Sanitarian Describes Paper Pickup

BETTY RYDER (Herald Reporter) Curbside collection of newspapers for recycling and the most effective methods used were discussed Monday night at the Manchester Conservation meeting.

Guest speaker Philip Block, registered sanitarian with the Wethersfield Health Department, commented on the collection methods in area towns, namely, Rocky Hill, West Hartford, Glastonbury, Wethersfield and Bloomfield.

He placed special emphasis on the need for publicity, convenience and reliability, so that residents would know just when newspapers would be collected in their respective areas.

Block added, "Don't clap, recycle." Dr. Spaulding reported on the Case Mt. project and said representatives of the House and Urban Development Committee (HUD) had been out to view the property, and felt the whole project would still take 4 to 6 months to finalize.

PHONY FINESSE DECEIVES DEFENDER
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South can make four spades by straightforward play, but he must be fairly careful about it. Instead, he executed a swindle. This was much easier and also much more satisfactory. Most players would rather steal a trick than earn one!

South dealer
North-South vulnerable
Opening lead — Two of Spades

West opened the deuce of spades and dummy won the jack. Declarer promptly led the jack of hearts from dummy and East casually played low on the assumption that South was planning a finesse.

This was, of course, exactly what South was hoping for. He won with the singleton king of hearts, cashed the top clubs, ruffed a club with dummy's low trump and could return to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to ruff his last club with dummy's high trump.

Additional Advantage
As a practical matter, this type of phony finesse will succeed more often when dummy has only three or four cards in the suit. Then the singleton king is not likely to be suspected. An additional advantage of executing the swindle is that your opponent feels so foolish that you may get away with murder on the next few hands also.

Just in case you're wondering about the straightforward play, here it is. Win the first trump in the South hand and lead the king of hearts. East wins and returns a trump to dummy's jack. Ruff a heart, lead to the king of clubs and ruff another heart.

When the queen of hearts drops, take the ace of clubs, ruff a club and lead the king of hearts to discard your last club. Lead the last heart, forcing East to ruff. The best play now is to discard a diamond instead of overruffing. East must lead diamonds, and the rest is very easy.

Q. We are planning to have our house resingled but, after listening to some of the bad experiences of friends, we're a little leary. How can we be sure that we are dealing with a reputable concern?

A. Probably the cardinal rule in assessing home improvement contractors is "Don't be taken in by promises of guaranteed performance, quick jobs, or bargain prices." The results may be repairs to nonexistent leaks in your roof or, in other cases, driveways repaired with never-drying material, poor quality workmanship, or general household repairs never authorized.

The first step is to get estimates in writing from several contractors. Check the reliability of the contractor you want to use with local merchants and others for whom he has done work.

Once you choose a contractor, make sure your contract is dated and in writing. The contract should carefully and completely spell out the description of the work to be done and include both the starting and completion dates. Make sure the contract contains a clause stating exactly what your rights are if the job is not done on time. No reputable home improvement contractor expects you to pay for a job that isn't finished.

Be wary of the salesman or contractor who asks you to pay in advance, or to pay cash. Usually, you will pay by check or money order on completion, or in installments according to your contract.

Don't sign a completion certificate unless the work is completed to your satisfaction. Your contract should provide for your paying only after you have signed the completion certificate. This way you'll be sure that you won't have to pay for inferior work.

Also be certain that the contractor will clean up when the job is finished.

If you have a guarantee, be sure that it spells out details clearly. Know exactly what is being guaranteed and for how long. The guarantee should be in writing and both your contract and guarantee should include any verbal promises made to you by the salesman or contractor.

If you need to borrow money to pay for the work, check first with your bank or other reputable financing agencies before you contract for the work to be done. Be sure that you can easily borrow money with reasonable interest charges.

If you have any questions about your contract, discuss them with an attorney.

If you change your mind after you sign a contract, you have 72 hours to cancel if you notify the concern by certified mail within this three-day period. This applies only to contracts signed in your home.

Agency Issues Resource Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial theory that resources shortages may actually threaten modern civilization Tuesday won official support from a U.S. government agency for the first time.

In the first comprehensive survey of U.S. mineral resources since 1952, the U.S. Geological Survey warned that "not merely (U.S.) affluence, but world civilization" are "in jeopardy."

The Geological Survey published a 722-page, item-by-item analysis of U.S. supply and demand in 64 mineral resources and warned that many of them are, or will be, in short supply. A study prepared at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology two years ago, called "The Limits To Growth," warned that modern civilization would overshoot the world's ability to sustain it, and would collapse unless industrial growth and industrial production are soon curtailed. A similar view was expressed by British scientists in a paper called "Blueprint for Survival."

The new Geological Survey study, which set itself the task of gauging the adequacy of mineral supplies for the future, but such ideas have been criticized by others, including public officials, who charged that the gloomy projections were based on inadequate data and shaky assumptions.

Israel A Fact of Life

The State of Israel exists. This week the nation marked its 25th anniversary of independence with joy, prayer and a mighty display of its military might.

What had been a symbolic hope of Hebrews for countless generations is a reality. There is a Jewish homeland.

As its first 25 years was marked with all the turmoils of war and the other disciplines needed for survival, the next promise more of the same, for while Israel does exist and is recognized by most of the nations of the world as a reality its hostile Arab neighbors, especially the extremist elements within their ranks, do not and the vow made 25 years ago to drive Israel into the sea has not been forgotten.

While it is not a true parallel, it did take the United States almost as long to recognize it could no longer deny existence of 300 million mainland communist Chinese. It would be our hope that the influences of moderation in the Arab world too, and hopefully soon, would be able to persuade their peoples that Israel does exist, fully intends to continue to exist, and driving it into the sea is no longer possible nor desirable.

The Mideast is not only the cradle of the world's three major religions but could well become the cradle of an enduring lasting world peace.

The Israelis have proven that through technology deserts can be made to bloom again. Arab nations, once near poverty, now have the wealth of the world's largest proven oil reserves upon which they too could improve the lot of their people.

But this can only come if and when the Arab world recognizes what the rest of the world already has learned that Israel exists and is here to stay.

Once this hurdle is cleared, then and only then, can the resources and ingenuity of the Mideast be directed to the great task of building a social, political and economic structure which will benefit all.

After all, Arab and Jew alike, share a common heritage and it is folly that this great heritage of man's divine origin cannot be re-established in a climate of harmony and peace and achieve what the Creator promised his mankind—peace in a land of milk and honey.

Connally Makes It Official

John Connally has left the Democratic party, which elected him governor of Texas, to become a Republican in a masterpiece of anticlimactic timing that ended months of mild speculation.

Connally, friend and adviser to Presidents Johnson, Kennedy and Nixon, when he made his switch to allegiance official explained that the Democratic party he had supported all his life "has moved so far left that it has left the majority of Americans who occupy the great middle ground of political thought in this country."

Connally said he sought no elective or appointive political office but skirted the question of whether he would seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1976.

Democrats discounted his defection as having been coming a long time. Republicans welcomed Connally. Senator John G. Tower of Texas said his timing "demonstrates the sincerity of his commitments" and urged other Democrats to follow his example.

ple in "a realistic political realignment."

Senator Robert Dole of Kansas said "he can be of enormous help to our party in this time of adversity."

A porteege of Lyndon Johnson, Connally maintained his Democratic allegiance during his service as President Nixon's treasury secretary. Nixon has proclaimed his admiration for Connally and doubtless would be happy to have Connally undertake another post in his government. Nixon naturally was pleased by Connally's announcement which came after he had telephoned the President.

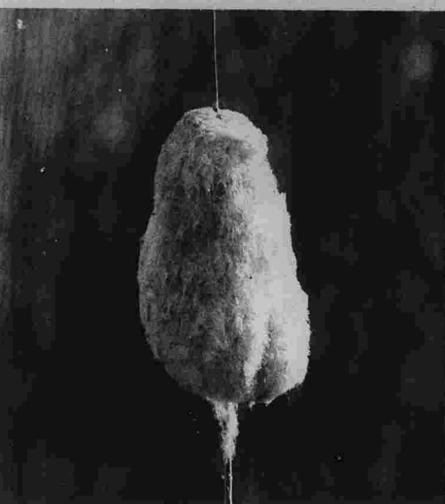

Vice President Agnew and Senator Percy of Illinois, who have been mentioned as possible candidates for the nomination to succeed President Nixon, expressed their gratification at Connally's entry into the party, although he may challenge them for the nomination.

For the present, Connally has indicated he would prefer to remain outside the administration, but, if pressed by Nixon, he probably would accept another appointment.

SURE IT'S NICE? BUT! I DIDN'T KNOW YOU HAD A "FLOAT" THAT WOULD FLOAT!

Political Theater

LOS ANGELES—No wonder the Broadway theater, poor devil, is dying of playwright anemia. How could it possibly compete with the gaudier, bloodier and more rambunctious political theater playing to full houses out of Washington and, in consequence, in Los Angeles at the Daniel Ellsberg trial, which has become "tainted" with Watergate.

Consider the cast of characters. The President's former close adviser and attorney general. His two White House chiefs of staff. Not since Hamlet's Rosenbergs and Guildeustens has a pair of twins with Teutonic names achieved such fame as hapless satellites to a prince. His former White House counsel and personal counsel. A number of campaign staff, including a former secretary of commerce. A quintet of field operators, caught red-handed and convicted. A still untold number of assorted marginals whose tribe is bound to increase as the bounds of justice follow the spor.

Add the witnesses called for testimony or depositions, including one of the authentic originals of our time: the wife of the former attorney general. And the chief defendant in the Pentagon Papers trial, and his psychiatrist whose files were rifled. And, of course, for whatever role he played, the President himself.

This is political theater, never doubt it. Since it involves characters, plots, subplots, coverup, discovery, unfolding suspense, tension. All the ingredients are there. But what kind of political theater is it? Not Bertolt Brecht or Peter Weiss, since it doesn't involve class struggle and the proletariat. I wish some American playwright would take it on, but who could do it? Philip Roth and Gore Vidal, who have done some sorties into the Nixon follies, would make a caricature of it, which would be a disaster since it is already close to a caricature of itself. Should it be played for realism or suspense, tragedy or farce? Not realism, since it is surrealistic. Not suspense, since we will, in time, know pretty much what happened, but not the true motives — not a whodunit but a whyunit. It is too farcical to be all tragedy, especially the antics of the "plumbers" and the FBI, which come right out of the Keystone cops-and-robbers slapstick. And it is too tragic to be all caper and farce.

Basically it belongs with the ironic political vision of Albert Camus or Friedrich Durren-mat, written with a sense of distance from its action and characters, and with the kind of feel Camus had for the absurd moral contradictions of power and history. If I were a playwright, I would set it not in American today but in a distant country and place, with a counterpart of knaves and fools, and with an almost tragic price, at once betrayed and himself tainted.

For whether there is blame or responsibility he must bear, guilt or not, the central character is Richard Nixon. It is he who gives the whole play its tragic quality. The action is not by him but about him. There is little of the tragic, only the pathetic, in the assorted characters who planned and plotted and tried to cover up. To see how much of a fall there will be, we must await the further unfoldings. But who can feel the tragic quality "has far" The flawed, contradictory personality is there, and so is the grand aim (as witness the summaries in the State of the Union draft on foreign policy).

Hi Neighbor

Tours of The Herald by school and scout groups have been extremely popular, so much so that May at times has been hectic. We have about all the tours we can handle for the remainder of the month so that will probably be it until fall.

Tuesday, Manchester will host the spring meeting of the Connecticut Circuit of The Associated Press which will probably bring a few dollars to town. Manchester last hosted an AP meeting some 14 years ago when Tom Ferguson, former Herald publisher, was president of the group.

AP members will tour The Herald prior to the business meeting at the Country Club.

Following sports these days seems a monumental task and we can sympathize with the problems of our sports editor, Earl Yos.

It seems the seasons of professional sports get longer and longer; we are certain it isn't just that the days are getting shorter as we get older. The long seasons, it seem to us, would eventually raise havoc with even the most die-hard fan.

On the local scene, as Earl has pointed out, Manchester is very much alive with a jam-packed schedule of sporting events.

Sunday, we pay tribute to mother. I guess it is fitting that we set aside one day each year to honor mom, and another to honor dad, because we busy Americans couldn't find the time to pay them the recognition they deserve each day.

Mom used to say it isn't the gift that's important, it is the recognition.

Sen. Abe Ribicoff assured us that five speeches a day isn't a record for him when he made his fourth engagement of the day at the dinner meeting of the Manchester Democrats Saturday.

"I think the record is 10 but I don't remember for certain," commented Ribicoff.

The Democratic program contained this inspirational message which is worth sharing: We must live together as brothers or perish together as fools.

Amn.

We are somewhat amazed at the 19 clergymen who boycotted Gov. Thomas Meskill's prayer breakfast in Waterbury because his administration cut back funds for welfare, the elderly, and Southbury Training School for the mentally retarded.

It seems to us the clergy should be the first to set an example when it comes to possible frank discussions of problems that might lead to better understanding.

If no longer wish to break bread together, how can we hope to find a solution to any problem?

Only time will tell the effect of the Watergate scandal on the American political system.

One sad note. Such duties as the quest for peace, control of inflation, reduction of nuclear arms, lowering of U.S. troops abroad, providing jobs for those able to work and generous help for those who cannot, these have all taken a back seat to Watergate. We hope Congress and the administration will get to the problems at hand shortly.

If you are ever in need of a talented piano player we suggest Richard Clark, the executive vice president of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce. You would probably have to be a member of the Chamber though before Clark would perform.

However, Clark has many talents. He is a young, dynamic leader, and Manchester is indeed fortunate to have him.

Downtown Meriden had a shopper promotion awhile back in which free dollar bills were given away to lucky shoppers. The names of the lucky winners, which were apparently drawn in advance of the promotion, were attached to the dollar bills and then fastened on the window of the various stores.

It got us to thinking that one of the tried and tested promotions down through the years has been old fashioned dollar days. Many communities still stage the dollar day event and it draws customers even though the old buck doesn't buy what it used to.

While most Americans were turning their clocks ahead the last Sunday of April for daylight saving time, the residents of two states continued to ignore the change.

In true American style, Hawaii and Arizona, are the last complete holdouts against the time change. In Indiana and Michigan, on the border between Central and Eastern time, the time change situation varies among counties.

We like daylight time, in fact we would like to see it the year around. By the same token though we can't find fault with Hawaii and Arizona for not wishing to conform.

Here's something you may not have been aware of: The Federal Office of Revenue Sharing has issued planned use report forms to all local governments receiving federal revenue sharing funds.

The forms must be completed and filed with the Office of Revenue Sharing by June 30, 1973. They must also be published in a locally published newspaper prior to that date.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association the other day released some of the findings of the first national newspaper readership survey ever made. The survey comprised 200 geographic areas representative of 48 contiguous U.S. states and consisted of household interviews.

Sewer Assessment Appealed by Carons

Richard and Gisele Caron of Legion Dr., Vernon, have filed an appeal in the Tolland County Court of Common Pleas from an assessment of benefits imposed by the Sewer Authority.

The couple was informed by Benedict Joy, the town assessor, that their share of the assessment for installation of the Vernon Center Heights, Cold Spring Dr. and Regan Rd., sewer projects would be $3,437.75. The letter was dated April 3 and the assessment is due and payable on June 1.

The ordinance establishing the method of assessment for sewer line extension provides that the full amount of this assessment is payable within 60 days of the due date. However, property owners are given the option of paying the amount over a 15-year period, in 16 installments.

Those planning to use the extended payment method must notify the tax collector within 30 days of the June 1 date. If that plan is accepted the installments will become due March 1 and will carry a five per cent yearly interest charge on the total unpaid balance.

The Carons claim the assessment of benefits against them is illegal and improper in that the amount of the assessment is greater than the amount of special benefits actually accruing to them.

The plaintiffs are asking that the assessment be set aside or, if no legal cause for that action can be established, then the benefits be reassessed and each other relief as is proper be given to them.

Pollution Threatens Many Scenic Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the nation's most scenic areas are becoming polluted, the Environmental Protection Agency says.

In a report, the EPA said long-term increases of airborne dust and smoke, from 1960 to 1971, were reported at the Grand Canyon in Arizona and Cape Hatteras in North Carolina.

Recent upturns in pollution from 1968 to 1971 were reported in Glacier National Park, Mont., and Black Hills National Monument, S.D.

About half of the regions reported by EPA showed a general decrease of sulfur oxides and particulate matter (dust and smoke) in the air. But 27 out of the 200 areas checked showed an upturn in pollution during the last three years of the study.

According to the report, 76 out of 172 urban areas, or 44 per cent, showed downward trends of particulate matter; 84, or 29 per cent, showed no substantial change, and only 12, or 7 per cent, showed upward trends.

HOME IS A CASTLE
CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—With a turret tower, Mrs. Sam Wilson Jr.'s home looks like a castle.

She said the tower was built in honor of her late husband and his family, and that the idea of building it came when she traveled to England and visited the castle that she said belonged to her late husband's ancestors.

The turret tower, which is 20 feet in diameter, houses her collection of china and silver.

Penn Central Proposal Could Cost $1 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trustees of the financially strapped Penn Central Transportation Co. agreed Tuesday that if the railroad is to be reorganized into a "viable" company the federal government must put in between $500 million to $1 billion.

Testifying before the House Transportation and Aeronautics subcommittee, the trustees said the general principles advanced by the Interstate Commerce Commission "more nearly than any other" would produce a good, long-term solution.

The trustees said they agreed with the ICC that in order to prevent the crises which occurred in the last three years for Penn Central "financial assistance on an interim basis, will be needed while the restructuring of the system is being achieved."

"As the commission observed, sums will have to be provided to assure that creditors' rights are not constitutionally impaired by a continuing cash drain," the trustees said in a joint statement.

The trustees are Jervis Langdon Jr., George P. Baker and Richard C. Bond.

The trustees stressed the urgency for a prompt congressional decision on Penn Central. They noted that they have been ordered by the Bankruptcy Court to report July 2 whether action by the Congress makes a plan of reorganization feasible, and if not, to submit proposals for liquidation or other disposition of the enterprise.

"Our advice to the court will be guided in large part by the reaction between now and then of the federal government to our situation," they said.

"The problem may be simply stated: Most of Penn Central's services are essential to the national interest," they said.

It said that would be replaced by Brig. Gen. Benjamin Peled, his second in command for several years.

A military spokesman said he could not confirm the report.

2,000-Unit Development Explained

A proposed 70-acre planned unit development (PUD) on a 100-acre parcel in Tolland, Conn., could be built under present regulations, with a zone change, according to Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman Douglas Prior.

Addressing about 100 residents at an informal hearing Monday night on preliminary plans for the PUD, Prior said, "We are all here to learn something about the plan."

He noted the PZC presented its regulations for single dwellings, apartments and commercial, and that specific PUD regulations are included in the zoning regulations now being drawn up.

Prior turned the meeting over to the Design Group I team, architects for landowner Stephen Neborsky. Stressing that the plan is preliminary, and that they are seeking suggestions from residents, the architects had a sophisticated presentation including slides, charts, maps of soil conditions, streambeds and slopes.

The plans show a total of 2,000 units including 100 rental units for the elderly, 100 general apartment units, 600 garden apartments, 800 attached single family dwellings (condominiums), and 300 single-family homes. The buildings would be spread over a ten-year period with 300 units the first three years, 325 the next three years, and 1,195 units the following four years.

Also included is a golf course and open spaces with five recreation areas, a "village green" with space for a church, shopping, offices and a school. The "green" would be located at the intersection of Buff Cap and Slater Rds.

Design Group I spokesmen claim the town would eventually realize an annual $254,650 revenue from the development, compared to a subdivision of 500 homes which, according to their computations, would result in an annual deficit of $81,000.

The computations used to arrive at the PUD surplus were as follows: Income to town of $1,793,850 (revenue from units, $1,638,500; commercial, $75,000; car taxes, $80,250) and cost to town of $1,539,200 (school expenses, $1,109,400 for 1,849 children; non-school costs, $336,800; capital facilities, $89,000).

According to group's figures, a 500-home subdivision, at an average value of $40,000 would bring $600,000 income to the town with $30,000 added for car tax income, while expenses would be $774,000 for school expenses, $387,000 for non-school, and $30,000 for capital facilities.

of this PUD with "current-type" development, it was stated that only 16,000 lineal feet of roads would be required versus 38,000 feet in a standard subdivision.

According to the developer's traffic survey, the total number of cars at peak hours would range from 100 the first year to 1,700 the tenth year. Approximately 80% of the cars would be traveling on Buff Cap Rd.

Some preliminary waste disposal systems have been looked into. According to Design Group I, a sewage treatment plant could be built by the developer near the Williamantic River and sewage transported from the PUD through a collection system. People on-site could also tap into the system. Also noted as possibilities were use of the Stafford Springs treatment plant and a self-contained system.

In general the townspeople listened to the proposal politely before voicing many complaints, challenges and questions. Tax Assessor Edith Knight said that while the presentation including slides, charts, maps of soil conditions, streambeds and slopes.

It is pertinent to add that when the initial excerpts from the book were released, Elliott's three brothers and his sister said they "feel we must disassociate ourselves completely from this book."

There had been discreetly oblique disclosures earlier that the President had engaged in an affair with Lucy Mercer, once his wife's part-time social secretary. Elliott goes further in (a) telling about his mother's ultimatum that the affair must stop, and (b) making the point that his father had a close relationship with his secretary and "unofficial White House hostess," Marquerite (Missy) LeHand.

Foot Health Week

Foot Health Week, an annual observance sponsored by Hartford County Podiatry Society, begins today through Monday, May 15.

Its purpose is simple, yet more important than many people realize. It is a time when foot specialists again remind Americans that foot problems are among our most common ailments, caused, in most cases, by neglect.

Dr. Steven Hochlander, president of the Hartford County Podiatry Society, stated that age is no factor in foot disorders.

"For children foot care is extremely important to ensure normal development," he said. "adults will find work efficiency rising as food discomfort decreases, and elderly people need healthy feet to remain independent and ambulatory," he said.

He also stated that Foot Health Week aims to attract qualified young men and women to careers in podiatric medicine, stating that the need for podiatric care is great, along with the rewards.

"There is more to foot health than is generally known," he stated. "Dry skin, discoloration or brittle nails, for example, can often be a warning of diabetes, peripheral vascular, and related circulatory or degenerative diseases." He stressed that podiatrists are trained to diagnose such conditions and, as members of the health care team, make referrals to other health specialists for treatment when signs of general bodily disorders appear in the feet.

"Foot care ranks as an important part of a family's health care program," he said, "and it's the best precaution for the pain and disability which foot disorders can cause."

legislation parallels the federal act.

Killian also stressed the importance of proposed legislation which would enable his office to subpoena records and information in authorized hearing. It would also permit the issuance of questions to suppliers and stipulates that the information obtained can be shared with other states and also the federal government.

He commented that at present any problems or information concerning the industry to get in touch with him.

Meskill Takes Lead In Program For Mentally Retarded

HARTFORD (AP) — The administration of Gov. Thomas J. Meskill stepped forward Tuesday to take the lead in improving the lot of the mentally retarded — just as the legislature was about to take matters into its own hands.

The day before a legislative inquiry is to begin at the Mansfield Training School, the governor released $1.5 million for 25 community-based homes for Mansfield residents, unveiled a 21-month study of long range goals for the mentally retarded and promised more action by his administration.

Burials

Thompson instructed the subcommittee to confer with Frederick Lowe, president of Manchester Community College, to determine how best to involve the college in the scope of the study.

In cautioning the town manager and the cemetery superintendent against enforcing new rules for the cemeteries, the directors acknowledged the concern of veterans groups.

The board had tabled action on the new rules, pending a meeting with the veterans groups, funeral directors, and members of the Protestant clergy.

However, a group of veteran group officials appeared at last night's Board meeting and claimed that Cemetery Superintendent Robert Harrison, with the approval of Town Manager Robert Weiss, already has instituted a rule requiring flush-with-the-ground markers on all graves in the new section of the cemetery reserved for veterans. The veterans are objecting to the rule. They are objecting also to a proposal for double-depth graves.

They claim the cemetery department already has installed six flush-with-the-ground stones and has made several burials in double-depth graves. The veterans groups want their members to have a choice between upright markers and flush stones.

The directors instructed the cemetery department to notify all those involved in burials that the question of flat stones versus upright markers is not resolved. They agreed it is a Board decision to make and will be made after a meeting with all interested parties.

Thomas, Kennedy Answer MPOA Ad

Atty. Allan Thomas, chairman of the Manchester Board of Education, and Dr. James Kennedy, superintendent of schools, have issued a statement in response to an advertisement published in The Herald last Saturday.

The advertisement, paid for by the Manchester Property Owners Association, which appeared in The Herald last Saturday.

"While we join with the property owners in their goal of clearer accountability for the funding of education," the Thomas-Kennedy statement said, "there are several statements and implications in the ad which in our judgment need clarification."

The Thomas-Kennedy statement reads:

"First, no new principal or vice principal positions have been added to this school system, nor are any positions of this type requested in the 1973 budget. Our change in budget format, which has as its goal better accountability, does not change the number of people's time to the proper categories. In the 1973 budget, personnel who spent the major portion of their time teaching did not have some administrative responsibilities were listed in the budget account. In the 1973 budget, the positions are correctly charged for the percentage of time the people spend in either teaching or administration.

Cab Ride Expensive For Dutch Visitors

Two visitors from the Netherlands have arrived for a four-week stay in Manchester, but not without some traveling problems.

Mrs. Maria Timmers and her daughter, Mrs. Netty Boormann, arrived in Manchester at about 1 a.m. Tuesday, after a two-hour trip to Manchester.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were waiting at Bradley International Airport, where the visitors were expected to arrive at 9:30 p.m. Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were unable to determine where the two women were, and when they returned to their Manchester home at 1 a.m. they found their visitors "freezing" on the front porch.

The Dutch visitors, who don't speak English, were deceived by the unidentified cab driver, who drove around for more than an hour before making the two-hour trip to Manchester.

Mrs. Hayes was critical of the cab driver, who took advantage of the confusion of his passengers.

Mrs. Timmers and Mrs. Boormann will be staying in home at 1 a.m. they found their visitors "freezing" on the front porch.

The problems for the two women started in New York when they learned that they would have to transfer from one airline terminal to another to catch a plane to Bradley International Airport at Windsor Locks.

After they got a cab, the driver went to a terminal building, told them he checked on their flight, and then told them there were no more flights to the Hartford area.

"As far as I'm concerned, Bob Digan is the best thing that ever happened to Manchester in terms of its youth," said Agostinelli Monday.

"This is a special gift to our community — care, support and pride in its young people," Agostinelli added. "It's his job, but he's made it much more."

In addition to an evening of honor, it will be one of humor also, with the guest of honor in for some roasting.

The start of regular season play for the Andover Little League last week saw the Mets emerge as victors with a 7 to 5 win over the Yankees and the Red Sox and Giants playing to a 5 to 5 tie.

Winning pitcher for the Mets was Ray Cody who was backed by a three-run triple by Leslie Standish and three hits each by Peter Maneggia and Grady Horton. Bob Heen and Tim Tiemann led the batting for the Yankees with two hits each.

In the tie between the Red Sox and the Giants, each team got four hits with David Jeannotte and Jay Collins having extra base hits.

There are five teams competing this year in the league which is under the coordination of George Knox. Knox also serves as treasurer and Mrs. Knox as secretary and field coordinator.

Playing for the Tigers, which are coached by Jim Bunker, are Ricky Bunker, Craig Duprey, Jay Hegener, Michael Knox, Paul Knox, David Knox, Richard Lee, Chuck Michalski, Sean McNamara, Arvo Sismetti and Robert Weingart.

On the roster of the Giants, who are coached by Jim Hurst, are Steven Boucar, Victor Brown, Ray Collin, Garland Conrad, Donald Dresser, Glen Fournier, Tom Hurst, David Jeannotte, John Sheehan and John Ledford.

Players for the Red Sox, coached by Dick Krewson, are Mike Burnett, Ricky Gardner, Scott Harrison, Roger Harrison, James Kliffitt, Tod Krewson, Gary Krewson, Diane Peterson, David Peterson, Clay Sides and Ricky Violette.

Coach Bob Ellis of the Mets has on his squad Darrell Carr, Ray Cody, Ronald Cody, Mike Dreyer, Stephen Ellis, John Fisher, Michael Fisher, Grady Horton, Leslie Standish, Peter Maneggia and Tim Tabor.

And the Yankees, coached by Ray Champ, have on their roster Kevin Champ, Scott Duchesneau, Glenn Graham, Paul Goodier, Carl Haveri, Bob Heen, Mike Misse, Rick Trzcinski, Tim Tiemann, Billy Tiemann and Dan Tiemann.

All games begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. at the Andover Elementary School with the schedule calling for 20 games.

MANY PUSHUPS

MILLARD, Neb. (AP) — James Ullrich wanted to accomplish something special before he reached 20, so he began practicing one-handed pushups.

Ullrich, soon to be 20, is able to do 100 pushups with his right hand and another 100 pushups on his left hand. He says he has done as many as 140 one-handed pushups at a time.

Andover Champagne Opening at Glass Bins

ANNE EMT
Correspondent
Tel. 228-3971

Champagne cork popping, a tree was planted but no speeches were made one morning recently at, of all places, Andover's sanitary landfill area.

The occasion was the dedication of the town's three new glass bins obtained through the efforts of the Andover Environmental Action Council, the Conservation Commission and the Board of Selectmen.

For the past 1 1/2 years, volunteers from the council and commission, as well as other residents and teenagers, have been spending time at the landfill area crushing bottles in barrels. Now with the new bins and the town's tractorator to do the crushing this will no longer be necessary.

Residents are urged to use the bins for all their glass, to sort bottles according to color and deposit them in the proper colored bin, to remove all metal bands, to rinse the bottles and not to throw paper bags in with the bottles.

Removal of the metal bands, according to Mrs. Julie Haveri, chairman of the council, is extremely important because the glass reclamation facility at Danville, where the crushed glass is brought by town trucks, will burn back loads that contain any metal.

Residents who don't wish to remove the metal rings are urged not to deposit bottles in the bins, but to use the landfill area.

Money for the purchase of the bins ($1,750) was appropriated in the present budget and a state grant toward the cost is expected.

First Selectman Robert Post donated a Norway Maple, through the cooperation of Whittiam's Nursery, to enhance the area by the bins. The tree was planted in connection with the dedication.

HOW SWEET IT WAS

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Members of the Boys Club here recently used some 500 pounds of pop corn, 500 pounds of sugar, 25 gallons of syrup and a lot of time to make a popcorn ball 12 feet in diameter and weighing 1,335 pounds.

The boys won a contest offered by an area FM radio station and were awarded a snowmobile which was raffled off for money to purchase a motor van for use by club members.

Social Security

Q. I'm 51 and haven't been able to work for the last 10 years. Since my husband died in June of last year, I have been getting monthly Social Security payments as a disabled widow. Can I enroll in Medicare in July when the program starts?

A. No, you will not be able to get Medicare coverage until you have been getting monthly Social Security disability payments for 24 straight months. When you are eligible for Medicare, you will be enrolled automatically. However, you may decline the medical insurance part of Medicare if you do not wish to pay the monthly premiums for it.

Q. As a disabled Vietnam veteran, I got benefits from the VA based on a 90% disability. Could I also get monthly Social Security checks on my disability?

A. We can't give you a definite answer without knowing about your case because the Social Security disability program doesn't work the same way as the VA's. Social Security pays benefits to insured workers who are so severely disabled that they can't work for a year or more. Contact your Social Security office and apply for disability insurance benefits to get a decision on your particular case.

Q. I'm getting disability payments from another government agency, but my application for disability benefits from Social Security was denied. Can you tell me why?

A. You can get payments under Social Security only if you are so disabled that you can't do any kind of gainful work. This definition of disability is usually different from that of other federal agencies or private companies. Therefore, entitlement to disability benefits under some other agency or company would not necessarily mean that you would also qualify for disability under Social Security.

Q. I receive monthly Social Security retirement payments. My 27-year-old wife is completely disabled. Can she draw monthly cash payments on my record?

A. She will be eligible for benefits as your wife when she's 62, whether or not she's disabled. Has she worked under Social Security herself? If so, she may be eligible for disability payments now, based on her own earnings. She should call a Social Security office for more information.

Q. I started receiving reduced Social Security retirement checks last year when I turned 62. I am now 63 and have suffered a stroke. Can I apply for monthly disability payments?

A. Yes, if you are found eligible to receive disability benefits, your retirement benefits will be changed over to disability benefits. You cannot collect benefits under both the disability and the retirement programs at the same time. Your monthly disability payments would be higher than those you receive now under the retirement program.

Have a question about Social Security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? Write to: Questions & Answers, Social Security office, 837 Main St., East Hartford, 01108.

Some May Floss Way To Freedom

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Dental floss should be issued to state prison inmates to reduce tooth decay, despite the risk it might be used to saw through prison bars, says a state advisory council.

An all-day hearing on proposals to reduce cavities among California's 41,000 state prison inmates is slated for today in Sacramento by the "Strike Force for the Prevention of Dental Disease."

The agenda includes Monday's recommendation on dental floss and a counter report by prison authorities that dental floss, when coated with an abrasive substance, can be as effective as metal blades in cutting iron bars.

BARBER'S SNAKES

OAKLAND, Mich. (AP) — William Engel keeps two boa constrictors in his barber shop at Oakland University.

Leroy is 3 years old and 3 feet long, and Judy is 6 years old and 6 feet long. Engel said male students are reluctant to touch the snakes, but not the women who constitute half his clientele.

HRC Speaker

Dr. Ivor J. Echols, a full professor at the University of Connecticut School of Social Work, will be guest speaker May 15 at the Human Relations Commission meeting at 8 p.m. in the coffee room of the Municipal Building. His topic: "A Look at Racism, Individual and Institutional."

Her family, over the years, has served as a host family for 15 students for Tolland County's International Federation of Youth Exchange Committee.

Mrs. Foote is the mother of four children, John and Edward Jr., who live at home, Mary Ann, who is a teacher in Hillsdale, N.Y., and Mrs. Elizabeth Bronzi, a Hebron resident.

In addition to the Community Service Award, Mrs. Foote also was presented with a $25 cash award which she plans to use to purchase trees to donate to the elementary schools.

Presentation in making the presentation of the award, the education committee of the club cited Mrs. Foote's many achievements and the fact that she has more than fulfilled her civic obligations and that her service to the community serves as a shining example to all.

Immunity Considered

hand to indict former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell. Mitchell called the report "irresponsible" and asserted he is guilty of illegal involvement.

Meanwhile, former White House aide Egli Krogh was reported under intense pressure to resign as undersecretary of transportation because of his admitted role in the burglary of the Los Angeles office of a psychiatrist treating Daniel Ellsberg.

The pressure was said to be coming from Transportation Secretary Claude Brinegar.

Krogh, on indefinite leave from his $42,500-a-year job, headed a White House detachment seeking to plug security leaks. The leaks included one involving Ellsberg, now on trial for copying the top-secret Pentagon Papers and giving them to newspapers.

Krogh's affidavit, sent to the Ellsberg trial judge in Los Angeles, named convicted Watergate conspirators Hunt and Liddy as the men who actually planned the burglary.

His account led to the release of a separate statement by Hunt who claimed he got technical help—including disguises and concealed cameras—from the Central Intelligence Agency.

CIA documents made available at the Ellsberg trial on Tuesday said the aid to Hunt was authorized by Marine Gen. Robert Cushman when he was deputy director of the agency.

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures BY SYD KRONISH

Four new U.S. stamps halting our progress in electronics will be issued on July 10 — the fourth anniversary of the first man to step on the moon.

The quartet of adhesives, in as many denominations, span development of electronics from Marconi's turn-of-the-century spark coil to the transistor which set the stage for the space age.

An 8-cent stamp for first-class mail commemorates the transistors and a printed circuit board. The transistor virtually revolutionized electronics, opening the way to new products, particularly the computer.

A 6-cent stamp, intended for postcards, shows Guglielmo Marconi's spark coil and spark gap which enabled him to send radio signals across the Atlantic Ocean. That was in 1901.

The 11-cent airmail depicts Lee De Forest's Audion and the Audion tube. With these in 1915 he transmitted the human voice from Arlington, Va., to Paris. De Forest is also credited with developing the motion picture, facsimile transmission and television.

In a 15-cent stamp for international surface mail, three electronic elements — an early microphone speaker and a vacuum tube — are combined with a TV camera tube.

Each stamp will contain one plate number and will be issued in horizontal format, commemorative size, in panes of 50.

It is interesting to note that these four stamps, were designed by a husband and wife team, Walter and Naida Simons of Westport, Conn. They have won numerous awards for their joint efforts.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations may send their requests to "Electronics Stamps," Postmaster, New York, N.Y. 10001. Enclose the proper remittance — 40 cents for the set of four stamps in money order or certified check. Should you desire just a specific stamp or less than four, send the appropriate amount. Requests must be postmarked prior to July 10.

Bishop To Work For Watergate Committee

OLD LYME (AP) - Retired state police captain Wayne H. Bishop has been recruited for an investigatory post with the U.S. Senate select committee studying the Watergate affair.

Bishop said he was contacted about the appointment by David Dorsen, assistant chief counsel to the committee. He said he didn't know what his duties would be or the duration of the job.

Bishop, who has been assistant director of security at the University of Hartford since December, will leave that post rather than take a leave of absence.

Bishop, who said he was non-political and that he hoped he was selected because of his reputation, resigned from the state police in 1971 when Cleveland B. Priesnitz became commissioner and made several administrative changes.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Robbed At Work

Hired as floor manager in a department store, Phyllis asked where she should have her new fur coat during working hours. Since there were no more lockers available, she was told to leave the coat in a corridor closet.

A few days later, the coat was stolen from the closet. The store denied any responsibility for the loss, but Phyllis—unconvinced—took the matter to court.

At the hearing, the company said it had never guaranteed its employees against theft. But it seems the closet had neither lock nor guard. Finding a lack of reasonable care, the court said the company would have to make good the loss.

It is common for employees to deposit clothing and other personal belongings in company facilities while at work.

As a rule, the company must provide reasonable safeguards if—as in Phyllis' case—it has been instructed to put the article in a particular place. This creates a "duty of care" relationship with a legal duty imposed on the company as the "bailee."

But the duty is not unlimited. In another case, also involving a stolen coat, the clothes closet was within a locked enclosure to which only employees had access. A court ruled that the company had made a reasonable effort to prevent theft, hence could not be held liable.

Of course, some responsibility rests upon the employee as well. A toolmaker who owned his own tools often left them overnight on his work bench. Right above the bench was a broken skylight. One night a thief climbed in through the skylight and decamped with the tools.

Could the company be blamed for the loss because of the broken skylight? A court said no, because the toolmaker himself was aware of the danger. By leaving his tools in such an accessible place, said the judge, he had "assumed the risk" of their being stolen.

Governor Criticized

HARTFORD (AP) - A Democratic legislator accused Gov. Thomas J. Meskill Tuesday of releasing only favorable information about his policy decisions.

State Rep. J. Martin Henessey, D-Wethersfield, issued his statement after the publication of a memo written a year ago by Commissioner of Environmental Protection Dan Lufkin.

Lufkin's memo to State Transportation Commissioner A. Earl Wood, criticized an environmental impact statement on the proposed Interstate 293 around Hartford. Lufkin said the impact statement was inadequate.

The Democrat said the governor's aides no longer were allowed to talk to the press, and he said the governor forbade his Republican legislators to vote for a Democratic proposal that would require his administration to provide monthly financial statements.

Henessey praised a "diligent" press for uncovering the Lufkin memo.

Lufkin said Tuesday that new studies had been initiated on I-293 since his memo was written. Meskill supports construction of the highway that would ring Hartford.

MARTIN'S LANDLORD

CHURCH CREEK, Md. (AP) - For 26 years, purple martins have returned to the 16-unit high-rise apartment house atop a 10-foot pole in Howard Richardson's front yard.

They arrive on a specific day every spring, first the adult and later the main body. "For 11 straight years, the usual late March 29, but for some reason, three years ago they showed up April 3," Richardson said.

The 72-year-old retired general store owner said he was making birdhouses for sale since the Depression.

Working Budget Given Committee on Retired

The committee on Retired Persons of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce was given a $250 budget to start out with by vote of the board of directors Tuesday.

The committee is making plans to hold a conference June 9 at Ellington High School. The all-day meeting will hear from the retired persons on their wishes and needs during the morning session and will conduct workshops during the afternoon. Lunch will be served by Gardner Tuggles who has agreed to charge just 50 cents a person with the stipulation that the amount be paid by Chamber members.

Glen Roberts said there are some 3,500 retired persons in the three-town area of Vernon, Ellington and Tolland. Roberts was chairman of the Chamber's exploratory committee on the matter.

Mrs. Christine Lewis, area coordinator from the State Department on Aging, feels the Chamber is setting up a pilot program for coordinating efforts toward helping retired persons, Roberts said.

He said that more than 60 agencies in the three towns have expressed interest in the project. Questionnaires will be going out to retired persons in the near future. These will be studied and evaluated at the June meeting during the afternoon workshop.

It was also announced that Lt. Gov. T. Clark Hall, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting to be held May 23 at Ellington Ridge Country Club.

Mrs. Janet Burns reported on the questionnaires being prepared to go out to high school students in the three towns concerning the problems with shopping in the three towns. Mrs. Burns, who manages the D & L Store in the Tri-City Shopping Plaza, expressed concern with the growing problem of shopping. She said the retailers have to find a way to end it.

The committee working on this problem decided that the approach must be taken through the students themselves, and asks them for help in solving it.

Miss Evelyn Parizek, president of the board and chairman of the Beautification Committee, said she had received letters from children in the third grade at St. Bernard School thanking the Chamber for the gift of Dogwood seedlings given to all three grades of the three towns in celebration of Arbor Day.

Direct quotes from some of the letters include: "I really liked the dogwood tree. I am going to plant it in my front yard."

There were many others but they all carried the same message that the trees were really appreciated by the children.

GOP Past Performance Earned Vote: Morra

DONNA HOLLAND Correspondent 646-0375

First Selectman Richard Morra, re-elected to his sixth term in Monday's town election, said he was not sure he was going to win.

"I always worry during a campaign," he said.

Good candidates that have performed well in the past was the reason townspeople again voted to have Republicans administer town affairs, Morra said.

He said he is concerned with the normal growth of Bolton. Morra said, "We will do our best to continue the progress started and to evaluate new problems as they arise."

Democrat Virginia Butterfield, who was defeated in her bid to unseat Morra, said, "I am appalled at the total apathy of people in Bolton; little more than 50 per cent voted."

As always, the Republicans manipulated the elections so that they themselves actually choose who the Democrat selectman would be," she said.

"I feel the votes I received were of my own doing as I received very little, if any, party support," Mrs. Butterfield said.

Morra has 2,076 registered voters out of a population of about 3,700. In Monday's election, 1,146 people voted.

HARTFORD (AP) — The Senate voted Tuesday to defer action until next year on creating a Connecticut Transportation Authority that would have statewide regulatory powers.

The senators decided not to send the bill back to committee or let the House vote on it because that would have effectively killed the measure for the next session, which is designed to discuss only money bills, Sen. George Guida, R-Weston, said.

One reason for the Senate vote Tuesday was because senators "feared it (the bill) would not have been approved by the House," he said.

Manchester Grange building and fair committee and fair workshop will meet tonight at 7 at Grange Hall.

Cub Scout Pack 53 will have a fair Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Waddell School. All parents are requested to donate time to help with games and booths. White elephant articles and baked goods are needed.

St. Mary's Guild will meet Thursday at 11 a.m. in the parish hall. Members are reminded to bring sandwiches. Hostesses are Mrs. Helen Cherrington and Mrs. Natalie Johnston and Mrs. Daisy Peabody.

Paris — The French steel industry needed 12 hours and 39 minutes to produce a ton of steel in 1971, compared with 14 hours and 5 minutes in 1968.

Hoffman Gets Edison Award

Peter J. Hoffman of Glastonbury, a sophomore at Manchester Community College, has been awarded a Charles Edison Memorial Youth Fund Scholarship for study this summer at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

The Edison scholarships are awarded annually to students who wish to attend the Institute of Comparative Political and Economic Systems at Georgetown. The institute fosters constructive citizenship and leadership among highly talented and motivated college students. Fewer than half of the 75 students enrolled for the institute attend with the help of Edison scholarships.

Hoffman will be graduated on June 5 from Manchester Community College with an associate in arts degree in liberal arts and sciences. He is a member of Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society and the Student Senate, and was on the dean's list for the fall semester. In September, he will begin studies at the University of Connecticut where he will work toward a baccalaureate degree in political science.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Hoffman.

Commemorative Plaques Mark Historical Sites

The Sesquicentennial Committee will be erecting commemorative plaques marking historical sites in Manchester.

In the selection of the sites to be marked, it was decided not to duplicate plaques for people or places already mentioned on the marker erected in front of the Municipal Building two years ago. The people mentioned on the Municipal plaque were, for the most part, grouped around the Center.

Some 25 sites were considered and those of 19 were chosen to have plaques erected on the sites. All members of the Manchester Historical Society have been active in researching the sites.

The chairman of the commemorative plaque committee is Edson M. Bailey. Other committee members are Mrs. Ernest Shepherd, Catherine Pul-

HAITI TOURISM UP PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The Caribbean island of Haiti in 1972 exceeded the 100,000 mark in arriving tourists for the first time in history.

A total of 107,815 persons arriving by air and sea at Port-au-Prince reflected an increase of more than 25 per cent over the 87,438 visitors for 1971, according to Dr. Andre Theard, Director General of the National Office of Tourism. An increase in frequency of international jet flights and a more relaxed atmosphere contributed markedly to the tourism increase. A total of 67,858 airborne tourists visited Haiti last year compared to 44,933 in 1971.

Welfare Agency Wins Suit

NEW HAVEN (AP) — A federal judge has rejected a Welfare Department motion for dismissal of a suit aimed at restoring the Department's Norwalk office.

The suit was brought by three Norwalk mothers receiving welfare assistance after the department consolidated the local office with the Bridgeport office 12 miles away.

The mothers claim the October closing makes it impossible to get help locating housing in Norwalk, expensive to make contact with the Bridgeport office and difficult to attend fair hearings.

The Welfare Department argued that the closing was an administrative decision to save money and was not the concern of a court.

But Judge Jon O. Newman ruled that the mothers' complaints are serious enough to merit further hearings on the suit.

Town Equipment Sold

VIVIAN V. KENNESON Correspondent Tel. 975-4904
A bid of $2,500 for the town's old Michigan payloader was awarded to William B. Kania of Rockville, at the Board of Selectmen meeting Tuesday night. Although there were no estimates on any of the equipment put out to bid, Selectman Charles Lucas suggested, prior to opening the bids, that if all bids for the payloader were under $1,000 they be rejected. Selectman Charles Thiffault disagreed, saying that he had been told the payloader was not worth anything (toward a trade-in) so that $1,000 was high in his opinion.

Bolton Children Offer 'Pinocchio'

Several hundreds of children from Annie Fisher School in Hartford will be visiting in Bolton Friday. After having dinner in arbor homes, the children will entertain townspeople with Walt Disney's adaptation of "Pinocchio," to be presented at Bolton Elementary School at 7:30 p.m.

The children participate in The Pilot, a two-year-old program in individual teaching. They are in Grades 3, 4 and 5. As guests of Bolton Congregational Church, they visited last spring and performed the play "Peter Pan."

The Bolton Ecumenical Council is sponsoring this year. The community is invited to attend the play Friday evening.

Park Landscaping The first phase of landscaping at Herrick Memorial Park has begun and should be finished in the next three weeks, according to Carol Lorenzini, Bolton Junior Women's Club conservation chairman. The project is being funded with money raised from last year's newspaper drive. The landscaping is being accomplished with the help of JWC members, Park Commission members and through the advice of Woodland Gardens, John E. Whitam Nursery, and Treest.

Finishing touches of landscaping will be done this fall in conjunction with "Plant Connecticut Week." The nurseries will donate remaining materials needed.

Chips from recycled Christmas trees are being used for mulch for the landscaping project. A copy of the landscaping plans has been hung in the park building.
