Mrs. Harry H. Cowles Sr., 87, of 24 Charter Oak St., died Wednesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was the wife of Harry H. Cowles Sr. Mrs. Cowles was born in Lynn, Mass., and had lived in Manchester for 40 years. She was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church and Temple Chapter, O.E.S.

She was a graduate of the Long Island N. Y. Hospital School of Nursing and was a private duty registered nurse before her retirement due to illness.

Survivors, besides her husband, are a son, Harry H. Cowles Jr. of Manchester, a daughter, Mrs. Donald Clarke of South Windsor; two brothers, Edmund J. Cowles of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Peter R. Hargan of Ogden, Utah; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The Rev. George Nostrand, rector, will officiate. Burial will be in West Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 227 E. Center St.

Police Report

Robert H. Perry Sr., 58, of 23 S. Alton St., died Wednesday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Perry Lavelle Perry.

Mr. Perry was born Dec. 17, 1914 in Casco, Maine, and had been employed at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford, for 20 years. He was a 30-year member of Crooked River Lodge of Masons in Casco.

Survivors, besides his wife, are two sons, Bryan D. Perry of Manchester and Robert H. Perry Jr. of San Francisco, Calif.

The Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

Group Begins Drive To Make State Aware Of MIAs

STRATFORD (AP)—A statewide organization of families of POW and MIA servicemen launched a low-key campaign today to bring attention to Americans who are still missing in action.

"It's amazing how many people think all the prisoners of war are coming home," said Dennis Banks, a leader of the campaign. "There is no way HB 8492 will ever be passed."

The Indians say that neither the cold weather nor the food rationing they initiated Wednesday would force them out.

"I'd say we could last three days on the food we have," said Dennis Banks, a leader of the campaign. "There is no way HB 8492 will ever be passed."

The Indians say that neither the cold weather nor the food rationing they initiated Wednesday would force them out.

Blizzard Prevents Negotiations

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D.—Negotiations stalled by a severe blizzard were to resume today between the federal government and an occupation force of Indians reportedly running low on supplies.

The Indians say that neither the cold weather nor the food rationing they initiated Wednesday would force them out.

"I'd say we could last three days on the food we have," said Dennis Banks, a leader of the campaign. "There is no way HB 8492 will ever be passed."

Mrs. Butterfield Says Mrs. Miller Wrong About Bill

Mrs. Virginia Butterfield, Democratic nominee for first Selectman, Bolton, today took exception to a statement made by Republican State Representative Dorothy Miller concerning a bill which would establish an urban development corporation.

Mrs. Miller, in a statement made Monday, said of the legislation, HB 8492, "There is no way HB 8492 will ever be passed."

Mrs. Butterfield said, "There are many members who have been twice and only by Democratic political endeavors it is again being brought before the legislature."

ABA To Study Shield Laws

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Bar Association has appointed a panel to study newsmen's shield laws and to consider ABA policy on the issue.

Robert W. Meserve, ABA president, said today that the panel will hold its first session next month.

Cease-Fire Violations Charged

SAIGON (AP)—The Communist countercharge today that the United States is shipping war material into South Vietnam without its undergoing the inspection required by the cease-fire agreement.

The Viet Cong asked for an explanation, and the U.S. delegation said it was preparing a reply.

LI Gen. Tran Van Tra, chief of the Viet Cong delegation to the Joint Military Commission, made the accusation in a letter to the senior U.S. representative, Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodburn.

The U.S. Command said in a statement later: "Ever since Jan. 28, the start of the cease-fire, we have been bringing supplies both by air and sea on a one-for-one replacement basis in accordance with the terms of the agreement. The U.S. Command's logistics section has been checking the expenditure with what is coming in to make sure it is a one-for-one basis. Everything that is brought in is equated with expenditures and losses."

The Viet Cong asked for an explanation, and the U.S. delegation said it was preparing a reply.

Bombs Found

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Two live bombs were found in Sydney today, one of them along the route Britain's Prince Philip was to take into the city from the airport. Experts defused the bombs, and the police altered his route.

The second bomb was found in a locker in the central railway station. A third bomb was reported planted in a government office building opposite a club the husband of Queen Elizabeth II was opening tonight, but this proved to be a false alarm.

Battles Continue

MANILA (AP)—The Philippine government confirmed today the presence of a "handful" of foreign troops among heavily armed Muslims and Moslem rebels battling government forces for the past two weeks on Mindanao.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad refused to give the nationalities of the foreigners, "because the military is still investigating the matter."

Iran In Full Control

ISFAHAN, Iran (AP)—The Shah of Iran announced today that he had regained full control of Isfahan, a city of 1 million people, after it had been "surrendered totally" and handed over "full control" of operations to Iranian forces.

Addressing a huge crowd of steel mill workers at the dedication of a new mill built with Soviet help, the ruler denied some Western press reports that the oil consortium had retained partial control of operations.

"They have handed over to us total and full control," he declared.

Killed By Bomb

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—The wealthy Roman Catholic owner of more than 20 betting parlors in Northern Ireland was killed Thursday by a bomb that exploded as he answered the doorbell of his suburban Belfast home.

Bruce Tapped For Peking Assignment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will send an advance team to Peking within two to three weeks to prepare for the May 1 opening of a liaison office headed by senior diplomat David K. E. Bruce.

The five-man team, headed by Chinese-speaking expert William Jenkins and building specialists who will prepare the quarters of the first American diplomatic outpost on the Chinese mainland.

President Nixon announced the latest appointment for Bruce, a former ambassador to Britain, Germany, France and the Vietnam peace talks in Paris, at a news conference Thursday.

Scali Lashes Back At Cuban Oratory

PANAMA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador John Scali took a relaxed attitude Thursday night toward criticism of the United States by his Panamanian host at a Cuban attack during the special U.N. Security Council meeting being held in Panama.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa of Cuba told the United States that the United States is shipping war material into South Vietnam without its undergoing the inspection required by the cease-fire agreement.

The Viet Cong asked for an explanation, and the U.S. delegation said it was preparing a reply.

Key Points Of Nixon Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are key points made by President Nixon at his news conference Thursday:

FOOD PRICES: He ruled out price control on food and said he would support a one-for-one replacement basis in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

EXECUTIVE PRIVILEGE: He challenged the Senate to Supreme Court test over his refusal to allow his legal counsel, John W. Dean III, to testify at hearings on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

STOCKPILES: The administration will sell metals and other materials from its stockpiles in a move to push down prices.

Rec Program Budget Explained

ALEX GIRELLI (City Editor)

An added full-time employee for Recreation Department supervision is provided for at a proposed salary of $19,350 compared to a budget of $15,057 this year.

Besides the addition of a full-time supervisor, the request calls for pay increases to part-time rec workers under a reorganized program which places them in eight categories instead of the present 29.

Siebold reported that his budget request to General

Executive Privilege Test Unlikely

WASHINGTON—Senate Judiciary Committee members are showing no disposition to test President Nixon to court for refusing to let his official lawyer testify on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director.

The committee has other action it can take," said Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., a member of the panel.

He said, for example, that the committee could simply tell Nixon it would not act on Gray's nomination unless White House Counsel John W. Dean III appears for questioning.

Nixon said Thursday he does not believe the committee would hold Gray "hostage," but the members appear closely divided. The issue may come to a vote next week.

Equal Rights Amendment Gets State Senate Approval

HARTFORD (AP)—A sharp Connecticut battle over the Equal Rights Amendment, which would grant women the same rights as men, ended Thursday with the state Senate voting 10-9 to approve the amendment.

The Senate vote, which followed a House vote of 99-7, put Connecticut on record as a supporter of the amendment barring discrimination by government bodies on account of sex. The move cancelled out Nebraska's decision Thursday to withdraw its endorsement of the measure and left at 28 the total number of states now approving the amendment.

Thirty-eight states must approve the amendment before it can become part of the U.S. Constitution.

The action in the Connecticut legislature reversed the amendment's defeat in 1971.

Manchester Vote

When the State Senate ratified the federal Equal Rights Amendment by a 27 to 9 vote yesterday the score was 1 for ratification to 2 against among Manchester-area legislators.

Voting for ratification was Sen. Harry S. Burke, D. of East Hartford. Voting against were State Sen. David O. Odagard, R. of Manchester, and Thomas G. Carruthers, R. of Vernon.

Burke's 3rd District consists of all of East Hartford plus about 60 per cent of Manchester.

Odagard's 4th District consists of about 40 per cent of Manchester plus the entire towns of Andover, Bolton, Pomfret, Somers, Stafford, Union, Willington and Woodstock; plus a portion of Mansfield.

Home Care Test Planned

HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Meskill today announced a two-year test program by the state Welfare Department to provide in-home services to elderly persons.

The program would be permitted to take food, fuel and medical supplies to the homes of the elderly, and would also provide in-home nursing and other services.

Mr. Meskill said the program would be tested in a number of areas of the state.

Mrs. Downey In A Coma

NEW BRITAIN (AP)—The chances for the mother of a reportedly 2-year-old child to survive after suffering a stroke last week became "grave" today, her doctor at New Britain General Hospital said.

Mrs. Downey, 50, was admitted to the hospital with multiple contusions and lacerations on her head and neck. She was in a coma and unable to breathe on her own.

Dr. Robert J. Lopez, the 75-year-old woman's personal physician, said:

"It was Mrs. Downey's critical condition which prompted President Nixon to intercede with the Chinese to release her from prison after 20 years."

Downey arrived at the hospital on Tuesday night. He was admitted for tests and remained there today.

New Britain Man Dies In Collision

EGREMONT, Mass. (AP)—Police say Thomas Stanton, 30, of New Britain, Conn., died Wednesday when his car and a cement truck collided on State Rt. 22 in Egremont.

He was pronounced dead at the scene. Stanton leaves his wife, Frieda, and a son, Robert, of South Windsor, Conn.

Vernon Action Tabled On Ramada Inn

A request made by Valentino Fazio, Manchester rector, to construct a Ramada Inn on property he owns on Rt. 30 in Vernon, has been tabled by the Vernon Planning Commission pending recommendations forthcoming from the Mayor's Zoning Study Task Force.

The inn would include a restaurant which has been tentatively under the town's zoning regulations pertaining to C-20 zones. The area in question is across the highway from the Howard Johnson motel and restaurant.

The Planning and Zoning Commissions have been asked to defer action on any zoning changes for six months to permit time for a detailed study by the recently appointed task force. Complaints about the building of a hotel are popping up along Rt. 83 and Rt. 30 led to the mayor's appointing of the force.

Planning Commission members did not indicate they would object to the construction of the inn nor did representatives of two nearby churches who attended the meeting of the commission.

A representative of St. John's Episcopal Church told the commission that the church vestry had gone on record in support of the proposal stating "it was believed this would be far better than any other commercial use possible in that zone."

A representative of the Sacred Heart Church said the motel would be a welcome addition if traffic could be adequately controlled.

In other action, the commission approved a recommendation for an amendment to the zoning regulations which will require detailed information on the adequacy of public water supply to be submitted by applicants for both personal use and fire safety purposes.

It also approved a request for a 15-acre addition to St. Bernard Cemetery off Rt. 30; construction of a small utility building off Spruce St. near Rockville Water and Aqueduct Co.; the subdivision of property into three lots for Conyers Construction Co.

The commission denied the request of Bolton Advertising Co. to construct a billboard on Rt. 30 citing as a reason that such a billboard might create a traffic hazard and visual pollution.

Tri-Town Players Offer Comedy.
 Mr. Wellman, on couch (played by Bill Rollins) pours out his problems to his psychiatrist, Dr. Dewey Maughan (played by Dan Levin) in this scene from "The Girl in the Freudian Slip." The Tri-Town Players will present this adult comedy tonight and tomorrow at the Vernon Center Middle School on Rt. 30 in Vernon. The play probes the complications that arise when Dewey's private thoughts become public as a result of a play he has written, which falls into the hands of a former patient—the woman about whom he wrote the play. Curtain time is 8:30. Tickets are available at the door. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Chorus Defends Title
 The Silk City Chorus will defend its state champion title Saturday evening in Hyde Park, N.Y., in a singing competition with 13 other barbershop harmony groups from Connecticut. Each chorus will offer two songs before a panel of judges from the New York and Connecticut District of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc. Chorus that qualify in both the New York and Connecticut events Saturday will be eligible to compete in October for the title of district champion at contest sessions in Lake Placid, N.Y.

The Old Codger's Cogitations
 We like the Herald's "Then and Now" column. It awakens memories. Recently there was a picture of the old West Side Boarding House. It stood on the west side of Cooper St. north of Bank St. and faced the "Four Acres Lot." Why four acres? We wonder. It was always known as the Cooper St. north of Bank St. and faced the "Four Acres Lot." "Four Acres" even before the Lutz Museum, West Side Rec. and Washington School were there. There and Ten Acres would have been more correct. Face it off as bounded by Cooper, Pleasant, Cedar, and Cooper Hill Sts. and remember that an acre is about 208 feet square. Who knows why the name "Four Acres?" We think the boarding house was run only for silk mill employees and was managed by a Mr. and Mrs. Judd. The silk mills required more girl employees than there were willing in Manchester. Even the morning and evening trains to the mills from North Manchester and return on the South Manchester Railroad didn't bring in enough. It seems that that kind of employment didn't appeal to enough of the local girls. So Cheney Bros. sent a recruiter up to Canada. He brought back a bevy of French-Canadian girls who were housed at the West Side Boarding House, which was cleared of all others for their exclusive use. The local girls didn't like the competition, but the fellows thought it was just fine. And thereby hangs a tale. Three-11 in a Presidential nominee Henry Clay was called the "Great Pacificator" because of his efforts to prevent the dissolution of the Union over slavery. He criticized northern abolitionism as divisive and when a Senator advised that this position would ruin his chances for president, Clay retorted: "I had rather be right than be president." The World Almanac recalls.

Wrong A.I.M. at Wounded Knee

Militants in the name of the American Indian Movement (A.I.M.) have been diluted by outsiders, emboldened by Indian protesters' sacking of the Bureau of Indian Affairs building in Washington, who in a way paid for their vandalism. They were given more than $60,000 for transportation home and none has been effectively punished.

Wounded Knee is the site of what the Indians now call a massacre of between 200 and 300 Indians in 1890 by the U.S. Cavalry. For a long time, it was considered a battle which began when the Sioux warriors opened fire on the soldiers.

There is no way, now, to redress that grievance, no matter what the Indians at Wounded Knee may wish or believe, nor what they may be told by Joseph Rauh, of the American Civil Liberties Union; William Kunstler, the revolutionist lawyer who is always ready to defend violence; and Ralph Abernathy, self-styled head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who is always on the side of protest.

Authorities have been extremely cautious and forbearing in dealing with the Indian hoodlums at Wounded Knee who are reveling in baiting the United States government. If their aim is to arouse sympathy for the Indians of today, they are doing more harm than good for that cause.

There has been violence — an FBI agent was shot in the wrist — and threats of more violence. But the strangest play of all came when the Oglala Sioux proclaimed they were an independent nation asking recognition from the UN and threatened to shoot any "invaders."

Surely the nation has been patient to the point of becoming ridiculous.

Way To Run A Railroad

The railway industry and 15 unions have reached agreement on a wage raise of four per cent, effective Jan. 1, 1974, a settlement remarkable on two counts. First, it is the first time in history that the industry and its workers settled on new contract terms ahead of expiration of the old, July 1. Second, it appears to come within the limits of Phase III wage guidelines.

There were fringe benefits, however, that would make the total gain for the workers 10.7 per cent over the 18 months beginning July 1. The primary benefit was a revised pension system under which the industry will pick up retirement payments heretofore paid by the individual union members of $42.75 a month. In addition, early retirement would be provided and maximum lifetime major medical benefits would be increased from $50,000 to $250,000 for each worker.

Whether this settlement will serve as a pattern for other industries remains to be seen. Some union leaders, including George Meany of the AFL-CIO, and Leonard Woodcock of the Automobile Workers, 5.5 per cent specified in the wage guidelines but they should find acceptable a settlement comparable to the overall 10.7 per cent won by the rail unions. Transportation is a key item in the cost of nearly everything the consumer uses or eats and two years of peace in this troubled and troublesome area is worth some straining of the guidelines.

It comes at a time when Britain's and Japan's national railways are suffering from rail strikes and slowdowns.

Britain has put a ceiling on wages to take effect April 1 following a five month's freeze under Phase I of the anti-inflation program. There were two rail stoppages last month in protest and the present strike by locomotive engineers is accompanied by slowdowns in the state-owned gas industry.

A major reason for the U.S. rail agreement was reportedly the shaky condition of the Railroad Retirement Fund. The agreement is subject to ratification by officials of 14 unions and by the membership of the sheet metal workers. Ratification should be prompt.

Today's Thought

This is God's world... We see His signature on all creations... His name of power crowns the mountain peaks... and swirls across the sea... is etched on every perfect snowflake... and is silhouetted by the triumph of each sunrise... And in the faces of His silent creatures who live in the forests... He has written His name of love... — Dean Walley

Today in History

Today is Friday, March 16, the 75th day of 1973. There are 290 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1521, the Portuguese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, reached the Philippines.
On this date — In 1676, Indians destroyed the Rhode Island settlements of Warwick and Providence.
In 1781, the fourth American president, James Madison, was born in Port Conway, Va.
In 1863, Congress authorized the establishment of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y.
In 1890, it was a slow day on Wall Street, with only 31 shares of stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

In 1945, Japanese resistance on Iwo Jima came to an end after one of the bloodiest battles of the Pacific war.
In 1960, Congress voted to remove federal taxes on oleomargarine despite protests by dairy farmers.
Ten years ago: In a ceremony at the Vatican, the late nun, Mother Seton, became the first American native to be canonized by the Roman Catholic Church.
Five years ago: Sen. Robert F. Kennedy said he would seek the Democratic presidential nomination to try to change what he called disastrous and divisive American policies in Vietnam and at home.

Reject Downtown Contribution

Before the Board of Directors hands out $10,000 of public funds to the Main Street Merchants Guild it might be wise to consider several very important factors.

1. The downtown property owners and their business tenants should know better than any outside consulting firm what ails the Main Street business area.

2. It is not the responsibility of the taxpayers to provide one dollar for any study whatsoever. This is strictly a private business matter.

3. Many of the buildings have belonged to town residents, in some cases for more than 30 years, during which time little has been done toward their modernization. The properties have been milked dry and now in the state of decadence must be dolled up if their tenants are to attract customers.

6. If $10,000 of tax money is awarded to the special interests group for downtown renewal it will set a very bad precedent. Requests will come from business complexes elsewhere in Manchester for similar favors. Once the faucet is opened just draws off and is repaid in the negative way.
7. It is time for the Main Street merchants to face the cold hard economic facts of life. How can the severe impact of the many large shopping centers within four miles of their stores be overlooked? Every new complex that is erected just draws off that much more of the life blood of Main Street.
8. There has been no concerted effort of the merchants and police to rid the street of the unsavory groups who block the sidewalks and store entrances. Potential customers who encounter conditions akin to Provincetown make it a point to avoid Main Street, especially on Thursday evenings.
9. It is noteworthy that the consultant firm chosen to plan downtown renewal is Brown, Donald, & Donald, a concern actively engaged in work for Hartford Process. We do not want to be Hartford processed in any way, shape, or manner.
10. The granting of $10,000 to the Main Street Merchants Guild will surely arouse town resentment and will serve only to drive more shoppers away from their places of business.
With all the money interests along the main stem there should be no difficulty in gathering the $20,000 needed for their study. The Board of Directors would show sincere and genuine concern for the majority of the townspeople by rejecting any downtown planning contribution of town tax funds.

Bamberg Symphony At Bushnell

By JOHN GRUBER
The Bamberg Symphony Orchestra played to just about a capacity audience last night at the Bushnell under the baton of the conductor, Eugen Jochum, who featured his daughter, Veronica Jochum, as piano soloist in Beethoven's First Piano Concerto. This is a relatively young German orchestra but it plays so well it can be compared to any of the orchestras established for a century or more.

It had its genesis when a number of Czech musicians scurried into West Germany ahead of the occupying Russian troops at the end of the war, and found Bamberg without an orchestra so they decided to settle there. Since that was a quarter of a century ago I don't suppose many of the original personnel are still in the group which took root and flourished in this ancient German town of no particular significance.

In addition to the Beethoven piano concerto, we got Brahms' First Symphony, so it was kind of a meat and potatoes program, solid stuff, without much imagination. The program opened, however, with a number by Werner Egt, a modern Bavarian composer, who may be remembered for his opera "Peer Gynt" produced here several seasons ago.

This was listed on the program as "French Suite After Rameau." It was a long way after, in my opinion. So far as I could discern there may have been some of the same motives in the work, but it was almost completely Werner Egt.

Mr. Egt rather tempests in his composing. His music is not really avant garde nor does it reflect the grace and charm of the baroque era in which Rameau lived. It was definitely a change from Beethoven and Brahms, but it was a carefully crafted piece of musicianship rather than a significant composition.

Veronica Jochum played very well indeed. We have already had this particular concerto in Hartford this season, and it is a pleasure to report that she endowed her performance with great artistry than could be expected on that occasion. This is not a particularly difficult work from the standpoint of technique so just plain artistry has to be the criterion by which a performance of it is judged.

In this department Miss Jochum excelled, particularly in the slow movement which is the downfall of many performers. She has played the work with her father on several previous occasions and the result was a very well integrated performance that was a joy to hear.

Mr. Jochum is a no-nonsense type of conductor who achieves excellent results with an absolute minimum of histrionics. At times his baton is almost as small as that of the late Fritz Reiner. This probably doesn't

Bill Would Protect Pensions

HARTFORD (AP) — The state would regulate private pension plans in Connecticut under a bill being drafted by the legislature. Majority Leader Gerald F. Stevens, R-Milford said Thursday.

The bill "gives iron-clad protection to the pensioner in the private sector," said Stevens in a statement.

"This act makes certain that no retired private sector employee receiving benefits can have those benefits reduced or discontinued by amendment to the retirement plan after the beneficiary has been retired," Stevens said.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill called for such legislation in his State of the State address Jan. 2.

Stevens said the bill would create a pension division within the State Insurance Department to oversee retirement and disability pension plans. Pension plans with more than 10 members would have to register with the state and describe the plan in laymen's language to every participant.

The bill also would give the pension division power to examine the plan, recover assets and bring civil action against pension funds that violate the act.

Stevens said private pensions as large as $10 million are not protected adequately. The bill also authorizes the attorney to appoint a panel to study pension plans in Connecticut.

endear him to the audience which generally goes to see a show, but it makes the musician watch closely, since they can't see the beat of the corner of an eye.

There was a highly annoying circumstance during the performance which had nothing to do with the orchestra. The sound system of the auditorium was warmed up during the quiet slow movement of the Beethoven, with the result that all sorts of snaps, crackles and pops, not to mention hisses, for fifteen minutes before the earth-shaking announcement was made that somebody had forgotten to turn the lights off on his car.

It could easily have been turned on during the applause following Miss Jochum's performance.

Mr. Jochum is a no-nonsense type of conductor who achieves excellent results with an absolute minimum of histrionics. At times his baton is almost as small as that of the late Fritz Reiner. This probably doesn't

LEAKS

There has been a rather unknown but not exactly secret project going on at East since the first week of January. Mr. Jerry Weiner of the Biology Department, senior John Campbell and sophomore Pat Mitchell have been working religiously (no pun intended) on a temperature-controlled aquarium, the first of its kind at East.

This is no easy undertaking. Building a system like this one takes a lot of patience, time and skill. To give you an idea of what exactly goes into its construction from start to finish, here are a few notes on the process of removing a refrigerator unit from a 1960 General Electric refrigerator, the materials used for construction, and the type of plants and animals that will soon call the finished product "home."

Back plates of the refrigerator were removed along with the condenser plate. All lines leading to the expansion valve were severed. The thermostats of both the freezer and refrigerator compartments were removed. Framing on the front of the box was uncrewed and freezer compartment was removed, along with the condenser plate and the motor compressor. The condenser plate was then cut in half and the condenser coils were connected by soldering 3/16-inch copper tubing to the 3/16-inch plated tubing. The suction line (low side) was shortened and the high side drier-strainer-cap-tube was replaced. Twenty feet of 5/16-inch copper tubing was coiled around a plastic bucket.

Then 5/16-inch flare connectors were used to connect the high side cap-tube to the end of the evaporator coils. To the other end of these coils the aluminum accumulator placed on a temperature-controlled aquarium, the first of its kind at East.

The system was charged. Frosting of the coils was first noticed after one minute and complete frosting after four minutes. There is also an exhaust system to check the cooled water.

A piece of glass cover the top of the aquarium. The whole system is mounted on a movable cart, with the refrigerant system condenser coil on the back and bottom shelf. The tank takes up the top shelf and the second shelf of the cart is used for storage of sea equipment.

The tank contains 30 gallons of sea water at 1.025 specific gravity, 6.8 to 7.0 ph. The water temperature is kept at a constant 60 degrees F. The system weighs about 350 pounds. The water weight is about 250 pounds, the refrigerator about 50 pounds, and the rest is made up of the equipment.

The refrigerator unit is cut down to about half of its original condensing coils and about one-fourth of its refrigerating coils. Almost everything in the aquarium was built from scratch, except for the compressor, the tank, condensing coil and the cart on which the system sits.

The aquarium is limited to one pound of fish, animal and plants per 100 gallons of water. The 30 gallons of water in the tank must be filtered at least ten times a day for the fish to live. Bacteria control is one of the most important factors in this project.

Northern species of marine flora and fauna will be kept in the tank. Some possibilities for plants and animal life are jellyfish, sea lettuce, starfish, mollusks, anemones, sea worms and sponges.

When it has been completed and in full working order, Mr. Weiner, John and Pat will have made a dream a reality.

Yearbook
Congratulations to Carol O'Toole and the 1973 Yearbook staff for the hard work and time they put into compiling this year's edition of the AETOS. The finished copy will be distributed to seniors during Senior Week.

Also to be recognized for their fine photography and service are Mr. Salom Nassif and his staff, whose candid shots of the seniors and other aspects of school life run throughout the book.

Last but not least, the yearbook advisor, Sister Marion Raymond, and Mr. T. Denny Galvin, school representative from the publishing company, should be recognized for their kind assistance and invaluable guidance in the course of the production of the book.

Dairymen Seek Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dairy Farmers from the Northeast told Congress Thursday that rising expenses and a failure of government price supports to keep pace could lead to milk shortages for New York City and other metropolitan areas.

Wendell Chamberlain of Belfast, New York, testifying at a Senate subcommittee hearing on bills which would increase milk price supports, said costs of feed and labor have been skyrocketing and appear to be headed even higher.

"These conditions are forcing unprecedented declines in dairy farm and milk cow numbers, threatening a serious decrease in productivity capacity for the fluid milk market in this region," Chamberlain said in prepared testimony.

The Agriculture Department announced a week ago that government price supports would be 75 per cent of parity for the coming year, the minimum required under law.

Market Managers Assess Meat Boycott Plans

By THOMAS KENT
As ASSOCIATED PRESS Writer
 Organizers of the proposed meat boycott for the first week in April may have to show their power before meat dealers cut back orders to their own suppliers, according to dealers who serve Connecticut.

Still Afraid

By LOUISE COOK
As ASSOCIATED PRESS Writer
 NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-five years ago, Richard Barstow was afraid of animals and had never seen a circus. He's still afraid of animals, but he's no stranger to the circus.

Barstow, who worked with stars like Judy Garland in the movies, is celebrating his silver anniversary as the director of the greatest show on earth.

"We'll wait until the sales are less first," said Jerry Parizek, office manager of Home Pride Provisions Corp. of Stafford Springs. Parizek said he doubted the boycott will be effective, noting that "People operate 86 stores in Connecticut, plus at this time to keep their meat orders at about normal levels, according to Lowell Gramer, vice president for meat operations."

"We're not in sympathy with the boycott," he said. "We'd like to see those prices go down. However, we have an obligation to those customers who want to buy meat."

"We've just got to go in and keep our products available to our customers," he said.

Grammer said meat producers wouldn't be affected even by a large cut in orders from domestic meat dealers because of the opportunity to sell American meat abroad.

"When we boycott meat there's no meat out in the fields," he said.

That's going to deteriorate," he said.

He said wholesale and retail meat distributors are not the origin of high meat prices, but that only the distributors would suffer from the boycott.

"We're not the middleman," he said. "We're the end man, the end of the funnel."

Martin Oppenheimer, vice president of Colonial Beef Co. in Hartford, said beef prices aren't within the control of "any particular group."

It might take up to 10 days, however, for meat chains to effect reduced stocks at central warehouses that serve many stores because the chains often order meat across long distances.

Deven L. Scott, executive director of the New England Wholesale Meat Dealers Association in Waltham, Mass., said a brief, effective meat boycott would bring prices down for a short period as a natural effect of curtailing demand. But he did not see a boycott as a long term tactic to reduce the cost of meat.

Winnie-the-Pooh finds flowers in his pot of "hunny" in this children's table setting at the Worcester (Mass.) Flower Show, notable for participation by young people from early grades through high school. (Photo by Atwood)

Gardening

with FRANK ATWOOD

"That's a delightful flower show," my wife said as we left the Worcester County Horticultural Society's building for the return trip to Manchester. It was our first visit to a flower show that has been held annually for something more than a hundred years.

We haven't heard much about the Worcester show in this area, but it is located an easy 55 miles from Manchester and the show is well worth a day's time. It has ended for this year but presumably it will be held again in 1974, opening the second weekend of March.

We were impressed by the extent and the excellence of the exhibits by children. Art teachers in the city schools had helped the children from the first through the sixth grades to make imaginative and colorful posters of flowers. They had used crayons, finger paint, and cut-out flowers and leaves of colored paper.

All clubs had set up competitive displays of table settings, complete with dishes, silver, linens and glassware. Two high school vocational agriculture groups had built exhibition gardens with excellent forced shrubs and potted spring flowering bulbs. One young man, using a quite small tin, was making many trips back and forth to a sink somewhere to wash the tulips in the school's garden.

Spring Flowers
 Spring flowers were the feature of the show, as one expects at this season. Commercial nurseries had rhododendrons, azaleas, mountain laurel and andromeda in full flower. There were masses of daffodils, lovely primula and hyacinths.

The on local people we encountered were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Priest of Wapping, who had told us about the show. Mr. Priest, a rock garden enthusiast, showed us where to find an exhibit of white trilliums and trailing arbutus in a very natural setting under some forced shrubs. Although arbutus is the state flower of Massachusetts, visitors were informed only of its Latin name, Epigaea repens. You were supposed to know that this was what the Pilgrims named "Mayflower."

Mr. Priest felt the quality of the plants in the show was very good. He commented on a clump of shadblow, forced in somebody's greenhouse, which he said is becoming popular with commercial nurseries. The shadblow, with its delicate white blossoms, is a native plant that was given its name because it blossomed when the land was making their spring run up New England rivers. The wild plants are being grown now in nursery plantings for sale to homeholders. If you have space for only a few shrubs, you might want something more showy. If you have room, shadblow will provide beautiful against an evergreen background.

Started in 1842 Harlan Pierpont, the executive director, found time to talk with us about the show and about this society that has been promoting the interest of horticulturists since 1842. The trees are not being physically moved, but new grafts are being made to start new trees at the museum. Some are now growing there and others will be set out later period, with higher costs, it perhaps would never have been added to the museum's program to show what New England rural life was like a hundred years ago.

The society, said Mr. Pierpont, had a rapid growth at the time of the Civil War, reaching a membership of 1,100. Then the membership fell off, but it has climbed again to 1,100 with more people building more homes and interested in planting trees, shrubs and flowers.

Towns To Get State Grants

HARTFORD (AP)—Forty-five Connecticut towns will receive a total of $71,315 in state money to cover expenses of programs last summer to enforce safe boating.

The grants ranged from $9,253.32 for Norwalk to $96,300 for Yonkers, according to figures issued by the governor's office.

Housing Project Gets Approval

MERIDEN (AP)—The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approved on Thursday the construction of a 23-unit downtown housing project for the elderly, according to U.S. Rep. Ronald A. Sarasin.

Meriden Housing Project

The facility will replace a block of its use.

The project will operate under a lease-back arrangement between Carrabetta Enterprises of Meriden and the Meriden Housing Authority, Carrabetta Enterprises and developer of the project and will lease the premises to the authority for its use.

Old Apple Varieties

The Worcester Horticultural Society, for many years, has maintained an orchard of old-fashioned apple varieties. It was started in the Depression days when the WPA sent men out to remove the trees in abandoned apple orchards because they harbored insects and diseases that were a threat to commercial orchards.

The young man in charge of the project, himself a fruit grower, was S. Lottor Davenport, who has been in the business of growing and selling old varieties of apples for 50 years. The project was started by Mr. Davenport's farm and were given the same care as his commercial varieties until he sold the orchard in 1967. It then continued under contract with the new owner. Now, however, the grower has decided he can no longer use his land and man-power for this purpose and the orchard is being relocated at Old Sturbridge Village.

Anti-Strike Policy Adopted

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The New Hampshire Board of Education has adopted a precedent-setting policy to prevent strikes by public teachers.

Under the policy, adopted unanimously Wednesday, the state board can revoke the certificate of a teacher who violates the terms of his or her contract with a local school district. The policy is effective immediately.

William Bittenbender of Deering, board chairman, said the policy is not intended to be a restatement of the principle of right or contract.

Asked how the policy would have affected recent teacher strikes in Salem and Farmington, Bittenbender replied, "It probably would have produced a more careful, more reasonable approach to the question of a work stoppage."

Edward Sweeney of Keene, who sponsored the motion, said, "We're simply trying to make a legally drawn, properly executed contract between a teacher and the school board a two-way street."

He added, "If she fails to live up to the terms of her contract, which call for 180 days of teaching, then the state board can revoke her teaching contract."

LWV Plans Emphasis On Trade

Trade-International Relations is the topic of study of the League of Women Voters of Vernon this month with a highlight to be attendance at a school of International Relations to be sponsored by the Connecticut League of Women Voters.

The local league's International Relations Committee will hold unit meetings Tuesday, one at 8:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Joseph Baker, Gotlier Dr. and one at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Lutz, 24 Wolcott Lane.

The Connecticut League school will be held March 21 at Woolly Hall in New Britain from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in cooperation with Yale University with "The Eagle and the Beaver: United States-Canada" to be the topic of the day.

A panel of informed speakers will explore the interrelationships between the United States and Canada as they affect business, trade and foreign policy. Other areas to be covered include environmental issues such as the controversial "law of sea," Canada's role in the United Nations and in the world, the impact of United States Cultural influences and the Quebec Nationalist movement.

Members of the Vernon league are planning to attend. The public may also attend by making reservations with the League of Women Voters of Connecticut, 60 Connolly Parkway, Hamden or by contacting a member of the local league.

About Town

The Young Marines will meet tonight at 8:30 at the Marine Corps League Home.

Buckley School PTA will have a father-son night Monday at 6:30 p.m. A representative from the Garcia Sports Co. will give demonstrations with a talk on fishing. A film on trout will be shown. There will be refreshments and prizes. Mrs. Bonnie Norman is chairman for the evening, and Gary Bogli is program chairman.

Democrats To Hear O'Neill

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3711

State Rep. William O'Neill will be the guest speaker Tuesday evening at the Democratic Town Committee meeting.

O'Neill was formerly Hebron's Democratic representative in the 52nd Assembly District. After redistricting, O'Neill's town of East Hampton was no longer in the same district. O'Neill ran and was successful in his bid for a fourth term, this time in the 34th District.

The town committee also announced that its annual spring Dinner-Dance will be held May 5 at Fiano's Restaurant in Bolton.

There will be a cocktail hour at 7, dinner at 8 and dancing from 9 to 1. For dinner there is a choice of baked stuffed shrimp or steak.

Tickets for the dinner dance are available from any member of the town committee.

The Hebron Sportsmen's Club has re-elected Philip Mitchell of Glastonbury as president for the year.

Serving with Mitchell will be Donald Rumberger of Bolton, vice president; Richard Ross of Glastonbury, secretary; Richard M. Grant of Hebron, treasurer; Edward Cesana of Glastonbury, Edward Carini of Bolton, and Abilio Santos of Bolton, board of directors.

There will be a meeting of the corporate members of the club on March 27 beginning with a 6 p.m. dinner at Vito's on Birch Mt. Rd. in Bolton.

The club announced it will sponsor a National Rifle Association hunter safety course for sons and grandsons of members and other interested young people.

Instructor for the course is Dennis Keefe who will hold the recreational and cultural director, reports that due to the large amount of interest expressed by men and women, judo lessons for adults have been scheduled for Saturday mornings from 10:30 to 11:30 at starting March 24.

For further information or to register for the class, contact MacDonald, Lake Rd., Andover.

Jet Streams Went Astray, Topsy-Turveying Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two huge rivers of air flowed capriciously astray this winter. The result, according to government weathermen, was snow in the South, frequent mild temperatures in the North and other unseasonal weather in the nation.

Traditionally, U.S. weathermen blame sieges of unusual weather on the antics of the polar jet stream that courses high above the more northerly areas of the planet. It long has been rated a major factor in determining weather at earth's surface and it played its erratic part this winter.

But a second jet stream, pressing a rare course northward from tropical Central America, was also a major factor in the nation's weather, the weathermen say.

Both jet streams are rivers of rapidly moving air, hundreds of miles wide and 20,000 feet deep, that whirled westward around the hemisphere at an altitude of four to seven miles. Among other things, they control the pattern and direction of the hemisphere's storm tracks, in turbulent areas of low pressure that tend to produce rainy or snowy weather.

"We haven't talked much in the past about the subtropical jet because it usually doesn't affect U.S. weather very much," said Dr. Murray Mitchell of the National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration's Environmental Data Service.

"Ordinarily, its northerly limit is somewhere over Central America, but this winter it moved upward to the latitude of the Gulf of Mexico—and it was also much more intense than usual," he said in an interview.

But he said, the polar jet stream was also off course—"instead of moving over the midlatitudes as it ordinarily does in winter, its center core moved across the country close to the U.S. Canadian border most of the winter."

"Thus," he said, "the United States was, in effect, cushioned between these two jets and protected in a way by them for most of the winter. It was sort of like a sandwich.

"We were cushioned on the one hand, from very cold outbreaks of air from Canada and, on the other, from very warm air getting up from the tropics into the midpart of the country, thus blocking some storms.

What about those 16 inches of snow that paralyzed parts of Georgia and South Carolina on Feb. 11—the worst snowfall in those parts in 50 years?"

What about the sizable snowstorm that belied much of North Carolina and Tennessee early in January?

"The subtropical jet," said Mitchell, "had storm tracks traveling along with it as it coursed to the east and a couple of these intensified as they moved over those states.

"The storm tracks spinning counterclockwise sucked cold air down from Canada behind them so that storms which normally would have been rainstorms became snowstorms.

"Meanwhile, in front of these same storm tracks, warm air was sucked up from the South-Atlantic states with warm air and keeping the precipitation there in the form of rain instead of snow.

"You'll remember that, in both events, there was no snow to speak of from Virginia up to southern New England."

Mitchell said the off-course southerly jet further influenced northerly weather.

Ordinarily, the big snowstorms that hit New England, and sometimes the mid-Atlantic states, result from storm tracks moving up the Atlantic Coast. But the jet, speeding virtually due east, blocked most of the oncoming storms, channeling them out to sea.

"We had snowflakes out several times," he said, "but they didn't pan out. Even the electronic computers were fooled by the jet."

What about the West and the Southwest?

Mitchell said the off-course polar jet, displaced far northward in spots, resulted in much less rain and snow than usual in Washington state and Oregon.

The errant subtropical jet, coupled with unusual stormlines over the Pacific ocean, brought a high amount of rain to southern California, Arizona and other areas as far away as west Texas.

Quad Should Be Opened

Looking through a spotted, gray window I can see the quad, with its soft, spongy grass and budding trees, beckoning me. But all I can do is look at this park, its entrance doors are locked. Changing classes through crowded, malodorous state halls is agonizing. It is especially frustrating knowing that there is a way to avoid these halls by opening the quad and allowing students to walk through it.

At a school where such liberal policies, as smoking and open campus exist, it seems absurd that the quad should be closed because the administration feels students are not responsible enough to keep the area clean and quiet. Looking over the rest of the night, I wonder whether it will be worth the effort to keep it clean. Students know how beautiful the quad looks now, maybe they will want to keep it natural, so that when they begin dreaming during

'Hello, Dolly' Coming

Coming up one week from tonight "Hello Dolly" will start its first performance. Due to "Oklahoma's" great success last year there will be a Sunday Matinee added this year. Hopefully no one will be turned away from the door. In the music wing, preparations for the musical are building (papering and painting). Sets coming from Boston are being renovated to meet the needs of the different scenes. Among these are several two story buildings giving the show a more professional air. One special set will be the train, a huge replica from the turn of the century, which will accompany "Put on your Sunday Clothes" while blowing smoke. "Hello Dolly" is a musical in every sense of the word. A parade, a special band, and several varied choreography scenes are mixed throughout the show. A cast of twenty-four talented male waiters will dance with "Dolly" in a feat that would be impossible to mix to the music. This year a new dimension has been added to the mechanics of the show; continuous action will be maintained throughout. In order to change the scenery, actors on stage will assist the back stage crew in the movement of sets. Except for one black-out you will see "Dolly" in steady motion. Heading the cast this year Donna Healy will portray Dolly Levi. She has been in The Round Table Singers since her sophomore year and is well known for her strong voice. Opposite Dolly Dave Kolumber will play Horace Vandergelder. Dave's singing and acting talents have been seen in the musicals of the past two years. With these two talents and the talent of the rest of the cast and crew this year's musical should be among the top. March 23, 24, and a matinee on the 25th are the dates you shouldn't forget—Carol Larivee

Decline And Fall Of Latin

It seems evident now, that with next year's schedules being completed, and courses being filled, that Latin is dying in Manchester High School. This year we have only two Latin classes, second year and third year. Next year the language of Julius Caesar and Marc Anthony will be spoken by only a small group of Latin III students. Latin then will be officially dead, and the students will most likely celebrate by emptying the Latin Club treasury and having a big party at the end of the year. At last, like the great empire that once spanned it, this ancient language will fade into oblivion. To those who ask why we ever took Latin, there is no stock answer. There are those who intend to go into law, or science, or medicine. And still there are others who only wish to improve their vocabulary (so they can nonchalantly toss around big words). My own reasons are purely romantic — I had always been enchanted with the mysteriousness of the language; but I'm afraid that a combination of classwork, quizzes and last year's banquet has dispelled all visions of Gothic cathedrals and medieval monks. Think of how deprived we must be—no fabulous trips to places like Quebec, Spain and Austria (except maybe our annual jaunt to Ocean Beach, but then, no one speaks Latin there). No movies, tapes, records, or brightly colored posters are seen in our classes; and there is no restaurant in New York that serves Latin cuisine. But we make up for this with our annual banquet, or "Saturnalia" (if the old Romans ever saw what we did to their banquet, they'd roll over in their tombs.) After all, who ever heard of a televised Roman dinner? No essay on Latin would be complete without a Latin quotation (Latin mutaturus est metum in illis: All things are changing, and we are changing with them. — Kathleen Petersen

Hoop Team Ends Season

Monday afternoon, March 5, the MHS Varsity girls met the illustrious Faculty in a game of skill and wit. (Basketball) Keeping in the spirit of the game, Mr. Brozinski and Mr. Barnum, reeled an excellent game, the final score of which was (Varsity) 52-29 (Women Faculty). The "eleven educators" were Varsity Basketball Coach Miss Faignant, home game official, Miss Vassallo, Miss English, Mrs. Keeney, Miss Niederwarter, Miss Salvo, Miss Jette, Miss Mally, Miss Machowski, Miss Bickley, and Mrs. "Pomper" Best, who out-scored everyone with 11 markers. In an attempt to promote team pride, Varsity members pumped in 10 points for the Best Dressed Player for Away Games. Cathy Linsenbiger (74) received this award. All sophomore Varsity members were awarded this hoop. The game was enjoyed by all. Tuesday evening, the players exchanged their pinneys for napkins at the Basketball Banquet at Willie's Steak House. After dinner, in lieu of dancing girls, the awards were presented. All Junior Varsity members received "Small M's" from JV Coach Eleanor Gowen. Karen Doyan (75) received the JV "Most Improved Player Award; Nancy Lappert received the best Foul Shot Percentage. Call Shimmitis and Linda Chapman (both 75) won this award for the Varsity team, while Nancy and drawing 286 foul shot attempt circles with her official pencil she proved that she could really get the lead out. Sheila Stella Meyer's contagious spirit and clean looks were a real asset to the team. Jane's "Parmesan" Veal was one of the two returning Varsity members from last year. She will be remembered for her ability to evaluate the games on the spot as a result of her three years experience. Barb "Squat" Squadrato, this year's co-captain, was utilized for her speed and guarding ability. Pam "Wrong Way" Walsh, the other returning Varsity member and co-captain, led her shooting arm in many a game guarding form in many a game.

It Ain't The Ritz

The Manchester High football team held its first independent banquet last Friday night, organized and hosted by themselves. The menu consisted of hamburgers, french fries, apple pies, and Cokes, courtesy of McDonald's. ## IM Basketball Bouncing Intramural basketball has finally gotten off the ground with 25 teams competing. League play started in early February and will continue well into April. This year's league seems to be the largest the school has known with over 250 male students competing. Each of the 25 teams will compete in seven games. Tournament play will start in April, but it is not yet decided how champions will be decided because of the number of teams. The League consists of three divisions, or groups, the American with eight teams, the National with nine and the Central with eight. The players who make up the American League are sophomores and those who compete in the National and Central leagues are a mixture of juniors and seniors. Games are played Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays after school using most of the athletic space available at the High School on those nights. Conceived and finally brought into the world of literature by Cheryl Zinker of Alice Drive in Manchester, Harold Feats has been the star character of many poems which have been published in the High School World over the year. The whole staff would like to wish Harold a happy birthday and wish Cheryl more success as an author in the years ahead.

Feats Day Announced

Guess what day this is? Yes, you're right, it is Friday, the 15th of March. But do you know what is significant about this day? We do. March 15th, 1973, is the first birthday of Mr. Harold Feats, contributor to numerous poems of Manchester High School fame. Conceived and finally brought into the world of literature by Cheryl Zinker of Alice Drive in Manchester, Harold Feats has been the star character of many poems which have been published in the High School World over the year. The whole staff would like to wish Harold a happy birthday and wish Cheryl more success as an author in the years ahead.

Rookies Produce, Fail, In Exhibition Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — The rookies that bloom... and wilt... in the spring, tra la. Craig Stark, a graduate of Florida State University, is a 25-year-old left-hander who led the International League last season with 15 wins.

He wasn't drafted, but was signed by the Boston Red Sox after being named most valuable player of the Schenectady, N.Y., Twilight League in 1969.

Thursday, it must have felt like the twilight zone as the Detroit Tigers unloaded on him for eight runs in the fourth inning of a 9-3 exhibition game. The onslaught included a grand slam home run by Willie Horton, a solo shot by Tom Taylor, run-scoring singles by Gates Brown and Al Kaline... and a missed fly ball by center fielder Reggie Smith which resulted in six of the runs being unearned.

Some other newcomers had better experiences to write home about.

Charlie Seikes, Cleveland's key acquisition in a big winter deal with the New York Yankees, slugged his second and third home runs of the spring in the Indians' 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. His first sailed over the 406-foot marker in left-center while the second, with a man abroad, shot past the foul pole 70 feet away. Oscar Gamble also homered for the Indians.

Willie Horton, Cincinnati's Ken Griffey, starred in a losing cause. He lashed two doubles and a single, making him 7-for-9 over the last two games, but a split squad of Red Sox bowled to the Chicago White Sox 11-3. The Sox wrapped it up with six runs in the sixth inning, highlighted by pitcher Bart Johnson's two-run double.

Young Andy Thornton, bidding for the Atlanta first base job with Jim Breazeale sidelined by an off-season auto accident, homered as the Braves won for the first time this spring, whipping the New York Yankees' 'B' team 9-1. Dusty Baker hit a three-run homer.

The Yanks' main squad, though, blanked the Minnesota Twins 5-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Mike Ketchik. Lindy McDaniel and Fred Beene, a home run by Ron Swoboda and a two-run triple by Graig Nettles.

In other games Oakland edged Milwaukee 5-4, the Texas Rangers downed the Orioles 4-1, the New York Mets slipped by Los Angeles 6-5, Kansas City beat St. Louis 5-3, and Houston topped Philadelphia 11-7.

division, pumped a record-tying 57 shots at Toronto goal-keeping net in the East.

In the World Hockey Association, the Minnesota Fighting Saints at Los Angeles also remained tied for third place in the West. The Saints outgained the Chicago Cougars 7-4 while the Sharks overtook the New York Raiders 6-2.

"We played the kind of offense I've been talking about to teach our club," said Boston Coach Bob Goolzoin, who replaced Tom Johnson behind the bench during a Boston slump midway through the season. "When I took over, I changed the style of play to make them offense-minded. I didn't have to worry about it."

No Boston coach has ever had to worry about Bob Orr and the Bruins' superstar showed his mettle with a pair of goals, including a shot the length of the ice into an empty net in the final minute.

Jude Drouin stepped in a goal in the first 30 seconds and Minnesota tied a club record by pumping 57 shots at beleaguered Toronto goalie Ron Low as the North Stars moved to within four points of clinching a playoff spot.

The WHA victories by Minnesota and Los Angeles lifted them to within one point of second-place Houston in the National Hockey League. The Bruins captain hit on a desperation jumper from the corner with seconds left to break a 107-107 tie. He was fouled moments later and sank two free throws to give Boston a 111-107 victory.

While the Bruins expect the game against the Sharks to be a tough test to play at home in Madison Square Garden.

It brings a new twist to the rivalry as the Cougars' name. Mike Hyndman and Tom Gilmore scored two goals apiece to pace the Sharks over the Raiders.

Blossburg State's Sheila Bower, in second place after the preliminary, was timed in a record 1:02.460 to win the 100-yard backstroke set during the preliminaries, but she still won the backstroke finals.

ing one in the seventh in his first appearance for the Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds trailed the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-2 in the third inning and were still down 11-7 when they came to bat in the eighth. But with two out, rookie Joel Youngblood cracked a two-run homer off Bob Miller and the Reds caught up before Miller got the third out.

They won it 12-1 on Dave Concepcion's home run in the ninth. Manny Sanguillen, Gene Alley and Dave Cash homered for the Reds.

Sill and rookie, Cincinnati's Ken Griffey, starred in a losing cause. ## Kasko Studies Situation

Time Running Out For Garman, Moret

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. AP — Mike Garman and Rogelio Moret, one considered outstanding pitching prospects, have their baseball futures on the line in the Boston Red Sox training camp.

Garman, a right hander with blazing fastball, has to prove he has major league control. Moret, a left hander, was a flop last year after burning up the winter league in Puerto Rico.

Neither Garman nor Moret has any options left. That means the Red Sox must either keep them or risk losing them via the major league waiver route.

The moment of decision is at hand, and Manager Eddie Kasko wants to take a long, hard look at the two young pitchers. Neither has been overly impressive in spring training, but there's still time.

Kasko was set to study Garman and Moret again today in an exhibition game with Cincinnati Reds at Winter Haven's Chain O'Lakes park.

Kasko named War Culp, fighting back after major shoulder surgery last summer, to hurl the first three innings against the 1972 National League champions. Then he named Willie Horton as the Red Sox Grapefruit League record dipped to 4-4 Thursday in a 9-3 loss to the Detroit Tigers in Lakeland. An eight-run third inning, helped by a dropped fly ball and featuring Willie Horton's grand-slam homer, buried the Red Sox.

"I'm not worried about his hitting," Kasko said. "He's shown a pretty good bat as he can go, but I don't think he'll play nine. We have to see what he can do in the field."

"Cepeda will start playing first base Friday," Kasko said. "He'll play a pretty good bat as he can go, but I don't think he'll play nine. We have to see what he can do in the field."

Celtics Seek Standards

BOSTON (AP) — The magic number of one is just within reach as the Boston Celtics play a rematch tonight against the Bullets in Baltimore.

The Celtics, who lead the Atlantic Division of the National Basketball Association with a 60-13 record, need just one win — or one loss by second-place New York — to clinch the division title.

The Celtics have now won eight in a row and 16 of their 21 games since they began their eight-point season mark to date is 62-18.

The Celtics beat the Bullets Wednesday with the clutch play of a Havlicek. The team captain hit on a desperation jumper from the corner with seconds left to break a 107-107 tie. He was fouled moments later and sank two free throws to give Boston a 111-107 victory.

While the Celtics expect the game against the Sharks to be a tough test to play at home in Madison Square Garden.

Women Shatter Records

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — The women's Swimming and Diving Championships move into their second day today with five records already shattered.

Olympic Gold Medalist Cathy Carr of the University of New Mexico, in the first, setting a record of 2:04.72 in the 50-yard breaststroke preliminaries and breaking it in the final Thursday evening with a clocking of 31.123 seconds.

The Arizona State 200-yard medley team set a new Division of Girls and Women Sports (DGSW) and American record with the 1:45 mark of the night had the Saints ahead 2-0 in the 1-6 mark of the evening.

Eddie Wetzel of New Mexico broke the 100-yard freestyle DGSW, mark in the preliminaries only to see her record eclipsed in the finals by Cathy Corcione of Princeton in a time of 58.83.

The Warriors' 141 points was a season mark. The team shot at least 58 per cent in every quarter.

Warriors from Floor, Dismantled Houston

OAKLAND (AP) — "We were loose, but it wasn't a reckless loose," said guard Jeff Mullins after the Golden State Warriors dismantled the Houston Rockets 141-125.

The Warriors, who clinched a playoff berth Tuesday, shot a 45.7 per cent from the floor as Rudy Tomjanovich scored 37 points, equalling his season scoring high and sinking 17 of 36 shots.

Warrior forward Rick Barry made a season high 13 assists while contributing 25 points.

Bearded A's Change, Some Keep Mustaches

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — In one of the lighter moments of last fall's World Series, Cincinnati Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson looked up from a pre-game interview.

saw Dave Duncan of the Oakland Athletics and asked, "What's that?" Duncan, with long hair, a beard and a mustache, was the shaggiest of the A's, who turned baseball's showcase attraction into a battle of the hairs and the squares, Anderson's clean-shaven Reds.

Anderson wouldn't recognize Duncan now. The catcher's face hair is gone, and he may be the only player without a mustache in the A's opening day lineup.

"I shaved it all off after Christmas. I just got tired of it," says Duncan.

The Oakland players all grew mustaches last season after they were defeated by the Athletics in the World Series. Finley offered them $300 each to fully participate in "Mustache Day" at the Oakland Coliseum, "Most of the players became attached to them."

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Sponsors of the Virginia Slims International Tennis Tournament here thought they had enough trouble when three of the top four seeded players withdrew because of injuries, and then along came a case of the chicken pox.

Unlike the injuries, the chicken pox didn't remove a seeded player, but the ailment did force Cynthia Doerner to default in her scheduled second round singles match Thursday night against seventh-ranked Pam Teeguarden.

Six of the eight seeded players advanced to tonight's quarter-finals with top-ranked Margaret Court heavily favored to make it seven victories in eight tournaments this season. Mrs. Court brushed aside Penny Moor, 6-1, 6-1, in the second round.

Keeping pace were second-ranked Nancy Richey Gunter, who looked sharp following her recent illness in a 6-4 rout of Jill Schwartz, and third-seeded Valerie Ziegenfuss, who ousted Cecil Martinez, 6-2, 6-2.

Other seeded players advancing were Miss Teagarden; Betty Stone, No. 5, who turned back Brenda Kirk, 6-4, 6-0; and Julie Heidman, No. 6, who whipped Laura DuPont, 6-3, 6-2.

All-New England Squad

BOSTON (AP) — Ernie DiGregorio and Marvin Barnes, who led a powerful Providence College basketball team to a No. 4 ranking in the nation and a berth in the NCAA tournament head the 1973 All-New England basketball team named today by the Associated Press.

Rounding out the first team, selected with the help of sports writers and sportscasters throughout the six-state region, were Mike Boylan of Assumption College and Steve Rowell of the University of Rhode Island.

Barnes, DiGregorio and Doyle are all repeaters from last year's selections. Barnes and DiGregorio were named to the first team on every ballot.

A 6-foot-8 junior, Barnes was the second highest rebounder in the nation, averaging 20 a game and holds the school career scoring record of 1,920 points.

Doyle, a 6-foot-4 senior, had a 20.8 scoring average and also pulled down an average of 13 rebounds a game. His career total of 1,322 points was the eighth highest in Holy Cross history and his 796 rebounds ranked fifth.

No. 31 for Rhode Island, 6-foot-4 senior Steve Rowell, was the team's leading scorer in 19 out of 25 games this year and averaged 22.9 points a game while shooting a hefty 50 per cent. He finished with the total of 1,890 points.

Providence-Terps Scheduled In NIT East Regional Final

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Providence and the nation's fourth-ranked basketball team, Maryland, No. 8, took time today to savor their impressive victories in Thursday night's semifinals of the NCAA Eastern Regional Tournament.

After Providence walloped by League champion Penn 67-65, Maryland drubbed Syracuse 91-75 to set up a 2:10 p.m. EST, meeting Saturday at the regional title. The winner moves to the national semifinals at St. Louis March 24, along with survivors of three other regional tournaments.

Penn and Syracuse will play for third place at noon Saturday.

The two key men of the Providence Friars, senior backcourt Ernie DiGregorio and junior center Marvin Barnes, as expected, led the team to its 16th straight victory and 30th in 28 games.

But Coach Dave Gavitt, possibly seeking to keep his charges hungry, offered the opinion that they were not quite up to par.

He commented, "Ernie plays a fine game, but he didn't have his usual quickness."

Of Barnes, Gavitt noted, "He was slightly less than normal with his quickness of defense."

Despite these flaws, DiGregorio managed 18 points and 10 assists, but the 6-footer did not have one of his better shooting nights, hitting only nine of 21 shots.

Barnes, at 6-foot-8, is the country's No. 2 rebounder with 20 a game. He grabbed 13, but his most eye-popping statistic was 20 points on 10 shots without a miss. He sat out the last 45 minutes of the first half after drawing his third personal.

Nehru King, an 8.5-point average man, added 10 points and Kevin Stacom 16 to round out the Friars' big four.

Penn, now 21-4 and ranked No. 18, was unable to solve the Providence zone and hit only 27 per cent, 12 of 44 shots, in the final half.

After Penn cut the lead to five with 15 minutes left in the last half, Providence went on a 16-4 spree in the next five minutes and had matters well under control the rest of the way.

Ranking NCAA Clubs Sidelined by Upsets

WEST SIDE MIDGETS
Andy's Footnote easily defeated WINF, 46-37, in the first of two games. John Adreop posted in 23 minutes while Doug Landry and Mike Stevens both added nine markers for the winners. In a losing effort, Bob Doyle contributed 12 tallies with Randy Landoz adding six. Chrispin's rolled past Nassiff Arms, 41-29. Leading the winners' attack was Steve Crispino with 10 points, followed by Brian Matre and Gary Demko with nine and eight markers. For the losers, Rick Thurston led the way with 12 tallies.

Y INTERMEDIATE
The Cagers won for forfeit over the Shamrocks in the first of two games at the Community Y.

In the nightcap, Shemp Howard's damped Six Pack, 63-53. Scott Lorne (21), Eric Stafford (14) and Chris Saunders (14) topped the scoring for the victors. Joe Guardin scored 24 points for Six Pack with Dan Labelle adding 18 markers.

Y INTERMEDIATE
In a single game played Wednesday night, the Beau's outscored the Knocs, 69-68. Scoring heavily for the winners were Bruce Taggart, Dave Bidwell and Dave Paganu with 14, 12 and 10 points in that order. The Knicks' Charley Aldrich found the hoop for 27 tallies while Dave Wollenberg contributed 14.

SENIOR LEAGUE
Moriarty Brothers easily turned back Blue Moon, 93-72. Tim Coughlin (23) and Dave McKenna (24) led the MB's scoring attack. Collins Judd and Bill Manning collected 21 and 20 tallies respectively.

In the nightcap, Langan VW edged Gromas's, 93-90. Jim Barnes scored in 35 points for the winners. Dick Downman (21) and Norm Daignault (17) paced Gromas's offense.

Last night in Senior League action, undefeated Ansdal's routed Alford, 109-52. Jack Redmond had a hot hand and collected 45 points while Bill Viot added 30 markers. For the underpowered losers, Rick Migliore and Carl Walczkowski netted 18 and 14 points.

Boyhood Dream Finally Reached

FAIRFIELD (AP) — Returning home to New York City this weekend with the Fairfield University basketball team to play in the National Invitational Tournament will fulfill one of George Groom's boyhood dreams.

"The NIT was the biggest thing in the world to us in high school," the record-breaking senior guard said this week.

"Until I was a junior I didn't even know the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) had a tournament."

Groom, who still makes his home in the Bellows Falls section of Queens where he was born, will lead Fairfield on Sunday in the NIT first round against Marshall University of Huntington, W. Va.

"I'm starting to get butterflies," Groom admitted. "It's not the pressure. It's just that I can't wait to play."

"We are confident we can beat UCLA if we play together as a team," said Quirk.

Steve Downing and John Ritter, sixth-ranked Indiana trimmed No. 5 Marquette and prompted their comments from Warriors' Coach McGuire.

Indiana was the better ballclub tonight, leading 24 on the boards and had up in foul trouble in both halves. They were well coached and never lost their poise.

"I didn't do a good coaching job. I wasn't quick. Maybe I just lost the old zip tonight. That happens sometimes."

Downing poured in 29 points as the Hoosiers rallied from a 10-point deficit with 14 minutes left in the game. Ritter delivered some clutch passes in the stretch that sewed up the game for Knight's boys.

UCLA, meanwhile, charged to a 21-10 lead in the second half. Arizona State behind Larry Hollyfield's 18 points and Kentucky led off with eight straight points, four by Kevin Grevey. Then Jim Andrews scored the go-ahead basket for Kentucky with 2:21 left as the Wildcats won their 10th straight game.

Kansas State used an effective slow-down game and the outside shooting of Ernie Kusthner and Len Kruger to defeat Northwestern Louisiana. Larry Kenon's 34 points

So, you can sleep, our radio equipped service trucks never sleep.

You know your heating system is never out of touch with you. We radio our service men to the scene of any heating emergency call. Fast. Any hour of the day or night. Including Sundays and holidays.

Of course, if you have a Heating Oil Service Contract, you'll probably have a service man on call in an emergency call. Because that contract gives you complete assurance of year-round furnace care for low home heating comfort. Saves you money, too, since a clean, well-kept burner means less fuel.

For Over 39 Years, Your Comfort Has Been Our Business!

KEITH'S KORNER
By Bea Keith
The Far Eastern countries are now the first to use folding screen for purely ornamental purposes. While you can't wish away ugly radiator or a window of mismatched windows, you can effect an attractive disguise with screens. For a really distinctive look, you can design your own screen. Many stores today carry screen frames which you can paint, paper, or cover to suit your own scheme.

Tri-Towners Lack Spark In Comedy

JUNE TOMPKINS (Herald Reporter)

The Tri-Towners Players made another valiant effort last night for the second performance of their first season. The Players presented William F. Brown's "The Girl in the Freudian Slip." The two-act comedy directed by Bea Paul was sophisticated fare, but it lacked sophistication. This new group is obviously suffering growing pains in becoming established. One must praise the efforts of the rank amateur, for every experienced actor at one time started his career on the bottom rung of the ladder. But it's frustrating to watch the inexperienced actor, all the time wishing you could push him into his roles with a little more assurance.

It wouldn't be fair to say that Mariella Luginbuhl does not have any potential as an actress. This is her first appearance before the footlights. A lead role the first time around is not demanding. One usually breaks in gradually with lesser roles. But as an attractive and gives the part of Paula Maughan a distinct physical charm.

Teri MacGranor, another charmer, is much better remembered for her recent role with Little Theatre of Manchester in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie." As Barbara Leonard, she is too earnest and immature to be convincing as the seductress of her psychiatrist.

However, the really bright spot among the female cast is Linda Clapham. Perhaps it's because she rarely has a supporting role in this case, I can assume the role of the teen-age daughter of a psychiatrist, for she is a student at Manchester High School. She has appeared in school and youth group plays in the area and, I dare say, will be seen again.

The three men in the play are well cast and credit is due them for their fine performances. The Players were fortunate to find someone with the background of Daniel Lutz to play the major role of Dr. Dewey Maughan, the psychiatrist who is the frequent subject of his daughter's psychoanalysis.

The doctor's patient, Mr. Weinman, is beautifully amusingly created by William Rollins. He is as much at home on the stage as he is on TV where he occasionally appears. Rollins' role as the psycho, who pours out all his frustrations on the psychiatrist's couch, is complete as he assumes the fetal position whenever he finds he can't cope with his problems.

Another good performance was turned in by Jim Hutchinson as Dr. Alvin, the psychiatrist. He, too, has chalked up acting credits with most of the area theater groups. He has a refreshing exuberance which creeps into his lines at times, and reminds you of a comedy actor on the radio who goes faster and faster until you can't see the individual words. Much to his credit, he kept his words run away with him.

Although this play is class second to St. Patrick's, it just doesn't seem all that funny. What punches lines here are the comedy over the first act takes forever to establish the somewhat impossible story of the Connecticut man in the life of New York City psychiatrist. Dr. Maughan discovers that a psycho-drama he has written about a former patient, has been discovered by his teen-age daughter. The daughter has given the play to Dr. Maughan's friend, Dr. Rice, another psychiatrist. The friend, in turn, gives the play to a literary agent who just happens to be that same former patient of Dr. Maughan's, a ring-around-the-rose kind of plot.

The play lives up and accelerates, thank goodness, during Act Two. The stage set is fabulously designed and occupies the entire large stage. An apparent cooperative effort and determination among the staff is obvious in all the backstage assignments which are necessary requirements for any theatrical production.

"The Girl in the Freudian Slip" will play again tonight and tomorrow at Vernon Center Middle School on Fri. 8:30. Curtain time is 8:30, and tickets are available at the door.

When You Win $75,000

Chester G. Lewis Sr. of Twin Hills Dr. in Coventry can't believe it happened to him, but it did. Lewis was the big winner in yesterday's Connecticut lottery Super 75 drawing, adding $70,000 to the $5,000 prize he won earlier this month. He says he will use the money to pay off the mortgage on his home in anticipation of his retirement three years from now, and for a long hoped for trip to Spokane, Wash., to visit his wife's father. Lewis's wife, Ann, burst into tears when the winning number was announced yesterday in Meriden. The Lewises have been married for 38 years, and have 12 children and 16 grandchildren.

Odegard Says Urban Bill Will Not Pass Assembly

HOLLY GANTNER (Herald Correspondent)

At a recent meeting of the Coventry Young Republicans, State Sen. David Odegard of Manchester commented on Committee Bill 802, "An Act Creating a State Development Corporation."

"The bill in question, which would allow the State of Connecticut to override local zoning procedures and allow the State to acquire land for development, is of great concern to us all," said Odegard, who represents the fourth senatorial district, including Coventry.

"The bill, petitioned out of committee, has been drafted by the State and Urban Development Committee of the General Assembly. Because of that petition," Odegard said, "the bill has received a public hearing and will again be considered by the committee which had originally rejected its fundamental concepts. What is not clear to most people is that this bill is not a serious legislative proposal, at least for this term."

"It is very difficult for me to project what the legislature will or will not do in most cases," Odegard said. "I can state that this bill will not pass this General Assembly. After speaking with the chairman of the State and Urban Development Committee, I am fully confident that the bill will not be approved by the committee for either House or Senate action. Furthermore, I am confident that the bill could not pass a vote in the House or Senate."

Odegard added that previous conversations with Gov. Meskill indicate that he would share the same response. "My own position on the bill," said Odegard, "is that it is not a desirable bill to the local government in all of Connecticut's communities. In an identical proposal, I took a strong position against the passage of an identical proposal, and I continue that precise attitude. This legislative proposal is one that should be watched, one that we should care deeply about, and one that could have a severe impact on the ability of our towns and cities to provide the kind of responsive leadership that their inhabitants desire. At the same time, a public feeling seems to have developed that their legislative is likely to pass. To put it very simply," Odegard concluded, "it will not pass."

State Senate the following question: Would you support a bill to establish an Urban Development Corporation with the power to override local zoning?"

Odegard noted that the response from Senate President Pro Tem Peter Cashman was "Absolutely not, nobody will."

From Senate Majority Leader Lewis Rosen, he heard the response from Deputy Majority Leader George Gunther was to simply shrug and say, "Forget it," and from Senator Florence Finney, Deputy Majority Leader, "I would be against it."

Odegard said this same reaction was evidenced by Senator Richard Borzuto, who is chairman of the State and Urban Development Committee, who said, "No."

Odegard added that previous conversations with Gov. Meskill indicate that he would share the same response. "My own position on the bill," said Odegard, "is that it is not a desirable bill to the local government in all of Connecticut's communities. ### Death Penalty Proposal Termed Regressive

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic spokesman said today President Nixon's call for restoration of the death penalty for certain major crimes and mandatory minimum sentences for heroin traffickers represented a long voyage into the night of the past.

Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa termed the recommendations "a regression to punishments and sentencing methods that have long since been professionally discredited, so far as deterring criminal acts or correcting criminal tendencies are concerned."

Hughes said he for one would not be only by the death penalty is morally wrong but "the overwhelming weight of evidence is that it is not effective as a deterrent."

Also required, he said, is correction of social conditions conducive to criminality, such as overcrowding, chronic unemployment, poverty, inadequate health care, and discrimination.

Yet it is these very programs that the present administration is most intent on eliminating or cutting back to the point of ineffectiveness," Hughes said.

As for Nixon's appeal to restore the death penalty for treason, sabotage and espionage, and for kidnaping and hijacking resulting in death, Hughes said he for one would not be only by the death penalty is morally wrong but "the overwhelming weight of evidence is that it is not effective as a deterrent."

Cambodia's Lon Nol Target Of Bombs

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — A Cambodian air force plane piloted by what U.S. Embassy officials described as a flight school washout bombed the Presidential Palace today in an apparent attempt to assassinate President Lon Nol.

The 728 trainer plane dropped three bombs and one fell into the palace compound, blasting apart the wooden barracks where palace guards and many of their families lived.

The bomb landed only 20 yards from Lon Nol's residence, which is the seat of government, but palace sources said no one in the government was injured.

Lon Nol went on national radio after the attack and appealed to the people to remain calm. No troubles were reported elsewhere in Phnom Penh or in the countryside, where government soldiers are fighting sporadically against Communist-backed rebels.

The second bomb fell a block from the compound. The third fell on the northern outskirts of the city in a sparsely populated area, U.S. Embassy officials said.

They reported that according to their reports the pilot was Capt. So Photra, who was booted out of 728 pilot training for lack of progress and when government soldiers are fighting sporadically against Communist-backed rebels.

Scali May Veto Canal Proposal

PANAMA CITY (AP) — U.S. Ambassador John Scali has threatened to use his veto in the U.N. Security Council against a proposed resolution seeking the handover of the Panama Canal Zone to Panama.

"I look forward to a constructive, positive discussion, and I have no thought that it will be necessary to use a veto," Scali told newsmen Friday. "But, if necessary, I can assure you that I am fully prepared to exercise the veto with the full support of the President."

The council meeting, being held here at the request of Panama to discuss the future of the U.S.-controlled zone, was postponed by a Bible reading by Raul Roa, Cuba's foreign minister. He said it would underline the "hypocrisy" of the United States regarding Canal Zone negotiations.

"This is not a copy of the Communist Manifesto," said the unsuspecting minister, thumping on the black volume on the council roundtable.

"This is a Bible, a copy of which is in every home, hotel and office in the U.S., including the State Department, Pentagon and the CIA."

Roa then read a selection from the Bible, Chapter 12, alluding to the hypocrisy of the Pharaohs.

"For there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed," Roa read in the crowded Council chamber, "neither hid that shall not be known."

Roa said he wasn't personally attacking the majority of North Americans, only "the runaway criminals and lawless which your government shelters and hires."

Scali rebutted, saying Roa's address smacked of "the subterranean world of plots and counterplots."

"The cold war ended long ago," he added. "The United States, one of 15 council members, entered this special session of the United States to 'promptly' give Panama control of the zone."

"I would suggest the authors go back to the drawing board," remarked a U.S. delegate.

Everybody's Irish In South Boston

BOSTON (AP) — 'Tis the day for the wearing of the green in South Boston, where everybody is Irish on St. Patrick's Day.

But this Bostonians will have the whole weekend to celebrate the good saint and also Evacuation Day, commemorating the withdrawal of British troops from the city March 17, 1776.

Evacuation Day is the reason March 17 is a holiday in Suffolk County, which comprises Boston and the neighboring communities of Chelsea, Revere and Wintrop. George Washington is not exactly forgotten in South Boston, but he runs second to St. Patrick.

There are even green bagels on St. Patrick's Day. In spite of the fact that today is the 17th, South Boston's traditional parade, which no politician with any sense would dare miss, will be on Sunday.

The idea behind the switch is to make it easier for parents to bring children.

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter) In the event Manchester's sanitary landfill area is designated one of the state's 23 "waste sheds" (solid waste separation plants), as proposed in a preliminary report last week by the state Department of Environmental Protection, the facility would accept solid waste from Manchester, Vernon and Bolton.

So said Robert L. Schulz yesterday at a public hearing in Vernon's center Middle School. Schulz, director of the DEP's Solid Waste Management Program, is conducting a series of public hearings around the state, to explain the preliminaries of a proposed statewide program.

Criticize Chinese MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, struggling to overcome its farm failures, has begun criticizing the agriculture policy of China, saying it has resulted in a "continued food shortage."

An article published Friday in the weekly magazine Novy Vremya said that the Chinese "level of consumption of foodstuffs is among the lowest in the world."

Over the past few years, a large-scale campaign has been conducted in China to economize on food largely by cutting down on personal consumption.

Production Up WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve interprets an overall increase in industrial production as an indication that the country's economy is continuing to advance at a rapid rate.

The February output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities made a substantial gain over January, according to a report by the Commerce Department, which would be an increase of 9.8 percent on an annual basis.

It said the gains were mainly in consumer goods and business equipment and are seen as an indication of an advancing economy.

Quake Reported MANILA (AP) — A moderately strong earthquake rocked Luzon, the Philippines' main island, and the northern Visayas today. But there were no immediate reports of casualties or damage.

Plaster in some Manila buildings fell as the quake hit, and guests in a major hotel ran to the streets.

Some MIAs Alive PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — Eighteen American prisoners of war listed as missing in action may be alive in captivity somewhere in Southeast Asia, according to Defense Secretary Elliot Richardson.

There have been scant indications that there may be a larger number of Americans in Laotian hands or possibly Communist hands, he said.

Richardson said here Friday as he met with former prisoners of war at Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

High Waters Hit Southeast

Rivers and streams spilled over their banks into Southern lowlands today, forcing hundreds of families to seek safety on higher terrain.

The evacuation began after relentless rains, bruising winds and tornadoes hammered portions of Dixie for more than 24 hours.

Four persons were known dead, numerous others injured. Several thousand homes in the Brainerd section of Chattanooga, Tenn., were threatened by flood waters.

Some 200 families were threatened by flood waters in the Chattanooga area, which runs near the heavily populated, middle-class neighborhood — was expected to be cut off from the rest of the state today. Full bank stage is only about 10 feet.

As midnight neared Friday, more than 300 families along the creek were evacuated. Officials of the Tennessee Valley Authority informed local officials that continued pressure on the Tennessee River system above Chattanooga forced the agency to let more water through the area.

National Guard helicopters, dispatched Friday night to Marion County to airlift families from low-lying areas west of Chattanooga.

In Atlanta, winds were recorded at 60 miles per hour Friday afternoon and the city received an inch of rain in one hour.

Flash flood watches or warnings were out for portions of Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Mississippi, the Carolinas and the Florida panhandle.

In Mississippi, federal, state and volunteer organizations were moving to help persons driven from their homes by extensive flash flooding.

An estimated 300 persons were sheltered at Grenada by the Red Cross Friday night.

Mississippi National Guard officials said some 300 persons were evacuated today with the continued threat of flooding in low-lying areas near Greenwood. There was no estimate of the number evacuated there.

News for Senior Citizens

By Wally Fortin

Hi! Here we go again with the happenings here at your Senior Center.

Big news happens tonight at the Howell Cheney Technical School starting at 8:15. What's going to happen? Well, it's our first all senior citizens Variety Show. I said all senior citizens; however, a few members of the staff are mixed in it somewhere along the line.

Bowling Action Tuesday at the center started with our ceramic class in the morning, and the Parkade Lanes in the afternoon with the following results:

In the men's Class A group, John Scheinberg won the high triple with a 437, and Thomas O'Neill took the high single with a 115.

In the women's Class A group, Bertha Duhring took the high triple with a 434, and the high single was won by Mary Chaves with a 160.

Wednesday morning while our talented ceramic artists were busy in one room, our pinocle players were going it in the main hall with the following winners:

Wednesday evening, we will be selling tickets at the door, in case you didn't pick one up. So we'll be looking for you tonight, and may I suggest you come early for the better seats.

Our bus will go the route and will leave the center at 6 o'clock, so if you're planning on going on our bus then be looking for it, as it may be a little early, or even a little late.

After our big Irish Dinner of corned beef and cabbage the action moved upstairs for our Fun-Day meeting and entertainment.

We heard that Lyla Steele is a patient at Manchester Manor. Fritz Wilkinson is recuperating at his home, 48 Keeney St. Ann Wimmer, Ida Parkinson and John Rice are patients at the Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Carson Signs Pact

By Rick DuBrow

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Bad news for CBS-TV and ABC-TV: Johnny Carson has signed a new long-term contract with the network he helped achieve dominance in late-night television, NBC-TV.

Although ABC-TV and CBS-TV have improved their late-night statistics, their ratings in this programming area are sometimes erratic, whereas Carson continues to display a remarkable consistency in attracting sizable audiences.

In fact, he has built such a solid following for his "Tonight" series that even when substitute hosts fill in for him — as they often do — his show still maintains its ratings potency.

Carson took over Oct. 1, 1962. The show originated at that time, and for most of his time as host, from New York City's Elmer Dikun who spoke and acted on slides of the events that take place on the "S.S. Hope." It was a most interesting and enjoyable after-noon, and we sincerely thank Dr. Dikun for giving time to us.

It is a marvelous production, with the setting updated from Elizabethan times to Venice of the late 1800s. And along with Oliver's expected masterful performance, there are superb portrayals by Jon Wright, as Portia, and the other extraordinarily polished members of the cast.

On Sunday night, meanwhile, a lightweight, glib, but sometimes amusing adaptation of a Broadway comedy, "5 Rms. Riv. Va.," turns up on CBS-TV, with Carol Burnett and Alan Alda as strangers who meet while surveying a vacant New York City apartment as prospective tenants, and develop a relationship.

In this play, which was written for the stage by Bob Randall and adapted by him for the home screen, the strangers are both married, but there is a rapport between them that fills a gap in their lives, even though their relationship is a short one.

There is a definite situation comedy tone to the 90-minute video presentation, and the title imagination, the man and woman and their spouses could be the basis of a contemporary-style television series.

"5 Rms. Riv. Va.," by the way, is simply a classified abbreviation of the words, "5 rooms river view." In the play, tenants of the apartment get their view of the river by looking out of the bathroom window.

This printing set pattern is part of the Herald quality control program in order to give you one of the finest newspapers in the nation.

Scene From Here

By Sol R. Cohen

Published reports quote Gov. Meskill as saying he is "bored" with his job as governor and that it is one of the reasons he decided not to run for re-election.

"I was bored only between crises," he told about 200 UConn students and faculty Thursday, "and those (the intervals between the crises) weren't very long periods."

What are we to believe — that crises are good for the state, or that they're good for one Tom Meskill — to keep him interested and happy?

Why did Meskill even bother to run for governor, one is moved to ask? The top political job in the state — a job to be respected? Why didn't he let someone else run for it in 1970?

It is a marvelous production, with the setting updated from Elizabethan times to Venice of the late 1800s. And along with Oliver's expected masterful performance, there are superb portrayals by Jon Wright, as Portia, and the other extraordinarily polished members of the cast.

St. Patrick's Day

Tomorrow, the Irish have their big day.

It is a day in which those of us who are not "as Irish as Paddy's pig" share in some form or other.

There may be many personal reasons why the non-Irish become "Irish" in some form for St. Patrick's Day but there is also an underlying reason.

For in perspective, of all the ethnic groups that poured into the melting pot of America, the Irish have come to personify the fulfillment of those immigrant dreams. Not that their accomplishments were any greater on the whole than those of other ethnic groups but because of that something in the Irish character that still retains the mystic of romanticism in an age of near-cynicism.

St. Patrick's Day is as much an American celebration as it is Irish and this is a credit to the Irish and their forebears who somehow maintained their love for the old country while giving their sweat, genius and loyalty to their new homeland.

We have come to believe that those who left their homes in other lands were a very special breed of men and women.

For whatever the reasons for their decision to leave the roots of their native lands, potato famines, religious persecution, or sheer pursuit of adventure, each shared in a spirit that would not accept things the way they were. They wanted something better and they drafted our Declaration of Independence, to pledge "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor" to achieve their dreams.

Not all succeeded of course but most of them did in some degree and the greatness that is America today is based on these immigrants - Irish, Swedes, Poles, Italians, and almost every nationality in the world - who wanted something better for themselves and their children.

Tomorrow will be a great day for the Irish but even more it is a great day for us all because it distills in one day what America is all about, a nation created by men and women from many far off places brought together by a spirit of human dignity seeking fulfillment.

The Irish are real and symbolic. Real because they have retained that romantic Irish character. Symbolic because they have proven, as other nationalities have proven, that freedom-loving men can keep the best of the old and still build something new that is greater because of it.

Free Market Works

If you were to dream that you drove into a town where gasoline was selling for 40 cents per gallon, and a price war was raging, and stations were giving away dishes and glassware and free car washes to attract business, you'd hate to wake up, wouldn't you?

But it could happen and you wouldn't be dreaming. And you'd only be one mile from downtown Detroit. The catch is, of course, that you wouldn't be in the United States, but in Windsor, Ontario, just across the bridge.

Canada's Eastern provinces, of which Ontario is one, depend in great part on imported petroleum. Even though the domestic has a large flow of domestic crude.

How can it happen that gasoline is plentiful and reasonably priced there? Well for one thing, oil operates in a free market.

In short there is little or no government meddling with the law of supply and demand. There is no price fixing such as contained in the Emergency Energy Bill which Congress passed but the President vetoed.

We are going through daily frustrations in a vain attempt to hold down the price of petroleum products to unrealistic and economic levels. Wall Street Journal economists estimate that a price of about 60 cents per gallon would stabilize in the United States and bring a sufficient flow to ease greatly the burden of the American motorist.

The allocation program on crude oil has created what the bureaucrats are calling "disincentives" to the natural flow of raw petroleum into the country.

"Disincentives" is a new Washington word for economic obstacles. It is of the same origin as "shortfall" for shortage.

To give him his due, Energy Chief William Simon seems to fully realize the problem and most of his efforts are directed towards relaxation of restrictions imposed by Congress which are obstructing the regular channels of oil commerce.

Threatened dollar a gallon gasoline is probably in the same category as the dollar a loaf bread which the bakers have been threatening us with. So far, it just ain't so.

The price of gasoline here would probably stabilize at about 60-62 cents if all governmental restrictions were lifted and the oil industry could go about its business.

If the politicians would only stop attempting daily miracles with one eye on the votes they may garner, the system could get back into high gear again.

League Makes No Mention of Labor Union Funds

WASHINGTON - I am, well, kind of impressed by a recent announcement from headquarters of the League of Women Voters that the league is launching an all-out drive for legislation to reform the way money is raised and spent for political campaigns.

That is to say, the League's proposal for a mix of private and public financing that would encourage small individual contributions through tax credits and the income tax checkoff makes sense. So does its plan for making additional government funds available to candidates who have shown they have "substantial public support."

But like most sincere degrading organizations whose members are appalled by the financial scandals of the 1972 Nixon campaign, the League of Women Voters makes no mention of one of the worst abuses of political financing, it is, of course, the use of labor union funds to give indirect aid to favorite candidates.

To begin at the beginning, federal laws state that direct campaign contributions by unions must come from voluntary donations solicited from union members. These direct contributions must be reported to various government watchdogs so the public will know what's going on in the bagman department. But estimates of the value of indirect aid, which need not be reported, run as high as $75-million a year.

Indirect aid, a glaring euphemism is ever 1 encountered one, is financed from the union's treasury, meaning its members' dues. It includes assorted services provided free to friendly candidates under what the unions call "political education" for their members. Unions finance registration drives, assign paid staff members to candidates' campaigns and even pay for trips back home for members of Congress during an election year.

You guessed it. The federal government permits spending of members' dues for such indirect aid on the grounds that "education" is directed at the unions' members and their families and that the gimmick comes under the heading of "internal union business."

Presumably, a union member should be willing to spend his dues money to educate himself, his wife and voting-age kids so they'll all vote right - which is to say the way the union bosses want them to vote.

Yet the federal statutes prohibit both labor unions and corporations from using their treasury funds to contribute "anything of value" to candidates for federal office.

What is the value to Congressman X who is assigned a non-paid political expert to help him get re-elected? It is enough to so the public will know what's going on in the bagman department. But estimates of the value of indirect aid, which need not be reported, run as high as $75-million a year.

Tragic Puppet
MONTREAL - It is clear now that the kidnap of Patricia Hearst is in a class by itself, like nothing else in its field of outrage. It isn't a snatch for profit, like the recent kidnaping of a Long Island boy, nor is it like the Arab guerrilla hijackings of passenger planes for a quick political ransom. It is a long political operation for the purpose of sustained propaganda, a political cliffhanger whose ending is not yet in sight.

It is hard to say which is the worst aspect of it - the anguish visited on the parents, waiting day after day hearing snatches of her taped voice, having to guess what is happening to her and what is the condition of her mind; or the ordeal of the girl herself, walking a thin line between the things she feels she has to say as a tragic puppet of her captors and the terrible confusion in her own mind about the role of her parents and the charges against them and her own final fate.

The essence of this particular kind of kidnap is the use of the media. This isn't just a case of people who want to read the headlines about themselves and see their pictures in the papers. They are far beyond that vulgar mode of publicity-mongering.

They want to use the media for their grandstanding of their own cause and of the place they hope they will have in history.

Hence their demand, with each tape they get to some broadcasting station, that it be relayed by every one of the media in the area. Hence the demand that the two SLA members awaiting trial be put on "live national TV" in order to talk about their imprisonment. It isn't hard to imagine how they would use their chance to talk to the nation on a live TV hookup.

We are dealing, in short, with a media kidnap - one primarily dominated by the intent to use the media for political propaganda. I have been taking part in a discussion here of the "media game" - quite appropriate to this city since Montreal was the center of one of the earlier dramatic political kidnaps of our time by the separatist movement of Quebec; the FLQ, which also used the media for its purposes.

There is an infection about this disease that has spread from the FLQ and the Tupamaro to the SLA, and will doubtless spread further. In each nation the political kidnaping has its own unique traits which fit it to its place and time. But in each case, also, the media have - willingly or unwillingly - played the game of the terrorists. The name of the game is propaganda.

There can be little doubt now that the welfare of the people of California is not the objective of the kidnaping. That is part of the propaganda cloak. The real objective is a kind of morality play in which the United States is depicted as starving its needy; and the revolutionaries as daring knights who perform deeds of great risk and valor to feed them; and the FBI as the Big Bad Wolf, intent on holding on to power even at the risk of "killing" the girl, and the parents as both dupes of the FBI and villains in their own right.

It may seem an absurd picture to many, but many others will be naive enough to believe it. As for Patricia Hearst, her role is an impossible one: to transmit the morality play for her captors as if it were her own, in her own words, knowing all the time the heart-break it causes her family, knowing also that her only chance of survival depends upon her playing out her puppet role.

The men and women who kidnap her may well believe their own script. There is a paranoid disease spreading across the world, and its elements are both the fantasy of persecution and the grandiose image of liberation, at any cost, by any means. Beyond that, of course, is the apocalyptic vision of a new political heaven, a new political earth.

We have been building our own society, in our own way, it has plenty of injustices, but there are none so tremendous that they justify what has been done, and will perhaps yet be done, in the Patricia Hearst case.

He Goes Back To the Drawing Boards

By DOUG BEVINS
Once in a while, scattered individuals in Manchester become disgruntled with a particular decision made by the town's Planning and Zoning Commission.

Assistant Town Planner Ronald Blake uses proportional dividers, a drafting tool, in "scaling down" boundaries of zone change sites for maps of three different sizes. (Herald photo by Bevins)

Changing the Maps

When Blake joined the planning department in 1969, the town was still using comparatively crude, small-scale maps which originated with the town's adoption of zoning in 1938.

Every time a zone change is granted - and that action occurs about every two months - Blake has to redraw portions of the zoning maps.

But it's not as easy as it sounds: Changing lines on two base maps of different scale, the legally-adopted large-scale map, and an 11-color wall map takes time.

Routine changes on the maps take about half a day, but more complex rezoning - such as the recently granted applications of MAP Associates for a mixed-use development in Buckland - can take a day and a half.

Blake has three sizes of maps to work with: A small-scale (one inch equals 1,600 feet) map used for general reference by the public, a medium-scale (one inch to 800 feet) map used in the planning office, and the large-scale (one inch to 400 feet) map used for precise measurement of boundaries.

Using an assortment of drafting apparatus, Blake compiles data from maps submitted by applicants and from town land records and transfers the information to the zoning maps.

For the 1,600-foot scale map, he works on a transparent polyester base map, which is run through the town's blueprint machine to produce copies. The legally adopted zoning map, filed in the town clerk's office, is a different situation: It's a large book of 12 maps detailing separate sections of Manchester.

Besides the base maps and the official map Blake also has to maintain a colorful zoning map used for display purposes in the planning office. Blake uses 11 colors and six textures to dramatically depict town zoning on that wall map.

No Police State
Dear Sir:
Regarding your editorial in the March 9, Manchester Evening Herald, "The Right To Privacy," suggesting the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. return to its former practice of the indiscriminate release of telephone billing information, I am a law abiding citizen who prefers a concept of due process: The acquisition of such information through a properly executed subpoena. My contract with ATT is to provide service as an individual with service, not society as a whole.

The critical element is privacy which has a subjective foundation in the law. To support a concept of open access is to encourage a police state. It is for the earlier dramatic political kidnaps of our time by the separatist movement of Quebec; the FLQ, which also used the media for its purposes.

There is an infection about this disease that has spread from the FLQ and the Tupamaro to the SLA, and will doubtless spread further. ## Band Battle Set

Bands are wanted to participate in the "Battle of the Bands" to be sponsored by the Vernon Cystic Fibrosis Benefit Drive committee.

The affair is scheduled for March 22 from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Rockville Armory, West St., Rockville. First prize will be a $100 gift certificate and second and third prizes will be $50 and $25 certificates.

An individual talent award trophy for the most outstanding musician will be presented. Those participating cannot be over 21 years of age and a maximum of two band managers will be permitted.

Bands will be allowed to play for 15 minutes. Anyone wishing further information should contact William Gaston, 872-9480 or Thomas Benoit, 875-6203.

Tickets, at $1.50 to attend the performance, may be purchased at Picard III or Steven & Tom's Pizzeria. Tickets will also be available at the door. Proceeds will go to the Vernon Cystic Fibrosis fund.

Helferichs Speakers In Two Town Churches

The Rev. Dr. Reginald H. Helfferich of Marlborough will be guest speaker Sunday at the 10 a.m. service at Second Congregational Church and his wife, Mrs. Mary Helfferich, will speak at the 9:15 a.m. service at Center Congregational Church. Mrs. Helfferich, who was invited to all ages at Center Church by its board of Christian concern, will discuss living conditions of the people of Africa, the Caribbean and the American Indian. Center Church's service will also include "The Brothers," a play by B.D. Wagner, which will be presented by "A Nazareth Place," the church's young adult group. The play is based on the story of Cain and Abel in Genesis. Members of the cast are: Carolyn Morris, The Lord; Terry Chaudhry, moderator; Dermoth Brown, first Cain; Gary Lahr, second Cain; Jeanne Lahr, third Cain; Jay April, fourth Cain; and Lee Ferry, fifth Cain. The Rev. Dr. Helfferich is minister of missions of the Connecticut Conference, and before his retirement, served as general secretary of the division of world service of the United Church Board for world missions. Considered an authority on the problem of refugees, relief and rehabilitation work, his responsibilities have taken him to 15 countries during the past 28 years. He has set up church-sponsored programs of relief and rehabilitation for the victims of natural disasters, such as floods and hurricanes, as well as for victims of war, political uprisings and other man-made disasters. Mrs. Helfferich was an associate professor of nursing at Cornell University School of Nursing, New York City, before her retirement.

Hebron Gymnastics Program Viewed by Parents

NANCY DRINKUTH Parents and friends had the opportunity to see the school physical education program in action this week as students performed at the Hebron Elementary School Wednesday night and at the Gilead Hill School Thursday night. Physical education teacher Jim Celio, aided by student teacher Paul Steiner, presented a gymnastics show designed to demonstrate the progression of skills from the primary to intermediate grade levels. Celio told the audience that some of the equipment for gymnastics had been provided by the PTO. Children first demonstrated used of the ropes. The youngest pulled themselves to a stand on the knot at the bottom of the rope. The intermediate students climbed up to touch the ceiling of the gym. Children first demonstrated used of the ropes. Elks Car Raffle Winner

Raymond F. Damato (seated in car) smiles as he accepts keys for the 1974 Mercury Montego he won in a raffle conducted by the Manchester Lodge of Elks last week. Handing over the keys (at left) is Andrew Winkler, chairman of the raffle, and Darrell Hovey, exalted ruler of the Elks, is supervising. Proceeds from the raffle - which Winkler said is the first legal car raffle in Manchester for 35 years - go to the Elks functions and charities.

Andover Volunteer Firemen Elect Officers

ELEEN LARIVIERE Correspondent The election of officers of the Andover Volunteer Fire Department took place at the annual meeting recently at the fire house. Re-elected were Howard Bidwell, president; Thomas Bonaue, vice president; Bill Bradshel, secretary; Morgan Steele, treasurer; Joseph Armstrong, chief; and Jack Fisher, deputy chief. Elected to the post of auditors were George Nelson, Clarence Custer, and Joseph Bombardier. Trustees elected were Charles Phelps and Leon Palmer. The annual activity report from March 1, 1973 to February 28, 1974 included 212 total calls. Of these, 82 were fire calls, 111 rescue, 16 standby, 8 alarm system malfunctions (primarily caused by lightning), 3 false alarms, 8 service calls and 4 standby out of town for non-emergencies. Breaking down the 82 fire calls, 34 were in Andover. Nine were structure fires, 9 grass fires, 2 motor vehicle, 10 miscellaneous, and 4 no service on fire alarm. In the 28 calls mutual aid was used 9 times. The remaining 28 fire calls were out-of-town calls, 23 structure fires, 1 miscellaneous, and 4 standby in or out of town station. While aiding on these out-of-town emergencies, the Andover Fire Department was returned in route nine times with no service rendered. Of the 111 rescue calls no services were rendered in 12 and 3 patients refused transport. Of the rescue calls 78 were in Andover, 14 were hoist or breathing difficulty, 1 stroke, 24 motor vehicle, 33 miscellaneous medical emergencies and 3 mutual aid. The remaining rescue calls were all out-of-town, 8 heart or breathing difficulty, 5 stroke, 13 motor vehicle 10 miscellaneous and 5 search and rescue. Andover fire department transported 113 patients to area hospitals in the past year, 67 to Manchester and 36 to Willimantic.

Breakfast To Be Held For DeMolay

The annual Fellowship Breakfast celebrating DeMolay Week will be held Sunday at the Orange Hall, E. Center St. The breakfast is sponsored by the North United Methodist Church of Lebanon and Friendship Lodge of Masons at 7:30. Fayette Chapter, Charter Oak Chapter and John Mather Chapter, Order of DeMolay, are invited with any or all members of the sponsoring bodies of their chapters. Following the breakfast there will be a visitation by those in attendance to the North United Methodist Church for service at 9:30 a.m. The breakfast is a continuing program recognizing the importance of and the support by Masonry in Connecticut, in recognition of the valuable contributions made by the Order of DeMolay and their membership in the creation of upstanding young adults in the community. The general chairman for this year's breakfast is George W. Wales of Friendship Lodge.

The Bible Speaks by Eugene Brower

In last Sunday's Hartford Courant several feature articles dealt with the many movies being shown in suburban theatres. Numerous theative owners were quoted as crediting pornographic movies with rescuing their businesses. One blamed the straggle of a few theatres maintain on worthwhile movies for his turning to pornography against his desire and interest. Perhaps there is a need for a closer look at monopolistic practices in the moviehouse business. Or, perhaps too many suburban theatres are being constructed for the market. In any case, if this claim of overwhelming patronage of pornography is true, it is a sad commentary on the state of our society. And it is equally deplorable that men would violate their consciences while degrading and demoralizing their communities by a devilish contract for a profit. Truly, "The love of money is a root of all kinds of evil." 1 Tim. 6:10.

Bolton ZBA To Meet Monday

DONNA HOLLAND Correspondent The Zoning Board will hold a public hearing Monday at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall to discuss a request by Ernest W. Reed, Jr. for a zoning change from R1 to industrial. Reed is requesting the change to enable him to add to his present garage. The Board of Finance will hold its regular meeting at 8:00 p.m. Monday at the Town Hall. At 8 p.m. the board will hold a budget hearing with the Board of Education. The selectmen will meet Monday at 7 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Coventry Ardel Eagle Scout

Gary Ardel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ardel, became the second Eagle Scout in the ten-year history of Boy Scout Troop 65 during ceremonies held recently at the American Legion Hall. Green-Chobot-Fitchardson Post of the American Legion is sponsor of the troop. Elected to the Order of the Arrow, Scouting's camping brotherhood in 1971, he served as chapter chief for the Natchaug District during the past year. He is now vice chief for the district. Ardel has earned 21 merit badges, including the ten required for the Eagle rank. He expressed the hope that he would earn another five before he becomes 18 to earn the bronze palm. Lewis Bradley, troop committee chairman, was master of ceremonies for the program.

Obituaries

Joseph J. Wierzbicki, 80, of 966 Tolland Tpk., East Hartford, died Friday in a Manchester convalescent home. Mr. Wierzbicki was born in Poland and had lived in the Manchester-Hartford area for 60 years.

Mrs. Thomas J. Freeburn, 83, of 47 Edgerton St., died this morning at her home. She was the wife of Thomas J. Freeburn.

Election Reforms Outlined

Joseph G. Pinzel, 77, of 47 Deepwood Dr. died early this morning at his home. He was the husband of Mrs. Ruth A. Mickel Pinzel.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Connecticut Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer said today election reforms placing limits on contributions and requiring financial disclosure should benefit women running for public office.

Financial barriers often stand in the way of women and political careers, Mrs. Schaffer told the Eastern Association of Physical Education College Women.

He is also survived by a son, George L. Pinzel of Vernon and a granddaughter.

The funeral is Monday at 8:15 a.m. from the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., with a Mass at the Church of the Assumption at 9. Burial will be in St. James Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Today brings back sad memories. That little boy who died. God chose to take your place. And no one can take your place.

Your loving family

In loving memory of my dear brother, Charles L. Fisher, who passed away March 17, 1973.

God has not forgotten. Sadly missed by sister.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all of our friends and relatives for the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown to us in our bereavement. We especially thank all the doctors and nurses of the Memorial Hospital and all those who contributed money to the Memorial Fund of the Salvation Army.

Land Use/Transport Study Signed Despite Protests

By DOUG BEVINS
Amid citizens' objections that the City of Hartford was "railroading" through plans for the Capitol Region Land Use/Transportation Study, ten of the 12 participants in the program signed a document Friday setting the program in motion.

Ten representatives of state and regional agencies signed a "memorandum of understanding" Friday over the objections of two representatives who are supposed to be signatories to the agreement.

The two dissenters were Arthur L. Green of Manchester, executive director of the state Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities, and Ben Andrews, a representative of a regional citizens group which successfully pressed for a seat of the program's policy board.

Windsor Nixon Terms Resignation As 'Cop Out'

be accepted by the DOT until April 5.
The main speakers at Friday night's meeting were Dr. Spaulding, Stanley Ostrinsky, representing the Manchester Property Owners Association; and Lawrence Noone, a leader of the Buckland Association, an 88-family homeowners' group.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon told a friendly gathering of business executives Friday that resignation would be an "easy cop out" that would destroy the presidency. He branded the Watergate charges against him totally false.

In his appearance before the Executive Club of Chicago, Nixon also warned European leaders that "the day of the one-way street is gone," and vowed that he will not stand for Europe uniting against the United States while still relying on the United States for military support.

Nixon fielded 14 questions in the nationally televised, hour-long session and repeated several times to an applauding audience that he has no intention of quitting the White House.

The appearance was one of a series Nixon has undertaken to bolster his sagging popularity and to restore trust in his administration.

He flies to Nashville, Tenn., late this afternoon, where he will meet Sen. Nixon and celebrate her 62nd birthday. He also will dedicate the new home of the Grand Old Opry. The first lady will arrive from South America.

The President handled the businessmen's questions with confidence and ease at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Outside, about 1,000 pro-Nixon and anti-Nixon demonstrators set up counter-chants and held up placards and banners. "God Loves America," sang his supporters, "God Loves Nixon."

"Crook," and "Impeach Nixon" signs carried among the noisy protesters, who also chanted "Jail to the Chief."

But it was Nixon's day and before the appreciative audience that applauded him 15 times he was in better form than he has been in the months since Watergate cast a pall on his presidency.

"During our years as Town Chairmen of South Windsor," said the three in a joint statement, "we were associated with all the great candidates of the Democratic Party, including Abe Ribicoff, Tom Dodd, and John Dempsey. It's our belief that Bob Killian is in the tradition of these men. He is an outstanding attorney, general and will make a great governor."

An active Killian for Governor Committee is already in existence in South Windsor. Committee Co-Chairman Bob Myette termed the announcement by the three former chairmen "further evidence of the depth of Bob Killian's support in our town."

This will be an opportunity for parents to learn about the Connecticut Valley Girl Scouts Council facilities for camping which are available to South Windsor girls.

Happy St. Patrick's Day

The spry, little leprechaun who owned this clay pipe obviously departed in haste leaving it nestled atop a bed of shamrocks. Irish folklore depicts him as a fairy in the form of a little old man who can reveal hidden treasure to anyone who can catch him. But it is only a subterfuge? Or is he really lounging comfortably beneath this shamrock forest laughing at his ardent pursuers? Tomorrow, St. Patrick's Day, will someone finally catch him? Vernon

$2,900 Donated
In Heart Canvass

The door-to-door fund drive for the Vernon Heart Fund has netted a record total of $2,900. G. Richard Owens drive chairman said Friday.

The door-to-door campaign was headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Steele who was assisted by several local women during the two-week campaign.

The goal for the door-to-door portion of the drive was exceeded by more than $500. The goal for all phases of the drive is $4,300 and more than $3,400 has been collected thus far, Owens said.

Still under way are special gifts, special events, and business days fund campaigns.

PTO Meets
The PTO of the Vernon Elementary School, Rt. 30, will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria with the theme of the program to be "Stump the Experts."

The following slate of officers will be presented for election by the nominating committee: Audrey and Andy Anderson, co-presidents; Alice and Russ McPadden, co-vic presidents; Diane Gagnon, secretary; and Mary Lou and Lew Frost, co-treasurers.

The program will include a panel made up of personnel from the school staff and administration. Those attending may ask questions orally or write them on a piece of paper and they will be presented, through a moderator, to the panel.

Questions may cover any phase of the school's operation.

Methodist Women
The Rockville United Methodist Church Women will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Fellowship Hall.

A one-act play, "Two In a Trap," will be presented under the direction of program chairman, Mrs. Joseph Long. Mrs. Thomas Dorman is chairman of the hostess committee.

Mrs. Dorman will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Sugalski and Mrs. Wallace Johndrow. All interested women are invited to attend.

Grange Auction
Vernon Grange 52 is seeking items for the auction it plans to hold April 20 in conjunction with a buffet which will be served at 5:30 p.m.

The auction and buffet will be at the Grange Hall, Rt. 30, Vernon.

Mrs. Eleanor Friedrich will be hostess for the evening and Mrs. Elsie Suchecki will be in charge of devotions.

Two Brothers
Charged With Evasion

HARTFORD (UPI) — Two Hartford area brothers have been arrested on charges of federal income tax evasion.

The two men, Frank Kelly, 61, of West Hartford, and Thomas Kelly, 56, were also charged with making out a false return for the company in which they were officers, Kell-Strom Tool Co. Inc. of Wethersfield.

The Internal Revenue Service said the allegedly false returns were filed for 1967.

IRS officials said Kell-Strom failed to pay $152,023 in taxes. Francis Kelly and his wife, Mary, owe $179,951, and Thomas Kelly and his wife, Elinore, owe $24,133 in taxes.

Moonshine Production Declines

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia's moonshine whiskey production is on the decline, revenue report, because of inflation and changing attitudes among bootleggers' descendants.

"They don't go for making moonshine the way it used to be when the practice was passed on from one generation to the next," commented a federal revenue agent on a licensed beverage report that showed only 27 West Virginia stills were seized in 1972.

The agent also attributed the decline to the fact that some moonshine now costs as much as some brands of bonded whiskey.

Gaining On-the-Job Experience

Looking like a corner of a department store, the school store at Manchester High School is manned by members of the distributive education classes during a recent clearance sale. Mrs. Nancy Grassilli, left, distributive education teacher-coordinator at the school, instructs Shelly Bufano in operating the cash register as David Taft, center, and Chuck Formica handle sales and display.

Class members also learn other phases of merchandising including purchasing and receiving, marking and advertising, and keeping accurate records of operations. The program is part of the Cooperative Occupational Educational Program (COEP). The store, open daily during school is stocked with school and office supplies, gift and novelty items. News Commentary

Ocean Isle Sparks Dispute

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Diego Garcia is an island speck 1,000 miles south of India in the Indian Ocean which is becoming a subject of international controversy not suggested by its physical size.

The island is 13 miles long and between four and five miles wide and has been earmarked by the United States as an air and naval support base to offset growing Soviet naval might in the Indian Ocean. Upon it, the United States intends to spend $32.4 million to have a runway capable of handling giant KC135 tanker planes and a harbor able to service an aircraft carrier in emergencies.

Australia and New Zealand oppose it as a violation of the "Zone of Peace" in the Indian Ocean which two years ago drew the support of more than 100 countries in the United Nations.

Other nations along the Indian Ocean's rim, including India and Sri Lanka (Ceylon), also have voiced opposition egged on by the Soviet Union.

Soviet Propaganda
Tass, the Soviet official news agency, said the United States was seeking to make a "show of strength" designed to intimidate "Indian Ocean and Persian Gulf countries with their wealth of oil deposits."

Soviet propaganda makes no mention of the fact that the Soviet Indian Ocean force consists of some 30 vessels that port servicing facilities in Somalia, Aden in South Yemen, and Um Zahr in Iraq. Soviet ships in addition, make calls to ports in India.

The end of U.S. participation in the war in Vietnam, the war between India and Pakistan, the Arab oil embargo following the October war between Israel and the Arabs and the anticipated reopening of the Suez Canal all have been factors in directing new U.S. attention to the Indian ocean's strategic value.

So long as the Suez Canal remained closed, the Soviet route from Black Sea berths to the western Indian Ocean totaled 11,000 miles. From Vladivostok, it was 9,000 miles. But with the Suez Canal open, the distance is cut to 2,200 miles.

Essential Routes
For Japanese, European and some 12 per cent of U.S. oil needs it is essential that Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean routes from the oil-producing countries of the Middle East remain open, subject to no future-day threat from the Soviets.

Soviet fleet visits to the Indian Ocean began in 1968, at about the time when Western naval strength there was on the decline.

Prior to the outbreak of the Mideast war last fall, the only permanent U.S. force in the area consisted of a small three-ship squadron on the Persian Gulf, based at the former British base in Manama, Bahrain. The United States leased a portion of it from Bahrain after the withdrawal of the British.

Even that small bit of muscle is now scheduled to be eliminated next October. Bahrain canceled the lease after the outbreak of the October war.

From India and Sri Lanka to Tanzania, Kenya and Madagascar the controversy is rising, most of it unfavorable to the United States. The United States never was a colonial power in the Indian Ocean, but, unfortunately, in the minds of developing south Asian and African countries it is linked to those who were.

Some Preparedness
Bitterly complaining in a letter to his brother in 1734, Major George Washington referred to a journey he had just completed — a winter trip by horse, foot, and canoe, in bone-chilling rain and snow, through the unmapped wilderness now known as the Ohio Valley. The journey, one of the most eventful in early American history, set the stage for the French and Indian War, nearly cost the life of the 21-year-old Virginian, and prepared the future President for his military career.

Sales Exchange Open

The SERRV (Sales Exchange for Refugee Rehabilitation Vocations) Gift Shop, is now open Mondays through Fridays from 9:30 to 1 p.m. in the Union Congregational Church.

The SERRV shop is a non-profit venture selling handicrafts made by people around the world who have been displaced by wars or natural disasters.

SERRV began shortly after World War II, when several Americans recognized the potential income war refugees could earn from selling their handmade wares.

Through the help of Church

World Service, an interdenominational agency, churches began to be sales outlets for these items.

Some of the items available for sale are salad dishes from Haiti; teakwood animals from Hong Kong; elephant carvings and brass bells from India; bracelets, brooches and crosses from Jordan; carved impalas from Kenya; charm necklaces from Thailand; and other items from other countries.

The Union Church Shop is located in the foyer of the side door nearest Union and Elm Street. The shop is run by volunteers.

When Does Spring Come?

We say that spring comes around March 20, at the time of the spring equinox (EE-kwuh-nocks). The equinox is the time of year when the center of the sun is just above the equator. At this time, the days and nights are just about of equal length all over the earth. There is also an autumn equinox which occurs around September 23.

The equator is an imaginary line that divides the northern hemisphere from the southern hemisphere.

Easter always comes on the first Sunday after the first full moon occurring on or after the spring equinox. This is a different date each year. This year, Easter comes on April 14.

Animal of the Week:

The Frog

Eggs

Tadpole

Tadpole with legs

Frog

Frogs are amphibians (animals that live part of their life in water and part on land). Some stay in water all their lives. Frogs have cold blood, so many hibernate in winter. Females lay jellylike eggs. In four to 20 days, the eggs hatch into fishlike tadpoles that can breathe in water. Later they develop legs and move to the top of the water for air. Their tails get shorter and they develop into frogs. This takes two weeks for some frogs. It takes two years for bullfrogs to change.

Frog and Toad Differences

by Minnie Page
a real news hound

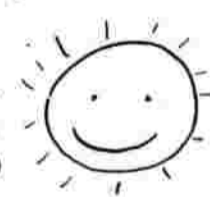

- Most frog eggs take longer to hatch than toad eggs.
- Frog eggs are usually larger.
- In most cases, it takes longer for a frog tadpole to change into a frog than it takes a toad tadpole to develop into a toad.
- Frogs are not as squat and fat as toads.
- Toads have rough, dry skin and some have warts. Most frogs have slick, smooth skin. Some people believe that touching a toad will give you warts. This is not really true!

"Buy ours... They help you manage better!"

Stop & Shop brands cost less than national brands.

Yet Stop & Shop brands are the equal or our best-selling national brand for quality.

I vouch for it. The people in this store all vouch for it. The people in charge of Stop & Shop brands vouch for it. (I know, I've asked.)

So buy the brands I back personally: Stop & Shop brands.

Your Store Manager.

We've made a science of meat handling in the store!

For some time now, we've been telling our customers about Stop & Shop's revolutionary Marbro Meat Plant which enables us to maintain uniform cleanliness and tight quality control, allowing our beef to age carefully and naturally. This prompts some of my customers to ask me, "Can I be assured that these same high standards are maintained in the meat room in your store?"

The answer is an absolute "Yes!" Every Stop & Shop meat department is operating under the healthiest environmental and sanitary standards that meat has ever had in a supermarket. Our meat lockers are kept at 45° and at 32° to 34° in our refrigerators. These are the ideal temperatures for keeping meat fresh. It's controlled by our meat managers who've received extensive training in all aspects of meat handling, including sanitation and refrigeration standards, and this becomes part of their daily routine.

All equipment in the meat department was especially designed with sanitation in mind. For instance, we have eliminated the wooden chopping blocks which can encourage bacteria growth. They have been replaced by stainless steel and plastic cutting boards, non-porous for easy washing. In addition, we use high pressure hot water sprayers to sanitize our equipment, and display cases.

This all goes to show, there's more to Quality Protected Beef than meets the eye!

Sirica Orders Grand Jury Report Be Given Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Federal Judge John J. Sirica today ordered that a secret grand jury report on President Nixon's handling of Watergate be turned over to the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry.

Sirica ordered a two-day stay in turning the report over to permit "whatever appellate review may be available."

"Having carefully examined the contents of the grand jury report, the court is satisfied that there can be no question regarding their materiality to the House Judiciary Committee's investigation," Sirica said.

"Beyond materiality, of course, it is the committee's responsibility to determine the significance of the evidence, and the court offers no opinion as to relevance."

The committee had requested the secret report so it can use whatever evidence the grand jury had uncovered in its inquiry into whether Nixon has been involved in impeachable offenses. The White House did not contest Sirica's right to turn the material over to the committee.

Sirica's 22-page ruling said that the two questions he had considered were: "Whether the grand jury has power to make reports and recommendations," and "Whether the court has power to disclose such reports, and if so, to what extent."

Sirica, who reaches mandatory retirement age on his 70th birthday Tuesday, will be replaced as Chief Judge of U.S. District Court by Judge George L. Hart, Jr. Wednesday.

Hart, 58, is expected to decide Watergate cases equally among the 15 judges remaining on the court. Hart will have to step down as chief judge when he reaches age 70 in 15 months.

A Watergate grand jury gave the report to Sirica March 1 as it indicted seven former close associates of President Nixon on charges of conspiracy in the Watergate cover-up. Sources have said the report deals with the President and that the grand jury asked that it be given to the Judiciary Committee, which is studying possible impeachment of the President.

In other developments: Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Conference, sided with the Judiciary Committee, against the President, Sunday, saying the White House should give the committee 42 tapes it has requested. "I think the committee should be given that information," he said in a broadcast interview (NBC) Meet the Press. He rejected the White House view that the committee request is a "fishing expedition."

Anderson also said the President has become a "liability" in many parts of the country. "A majority of candidates will concentrate on conducting independent campaigns," he said.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said Sunday (CBS "Face the Nation") that Nixon will be out of office either by impeachment or resignation by November. He said he is willing to sponsor legislation giving Nixon complete immunity from prosecution once he resigns.

The Senate Watergate committee questions the President's private secretary, Rose Mary Woods, in private session Wednesday about an alleged $100,000 campaign contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes to the President's friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo. Miss Woods said in earlier testimony to the committee, released Saturday, she had two or three conversations with Rebozo about the money but never discussed it with Nixon.

Arab Ministers Discuss Oil Prices

Oil Embargo Lifting Delayed by Details

United Press International Arab oil nations have agreed in principle to lift their five-month-old oil embargo against the United States. Arab oil sources said today.

The sources said an announcement of the boycott's end has been held up so far while the oil ministers argued over details of the move.

In Tunis, the official Algerian press service also announced the boycott's end, saying the Arab ministers "decided purely and simply to lift the embargo measures."

An aide to Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said the Arabs would hold a new round of talks this afternoon. Arab oil sources said a final decision was expected then.

Syrian Oil Minister Jibr El Kefri was awaiting new instructions from Damascus following Sunday's indicative meeting of Arab oil ministers on lifting the embargo, the source said.

Egypt and Saudi Arabia had proposed the ban be scrapped in repayment of the U.S. role in negotiating an Israeli troop withdrawal from the Suez Canal, the sources said.

Syria wanted the ban lifted only temporarily in order to keep up pressure on the United States to get Israel to allow withdrawal from occupied Syrian territory, the sources said.

Many observers had expected the embargo to be lifted following a meeting of Arab oil ministers in Tripoli, Libya, last week but sources there indicated a formal decision ending the embargo would be announced in Vienna Sunday.

Nine members of the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) met separately in Vienna to consider lifting the ban after the 12-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) announced it had decided to continue a freeze on prices of crude oil another three months until July 1.

The 12 OPEC members nations produce 85 per cent of the world's oil exports.

In other energy-related news: Egyptian President Anwar Sadat told Newsweek magazine that he feels it would be a "real tragedy" for our area of the world if President Nixon were impeached. Sadat said Nixon had accomplished a "new look" in America's Middle East policy.

Carlyle-Johnson Plant Struck

The 48 production employees of the Carlyle-Johnson Machine Co. were on strike as of this morning and set up picket lines at 6 a.m. at the company gates at 82 Main St.

The employees are members of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machinery Workers (IUE), AFL-CIO.

The union's local representative, James Ingalls, said the company's gates will be under surveillance 24 hours a day.

The union's contract with Carlyle-Johnson expired at midnight Saturday and negotiations, begun about two months ago, have broken down.

The Carlyle-Johnson Machine Co. manufactures a variety of clutches for machinery.

A 38-day strike of the company's employees, the first in its history, took place from March to April in 1964. The strike started when the workers demanded a union shop and the company opposed it. The agreement which ended the strike expired in March 1965.

A brief walkout of a few hours occurred in January 1966. The walkout was in sympathy with an employee who objected to being transferred to the night shift. The workers were encouraged to return to their jobs by the union, in that instance.

Rep. Dooley Will Not Seek Re-Election

BARBARA RICHMOND

Rep. Thomas Dooley of Vermont said he will not seek re-election to the General Assembly, a post he is serving for a second term.

The legislator cited his increased responsibilities as Connecticut General Insurance Co. as his primary reason for his decision. Last fall he was elevated to the position of second vice president to head the marketing department.

His new position, he said, requires substantial time and travel which precludes his running for a third term. Asked whether he would be interested in running for Congress, Dooley answered with a definite "no," stating that "it is not my cup of tea."

Dooley, before reappointment, represented the entire town of Vernon. With reappointment he was elected to serve one portion of Vernon while the other sections share districts with other area towns.

Dooley, who is an attorney, termed serving in the General Assembly "one of the most worthwhile and exciting activities I have ever experienced." He added, "It would sound corny but I found it thrilling to be part of the law-making process."

He said he also enjoyed his contact with people who he has never had any distasteful incidents and never felt he was ever harassed by his constituents.

"There is a real sense of satisfaction in representing your community in the House of Representatives, getting to know and assisting literally hundreds of citizens and being an integral part of the law-making process," he said.

He said his decision not to seek re-election was a difficult one and was reached after long discussions with his wife Ann and his children Karen, 16, and Larry 11.

"Realistically, however, I cannot spend what I consider to be the appropriate time required at the Capitol and with my constituents," Dooley confided.

He said his employer had not asked him to step down nor asked his family feel that way. "In good conscience, however, I do not want to execute the responsibilities of the office of state representative in a less than adequate fashion," he said.

Dooley said he would prefer to step down and permit someone who is capable of spending as much time as he has in the past to represent the interests of the town and state.

Dooley said he knew of no one in particular at the present time who is interested in running for the post but he will be looking for someone to succeed him as soon as he can get a candidate named when the time comes.

Nothing he does plan to remain involved in governmental affairs and in this connection is seriously considering seeking election to the Town Council. Dooley said he would also like to think that the time will come when he can again consider becoming a candidate for state office.

Dooley has been a popular candidate with both parties proven in the 1970 elections when he won in all four Vermont districts and in 1972 winning when all other offices were taken by Republicans.

Dooley has kept his campaign promises, making himself available to his constituents, answering their many letters and calls, meeting with them in person, and kept them informed.

His actions in the legislature carried over into his constituency as a whole-Democrats, Republicans, and Independents.

Banker Pays Ransom For Wife's Return

LINO LAKES, Minn. (UPI) - Banker Gunnar Kronholm has delivered a ransom to the kidnappers of his wife, Edina, a family spokesman said early today, and the kidnappers have promised they will let him know later today where his wife can be found.

Rev. Bruce Fleming, Kronholm's brother-in-law and pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist Church in Minneapolis, said money had been delivered "as promised" and that it was supposed to be received sometime this morning where Mrs. Kronholm can be found.

Fleming refused to say how much ransom was paid or give any details on how the money was delivered.

Earlier, the FBI announced that the car belonging to Mrs. Kronholm was found in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina.

Mrs. Kronholm, 46, disappeared Friday morning sometime after 7:30 a.m. last that day, a man telephoned Kronholm and said: "We have your wife. Deliver all the money you can to a station at..."

Kronholm said he immediately hung up. Since then, nothing has been heard from the kidnappers.

An IRA attack on an army foot patrol in Londonderry's Brandywell district Sunday night killed a soldier, raising the death toll to 977 in 4 1/2 years of violence.

Four suspected IRA gunmen broke into a U.S. Navy communications station at Londonderry during a St. Patrick's Day dance early Sunday, took four petty officers hostage and attempted to break into the armory.

Cmde. Chester Murphy of the New Philadelphia, Ohio, the base commander, said the raiders tried in vain to smash open the armory door with bolt cutters and an ax.

Murphy said the gunmen kept one of the four petty officers hostage during their escape, but he managed to get away when they drove into a blind alley. "These apparently crazed men find their way out so they abandoned the truck," Murphy said. "Our man used that moment to break away. As he ran, the gunmen fired four shots but they missed and he got away and raised the alarm."

A Navy spokesman said no weapons were taken from the armory.

Police and troops manning checkpoints near the province's border with the Irish Republic and outside barricaded city centers stepped up searches today in an attempt to stop explosives and weapons traffic.

Wire Guild Workers Strike UPI

NEW YORK (UPI) - The Wire Service Guild struck United Press International today, the first strike by editorial employees in the 67-year history of the news service.

Management personnel maintained news, newspaper and broadcast coverage to UPI's clients.

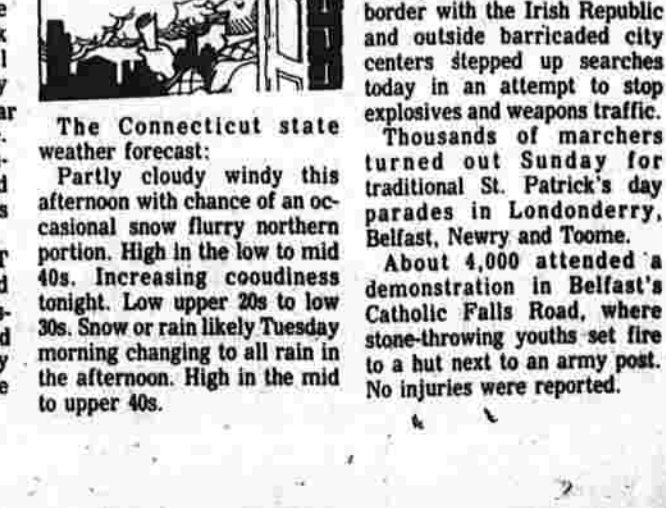

Promptly at 8 a.m. EDT domestic Guild-covered reporters and editors left newsrooms in UPI's World Headquarters in New York City and in other bureaus across the country.

Joseph H. Krimback, special agent in charge of the FBI in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area, said the car belonging to Mrs. Kronholm was found at 1:25 a.m. EDT today by the Edina Police Department at the parking lot of the Southdale Shopping Center. Edina is about 30 miles from Lino Lakes.

No other information was available, Krimback said.

Kronholm, described as exhausted and distraught, was unable to meet Sunday with newsmen.

The Connecticut state weather forecast: Partly cloudy windy this afternoon with chance of an occasional snow flurry northern portion. High in the low to mid 40s, increasing cloudiness tonight. Low upper 20s to low 30s. Snow or rain likely Tuesday morning changing to all rain in the afternoon. High in the mid to upper 40s.
