Mrs. Peck Assisting In CPTV Fund Drive

Mrs. Naomi Peck of 27 Highwood Dr. is one of the dozens of volunteers already at work on Connecticut Public Television's 1973 fund-raising auction, to be broadcast on the statewide noncommercial network May 4 to 12.

Mrs. Peck is contributing her time as a "telephone captain," coordinating the efforts to make hundreds of calls to solicit donations of auction merchandise.

Mrs. Peck is among the many housewives, businessmen, professional people, civic leaders, and local and national celebrities who are devoting time to make the auction — CPTV's second — successful.

Besides telephone calling, volunteers are busy in the CPTV auction office doing a variety of clerical jobs associated with the event. A huge calendar for the auction week show workers who will take telephone bids over special lines in the CPTV studio, move merchandise from the warehouse, show items on camera, and sort bids.

Auction volunteers include all age groups, and also include students, senior citizens, expectant mothers, and spouses of CPTV staff members.

The auction will be carried "live" on CPTV, via Channels 24 (Hartford), 49 (Bridgeport), 53 (Norwich), and 71 (New Haven).

Persons willing to help CPTV in the effort can contact the broadcast offices at 24 Summit St., Hartford.

 Answer: Bid one heart. Respond in a suit rather than in notrump whenever you can afford to do so. When you have a choice of four-card suits, respond in the cheaper suit. It is cheaper to bid one heart than to bid one spade.

Two Parents Laud Libby, Say Critics in Minority

ANNE EMT
 Correspondent
 Tel. 228-3971

Two Andover residents, both with children in the Andover Elementary School, have come out strongly in support of Principal Donald H. Libby as a result of complaints lodged against Libby to the Board of Education by two employees at the school.

J. Leslie Goodier applauded Libby as a "man dedicated to his job" and an excellent teacher. He referred to him as being "quite different from the previous principals" and apparently some people don't like the change. He felt this was a small majority.

In this respect, Goodier mentioned an incident several months ago when some parents were considering an anti-Libby petition to present to the board. At this time Goodier stated he had a meeting at his home concerning a pro-Libby petition. This meeting, he said, was attended by approximately 53 people, some of whom were teachers at the school.

Both Goodier and Mrs. Nancy Hegener, president of the PTA, felt that the situation at the school was "typical" of a national problem that presently exists in many communities.

Mrs. Hegener believes Libby has had many problems this year and that the situation has "blown apparently out of proportion."

Goodier stated he had sent a letter to the board deploring the "cloak and dagger techniques" being employed by an "in-discriminate bunch of people who have not given sufficient thought to the situation."

In reference to Mrs. Cody's and Mrs. Birdall's letters, he stated, "These people who are trying to crucify him for unprofessionalism are a dishwasher-cook and a part-time clerk."

Goodier believes Libby is "one of the best things that happened to the school and if they want to crucify him they will have a real good fight on their hands."

He also believes Libby "has not had the backing of the school board at all," but has received the backing of the school superintendent.

Town Woos Industry

HOLLY GANTNER
 Correspondent
 Tel. 742-8795

The Coventry Development Corporation has launched an active campaign to draw business and light industry to its new industrial park on Rt. 31, near the Plains Recreation Field.

The CDC was formed about a year ago, and has recently prepared and is distributing a brochure to prospective tenants. The private development group is headed by a group of town residents and was financed initially by Coventry shareholders.

However, the group is now seeking substantial financial backing to support plans for a complex of buildings on its 25-acre site, which according to its brochure, is five miles south of UConn, and close to I-84 leading to Boston, Providence, Hartford, and New York. The Central Vermont Railroad borders the entire park on the east and there will be a railroad siding available to the site.

Windham Airport is nearby, offering light aircraft use, and Bradley International is 45 minutes away. The labor market, says the brochure, is excellent.

Manchester WATES will meet tonight at the Italian-American Club. Weighing in is from 7 to 8 p.m. Entertainment will be by the "Spare Parts," local male choral group. Guests are welcome. Members with names from L-P are reminded to bring items for the fruit basket. The featherweights for the month are Mrs. William Labadie with a 14½-lb. weight loss, and Mrs. Rose Applestein with a 13-lb. weight loss.

The diocese of Trinity Covenant Church will meet tonight at 7:30 at the church.

Indians Need A Statesman

More Americans sympathize with the Indians than with the federal government in the Wounded Knee imbroglio by some 51 per cent to 21 per cent, according to a recent Harris poll.

Behind this reaction is the 75%-15% conviction that treatment of the Indians through history has been pretty lousy.
Responded a store clerk in Waco, Tex.: "They were here before we were, but we took away their land, took away the buffalo, and have been terrible in the way we treated them."
We can guess pretty accurately, however, that the findings would have been had a similar poll been taken a hundred years ago, say, when millions of buffalo still roamed the rich, untilled plains and cities like Waco did not exist—or if such a poll had been taken at any time before the settlement of the continent was complete.

In other words, now that the Indian no longer has anything, or hardly anything, the white man can covet, Americans can afford the luxury of conscience.

As one writer has suggested, "Today's white American must ask himself, as he reflects on the harsh fate of the Indian, whether or not he is prepared to wish the Indians had won and the white invader been driven back whence he had come. The question is a chastener to easy retrospective moral complacency."

At the same time, he adds, our current reappraisal of the past, reflected in the spate of books by Indians and Indian sympathizers, can be worthwhile if it serves to achieve justice and equity for living Indians. If it doesn't, then it is so much self-serving hypocrisy.

Public opinion is a lot like the proverbial mule that the farmer first had to hit over the head with a two-by-four to get its attention.
Indian militants, who occupied Alcatraz Island, then the Bureau of Indian Affairs building in Washington and now Wounded Knee, have performed a useful service by getting our attention. Unfortunately, when they go to the extreme of proclaiming themselves an independent nation at war with the United States, they defeat themselves.

Indeed, it begins to appear that the greatest obstacle to the justice they seek is not the white establishment, but many leaders—the so-called "Uncle Tomahawks"—among their own people whom they have alienated.
In the final analysis, the success of the Indian cause depends upon the goodwill of the vastly greater non-Indian public. As the Harris poll shows, that goodwill is there.

What is needed now are not Indian war chiefs but Indian statesmen.

Amazement
To the editor:
In your Open Forum of April 4 a writer announced, to our amazement, that Connecticut was the smallest state in the Union. When did our politicians give or sell this land to Rhode Island that has always been known as the smallest state in the Union (Universal Standard Encyclopedia)?
It would be great to see Mrs. Dunn as governor as she could then walk out of any meeting of which she did not agree. Mrs. Shuttleworth may have organized the most strike but this was poorly arranged and planned. Mrs. McKillop would be a real good one. She could raise her own salary if she saw a dress that she liked. Also she could arrange for the continued mismanagement we have suffered already for the past few years.
I doubt if Ms. Schaffer is actually qualified for any job higher than she already holds. The only logical one left is Ella Grasso, who has as good a qualifications as our present governor. Let's hope it goes on until the year 2000 as then it will not be here to see it. I wonder if the writer of "Amusing Day dream" smokes? And if so, what?

Inside Report

GOP vs RMN
WASHINGTON — The fact that H.R. (Bob) Haldeman, President Nixon's White House staff chief, went unannounced to Capitol Hill and told a score of Republican Congressmen that he knew nothing whatever about the Watergate scandal may signal a long-overdue change in the White House Watergate game of un-concerned aloofness.
If so, the change will be praised by Republican politicians. The Republican party is in a growing mood of independence from the White House on the Watergate and attendant scandals, with minimum concern about political damage to President Nixon and maximum concern about its own skin.
Thus, the mere fact that the normally unapproachable Haldeman, heretofore remote from such mere mortals as Republican Congressmen, decided to venture into the chilly climate of the Capitol may be far more revealing of the inner Watergate fears now besetting the White House than the public pronouncements of Ron Ziegler, Mr. Nixon's press secretary.
The invitation to Haldeman from Rep. Howard W. Robinson of New York, chairman of the liberal-leaning band of Republicans called the "Wednesday Group," went to the White House in January. It was accepted suddenly one week in advance of Haldeman's 5 p.m. appearance on March 22. White House aides, who have been pushing a new policy of exposing key presidential assistants like Haldeman to informal congressional panels; say that the Watergate scandal had nothing to do with Haldeman's appearance.
Perhaps, but some of those present during Haldeman's session with the Wednesday Group sensed that Haldeman was one reason the Watergate scandal was extending a new hand of friendship.
The Congressmen learned nothing new about Watergate. As some of those present were starting to leave shortly before 6:30 that Wednesday evening,

Today's Thought
Lent almost always coincides with spring training for baseball players. The players gather in their various camps, located in warm climates. They start with running to loosen their muscles; then they care, they try throwing. They practice batting against a mechanical pitcher. Soon they are in fine shape for the beginning of the season. This period of preparation is essential for fine playing.
So it is with Lent. It is the spring training period of religion. Only those who get in condition spiritually are fit to appreciate Easter. It is possible to see Easter from the grandstand without being a real participant.

Steele Touched A Chord
WASHINGTON — God knows there has been an uneasy ambivalence in our welcome to the prisoners-of-war returning from Vietnam, perhaps due to a national weariness. It is as if the country is reluctant to participate in any exercise concerned with that messy war.
But I suggest that Rep. Robert H. Steele, R-Conn., touched on a chord within most of us when he nominated Jane Fonda as the "rottenest, most miserable performer by any one individual American in the history of our country."
Steele went a bit far in his speech on the House floor. For one thing, his denunciation of Miss Fonda for calling our POWs "hypocrites and liars" awarded her more distinction—if that is the word, for she has deserved. The Republic has suffered from sounder much more important than this mixed-up actress, and in history's eyes she will be a very small mote, more a nuisance than a perill to the commonwealth.
But Steele's Yankee outrage is understandable. It seems to spring from the New England tradition of fair play and a concern for good taste in public utterances. Steele noted that Miss Fonda has never met the man she has branded. Can this pampered, privileged young actress be so egotistical and naive as to think that her brief gilded tour of North Vietnam qualifies

Andover Town Budget Hearing Tonight at 8

ANNE EMT Correspondent
A proposed budget of $863,887, $29,756 more than the present operating budget, will be presented by the Andover Board of Finance at tonight's budget hearing scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Andover Elementary School.
This budget proposes $608,172 for general government, $360,515 for Board of Education, and $3,000 for uncollected taxes to General Government.
The proposed general government of $608,172 represents a $12,882 increase over the present operating budget of $595,290. However, the Board of Finance is recommending that $11,000 of the town's revenue sharing funds be used for seven items in the budget.
These include $2,600 for a pickup truck, $1,000 for a receipt machine for the tax collector, $600 for a Scott air pack and aluminum ladder, $2,000 for hose for the fire department, $500 for a ladder and pump for the fire department, $3,500 for a sand spreader, and $1,500 for a drain for the town garage.
The largest proposed increases in the general government budget appear in items over which there is no control.
Among these are a $44,650 increase in Andover's share of the regional school district budget; a $5,750 increase in social security, insurance and retirement; and a $3,300 less

WHEN CAR OVERHEATS...
LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — If your car overheats while sitting in heavy traffic, you may be able to keep going if you follow a tip given by Clark Equipment Trailer Division.
Try increasing your idling speed to improve the cooling power of your fan and radiator. If your hot light goes off, keep up the engine pressure until you get moving again. If not, you'll have to turn off your engine and lift your hood to indicate that you're a road block.

ITT Claim Denied By OPIC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Overseas Private Investment Corp. reports it has denied a claim by the International Telephone and Telegraph Company for $92.5 million as the result of the seizure of its properties in Chile.
Bradford Mills, president of the U.S. government corporation which insures against the political risks of investments in developing countries, said the action was taken because of non-compliance with contract obligations.
Mills said that ITT will submit the matter to arbitration under terms of its contract.
He said that ITT refused to comply with its obligations under the OPIC contracts to disclose material information to OPIC.
Since the matter will be submitted to arbitration, he said OPIC will not comment in detail at this time.
"If OPIC is ultimately required to pay any compensation to ITT," Mills said, "OPIC will then succeed to an appropriate portion of ITT's rights of recovery from the government of Chile, and OPIC will pursue those rights vigorously."

of Consumer Concern

Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection
Terry Higgins, Director of Consumer Education

I've heard warnings about "Bait and Switch." Exactly, what is it?
"Bait and Switch" is a deceptive method of selling a product. A company or store advertises an exceptionally low priced item to "bait" you, and then "switches" to a much more expensive item when a salesman gets into your home or you get into the store.
For example, we've received many complaints from people who have attempted to buy sewing machines at very low prices, usually advertised in the classified section of a newspaper or weekly publication.
The sewing machines are advertised as repossessed, suggesting that payments may be taken over or that the machine can be bought cheap. The sewing machines are represented as brand-name automatic, almost-new, and capable of doing everything—make buttonholes, embroider little animals, etc.
When the prospective buyer calls the phone number listed in the ad, an appointment is usually set up to demonstrate the machine in the buyer's home. The machine demonstrated is usually an old, dirty and defective model, and nothing like what the ad led the person to believe it to be. But the ever-ready salesman just happen to have with him a much more expensive sewing machine that would gladly demonstrate. Often the consumer buys the higher-priced, better sewing machine. The repossessed sewing machine was the "bait" and the salesman soon sold the "switch," the more expensive model.

If the consumer goes into the advertiser's store, the seller attempts to sell a higher priced sewing machine, making no attempt to sell the advertised machine. In fact, the salesman will usually point out as many reasons as possible why the consumer should not purchase the advertised sewing machine.
This technique can be used with almost any product. If you fall victim to "bait and switch," write to our Fraud Division before you buy. Send in a copy of the ad along with a description of the sales pitch you received.
Our Fraud Division investigated the complaints from those consumers who had been deceived by the sewing machine advertisements. As a result of the investigation, the advertising was corrected to indicate the true nature and conditions of the sewing machine advertised. Also, the sellers were required to sell the advertised sewing machines to those consumers who wished to buy them.

Mass Transit Drive-In Theater Screening Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mass transit subsidy program that would give transit districts less money each year has been proposed by U.S. Rep. Stewart B. McKinney, R-Conn.
The "declining operating subsidy program" would provide seed money for local transportation systems but then force transit officials to use their initiative to keep their lines profitable, McKinney said in a statement issued Monday.

Drug Stores Seek Court Order Halting Rate Buying Guide

NEW HAVEN (AP)—A lawsuit in Superior Court seeks to block further distribution of a buying guide that rates about 50 local drug stores as being good, average, poor or erratic in terms of their prices.
The suit, brought Monday by five pharmacists, cites a guide published by the Connecticut Citizen Research Group, an arm of the Ralph Nader-affiliated Connecticut Citizen Action Group.
One of the pharmacists who joined in the New Haven lawsuit, John DeNicola, claimed on Monday that the CCRG price list, issued March 29, "was done unprofessionally" and "unfairly hurt sales."
"We were errors in prices which they (the CCRG) say were quoted to them, and also

State Worker Pay Raise Need Defended

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut State Employees Association blasted on Monday a claim by state Personnel Commissioner Edward Simpson that state employees don't need an across-the-board pay raise.
"While Commissioner Simpson implies that state employees have been getting richer, they have actually fallen behind the tremendous recent increase in the cost of living in this area, and they desperately need an immediate pay adjustment to catch up," CSEA Executive Director Edward Gallant said in a statement.
Simpson said last week that the CSEA created a misleading impression when it said the cost of living had outstripped employee raises by 15 per cent. The CSEA countered only those raises known technically as "cost of living" increases and didn't consider annual increments, job reclassifications and other increases, Simpson said.
Gallant said, however, that

Meat Ceiling Price Questions Answered

WASHINGTON (AP)—Evidence of the Nixon administration's attempt to control meat prices will be noticeable in grocery stores across the nation today—even to the biggest grocer.
Monday was the deadline for posting the maximum allowable prices for beef, pork and lamb.
Clearly visible signs must be posted in any store with annual revenues of at least $100,000, which the administration says means all but the very smallest stores.
In the face of rising food prices, led by steady increases in the price of meat, President Nixon announced the ceiling on March 29. He said the controls will stay in effect until prices drop.
In question-and-answer format, here are some things for shoppers to look for:
Q. How many signs are required?
A. No specific number, but for a supermarket, one sign clearly will not be enough. Ceiling prices must be posted for fresh meat, processed meat such as bacon, sausage and cold cuts, hot-canned and bottled meats. In many stores, there are different locations for these items. The sign must be near the items.
Q. Will there be a ceiling price posted for each cut of fresh meat?
A. Yes. For any particular cut, such as sirloin steak or chuck roast, it will mean the store will be able to go no higher than the price listed on the sign.
Q. How about processed foods such as cold cuts, luncheon meats?
A. Ceiling prices for a minimum of 25 items must be posted. The items chosen must represent 70 per cent of sales from that particular section of the store. If there are fewer than 25 items sold in this counter, then all the items are subject to the posting requirement.

Q. What if the consumer wants to find out the ceiling price of a particular brand not posted?
A. All of the items containing beef, pork and lamb are subject to the ceilings. The store must have a list available to consumers located in a convenient spot so he can check it out. There must be a sign that clearly indicates the location of this ceiling price information.
Q. What does a consumer do if he or she believes that the posted ceiling price is illegal?
A. The Cost of Living Council says: "Before running to the Internal Revenue Service, ask the meat counter man, the person in charge of that department, if that's an accurate price. If you don't get a satisfactory answer, go home and call up the IRS. But note any pertinent information—the price asked, whether there are signs, the name and address of the store."
Q. Does the consumer have to complain in writing as required during the 1971 price freeze?
A. No. A verbal complaint will do.

Q. Is imported meat covered by the ceiling?
A. No. According to the regulations, the seller may pass on cost increases on a "dollar-for-dollar" basis, without any markup.

Dooley Opposes Conveyance Tax

In a statement to the General Assembly's Finance Committee, State Rep. Thomas H. Dooley of Vernon declared his firm opposition to proposed legislation which would substantially increase the tax on the sale of real estate.

The proposed bill would increase it to $10 per $1,000 of the selling price from the current tax of $1.10 per $1,000. The change was advocated by Governor Meskill in his budget message. The additional revenue would be paid to the state.

Rep. Dooley termed the proposal as "one of the most discriminatory and aggressive measures to come before the legislature since I have served in the House of Representatives."

"At a time of an unprecedented state surplus, at a time when we are encouraging private home ownership and at a time when the burden on the property owner has never been greater, we are being asked to impose an additional tax," Dooley said. He described this as "Incredible indeed and a sorry excuse for responsible government."

Dooley told the committee he has constituents who have been forced to leave their homes for lower cost housing due to the level of the property tax. He said the proposed bill would require the homeowner to pay about nine times the current tax on his way to less attractive quarters.

"Furthermore, if the homeowner realized a gain on the sale of his home, a tax on the capital gain would also be borne," he said. He has received more letters and calls from his constituents opposing this bill than on any other single matter during this session. He urged the committee to resist giving the legislature a favorable report regardless of pressures from the executive branch, and added that if it does reach the floor of the house, "I can assure you of my efforts to defeat this unnecessary and unwanted legislation."

Organic Foods, Herbs, Subject of Y Buffet

June B. Tompkins (Herald Reporter) "There's really no set rule for using herbs with foods," said Mrs. Betty Johnson at an organic food sampling and tasting buffet at the Community Y recently. "Use your sense of smell," she suggested, "and use your imagination. About 30 people sampled a variety of salads, hors d'oeuvres and a casserole prepared from organic foods and seasoned imaginatively with herbs. The salads were made with fresh vegetables and seasoned with dried parsley mixed with lettuce made a vitamin-rich salad when mixed with safflower oil, honey and vinegar, and sprinkled with herbs of the user's choice. Another salad-type bowl featured paper-thin slices of cucumber and Jerusalem artichoke. Until the vegetable was identified, guests were guessing the artichoke to be parsnip, potato, or a type of radish. The vegetable is easily grown. It grows tall and stately and bears a blossom in the autumn resembling a butterfly. Herbs planted with certain vegetables make good garden companions. Mrs. Johnson started out by suggesting the combination of basil and tomatoes. "The bugs won't touch the tomatoes," she said. "They'll eat the basil instead!" she said. She added that other combinations are mint with cabbage, dill with cucumbers, sage with squash, —and onions went out all around the garden will keep out the destructive animals, "like moles and bunny rabbits. She stressed the importance of allowing chives to rest. "If chives are set outdoors in the summer, they should be left in the ground all winter to rest, or they'll die," she said. "If you dig them up on St. Valentine's Day and bring them in the house and pot them, they'll house and grow again and produce abundantly." She suggested planting basil and summer savory for the

'Youth Scene' Topic Of CMSC Program

Robert J. Digan will discuss the "youth scene" in Manchester Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Cooper Hall, South Methodist Church. After hearing Digan, the program will turn its attention to a discussion of Youth Services in Manchester. Before assuming his responsibilities in the school system, he worked as a probation officer in the States of Indiana and Connecticut. This program is a follow-up to a program, the commission headed in February that was led by the Rev. Paul Shanley, who is minister to alienated youth for the Archdiocese of Boston, Mass.

Hurray For Hamburg!

Robert J. Digan

Not too long ago, the Museum of Modern Art featured the sculpture of flamboyant Pop artist, Claes Oldenburg. The exhibit included several bigger-than-life-size hamburgers. One with lettuce and tomato, one with mustard and catsup. And one with a man-size bite taken out of it. As my husband and I stood before Mr. Oldenburg's garish hamburger sculpture, I said in a thoughtful voice, "Maybe I'm stupid, but I just don't know what the artist is trying to say."

Bolton School Board Asks Budget of $1,217,351

DONNA HOLLAND Correspondent 646-0775 The Bolton Board of Education has submitted a budget request of $1,217,351 for the 1973-74 school year to the Board of Finance. The figure is an increase of $11,502, or 7.15 per cent, over the present year's operating budget. State grants of $306,046 will offset the request, resulting in a total local appropriation of $909,304. Dr. Joseph Castagna, superintendent of schools, notes that since teacher salary negotiations have gone into mediation, salary estimates in the budget are based on the board's last offer. Also, since transportation estimates are based on this year's cost until new bids are received and a contract awarded, and insurance costs are based on the current stage of negotiation, the total figure may have to be revised upward. The original request by school administrators was for $1,278,054. This amount was reduced by $60,703 by the board. Reductions include a $45,222 in the instruction account, $1,208 in the maintenance account and $14,273 in capital outlay. The administration account has increased $2,042 due to administrative personnel salary increases. Bases were raised $2,002 because requested. The board has approved a salary increase of $50 for the superintendent, bringing him to $29,000. The $45,222 reduction by the board in this account included the request for a slow learner program, a full-time learning disabilities teacher, and an additional counselor and classroom aides for Grades K-6. Health The health services accounts has increased $281. Salary increases for the nurse and health aides based on current schedules and the increase of the nurse's time by one hour a day were for $666, bringing the total to $7,310. The increases in this account were offset by transferring the cost of health supplies for physical education to the 200 instruction account. Plant Operation Increases in this category are due to negotiated changes in the salary schedule with the Custodian's Association based on the new two-year agreement of $1,478. A $1,000 increase in the cost of fuel is hopefully being offset by a reduction of $2,000 in the electricity account. Plant Maintenance Total increase in this category is $2,296. It includes include $300 for salaries, $343 for replacement of equipment and $253 for other maintenance expenses. Contracted services in this category total $4,755 compared to $7,445 last year. They include $1,600 to clean and pump the oil tank and rebuild the fire box at the Center School; $500 estimate to rewire the language laboratory; $300 to overhaul the tractor mower and $1,500 to replace the mixer in the cafeteria. Insurance The 800 insurance shows a total increase of $1,126. Dr. Castagna notes the $2,017, multi-peril insurance increase is one over which there is no control. The category increase was offset by $1,123; three-year boiler premium raised 75-75. Capital Outlay The capital outlay compares total $56,185 as requested last year's adjusted budget of $17,095. Repeated this year are expenditures that were cut last year because of budget reductions, such as remove and roof over seven skylights at the high school, plants the flag pole at the high school, and purchase a mimeo machine for the high school. Major new requests in this category include classroom lockers for Grades 7 and 8 at the Center School, carpeting for the 3 third grade rooms at the elementary school, carpeting for the learning disabilities room which is two-thirds reimbursable, a fire proof file for pupil personnel records, four linens reimbursable by a state grant, which will be 50 per cent reimbursable, hurdles for track and field program, two rubber and pole vault buckets for the physical education department, typing chairs for the Business Education Department which are indirectly funded by the business education grant, gas pump and tank for buses which is 50 per cent reimbursable. Dr. Castagna notes that of the $56,185 requested, over $1,000 is directly reimbursable to the town if the $58,000 is expended. The $1,233 reduction by the board in this account included parking areas at the high school, a band stand for the high school, scrubber and polisher, a tied bucket loader, library carpeting, and various equipment for administration, operation, maintenance and instruction. The town hearing on the proposed budget will be held on Wednesday, May 18 at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall.

Rham Board Approves Budget of $1,693,856

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971 The Regional District 8 Board of Education voted unanimously last night to approve a proposed budget for 1973-1974 of $1,693,856 and will present this budget at the district hearing next Monday evening. Last week the board had instructed the administration to cut at least $20,000 from the first draft of the budget which totaled $1,711,856. This administration did come to last night's meeting with cuts totaling $32,600 reducing items in almost every category of the budget. However, the board voted last night to restore an approved category of the budget bringing the total to that approved. The $14,900 restored covers teachers' salaries for summer programs ($4,900) and the addition of a learning disabilities teacher. The administration had recommended a cut of $6,150 for the summer programs. This would have included reading, basketball, soccer, music and a new program this year of industrial arts. All programs, except for industrial arts, were restored. The other $10,000 for the learning disabilities teacher was felt by four members of the board to be necessary to cope with the heavy load of students, plus those who might be discharged through additional testing planned for next year. The administration has already recommended increasing to two the number of learning disabilities teachers. With this additional teacher, there will now be three teachers. A representative group of parents attended the meeting in support of the additional teacher and stated that the board is operating possibly at the minimum now with respect to state guidelines on programs of this type. With the additional enrollment next year, this group felt that the board would not be reaching the minimum and that it had a legal obligation to provide the necessary number of teachers. Robert Sharkey of Marlborough and Everett Graham of Hebron were opposed to the additional $10,000 being restored to the budget, feeling that the board should abide by the administration's recommendation of increasing only one teacher. Graham also felt there was a possibility of overloading the program.

USED HIS HEAD — Darrell Burns had a reason for his headache. Burns, who broke the fall of a woman when she jumped from the third-floor window of a burning house, said: "I told her to jump and she jumped. We hit head to head. Now I've got a bit of a headache. I think she was a heavy woman."

Report Cards Topic For School Board

The South Windsor Board of Education will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Avery Street School. The board will talk about the date of the last report card in Grades K-5, and the acceptance of reportable and an athletic field for a state grant.

The board will hear an explanation of grade equivalency tests by William Perry, assistant superintendent of schools; a food-service report by the lunch program director; and a financial report by Donna Mercere, school business manager.

Also on the agenda will be a report by Mercurio on signs indicating the location of Timothy Edwards School.

FISH Load Crows South Windsor FISH records indicate a "marked increase" in family and health problems during the first quarter of 1973, according to co-chairman Mrs. Edward Curtis. A record high of 108 calls were received in the first quarter, fifty per cent more than in the same period in 1972.

Mrs. Curtis attributes much of the increase to families with needs which continue for weeks or even months. "Several of these problems concern children and young people," she said. "This is a new development for the FISH organization. In the past our services to younger residents were only occasional. Now, however, we are transporting one child and two teenagers on a continuing basis."

One child goes to a nursery while his mother is in the hospital, and one teenager to physical therapy and one to counseling.

Mrs. Curtis feels the need for FISH services will continue to grow. "With the substantial population increase we can expect during the next few years, and the growth our teenagers and senior citizen populations, we feel the need for all forms of volunteer and professional help will rise sharply in the years ahead."

Because of the increase in demand for its services, Mrs. Curtis said, there is an increase in the need for volunteers. Anyone who wants to volunteer as a driver is asked to call Mrs. Walter Cox, 20 Broadleaf Dr., or the FISH "hotline" 643-1055.

Street Sweeping Hours Beginning this week, street sweeping will be done in South Windsor streets Monday through Friday from 5 to 10 p.m.

Machine Shop Addition Approved by ZBA

The South Windsor Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) granted permission for an addition to a machine shop owned by George King on McGuire Rd. King was granted an extension of a non-conforming use.

The ZBA also approved the request of the South Windsor Kennel Club to hold a dog match April 28 at Rye St. Park. The ZBA also approved a variance to build a garage and family room requested by a variance to John and Martha Irwin to remove a 200-foot setback requirement on Foster St., a variance for an oversized sign to the Samsel-Bassinger Funeral Home, Buckland Rd., and a variance to the James Ferguson Co. for a Big Barney Car Wash on John Fitch Blvd. a half-mile from a repair garage.

Tree Delivery Set Trees purchased by South Windsor residents through the Conservation Commission will be delivered May 3 and 4. The tree sale was part of the CC's Tree Planting Program.

Residents who bought trees will be notified by the Commission about the delivery date. Some 88 homeowners in South Windsor bought 155 trees.

To Survey Parcels Alfred Sancho, chairman of the South Windsor Park and Recreation Commission (PARC), said consultants have been asked to evaluate the suitability of four town-owned properties for a proposed town recreation complex. Sancho said the consultants will also estimate the costs at each site.

Sites under consideration are the "Padini" property, some 40 acres on Nevers Rd. across from the high school, land between Orchard Hill and Timothy Edwards Schools, and a parcel of land on Rye St. Factors taken into consideration in the evaluation of the sites will be accessibility to sewer lines, traffic flow, and population density.

Sancho said PARC has set up a meeting Thursday with the Conservation Commission to discuss the use of undeveloped areas.

Revenue sharing funds are allocated to towns on the basis of tax effort, population, and per capita income, Sprinkel said. Sprinkel said he did not know how the money would be spent.

Ex-Yankees With Tribe Not Peeved at Trade

Kelley Perfect in First Start
Righthander Tom Kelley got in his first action of the 1973 National League season with the Atlanta Braves Sunday when he worked one inning of relief against Houston, the ninth and retired the side in order. He was then lifted for a pinchhitter and when the Braves scored in the 10th, Joe Hoerner was credited with the 4-3 decision. Some pretty nifty bowling was registered by George Clarke last week in the Merchants Bowling League at the Holiday Lanes. Clarke ended the 200 Club with a 202 effort. His triple total was 620. President Jim Leber of the Manchester Little League reports Joe Durocher will be the commissioner in the International League, Yosh Vincek in the American and Lou Pilver in the National League. Jim Balesano was slated to start on the mound today for Trinity's varsity baseball team in its season opener against AIC at Springfield. Balesano, a sophomore, is also a fine infielder and a good hitter.

Designated Hitter
East Catholic High used a designated hitter, Mike Millerick, in its first game of the season last Saturday against St. Bernard. The DH may be used in Hartford County Conference games this season if all coaches agree. Jim Penders of East Catholic reports... The annual UConn spring football clinic, which will mark the end of home practice, is listed for Saturday morning, April 28 at Memorial Stadium starting at 9:30. One of the features will be an intra-squad scrimmage from 12:40 to 1 followed by a barbecue in the field. New varsity coach Larry Naviaux will be in charge... Roller derby Saturday night at the Springfield Civic Center will bring together the Chiefs and the Bay Bombers. Billy Cunningham of the Carolina Cougars has been named the most valuable player in the American Basketball Assn. with Julius Erving of Virginia a distant second. Erving is the same man who served his apprenticeship in the varsity basketball team at Northingham is the first non-center ever to win the coveted award.
