Bolton Contract Goes To Arbitration

The Board of Education and the Bolton Educational Association have been negotiating the teachers' master agreement since December. Negotiations resulted in an impasse on March 18 and were referred to mediation on April 11.

This four-hour session failed to result in an agreement and the state mediator declared that the parties were in a stalemate and placed them in arbitration.

Each group must select an arbitrator and the two of them must then select a third arbitrator and set a hearing date.

Areas of disagreement to be submitted to arbitration are limited to the basic salary schedule, the no strike clause, binding arbitration and the provision for CMS Center premiums.

The opinion of the arbitration panel is advisory only and is not binding on either party. If an agreement is reached following arbitration, the agreement must be submitted to the town clerk and within 30 days the legislative body of the town can vote to reject it.

Chairman for the match is Mrs. Richard Soars.

RULE OF ELEVEN
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
The Rule of Eleven applies when a player has led his fourth highest card in a suit. The other three players will have, among them, a certain number of cards higher than the card led. To get that certain number, subtract the card that has been led from eleven. One use of the rule is shown in today's hand.

South dealer
North-South vulnerable
Opening lead — Two of Diamonds

When West led the deuce of diamonds, South agonized and finally played the ten, fortunately for him. East conveyed with the king, and South won with the ace.

Since he could win only eight tricks without the clubs, South led a club at once. East took the king of clubs and returned the six of diamonds — fourth highest from his original holding in the suit.

South played a low diamond, and West had to decide whether to play the eight of diamonds or whether to unblock by dropping the jack of diamonds under dummy's queen.

Eight Fatal
It would be fatal to play the eight of diamonds. Dummy would win the queen and lead another club. East would take the ace of clubs, but the diamonds would be blocked.

So West threw away the jack of diamonds, and East was able to take the ace of clubs and the rest of the diamonds, defeating the contract.

old days come in and listen to the shows and identify the voices."
The necessary fee arrangements were made and he went to work.
Oddly enough, the greatest fans at the start were college students running campus radio stations.

"They looked on this as camp material, you might say," observed Michelson, who says the radio nostalgia market now falls roughly into three categories.

One is the youth market, teen-agers for whom "The Lone Ranger" is something new and exciting. The second is the memory lane market, people who grew up listening to radio.

The third is the freeway market, motorists who'd rather hear "Fibber McGee and Molly" than music or news during the rush hour.

"We decided around Christmas-time in 1964 to throw out these old records," said Michelson, 63. "But just before we did it, I got a little sentimental — it must have been the holiday season — and I said, 'let's see if maybe we can do something with them.'"

Whereupon he wrote to friends he'd known for years at 25 key radio stations in the U.S. He proposed a revival of radio's golden days. Twelve said they were interested and he was in business.

But first there was a period of negotiations with the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists. The talks involved fees that would have to be paid the artists on the original radio shows.

"We didn't even have a list of the original actors, anymore," he laughed. "We finally had a committee of actors from the West never enjoyed to throw away his lack of diamonds, but the Rule of Eleven told him that this play was safe. East's return of the six of diamonds was clearly a fourth highest lead.

Six from eleven left five, which means that South, West and North held exactly five cards higher than the six of diamonds. West held two of them, the jack and eight. Dummy had started with two of them, the queen and the ten.

Therefore South had started with only one diamond higher than the six — and he had already played his ace of diamonds.

CRIME VICTIM COMPENSATION BILL STUDIED
HARTFORD (AP) — The legislature's Judiciary Committee has endorsed a proposal to provide state-financed compensation for innocent victims of crimes and the victim's dependents.

The measure would establish a state claims commission to review claims for the compensation benefits which would range as high as $10,000.

The measure provides that compensation would be paid to one who sustains an injury or dies while attempting to prevent the commission of a crime, to apprehend a suspected criminal, or aiding in or attempting to aid a police officer.

Consideration in awarding compensation would be given to the victim's loss of earning power in the event of an injury and the loss of benefits to his dependents in the event of death.

South Windsor Library Board Studies Next Step

The South Windsor Library Board will continue to study future plans for the library, according to board chairman John Cook. The board expects to reach some decision by the end of May.

Cook said he could not comment on what alternatives the board is studying. The board has to come up with new plans because of the defeat of the library referendum.

One of the alternatives, according to some town officials is that the proposed library might be put to referendum in the fall. Those who propose a second referendum feel that by all townspeople will be convinced that the tax rate is dropping and would be more apt to agree to a new building program.

The library Board has indicated that some new arrangement for the library must be made because the present facilities in the Sullivan Ave. shopping plaza are overcrowded.

Club Elects Officers
Mrs. Richard Meter has been elected president of the South Windsor Women's Club. Other officers are Mrs. George Haberster, first vice president; Mrs. David Vale, second vice president; Mrs. James Doherty, recording secretary; Mrs. Herbert Appland, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Thomas Breen, treasurer.

New officers will be installed at the club's annual banquet, May 14.
Present Law Program
The South Windsor Woman's Club and the Connecticut Bar Association are presenting their sixth annual "Youth and the Law" program to 7th grade students Timothy Edwards Middle School.

The series will continue through May 16. Under the program, participating attorneys will meet with each class for two sessions. In the first session, students will be able to ask attorneys what the laws are, why they exist, and how they are made. In the second session attorneys will show how the laws are applied. Lawyers taking part in the program are Frank Ahearn, Anthony Criso, Harold Cummings Jr., Thomas J. Donnelly, William Grace, Richard James, Jonathan Kaplan, Edward Kuehn, Edwin Lassman, Vernon Peterson, James Throve, and Donald Wasik.

Conduct Predicts Drug 'Weakness'

Is there any way teachers or parents can predict with any degree of reliability whether a youngster will fool around with drugs? At least one study indicates that there is.

Junior high school students who get poor grades and flout school rules are significantly more likely to use drugs during their high school years than more studious and orderly classmates.

This is one of the findings of a continuing five-year study of Boston elementary, junior and high school students being conducted by Dr. Gene M. Smith of Massachusetts General Hospital, under a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

The study is looking for answers in three areas: (1) Why some students become regular drug users while others merely experiment with drugs briefly or ignore them; (2) how personality traits and academic performance serve as predictors of involvement with or disinterest in drugs; (3) what changes occur in attitudes, personality and behavior after the initiation of subsequent use.

In findings to date, the best indicator of subsequent use of illegal drugs is rebelliousness toward authorities and rules. Obedient children are the least likely to become drug users.

The more rebellious a child, the greater his subsequent use of drugs is apt to be, ranging from infrequent marijuana smoking through frequent marijuana use to multiple experimentation with and use of depressants, stimulants, LSD and other hallucinogens, and heroin.

Other reliable predictors of future drug use are classroom apathy and generally poor academic performance from middle school onward, and the early smoking of cigarettes.

Personality traits on which drug users score low are: Conscientiousness, dependability, thoroughness, recognition, setting high goals, persistence, planfulness, thoroughness, efficiency, mannerliness and agreeableness.

Two traits which do not predict future drug use or non-use are vigor and self-confidence.

There are marked personality differences between those students who have never used drugs and those who have, while infrequent and frequent drug users tend to have similar personalities.

The students are self-rated. They ranged from fourth-graders to high school seniors and represent a sample of a predominantly white, middle-class high school population of 15,000 in 33 public schools in the Greater Boston area.

They fill out questionnaires each year in which they rate themselves on traits of personality and behavior and identify their attitudes toward drugs and their use of drugs. School records furnish histories of academic performance, while a coding system guarantees confidentiality.

Participation is voluntary, but approximately 95 per cent of the students present on testing days have taken part in the study.

Incidentally, the study knocks a hole in the belief that "the parents drink the kids smoke."

Toward A Better, Brighter Future

To the editor: For the first time in many years our town can approach its budgetary decisions in a calm and rational atmosphere.

Manchester's 73/74 budget need not be worked out under the gun of a tax increase as a consequence to minimum maintenance and services.

For too long we have asked our administrators to go to the bare bones in their fiscal policy and our town now shows the results of this extreme stringency. It should be with great relief that we throw away this skimpy garment and, hopefully, be through with it forever.

If the proponents of a mill rate reduction are saying that our average town citizen, if given a choice, would trade off a serious attack on the long list of neglected town priorities for $26, I think they have seriously misread him.

It is the proponents of a mill rate reduction who are saying that our average town citizen, if given a choice, would trade off a serious attack on the long list of neglected town priorities for $26, I think they have seriously misread him.

Another fact that should not be overlooked is the effect a mill rate reduction would have on the calculating of Manchester's total tax effort, which is and will continue to be, the basis for Federal Revenue Sharing grants. This tax effort factor is designed into the Revenue Sharing Program specifically to discourage the reduction of local taxes.

I sincerely hope the town directors see their responsibility more in terms of Manchester's progress than need for palliatives. The time has come to let our town out of its economic straightjacket, and allow it to move toward a better, brighter future.

WASHINGTON — Ranking second on my list of favorite people are those who write letters to the editor denouncing my opinions. (Because columnists are, too, human, I find it not too late to solve the marijuana problem rather than embrace it.)

But I took no stand on farm subsidies. I merely pointed out that although ending them would save tax money, it would make food shoppers — who vote — extremely unhappy.

I also pointed out that subsidies protect farmers against the high price of food. She notes that, if possible, hidden out of their state on a rail.

Well, good. Like so many of my breed, I frequently deplore in print the apathy of the general public toward public problems and perhaps even suggest that only newspaper columnists care about what is going on. Writing a column, after all, is a kind of ego trip.

However, I am somewhat confused by Mrs. Turner's proposal to abolish agricultural subsidies and price supports. She seems to agree that Nixon should shift the cost of protecting the farmer from the market. ## They Feel The Money Squeeze

By JURATE KAZICKAS

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Bob Connors used to own a twin-engine, 30-foot boat, but now he has a 10-foot boat, and he has to eat on steak three times a week.

Now, the boat has been sold, they're still driving their 1967 station wagon with 112,000 miles, and a $9 barbecue dinner once a month is a special treat.

Connors, 35, a furniture salesman, father of five children with four teenagers living at home, had been living the good life and his only thought was that it would get better. But then he lost his job and the subsequent 30 per cent drop in family income disrupted his dreams.

For a clearer perspective the facts are these: Eighty-seven per cent of all the homes in Manchester are assessed for less than $20,000, the average being $13,000. If we apply a 2 mill reduction, we get a lessening of the tax bill to the average homeowner of $26.

that starch staff we wish to eat, too." The Connors talk wistfully about "the good old days" when things were "flush."

"We took a fantastic vacation once to Colorado with the children. We charged everything and had $1,000 in traveler's checks. Now, we can't even afford to go to Corpus Christi," says Dee.

They still have American Express and Carte Blanche charge cards but keep them only for future days. There are no new clothes or spending money for the children, and gone are the days when they could give 14-year-old Butch a custom-made surfboard.

stands and has kept up her subscriptions to Reader's Digest, National Geographic, Bon Appetit and Vintage, a gourmet wine magazine to satisfy her epicurean tastes. Dee is fascinated by French wines, knows the best year for Nuits St. Georges, but the only bottle on the kitchen shelves now is Italian Swiss Colony for cooking.

Dee, a smart dresser, is pinned to name designers for herself and her daughters, one of whom made the best-dressed list at school. She used to spend several thousand on clothes but today she can't remember when she last bought a dress.

Both Dee and Bob have to drive more than a half hour to work. Keeping up the station wagon and the 1970 Pontiac is a $80-a-month expense they have to cope with. But they started to use the self-service gas stations. A gallon of gas is 10 cents cheaper there.

Some pleasures are hard to give up, no matter what the cost. "We bought a dog the children all loved only to discover it was allergic to fleas," said Dee. "Well, you don't just get rid of the dog. So we have to spend about $20 for cortisone shots twice a year."

It's important to Dee to look good. "You've got to present yourself well to the world. I don't want to look like some tacky, dumb housewife and no matter how tough things get, I won't give up my make-up and false eyelashes."

Dee easily spent $40 a month for bleaching her hair, but has been using that money to pay off the furniture.

Nixon Appointee Resigns Public Television Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that Thomas B. Curtis has resigned as board chairman of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, which is involved in a heated dispute with public television stations.

Curtis, who was appointed to the board and designated its chairman by President Nixon last July, is reported to feel that his efforts to mediate this dispute were undercut by White House aides.

Curtis, 61, a former Republican congressman from Missouri, is vice president and general counsel of the Encyclopedia Britannica, with headquarters in Chicago.

Administration-backed forces on the corporation's board have moved to take control of programming on the public TV network—or interconnection, as the trade calls it. Citing a shortage of funds, they have also reduced the number of public affairs programs to be given federal support next season.

Managements of the 147 public TV licensees have resisted the corporation's efforts to control programming, insisting they cannot operate successfully if that function is taken away from them.

Splitting Probate District Would Strip Rubinow of Post

Republican Judge Rubinow is a Democrat. Both are from Manchester.

Super Agency Plan Goes To Governor

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut House passed a bill that may eventually lead to a state super agency on human services.

The super department proposal was shelved for two years of study. Many thought that without proper safeguards, the combining of nine state agencies under one chief would lead to worse bureaucracy.

The act creates a Council on Human Services, including the commissioners of welfare, health, mental health, mental retardation, correction, aging, children and youth, community affairs and education, and six legislators.

It is charged with reporting back in 1975 with a plan to implement a new integrated state department.

The judges on the panel are U.S. Circuit Court Judge J. Edward Lumbard and U.S. District Court Judges Jon O. Newman and T. Emmet Clark.

College Program Aimed at Vets

By GARY LUBER
Associated Press Writer
PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A member of President Nixon's task force on higher education for Vietnam era veterans thinks too often colleges' efforts to attract veterans "end at the admissions office."

"Veterans have the maturity and motivation (to succeed in college) but often lack academic self-confidence," said Dennis Love, dean of developmental studies at Pikeville College.

Since coming to Kentucky, the 30-year-old Ohio native has spent part of his time traveling to other schools promoting programs "to get the veteran back on his feet."

"It's a matter of saying to the veteran, 'College is not as hard as you think,'" Love said.

"A lot of veterans went into the Army because they flunked out of college or because they couldn't get in in the first place," Love said.

"Many saw the army as a means of upward mobility but a lot of them came back without any usable skills," he said.

"The biggest problem (in getting veterans to college) is reaching them," Love said.

In many places, he said, veterans who already have returned to college are working in outreach programs. "But even they are having trouble reaching other vets," he said.

Traditional methods aren't working, he said. Among new methods he described is a mobile van in Detroit that visits neighborhoods where returning veterans live. Another includes advertising in "want ad" columns, "which is often the only thing a veteran is reading these days," he said.

"The Veterans Administration is doing all it can. The states, the cities and the colleges themselves have to do more," Love said.

Before coming to Pikeville, Love headed a similar veterans program at the University of Detroit. There, he said, veterans who took his course averaged grades that were twice as good as those who didn't.

Love said a class predominantly for veterans serves another purpose in that it gives them a chance to talk about mutual problems and experiences.

All in the Family Cymbal Making

MUSIC MAKERS — The Zilecan family in Istanbul has been making cymbals since 1623. The formula they use is handed down from father to son and still is kept a solemn secret. In the two pictures above, a workman is shown working on a cymbal and holding the finished product.

By RODNEY PRIDER
ISTANBUL (AP) — What do the Grenadier Guards, Armenian churches, jazz bands and Carnegie Hall have in common? They all use cymbals — tinkling thin ones, clashing big ones — and they all use cymbals made in Istanbul by a family which has been making them since the early 17th century.

The Zilecan family has been at work since 1623, producing nothing but the finest cymbals, from a formula handed down from father to son and still kept a solemn secret. They make their own alloy, cast their own molds, and hammer, batter, scrape and polish them into the final product, which they treat as tenderly as hi-fi fans treat their most cherished records.

The end product, they say, is the best in the world, and the list of customers is impressive. Some 2,000 to 3,000 pairs are exported each year, most of them to America, at prices ranging from $20 to $100.

The Zilecans, an Armenian family, have only a small share of the world cymbal market, and the American branch of the family, established at Weymouth, Mass., for the past 50 years produces many more than are made here.

The Zilecans attribute the quality of their instruments to their secret formula, and the fact that all the stages, including mixing the alloy of copper and tin, are done in the same workshop.

The workshop is a one-room, high-roofed shed in the slums outside the 4th century city walls of Istanbul, where it stands cheek by jowl with animal traders, auto repair shops and fitters and turners.

Inside nine workmen, some Turks and some Armenians, hammer and hone and burnish and polish. The noise they create makes conversation below impossible.

"The finer tuning is done at the end of the day, when the noise stops," shouted Kerop Zilecan, 60, the cousin of the present owner Mikhael 66.

The cymbals come in four thicknesses — paper-thin, thin, medium, and medium-thick, and in any number of diameters from 10 inches to 34 inches, depending on the specification of the buyer.

The firm of Toledo Brothers handles the orders and the exporting, and their representative calls each night at the workshop to collect the 20 or so cymbals produced during the day.

These have to be picked up gingerly by the edges — touch one and the perigoration has to be immediately rubbed off with a rag or the tone will be spoiled, Kerok Zilecan said.

Cymbals have been in use as musical instruments since the Bronze Age, and are probably the oldest musical instruments man has. Primitive tribes in New Guinea and Australia use a wide variety of objects — stones, shells and sticks to clash together to maintain the rhythm for their songs, and these certainly pre-date primitive wind instruments made from hollow branches and the much later stringed instruments made from animal skins.

The Zilecan family cannot trace their origins back to pre-history, but they still have records to show they were producing cymbals for the "Meh-tar" bands of the Ottoman army's Janissary corps, which terrified the armies of Europe with their shrill pipes and clashing cymbals. More peacefully, they still provide the Armenians' Patriarchal church here with the cymbals used to accompany the choir at the Liturgy.

Cymbals, it seems, wear out in time, and there is a constant growing demand from newly-formed orchestras, especially school orchestras, which keeps the trade going.

Neighbor's Kitchen

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen. By Vivian F. Ferguson

All was in readiness for the Seder. The dining room table had been set with fine china and crystal, at each place a copy of the Passover Haggadah. Fresh spring flowers had been placed about the house.

Mark and Margie Kravitz would share the most impressive family meal of the year with close friends, both Jewish and Christian. The story of the release of the Jewish people from bondage would be told in the ritual of the Seder, which includes the Passover meal.

The word Seder (pronounced sayder) means "order" - the order of procedure. The ritual that is followed is known as the Haggadah, a copy available at each diner's place. Haggadah means "telling." It is the story of the Exodus from Egypt.

Passover is sometimes referred to as the Jewish New Year. "Remember that you were slaves in Egypt." Despite this reminder, Passover is a happy time for basic to Judaism is the acknowledgment that life is a never-ending circle-while one honors the past with remembrance, it is always with emphasis on the rebirth that is the future.

The tradition of the Seder offers hospitality to any stranger and also to make it possible for the poor to be able to observe this special ritual. Passover, or Pesach, began Monday at sundown. It is also called Hag Zmanot, Feast of Unleavened Bread, and Zeman Herutenu, Season of our Freedom. The word Passover comes from the story of the death of the Angel of Death "passed over" the houses of the Israelites when he smote the first-born of the Egyptians. In other words, he bypassed the homes of the Jews.

The head of the household leads in the Seder ritual. He reclines on pillows placed on his chair. As a sign of freedom, he leans to the left when he partakes of wine and symbolic food. In older times, only the nobility ate while reclining on couches. The slaves stood or squatted on the ground, eating hurriedly.

Upon a ceremonial plate at the head of the table are placed tangible symbols of the release from slavery: (1) A roasted bone in remembrance of the sacrificial lamb eaten on the eve of the departure from Egypt; (2) a roasted egg to recall the individual festival offering of Temple days; (3) bitter herbs, usually horseradish root, as a reminder of the bitterness of bondage in Egypt; (4) a green vegetable, such as parsley or lettuce, suggesting the first green of spring. It also signifies a first course in the meal, which only free men enjoyed in ancient times; (5) salt water, in which the greens are dipped, as a symbol of tears shed for persecution and suffering; (6) A mixture of grated nuts, grated apples, cinnamon and wine called haroset. This is reminiscent of the mortar used in bricks which the Israelites made for the Pharaoh of Egypt.

Each participant has a wine cup from which he sips during the Seder. There is always one additional cup that is filled with wine. It is the Cup of Elijah. Legend states that the prophet may unexpectedly arrive to drink from the cup. Jewish faith proclaims him the messenger of the Messiah who one day will bring peace and freedom to the world.

Her dinner began with hard-boiled eggs dipped in salt water. There are three explanations for this custom. First, the egg, unlike most foods, becomes harder when cooked. This is a comparison with the Jewish resistance to the Jews to those who sought to crush them. Secondly, the egg is a symbol of new life. Thirdly, the egg is a reminder of the sacrifice of the temple of old. The eating of the egg recalls the destruction of the temple and the obligation of rebuilding.

Next, homemade chicken broth with matzo balls, made of the ground matzo, known as matzo meal was served. Then, light and delicate gefillte fish, the best I've ever tasted made by the Kravitz's son, Peter, a student at Boston (Mass) University Law School.

His freshly made horseradish, marvelously hot, is the traditional accompaniment. Gefillte fish is made of ground whitefish and pike plus eggs, onion, matzo meal and seasonings. The mixture is made into balls, then gently cooked in fish or chicken stock. It is served cold.

The main course consisted of chicken, brisket, a spinach casserole and timzmes.

Spinach or Broccoli Casserole 3 packages frozen chopped spinach or frozen chopped broccoli 1 package dehydrated onion soup mix 2 cups sour cream (When serving with meat, substitute shredded cheddar cheese) according to package directions. Bake 45 minutes at 350. Top with shredded cheese and return to oven until cheese is melted, about five minutes more.

To all our Jewish friends, a happy Passover and to our Christian readers, a joyous Easter. May the messages of both holidays bring peace and happiness to the world.

Mrs. Kravitz Prepares Seder Table. Of special importance in this holiday is the matzo or unleavened bread. A three-sectioned matzo holder is placed in front of the leader. This is a reminder of the bread made by the women on their hurried departure from Egypt. The three matzo represent the three traditional groups of Jews - Kohan or Cohen the priestly group or teachers; Levites, the prestigious citizens who assisted the priests and Yisrael who were the ordinary people.

Margie Kravitz, like all other Jewish homemakers, follows a prescribed list of permitted and prohibited foods for Passover. One major prohibition is apparent. All leavening agents must be removed from the home. This includes baking powder, baking soda and cream of tartar.

Dandelion Greens Are Nutritious—And Free

STORRS—Dandelion greens are free for the picking, so they ought to taste great during these days of high food prices. They can be delicious when picked at the right moment and prepared properly. Nutritionally, greens are rich in vitamins and minerals, especially vitamins A and C, iron and calcium, according to Janina Czajkowski, Extension nutritionist at The University of Connecticut. Go "greening" on a sunny spring day. Be sure to pick only the young, tender plants because the mature plants tend to be tough and bitter. You may wish to take the children along. They might be more interested in eating greens they have helped pick. If you prefer, you can buy the cultivated varieties in your local market. But whether from yard or store, insure acceptance of dandelion greens by using special care in their preparation. Your family may be more impressed by tasty, delicious greens than by those that are nutritious. Wash greens thoroughly and discard damaged leaves or extra tough stems. To prepare greens for salad, wash and drain greens and chill them ahead of time. Cut the leaves into bite-size pieces. Just before serving, add chilled French dressing and toss until evenly coated. You may wish to add tender, young dandelion greens to other salad greens such as lettuce, escarole, spinach or chicory. Garnish salad with sliced radishes, olives, pickled beets, hard-cooked eggs, tomato sections or onion rings. Cook dandelion greens in milk for a mild-flavored vegetable. Use a heavy saucepan with a tight-fitting cover. Add about two quarts of clean, shredded greens to one-half cup of hot milk. (Use two tablespoons non-fat dry milk to half cup water.) Stir the greens well so that all leaves are coated with milk. If you'd like to freeze some dandelion greens, select young and tender leaves. Wash well. Remove tough stems and imperfect leaves. Heat in boiling water for two minutes. Cool promptly in cold water and drain. Pack greens into containers, leaving one-half inch head space. Seal and freeze.

Team That Easter Ham With Cherries

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

If red maraschino cherries are popular at your house you might like to use them (along with pineapple) to garnish the meat and then make a cherry sauce as a go-along. The following recipe gives directions for doing this.

CHERRY GLAZED HAM
1 jar (8 ounces) red maraschino cherries
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
Dry mustard
Pully cooked ham, butt end (about 5 pounds) with rind removed
1/4 cup cider vinegar
3 canned pineapple rings, cut in half
Dash of ground cloves
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon cornstarch

Drain cherries, reserving syrup. In a small mixing bowl stir together the sugar, 1/2 teaspoon mustard and 2 tablespoons of the cherry syrup to make a glaze; reserve the remaining cherry syrup for later use. Score ham and brush glaze over top; reserve about 2 tablespoons glaze for later use. Set ham in baking pan; add vinegar and 3/4 cup water. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven for 1 hour. Remove ham from oven; garnish with about half the cherries and all the pineapple; use toothpicks to secure; brush with reserved glaze and bake another 30 minutes. Transfer ham to serving platter and keep warm. Pour drippings from baking pan into a small bowl and skim off fat. Chop remaining cherries. In a small saucepan mix the chopped cherries, 1/4 teaspoon mustard, cloves, cinnamon, remaining cherry syrup and 1/4 cup of the pan juices from which the fat was skimmed.

Gradually stir 1/4 cup cold water into cornstarch, keeping smooth; add to saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and cook until clear and thickened. Serve hot with ham.

400 recipes are given in "Cecily Brownstone's Associated Press Cookbook" available by sending $4.95 (check or money order made payable to "The Associated Press") to this newspaper in care of AP COOKBOOK, Box G4, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.

UConn's Gant Assesses Fund Cutbacks

STORRS (AP) - Proposed federal spending cutbacks could slice $1,800,000 off next year's University of Connecticut budget, according to UConn Acting President Edward V. Gant.

"At best, there will be disruptions" at the university as a result of the cutbacks, Gant told a trustees' meeting Wednesday. He said it was "too early" to know if the state will subsidize programs that will lose their federal support.

Gant listed these cutbacks: $1 million in individual research grants, $200,000 in pharmacy, nursing, medical and dental grants, $45,000 in health and mental health teaching funds and $28,000 in bio-medical research money.

-$181,000 in land grant college funds, $75,000 cooperative extension funds, $90,000 in agricultural research grants and $45,000 in library funds.

"Equal opportunity" scholarship grants and direct student loan programs that total $1.2 million this year. But these programs would be replaced by a "basic opportunity" program that would funnel money directly from the government to individual students, Gant said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Personal income in the United States rose $5 billion in March and for the first time exceeded $1 trillion at an adjusted annual rate, the Commerce Department reported Wednesday.

The March increase meant Americans were receiving personal income at an annual rate of $1,001.2 billion, or slightly more than $1 trillion, if income receipts stayed at the March level throughout the remainder of the year.

The annual personal income rate in February was $994.5 billion.

The Commerce Department said wage and salary disbursements rose $5.7 billion in March, with the same payrolls up by $1 billion.

It said the March gains in payrolls was due to higher employment and that the average hourly earnings. Most industries showed small to moderate gains in productivity, machinery, lumber, furniture, apparel and chemicals.

The figures are seasonally adjusted, which means that normal seasonal variations have been taken into account in reporting the trends.

TEST REACTIONS

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) - A team of international researchers working with Jamaica's education, health and broadcasting officials has been taking "Sesame Street," the educational TV series for youngsters, and modern videocassette equipment to remote villages in the Blue Mountains here to test the reactions of first-time TV viewers.

The study is believed to be one of the first tests in the world of the potential application of television through video in areas that lack access to electricity, broadcast signals or TV receivers.

The experiments covered a six-week period on the villages of St. Peter, Half Way Tree, Tower Hill, Penlyne Castle, Hagley Gap and New Castle - all situated high on the ridges overlooking Yallah's Valley, 25 miles northeast of Kingston. These villages were selected with the assistance of the Jamaica Information Service because of their lack of access to electricity and TV reception.

Cameras on top of the TV monitors record on videotape the response of viewers as they watch the programs. These videotapes create a "living data base" which will be analyzed at the Center for Research in Children's Education at Harvard University and will be jointly available for analysis to the School of Education at the University of the West Indies.

Scouts Invent New Badge And New Way To Serve

ALICE EVANS (Herald Reporter)

An open door with the sun shining through has been selected by members of Cadette Girl Scout Troops 600 and 628 as the insignia for the first Girl Scout merit badge in the nation on aid to the handicapped.

they should learn more crafts to make the program interesting. The crafts on one Sunday include miniature bird feeders, made by the dead residents, tie tie toe boards for those who were blind, and yarn belts made by weaving yarn on three straws to be fashioned by the other residents.

There were others who enjoyed that particular Sunday day's craft session. One was the president of the Mansfield Parents Club, who tried out a tie tie toe board with his blind daughter. He was delighted with the program as were the other members of the club's executive board. Many of the directors expressed the hope that more people, especially young people, would participate with the program.

Recently the girls stuffed about 50 toys for the children at the training school. Talking about their work at Mansfield, Mary Ann Hardy said "I like working at Mansfield because I think helping the kids is fun. They are real happy making things and really proud of what they do."

The ultimate goal of the scouts is to provide a baby-sitting service for the retarded children in the community.

Burglar Beats Meat Cost

Another way to beat the rising price of meat was discovered by an enterprising bandit in Vernon early Wednesday morning. Police say that at 5 a.m. Wednesday they received a report of a theft from the operator of a trailer truck, who stated that while his truck was parked for the night at the Howard Johnson's motel, Rt. 30, Vernon, it had apparently been broken into.

Highest Paid Woman Works for Fun of It

By DEBORAH M. RANKIN Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Wells Lawrence, the country's highest paid woman executive but she airily dismisses the title. "The money isn't really what I work for," says Mrs. Lawrence, who earns $385,000 as chairman of Wells, Rich, Green, one of the top advertising agencies in the nation. "For one thing, I don't have time to spend it."

"The biggest reward is the fun of doing the thing itself," she added. "Money is a fast — you know, success among your peers." Mrs. Lawrence, a slender, intense blonde who routinely puts in 14-hour work days, calls herself "one of those lucky people who started work because I had to make some money. It gives you a drive and a sharp-edged reality that's priceless."

She shrugs when she is called the country's highest paid female executive and says "I haven't the foggiest notion of how they got that. There probably are women on Wall Street who earn as much." Her climb up the corporate ladder began 23 years ago with a job as a copywriter for the bargain basement division of a Youngstown, Ohio, department store. Then she moved to New York and a battery of high-paying, high-powered jobs with a string of prestigious Madison Avenue agencies.

Boyle's Mail Tells Us

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: If you are having trouble balancing your budget, you might keep a bird for a pet instead of a dog, a cat or a miller. It costs only a penny a day to feed. Some 7,670,000 U.S. families do have pet birds — about 22 million of them. Was Abraham Lincoln the model of humility he is sometimes pictured as having been? Not according to John Hay, a White House secretary, who said in a letter to William H. Herndon, Lincoln biographer and one-time law partner: "It is absurd to call him a modest man. No great man ever modest." Hay wrote that it was Lincoln's "intellectual arrogance and unconcerned assumption of authority" that made enemies of some members of his Cabinet.

In the beginning of the automobile age, most cars were painted black. Today only three per cent are. What the trade calls "earth tones" are popular now. Quotable notables: "Many jewels make women either incredibly fat or incredibly lean." — Playwright Sir James Barrie. It's criminal: Crime is prevalent in modern business offices for a good reason — less than 20 per cent of all office burglaries are solved. Wet statistic: A dry martini addict will hardly even want to dip his toe in the Atlantic ocean when he learns this: it contains 82 quintillion, 171 quadrillion, 672 trillion, 174 million, 462 thousand and 100 gallons of water — give or take a drop or two. Hard to explain: The average man can grip or hand squeeze with a strength measured at 81 pounds, the average woman only 45 pounds. But which sex usually is able to put the squeeze on the other in a showdown? Household help: Most experts agree that if you are trying to reduce your grocery bills you should always avoid supermarket shopping when you're hungry. You almost inevitably overbuy.

Brinegar Defends Plan For Northeast Railways

By CARL C. CRAFT Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary Claude S. Brinegar denies that his Northeast rail service-saving plan reflects an attitude of "public be damned." In attacks on his plan, he told the House transportation subcommittee, someone was quoted as saying "no dough — no go," and he suspects this "nasty gets to the heart of the objection."

"Since we haven't proposed that the nation's taxpayers lay out a billion or so dollars to bail out the Northeast, we are promptly accused of callously adopting a 'public be damned' attitude. I submit that our approach is the opposite of 'public be damned.'"

"To assume that the only way to solve the Northeast problem is to appropriate massive amounts of federal money to me, to adopt a 'taxpayer be damned' attitude. We think there's a better way — and that's to use the maximum capabilities of the private sector."

Brinegar said the administration would submit legislation after Congress returns from its Easter recess later this month. The bill would implement the plan outlined last month in a report to Congress on the Northeast rail situation.

The Brinegar plan calls for consolidating the Northeast's bankrupt lines into at least one federally chartered private corporation aimed at running a streamlined rail system for a profit, stressing "private sector" involvement.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has submitted a rival plan, involving far more government participation. The ICC recommended restructuring and modernizing the lines that serve 17 states and the District of Columbia, financing the effort with a one per cent surface freight transit tax that ICC said would produce $800 million a year.

Six lines in the area are in bankruptcy and the major one — the Penn Central — "is on the verge of court-ordered liquidation," Brinegar said. "Our studies, he said, suggest that, if permitted to emerge unscathed from that tangled web that now embraces the Northeast carrier, a new entity" could generate profit and raise cash to finance operations.

The new corporation would acquire facilities and equipment of the bankrupt companies needed to operate the new systems, and in return the bankrupt companies would get stock in the new corporation.

Pressing at the hearing was Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., whose comment when the

ITT States IRS Review Under Way

NEW YORK (AP) — International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. says the Internal Revenue Service is reviewing its 1969 rulings that permitted the largest merger in the country's history through a tax-free exchange of stock. When ITT acquired Hartford Fire Insurance Co. in 1970, Hartford stockholders who exchanged their shares for new ITT shares were excused by the IRS from paying immediate capital gains taxes.

Unemployment Bill Passes Senate

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Senate gave final legislative approval Wednesday to a bill denying unemployment compensation to students who work for the college they regularly attend. The 20-14 vote sent it to the governor for signing. Spouses of students also would be excluded from compensation if their pay is used to financially aid the student.

The IRS refused Wednesday to confirm or deny it was reviewing its 1969 decisions relating to the ITT acquisition of Hartford Fire.

ITT declined to estimate the size of a possible liability but sources said a reversal by the IRS could hold former Hartford stockholders or ITT responsible for more than $100 million in deferred capital gains taxes.

ITT's stock closed at 37 1/2 Wednesday, down 2 1/2, in the wake of the company's announcement.

Abortion Policy Delayed

While many area hospitals are preparing to perform legal abortions, Rockville General Hospital has decided it will wait until the abortion law is defined more clearly by the General Assembly.

Since Monday when the U.S. Supreme Court denied reconsideration of its decision against the state's strict anti-abortion regulation, the state has been without an abortion law and thus abortions are legal.

Dr. Harold Shapiro, chief of staff at the Rockville Hospital said no hospital policy, concerning abortions has been defined as yet. He doesn't anticipate establishment of an abortion clinic as he doesn't expect there will be a demand for one.

The hospital has not decided on a policy concerning "abortion on demand." It is expected it will be brought up at a future meeting of the medical staff, after the state clarifies the matter.

Columbia Town Asked to Reconsider Rt. 6 Landfill Purchase

VIRGINIA CARLSON, Correspondent, Tel. 228-9224. Residents questioning the recent landfill purchase on Rt. 6 presented Town Clerk Rita Cloutier with a petition signed by 109 persons requesting a special town meeting to reconsider the action.

The Post quoted White House sources today to the effect that the administration was concerned that some portions of the decision, if appealed, could be expanded to have an adverse effect on other Nixon decisions, such as impounding of funds. A spokesman for OEO Director Howard Phillips would neither confirm nor deny the Post report.

Rham District Rhams Announces Health Programs

ANNE EMT, Correspondent, Tel. 228-3971. Two health programs, one on venereal disease (VD) and the other breast cancer, have been scheduled by Mrs. Alice Stone, Rham High School nurse and teacher of health.

The first, on VD, will be held on April 27 for interested members of Grades 10, 11 and 12. It will feature two films and a speaker on one of society's severest medical and social problems which, according to the state health department, has reached alarming proportions in the state.

Thomas Peck of the state's Uncas-on-Thames Clinic will discuss the films and the various implications of the problem.

The second program, which will include a film and discussion on "breast Cancer-Self Examination" will be conducted by Dr. Carl Conrad, school physician.

This program is open to girls in Grades 11 and 12 as well as interested staff and residents of the district. It will be held at 8:15 a.m. in the auditorium on May 4.

Rham's Stage Band will participate in a Woody Herman Clinic and concert at Glastonbury High School Tuesday.

Band members will have the "Herrigan Herd" in the afternoon and after dinner will attend a concert by the Herman group in the new Glastonbury auditorium.

The dance will be held at the Marlborough Grange from 8 p.m. to midnight and all proceeds will be used to help send Rham students to music and athletic camps this summer.

Moon Rocks may be old stuff even on earth these days, but not even astronauts have seen anything quite like this. Looking almost like the real thing scattered across the desolate lunar surface, these "rocks" are actually tiny iron crystals in specimens brought back from the Hadley-Appennine region landing site by the Apollo 15 mission. They are so small that 1,000 crystals would fit on the edge of a sheet of paper.

and new equipment will be purchased 20.4 acres of land on Rt. 6, from the state, as a sanitary landfill area. They are priced at $4,500 to $5,000 for the price to be paid from revenue sharing funds. They also rescinded the action of May 1972 town meeting authorizing the purchase of the land for $37,100.

Howard Bates, first selectman, had negotiated with the state to reduce the purchase price after an outside appraiser said the land was not worth the original price asked.

The selectmen have to call a special town meeting not less than 10 or more than 30 days from the date of the filing of the petition, which was Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Cloutier said she has to check the signatures against the voter cards or property cards. The signatures must be signed by the persons themselves.

In a heated discussion at the Board of Selectmen's meeting Monday night, James Carey, Lake Rd.; Albert Hadjian, Hennepin Rd.; and Francis Sellers, Oakwood Lane, argued that selectmen should have studied the acquisition of the landfill area with more care.

The three asked how much it will cost to develop the area and what studies were conducted regarding traffic problems on Whitney Rd. and Thompson Hill Rd.

Bates said no studies have been made to date and pointed out that the town had been told by the state that it could no longer use the Doubleday Rd. disposal site. The selectmen were unsuccessful in attempts to buy other property in town for a disposal area and the Rt. 6 land was suggested by the Department of Environmental Protection.

When Carey asked why state specifications were not studied before the land was actually purchased, Selectman Robert Tuttle said, "How could you expect the town to spend that money without owning the property?"

Tuttle said he had walked the property 14 times and suggested Carey do the same.

Sellers said he had walked the property and has taken pictures showing the area wet.

Tuttle agreed there is water on the property and said there is swamp land on each side and sand and gravel in the middle where the actual landfill area would be.

Hadjian said he could see no reason for the state to "saddle" the town with a figure of $20,000 when the area must be developed further.

Hadjian said the adjoining town of Hebron had purchased landfill area for $100 an acre. (The land was bought ten years ago.)

Carey estimated that the cost of developing the landfill area

Hebron County Auction Planned May 26

ANNE EMT, Correspondent, Tel. 228-3971. Residents wishing to donate household items, books, plants or food for the May 26 county-wide auction sponsored by the Tolland County Agricultural Center in Vernon are asked to contact Mr. or Mrs. Victor Rychling of Basketshop Rd. The auction will be held at 8 p.m. with a baked goods sale preceding it at 5. All items derived from the event will be used to improve the facilities at the center to serve the people of Tolland County.

Another Petition. Another petition received by the town clerk, containing 104 signatures, was for a hearing in opposition to a proposed zone change on Rt. 6 from residential to commercial.

The petitioners feel the change would be detrimental to all of them. The proposal was to change a portion of Rt. 6 from Hop River Rd. to the Mary Naumes property to commercial. The Planning and Zoning Commission has recommended extending the change to Ross Bridge Rd.

Dr. Bruce Bradford, chairman of the PZC, said a petition is not needed as there will be a public hearing May 8 at 7:30 p.m. in Yeomans Hall at which time members of the PZC will hear comments from those interested and will make a decision at the regular meeting following the public hearing.

Target Practice Show As Knicks Drub Celtics

NEW YORK (AP) — "I hope we've gotten this nonsense out of our systems and they've gotten it out of theirs, so we can settle down and play some good basketball for a change," said a smiling Walt Frazier of the New York Knicks.

"This" was no-contest basketball...and, for those fans who don't get a kick out of watching what amounts to target practice, boring basketball.

It was just that last Sunday in Boston, when the Celtics crushed the Knicks 134-106 in the first game of their Eastern Conference championship playoff.

And it was just that again Wednesday night when the Knicks buried Boston 129-99 to even up the best-of-seven series. It was also the worst National Basketball Association playoff defeat ever suffered by the Celtics in their history, a string of 216 postseason games.

It was hardly typical New York-Boston basketball. There are usually down-to-the-wire games. And both coaches quickly put this into perspective when asked if they thought the trend of runaway basketball might continue.

"God, I hope not!" exclaimed New York's Red Holzman. "I can't stand this. To have what happened tonight and what happened in Boston on Sunday makes you realize that you really do play one game at a time."

And Tom Heinsohn of the Celtics, the NBA Coach of the Year, added: "We played a super game last time and they played one tonight, and we don't play any kind of game at all. We were so far out of it, it was pathetic! We threw the ball away. We missed easy shots. We didn't do many things right."

The 33-point margin of defeat—so wide that the Knicks had a full corps of reserves playing much of the final quarter—crushed Boston's previous worst setbacks, 115-91 to San Francisco in 1964 and 140-116 three years later against Philadelphia.

But John Havlicek, who led Boston with 21 points, put that into perspective, too. "I don't worry about us looking bad in the record books," he shrugged.

Had the thunderous noise from the 19,494 fans in Madison Square Garden contributed to the rout? "The crowd gives a home team momentum," Havlicek said, "but it doesn't take it away from the visiting club."

The visiting club was almost, but not quite, taken out of the game by halftime. The Knicks, with Dave DeBussche scoring their first seven points and 11 in the quarter, grabbed a 29-18 first-period edge. And with Willis Reed and Phil Jackson bombing in baskets from outside and Frazier hitting both outside and in, the margin widened to 60-42 at the half.

Boston still had a chance, though—until New York reeled off 16 straight points midway in the third quarter. That made it 82-48, and that was the game.

Carolina Coach Larry Brown and Utah Coach LaDell Andersen could have used a little of the Knicks' cushion in their American Basketball playoffs. The Cougars sneaked past the Kentucky Colonels 102-91 in the East but the Stars barely nipped the Indiana Pacers 104-103 in the West to even their best-of-seven division finals at 2-2.

Jimmy Jones pumped in 34 points and Willie Wise hit a key basket with 58 seconds left for the Utah triumph while Billy Cunningham tallied 32 for Carolina.

"There have been a great, hard-fought four games and now we are starting all over again," said Andersen. "We just won one on our own and they are going to come out and try to do the same thing to us."

In the NBA West, Golden State says it has a remedy for the Los Angeles Lakers' Jim McMillan tonight.

"We've made adjustments," Warriors' Coach Bill Atiles said of possible potions for McMillan, who poured in 37 points for the defending champion Lakers in their 101-99 triumph over the Warriors in Tuesday night's first game.

Flyers, Montreal Following Pattern

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers are tied 1-1 as they take the ice tonight in the third game of their best-of-seven semifinal series against the Montreal Canadiens, and most people are surprised. Why?

If you look at the results of the regular season series between the two teams, the deadlock is as natural as pork and beans. Montreal and Philadelphia played five games during the season and wound up 2-2-1. Each team scored 24 goals.

The playoff series thus far has followed the trend. Both games ended in overtime. Philadelphia winning Saturday night 5-4 on a goal by Rick McLeish, and the Canadiens winning 4-2 Tuesday night as rookie Larry Robinson rocketed a 50-footer into the Flyers' net.

In tonight's other NHL semifinal, the Chicago Black Hawks have a 2-1 lead over St. Louis New Rangers, for a game in New York's Madison Square Garden.

In the World Hockey Association, New England defeated Cleveland 3-2 to take a 1-0 lead into tonight's second game of the Eastern Division finals in Boston.

Philadelphia, which finished second in the West Division and reached the semifinal with a 4-2 victory over Minnesota in the quarters, changes its style somewhat against Montreal. The Flyers set a league record for penalty minutes, 174, during the regular season, but against the Canadiens they rely more on finesse, tight defense and excellent goaltending.

The Whalers beat the Crusaders in their WHA playoff on Tim Sheehy's goal with 29 seconds left. It was the second

76ers to Get Needed Draft Choices

NEW YORK (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers are getting some much-needed draft choices and Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, is getting the backing of his Board of Governors.

The Brisker matter involving Philadelphia and Seattle was settled Wednesday night following a nine-hour meeting, which because of its length caused the second postponement of the NBA's college draft.

The draft originally was set for last Monday, then today and now will be held Tuesday.

The American Basketball Association, which says it wants to draft after the NBA does, is still scheduled officially to have its selection session on Friday, but is expected to change the date today. The ABA draft first was set for last Tuesday.

When the NBA draft is held, Philadelphia, which had the worst record in the league this past season, will not have the first pick of the first round but also will have a bonus pick which will be made after the 17 regular first-round selections.

The board also ruled that the signing of Brisker will cost Seattle $10,000 and its second round choice in the draft this year and in the 1974 draft, which will be made after the 17 regular first-round selections.

Seattle's owner Sam Shulman went to court and U.S. Judge John H. Tenney ruled that Kennedy had usurped the authority of the NBA's Board of Governors and was "guilty of misconduct" because he failed to hold a hearing or consult the board before making his decision.

Kennedy then called the special meeting of the board and got its backing basically. The vote on the action was 12-1.

Brisker became the NBA property of Philadelphia in 1969 in a supplemental draft but he signed with Pittsburgh of the ABA. When the Pittsburgh franchise disbanded last year Brisker signed with Seattle.

Talented Track Squad Rounded Up at Catholic

East Catholic's outdoor track team, already in its schedule, has added depth to its already talented squad. Joe Martens is the high jumper, sprinter Stan Zakowski, two-miler Jim Guilletti, middle distance runner Henry Schoel, weightman Mark Budarz and Tom Wardwell are the key performers with Coach Dave Kelley's 63-man squad.

Kelley is very confident with several of his younger members, particularly freshman candidates Mark Skehan, Joe Burinkas and Cephus Nolan. Skehan is a miler and has covered the distance indoors with a clocking of 4:49. Burinkas is a very mature 440-yard candidate and is teamed with senior Tony Lapacchino to give East depth in this event. Nolan is a triple jump performer and also a member on the both relay teams.

Added to East's distance runners is senior Paul Halle. Halle a standout with the cross country team this past fall has worked on endurance and speed and it is prime candidate to lower the school's mile record. Presently held by Greg Marino, Halle's pre-season goal is a 4:30 clocking.

John Coughlin, a fifth place finisher in the state championship indoor meet, is the leading runner in the hurdles. The weight team stacks up to be the best balanced squad in East's history. Budarz and Burinkas are both shot putters and teamed with newcomer

Christians Observing Good Friday Rites

By The Associated Press
Christians around the world attended Good Friday services today to usher in the Easter weekend, and many prepared to flee crowded city life for holidays in the country or at the seashore.

"A duty that we must revive in our hearts is that of remembering Jesus the way he wanted to be," the Pope said.

Hundreds of persons took communion from the hands of the Pope. The holy rites concluded with the stripping of the richly decorated altar as a symbol of the stripping of Christ's garments before the crucifixion.

In Jerusalem, thousands of tourists and pilgrims crowded into the walled Old City for the Easter celebrations and for the Jewish Passover, which this year coincides. The government strengthened its security guard because Israel is also celebrating its 25th anniversary as a state, and it was feared that Arab guerrillas might try to make new headlines with attacks on the visitors.

In Spain, millions fled the cities Thursday for mountain or seaside resorts. Although some Spanish communities continued deeply rooted religious observances, others cancelled Easter processions because of lack of interest. In Puebla, in northern Spain, a luncheon for the poor on Palm Sunday was called off because the organizers were unable to find 12 poor persons willing to participate.

Pilgrims were to retrace Christ's steps to Calvary through the Colosseum in Jerusalem, and in Rome Pope Paul VI was to preside over services at noon in St. Peter's Basilica.

After dusk the Pope, who will be 78 this year, was to carry a cross from the Colosseum to the ruins of the Temple of Venus in the annual Way of the Cross procession.

"Fading, with his gold and white-mirrored and chasuble for a deacon's vestment, and upon the Pontiff left his throne in the Lateran Basilica Thursday to wash the feet of 12 children in the annual pained re-enactment of Christ's washing the feet of the 12 Apostles on the eve of his death.

Fiscal Surgery Performed On State Budget

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut legislature's Appropriations Committee has performed fiscal surgery on Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's $1.24 billion proposed budget for the coming fiscal year.

The committee eliminated several programs, including rent relief for the elderly and state grants to municipalities, at a special Thursday night session. But it added for the coming fiscal year new provisions to give pay raises to some state employees and improve the standards of state mental hospitals.

The House had voted 74-40 on Wednesday to adopt the amendment. It was reported; 79-69, and the Senate passed it 24-12.

Highlights of the committee action included:

- Elimination of $15 million for rent relief for the elderly and $10 million in grants to cities and towns. The grants were designed to make up for the repeal of business taxes now paid to municipalities, but the repeal has been delayed for a year.
- Elimination of $4 million for selective pay raises for state employees who now make less than $9,000 per year.
- Elimination of $4.7 million to make sure the state's mental hospitals and the Rocky Hill Veterans Home and Hospital can meet accreditation standards.
- Elimination of $300,000 for the state hospital cost commission previously approved by the legislature and $604,000 for nine new Superior and Circuit Court judges already approved.

The Appropriations Committee also announced that it had killed a bill to raise the state ADM grant to local school systems by $10 to $25 and had approved a bill to establish a

Watergate Grand Jury Hears Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was quoted today as accusing other Nixon campaign officials of planning the Watergate bugging, and more extensive intelligence operations as well, over his personal veto.

Mitchell spoke to a reporter in the offices of federal prosecutors prior to an appearance before a federal grand jury. He confirmed a news account that he had told friends he attended three meetings at which plans to bug the Democrats were proposed, and had rejected the plans.

"I would not have been not just to bug somebody," Mitchell said. "They were more detailed intelligence. We were not there just to discuss bugging."

Mitchell's conversation was an associate told the AP today that Mitchell has said privately that he had known of the Watergate plans "he would have tried to stop it."

At the White House Thursday, Dean declared that he would be made a "scapegoat" and warned against judging who is guilty and who isn't until all testimony has been heard.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler expressed surprise that Dean was present at one or more of the meetings, Mitchell reportedly said.

Store Employee Robbed

Manchester Police today were investigating a Thursday night armed holdup in which a Tolland man was robbed of more than $1,000 as he was making a night bank deposit.

The victim, Ronald E. Murphy of Dagwood Rd., Tolland, was about to make a night deposit at the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co.'s N. Main St. branch when the robbery occurred at about 9 p.m.

Murphy, who was making the deposit for Electronic Jungle of 1141 Tolland Tpk., said he got out of his car at the bank branch and was confronted by a masked man with a "shiny blue" pistol. The robber told Murphy to drop the brown canvas deposit bag in his car, and leave. Murphy complied.

The deposit bag contained $1,000 in cash and checks, police said.

It was not known whether a getaway car was used by the robber.

Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor of the Manchester Police said today he had two detectives working on the case. Sartor noted that in December an employee of Electronic Jungle's Parkside store was robbed of nearly $2,000 while he was making a night deposit at the nearby branch of the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co.

Consumer Prices Go Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Food prices climbed to record levels for the third straight month in March, propelling the cost of living to its highest rate in 22 years.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the cost of living jumped nineteenth of one per cent last month, the sharpest increase since February 1951 at the height of the Korean War inflation period.

Taking into account normal seasonal fluctuations, the March increase was eight-tenths of one per cent, matching last February's jump which was the biggest increase in 22 years.

Prices soared for meats and poultry, and supermarket prices jumped 3.2 per cent in March. This is a rate unequalled since the bureau began computing grocery prices in 1952.

Vernon Senator Under Gun In Death Penalty Voting

HARTFORD (AP)—When he announced the roll call on the death penalty, Sen. Thomas C. Carruthers felt like taking a long walk.

Carruthers was considered the "swing vote" Thursday on the nearly 100-year-old issue of retaining the death penalty to Connecticut law. And the pressure was on.

"It would have been easier to take a walk," he said later. "I thought of it."

All eyes were on him—he's next to the last in the roll call—when he spoke the word "yes" and assured by a 19-7 vote the return of capital punishment.

"My mind was not made up until we actually voted," Carruthers said. But he was confident his vote was the right one, and that the death penalty is a deterrent to murder.

Carruthers said his arm had not been twisted, but he had spent a lot of time in conference with fellow legislators.

"The pressure was from within myself," said the reactor from Vernon. "Trying to do what I thought would be the best thing."

Carruthers missed much of the five-hour debate, and he was seen conferring often with legislators and a gubernatorial aide.

Another "swing" vote was Sen. Stanley H. Page, R-Guilford, who said he changed his mind 14 times during the debate, but was finally convinced that the deterrent value of the punishment was important.

He too, had met with Meskill Wednesday evening, but he said the governor exerted no pressure to vote for the bill.

"It was a matter of 'Did you have any questions,' Page recalled after the vote. The governor did not want to persuade him if he had any strong emotional feelings about the bill, Page said.

Emotion played a part in his vote, he conceded, because it is an emotional issue.

"Murder committed for pay. —Murder committed by someone under sentence of life imprisonment. —Murder of a kidnap victim. —The death of someone from cocaine, heroin or methadone if sold by a non-addicted drug pusher.

The bill attempts to meet U.S. Supreme Court objections to the discriminatory application of the death penalty, by establishing a two-step system in determining first guilt, and then the penalty.

The act provides guidelines for juries in imposing death, and prohibits death if the defendant is under 18, is mentally impaired, was under unusual capital crime, or if he did not know that his conduct would lead to death.
