Skylab Crew Rehearsing For Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Wearing space suits, Charles Conrad Jr., Paul J. Weitz and Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin scheduled most of the day in a simulator at the Johnson Space Center in Houston. They want to sharpen their skills for the real thing next Tuesday when a Saturn IB rocket is to hoist them into orbit to begin pursuit of the Skylab workshop which is to be their orbiting home for four weeks.

The Skylab, large as a three-bedroom house, is to be launched by a Saturn 5 rocket at 1:30 p.m. EDT Monday into an orbit 270 miles high. The astronauts will follow at 1 p.m. the next day.

Conrad, Weitz and Kerwin are to execute a series of intricate maneuvers over a 7½-hour period as they track down and link up with the big laboratory. Once aboard they will conduct numerous medical, scientific and earth resources experiments in an effort to learn whether man can live and perform useful tasks in space over long periods.

The Skylab 2 and 3 crews will rocket up to the same skylab in August and November, each for eight-week stays.

On the Saturn 5 launch pad today, crews purged fuel tanks on the rocket and fed electrical power to the Skylab vehicle to test its electrical systems and miles of wiring.

Gray Testifies
WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Patrick Gray III, the former submarine commander from Stoughton who abruptly resigned as acting director of FBI, says he's confident President Nixon isn't involved in the Watergate scandal.

Peace Plan Review Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho will meet in Paris next Thursday to talk about implementing the Indochina peace accord, the White House announced today.

Kissinger, who returned Thursday night from conferences in Moscow and London, is expected to engage Le Duc Tho in three to four days of talks, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

President Nixon's assistant for National Security Affairs and Tho, a member of the North Vietnamese Politburo, last met in Hanoi on Feb. 10-13.

The text of a joint announcement on the new round of meetings said:

"The governments of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the United States have agreed to hold discussions in order to review the implementation of the Paris agreement on ending the war and restoring peace in Vietnam and to find measures to bring about strict implementation of that agreement."

Mr. Le Duc Tho, representative of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, assistant to the President of the United States will meet for this purpose in Paris on May 17, 1973.

When White House officials last month predicted a Kissinger-Tho meeting in Paris in mid-May, Hanoi representatives in the French capital discounted the possibility, suggesting such a session would be contingent on resumption of U.S. mine sweeping operations along the North Vietnamese coast and resumption of talks on U.S. economic assistance to Hanoi.

Ziegler said these items were among the topics to be discussed by Kissinger and Tho, which indicated there was no prior agreement by the United States to resume mine sweeping or the aid talks.

Form Long Line For Sesquicentennial Medallions

This is only a small part of the crowd lined up Thursday evening to buy silver and bronze medallions, commemorating Manchester's Sesquicentennial Celebration. The line started forming at 4:45 in front of the Municipal Building and wound its way into the parking lot. Many people drove by and left when they couldn't find a place to park. Some of them returned later. The sale opened at 7:30 and by 8:45 the limited supply of 500 silver medallions was sold out. Many of those in line were still in line when the edition was exhausted.

With 2,000 of the bronze medallions on sale, they lasted longer and some were left when the sale ended at 10 p.m. Those were placed for sale today in town banks. The silver medallions cost $15, with a limit of 5 per person. The bronze are $4, with no limit placed. The first in line Thursday was Richard J. Lako of 56 Sunrise Lane, East Hartford — a former Manchester resident. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Guerrillas Reported Returning To Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Palestinian guerrillas from Syria shelled a border post in northern Lebanon today, but were moving back into Syria.

An army spokesman said the border post at Arida came under "an intensive attack by rockets and mortars" before dawn, and the Lebanese troops returned the fire. The army said the guerrillas withdrew into Syria, and there were no Lebanese casualties.

An army spokesman said the general withdrawal of the guerrillas who invaded from Syria during the fighting Tuesday between the army and the guerrillas based in Lebanon began Thursday from the Bekka Valley. The valley was the scene of heavy fighting Wednesday and Thursday.

Only one incident was reported in Beirut. A taxicab ran over a mine near Aran Wednesday, killing two persons and wounding three others. Police sources said the guerrillas planted the mines during the fighting Tuesday.

Meskill Nominates Shea Superior Court Judge

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

John F. Shea Jr. of Manchester was nominated today by Gov. Thomas Meskill to be a judge of the Superior Court. Shea's term will start Sept. 1.

Also nominated today to a seat on the Superior Court is James P. Stapleton of Bridgeport. His term will start Aug. 1.

Yesterday, the governor nominated three other superior court judges — Lt. Gov. T. Clark Hall of Danbury, State Treasurer Robert I. Berdon of Bradford, and Chief Circuit Court Judge John J. Daly of Hartford. Mr. Shea's term will start June 1, Berdon's July 1, and Daly's Oct. 1. The salary for a Superior Court judge is $31,830 annually.

The General Assembly last year increased the number of Superior Court judges from 35 to 40.

To fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Judge Daly to the Superior Court, Gov. Meskill today appointed M. Morgan Klein of Bloomfield to the Circuit Court.

Shea, who was informed yesterday of his appointment, commented briefly, as is his custom. He has never been one to dwell for any length of time on honors he receives.

"Naturally, I'm thrilled with this appointment, and I hope to prove worthy for the honor which has been bestowed on me," he said.

Shea, an attorney, is a member of the Manchester law firm of Martz, Shea and Keitt & Co. Shea is Manchester native, the son of Mrs. Irene Shea of 185 E. Center St., and the late John F. Shea. His uncle, the late William J. Shea, had been a Superior Court judge and was a justice of the State Supreme Court at the time of his death in 1965.

The judge-designate will join two other Manchester residents on high state courts — Chief Justice Charles S. House of the Supreme Court and Judge Jay E. Rubinow of the Superior Court.

Shea graduated from Manchester High School in 1946, from Providence College with a B.A. degree in 1950, and from the University of Connecticut School of Law with a Juris Doctor degree in 1953. He was admitted to the Connecticut Bar in 1954. He will be 45 years of age on Sept. 1.

He is a member of the Manchester, Hartford County, Connecticut and American Bar Associations and has been admitted to practice before the State, Federal and U.S. Supreme Courts. He is a member of the Judicial Council of the State of Connecticut.

Shea and his wife, the former Grace Kimmel of West Hartford, reside at 57 Boulder Rd. with their four children. The children are: Martin, 16, a sophomore at East Catholic High School; twins Kevin and Christine, 14, with Kevin in the 8th grade at Bennet Junior High School; and Christina in the 8th grade at St. James School; and Daniel, 12, in the 5th grade at St. James School.

Shea won statewide recognition in his 1962 to 1972 role of defense attorney for Roy Darwin of Andover, convicted twice and then freed in the murder of Hope Hothwell of Bolton.

Shea is Republican state central committeeman from the 4th Senatorial District and is co-chairman of First Congressional District Republicans. He has been chairman of the past several GOP nominating conventions in both districts.

Shea has served as chairman of the Manchester Young Republican Club and was chairman of the Republican Town Committee from 1959 to 1964.

He was a state representative in the 1961-62 General Assembly and was counsel for the Republican majority in the State House of Representatives in the 1963-64 session.

Shea was state campaign manager for Edwin J. May of Waterbury in 1962 when he sought the GOP nomination for governor, and was active in May's 1966 and 1968 campaigns for First District congressman.

He served as Manchester town counsel from 1966 to 1971 and was on the 1963, 1964 and 1972-73 Charter Revision Commissions. He has been chief moderator at many Manchester elections.

Shea is on the board of trustees of Society for Savings, on the board of governors of the Glastonbury Hills Country Club, and a member of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus.

Mitchell, Stans Confident Facts Vindicate Them

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans say they believe they will be vindicated when the facts behind their indictments are known.

They were indicted Thursday on charges of obstruction of justice, conspiracy and perjury in connection with their roles as cabinet officers and leaders of President Nixon's re-election campaign. The case involves a secret campaign contribution and alleged improper government influence.

Financier Robert L. Vesco, a fugitive, and New Jersey Republican leader Harry L. Sears, Vesco's lawyer, were charged in the indictments with conspiracy and obstruction of justice.

The four will be arraigned in U.S. District Court here May 21 if later convicted of all charges. Mitchell and Stans would face maximum prison terms of up to 50 years, Vesco and Sears, 20 years.

Mitchell denied any wrongdoing Thursday and said, "I am certain that the judicial proceedings in this case will fully vindicate and confirm the absence of any wrongdoing."

Stans said he was "greatly dismayed" by the grand jury action and added: "I expect that when all the facts are heard, I will be vindicated."

The indictments alleged that Vesco, 37, made a secret $200,000 cash contribution to the campaign on April 10 in an attempt to influence a Securities and Exchange Commission probe of his far-flung financial operations.

The SEC filed a civil complaint on Nov. 27, charging that Vesco, 20 other persons and a score of corporations looted $224 million from Investors Overseas Services (IOS), four foreign mutual funds they controlled.

U.S. Atty. Whitney North Seymour Jr., who announced the indictments, said there was nothing to implicate President Nixon in the alleged conspiracy. The President's former counsel, John W. Dean III, was mentioned in the indictments.

Mitchell, who resigned last July as director of Nixon's re-election campaign, is alleged to have arranged a meeting between Sears and William J. Casey, then chairman of the SEC, on the day the $200,000 contribution from Vesco was received by Sears.

Subsequent meetings were held by Sears, Casey and G. Bradford Cook, who succeeded Casey as SEC chairman.

Mitchell was also said to have asked Dean to delay the SEC investigations and to have suppressed a written threat from Vesco to discontinue the $200,000 gift unless the SEC dropped its subpoena of the financier.

Indochina War Fund Request Voted Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — To a backdrop of cheers and chants, the House has turned administration Indochina war policy for the first time by rejecting a presidential request for more funds for Cambodian bombing.

The House rejected President Nixon's spending proposal 219 to 188 Thursday. Then, by a 224-172 vote, the House added a prohibition against using any of a $2.8-billion supplemental appropriation for bombing in Cambodia.

The actions came during consideration of the supplemental appropriation, which was passed 289 to 96 and sent to the Senate.

"We've gotten out of Southeast Asia," said Rep. Robert N. Gjajmo, D-Conn. "Let's stay out."

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson has said that Congress' rejection of the spending authority would not halt the Cambodia bombing because the Pentagon can use other funds for it.

House antiwar forces cheered and chanted during a roll call as the House approved an amendment by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., to deny $430 million in military spending authority, including at least $175 million for Indochina later this year.

Approved later was an amendment by Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., to prohibit use of any of the $2.8-billion supplemental bill for "combat activities in, over or from the shores of Cambodia by U.S. forces."

"I want to put another lock on the door," Long said.

Supporters of President Nixon were dismayed.

"This is a very, very bad day today at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Potomac Hills estate in suburban Westchester County. Newsweek were excluded.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said the step could "precipitate the collapse of Cambodia."

But Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. called Nixon's spending request "another Tonkin Gulf resolution." That resolution

Governors Discuss Connally

NEW YORK (AP) — Several moderate Republican governors say former Democrat John B. Connally faces a difficult task in establishing his Republican credentials sufficiently to win the 1976 GOP presidential nomination.

That view was expressed in interviews during the Republican governor's conference by Govs. Daniel J. Evans of Washington, Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts, Christopher S. Bond of Missouri, Robert D. Ray of Iowa and John A. Love of Colorado.

However, two conservatives, Govs. Stanley K. Hathaway of Wyoming and Jack Williams of Arizona, said they thought the former Texas governor, named Thursday as a part-time White House consultant by President Nixon, won't be at any disadvantage if he challenges more established Republicans for the 1976 nomination.

The three-day GOP governors' conference winds up tonight with a state dinner at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The new schedule of a day-long political summit today at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Potomac Hills estate in suburban Westchester County, Newsweek were excluded.

The Watergate case is one subject that presumably won't be on the agenda as the governors discuss ways to assume a larger role in the GOP. The governors decided Wednesday night against issuing a joint statement on the scandal now shaking the Nixon administration.

HELP FROM ENEMY ALWAYS WELCOME.

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

There are some situations in which you cannot succeed without a little help from the enemy. The important thing is to know how to get that help even from reluctant opponents. The secret seems to elude government officials and businessmen, but it isn't much of a problem to bridge players.

Opening lead - Jack of Hearts

West opened the jack of hearts and East took the ace. East returned a heart and South won with the king. It was now up to South to limit the diamond loss to two tricks.

If South goes after the diamonds fairly early, East will win the first diamond trick as cheaply as possible and will get out safely with a spade or a club. South will then lose two more diamond tricks.

The fact is that South can make the game contract only if he can persuade East to lead diamonds. What sort of persuasion is necessary?

Roundabout way
After winning the second trick with the king of hearts, South draws two rounds of trumps and then all three clubs, ending in his own hand. Only then can South afford to touch the diamonds.

South leads a low diamond from his hand and (inescapably with dummy's ten. This loses to East's jack, as expected, but now East must cooperate. If East returns a diamond, dummy will win a trick with the king. If East returns anything else, dummy can ruff while South discards a diamond. In either case, the game contract is safe.

You persuade East to cooperate by making it impossible for him to do anything else, State Department, please note.

Windmill Made Power

Rutland, Vt. - In World War II a windmill with two blades—each 70 feet long, 11 feet wide, and weighing eight tons—turned briskly in winds up to 70 miles an hour atop Grandpa's Knob near Rutland. Until it threw a blade 700 feet down the mountain, this 150-foot windmill could generate as much as 120 kilowatts of electric power.

BUTTERFIELD'S

MANCHESTER PARKADE TAKE I-86 TO EXIT #92

the OLD CODGER'S COGITATIONS

O.C. saw one proof of the tremendous speed at which a partridge flies. Usually (but not always) they break their necks when they collide with anything.

One bitter cold day O.C. had been working in the blacksmith shop at camp. He knew there wouldn't be any heat left by morning even if he stoked the stove with chunks of wood before leaving so he didn't go to the cookhouse for supper and then the blacksmith for a good night's sleep.

When he got back to the shop in the morning he found a partridge with a broken neck and frozen solid lying on a bench. That shop was 20 feet wide. There was a bench along each side. Just above the benches were windows about three feet square. Her speed was so great even after smashing through the window her trajectory was so flat that she didn't drop more than two feet (maybe less) in traversing that 20 feet.

O.C.'s better seven-eighths called out that there was a big snake with his head up in the garden. O.C. looked across the garden and it was a big bird.

We went around the back fence of the garden within three feet of a partridge squatted down and not a bit nervous about our being there. O.C. thought it must be injured, in which case it would not be interested in food, but sometimes an injured animal is feverish and glad to drink water. So O.C. started for the well to get a pan of water.

While he was gone Mrs. O.C. reached over and sprinkled a little sand on the bird's back at which she stood up exposing her flock of little chicks like so many bumble bees. She very calmly led them over among the vegetables where there would be likely to be insects.

That's what baby partridge must have for their first few days or weeks.

That mother was never afraid of us and while we were working in the garden she would come in with the family to dust and come alone after the brood had grown up and left on their own.

We named her "Biddy." She would follow Mrs. O.C., her mistress, along the path in the woods and talk back when spoken to. It was hard for some people to believe it.

The next year Biddy had a nest at the base of a large tree near our shop. She had two eggs in it. She never ate from my hand, but would eat sunflower and pumpkin seed O.C. put down in front of her. O.C. visited her every day at the nest and she never objected. One day our little granddaughter was visiting and said she would like to see Biddy. It didn't occur to O.C. that Biddy would object to a stranger, but she left the nest, half flew, half ran for about ten feet past O.C. and attacked that little girl and drove her away. Then she came back past O.C. and got onto her nest again.

It was about time for the eggs to hatch. O.C. left in the middle of the afternoon and didn't get back till 9 o'clock the next morning. There was broken window glass on the floor. Biddy was not on her nest.

O.C. didn't find her anywhere with a broken neck, but she was up overhead under the roof apparently uninjured but so frightened we had quite some trouble catching her. When we did she very quietly rode down the ladder under O.C.'s arm and to the nest. She got right on it and sat faithfully for two weeks.

One morning she was gone and one egg had been picked open. All twelve had dead chicks that would have hatched the day we rescued her if she had been with them. We believe she broke through the window the previous afternoon and the eggs were chilled and killed because she couldn't get to them.

Contract Agreement Reached

NEW BRITAIN (AP) — An agreement was reached Thursday on a new three-year contract between Stanley Works and its 3,150 union employees.

Spokesmen for the tool manufacturer and Lodges 1249 and 1433 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said terms of the new contract were worked out during negotiations that lasted until 2 a.m. The old contract expired at midnight.

Although a strike had been authorized, there was no walkout. The plant was hit with a strike in 1968 that lasted 18 weeks.

Details of the new pact were not made public immediately, but a union official, Charles Beyer, said the contract provides day workers with a 78-cent-an-hour pay increase over the next three years. Incentive workers will receive a wage boost of 45 cent-an-hour over the term of the pact.

Beyer said the most significant points of the new contract deal with substantial improvements in the fringe benefits, some of which he described as "precedent setting." He said the union membership adopted the new agreement unanimously.

Arrowheads Exchanged

Ottawa — The arrowhead was a medium of exchange among the Indians of the western Canadian prairies long before the coming of the white man. Arrowheads were made of flint, obsidian or other hard stone that could be sharpened to an edge.

Iron arrowheads were introduced by European traders but their use as a medium of exchange was very limited.

DevCo Mortgage $7.25 Million

HOLLY GANTNER

DevCo, the development arm of Greater Hartford Process Inc. which is proposing a planned new community in the northwest section of Coventry, has received a $7.25 million mortgage from the Chase Manhattan Bank.

The money, according to the mortgage deed filed at the Town Hall, may be used for land which DevCo "may seek to acquire by purchase, contract or option" and for all costs in connection with zoning, subdivision or other legal or judicial proceedings relating to the

Learning Program To Be Evaluated

HOLLY GANTNER
Correspondent

An evaluation report on phase 1 of the Sequential Learning Program has been scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Coventry Grammar School and Thursday at the same hour at the Robertson School.

Last year, the Board of Education and Dr. Donald Hardy, superintendent of schools, determined through their visits to the school and comments throughout the year, an explanation of phase 2 in the SLP program, which now includes only the kindergarten classes, would be made before recommendation of its continuation, and that this evaluation would be shared with the townspeople.

Because of the interest shown in the program and its progress by the community, the board and Hardy felt they would like to give as many people as possible the opportunity to hear this evaluation and so the two meetings were scheduled.

Hebron Bus Contract Provides for Two Sessions

ANNE EMT
Correspondent

Although the Board of Finance is recommending a $7,000 cut in the Board of Education's budget, which represents the cost of transportation for double sessions at Rham High School, the school board last night signed an addendum to the basic bus contract providing for this transportation.

The basic bus contract for next year, including the $17,100 for double sessions amounts to $102,233; however, $3,500 is deducted from this as an estimate on gas savings, making the total contract $98,733, or $25,425 higher than the present budget.

Besides the additional transportation for double sessions, at $2.75 per bus per day, there is also the addition of a 30-passenger bus. This bus will be used for the noon kindergarten transportation at $2,981 per year, and will replace the Travel-air presently being used.

The addendum also calls for all gasoline for buses to be purchased by the school district directly from distributors, with the retail price being deducted monthly from the contractor's bill. The contract is with the Clark Transportation Co.

The addendum also provides an escalator clause, stating that increases or decreases from Jan. 1 of one year to Jan. 1 of the next year (using January 1974 as the base date) in the U.S. Government's Consumer Price Index of at least 2.5 per cent will increase or decrease the amounts paid for double sessions and the kindergarten noon transportation by no more than 5 per cent annually, but at no time can the amounts decrease below the base amounts.

Programs

The board approved the extension of the jobless lessons for another six-week period. These lessons are being conducted by an outside group, using the school facilities, but are for the youngsters attending both elementary schools and Rham High School.

Also approved was a request from Jim Celio, physical education director for the elementary schools, to conduct an after school softball program for girls and a soccer clinic type program for boys.

The girls program will start next Monday at the Gilead school and will run through June 12. Celio will be assisted with this program by Mrs. Charlene Cross and Mrs. Anne Emt.

The boys' program will be held Tuesdays at the Gilead school and Thursdays at the Hebron school. No starting date has yet been set for this program.

Custodian

The board approved the appointment of Ed Gaudreau of Willimantic as a custodian for the Gilead Hill School.

Special Education

The board voted to send a letter of intent to Dr. Richard Grant, area coordinator for the Title VI special education program, informing him that it plans to participate in the program next year. A sum of $2,418 has been proposed in the 1973-1974 budget for this purpose.

Budget

Dr. David Cattanch, superintendent of schools, informed the board that semi-freedom on expenditures has been placed on the current budget which is being anticipated at a $7,000 deficit.

The board went into executive session to discuss teacher negotiations.

A Liveable Town Budget

Manchester Town Directors have adopted a new budget and in the process have given the property taxpayer some relief in the form of a two-mill levy cut.

In most instances most departments had their budgets increased reflecting surplus funds from the past fiscal year, revenue-sharing funds, and increased property valuations.

It is not a fat budget nor is it an austerity one. Understandably there are some, who had original requests cut in the budgeting process, who are not totally happy with the final budget.

But on the whole, we believe the new Manchester budget is one of the town and its agencies can live with and one which recognizes that fiscal responsibility as exercised by the Board of Directors is appreciated by the taxpayers.

Now that the budgets have been set for the various town departments, the task shifts from the directors primarily to each department head, to live within the bounds of those limits. It is our hope that they can and will so that next year when a new budget is being formulated there will be no deficits to contend with by the town manager or the directors.

Balancing the budget and living within it, like charity, should begin at home.

We, the taxpayers of the community, should commend the efforts of the directors in holding the line in so far as possible in town operations and in passing on a two-mill tax saving.

The significance is not the two mills but the fact that the trend toward ever-increasing mill levies not only has been halted but reversed. This may not be possible again next year, but for this year at least it has, and if the directors and administration continue along these fiscally conservative lines, we are a long way from the road toward that goal of getting full value for each tax dollar expended.

Another Year Of Controls

The nation faces another year of wage and price controls at the discretion of President Nixon.

Fearful of an explosive inflationary surge, Congress acted at the eleventh hour to continue the President's authority to regulate prices and wages. That authority would have expired at midnight, April 30.

Congress added some provisions the administration did not want. It increased from 16.3 million to 25.2 million the number of workers exempt from the government's standards of non-inflationary pay increases, by raising the minimum exempt wage from $2.75 to $3.50 an hour.

The bill also requires public disclosure of some information on costs and profits from big corporations that raised prices by more than 1.5 per cent a year.

Despite anxiety about continued inflationary pressures, the politicians in Congress could not refrain from courting more than nine million votes in raising the wage exemption. This will certainly result in wage increases above the guidelines of 5.5 per cent.

Henry Ford II already has predicted a wage settlement with the United Automobile Workers of an increase above 6.2 per cent, which he said is the employer's cost of a 5.5 per cent boost with fringes and taxes added.

Economists attribute the inflationary pressure in large part to what they call "demand-pull," their words for demand rising despite increased prices as a result of expansion of the money supply. The man in the street has simpler terms. So long as government spends vastly more than it takes in, inflation will remain a primary worry. But the task of balancing the family budget won't be helped by higher taxes. Instead of that approach to a solution or inflation, the average man would prefer to see our bloated government spending cut down to size.

Weiss Replies

Mr. Elwood A. D. Lechasseur, 21 Church Street, Manchester, writes to the editor regarding the article in the Herald of May 4, 1973, titled "The Values Crisis." The article discusses the moral and ethical challenges facing society today, particularly in light of the Watergate scandal. Mr. Lechasseur expresses his agreement with the author's perspective and offers his own insights on the situation.

Dear Mr. Lechasseur: Thank you for the courtesy of sending me a copy of the recent letter to the editor and the copy of the letter you have written to The Manchester Herald. I should like to answer your three inquiries as follows:

1 - It was very clearly stated at the meeting with the Board of Directors that the policy this far in the new section of the Veterans Cemetery was to permit only flush markings pending a final decision by the board on whether this would be a park type or conventional cemetery.

2 - The Board of Directors are now arriving at a policy for the cemetery which will regulate the way it will be developed as well as the following:

3 - There is no question but that the Board of Directors is the policy making authority of the town. I am sorry that there has been a misunderstanding on your father's marker and I trust that things will work out satisfactorily for everyone concerned when policies are finally resolved.

Sincerely,
Robert B. Weiss

Comments The Values Crisis

BIG SUR, Calif. - With all the talk about Watergate as a constitutional crisis we seem to have missed the deeper crisis of values. True, the Presidency as a political institution is in peril, but even more the American belief in basic life values is in peril.

This theme emerged at a seminar here on values and human potentials, at which I refer here particularly to honesty, steadfastness, commitment. They never trusted Mr. Nixon and are not surprised now. They thought for a time that George McGovern stood for these, and they got disillusioned about him, too.

The real indignity that Watergate has done is not to them, who form only a fraction of the population, but to the rest of the college youth who come from blue-collar, white-collar and rural backgrounds, and to their parents, mostly in the lower middle-class.

The trouble now is that they don't fit well with a number of far-out, unproved and unprovable values which are also part of the challenge ethos—but that's another story.

They got out of the traditional values system they just got off the bus, scrapped it and built themselves a new contraption which could be called the challenge values.

Note that they used some of the old bus parts to build it. Honesty, simplicity of lifestyle.

Andrew Tully
Can't Afford To Eat

WASHINGTON - Watergate, schmatergate. The issue on which Republican candidates could lose their shirts in next year's elections is the high cost of hot dogs and kids' shoes - a national catastrophe with which President Nixon apparently is unable to cope.

One of the curious statements to issue from the White House in recent months was Nixon's sluge whisper that continuing increases in food prices were "an area of special concern."

Yet, in imposing new price controls of doubtful effectiveness on the nation's largest business firms, the President took no steps to curb the high price of eating.

No unctuous harangues from the White House will placate the housewife on this issue. At the wholesale level, food prices have increased a whopping annual rate of 5.1 per cent during the first quarter of 1973 and at the retail level at annual rate of 29.4 per cent. January, February and March seem like they go down as the months in which GOP candidates were clobbered by the opposition in 1974 elections.

Obviously, Nixon had not heard from the bonodocks when he told the country he had resisted the temptation "to go for the superficially simple solution - to freeze prices across the board or even roll them back." Otherwise, he could not have gone on the way that "we carefully considered that alternative...but," firmly concluded, that such a move, taken at this time would

Gardening

with FRANK ATWOOD

When Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gronlund bought 6 1/2 acres of land in Bolton to build a home 17 years ago they acquired, without fully realizing it at the time, a very fine wildflower garden.

The land on Brandy St. is wooded and sloping. At the bottom of the incline there is a swamp, where skunk cabbage is the first of the wild plants to show green shoots in the spring, and a small brook that bordered in late April with yellow marsh marigold blossoms.

On the higher and drier ground there are other wildflowers that come along in their seasons from spring to fall. May is the time when the largest number of species are in bloom.

On a recent afternoon Mrs. Gronlund walked through the woods and along the brook with the Herald's garden writer and photographer, Sylvia Ofiana. We identified 15 kinds of wildflowers in blossom.

Especially striking in the woodland area was fringed polygala, a low-growing creeper with rose-pink flowers on short stems, each with two oval petals that appear like wings. It was like patches of rose and green carpet in the woods.

Sen. Aiken
I have also checked descriptions of flowers in the quite remarkable book, "Pioneering with Wildflowers," written in 1933 by United States Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, who ran a wildflower nursery at Putney for many years.
Sen. Aiken, before he was well known to Vermont voters, used to introduce himself as a farmer. His audiences soon learned what to expect next and there was a good natured chuckle when he explained that the crop he raised on his farm was wildflowers.

Sen. Aiken
The nursery still exists, but no longer under the senator's management. Vermonters have been sending him back to Congress continuously since 1940, and without much competition. The campaign expense account he filed in 1968 totalled $17.
Mrs. Gronlund called our attention to wild azaleas, growing as she said, "everywhere" in the woods. They were small, green shrubs then. This week the azaleas are in blossom, our hostess has reported. They are pink, shaped like the azaleas we have in our gardens, and one of the showiest of woodland blossoms.
Ranunculus bushes are putting out their small white flowers. Mrs. Gronlund said, and the columbines have started to open. Ladies' slippers will be along soon.
Slides by Krause
Some of the information I have used on individual flowers in this column is from notes I made at the Nature Center of the Lutz Junior Museum at a recent public showing of color slides taken by Albert Krause of Ridge St., marine insurance

THE GYPSY'S COMING!

THE FACTS ABOUT SPRAYING!
1-Manchester should expect LOW to MEDIUM infestation of Gypsy Moth.
2-The State Department of Environmental Protection recommends "BT Spory only. This was sanctioned by the Manchester Conservation Commission also!
3-Chemical insecticides such as "Sevin" (Carbaryl), or Organophosphates were not recommended.

4-Aerial spraying or large mass spraying was not recommended. (Aerial spraying is prohibited by law.)
5-BT is not Toxic to man and should be sprayed now or towards the middle of May.
6-Tangle Foot, Saran wrap or plain vaseline or axle grease should also be wrapped around trees to stop development of gypsy moths.
7-"Sevin" and Organophosphates (Nerve gas) are toxic to the Nervous System. They can be especially toxic to children, to the elderly, to persons with heart conditions and Pregnant Women (ie. the fetus) and also persons who are on medication such as...Barbiturates, Tranquilizers, sedatives, Blood Thinners or Orinase!
PS These facts were all taken into account during a recent meeting of the Manchester Conservation Commission and representatives of the State DEP. The Health hazards were well documented by Pharmacist Michael Dworin!

Family Farms, Middleman, And Food Costs

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Test yourself. There's a good chance that you believe one or more of the following statements:
— We don't have any more family farms in this country. Oh, a few of course, but the big corporations have taken over and they've pretty much run the little fellow out of business.
— The facts dispute this widely held notion. Data from the 1969 census aren't available yet, but those who follow the trends, such as the Conference Board, believe that 95 per cent of farms are still family-operated.

That was the percentage found in other studies made in 1940, 1958 and 1964, even though there was a sharp decrease in the number of farms — from 6,300,000 in 1940 to 2,870,000 in 1970.
There are several reasons why the belief has taken hold. One is that the average farm size has grown from 175 acres to about 390 acres in the past 30 years or so. Another is that the fact is that many of the large corporations that did go into farming found it not nearly as profitable as they had expected, and some of them now believe that there may be size limitations on the efficient farm.
What is a family farm? According to the Agriculture Department it is "an agricultural business in which the operator is a risk-taking manager, who with his family, does more than half of the farm's work."
The reason for our high food prices is the middleman. He's got a great big appetite for money, and he's making all of us pay through the nose.
The explanation isn't that simple. There's no denying that in recent years the foods that leave the farmer's lands go through many processes that add to delivery cost. But there's a little evidence of any profiteering.
First National City Bank notes that civilian spending for farm foods in 1971 totalled $11.1 billion, an increase of $4.2 billion over 1960. Of this increase, farmers received only $13.5 billion, the middleman $30.7 billion.
However, little of this increase seems to be reflected in middleman profits. It seems there are more and more middlemen to prepare and distribute foods that once were delivered raw. And the middleman's expenses also have risen.
In summary: True, the transporting, processing and distribution of foods is costing a lot more of the food dollar. But rather than blaming any one group, perhaps you should accuse our changing customs and appetites.
— By any measure, General Motors and American Telephone & Telegraph are the largest companies in the United States, in fact, the largest in the entire world. It's been that way for years.
Times change and that statement isn't true today. GM AT&T and GM. AT&T is in second place, with a value of $28.79 billion. GM is in fifth, with a value of $21.81 billion and with market value of $20.43 billion.
In between, in a compilation by Standard & Poor's, are Eastman Kodak, at $11.8 billion and International Business Machines has the greatest market value of any company in the world, with investors giving it a price of $47.8 billion. That's the figure you'll arrive at by multiplying price per share by shares outstanding.

Modest, Low-Key Poet

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)
"instead of glad to be sad with the glimmering sun; it only reminds me of the things I love, and I've just begun..."

This appealing poem was written by Barry DeCarli of Ellington. It is one of many in his recently published book "Of Sun and Rain." It is also one of many which reflect the young author's philosophy of life - not to just dream about doing things but to do them.

DOUG BEVINS (Herald Reporter) "Cheney's Goat," as the South Manchester Railroad came to be called, had its last passenger run from the North End to Cheneyville in 1933, and although the tracks are still used for freight trains, not much else remains of the unique railroad.

Lewis' model of the South Manchester Railroad's No. 4 locomotive, built to HO scale, is about six inches long. Lewis used old photographs and Baldwin Locomotive Works specifications to design the model, which was built from scratch.

Under a new "Total Cost Bid" method of purchase, the Board of Directors recently voted to acquire a $95 Caterpillar truck, otherwise known as a bulldozer, from the H.O. Penn Co. low bidder.

Recommended by Maurice A. Pass, director of the town's General Services, the new concept of purchase makes it possible to know the total cost of a piece of equipment years in advance and removes the guesswork from budgeting.

In commenting on the board's decision, Mayor John Thompson said he was pleased. "It makes sense dollar-wise and management-wise," said the mayor.

He also guarantees a minimum buy back price at the end of the period the purchaser plans to own the equipment. If someone is willing to pay more at that time, the purchaser can sell at the higher price.

'Haunting' A Success

An all around opinion of Sock 'n Buskin's "The Haunting of Hill House" is one of sheer awe. The production was a technical masterpiece. The set, sounds, and lighting crews stole the show, and although the acting was good, it would have been enough to have had the play read out loud to the audience accompanied by the special effects.

The set, designed by student Jan Rosenthal, was the epitome of a Victorian mansion, looking dusty, cluttered, and terribly old. It was decorated by antiques from dealers, attics, and I imagine, an assortment of grandmothers from all over town.

Although I cannot claim to be an expert, many of the antiques were of obvious value and gave the set a distinct character all its own. I can only find one fault with the entire set.

The story of Hill House, revolves around a dead character named Hugh Crain, who is haunting the house and trying to possess a girl, Eleanor. Over the fireplace was very prominent portrait of the old man.

However, if anyone wanted to see the painting, he had to leave his seat, walk up to the stage and look behind that magnificent Tiffany lamp hanging in front of the picture. I do not think that the lamp, as beautiful as it was, should have had top billing over Mr. Crain. After all, he was mentioned in the script, the lamp was not.

The set was lit rather dimly throughout the play. At times it was annoying because it was difficult to see the actors' faces, but when lights were used in conjunction with sound effects, the final product was amazing. At one point, the audience enjoyed his carefree attitude and the role he played was one of the things that saved Hill House from becoming a melodrama.

Mrs. Dudley, Rosemary Turkington, seemed to swing to the other side of the fence. She was the sinister housekeeper who did nothing except what she had previously agreed to. It is unfortunate that the audience had several rubber cookies. Many times my confusion was due to their rudeness, not any lack on the part of the crews and actors. This is not to say the play was flawless.

There were good points as well as bad and I have tried to give each equal time. Basically, this play was par for the course. Sock 'n Buskin should be proud of their work, but by all means, there is room for improvement.

Tennis Team Wins

The Manchester High Varsity Tennis team topped its record this past Monday to 3-1 after defeating Penney High School by a score of 5-2. The team, coached by Ray Horton, is really showing some fine potential.

Playing in the number one position, Chris Saunders (co-captain) trounced his opponent with great skill by scores of 6-1, 6-1.

In the number two position Steve Hodge (co-captain) defeated his opponent 6-3, 6-4. Hodge now sports a record of 0 for his singles competition matches.

Playing in the number three slot, Russ Sink was defeated 6-3, 7-6. Jeff Stone, playing number four, was narrowly defeated in a close match by scores of 7-6, 7-6.

In doubles competition Manchester got down to business and clinched up the match by taking all three

Set Records

A week ago Thursday the girls' track team was on the road for an away meet with New Britain High School. Although the squaws were determined to win, they were defeated 56-54.

The overall meet was exciting, with Mary Finnegan capturing two first places, 220 with a time of 29.0, and the 80 yd. hurdles with a time of 18.2, and Kim McArdle setting a new high school record in the 800 yd. medley relay with a time of 2:08.

Wendy Comp led the field events in capturing first in the shot put (30 5/8") and second in the javelin.

The girls were on the road again this past Tuesday against Hall and they were home for a meet Thursday against Suffield and Conard.

Track Triumph

Manchester, in a double triumph last weekend, edged Maloney and got by Penney. The 78-67 track victory over Maloney marked the first time that coach Dick Williams has beaten a Meriden team. Going into this week, the Tribe had sole possession of second place, sporting a 4-1 CCLL record.

Tuesday Manchester met the CCLL leader Platt, another Meriden team, and today the Tribe met Bristol Eastern.

The meet at Maloney wasn't decided until the last two events, the discus, which the Tribe swept, and the mile relay, which was sparked by Joe Stankevich, who replaced an injured Alex Schulleis. The trackmen easily got by Penney 64-61, with Mike Lombardo winning the long jump and high jump. Lombardo, a sophomore, has high jumped 6 feet, only 1/8 inch short of the school record.

Jeff Geyer came across with a second and a third in the mile and the grueling two mile. The meet this week will determine whether or not the MHS track succeeds in its quest for the CCLL title.

An Editorial

Who's Fault?

Since school opened in September all I and the other 9th graders have heard in the 9th graders have done this or they have done that.

Then when all the talk about the garbage being left in the cafeteria started, of course who did they blame it on, us, the ninth grade. Just because we eat 7th period and we, the freshmen, are the last to eat.

By this time all the rest of the garbage from the rest of the day has piled up. I know it and so does everyone else, it's just a good excuse to get us out of the high school building.

I have seen kids, other than 9th graders, when they are done eating, put their tray on another table instead of putting it where it belongs, or spill some milk and just move to another table and never clean it up. So it's not just the 9th graders. We are not the only people who eat 7th period.

So lets all, 9th-10th grade try to make the cafeteria a nice place to eat in. And if you see someone leave their tray, ask them to take it up or take it yourself. — Denise Meyer

Tag Sale Saturday

Manchester High School's storage closets are overflowing with items for the Giant Tag Sale Saturday. There have been several tag sales in the area lately, but the Student Assembly promises to top them all.

During the past few weeks, students have accumulated a fantastic amount of material from the attics of many generous contributors.

Antique lovers will find the cafeteria a treasure chest. Very old, rare, and well-preserved items will be sold at ridiculously low prices. Household items including new appliances will also be sold.

Lighting effects completed the illusion of things that got bump in the night, but the sound crew created the illusion to begin with. The crew managed to create hollow, empty knocking, diabolical laughter, and a child's weeping.

During the play, the sound effects went well, but great scenes, they left a great deal to be desired. At the end of each scene, the same small musical passage was played, supposedly by the ghost, on the upright piano. Ghosts may not be very

High Trims Penney, No.2 in CCIL Race

By Dean Yost

Manchester High scored seven runs on five hits, all singles, and five Penney High errors to defeat the Knights, 7-1, yesterday afternoon at McAuliffe Park in East Hartford. The Tribe, only a game behind CCIL front-running Bristol Central, sports a 7-3 record. Penney is the cellar-dweller with a 1-9 record.

Tall righthander Dave Bidwell turned in fourth straight performance of the season as he held Penney in check. The junior hurler, keeping his pitches low, allowed only four hits, one a booming triple in the eighth that allowed Penney's only run to score. Bidwell whiffed eight enemy batters and surrendered three walks. Southpaw Rick Linden, who started for Penney, gave up three hits, six runs in seven innings before Bud Pirra came on in relief. Third baseman Don Pagani, starting only his third game this season, led the silent Manchester hitting attack with two line singles. Pagani's solo second run and was credited with two RBI's. Bill Grimes batting for John Burger also got a single. After two were out in the second inning, Pagani singled. Shortstop

Harry Juel bobbled Rick Mika's ground ball, putting runners at first and second. Mickey Miller was issued a free pass and Bidwell's blooper over the second baseman's head was also bobbled, which let in the first two runs. Manchester scored twice in the fourth on one hit. In the seventh they picked up another pair of tallies on no hits. Lou Wellington reached first base when Bruce Peck booted his grounder in the eighth. Brennan walked a hard shot over leftfielder Bill Monroe's head for a triple scoring Wellington. As Brennan raced home, Monroe threw to shortstop Ray Sullivan who fired a strike to an awaiting Miller at the plate to cut down Brennan by three feet. In junior varsity play, Manchester topped Penney, 6-4 at Martin Park. Jim Harney picked up the win for the Tribe while Scott Odell and Rick Nicola led the offense with two hits apiece. Overall, the team sports a 3-4 record.

Golfers Shutout Two CCIL Foes

"We didn't play as well as usual, but four days of pressure golf was probably too much," said Tom Kelley, golf coach at Manchester High, as his squad defeated both Penney and Windham at the Willimantic Country Club yesterday.

Manchester blanked both clubs by the identical score of 5-0 in CCIL play. Over-all the Silk Towers sport an 11-1 record. Next match for the Indians will be Wednesday at the local course against South Catholic and East Catholic.

This will be the first golf meeting between East and Manchester in the school's history. Local individuals scores were: Scott Leone, 76; Brad Downey, 81.

Knicks Win It All With Four in Row

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Four in a row seems almost impossible," sadly commented the giant Bill Chamberlain, yet he and his Los Angeles Lakers' teammates had lost their National Basketball Association title to New York in a virtual sweep. "New York was the better team," added the 7-foot-11 Laker after the Knicks had hung up a 102-83 victory Thursday night and a 4-1 winning margin in playoff series games.

They had lost the opener and then come back to whip the defending champions four straight and there were few excuses. "They are well balanced, have tremendous passing and so many good shooters that you can't concentrate on one man. The key to the series was that the defense stopped our running game."

The Knicks' defense throttled the Lakers, particularly when there was a change of Los Angeles pulling ahead. Ironically, the Lakers had wanted to play New York in the final series rather than Boston and cheered when the Knicks beat the Celtics in the Eastern playoffs.

Last year, it was Los Angeles 4-1 over the Knicks, who had won the NBA title in 1970 by beating the Lakers. "I think we had more depth than we did the last time we won the title," commented Knicks Coach Red Holzman. "We didn't have Jerry Lucas, Earl Monroe or Dean Meminger then."

Monroe took scoring honors for the final on the New York side with 23 points and Bill Bradley, the Rhodes scholar, added 20.

DeBusschere, who started two nights before with 33 points, tallied just one field goal and sprained his right ankle in the fourth quarter when he finally did reach the scoring list.

The Lakers trailed by 14 points early in the fourth quarter, cut the margin to four and then sagged as Monroe and Willis Reed whipped in seven consecutive points. Reed, the nine-year veteran pro from Grambling, proved tremendous. Three years ago when the Knicks beat the Lakers for the title he was the most valuable in the series. Then his knees were injured. Last year he didn't even play in the final.

This time he showed more quickness than any time during the season. Again, a national magazine voted him most valuable and he received a new car. In the final game, he scored 18 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and had seven assists.

For the losers, Stephanie Ledette went 4-4 while Maureen Mackewicz banged out three singles.

FELINE: Manchester Plymouth scored heavily early then added six runs in the seventh to down Frechette & Martin, 15-9, at Filling Field. Leading the Motorwones' offense were Karen Parciak, Jackie Lovett and Nancy Parciak each with two hits.

For the losers, Stephanie Ledette went 4-4 while Maureen Mackewicz banged out three singles.

ABA All Even, Final Saturday

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The home court advantage has seemingly turned to disadvantage in the American Basketball Association championship series, but Indiana Pacers' Coach Bob Leonard isn't very happy about going back to Kentucky Saturday.

Leonard was disappointed but not shaken after the Pacers lost to the Colonels 108-83 here Thursday night to even the series at three games apiece.

"The moment's gone back and forth in this series and now they've grabbed it back," he said. Each team has won two of three games away from home, and Kentucky can't afford to get too buoyant about having the home court advantage for the nationally televised seventh and final game.

Kentucky Coach Joe Malloney mullied over the poor home court luck of the first six games and said, "It doesn't look too good, but we'd rather be home."

Indiana, the defending ABA champion, is the only team to have won two league titles in the first five seasons of play, but the Pacers have been unable to win a title since.

Thursday night, Kentucky took the lead in the early minutes of the first quarter and never relinquished it. The Colonels built the lead to 12 points, 35-43, at halftime and upped it to 14 in the opening minutes of the third period.

The Pacers cut the deficit to 78-76 with 44 seconds left in the third period, but Kentucky then reeled off a 19-3 surge to put the game on ice.

Objective Achieved By Montreal Club

CHICAGO (AP) — Their objective achieved, the Montreal Canadiens took turns sipping champagne from the coveted Stanley Cup which they earned Thursday night with a hard-fought 6-4 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

Aside from a shot here and there, there was no spraying of champagne. They were tired, weary warriors. They had done their job. The Stanley Cup now goes back to Montreal where they feel it belongs following a year absence in Boston.

"The Stanley Cup is the only trophy," said an Cournoyer who set a playoff record of 15 goals when he hammered in the tie-breaking and winning goal at 8:13 of the third period.

"The Conn Smythe," said Cournoyer, the most valuable player in the playoffs. "I wasn't even thinking about it. One man can do nothing. I didn't think about the record. When you work hard, things happen. And if they happen, they happen. How important was my goal? How important was Henri's goal?"

Henri Richard, playing on his 11th Stanley Cup winner, got the Canadiens going with a score as only 12 seconds

Salute Due Bob Digan

Nice guy answering to the name of Bob Digan will be saluted at a testimonial dinner Thursday night at the Manchester Country Club.

Bob is a former athlete, of sorts, like most of us. Among his claims is the fact he twice entered and completed the Five Mile Road Race in Manchester on Thanksgiving morning.

Also, he's been the man behind the camera recording all Manchester High football games, a service he has performed for many years. And, he was a valued member of the Recreation Department staff in past years as a scorer and league supervisor.

Now, busier than ever, with added work and responsibilities, and a growing family, Digan has turned to the role of spectator.

Digan will be honored next week for his efforts during the past dozen years as coordinator of youth services for this one-time City of Village Charn.

The happy-go-lucky, graying Digan has helped steer hundreds of local youngsters back on the right path during this time.

It should be quite a night and a well deserved honor.

Man Behind Ice Program

If ice hockey gets off the ground in Manchester, and it appears that it will in the fall, the man behind the move is Clyde Miller. Close to 150 youngsters have already signed up to take part in the planned program.

Stan Pelcher has been named varsity basketball coach at Glastonbury High. He's a Central Connecticut State College grad. . . .

Mit Gross, highly respected sports columnist with the New York Post who died this week, was a close companion of mine on numerous major league baseball and football junks.

Stan Hilinski has entered the local qualifying test on May 21 at the New Haven Country Club for the U.S. Open golf championship. Hilinski is the reigning club champ at the Manchester Country Club. . . .

Feature Stirr Merisors

Our feature, Looking Back at the Local Sports Scene, continues to draw high readership. It has stirred up many memories.

The plan is to run, whenever space is available, photos of Manchester athletic teams of years ago in connection with the town's 150th birthday celebration in June.

The Herald's special edition on Saturday, June 23, will feature one complete section on sports. Photos used in the special anniversary edition will not appear in our Looking Back series. The sports special was printed last March.

We are still looking for additional photos of local teams of another period. We must have the full names of all players. Several pictures arrived without any identification. All photos will be returned promptly.

Several requests have been received by readers to secure glossy prints of teams used in the Looking Back series. This permission must first come from the owner of the original prints.

Windham Downs East

Coach Dave Kelley's track squad dropped a hard fought 82-63 decision to track powerhouse Windham High in Williamantic. The setback evened East's record at 4-4.

Despite the loss the Eagles were able to turn in some standard performances. Weightman Mark Budarz heaved the shot put 53' to set a new school mark. Jim Giulietti took the two mile and was second in the mile run. Henry Schoebel won both the 800 and mile runs for East.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Jim Lynch, assistant basketball coach at St. Joseph's, Pa. College was appointed head basketball coach at American University.

Rangers Scramble But Not Enough

NEW YORK (AP) When you manage the Texas Rangers, you have to scramble sometimes to find a silver lining. So it was with Whitey Herzog Thursday night.

"The only good thing I can say about this is that they can only chalk up one loss against us," the rookie skipper said after the Oakland A's pounded out 23 hits and shelled the Rangers 17-2.

Not only that, but Herzog even managed to make himself believe that the outcome might have been different. "It was embarrassing," he conceded, "but we gave them six outs in the first inning and got five runs down and that was the game. If they only score two runs like they should have, we're in good shape."

True, then the final score would have only been 14-2. Elsewhere in the American League, the Chicago White Sox edged California 4-3 in 12 innings. Kansas City trounced Detroit 8-2 and Boston 10-1.

White Sox — Angels. Pat Kelly singled home Jorge Orta from second base in the 12th inning to give the Sox a 4-3 win over the Angels.

Chicago — Cardinals. Chris Speier's two-run single in the fifth inning snapped a 3-2 tie and boosted San Francisco to 4-1. . . .

San Francisco — Cardinals. Fred Patek's triple touched off a tie-breaking five-run outburst against Joe Coleman in the fifth inning as Kansas City thrashed Detroit. Patek's threebagger scored Carl Taylor, who led off the inning with a punt single.

Boston — Indians. Reggie Jackson doubled home the first two runs against Mike Paul. Ray Fosse singled home another and Dick Groat singled for two more. Fosse hit a two-run homer in the fifth. Hosley delivered a two-run single as the A's scored five more in the eighth and Deron Johnson homered for one of four runs in the ninth.

"Our starting pitchers are always gripping about not getting enough runs," said Ken Holtzman, 6-2, who allowed only three hits and one unearned run in seven innings. "Then a night like tonight comes along and you begin to realize that most things tend to even out."

Claim State Dart Title

Jolting merrily along on the winning trial is the British-American Club dart team.

By virtue of their latest, and most cherished triumph, the locals are claiming the mythical state championship.

The latter claim is based on the B.A.'s come-from-behind triumph over Old Saybrook, 3-1. The locals trailed 3-2 in their earlier match in Old Saybrook before managing to win. Earlier the teams had split two meetings.

B.A. sharpshooters were Ken Jones, Ron Valley, Len Smith, Bob Porlylo, Leo Richloff, Hank Bakulski, Ed Churilla and Joe Bastis.

NEW YORK (AP) — Black is not so beautiful in professional hockey.

White says he's not in the class with Robinson, the baseball player's appeal was much greater, and times have changed since Robinson broke in.

White said he had little trouble because of my skin color, White said.

Oddly, what black players the NHL is outdrawing pro basketball on all but two U.S. cities — New York and Los Angeles — where basketball and hockey coexist.

Some fans suggest white sports draw white crowds, and there are more and richer whites than blacks.

The Harris Poll says hockey fans are to be found in the United States in great numbers in the East and Midwest, among suburban residents, the under-30 group, those with the college education, and among those with incomes of $10,000 to $15,000.

Blacks in the United States live mainly in the inner city areas. Few go to college, and most earn $6,000 or less a year.

The United States Army is now offering two new enlistment options for service in the Regular Army which pay cash bonuses of $2,500 for a four-year enlistment. Titled the U.S. Army Cash Bonus Enlistment Option and the U.S. Army Training and Cash Enlistment Option, both are available to young men who qualify.

Prospective enlistees must meet normal mental, physical and moral standards for enlistment and must also be high school graduates. Those still in school may apply before they graduate if school officials certify they will graduate at the end of the school term.

Under the Cash Bonus Enlistment Option, young men without previous service may volunteer for the artillery, armor or infantry. The offer also applies to former servicemen if they have served less than three years and have been out of service for more than three months.

The bonus is payable upon successful completion of basic combat training, advanced individual training and the award of a military occupational specialty which certifies the soldier is qualified to perform in his military job. The bonus, of course, is subject to normal deductions.

The combat arms option may be combined with a number of other combat arms opportunities including airborne training and duty, Special Forces, Ranger, U.S. Army Europe, U.S. Army Korea, U.S. Army Alaska, U.S. Army Hawaii, or the 183rd Infantry Brigade in the Canal Zone.

The enlistee may also select duty with one of the infantry or armored divisions stationed in the United States such as the 1st, 4th or 9th Infantry or the 2nd Armored Division. Also available is the 3rd Infantry Division, now in Germany.

Requirements for enlistment under the Training and Cash Enlistment Option are identical to those for the other program.

This option, however, seeks to meet Army needs for a variety of technical skills including many in communications, missiles, radar and electronics, and nuclear weapons.

Under the Training and Cash Enlistment Option, enlistees complete basic combat training before going on to the advanced individual training leading to qualification in the field they have chosen. Most of the jobs require extensive training and provide the soldier with a background in electronics, communications or

Judge Ends Pentagon Papers Trial

Ellsberg, Russo Plan Law Suits

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, freed of charges in the Pentagon papers case because of government misconduct, say they will sue President Nixon for "conspiracy to deprive us of our civil liberties."

"We will bring suit against all the conspirators, which President Nixon appears to be the ringleader," Ellsberg said Friday after espionage, conspiracy and theft charges against Ellsberg and Russo were lifted by U.S. District Judge Matt Byrne Jr.

Ellsberg, calm and smiling, told newsmen the Watergate and White House involvement in his case reminded him of Mafia tactics.

"I think of the code of the Mafia," he said. "Silence. That has been the code of the White House."

Russo said he believed the sudden disclosures of wiretaps, a break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist and an undercover probe of the Pentagon Corp., were charged because they had been overheard on secret wiretaps showed that government agencies have an unprecedented series of actions with respect to these defendants," said Byrne.

But the defendants can "raise these issues when they desire," he added.

Wanted Litigation
While I would prefer to have them litigated, the conduct of the government has placed the case in a posture that it precludes the fair, dispassionate resolution of these issues by a jury," the judge said.

The jurors, who heard more than four months of testimony in preparation for a verdict, echoed the judge's disappointment that questions raised during the trial were never answered. And most said they would have voted for acquittal.

"It pleased me that the defendants were freed," said juror Phyllis Orman.

The judge, in a harsh condemnation of the government, said it appeared that the FBI had approved the special investigation of Ellsberg by the Central Intelligence Agency, "presumably acting beyond its statutory authority and at the request of the White House, had provided disguises, photographic equipment and other paraphernalia for covert operations."

Convicted Watergate conspirator P. Howard Hunt had told the Watergate grand jury, in testimony released by Byrne, that the CIA helped out with gadgets and disguises for the intruders who set out to get Ellsberg's psychiatric records.

Byrne noted that, when the government rested on Wednesday that Ellsberg had been overheard on a wiretap, the FBI said the logs and tapes of the intercepted conversations had mysteriously disappeared. The wiretaps had occurred about two years before Ellsberg's indictment in 1971.

The judge said he doubted the government would ever explain about the missing records or White House involvement or that the full truth would ever be known.

Byrne also had criticism for government officials who knew of the burglary of the psychiatrist's office and had not told the court, the defendants or any authorities.

This presumably referred to former presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman, among others.

Ehrlichman admitted he knew about the break-in and a White House operation by Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy to investigate the Pentagon papers leak. He said he told the conspirators "not to do this again" when he heard about the break but took no action.

Before the disclosures came in, the judge apparently already had been disturbed by the government's suppression of documents that he said could have helped prove Ellsberg and Russo innocent.

Ruled Out Mistrial
Byrne said he had decided on dismissing the charges instead of merely calling a mistrial so that Ellsberg and Russo would not be tried again.

"Under all the circumstances, I believe the defendants should not have to run the risk... that they might be tried again before a different jury," Byrne said.

Then there was a burst of applause, shouts and tears of joy by Ellsberg, Russo supporters, the defendants' families and a crowd of young legal aides who had worked for the defendants throughout the case.

Ellsberg's smiling wife, Patricia, said they had not yet thought of plans for the future.

"We have a lot of time to decide what we are going to do with the rest of our lives," said Mrs. Ellsberg.

Asked about the future of the case against Ellsberg and Russo, Asst. U.S. Atty. Warren Reese muttered, "It's dead."

Vernon's Mrs. Paul Oliver Just Another 'Mom'

By BETTY RYDER (Herald Reporter)

Mrs. Paul Oliver of Vernon is "mom" to many youngsters; some too young to remember, and others too old to forget.

The youthful Mrs. Oliver and her husband, Paul, have two adopted children, Kristine, 6-years-old and in Kindergarten at Vernon Center School, and Larry 2½.

Over the past four years, Mrs. Oliver has been a foster mother to 11 infants and several older children placed in her care by the Child and Family Services of Connecticut. Caring for children seems to come naturally for Mrs. Oliver.

"My mother (Mrs. Lawrence Smith of Farmington) had four children and when we were growing up she cared for several foster children," she said.

The Oliversons reside at 58 Vineta Dr., and Mr. Oliver is employed by Coll-Wagner Real Estate.

Mrs. Oliver also cares for a neighbor's children while their mother works.

"The infants I cared for ranged in age from eight-weeks to five-months, and you grow very attached to them," she said.

As to the difficulty of parting with a youngster, she added, "each one is your own till they go."

Cambodian Issue May Test Constitution

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has applauded House rejection of more funds for Cambodia and predicts support of the antiwar action from a Senate committee.

He also said Friday that if the full Senate takes action similar to the House, that the nation will face a true constitutional crisis." If President Nixon fails to stop the bombing.

The House Thursday approved the administration's $2.8 billion supplemental appropriations bill-but rejected a provision that would have provided more funds for bombing in Cambodia. The House also added a prohibition against using other funds in the bill for such bombing.

The measure comes before the Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday, and Mansfield predicted that the committee will "line up with the House."

If the measure passes the full Senate, the Montana Democrat said, "lines will be squarely drawn on the war-making power of Congress."

He noted that Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said earlier in the week that rejection of the fund transfer would not stop bombing.

"If the will of Congress is not adhered to, the nation will face a true constitutional crisis," Mansfield noted.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the administration will continue what it regards as the proper policy-providing requested help for the Cambodian government. He said if funds are not available, then Congress will bear the responsibility.

"They have thrown down the gauntlet," Mansfield said, "and the constitutional crisis will begin on this (appropriation) bill."

Mansfield noted that an amendment under Senate consideration would prohibit the use of any money previously appropriated by Congress for further U.S. military activity in Southeast Asia.

He added, could come in a pending bill to limit the President to emergency use of the armed forces for only 30 days without approval by Congress.

Skylab Crew Medically Fit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) - The medically fit Skylab I astronauts relaxed in their quarantine quarters today as preparations proceeded on schedule for the launch next week of America's first space station.

Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Paul J. Weitz and Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin were declared "ready to fly" after daylong physical examinations at the Johnson Space Center near Houston on Friday.

Dr. Royce Hawkins, deputy director for medical operations at the center, said the medical tests "went extremely well and we feel confident the crew is ready to fly. We saw no medical problems."

The medical information also will be used for in-flight and post-flight comparison of the astronauts' physical condition. A major goal of the Skylab program is to determine how well man can function physically in space for long periods.

Conrad, Weitz and Kerwin, a physician, are to inhabit the Skylab, as large as a three-bedroom house, for 28 days. The Skylab 2 and 3 crews will rocket to the same station in August and November for 56-day stays.

On Sunday, the three astronauts will board separate T38 jets to fly to Cape Kennedy. They'll settle into crew quarters five miles from the launch pads.

They'll be at a viewing site three miles away at 1:30 p.m. EDT Monday when a Saturn 5 rocket is to loft their space home toward an orbit 270 miles above the earth.

Byrne said he had decided on dismissing the charges instead of merely calling a mistrial so that Ellsberg and Russo would not be tried again.

"Under all the circumstances, I believe the defendants should not have to run the risk... that they might be tried again before a different jury," Byrne said.

Then there was a burst of applause, shouts and tears of joy by Ellsberg, Russo supporters, the defendants' families and a crowd of young legal aides who had worked for the defendants throughout the case.

Steele Predicts Rise In Gasoline Prices

MIDDLETOWN (AP) - If New England's independent gasoline dealers are cut short on supplies from major oil companies, residents of the region can look forward to higher fuel prices, according to U.S. Rep. Robert Steele, R.Conn.

Preliminary investigations show that "the future welfare of many residents and thousands of small businessmen throughout New England has been severely threatened by recent actions taken by federal government and by the major oil companies," he said at a congressional hearing here Friday.

The session was held by Steele and U.S. Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass.

Steele said the northeast is in a peculiar situation in that, unlike other parts of the country, New England relies heavily on the independent marketer or distributor who supplies 80 percent of the heating oil and one-third of the gasoline.

"If the independents are cut out of the business, the whole New England market would be affected by further price increase and disruption of supplies."

That intolerable situation now appears to be developing rapidly," Steele said in prepared remarks, referring to reports that major oil companies have begun to cut back their supplies to dealers and others threaten to do so.

One way to cope with the problem would be to have the president use the power given to him last month by Congress to allocate fuel on the basis of need. Steele said.

Representatives of independent northeastern gasoline and oil dealers told the congressional hearing that they were skeptical but hopeful that a federal voluntary plan for petroleum distribution will keep their supplies coming.

"I'm always skeptical of voluntary plans," one dealer said.

An adviser to the Oil Policy Administration's new Oil Policy Committee, William A. Johnson, said, "We're going to try a voluntary system because we think it will work. If it doesn't, we'll simply have to go to a mandatory program."

Johnson referred to the administration's request that major companies allocate their supplies of gas and oil so that all customers who were supplied for a 12-month period overlapping 1971 and 1972 would get similar proportions of fuel this year.

The plan is designed to maintain the supplies of independent dealers.

The Oil Policy Committee also directed the Interior Department's office of oil and gas to assign priorities to insure continued fuel supplies to some users, such as hospitals, trucks, farmers, police and food processors.

GREENVILLE, Maine (AP) - State police today found six suspects on John Knibbs, 23, of Unionville, Conn., Alloway Groupen, 25, of Farmington, Conn., and Harry Brown, 39, of West Burke, Vt.

State police said the bodies of the three men were found in this small New Hampshire border town about 8:45 a.m. Friday by 8ththel Police Chief Robert Stearns.

Officials said said the deaths are being further investigated by the Oxford County Sheriff's Department, but that a preliminary probe revealed no foul play in the incident.

Derailment Attributed To Heavy Rains

NEW YORK (AP) - A Penn Central Railroad spokesman says a derailment that killed one person and injured three other passengers Wednesday in Connecticut occurred because heavy rains caused loosening of the track roadbed.

The railroad's 6:52 a.m. train from Danbury, Conn., to Grand Central Terminal derailed at 7:21 a.m. just before the New Haven branch train pulled into Branchville, Conn.

The Penn Central spokesman said Friday:

"Due to heavy rains in that area, the roadbed under the low rail side of the curve at Branchville was caused to sag and the front wheels of the second engine of the train were derailed, leading to the derailment of the following six coaches."

Violent Weather Hammers Midwest

By The Associated Press

Violent weather continued to pound the nation's midsection today as thunderstorms and powerful winds curved through central Texas into Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama.

A tornado smashed through Joplin, Mo., Friday, killing three persons, injuring 90 and doing more than $7 million in damage, according to a city official.

The tornado affected more than 15 communities in the area, but Joplin suffered the most severe damage.

The Joplin twister followed a tornado in Willard, Ohio, Thursday night that killed three persons and injured 60. Twenty-six of the injured remained hospitalized. A city official estimated damage at $5 million.

In Texas, the Fort Worth area clocked winds of 65 miles per hour Friday evening, and San Antonio reported winds of 57 m.p.h. early today.
