Public Attends Herald Open House

Several hundred Manchester area residents attended the public open house of The Manchester Evening Herald today. They were taken on a tour of the new building which houses New England's first all-electronically produced daily newspaper. The open house culminated work which started last spring involving major building construction and installation of the latest available typesetting and composing equipment in the industry. Conducting one of the series of tours this morning was Burl L. Lyons, left, Herald publisher. (Herald Photo by Ofiara)

Livestock Growers Criticize Ceilings

By BARTON REPPERT
Associated Press Writer
While plans go ahead for a nationwide meat boycott beginning this weekend, livestock producers contend President Nixon's ceiling on meat prices is unfair and won't bring any real benefit to consumers. Farm organization leaders, some urging tactics to counter the President's move, say price controls will discourage expanded production and eventually may result in higher prices. Meat processors say the price ceiling will disrupt the industry's regular production pattern, and one said plants may be forced to shut down because of increased costs.

Meanwhile, many housewives preparing to join the week-long boycott argue that retail meat prices already are too high for the government-imposed ceiling to be of much value.

Rev-Sharing Said Key To Poverty War

HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Meskill told a coalition of minority groups in Hartford today that the key to saving needed federal poverty programs is revenue sharing. Meskill said federal revenue sharing shifts control over the programs from Washington bureaucrats to the local level to "men and women who know and understand the problems of their communities."

"I find this aspect of the President's philosophy practical and sensible," Meskill said in remarks prepared for the Hartford Summit Conference.

"However, this approach levies extreme pressure on state and local officials because everyone wants a significant piece of the leather and we cannot through pure mathematics make everyone totally happy," he said. "They're why priorities are difficult, but necessary, to establish."

Meskill also responded to criticisms of his administration for allegedly not giving social service a high priority.

"Perhaps they (the critics) are not aware of the fact that Human Resource Development expenditures for anti-poverty programs have increased from $7.2 million to our present budget of $9.2 million," Meskill said.

One program whose funding is still in question because it is not provided for in the President's budget is the summer Neighborhood Youth Corps, Meskill said.

"This means, assuming we all agree that the employment needs of our young citizens are of vital importance and that the officials of each municipality and my administration must jointly adopt the most viable plan to provide summer employment," Meskill said.

Meskill said it was important that the group, once it has decided on priorities and goals, to know where to go for action.

"I would strongly suggest, for expediency in the processing of a proposal, that all local alternatives be exhausted thoroughly before a request is presented to the state level for final consideration," Meskill said.

The head of the Iowa Farm Bureau said on Friday that, if livestock producers cannot receive a fair return on their meat processors say the price ceiling will disrupt the industry's regular production pattern, and one said plants may be forced to shut down because of increased costs.

Meanwhile, many housewives preparing to join the week-long boycott argue that retail meat prices already are too high for the government-imposed ceiling to be of much value.

The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation called the price controls not "right, fair or acceptable."

"Any appreciable drop in farm prices on meat will surely lessen the incentive for farmers and ranchers to increase production," William J. Kuhfuss, head of the two-million-member group, said Friday.

In Des Moines, Oren Lee Staley, president of the National Farmers Organization, said on Friday that Nixon's ceiling on meat prices "was clearly a discrimination against the American farmer."

In Kalamazoo, Mich., the head of the Michigan NFO said the organization has agreed by a 4-1 margin to continue its refusal to sell meat to collection points.

The head of the Iowa Farm Bureau said on Friday that, if livestock producers cannot receive a fair return on their money and effort, "the consumer may have to be satisfied with mush."

In Denver, the head of the National Farmers Union called Nixon's announcement of the price controls "only the latest in a series of actions against the American farmer."

There was some favorable comment on the retail price ceiling. An official of the Ohio Cattleman's Association, Ed Johnson, said Ohio producers are "feeling pretty good" about the controls.

"They're saying it would have been a whole lot worse if (Nixon) had put the price ceiling at the farm," Johnson said.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said he believed Nixon was "moving in the right direction" but said "his decision to put the crunch on the livestock industry is discriminatory." It makes just one segment of the economy appear to be the culprit.

Among meat packers reacting to the price ceiling was the Armour Co., which issued in Phoenix, Ariz., a statement saying there might be plant shutdowns unless on-hoof meat prices also were controlled.

Housewives and consumer groups, meanwhile, said they were going ahead with plans for a national meat boycott starting Sunday.

In Watergate Affair

White House Staffers Testify Informally

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House says it may permit staff members to appear informally before the Senate committee investigating the Watergate break-in.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also said Friday that White House staff members would be permitted to appear before a federal grand jury investigating the Watergate affair.

White House staff members may be allowed to answer questions for the Senate committee, he said, the procedure would have to be approved by the committee.

In other developments, a source close to the Senate investigation said convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. told Senate investigators that presidential chief of staff H.R. Haldean "had to be aware" of plans to bug the Democratic headquarters.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who had been scheduled to pronounce sentence on McCord Friday, postponed sentencing until June 15 to give McCord time to complete his Senate testimony and to tell a federal grand jury what he knows about the case.

Gordon Liddy, described as organizer of the conspiracy, was ordered to testify before the grand jury by Sirica, who granted him immunity from prosecution for anything he might say. But Liddy spent more than 90 minutes before the grand jury Friday and apparently refused to answer questions.

His lawyer said Liddy—already sentenced to at least six years, eight months in prison for his Watergate activities—had invoked the 5th Amendment and would be back in court Monday to face a contempt citation. The Senate committee probing the case also issued subpoenas to three lower echelon GOP campaign workers to corroborate McCord's story, a source said.

The three, ordered to appear Wednesday, are Sally Harmony and Sylvia Panarites, both former secretaries to Liddy, and Robert Reiser, a former administrative assistant to Jeb Stuart Magruder.

Magruder left Nixon's staff to work in the President's re-election campaign and was among those named by McCord, according to Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.

The Washington Post, quoting Senate sources, said today

McCord has testified that while he was security chief of Nixon's re-election committee in the spring of 1972 he met or talked with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell almost daily. Mitchell, chairman of the committee from early March to July 1, 1972, had said in an earlier deposition that he met only once with McCord and had virtually no other contact with him.

The Post quoted DeVan L. Shumway, a spokesman for Mitchell and the re-election committee, as saying that Mitchell reaffirmed he met only once with McCord. Shumway described McCord's reported testimony as a "blatant falsehood."

He told a cheering crowd of thousands at Tan Son Nhut airport, many of them civil servants and military officers, that he was undertaking the six-day visit to the United States "under the banner of cooperation in peace."

U.S. sources said Thieu, in his summit meeting with President Nixon Monday and Tuesday, would seek commitments for billions of American aid dollars to keep the Saigon regime in power. He also seeks to counter his image as a dictator. Thieu often has come under sharp criticism from U.S. congressional leaders, with whom he will be meeting, on the operations of the Saigon government.

One of Thieu's top aides, Pham Duong Hien, who is already in the United States as an advance man, said: Thieu also would seek assurances from Nixon of renewed U.S. military intervention if North Vietnam resumes large-scale war in violation of the ceasefire agreement.

In a five-minute speech before boarding his specially equipped Air Vietnam Boeing 707 jet, Thieu said he was going to the United States "to express our deep gratitude for the noble sacrifice of the American soldiers on our land."

Ambassador Bunker Quits Saigon Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ellsworth Bunker, who has served as ambassador to South Vietnam, is resigning and will be succeeded by career diplomat Graham A. Martin, the White House has announced.

The White House Friday announced the resignation of Bunker, who has been at Saigon for six years, and the pending appointment of Martin, former ambassador to Thailand, Italy and other countries.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that Nixon accepted Bunker's resignation with "deep personal regret" and voiced "deep gratitude" for his "superior service" to his country and the cause of peace in Indochina.

Ziegler said Bunker, 78, will take on "other duties" for the President, to be announced in the "relatively near future."

News Capsules

Muskie To Speak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie was designated Friday by Democratic Congressional leaders to respond next Monday night to President Nixon's Friday night national televised and broadcast speech.

Aides said the national television and radio networks are being asked to carry the Maine Democrat's speech live to be delivered from the Capitol as a "news event."

Muskie will deal with the same subjects as Nixon did—vietnam and the economy—and will reply to Nixon's attack on congressional moves to force domestic spending.

Long Sap Run

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Freezing nights and warm days, the combination to make the sap run long and sweet, is expected to make New Hampshire's maple syrup crop an outstanding one this year.

George Laramie, director of the Division of Markets and Standards in the state Agriculture Department, said that "if the weather continues to cooperate," the crop will equal or exceed last year's production of 50,000 gallons of syrup. The record is 59,000 gallons produced in 1965.

Final Phase

Operation Homecoming shifts into its final phase today as jets bring 48 more Americans home from Communist captivity. A final group of former prisoners is expected to fly to the United States by Sunday.

Those former POWs already home began to tell of hellish tortures inflicted by their captors to get information or propaganda statements—and sometimes just as a matter of routine.

Workers Killed

LOERRACHE, Germany (AP)—Five construction workers were killed and one was missing, presumed dead, when a gas pipeline near this Black Forest town exploded late Friday night, police reported.

The pressurized gas blew out a lock and threw the construction crew up to 30 yards away, police said. Four other men were injured slightly in the blast and were released after hospital treatment.

Fly Over Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Israeli warplanes penetrated Lebanese airspace twice this week in violation of the 1949 armistice agreement between the two countries, a weekly Defense Ministry statement reported today.

The statement said the planes flew at high altitudes over six villages and towns in south Lebanon but there were no bombings.

U.S. Civilian Presence Challenged

SAIGON (AP)—The North Vietnamese delegation to the four-party Joint Military Commission bid Saigon farewell today with a blast at the United States, charging it had "sabotaged the most important and urgent provisions" of the ceasefire agreement.

"On the part of the U.S. side, even though having ended the direct operations of its armed forces in South Vietnam, it keeps on approving and supporting the Saigon administration's sabotage of the ceasefire and continued carrying out of armed clashes in South Vietnam," said Maj. Gen. Le Quang Hoa, chief of the North Vietnamese delegation that returned to Hanoi.

"The United States continues its military involvement in South Vietnam under other forms. It has turned its military men into disguised civilian personnel to assist the Saigon army," he said.

Defense Secretary Elliott Richardson, speaking in San Antonio, Tex., Friday denied similar Communist charges made in Paris. He said: "There are no U.S. military advisers being left behind in the guise of civilians." He said civilian personnel are in Vietnam as advisers but none is involved in a military capacity.

The Viet Cong joined the North Vietnamese today in charging the United States with cease-fire violations. Col. Vo Dong Giang, deputy chief of the Viet Cong delegation, charged that 17,000 U.S. military personnel remain in Vietnam disguised as civilians.

Giang also denied widespread allegations of torture by scores of U.S. prisoners who were released from Communist prisons in February and March.

"In all the minutes of the return of the U.S. POWs, the minutes said they returned in generally good health," said Giang. "Their condition was fit. You may see them healthy and happy when they return."

Today to mark the end of direct American involvement in South Vietnam with the final release of known prisoners of war and the completion of withdrawal of American troops after almost 11 years of war, The Herald, in lieu of its regular editorial page, is publishing a list of the prisoners of war who have been freed and are home or en route to home.

March Going Out Like A Lion In Parts Of Nation

A spring storm centered over Oklahoma today dumped snow onto the High Plains and spawned thunderstorms and heavy rains from the Gulf Coast to the central Midwest.

Heavy-snow warnings were posted for northwest Kansas, western Nebraska and northeastern Colorado, and roads became impassible over western Oklahoma Panhandle and portions of eastern Colorado.

Hundreds of families in rural Las Animas County, Colo., were isolated Friday night. County officials declared a state of emergency and asked the governor to send extra snow-removal equipment and personnel.

About 220 University of Oklahoma students were stranded in Springfield, Colo., overnight when buses they were riding were unable to continue on a snowbound Colorado highway.

The students, who numbered about one-sixth of the tiny community's population, spent the night in the high school gym, and townspeople were "trying to scarp up enough food and bedding to feed and sleep them," according to an officer.

Heavy rains fell from Alabama and Mississippi northward across Arkansas into Missouri and eastern Kansas and threatened communities in eastern Missouri with flooding from the already-swollen Mississippi River.

Flash-flood watches and warnings were posted over much of the area. Elsewhere in the nation, scattered showers splashed

Freed Prisoners Saluted

The list begins on page four and continues through page six and is published as a trixope to the prisoners in recognition of the suffering and captivity which resulted from their service to our country, the 45,943 who gave their lives, the 453,039 who were wounded in action, and, especially those who are listed as missing in action.

Because of the length of the POW list, the Business Bodies Column usually published on Saturday will be carried in Monday's Herald.

Talks Scheduled At Wounded Knee

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP)—The first negotiations in 19 days between the federal government and American Indian Movement forces holding Wounded Knee were scheduled today in a tepee near the village.

A government negotiating team led by Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell was to meet at noon EST with Indian representatives in a so-called "demilitarized zone" between an Indian blockade at the edge of the village and a forward roadblock manned by U.S. marshals.

In earlier Department spokesman Tom Evans told newsmen on Friday that today's talks hopefully would be the first of a series of sessions that would bring a peaceful resolution to the 32-day occupation of Wounded Knee by militant Indians.

The encamped Indians are demanding reform at the national and local levels in the administration of Indian affairs.

The cease-fire in effect since Tuesday has not been violated, Frizzell said, although one shot was fired from within the village Friday. Federal spokesmen said the shot was accidental.

PAGES FROM THE PAST

It seems fitting that the Jay Stager family, the present occupants of the former Russell Cheney art studio, are lovers of art and nature as was the original artist-occupant.

The eleven- and youngest child of Knight Cheney and Ednah (Dow) Cheney, was born in Manchester Oct. 16, 1931. Until he died July 12, 1948, at Kittery, Maine, he spent most of his life traveling, studying painting, and producing hundreds of landscapes and seascapes, portraits and stills. Today, the name Russell Cheney appears on paintings in art galleries throughout the country.

Mr. Cheney's career began, interestingly enough, when in a letter to a college friend, he told of how he had been over-coming an evening by the beauty of a replica of the statue of Venus de Milo in the studio of the family homestead. He wrote that he had before him a large bay window which opened under a grape arbor that bears white and dark grapes. The pink and orchid drapes and matching cover on the poster bed make for a feminine setting in contrast to paneled walls.

Before the Stagers lived here, the studio was converted into a charming lounge area with bold blue and green tile patterned carpeting and paneled walls. Sliding glass doors open onto the wooded lawn. His adjoining bedroom, decorated in blue, is highlighted with bright sheepskin throw rugs.

A Thought For Today

RESURRECTION HOPE

The first step toward Christian unity grew out of the concern by church people to become more effective in easing the hunger burden of this world.

When we talk about resurrection or love or justice or peace, it's all about one thing, man, BREAD.

The Hope of Jesus

Teaching about Charity

"Be careful not to perform your religious duties in public so that people will admire you. If you do things publicly you will not have any reward from your Father in heaven."

"So when you give something to a needy person, do not make a big show of it, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and on the streets. They want everyone to see them. Remember that they have already been paid in full. But when you help a needy person, do it in such a way that even your closest friend will not know about it, but it will be a private matter. And your Father, who sees what you do in private, will reward you."

Teaching about Prayer

"When you pray, do not be like the hypocrites! They love to stand up and pray in the synagogues and on the street corners so that everyone will see them. Remember that they have already been paid in full. But when you pray, go to your room and close the door, and pray to your Father, who is unseen. And your Father, who

The Bible Speaks

Dr. Thomas P. Malone, Atlanta, Ga., psychiatrist, says that it is increasingly clear to him that almost all emotional problems are reflected in one particular bit of behavior. "It's a person walking around screaming, 'For God's sake, love me!' And he goes through a million different manipulations to get somebody to love him."

Dr. Malone further observes that healthy people are looking for someone to love. And he concludes that if there is ever a change in this demanding to be loved, it will be when they discover that they give up these demands and get busy loving another, and the joy they long for will be returned.

Paul's definition of love in 1 Cor. 13 bears out this selfish concept. Love is patient and kind—love is not jealous, boastful, arrogant, rude, not insistent on its own way.

Foreign Car Repairs

Right Polition! Every car owner can do plenty right now to fight pollution! The key word is "maintenance." Every car needs periodic maintenance to insure proper performance on the highways—this has always been required. Now, all car owners may do their bit to fight pollution by properly maintaining his car. Charles M. Heinen, chief engineer for emission control and chemical development, Chrysler Corp., puts it this way—

"Every vehicle needs periodic maintenance to insure high standards of emission control performance. A car that is not properly maintained will increase pollutant emissions by 10 to 15 times. One spark plug misfiring may double the output of hydrocarbons. A carburetor set too rich an air/fuel mixture can increase carbon monoxide by 50 per cent or more. A bad timing belt, on the other hand, can increase carbon monoxide by 100 per cent or more. A properly tuned and maintained car will give you the service you want, and fight pollution. The breath you save may be your own!"

United Sports Car Repair, Inc. on Rt. 83, Talcottville, has experienced men ready to serve you and your car. They offer complete tuneups, brake work, electrical repairs, muffler repairs, transmission rebuilding and engine overhauls on all imported cars.

If you own a foreign car you should be happy it served by the experienced men at United Sports Car Repair, Inc. on Rt. 83, Talcottville—the next to Vittner's Garden Center.

To serve the city better, United Sports Car Repair, Inc. announces that they have been appointed Benell dealers. They will sell Benell bikes and mini bikes, and offer service to all Benell owners in the area. Also, on Rt. 83, Talcottville you will find United Cigo Service Station offering service on all American cars. Tuneups, tires, batteries, mufflers and electrical repairs.

Bulls Criticized Officiating, Lakers Harmless, Win Opener

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Chicago Bulls coach Dick Motta and his players angrily assailed officiating in the wake of their 107-104 overtime loss to the Los Angeles Lakers in the opener of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Three Bulls were out of the game on six personal fouls each at the end of the overtime period and Motta declared, "I'm getting sick and tired of seeing the Chicago Bulls pushed around this league like a bowling ball."

Much of the controversy stemmed from a play 15 seconds before the end of the overtime period when the Los Angeles Lakers' Jerry West, who won the NBA championship last year, fouled Motta. Motta said he heard the whistle and thought they were calling steps on West.

Chicago had deduced the Lakers 94-94 at the end of the regulation 48 minutes, forcing the game into overtime.

In the other openers of the best-of-seven series, New York beat Baltimore 95-83 and Milwaukee whipped the Golden State Warriors 110-90.

Los Angeles trailed 50-41 at the half before scrappy Gail Goodrich got hot with 14 points to snap the Lakers from their lethargy.

By the end of the regular time, Goodrich had 28 points, high for the game. But in overtime, it was Jerry West who scored seven points, five on free throws, to pace his club. West finished with 17 points.

Jim McMillan of the Lakers appeared to hit the Bulls' Bob Motta in the eye with an elbow, knocking him out for a few minutes, but a foul was charged on the play to Chicago's Bob Love, McMillan then scored two free throws which put the game out of Chicago's reach.

"I didn't foul him," Love declared. "The officials never give me a break."

Working the game were veteran officials Richie Powers and Manny Soto.

Norm Van Lier, one of the Bulls' best players, commented angrily, "It's ridiculous when we get these calls against us. On my last foul, I ran right by Jerry West and never touched him. I heard the whistle and thought they were calling steps on West."

Ali Tries on Belt He Once Possessed

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Muhammad Ali tried on George Foreman's heavyweight boxing championship belt and let everyone know how well it fit.

"This is my belt! This belt belongs to me!" Ali shouted before Foreman's manager, Dick Sadler grabbed it away Friday.

Ali, who lost the championship to Joe Frazier in 1971, called himself "the people's champion," and he put that title today when he met George Foreman, a powerfully built but relatively unknown ex-Marine.

The scheduled 12-round bout at the San Diego Sports Arena brought $210,000 to Ali and $50,000 to Norton, whose highest prior payday in a 28-1 record was only $8,000.

The Ali-Norton fight was scheduled to start at 8:40 p.m. PST with live television coverage by the American Broadcasting Co. except on the West Coast, where it was shown at 5 p.m. San Diego was blacked out.

All took a 41-1 record into the ring, fighting for the eleventh time.

Celtics Hurting Before Playoffs

BOSTON (AP) — A small cloud of uncertainty hangs above the heads of the Boston Celtics as the winningest team in the club's history steps into the playoffs; the condition of defensive ace Don Chaney.

Chaney sustained the injury last Tuesday while going up for free to look on with any club. He chose Boston and came to camp as a non-roster player.

Named the club's most valuable pitcher in 1968-69-70, Culp was given his unconditional release, which meant he was free to look on with any club. He chose Boston and came to camp as a non-roster player.

On the basis of what he has done to date, the 32-year old righthander has made it back and will be one of the starters.

"He's one helluva competitor," Kasko said of Culp. "We didn't know what to expect from him. He's looked real good and only needs a little more work before we open the season. There's no question that he will be one of the 25 starters."

"We'll have a set club with a better bench," Kasko warned.

The Celtics, who carry a 68-110 record into the playoffs, were the Atlantic Division title of the Eastern Conference. The Hawks were second in the Central Division. The winner of the Celtics-Hawks best-of-seven series will play the winner of the other Eastern Conference playoff between New York and Central Division champion Baltimore.

Paul Silas, the big rebounder for the Celtics who has been an important part of Boston's success this season, worked out in practice Friday and is expected to be ready for action Sunday.

Silas, bothered by an ailing knee for a week, sat out the last two regular season games against Atlanta and Baltimore. His problem has been diagnosed by Dr. Thomas Silva, team physician, as "an inflammation of the lining of the knee."

Dr. Silva told that Silas could have played against the Bulls the other night, "but I was wiser to give his irritated left knee more rest since the game was of no consequence."

Challant continued, "He'll be getting best treatment before each game, and an ice pack after each one. He'll also be treated with an anti-inflammatory agent the rest of the way, the same thing (John Havlicek) has been taking since last September."

Havlicek, the team captain, has been bothered with knee trouble throughout the season, even sitting out some games. While his problem has been a game-to-game thing, the Celtics don't appear to be worried about his condition for the playoffs.

Dave Cowens, the rebounding front center, who was voted most valuable player of the NBA this year, and Havlicek are certain to start against the Hawks. Coach Tom Heinsohn still has to decide just who will round out the starting five.

Among the reserves who could possibly start are veteran Don Nelson, Artie Williams and rookie Paul Westphal.

NASCAR May Use Option To Run Atlanta 500

HAMPTON, Ga. (AP) — Subject to the whims of a March storm, officials at Atlanta International have two options to assign starting berths in Sunday's Atlanta 500-mile stock car race.

One depended entirely on the weather, the other on some fine print in the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing rules.

"Given a minimum of three hours of dry racing surface, we will assign starting berths in the order in which drivers and their crews signed in at the track on registration day last Wednesday."

The situation was caused by rain that washed out the first two days of time trials, when the top 30 starters were to have been decided.

The forecast for today was a 60 per cent chance of rain with

Elder Out of Sight

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Casper took the second-round lead Friday in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament with a 64 while poor old Sam Snead has a "just kinda routine" day.

The Snead routine: —Not one teed green. —Not one missed bogey. —Not one missed fairway. —Getting on in two on all three par-five holes on the 7,001-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Snead, who won the first of his eight Greensboro Open titles back in 1938, said "It wasn't very exciting."

His four-under-par 67, coming on the heels of an opening 66, left him nine under par at the midpoint of this 72 hole tournament and just two back of the leading Casper.

Kasko After Injury-Free Year

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — "If we can stay healthy, we'll win. If we can stay free of injuries, we'll win. That's what hurt us last year, injuries," Manager Eddie Kasko of the Boston Red Sox said about the upcoming American League baseball race in the Eastern Division.

"We have enough people to get the job done," he said as we sat side-by-side on two folding chairs near the home club dugout at spring training headquarters.

Last year the New England favorites lost the division title by one half game to Detroit.

"We lost Yaz (Carl Yastrzemski) for six weeks, Doug Griffin for five weeks, Luis Aparicio for six weeks and Ray Culp in June for the rest of the year. You can't lose these type players and not be hurt," Kasko noted.

"I don't feel that the other clubs have improved that much in our division and I see no reason why we shouldn't win, if we stay healthy," the mile-mannered Boston field skipper said.

Culp in Comeback

Culp, once the bellcow of the pitching staff and a big winner for four years with the Sox, suffered a torn shoulder blade muscle last June in his pitching arm and underwent surgery.

Named the club's most valuable pitcher in 1968-69-70, Culp was given his unconditional release, which meant he was free to look on with any club. He chose Boston and came to camp as a non-roster player.

On the basis of what he has done to date, the 32-year old righthander has made it back and will be one of the starters.

"He's one helluva competitor," Kasko said of Culp. "We didn't know what to expect from him. He's looked real good and only needs a little more work before we open the season. There's no question that he will be one of the 25 starters."

"We'll have a set club with a better bench," Kasko warned.

Eddie Kasko

Satisfied with Pitching

"I like our Pitching, too. I'm satisfied with it. (Luis) Tiant and (Marty) Pattin, (Lynn) McGlothen, (Reggie) Moret and (Mike) Garman, plus Culp, give us a pretty good staff along with (Sonny) Siebert. Moret and Garman have looked particularly good and Craig Skok has been a pleasant surprise." The latter was 15-7 at Louisville and is a fellow to remember.

How about that normal New England weather in April, which is usually cold and damp as compared to conditions during Grapefruit League play?

"It may be uncomfortable playing, but once a fellow gets into shape, he shouldn't have any trouble playing in colder areas, like Boston," Kasko related.

"Not any more predictions regarding other clubs, Kasko feels that this is the year of the Red Sox.

"If we can escape any major injuries and two guys having off years, we'll win," a confident manager said, which would make no one happier than Tom Yawkey who has had just two winners in 40 years of ownership.

Pickups at Sox Camp

"It takes relief pitchers three weeks to get their arms into shape and starters from five to six weeks," Eddie Kasko reports.

Don't bring up the designated hitter rule around Kasko and voice your opinion as approval. "It's one helluva rule when you have to use it during the regular season but can't in spring training unless you play against an American League club." We have 33 spring games, only 14 with teams in our league. The rule doesn't make much sense if you can't use it. I haven't been able to test it so we'll have to experiment when the season starts and not down here like we should," Kasko explained.

"I didn't like the rule from the start and I still don't like it."

Carl Yastrzemski, Rico Petrocelli, Reggie Smith and Luis Aparicio all worked out their own training conditioning schedule. "You never have to worry about these guys," Kasko said.

Orlando Cepeda can't run but he can still swing the bat. "He wants to play some but I don't know if he can play everyday (as a regular)," Kasko said. If Cepeda starts at first base, Yastrzemski will be in leftfield.

Luis Tiant, who saved the Boston staff last year with 15 wins in 21 decisions, reports he never had any arm trouble in the past but a torn cartilage in the rib cage in 1969 wasn't discovered until three years later.

"Playing was more fun than managing," Kasko said. "Then I only had to worry about myself, now I have to see that 25 guys are happy. The hardest part of managing is to get the best out of the 25 men you have and to solve their off-field, at home problems as well as those on the field."

'I've Had It,' Martin. Changes Mind

Manager Hangs Up Position

NEW YORK (AP) — And now for today's baseball quiz, class. It's a multiple choice question; pick one... or more.

Billy Martin (a) is the manager of the Detroit Tigers, (b) isn't, (c) was Friday morning, (d) wasn't Friday night, (e) may be again today.

Yes, Mr. Martin? "I'm done. Get yourself a new manager."

All right, now it's your turn, Jim Campbell. After all, you are the general manager of the Tigers.

"As far as I'm concerned, Billy Martin is still my manager."

"I've had it. I've resigned."

How about that, Mr. Campbell? "I'm just at a loss to understand all this and I want to talk to Billy. I feel that he'll be back. There will be absolutely no punishment or fine or anything like that."

The Campbell-Martin summit conference to clear up Friday's impulsive resignation of the fiery 42-year-old manager was scheduled for this morning in Campbell's office at Lakeland, Fla., the Tigers' spring training base.

But Martin, who had just resigned and stormed from a meeting with Campbell and outfielder Willie Horton Friday after the manager fired his player for leaving the park during an exhibition game, only to have Campbell up the ante.

The latest incident capped a hectic week for the trigger-tempered pitcher-or-ex-pitcher. A few days earlier he and rookie Ike Bleasch, who had just been sent to the minors, were arrested outside a restaurant and fined $32 apiece for using profanity in a public parking lot.

Martin, who piloted the Tigers to the American League East Division championship last season, had impudently quit Campbell's camp to join the "moderate" team on Horton for leaving the park without notifying him during a game Thursday night.

Campbell held what he called "an even-tempered discussion," with both men, during which Campbell said "Billy jumped up and said 'Get yourself another manager; I quit.' And he stormed out of the office."

Meanwhile, the Tigers went on and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-5.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants blanked the Milwaukee Brewers 6-0 on Ron Bryant's one-hitter, the Pittsburgh Pirates rocked the St. Louis Cardinals 11-1, the Cincinnati Reds shamed the Atlanta Braves 5-1, the Oakland A's edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3, the Boston Red Sox downed the Chicago White Sox 9-4, the San Diego Padres topped the Cleveland Indians 2-0, the Minnesota Twins edged the Houston Astros 1-0 and the California Angels edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4.

San Francisco's Bryant allowed Milwaukee only a oneout single by John Vukovich in the ninth inning. Vukovich lined a clean hit to left-center to become one of only two baserunners for Milwaukee. The other was Don Money, who reached on sportscast Danny Edlin's co'serror after Bryant had retired the first 22 Brewers.

Bryant said later that he woke up with a fever and almost decided against pitching.

WHA Playoff Rule on Line

NEW YORK (AP) — The Minnesota Fighting Saints, whose summer vacation apparently began when they lost to the Alberta Oilers 5-3, shouldn't make firm plans. Immediately after the game Friday night, Saints' President Lloyd Laird notified WHA President Gary Davidson that he was protesting a change in the league rules made March 21.

The rule change, formulated by the WHA Executive Committee, eliminated the necessity of playoffs between two teams tied for the fourth playoff spot after regular season play had ended.

The Saints' loss to Alberta gave both clubs identical 38-37-3 records and a split in their eight game season series.

Laird said Davidson was expected to take a poll of WHA trustees early this morning to determine whether the Saints and the Oilers would meet in a tie-breaker Sunday in Minnesota.

Laird claims to have the support of six of the 11 voting trustees.

All this post game jockeying became necessary when Alberta's Ken Baird poked home a goal with 2:13 left in the game to break a 3-3 deadlock.

Baird, who also scored Alberta's third goal, slapped the winner behind goalie Mike Curran after play-making passes from Rusty Patenaude and Steve Carlyle. Ron Anderson scored the game with an open-goal goal at 19:51.

The Kings, who now trail fourth-place St. Louis by three points with only one game remaining, were tied with second-place Minnesota in the second period when Reg Leach scored for the Seals. Pele scored a 6-5 tie with the Vancouver Canucks in the final 12:22 of the third period.

At Vancouver, the last-place Canucks needed Bobby Schreiner's 37th goal of the season at 6:53 of the final period to gain tie.

Tiant Tunes Up for Opener

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — "That's something you'll never see again, a double play on the hit and run which works," said Red Sox third base coach Eddie Popowski, who has been in baseball about 40 years.

The rare twin killing happened to the Boston Red Sox Friday in the first inning of an exhibition game with the Chicago White Sox.

Tommy Harper led off with a single and then took off for second. Mike Guerrero reached out and lined a single through the hole to right and Harper naturally headed for third.

However Chicago right fielder Pat Kelly threw a strike to the hole to right and Harper naturally headed for third.

Quick-Scoring Plays Gives Schock Record

By The Associated Press

Richmond's Danny Schock has a hat trick, and a piece of an American Hockey League record.

Schock, with 47 goals this season, picked up one goal in the second period, then tied a league record with two goals within a five-second span in the final minute of the third as the Robins downed Hershey 10-6.

In other league action Friday night, Boston nipped Springfield 2-1 and Virginia beat Baltimore 4-2.

In the final period at Richmond, Schock fired a long shot into the Bears open net, then took the ensuing faceoff from Rene Drolet and banged home his third goal of the night.

Larry Wright and Bob Currier had two goals each for Richmond. Steve Cardwell scored two for the Bears, who had a five-game winning streak snapped.

In other league action Friday night, Boston nipped Springfield 2-1 and Virginia beat Baltimore 4-2.

In the final period at Richmond, Schock fired a long shot into the Bears open net, then took the ensuing faceoff from Rene Drolet and banged home his third goal of the night.

Larry Wright and Bob Currier had two goals each for Richmond. Steve Cardwell scored two for the Bears, who had a five-game winning streak snapped.

Bruins Eye Personal Standards

BOSTON (AP) — A veteran goalie who has been riding the bench will be in goal and a rookie center sensation will sit out tonight as the Boston Bruins take on the Maple Leafs at Toronto in the next to last game of the regular season.

Eddie Johnson, who has not played since he was sent to the New York Islanders earlier this month, will tend the nets. Coach Bep Guidici, since then, has gone to unbeaten rookie Ross Brooks or 44-year-old Jacques Plante, acquired from Toronto March 4. Johnston's record this season stands at 24-16-1.

Several players on the Bruins have a chance to achieve some personal goals in the last two games. Star defenseman Bobby Orr is just three points shy of his fourth straight 100 point season. Ken Hodge needs one point to reach the 500-point career mark.

Phil Esposito, the league's scoring leader with 127 points, needs two more goals to boost his NHL career total to 400.

WHA Playoff Rule on Line

NEW YORK (AP) — The Minnesota Fighting Saints, whose summer vacation apparently began when they lost to the Alberta Oilers 5-3, shouldn't make firm plans. Immediately after the game Friday night, Saints' President Lloyd Laird notified WHA President Gary Davidson that he was protesting a change in the league rules made March 21.

The rule change, formulated by the WHA Executive Committee, eliminated the necessity of playoffs between two teams tied for the fourth playoff spot after regular season play had ended.

The Saints' loss to Alberta gave both clubs identical 38-37-3 records and a split in their eight game season series.

Laird said Davidson was expected to take a poll of WHA trustees early this morning to determine whether the Saints and the Oilers would meet in a tie-breaker Sunday in Minnesota.

Laird claims to have

For Your Information

THE HERALD will not disclose the identity of any advertiser using box letters. Readers answering blind box ads who desire to protect their identity can follow this procedure:

Enclose your reply to the box in an envelope - address to the Classified Manager, Manchester Evening Herald, together with a memo listing the companies you do NOT want to see your letter. Your letter will be destroyed if the advertiser in question has not written you by the time you've mentioned. If not, it will be handled in the usual manner.

PLEASE READ YOUR AD

Classified or "Want Ads" are taken over the phone as a convenience. The advertiser should sign his ad the FIRST DAY IT APPEARS and REPORT ERRORS in time for the next insertion. The Herald is responsible for only ONE insertion. Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by "make good" insertion.

Notice

In loving memory of Jane A. Dewart, who passed away April 1, 1971.

We do not need a special day, to bring you to our minds, For days without the thought of you, Are very hard to find. You had no one a last farewell, You could not say goodbye, You were gone before we realized, And only God knows why.

Lovingly remembered and Sorrowfully missed by, Daughter, Georgena and Her family

Fire Guts Van

This is how the interior of a U-Haul van, parked in front of 38 Thompson Rd., looked after it was gutted by an electrical fire. Town firemen received the call at 6:19 p.m. Friday and "quickly extinguished" the fire, according to firemen.

Police Report

Two town men were arrested by Manchester police Friday in unrelated drug cases. The men, charged on Hartford County Superior Court bench warrants, are:

Timothy Donahue, 20, of 87 Seaman Cir., charged at his place of employment with illegal sale of a controlled substance (two counts) and illegal possession of a controlled substance (two counts). He was turned over to Hartford County Superior Court in lieu of a $10,000 cash bond. The court date is unknown at this time.

Philip L. Gordon, 21, of 820 Tolland Tpk., was charged with sale of marijuana (three counts) by police Friday. He was taken to the Connecticut Correctional Center at Hartford in lieu of a $10,000 cash bond. He too has been turned over to Hartford County Superior Court authorities for processing.

George Kania, 19, of 86 Cambridge St., was charged Friday with illegal sale of a controlled substance and illegal possession or control of a controlled non-narcotic substance. He is being held in lieu of a $10,000 cash bond and will be presented in court Monday if bond is not posted.

Clarence R. Gole, 52, of 73 Wells St., was charged with second-degree larceny in connection with the recent theft of a tractor from the Bidwell St. area. The arrest is the result of an investigation of the detective bureau of the Manchester Police Department Court date is April 16.

Keith L. Bolin, 19, of Glastonbury, was charged Friday night with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The arrest came after he was alleged to have been observed operating his vehicle erratically on Parker St. Court date is April 16.

A Manchester woman was injured Friday in an afternoon accident at E. Middle Tpk and Summit St. Shirley S. Wade, 51, of 46 Harlan St. was treated and released at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

According to police a car operated by Margaret S. Schaller, 66, of 80 Meadow Lane, failed to stop at the light and struck the Wade vehicle. Police allege that the Schaller woman then left the scene. The Schaller woman was later charged with failure to obey a traffic control signal, evading responsibility, failure to show license and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Court date is not known at this time.

Housing Bids High, More Money Sought

Bids for the South Windsor housing for the elderly project came in $60,000 more than $360,000 available to the town for the construction of the project. The project is planned for a site off Elm St.

Town Manager Terry Sprinkel said that as a result of the high bids he has asked the state Department of Community Affairs (DCA) for more money. DCA officials told him they will investigate the matter. The high bids may mean that the town will have to revise some of its plans for the project, according to Mayor

East Windsor Policemen Wounded

EAST WINDSOR (AP) — An East Hartford policeman armed with a .38-caliber revolver was shot and wounded by a state trooper Friday, state police said.

The officer, Vincent Cassandro, in his early 30s, of Enfield was reported in fair condition at Hartford Hospital.

Troopers gave this account of the incident: East Hartford police early Friday morning sent a teletype message asking for help in locating Cassandro, whom they wanted on a breach of peace warrant, troopers said.

Troopers were called in by Enfield police, who had kept Cassandro under surveillance for several hours.

Cassandro drove from Enfield into East Windsor, police said, with troopers and Enfield police in pursuit. When Cassandro was forced off the road on Route 191, troopers said, he allegedly showed the pistol and ignored a trooper's warning to put the gun down. Police said a trooper fired once through the rear windshield of Cassandro's car and the bullet struck Cassandro's cheek and lodged in his shoulder.

SOUTH WINDSOR

Leslie Brunson, 19, of 34 Forest Rd., Coventry, was charged Friday morning with possession of marijuana. The arrest was made by Coventry police while responding to a complaint in the area. He was released on a $150 non-surety bond for court April 16.

Adult High School At Center Church

Adult Basic Education (ABE) invites adult men and women of all ages to attend these free classes in English, reading and mathematics. Courses are also offered in English and mathematics for the foreign born.

A state-funded program geared to prepare students for the high school equivalency examination is being presented continuously throughout the school year, Monday through Thursday, 9 to 11 a.m. in the Robbins Room of the Center Congregational Church in Manchester.

Besides offering strictly academic subjects, work is done in consumer education and job skills in order to prepare people for independent living. Instructor at the day program is Ruth Kukulka, a University of Connecticut graduate who is currently working on her master's degree in education at Eastern Connecticut State College in Willimantic.

Her aide, Beverly Javarauckas, is a graduate of the ABE program. For further information about the program contact the Adult Education Department, Rockville High School, 675-9471.

Super Trees Are the Trees of the Future

A forester uses a rifle with a telescopic sight to shoot a limb from the top of a tree. The limb will later be grafted to a small growing tree. (Photograph courtesy of Weyerhaeuser Company)

Super Trees are the trees of the future. They are a product of many long years of research and development by government agencies and private industries.

A Super Tree is one that grows faster, is healthier, more desirable and bigger than the normal tree. While most trees grow about 20 years before they are big enough to cut, the Super Tree is big enough to harvest when it is 15 years old or less.

The steps in making a Super Tree

1. A forester looks for an outstanding tree with a big, straight trunk and the right amount of limbs at the top. Then he bores a hole at the base and takes out a sample of wood to make certain the fiber is good and strong.

2. When the proper tree is found, a forester shoots a limb from the top.

3. The limb is grafted or attached to a young tree already growing in a seed orchard. The graft is wrapped.

4. Trees have flowers. At a special time of year the male flower produces pollen. If the flower is to produce a seed, the pollen must be carried or blown to the female flower. This is called pollination. The grafted limb of the tree is covered with a plastic bag to keep unwanted pollen from reaching the female flower.

5. At the proper time, the forester injects pollen collected from the flowers of grafted limbs into the plastic bags covering the flowers of other grafted limbs. This is called cross-pollination.

6. The flower then produces a super seed that will produce a super, better growing tree.

1. The forest ranger takes a sample of the wood. 	2. A forester shoots a limb from the top. 	3. The limb is grafted to a young tree.  The limb is wrapped.
4. A plastic bag is put over the limb. 	5. Pollen is injected into the plastic bags. 	6. The flower produces a super seed that will grow into a super tree.

Controlled pollination is the way that foresters make certain they produce a superior tree. A bag is put over the flowers of a grafted tree so no other pollen can get in. Then pollen from a superior tree is put into the bag. This enables the tree to produce a superior seed.

A Mini Page "How Do You Do?"

How do you grow your own baby trees?

1. Punch about eight small holes in the bottom of an eight-ounce cup. Fill the cup with dirt to about 1/2 inch from the top.

2. Put a seed on top of the dirt. Acorns do very well. So do some pine seeds, but you can use most any kind of seed, such as an apple or orange seed. If you want to plant a pine seed, put a thin layer of sand on the top of the dirt to cover the seed.

3. Water the seed and put a small plastic bag over the cup. The bag should have one or two holes punched in the top so air can get in. Put the covered cup in an old pie pan and place it in a window where it will get direct sunlight. Water the seed just enough to keep the dirt moist.

4. When the seed sprouts and grows up past the top of the cup, remove the plastic bag. When the seedling is about four to six inches tall, it can be planted outside.

5. When you plant the seedling outside, dig a hole big enough for the cup. Cut the sides and bottom of the cup so the roots will grow into the earth. Then plant the whole thing, cup and all.

Mini Recipe: Baked Apples

What You'll Need:

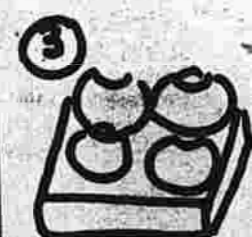

- 4 cooking apples
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- water
- cinnamon

Set the oven at 350°.

Wash and core your apples. Ask Mom to help.

Mix granulated sugar and about 2 1/2 cups water. Pour into shallow baking dish. Put apples in with cored side up.

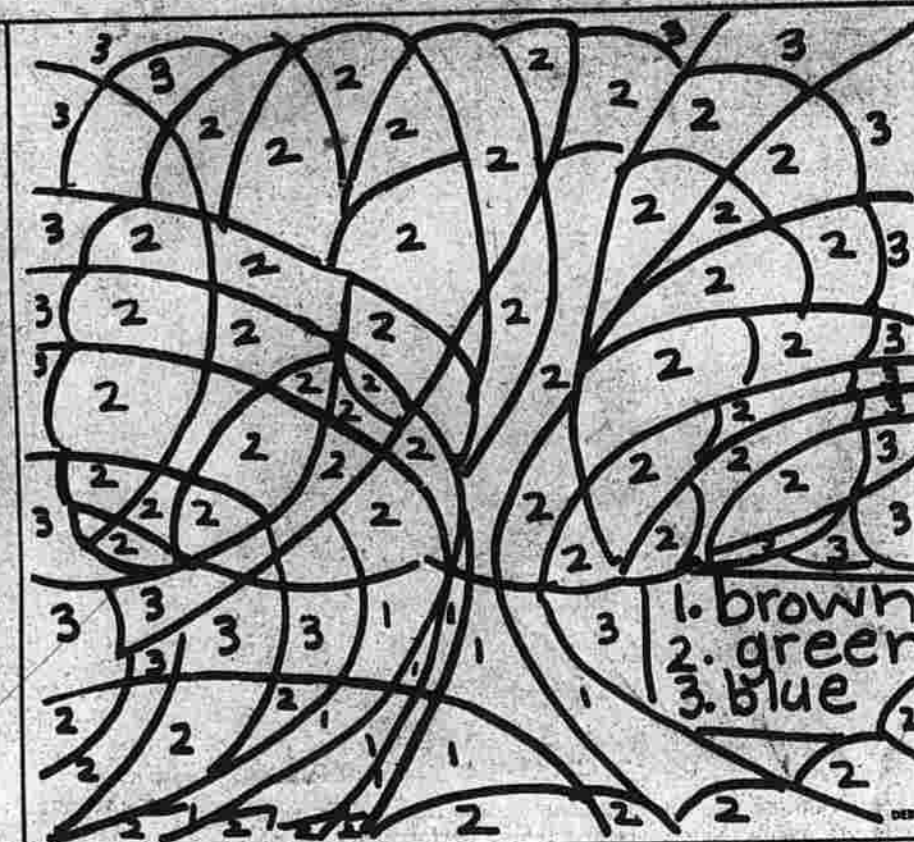

Bake for 45 minutes. Sprinkle tops with brown sugar and cinnamon. Cook another 5 minutes.

Cool and serve topped with ice cream or whipped cream.

Super Sport: Don Shula

Don Shula is the 42-year-old owner-coach and vice president of the world football champions, the Miami Dolphins. This year the Dolphins have set a history breaking record of 17 wins in a row. Shula played defensive back in the NFL for seven years before going into coaching. He coached the Baltimore Colts prior to joining the Miami team two years ago. Shula has won the NFL Coach of the Year Award several times. He is known for his low key way of dealing with his players. He also has a way of letting them know he cares about them.

Smokey the Bear is the living symbol of fire prevention for the U.S. Forest Service. He is 23 years old and lives in the National Zoo in Washington, D.C.

Animal of the Week: Smokey

In 1945, the Forest Service decided to use a bear, dressed in dungarees and an old style ranger's hat, as its symbol of fire prevention. Five years later, in 1950, a little bear, weighing only five pounds, was found clinging to a tree during a very bad forest fire in the Lincoln National Forest in New Mexico. His feet were burned and his hair singed. Forest rangers took good care of him. They decided to make him the living symbol of fire prevention. Today, Smokey lives in the National Zoo in Washington, D.C. The cage has a special glass window that allows children a close look. Smokey is 23 years old. He suffers from a kind of rheumatism that makes his legs stiff when he walks. His favorite food is honey. He also eats fish-cakes and cereal. At one time Smokey was getting so much mail that he was given his own personal Zip Code. You can write to him at The National Zoo, Washington, D.C., 20252.

Elizabeth Hubbard and Jim Pritchett, stars of NBC-TV's daytime drama, "The Doctors," sit among stacks of scripts representative of the 2,600 used on the show since its inception ten years ago. "The Doctors" airs Monday through Friday at 2:30 p.m. on Channels 20, 22, and 30.

Actor Notes Changes In 'Doctors'

"The Doctors," NBC-TV's weekday drama serial which celebrates its tenth anniversary Monday (April 2), has gone through a lot of changes since it premiered, according to Jim Pritchett, who plays Dr. Matt Powers in the series.

The show, which now has a long-running dramatic storyline, at one time involved five separate storylines per week — a new one each day. "That was an interesting time," Jim recalls. "It was difficult, not as much for the actors as for the writers, who had to come up with a new plot each day. It was a fantastic writing chore."

That lasted for four months and then the show went to a different storyline each week. "I enjoyed that arrangement," said Jim, who is the only original cast member on the show. "It was fun and interesting to have new actors coming in each week, and not nearly so appalling as new characters every day."

Jim, as Dr. Powers, Hope Memorial's austere chief of staff, has had three different television wives since "The Doctors" began. Have the actresses who portrayed Maggie (Ann Williams, Bethel Leslie, and currently Lydia Bruce) influenced his characterization at all?

"Yes, I suppose that subtly, they have," Jim says. "Each actress is different, and my character has changed, unconsciously and perhaps imperceptibly, in responding to each new Maggie."

"I've been fortunate in having three good people play opposite me," Jim continued. "It could have been different, like having three marriages and divorces, but fortunately it didn't work out that way. I've worked well with each of them and we are all good personal friends."

Concerning censorship, the dark-haired actor says he has seen some liberalization in "The Doctors," but not nearly as much as in nighttime television, the theater, and films. "Actually," he said, "the show was concerned with such controversial subjects as children conceived out of wedlock and adultery ten years ago. Also, there has never been a problem from the aspect of women's lib because so many of our female characters have been physicians and professional women, as well as housewives."

CBS Drops Four Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS Television network has added five new shows to its fall program schedule and dropped four series, including "Mission: Impossible" and "Bridget Loves Bernie."

Also canceled from the lineup beginning in September were "The New Bill Cosby Show" and "The Doris Day Show," CBS announced Thursday.

Their replacements will be "O'jack," a detective series starring Telly Savalas; "Catholic's Dept.," with James Coco, a comedy involving a state employment office worker; "Roll Out!" a World War II comedy starring black comedian Stu Gilliam; and "The New Adventures of Perry Mason," whose star has not been selected yet, according to CBS.

The fifth new offering will be "Hawkins," a 90 minute series starring Jimmy Stewart that will appear every third Tuesday night.

Patricia Neal stars in "The Subject Was Roses," a movie adaptation of the Pulitzer Prize-winning play, Monday (April 2) at 9 p.m. on NBC-TV.

Smokey the Bear is the living symbol of fire prevention for the U.S. Forest Service. He is 23 years old and lives in the National Zoo in Washington, D.C.

Animal of the Week: Smokey

In 1945, the Forest Service decided to use a bear, dressed in dungarees and an old style ranger's hat, as its symbol of fire prevention. Five years later, in 1950, a little bear, weighing only five pounds, was found clinging to a tree during a very bad forest fire in the Lincoln National Forest in New Mexico. His feet were burned and his hair singed. Forest rangers took good care of him. They decided to make him the living symbol of fire prevention. Today, Smokey lives in the National Zoo in Washington, D.C. The cage has a special glass window that allows children a close look. Smokey is 23 years old. He suffers from a kind of rheumatism that makes his legs stiff when he walks. His favorite food is honey. He also eats fish-cakes and cereal. At one time Smokey was getting so much mail that he was given his own personal Zip Code. You can write to him at The National Zoo, Washington, D.C., 20252.

Mini Page Quiz-a-roo

What are the oldest living things in the world?

The oldest living things in the world are the bristlecone pines found in the White Mountains of California. The oldest one is over 4,600 years old. One more than 5,000 years old was cut down in 1964. It was cut so it could be used for research purposes.

When was the first Arbor Day?

The first Arbor Day was celebrated in Nebraska on April 10, 1872. It was started by a newspaper publisher named J. Sterling Morton. Each state decides on its own Arbor Day, which is generally in the spring.

Where is the world's tallest tree?

The world's tallest tree is a redwood that measures 368 feet high. It is in northern California.
