North Atlantic Fishery Threatened

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) — American fishermen who live off the waters of the North Atlantic say their livelihood may be dead within a few years, the victim of foreign competition.

Haddock, the lifeblood of Boston fishermen, have been all but wiped out by foreign fleets which fish outside the 12-mile international limit. And many other commercial species, including flounder, perch and herring, have been dangerously depleted in the one-rich waters stretching from Cape Hatteras, S.C., to Maine.

Unless the federal government persuades foreigners to take less fish or seizes control of the fishing off its shores, industry people say commercial fishing will cease in the North Atlantic, possibly within three years.

"The foreign fleets are raping our waters," says Jack Donegan, president of a local of the Seafood Workers Union.

"If we don't move by next year, three years from now we're going to be kissing the industry good-bye," Donegan said. "Everyone is saying the same thing — management, labor, scientists and government. We're all in the same boat."

"It's inevitable," said Commissioner Frank Grice of the Massachusetts Division of Marine Fisheries. He predicted that other species will follow the way haddock are headed and become commercially extinct.

Neither proposal is likely to win much support in Washington where officials point to the obvious diplomatic problems such actions would create.

American fishermen are bitter and blunt about seeing foreigners take over coastal waters that 15 years ago were theirs alone.

Congress should have declared control of the East Coast fishing banks 10 years ago, said Tom Powers, mate of the Mary and Joseph, a fishing boat out of Boston. "Fishing is just about done here," said Powers, a 42-year veteran of the seas. "Uncle Sam has tried to be Santa Claus for the world's

Today's Thought

When the night swoons down to embrace the day, I shall slip my moorings and sail away. Through the purple shadows that darkly trail, O'er a ripple of water to tell the tale Of a lonely voyager sailing away. The craft of those who had sailed before, O'er the unknown sea to the unknown shore. And a few who watch me sail away. But I shall have peacefully furled my sail, safely moored from storm and gale. Greeting the friends who sailed before, O'er the unknown sea to the unknown shore. Submitted by the Board of Deaconesses Second Congregational Church

The last year that we had our old 'Biddy' partridge she had her nest back of a stone wall. O.C. left seeds for her every day. One morning he found the nest wrecked and a lot of feathers scattered around. That was just another of the catastrophes that happen to wildlife. They all live according to nature's law of the survival of the fittest.

When the good wife was taking it back it got away and was so lively that we had difficulty catching it again. Then she took it back to the berry patch and hoped that mother and babe would get together again. Partridges are not the only birds that fly against objects. We have picked up a number of black cap chickadees that have hit windows of buildings and parked cars. They are knocked out and would probably die if left lying on the cold ground.

It is claimed that hawks do more good than harm. That may be true. At least they are in Connecticut now protects them. It was not always so. After losing chickens and noting wildlife kills by hawks, we passed up no chance to shoot them.

O.C. shot one from the top of a tall white oak. The bird pitched forward, set its wings and glided through the woods without striking anything. It landed about 150 yards away.

Securities Industry In Economic Doldrums

NEW YORK (AP) - A tragedy of the securities industry, where red ink is spreading and layoffs are rising, is that it probably could be in the midst of a golden age if it had only made the proper moves. But apparently it didn't, and the prices of stocks are depressed and corporations are concerned about future financing.

Where it went wrong is now the subject of in-depth studies, but it seems fair to state that -Individual investors lost their confidence not so much in stocks as in those who sold them the stocks, and they may not re-enter the market until the securities industry clears up its own affairs.

It means that when it hit the ground it flopped over onto its back because it lay with wings still set out and both feet straight up in the air. The bullet hole was through the center of the body. O.C. believes that bird was dead when it left the limb.

When the car was getting closer to it the hawk abandoned his banquet and flew away. O.C. stopped when he had reached the last place from which to look back to the squirrel. In a short time the hawk appeared and began to tear at its victim.

Very young partridges can not survive getting wet and chilled. A cold rain can about wipe out a brood of chicks a few days or a week old. We knew of one family of that critical age just when strawberries were getting ripe. The mother was feeding on strawberries while the chicks were getting the insects which they must have at first before they can eat seeds or berries.

When the good wife was taking it back it got away and was so lively that we had difficulty catching it again. Then she took it back to the berry patch and hoped that mother and babe would get together again.

Five-Day Weeks

When we went to college, a couple decades ago, there was a rule of thumb that a student should spend about three hours cracking the books on his own for each hour spent in class. We'll admit few students regularly obeyed this suggestion.

But the admonition was recalled recently when we noted the president of a Vermont college had ordered his faculty to work a full five-day week. According to the story, some faculty members, each of whom is required to teach 12 hours a week, were scheduling their classes on Tuesday and Thursday and just working a two-day week.

"What we are trying to stop is the people who for personal gain or other non-professional reasons are working less than a five-day week," Harold Abel, president of Castleton State College, said.

His implication appears that some were probably taking advantage of the situation to moonlight.

His request will undoubtedly arouse some ire among faculty members who feel they are getting in a full week although their classroom appearances seem to indicate otherwise and he recognized that exceptions could be made for "scholarly work off campus during the regular work week."

Apparently Abel is extending that dictum of a couple decades ago by stating faculty members too should be spending a few hours each day in class preparation in ratio with the number of hours spent in class.

Should the idea spread to other colleges, there might be a shortage of speakers for women's clubs, commencement exercises and some of the other functions that pros seem to find a lot of time to do while complaining about heavy teaching responsibilities.

But maybe the student will benefit through better-prepared instructors who might in turn inspire the students to devote more time to study outside the classroom also.

Maybe all our colleges and universities should review faculty schedules and if similar abuses are found, rectify them. Who knows, it may prove a better means of providing a better education and improved facilities, than ever increasing demands for more money for more faculty members who aren't working full-time teaching students in turn who aren't challenged enough to study full-time.

Comments On Impeaching Nixon

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Try this list of names. William Bount, John Pickering, Samuel Chase, James H. Peck, West H. Humphreys, Andrew Johnson, William W. Belknap, Charles Swaine, Robert W. Archibald, George W. English, Harold Luderback, Alsted L. River. Do you recognize them? Andrew Johnson is the giveaway. Because of the noise his impeachment has made in the American history books. Otherwise they remain in their merited obscurity. They are the 12 men who have been impeached by the House and tried by the Senate, from 1797 to 1936.

Irving Brant, veteran newspaperman and biographer of James Madison, wrote a learned brief on the constitutional history of the 12 cases, mostly to head off the move for impeaching Justice William O. Douglas. It was published last year in "Impeachment — Trials and Errors" (Knopf) — and it should be read reverently in this Watergate year.

People are starting to talk, in a gingerly way, about a Nixon impeachment, in some recent conversations around the country I find that most people skirt it still, but it stays in the air, and you feel its brooding presence when they talk about the agony of Watergate.

By the Constitution (Article I and 2) and by later usage, impeachment applies to the President, Vice President, federal judges and other "civil officers of the United States," but excludes senators and congressmen. It is meant for "Treason, Bribery or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors."

to hold any other federal office. The President can't intervene, since it is his appointees who are being tried.
It may sound simple and clear-cut, but few sections of the Constitution have turned out to be as vexing, tangled and generally unsatisfactory in their application. In most of the 12 historical cases, the partisan spirit of both Houses has had a field day. "The history of impeachment in the United States," Brant writes, "shows all too plainly that the House and Senate, if restrained only by their own sense of self-restraint, can twist 'high crimes and misdemeanors' into an unrestricted power to impeach for any cause."

This doesn't overstate it. Not that the men who have been impeached to bring before the Senate have been angelic. Blount was a senator who got muddled up with a filibustering expedition; Pickering, a drunken federal judge who swore testily from the bench; Chase, no drunk, but a political intertemporal judge; Peck, another judge who didn't have much judgment; Humphreys, a judge who joined the Confederacy.

Well, the back has to stop at Richard Nixon. They're his policies. But the pussyfooting of the Democrats in Congress should earn them no votes from the electorate. They run the show on the Hill. They have the power of the purse and they write the laws. The President would not now have even that meaningless one-year extension of casting the plain man in the role of patsy for their policies-pussy.

Government of the People?
WASHINGTON — As of now, Republican candidates seem likely to get it in the neck from the electorate next year as a result of President Nixon's failure to check the high cost of living. But a second thought intrudes.
It is that voters today are a lot smarter, and come 1974 they may start inquiring into the Democrats' part in the inflationary mess. That part has been and is a big one because although the policies are Richard Nixon's, a Democratic Congress since Nixon's inauguration, they have done nothing to assert their power to force stricter controls on the White House. Indeed, if one is cursed with a nasty mind one is tempted to wonder if the Democrats secretly are happy with high prices, for obvious reasons of partisanship.
Consider the most recent record. When Congress took up the one-year extension of the Economic Stabilization Act a couple of months ago Democrats filled both chambers with warnings that there would be no extension without provisions for a rollback of prices, or at least a freeze. So the mountain moved and brought forth a mouse—a clause to compel some disclosure of costs and profits by big corporations that raise

Inside Report

Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

The Nixon Doctrine Fails
much of the massive bombing is wasted. "The average FANK brigade commander doesn't know enough about tactics to lead a platoon," a foreign military attaché told us.
Thus, the three years since the Cambodian war began have been wasted. Less than 1,000 professional U.S. advisers — perhaps CIA paramilitary experts with experience in Laos — might have transformed the FANK into irregular light infantry capable of confronting the Communist insurgents. Instead, the FANK, though better armed, is no better led than in 1970.
What's more, its will to fight has noticeably diminished thanks to Marshal Lon Nol's inept, but if you're striking a credible regime — a failing due in part to U.S. attempts at keeping a low profile in Cambodia.
The proper role of Emory Swank, a skilled diplomat completing three trying years as U.S. ambassador to Cambodia, has never been clearly defined. Though much more than a conventional ambassador (he personally approves U.S. bombing in Cambodia), he was not expected to do anything about the authority of U.S. ambassadors in Laos.
Consequently, Swank had no clear mandate to do anything about Lon Nol, surrounded by corrupt officials and astrologers and isolated from both the people and the army. When the marshal last fall publicly ordered Cambodians to report to the police anyone purchasing a jack rabbit because of an imagined Communist plot to blow up fortifications with booby-trapped hares, it should have been clear his connection with reality was tenuous.
It was clear enough to U.S. embassy here but not to the parade of visiting generals and admirals from Washington and Honolulu. Regally entertained at the palace, they sent back glowing reports on Lon Nol while some diplomatic and military officers here found their regular reporting censorious.

Unbelievably, after the American experience of over 30 tragic years in the Orient, the Chiang Kai-shek syndrome is not dead. A carefully documented report to Washington of how Lon Nol's goon squads stole last year's presidential election was denatured by attached rebuttal. Later, a report on the marshal's seamy personal life was totally suppressed. Belated U.S. pressure on Lon Nol in early April to broaden his regime came when nearly all was lost. Hanoi has no such problems. Prince Sihanouk and his Peking-based "government" are figureheads; Hanoi-trained Cambodian cadres are in charge. While the U.S. frittered away three years, North Vietnamese regulars were preparing Cambodia for the surprise offensive that began Jan. 27. The insurgents still go into battle with North Vietnamese advisers at their side. The 367th North Vietnamese sapper regiment, Hanoi's last foot soldiers actively fighting the FANK, is now training a successor Cambodian unit.
Consequently, Cambodia's "civil war" is a Hanoi export, no true political insurgency has taken root among the easy-going Cambodians. But with neither Lon Nol's feeble regime nor a shackled Nixon administration effectively responding to military pressure, prospects are poor that the Nixon Doctrine will preserve Cambodia's independence. The rest of Asia will note that failure.

Senate Inquiry Operates Under Few Restrictions

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — While courts punish the past, the Senate's Watergate investigators have a broad mandate to expose it and then recommend steps to reform campaigns to come.
That is the central difference between the public hearings in the Senate, and the proceedings still under way in grand jury investigations, with trial expected to follow.
Courts are concerned with the question of whether someone acted illegally, violated a law.
The Senate investigators can delve into areas where there is no law. For Congress decides whether there ought to be one; whether something that was questionable or unethical in the 1972 presidential campaign should be a crime in 1976.

As the grand jurors do the rules and boundaries of inquiry. The strict guidelines of evidence and procedure apply in open court do not apply in a Senate hearing.
Senate guards the proceedings of the committee. The Senate investigation is not only public, it is broadcast and televised.
The combination of sweeping inquiry and glaring publicity has brought criticism of some past congressional investigations. It has produced complaints that some panels have acted for the sake of politics and publicity to no valid legislative end.
The Watergate investigators say that will not happen in their proceedings.
"I shall not participate in any witch hunts," said Sen. Sam Ervin Jr., D-N.C., when his committee was created to look into 1972 campaign wrongdoing.
It is officially the Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities and it was created Feb. 7 to investigate "illegal, improper or unethical activities" in the last presidential campaign.
It has a $500,000 budget. And it is under instructions to report by Feb. 28, 1974, the findings of the investigation, and recommendations for any new campaign-reform legislation its members deem necessary.
The Watergate wrappings itself will be only the starting point for the Senate panel, which is to look later into cover-up charges, disruption or sabotage of the presidential campaign, and financial aspects of the 1972 campaign.
In fact, under the resolution that created it, the committee can inquire into almost any aspect of the last presidential campaign.
It is a committee created for its task, with four Democratic and three Republican members. Republicans had sought an even split between parties. But the Democrats applied in open court do not apply in a Senate hearing.

Cotter Hails Boycott Success

Congressman William R. Cotter, D-Conn., a leader in the April 17 meat boycott, today hailed a U.S. Department of Agriculture report that said the boycott is causing a "downward pressure" on meat prices in May.
The Congressman said he was "gratified" by the report.
"Many of the leaders and participants of the boycott were severely disappointed that their efforts did not have an immediate effect. Now the new U.S. Department of Agriculture 'Livestock and Meat Situation Report' demonstrates that the housewives' effort paid off."
Cotter, who has continued his efforts to lower food costs, again asked families to continue the two meatless days a week.
Cotter noted, however, that the fight for lower food prices will not only be fought at the check-out counter. "With the adverse weather in the Midwest which could affect major crops and increased world demand for grain, the Nixon administration should be taken stronger steps to assure that the housewife's food prices will not be increased to bail out the U.S. overseas trade deficit."
Cotter has been fighting to assure that U.S. Agriculture exports, which have increased over $4 billion this year, will not be drastically affected by U.S. consumer prices.
The U.S. Department of Agriculture "Livestock and Meat Situation" report said that livestock was sold from the market in late March and April in response to the nationwide meat boycott.
The report also indicated another effect of the boycott — changing meat-eating habits may also have future effects.
"After the organized boycott, consumers appeared to be reluctant to increase the meat purchases to former levels. Consumer demand for meat likely will recover, but may not be as buoyant as during the winter," the report said.

Near-Record Profits Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — The country's economic boom resulted in near-record corporate profits during the first quarter of the year, the Commerce Department reported Thursday.
It said before-tax profits of corporations increased $1.6 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $13.1 billion in the first quarter, second highest increase in the country's history. After-tax earnings rose $1.1 billion to an annual rate of $62.3 billion.
The increase in before-tax profits tallied only the increase of $1.7 billion in the first quarter of 1971, a post-recession period.
However, the Nixon administration is concerned over the rapid growth of the economy and hopes to moderate the economic boom, which could have a dampening effect on corporate profits later in the year.
The Commerce Department also issued revised figures on the first-quarter economic performance which showed the economy increased at a rate of 14.5 per cent, but the inflation rate of 6.5 per cent.
A preliminary report on the Gross National Product—the measure of output of total goods and services—had put economic growth at 14.3 per cent, including inflation of about 6 per cent.

New Type Retail Zone Proposed by PZC

VIRGINIA CARLSON Correspondent Tel. 228-9224

The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has proposed adding a residential-retail zone to the zoning regulations, according to Dr. Bruce Bradford, PZC chairman.

The residential-retail zone would run from Conklin Limestone Co. on Rt. 66 to the center of the town at the junctions of Rts. 66 and 87, on the Conklin Limestone side of the road. The PZC has also proposed to extend the zone in the future.

Zone Request Denied

A request by John Naumec to extend the commercial zone on the Hop River Road along Rt. 66 to property owned by Mary Naumec has been denied by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The unanimous decision was made at the meeting after a public hearing. The request was denied because the topography of the area is not conducive to commercial development, according to the PZC.

Rham Board Defends Double Sessions

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-9271 Double sessions and additional staff needs at Rham High School, two of the major items which apparently caused rejection last week of the Regional District Board of Education's proposed budget, are the topics of two statements released this week by the board before a second vote on the budget Monday evening.

The board states that its members share citizens' opposition to double sessions except when, as in the present situation, they are necessary. In supporting the necessity for double sessions the board says that if the school is to have adequate space to operate a comprehensive high school program, double sessions for Grades 7 and 8 are "essential."

The student enrollment is expected to jump from 1,118 this year to approximately 1,250 next year, it contends.

The board also points out administrative figures citing 100 per cent use of regular classrooms, science laboratories, shops, art rooms, music rooms, homemaking rooms, business education rooms, resource rooms, special education rooms, library, gymnasiums and cafeterias either as a cafeteria or as a study hall.

Average class size, according to administration figures, is between 20 to 25 pupils; however, there are a number of classes with enrollments from 10 to 20 students, most of which are "offered only once a day and are important to the students enrolled in them."

An attempt is made by the administration, considering scheduling problems and student schedule conflicts, to fill each room or space to the maximum.

The board also points out the results of a district informational meeting and a districtwide survey, both of which favored double sessions. The survey showed 82 per cent of the residents in three towns who replied favored the double sessions for Grades 7 and 8.

The board points out that the proposed budget for staff increases reflect recommendations made by the Visiting Committee of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, which is required by the State Department of Education for purposes of evaluating and accrediting public secondary schools.

One major concern of this committee was the need for additional staff, and it recommended 13 specific additional teaching and guidance positions, one administrative position, plus the equivalent of two professional positions in areas such as health, speech and hearing, and psychological services.

In addition, the staffing has increased each year Rham is expected to have a professional faculty of approximately 90 full-and part-time personnel and a total non-instructional staff of 30.

The additional assistant principal would not only assist the faculty matters, they cause thousands of dollars worth of damage every year, in the Greater Hartford area alone.

At Abair-Lavery we have no inside jokes of pests found, we will provide you with an immediate estimate and explain what needs to be done.

Washington Social Club Work of its Members

The Washington Social Club at 68R E. Center St., behind Orange Hall, is the product of its membership. It was built in 1923 by members, under supervision of members, from plans drawn by members. It all began when the Orangemen of Washington Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 117, decided to organize a social club to promote athletic and recreational programs for the members. The idea was advanced in late 1921. A petition was presented to the Orange Hall Corp. by the lodge requesting that a home be built for the club on property to the rear of Orange Hall. The corporation appointed a joint committee of members from Washington LOL, from Star of the East, Royal Black Preceptory, and from the corporation, charging it with responsibility of selecting the site, raising the funds, and building the club. These members, some of whom are no longer living, were on that committee: Alex Shields, Joseph Little, George Tomlinson, Frank Mullen, Albert Jackson, Thomas Telford, Thomas Stratton, Archie Haugh, William Flavel and William Preston. The chairman was Ephraim Macaulay. Jackson, who lives at 60 Winter St., and Chris Peterson were the architects and the builders, and the volunteer club members worked under direction of Macaulay. The building was completed and turned over to the newly organized Washington Social Club furnished and free from all encumbrances, in May 1923. Interior furnishings and decorations were donated by the ladies Loyal Orange Lodges, Daughters of Liberty, No. 17 and 125. Frank Mullen, who lives at 131 Pine St. and celebrated his 87th birthday Tuesday, May 8, has the original hand-written copy of the bylaws and house rules of the club. The first president of club was George Tomlinson. His officers today are Milton Turkington, president; Daniel Hair, secretary; and Robert A. Haugh, treasurer. There have been only six stewards in the club's history. Thomas Stratton was the first and others, in succession, were Joseph Kennedy, David Neville, William Stratton, William D. Turkington, and William Forbes. A renovation program was undertaken more than two years ago by the club officers. Forbes was then president. Again, it was volunteer help from members, especially John McDowell and William Riehle, who provided a new social lounge on the first floor and reconditioned the directors' quarters upstairs, all completely carpeted. Again, it was the handwork of wives and Orange Ladies who decorated the clubrooms. A 50th anniversary celebration day has been planned for Saturday, May 26, and the general chairman is Forbes. Open House will be observed all day. At 2 p.m., there will be a variety of musical entertainment in Center Park, featuring four pipe bands and one brass band. Three of the pipe bands are from Manchester — the Manchester Pipe Band, the British-American Club Stewart Highlanders Pipe Band, and St. Patrick's Pipe Band. Visiting from out-of-town will be the Washington, D.C. Pipe Band made up of many former members of the U.S. Air Force Pipe Band. It will bring with it four Highland Dancers who are pipers in the band. The Sphinx Temple Shrine Band will offer a concert of marches, Broadway show tunes, and works from the pen of Leroy Anderson. An anniversary dance will take place in Orange Hall from 9 to 1.

Gardening

FRANK ATWOOD

The Vitters grow 200 hanging-basket fuchsias in their greenhouse for spring sale each year and, if they had room, would grow 500. They never have enough to meet demand, which comes to a peak on the Mother's Day weekend.

The greenhouse is nearly stripped of fuchsias now but next April and in early May it will be filled again with the graceful drooping branches, red buds and red-and-white blossoms of Swingtime.

If you took one home it should be placed in good light but not in direct sun. It should be kept out of extreme heat and it should be watered often. Any plant in a hanging basket will dry out more rapidly than a plant that can send roots down into the garden soil for moisture, and the luxuriant growth of a healthy fuchsia requires a reliable water supply.

less space than Swingtime, and a profuse bloomer.

To keep a plant through the winter at home it must be given a rest period during November and December in a cool, dimly lighted place, and given only enough water to keep the wood plump. The temperature, which is impossible to attain in most homes, should be between 45 and 50 degrees. In January the plant can be taken into a room with a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees and given a little more water until growth starts. If you live in the same room, the fuchsia may be comfortable but you won't.

There are three Vitter brothers and none of them had a background in horticulture. They lived in the North End and their father worked at the Underwood factory and then at United Aircraft, played baseball and later was an umpire for local games.

The boys also played baseball but when William, the oldest, was out of school and working for the Hartford Electric Light Co., he put up a lean-to plant stand in front of the house and started to sell plants. Norm, the middle brother, began working in high school, and full-time after graduation.

In 1954, the Vitters started the garden center on a piece of Tolland Tpk., frontage that Bill had been able to buy when the street was just starting to develop commercially. It was a fortunate choice. The Turnpike carries a lot of traffic now and the Vitters only wish their lot was bigger.

Bill grew perennial flower plants at first, and for some years raised chrysanthemums in large quantities. The Vitters also grew annual plants for sale to their customers. Like many garden centers, their business is now mainly merchandising, buying plants from wholesale growers, perhaps keeping them for several months as they do the fuchsias, and selling them at retail.

Now there are five Vitters. The brothers are Bill, Norm, and Jack. Bill's wife, Frances, has helped him from the first, and now their son, David, is working in the family business.

Candied Flowers

Members of the Manchester Garden Club nibbled candied violet, lilac and Johnny-jump-up blossoms and tiny mint leaves with their refreshments Monday evening when they heard Mrs. Andrew Pinto of Bloomfield talk on "Herbs for Use and Delight."

Part of Mrs. Pinto's "act" is to bring refreshments when she talks on her favorite garden subject and she served spice cake flavored with her own candied seeds, and more Johnny-jump-up flowers embedded in the frosting, and pound cake flavored with rose geranium leaves and rose water. With the tea she had steeped orange mint leaves and dried calendula blossoms.

Red-and-white blossoms of Swingtime fuchsias hang in colorful rows in the greenhouse at Vittner's Garden Center on Tolland Tpk. The flowers are often likened to dancing girls in swirling skirts. (Herald photo by Orla)

Now you don't have to hack and hoe your head off to cultivate your hard-pan soil. With adequate water, GRAND PRIZE works itself into the ground to loosen clogged soil. Just run it on your lawn or spade it into your garden. Jerry Baker says: "Gypsum should be applied to all lawns, flowers, trees and shrub beds if the soil is the least bit hard or compacted. It will break up clay and render it useful, improve drainage, increase fertilizer efficiency."

Before you bust another blister, give GRAND PRIZE a try. Pick up what you need at your garden center or hardware store this weekend.

Before Gypsum: Heavy, compacted soil slows root penetration; restricts development of plant roots and foliage.

After Gypsum: Plenty of pore space for air and water; better utilization of rain and sprinkler water possible savings on water bills.

Industrial Bond Issue Approved

HARTFORD (AP) — The Connecticut Development Commission has approved more than $9 million in industrial revenue bonds for five companies that want to expand or relocate in Connecticut.

The largest authorization, $3.3 million, will go to Trio Industries, a subsidiary of Buldex, Inc., of Jericho, N.Y. The money will be used to build and equip a new plant in Shelton. Trio manufactures windows, doors and stairways. International Synetics Corp., of South Norwalk, will receive $2,725,000 to construct a new plant in Trumbull that will enable it to triple overall employment.

The firm, which manufactures industrial trash-compacting equipment, employs 60 persons in New York City, Lindenhurst, N.Y., and South Norwalk. The New York and Lindenhurst operations will be combined and expanded in the new plant. The Henry G. Thompson Co. of New Haven, will receive $2.6 million to build a new plant in Branford. The firm which manufactures 200 in manufacturing employs 200 in manufacturing and plans to move and expand its entire operation at the new site.

Thermoform Corp. of New Rochelle, N.Y., will receive $500,000 to buy a building in Stamford. The company employs 100 people in welding systems, manufacturing and plans to move its entire operation to Stamford. Incoor, Inc., of Milford, will receive $12,000 to remodel the former Milford plant in Milford. The lamp making firm plans to double its employment from 40 to 80 when the new site is completed.

Catholic Census Shows Slight Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — A 1973 census lists 48,460,427 Roman Catholics in the United States, an increase of 49,437 that was described as the second smallest annual gain ever registered.

The new statistics, compiled for the Official Catholic Directory, noted a continued decline in infant baptisms and a leveling off in the downward trend in the number of priests and nuns.

The current small growth in church membership, undercut only by a slight membership decline in 1970, dropped the Catholic percentage of the population from 23.5 per cent to 23.1 per cent. The total of priests dropped only 432 to 58,969, and the number of sisters fell only 538 to 145,654. In 1971 the count of priests fell 1,031 and in 1969 the total of nuns fell 9,000. Infant baptisms declined 79,862 to a total of 975,071, continuing a decline from a peak in 1963 of 1,282,000 and indicating a reduced birth rate from increased use of birth control methods.

Dr. Douglas Smith, MLCTN president, expressed his appreciation to the guests and members for their cooperation in the organization's first year. "The purposes of the land trust are to preserve and conserve natural resources of the Town of Manchester," he said, "and we hope more residents will join in this effort."

Committee chairman submitted their reports and two new members were elected to the board of directors, Robert Lappen and Walter Foss. Foss had previously served on the board, and Lappen replaces Robert Fuller.

Reporting for the membership committee, Harry Maitland noted that the charter membership is 106, voting members 150, two junior members under 18, and two associate members, bringing the total membership to 260.

Dr. Alan Krupp in submitting his publicity and education committee report, told of the progress being made in preparing a brochure for circulation in September for the purpose of explaining the purpose and goals of the Land Conservation Trust, Inc.

"The cover of the brochure is individualized with a picture with more local meaning, the use of the Oak Grove Nature Center," Mr. Krupp said.

William Sleith, master of ceremonies, expressed his thanks to Grant for his invitation to meet and film presentation. Other officers are Gustave A. L. Melquist, professor of plant breeding at the University of Connecticut, vice president; Mrs. Andrew A. Pinto of Bloomfield, secretary; and Mrs. Robert G. Shipman of Glastonbury, treasurer.

Atwood retired in 1970 from WITC as farm program director after 24 years. He still conducts a Saturday morning garden program with Corine Willard on Channel 3.

Committee Bill Sets Curbs On Troop Commitments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously has approved a bill that would prevent a President from committing U.S. troops abroad for more than 30 days without congressional approval.

The measure, identical to one passed by the Senate last year, would not apply to present military operations in Vietnam or Laos without congressional approval. In a speech prepared for the Foreign Policy Association, Scott predicted that presidents and congresses of the future will meet the challenges of war and peace "by a joint exercise of their talents and powers."

Leaders said Nixon inherited a full-blown war resulting from a phased commitment with congressional acquiescence. "The President, he said, was bound to bring the war to a planned conclusion for the United States, "much in the same manner as it began."

A bill passed by the House last week would prohibit spending money contained in a supplemental appropriations bill on the bombing in Cambodia. Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, chief of naval operations, told the House defense appropriations subcommittee Thursday that "without the bombing, it is almost certain Cambodia would fall."

PUC Turns Down CCAAG Challenge On Hausman

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has denied a motion by a citizens action group to have commission chairman Howard E. Hausman disqualified from hearing a rate increase request of the Connecticut Light and Power Co. (CL&P).

The Connecticut Citizens Action Group (CCAG) filed its request Monday, contending that Hausman should not bear the case because of his friendship with a CL&P executive and because of comments in a recent commission decision concerning citizen interest groups.

The commission ruled today, however, that the circumstances alleged in CCAAG's motion were insufficient to warrant Hausman's disqualification. The citizens group said Hausman should be disqualified to avoid any appearance of impropriety.

CCAG, which opposes the rate increase, also referred in its motion to a commission decision last summer which referred to groups that seemed to want to thwart essential power service expansion.

The hearing on the latest CL&P request is scheduled for Monday.

WCSK To Hear Mrs. Thibeault

Mrs. Mary Thibeault, director of the Employment Center for Women at Hartford College, will be guest speaker at a Women's Society of Christian Service (WSSC) United Methodist Church meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the Ethel Gould Room of Susannah Wesley Hall of the church.

Mrs. Thibeault, a former Manchester public school teacher, has taught at Manchester Community College and Kingsborough College, Brooklyn, N.Y. Her position at Hartford College is an internship for partial requirements for a Ph.D. from Union Graduate School of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

The Employment Counseling Center provides an occupational counseling service for all women and offers vocational and educational programs on careers of particular interest to women. It also maintains a "Talent Bank," a potential labor resource with a wide Turkiye before getting on the Turkiye.

Highway Crews Cleared Of Private Work Count

Manchester's acting director of public works has determined there is no truth to allegations by town residents that highway crews are using private vehicles for work. In a speech prepared for the Highway Department garage for doing private repair work on town paid time.

However, to guard against future charges which, he said, although rumors, are very damaging to all town employees, Jay Giles has issued an order which prohibits the use of town facilities and equipment by private vehicles during after-duty hours.

The only exceptions involve town-owned motor vehicles and equipment assigned to department heads, assistant department heads, work coordinators and inspectors. Those vehicles, as a rule, are driven to and from home and work.

Giles' order puts an end to the town policy which permitted town employees to work on private vehicles during off-duty hours, and allowed Highway Department mechanics to work on vehicles owned by other town employees.

Flight controllers were able to stabilize the heat at 106 degrees by orienting the spacecraft with one side away from the sun. John Disher, deputy Skylab program director, said the stabilization bought the time to delay the mission five days, with a possibility it might have to be put off an additional few days.

Vernon ZBA To Allow Rt. 30 Restaurant

The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted Valentino R. Fiano of Manchester a special permit for a restaurant in connection with plans to build a Ramada Inn on Rt. 30 in Vernon.

Fiano owns the parcel of land which is almost across the street from the Howard Johnson Restaurant. Permission to build the inn had previously been granted, but Fiano indicated the inn would not be built unless it could be in connection with a restaurant also.

He was also granted permission which will allow the restaurant to sell alcoholic beverages. Representatives of two nearby churches, St. John's Episcopal and Sacred Heart, both indicated the memberships had no objection to construction of the inn.

Fiano had to ask for the special exception as the town is in the process of changing zoning regulations to provide for more controlled development along Rt. 30 and Rt. 83.

Environmentalists Asked To Make Views Known Earlier

HARTFORD (AP) — The state Transportation Department (DOT) Thursday urged persons concerned about the environment not to wait until the "eleventh hour" to stop a highway.

"They were invited to participate in the planning of roads and transportation systems. Robert Gubala, head of DOT's environmental section, said the department wants to design roads and mass transit systems with a minimum impact on the environment and social life of a community.

For the first time, he said, DOT would seek public input into the annual master transportation plan. Regional meetings have been held, but attendance has been skimpy, he said.

Gubala said DOT's new program was not a token. He conceded, however, that mass transit alternatives to highways would require federal and state fund commitments which have not been made. He said there is a "preponderance" of highways in the existing master plan.

A PACER program is required by federal law in every state by Nov. 1. Gubala said DOT would seek out public opinions on highways at the planning stage. He also said DOT would use "do-nothing" alternatives as a basis for discussion of new highways.

He also said DOT would begin to monitor past projects, measuring noise, water and air pollution. University of Connecticut engineering students would make long-range assessments on highway projects, Gubala said.

Such monitoring could lead to remedial steps such as closing ramps or re-laning a road. The effects of new roads on minorities and the disadvantaged also would be measured in DOT's planning, Gubala said.

The governor said PACER would make sure that environmental concerns "go into the original planning" in highway planning. In another comment, Meskill said he was "thinking" of personally arguing before the Public Utilities Commission against rate increases requested by Connecticut Light & Power Co. and Hartford Electric Light Co.

Skylab Mission Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts and engineers worked across the nation today to perfect equipment and procedures for flying a delayed repair mission to the overhauled Skylab space station.

The space agency had hoped to mount the unprecedented mission to erect a sun shield on the orbiting vehicle Sunday but decided Thursday it couldn't be done that soon and delayed the attempt five more days.

It was the second five-day postponement for Skylab astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz. They were to have set out in pursuit of the laboratory Tuesday but remained grounded because of a trouble developed aboard the craft.

The major problem was created when a thermal shield ripped off the Skylab, enabling the outer skin to absorb the sun's rays and heat the interior of the vehicle so that it was uninhabitable.

Flight controllers were able to stabilize the heat at 106 degrees by orienting the spacecraft with one side away from the sun. John Disher, deputy Skylab program director, said the stabilization bought the time to delay the mission five days, with a possibility it might have to be put off an additional few days.

Coventry PZC Grants Request For Day Care Center

HOLLY GANTNER, Correspondent, Tel. 742-8795

The Planning and Zoning Commission, meeting earlier this week, granted an application by the Second Congregational Church to establish a day care center.

The proposed center would care for no more than 20 children, aged two through five, who must be Coventry residents.

Also granted was an application by Frances Kelly of Flanders Rd. for the operation of a pet grooming parlor in the basement of her home.

The PZC denied permission to Edward Burroughs for the construction of a basement apartment, stating that related family members may share the home under existing regulations.

Elections Coming

It doesn't seem possible, but the year is coming to an end. The Student Assembly presidential election will be in the spotlight next week.

Tennis Team Aces Maloney

The Manchester High Tennis Team turned back Maloney High Monday afternoon at the Memorial Courts to win its third match of the year.

Tromp Bristol

After absorbing a defeat administered by powerful Platt High, the Manchester High School track team bounced back to win a convincing 79-60 defeat at Bristol Eastern.

Excellent runners of MHS. In the triple jump, long jump, discus, and shot put Platt High track team bounced back to win a convincing 79-60 defeat at Bristol Eastern.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Randy Comp

This is my reason for running for president of the Student Assembly. Being active in school activities for two years gives me a lot of insight into how this school is operated and what the Student Assembly can do.

deliver the power of decision to the students of MHS. I am running for president of the Student Council because I believe a new type of leadership is needed to combat the ever-growing apathy that exists at our school.

My first direction I feel the Student Assembly must strive for, better communications between students. This would make it easier for the Assembly to reach its goal of working for the student body.

Finally, the third direction I feel the Student Assembly must strive for, better communications between students. This would make it easier for the Assembly to reach its goal of working for the student body.

Curse You, Mad Yankee

"The Mad Yankee is on the loose again!" "What a Mad Yankee!" "A Mad Yankee is a deranged sadist who likes to see the students of MHS suffer."

Golf Team Doing Well In League

The Manchester golf team is once again to state championship. In last year's state rank of seven will be improved upon by the four veterans that make up the squad.

The team wears no uniforms, and is not easily recognized on game (match) days in school because they do not wear ties. Just watch for the ones who smile when it's sunny and are in a jocular mood when it rains.

Shiek Unveiled

"The Shiek," a highly acclaimed masterpiece of cinematic wizardry, will be available for student, teacher and/or class viewing at a limited time only at MHS.

In conclusion, I would like to thank the liberal policies of MHS for making this election possible and I give you my word that I will, as president, carry on these precious traditions. - Al Press

New HSW Editors Named

The turnover of club officers evidences the fast approaching end of school for this year. The High School World staff is among those organizations which recently chose new heads.

All Manchester High students are invited to participate in the Muscular Dystrophy Bikathon Saturday, June 2, 1973. The Bikhathon will be on the Glanville Recreation Department's Bikhathon course through some of the most beautiful and scenic parts of Glastonbury.

Aquacette Members Chosen

Aquacette try-outs were held last week. New members were chosen. They are: Jeaneane Roto, Dawn England and Pat Jensen all juniors; Barboden, Donna Knowlton, and Pat Lloyd all sophomores.

Tag Sale Rated A Success

Last weekend had to have been one of the busiest for the student assembly ever. Many of the kids on the Tag Sale committee started setting up for the Tag Sale on Friday afternoon before the dance. It was like watching an old slap-stick movie when we had to get all the junk out of the cafeteria before the dance began.

One-Run Decisions Killing Boston Sox

DETROIT (AP) — One-run decisions are killing the Boston Red Sox, along with the Detroit Tigers, in the American League East race.

The Red Sox' state of frustration deepened Thursday night as they dropped a 1-0 decision to the Tigers before only 9,126 fans on another cold night at Tiger Stadium.

Boston southpaw John Curtis, once an off-season sports writer before he made the big leagues with the Red Sox in 1972, was left with nothing but words.

The loss was the seventh in 11 one-run decisions for the Red Sox and their sixth in a row to the Tigers, who edged Boston by just one-half game in the East race last October.

Curtis made only one mistake, but it cost him his fourth loss against a single victory.

He held the Tigers to seven harmless hits for seven innings. Then veteran Tony Taylor, in the twilight of his career, led off the Detroit eighth with a drive into the lower seats in right center for his second homer. Taylor started the game with a .173 average.

Jim Perry, an old Boston nemesis, went the distance with a six-hitter for his second victory of the season over his cousin. "Perry liked his career record to 30-15 against the Red Sox, while improving his season mark to 5-2."

The Red Sox failed to cash a couple of scoring chances against Perry. With two out in the fourth, Orlando Cepeda doubled and took third on a wild pitch, but was stranded as Rico Petrocelli grounded out.

Boston put runners on first and second with just one out in the sixth, but Carl Yastrzemski lined into a double play. In the next inning, Carlton Fisk and Doug Griffin singled with two out, but Rick Miller was an easy infield out.

The Red Sox really were frustrated in the eighth. Dwight Evans singled and Tommy Harper walked. Then Mike Guerrero, Carl Yastrzemski and Cepeda hit into force plays to end the threat.

Certain Defeat Turned Around

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob by Murcer is no bookmaker, but he knows a sure thing when he sees it. And nothing looked more certain Thursday night than Milwaukee's Jim Colborn.

Colborn was cruising along on a four-hitter and had retired 14 consecutive New York batters. He was one out away from locking up a 2-0 Brewer victory over the Yankees when Murcer stepped up to bat.

"I would say," said Murcer, "that the odds against my winning in that situation were about 100-1."

Murcer hit Colborn's first pitch for a home run, narrowing Milwaukee's lead to 2-1.

Two pitches later, Ron Blomberg doubled and Graig Nettles followed with a game-tying single.

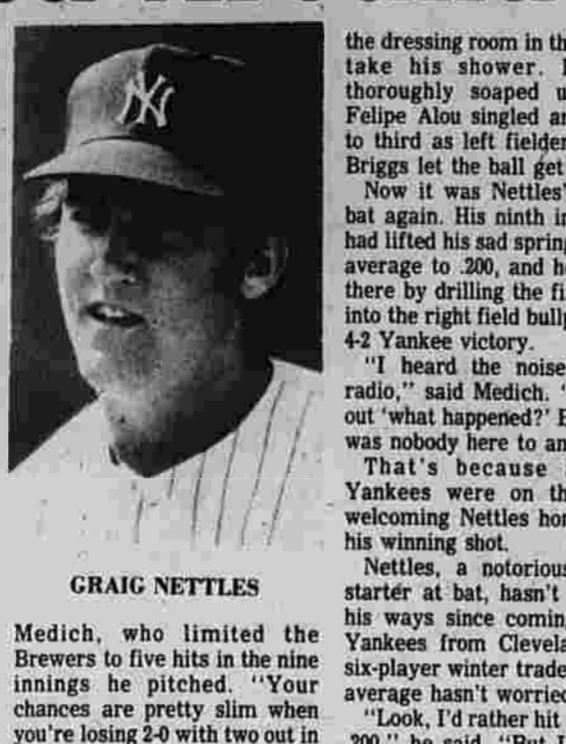

"It all happened so fast," said Nettles. "The ball game turned around in about 30 seconds."

When he hit the homer, I guess the odds dropped to about 50-1," he said.

GRAIG NETTLES

Medich, who limited the Brewers to five hits in the nine innings he pitched. "Your chances are pretty slim when you're losing 2-0 with two out in the ninth," he said.

It had been a 1-0 game until the ninth when Darrell Porter reached Medich for a homer.

"When we tied it," said Medich, "I was glad, but in a way, I was sad. If it hadn't been for that homer by Porter, we'd have won it right there."

Medich watched the 10th inning on the bench, then went to

American League Roundup

Scoreless String For Palmer Ends

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore pitcher Jim Palmer's search for his third straight shutout ended 450 feet from home plate.

But when the mammoth ninth-inning home run hit by Cleveland catcher Dave Delp can stop the run, Palmer still had his third victory in a row and the memory of 26-13 scoreless innings.

"It's a good way to ruin a shutout, a quick way," Palmer said of his "60-0" record after he had handled the Indians on three hits, 4-1.

"It was a fastball that I didn't throw in the right spot," he added. "I tried to keep it away from him but it went down the middle. At least it wasn't a cheap home run."

In the other American League games, New York overcame Milwaukee 4-2, Detroit blanked Boston 6-1, Kansas City topped Texas 5-4 and Oakland shut out California 4-0.

Orlando Indians pitcher Jim Palmer, who posted a 21-10 record last year, got off to a rough start in 1973. The hard-throwing right-hander didn't gain his first victory until the Orioles' 18th game.

But now Palmer, 4-2, is making it rough on opposing hitters as evidenced by his last three outings, a five-hit blanking of California, a three-hit shutout of New York and Thursday night's three-hitter over Cleveland.

Royals-Rangers
Kansas City broke back into the victory column after four straight losses, including Nolan Ryan's no-hitter, on John Mayberry's soft springing and the combination of Wayne Simpson and Gene Garber's hard throwing.

White Sox-Twins
At Bloomington, knuckleballer Wilbur Wood won his ninth game of the season as Dick Allen's two-run homer and Rich Reichardt's three runs-batted-in accounted for all the Chicago scoring.

A's-Angels
In Anaheim, Dick Green hit a three-run homer and Jim "Catfish" Hunter pitched a five-hit shutout against the Angels, who lost more than the game.

They lost the services of outfielder Bobby Valentine who smashed into the center field fence while pursuing Green's home run and suffered a broken right leg. He is expected to be sidelined for at least three months.

National League Roundup

Sutton Got Message

NEW YORK (AP) — For a second — just one second — pitcher Don Sutton thought the years might have caught up with Walter Alton, the 61-year-old skipper of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Reds had loaded the bases off Sutton in the first inning on a double by Pete Rose, a walk, a wild pitch and another walk.

Alton then marched out to the mound.

"How many innings do you want to go today?" Alton asked his pitcher, with a straight face.

"I thought he'd lost the ace of spades for a minute and wasn't working with a full deck," Sutton said later.

"Then I got the message."

"That he did. Sutton pitched his way out of the jam by getting Richie Scheinblum on a fly ball, then settled down to hurl a five-hitter — retiring 16 consecutive batters in one stretch — before leaving the game for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning, when the Dodgers rallied for three runs to defeat the Cincinnati Reds 3-1 Thursday afternoon.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago topped St. Louis 6-4 in another day game, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 9-4 and Houston edged Atlanta 2-1 in night action, the New York Mets' game at Montreal was postponed because of rain and cold weather and San Diego and San Francisco were not scheduled.

Dodgers-Reds
It was the second straight game in which the Dodgers rallied in the late going to beat Cincinnati. They topped the Reds 8-6 in 11 innings Wednesday night.

Alton called the comeback victory "as morale-boosting as a 15-0 win," then observed, "We don't have too many easy ones."

Cards-Cubs
Run-scoring singles by pinch hitter Ed Crosby and Luis Melendez in the ninth inning led the Cards over the Cubs.

"Finally we were able to put some hitting and pitching together," said St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst. "It's a good feeling."

Pirates-Phis
The Pirates sent Steve Carlton to his fourth consecutive defeat by scoring three runs in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 tie. One came in on an error by Philadelphia's rookie third baseman, Mike Schmidt, and two scored on Dave Cash's double.

Carlton, who won 27 games and the Cy Young Award last year, is now 4-6 on the season.

Astros-Brewers
Ken Forsch stopped the Braves on four hits and struck out eight for Houston, which got both its runs in the fourth on singles by Cesar Odeno and Bob Watson, a sacrifice fly and Tommy Helms' double.

Atlanta's Hank Aaron got his 11,000th official time at bat in Rotary Club of Manchester, Sunset Club of Manchester, Natung Forest of Tall Cedars of Lebanon, the Women's Club of Manchester, WATES, and YMCA of the Hartford Region flag poles, for display on Main St.

Contributions were received also in memory of Police Det. Leo R. Grover and Mr. and Mrs. John McCoole.

He said the flags are on order and he is "hopeful of having them flying on Memorial Day and for the Sesquicentennial Celebration in June."

Thompson listed the following contributors to date: State Controller Nathan G. Agostinelli, Mrs. Betsy Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John Melesko Jr., American Legion Auxiliary of Dilworth-Cornell-Quey Post 102, Anderson Shea Post Auxiliary of VFW, Army and Navy Club, Campbell Council of Knights of Columbus, Civitan Club of Manchester.

Also, Connecticut Northeast Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons Inc., Orford Parish Chapter of the state House of Representatives and sent to the governor.

Rep. Howard A. Newman, R-Norwalk, said some drugists had taken advantage of Connecticut's ban against advertising prescription drugs by charging unusually high prices.

He said surveys in other states which have similar bans revealed wide differences from one store to another in the price of the same drug.

Last year the House passed a bill to lift the ban on prescription advertising but the measure died in committee. Newman answered those who said the bill didn't go far enough toward equalizing prices by calling it a first step.
