Nixon - Pompidou Talks To Cover Several Topics

PARIS (AP) — President Georges Pompidou will have two major preoccupations when he meets President Nixon in Iceland Thursday and Friday.

He will want "explanations and clarifications" of Washington's European policies, as outlined in Henry A. Kissinger's speech last month calling for a new Atlantic Charter.

And he will tell Nixon that Western Europe will find it difficult to accept new rules for world trade in the Nixon-round talks next fall without an assurance that the permanent crisis in the world monetary system can be resolved in the not-to-distant future.

That depends largely on the health of the U.S. dollar, French officials say.

Pompidou in particular will express concern over what Europeans see as an implied threat in Kissinger's belief that transatlantic political, economic and military problems are linked and should be considered as a whole.

French officials stressed, however, that Pompidou would not be acting as a spokesman for Europe. He would be talking to Nixon "in the name of France, and as a European," they said.

Pompidou will remind Nixon again of the French view that the solution of the world monetary crisis depends largely on the "good will" of the United States. He will restate the view agreed upon at the Common Market summit meeting last October that what is needed is a return to fixed but adjustable parities and general convertibility of currencies — above all of the dollar, whose role as a reserve currency must be reduced.

French officials cautioned against any expectation of a solution emerging from the meeting in Iceland. They hope instead for a "common will" to resolve the crisis based on mutual confidence.

Skylab Crew Set For 28-Day Stay

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab astronaut Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin today pointed a battery of telescopes at the sun, hoping to give scientists their best look yet at how this seething sphere of gases controls our solar system.

Physicists also hope the experiment will help unlock the secret of controlled thermonuclear fusion, the source of the sun's energy. This might aid in the search for an unlimited, pollution-free power source on earth.

While Kerwin tuned up the $107-million array, Charles Conrad Jr. and Paul J. Weitz assembled cameras and sensors which they'll use starting Wednesday to survey the earth's resources.

It was the fifth day of the planned 28-day orbital flight. The telescopes are mounted on a large device that is extended away from the orbiting station on long metal arms. Kerwin operated them from a workshop console which Conrad calls so complex "it's like playing three 88-key piano boards at one time."

The astronauts on Monday completed setting up housekeeping in the laboratory, which is the size of a three-bedroom home, and began their first medical experiments.

A makeshift sunshade erected Saturday reduced temperatures to near 80 degrees, far below the 125 degrees recorded inside the cabin after a heat shield was ripped away during the launch of Skylab on May 14.

Flight controller Neil Hutchinson predicted the temperature would level out near 70 degrees within a day or two and make the workshop fully livable.

During a brief news conference televised to mission control Monday, Conrad replied, "You betcha," when asked if he felt they could complete the full four-week mission.

If the temperatures keep going down, it's gonna get real pleasant in here. It's not bad now."

Kerwin, the first physician to fly in space, conducted three major medical experiments Monday. He drew blood from all three crewmen and then monitored Weitz on two devices.

One was a cylinder which fit over the lower half of Weitz' body and, with air evacuated, simulated gravity pressure like that experienced by a man standing on earth. Several measurements will be taken of each man during the mission to gain a running measurement of the deconditioning rate of the cardiovascular system (heart and blood vessels) in weightless space.

Weitz also rode a bicycle exerciser at various workload speeds while Kerwin took heart, blood pressure and respiration readings. The physician, however, reported both tests were affected somewhat by the high temperature and that readings wouldn't really be meaningful until the workshop cooled further.

More medical checks were scheduled today in an extensive program that aims at learning how well man can live and work in space for a long time.

Ex-POW Leader May Bring Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials expect a former U.S. POW leader to file aiding-the-enemy charges soon, perhaps today, against a small group of soldiers and Marines he commanded in a North Vietnamese prison.

Unless he changes his mind, Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy's filing of formal charges against seven to 10 Army men and Marines would be the first such action against any of the 566 returned military POWs.

Besides aiding-the-enemy charges, military sources said Guy would accuse the soldiers and Marines of disobedience of orders and disrespect to superior officers.

More than a month ago, the 44-year-old Guy denounced

Rain Mutes Local Memorial Day Rites

SUE KLEMENS (Herald Reporter)

The drums were silent, batons invisible and trumpets muted yesterday during a rainy Memorial Day.

But this lack of brass bands, flag-waving children and so-called Boy Scouts (attributed by most to the weather) was perhaps the only way to usher in the first "war-free" Memorial Day in 40 years, according to John Garofalo, principal speaker at ceremonies held in Woodruff Hall of Center Congregational Church yesterday morning.

For it is the Vietnam veteran, coming home to "no fanfare, no job, no recognition, reduced G.I. benefits and reduced material benefits," who bears the brunt of the turbulence and bitterness of society," Garofalo said.

Through a formula of mutual "Respect, Dignity and Appreciation," Garofalo urged a crowd composed of mainly "those who have the same color hair as me" to listen to the words of today's youth in order to fulfill the American ideals of working and growing together.

He advocated a return to the peace and beauty of a Memorial Day prior to the war-turbulent society of today. At that time, young and old alike gathered to reflect upon its past accomplishments and its promising future, he said, and the concept of war was only as visible as a Revolutionary War monument or a history book lesson.

Forty years of war transformed American nationalism and confidence to its current status of uncertainty and self-criticism, Garofalo said.

"The tragedy of Vietnam has taught us the greatest of all lessons: Humility. Imperialism replaced by self-concern, over-confidence turned into humility

Weather Dampens Holiday Rites

By The Associated Press

Somber, stormy weather across much of the country discouraged large turnouts for the nation's first Memorial Day ceremonies since all U.S. troops were withdrawn from Vietnam.

The dead of all wars were honored Monday in traditional parades and neighborhood wreath-laying observances, many of them conducted under umbrellas. Some activities were canceled.

Special notice was paid in some places to victims, survivors and the missing soldiers of the war in Indochina.

At traditional parades in Michigan, hundreds of persons distributed leaflets demanding that North Vietnam account for 50 Michigan servicemen missing in action during the war.

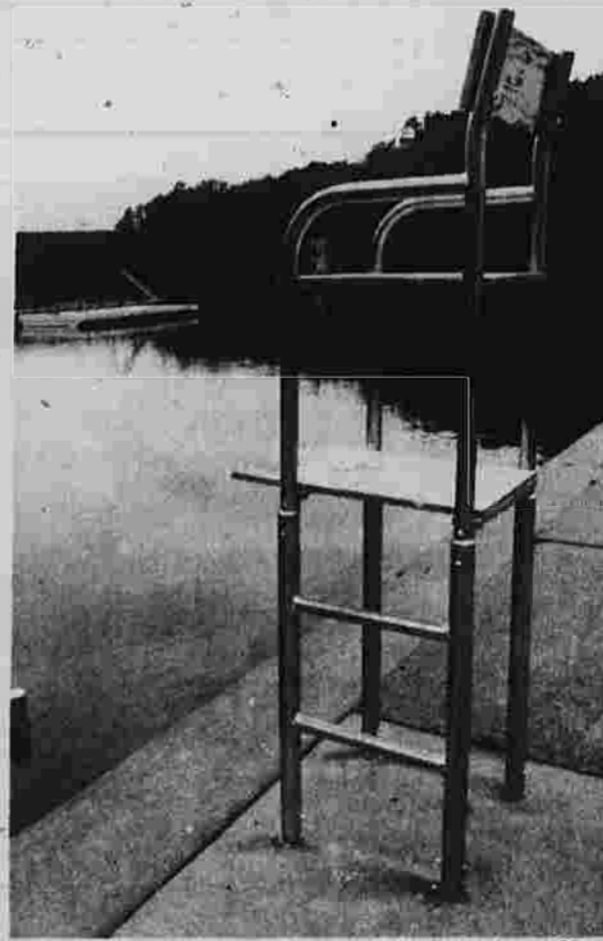

In New York City, the 106-year-old United War Veterans parade to the Soldiers and Sailors Monument overlooking the Hudson River changed from and acceptance of others: This must be the new approach to an American dream of peace supported by a young generation nourished on newspaper headlines as well as history books.

In order to cure the American dilemma of divisionism and unrest, Garofalo once again prescribed "communication" and mutual "Respect, Dignity and Appreciation" as a means of achieving the ideal of peace and tranquility.

This simple ceremony was apparently a reflection of the peace advocated by Garofalo. The only musical accompaniment was provided by a piano played by Mrs. Everett Kennedy of the American Legion Auxiliary, Peter Vendrillo, chairman of the Permanent Memorial Day Committee, introduced Mayor John Thompson, who welcomed the group of veterans and other interested

At Least 48 Die In Storms Over Long Weekend

By CRAIG AMMERMAN Associated Press Writer

A record number of tornadoes dipped to earth from storm systems across the Midwest and South over the Memorial Day weekend, claiming at least 48 lives in multi-million dollar trails of destruction.

Several small towns were all but obliterated as about 160 tornadoes turned the long weekend into a holiday of horror for thousands.

Deaths were reported in 11 states from Oklahoma to Florida, and at least six other states reeled under heavy rains, high winds and flash floods.

The National Weather Service said the number of tornadoes reported between Saturday and Monday eclipsed any previous 72-hour period on record.

Among the victims of the weekend weather were farmers in the lower Mississippi Valley whose crops had been delayed for weeks by spring floods. The new rains dealt them another blow, and some counties in the region prepared to ask for the second time this year that they be declared a federal disaster area.

The weekend weather systems caused five deaths in Oklahoma, three in Kansas, seven in Missouri, three in Arkansas, ten in Tennessee, one in Mississippi, seven in Alabama, two in Georgia, one in Florida, seven in North Carolina and two in Virginia. In addition, six persons in North Carolina and one in Virginia were listed as missing and presumed drowned.

The storms began Saturday in eastern Oklahoma and continued into Monday night, when a tornado at Athens, Ga., took the life of one person and left more than 80 injured. Reports from local officials indicated total losses would climb well above $100 million. The worst damage appeared to be in small towns such as Brent, Ala., and Keefeton, Okla., and in the city of Jonesboro, Ark.

The storms began their weekend of terror in Keefeton, a community of 400 in eastern Oklahoma. Officials said a funnel cloud dropped from the sky just west of town on Saturday and proceeded to make a half-mile-wide swath of destruction.

Destroyed was 75 per cent of Keefeton, including 150 homes, 125 cars and virtually all of the business district. Five persons, including four members of the same family who were rushing toward a shelter, were killed.

As the storms criss-crossed the Midwest and South during the weekend, a great many of the deaths resulting from drownings. Flash floods and wind-whipped lakes knocked out power, swept away homes and uprooted trees in state after state as the storms moved first southeast and then up the East Coast.

Monday, killing all three people in them. The driver of one, Andrew Zitnay, 65, of Trumbull and his 64-year-old wife, Jean, were dead at the scene. The other driver, Azalea Daniels of Bridgeport, died after being admitted to Danbury Hospital.

The Zitnay car swerved into the path of the Daniels car, police said.

Mrs. Rita Alves, 21, of Chester, Vt., was struck and killed by a car as she walked with her husband on Dudley Town Road in Windsor early Monday. Police said she was seven months pregnant.

Her husband was reported in critical condition at Hartford Hospital.

The driver of the car, Clinton S. Adams, 26, of Windsor, was charged with reckless driving and misconduct with a motor vehicle, police said.

Patrick Lumbard, 41, of Bridgeport was killed early Sunday when his car collided with another car on Route 8 in Trumbull.

Ernie Gallant, 50, of Bridgeport drowned Saturday night in Big Greenough Pond, Wentworth Location, N.H., when his fishing boat overturned, police said.

The Coast Guard called off its search Sunday for Francis McGann, 35, of Southington who fell from a cabin cruiser in Long Island Sound Saturday evening between Westbrook and Clinton. He was presumed drowned.

Japanese Post Trade Deficit

TOKYO (AP) — Japan has posted a record deficit in its over-all balance of payments for the second consecutive month. The net outflow for April totaled $1.18 billion, compared with a $1.09 billion deficit in March and a $157 million surplus a year earlier, the finance ministry reported Friday.

KEEP SURE LOSER FOR END PLAY

By Alfred Sheinwold
What is the use of keeping a sure loser? Strangely enough, there is one. The sure loser enables you to saddle the proper opponent with the lead at a time when he cannot make a safe call.

West took the ace of diamonds and led a third diamond to dummy's queen. This gave South the problem of discarding on the queen of diamonds.

South naturally thought first of discarding the queen of hearts. West surely had the king of hearts, so the queen was a sure loser.

A second thought then came to South's rescue, and he discarded a small club. His next step was to cash dummy's ace of clubs.

If both opponents followed, South would give up a club and reach dummy with a trump in order to discard the queen of hearts on dummy's last club.

Best Club Break
As it happened, however, the clubs broke badly. South thereupon abandoned the club, leading the ace of hearts and then the queen of hearts from his hand.

West had to win with the king of hearts. What could West do then, poor thing? Whether West returned a heart or a diamond, dummy would ruff while South discarded his last club.

There would be a different story to tell if South discarded the queen of hearts on the queen of diamonds. He would have no way of sticking West with the lead, and South would lose two clubs as well as two diamonds.

What do you say? Answer: Bid one club, with four cards in each of the black suits and with the strength for an opening bid, open with one club, rather than with one spade.

Budget Validity Questioned By Hebron Taxpayer Group

A group of 12 Hebron residents, calling themselves the "Ad Hoc Hebron Taxpayers Association Committee," is questioning the validity of the vote which approved the regional board of education's $1,390,256 budget May 21.

In a letter addressed to Mrs. Imogene Richards, chairman of the board, the committee questions the validity on the basis that "no qualifications of who was eligible to vote were stated by the meeting's moderator" and "nor was there any attempt to verify the qualifications of those who actually did vote, by the moderator."

The committee requests the vote be invalidated by "verifying the qualifications of those who voted." In conclusion, it requests, "if it is not possible to ascertain the qualifications of those who were present and qualified to vote," that "this vote be declared invalid and a new meeting called to deal with the Rham budget for 1973-1974."

The ad hoc committee has scheduled a meeting for Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Hebron Elementary School to which it has invited citizens of Hebron who are concerned with heavy educational taxes to attend.

The meeting is planned for those residents of town who, according to a statement from the committee, are concerned with the 90 percent of their tax dollar being spent for education; the 2.5-mill rate increase anticipated for next year; double sessions at Rham High School; and the fact that the state has limited its educational spending to a five per cent increase whereas local educational facilities have increased their spending to more than 10 per cent.

The committee has scheduled two speakers for the meeting—representatives from the Norwich Taxpayers Association and the Colchester Taxpayers Association.

Members of the ad hoc committee are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mulligan, Mr. and Mrs. John Diluciano Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Laws and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Marquis.

Royce Choice Of YR Club

The Manchester Young Republicans (YR) Club has re-elected James Royce of 146 Hamilton Dr. its chairman.

Other officers elected for the 1973-74 year are: Michele Harteau, vice chairman; Carolyn Shattuck, secretary-treasurer; and Kenneth Royce, delegate-at-large.

Following the elections — at the club's annual meeting last week — a plate, inscribed with the state seal, was presented to Mrs. Karin Vondra for her activities over the past 10 years in local, district and state YR organizations. Among the officers she has held are chairman of the Manchester YR Club and national committeewoman for the Connecticut Federation of YRs.

Royce has been an officer of the Naugatuck Young Republican Club, was a delegate to the Fifth District YR executive board, was a delegate to district and state YR conventions, and was active in the 1970 gubernatorial election. He was a delegate to the 1972 GOP convention for the 14th Assembly District.

Cambodian Insurgents Raid Town

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — About 400 Cambodian insurgents raided a river town 10 miles northwest of here Monday night, killing the members of a dozen families and burning 50 houses, the military command said.

Field reports said 100 militiamen stationed in Prek Kdam, on the Tonle Sap River, fled when the insurgents forces entered the town.

The military command said the members of nine civilian families and three military families were killed and 26 other persons were wounded in the three-hour attack that began at midnight.

Field reports said most of the captives were Chinese. Cambodian Muslims opposed to the Phnom Penh government.

Prek Kdam is on Highway 5, the main highway from Phnom Penh to Cambodia's rice bowl in Battambang province. The highway has been cut for months.

U.S. fighter-bombers had pounded the 60 miles of river bank from the South Vietnamese border. But the convoy came under intense shelling from insurgent forces using 75mm guns two miles south of the government naval base at Neak Laung.

Intelligence reports say about 8,000 insurgent troops are moving into the area around Neak Laung, which is 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. The Cambodian command believes they are going to try to take the base.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese command reported at Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and nine government soldiers killed Monday in Communist attacks in the Mekong Delta and north of Saigon. A communique said another 30 government troops were wounded.

The Bicycle Boom

Henry Ford, who rode a bicycle before he put America on automobile wheels, kept his personal bike at his River Rouge estate to ride for fun and exercise — a precept being followed today by a rapidly growing number of adults and children.

More than 14 million bicycles were sold in this country last year, and the Food and Drug Administration says an estimated 40 million are in use. Some bike promotion groups estimate double that number.

One thing troubles both the FDA and the bike riders. Riding bikes isn't safe on our streets and highways. Of one million accidents a year, involving the two wheeled, says the FDA, "38,000 involve automobiles and more than 800 result in death." Obviously, a 30 lb. bike isn't going to win a round with a 3,000 lb. automobile. So what can we do?

The FDA maintains "in many cases the bicycle itself is a major cause of these accidents." So it is rolling out a list of new safety standards which may help but misses the biggest safety move of all — the separation of automobile and bicycle traffic, just as we build sidewalks for pedestrians.

These improvements can be affected promptly. They apply to any bike intended for sale to children under 16 but the practical effect will be to cover all bikes, imported as well as domestic, sold in this country.

A group, calling itself Friends for Bikeology, asks in full-page newspaper ads: "Where are the Bikeways?" It notes 3 million miles of paved roads for 90 million motorists in contrast to 16,000 miles, or just 13 inches of bikeway for each of 80 million cyclists.

Bikeways, radiating from residential neighborhoods, would resolve the endless arguments over mom's taxi service, another car for the high schooler, or busing. And more use of bikes for home to office, school and shopping trips, if made safe by bikeways, could sharply reduce air pollution, ease the energy crisis, and keep the users healthy longer.

That's some bargain these days! Our town can build a bikeway now.

Inside Report

Kissinger's Dilemma

WASHINGTON — When the FBI revealed the existence of 17 or more telephone taps to uncover national security leaks, Dr. Henry Kissinger's aides suspected one of those taps was on Kissinger's own phone — reflecting the meretricious suspicions between Kissinger's National Security Council (NSC) staff and the Haldeman-Ehrlichman palace guard.

In fact, Kissinger's White House telephone was spared an FBI tap, at least in that particular phase of the running investigations by the FBI and other federal investigators of the NSC staff, ordered by the suspicious Ehrlichman-Haldeman "Berlin wall."

Whether Kissinger's telephone was spared in all other probes of the NSC is still not absolutely certain. In mid-1971 domestic policy chief John Ehrlichman was ordered by President Nixon to take control from the FBI of a complete network of leaked military and foreign policy secrets regarded by both Mr. Nixon and Kissinger as dangerous to national security. At that point, Ehrlichman launched a second secret investigation of Kissinger's NSC — without asking Kissinger's approval.

Ehrlichman's second probe, moreover, was completed and filed without Kissinger being informed what, if anything, turned up.

In addition, there was direct pressure for the repeated security probes was Kissinger's deliberate selection of some Kennedy-Johnson holdovers for the NSC staff, including liberal intellectuals who had difficulty getting maximum security clearances long before Mr. Nixon became President.

Added to this was Kissinger's love of the spotlight — and the spotlight's love of him — and the fact that he, not Haldeman or Ehrlichman, shared Time's 1972 man of the year award with Mr. Nixon.

This, besides a genuine desire to cork security leaks, Kissinger acquiesced in wire taps on his own staff because he felt highly vulnerable to repeated Ehrlichman-Haldeman slurs that his staff was responsible for the leaks. Nevertheless, these security probes grew so onerous in 1971 that intimates say he considered quitting.

His dilemma now is far greater. Having lost the support of the liberal intellectuals who attacked him today with indecent relish, he has no intention of trying to exonerate himself by a public proclamation of innocence. That, say Kissinger intimates, would indicate a sense of guilt he does not feel.

He could and did defend his suspect liberal aides, particularly Morton Halperin, whose nine-month stint as top national security aide ended in September 1969. But he may have too much pride to publicly defend himself.

The irony is painful. Kissinger, collaborator with the President in most of what is fruitful and valuable in the Nixon administration, is being smeared with the muck of Watergate, an affair with which he had no connection. If he should not reach the point where he loses his effectiveness, or decides to quit Watergate will have devalued its first innocent victim.

Counter Offensive

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Richard Nixon is fighting for his political life, harder than he has ever fought before. But will it help, especially in recognizing the coverage, and there are passages of contrition in it which must have been hard for Mr. Nixon's pride to utter. But it still doesn't ring wholly true. It is hard to believe that everything he did was done for reasons of national security, in order to keep crucial political intelligence from being revealed. It is also hard to believe that a tough, driving politician like Richard Nixon didn't know about either the input or output of his campaign finances.

When Mr. Nixon revealed so little in his first TV speech, there were desert stragglers crying to be irrigated by further information. His second statement adds considerable detail. But now the trouble for Mr. Nixon is that every new revelation will be matched against his statement, to see whether it confirms or contradicts it. Which means a continuing crisis of credibility.

Is this finally Mr. Nixon's last stand, or will there be still another? I feel there is bound to be another, since new contradictions and disbeliefs are bound to pile up and will need to be dispelled. The danger is, of course, that this might go indefinitely, in a chain-reaction sequence, until it finally forces Mr. Nixon out of the Presidency. Something like it forced Lyndon Johnson out of the political arena, compelling him to take himself out of the running for another term.

Mr. Nixon is, of course, aware of the Lyndon Johnson parallel, as of the Andrew Johnson impeachment parallel. The two historical Johnson cases plague his mind. To prevent the ghost of Andrew Johnson from haunting him, he has first to lay the ghost of Lyndon Johnson.

He did it once before, when an antiwar campaign — in the media and on the campuses — was mounted against him. His answer was a counteroffensive — the historic "Silent Majority" speech, one of the effective presidential talks in recent history, shrewdly gauged to the audience and to the moment. It caught the tide of anti-anti-Nixon sentiment which was cresting, and it changed the climate for Mr. Nixon's war and peace efforts for much of the rest of his term.

One might guess that Mr. Nixon will do something like this again, not in the context of the war but of Watergate. He may again wait for the right psychological moment, when people start to feel that he is the underdog and a shabbily treated one. Flag decals are starting to appear on car bumpers with a simple "President Nixon" next to them. The movement may grow very much as it did at the time of the "Silent Majority" speech.

Right now the press is riding high, but there is an antiliber potential in the attitudes toward the press which will crowd up if more people decide that the press is crowding the President too hard. There is a sledge of commentators, of various stripes, hinting darkly of the counter offensive to come, and saying (with various shades of agreement or derision) that it will be linked to the climate engendered early in the '70s by intense anti-Nixon movements on the left.

On the whole there is far less talk of impeachment than of resignation. To put it differently, the present way of expressing anti-Nixon urgency is to predict that the President will have to resign, or badge him to resign, and that he does intend to govern. It is a way of reassuring foreign governments and the business community here. It also hints that those who want him to resign will have to mount an intense campaign against him which will, in fact, split the country.

There is little doubt that a strong impeachment movement, whatever its success or failure, would leave its scars on the country, as the Andrew Johnson impeachment trial left scars on the Reconstruction period. Richard Nixon now confesses to grave misjudgments. One of the problems about punishing him for them is to find a form of punishment that will not also make the nation a victim.

Merger Hearing Slated

Manchester action on the planned merger of the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG) with the Capitol Region Planning Agency (CRPA) is the subject of a public hearing June 5 by the Board of Directors.

The 28-member CRCOG and the 28-member CRPA already have approved the merger, which is subject to favorable action by the legislative bodies in 60 per cent (18) of the 28 towns in the Capitol Region. Legislative bodies of 8 of the towns already have approved the merger.

The June 5 public hearing, actually, is on a proposed ordinance establishing a regional council of governments in Manchester. Approval of the ordinance by the directors would mean Manchester membership in it.

The merger, under discussion for two years, would make the CRCOG the administrative body for regional planning, including one of $100,000 promised for June 1.

East Hartford Mayor Richard Blackstone, CRCOG chairman, said recently he doubts the merger can be effective by the June 1 deadline. He said he is confident the grant will be forthcoming on time.

An important part of merger plans, explained Blackstone, is the citizens forum which is a prerequisite for the federal funding. It is expected to have a strong voice in the merged agency's policy making, he said.

CRCOG members Wednesday approved a 1974 budget of $266,550 for the merged organizations — $54,500 less than the 1973 figure. CRCOG and CRPA budgets.

Town Meeting Tonight On School Budget

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971

The Hebron Board of Selectmen has called a town meeting for this evening at 8 at the Hebron Elementary School to act on the Board of Education's proposed budget of $746,424.

At the town's annual meeting May 14, the school board's budget was rejected due to what appeared to be dissonance with a $17,100 recommended cut made by the Board of Finance.

Although the finance board cut a total of $42,000 from the requested budget, only the $17,000, which the finance board felt should not be included on the basis that proposed double sessions for Grades 7 and 8 at Rham High School next year are unwarranted and unnecessary, was questioned.

Following the annual budget meeting, the finance board met on May 19 in executive session and voted 3 to 2 to reinstate the $17,100, the estimated cost of the local school board's share for transporting Hebron 7th and 8th graders for the double sessions.

It is this revised budget, including the $17,100 but still $24,900 less than requested by the Board of Education, that will be presented for a vote at Tuesday's meeting.

Library Mrs. Helen Horton, librarian, reports that a new painting by Gordon MacDonald is now on display at the Douglas Library.

The library received several donations of memorial gifts in memory of Miss Susan Pendleton, and MacDonald was commissioned by the trustees to paint her home in Hebron Center, which is now the Horace Sellers home.

Canvassers announced that during the next few weeks a complete house to house canvass will be made throughout the entire town in accordance with state election laws requiring a canvass "within the period of six months before each regular election to ascertain changes in residence."

The purpose of the canvass is to determine the name of every voter who no longer lives at a particular residence and also to find out the new people who have moved into town.

The registrars would appreciate the cooperation of everyone in town in providing information when the canvasser calls at their doors.

Assisting these two will be Klaus Totle, treasurer and finance; Mrs. Ann Dallaire, recording secretary; the Rev. William Persing, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Prell, special events; Mrs. Elyne Stockwell, Old Town Hall; and Mrs. Anne Emt, publicity.

Flags The American Legion has purchased a quantity of 343 American flags with poles and wall brackets and are making them available to the public at $5 for a complete set.

Purchases may be made through Russell Anderson or Richard Parker.

Bicentennial The Bicentennial Committee has named John Sibus of East St. as chairman and Mrs. Janis Prell as vice chairman.

Hebron PZC Approves Portion of Subdivision

ANNE EMT Correspondent Tel. 228-3971

Four lots of the 10-lot proposal Giddell subdivision on West St. were approved, subject to receipt of plot plans, by the Hebron Planning and Zoning Commission in an executive session last week.

The commission also stipulated that the $40,000 subdivision bond be submitted by June 15. The amount was set by the Board of Selectmen.

Hearing The commission set June 5 as the date for a public hearing to consider Stocum Heights, Section II.

John Hoyt, engineer, presented evidence of satisfactory public health performance for the subdivision and was requested to present plans at least a week before the hearing.

Approval was given by the commission, waiving the requirement that a bond be posted and a plan prepared, for Edward Focle of Focle Hills Farm to remove and sell top soil from his property.

Focle requested removal of the surplus soil stating that it is located near the flooded area of a pond he dug and could present a problem if left there.

Excavation Commission members, on a request from Sal Mastandrea of London Rd., will inspect property in the area of Mastandrea's home which he and his neighbors allege is being used for excavation and left in a desolate condition.

Previous complaints regarding the area had been lodged with the commission last summer, inspected by Richard Keefe, building inspector, and an improvement to some extent resulted, according to Mastandrea.

However, since then the condition appears to have worsened and the commission toured the property, possibly with the owner, Fred Cole of Cole Carpenters of Hartford.

Gasoline Shortage Spotty

By BOB MONROE Associated Press Writer

Like the unwelcome thump of a fist, the reality of the gas shortage now begins to prey on the minds of motorists accustomed to driving as though there were no such thing as tomorrow.

Warnings went out early that drivers who took it upon themselves to fill up on the Memorial Day weekend might have to shop around for gas to get home.

Most of them made it because there are still huge quantities of gasoline available. But the lack of service stations and gas rationing encountered by many underscore that the supply is not quite enough.

Demand for gas has been increasing seven per cent a year, and traffic counts continue to grow. At the same time, many major oil companies say they do not have enough crude oil and have begun allocations to dealers based on 1972 sales.

"Not many months ago we were hounded by salesmen wanting to sell fuel. Now you have to scrounge all over the place," says Ray Alderson of Yellow Freightways in Kansas City.

Transit officials seek bids for fuel and get no replies. State troopers in Florida have been ordered to cut back mileage. Taxi drivers in a Des Moines, Iowa, fleet have been told not to turn on their air conditioners.

The effects of the shortage have been felt or feared for weeks by many whose livelihood depends directly or indirectly on motor fuel. But there is little evidence that car owners have curbed personal driving.

Most drivers contacted in a pre-weekend Associated Press survey said they did not plan any changes in driving habits or vacation plans. The question is whether they will have to.

A handful of stations were limiting customers to five gallons over the weekend. Many independent and major stations have cut back hours or closed Sundays.

The Office of Emergency Preparedness last week reported 822 of the estimated 220,000 stations in the country were closed for lack of gas. Another 1,883 were threatened with shutdowns, the OEP said.

Generally, the independents are most affected. They captured a quarter of the market over the past decade by buying surplus gas from major oil companies and selling it at 10 to 10 cents a gallon less than the standards.

One federal official calls them "a very helpful competitive spur." Under a voluntary allocation plan that the administration announced three weeks ago, the major oil companies were urged to "share the shortage" among their stations and the independents.

Industry sources say the shortage is essentially the result of limited supplies of crude oil and limited refinery capacity.

An opposite view is voiced by California Assembly Speaker Bob Merrett, a Democrat. He notes that U.S. refineries operated at less than 75 per cent capacity last year. He cited record first quarter profits this year.

It is coincidence that the shortage occurred "during a period when the oil industry is pressing for the Alaska pipeline, relaxation of other environmental safeguards, resumption of offshore drilling... and preferential tax loopholes," he asks.

While the debate goes on, Illinois officials have set up a hot line for farmers needing fuel. An Iowa gas tank company is selling more storage tanks to farmers than ever before.

Lack of competition in bids for bulk fuel supplies forced Los Angeles County to accept a lone bid for gasoline at a 67 per cent increase.

The driving crunch lies ahead this summer, and no one is sure what will happen. Some industry analysts predict the shortage will last into the mid 70s because it will take that long to expand refinery capacity.

Late, Late Talk Show Set by NBC

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The NBC Television network, which gave us the "Today" show in 1952 and "Tonight" in 1954, plans "Tomorrow," a late-hour interview show, starting this fall.

The host of the one-hour program will be Tom Snyder, a Milwaukee, Wis., native. He's been the 6 p.m. news anchorman since 1970 at KNBC-TV, a Los Angeles area station owned by NBC.

"Tomorrow" is aimed at earlier risers or night owls, depending on one's point of view. It'll start at 1 a.m. Tuesday through Friday right after the Monday-through Thursday "Tonight" show.

"Tomorrow" is described by NBC as a "sophisticated talk show that will tackle controversial adult subjects. Snyder will discuss these subjects with one or more experts and various personalities.

Some of the shows will cover the lighter side of life, according to NBC, which says "Tomorrow" will be taped without an audience at the network's studios in Burbank, Calif.

The idea for the show was developed by Mort Werner, NBC's senior vice president for program planning and one of the developers of the successful "Today" and "Tonight" shows.

When the show begins, probably in October, it will mark the first time a network has regularly scheduled broadcasting past 1 a.m. on weekdays, although NBC has been starting its "Midnight Special" pop music show at 1 a.m. every Saturday since Feb. 3 this year.

"Tomorrow" will end only five hours before the "Today" show begins and could lead to even more network programming in the pre-dawn hours on weekdays.

As Werner put it, "Who knows what's going to happen from 2 to 3 a.m. if we're successful from 1 to 2?"

Economic Stability Hinges On Many Uncertain factors

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Those who claim to see equilibrium returning to the economy later this year are saying that the furious surge in prices during the first quarter was the result of exceptional circumstances.

These same circumstances, we are advised, will exert progressively less pressure on prices as the year wears on, and the economy will resume the same, normal course plotted for it by the nation's leaders.

The blame, therefore, is placed on unforeseen events, on "temporary forces," as it was put by Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. No policy changes are required, Stein said in congressional testimony.

And what were these temporary phenomena that wrecked the plans? First, a spurt in food prices, Stein indicated, curiously confusing cause and effect. Yes, prices rose because prices rose, but why did they rise?

One reason was the sale of grain to the Soviets. Another was a sharp downturn in Peruvian fishmeal production, which caused expensive feeds to be provided to livestock. And there was poor weather.

Another explanation is that there was a surge in economic activity, which again sounds more like the effect of short-jointed economic policy rather than an explanation of why a sound policy flourished.

If it is the job of the Council of Economic Advisers to analyze probabilities and adjust their planning, why wasn't the surge foreseen and appropriate action taken? A temporary lapse?

Next on the list of explanations is the dollar devaluation, which caused an increase in the price of imports.

Until the 1950's, children over six years old dressed in the same manner as the adults. For girls, this would be a long dress in the Kate Greenaway style similar to the "granny dress" that is popular today, an apron and a sun bonnet. Boys wore a long trowsers with suspenders and a cap resembling a "Tom Jones" or "Oliver Twist" cap.

Patterns for the sun bonnet and cap are available at the museum.

Children are encouraged to make their own costumes.

Board study released today shows that, while consumers have grown pessimistic about business, their purchase plans are up sharply.

Strong consumer spending could, in turn, cause manufacturers to raise their capital spending programs, putting further inflationary pressure on the nation's ability to meet demands. Or perhaps business will overcompensate and be left with huge excess capacity that could lead to recession.

While the worst is said to be over in regard to the food-price rise, a forecast made before by Stein, is there any assurance that a late summer drought, a wet fall or an early winter won't raise havoc with food prices?

And what of the delicate psychological factors that so often affect markets, such as world opinion and the value of the dollar, and thus force changes in the best-laid plans for the domestic economy?

In its broadest terms, the psychological uncertainties relate to the question: Will the President be able to rally opinion behind his plans and convince people of the financial stability of the U.S.A.?

True Cease - Fire Plans Reported

SAIGON (AP) — Government sources said today that the South Vietnamese government has agreed in principle to a detailed timetable for a true Vietnam cease-fire.

The agreement, worked out in Paris by Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho, calls for both Saigon and the Viet Cong to order all their units to stop shooting, the sources said.

The sources said Saigon has requested some modifications and made some counter-proposals. They did not elaborate.

These sources predicted the following developments:

- Kissinger and Tho will officially announce their agreement on strengthening the original cease-fire accord at the conclusion of their next round of talks in Paris scheduled to begin June 6.
- The United States will halt all air reconnaissance missions over North Vietnam.
- Twenty-four hours after the announcement, the Saigon government and the Viet Cong will order opposing battlefield commanders to cease their fire.
- Five to 10 days later, Saigon and the Viet Cong will grant guarantees of privileges and immunities for members of the two-party Joint Military Commission. The two sides will follow by employ observers into the field to keep the peace.
- Within five to 10 days, the United States will resume operations to remove mines from North Vietnamese waters and also will resume economic talks with Hanoi.
- Within three months, zones of control will be delineated.
- Within six months, a National Council of National Reconciliation and Concord must be established and an agreement on the replacement of war materials in Paris Jan. 27, this was supposed to have been accomplished by the end of April.
- Military commanders of the opposing parties will meet to establish safety corridors through the respective zones of control.
- Respect for the demilitarized zone and a withdrawal of troops and war equipment from the buffer zone. Demobilization of forces and travel among many others.
- The establishment of legitimate ports of entry for the remaining Vietnamese and a withdrawal of troops and war equipment from the buffer zone. Demobilization of forces and travel among many others.
- The release of the remaining Vietnamese military and civilian prisoners of war.
- The sources said terms of the agreement were communicated to President Nguyen Van Thieu by William H. Sullivan, Kissinger's aide in the Paris talks, and to Hanoi by Edward Provost, USWFO Saigon for three days last week.

Astronauts Adapt Well To Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — During three days of weightlessness in their orbiting space station, the Skylab astronauts have been free of a problem that plagued some of their earlier missions — motion sickness.

"After we found out we weren't gonna get sick, it was 'Katy, bar the door,'" said Capt. Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. He said he and his two crewmates were "reeching off the walls" Monday as they flew around the lab.

At the space center here, flight surgeon Dr. William R. Hawkins said he was somewhat surprised by how fast the crew had adapted to zero gravity.

The astronauts spent an active day Monday setting up and beginning their biomedical experiments.

Their first tasks were calibrating instruments designed to measure the effects of weightlessness on their physical condition.

In one experiment, astronaut Paul J. Weitz pedaled an exercise bicycle as electronic sensors monitored his heartbeat, blood pressure, breathing rate and other vital functions.

Kerwin reported that high temperatures in the space lab—

Supreme Court Ruling Favors Broadcasters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court held today that broadcasters may not be required to accept some paid advertising on controversial public issues.

The U.S. Circuit Court here held that if a broadcaster accepts at least some kind of paid advertisements he cannot flatly refuse to accept paid announcements on public issues.

Today's decision by a split court reversed that holding.

The case was brought to the high court by the Federal Communications Commission, the Columbia Broadcasting System, American Broadcasting Co. and operators of WTOP radio and television stations here.

Writing for the majority, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said that under the right-of-access system envisioned by the Circuit Court, "the commission would be required to oversee far more of the day-to-day operations of broadcasters' conduct, deciding such questions as whether a particular individual or group has had sufficient opportunity to present its viewpoint and whether a particular viewpoint has been sufficiently aired."

"Regimenting broadcasters is too radical a therapy for the ailment," that brought the issue into federal courts, Burger wrote.

The dispute arose in 1970 when a request by the Democratic National Committee for an FCC order compelling broadcasters to sell time to "responsible entities" for comment on public issues.

In a case that was heard at the same time, a group called Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace challenged WTOP radio's refusal to provide for one-minute antiwar announcements.

Man Kills Self Ending Standoff With Police

NORWALK (AP) — "He wanted us to shoot him," said a policeman. And when police wouldn't do the job, John Phillips of Londonderry, Vt., took his own life, the officer said.

Police found him in the principal's office with a .38 caliber revolver and a box of ammunition. He fired a couple of shots in a corridor about 6 a.m. but did not threaten any policeman, the chief said.

Phillips' psychiatrist, Dr. Harvey Jacobson, arrived on the scene at about 12:15 p.m. and took over the task from police of talking to his patient.

Eighteen hours later, Jacobson emerged, at 11:10, and told police he had given Phillips three alternatives: give up, commit suicide, or provoke the police into shooting him.

Fifteen minutes later, a single shot was heard and Phillips was dead.

Vandals Damage Cars at Museum

Vandals broke into the Antique Car Museum, 84 Slater St., sometime Sunday night or Monday morning, police said, and damages ran into several thousands of dollars, according to museum owners.

Entry was apparently gained by breaking a window on the front door.

Once inside, vandals sprayed red paint on autos and broke hood ornaments. They also tore fire extinguishers from the walls and sprayed the area with the contents.

According to Edgar Clarke, one of the owners, most of the damage has been cleaned up.

The case is under investigation by the detective bureau of the Manchester Police Department.

Smithsonian Announces Acquisitions Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution has adopted a policy statement affirming that it will not acquire objects and specimens which have been stolen, unscientifically gathered or excavated, or unethically acquired.

The statement on museum acquisitions, made public by Secretary S. Dillon Ripley, says in part:

"An illicit international market has contributed to the depredation of museums and monuments, and the irreparable loss to science and humanity and archeological remains."

"The institution repudiates the illicit traffic in art and objects. Objects and specimens which have been stolen, unscientifically gathered or excavated, or unethically acquired, should not be made part of Smithsonian museum collections."

There has been growing concern in Latin America and among many museum professionals in this country over widespread looting of pre-Columbian works of art in Central and South America, much of it broken up or spoiled in the process.

This concern took on an added dimension early this year following the acquisition for $1 million of a Greek vase by the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

Board of Education member Carolyn Kolwicz will attend a meeting of adult education program directors at Manchester Community College June 15.

Discussion will include what adult education programs communities wish to sponsor to avoid conflict with the college's own offerings.

Mrs. Kolwicz is seeking recommendations and suggestions for fall courses from the community as well as other board members. She has also been working with a senior citizens representative and hopes to possibly include a special interest course for older residents — such as retirement benefits.

Committee Appointed

Board of Education chairman James Cornish appointed members Robert Dean and Carol Duncan to look into sewage problems at Hicks Middle and Meadowbrook Schools. The committee expects to work with town agencies and bring back recommendations to the board.

Inspection of the Middle School sewage field by engineers Griswold & Fuss resulted in recommendations that the site be raised to a grade level and that the system be maintained on a regular basis.

It was also noted in the report that the distribution box appeared to be plugged up as some lines were dry while others wet.

The formation of the study committee was suggested by Dean who reported receiving many complaints about the fields.

Resignations

Three teacher resignations were accepted by the Board of Education last week. Charles Deane will accept a position in the Middle East; Ann Carter, Meadowbrook learning disability teacher, will return to UConn to further studies.

Wednesday's first place team is Joanne Mayer, Sandie Benjamin and Kay Pohlmann. Mary Kay Lentocho won high single with 212 and Penny Bach won high triple with 532. Joanne

Solon Won't Accept Pay

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The people of West Virginia are getting a free ride from state legislator John P. McCuskey.

The first-term Democrat says he will not accept the $55 daily pay for the current special legislative session because all matters being considered "should and could have been accomplished during the 60-day regular session had we operated in an efficient manner."

"I was paid once by the people of the state to do my job and I cannot, in good conscience, accept double payment out of the taxpayers' pockets," McCuskey said.

The legislature was called back into session last Tuesday by Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. after it failed to pass a number of key Moore administration proposals in the regular session earlier this year.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilbur Wood pitched a six-hitter Monday night in two games that is not one.

Wilbur Wood added a pair of victories to his imposing total with his latest work of six and 40 decisions over the befuddled Cleveland Indians.

The White Sox' Left Arm went five innings in the first game, continuation of a 16-inning suspended affair from Saturday night, and gave up two hits and one unearned run. He fired a four-hitter in the regulation game to bring his record to 13-3, the best by far in the majors.

Incidentally, his 13 victories are half the White Sox' total. In the other American League games, the Minnesota Twins defeated the Baltimore Orioles 10-3; the California Angels beat the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4; the Detroit Tigers ripped the Oakland A's 4-3 and the Kansas City Royals turned back the Boston Red Sox 5-4. Rain postponed a contest between the New York Yankees and Texas Rangers.

Twins-Orioles
Jim Kaat, aided by a six-run third inning, scattered 12 hits in his major league debut.

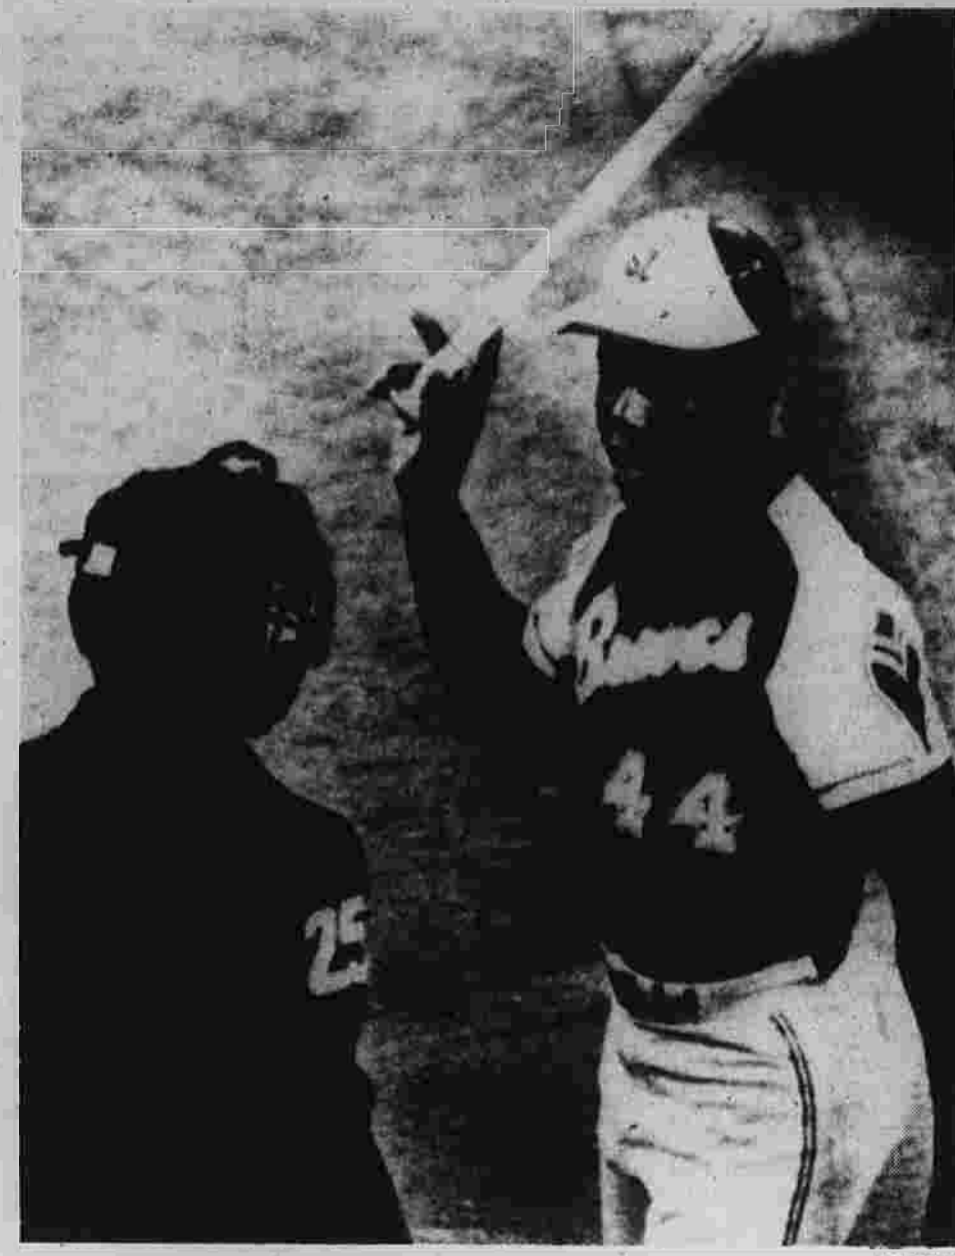

Minnesota's victory over Baltimore. The left-hander survived a shaky start and two homers by Bobby Grich to notch his sixth victory in eight decisions.

Steve Braun belted two bases-empty homers for the Twins, one in the fifth and another in the seventh. Also included in Minnesota's 12-hit attack was a two-run homer by George Mitterwald, a 435-foot shot into the right-field bullpen.

Harmon Killebrew's two-run triple highlighted Minnesota's game-breaking third inning.

Angels-Brewers
Pinch-hitters Tom McCraw and Winton Illenas came off the bench to drive in runs in the seventh inning, rallying California over Milwaukee.

Tigers-A's
Norm Cash's two-run homer helped Detroit to a 4-0 lead and the Tigers held on to beat Oakland for Joe Coleman's ninth victory. Coleman hadn't given up a hit in the nationally televised game until a two-out double by Sal Bando in the fourth.

McCovey Sparkles At First

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie McCovey became the San Francisco Giants' hitless wonder Monday.

"I kept Big Mac very busy down at first base," said a grateful Juan Marichal, winning pitcher in the Giants' 6-5 victory over the New York Mets.

McCovey, one of baseball's most feared hitters, was the only Giant starter without a hit in the game. But he spared four sharply hit drives and turned them into outs to help Marichal record his 26th career victory over the Mets.

"I've never had so many hard balls hit my way. But they've got a lot of left-handed pull hitters, and Juan was making them hit the ball on the ground."

McCovey stopped a smash by Wayne Garret to end the third inning, leaving Duffy Dyer on second base, and relievers Sam McDowell and Elias Sosa finished the game for the Giants.

The Mets loaded the bases with none out in the eighth, and Manager Yogi Berra said later, "One hit and we would have been in business."

Berra used two right-handed pinch hitters against outpuncher McDowell, with Cleon Jones striking out and Jim Beauchamp hitting a sacrifice fly. Dyer grounded out to end the inning and the Mets trailed 6-4.

Another possible right-hander, Mets pinch hitter, Willie Mays, was not available. The 42-year-old star was eligible to come out of the disabled list Monday and took batting practice, but the Mets decided not to reactivate him for the game.

Rookie right-hander Tommy Moore made his first start of the season for New York and Bobby Bonds hit his first pinch hit for a home run. Bonds had a run-scoring single in the second when the Giants scored four times to take a 5-0 lead.

"I knew it was the kid's first start and I figured he'd be trying to make his first pinch strike," said Bonds, a leadoff hitter with the philosophy that, "You don't get paid for walks."

The Giants scored another run in the third on Chris Speier's triple, taking a 6-0 lead.

"It was a laugher for five innings," said Giants Manager Charlie Fox.

Messersmith Pitches Too Much for Catcher

NEW YORK (AP)—For it's 1...2...3 strikes you're out at the old ball game.

At least, that's the way it always was until Andy Messersmith and Joe Ferguson of the Los Angeles Dodgers decided to play a different tune Monday night.

Messersmith became the first pitcher in modern national league history to lead the first six batters at the start of a game; and matched the major league standard as he pitched the first inning of the Dodgers' 5-1 victory over the Phillies.

In the second inning, the only trouble was that Messersmith was playing fast ball and catcher Ferguson was playing passed ball.

Greg Luzinski struck out but reached first when the third strike got away from Ferguson. Bill Robinson and Mike Schmidt also fanned. Then Luzinski took second on another passed ball before Bob Boone broke the strikeout string with an outfield fly.

Messersmith, who finished with 12 strikeouts, picked up No. 7 by getting Unsworth again in the third, and again the pitch escaped Ferguson for another passed ball. And again a batter struck out and to wind up on first base.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants held off the New York Mets 6-5, the Cincinnati Reds ripped the Chicago Cubs 6-5, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Houston Astros 4-2, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Atlanta Braves 3-2 and the Montreal Expos knocked out the San Diego-Washington Lame Ducks 7-8 on Clyde Mashore's three-run pinch homer with two out in the ninth inning.

Reds-Cubs
Joe Morgan singled home the winning run with one out in the ninth inning, giving the Reds with a comeback 6-5 victory over the Cubs.

Pirates-Astros
Dock Ellis, with help from three relievers, halted his personal five-game losing streak in the Pirates' victory over Houston.

Cards-Braves
Rick Wise drove in what proved to be the winning run and pitched the Cardinals over the Braves with ninth-inning relief help.

UConns Honored
ORONO, Maine (AP)—Three University of Connecticut baseball players have been named to the first squad of the All-Yankee Conference baseball team.

Picked from UConn by the conference coaches were John Ibbens, third baseman, Brad Linden, outfielder; Brian Hero, pitcher.

The Globe said the only visible sign of an alteration is a cut on the lower left corner of Lee's lip.

Boston Press Reports Lee-Smith Trade Blows
BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox pitcher Bill Lee would hit the opposition with a pitch so he got lost in the mouth by his own centerfielder, published reports today.

The Boston Globe and the Boston Herald-American reported that Lee and Reggie Smith got into an altercation during and after a game last Thursday because Lee refused to "retaliate" and throw at Milwaukee Brewers hitters.

Three Red Sox hitters were hit by Milwaukee pitchers during the series last week, the papers reported, including second baseman Doug Griffin, whose hand was broken.

In the third inning of last Thursday's game, Lee did hit Milwaukee catcher Ellie Rodriguez. Rodriguez and Lee have been feuding since 1970.

During the seventh inning, when Lee retired to the clubhouse to medicate some blisters, he and Smith got into an altercation.

The Herald-American said that "according to some players, punches were thrown." The Globe said "punches may have been thrown."

Lee filed the fifth amendment, Lee is quoted as ing by leading off the sixth with his seventh homer, a drive into the right field corner. Then Tommy Harper made it 4-1 personally, singling, stealing second and taking third on a wild throw, and then stealing home.

Kansas City narrowed the count with a run in the seventh, and then came the ninth.

Ed Kirkpatrick led off with a single for the Royals' 10th hit and Bob Bolin replaced Patten. Paul Schaal singled. Then, with one out, Bob Veale, who saved a victory for Patten last Wednesday, was summoned from the bullpen.

A walk and a single by Kurt Bevacqua tied the score and Don Newhauser, just recalled from Pawtucket, replaced Veale. Newhauser walked the next batter intentionally, filling the bases, and Cookie Rojas grounded a single to left for the winning run.

Veale took the loss, his first after a victory and five saves.

The Red Sox call upon southpaw Bill Lee in the series opener against California tonight, Lee, 4-1, had better be at his best. He is due to be opposed on the mound by Nolan (No Hit) Ryan, one of baseball's hardest throwers with a 6-4 record.

Director Selected

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Appointment of Clark Horton, former editor of The Reporter magazine, to be director of the Edward R. Murrow Center of Public Diplomacy has been announced by Tufts University.

The Murrow Center, named for the late broadcaster, is an arm of Tufts' Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy. A graduate of Princeton in 1934, Horton also studied at French and German universities and reported on German and Soviet youth movements for the North American Newspaper Alliance (NANA).

During World War II, he was in government intelligence and served in London, Paris and Germany. Afterward he became an associate editor of foreign affairs at Time magazine and later joined the founding group of The Reporter.

UConn To Stop Opening Intra-University Mail

STORRS (AP)—University of Connecticut officials will stop opening intra-university mail to determine if the delivery system is being misused, the university said.

The university's announcement followed a meeting between UConn Comptroller Edward Hanna and Sondra Stave, president of the Northeastern Chapter of the Connecticut Civil Liberties Union (CCLU).

A statement from the ACLU said the civil liberties group "sympathized with the university's contention that a public mail service financed by the taxpayers should not be used for anyone's personal needs."

Book Gives Businessmen Tips On Conduct Codes In Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP) — American businessmen seeking trade with mainland China should avoid pornography and politics while in China, but should be prepared to listen to Chinese political harangues.

The report lays great stress on proper behavior by American businessmen, saying conservative, particularly where pornography is involved, traditionally place great emphasis on etiquette, and an American businessman is well-advised to conduct himself with quiet dignity and reserve.

In a few cases it appeared that the university's mail service was being used for private purposes. Some pieces of mail which seemed personal in nature were opened by staff members in an effort to identify those who apparently were misusing the mail service, the university said in a statement.

The administration is now working with university departments on a different approach to try to eliminate misuse of the university mail system.

—Lock all windows and doors. —If possible, leave a light on or even better, get some type of timed or whisper light device. —Arrange for a police patrol of your house, if possible. —Ask a neighbor to pick up papers, mail, etc., or call the newspaper and post office to stop delivery. —Always be safe. Leave a key with a neighbor in case of emergency. —If you enjoy a picnic, be careful of food spoilage brought about by hot, humid weather. Before picnicking, keep all perishable foods in the refrigerator or freezer. —Just before you leave, it's best to freeze hamburgers and hot dogs since they will thaw as you travel. —For picnics, it's better to buy 100 per cent products and, remember, cook all meat thoroughly once you get to the picnic site. If you use an ice chest, place food in liquid-tight containers. Be especially careful of fresh milk, creamed dishes, custards, sauces, fish salads and sandwich fillings. Keep them cold or don't take them along. —Protect food from insects. Be sure that water you drink is pure. Eat soon after arriving at the picnic grounds since exposure time increases bacteria growth in food. —Happy vacation and happy picnicking! —We welcome suggestions and questions. Dr. Babbidge Urges Harmony and Purpose

SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

Issuing a call for domestic harmony for restoration of purpose, for a return to the ideals of the Declaration of Independence and a return to world affairs, and establishing strong economic ties with the Soviet Union. Now, for the first time in many years, one dares to dream of a period of relative international stability.

He said, "It is that stability which, in turn, opens a broad avenue of opportunity for us at home."

"We now have the opportunity," he said, "to repair and restore neglected parts of our national, cultural, economic and social machinery and, just as importantly, to heal the wounds of divisiveness that have plagued us in recent years."

He insisted, "We have a chance to restore that inner strength we are capable of experiencing. No nation can presume to lead the world if it can't lead itself together at home."

He listed as the set of goals to be strived for: "Less misery among the poor, less ignorance in the schools, less bigotry in the temple, less suffering in the hospital, less fraud in business, less folly in politics."

"We aren't going to have a very happy bicentennial birthday celebration in 1976 if we can't show some discernible progress toward those ideals

To Buy U.S. Jets
BRASILIA (AP) — Brazil's air force has decided to buy $100 million worth of American jet fighters, military sources say.

The deal would give the United States a major victory in its arms sales competition with France in Latin America.

The air force is recommending the purchase of 48 Northrop F5Es, which it chose over McDonnell Douglas' F4 Phantoms, France's Mirage 5 and Italy's Fiat 6914, the sources said.

Cod War
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Iceland and Britain have called the attention of the United Nations to their escalating cod war, but neither asked for any action by the Security Council.

In a letter to the Council on Tuesday, the British accused Iceland of aggression and violating the U.N. charter. It said an Icelandic gunboat's shelling of the British trawler Evertson last Saturday was "the latest and gravest of a series" of hostile actions that have taken an "increasingly dangerous form."

Canada Withdraws
SAIGON (AP) — Mexico, France, Italy and the Scandinavian countries were among those mentioned today to replace Canada on the Vietnam cease-fire commission. But the chief of the outgoing Canadian delegation recommended an Asian country.

Canada's intention to withdraw from the commission by July 31 was announced in Ottawa Tuesday.

Michel Gavuin, chief of the Canadian delegation to the International Commission of Control and Supervision, said the peacekeeping force has been "observing a war, not a cease-fire since the trace went into effect four months ago."

Study Earth
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab's astronauts today plan man's first orbital observations of crops, weather, mineral deposits and volcanoes in a strip of earth ranging from Oregon to Brazil.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Paul J. Weitz planned to turn on a package of photoessays in the afternoon after a morning of continuing medical and solar observational experiments.

They are in the sixth of a scheduled 28 days in space.

Nixon Seeks To Dispel Bully Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressing to be a good communicator for the people of Connecticut, Peter L. Cashman today announced he would resign as president pro tempore of the state Senate to become lieutenant governor.

While Pompidou will be pressing for quick action on monetary problems, Nixon will emphasize a quest for a new "Atlantic charter" — a set of broad principles and goals free of the Atlantic community as it moves toward detailed negotiations in areas of economy, defense and foreign policy.

The two presidents, after Thursday's talks are to begin Tuesday that there is concern in France and other European capitals that the United States might try to blackmail Atlantic partners by using its participation in the defense of Western Europe as a club to gain economic concessions.

Sen. Cashman Accepts Lieutenant Governorship

HARTFORD (AP) — Pressing to be a good communicator for the people of Connecticut, Peter L. Cashman today announced he would resign as president pro tempore of the state Senate to become lieutenant governor.

He will fill a vacancy created by the elevation of T. Clark Hull to the state Superior Court bench.

Disavowing any U.S. intent to play the bully, Kissinger told a news conference: "The United States does not maintain now that there should be one grand negotiation in which all subjects are discussed simultaneously. Obviously, it is more practical for individual subjects to be treated separately, but what the United States does maintain is that these subjects are organically interrelated, not because of an act of policy by the U.S. and not as an act of choice, but as a necessity."

Secret Spy Plan Reportedly Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — A secret White House plan to spy on domestic radicals, rejected once the insistence of former FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, later was put at least partially into practice, say sources close to the Watergate investigation.

There were additional Watergate developments Tuesday concerning the CIA's link to the case and on the subject of possible testimony by President Nixon on Watergate.

The Iceland summit is the last in a series of consultations aimed at paving the way for a presidential visit to Europe, probably sometime after mid-October. Nixon has met in Washington in recent months with the leaders of Britain, West Germany and Italy.

Senate Expected To Bar Funds For Cambodia Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — An overwhelming margin on a test vote indicates the Senate is ready to pass a sweeping amendment to bar all funds for continued U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said the amendment would be unconstitutional "for the President to testify before the grand jury or Senate Watergate investigators."

They said the Watergate affair still played a role in undermining confidence in the U.S. currency, but also pointed out that a number of other factors were affecting individual markets.

Consumer Protection Statute Praised

By GARY LUHR
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD (AP) — With the passage of a tough new fair trade law Connecticut is going from (being) one of the states with the worst fraud bills to (being) one of the best.

Such language gives the consumer protection commissioner Barbara Dunn said Tuesday.

"If we could have had only one bill from the 1973 General Assembly) we would have chosen this one," she said in an interview. "It's like inheriting $40 million."

The bill, which would give Mrs. Dunn authority to actively prosecute unscrupulous merchants, still must be signed by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill.

"We're absolutely not able to help consumers with the fraud law we have now," she said.

Mrs. Dunn has termed the present law a "shopping list" of illegal practices that doesn't begin to cover all possible methods of consumer fraud.

The language of the new bill, by contrast, is broad. It prohibits all "unfair or deceptive acts or practices or unfair methods of competition" as defined by rules, regulations or court decisions interpreting the federal trade commission act.

Such language gives Mrs. Dunn's department 60 years of federal court precedents from which to draw in implementing the new act.

Beginning July 1, the department plans to begin hearings on proposed regulations to implement the act. Mrs. Dunn said the regulations would come in stages.

The bill allows the commissioner to issue, following a hearing, a "cease and desist" order against anyone believed guilty of unfair practices. If that fails, the department may go to court for an injunction against the offending firm.

With the bill the department for the first time will be able to subpoena individuals as well as records in investigating consumer complaints.
