Bolton Murder Scene

Officials confer late Saturday at the scene of a shooting in Bolton in which Harry T. Miner was fatally wounded. Miner, operator of a package liquor store, was shot as he arrived home with Saturday's receipts. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Police Seek Slayer Of Bolton Man

Harry (Pete) T. Miner, 47, of Bolton Center Rd., was pronounced dead-on-arrival at Manchester Memorial Hospital Saturday night of gunshot wounds inflicted as he was getting out of his car in his own driveway, according to State Police.

Miner, owner and operator of the Rt. 6 and 44 Package Store, Bolton, was returning home with the day's receipts and, according to police, had apparently just stepped out of his car when he was shot. Police have not determined whether there was more than one person involved in the shooting.

Elliot M. Gross, state medical examiner, said Miner died from internal bleeding caused when the bullet passed through his left hand, his chest and right lung.

Police said the victim's mother, Mrs. Margaret Miner, with whom he made his home, said she heard a shot and went out to investigate. She found her son in a pool of blood and immediately called the ambulance. The ambulance service notified the police.

Police said the receipts of the day were not found on Miner's body leading them to speculate that robbery was the motive for the shooting. Police said, however, they have not ruled out other possibilities.

The package stores close at 8 p.m. and the shooting occurred about 8:15 p.m. After receiving the call, State Police from Troop K, Colchester and FBI agents, using police dogs, combed the wooded area to the rear of the Miner home. Police also searched cars in the parking lot of Fiano's Restaurant which is nearby.

The investigation is continuing under the direction of Capt. Walter Stecko of State Police Headquarters.

Mr. Miner was born March 7, 1926, in St. Petersburg, Fla. He lived many years in Manchester, moving to Bolton 16 years ago.

He graduated from Manchester High School in 1945. While at the high school he played varsity football. He graduated from Munson Academy in 1947. He attended the University of Maryland.

He was a World War II Army veteran, serving in the Military Police Division.

He owned and operated the Rt. 6 and 44 Package Store in Bolton for 19 years.

Besides his mother, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Robert D. Murdock of Bolton.

Funeral services will be Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., with the Rev. David M. Campbell of the United Methodist Church of Bolton officiating. Burial will be in Wapping Cemetery, South Windsor.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9. The Manchester Lodge of Elks, of which he was a member, will have a memorial service tonight at 7 at the funeral home.

Killian Seeks Gasoline Rationing Explanation

HARTFORD (AP) — Thirty-one gasoline distributors have been subpoenaed by Connecticut Atty. Gen. Robert K. Killian to explain their involvement in a reported effort by five major oil companies to ration gasoline supplies in the state.

Killian said the subpoenas were issued last Friday and Saturday under Connecticut's antitrust act.

The distributors have until April 19 to supply information concerning gas supplies and correspondence with companies and dealers from Jan. 1, 1971 to the present.

The following distributors were subpoenaed: Atlantic Richfield Co. (Arco)-Canaan Oil Co.; Danielson Oil Co., Inc.; Keller Oil Co., Inc.; Pearl Oil Co.

BP Oil Corp. Mercer Distributors, Inc.; Mercury Fuel Service, Inc.; RPC Corp.; Joseph A. Russo Oil Co.; Spicer Fuel Co., Inc.; Wallack Bros.

Cities Service Oil Co. (Citgo)-Automatic Comfort Corp.; Benedict & Co.; Kenyon Oil Co., Inc.; Rex Oil Co., Inc.;

Ruwet-Sibley, Inc.; United Oil Co., Inc.

Mobil Oil Corp. Atlas Oil Co.; Callahan Oil Co.; Bernard J. Dolan Co.; Ed's Garage, Inc.; Ellsworth & Lassow, Inc.; Fitzsimmons Sales Corp.; Fleming Rutledge Oil Corp.; Maus and Son, Inc.; Mystic Oil Co., Inc.; Petroleum Marketers, Inc.

Texaco Inc. Consumers Petroleum of Connecticut, Inc.; Krall Coal and Oil Co., Inc.; Republic Oil Co., Inc.; Standard Cycle and Auto Supply Co., Inc.; and Wesson, Inc.

Killian also called on U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst to impanel a federal grand jury to see if there is a national conspiracy to limit gasoline sales.

The request was made in a telegram March 30. To date, Killian said, he has had no reply.

In the telegram, Killian said the rationing system was based "on a purported national gasoline shortage which may well have been deliberately created to drive independent (dealers) out of business and drastically increase the wholesale and retail price of gasoline."

Killian said he also was awaiting a reply from John T. Dunlop, director of the federal Cost of Living Council, who was asked on March 16 to supply information on what impact gasoline and petroleum price ceilings would have on Connecticut.

"It looks as though the northeastern part of the country, and Connecticut in particular, is being singled out to bear the brunt of this claimed shortage," Killian said Monday.

"Every time the price of gasoline goes up one penny, it costs the consumers of Connecticut $13 million," he said.

"Last year, approximately 1.3 billion gallons of gasoline were purchased by Connecticut citizens. Over that period, the retail price of gasoline increased between seven and 10 cents. This means that inflation in the price of gasoline cost our consumers...about $100 million in the past year alone and the end is nowhere in sight," he said.

"Obviously effective action at the federal level is the only way the monopolistic pricing practices of the oil industry can be brought under control. And we have no indication that the federal government is concerned about uncontrolled inflation in gasoline prices," Killian added.

"As I indicated to Atty. Gen. Kleindienst, we will proceed under our own Connecticut antitrust law to seek injunctive relief against this new quota system which, by limiting the supply of gasoline and eliminating all remaining competition, will put our consumers totally at the mercy of the major oil companies," he said.

"The subpoenas we served Friday and Saturday are the essential first step in attacking the most recent twist in oil company policy—the arbitrary establishment of a quota rationing system which may drive independent dealers out of business and totally destroy what little remains of free competition in gasoline marketing," Killian said.

Town Given Quarterly Rev-Share Allocation

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

Manchester today received a $222,278 federal revenue-sharing payment for the first quarter of calendar year 1973. The sum is a substantial increase over the $116,000 in 1972.

Another $228,278 is expected in July, and an equal amount each quarter thereafter, indicating Manchester can anticipate $899,113 in revenue-sharing funds for fiscal year 1973-74.

The $228,278 received today, added to $467,775 received previously, brings to $696,053 Manchester's revenue-sharing grant for the current fiscal year (ending June 30).

The five-year federal program is set up to run through fiscal year 1976-77. If the current payments hold constant, Manchester can expect a grand total of at least $4,252,500 by June 30, 1977. Adjustments in the federal formula used for payments already received may increase the grand total.

Of the $467,775 received prior to today, all but $16,775 already is allocated — $250,000 for sidewalks and $201,000 for roads.

In general, funds received by municipalities under Public Law 92-512, "Fiscal Assistance to State and Local Governments," may not be used for ordinary operating expenses for an educational system and may not be used for projects already being funded by federal or state grants.

The act provides they "may be used only for priority expenditures."

"Priority expenditures" are defined as ordinary and necessary capital expenditures (including new school construction), and ordinary and necessary maintenance and operating expenses for:

... Public Safety, including law enforcement, fire protection and building code enforcement.

... Environmental Protection, including sewage disposal, sanitation and pollution abatement.

... Public Transportation, including transit systems and streets and roads.

... Health, Recreation, Libraries, Social Services for the Poor or Aged, Financial Administration.

Town Manager Robert Weiss is recommending that $591,775 from revenue-sharing funds be used for capital improvements in 1973-74.

Ceiling Prices Posted Today

By DUDLEY LEHEW Associated Press Writer

The new signs listing meat price ceilings appeared beside roasts, chops and drumsticks today, but the butcher's cleaver may continue to spend more time than usual stuck in his chopping block.

Spot checks with leaders of last week's meat boycott indicate shoppers leaning over counters probably aren't trying to decide which cut of meat to buy but still whether to buy.

All but the smallest stores, those with annual revenues of $100,000 or less, must post clearly visible ceiling-price signs near the items covered, according to the Cost of Living Council.

Ceiling prices must be listed for each cut of fresh meat; for 25 items representing 75 per cent of sales of processed meat, such as bacon, sausage and cold cuts; and for the 10 bestselling items of canned or bottled beef, pork, lamb or stew or soup containing meat.

A shopper who thinks the posted price is illegal should check with the store's personnel, said the Council. If still unsatisfied, the shopper should call the Internal Revenue Service with such data as the price asked, whether signs were posted and the name and address of the store.

If an investigation revealed a violation, the IRS could impose price rollbacks and penalties.

Although the week-long meat boycott has ended without major retail price reductions nationwide, the possibility of further consumer action is still on a front burner.

Consumers Continue War On Food Prices

By The Associated Press

The end of the meat boycott leaves price levels at many Connecticut stores about where they were before the boycott began. But some consumers are preparing to continue the fight for lower prices.

The state organizer of the boycott, Mrs. Barbara Shuttleworth of Vernon, made a weekend appeal for families to observe two meatless days each week and to unite in political action for lower prices.

Mrs. Shuttleworth and U.S. Rep. William R. Cotter, D-

Conn., have joined with others who were active in the boycott to form a "Coalition for the Rollback." Through a national letter-writing and telegram campaign, the coalition will press Congress to pass Cotter's legislation to roll prices back to Jan. 10 levels.

Such national groups as the Consumer Federation of America and Fight Inflation Together have joined the coalition, Cotter said.

Many state retailers reported at the end of the boycott that wholesale meat prices had remained the same or risen slightly because of the withholding of cattle by some farmers.

Cornelius Courtney, executive director of the Connecticut Food Stores Association, told the association's Hartford convention Sunday that "it doesn't seem likely from the information we get" that meat prices at state stores will be falling much below President Nixon's ceiling.

J. Russell Ives, marketing vice president of the Chicago-based American Meat Institute, told the same convention that prices may dip this autumn but are destined to rise gradually in the long run.

Some state dealers reported that their sales began picking up on Saturday and seemed headed toward normal levels. Some dealers had reported their business off by 30 to 40 per cent during the boycott week.

"Up to yesterday it was real slow," said William Calvo, co-owner of the Newington Meat Center in Newington. "But the past two days have been real good and orders are back up for next week."

William Nahas, owner of the Nahas Meat Center in New London, said his sales had been off 80 per cent during the week but climbed to 50 per cent of normal on Saturday.

Ives said at the Hartford convention that meat supplies are determined years ahead of the time they come to the table and can't be affected by a weeklong boycott.

"The farmer can't turn his supply of meat on and off like a faucet," he said.

"Never before have Americans eaten so well, paid so little and complained so much," he said, claiming that the meat prices Americans have been paying since the recent jumps were bargain prices.

Luther Stearns, president of the Connecticut Farm Bureau Association, said "farmers are apprehensive" about their market as a result of the boycott.

Cambodian Highway 4 Reopened

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia

(AP)—This capital's fuel shortage appeared to be nearing an end today. A second river convoy was steaming toward Phnom Penh and the government announced that its troops had reopened Highway 4, the city's only land link with the seaport of Kompong Som.

Two fuel tankers and a freighter were reported only miles from Phnom Penh at nightfall.

Three tankers and two freighters came into the capital Sunday, adding a week's supply of motor, cooking and lighting fuel to nearly empty reserves. Another two ships in Sunday's convoy were lost to Communist fire from along the Mekong River.

The two other tankers are expected to increase the reserves to nearly two weeks, and possibly end rationing.

On Highway 4, government soldiers converged from the east and west on Stung Chhay, 95 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Communist-led insurgents had cut the road last week, blocking the flow of U. S. military supplies and other shipments arriving by sea. Five other main roads from the capital to outer provinces remained closed but the reopening of the Mekong and Highway 4 brightened an otherwise dismal military picture.

Aside from the two ships lost Sunday to enemy fire, 11 other skippers abandoned the voyage up the river from South Vietnam.

Ambassador's Residence Blown Up

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Arab guerrillas blew up the Israeli ambassador's residence in Nicosia today and engaged in gun battles with Cyprus police outside the bombed building at Nicosia International Airport.

First reports said there were at least half a dozen wounded on both sides.

The facade of the three-story apartment building in which the residence is situated crumbled after a massive explosive charge.

Cyprus police guards stationed permanently outside the building saw three men they identified as Arabs trying to escape in a car and engaged them in a gun battle.

Two of the Arabs were wounded and a third was captured.

Art World Mourns Death Of Picasso

MOUGINS, France (AP) — Art lovers around the world today saluted the genius of Pablo Picasso, dead at 91 after one of the most notable and influential careers in the history of painting.

The Spanish-born revolutionary who changed the course of 20th century art died Sunday at his walled estate overlooking the Mediterranean. Death was attributed to a heart attack brought on by collection of fluid in the lungs.

Picasso's widow and his eldest son were discussing funeral plans with Armand Anteb, the artist's business manager and an old friend. But Anteb told newsmen nothing probably would be decided today.

The body was reported lying in the artist's upstairs bedroom.

Picasso had been reported in good health and working with his usual zest despite recurrent attacks of gripe during the winter. He recently completed arrangements for the showing in Avignon next month of all his paintings produced since 1970, a total of 201 canvases.

Saturday night, the artist and his wife, Jacqueline, entertained friends at dinner. Picasso was reported in high spirits, eating heartily and entertaining his guest with stories. After the guests left, he went to his studio to work.

When he awakened Sunday morning, he complained of a pain and his wife called a doctor. But by the time he arrived 10 minutes later, Picasso was dead.

Picasso died among one of the greatest troves of 20th century art ever amassed in private hands.

He was the greatest collector of his own works, releasing only a small part of his prolific production for sale. Hundreds of these paintings and drawings were stacked away in a strongroom built into his two-story home. He kept the key to the room himself, and only a few outsiders ever had a look at his hoard. What disposition he made of this collection in his will was not known yet.

Estimates of Picasso's wealth were considered the wildest sort of guesswork, but he was undoubtedly one of the richest artists who ever lived, and probably the richest. He was selling enough of his work to live comfortably in Paris by the time he was 30, and in the last 50 years his prices rose steadily.

Born in Malaga, on the south coast of Spain, Picasso was a child genius who seemed to never stop imagining new ways to present his universe.

Miss Wightman Named Loyalty Day Queen

Miss Bonnie Sue Wightman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wightman of 374 Summit St., was crowned "Miss Loyalty Day Queen" at a ceremonies Saturday night at the VFW Post Home.

The winner of the annual VFW event is a senior at Manchester High School. She is captain of the Majorettes, enjoys skiing and tennis and works part time as a key puncher, and plans to continue her work upon graduation.

In her new role, Miss Wightman will go to Norwich to compete in the state contest May 4.

Miss Patti McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell, 14 Rival Court, East Hartford, took second place. She is a junior at Penney High School and will represent the local VFW as "Miss VFW."

Judges were State Sen. David Odegaard; Burl Lyons, publisher of The Herald; Mrs. Nicholas Jackson, town director; Miss Pat Graves, youth service officer; and Jeff Jacobs, station manager, WINF.

All of the contestants were presented with gifts.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"

by John Gruber

If you missed last week's column, this one isn't going to make much sense, since I'm continuing my discussion of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," which I left off part way through Act I. The Count was hiding behind a big chair, while Cherubino was in the chair with a dress thrown over him for concealment.

It develops that Bartolo, whose entrance brought about this contrived scene, is trying to act as the Count's procurer with Susanna, but with no success. He then asks her about Cherubino and the Countess, saying that tongues are wagging everywhere about this. The Count is enraged and comes out from behind the chair denouncing Cherubino.

He relates that the last night he had discovered him hiding under a table covered with a cloth. Suing the action to the word, he tears the dress off the chair as he had torn the cloth of the table, and lo! there is Cherubino again!

This leads to quite an ensemble, and in the end the Count gives Cherubino a commission in the army, just to get him out of the way. In a famous aria, "Non piu andrai," Figaro tells him his love-making days are over and he'll have to devote himself to serious pursuits.

Act II opens with the lovely "Porgi amor" sung by the Countess. Susanna enters followed by Figaro. They have a plan to discredit the Count. Ostensibly Susanna has made a rendezvous with him in the garden for that evening but Cherubino is to keep it, dressed in Susanna's clothes. The Countess is to surprise him and reduce him to a condition where he will promise anything. Cherubino enters and is prevailed upon to sing his latest cantonata, "Voi che sapete." Susanna locks the door and then dresses him in her clothes. While this is in progress the Countess examines his army commission and notices that it has not been sealed.

There is a knock at the door. It is the Count! Cherubino hides in an inner room while Susanna hides in an alcove. The Countess, all confusion, opens the main door. The Count finds the inner door locked and rather than cut servants and have witnesses when the door is broken down, he decides to go to the Countess's room. The Countess has said it is Susanna in there, but of course Cherubino hasn't dared reply to the Count's questions through the door. So the Count takes his wife with him and locks up the apartment so that whoever it is can't get out until he returns. Now Susanna goes to the inner door and tells Cherubino to open up.

Figaro pay up or marry Marcellina. The Count is now thoroughly bewildered and demands silence from everyone so he can try the matter as a magistrate and see that justice is done.

Of course, he doesn't get the silence; he gets an ensemble instead, which brings the act to a close.

The trial occurs in Act III and it develops that Marcellina is actually Figaro's mother, so of course there can be no marriage. It all ends up with a charming sextet. Everybody leaves just as Cherubino and Barberina come on the stage simply so the audience can learn that Cherubino has returned from his regiment to be with his girl friend and they plan to disguise him as a girl so the Count won't recognize him at the wedding of Figaro and Susanna.

Now the Countess returns and has a lovely aria, "Dove sono." It is long and tells how the Count once loved her but the days seem to be gone. The gardener comes in to report that he is sure Cherubino is back. Off go the Count and the gardener.

The Countess and Susanna now decide to go through with the fake rendezvous in the garden again, but with the Countess in Susanna's clothes instead of Cherubino. They cook up another invitation in a duet known as the "Letter Song," and seal the letter with a fancy pin.

Now everybody comes on stage for the wedding, including Cherubino, dressed as a girl. Barberina introduces him as her cousin, but the gardener knows she doesn't have a cousin, pulls off Cherubino's headdress and substitutes his military cap. Once more the Count is suspicious of his wife and angry with Cherubino.

DECLARER HAS ADVANTAGE IN MOST BRIDGE HANDS

By Alfred Sheinwald
One good reason for bidding aggressively is that you make some "impossible" contracts.

The declarer has the advantage of knowing what he has to work with; the defenders must often do some guessing. The difference shows in today's hand.

West opened the jack of hearts, and South wisely played low from dummy. It was now up to East to make a key decision.

East considered overtaking with the queen of hearts in order to return the jack of diamonds. This play would defeat the contract, but there was no way for East to know exactly what the situation was. If South had a different kind of hand, it might be vital for the defense to get their hearts tricked first and worry about the diamonds later.

Contract Unbeatable
East halted and pulled and finally played a low heart. This left West in the lead—and the contract was now unbeatable.

West led another heart and South ruffed. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and ran the four clubs to discard a diamond from dummy. This limited the defenders to two diamonds and their one heart trick.

What do you say?
Answer: Bid 5NT. Since you have 17 points of your own, you know that the combined count must be 33 to 35 points. The total is enough to yield a fine play for a small slam, but not enough for a grand slam.

JWC Wins 21 Ribbons

Bolton Junior Women's Club members won 21 ribbons, including 10 first place winners, when the District 1 annual arts and crafts and sewing competitions held last week at Fiano's.

Chairman of the event was Mrs. Robert Dufraine, School Rd. Serving on her committee as hostess club were Ruth Hoffman, Bonnie Massey, Alicia Rampallini, Georgia Scotella, Judy Siena and Barbara Stephens.

Blue ribbon winners, who will compete at the state level in Hartford, May 2, at the General Federation of Women's Club's Convention were: Linda Boothroy, mosaic; Bonnie Massey, decorative painting; Pat Pinto, ceramics and pottery; Bette Dufraine, decorated egg; Barbara McLarney, stitchery; Parise Lemaire, pressed flowers; Ann Manucci, collage and original art; pen and ink; Alison Boissonau, color photography; and Carol Zapadka, original art, mixed media.

Approximately 140 women attended the competition. They represented 20 Junior and Senior Women's Clubs of the district.

The business meeting and craft display took place in the morning. They were followed by a luncheon and fashion show, with members modeling their own creations.

Town Diet Time Again

Nobody likes a diet. Nobody really likes a fiscal diet either, and in a sense that is all a budget is, a fiscal diet.

As citizens of Manchester, each of us individually or collectively, have certain preferences in our budget diet. Some would like street improvements; others, more and richer school opportunities, and for others, more funds for special groups such as senior citizens, youth recreation, parks, etc.

The town fathers, our Board of Directors, begin this week a series of workshops on Manchester's fiscal diet for 1973-74.

Basic of the "diet" review will be the one recommended by Town Manager Robert Weiss, who in line with his official duties, has prepared a recommendation derived from requests made by the town's various departments and the Board of Education.

A public hearing on the manager's budget has been conducted and while the turnout of the public might be termed disappointing by some we find that budget hearings as a rule attract only a few who generally have a special interest.

Don't get us wrong by interpreting special interest as always being contrary to the general public interest; but the trouble with diets, including fiscal ones, is they must represent a compromise between what we might crave for the sweet tooth, what we really need to maintain sound fiscal health, and what we can reasonably afford to pay.

The town directors are now facing the often painful process of decision making which we hope will avoid a higher tax bill; eliminate unnecessary expenditures; meet essential services the town provides; and wisely allocate available surplus funds, should there be any, where they will do the most good in the long run.

At this writing, the most reliable source of tax funds, is the local property taxpayer. State aid can be anticipated and the Assembly may or may not live up to estimates, although the state's present "surplus" situation would indicate we can count on it at least for this year.

The other source of funds, federal revenue sharing and grants, concern us more since the whole basic philosophy is in a state of flux as the administration strives to shift from categorical grants to block grants.

To us, this is the yellow caution light our town directors must watch as they ponder Manchester's budget.

While revenue sharing appears to be a no-strings source of revenue, there are some commonsense restraints. Apparently the town directors and manager have foreseen this in using or planning to use the bulk of these funds for capital improvements or non-recurring expenditures.

To incorporate these federal funds into the operating and maintenance part of the budget could mean an added burden in continuing such programs at some future date should federal whim substantially reduce or eliminate revenue-sharing.

We would hope our town fathers will try to follow Mayor John Tompson's announced objective of holding the line on local taxes by taking a long and hard look at all new programs being considered which rely heavily on state or federal seed monies. The pattern has been, and the Emergency Employment Act program is a case in point, that as the nontown participation shrinks either the town must pick up the tab or curtail the program.

Despite the current relative fiscal health of Manchester, the budget review is a critical one. Not because it falls short, according to some in certain areas of need like education, but because it is the first one where the directors are faced with a known amount of federal revenue sharing money whereas last year this was still more of an anticipation than a realization at budget fixing time.

We think that to keep faith with the intent of federal revenue sharing, as adopted by the Congress, the town should consider it as a means to:

First, if at all possible in these times of rising costs, reduce the property tax rate, even if only in a token rate;

Second, if the first is not possible, allocate the funds for capital improvements which are necessary (as they have to a large degree) to save the local taxpayer future levies for bonds and interest;

Third, avoid, however they are used, the intermingling of revenue-sharing funds, so that the taxpayer knows where it is being used, for what purpose, and then can translate it into what it means in the terms of his own tax bill whether it is a reduction, postponement of an increase, or a saving of future tax dollars through "cash and carry" investment.

But however each of us reacts to the final budget let us keep in mind we had our chance to appear at the public hearing, we had our chance every day to discuss problems and needs with town officials, the mayor and the directors, and we are the ones who are responsible for their being in Town Hall.

Manchester's fiscal diet in its present form is neither fat nor lean. It is in our opinion conservative, yet progressive, in that it does not seek to go backward but had not shut the door completely on the future either.

The final budget, however it turns out, is like your own diet. It represents fiscal intentions for the coming year and its success is not so much in the diet itself but how well we keep it. Instead of counting calories, we, from the mayor on down, must count dollars and more important make each dollar count. No agency of the town should entertain the idea it can eat up its "calories" in cake in August and September and expect the town to provide it with meat and potatoes next spring.

We know the directors will do their best to provide us with a reasonable and sound budget and we hope the citizens and directors will see to it that Manchester sticks to its diet.

Most Unusual Prisoner of War

Another American prisoner of war has been released. He is Frederick J. Friend, 24, of Elmira, Kansas. Friend, looking pallid, but otherwise in reasonably good health, walked unaided down the steps. When his feet touched free American soil for the first time in three-and-a-half years, he knelt and kissed the ground.

"God bless America," he said, his voice breaking, "and the ideals of freedom and justice for which it stands."
Waiting to greet the young hero was a crowd of several thousand cheering spectators, including the Governor, the Mayor and numerous other dignitaries. As flags waved and a brass band played, he shook their hands.

But the most emotional reunion was with his wife, Felicia, and their three-year-old son, Frederick Jr., whom young Friend had never seen. "It was your letters," Friend told his wife, "that kept me going."
The dramatic scene was interrupted when an official handed Friend a white telephone. "It's the President," he said.

The President's words weren't recorded. But he reportedly told Friend that America was proud of him for displaying "the loftiest idealism, the highest courage, the firmest convictions and the greatest dedication to the cause of individual liberty."
The President was also reported to have told Friend that he didn't want to "capitalize on the publicity" of the homecoming, but that when the young prisoner of war was refreshed and rested, he wanted to invite him to the White House.

"Thank you, Mr. President," said Friend, his shoulders back. The head of the local Chamber of Commerce then read a long list of gifts the grateful Nation wished to bestow on Friend "in tribute to the glorious personal sacrifice" he had made.

The Highway Trust Fund

WASHINGTON — Bob D. Collins, publisher of North Dakota's Breckenridge-Wahpeton Daily News, has forwarded a copy of the response of his state's Highway Commissioner Walter R. Hjelte to a recent column urging that the Federal Highway Trust Fund be tapped to finance mass urban transit projects.

I had suggested that since most metropolitan areas already are up to here in traffic-jamming highways, local officials be permitted to buy buses and rapid rail systems with their share of Highway Trust grants.
Well, what is right and proper is usually in the eyes of the beholder. Hjelte is rightly opposed to raiding the Trust Fund for such purposes. He can't point out that Breckenridge and Wahpeton recently have benefited from highway grants to the tune of nearly $8-million. He seems to suggest that the spigot would be turned off if Congress permitted use of some of the $6-billion fund to alleviate metropolitan traffic problems.
No such intent is discernible in the bill passed by the Senate, 49 to 44. The bill merely would put a halt to the practice of forcing cities to use the grants for highways they don't need and don't want. North Dakota, a beautiful, wide-open state, would still be able to use its grants for highways. So would the cities, for that matter, if they chose to be idiotic.

As others have done, Hjelte points out that the Trust Fund is "supported entirely by motorists." What he means is "motorists," but I shall not split hairs and remark that the fund is a ruddy good thing for big trucking companies.
However, there should be nothing sacred about the fund simply because it is raised by taxes on highway users. An awful lot of income taxes go to pay for an awful lot of projects many taxpayers ferociously oppose. Given a choice, I personally would withhold my contribution to the salaries of certain members of Congress, bureaucrats and even a highway commissioner or two.
Besides, as long as the highway users get their share of the loot, what's the argument? Listening to some highway lobbyists, a body gets the impression the Senate would force Oklahoma to build a billion-dollar subway system with its grant. They cry that Congress is on the verge of "breaking a sacred trust," somehow managing to imply that the highway money is on a par with the Social Security fund.
It is true there are lobbyists on the other side. Making buses and building subways is a big, big business, and the companies involved in those profitable endeavors want a bite out of the highway fund. Big-city mayors, with their millions of voters, are putting the pressure on Capitol Hill, and so are the governors of industrial states. Frodoled by President Nixon, even the Teamsters Union is urging diversion for public transportation.
Nixon's position is simple. It is that whenever possible local governments should have the maximum amount of discretion in spending Federal grants. And that's what local governments have been belyching for these long years.
A "sacred trust"? Tax money, after all, can be used for whatever purpose Congress and the President decree. The present highway construction bill proposes the expenditure of $18-billion over three years. Given the wretched state of our cities, that would seem to be about $3-billion too much.

Chamber, MCC Set Retail Seminar

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with Manchester Community College and the Small Business Administration, is sponsoring an aggressive seminar in retail store management called "New Dimensions in Retailing."

The five-week seminar program marks the start of the chamber's aggressive plan in retailing for the coming year, according to Richard G. Clark, the chamber's executive vice president.
Manchester's retail community, Clark said, has identified four major areas in which they have suggested program development for the coming year.

The seminar has been developed, as a result of retail instructors from the local college and key authorities from throughout the state.
The seminar program includes:
• "Contemporary Ideas in Retail Store Credit," with J.G. McCormick, president of United Management Corp., April 18, 7:30 p.m.
• "Contemporary Ideas in Retail Merchandise Buying," with David Abraham, merchandising manager of Sage-Allen, Inc., April 25, 7:30 p.m.
• "Contemporary Ideas in Sales Promotion," with Jerry Lowengard of Lowengard and

Andover Complaints Filed Against Principal

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3071

Two employees at the Andover Elementary School have lodged complaints with the Board of Education against Donald H. Libby, principal, charging lack of discipline with students and lack of public relations and professionalism with staff and parents.

One of the employees, Mrs. Barbara Cody, secretary, has resigned her position. The other employee, Mrs. June Birdsall, cafeteria manager, did not resign but told the board in a letter she wished it to be informed of the existing situation at the school.

According to Mrs. Beatrice Kowalski, board chairman, she was made aware of problems at the school by parents during the first school year (1971) that Libby was principal. At that time she requested parents to let Libby get oriented in the position and give him the opportunity to prove himself.

However, since school opened last September, parents have become more seriously involved approaching the board, in executive sessions, expressing their discontent with the situation.

Several of these parents said they did not wish to reveal their complaints, that they had gone through the proper channels (the board) and did not wish to stir up any further controversy at this time.

In her letter of resignation, Mrs. Cody felt that as a parent and taxpayer her observations of the situation should be brought to the board's attention.

She said there exists at the school "a demoralization of the staff, unrest between parents and children, and a change in atmosphere from confidence and professionalism to uncertainty from good feeling to doubt and from a professional staff to a non-professional staff."

Although Mrs. Cody mentioned several instances of what she called unprofessionalism, she did make a point of stating that she had enjoyed working with the office staff and the children.

In her letter, Mrs. Birdsall referred to what she called harassment by Libby in connection with the lunch program, and said that on one occasion Libby accused her of having a "negative attitude which has affected the entire lunch program."

She cited many complaints relative to damaged equipment, some of which she said were dangerous, that she had a "negative attitude" toward Libby to have repaired.

Mrs. Birdsall said it was necessary to bring some items home to have her husband or neighbors repair them, and on occasions her husband even came to the school to repair items.

In January of this year, Mrs. Birdsall said, there was considerable parental concern expressed with "lack of discipline" on Libby's part and with the "possible body harm" that could occur as a result of "uncontrolled action of children on the playground."

James Hurst also mentioned lack of discipline and said it is "encouraging a situation where a recent school bus accident in which no children were hurt. However, upon inquiring through the principal as to whether or not there had been an accident, parents claimed it was denied by Libby."

At that meeting, Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent of schools, mentioned that in his opinion Libby possibly should have informed parents of the correct situation but that it was a matter of just making the wrong decision when a decision had to be made immediately.

Mrs. Kowalski confirms that she has "received many complaints from parents regarding Libby" and the board has met in the past with Dr. Cattanch to discuss the situation. The board has not as yet discussed Mrs. Cody's and Mrs. Birdsall's letters.

Libby would make no comment on the complaints listed in the letters.

He did say, however, "Any person in a position of public responsibility will in the course of his service incur criticisms. In the interest of maintaining a rational perspective in the community with regard to the school, I feel it is best that I not become unduly involved in the emotions surrounding this controversy."

Danna-Tedford

Miss Diane June Tedford of Rt. 85, Bolton, and Charles Patrick Danna Jr. of Moosup, exchanged wedding vows Saturday at St. James Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Tedford of Bolton. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Danna of Moosup. The Rev. Daniel J. Karpiety of St. James Church, performed the nuptial Mass and officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown, fashioned with empire waist, hand-cut Chantilly lace sleeves and neckline, long train of satin and lace. Her matching headpiece held a veil of silk illusion. She carried a corsage of white carnations, yellow sweethearts and baby's breath.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white and apricot chiffon gown, trimmed with Venice lace, styled with a mandarin collar, bishop sleeves, empire waist and a-line skirt. She wore a shoulder-length veil of apricot silk illusion and carried an old-fashioned colonial bouquet of white Marguerite daisies, yellow pompons, white miniature carnations, yellow sweethearts and baby's breath.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Stephen Dana, of Moosup, the bridegroom's brother, who was best man. Ushers were James Driesch of Hadlyme; Donald Tedford of Manchester, the bride's brother; Douglas Dana of Moosup, brother of the bridegroom; and Kenneth Burrill of Middletown.

A reception was held at the Garden Grove in Manchester, after which the couple left on a motor trip to Florida. For traveling, Mrs. Danna selected a green pantsuit and wore a corsage of yellow sweethearts roses. Upon their return they will reside at 86 Pearl St., Manchester, after April 21.

Weddings and Engagements

St. Bridget Church in Manchester was the scene Friday evening of the marriage of Miss Joan Doherty of Manchester and William Hart, also of Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Doherty of 129 Tanner St., Manchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hart Sr. of 78 Phelps Rd., Manchester.

The Rev. William Stack of St. Bridget Church officiated at the Mass and double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with gladioli and anastis daisies. Mrs. Fay Murphy of Manchester was organist and soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a designer gown of white peau de seie tulle with ruffled wedding ring collar, long fitted sleeves, Venice lace trimmed bodice empire waist, and A-line skirt with a tulle at hemline. Her veil of French silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of Marguerite daisies, white miniature carnations, yellow sweethearts and baby's breath.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Stephen Dana, of Moosup, the bridegroom's brother, who was best man. Ushers were James Driesch of Hadlyme; Donald Tedford of Manchester, the bride's brother; Douglas Dana of Moosup, brother of the bridegroom; and Kenneth Burrill of Middletown.

Calano-Schoenewolf

The wedding of Miss Ida-Jean Schoenewolf and Joseph A. Calano Jr. took place March 24 at St. Augustine's Church, Hartford.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Beverly Bradshaw Schoenewolf of Manchester and Gerhardt A. Schoenewolf of Hartford. Mr. Calano is the son of Mrs. Anne Lettieri Calano of Hartford and Joseph A. Calano of Virginia.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, David Lewis, wore a gown made by her mother, fashioned with empire waist, flared skirt, full bishop sleeves, made of ecrusse Chiari, trimmed at the cuffs, skirt, bodice and neckline with pale pink and ecru crocheted lace and pink satin ribbon and buttons. Her fingertip veil of ecru illusion fell from a Carmel headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of ecru and pale pink feather flowers, shell roses and pearls.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Stephen Dana, of Moosup, the bridegroom's brother, who was best man. Ushers were James D

A Treat For Trivia Freaks

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Dear reader, in keeping with our policy of alerting the public to threatening developments, be advised that trivia freaks now have a new weapon with which to pester you.

It's a new paperback book called "The Television Years," written by Arthur Shulman and Roger Youman. It covers the top TV shows from 1947 to last year in ample and occasionally scabrous detail.

The authors are learned men; both worked years for TV Guide magazine. Youman still is at the magazine as managing editor. Shulman now is publisher of Seventeen magazine.

In the interest of helping innocents ward off the cries of the trivia freak, herewith are a few helpful questions and answers on TV history to tide you over until you either can purchase the book or hire someone to throttle the freak.

1947 — Q. Who was Kyle MacDonnell? A. A blonde singer the book says was the first "sweetheart" of TV shows. It doesn't elaborate. It shows a picture of her preparing to smash an orthicon tube against the side of a DCI. She may have been the first woman TV critic.

1948 — Q. Who was the announcer on "The Original Amateur Hour"? A. Dennis James, seen in the book alongside host Ted Mack, who is holding an alto saxophone. The owner of the sax has vanished.

1949 — Q. Who played Captain Video and why? A. Al Hodge.

1950 — Q. Who and what happens on "The Continental"? A. As the book puts it, "save actor Renzo Cesana murmurs sweet nothings to the females in the audience, thereby inducing signs of rapture or uncontrollable laughter."

1951 — Q. How much did the District Network pay for the first TV rights to an NFL championship game? A. $75,000, which now barely (a) buys a minute's advertising time for such a game; (b) feeds a network vice president for half a year.

1952 — Q. Who was the host on "I've Got News For You"? A. Jack Paar. Q. Who was the only star on the "Today" show who regularly ate bananas? A. J. Fred Muggs. Ask Daddy to explain if it's unclear.

The rest of the years covered in the book are equally full of fascinating facts and detail and it isn't all trivia. It recalls how much good there was in television as bad.

Earthquake predictors have fault: they're usually wrong, and that's where the fault slips.

Give most anyone enough rope, and they'll hang their chances.

Laugh and the world laughs with you; cry, and the other guy has an even better sob story.

There's nothing more expensive than that which is offered you "for free."

HUMIDIFIERS — DEHUMIDIFIERS PRICED TO GO

Life's Ups And Downs Cataloged

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Life is an elevator.

Are you going up or down? Your status rarely if ever remains stationary. The main thing is, it is highly important to know which direction it is going.

If it is going up, all you have to do is keep up the good work. If it is going down, it becomes immediately imperative to take corrective steps.

How can you determine your real prestige in a society in which even your best friend won't tell you that you have had breath?

Well, there are ways. For example, you need worry no further about your status if — Your neighbors band together and throw a block party once a month in your honor.

Every time you drive up to your supermarket the manager rolls out a red carpet to your car door.

The barber shop where you get your hair cut keeps a special chair with your name on it.

A genealogical society writes to tell you that they have discovered that you are the legitimate heir of a European royal family.

When you play golf at your club, the caddy asks you for your autograph.

You own your own pro football team, and sometimes the players let you play quarterback during practice sessions.

Bar tenders at two places have named drinks after you. Yes, big boy, if these things are true about you, you're in pretty solid.

But how do you tell when your prestige is slipping? Well, maybe it's about time you resigned from the human race if — Your smartest son is caught stealing a second-hand 1962 Volkswagen.

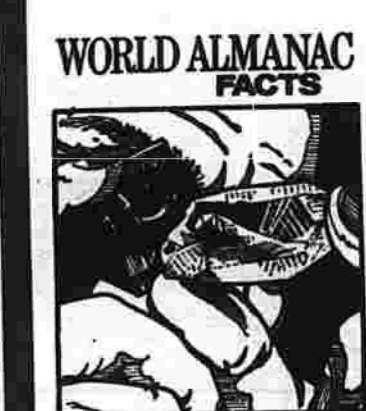

Both Republican and Democratic political workers ask you to vote in the other party's primary.

When you go into a liquor store for a bottle, the owner automatically reaches for the musical wine.

Every dog in the neighborhood can whip your dog — even in his own front yard.

The local state unemployment office votes you a gold star for having the best attendance record of any applicant in the last 10 years.

But cheer up, man. There is only one way left for you to go. It has to be up.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The term precious stones actually applies only to diamonds, rubies, sapphires and emeralds — all other stones are semiprecious. The World Almanac says. Precious gems are minerals brought to perfection by the lapidary's art of cutting, polishing and engraving. The pearl, often a gem of great value, is not a precious stone.

Shopping Subject Of Talks

Richard G. Clark, executive vice president of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, and Robert F. Welk, special legal assistant for the State Department of Consumer Protection, will be the guest speakers at Tuesday's meeting of the recently created Manchester Consumer Protection and Education Association.

The free meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Manchester Community College auditorium, Bidwell St., is open to the public.

Clark will discuss the role of the Chamber of Commerce in consumer protection; Welk will explain ways in which his department can assist the consumer. Both will answer audience questions.

The purposes of the local consumer protection group are to educate consumers to become more effective shoppers, and to assist consumers who believe they have been defrauded, according to Dr. John Barton, associate professor of business at the community college and a founder of the group.

"The steady rise in the cost of living alone makes an organization of this kind increasingly important because of the instruction it can offer in the wisest use of limited income," Dr. Barton said. More information about the new organization is available from him at his college office.

Townpeople To Vote On Buying Land

VIRGINIA CARLSON
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

A special town meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Yeomans Hall to ask voters to rescind action of a town meeting in May 1972. At that meeting it was voted that the town buy 20 acres, more or less, on Rt. 6 for a sanitary disposal area at a cost of $37,100 to be taken from the reserve fund and surplus.

Voters will be asked to approve a new purchase price of $26,000, which was obtained after months of negotiation with the state by First Selectman Howard Bates. The money will be taken from revenue sharing funds, and the $7,100 will be returned to the reserve fund.

Bates said it will take "thousands" of dollars to take the land for use as a disposal area. He said state specifications must be met at the site.

Dunn Heads Rec Program

Mark Dunn, a 23-year-old physical education teacher from Stafford, has been appointed as the town's part-time director of recreation.

He replaces John Campbell who resigned from the post a couple of months ago.

A physical education teacher at Stamford Middle School, Dunn has previously taught at Darien Junior High and served as assistant football coach at Stamford Catholic High School. He was recreation counselor for the Stamford Board of Recreation and has been active at Harkness Camp for Retarded Children in New London.

His new responsibilities will include the town's summer program at Crandall's Park and attendance at Board of Recreation meetings.

Today's Thought

"I found the task that I had dreaded so Was not so difficult when once begun It was the dread itself that was the foe And dread, once conquered, means a victory won."

Another Monday...and how we dread the thought of mundane routines. The hardest part of any task we have to do is the little "do" in the do it. Most often the feeling of not wanting to do something quickly vanishes once we begin and become involved.

Talks Slated On Teaching By Teams

Team teaching will be the topic of the second in-service meeting of Manchester's junior high school teachers scheduled for tomorrow at Bennett Junior High School.

Students at Bennett and Iling Junior High Schools will be dismissed on a limited basis, at both Bennett and Iling. The seven teams using the approach — five teams at Bennett and two at Iling — will explain the team operation.

Also included in tomorrow's session is a workshop activity using team concepts, and a question-and-answer period.

More than 500 seventh and eighth grade students at Bennett are involved in the team teaching program. At Iling, the two teaching teams work with just seventh graders.

Because of favorable reaction to the program, plans for next year call for establishment of interdisciplinary teams for all seventh and eighth graders at both schools, as well as for sixth and ninth grade classes at Bennett.

The Junior High In-Service Committee planning tomorrow's program includes George Couette, Allan Cone, Gerald Fournier, John Garopolo, Eleanor Gowen, Doris Hogan, Dr. Richard Lingren, Betty Messier, Elaine Schultz, and Josephine Taylor.

Dirt Roads Repaired

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent
Tel. 742-8795

Michael Pesse, superintendent of streets, has reported that extensive repairs were made to two local dirt roads during the month of March. Wrights Mill Rd., a section of which had turned to mud, was dug out and leveled; then filled with gravel and graded. The operation took the better part of a week, Pesse said, with some delay due to bad weather.

The same type of problem occurred on the upper portion of Hinkel Mae Dr., and the same procedures were followed, with work completed in one day, the problem being on a smaller scale.

Grading operations have been carried out on several other roads as well. Pesse said, including Brigham Tavern, Brigham Hill, Hop River and Merrow Rd. Extension.

Other projects being undertaken by the town crew include the cleaning of waterways, removal of snow fencing, and roadside sand barrels, cutting of brush and road sweeping, and the continuous patching of small road holes. Several tons of patch were used in March, and numerous small holes filled in, Pesse said.

Cleaners Meeting
The Cleaners of the Second Congregational Church will meet April 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Church Community House. The program will be a demonstration of sugar Easter egg making by Barbara Shearon of Coventry. Members are requested to bring a cake decorator if they have one. Easter baskets will be made for area convalescent homes.

Double Advantage in Masters For 50-1 English Darkhorse

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A young 50-1 dark-horse from England, Peter Oosterhuis, carried the double advantage of a three-stroke lead and the prospect of blustery British weather today into the final round of the Masters — the golf tournament they're calling the Who's-He-Open.

"They say there's a strong chance of wind and rain Monday — that should be perfect weather for an Englishman," the towering golfer guffawed with the feathery putting touch before breaking out of a logjam with a four-under-par 68 and taking charge at Augusta National with a score of 211.

Someone asked him in passing if he felt more confident because Jack Nicklaus is eight shots behind.

"I really don't know where Nicklaus stands," the 24-year-old Oosterhuis said, raising an eyebrow. "I really didn't notice."

The powerful Nicklaus, a 5-7 native of the start of the tournament to capture his fifth Masters, followed his putting collapse of Friday with a triple bogey eight on the 15th hole in the third round Sunday and the shot a 73 for 219.

There were 14 players in front of Nicklaus and three others, including amateur Ben Crenshaw, even with him as the field prepared for the final 18 holes over rain-drenched Augusta.

One of these was Gay Brewer, the sub-nosed batter who won here in 1967. Brewer was asked if he was happy that a bunch of lesser knowns were ahead of him instead of the "golf tourists" Arnold Palmer or Lee Trevino.

"Yeah," Brewer replied. A "Hell, yeah!"

Some of those in main contention for the 37th Masters green champion's jacket not only had unfamiliar names, such as Oosterhuis. They're almost unspellable and unpronounceable. Out of range of Jack's big blunderbuss, some of the boys are feeling scrappy and talking big day before, but it's not Sam.

Here's how the leaders stack up going into the show-down round, to be telecast (CBS-TV) weather cooperating between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m., EST, with a two-hour delay in the Pacific Zone:

211—Peter Oosterhuis, England.

212—Tommy Aaron, Chi. Rodriguez.

213—Masashi Ozaki, Japan; Gardner Dickinson.

214—Jimmy Jamieson, Bob Goaly, J.C. Snead.

215—Gay Brewer, John Miller, Tommy Aaron, Chi Rodriguez.

216—Masashi Ozaki, Japan; Gardner Dickinson.

Oosterhuis is a 6-foot-5, 205-pound son of a Dutch father and British mother. He is one of those international golf wanderers who picks up cash wherever he can find it.

His 68 Sunday, on a course which played extremely heavy from the drenching rains that washed out third round play the day before, was a monument to some incredible putting.

He lagged in a 60-footer for an eagle on the 353-yard second hole, sank a 15-foot assignment on the eighth and climbed his way with a pair of 18-foot staves on the 15th and 17th holes.

"I don't deny it," he explained afterward. "I am more confident than I have been in my past two Masters. I shall retire early and sleep until 9 a.m. and then—I promise—I will come out charged up to play."

Knick Court Magic Too Much for Bullets

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Monroe performs magic on the court. Jerry Lucas is a professional magician of it. Sunday in New York's Madison Square Garden, Monroe and Lucas joined their Knick teammates to do something magical: they made the Baltimore Bullets disappear.

By virtue of the Knicks 109-99 victory, Baltimore was not only eliminated from the National Basketball Association playoffs in five games, but also from the NBA. Next season the franchise will move to Largo, Md., a suburb of Washington D.C.

In Sunday's other NBA action, Chicago topped Los Angeles 98-94 while the Atlanta Hawks defeated Boston 97-94. All the active NBA playoffs, including Golden State and Milwaukee which resumes play Tuesday night in Madison, Wis., are now scheduled at 2 games apiece.

In the NBA on Sunday, Utah defeated San Diego 120-99 to erase the Conquistadors 4-0 in their best-of-seven series. On Saturday in the NBA, Golden State knocked off Milwaukee 102-97.

"Our offense is geared to our forwards," acknowledged Bulls' Coach Dick Motta, "and when Chet Walker isn't hitting, Bob Love has to do his thing."

With Walker connecting on only one of his first 10 shots, Love did his thing 16 times. His defense and on the bench caused the Bulls' downfall. A final period put the Bulls ahead by 10 points.

Obviously Atlanta's Pete Maravich has a similar philosophy. He scored 13 of his 37 points in the fourth period to hold off the Boston Celtics. Maravich was up for better—but ours got weaker instead of stronger."

As he has done throughout the playoffs, former Bull Earl Monroe combined with Walt Frazier in the backcourt to punish Baltimore. Monroe led the Knicks with 26 points, 20 in the first half.

For the Knicks' next trick, they'll take on the winner of the Boston-Atlanta series in the Eastern Conference finals, Sunday at the earliest.

In Chicago, Bob Love scored 33 points and sparked a four-quarter rally to overcome the Lakers and end the series at 2-1.

Eagles Bow 7-1 In Baseball Play

By Dick Ledbetter

Saturday turned out a disappointment for the East Catholic baseball team as it lost its opening game, 7-1 to St. Bernard's of Montville. It was Coach Jim Pender's first opening day loss in 22 years of baseball.

All the damage was done in the first inning as far as East was concerned. The Saints got to starting pitcher Terry Hickey for six runs. This put East at too big a disadvantage and they were not able to get into the game.

With one out, Mike Turgeon and Tony Ricca punched opposite field singles to put the runner on base. Hickey then gave up three consecutive walks which put St. Bernard's ahead, 2-0. Mike McKean took a ground ball off the bat of Jerry O'Donnell and threw it past the batter. The error allowed two more runs to score. After walking a nubber to McKean, but made first when no one else was on base. This scored another run. The final run of the inning was scored on a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Mike McKean.

St. Bernard's added its final run in the next inning on a single, a double and another error by McKean.

"We dug too deep a hole in the first inning," commented Pender's, "a completely changed the strategy of the game."

However, from then on, the Eagles settled down and Hickey pitched hitless half the rest of the game, with only three runs reaching base, two through errors and one hit batsman.

The Eagles' defense held firm in the sixth inning, finally in the sixth inning, McKean led off with a tremendous drive to deep right. O'Donnell scored on a ground ball by Dan Smacchetti.

Earlier, the Eagles had an excellent chance to score. In the fourth inning, McKean led off with a single and Ron

Successful Steal of Third by Tommy Harper
Yankees' Graig Nettles Takes Late Throw at Fenway Park

First Dividend Paid Red Sox by Cepeda

BOSTON (AP) — The route was the same as in 338 previous trips, but the setting was different. Big Orlando Cepeda jogged gingerly around the bases as the Boston Red Sox stormed from the dugout.

The 35-year-old first baseman, limited to the role of a designated hitter because of surgery on his right hand, returned to the field with a dramatic ninth inning homer lifting the Red Sox to a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

Cepeda had 338 homers among his 2,169 hits in 15 years in the National League before being traded to the Oakland A's last June and then undergoing left knee surgery a short time later.

His baseball playing career appeared ended as the A's released him after the season. However, the American League adopted the designated hitter rule and the Red Sox went looking for Cepeda, signing him for a reported $85,000 a year.

"I'm very lucky to be here," he said after the leadoff homer which enabled the Red Sox to sweep the three-game series with one of their chief rivals in the AL East.

The Yankees tied the score on a two-out throwing error by Doug Giffin in the top of the ninth. Then New York relief ace Sparky Lyle, who had taken over from George Medich in the sixth, went to the mound and Cepeda stepped to the plate.

RS Off and Winning

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox are off to the winning ways tonight as they've accomplished it in just about every way in the book.

Sound pitching, the long ball, timely singles, sacrifices, speed, bunts for base hits and stolen bases all helped in three consecutive victories over the New York Yankees.

After winning the first two games 15-6 and 10-5, the Red Sox were pressed harder by the Yankees before the series sweep 4-3 Sunday before 12,754 hardy fans who braved 40-degree weather.

His one hit for five innings, the Red Sox rallied from a 2-0 deficit with three runs in the sixth. Then a two-out throwing error in the ninth tied the score.

So designated hitter Orlando Cepeda, 0-for-11 in the series decided it was time to break out of the slump. Pacing overtime Boston relief ace Sparky Lyle, Cepeda led off the ninth with a line shot into the left field screen for his first American League homer.

"You bet your life I saw it," said pitcher John Curtis, who pitched fine ball before needing help from Bob Veale in the ninth. "I'd never leave the dugout in a game like this."

Curtis allowed four singles and a solo homer in the first three innings, but then was in command until he allowed one hit by rookie George Medich for five innings, and 14 batters in a row had retired easily. Then Griffin led off the sixth with a single. Hits by Tommy Harper and Mario Guemora loaded the bases.

Lyle replaced Medich and the Red Sox pulled out an infield grounder, a run scoring. Reggie Smith followed with a double off Curtis and Veale charged to the plate to greet the big slugger.

Oakland Winless To Date

NEW YORK (AP) — Can a team that won baseball's world championship in 1972 lose all 162 games in 1973?

"I don't think we'll lose them all," know we won't," Oakland's Gene Tenace said Sunday after the A's bowed to the Minnesota Twins 4-2. That meant that through three games of the infant season the champion A's had indeed lost them all.

So have the New York Yankees, listed as preseason favorites to win the American League East by one Nevada gambling house. Orlando Cepeda, the Sox's designated hitter, said he was in for relief ace Sparky Lyle in the ninth inning as the Red Sox made it three in a row over the Yankees 4-3.

Elsewhere, Detroit blanked Cleveland 4-0 and Kansas City edged California 6-5. The Milwaukee-Baltimore and Chicago-Texas games were rained out.

Twins' A's
Sloppy defense helped do it in both Saturday and Sunday. Ken Holtzman was touched for two unearned runs in the first inning and a 1,600-yard freestyle record by Brent and Rod Carew's fly ball to center field in the fifth dropped for a triple, leading to another run. "Someone should have caught that ball," said Holtzman.

"Bad defense shows up quicker than anything else," said Manager Dick Williams. "A good team will take advantage of mistakes and Minnesota is a good team."

There was nothing even a team of Golden Glove winners could do about Minnesota's other run, which came on a third-inning homer by Danny Walton, the Twins' designated hitter.

Pittsburgh Doing Things Hard Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Aside from the loss of Roberto Clement, Pittsburgh's fortunes haven't changed much. They keep doing things the hard way—which is the best way for them.

They won the National League's East pennant last year by pulling almost half of their 96 victories with late rallies.

And Sunday, they continued to do what comes naturally with a 4-3, 5-3 doubleheader sweep over the St. Louis Cardinals fashioned on combs.

Losing 3-2 going into the ninth inning of the opener, they tied the game on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly and won it on Bob Robertson's home run in the first inning and then singled home the winning run in the second.

Expos-Cubs
Rookie Pepe Mangual drove in three runs with his first major league homer and a Chicago power Montreal put a two-run shot in the first inning and then singled home the winning run in the second.

Astros-Braves
Cesar Geronimo clubbed a two-run homer and then added a pair of doubles in an eight-inning effort to lead the Astros' opening-game triumph. Mike Lum was a one-man gang for Atlanta in the nightcap. He tied the game at 3-3 with a two-run homer in the ninth, then won it with a ransoring single in the 10th.

College Station, Tex.
A.J. Unser, of Albuquerque, N.M., snuck past Mike Mosley and Gary Bettenhausen to win the Texas 200 for championship cars.

Swimming
CINCINNATI — Jack Tingley of USC smashed the American 1,600-yard freestyle record by more than seven seconds with a time of 19:18.41 at the AAU national indoor short course meet.

General
LONDON — Cambridge pulled away from Oxford on the Thames River and won their traditional boat race for the sixth consecutive year.

Reds-Giants
CINCINNATI's Ross Grimsley whipped San Francisco for the second time.

Dodgers-Padres
Reliever George Culver choked off a bases-loaded threat in the eighth inning and Joe Ferguson contributed a two-run double as Los Angeles bested San Diego. Culver combined with Dodger starter TomMY John to pitch an eighth-inning pair stranded 10 Padre runners.

Unser, Johncock Win Texas Twin Features
COLLEGE STATION, TEX. (AP) — A.J. Unser and Gordon Johncock have captured the Texas Twin 200 racing event at the high-banked Texas World Speedway track.

Unser, from Albuquerque, N.M., won the highly-anticipated championship event for Indianapolis-type cars, while Johncock took the second 200-mile race for stock cars. Both races were on Saturday.

Unser outspurred Mike Mosley and Gary Bettenhausen off a late-race caution flag to secure a victory in the first U.S. Auto Club championship race of the year.

Johncock, of Mount Pleasant, Mich., who finished only 14 laps behind Unser, won the second event. He ran neck and neck with A.J. Foyt of Houston before Foyt's car blew its engine with 16 of the 100 laps to go.

 THE HERALD will not disclose the identity of any advertiser using box letters. Readers answering blind box ads who desire to protect their identity can follow this procedure:

Enclose your reply to the box in an envelope - address to the Classified Manager, Manchester Evening Herald, together with a memo listing the companies you do NOT want to see your letter. Your letter will be destroyed if the advertiser is one you've mentioned. If not it will be handled in the usual manner.

PLEASE READ YOUR AD
 Classified or "Want Ads" are taken over the phone at a conference. The advertiser should read his ad the FIRST DAY IT APPEARS and REPORT ERRORS in time for the next morning. The Herald is responsible for only ONE incorrect or omitted insertion for any advertisement and then only to the extent of a "make good" insertion. Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by "make good" insertion.
