This is the proposed landscape design to transform the Bolton Elementary School courtyard into an outdoor classroom. Work on the lily pond began Saturday. The Bolton Elementary School PTO and the Junior Woman's Club developed plans for the courtyard with assistance from John Whitman, Bolton nurseryman, and the Tolland County Soil Conservation Service. Mrs. Barbara Nicholson, courtyard committee chairman, says donations, or trees and shrubs are being sought, as well as wood chips, split logs for benches and rocks for a rock garden.

The Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) chapter from Bolton High School attended a statewide convention April 12 at Restland Farms in Durham. Bolton students Mary Houle, Mary Murphy, Linda Cason, Sue Hills, Kathy Wheelock, Diane Chick and Donna Gaudette participated. Mary Houle placed third in the advanced typing competition. She was elected state secretary, representing all FBLA clubs in Connecticut. Her campaign manager was Donna Gaudette.

Mary Murphy was commended for her attractive banner. About 400 people attended the convention. Miss Leslie Ann Dubaldo and Miss Mariana Malin are advisors to the local chapter.

The Bolton High School freshman class is sponsoring a donkey basketball game Friday, April 27 at the high school gym at 7:30 p.m. Teams will be made up of varsity basketball players vs. men faculty and men from the community.

Shaw Bros. Sports, Inc. will provide the donkeys along with a circus atmosphere and rodeo thrills.

The old saying "stubborn as a mule" will be exemplified when local boys match wits with the donkeys. The odds are that in most cases the donkeys will win.

School Menus

Monday: Juice, hot dog on a roll/relish, French fries, chocolate cake.
Tuesday: American chop suey, tossed salad, applesauce.
Wednesday: Turkey dinner, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, buttered peas, chuffed fruit.
Thursday: Pizza and cheese, carrot/ celery sticks, jello.
Friday: Juice, chicken soup, fluffmutter, applesauce cake.

Donkey basketball is a little different from regular basketball. Every shot at the basket must be taken while sitting on a donkey. Donkey basketball is not a laugh-a-minute sport but rather a laugh-a-second sport. Taking a shot at the basket when the donkey decides to go the other way or decides you have been on his back too long can be very difficult. Donkeys Pistol Pete, Sugar, Tornado, Zeb, Suicide and others will challenge Bolton's local "cowboys."

Advance tickets are available from Bolton freshmen at a 25-cent discount. Tickets may be purchased at the door at $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for students.

Christians Observing Good Friday Rites

By The Associated Press
Christians around the world attended Good Friday services today to usher in the Easter weekend, and many prepared to flee crowded city life for holidays in the country or at the seashore.

"A duty that we must revive in our hearts is that of remembering Jesus the way he wanted to be," the Pope said.

Hundreds of persons took communion from the hands of the Pope. The holy rites concluded with the stripping of the richly decorated altar as a symbol of the stripping of Christ's garments before the crucifixion.

In Jerusalem, thousands of tourists and pilgrims crowded into the walled Old City for the Easter celebrations and for the Jewish Passover, which this year coincides. The government strengthened its security guard because Israel is also celebrating its 25th anniversary as a state, and it was feared that Arab guerrillas might try to make new headlines with attacks on the visitors.

In Spain, millions fled the cities Thursday for mountain or seaside resorts. Although some Spanish communities continued deeply rooted religious observances, others cancelled Easter processions because of lack of interest. In Puebla, in northern Spain, a luncheon for the poor on Palm Sunday was called off because the organizers were unable to find 12 poor persons willing to participate.

Pilgrims were to retrace Christ's steps to Calvary through the Colosseum in Jerusalem, and in Rome Pope Paul VI was to preside over services at noon in St. Peter's Basilica.

After dusk the Pope, who will be 78 this year, was to carry a cross from the Colosseum to the ruins of the Temple of Venus in the annual Way of the Cross procession.

"Fasting, aside his gold and while-mirre and chusable for a deacon's vestment and upon the Pontiff left his throne in the Lateran Basilica Thursday to wash the feet of 12 children in the annual pained re-enactment of Christ's washing the feet of the 12 Apostles on the eve of his death.

Fiscal Surgery Performed On State Budget

HARTFORD (AP)—The Connecticut legislature's Appropriations Committee has performed fiscal surgery on Gov. Thomas J. Meskill's $1.24 billion proposed budget for the coming fiscal year.

The committee eliminated several programs, including rent relief for the elderly and state grants to municipalities, at a special Thursday night session. But it added for the coming fiscal year new provisions to give pay raises to some state employees and improve the standards of state mental hospitals.

The House had voted 74-40 Wednesday to adopt the amendment. It was reported; 79-69, and the Senate passed it 24-12. The bill was expected to be passed by the House Thursday night.

Meskill's proposal for that tax increase died in the legislature.

Highlights of the committee action included:

- Elimination of $15 million for rent relief for the elderly and $10 million in grants to cities and towns. The grants were designed to make up for the repeal of business taxes now paid to municipalities, but the repeal has been delayed for a year.
- Elimination of $4 million for selective pay raises for state employees who now make less than $9,000 per year.
- Elimination of $4.7 million to make sure the state's mental hospitals and the Rocky Hill Veterans Home and Hospital can meet accreditation standards.
- Elimination of $300,000 for the state hospital cost commission previously approved by the legislature and $604,000 for nine new Superior and Circuit Court judges already approved.

The Appropriations Committee also announced that it had killed a bill to raise the state ADM grant to local school systems by $10 to $25 and had approved a bill to establish a

Watergate Grand Jury Hears Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was quoted today as accusing other Nixon campaign officials of planning the Watergate bugging, and more extensive intelligence operations as well, over his personal veto.

Mitchell spoke to a reporter in the offices of federal prosecutors prior to an appearance before a federal grand jury. He confirmed a news account that he had told friends he attended three meetings at which plans to bug the Democrats were proposed, and had rejected the plans.

"I would not have been there just to bug somebody," Mitchell said. "They were for more detailed intelligence. We were not there just to discuss bugging."

Mitchell's conversation was reported by the grand jury. He was asked to leave.

What Mitchell was quoted as confirming was a report in The New York Times saying Mitchell told his friends that he had helped plan the Watergate bugging and later, arranged payoffs to buy silence from men accused of the crime.

Mitchell's second-in-command at the Nixon campaign reportedly has told federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean helped plan the Watergate bugging and later, arranged payoffs to buy silence from men accused of the crime.

operation was planned and approved by Mitchell and White House counsel John W. Dean III. Liddy was a lawyer for the campaign and is serving a jail term after being convicted in the Watergate conspiracy.

Mitchell's statement today seemed to conflict with a sworn statement he made in a civil case last Sept. 1, when he said he knew of no one higher than Liddy who was involved in the burglary, wiretapping and bugging incident.

But Mitchell said all his previous statements remained "operative," particularly his insistence that he didn't know about raid plans in advance.

Mitchell, Magruder and Dean are now engaged in a three-cornered argument, carried out through public statements and news leaks, over which of them should bear blame for planning the Watergate operation.

Magruder, who was second-in-command at the Nixon campaign, reportedly has told federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean helped plan the Watergate bugging and later, arranged payoffs to buy silence from men accused of the crime.

Store Employee Robbed

Manchester Police today were investigating a Thursday night armed holdup in which a Tolland man was robbed of more than $1,000 as he was making a night bank deposit.

The victim, Ronald E. Murphy of Dagwood Rd., Tolland, was about to make a night deposit at the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co.'s N. Main St. branch when the robbery occurred at about 9 p.m.

Murphy, who was making the deposit for Electronic Jungle of 1141 Tolland Tpk., said he got out of his car at the bank branch and was confronted by a masked man with a "shiny blue" pistol. The robber told Murphy to drop the brown canvas deposit bag in his car, and leave. Murphy complied.

The deposit bag contained $1,000 in cash and checks, police said.

It was not known whether a getaway car was used by the robber.

Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor of the Manchester Police said today he had two detectives working on the case. Sartor noted that in December an employee of Electronic Jungle's Parkside store was robbed of nearly $2,000 while he was making a night deposit at the nearby branch of the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co.

Vernon Senator Under Gun In Death Penalty Voting

HARTFORD (AP)—When he announced the roll call on the death penalty, Sen. Thomas C. Carruthers felt like taking a long walk.

Carruthers was considered the "swing vote" Thursday on the nearly 100-year-old issue of retaining the death penalty to Connecticut law. And the pressure was on.

"It would have been easier to take a walk," he said later. "I thought of it."

All eyes were on him—he's next to the last in the roll call—when he spoke the word "yes" and assured by a 19-7 vote the return of capital punishment.

"My mind was not made up until we actually voted," Carruthers said. But he was confident his vote was the right one, and that the death penalty is a deterrent to murder.

Carruthers said his arm had not been twisted, but he had spent a lot of time in conference with fellow legislators.

"The pressure was from within myself," said the reactor from Vernon. "Trying to do what I thought would be the best thing."

Carruthers missed much of the five-hour debate, and he was seen conferring often with legislators and a gubernatorial aide.

Another "swing" vote was Sen. Stanley H. Page, R-Guilford, who said he changed his mind 14 times during the debate, but was finally convinced that the deterrent value of the punishment was important.

He too, had met with Meskill Wednesday evening, but he said the governor exerted no pressure to vote for the bill.

"It was a matter of 'Did you have any questions,' Page recalled after the vote. The governor did not want to persuade him if he had any strong emotional feelings about the bill, Page said.

Emotion played a part in his vote, he conceded, because it is an emotional issue.

"Murder committed for pay. —Murder committed by someone under sentence of life imprisonment. —Murder of a kidnap victim. —The death of someone from cocaine, heroin or methadone if sold by a non-addicted drug pusher.

The bill attempts to meet U.S. Supreme Court objections to the discriminatory application of the death penalty, by establishing a two-step system in determining first guilt, and then the penalty.

The act provides guidelines for juries in imposing death, and prohibits death if the defendant is under 18, is mentally impaired, was under unusual capital crime, or if he did not know that his conduct would lead to death.

Consumer Prices Go Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Food prices climbed to record levels for the third straight month in March, propelling the cost of living to its highest rate in more than 12 years, the government said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the cost of living jumped nineteenth of one per cent last month, the sharpest increase since February 1951 at the height of the Korean War inflation period.

Taking into account normal seasonal fluctuations, the March increase was eight-tenths of one per cent, matching last February's jump which was the biggest increase in 22 years.

Prices soared for meats and poultry, and supermarket prices jumped 3.2 per cent in March. This is a rate unequalled since the bureau began computing grocery prices in 1952.

Capital Gains: Fair Or Unfair?

Like the annual reappearance of the cherry blossoms around the Tidal Basin, it's tax reform talk time again in Washington.

High on the agenda is the subject of capital gains, under which income derived from the sale of such assets as stocks, bonds and real estate is taxed at a lower rate than income from wages and salaries.

The rate is about 50 per cent that of ordinary income, the object being to encourage and reward investment that will help develop the U.S. economy.

Yet it seems that almost nobody likes the special treatment accorded capital gains. A number of groups, such as Common Cause, Ralph Nader's Tax Reform Research Institute and the AFL-CIO, have mounted campaigns to revise the capital gains law.

"The most glaring inequity in the present tax code is its application of different rates to different kinds of incomes," says Fortune magazine editor Richard Armstrong.

"It's pretty hard to justify treating a capital gain differently from ordinary income," says Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. "I've never felt there is anything more sacrosanct about the profit from the sale of an asset than from the sweat of your brow."

But then the congressman proceeds to offer justification by adding, "If people had to pay regular tax rates on capital gains, they'd never sell (their assets). You'd freeze them in their present assets."

At least one businessman suggests that rather than shrink or close the capital gains "loophole," it should be vastly widened.

In recent testimony before Mills' committee, Ross Perot, chairman of the board of Electronic Data Systems, Inc., proposed that every American be given the opportunity to accumulate a lifetime total of $100,000 in capital gains, tax free. Above the $100,000 threshold, capital gains income would be handled as it is now.

Perot likens the flow of capital in the United States to the Mississippi River. It seems inconceivable that the water in it could ever dry up.

But the Mississippi depends upon innumerable springs, creeks and small rivers. Simply by clogging and damming these tributaries, it would be possible to turn it into a ditch.

In the same fashion, he says, if we should clog the springs and other tributaries of our capital market, it, too, could turn into a dry and empty ditch at a time when we are going to need more money than has ever been raised before to modernize our industrial capacity to allow the working American, with his high standard of living, to compete effectively with his counterparts around the world.

The current catch phrase, "Money made by money should be taxed like money made by men," is invalid, he argues, because it equates two totally different types of money. It assumes that jobs will always exist to allow "money to be made by men" and assumes that the capital money rivers will always flow.

"The most valuable resource in the American economic system is the working American," says Perot. "If we are to raise the capital requirements for our future, the working American must be given opportunity through our tax laws to become a participating capitalist."

Pentagon — Your One Big Give!

It was Philadelphia, the city of brotherly love, that pointed the way to meaningful tax reform. In the spring of 1973, Mayor Frank Rizzo announced a campaign to raise $50 million in voluntary contributions from Philadelphians for the city treasury.

The campaign caught the attention of the White House. Taxes had become a burden, even to some millionaires. The President, who had been seeking ways to lower them, now seized his opportunity: he simply abolished them.

"My fellow Americans," he said in his historic televised address, "I know that each and every one of you loves your Government as much as I do and I just ask what your Government does for you. And then demonstrate your gratitude by giving — and giving generously — to this worthy cause."

The campaign got off to a fine start. Who ever thought of the touching photograph of Mr. Nixon, the 1974 Easter Seals Parade, collecting ten cents for the Department of Health, Education & Welfare from a pretty little girl on crutches?

Other agencies didn't fare as well. Hardest hit was the Pentagon, whose slogan, of course, was: "Your One Big Give!"

When the Pentagon's 24,612 public relations officers organized the nationwide "Mothers' March for Missiles," porch lights went off all over the country. Generals were reduced to conducting rummage sales of tanks and bazookas at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds. And one C-5A went for $1.37 at a Gala White Elephant Sale.

By June, the Army was reduced to its pre-World-War-II figure of 124,000 men — most of whom were existing on CARE packages.

Elsewhere, the results were spotty. The FBI did well on television residuals. Congressmen lived it up, as always, on contributions from wealthy constituents. And the President, himself, was able to open a Spring and Autumn White House to go with his others — each bearing a tasteful plaque reading: "This White House was made possible by a grant from the ITT Foundation."

Lesser-known agencies, however, were in trouble. It was a moving sight seeing the Secretary of Commerce, whose name nobody could remember, playing a tuba beneath a sign saying: "Your Commerce Hurts!" But as nobody knew what the Commerce Department did, nobody gave.

Foreign aid was also a problem. Israeli leaders, such as Golda Meir and Moshe Dayan, spent most of their time in the U.S. raising funds. So there was no change there. But when President Thieu made a second trip to the U.S. to plead for money — this time to-door — he was unable to collect enough for a ticket home. And he's now a fry cook in Billings, Montana.

By year's end, the reform had proven an unmitigated disaster. "It's obvious," said Mr. Nixon gloomily, "that most Americans don't realize their Government is a worthy cause. And so with regret in my voice, I announce that you contribute generously to this worthy cause," he said grimly in his second televised address on the subject, "or you go to jail."

The Impossible

The Flood

The rain... it came with gentle peace. The people wished it would not cease. Too soon — the soil did need it so, Would in abundance make crops grow.

The rain in answer showed its strength, Soaked well the land... its breadth, its length; And for good measure poured some more. The rivers swelled — with might they tore.

I watched their faces, mute... still With horror — people on the hill. They saw the shambles the flood made. They looked so helpless... so afraid.

Then someone shouted, "Where is God? I saw hands motion... saw heads nod. "My home... my wife... my child... all gone. Do you in Heaven know what's done."

An aged woman took his hand, She knelt with him on cruel wet sand, "My son... lift up your heart and pray, God in Heaven will show the way.

Remember God gave us His Son... The will of God, it must be done. The grief — the sorrow we must bear, 'Tis but the scars of Christ we wear."

The people moved by what she said All joined in prayer she now led. They raised their eyes so filled with tears... The voice of prayer stilled their fears.

Then suddenly a church bell rang And where dark clouds with threat did hang A piercing light of sun came through In glorious blaze from skies of blue.

And then it seemed that God on high Spoke to the people from His sky: "Suffer all to come unto Me. Of sorrows, fears you will be free. Pray to the resurrected Christ... In trials of life be not enticed, Your life on earth is to prepare. To live in God... be in His Care. Eternal Life is but in heav'n... To people of faith it is given!"

Startled... the people scanned the skies... A flashing light blinded their eyes.

WASHINGTON — A letter at hand suggests the impossible. Noting that the best inflation is gobbling up the public's last dime and that President Nixon is urging us all to lighten our belts, the writer wants Nixon to take a voluntary pay cut.

There is a more cogent reason than Richard Nixon's own disinclination to work for less money why this suggestion is unfeasible. Cutting the President's salary would go against the American grain, circa 1973. We have come to like the idea of surrounding our Chief Executives with pomp, circumstance and weekly vacations.

An illustration of what might be called this red-blooded altitude on the part of the citizenry was provided in a London pub the other day when a tourist from Ames, Iowa, was summoned by a British patron. It seems the American had bragged that "Our President lives better than your queen."

In fact, Richard Nixon lives as well as and probably better than today's monarchs, give or take a few Arab sheiks whose palaces are surrounded by oil wells and a couple of African dictators. For one thing, the central heating at Buckingham Palace was obsolete in most Yankee farmhouses 50 years ago.

But only a part of this is traceable to the President's $200,000 salary, plus a $50,000 taxable expense account, and another untaxable $40,000 swindle sheet. Nixon is a rich man and he has been able to buy homes in San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla., both in the $450,000 range. In addition, he has tax-supported Camp David in nearby Maryland for long weekends, as many jet planes and helicopters as he can use, his pick of any ship in the Navy and a couple of Presidential limousines.

Not that Nixon set the style. Franklin D. Roosevelt, blasted by Republicans with the same royal label Democrats hurl at Nixon, was the first to discover that a President could treat the taxpayers' money and public property as his own, and Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson adopted, and expanded, FDR's free-loading habits. Indeed, the aura of royalty that bathed the Kennedy family caused the government willingly to contribute one-quarter of the $700,000 cost of a gravestone for brother Robert, a mere Senator.

While it may be argued that the President should set an example in these times, there are even Democrats who would take a dim view of such a move. Should he take a salary cut, there would be calls who would demand that members of Congress do the same and try to make do on a little less than their current $42,500-a-year boodle.

I am not sure the Supreme Court would not find the whole business unconstitutional. The Chief Justice drags down 2,300 claims a year, and associate justices $60,000, and the price of caviar has gone up again. Moreover, while the Court still has a few liberals to whom Nixon feels no obligation, the Cabinet is stacked with good Republicans at $60,000 per annum. Besides, despite the material resources at a President's command these days, Nixon is not accused even by his enemies of turning the White House into a stage for nonstop bacchanalia. His entertainments are of the variety to be found in any Sears and Roebuck store, his taste buds are satisfied with simple foods like cottage cheese and ketchup, and he even holds prayer meetings in the East Room. He is as comfortable as he wants to be, and his travels and trappings of office cost the taxpayer a lot of money, but what passes for revelry at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue is not to be compared with Nero's fun and games, or even Queen Elizabeth's.

No sir, Pro Bono Publico, sir, cutting the President's salary just wouldn't work. It would cause too much unrest in government circles. More important, it would leave the tourist from Iowa no comeback when the Limey bellying up next to him in a pub bragged about his queen's gold plate.

A Few Modern Commercials

If you haven't tried our new pet ration Then give that pooch a treat; It's made of the finest western beef And there's a bone right in the meat. Why not try our new shampoo? It's called the "Magic Slush." With it you get a brush and mirror. (Mirror is on back of brush.) There's a new detergent coming thru Which could start a revolution; It will soon be on the market. If not against the Constitution. Why not try our new shave lotion? It's called "The Single Squirt." Very soothing and refreshing, burns like fire But doesn't hurt. There's an antiseptic coming soon, Something new in mouthwash; Highly endorsed by doctors; It's called the "Swish and Swash." Have you heard of our new timed laxative? If not, you are in for a laugh. They have it gauged to one flight up. Plus seven steps to the bath. There's a new magic toothpaste; It's a polisher and filler; So there's no more "just a cavity." This is truly a "picadillar." Why do these few commercials I think all will agree, They're just about as "hippy," As the regulars on tv. P. Frederick Metzner 24 Trotter St. Manchester

Buildings on Old Ideas Hamper Mansfield Progress

By JAMES CARRIER

Associated Press Writer MANSFIELD (AP) — This year, Eddie learned to say, "I'm hungry" and his life is not his stomach, became fuller. Eddie is a 32-year-old retarded deaf-mute. For 17 years he has been a Jorden problem-seeker resident at the Mansfield Training Center. Officials there considered him severely retarded, but no one knew for certain because communication with him was impossible.

This year, Eddie was taught a sign language with 300 different gestures. He stopped discharging. They discovered he was only moderately retarded and therefore trainable.

He now is earning money making candles. He has his own color wax and even complaining when he wants the window closed.

There is a breath of fresh air at Mansfield, and Eddie is one of the fortunate ones to be in its orbit.

But there are 1,000 others, severely or profoundly retarded, whose needs are not being met, who have not been allowed the same opportunity to develop their abilities to help themselves.

Their progress is impeded by 50-year-old buildings that lack privacy and the home-like atmosphere now considered an important factor in training the mentally retarded. The structures also violate the state health and fire codes and fail to meet national accreditation standards.

These conclusions are the state's own, based on a year-long assessment of 115 programs for the mentally retarded. The study, however, spawned several pilot projects, including Eddie's gesture class.

It also led to a policy decision to reduce Mansfield's population from 1,439 to 1,100 by building 300 residents in group homes of 10 to 15 each in their own communities.

A total of 148 former Mansfield residents already have been placed in eight group homes in Hartford and Manchester.

"There are at least 700, out of 1,439, who should be living in a better place," said Mansfield's superintendent, Francis Kelley. "We're trying to care for them in an impossible situation."

"I'm not interested in rebuilding the old Mansfield," Kelley told The Associated Press. "We're interested in changing the institution in a positive way. I want home-like facilities that are conducive to training."

Even buildings constructed in the 1960s are outdated today, Kelley said, because they were built under outdated concepts.

For at least 30 per cent of Mansfield's residents, the state provides just the "basic things in life," he said. There are no programs or training for them.

Many of the severely retarded (those with an IQ between 20 and 34) and the profoundly retarded (those with an IQ under 20) sit in idle boredom day after day, victims of a half-century-old rationale Kelley termed the "put them away" and "watch the kid" philosophies.

Today, the emphasis is on developmental training. Deputy Mental Health Commissioner Gareth D. Thorne, the man in charge of mental retardation in Connecticut, said the survey showed that the "vast majority" of residents at Mansfield and the 1,700-patient Southbury Training School were failing to achieve self-help development.

There are gobs of children and adults unable to communicate, dress, feed or ambulate," Thorne said.

Out of 1,451 profoundly and severely retarded at the two schools: 78 per cent or 1,171 can't speak, 58 per cent are not toilet trained, 28 per cent are partially toilet trained, 32 per cent cannot feed themselves, 69 per cent can not groom themselves, 55 per cent are unable to dress themselves and 29 per cent can't walk.

Of Mansfield's 1,439 residents: 187 make no sound at all, 200 make no sound and sound and another 189 have other communications problems total of one third of the residents: Some 200 must be fed by others, more than 450 have toilet training problems, 54 need help to get dressed, 50 walk at all and are bed-ridden, 54 have dressing problems, including 337 who must be dressed by others.

In addition, many of Mansfield's residents, who range from three to 70 years of age, have other disabilities: 66 are deaf, 123 are blind, 18 are blind and deaf and 447 have epilepsy.

Old Ideas Hamper Mansfield

residents in the workshop, 350 in school, 140 in occupational therapy and others in physical therapy.

Until the new communications project began, 38 boys lived together with nothing in common but their plight. They now "talk" to each other for the first time, using sign language. Their universes have expanded, Thorne said, from a simple, unmeaning grunt or shove.

Behavior modification, using simple rewards, has changed many retarded lives drastically.

The 18-months it took to toilet train a child has been cut to 30 weeks with the use of battery-operated pants. When the child urinates on a wire strip in the pants, a buzzer sounds. The child is startled, stops urinating, an aide sets him on the toilet and rewards him with a piece of candy when he urinates correctly.

In another room, a speechless youth is given a sweet after piling 20 rags in a neat pile. He soon will be able to earn money in the workshop, folding rags for Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Corp.

At Southbury's Cottage 21, aggressive and disruptive behavior is being changed by rewarding positive behavior.

Thorne said a young girl who constantly bashed her head against a table, completely disfiguring herself after years of self-abuse, was stopped from doing it after four weeks of "reward" training.

At two home-like good cottages on the Mansfield grounds, groups of 18 teen-agers are living nearly normal lives—even attending nearby public schools. At the Walters Cottage, good behavior is rewarded with fake currency which is redeemable for such treats as going to bed later, taking trips or teen club passes.

The youths earn money by washing windows, cleaning bathrooms, watching television news programs and reading.

The state Mental Retardation Department has begun a "contract" system on each new patient. The contract, signed by the patient's parents, outlines specific problems, training and goals for the child and has a fixed expiration date. At the end of the contract term, the parents review the progress made and can sign another one.

"If you develop programs for them, they progress," he said. "If you just give them custodial care, they regress."

"We've got to stop thinking of lifetime care at Mansfield," he said. "We should develop everybody, no matter how limited they are."

"We do the best we can," Kelley said, "but the best just isn't enough."

Two mentally retarded boys at Mansfield Training School sit in a day room with 30 other youngsters and one or two aides. There are recreation and training periods, but many residents spend hours just sitting. Supt. Francis Kelley says. (AP photo)

Pen Pal Romance Leads To Marriage

CHICAGO (AP) — "I've told myself at times that this is crazy and that I can't go through with it, but I will," says Ron Word.

The 28-year-old production engineer leaves May 3 for the Philippines to marry a pen pal he has never met.

Word has been exchanging letters and recording tapes with 20-year-old Grace Darlene Torralba for 18 months. They also have exchanged photographs of each other, but attempts to make connections by telephone have failed.

"About last December we found we cared for each other more than friendship," Word said of his fiancée, a medical student at the Nagasaki campus of Philippine Union College. Her hometown is Legazpi, a small community on the main island of Luzon.

"Never having met is kind of foolish," Word said, adding that at first he was uncertain about the marriage plans.

However, he said his conviction was strengthened by the responses of his parents and friends.

Word said his parents "were surprised, but surprisingly happy. My mother is worried about the cost (for travel) but that was the only objection."

There are Easter lilies and cineraria with a Roman sarcophagus in the Gardner Museum at Boston. Flowers grown in museum greenhouses are displayed with art objects at all seasons. (Photo by Atwood)

At the Easter season visitors to the Gardner Museum in Boston see a splendid display of spring flowers. Easter lilies, grown to perfection of bloom in the museum's greenhouses, form a border for the center court of this four-story Italian palace on the Fenway.

Started in 1900 and first opened to the public in 1903, the museum was the home of Mrs. Jack Gardner, wealthy and socially prominent Bostonian. Isabella Stewart Gardner had planned the building in great detail and for years her agents bought paintings, pieces of sculpture, tapestries, even floor tiles and stones for the doorways in Italy and elsewhere in Europe.

Flowers, from the beginning, were part of the display. Mrs. Gardner grew flowers in large greenhouses in Brookline.

Today the greenhouse operation has been moved to Boston, directly back of the museum, but the flowers are brought into the court on a schedule established by Mrs. Gardner.

Well over a hundred Easter lily plants were being placed this week, with many Cymbidium orchids. There are large pots of cineraria, covered with daisylike blue, pink or white flowers, and many forced blooms of hyacinth.

20-Foot Nasturtiums

From high balconies on the fourth-story pink plaster walls of the glass-roofed center court hang amazingly long trailing vines of red-orange nasturtiums, a unique feature of the Gardner Museum. They drop 15 to 20 feet from their window boxes and people seeing them for the first time are likely to gasp in disbelief.

Robert MacKenzie, superintendent of the greenhouses, said the nasturtiums are of the Scarlet Gleam variety, one that might be grown in any home garden, but the Gardner Museum plants are given very special treatment.

They are started from cuttings in August and the greenhouse is held at a cool temperature of 50 to 55 degrees to encourage growth of the long vines. They stay in the greenhouse for six months or longer before they bloom and the vines run horizontally on supports.

It takes three men to move one of these nasturtium plants, one carrying the pot and two more carrying the vines. Four "batches" of nasturtiums are started at intervals and moved in succession to the court. Each stays in flower for about two weeks and the display, which begins in March, will continue into May.

Cineraria is started from seed in July, with three plantings at intervals of two weeks. They come into the court in February and will be on view through April.

There are smaller numbers of azaleas, held over year after year for their spring blooming period. Accent plants include jasmine with a cloud of fragrant flowers and camellias with spectacular large blooms.

Mother's Day Special

Always on Mother's Day, according to Mrs. Gardner's schedule, there will be calla lilies, the "pocketbook plant," bearing peach-shaped flowers. Mr. MacKenzie promised a "nice red one" for this year. Hydrangeas also are displayed during the spring weeks.

Mr. MacKenzie buys his Easter lily bulbs from a wholesaler who pre-cools them and times their growth to have them ready to flower during the Palm Sunday and Easter week. Bulbs should be showing at the start of Lent, he said, and he holds them back or hurries their development by regulating the temperature of the greenhouse.

The greenhouse superintendent has four full-time men and two part-time retirees to help with care of the plants. In the summer he hires a high school boy to fill in while older men are on vacation. All of his help, he said, has come from Jamaica Plain High School, where boys who want to be gardeners get vocational agriculture training.

While the plants displayed in the museum are basically like those grown in Mr. Gardner's day, many of them are in new and improved varieties. There are some flowers that were simply not available 70 years ago, and these have been added.

"We're trying to improve all the time," Mr. MacKenzie said. "We're always experimenting here."

What looks like lawn turf, from a little distance, on the floor of the court, is baby's tears, a creeping ground cover with small leaves. Some other ground covers are being grown experimentally.

Open All Year

People go to the Gardner Museum primarily to see the remarkable building and its fabulously valuable art treasures. But if they like flowers they may come a second time to see the plants. This year for the first time, the museum will stay open through the summer. It had previously closed for the month of August.

New plants are being grown to fill the summer weeks, mainly lilies, day lilies and oleander. In the fall there will be chrysanthemums, being started now from cuttings, and at the Christmas season there will be poinsettias.

If you can find Fenway Park, where the Boston Red Sox play, you can find the Gardner Museum, on the Fenway. In the opposite direction it is within easy walking distance of the museum.

Digging and hoeing USED to be the best way to break up hard-pan soil. Now there's GRAND PRIZE Lawn & Garden Gypsum to do most of the hard work for you. Just spread it on your lawn or spade it into your garden. With adequate water, the clean, little white particles work their way down into the soil like little hoes, so soil can breathe, seeds can germinate with deeper roots and fertilizers can work better. Jerry Baker says: "Gypsum should be applied to all lawns, flowers, trees and shrubs beds if the soil is the least bit hard or compacted. It will break up clay to render it useful and improve drainage."

A MODERN PHARMACY

All emotions, whether love or hate, anger or joy, involve stress, and life would be dull without them. In the emotionally unfit, however, tensions are bottled up, and nervous disorders such as ulcers can result. Physical activity is no guarantee of emotional wellbeing, but it is an effective way to discharge tension and excessive nervous energy. A person who exercises regularly is more able to focus on his work and the things he enjoys in life rather than on himself and his worries.

Columbia Property Owners Sue Over Taxes

VIRGINIA CARLSON Correspondent Tel. 228-9224

The selectmen have received notices totaling $900 from town counsel Robert Haggerty over suits against the Board of Tax Review (BTR) regarding assessments of properties, according to Howard Bates, first selectman.

Bates said Mrs. Harriet Rosen is suing the BTR on the assessment of her property on Pine St., Sol Koenigsberg of Ruisamar Trail is suing on four separate parcels of property and Mrs. Elaine Mrozek is suing on her property assessment on Erdoni Rd.

In other board business, Bates said Peter Chowanec and Alfred Brand of Old William Rd. want to know the status of an unimproved road called Chowanec Rd.

Selectman Joseph Stegda said the road has never been officially closed and the town is responsible to keep it open and passable.

In the past the road was barricaded with logs shutting off access to Brand's property in the area.

Selectman Robert Tuttle said, "Opening up that road will be like opening Pandora's Box."

He said there are several other old roads that people will want opened up and fixed if Chowanec Rd. is opened.

Stegda said other roads were officially closed but Chowanec Rd. was not. Selectmen agreed to have Brand and Chowanec in for a conference before a firm decision is made.

Subdivisions

Selectmen also met with Planning and Zoning Commission chairman Bruce Bradford and Max Lessinger regarding subdivisions.

They discussed hiring an engineer to represent the town on subdivisions.

Lessinger says he favors hiring a town engineer and would favor one looking at his subdivision on Doubleday Rd., but could not see why one should look at his 1.84-Jupiter Acres subdivision on Yellowwood Rd. He said Jupiter Acres is ready for a final hearing next month with the ZCO and there was no need for an engineer to review it.

After some discussion the selectmen signed the plans.

The board agreed to hire Kenneth Shane of Willimantic to audit the town books, succeeding Wilbur Lambert of Collinsville who recently retired.

He will be paid $1,200, the same amount Lambert received for the last fiscal year.

The board named Warren Fletcher of Johnson Hill to the Zoning Board of Appeals, to replace Miss Gertrude Johns who resigned recently due to ill health. They also named Dr. Roger Cheney of Woodland Ter. as alternate to the ZB, replacing Fletcher.

The Conservation Commission (CC) has proposed, in a letter to the selectmen, the purchase of a section of Utley Hill.

The letter said that the property is owned by Finance Discount Corp., and may be available for purchase now.

A parcel containing 42 acres of the total 67-acre tract is owned by the state.

Bronnell Dies, NASA Aide

William B. Bronnell, 72, of 35 Ashworth St., died Wednesday night at Manchester Hospital after suffering a heart attack while driving in Hartford. He was the husband of Mrs. Eleanor Luce Bronnell.

Mr. Bronnell was an area administrator in the Aeronautical and Space Program of NASA under the Navy Department before his retirement two years ago.

He was born April 27, 1900 in Lomza, Poland, and had lived in Manchester for more than 50 years. He was a veteran of World War I.

He was a member of South United Methodist Church and a charter member and former treasurer of Manchester Lodge of Elks. He also was a member of the Manchester Auxiliary Police and had held the rank of captain.

He belonged to the Pratt and Whitney Retirees Club and American Association of Retired Persons.

Other survivors are two sons, Atty. William M. Bronnell of Manchester, assistant town counsel and Robert E. Bronnell of Tolland; a daughter, Miss Marilyn Bronnell of Manchester; and a sister, Mrs. Beatrice Peterson of Manchester.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church. The Rev. Wayne Kendall will officiate. Burial will be in East Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Holman Funeral Home, 400 Main St., today from 2 to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon.

Otto H. Koschwitz - Otto H. Koschwitz, 74, of 157 Mountain Rd., died Thursday night at his home after a long illness. He was the husband of Mrs. Adeline Brooks Koschwitz.

Mr. Koschwitz was born in Germany and came to this country at the age of 7. He had lived in Rockville most of his life.

From 1938 to 1947, he prepared and sold meat products. He then was employed at Hamilton Standard Division of United Aircraft Corp., Hartford, after a brief retirement in 1953.

Survivors, besides his wife, are a son, Henry Koschwitz of Rockville; a brother, Kurt Koschwitz of Florida; and a grandchild.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Ladd Funeral Home, 719 Ellington Ave. The Rev. Richard E. Bertram, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Grove Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 p.m.

Comment Session

Business was unusually brisk last night for Manchester Director Charles McKeane, during a 90-minute Board of Directors comment session. For the past several months, only two or three persons have appeared at the twice-monthly sessions. Last night, 13 appeared.

A Keeney St. husband and wife called attention to what they called "a long-time health problem" in the vicinity of Keeney St. and Garden Grove Dr., where effluent from a septic tank discharges into a catch basin.

They said their January 1972 complaint to the State Health Department remains unanswered. Their more recent complaint to the state health department, dated August 1972, they said, citing an April 5 state memo to the town which pinpoints a health problem and recommends that sanitary sewers be extended to the area.

The same couple complained of excess speeding on Keeney St. and recommended more signs be posted, expressed concern over deteriorating traffic lines and recommended they be repainted, and requested that a directional sign be installed on the 1.84 ramp leading to Keeney St.

Another husband and wife team from Keeney St. objected to the proposed 1973-74 budget for the Center. He claimed it is too high, provides too much money for salaries, and proposes too many employees. He objected to the appointment of a program director, claiming it would be operated efficiently with a director, clerk and driver.

The 215-190 vote rejected an amendment proposed to a $25.6 billion, three-year authorization for highways and related programs.

The Senate approved the mass transit funding option in its own bill March 14 by a vote of 49 to 45.

House opponents led by Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., contended the mass transit option would mean that mass transit and highways soon would be competing for the $8 billion trust fund.

But the pool of possible Senate conferees candidates could yet give Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the votes to oust Randolph and force a prolonged House-Senate standoff over mass transit and the highway program.

The conferees won't start trying to work out a compromise until after the Easter recess ending April 30. Funding authority for the federal highway program expires June 30.

The House refused Thursday to allow cities to use their share of highway trust funds for mass transportation.

Mass Transit Plan Rejected By House

WASHINGTON (AP) - House rejection of a mass transit tap of the highway trust fund has tossed the Senate-approved proposal into the hands of an unpredictable House-Senate conferees committee.

The head Senate conferees, Public Works Chairman Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., has made clear he is more concerned over the tax rebate being given the Millers Falls Co. of Progress Dr. She said she hopes the Board of Directors will reconsider and reverse its action for approving the refund.

A North End resident recommended that the town, and not the 8th District, furnish a rescue boat for Union Pond, on the basis that Union Pond is town property.

An active member of the Senior Citizens Center objected to the proposed 1973-74 budget for the Center. He claimed it is too high, provides too much money for salaries, and proposes too many employees. He objected to the appointment of a program director, claiming it would be operated efficiently with a director, clerk and driver.

The Senate approved the mass transit funding option in its own bill March 14 by a vote of 49 to 45.

House opponents led by Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., contended the mass transit option would mean that mass transit and highways soon would be competing for the $8 billion trust fund.

But the pool of possible Senate conferees candidates could yet give Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the votes to oust Randolph and force a prolonged House-Senate standoff over mass transit and the highway program.

DEP Hearing May 3 On Laurel Lake Use

The State Department of Environmental Protection has scheduled a public hearing May 3 at 10 a.m. on Manchester's proposed plan of development for its sanitary landfill area.

The hearing will be in Room 129 of the State Office Building, 165 Capitol Ave., Hartford.

On March 13, Manchester voters approved a $1,591,000 approval relative to the landfill area - $449,500 of it for purchasing the 110-acre dry pond, Laurel Lake and $1,141,500 for development of the existing and proposed landfill area.

The hearing is on the conditions on the landfill. Leachate is the liquid generated by the decomposition of garbage and refuse.

EEA Bill Extension Urged by Thompson

Manchester Mayor John W. Thompson, in a telegram yesterday to U.S. Rep. William R. Cotter, urged the First District congressman to support a bill extending the Emergency Employment Act.

Thompson informed Cotter, "The withdrawal of support for this program would have important implications on the (Manchester) budget currently under consideration."

Town Manager Robert Weiss is recommending the town provide about $100,000 in its 1973-74 budget to retain most of the 6 municipal jobs now filled under EEA.

He is recommending that 35 of the temporary jobs be retained and the remaining 6 be dropped. His tentative budget proposes the town retain the full cost of 5 of the 36 jobs he recommends be retained and half the cost of the 18 others.

The school board's budget for 1973-74 calls for retaining 3 of the 6 personnel it now employs under EEA funds.

Mayor Asks Support for House Bills

Manchester citizens are being urged by Mayor John Thompson to contact their state legislators relative to six pending bills which, he says, are of prime importance to Manchester.

H.B. 9715 would increase ADM (Average Daily Membership) grants by $10 per pupil and would provide about $100,000 in additional funds for Manchester.

S.B. 2378 relates to municipalities providing transportation for children attending private school and would reimburse the towns and cities in full.

H.B. 8740 would provide quarterly payments to municipalities for damages resulting from implementation of the Inlands-Welands Act.

H.B. 8681 would release federal grants from the Bureau of Recreation to municipalities used for open space development as well as for acquisition.

H.B. 8764 would increase aid to municipalities for roads by $3 million and would mean about $47,000 additional for Manchester.

H.B. 9078 would eliminate municipal liability for damages resulting from implementation of the Inlands-Welands Act.

H.B. 8681 would release federal grants from the Bureau of Recreation to municipalities used for open space development as well as for acquisition.

Bridgeport Fireman Killed

BRIDGEPORT (AP) - A city fireman was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a fire truck at the scene of a brush fire Thursday.

Fire Chief John F. Gleason said the accident occurred as members of Engine Co. 15 responded to a call to extinguish a grass fire on Lyman Place.

Gleason said, and the pumper rolled backwards knocking the fireman to the pavement and starting backing up to get closer to it. Keogh jumped off the vehicle to attach a hose.

Wood Sets Mark As Trackmen Split

Manchester High's outdoor track squad split a triangular meet yesterday afternoon at Memorial Field. Against CCIL opponents the Tribe bombed Conard, 96-49, but against East Hartford High the Hornets stung the Tribe, 92-53.

Al Wood lowered the school mark in the 300-yard intermediate hurdles with a clocking of 42.5. The old mark was 42.7.

Nolen Standout In Track Win

East Catholic High's track team registered a 80-65 triumph yesterday afternoon over Windsor Locks. The Eagles are now 2-2.

Many new faces led the injury-prone Eagle squad. Cephus Nolen took a first in the 100-yard dash; second in the 200 and also ran a leg of the winning 800-yard relay team.

Eagles Bow By One-Run

For the second straight game, East Catholic outdid its opponent, but still lost. Yesterday it was a 3-2 loss to Leyard High. East had the early lead, but couldn't keep it.

Leyard scored a single run in each of the last three innings to eke out the one-run edge. In the fifth, with two out, a triple by Jim Law and a double off losing pitcher Pete Hornat gave Leyard its first run.

The loss brings East's record to 1-3 overall. Next start for the Eagles is Saturday morning at Mt. Nebo when East Hartford High comes to town.

Wilt, West Key Lakers To Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Los Angeles Lakers are playing an important game and it's close going into the final quarter, you can expect to read about Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain.

With the score tied 77-77 after three periods, West scored 14 fourth-period points while Chamberlain grabbed 12 final-period rebounds. The Lakers defeated the Golden State Warriors 104-83 to take a 2-0 lead in their NBA Western Division finals.

For his first game as a pitcher, Pete did very well. We didn't give him the offensive support," commented Coach Jim Penders.

Rangers One Away From Elimination

Peterson Celebrates First Victory Modestly

BALTIMORE (AP) — Fritz Peterson celebrated his first victory of the season modestly, with a bottle of beer. The champagne originally reserved for the occasion was no longer around.

"I wasn't taking any chances with the champagne," the New York left-hander said after beating the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 Thursday night. "I didn't want it sitting in my locker like last year. I drank it last week."

Some fans, described by Peterson as "a bunch of girls who follow the team," sent him some imported champagne for a first-victory celebration last season, and it sat around while he lost his first six decisions.

Kasko Not Panicking, May Change Lineup

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox are gripped in a five-game losing streak, but Manager Eddie Kasko isn't thinking of pushing any panic button this early in the season.

"We may make a change here and there as we go along, but nothing drastic," Kasko said Thursday after the Red Sox were bombed 11-7 by the Detroit Tigers in the windup of a four-game series.

Home Away from Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Fenway Park is the home of the Boston Red Sox—and a home away from home for the Detroit Tigers.

"In this ballpark, you just know you'll get your share of hits," the Tiger catcher said after his team got more than its share with 16 in an 11-7 victory over the Red Sox Tuesday.

"I've seen some wild games, but I can't remember a series with so many runs and so many hits," said Freehan. "This is an exciting ballpark for the fans. Let's hope we've got ourselves into a game going into Baltimore. Maybe we should go to Baltimore and bring the Orioles back to play in Fenway."

In other American League games, the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Cleveland Indians 10-7, the New York Yankees topped the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 and the Kansas City Royals defeated the Oakland A's 16-8.

Club Physician Working Overtime

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Peter LaMotte, the New York Mets' club physician, is working overtime these days. Unfortunately, medical science hasn't yet come up with a cure for comatose bats.

While star pitcher Tom Seaver and Manager Yogi Berra jolted the Mets on sick call, the Mets, who have scored only 11 runs in their last eight games, took their war clubs off the critical list long enough to beat the Chicago Cubs 3-1 Thursday in the first game of a doubleheader.

But it was right back into a state of shock in the nightcap as Bert Hooton, who brought an earned run average of 10.50 into the contest, stifled them in three hits in pitching the Cubs to a 7-0, Chicago, by the way, took the first two games of the series by 1-0 scores.

Meanwhile, Berra was confined to the clubhouse on doctor's orders with a heavy cold pitching coach Rube Walker ran the team and Seaver was sent to Roosevelt Hospital with stomach cramps. Tests, however, showed nothing wrong and no one was able to confirm a nasty rumor that Seaver had become sick to his stomach watching the Met you should pardon the expression ...

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal edged Philadelphia 6-5 and San Francisco shined Los Angeles 6-6. The Pittsburgh-St. Louis game was rained out and the other clubs were not scheduled.

Koosman Builds Own Confidence

NEW YORK (AP) — "The way things have been going lately," said Jerry Koosman, "you have to build your own confidence."

Peterson Celebrates First Victory Modestly

BALTIMORE (AP) — Fritz Peterson celebrated his first victory of the season modestly, with a bottle of beer. The champagne originally reserved for the occasion was no longer around.

"I wasn't taking any chances with the champagne," the New York left-hander said after beating the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 Thursday night. "I didn't want it sitting in my locker like last year. I drank it last week."

Some fans, described by Peterson as "a bunch of girls who follow the team," sent him some imported champagne for a first-victory celebration last season, and it sat around while he lost his first six decisions.

SPACIOUS and GRACIOUS

A Best Buy By Belfiore

Yes, the spacious and gracious older home is making a decided comeback in this year's housing market — and why not? No budget-busting price tag here! You couldn't replace the room (and rooms) in this clean, well kept older home for half again the price in a new home. And you wouldn't get almost 1 1/2 acres — and you wouldn't get the stately trees — and you wouldn't — but, come, let us show you what you will get!

Real estate brokers and their sales persons regularly come into possession of funds belonging to others and hence are trustees for such funds. . . Such trusteeship may exist for varying periods of time. . . As trustees, brokers have an exacting responsibility of handling such funds in a manner which will adequately protect the funds and so as not to destroy the trust nature of the funds. . . More than forty states require real estate brokers to maintain separate bank accounts as depositories for trust funds with such accounts clearly designated as trust or escrow accounts. . . The real estate commissions of many states make periodic examinations of real estate trust accounts. . .

Of course penny valentines haven't gone out of style—just cost 35 cents these days.

Many a man will agree that it's more than coincidence that "couple" appears with "stupid" after the wedding.

Do something to help someone else.

Our lazy neighbor anticipated the energy crisis by about 20 years.

People who offer a penny for our thoughts are only overpricing the commodity.

It's pretty hard to be anything but frugal and circumspect in your actions considering what your money won't buy.

Getting drunk is easy. It's getting sober that causes problems.

Most disappointed girl we know was asked to go to a fellow's pad—and it turned out to be a helicopter landing strip.

The sickest thing about February is that it has only 28 days this year.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITATION TO BID

In accordance with provisions of the Town Charter, sealed proposals will be received in the Office of the Director of General Services, 41 Center Street, Manchester, Connecticut not later than 11:30 A.M. EDST - MAY 1, 1973.

At which time and place said proposals shall publicly be opened for furnishing of all materials, labor, equipment and incidentals to construct the RECONSTRUCTION OF HILLIARD STREET FROM Broad Street, approximately 2-676 feet easterly to the vicinity of the railroad crossing west of Main Street.

Copies of Contract Documents including drawings and technical specifications are on file at the office of the Director of General Services located at the Municipal Building, 41 Center Street, Manchester, Connecticut.

Copies of Contract Documents may be obtained by depositing Twenty-Five Dollars ($25.00) with the Director of General Services for each set of documents so obtained. Each such deposit will be refunded, to persons submitting a Bid, if the drawings and Contract Documents are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after the Bid opening.

The Town of Manchester reserves the right to waive any informalities or to reject any or all Bids.

Each Bidder must deposit with his Bid, security in the amount, form and subject to the conditions provided in the Instructions to Bidders.

Attention of Bidders is particularly called to the requirements as to conditions of employment to be observed and minimum wage rates to be paid under the Contract.

No Bidder will withdraw his Bid within sixty (60) days after the actual date of the Bid opening.

SECOND CAREER

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — F. Melvyn Lawson, who had been superintendent of Sacramento city schools until his retirement five years ago, is having a successful new career as a writer of music and lyrics for dance bands.

Of 92 songs he has written, some are regularly played at a local night spot, and 12 have been put into an album.

"When I retired, I was not in the best of health," Lawson said. The doctor said, "Do something different." So I took up dancing. The urge to put words and music together grew as a result of the many evenings my wife and I spent dancing."

Mark Newkirk, right, is upgrading his reading and will be able to keep up with his class with the help of Morgan Redfield who is volunteering his time as a tutor. Redfield may also develop companionship with his pupil by sharing an activity or an occasional treat at a snack bar. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Voluntary Action Club

JUNE TOMPKINS (Herald Reporter)

Two young ladies have come up with an idea for volunteer service which is the first of its kind in town.

Miss Marie Brissette and Miss Marian Savastino, both students at Manchester Community College, dreamed up a plan about two years ago for the benefit of students with spare time on their hands. It involved a questionnaire, composed by the girls, which would correlate the students' talents, abilities and services available with specific needs of organizations.

Through contact with the hospital, the school system, and local service agencies, it soon became apparent that there was a need for volunteers which was not being met, and before long, volunteer MCC students were being matched with specific needs in areas of education, transportation, and health.

In order to become a recognized organization by the college for fun and benefit, the group became known as the Voluntary Action Club. Its officers are Marie Brissette, president; Marian Savastino, vice president; Jean Kazlauskas, secretary, and Robert B. Weiss, treasurer, all MCC students.

Some operating funds are now available from a Career Education grant and from the college itself. But more funds are necessary for a more competent operation.

Headquarters for the Voluntary Action Club (VAC) are a desk with a telephone, typewriter, and a file in a corner of the faculty lounge on the Bidwell St. college campus.

The officers of the club spend more than 15 hours a week apiece to operate the referral service which now involves about 200 students and non-student volunteers. The responsibility became so great that two members of the MCC faculty have become co-directors and act in an advisory capacity.

Stephen T. Cassano, sociology teacher, and Kenneth Steere, psychology teacher, share much of the responsibility of the management of the group and are acting to develop public relations and establish communication with other voluntary action programs.

Cassano recently attended and participated in the first national conference for Community College Volunteers. Programs in Bloomington, Ill. During the three-day session, Cassano attended seminars on recruiting volunteers, funding volunteer programs, transportation, and orientation, training, and evaluation of student volunteers.

Among the agencies presently using volunteer services from VAC are the Connecticut Prison Association, Meriden School for Boys, Long Lane School for Girls in Middletown, Hartford
