required standards will get them back with the stamp of approval as the "finest, worthy representatives of the Soviet people."

Party members control virtually every aspect of political, military and economic life in this country.

Numbering only 6 per cent of the population, they wield at least 95 per cent of the power.

Japanese Police Launching Battle Against Gangsters

By MITSUO KIMURA
TOKYO (AP) — How so? Family of Godfather has honorable Japanese branch? Not exactly, but the Japanese national police are concerned enough about organized crime to have launched Operation Crush and Cleaning against mobsters at work in this land of law and order.

Police say "the estimated 124,000 Japanese gangsters run gambling and loan sharking operations, drug trafficking and business shakedowns. They are trying to infiltrate legitimate businesses."

They are well bankrolled for the expansion. Kazuo Hirabayashi, superintendent of the National Police Agency, said authorities confiscated about $9 million in raids on gambling dives alone last year.

Like many other things, crime is different in Japan. Although there are burglaries and an occasional killing or kidnaping, the streets of Tokyo and other major cities are generally safe all night.

But police have become worried about a merger between the Japanese and derworld's top two rival gangs and their moves toward ending to struggle for power between the gangs and their factions.

As long as Yamaguchi-Gumi sticks to its ambition, he said, "there will be bloodshed."

The merged gangs also are seeking wider influence in legitimate taxi fleets, construction firms, tourists hotels and night clubs, authorities said.

Japan's economic boom means money in these fields. The investments also give underworld groups the opportunity to claim they no longer need to deal in illegal activities.

Such action, Hirabayashi said, "helps big bosses claim they now are businessmen who contribute to social progress."

Life Is Difficult For Families Of Irish Internees

By JULIE FLINT
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A heavy armored car crawled between the deserted sidewalks of Monagh Road, turret turning. Children gathered to hurl stones at it, aiming for the slits and the hidden British eyes inside.

Joseph Hyland, a 30-year-old butcher, was arrested by the British military in a midnight swoop 17 months ago and imprisoned indefinitely without trial at Long Kesh internment camp.

Like hundreds of other Roman Catholic families in Northern Ireland, his young wife and four children were left to fend for themselves, mainly with welfare aid from the government that imprisoned their mentor as terrorist suspects.

Mrs. Hyland says that to the best of her knowledge her husband had no interest in politics. On that particular September night, she says, he was returning with a friend from a charity concert.

The family collects $48 a week in state welfare, compensation for Sammy Hyland's "unemployment." At least a third of this goes on food parcels to Long Kesh, where prisoners say meals are inedible.

"We send four to five parcels a week," says Mrs. Hyland. "Chicken, steaks, eggs and bacon and that. Cigarettes too. But not all the parcels get there."

An equal amount, more or less, is spent on feeding the family, leaving about $12 for the weekly rent and usually nothing left over. Other expenses such as clothes or treats are taken from the allowance of the family's dwindling savings.

Four weeks after Sammy was interned, the 8-month-old baby was found convulsed at the family home in Turf Lodge. One of Belfast's toughest Catholic quarters.

It was the first of four fits. Doctors could find nothing physically wrong with the child, Pauline. They said she was simply unhappy, "annoyed" about something.

At the same time, a 4-year-old Katherine developed a nervous disease and spent the next 12 months in and out of hospital.

Of late, Mrs. Hyland says, things in the neighborhood have been quiet. Just two bomb blasts and a bit of shooting last week, and a bullet through the front door.

"It's very frightening for the kids," she says quietly. "I bring them in every night at six o'clock, and if there's shooting I get all the wee ones and go into the back of the house."

Unlike many Catholic wives in the neighborhood, Mrs. Hyland holds no grudge against the British army.

"If any of them get shot I feel sorry for them. I'm not bitter against them. If I had to bitter them I would, no matter who."

She makes no mention of harassment by British troops, a long-standing complaint among Catholics. Only when pressed does she suggest the behavior of some soldiers is less than exemplary.

"They come to the door at night, asking if Sammy's home yet, where so-and-so lives. Then they go round to the back and pull the clothes line down, with all the things in the mud."

"The girls go out and talk to the soldiers." She huggled the

Berdon
Protests Fixed Fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Connecticut State Treasurer Robert I. Berdon took his case against mandatory minimum stock brokers' fees to Congress Tuesday.

Berdon has obtained a seat on the P&M Stock Exchange for Connecticut Nutmeg Securities, Inc., which makes the state to avoid paying brokers' fees on stock transactions made on behalf of its pension funds.

Berdon said the exchange's exchange membership is threatened by a new rule adopted by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Berdon told the Senate Subcommittee on Securities that the SEC has acted more in the interests of "the private cartels on Wall Street" than in the interests of the public.

"To allow the exchanges to enforce minimum commissions while restricting memberships on the exchange is contrary to law, not in the public interest, and punitive to the millions of persons who rely upon the investment performance of governmental trust funds," Berdon said.

Berdon's position is that either the fixed commissions should be abolished, or that Connecticut and other states should be allowed to buy and sell stocks through their own brokerage affiliates.

The SEC, however, has proposed to keep the minimum fees and to deny exchange membership to any broker which does all of its business with one client. This would affect Connecticut Nutmeg Securities, Inc., which acts exclusively for the state.

Before opening its hearing Tuesday, the Securities Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs released a report Monday in which it recommended elimination of the fixed fees on all stock transactions of institutional size.

Tribe, Down 20 Points, Fights Back, Stings Foe

By Dean Yost
Kurt Carlson and Tom Tucker combined to net 25 of 29 foul tries as Manchester High overcame a 20 point deficit to defeat a spirited Penney High team last night in East Hartford, 75-74.

Kurt Carlson Tom Tucker

With little notice, Manchester cut the margin down to 51-41 on McCurry's two foul shots with 3:36 left. Penney rallied briefly and entered the hectic final eight minutes leading, 59-46.

Two field goals and a successful one-and-one foul conversion, saw Manchester pull to 59-52.

Manchester combined a three-point play with a hoop and trailed 59-57. Carlson was fouled by Penney's Larry Ahl, his fifth. He left the floor but argued with the ref who immediately slapped on a technical foul. Carlson called both fouls, and successfully converted the technical shot and Haberson tapped in a shot.

Then with 4:17 left, Carlson's hook shot ripped the cords and Manchester had eaten up the 20-point deficit.

Defense Features In East Hoop Win

By Dick Ledbetter
Employing its best defense of the year, East Catholic raced to a 60-38 victory over St. Paul's last night. The win gives East a 14-5 state and a 6-3 mark in the HCC.

"This was the best team defense of the season," Coach Stan Ogronik stressed after the contest. "The 38 points is the fewest scored against the Eagle defense this year."

This was a good team effort. One Penney backcourt hero was Larry Ahl, his fifth. He left the floor but argued with the ref who immediately slapped on a technical foul.

Carlson ended a brilliant performance. He was 14 of 15 from the line including 13 consecutive bullseyes. Tucker, also a senior, netted 23 markers and was 11 of 14 from the stripe.

Ranchers Fight To Protect Herds

Sheriff L.L. William Johansen inspects one of the ranches in the Point Reyes, Calif., area where Marin County authorities are fighting the classic scourge of the old West — cattle rustling. Rustlers have reportedly stolen up to 60 head of beef and dairy cattle in the last six months of 1972 and nine thefts have been reported so far this year. (AP photo)

Higher Beef Prices Increase Activities Of Cattle Rustlers

POINT REYES, Calif. (AP) — Fedded by high beef prices, cattle rustling — that classic scourge of the Old West — is experiencing a modern day resurgence, authorities say. Here in rural Marin County north of San Francisco, where Joaquin Murietta and "Three-fingered Jack" plundered Spanish ranches some 150 years ago, rustlers reportedly stole up to 60 head and dairy cattle in the last six months of 1972. Nine thefts have been reported so far this year. "Some of the thefts are apparently part of a commercial operation and others are just to put meat on the table," said Sheriff L.L. William Johansen. "In either case meat prices seem to be the basic root of it," Johansen said. Rancher Boyd Steward put up a $1,000 reward after rustlers slaughtered two 1,600-pound Black Angus in his pasture. "They butchered them right there and took them away in halves," Steward said. "When you're dealing in beef that size you must have some kind of commercial outlet," observed Johansen. Besides ending up in the rustler's own freezer, some stolen cattle apparently go to wholesale dealers who in turn sell to bulk meat retailers for marketing to the public. Johansen said. Others may be sold from roadside truck stands or turn up on the auction block in neighboring counties, he said. "You couldn't get within a hundred yards of the cattle back on the hills," said Steward, adding that cattle more used to human contact "are so gentle you could walk right up to them and hit them with a hammer." Another problem, said Johansen, is the rustlers are "getting more proficient all the time. It's just like burglary, only the evidence disappears a lot quicker." Johansen believes a uniform branding system might help curtail rustling. "We had three suspects caught with a stolen, butchered animal," he said. "But we couldn't prove anything, because we couldn't identify it." "Anyone bringing a butchered cow into a locker plant ought to be required to produce the hide on demand," declared Louis Bloom, owner of 100 head of prime cattle. "A law like that might put a stop to the slaughter and caw on the highway as just leaving the hide behind."

African Bloc Attains Awesome Power In U.N.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS, Associated Press Writer UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In 10 years the Africans have attained awesome power in the United Nations. Their regional group, the biggest and strongest one here, rams through resolutions on African questions almost unopposed. Under their influence, the United Nations has proliferated machinery to push their interests. And it devotes far more time, attention and documentation to those interests than to such basic issues as disarmament. Some Western countries are disenchanted with this trend. The United States and Britain quit a U.N. committee on colonialism two years ago because they felt the Africans were too much for them. The Russians, Secretary of State William P. Rogers complained in the General Assembly last year of bloc voting, an African characteristic. Now the Africans are happily getting ready for a landmark holiday. The Organization of African Unity, home-front counterpart of the U.N. African Group, will celebrate its 10th birthday May 25 in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, where it was formed and has headquarters. U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim will be there. His predecessor, U.Thant, attended the OAU summit meeting every year. The OAU has two main aims: to fight in the United Nations against the remnants of European rule over Africa, and to keep strictly African problems out of the United Nations, in favor of domestic or regional handling. It has tended off U.N. consideration of the 1963 Moroccan-Algeria and 1964 Somali-Ethiopian-Kenyan border wars; the 1965 tension between Rwanda and Burundi; the 1968-71 Nigerian-Biafran civil war; last summer's fighting in Burundi, and last fall's expulsion of Asians from Uganda. The African Group here has campaigned to win independence for Portugal's African territories, install African majority rule in Rhodesia, end race segregation in South Africa and get that white-ruled country out of the old mandated territory of South-West Africa. The group began growing in 1956 as colonies, protectorates and trust territories became new countries. By late 1960 Africans outnumbered Asians here 25-22. The Africans were a major force in the assembly's 1960 declaration of colonialism, its 1963 action to enlarge the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council, and its 1966 vote to terminate South Africa's mandate over South-West Africa, which is called Namibia in U.N. discussions. The OAU, with a much closer link with the United Nations than the Organization of American States possesses, keeps an executive secretary in New York as U.N. observer. Resolutions of its annual summit conferences are circulated officially to U.N. members. The Africans sometimes break ranks, especially when confronted with a new question on which they have not had time to nail down a uniform position. They divided last fall over Waldheim's proposal for an assembly debate on terrorism, even though there was a group decision to oppose it, and that helped him win. But when united, as they often are on their own questions, they are hard to beat.

Recycled Playground Uses Cast-Off Treasure

By LARRY REIBSTEIN, Associated Press Writer HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — It looks more like an abandoned construction company lot than a playground. But don't argue with the kids who use it — to them it is a playground. And don't argue with community officials — to them, it's a playground. The branch of Paul Hogan, a suburban Philadelphia contractor, the "recycled playground" relies on the theme that "one man's junk is another man's child's treasure." Hogan, under a contract with the state, utilizes such "junk" as empty cable spools, logs, concrete pipes, inner tubes, wheel barrows, pulleys and rope. He piles them, inserts them, twists them, carves them, or swings them to come up with playground devices that conspicuously lack the gleaming steel so noticeable in normal playgrounds. Hogan has set up about 25 of these playgrounds across the state, several near temporary mobile home parks in flood-battered Willa Burre. But aside from obtaining the cast-off material, Hogan tries to stay away from actual construction. That's for the children, which is apparently the key to the playground's popularity, as witnessed recently in a demonstration for Gov. Milton Shapp. Asked why he liked the playground, 11-year-old Michael Sanders of Phoenixville, said: "You can build it yourself. You can take it apart and then build it again. It's better to do it yourself."

Mayor Supports Regional Agency Merger Proposal

BY SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) Mayor John Thompson said today he supports the proposed merger of the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CROCG) and the Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA) and that he believes it would be in the best interests of Manchester. The merger proposal, already recommended by a committee from both agencies, would unite the two organizations responsible for regional planning in the 29-town Greater Hartford area. Dr. Frederick Lowe, president of Manchester Community College and one of Manchester's three representatives to the CRPA, was a member of the joint committee which recommended the merger. "Manchester has participated in both regional agencies since their inception," Thompson said. "We have benefited greatly by our participation in the regional purchasing program and the regional crime squad, and we have received valuable help and guidance in planning. "In many other ways, Manchester has been able to pool its resources cooperatively with other towns and, by so doing, we have strengthened our ability to retain home rule. A merger of the council and the planning agency will improve our efficiency to meet areawide challenges that individual towns could not otherwise meet." The Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA) was formed in 1957. Its membership consists of all 29 towns in the Capitol Region. The Capitol Region

Paris Discussions Set To Resolve Several Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and China announced today they will establish official government liaison offices in Washington and Peking to speed up normalization of relations between the two countries. The development announced in a joint communique issued in Washington and Peking. Presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger said the offices will serve as the principal contact points on the expansion of trade "as well as all other matters except the strictly formal diplomatic aspects" of ties between the countries. Kissinger said the liaison offices will have full diplomatic privileges but will in no way imply establishment of formal diplomatic relations. Kissinger, who returned Tuesday from four days of extensive talks in Peking with Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai also disclosed that — Two American airmen held prisoner by China since being shot down over Chinese territory, will be released in the next few weeks. They are Air Force Maj. Philip E. Smith, a prisoner since Sept. 20, 1965, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Robert J. Flynn, held since Aug. 21, 1967. The life sentence of John Thomas Downey, a Central Intelligence Agency employe held since the Korean War, will be reviewed in the last half of the year. Kissinger said he had been told Downey's sentence could be shortened for good behavior and that he was informed Downey's conduct as a prisoner had been exemplary. — The United States has no immediate plans to withdraw its remaining military forces from the Chinese Nationalist island of Taiwan but the subject will be reviewed periodically, with decisions based principally on Washington's assessment of the danger of war in the area. — Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai will begin discussions in Paris next week on settlement of private American claims against China, totalling some $250 million, and some $75 million of blocked Chinese assets in the United States. The aim will be to resolve the issues quickly through negotiations. — The agreement to establish liaison offices in each other's capitals apparently was the most significant development to come out of Kissinger's Peking talks. He said the two governments felt the existing formal channel for contact through their embassies, "was inadequate." While the heads of the two offices will not hold formal diplomatic titles, Kissinger said they will enjoy full diplomatic privileges, including the right to communicate with their home governments by code. — The communique said Kissinger and the Chinese "agreed that the time was appropriate for accelerating the normalization of relations." "To this end, they undertook to broaden their contacts in all fields. They agreed on a concrete program of expanding trade as well as scientific, cultural and other exchanges. "To facilitate this process, and to improve communications, it was agreed that in the near future each side will establish a liaison office in the capital of the other. Details will be worked out through existing channels. Kissinger reported that, as part of the exchange effort, China will send to the United States next year its priceless exhibit of archeological artifacts housed in Peking's Forbidden City. In addition, three scientific groups and a gymnastics team will visit the United States this year. — The United States, he said, will send the Philadelphia Symphony, groups of doctors, scientists and elementary school teachers. Congress members and athletic teams to China in 1973.

Oxnard Center Of Earthquake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Residents of the coastal city of Oxnard, hardest hit by a rolling, rumbling earthquake, face the prospect today of repairing property damage without state aid. The earthquake struck Southern California Wednesday, shattering windows, cracking plaster, toppling dishes and bottles from shelves and causing other property damage. Five persons were reported injured; two had broken legs. Skyscrapers swayed in Los Angeles, but no damage was reported. In the Oxnard-Camarillo area of southern Ventura County, 13 Southern California Edison power circuits were disrupted, cutting off electricity to at least 7,000 customers. Telephone service also was interrupted. A rock slide blocked all lanes of the Pacific Coast Highway for more than an hour and a half. "It was a rumbling quake," said Bob Holt of Ventura, near

Nixon Pledges Tax Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon disclosed today that he will recommend a tax reform bill to Congress as well as recommendations to alleviate the property tax burden on older Americans. In his State of the Union message to Congress on the economy, Nixon dispelled doubts that he would present tax reform legislation of his own, saying only that it would build on further reforms of 1969 and 1971. It was the only reference to tax reform legislation in his message, and the administration gave no details. The House Ways and Means Committee is holding hearings on reform legislation to close so-called loopholes in the income tax code. The President also said he will submit bills to improve the nation's unemployment compensation and minimum wage laws, the private pension system, and "the manner in which we deal with our transportation systems." On property tax relief, Nixon said he would refer the subject to the committee, saying the covered statement, saying the

Israeli Attack On Airliner Denounced

By The Associated Press Israel was widely denounced today for shooting down a Libyan airliner in which more than 100 persons died. President Nixon sent condolences to Libya and Egypt, a pointed rebuke to the Israelis. But a Lebanese newspaper charged him with hypocrisy, likening him to "a murderer who attends the funeral of his victims." Israel said its fighters fired on the Boeing 727 Wednesday because the airliner's French pilot refused to heed orders to land after flying over Israeli military installations along the Suez Canal. The death toll today apparently stood at 106. The Libyan airline said there were 112 persons aboard the plane, including nine crew members, and Israel said nine survivors were pulled from the wreckage. At two of the survivors — both women — died during the night. The Israeli military command said 90 bodies had been recovered. The search for the rest was hampered by a sandstorm during the night. The Libyan airline said five of the crew were French, two of the passengers were German

Nixon Pledges Tax Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon disclosed today that he will recommend a tax reform bill to Congress as well as recommendations to alleviate the property tax burden on older Americans. In his State of the Union message to Congress on the economy, Nixon dispelled doubts that he would present tax reform legislation of his own, saying only that it would build on further reforms of 1969 and 1971. It was the only reference to tax reform legislation in his message, and the administration gave no details. The House Ways and Means Committee is holding hearings on reform legislation to close so-called loopholes in the income tax code. The President also said he will submit bills to improve the nation's unemployment compensation and minimum wage laws, the private pension system, and "the manner in which we deal with our transportation systems." On property tax relief, Nixon said he would refer the subject to the committee, saying the

Israeli Attack On Airliner Denounced

By The Associated Press Israel was widely denounced today for shooting down a Libyan airliner in which more than 100 persons died. President Nixon sent condolences to Libya and Egypt, a pointed rebuke to the Israelis. But a Lebanese newspaper charged him with hypocrisy, likening him to "a murderer who attends the funeral of his victims." Israel said its fighters fired on the Boeing 727 Wednesday because the airliner's French pilot refused to heed orders to land after flying over Israeli military installations along the Suez Canal. The death toll today apparently stood at 106. The Libyan airline said there were 112 persons aboard the plane, including nine crew members, and Israel said nine survivors were pulled from the wreckage. At two of the survivors — both women — died during the night. The Israeli military command said 90 bodies had been recovered. The search for the rest was hampered by a sandstorm during the night. The Libyan airline said five of the crew were French, two of the passengers were German

Kissinger Hints Downey Release Later This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The life sentence of John Thomas Downey of New Britain, a Central Intelligence Agency employe, will be reviewed by the President in the second half of this year, presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger said today. Kissinger, who returned Tuesday from China, said he had been told that Downey's sentence could be shortened for good behavior and that he was informed Downey's conduct as a prisoner had been exemplary. Downey, who has been held in China since 1962, was identified last month by President Nixon as a CIA agent. He was the first official acknowledgment of the New Britain native's association with the agency. Downey and Richard Fecteau, of Lynn, Mass., were passengers on a military flight from Seoul, Korea, to Japan, when the plane was shot down by the Chinese on Oct. 30, 1962. Both were listed as civilian employes of the U.S. Army, but
