Bolton School Scores Well In Business Courses

The report of the evaluation of the high school program has been received from Joseph Corcoran, consultant, business and office education, State Department of Education.

Based on a scale of 1-5, with 1 poor and 5 excellent, the forty-nine items rated, Bolton scored 24 excellent, 14 very good, 5 good, 5 fair and 1 poor. The poor rating was based on the inability of business teachers to share responsibility in career orientation for pre-high school grades.

Improvements are needed in the advisory committee membership and career awareness involvement with the prehigh school grades. The town was advised to replace the extension cords for the typewriters. Dr. Joseph Castagna, superintendent of schools, says funds have been budgeted for this. Further study of the school was recommended for staff, program and course description.

Grant Approved
Dr. Ralph Goodrich, Administrator, Title II, ESSEA, informed Dr. Castagna that a grant application for $5,000 was approved. Of 15 grants approved, Bolton's proposal had a number 1 rating, one of four with that score.

Funds will be expended for both hardware and software including a Systems 80 program which the board couldn't fund last year. Activities will concentrate on the K-8 levels.

The preparation and submission of the successful proposal was done by Mrs. MaryJane Fazio and Mr. Robert Hamm, reading teachers.

The board will send a letter of commendation to them for a job well done.

The suit, filed on behalf of members of Amalgamated Transit Union Locals 659, 1465, 1183 and 570 in the three cities, contends that a contract between the union and the company contains a clause which entitles the workers to severance pay if the firm is shut down or abandons a division within the term of the contract.

Terrorists Attack U.S. Owned Refinery

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Two huge oil tanks were blown up and set ablaze at a U.S.-owned refinery early today, and a Marxist Lebanese group claimed responsibility and vowed to keep up the attacks.

Officials said the two tanks were not full when the fire broke out and contained a total of 30,000 barrels. Their capacity was 100,000 barrels each.

The Lebanese government said 18 of the 28 tanks at the refinery had been wired but army demolition teams were able to disarm the other 16.

An unconfirmed report by Palestinians said one Lebanese soldier was found dead at the scene, 24 miles south of Beirut, and four men were found handcuffed.

The attackers, the Lebanese Revolutionary Guard, pledged to strike at "all imperialist and reactionary bases in the Arab world."

The group said the attack on the refinery was "intended as a blow to the untidy alliance between the United States, Saudi Arabia and Lebanon" and that the oil "feeds imperialism and goes into planes and other destructive weapons with which the United States is generally supplying the Israeli enemy."

The Lebanese government said "armed elements" were responsible for the attack, a phrase in official communications that usually means Palestinian guerrillas.

Senate Watergate Investigator Quits

WASHINGTON (AP) - Harold K. Lipset, the chief investigator for senators probing the Watergate bugging case, has resigned after learning of imminent disclosures that he once pleaded guilty to a bugging conspiracy case in New York.

Lipset, 51, is based in San Francisco and has been a private detective 27 years, often in sensational cases. He said detective work for the defense in the recent Angela Davis and Soledad Brothers murder cases.

Lipset said his bugging conviction arose out of a 1966 marital case in which a tape recorder microphone was placed under the door of a room at the Plaza Hotel. He said he pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor and was given a suspended sentence.

Details of the case were first published last year after Lipset's resignation.

Arabs Planning U.N. Offensive Against Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) - Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohamed Hassan el-Zayyat was organizing a stepped-up U.N. offensive against Israel and the United States today over the Israeli raid into Lebanon.

The Security Council had scheduled another session on the Middle East today but postponed it until Monday, apparently to allow him time to confer with Lebanese and other delegates. Zayyat arrived Friday night.

In Lebanon, saboteurs blew up two big seaside storage tanks at an American-owned refinery early today. A leftist Lebanese group claimed responsibility and vowed it would strike at "all imperialist and reactionary bases in the Arab world."

At Friday's Security Council meeting, the Soviet Union joined Arab speakers in denouncing Israel and its U.S. backing. "The Soviet Union is prepared to support effective sanctions, up to and including Israel's expulsion from the United Nations," said Ambassador Jacob Malin. Informed sources said the United States had not altered its stance from last year, when

Flight Records Released

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bending slightly to congressional complaints, the White House has released records showing President Nixon's re-election campaign flights on 55 presidential aircraft.

The administration, however, withheld names of passengers and details of many other flights made during the campaign on the grounds such information is personal in nature and subject to executive privilege.

Congressional auditors obtained summaries of flight records of 135 trips made by planes of the 89th Military Airlift Wing at Andrews Air Force base, Md. The unit provides air transportation for the President, his family, cabinet members and other officials.

The summaries will be placed in the Congressional Record today, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said.

The refusal by White House counsel John Dean III to provide all the records requested was cited in House testimony early this month as the only recent lack of cooperation from the White House and the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress.

In an investigation requested by Proxmire, U.S. Comptroller Gen. Elmer B. Staats asked the White House last October for copies of passenger manifests and flight logs for 42 trips made during the campaign.

In a report to Proxmire, Staats said 103 trips were made by White House and cabinet officials in September, October and the first week of November. Twenty-three of these trips were paid for by the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

"However, information obtained by our Office of Federal Elections showed an additional 32 trips made by the presidential crew and paid for by the finance committee in December, 1972." Staats reported that of the 103 trips, 34 were made by cabinet officers and charged to their respective departments.

More Impounding, Not Less Needed In Most Budgets

In all the furor over impoundment of funds by the President, which Ires Congressmen who voted money for pet projects back home only to have the money more or less put in escrow, we forget a more significant and more prevalent problem involving public monies.

It is almost an unwritten law in American government, be it a Connecticut town hall, the state bureaucracy, independent federal agencies and the rest of the structure of our government, which in effect says, if the money has been budgeted and appropriated, it must be spent.

The reasons are simple:

1. Any agency ending up with a surplus of funds at the end of a fiscal year fears it will either be criticized for failure to carry out its directives or it asked for too much money in the first place; therefore its next budget can be cut. And if the Assembly, the Congress, or Town Directors are on the ball and find out that either is the case, they justifiably act accordingly.

2. There seems to be a certain thing about people in leadership, both in and out of government, who equate status of the job with the size of the budget he or she is given to administer and this is translated into larger staffs and capital outlays. In other words, empire building, is a goal of many regardless of justified need or quality of service performed.

The result is that often when a surplus appears evident there is a rash of spending "this year's money" for next year's things, particularly non-perishables which are not covered specifically by budget rules. Now this wouldn't cause a minute's concern to us if, for example, a surplus of $500 was used to buy office supplies which will be used, if, and this is the big if, the ensuing budget for supplies is reduced accordingly.

What it adds up to is that in too many places in our governmental bureaucracy, local, state and national, there is no dirth of ideas on how to best use "unexpected surpluses" or other windfall funds.

In the light of Manchester's relatively large unencumbered surplus as reported by the final audit Tuesday, we would suggest the first consideration be to the taxpayer in the form of a several mill reduction in next year's tax bill.

If such an action were followed at all levels of government real tax savings could be made and we feel fiscal credibility could be restored. Isn't it really too bad that we can generate as much concern and headlines over the issue of spending every nickel appropriated, whether it is necessary or not, like we do over the President's impoundment of funds. It appears to us that what the country needs is more impounders all the way down to the town hall.

No-Fault Report From Delaware

There is no-fault automobile insurance and then there is no-fault automobile insurance, and the question confronting legislators in many states is which of the numerous plans proposed or in effect is best—if any is.

Basically, no-fault means that people are paid directly by their own insurer for their losses without waiting to determine who caused a collision.

One point of controversy, however, has been the contention of proponents of the Keaton-O'Connell type of no-fault, which was adopted by Massachusetts, that the concept can't work unless it bars the right to sue below a suitable "threshold." In Massachusetts, for example, lawsuits are restricted unless hospital or medical costs exceed $500.

Lawyers, on the other hand, argue that a threshold isn't necessary—that effective auto insurance reform can provide first-party coverage, regardless of fault, without abrogating legal rights and still reducing court congestion, reduce premiums and effect prompt payment of claims.

They are now citing Delaware's experience as an example. Compulsory no-fault insurance went into effect in Delaware on Jan. 1, 1972, providing a $10,000 economic package and no restriction on the right to sue.

According to the state's insurance commissioner, 13 months later claims had been reduced by 70 per cent and less than a dozen suits had been filed by Delawareans.

Litigation over medical costs, wages and loss of services has disappeared, he reports, except for out-of-state drivers and their passengers. There has not been a single known incident where the Delaware victims were not paid promptly upon presentation of their bills and the vehicle was insured as required by law.

In other words, when people are promptly and reasonably reimbursed for losses in automobile accidents, they don't make unreasonable claims and file "nuisance" suits.

At the same time, there has been no increase in insurance rate levels in Delaware and in some cases decreases. Bodily injury rates were reduced as much as 25 per cent.

"Delaware's no-fault auto insurance is working and can well serve as a national model," says the commissioner. His statistics suggest that it at least bears looking into by other states.

Praises Teacher

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to school officials in regard to the evening small engines class at Manchester High School.

You and your staff are to be congratulated and should be very proud to have a man such as Mr. Adrian "Butch" Groot teaching in your school system. Living in Vernon we are not as fortunate to have a class such as Mr. Groot teaches. In considering myself quite fortunate to have had the opportunity to be enrolled in this class and I am hoping for many years to come to be able to enroll again.

This class offers a novice like myself a great opportunity to become a part time mechanic. To understand the mechanical functions of an automobile so you can operate it on the highway, knowing in your own mind that it is safe for your family and other motorists. Mr. Groot makes this all possible.

Mr. Groot is courteous, helpful, and above all extremely knowledgeable in his trade. He never seems to tire and I know he puts in a long day, and is always willing to give you his personal knowledge to help you out of a difficult problem. I know every member of this class would have an individual word of praise for Mr. Groot. There isn't enough you could say about this man. I am a believer that when an outstanding job is done, then that person deserves some type of recognition. So I say to Mr. Groot:

Well chosen by the board. Well endowed in his field. Well liked by all his class. Well paid I hope. Well don't lose him.

An Invitation

To the editor:

Since the article "Visit a coffee house" appeared in The Herald, many have responded to the invitation. But since then many questions have been asked about the Jesus people movement. Some of the questions are, what is a Jesus person? What makes a Jesus person different from anyone else? And who are the Maranatha Singers? To the inquiries I wish to say:

I was going to answer these questions in this letter but I have found a better way of answering your inquiries into the Jesus people movement of Maranatha. Saturday night (April 14) at 7:30 the Maranatha Singers will be presenting their first "Love Concert." Appearing with the Maranatha Singers will be the Masters' Music Men of Green Lane, Pa.

At that time you will see and hear the Jesus people in person. You will hear many tell their story of how Jesus Christ changed their lives. And, also hear for the first time the "love songs" of the Maranatha Singers.

I would like you to be my personal guests Saturday night. This invitation is to young and old alike, for in God's love there isn't any generation gap.

May God's love richly fill your life and until Saturday night Maranatha.

A Contrary People

WASHINGTON — We are a contrary people, perhaps even perverse. Louis Harris has just come up with another of his fascinating polls to support the point that Americans tend to be ambivalent on certain issues which would seem to call for general agreement.

Harris reports that 86 per cent of those interviewed took a negative view of President Nixon's efforts to reduce the cost of living. Yet the same folks voted by 66 to 27 that Nixon was doing a poor job of handling inflationary Federal expenditures. An earlier Gallup Poll showed that while 59 per cent agreed with Nixon that inflation cannot be controlled without drastic cuts in the Federal budget, the interviewees are opposed to the decision to eliminate the Office of Economic Opportunity, 46 to 39 per cent.

Explaining such contradictions takes some doing, but the temptation is irresistible to conclude that they are based on the public's desire to eat its cake and have it too. Everybody wants reduced government spending — with reservations. Perhaps more significant, this is by and large a compassionate country: the average citizen has never wanted to appear opposed to giving the poor a helping hand. Moreover, Nixon's dismantlement of the OEO has produced such a burst of wailing and teeth-gnashing in Congress as to nourish a feeling of guilt on Main Street.

Yet, as Walter Lippmann recently observed in an interview with his biographer, Ronald Steel, the President has done well the distasteful and unpopular chore of junking welfare programs that haven't worked out. Helping the poor here is one of one careerist who has bounced in and out of eight government jobs in the past three years without losing a day's pay.

Richard Nixon's efforts to control the price spiral have been somewhat less ingenious to put it mildly. He has seemed determined to ram the free marketplace down our throats at any cost. But the howls on Capitol Hill are proof that his program to reduce inflationary Federal spending is a step in the right direction. With an affluent society on a buying spree, the one thing Nixon can do is restrain the Federal government's lavish disbursements.

Besides, the administration has not exactly sentenced the poor to the workhouse. Funds for so-called "human resources" now constitute a bigger share of the budget than under any other recent President. It may even turn out that most of this money will go to those who need it, and not for management costs.

That explains the picketing outside OEO headquarters here several weeks ago by antipoverty workers. There were the usual signs, but most of them demanded in effect: "Save Our Jobs! Well, all we want to do is save our jobs, but those of us outside of government probably would prefer that more money go to the poor and less to those who administer relief.

At any rate, I have been in Washington too long to mourn over the loss of jobs by people in government agencies. A great majority of those who lose jobs when an agency's budget is cut back catch on with another agency because that's the way things are done around here. I know of one careerist who has bounced in and out of eight government jobs in the past three years without losing a day's pay.

A Show That's Really Bombing

Scene: The cockpit of a B-52. At the controls is that square-jawed, bemused, veteran bomber pilot, Major Buck Ace. At his side is his co-pilot, young, eager Lieutenant Edgar Beaver, who is fresh from the States, making his first sortie.

Beaver: Gosh, sir, it's sure a beautiful day for bombing, not a cloud in the sky.

Ace: That's right, son. In all my many years of bombing here I've never seen an better one.

Beaver: And I see we've got every available B-52 up again today. Boy, we're really going to blast holy heck out of those Vietnamese down there.

Ace: That's not Vietnam, Lieutenant. That's Cambodia.

Beaver: Oh, sorry, sir.

Ace: An understandable mistake, son. Frankly, all these Asian countries look alike to me.

Beaver: But I thought we were bombing Vietnam.

Ace: That was last month. I think you'll find, son, that while bombing Asian countries is fulfilling for the moment, the gratification doesn't last. Bomb one and a month later you'll want to bomb another.

Beaver: Yes, sir. But I've been so out of touch lately I didn't even know we were at war with Cambodia.

Ace: We're not, son. They're our allies. Most of the time out here, we bomb our allies.

Beaver: Oh, sure, I remember. We're probably doing it to honor our sacred commitment to General... What's his name? Non Loi? Lol Non?

Ace: Something like that. But we're not bombing him. His own air force has been taking care of that.

Beaver: I see. We're bombing them to stop them from bombing each other. You know, that doesn't sound right. Wait! It's the Domino Theory. As Cambodia goes, so goes... What goes next, sir?

Ace: (shrugging) Wherever we'll be bombing in May.

Beaver: (snapping his fingers) Minds and hearts! We're bombing them to win the minds and hearts of people all over the world.

Ace: Why not?

Beaver: No, wait. I forgot what the President said. The President, who inherited the war in Cambodia from his previous administration, said we had to keep bombing to protect the lives of our American boys down there.

Ace: Look, Lieutenant, we haven't had any troops in Cambodia in years.

Beaver: No, I mean in Vietnam, sir. The President said the only reason he invaded Cambodia was because the enemy was using it as a staging area to attack our boys in Vietnam. So we're saving American lives.

Ace: Look, Lieutenant, we haven't had any troops in Vietnam in weeks.

Beaver: Oh? Well, anyway, we've got to keep bombing them to make them release our POWs. We'll never rest until our POWs are home. Right, sir?

Ace: All our POWs are home, Lieutenant.

Beaver: Gosh, I didn't know that. (frowning) No offense, sir, but couldn't you give me just one good reason why we're bombing Cambodia?

Ace: Sure, Lieutenant. (he presses a button) Because — Bombs away! — it is there.

Today's Thought

"The road is too rough," I said. "My Lord, There are stones that hurt me so." And He said, "Dear child, I understand; I walked it long ago."

"But there's a cool green path," I said. "Let me walk there for a time."

"No child," He gently answered me, "The green road does not climb."

"My burden," I said, "is far too great; How can I bear it so?"

"My child, said He, "I know it's weight; I carried my cross you know."

"But," I said, "if there were friends who would make my way their own." "Ah! Yes," He said, "Gentleman was hard to face alone."

And so I climbed the stony path.

Content at last to know that where my Master had not gone, I would not need to go.

And strangely, then, I found new friends; The burdens grew less sore, As I remembered, long ago He went that way before.

Town Woman Indicted In Drug Ring Case

A Manchester woman is one of four persons indicted in a major heroin conspiracy, according to Stewart Jones, U.S. attorney.

Waynette Goodson, 30, of 101 Tudor Lane, along with three co-defendants, was indicted by a federal grand jury and accused of "conspiracy to possess wholesale and retail quantities of heroin and cocaine with intent to distribute."

The others indicted were identified as Raymond Walker, 35, of Hartford, Felix V. Morales of New Britain and Robert L. Mauldin of Hartford. All four were being sought Friday afternoon.

F. Mac Buckley, special federal attorney in charge of drug abuse enforcement, said that the group was, at one point, "doing a major share of the Hartford area heroin trade." Walker is already under federal indictment in Buffalo, N.Y. and New York City, Buckley said.

The indictment said the conspiracy ranged from Hartford to California to South Carolina and New York from December, 1969 to the present.

Tax Collections At 98.7 Per Cent

Manchester tax collections as of March 31, and with three months of the fiscal year still to go, equaled 98.7 per cent of 12-months estimates, according to a report by Ernest Machell, collector of revenue.

Machell reported tax collections totaling $12,338,473 to the General Fund as of the end of March. The estimate for the fiscal year ending June 30 is $12,490,890. Revenue to the General Fund from all sources as of March 31 (including state and federal aid) totaled $15,735,569, against 12-months estimates of $17,301,256.

Revenue to the Town Fire District Fund as of March 31 actually exceeded revenue estimates to June 30 — with $1,048,179 collected and $1,044,555 estimated.

Revenue as of March 31 to the Water Fund totaled $514,178, against 12-months estimates of $700,900; and to the Sewer Fund, $481,207 against $579,713.

Fire Calls

The Eighth District Fire Department was called to 1535 Tolland Tpke. at 9:33 a.m. today to extinguish a grass, log and woods fire there.

The Town Fire Department was called to 306 Main St. Friday at 4:54 p.m. for a gasoline washdown. Firemen said there was no accident, the spill came from a punctured gas tank.

At 10:11 a.m. today Town Firemen were called to Hartford Rd. to extinguish a minor grass fire burning across the street from South Methodist Church.

Police Report

Jeffrey Brown, 17, of 199 Talcottville Rd., Vernon, was charged Friday night at Main and Wadsworth Sts. with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor in connection with a one-car accident there, police said.

Police report that Brown was additionally charged with illegal possession of a non-narcotic controlled substance and resisting arrest. Police say that the drug charge stems from the finding of a small quantity of a substance believed to be marijuana in the car ashtray. The resisting arrest charge was lodged when Brown became "uncooperative and had to be subdued by force," police said.

He is being held in lieu of bond and will be presented in court Monday if not released on bond.

legal possession or control of a non-narcotic controlled substance, third-degree larceny, and illegal possession of prescription legend drugs.

He was released on a $2,000 surety bond posted by a professional bondsman and is scheduled to appear in court April 30.

Details of the arrest were not available.

Two men were charged Friday with operating motor vehicles while their licenses were under suspension. Police say that Ernest A. Fournice, 26, of 99 Grand Ave., Rockville, and Guy H. Mullens, 33, of Hudson St. charged in unrelated incidents, were both released on $50 cash bonds.

Court dates are April 30 for Fournice and May 21 for Mullens.

Auto Found on Lawn Leads to Drug Charges

Kenneth Palmer, 18, of 288 Fern St., was charged early today with possession of a non-narcotic controlled substance, escape from custody, tampering with evidence and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of drugs.

Deborah Fogarty, 17, of 39 Niles Dr., is charged with intoxication in connection with the same incident.

Early this morning, police received a report of a car on the lawn of 71 Niles Dr. Upon investigation police say they found Palmer unconscious at the wheel of the car. They aroused Palmer and asked for his license and registration.

While he was looking for the documents, police began to inspect the damage to the lawn. Police say that Palmer then started his car and began to leave. Police shouted for him to stop which he did when he reached the road.

A search of the car turned up a bag containing a plant-like substance suspected to be marijuana.

At this point police allege that Palmer grabbed the bag from the officer and ran from the scene. The bag was ripped, police say, when the youth snatched the bag.

When Palmer was later apprehended, he did not have the bag in his possession. Police say, however, that the bag was found during a later search of the area. Also found in the car was a "small wooden pipe, of the type commonly used to smoke marijuana," according to police.

Palmer was released on a surety bond of an undisclosed amount. Both Palmer and Miss Fogarty, who was found asleep in the Palmer vehicle, are scheduled to appear in court on April 30.

Man Shot

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Charles Nunnally, 25, of New Haven was fatally shot Friday night, and police charged 23-year-old George Street of New Haven with murder.

Police said the two were arguing at the Horseshoe Bar on Congress avenue about 10:45 p.m. Officers said Street pulled a small gun and fired two shots, hitting Nunnally in the chest and shoulder. He was pronounced dead at Yale-New Haven Hospital.

ABC Cancels Julie, Paul And 4 Others

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC television network has announced that six shows, including "Mod Squad" and "The Julie Andrews Hour," will not be renewed at the end of the current viewing season.

ABC, the last of the three major networks to make public its 1973-74 evening schedule, said last week it was also cancelling "The Paul Lynde Show," "The Men," "Here We Go Again" and "A Touch of Grace."

The September lineup will feature five new police, comedy and dramatic series. The new shows, still uncast, are "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice," a half-hour comedy loosely based on the movie of the same name and "Toma," an hour long police series.

Also, "Mr. and Mrs.," a half-hour series about a district attorney and his lawyer wife; "Griff," an hour-long private eye show starring Lorne Green of the now-defunct "Bonanza" series; and "ABC Suspense Movie," a 90-minute series with a varied cast.

A science fiction series called "Cyborg" will replace "ABC Suspense Movie" once a month, ABC said. The show will star Lee Majors, who will continue as a regular in the top-rated "Owen Marshall" series.

Archie's Had Other Roles

Emmy-winning actor Carroll O'Connor played a variety of character roles in his pre-Archie Bunker days. One of the roles was that of Shawnee, a larcenous, Old West peddler in "Ride a Northbound Horse," a two-part Western to be rebroadcast on "The Wonderful World of Disney" April 22 and 29. For O'Connor, the role was one of many character parts in which TV producers have cast him. The 49-year-old actor's versatility led to appearances in numerous productions for the BBC, and in American TV, for "U.S. Steel Hour," "Armstrong Circle Theatre," and "Kraft Theatre."

Shirley Jones and Gordon MacRae star as the romantic couple, Laurey and Curly, in the film version of Rodgers and Hammerstein's classic musical, "Oklahoma!," on CBS-TV Friday (April 20) at 8:30 p.m.

Pamela Shoop has taken over the role of Allison MacKenzie in NBC-TV's "Return to Peyton Place," seen weekdays at 3:30 p.m.

Acting Isn't All For Pamela Shoop

"Being in front of a theater audience, a camera, or studying with a drama coach is only part of acting," says Pamela Shoop, who portrays Allison MacKenzie on NBC-TV's "Return to Peyton Place" (weekdays at 3:30 p.m.). "Some performers believe that because they are actors they shouldn't do anything else," Pamela adds. "They feel that to take a job away from acting when things are slow is demeaning and that the industry won't think that they are very good." "Even when they have it made and have to turn down offers, I feel that one of the wisest things they can do is to get away from greasepaint and lights now and then and take another type of job." Pamela has practiced what she preaches. Between acting stints, she spent a year working for a man and his wife as their secretary. "It was a rare experience," she observes. "Next time I'd like to try something else."

The Symbols of the Happy, Joyful Easter Season!

Easter egg hunts are one of the symbols of the happy Easter season.

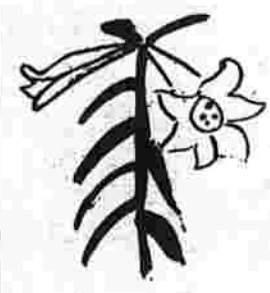

The Easter Egg

Thousands of years before Christ was born, people celebrated the return of spring with holidays and the giving of colored eggs. The eggs stood for the new life that comes with spring. Dutch settlers in Pennsylvania and New York brought Easter egg customs to this country. The Dutch governor, Peter Stuyvesant, liked Easter parties. Easter was a day of much celebration. The Dutch colored a lot of eggs. These eggs also stood for better times to come. The Dutch also started the custom of egg rolling which was very much like the Egg Rolling Contest held on the South Lawn of the White House each Easter Monday. Dutch settlers also started the Easter egg tree in America. Each year they brought a branch or small tree into the house and decorated it with colored eggs. Many libraries and schools do this today.

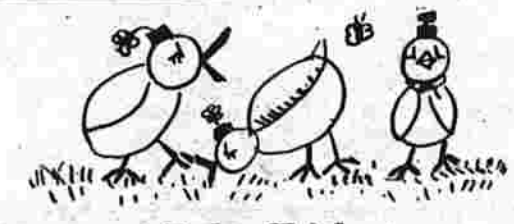

The Easter Rabbit

The rabbit is an ancient symbol of the joy of new life that spring brings.

The Lily

Lilies come from bulbs. The bulb is said to represent Christ's tomb. The lily blossom stands for His life after death. Lilies were first grown in Japan.

Baby Chicks

Baby chicks also remind us of the new life of spring and the Easter season.

The Easter Colors

White is for purity and happiness. Yellow is for the sun that brings new life. Purple is for the sadness over the death of Christ. Green is for the beauty of spring. It is also the symbol of life after death.

"The Crucifixion with the Virgin and Saints," by Lorenzo Di Niccolo, (Italian, c. 1392-1411), from the collection at The North Carolina Museum Of Art.

The Cross

To Christians, the cross is the symbol of the true meaning of Easter, the resurrection of Christ and His triumph over death.

As the children look on, Rabbi Leo J. Stillpass of Temple Beth Or in Raleigh, North Carolina gives a lesson on Passover customs.

Passover

April 17 marks the beginning of the Jewish celebration, Passover.

The Passover story is an ancient one from the twelfth chapter of the Book of Exodus in the Old Testament. The story goes back to the time when Moses led the children of Israel out of Egypt where they were held in slavery. The Hebrew people were told to kill a lamb and sprinkle its blood over their doorways. To force the king to let the Jews leave Egypt, the angel of death killed the first born of all the Egyptian families. He passed over the homes of the Jews. The Jews were told to roast the lamb and eat it as a meal of thanksgiving. Along with the lamb they were to eat bitter herbs and bread made without yeast.

The Jews celebrate Passover at a meal called the Seder. At this meal someone reads the Passover story from a book called the Haggadah. During Passover celebration, the Jews eat unleavened breads called matzahs.
