

Vermont Hard Hit By Floods

Nixon Pledges Short Freeze

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)— Attempting to reassure both businessmen and housewives, President Nixon promises a "short as possible" price freeze and foresees relief against high food prices.

Although complaints of grocery buyers have been claiming the greatest public attention, many businessmen say they are barred from making future plans because of continuing uncertainty over Phase 4 wage-price controls.

In a radio address broadcast Sunday, Nixon said, "We have been determined from the outset to keep the freeze as short as possible"—an indication he may disclose his new economic game plan before the 60-day price freeze expires on Aug. 13.

Nixon said a temporary freeze on all except raw food prices at the farm level was necessary because it is "vital that we have genuine consultations with a wide range of interested parties before launching Phase 4." He said these consultations have begun.

As for supermarket prices, Nixon said: "The many measures we have taken to increase the supply of farm commodities—including the release of more than 40 million additional acres for farm production—will eventually bring more farm products to the market and will provide relief against high food prices."

Acknowledging that the freeze has led to inequities, Nixon said it also can create inflationary scarcity.

He said, "We have seen this, for example, in the fact that some broiler producers have had to kill off baby chicks because they could not afford to pay the high feed prices and still sell the broilers at their ceiling prices...."

"For this reason, we have been determined from the outset to keep the freeze as short as possible."

Nixon said problems of scarcity forced him to embargo exports of soybeans, "which are especially critical to the solution of the feed grain shortage, and therefore to bringing down the price of meat and dairy products."

Asking Congress anew for broad authority to control exports of farm commodities, Nixon saw such controls as temporary.

The soybean controls came as a particular shock in Japan, the principal U. S. export market for soybeans.

Squarrito, and Mrs. Malone looking cool in a red, white and blue halter gown, visited various tables to be sure guests were comfortable.

Conversing with various visitors were Mayor Thompson and his wife, she wore a polka dot halter gown with white and black pleated skirt, and State Comptroller Agostinelli with his wife who had selected a sheath gown with wedding ring collar.

Mrs. House was colorfully attired in a floral print gown which complemented the chief justice's white dinner jacket.

Gov. and Mrs. Meskill (she wearing an aqua brocade gown with matching jacket and unique Indian necklace) chatted with guests as they passed by their table.

Now that school's out (although summer classes are in session) Dr. Frederick Lowe Jr., president of Manchester Community College and his lovely wife, joined in the festivities as did Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ramey Jr. (he's director of the Business Careers Division at MCC and also director of Project HELP). Mrs. Lowe wore a white shirtwaist gown with blue accessories, and Mrs. Ramey kept cool even as the tempo of the music warmed up in a white sleeveless brocade sheath.

Among the dignitaries attending were Gov. and Mrs. Thomas J. Meskill, State Comptroller and Mrs. Nathan G. Agostinelli, Mayor and Mrs. John W. Thompson, General Manager and Mrs. Robert Weiss, Assistant Town Clerk Leslie Boardman of Manchester, England, Chief Justice and Mrs. Charles S. House, and Herald Publisher and Mrs. Burl Lyons.

Taking their turn on the dance floor were the Fred Youngs (she gowning in a white double-knit sheath) and the Walter Millers with Mrs. Miller in a black and white A-line gown and her spouse looking elegant in a black and white pinstripe dinner jacket.

Vernon also joined in the town's celebration with the George MacDonalds and the Christopher Cunninghams in attendance. Mrs. MacDonald wore a green and white jersey gown and Mrs. Cunningham selected a chiffon gown fashioned with Empire waist and long sleeves.

Manchester's Brent Rd. was well represented by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mongell (she wearing a gown with an organza bodice and black and white dotted Swiss skirt) and Robert J. Kennedy and his wife who looked attractive in a floral print Empire gown with ruffled collar, and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Spilecki with Mrs. Spilecki gowning in a double-knit robin's-egg blue sheath.

Sitting around the tables, which were centered with topiary trees which glittered in the soft lights, were Mrs. Stanley Ingersoll wearing a pink polyester knit sheath, and her husband, and Mrs. Patrick Grakowsky in a floral halter gown in shades of orange, green, and blue, and her husband.

Members of the ball committee, through whose efforts the event was such a smashing success, enjoyed the rewards of their hard work with their spouses. Among them were Mrs. John Tierney wearing a sleeveless floral print A-line gown, Mrs. John Mrosek who selected a navy and white polyester print, and Mrs. Fred Geyer, looking smart in a green and white jersey gown.

Other committee members swaying to the music were Mrs. Bernie Apter in a blue and white scooped-neck knit; Mrs. Leo Charendoff in a black chif-

Disaster Designation Sought By Governor

By The Associated Press

Gov. Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont sought to have his state declared a federal disaster area today after a weekend flash flood that left 11 persons dead or missing and farmlands across western New England heavily damaged.

Flood waters had receded in all but the Connecticut River and Otter Creek today after heavy rains Saturday spilled brooks and rivers across lowland towns, roads and bridges. Plymouth, Vt., remained flooded, officials said.

Heaviest hit were central and southern Vermont and north central New Hampshire. Flooding also occurred in Maine and Massachusetts.

Six inches or more of rain in a 24-hour period sent streams in the Green Mountains of Vermont and the White Mountains of New Hampshire raging into the usually-placid Connecticut River, which separates the two states.

Four persons were reported dead or missing in Vermont, four in New Hampshire and three in western Massachusetts.

Damage to Vermont roads and bridges alone was estimated at $8 to $10 million, and the state Civil Defense said about half the towns in Vermont were affected by the flooding.

Salmon said Sunday night "It was very obvious from my 70-mile helicopter flight today up the Connecticut Valley that the plight of the farmer is indeed severe."

"It's just a question of assessment of damages," he said, "but it's severe, there's no question about that."

The governor, who mustered out the National Guard and declared a state of emergency Saturday, said he would begin a complex series of moves today to obtain federal disaster designation for Vermont. He also tentatively set July 9 for a meeting of local, state and federal officials to discuss the extent of damage.

In New Hampshire, locally heavy property damage was reported in some areas, but officials said the most widespread damage involved rural roads and highways.

Four confirmed deaths occurred in Vermont. The victims were listed as Kevin W. Greene, 7, of Winsted, Conn., who fell into the Branch River at Bennington, Vt., while visiting relatives; Elmer Howland, 59, of Lyndonville, Vt., who apparently died of a heart attack while directing traffic around flooded roads; an unidentified 6-year-old boy who fell into a stream and drowned at Cavendish, Vt., and a 17-year-old youth who drowned at hard-hit Ludlow. His name was being withheld until his relatives were notified.

One person died in western Massachusetts, while four others were missing. Authorities said Alan Luther, 20, of North Adams, Mass., drowned in the Hoosac River near Williamstown, when he and two companions were thrown from a raft that capsized Saturday. His two companions were still missing. In Northampton, Mass., police searched for Gerald Truhart, 21, and his brother, Dean, 19, both of Northampton, who were last seen Saturday when their raft plunged 20 feet down a dam on the Mill River.

Three others were dead and one missing in New Hampshire.

In Bristol, N.H., police searched for Peter Doughty, 34, of Swampscott, Mass., who fell into the Smith River Sunday. Larry Lamos, 24, of Alexandria, N.H., died in Bristol Saturday when his boat capsized on the Newfound River. Ien Pembroke, N.H., Lawrence Joble, 23, of Concord, N.H., died while swimming in the Suncook River, and in Claremont, N.H., Kim Derosier, 14, drowned when he fell into the Sugar River.

For Vermont farmers the flood waters may have sunk all hope for the 1973 growing season. Some predicted a disastrous year because flash flooding in March had destroyed many first crops. Second plantings were wiped out Saturday.

Leo O'Brien, Vermont agriculture commissioner, said "thousands of acres are underwater and have crop damage. Probably the greatest danger will be the loss of top soil to erosion."

One of the hardest hit towns in Vermont was Ludlow, a light industrial community of 2,500. General Electric Co.'s plant there, the largest employer with 400 workers, was heavily damaged by waters of the Black River.

Along the New Hampshire-Maine border local truck farms reportedly sustained heavy damage from flash flooding, while a number of persons camping the New Hampshire's White Mountains were evacuated during the weekend.

Parkade Hit Heavy By Flood Waters

SUE KLEMENS
(Herald Reporter)

Heavy rains and flash floods during Saturday's storm caused extensive damage throughout the Parkade Shopping Center as well as to roads and buildings in the North Elm St. and Olcott St. areas.

The Parkade Shopping Center suffered an estimated $1 million in water damage, according to Michael Dworkin, president of the Parkade Merchant Association.

Among those businesses hit the hardest was WINF radio station, which continued broadcast despite a 6-7 inch water level in the studios and offices.

"East of the river — it's here!" might have been the slogan of the station, according to radio announcer John

Leonard, who was alone in the station for about four hours during the storm. At 9:30 a.m., another announcer arrived wearing a bathing suit.

A listening audience was audibly informed of the flood when Leonard opened up the microphones in the studio and sloshed around in the flooded room.

A broadcasting studio used to make commercials, tapes and records, and main equipment used for remote broadcasting, were ruined by the waves of water, according to station manager Jeff Jacobs.

Saturday's flood might benefit bargain hunters, as many of the Parkade stores may hold sales of goods damaged by the water.

Cleaning Up After Flash Flood

John Pattishall, manager of Kofsky's Shoes in the Manchester Parkade, was busy today as were many of his fellow merchants in cleaning up after a severe flash flood Saturday morning did extensive damage to many stores in the shopping complex. Estimates today set the damage to buildings and merchandise at several hundred thousand dollars. (Herald photo by Klemens)

Kirk To Visit

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Prime Minister Norman Kirk said today he has accepted an invitation from President Nixon to visit the United States later this year.

He told a news conference he expected to discuss "a number of matters of mutual interest" with Nixon after the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in Ottawa this fall.

Dollar Weakens

LONDON (AP) — The dollar weakened again in Europe today, despite moves late last week that were supposed to help the U.S. currency.

Dealers said, however, that trading was slow at the outset. There were no early signs of monetary crisis. Gold, which often moves erratically higher in times of monetary uncertainty, was unchanged in London and Zurich, the two biggest markets, in early trading.

Counterattacks Begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The counterattacks on the Watergate testimony of fired White House counsel John W. Dean III have begun, coming from both official and unofficial supporters of the President.

In an interview with The Washington Post published Sunday, J. Fred Buzhardt, White House counsel assigned to Watergate, said he thought Dean was sincere but that his "imagination got away from him."

And Charles Colson, who left the White House staff early this year to enter private law practice, said in a television interview that Dean's allegations "are unfounded and untrue."

The Senate Watergate committee, in Fourth of July recess this week, resumes its hearings July 10, when former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell is scheduled to testify.

Welfare Program Injustices Cited In New Studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States must better coordinate its Social Security, welfare and similar programs to end injustices both to recipients and to wage earners who pay the supporting taxes, the chairman of a congressional study committee said today.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., made the comment in connection with the publication of six studies of welfare programs by academic and other specialists in the field. The studies were commissioned by the Joint Economic subcommittee on fiscal policy, of which she is chairman.

Mrs. Griffiths said the studies demonstrate that, because of overlaps and conflicting regulations, "many low- and moderate-income workers gain little or no financial advantage from their own or their employers' contributions to social insurance programs such as Social Security and unemployment insurance."

To illustrate the effect of overlapping programs, Mrs. Griffiths cited a hypothetical case of two Michigan men, one of whom has contributed to Social Security during his working years, while the other has not. Both, she said, are assured by the welfare system of monthly income of $22 for themselves and their wives.

The welfare system pays the full amount for one couple, she said, while "the other man receives a Social Security check for himself and his wife of $250 monthly—about the average benefit for such couples nationwide—but he has found they can't live on this. So welfare gives him a small grant of $32," she said.

"The Social Security contributor has nothing extra to show for long years of paying ever higher payroll taxes."

Some state programs, she said, effectively discourage unemployed persons from taking part-time jobs, since their earnings are deducted from their benefits: "After taxes and work expenses, you can easily lose money if you work a little while collecting unemployment insurance."

TOURNAMENT PLAYERS LIKE THE LADIES
By Alfred Sheinwold
The legend has grown up that tournament bridge players don't notice the difference between male and female opponents. Nothing could be farther from the truth, as today's tournament hand demonstrates. (You might get further evidence if you come to play or kibitz in the national tournament at the Sheraton Park Hotel in Washington, D.C., July 20-23.)

Price Freeze Termed 'A Major Disaster'

HARTFORD (AP) — The president of the Connecticut Farm Bureau says President Nixon's latest price freeze "is a major disaster."

"Efforts to control inflation by controlling prices will not solve the causes of high prices, but will only prolong the shortage which contributes to them," Luther Stearns said in a statement.

"The price freeze attacks the symptoms of inflation but does nothing about the major problems of transportation and productivity," he said. "If the government wants to limit food price increases it should direct its efforts toward solving the causes of the problems of inflation, transportation and energy."

The current administration policy is to freeze retail prices, but not the prices farmers can get for their products.

Many wholesalers around the nation have said that this policy will result in the farmer's production cost being higher than the price he can get for his goods.

"It does little good to control food prices if farmer cannot afford to produce, get enough fuel for planting and harvesting crops or get transportation for hauling crops to market," Stearns said.

"The best incentive to increase production is the indication of a profit. Present administration policy gives the opposite signal to livestock, dairy and poultry producers," he said. "Unprofitable prices now mean shortages in the future."

Guard, Reserve Change Drill Requirements

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says the Army and National Guard are going to experiment with a shortened required period of weekend drills and summer camp in order to induce more enlistments.

In 16 states, guard and reserve enlistees will be able to drop weekend meetings and drills and summer camp after three years, instead of the usual six. After the first three years, they will still be carried as reservists, but will not be required to attend training sessions.

In another 13 states, the enlistees will have four years of meetings and summer camp, followed by two years of inactive reserve status.

New tax bills for the town were mailed Saturday, according to Mrs. Cynthia Clark, tax collector.

Over 2,000 bills were mailed, and Mrs. Clark asks anyone who does not receive a bill to contact her immediately.

Taxes are payable in four quarterly installments except when a bill is under $50. This bill must be paid in full during the month of July.

Any payment received after Aug. 1 will be subject to an interest charge of 1/2 of one percent per month on the unpaid balance.

Mrs. Clark reported that this year's Grand List is $12,643,472 as compared to last year's Grand List of $9,800,470 with the increase due to the revaluation on Oct. 1, 1972. Taxes on the Grand List are based on a mill rate this year of $2 as compared to a mill rate of 80-1/2 last year.

Mrs. Clark also reported that taxes are still outstanding on last year's list and as of the

Sesquicentennial Guest Editorial

Sesquicentennial Summation

Editor's Note: In this, the last in a series of special guest editorials on the observance of the 150th anniversary of Manchester's incorporation as a town; Thomas F. Ferguson, sesquicentennial co-chairman, gives his summation of the week-long event.

Four years have gone by since the day that Town Manager Robert E. Weiss asked Edmond Bailey and myself to sit down and discuss with him the planning of a celebration for Manchester's 150th birthday. At that time, Sesquicentennial was only an obscure word describing a date in the distant future.

The obscure word has become familiar and the date has now moved to the past. We who have been involved with the planning and operation of the event have naturally asked ourselves along the way whether the effort would be worthwhile — would the town and its citizens benefit.

From the perspective of the very recent past, I will attempt my evaluation.

Firstly, Manchester has benefited from the production of a very fine new history of the community which has been painstakingly researched and interestingly presented by a competent historian, Dr. William E. Buckley. This work of scholarship, done in cooperation with Manchester Community College, has been needed for many years.

In addition, Manchester has been given tremendous exposure through the news media as a community with tradition and pride in its heritage. The community has not only put its best foot forward to its neighbors but it has also shown its own citizenry that they have something of which to be proud.

The youth of the community have shown their elders that they too have a pride in their heritage, and the elders have shown the young people that they are willing to listen to their ideas and to welcome their suggestions.

We have shown our honored visitors, Alderman and Mrs. Kenneth Collis, Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoresse of Manchester, England, and Leslie Boardman, assistant town clerk of that city, a genuine and warm welcome which they have said they will never forget.

Our doctors, lawyers, merchant chiefs, industrialists and, most importantly, our man on the street have shown a hospitality and willingness to cooperate with the aims of our organization that has been truly heartwarming to the committee.

On Saturday evening, at the very end of our week of celebration, Bailey summed the whole thing up for me when he said his Yankee accent, "Tom, by golly, this thing has unified the whole darned community."

My co-chairman, Town Clerk Edward J. Tomkiel, and the entire committee wish me to thank the community for its great effort and its willing cooperation, and to say — Has it been worth it? You bet it has!

Try Harder

To the editor:
I would like to take this opportunity during the week which has been set aside to honor the heritage of our town, to try to preserve this heritage for others to enjoy. At present we are residents of a very nice town. We have thus far managed to preserve some of the New England quaintness which was so dominant throughout the history to which we have been exposed these last few weeks in spite of our rapidly increasing size. It is of utmost importance that the older persons maintain the pride and the younger persons develop the pride which will be necessary to keep this a pleasant town.

A broken window will only have to be replaced, a discarded beer can will only have to be picked up, and tire marks through a park will only have to be reseeded, so what is the use. These acts of carelessness and vandalism will not remain to be a part of the town's heritage. Why not divert the money from these maintenance programs into beautification programs? Let us realize that it is our town and we really do have a town worth being proud of. If we try a little harder, maybe our kids can be proud of it too.

Impressive
To the editor:
The June 23 Special Sesquicentennial Edition and the Main Street stage review of 150 years of Silk City history was most impressive in my mind, especially after being a former reporter for The Manchester Evening Herald during the early 1960s when I had the opportunity to delve into historical facts for several feature stories in the Manchester Police Department, Fire Departments from both North and South Manchester, and the Case Brothers business ventures including the "Highland Water Cured All Ailments" story about the Tomka Springs Company business, a sideline of the paper mill vocation.

All of us, the newcomers like myself and the old heritage families that planted the seeds for this great town, can be most proud of this community where leadership and growth abound for the future generations.

Charging "gastroonomic heresies," the Paris press was appalled that Breshnev was forced to drink a Cabernet Sauvignon wine with beef.

"Aronov" remarked that it would "make a gourmet faint in France." The inn for all Seasons in Britain's Gloucestershire is the equal of any eating joint in Europe. I never tried the combination. I don't know whether Nixon was exquisite in serving a Cabernet with beef because I never tried the combination. But a number of French restaurants in Washington do serve the best of what which tastes good with a given meal. They win at the choices of some of their Yankee customers, but admit — rather grudgingly that palates differ, and add further, that American wine drinkers are still experimenting. Anyway, one noted, "You can advise an American on wine, but never, never a Frenchman."

The Big Two

NEW YORK — What did Soviet leader Leonid Breshnev get from Mr. Nixon? A: Trade terms, credits, investments, global prestige.

Q: What did Mr. Nixon get from Breshnev? A: Legitimacy.

The above question-and-answer bit overimprints the summit, yet I stand by it. Breshnev's needs were primarily economic, but he also wanted an American visit for prestige before he left France and resumes his wooing of Europe. But Mr. Nixon's need for legitimacy, especially before the John Dean testimony, was more desperate. Breshnev gave it to him and carried off the feat with great virtuosity and no afterthoughts.

Surely it is one of the extreme ironies of history that the head of a Communist regime should accord legitimacy to the head of a democratic one and make it more credible for him to govern. Yet that is what happened. From the viewpoint of Mr. Nixon's survival as President, the nationalist version of socialism within a sister state diverges from the Soviet version.

It is a regime which has kept Alexander Solzhenitsyn in a state of siege, has sent the loof Brodskys, and Andrei Amalrik and others off to penal colonies, has sent other dissenters to insane asylums. It is the regime which imposed the hated "education tax" to cripple Jewish emigration, and moved away from it only under worldwide pressure.

One may argue that some of this — if not much — has changed, and that Breshnev (like Mr. Nixon) has the right to retreat from his earlier positions. I, for one, not only welcome but cheer every discernible change. But the changes must be signalized by deeds and not words alone. A lifting of restrictions on emigration, a less repressive policy toward intellectuals, a reasonableness in the European security conference, a willingness to break the logjam on further SALT agreements — these would be authentic signals of change.

The Big Two in today's power world — Mr. Nixon and Leonid Breshnev — both pride themselves on being realists. If their realism has led them closer to each other and to world peace, then all to the good. But it is hard to find in either of them the quality one finds on the West German chancellor, Willy Brandt, who has far less of a power base but has shown a moral sensitivity that sets him apart from the others.

It is this doubtless why young Europeans are moved by Brandt, while neither the Russian nor the American visitor respond to their national leadership. It is not a time when heroes flourish. Yet it is one that cries out for stature in leaders.

Breshnev's American trip has changed his world image — perhaps for his own people as well. He is no longer the grim, austere figure he seemed. There is a dash of color and vivacity in him, and of easiness. He was on his best behavior all through his visit, doubtless to help his own cause, perhaps Mr. Nixon's, too.

And Mr. Nixon? He gained from the Breshnev visit a week's breathing spell in which to function again in his best role, as global negotiator. The success of the Skylab mission helped him, too, and he tried to use it — along with the global talks — to give his image a speciousness which the grabby underground details of the Watergate story had stripped away from him. Even the joint view of Mr. Nixon and Breshnev to discourage nuclear warfare, which bodes well for the World's future, had a side aspect as an aid to the President's claim to legitimacy.

The next two weeks will be the crucial ones in Mr. Nixon's struggle for political survival. If he makes it, the Breshnev summit — whatever else comes of it — will rank as an event in America's internal history.

Tolland Tax Collector Sets Hours

The Collector Earl H. Beebe Jr. has sent out 2,000 bills to residents and non-resident taxpayers. The amount due the town is more than $2 million. The tax collector will be at the Town Hall to collect taxes on the following dates: July 5, 10, 17, 24, 31 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; July 27 from 8 p.m. to 8 p.m.; July 7, 14, 21, 28 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

On other days payment may be made at Beebe's residence on Rhodes Rd., except Sundays, or by appointment.

The Board of Assessors will be at Town Hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to answer questions regarding assessments. The assessment times the 45-mill rate equals the tax due.

All real estate, automobile, and personal taxes less than $100 must be paid in one installment by Aug. 1. Taxes over $100 may be paid in two installments in July and January.

This is the first year that separate bills will be made for each automobile owned by a taxpayer. If each bill under $100 is not paid on or before Aug. 1, it will be delinquent and reported to the Connecticut Motor Vehicle as required by law. Registrations will not be issued until taxes are paid in full.

New residents who have not received a tax bill should contact the tax collector's office regarding taxes they may owe due.

Little League Races Going Down to Wire

TONIGHT'S GAMES
Lavers vs. Stevenson's Sears vs. Dilley
Moriarty vs. VFW

With the Little League schedule entering its final week, there are still some tight races going on in all three leagues.

In the International, it's a three team affair between the Ollers, 8-6, Ansdill's, 8-5, and Barbers, 7-5. Tomorrow night, the Ollers and Ansdill's clash and the other two would really tighten things up in the race.

The American League features another three-team scramble with Army & Navy, Sears, and Wipico vying for the top spot. A & N holds the lead with a 9-4 record, followed closely by Wipico at 8-5, and Sears at 7-6. Four-man Police & Fire, with an 8-7 record, could play the spoiler's role.

Interesting developments could occur in the National League, where three teams are even in the loss column. First-place Nassiff's takes on second-place Bonanza tomorrow night. Nassiff's is 10-5 and Bonanza 9-5. Still with an excellent chance is Moriarty Brothers, with an 8-6 standard. The MB's play fourth-place VFW and last-place Medics in their two remaining games.

Tonight's THE NIGHT

After three weeks of patiently waiting, the night lighting unit at Robertson Park is scheduled to be turned on tonight at 7:30. This was the official word from Town Manager Bob Wells' office this morning.

Two games are slated in the Candlelight League, the first at 7:30 will feature Wyman Oil and Don's Boys with Manchester State Bank facing Dick's American at 8:45.

Because the new lighting system was not ready for play, which started April 30, all Candlelight play was shifted to Mt. Nebo.

MB's in Action Monday, Tuesday

Six of the eight Hartford Twilight baseball teams will be in action tonight following three consecutive wash-out dates.

At St. Thomas Seminary in Bloomfield, the Eastern Division leaders, Moriarty Brothers (8-3) will oppose Herb's Sport Shop (1-6) on Diamond No. 1. On the second playing surface, Vernon Orioles (2-3) goes up against the Hartford Yankees (2-3). The New Britain Falcons, on the rise in the Western Division, will host the Bristol Casins at Woodstock.

Moriarty's will continue to shuffle its lineup following an injury to shortstop Bob Tridand last Tuesday. Jim Balesano most likely will cover that position.

Ryder Cup Spots For Snead, Casper

CHICAGO (AP) - Billy Casper and J.C. Snead came out of the pack and won spots on the 12-man American Ryder Cup team which finishes Sunday in the Western Open golf tournament.

Casper won the event—the last one in which points are awarded for positions on the team that will oppose Britain's best in the biennial matches in Scotland this fall—and Snead tied for fourth.

They bumped Frank Beard and Rod Funseth from the squad.

The American team will be made up of Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Gay Brewer, Lou Graham, Dave Hill, Tommy Aaron, Cal Rios, Rodrigo, Homero Blancas, Arnold Palmer, Casper and Snead.

It was the seventh consecutive time that Casper has made the squad. He was 18th on a list with only 12 to be chosen—going into the final selection tournament and had to finish fourth or better to make it.

Snead, a raw-boned member of Sam Snead and the man who clinched the American victory in the 1969 matches in St. Louis, made the squad by the thinnest of margins.

He edged Funseth for the last spot 138.967 points to 138.166. Funseth withdrew from last week's American Classic and did not compete here.

Only five players—Nicklaus, Trevino, Palmer, Snead and Casper—are repeaters from the 1969 team.

Britain's team has not yet been named.

Mary Mills Wins Lady Tara Open

ATLANTA (AP) - Mary Mills two-putted from 22 feet away on the final green Sunday to win the Lady Tara Open golf tournament.

She had watched as Mike Miller sank a 10-foot putt, but wasn't aware it was for a bogey which dropped her into a four-way tie for second place with veterans Sandra Haynie and Judy Rankin and popular newcomer Laura Beugh, the teenage blonde beauty who had led after each of the first two rounds.

Bonnie Bryant, only left-hander on the tour, shared the lead after 15 holes but went bogey, bogey-Nicklaus, Larry Scranton I, Bill Leger I, Frank Casper - are repeaters from the 1969 team.

Britain's team has not yet been named.

Harry Geraghty Rockville Coach

Going out of the town limits, Rockville High has come up with a new basketball coach to replace Bob Corlett who resigned after the 1972-73 basketball season.

Corlett's successor is Harry Geraghty, who previously coached at Canton High for the past seven seasons. Geraghty graduated from St. Bonaventure in 1960. Following his graduation he coached at Wallingford from 1960-68 before taking over the reins at Canton High.

Geraghty will teach history at Rockville High.

Fight Talk Ends For Couple of Joes

Bruce Crampton Lines Up Putt

LONDON (AP) - The talking is over now, and Joe Frazier and Joe Bugner are set to fight tonight, under the burning floodlights at London's Earl's Court Arena.

Frazier, the former world champion, and Bugner, European heavyweight titleholder, both have said they can't lose. In fact, both are looking ahead toward a possible meeting with world champion George Foreman, which the winner could receive.

So how will the fight go? It might not be a good fight to watch, because the styles of the two fighters are vastly different.

Frazier has said he aimed to be "more mobile" than when he lost his crown to Foreman last January in Jamaica.

Frazier, however, didn't appear more mobile in his training. He waded in, and threw vicious hooks to the head and body, virtually ignoring what was thrown back at him. That style took

Thrill and Smile Returns to Casper

CHICAGO (AP) - The old thrill and smile of winning a tournament returned to Billy Casper, who did a little dance Sunday on the 72nd hole after dropping a six-foot par putt to clinch the Western Open title.

It was Casper's first tournament victory since taking the Kiehl International in 1971 as he stepped back into the limelight that he once held in winning 48 championships and earning nearly $14 million.

Buffalo Bill joined early century Willie Anderson as the only players to win the Western Open four times. He captured it previously in 1965, 1966, and 1969.

"I call it the Casper stamp," he said in describing his footwork on the last hole that brought laughs from some 22,000 fans.

The last two holes were critical for him. On the 71st he saved par with a 12-foot putt after coming out a bunker.

On the 72nd, his approach was short and he pitched six feet away. He needed the putt for a par, finishing 69, a 10-under-par 272 over the tramped Midlothian course.

He got it, avoiding a sudden-death playoff with Larry Hinson and Hale Irwin, who tied for second at 273.

Casper's victory was worth $35,000 while Hinson and Irwin each pocketed $18,187.

Sharing fourth-place money of $7,233 at 274 were Bruce Crampton, the third-round leader who tailed off to a 73; Hubert Green with a blazing 65 and J.C. Snead with 65. Art Wall and Arnold Palmer were next at 276 and John Mahaffey followed with 277.

Seldom have losers been so happy.

"I didn't win my fifth tournament of the season, but I achieved my most important milestone," said Crampton. "I got into the million dollar bracket."

The Australian boosted his career earnings to $1,003,103 to join Jack Nicklaus, Palmer, Casper and Lee Trevino as the world's millionaires.

Here are the final scores and money winnings:

Player	Score	Money
Billy Casper	67-69-69-272	$35,000

Ives Named State Treasurer

HARTFORD (AP) - Connecticut has a new state treasurer, former state Senate Minority Leader Alden A. Ives of Morris.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has announced the appointment of Ives, an insurance company executive, in a move that caught some political observers by surprise.

Ives succeeds Robert I. Berdon, who Thursday resigned mid-way through his four-year term to take a seat on the Superior Court bench.

Berdon was sworn in as a judge Friday. Ives will take the remainder of Berdon's term which expires Jan. 8, 1975.

The state Republican convention in June 1974 will elect a candidate for state treasurer who will run for the office in the election that fall.

Before winning a seat in the state Senate in 1961, Ives served two terms in the state House. He sat in the upper chamber for five terms. He served as minority leader during the 1971-1972 General Assembly.

News Capsule

Nixon-Watergate WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon will speak on Watergate "in an appropriate forum" after the Senate Watergate committee concludes the current phase of its three-pronged investigation.

The announcement came Monday from Nixon's San Clemente complex, where presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler ruled out a Nixon news conference before the conclusion of the committee's first phase sometime in early August.

Nixon has not held a news conference since March 1972. He last spoke publicly on the Watergate scandal May 22.

Ponder Phase IV WASHINGTON (AP) - The administration's Food Advisory Commission closed a closed session today to work on proposed new food price controls after being told that the current freeze will cause higher prices.

Food industry spokesmen Monday predicted food shortages because of the 6-day freeze. They also forecast disruptions in the economy.

The committee also heard from Kay Ryan, a government consumer specialist, who said she would prefer some food shortages to a continuing upward spiral in food costs.

Exports Controls WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has slapped stiff export controls on iron and steel scrap metals after domestic prices reached a 16-year high.

At the same time, Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent announced late Monday he had eased a five-day total embargo on the exports of soybeans and cottonseed-meal.

Cabinet Shuffle SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) - President Salvador Allende is to reshuffle his cabinet today, and political observers believe the new ministers will include military men because of the violence plaguing the government.

Motor Fuel Rationing Said Near DALLAS (AP) - A detailed national program for compulsory rationing of all motor fuels lacks only White House approval, a government official declared today.

The Dallas News reported that Duke Ligon, director of the Office of Oil and Gas of the Interior Department, said the plan calls for mandatory allocation of crude oil to refineries and a set of finished products-including gasoline-down to the consumer level.

Only the Connecticut River was still cresting with rain water that washed out roads, and bridges, flooded farmhouses and homes and claimed eight lives. Two other persons are still missing.

Minor flooding was reported in low-lying areas in Hartford, Conn., as flood water moved down the river to Long Island Sound.

Gov. Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont and Gov. Malcolm Thomson asked President Nixon to declare their states disaster areas to become eligible for federal aid.

Ligon also is executive secretary of the Oil Policy Committee and has been charged with policing the administration's voluntary allocation program since it was announced May 10.

B52 Raids Increase

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) - U.S. B52 heavy bombers struck within 10 to 25 miles of Phnom Penh Monday night and early today in an insurgent stronghold, 25 miles southwest of the capital.

In Washington, Defense Department spokesmen said the number of raids by the big eight-jet planes increased slightly in June and probably would be stepped up even more before Aug. 15, the deadline set by the U.S. Congress for an end to all other American military activity in Indochina.

The informant said the B52s struck at suspected insurgent positions around the railway town of Batt Dong, 15 miles north of Phnom Penh; Trapeang Thnot, another rail town 9 1/2 miles due west; the district town of Saven, 13 miles to the southeast; the district town of Prek Tamak, 13 miles northwest on the east bank of the Mekong River; and in the Srang mountain region, an insurgent stronghold 65 miles southwest of the capital.

In Washington, Defense Department spokesmen said the number of raids by the big eight-jet planes increased slightly in June and probably would be stepped up even more before Aug. 15, the deadline set by the U.S. Congress for an end to all other American military activity in Indochina.

Announcing the conference Monday, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "The president should not suggest there's a matter of urgency to discuss." Nevertheless, the timing coincided closely with Nixon's Sunday signing of compromise legislation to cut off all funds for U.S. military activity in Indochina on Aug. 15.

And it came amid increasing speculation that Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's foreign policy adviser, soon will fly again to Peking and, while there, confer with Cambodia's expelled Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

American officials have acknowledged that Sihanouk, plus the Town of Manchester Fire District account for 1971-72 was $174,000, and $85,000 of it was used by the directors in adopting the 1973-74 (current) budget.

It appears that the Fire District surplus for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1972 was $174,000, and $85,000 of it was used by the directors in adopting the 1973-74 (current) budget.

Surpluses were reported for all town departments. Because of transfers from some departments to others, approved in June by the Board of Directors, surpluses based on original appropriations are difficult to determine.

When the directors adopted the 1972-74 General Fund budget, they didn't estimate nor utilize any surplus from the 1972-73 fiscal year. What they did utilize, however, was $374,000 in surplus still available from the 1971-72 fiscal year (ended June 30, 1972).

The Weather

Major Security Meeting Opens In Helsinki

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) - The 25-nation Conference on European Security and Cooperation, the largest postwar effort to ease tensions on the continent, opened today in Finlandia Hall with optimistic expressions from all sides.

"Our cooperation is not directed against any state or continent and should constitute an important contribution to world peace and security," said Ahti Karjalainen, the Finnish foreign minister, as the foreign ministers and other representatives of the United States, Canada and all the European nations except Albania took their seats.

Karjalainen, speaking for the neutral host country, related the conference to other efforts toward East-West détente and said the over-all objective is "stability and enduring peace."

Five of the leading Western ministers-U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Sir Alec Douglas-Home of Britain, Walter Scheel of West Germany, Italy's Giuseppe Medici and Canada's Mitchell Sharp-arrived together shortly before the conference opened. They came from a party in London Monday celebrating Sir Alec's 70th birthday.

Rogers said the meeting was "one of the most important international conferences since World War II." He said he believed it would turn out "to be of real significance."

In Moscow, the Soviet Defense Ministry newspaper, Red Star, said the Soviet Union "regards the conference not as a propaganda gathering or as a ceremonial gathering for the empty exchange of words, but as a practical action for relaxation of tensions in Europe and an opening toward many-sided cooperation."

For the United States and its allies, one of the major issues was how far the Soviet bloc would go in easing its restrictions on contacts between its people and those in the West.

The issue caused the biggest controversy during the six months of preliminary negotiations to set up the conference, and Western ministers were expected to make much of it in their opening statements this week.

The Soviet Union has long pushed for an agreement between its Warsaw Pact organization and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that would in effect recognize the postwar division of Europe into Communist and non-Communist groupings.

The United States and all European countries except Albania have before them an agenda of topics agreed on under three main headings during the preliminary negotiations that ended June 8.

The first topic covers the general "confidence building" aspects of European security and cooperation, as well as 10 guiding principles borrowed mainly from the United Nations charter. It includes a proposal for advance notification of military movements and exchange of observers in military maneuvers.

The second topic concentrates on economic, scientific, technological and environmental cooperation between the different economic and political systems in Europe.

The third topic covers the area of cultural, educational and human contacts.
