Watergate Scandal Continues To Boil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate scandal continues to boil after fresh reports of evidence that the White House tried to cover up the facts behind the wiretapping.

There were these new developments:

—Sources close to the Senate's Watergate investigation said President Nixon surely was aware of a cover-up, and that evidence indicates top presidential aides H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman participated in the cover-up.

—A lawyer for Nixon's campaign finance committee gave court officials three cartons of secret campaign spending records which had been withheld in apparent violation of an agreement to furnish them last November. He said they include payroll records containing the names of two of the Watergate conspirators.

—Transcripts of testimony before the Watergate grand jury quoted convicted wiretapper James W. McCord Jr. as saying under oath that he had been offered executive clemency if he would remain silent about the conspiracy and serve more than a year in jail.

—White House spokesman Gerald Warren again denied that Nixon had advance knowledge of plans for wiretapping Democratic headquarters last June.

The Senate sources Monday declined to go into detail about evidence of a cover-up, but said the operation included "attempts to pressure other officials in the government to go along."

The sources said these other officials included ranking members of the Justice Department and of the FBI. Ehrlichman and Haldeman, whom the sources said appeared to be part of the cover-up operation, have hired a lawyer to represent them in the Watergate case.

The sources said there are indications that Nixon found out about the raid on the Democrats' Watergate offices only after it took place, but was aware earlier that his campaign included a political strategy.

Recently Haldeman told a group of Republican congressmen that the Watergate operation was a "go-between" and that he assumed Mrs. Hunt was speaking of Kenneth Wells Parkison and Paul O'Brien, two lawyers for the Nixon campaign. Parkison has denied acting as a go-between. O'Brien refused to comment beyond saying that he knows nothing about McCord.

As reported earlier, McCord also testified that he had received $3,000 a month from Mrs. Hunt, who had told him he was expected to remain silent in return for it. He also said Mrs. Hunt gave him $13,000 "legal-fee money."

McCord said he understood the money came from Parkison, and that the Hunt couple was an explanation for their continued high standard of living.

Mrs. Hunt was killed in a house fire in January, 1972. She was carrying $10,000 in cash, which her husband said had been intended for investment in a motel.

Sales Tax Cut Approved By Committee

HARTFORD (AP) — A legislative committee has approved a reduction in Connecticut's highest-in-the-nation sales tax and the elimination of the controversial 6 percent tax on dividends.

The two votes by the Finance Committee now send the proposals to the House and Senate floors for further legislative action.

The sales tax bill, which would reduce the rate from 7 percent to 6 percent, was introduced by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill. Revenue losses to the state resulting from such a reduction have been estimated at $84 million.

Committee approval of the measure came only after the defeat of a proposal to raise the rate to 8 percent. The measure would eliminate it entirely on utility bills.

Louis S. Cuttito, D-Waterbury, called the half-percent tax cut "tokenism."

Viewed in terms of government expenditures for public services, the giant bombers dropped their 30 tons of explosives a few hours before dawn.

—Rejected, 20-1, a proposal to impose a one percent real estate conveyance tax. The conveyance tax now stands at $1.10 per $100 of sale value.

—Approved in line with a state Supreme Court ruling, a bill to make the capital gains tax applicable to 90 percent of capital gains.

—Stamped its approval on the continuation of a phase-out of business inventory taxes.

—Rejected, 20-1, a proposal to raise the rate of the state income tax on dividends from 6 percent to 7 percent.

—Approved in line with a state Supreme Court ruling, a bill to make the capital gains tax applicable to 90 percent of capital gains.

—Stamped its approval on the continuation of a phase-out of business inventory taxes.

Farm-Produced Food Prices Rise In March

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of raising U.S. farm-produced food to feed a typical family for a year increased another $49 in March, the Agriculture Department says.

The increase, sparked by a 6.8 percent rise in the prices farmers receive, rose 8.5 percent — from $1,409 in February to $1,458 in March.

The rise followed a 2.7 percent increase in January and a 2.5 percent increase in February.

John Mikoleit Marks 100th Birthday

Celebrating his 100th birthday today is John Mikoleit, who, with his daughter, Mrs. Burton Keeney, was entertained at a special party this afternoon at the Meadows Convalescent Home where he is a patient.

Mr. Mikoleit was born April 24, 1873, in Germany where he then Prussia. He came to Connecticut when he was 19 and married the late Augusta Tarkenton in 1898. He worked as a dairy farmer in Talcottville for a number of years. He then worked for 25 years for G.E. Willis Co. & Lumber Co. until he retired in 1954.

For the past 37 years, he has made his home with his daughter and son-in-law at 218 Oak St.

Mr. Mikoleit attributes his longevity to "good clean living and three meals a day."

Among the many congratulatory messages received by him is a letter from President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon with special felicitations on his birthday.

Besides his daughter, he has a grandson, a granddaughter and a great-grandson. His nieces and nephews number into the three greats.

Commemorative Medallions

Zoning Change For Highland Market Denied

The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) Monday night denied a zoning change which would have allowed an 11,000-square foot addition to the Highland Park Market at 317 Highland St.

PZC members voted 4-1 to deny the Residence A to B-1 zoning change, sought by John F. Conway Jr., owner of the grocery store. John Hutchinson was the PZC member who seconded the denial.

The PZC listed three reasons in denying the application:

1. Traffic problems and hazards exist currently at the intersection which contains the existing food market; expansion of the market would increase in store area would generate additional traffic and compound existing hazards.

2. The site is a concept of a neighborhood business historically at this location, and the proposed extension, in the opinion of the commission, would totally destroy this concept.

3. The change would be a "retrogression into a viable residential zone."

The existing Highland Park Market, built in 1969, contains about 8,000 square feet of floor area. The zone change was sought for two house lots immediately west of the market.

Preliminary plans for the store expansion, presented at a public hearing April 2, showed an 11,000-square foot addition and changes in parking lot access.

Tax Relief Delay Criticized

By JAMES CARRIER
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD (AP) — Rent and property-tax relief for Connecticut's elderly has been delayed only a few months for "administrative" reasons, the state's Personal Commissioner said Monday.

Sen. Lawrence J. DeNardis, R-Hartford, told a public hearing on the $174.4 million budget that he was "delighted" to see the state employ "administrative" reasons, the state's Personal Commissioner said Monday.

New Attraction at Shrine Circus

A year ago the horse was in another act and the tiger performed with lions for Tarzan Zerbin. Now the two are in a new act, working with Tarzan's wife, Jane, at the Sphinx Temple Shrine Circus at the Hartford State Armory this week.

Bidders Invited On Three Items
Bids will be opened May 4 in the Municipal Building for furnishing the Town of Manchester with a paper-baling machine, a heavy-duty snowplow, and a passenger car.

Supreme Court To Review Indian Welfare Case Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday agreed to decide whether the federal government should extend Indian welfare benefits to all Indians, not just those on reservations.
The high court will bear a government appeal of a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court at San Francisco extending federal benefits to all Indians.
The decision, said the government, would double the number of Indians eligible to approximately 827,000, and substantially diminish funds available for the benefit of reservation Indians.
—Declined to determine under what circumstances a defendant can withdraw his guilty plea.
—Let stand a Washington state Supreme Court ruling barring Reader's Digest from conducting its promotional sweepstakes in the state.
—Agreed to review a lower court ruling that the Constitution bars members of Congress from belonging to the armed force reserves.
—Let stand a lower court ruling that school officials may ban the wearing of the Confederate flag by students.
—Heard civil rights lawyers and attorneys for a Southern school board argue that the court should approve busing across school district boundaries in pursuit of desegregation.
The circuit court said the Fuzes were entitled to the general assistance provided in the Snyder Act of 1921.
The Snyder Act provides that benefits are to be available to Indians "throughout the United States," said the circuit court. "There is nothing equivocal about the phrase 'throughout the United States' nor do we find anything in the legislative history of the act that counters its broad thrust."
The act, countered the government, is merely an authorization. "The relevant inquiry is whether Congress appropriated funds for off-reservation general assistance," U.S. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold contended.
That legislative history, continued the government, clearly shows no intention to provide for off-reservation Indians.

The Tax Load Grows

Americans are paying the heaviest taxes in history and there is no relief in sight. About 36 cents of every dollar of every income in the country goes for federal, state and local taxes—a dangerously high level.

Thus, on the average, the taxpayer can only begin to earn something for himself about May 2, the first third of the year being taken by the tax collectors.

Just since 1942, taxes have multiplied 11 times, from $31 billion to $336 billion and still the federal deficit has risen and cities and state have upped their demands for federal help, despite increasing taxes on sales, property and incomes.

Federal revenue sharing, when it did come, found some local governments wondering what to do with it. Tax hikes and the booming economy gave some state and localities surpluses. Thus, in those places, fat checks from Washington stirred talks of tax cuts and dreams of all kinds of new spending programs.

State legislatures and local taxing bodies are not eager to cut taxes for

There is growing impatience in the land with the muddy water of the so-called Watergate caper and a mounting demand for the administration to take action to clear up the mess and get on with more important affairs of state.

All the facts in the Watergate criminal activity need to be aired promptly and fully and President Nixon is facing rising criticism for what appears to many to be inept handling of the affair by failure to cooperate with the Senate Committee investigation.

The Shreveport (La.) Journal commented: "It appears that the Republican high command is mishandling the matter. We believe President Nixon was in error when he refused to let his assistant John Dean testify before a Senate Committee... It may well be that the President is not trying to protect anyone. But his enemies in the Congress and in the news media are having a field day trying to make it appear that he is."

The San Antonio (Tex.) News said Senator Ervin was right in preparing to ask the arrest of any White House feared that future revenues might not be adequate for their needs and commitments. On the other hand, they are perhaps better aware than the Congress that the local taxpayers are watching closely to see what they do with the money and a good many have felt it wise to deposit the money at interest and wait and see.

Higher taxes are considered one way to fight inflation but certainly not the most popular. Less government spending is an obvious first choice, but so long as revenues are large, there will be any number of worthy programs to dissipate them.

Priorities in spending are always controversial and the arguments are hotter now than ever. By now it should be apparent to the most obtuse individual that the government cannot afford to do everything for everybody.

After all, the dream of a land of peace and plenty, milk and honey, has intrigued mankind for centuries. And it comes closest to realization only through the productive energies of free men. There can be no absolute freedom but the relative freedom we enjoy is diminished as taxes rise.

Lance The Watergate Boil

staffer who refused a committee subpoena and added: "Watergate has been festering for months, worsening all the time. The boil must be lanced, regardless of the consequences."

Surely, this is the right approach and the only way to reassure the nation that Watergate was an aberration on the part of a handful of overzealous political hacks and not part and parcel of the policy of any high administration official.

Watergate was stupid as well as criminal. Public interest has been fanned by Nixon's political enemies and Nixon's reputation as an astute politician, closely attuned to the wave length of the silent majority, is suffering from his failure to act decisively to clear up all the loose ends, hearsay and rumor mongering which has characterized the history of this incident.

Trying to keep the lid on what has become boiling kettle could prove a great harm to the Republican party which needs all the help it can get. Senator Goldwater says Watergate could cost the party the White House in 1976 unless there is a quick cleanup.

A Problem

To the editor: Last winter problems at the Manchester Sewage Treatment Plant resulted in large quantities of sludge being dumped into some old filter beds. Since then problems such as the wet weather have made it impossible to dry the sludge so that it can be buried. Attempts to pump it back into the system have failed, probably at least partly because of inadequate equipment.

Unfortunately this sludge has a very penetrating and unpleasant odor which can be expected to get worse as the weather gets warmer. On a number of days during the last few weeks the wind blew in our direction and this most unpleasant smell blanketed this part of town. Since we live about one mile away from the plant a great many other people must have been similarly offended.

We certainly hope that all necessary steps are taken to overcome this problem as soon as possible. If this means that the town has to buy a piece of equipment that it probably should have already) or otherwise spend a little unexpected money, then so be it. A decent livable environment means more to us than an absolute minimum tax rate. We like to enjoy the outdoors especially during spring and summer and this will not be possible when it smells like the inside of a sewer.

Respectfully yours, Maureen A. Hoyle Bolton Circle Road Bolton

'Kidding Ourselves'

WASHINGTON — "We're kidding ourselves" said the spokesman for the Canadian Embassy here. "As long as there is communist representative going to have any effective supervision of the cease-fire in Vietnam."

ICCS is the International Commission of Control and Supervision charged with keeping the truce in Vietnam. It includes representatives of Canada, Indochina, Hungary and Poland, which says everything about its built-in futility — most recently and tragically illustrated by the shooting down of an ICCS helicopter in which nine men were killed. Maj. Gen. Duncan McAlpine, a Canadian peace-keeping investigator, has charged that the helicopter was shot down by the Viet Cong while flying over Viet Cong territory in South Vietnam. McAlpine, head of the Canadian military delegation to the ICCS, says the chopper was hit by a missile-seeking missile, and quotes the pilot of an accompanying copter as reporting that he "saw it go down and then a ball of flame." "In fact," the Canadian Embassy spokesman remarked, "the Viet Cong are making the Saigon regime look good, which is never all that easy. But there's nothing we can do; the Polish and Hungarian delegations on the ICCS have always refused to take part in any investigation of truce violations except those

Inside Report

Losing the Ceasefire

Vietnam's understrength, malaria-ridden troops have now been retrained and reinforced. Their habitual cease-fire violations undeterred by the ludicrously feeble international control machinery, the Communists have transformed the military situation along the northern front. Brig. Gen. Le Van Thanh, commander of the 1st ARVN Division defending Hue, is gloomy. Slipping hot from an army cantonment while artillery boomed in the background, Thanh told us in an interview at this outpost: "We can only arm to this cease-fire. The enemy has the initiative." Thus restricted, the 1st ARVN suffered 100 casualties during the cease-fire.

Free of air harassment or ARVN patrols, North Vietnamese 324B Division opposing the 1st ARVN moves freely. Heavy additions of tanks and artillery have been brought here in violation of the Paris agreement. Most worrisome, however, is the loss of ARVN's complete air domination. With U.S. support removed, South Vietnamese planes will encounter heavy new anti-aircraft artillery (including eight SAM pads illegally installed at the Nhe Sanh base). Lengthening the Khe Sanh airstrip as well as building two new strips in the Achar Valley can speed Communist supplies but also suggests Hanoi might introduce MIG jet fighters into this northern sector. Yet a sudden massive attack could send the 1st ARVN reeling. "It would be most difficult to stop," a worried Gen. Thanh conceded — a view echoed to us by his famous corps commander, Lt. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong. The maximum Communist strategy could conceivably sign the papers abolishing the 1st ARVN into Hue, cutting off elite airborne troops and marines holding the line on the north. In one blow, the Communists could destroy South Vietnam's finest troops, capture the country's two northernmost provinces and open the road southward. The survival of the Saigon regime would then be questionable. Hanoi, however, does not have enough troops here now for such an offensive. The warning signal will come if additional regiments are sent south opposite the 1st ARVN, raising two portentous questions: would the Communists risk resumed bombing by President Nixon — and would President Nixon in fact resume the bombing? For now, the Communists are pursuing the minimum strategy of transforming the provisional revolutionary government, wholly imaginary until the cease-fire, into a Vietcong nation in the northern wilderness captured during the 1972 offensive. Shielded by the cease-fire, the Communists are constructing highways, schools and other buildings to establish a governmental facade for 60,000 South Vietnamese who did not flee during the 1972 invasion. Although dimly unsuccessful in luring some 100,000 refugees back to the conquered lands, the Communists can claim to the world that a "second South Vietnam" exists. In between the maximum and minimum strategies, the North Vietnamese troops keep probing into the occupied lowlands. The intended results to force the people into a narrow strip along the coast, many of them in refugee camps, while increasing across the border. It is, indeed, a hellish peace.

Bus Firm Studies Route Reductions

HARTFORD (AP) — Too-low ridership levels in the first month Connecticut Co. buses have been back on the road will bring a company recommendation in May that some service be reduced, according to ConnCo Vice President Charles Abell.

Abell said Monday that it was also possible, though much less likely, that the state's largest bus company would present a fare increase proposal to the state officials overseeing the operations of the publicly subsidized carrier.

Abell said he couldn't be more specific about what the company would recommend until ridership statistics for April are complete. He said the company's suggestions will be presented in a report on April operations due to be handed to state officials on May 15.

ConnCo buses returned to operation on March 2 in the Hartford, New Haven and Stamford metropolitan areas after a 12-day strike by the Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU). The strike ended when a state subsidy offer enabled ConnCo to give the ATU a new, two-year contract acceptable to its drivers and mechanics.

Asked if he thought bus ridership might increase considerably in the next few months, Abell said "I would think now we have just about reached the level of ridership we will gain."

Despite his pessimism about a major increase in riders, however, Abell said "We can no doubt get some more with some promotional work. Plans for a ridership campaign, possibly using the mass media, are under consideration and should be made public in the next week," he said.

As an example of decreasing bus ridership, Abell pointed to buses on commuter routes to major plants. "Where we used to carry 30 or 40 people per bus, we're now carrying four or five," he said. "They must have gone to carpools."

John Thompson, chief of the ATU locals at ConnCo, said he would consider premature a decision to cut back service based on the experience of slightly more than one month. "We won't look on this with very much favor," he said. "There hasn't been any period of time to really make a judgment. It would take three or four months before there should be something happening."

He said, however, that "we have no way of countering" a decision to cut back service because of the provisions of the ATU-ConnCo contract. Spokesmen for the state, the company and the ATU said when the strike was settled that service could be adjusted or cut back, depending on ridership patterns, after buses had been running for 30 days.

Waterbury Policeman's Conviction Upheld By Supreme Court

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Supreme Court has upheld conviction of former Deputy Police Superintendent Paul Moynahan of Waterbury on a charge of receiving a stolen television set in 1967.

Moynahan, who lost his police job when he was convicted in 1969, was sentenced in Superior Court to one year and a day to two years in prison.

He was among 28 persons, many of them in high municipal positions, who were linked in a one-man probe by former Chief Justice Patrick O'Sullivan to stolen goods found in the Waterbury area.

The state's highest court, in a unanimous decision released today, refused to agree with the Connecticut Supreme Court's decision to uphold conviction of former Deputy Police Superintendent Paul Moynahan of Waterbury on a charge of receiving a stolen television set in 1967.

Moynahan presented to support his appeal. Summing up the court's decision, Justice Louis Lefebvre wrote, "The evidence offered in this case supported the jury's verdict."

The high court disagreed with Moynahan's claim that questioning Vernale despite his refusal to testify about the case was improper.

He did tell, however, about his friendship with the former police officer and his return from Florida with him on one occasion.

The high court also approved of testimony in the Superior Court trial concerning two incidents involving Moynahan. One concerned his allegedly "boisterous" questioning of a Waterbury policeman involved in the investigation. The other, concerning bearing "a moderate odor of alcohol," during the investigation.

Moynahan repeatedly denied that he knew Vernale was a repairman as one he had fixed at Moynahan's home in June 1967. In addition, the serial number stored at it had been stolen from an appliance store.

Vernale, who allegedly had bought the television set in question from the man who allegedly had stolen it, was called to testify against Moynahan but he refused to testify about the case.

South Windsor Deadline Near For Scholarships

The deadline for filing applications with the South Windsor Scholarship Organization is April 30. Application forms are available from the Guidance Office at the high school. Winners will be announced June 1.

The scholarship organization is an umbrella-type group which correlates the process of making the scholarship awards in accordance with the requirements of the participating organizations.

The groups which belong to the organization to date include The South Windsor Committee for Exceptional Children, which gives a $100 scholarship in memory of Ann E. Waldron; The South Windsor Education Association and Federation of Teachers, awards totaling at least $500; South Windsor Police Association, $500 each to a boy and girl in the graduating class of the high school; and the South Windsor Women's Club, which gives an award of $500 to a girl who has an average scholastic record.

In addition to these awards the scholarship organization provides additional awards

Barbers Union Ups Cost Of Haircuts

HARTFORD (AP) — Citing increased operating expenses, the Journeymen Barbers Union, Local 73, has announced a 50-cent increase in the cost of haircuts in the greater Hartford area, effective Monday.

The price hike will push the cost of a haircut in union barbershops to $3.25 for adults. The price for senior citizens on Wednesdays and Thursdays will remain at the present $2.75 rate and the cost for children under age 12 will be $3, except on Saturday when all haircuts will cost $3.25, the union announced. The last price increase was in 1969.

Coventry CCAC Presents Show For CCTC Tonight

HOLLY GANTNER
 Correspondent
 Tel. 742-9795

The Connecticut Citizens Action Group, the state group affiliated with Nader's Raiders, will present a slide show and discussion at Coventry High School tonight at 8, as guests of the Concerned Citizens of Tolland County.

Two members of CCAG visited Columbia, Md., recently, where they interviewed residents and photographed the planned community, and it is this subject with which tonight's session will deal.

Coventry and area residents are welcome to attend the meeting.

According to a CCTC spokesman, "The CCAG will be able to give us a better picture of population densities and projections from the Columbia model."

In addition to the CCAG presentation, CCTC will release the results of a poll recently conducted by means of a form circulated in the Coventry Broadcaster.

Guest Speaker

Miss Patricia Graves, Manchester policewoman, will be guest speaker at Thursday's noon luncheon meeting of the Manchester Community Services Council at the Manchester Country Club. She was the first policewoman to become a member of the Manchester Police Department. There are now two policewomen on the town force.

A native of Dresden, Ohio, Miss Graves came to Manchester in 1962. She joined the Manchester Police Department in 1966 after having been employed for four years as security officer at a large Hartford department store.

A graduate of Manchester Community College, she has also graduated from the Federal Narcotics School in Washington, D.C.

Miss Graves is presently serving as president of the Police Women's Association of Connecticut which includes 80 full-time professional policewomen from throughout the state.

The topic of her talk will be "A Year as Youth Services Officer."

Town Committee

The South Windsor Republican Town Committee will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the council chambers of the Town Hall.

The Connecticut Intern program will be discussed and campaign committees will give their reports.

Square Dancers

The South Windsor Square Dance Club will hold an open dance Wednesday from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Wapping Elementary School.

The guest caller will be Manny Amor. All club level dancers are invited to attend. Rounds will be cued by Russ and Anita White.

268 Ride Bus

Manchester-to-Hartford commuter express buses from Buckland carried 268 passengers this morning. One bicycle and 186 cars were counted in the new transportation department parking lot at Exit 92 of Interstate 91.

Bolton Replies To Criticism

DONNA HOLLAND

Virginia Butterfield, Democratic nominee for first selectman, said in response to criticism from John Eche, Republican nominee for the Board of Education, that she will not tolerate "prevarications from a misinformed and misguided candidate."

Kjelquist is urging anyone who receives a questionnaire to fill it out and return it in the self-addressed, stamped envelope provided.

Kjelquist said he expects to run similar surveys periodically in an attempt to measure the effectiveness of police service in Coventry.

Office Closed
 The office of Calvin Hutchinson, building inspector and assessor, will be closed tomorrow.

He will be in Southington with other assessors to price motor vehicles. These prices go into a "pricing book" that is used by Hartford area assessors to determine motor vehicle taxes.

Anyone wishing to talk with him may call early in the morning or in the evening at his home, 643-5272.

Senior Citizens
 At their meeting tomorrow at 1:30 at the Town Hall, the senior citizens will have a card party. Refreshments will be served.

It's Smart To Knock On Wood

I just read an article on the results of a study done on superstitious people and despite prevalent opinion to the contrary, the study showed that superstitious people are just as smart as everyone else. In fact, some of the world's most prominent thinkers absolutely refused to think unless they have their lucky pieces in hand.

I was certainly relieved to read this. For years I've been crossing my fingers in my pocket so no one would see me. It's great to feel free to let your superstitions out in the open. Actually, I'm not THAT superstitious, and my superstitions are far from the ordinary wishbone variety. For example, when I knock on wood, I don't just knock, I also rub the wood with my knuckles. It works better.

And, my lucky piece is a silver dollar that only effective on Mondays. I haven't had a blue Monday since I started to carry it. And when I was in college, friends used to borrow my silver dollar to help them through their Monday exams.

Now it's important that you learn to make superstitions work for you. Otherwise they can really complicate your life. I mean, how could you possibly survive a Friday the 13th, unless you decide it's going to be your lucky day? And how could you, in all ally to your root and branch, decide to walk, unless you decide that every crack you step on will mean dollar in her pocket?

Black cats are hard to rationalize. They even look sinister. But usually if you examine them closely you can find a patch of white under a paw or behind an ear and of course, even the smallest bit of white makes black cats O.K.

Ladders are also difficult. When they were made entirely of wood you could simply knock on the ladder as you walked it. But today with metal ladders there really is nothing to do but walk around them.

Most of my superstitions are a carry over from childhood. But, when I read how smart it was to be superstitious, I decided to develop a new one to help me with my tennis game. When I'm serving, and I EAT Y my point, I find that if I rub the tennis ball once against the end of my nose—it helps me to serve a winner!

Donald LePard of East Hartford, and Mrs. Henry Hembrechts of South Windsor, discuss plans for the Manchester Power Squadron and its auxiliary. LePard will be installed as squadron commander and Mrs. Hembrechts as commandeerette of the ensignettes at a dinner-dance Saturday at the Manchester Country Club. (Herald photo by Larson)

Power Squadron Plans Dance, Installation

The Manchester Power Squadron Change of Command dinner-dance will be held Saturday at the Manchester Country Club. Donald LePard of 70 Andover Rd., East Hartford, will be installed as squadron commander, and Mrs. Henry Hembrechts of 70 Woodland Dr., South Windsor, will be installed as commandeerette of the ensignettes.

Club Speaker

David W. Campbell of Merrow Rd., Coventry, a psychiatric social worker on staff at the Manchester Child Guidance Clinic, will be guest speaker at tonight's meeting of Parents Without Partners, Inc. (PWP). The program will begin at 8 p.m. at the Community Baptist Church, Manchester.

Campbell, who joined the clinic in July 1962, has been assistant professor of education at Eastern Connecticut State College, Willimantic, and school social worker for the college's F. E. Nobel Lab School.

He did social work during his Army service. He also was assistant executive director for three years at the Brockton (Mass.) Family Service, school adjustment counselor for six years with the Bridgewater (Mass.) Public Schools, and school social worker for 10th the Hartford Public Schools.

He received his A.B. in sociology in 1950 from Middlebury (Vt.) College and his M.S. degree in social service from Boston University School of Social Work.

He has also done additional graduate work at Bridgewater (Mass.) State College, Boston University School of Social Work, Children's Medical Center in Boston, Des Moines College, and the University of Hartford.

His wife, Jean, is chief social worker for the Town of Manchester. The couple has five children.

Prospective members are invited to attend.

Troop 120 Boy Scout Troop 120 recently had its annual potluck and Court of Honor at St. James School.

Skill awards and merit badges were presented to Alan Dupont, five awards and seven badges; Joe Foran, Tom Sulick and Peter Granger, five awards and four badges each; Mike Toomey, three awards and two badges.

Also, Ed Kluczewicz, two awards and two badges; Joe Misganski, two awards and one badge; Brian Motola, one award and four badges; Peter Stave, two awards; Mark Clevette, one award; Richard Webster, two badges; and Steve Small, one badge.

Organic Seminar

The third meeting of a four-part organic seminar, directed by Shirley Banks, will be Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Community Y, 80 N. Main St.

The guest speaker will be Mrs. Julie Havel of Coventry. She will discuss how one person can improve her environment through organic gardening. Specifically, she will talk about recycling waste matter into a compost pile for the garden, controlling garden pests with companion plantings, homemade sprays, correct plant varieties for the specific environment, use of trap crops, and observing the proper timing in relation to the natural life cycles of these pests.

Mrs. Havel, mother of two children, has a master of science degree in biology from the University of Connecticut. She is a member of the Biodynamic Farming and Gardening Association and the Natural Food Association.

For further information, call the Community Y, 498-5622.

Hebron Road Race Entries Taken to Post Time

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971

Entries are still being accepted for the third annual Five-Mile Hebron Road Race scheduled for Sunday and will be accepted until post time at 2 p.m. Last year, 71 runners completed in the cross country race which is sanctioned by the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union).

The race, which is sponsored by the Hebron Lions Club, will be run over the same course as the first two years. This includes Rt. 68, Rt. 85, Marjorie Circle, Grinnell Rd., Keeney Rd. and Millstream Rd. with the starting and finishing points on Rham Rd. at Rham High School, Rt. 316.

Plans for the race were completed at a recent meeting attended by Lions Club members, selectors, resident state trooper John Soderberg, town constables and members of the fire department.

Soderberg reports that Rt. 66 and Rt. 85 will be marked for no parking on the day of the race. However, parking will be available at the Hebron Congregational church, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, the Town-Office Building and at Rham High School.

The Lions Club plans a refreshment stand at the high school starting point with all proceeds being donated to the girls track team at the school.

Trophies will be presented at this starting point. These include first, second and third places as well as an open, master's division, first three-man team and women's division awards.

The race is open to runners 12 years of age and over and runners may register at Rham High School in the gymnasium on Sunday starting at 1 p.m.

Homemade Truck Will Fight Fires of Consumer Concern

BRUSH BUGGY — Valley Grove, W.Va., Fire Chief Carl Philabaum stands behind the novel fire truck made with local talent and money from a wrecked automobile.

Connecticut Department of Consumer Protection Terry Higgins, Director of Consumer Education

The Food and Drug Administration has proposed a regulation which would make it easier to identify a "brush buggy" fire truck. The number of infant deaths related to crib structure has alarmed government agencies and, of course, every parent.

Most of these deaths were due to strangulation or suffocation caused by the child's being wedged between the mattress and the crib frame or by the child's slipping through the vertical slats and being caught by the head.

Some other important papers surrounding a consumer complaint that we might need copies of before we could help would be: Purchase order, proof-of-payment forms, guarantees, warranties, and advertising.

Q. Recently I bought some imported, pre-packaged frozen fish. When I got home I noticed that the wrapping said 14 ounces, but the weight on the store label was 15 ounces. How can a store do this and what can I do about it?

A. Sometimes when weighing packaged meat, fish, or produce, a store employee will forget to subtract the tare weight (the weight of the container and wrapper). This is probably what happened in your case.

Every scale in a store is either automatically equipped to subtract the tare weight, or the employee will do it himself when weighing. Occasionally, especially in the area of pre-packaged frozen items, the employee forgets and includes the weight of the ice and the weight of the wrapper. This would account for the extra two ounces you've mentioned.

The best thing to have done would have been to return the package immediately to the store. If you had returned it and the store owner or manager gave you no satisfaction, that's when you should contact our Food Division. An inspector from our Food Division would investigate the complaint and charge you for the tare and most store owners are quite careful.

We welcome suggestions and questions. Write "Of Consumer Concern," Department of Consumer Protection, State Office Building, Hartford 06115.

VALLEY GROVE, W. Va. (AP) — Volunteer firemen in this Ohio County community have thrown cold water on the threat of rural fires, with construction of a "brush buggy" fire truck.

Thirty local men have transformed a wrecked 1966 Volkswagen into a pint-sized truck capable of supplying 15 full minutes of firefighting power.

Designed to help douse brush fires in the rural areas of this Northern Panhandle area, the bright red buggy will be used in places where Fire Chief Carl Philabaum doesn't dare take firemen to the scene of hillside enjoyment available through reading.

By employing a wide range of materials made possible through the grant award, together with a series of varying instructional activities, he said the program is intended to develop reading skills and to provide opportunities for successful expression.

Rham District Reading Grant

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971

A special supplementary "Right to Read" grant in the amount of $2,000 has been awarded to Rham High School by the Connecticut State Department of Education according to Dr. David Cattanchi, superintendent of schools.

The grant, funded under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, was awarded on the basis of a project application prepared by Mrs. Gloria Holbrook, reading consultant at Rham.

The $2,000 will be used for library books, periodicals and audio-visual media to establish a reading center program for junior high students experiencing reading difficulties.

Dr. Cattanchi said that the program is designed to stimulate reluctant readers into the discovery and the department's $30,000 full-sized fire truck.

Chief Philabaum says the buggy has maneuvered well during test runs in almost inaccessible areas of the county. He calls it a "mountain goat capable of handling just about every kind of ground."

The little machine has retained its sloped VW hood, frame and running gear, but little else. The doors were removed, fenders shaved, roll bar mounted and the rear bodywork replaced with a water tank and tools.

It carries hand tools, a first-aid kit and two back packs, plus room to transport at least four firemen to the scene of hillside blazes.

A mobile radio unit is also mounted on the buggy so fire crews can keep in touch with those at the station or receive first-aid instructions from local physicians.

Philabaum sees the buggy as a valuable tool. Much of the cleared farmland that years ago was not susceptible to fire has now grown up into brushland and poses a fire threat in dry weather.

The miniature firefighting machine has stirred up some interest around the area. While many areas have equipped four-wheel-drive vehicles with water tanks and pumping units, the little red brush buggy may be the first, miniaturized unit built with local talent and money.

Many Americans Facing Money Crisis

JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Based on recent consumer surveys, millions of Americans are undergoing even more painful money crises — not only in their pocketbooks but in their outlook on the economy — than had been apparent.

The developing situation could mean even more problems for the Nixon administration, which seeks to achieve economic equilibrium by subtle, long-range and fundamental changes than through the expedient of price controls.

A "precipitous decline" has been recorded in the consumer outlook by the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, which notes that optimism which grew during the first three quarters of 1972 has now been erased.

"Because of the increase in living costs," the latest SRC study found, "the proportion of families saying that they were worse off than before and expecting to be worse off, increased substantially."

The same survey found fears growing that inflation will accelerate and that unemployment will rise.

The confidence decline, a direct feedback from the soaring prices at retail outlets, comes at a time when many families are enjoying relatively substantial incomes and are equipped with strong buying power.

Thus, the various surveys are discovering, some families are building their savings accounts in anticipation of a recession while others are spending heavily in expectation of a continuation of inflation.

Albert Sindinger, head of Sindinger & Co., reports that he is hearing "greed amplified" on the seven-day-a-week surveys his researchers conduct by telephone from Swathmore, Pa. Sindinger's daily surveys are showing that "people are even hoarding gasoline," he says, "the proportion of people described how he had placed a 500-gallon tank of fuel at the rear of his garage."

The instance isn't isolated. Sindinger claims, adding: "Fire departments all over the country should be alerted."

The hoarding, he believes, is an activity mainly of a one-third segment of the population that is enjoying unparalleled prosperity. Some of them, he finds, are headed by union members with escalator clauses in their contracts.

There is an urgent need for a coach for Andover's Pony League, according to George Knox, baseball commissioner.

Boys, aged 12 and 13, have signed up to play and other teams from neighboring towns are waiting to put Andover's team on their schedule, Knox said.

However, if a coach is not found, these boys will not be able to play this year as they have in the past. Knox requests anyone who might be interested in the position to please contact him as soon as possible.

Most of these deaths were due to strangulation or suffocation caused by the child's being wedged between the mattress and the crib frame or by the child's slipping through the vertical slats and being caught by the head.

The proposed regulation would require that space between the vertical slats be not exceed 2 1/2 inches and would insure that there would be no excess space between the mattress and the side of the crib.

In addition, the regulation would require that cribs have safe locks for drop sides, that all mechanical hazards be eliminated, and establish specific tests to enable manufacturers to comply with these regulations.

The regulation would apply to full-size, portable and under-crate cribs.

Q. About three months ago I signed up for a training course. I signed a contract that gave the school a $200 deposit. In the contract, it said that if I changed my mind within three days and notify them by certified mail, I would get my $200 deposit back. I did decide against taking the course and sent them the letter within three days. I even have my certified mail receipt showing this. But, I have written and called the school at least ten times and get a run-around. Where do I go from here?

A. Write to our Fraud Division. Complaints to our Fraud Division have to be in writing. Also, and this is very important, send photo copies of all papers concerning the transaction. So many times, our investigation of a complaint is held up because we don't have the necessary material to work with. The magic word is effective.

Philabaum sees the buggy as a valuable tool. Much of the cleared farmland that years ago was not susceptible to fire has now grown up into brushland and poses a fire threat in dry weather.

The miniature firefighting machine has stirred up some interest around the state. While many areas have equipped four-wheel-drive vehicles with water tanks and pumping units to tackle rugged terrain, the little red brush buggy may be the first miniaturized unit built with local talent and money.

Some, he relates, are buying television sets and other heavy appliances and then leaving them in the packing cases until the time when they're needed.

The tremendous surge in automobile buying, which is setting records almost every week, is believed to be partially in anticipation of higher prices and costly pollution-control devices expected to be placed on cars in future years.

Already, Sindinger said, such buying has taken one million sales from next year's outlook.

The SEC also has found "a greatly increased proportion" of consumers who, despite financial doubts, believe it is a good time to buy cars, large household durables and houses "before prices go up."

Sindinger's daily surveys are showing that "people are even hoarding gasoline," he says, citing the fact that a man who described how he had placed a 500-gallon tank of fuel at the rear of his garage.

The instance isn't isolated, Sindinger claims, adding: "Fire departments all over the country should be alerted." The hoarding, he believes, is an activity mainly of a one-third segment of the population that is enjoying unparalleled prosperity. Some of them, he finds, are headed by union members with escalator clauses in their contracts.

Many Americans Facing Money Crisis

JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Based on recent consumer surveys, millions of Americans are undergoing even more painful money crises — not only in their pocketbooks but in their outlook on the economy — than had been apparent.

The developing situation could mean even more problems for the Nixon administration, which seeks to achieve economic equilibrium by subtle, long-range and fundamental changes than through the expedient of price controls.

A "precipitous decline" has been recorded in the consumer outlook by the Survey Research Center, University of Michigan, which notes that optimism which grew during the first three quarters of 1972 has now been erased.

"Because of the increase in living costs," the latest SEC study found, "the proportion of families saying that they were worse off than before and

expecting to be worse off, increased substantially.

The same survey found fears growing that inflation will accelerate and that unemployment will rise.

The confidence decline, a direct feedback from the soaring prices at retail outlets, comes at a time when many families are enjoying relatively substantial incomes and are equipped with strong buying power.

Thus, the various surveys are discovering, some families are holding their savings accounts in anticipation of a recession while others are spending heavily in expectation of a continuation of inflation.

Albert Sindinger, head of Sindinger & Co., reports that he is hearing "greatest amplified" on the seven-days-a-week surveys his researchers conduct by telephone from Swatmore, Pa. Convinced that the economy is out of control, says Sindinger, and fearing that the administration won't directly

Coach Sought

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 238-3971

There is an urgent need for a coach for Andover's Pony League, according to George Knox, baseball commissioner.

Boys, aged 12 and 13, have signed up to play and other teams from neighboring towns are waiting to put Andover's team on their schedule, Knox said.

However, if a coach is not found, these boys will not be able to play this year as they have in the past. Knox requests anyone who might be interested in the position to please contact him as soon as possible.

Review

The Community Club reports that there are still a few spots open for entertainers in its annual Review scheduled for May 18 at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Anyone interested in performing is asked to contact Mrs. George Munson, Hebron Ave. Garden Club.

The Andover Garden Club will meet Wednesday evening at 8 at the home of Mrs. Margaret Yeoman, Rt. 6. The program will be color slides of flowers to grow and arrange.

Sparky Lyde was the No. 1 stopper in the New York Yankee bullpen last year. This spring, he's given up three home runs in as many appearances, all of which sent the Yankees down to defeat. Lyde was injured playing basketball during the winter and wound up on crutches and then missed the early spring training during a holdout period which no doubt has cut down on his effectiveness... Milwaukee has been a tough park for the Yankees. The Brewers have won the last seven games between the two clubs at home over the past two seasons... Tom Seaver of the New York Mets is pitching better than ever but he's getting very little run production from his mates. The charges of Manager Yogi Berra are just not hitting to date.

Locktowners Top Rockville

Windsor Locks became the first club this season to get Rockville's number as the Locktowners blanked the Rams, 2-0, yesterday afternoon on tholesters' diamond. Both Central Valley Conference clubs scored identical 4-1 records. The victors picked up lone runs in each the first and fourth frames. A walk, a wild pitch and a single by Mike Basile drove in the first run. Doug Brough lined a triple in the fourth and scored on John Mitchell's suicide squeeze bunt for the second. John Mitchell picked up the win and whiffed 12 Ram batters.

Third Straight for Indians As Bidwell Pitches Shutout

By Dean Yost

Allowing only six hits and working out of trouble in the ninth inning, Manchester pitcher Dave Bidwell hurled the locals to a 3-0 triumph over Maloney High yesterday afternoon at Memorial Field.

The victory, Manchester's third of the young season against no losses, equals the Tribe's total output of a year ago when Coach Harold Parks' corps compiled 3-14 records. Raining since the opening pitch, play moved along briskly until the top of the fifth inning when the Spartans' Ed Hewitt laced a triple into the left-centerfield gap. Bidwell got out of the afternoon, a sharp single down the rightfield line to drive in both Sullivan and Eastman. Rick Milka scoreboard in the bottom of the sixth inning as they touched starter Bob Hewitt for all three runs on four hits. Ray Sullivan opened the frame with a single to center. Bruce Peck, who started his first varsity game, sacrificed Sullivan to second. Lyle Eastman's wicked line single off the mound put runners at first and second. Manchester's dynamic sophomore duo, Sullivan and Maloney, both collected two hits. Maloney, who has hit safely in all three games, lifted his batting average to an impressive .546, collecting six hits in 11 plate appearances. The winners displayed another mound ace as Bidwell went the route. He whiffed five and didn't walk a batter. In Maloney's ninth, Bidwell gave up a single to Bob Esau. Pinch hitter Skip Maninski lied to right for first out and Rich Carabatta grounded into a fielder's choice. With two outs, Ed Hewitt singled, for his second hit, and Al Polvani was hit by a pitch to load the sacks. Bidwell, bearing down, got his knuckleball over as Hewitt went down swinging to give the Indians the victory.

CHICAGO (AP) - The Chicago Black Hawks, in command with a 3-1 advantage, swoop in for the kill tonight against the reeling New York Rangers in the fifth game of their best-of-7 Stanley Cup semifinal series. The National Hockey League West champion Hawks, sailing into the series after a stinging 4-1 opening defeat, are in excellent position to avenge a four-game elimination last year by the Rangers in the semifinals. The Hawks and Rangers have marked time since last Thursday's 3-1 triumph by Chicago at New York, a four-day delay dictated by the NHL to permit the Montreal-Philadelphia semifinal series to catch up. Now it appears the Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens have a chance to tangle in the Cup finals beginning Sunday at Montreal. The NHL said the series would start then in Montreal if the Black Hawks and Canadiens wrap up their series by Thursday night. The Canadiens, like the Hawks, lost their semifinal opener to the Montreal Canadiens straight to set a possible clincher at Montreal tonight. Yanks Use Hart Transplant, Would-Be Doctor to Cure

In the only other American League game, the California Angels whipped the Oakland A's 4-0 while the Houston Astros blanked the San Diego Padres 2-0 in the only National League action. Yanks-Brewers Since the Yankees acquired Hart from the San Francisco Giants last week, the veteran 31-year-old slugger has rapped out eight hits in 13 at-bats - that's a .615 average - with five runs batted in. He singled home one of two fourth-inning runs off loser Bill Parsons and doubled home another three in the fifth. While Medich, a third-year medical student at the University of Pittsburgh, is studying toward a career in orthopedics, Hart is taking a cram course in AL pitchers. "In cold weather like this I get stiff not playing in the field," he said, "but I'm able to concentrate more on hitting. Being new to the league, it's helped me to be able to sit in the dugout and study the pitchers to learn something about them. It's helped my concentration on hitting, and maybe this (the designated hitter) rule can help me last three or four more years. I don't have to worry about fielding ground balls. I would like to play, naturally, but it would be kind of tough here with a ball of a player like Graig Nettles at third." Medich, a tall 24-year-old right-hander, held the Brewers to one hit and struck out six until the sixth inning, when Pedro Garcia and Bob Coluccio tagged him for solo homers. The 37-year-old McDaniel, a large police chief, was in the season, took over with two on and one out and blanked the Brewers six more of the way, fanning six rest.

Astros-Padres Still on a medical kick, the Astros ran their winning streak to eight hits and Doug Rader hit a two-run homer in the second inning. Loner Bill Greif had not allowed a run in 15 innings this season when he walked Jim Wynn with one out in the second and Rader, batting only .177, hammered his home run about halfway up the mezzanine section. The game was spiced by an apparent brushback duel between Greif and Greif in the fifth inning. Members of both teams poured onto the field but no punches were thrown.

Angels-A's Rudy May pitched a five-hitter and Frank Robinson delivered a two-run single to lead the Angels over the floundering world champion A's.

The Angels scored three times in the third inning in sending winless John "Blue Moon" Odom to his fourth defeat. For the Boston Red Sox and Claude Harmon, pro golfer and U.S. Master's champion. Celebrities who have already committed themselves to play Montgomery said, are former Boston Red Sox slugger Tony Conigliaro, forced to retire after an injury; pro golfer Julius Boros, formerly of Connecticut; Boston Red Sox pitching coach Lee Stange; Red Sox third baseman Rico Petricelli; 1973 Miss America Terry Ann Meewear; and Gov. Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut. Montgomery said a number of other sports figures had tentatively indicated they would play but he declined to identify them pending a firm commitment.

Travel Agent Licensing Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Rep. Ella Grasso, D-Conn., plans to introduce legislation in Congress that would require government licensing of travel agents.

Prompted by a recent incident involving 250 high school students, Mrs. Grasso said her proposed bill would require travel agents to register with the Department of Transportation beginning Jan. 1, 1974. The secretary of transportation would promulgate regulations for travel agents and each agency would have to certify its financial credibility. Transportation carriers would be prohibited from entering into contracts with travel agencies or agents not certified by the federal government.

Travelers must be protected from the inconvenience and great difficulties which result from a breach of contract such as occurred with the Pulaski and New Britain high school students, Mrs. Grasso said.

More than 30 New Britain students were among the 250 whose plans to visit France this month had to be canceled. British Air France airlines did not receive payment for reservations made through a New York City based travel agency.

District To Get Boat from Town

A seldom-used boat, town-owned and stored at the Manchester Police Station, is being transferred to the 8th District Firehouse. It will be used for rescue work at Union Pond and other places under the jurisdiction of the 8th District Fire Department.

The transfer followed a request for a boat by District Fire Chief Granville Lingard. The request came after 8th District firemen made two rescues at Union Pond, using a borrowed boat.

Zoning Change

(Continued from Page One) In a letter introduced at the public hearing, said that the traffic flow in the area would be improved by the market's plan to change parking lot entrances and exits.

Hutchinson questioned whether a man can be denied the opportunity to expand his business without good reason. He asked the commission if "stopping growth was what you want for the town?"

Hutchinson's motion to grant the zone change failed due to lack of a second.

The first store at the Highland Park site, at Highland and Wyllys Sts., was built sometime before 1958. It was a general store for area people and sold everything from anchors to buggy whips.

Devaney leased the market about 20 years ago and bought it four years later. Devaney had enlarged the old store from 900 to 3,750 square feet, and then to 4,500 square feet. He had plans to build a new addition, but in 1969 constructed the 8,000-square foot store instead.

Kendall Resigns School Board

John Kendall, a Republican member of the Board of Education, has resigned from the board as he will be moving to Lebanon next month.

Kendall has served on the board for three years. His term was to expire in 1974. A replacement for him will be recommended by the Republican Town Committee and approved by the board.

Still on the subject of boats, Weiss said the 1973-74 budget contains a $750 item for a 12-foot aluminum boat, motor and trailer. The boat would be for use at the town's reservoirs and for emergency use at other locations. It would be used by the Central Fire House. The proposed purchase, he explained, would replace an adequate boat owned by the water department.

Power Usage Growth Rate Will Decline

BOSTON (AP)—The amount of electric power usage will continue to climb in New England, but the rate of growth will decline from about 8 percent a year to a rate of 3.3 percent by the year 2000, according to a report issued by the New England Energy Policy Staff.

The report said a reduced population growth rate, more effective appliances and machinery and higher costs would limit demand for electricity in New England homes and industries.

After PZC members complete review of the proposals, the suggested amendments will be the subject of a public hearing.

Vandals Damage Coin Light Boxes At Play Courts

Manchester Police report that the coin boxes which operate the lights at the basketball and tennis courts at Charter Oak Park and the tennis courts on E. Center St. were damaged by vandals.

Police said that approximately $20 in quarters was taken from the boxes at Charter Oak Park. It is not known if any money was taken from the E. Center St. boxes, but Mel Siebold, director of the recreation department, reports damage to the boxes.

Siebold further stated that the courts would be closed to night play until the boxes could be replaced.

Police said that anyone with information pertaining to the incidents contact the Police Department.

School Board Plans To Formulate Vandalism Policy

After discussion of a letter from Mayor Frank McCoy concerning procedures to be taken if a public building is vandalized, the Board of Education last night decided to have the administration draw up a policy of its own.

The mayor's letter called for clarification of procedures to be used when a public building is damaged. He said any incident of vandalism should be made a matter of record by the department involved and should be reported to the Vernon police for investigation.

Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, said he has always followed this procedure.

In incidents where the police identify the culprit, the mayor asks for a follow through with the police notifying both the investigating department and the town attorney. Dr. Ramsdell said in most cases where the culprit has been discovered, the administrators has been able to deal with the problem themselves.

The mayor's letter also asks that in cases where the culprit is identified prior to or without police investigation that the information be forwarded to the town attorney. Dr. Ramsdell said this has not been done because it wasn't felt it was necessary.

Referring to a suggestion of the mayor that estimates of cost of repair be available for the police and the town attorney, Dr. Ramsdell said that has always been figured for parental consideration and it hasn't, in most cases, been necessary to involve the police or town attorney.

Board member Robert Dufosse reiterated a statement he made previously that he did not think the mayor's request was proper in that the Board of Education is not a department of the town. He said he strongly objects to the mayor looking on the board as such.

"I'm not necessarily against the suggestions the mayor made but I do object to the continued approach he takes that we are a department of the town which we are not," Dufosse said. He added that he would choose to ignore the letter.

Board member Maurice Miller, suggested that rather than ignore it perhaps a different approach should be taken. He said maybe it's time the board did formulate a policy. He said, "After all we do look to the police department for help."

Another board member, Mrs. Marie Herbst, said although damage of a school book would be considered vandalism, she did not feel the town attorney would want to be bothered with this. She agreed that a policy is needed, however.

Steve Marchant said he would be against codifying too strictly adding that any policy he would vote for would have to include the words, "At the discretion of the administration."

The three administrators, Dr. Ramsdell, Dr. Robert Linstone and Albert Korzik said they will have a policy ready for consideration at the next meeting of the board.

Ellsberg Tactics Criticized

STORRS (AP)—Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg is using legal defenses reminiscent of "the dragon that ate its tail," Jesuit priest and anti-war activist Daniel Berrigan said Monday.

Berrigan, speaking in a question-and-answer session at the University of Connecticut, said he was displeased by Ellsberg's use of government officials at his trial in an effort to show that the papers were not of critical importance.

"Berrigan, who served a prison term in connection with the destruction of draft records in 1968 at Calverville, Md., was at 10:30 a.m. to read his own poetry and present awards to two poetry contest winners.

He slipped that the poetry he wrote in prison had been composed "under a government grant."

Brennan is Marshal... WASHINGTON (AP)—Peter J. Brennan, the pistol-packing secretary of labor, has been sworn in as a deputy U.S. marshal so he can carry a gun across state lines.

Justice Department spokesman, acknowledging this Tuesday, said Brennan has all the enforcement rights of a deputy marshal, meaning he is empowered to make arrests and transport federal prisoners.

Of course, he won't do that, "because he's busy in the Labor Department."

But with his new title and authority, Brennan will be able to carry a pistol from one state to another.

French Tax Roar... ROISSY, France (AP)—The French are boiling Europe's largest airport in this flatlands of beet fields and peaceful villages near Paris. If you pass through on vacation, you'll have to pay a tax to protect the villagers from jet roar.

A government decree, said by officials to be the first for a major airport anywhere in the world, provides for the tax on every departing passenger to help pay for relocating people who don't want to live near the airport or for soundproofing the homes of those who want to stay.

The government imposed the tax because of pressure from groups in the Rolsay area and in Villeneuve le Rot, a town at the end of the main runway at Orly Airport south of Paris.

Right To Die... HARTFORD (AP)—Leaders of the Connecticut State Medical Society have recommended that people in good health be allowed to write a bill of rights for themselves in the event they contract a terminal disease.

The society's governing House of Delegates approved a resolution Tuesday suggesting that a healthy person be entitled to sign a statement asking not to be kept alive by "artificial means or heroic measures" in the event he contracted a terminal physical, mental or spiritual disease and was unable to make decisions about his own future.

Cummings Sees Town Government Changing Form... SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

To Democratic Town Chairman Cummings, it is inevitable that there will be a change in Manchester's form of government in the next few years.

"I'm not advocating it," said Cummings today, "but it may just happen, and we've got to be ready for it."

The change, as he sees it, will be in the council-manager form of government or to a new form entirely, possibly the strong-mayor government.

Jobless Pay Bill Sparks Debate... HARTFORD (AP)—A proposal to change employment requirements for unemployment compensation eligibility has sparked a new debate on the unemployment issue between House Democrats and Republicans.

House Minority Leader Carl R. Allen, D-Ansonia, claimed the bill came up for discussion Tuesday that it was "part of a systematic and progressive scheme" by the majority Republicans "to make more difficult to collect unemployment compensation."

Ajello and other Democrats blasted GOP philosophies for the Republicans' supposed efforts to force the unemployment rolls as short as possible.

But House Majority Leader Gerald P. Stevens, R-Milford, declared that "a person who lives off his unemployment compensation is not much different from a person who lives off welfare."

Drug Education... NEW YORK (AP)—Health Services Administrator Gordon Chase and Seelig Lester, deputy superintendent of the Board of Education, on Tuesday said that drug prevention programs in high schools have been ineffective.
