Nixon Alleged To Have Doubted Gray's Ability

HARTFORD (AP) — A tape recording of a telephone conversation last March in which President Nixon was quoted as saying he doubted the ability of Gray III to be capable of running the FBI has been turned over to the Senate Watergate Committee, according to a published report today.

The recording is a conversation between former White House aides John D. Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III, and it was Dean who quoted the President's comments about Gray, The Hartford Courant reported.

The alleged telephone conversation took place on March 7 or 8, a few days after Senate hearings began on Nixon's nomination of Gray to head the FBI, the newspaper reported. It said Ehrlichman made tapes of telephone conversations with Dean and Gray which have been given to the committee.

U.S. Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, Conn., questioned Ehrlichman Thursday about a quote from a conversation with Dean that occurred after Gray's nomination ran into trouble in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The quotes indicated Ehrlichman was irritated by the disclosures Gray was making before the committee and favored allowing Gray's nomination to be rejected.

"Let's let him (Gray) hang there...I think we ought to let him hang there. Let him twist slowly in the wind," he was quoted as telling Dean.

Dean's reply was: "That's right and I was in with the boss this morning and that is exactly where he was coming out. He said 'I'm not sure Gray is smart enough to run the bureau (FBI) the way he is handling himself.'"

Four Women Named To Commission

HARTFORD (AP) — Four more women have been appointed to Connecticut's Commission on the Status of Women, bringing to eight the number of appointees to date to the newly created 17-member body.

The latest appointments, by House Speaker Francis J. Collins, R-Brookfield, are Ann Menoush, Washington, Conn.; Elizabeth Hawles, Bloomfield; Barbara Lifton, Hamden and Kathleen O'Leary McGuire, Ellington.

Previous appointments were made by Senate President Pro Tem Florence D. Finney, R-Bloomfield.

Still to be appointed are five women selected by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill, two of whom must be professors from Connecticut's two law schools. The remaining four members of the commission are designated by statute.

Interstate Stolen Car Ring Broken

BOSTON (AP) — The FBI said eight men were arrested in various parts of New England and Pennsylvania early today on charges of conducting a stolen car operation in seven states.

The Board of Directors, which will conduct the hearing, will determine whether to place N.H. and Vermont on a townwide referendum Nov. 4, of Philadelphia.

The FBI said Kerrigan would be arraigned before a federal magistrate in Philadelphia. He said the others would be arraigned before federal magistrates in Worcester and Boston.

Youth Center, Council To Appear for Funds

Officials from the Youth Services Center and the Drug Advisory Council will voice appeals concerning grant denials by the Connecticut Planning Committee on Criminal Administration (CPCA), at an appeal session Tuesday, at 9 a.m. in the Connecticut Police Academy in Meriden.

Digan is uncertain of the total amount which he expects to be granted at the appeal session. Other applicants from Manchester are Jim Breitenfeld, coordinator of the Drug Advisory Center; and Paul Moss, assistant administrator of Manchester Memorial Hospital and president of the Drug Advisory Council.

The current grant of $24,133 for the Youth Services Center will terminate Dec. 30, 1973, and the Drug Advisory Council's grant will end Sept. 30.

The CPCA is one of 55 state and United States territorial planning agencies that distribute LEAA funds. Since 1968, when the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets act established LEAA, was passed, the CPCA has distributed almost $30 million to local, regional and state agencies.

The CPCA is under a mandate from Gov. Meskill to reduce crime and to improve the state's criminal justice system. About 30 representatives from 17 cities are appealing.

Three in One Woodrow Wilson was the only U.S. president to simultaneously defeat two other presidents in one election. He defeated former Presidents Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft in 1912.

Fans Don't Always Mind 'Senator Sam'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. telling his Watergate spectators not to applaud is like a stripper telling her audience not to stare.

The "old country lawyer" with the dancing eyebrows and puckish grin is getting tough with his fans. They don't seem to mind — but they don't always listen, either.

The chairman of the Senate Watergate committee has become something of a folk hero to the more than 1,000 people each day who crowd in and drift out of the rear section of the Old Senate office building Caucus Room.

They cheer "Senator Sam" and boo his unworthy adversaries.

No one much minded at first when they laughed at his downhome No-nonsense stories and cheered his Bible-based wisdom, but lately they have even taken to applauding his entrance after every recess.

"I am going to respectfully request the audience not to make any kind of a demonstration or indicate in any way their approval or disapproval of anybody or anything, including myself," Ervin told the spectators Wednesday.

The transcript of the afternoon session duly noted the chairman's admonition was followed by laughter.

But the spectator turnover is constant throughout the day. Ervin no longer conducts a scolding one crowd before another unprepared group has moved in to replace it.

All But One Democrat Expect To Run Again

Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings has notified members of his town committee that only one incumbent Democrat isn't running for re-election — Beldon Schaffer, veteran member of the Board of Education.

In letters to all committee members, Cummings states, "We are pleased to announce that the (six) Democratic members of the Board of Directors may all run again."

He said also that Town Clerk Edward Tomkiel and Town Treasurer Roger Negro "will also stand for re-election and, unless we are notified to the contrary, it is expected that the constables are Democrats.

The Republicans, who fill only three of the nine seats on the executive board of the town, must come up with a slate of five for the November election, and will have at least four newcomers.

Incumbent Charles McKonzie has announced he won't seek re-election. Only Vivian Ferguson has announced she will run again. James Farr, former mayor, said he still is undecided.

The Republican's haven't announced dates for screening and endorsing candidates.

Where Have You Been Senator?

Our junior senator, Lowell Weicker Jr., is reportedly dismayed by the fact the President did not support Republican congressional candidates in 1972 for fear it might offend Democratic incumbents who had supported certain administration policies.

We can only wonder where the senator has been. This down playing of GOP candidates in certain southern states in particular has not been a secret or even a "dirty trick."

The action was reported in several newspapers and periodicals throughout the campaign as part of the so-called Southern strategy.

And, if the senator would refer to his history books, he will find the tactic of an incumbent President (after realistically assessing the party chances of congressional control and finding them remote) to accommodate candidates of the opposite party who are the least offensive, is not new.

Democrat and Republican presidents in the past have, with varying degrees of success, attempted to dump fellow party members who have taken a too maverick a stance.

The fault is not the occupier of the White House. The fault lies with the two political parties which, in the course of their almost obsessive desires to win the White House, have on many occasions proven that politics does make for strange bed fellows.

The GOP in particular has thrived so long for power that it nominated in 1940 former Democrat Wendell Willkie. It tried again with the late Thomas E. Dewey on three occasions, not because he was known as a Republican, but because he had charisma and a reputation as a fighting D.A. Again in 1948, the GOP turned its back on the late Robert Taft, a man of impeccable party credentials, because they knew they could win with Ike.

So Sen. Weicker, where have you been? The party picks its candidates for president because they want a winner, not because of party loyalties. Before television, a charmer at the head of the ticket had to take to the hustings and this did help provide a coat-tail benefit to congressional candidates.

To the extent the present incumbent has used or abused his party, his party can only be blamed since it was the one which nominated him because it wanted a winner and got one.

P.S., senator, we'll get you a deflating dollar right now that if you are nominated in 1976, you too will call the plays on the same basis because the last guy who decided he would rather be right than president never got the job.

When you drink fruit juices, use the unsweetened, and get the true flavor of the fruit, really delicious. Cut down on coffee, but if you do have them instead of fruits and nuts, then you must use the toothbrush. A very small folding toothbrush is a very nice thing to put in your lunch box. That brush has a pretty colored plastic container and keeps toothbrush clean.

Now you can say, "goodbye to tooth decay," Toland leads the way." The two and a half million people in Connecticut deserve this same lucky break to throw out compulsory fluoridation of drinking water. That is a very happy day.

The Anguished Choices

NEW YORK, N.Y. — With his double refusal to surrender the tapes, either to the Senate committee or to prosecutor Archibald Cox, President Nixon plunged not only into a constitutional crisis but into a credibility crisis sharper than ever.

The impasse between him and the Senate committee has hardened, until there is little room for maneuver or compromise. The issue will now go to the courts. But the ultimate court is the mind of the people.

In constitutional terms, President Nixon claims a President's right to withhold papers and records that is sweeping and even absolute. He probably knows that either of them might lead to an impeachment but doubtless he would rather face impeachment in a contest over a constitutional principle than in a wrangle over the meaning of the disclosed tapes.

There was a similar anguished decision for the Senate committee. If it meant to resolve the Watergate inquiry by laying it bare but leaving the President standing, the Nixon tapes changed everything. The ground for maneuver and compromise determined not to look helpless and humiliated, and a President fighting for his political life.

Once these two anguished choices were made, by the committee and the President, what follows: Something very much like a plebiscite. For the rest of the summer and perhaps the fall, the people will have to decide the nation's course. How can they take the President's unsupported word, either about what the tapes say or about his own innocence? But are they willing to go all the way to topple him?

The sardonic part of it was that no one on the committee was anxious for an uncompromising showdown that might lead to President Nixon going and Spiro Agnew succeeding. Nor was there any strong political element in public opinion that barked such a result. But now the future has come, and all these bets are off.

I don't agree with Sen. Ervin that the principle of the separation of powers is in abstraction, to be brushed aside by concrete urgencies. It is an important principle. But the President's double no, coming after the whole series of Watergate revelations, will leave the majority of people frustrated and angry for three more years, in order to avoid the social divisions of an impeachment, or whether they will bite the bullet and chance the consequences.

That will prove an even more anguished choice than the committee's and the President's. But in time you and I will have to make it.

Manchester Comes Through

Summer is the time when each of us lets things slide if we can.
For there is something about summer that brings out our all-natural desire to procrastinate and, if possible, drop out of the rat race for even a few hours.

This affliction is common and we can notice it in the number of meetings that recess for the summer since it would take a major effort to get out an attendance.

However, despite this natural desire and more or less socially accepted one to sort of drop out of things in the summer, it is gratifying to note the drop out is not complete. Recently, the American Red Cross

Bloodmobile made its monthly visit to Manchester because the need for whole blood and its derivatives knows no season. Because of summer, vacations, and a host of alternatives to giving blood, the 150 pint quota seemed unrealistic.

But the good people of Manchester came through anyway. While the 151 donors who showed up at the Knights of Columbus Home could give only 137 pints of the 150 quota it was a moral victory and big boost to the area's blood supply.

It would appear that summer to the contrary, our people can and will respond to a need. Our appreciation to all those who found the time to give a pint of blood.

Darwin's Mistake

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree. Discussing things as they're said to be. Said one to the other, "Now listen you two! There's a certain rumor that can't be true. That man descended from our noble race, That very idea is a disgrace.
No monkey ever deserted his wife, Starved her babies, or winded her life. And another thing you will never see— A man build a fence around a coconut tree, And let the coconuts go to waste. It is an infighting all other monkeys to taste.
If I put a fence around this tree, Starvation would force you to steal from me. Here's another thing that a monk won't do— Go out at night and get on a stew, And use a club, or gun or knife— To take some other monkey's life— Yes, man descended, the ornary cuss— But, brother, he didn't descend from us."

Today's Thought

PRaise
Praise has primary over both knowledge and love, though it may include and transfigure them both. For praise is indifferent to utility and is solely concerned with glory. It is an inspiring thought that in heaven our total concern will be with something that is entirely right and is of no use. In the beatific vision all our human utilitarian economic standards are irrelevant.—E.L. Mascall

Reuben Plen's Texaco

Plen's Texaco sells only top name products such as Firestone tires, Havoline motor oil, Texaco and Delco batteries, AD, Champion spark plugs. You can depend on Reube to replace your car's worn out parts with only the best made parts. Reube often tells a customer, "You can't get a cheaper tire but soon you will need to buy another one to replace it?"

Now you can see when the man said "PLAN with Plen's" was really saying "Let Plen's Texaco take care of your car and you can PLAN to save PLENTY dollars and much unnecessary aggravation.

The nicest thing about trading with Plen's Texaco is that you can be certain that there is no guess work there.

Perhaps some owners have had starting trouble and had the misfortune to fall into the hands of a trial and error "mechanic." This "operator" usually starts with a new heavy duty battery, then if that doesn't cure it, a new starter, voltage regulator, generator etc. In the end the owner winds up taking it to someone like Reube who, immediately diagnoses the trouble such as burnt valves. In this case of the replaced parts were unnecessary and represents money down the drain.

Plen's Texaco has the tools, equipment and the know-how to properly diagnose any problem without guessing. When they find the real mechanical stand up—"Reuben Plen will stand with the best of them. The best mechanic usually is the least expensive because guess work, trial and error costs the car owner far unnecessary money and wastes effort. An experienced mechanic such as Reuben Plen can determine the problem positively and expertly.

"Another thing about Plen's Texaco is that Mr. Plen keeps abreast of the times by purchasing the latest manuals and trade publications detailing engine changes and the newest innovations by the car manufacturers. Reuben also keeps his tools and equipment up-to-date so that he can service your car the way it is supposed to be done. You can bet that Plen's Texaco is as modern as tomorrow, so PLAN with Plen and be PLENTY happy.

So he ran ahead of the crowd and climbed a sycamore tree to see Jesus, who would be going that way. When Jesus came to that place, he looked up and said to Zacchaeus, "Hurry down, Zacchaeus, because I must stay in your house today."

Zacchaeus hurried down and welcomed him with great joy. All the people who saw it started grumbling, "This man has gone as a guest to the home of a sinner!"

Zacchaeus stood up and said to the Lord, "Listen, sir! I will give half my belongings to the poor; and if I have cheated anyone, I will pay him back four times as much."

Jesus said to him, "Salvation has come to this house today; this man, also, is a descendant of Abraham. For the Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost."

Church Encourages Musical Creativity

A "Sing the Faith" contest, which is open to people of any age or denomination, is being sponsored by the music in Worship Committee of the United Church of Christ.

The purpose of the contest is to gather together new resources for use in churches and to encourage musical creativity.

The committee hopes that musicians, clergy and laypeople will be encouraged to compose and submit new and original contributions of words or music appropriate for regular or special church services.

Compositions may be in the form of hymns, instrumental pieces, songs for church school or youth, hymns with new words or new musical settings, or prose statements of a faith or prayer.

The compositions may be in areas such as creeds and affirmations, confirmation, acceptance into church membership, communion, marriage ceremonies, funeral services, benediction responses, other sections of the liturgy, or for general use in worship and special religious holidays. The committee suggests that some contributions might relate to ecology, conservation, and stewardship of the good earth as important theological issues.

All contributions should be submitted before Aug. 15 to Mrs. Ruth Dudley, Congregational House, 125 Sherman St., Hartford. Authors should retain copies of all manuscripts submitted.

The final choices will be announced and performed at the annual meeting of the Connecticut Conference of the United Church of Christ starting Oct. 12 in New London.

About Town

The 42d Infantry Division Veterans Association will have its 27th annual reunion here Sept. 7 to 9 at the Hotel Viking and Motor Inn, Newport, R.I. All former members of the division and their families are invited to attend the annual event. More information may be obtained by contacting Col. Joseph E. Zimmer, State Armory, 380 Broad St., Hartford, 242-4790.

About Town

Mrs. Dorothy Mader of 68 Bradford St. will be hostess Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Lutz Junior Museum.

Steve Dunn To Speak Here Sunday

Steve Dunn of Monticello, Ill., will be guest speaker Sunday at the 10 a.m. worship service of the Church of Christ, Lydall and Vernon Sts.

Mr. Dunn, with his wife, Linda, and daughter, Kristy, will be visiting the Manchester church relative to serving as minister for a projected new congregation in Storrs.

This will be a major evangelistic thrust for the local church, as it will supply five families in the Storrs area for a nucleus for the new church. Target date for the beginning is September with the start of the fall semester at the University of Connecticut.

Mr. Dunn, 31, is a graduate of Harding College, Searcy, Ark., with a major in Bible, and holds a master's degree in counseling from Arkansas State University, Jonesboro. He formerly served as minister for the Church of Christ in Chicopee Falls, Mass. Before that he was a counselor for the Arkansas Rehabilitation Service. He presently is the minister for the Church of Christ in Monticello.

Thanks, of course, to a successful day.

The Bible Speaks by Eugene Brewer

Invariably, people defend their use of instrumental music in worship by pointing to its use in Old Testament worship. But one might as logically defend the use of other such shadows of Judaism as burning incense, lighting candles, and animal offerings. All were sensual things which found their spiritual antitypes in Christianity.

Christians tend to emphasize music's aesthetic and sensual qualities, rather than the spiritual. And as Eph. 5:19, Col. 3:16, and Jas. 5:12 show, singing is to teach and admonish each other, and to praise God.

We have no moral objection to instrumental music. Indeed, it is admired for its artistic quality. The question is entirely one of biblical authority. This stand seems odd in a day when nearly all churches use instruments. But there is scarcely a church over 200 years old which did not at one time suffer dissonance, even division, over the introduction of instruments into its worship.

News for Senior Citizens

by Wally Fortin

Hello there! Here we go again, and the big story of the week was our second annual picnic at Wickham Park last Wednesday.

It was a wonderful day for all, and some 155 members enjoyed the day. Some played bingo, while others played cards, and still others just enjoyed relaxing. The food was plentiful, and we had four cooks, Bob Doggart, Al Bourret, Harold Lehman, and Joseph DePont. They were served by the hamburgers and hot dogs in fine style.

Meanwhile, Anna Haupt, Lena Speed, Marge Hall, Georgina Vince, Cecile Carroll, and Joe DuPont, with the assistance of Fred Corbin, all pitched in to serve the salad, relishes, macaroni salad, deliciously prepared by the cooking students here at the Community College. Punch and lemonade were served with dessert to round out the meal served.

We also want to thank Georgina Vince and Tom O'Neill for keeping the bingo games going in fine style.

As an added treat, these members - Helen Burford, Beatrice Maher, Edward Strauss, Peggy Cealla, Ernest Farrell, Bernadette Noel, Lena Speed, Cecile Carroll, Jack Jastowski, and Iveski Kucinski, all "Sunshiners," were on hand for a sing-along which really put the frosting on the cake and made for a successful day.

Thanks, of course, to a successful day.

"Eclecticism" is Here

Story by June B. Tompkins

Ladies, and gentlemen, too, are more than ever aware of the home they live in, the home they would like to live in, and the way they live. The days of colonialism when the men built much of the necessary furnishings because furniture makers were unknown, and the days of the women's magazines of the 20s and 30s where the ads specialized in home patent medicines, recipes, needlecraft and home stories, are a thing of the past.

There's hardly a woman's, or family type magazine available that doesn't have articles, ads, or how-to's on home decorating and design. The public has become educated and made aware of easier and better ways to create an attractive, functional home.

Interviews with three of Manchester's home designers clearly show that today's homemaker is "home" conscious with style very much in mind. The designers interviewed were Rick Repko of Flair Home Furnishings, Carol Dussinger of Blau's Furniture Store, and Ruth Watkins Shea and Gene Reilly of Watkins Bros.

Following are some of the questions and the answers given.

What is today's trend in home interior design? "Eclecticism," or "eclectic" was unanimous reply. This tongue-twisting word is of Greek origin meaning to pick out, choose out, or, the method or practice of selecting various items from various systems (styles, period).

Reiko explains it as a mixture of period and technique. He says that it has been growing for the past year or two. He adds that with eclecticism, there is "some character for everyone." Carol Dussinger defines the trend as "mixing different rooms in different styles."

She says you can't buy style, but that with a choice of color, fabric and fabric design, a change of style can be achieved.

Ruth Shea and Gene Reilly agree that eclecticism is an individual expression, or "doing whatever one wants to do."

What is good taste? Carol Dussinger: "A well coordinated room which involves color, arrangement and function." Mrs. Dussinger says color in a room is judged by its exposure.

"Red in a room with a southern exposure," she says, "will make the room hot all year round."

The comfort of the family is taken into consideration as to the room's function. Ruth Shea and Gene Reilly: "To have good taste, color is important. The more conservative you are, the better off you are—greater extremes are in bad taste."

Carol Dussinger: "There's a new domain in functional fabrics. There are nylons, hercules, nungaydes, furs and damasks. They're in the medium expense range. Crushed velvet is extremely functional because it does not show spots. Plastics are fabulous and exciting. They're reasonably priced. Some plastic accessories are fashioned to look just like wood.

Ruth Shea: "There's no wool anymore. Rayon and cotton are mixed with other materials for texture and durability. Velvet isn't just velvet, anymore. There's cotton velvet, nylon velvet. Silk velvet is impractical."

Gene Reilly: "Herculon has changed the fabric world. It's extremely wearable and easy to maintain, easy to clean."

Rick Repko: "Linen is coming in. It's coming from Belgium. Wrinkled linen will be used. It should be easy to keep clean. It is a natural fabric and any natural material will clean better than synthetics."

Reiko's opinion of velvet was strong. "Velvets have become prostituted." A little velvet goes a long way, but it is better if it makes an occasional appearance, or is used as an accent.

"Woods are scarce and getting scarcer. Chrome and glass are becoming increasingly popular. Chrome is becoming popular. Chrome is becoming popular. Chrome is becoming popular."

What are some of the "new" looks? Ruth Shea: "Glass and chrome are very sophisticated. There's a growing trend for the Oriental look. Nixon's visit to China, the New China, are largely responsible. There's also a growing interest in things East Indian. The new Hindu religious cult, Yoga, meditation, all have been influential."

Carol Dussinger: "There's an interest in Oriental design. Nixon's visit to China was definitely influential. Our servicemen in Vietnam became acquainted with Oriental art, liked it, bought it, sent some home and brought some home. Some people have gone big for Temple ginger jar lamps."

"There's also an interest in 'fun' things, like the bean-bag cushions. Now they're filled with styrofoam pellets. The cushions come in all sizes and in bright colors. The young people love them. They're great for the family room, or bedrooms."

Rick Repko: "Lots of soft cushions are being used, specially in divans. They're practical. They're reversible, and they're very comfortable. All the decorators had admiration for the individual who either picks up, or inherits an ugly duckling piece of furniture and, with a dab of this and a swatch of that, achieves a compatible item."

Reiko believes that "old art mixes with new decor, and new art mixes with the old."

Carol Dussinger says there is a growing desire for more formal rooms because of the family room development. She says the "wide open look" can be achieved through architecture. She says New Englanders seem to prefer to spend money on the building of an additional room rather than redesigning an existing room.

All the designers acknowledge that the one-time perfectly matched dining room suite, living room divan, etc., are out. At best, a suite and chair may match in style and covering, but other pieces are complementary.

The notion that designers are people to fear is not so. They are most helpful in guiding the individual to make the best decisions in choice of color, style and arrangement, to suit their own taste.

The celebration, to be held in the church of Our Lady of Health in Arrifes on the island of Sao Miguel, where the Cardinal was baptized and received his First Communion, is part of a nine-day trip being sponsored by a group of Portuguese-Americans in Fall River.

Born in Arrifes in 1916, Medeiros came to Fall River in 1931, and was ordained a priest in the Fall River diocese in 1946.

He will be accompanied on the trip by his former boss, the Most Rev. James L. Conolly, retired bishop of Fall River.

Murk Family Musicales Concert Thursday

The Murk Family Musicales will present a public concert Thursday at 7:45 p.m. at Trinity Covenant Church, 302 Hackmatack St. The Murk family, who lives in Wheaton, Ill., has performed in more than 45 states and in Canada. The family concerts really got started when and how, who has been a college professor of history and anthropology, won the 1963 national championship of the Ted Mack Original Amateur Hour. Invited to the Baltimore Terrace Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., to give Christmas week concerts, he worked the children into the program, and the Murk Family Musicales was formed. All the children are vocal soloists and are featured together in duets, trios, a string quartet and quintets. Members of the family are, seated, Mrs. Donna Murk, left, and Becky, 17. Standing, left to right, Barbara, 14, Beverly, 20, Jim Murk, Bill, 19, and Brenda, 16. Mrs. Murk not only sings with the family but also makes all the girls' program dresses, styles their hair, and organizes the children's time so there is a balance of study, music, work, and play. The family gives a great deal of credit for its success to their accompanist Betty Bowman, who also arranges many of the selections for the Musicales.

Francis Wolle Becomes Priest At Age Of 84

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — When Francis Wolle was made a perpetual deacon of his Episcopal church almost a decade ago, he thought his religious ministry was fulfilled. Now, at the age of 84, he has been ordained a priest.

"I'm extremely pleased and gratified and I hope I can live up to such a high calling," said Father Wolle after celebrating his first Mass.

Bishop William C. Frey, who was once a student of Wolle's at the University of Colorado, said he believes the retired English professor is the oldest man ever to be ordained.

Father Wolle is assigned as an assistant at his own parish, St. Aidan's, and will continue his work in visiting hospitals and nursing homes and making house calls, says his pastor, the Rev. A. B. Patterson.

"Father Wolle has a beautiful ministry to the people in hospitals and nursing homes which can be helped by his ability to celebrate the Eucharist and minister in a priestly fashion," said Father Patterson.

Often he would drive his wife, an author and artist who headed the school's fine arts department until retiring, to church and pick her up afterward, said Father Wolle, and added, "I'm really not very proud of that."

What does his wife think about him being a priest? "She likes everything about it but the clothes," he said. "Being an artist, she likes colors and doesn't like to see me in black."

Yanks' Bullpen Corps Strong; McDaniel Notches Seventh Win

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees' history of outstanding relief pitching started with Wilky Moore in the 1920s. It continued through Johnny Duren and Luis Arroyo. Sparky Lyle came along in 1972, courtesy of the Boston Red Sox, and notched an American League record 35 saves while winning nine games with a 1.92 earned run average.

McDaniel and Fred Beene to give the Yankees one of the strongest and deepest bullpens in memory. "Right now, this crew is pitching the best of any bullpen I've ever had," Manager Ralph Houk said Friday after the Yankees wound up a 10-3 home stand with a come-from-behind 7-6 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Friday's hero was the 39-year-old McDaniel, who has been in the majors since 1955 and appears to be getting better with age. He relieved Mel Stottlemyre with one out in the third inning and pitched the rest of the way, allowing only two scratch hits and one tainted run.

"How about the job Lindy did," Houk raved. "That was the story of the game. I've had bullpens with good late men and good middle men, but I've never had three guys pitching this well. Three men couldn't pitch any better than these three have."

McDaniel picked up his seventh triumph in 10 decisions—he also has seven saves—and lowered his earned run average to 2.27. Lyle has 26 saves and a 1.92 ERA while Beene sports a 5-0 mark and a 1.74 ERA.

The Yanks, who made up a three-run deficit in the second inning, did it again in the fourth on Craig Nettles' homer and singles by Thurman Munson, Johnny Callison, Gene Michael and Horace Clarke.

They won it in the eighth on Roy White's triple and Ron Blomberg's single.

Tigers Take RSox Again

DETROIT (AP) — Veteran outfielder Al Kaline joined the 1,500-run-batted-in club Friday night with three RBIs that carried the Detroit Tigers to a 4-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Kaline enjoyed a perfect day at the plate with a home run, a pair of singles and a walk, all coming off Red Sox starter and losing southpaw Bill Lee.

While batting only around the 170 mark this season, Tiger star raised his performance against the Red Sox this year to nearly 500.

It was the Tiger's 10th victory over Boston in 11 meetings this season.

Kaline started the Tiger scoring with his fifth homer of the season in the first inning. Two innings later, Tommy Harper knotted the score with a home run — his 10th — off Tiger starter Jim Perry.

Ferry escaped two bases-loaded situations when Rico Petrocelli bounced into a rally-ending force play in the third inning and Orlando Cepeda lined into a double play in the fifth.

Manager Billy Martin called in left-hander John Hiller in the sixth after Perry walked Petrocelli and Carlton Fisk sliced a double. Hiller, who went on to win his second victory in two nights, disposed of pinch hitter Danny Cater on a pop fly and then fanned Harper. It was his sixth win against three losses.

The Tigers rallied in the eighth for three runs, aided by an error by Lee.

Pirates-Cubs A two-run homer by Richie Zisk and two-run singles by Al Oliver and Manny Sanguillen highlighted a two-hit Pirate attack against the slumping Cubs.

Astros-Dodgers Roger Metzger's two-out triple capped a three-run fifth inning as Houston came from behind to cut the Dodgers' lead in the NL West to five games over the Reds.

Padres-Giants Dave Roberts' tie-breaking single off Juan Marichal highlighted a two-run sixth inning that enabled the Padres to end a seven-game losing streak and snap the Giants' six-game winning streak. Bill Greif hurled a five-hitter.

Bench Unwinds For Reds' Hurler

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati pitcher Jack Billingham has a Johnny Bench doll. Billingham just winds it up when he's due to take the mound and it hits homers and drives in runs like they were going out of style.

"I don't know what we have going, but I hope he keeps it up," Billingham said Friday after Bench knocked in six runs home with a pair of homers and a bases-loaded walk in the Reds' 12-2 rout of the Atlanta Braves.

With Bench going his thing, Billingham, the only National League who made the All-Star team but didn't get into the game, scattered five hits for his 15th victory, tying San Francisco's Ron Bryant for the league lead.

Control told the astronauts they were in a good orbit.

"Tell the guys at KSC thanks, it was a nice, nice job," Bean told the control center, referring to the Kennedy Space Center launch team.

As the rocket darted away from the Cape and over the Atlantic Ocean, the commander reported: "You really get a feeling of motion up here. We're really moving."

"I sure would like to try that lift-off again," Louma said. "That was great."

Once in orbit, the astronauts separated the Apollo from the burned-out third stage and turned around to take a look at it.

"We've got this baby right in front of us and it is beautiful," Bean said.

Bean, who walked on the moon on Apollo 12, and space rookies Garriott and Louma arose at 1:55 a.m. for the traditional astronauts' launch day breakfast of steak and eggs.

After brief physical examinations, a space agency physician, Dr. Paul Buchanan, reported, "They are in excellent shape. They're eager to get started."

While they ate breakfast, a small leak developed in a fuel line valve that feeds the first stage of the rocket. A four-man team of technicians quickly repaired it without interrupting the countdown.

Technicians helped the astronauts into their white spacesuits with bubble helmets and the U.S. flag emblazoned on the sleeves.

As they left the crew quarters, they smiled and waved at a group of newsmen and space workers. They boarded an air-conditioned van for the short drive to the launch pad and rode elevators to the spacecraft level.

Skylab 2 29th Manned Space Trek

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Skylab 2 is the 29th manned space flight scheduled by the United States.

On the earlier Mercury, Gemini and Apollo missions, 36 American astronauts logged flight time, with several making repeat trips for a total of 62 men in space.

Nine of those flights were to the vicinity of the moon and six achieved lunar landings, with 12 U.S. spacemen walking on the moon's surface.

On the previous 28 launchings, the astronauts recorded a total of 11,514 hours, 51 minutes in space. Russia has had 18 manned launchings, all in earth orbit, with 32 cosmonauts logging 4,401 hours, 28 minutes flying time.

The longest flight was Skylab 1, which was concluded last month after 28 days, 40 minutes. Skylab 2 is scheduled for 59 days.

AEC Orders Nuclear Power Plant Check

WATERFORD (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) said Friday it has ordered an immediate inspection of nuclear power plants throughout the country because of a defect found at the Millstone I plant here.

An AEC official said operators of atomic plants have been given until noon Monday to report the results of inspections and repairs where necessary to "hydraulic shock suppressors." The devices protect plumbing systems in atomic plants from damage by shocks such as earth tremors.

Plants with defects such as those found at Millstone I may have to be shutdown as a precautionary measure if repairs cannot be made quickly, the AEC official said.

The system is designed to prevent pipes carrying water to cool atomic reactors from being ruptured by earthquakes or tremors. If the pipes were damaged, it could result in the core reactor overheating, causing a "meltdown" that would release potentially harmful radioactive materials, the AEC spokesman explained.

He said not all atomic plants have the same kind of system found at Millstone I, but all plants have been ordered to determine if they have such a component and to repair it as quickly as possible.

Millstone I, completed in 1970, has been shut down most of the time since last September when repairs were begun after seawater was found leaking into the cooling system.

Meanwhile, the AEC conducted a pre-hearing conference Friday to lay the groundwork for public hearings later this year on the plan by Northeast Utilities to build a third nuclear power plant at Millstone Point on Long Island Sound near New London.

No date has been set for the hearing and utility officials said the session may be delayed until after the state Power Facility Evaluation Council (PFEC) conducts its own hearings on the project.

In Hartford, the PFEC was asked by Northeast to require that all persons seeking to testify at the agency's Sept. 24 hearing must notify the PFEC by Aug. 11. Present rules allow such notification up to 5-days before the hearing begins.

Northeast plans to build a 1,100-megawatt plant called Millstone III that would be the largest in New England. Millstone II is expected to be completed next year.

Judge Wants Nixon Milk Memos

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ordered the Nixon administration to produce 67 secret memos concerning milk prices in a case a consumers' lawyer claims could have a bearing on Watergate documents.

District Court Judge William B. Jones on Friday turned down a White House claim of executive privilege and demanded to be shown the milk memos.

Jones said he would examine the documents privately before deciding whether they should be made public.

A number of consumer groups, including Ralph Nader's Public Citizens Inc., went to court to obtain access to the memos. The memos involve a case in which the Agriculture Department reversed itself to increase milk price supports.

William A. Dobrovir, attorney for the consumer groups, told reporters he believed the ruling has a "very direct" bearing on the Watergate case in which the Senate Watergate committee and special prosecutor Archibald Cox are seeking access to tape recordings and documents.

Like the milk memos, Nixon contends the Watergate-related tapes and documents are shielded by executive privilege.

Divers Tapping Andrea Doria Hull

NANTUCKET, Mass. (AP) — Two San Diego divers began entry into the hull of the ill-fated luxury liner Andrea Doria today in a search for the riches she holds on the ocean's floor.

The divers — Donald Rodocker, 27, and Christopher DeLucchi, 22 — descended Friday night to their undersea living chamber hitched to the side of the ship.

They were expected to cut into the port side of the ship 245-feet under the surface at the foyer deck and begin salvage work in the ship's banks, purser's offices and other facilities there.

Rodocker and DeLucchi will operate on a work schedule of four hours in the ship and eight hours of rest in the undersea life support tank.

The stubby habitat nicknamed "Mother" was lowered to the side of the sunken ship Friday with the aid of two support divers, Bob Hollis and Jack McKinney, a spokesman said.

The rest of the 10-man support crew is on the surface aboard the converted trawler Narragansett.

The $29 million Italian liner, described as a floating museum of art works, sank July 26, 1956, after a collision about 60 miles south of Nantucket in the shipping lanes to the Port of New York.

She is reputed to have cash, negotiable bonds, jewels, artworks and other valuables estimated at $4 million.

The valuables are to be brought to the surface as they are recovered from the ship.

The divers hope to stay up to two weeks in the salvage work, but their activity may depend on the weather which creates big swells in the area.

There are only a few weeks during the summer in which the

South Windsor Notes

The town has been informed its federal revenue sharing grant for the fiscal year just started will be $249,059 or $56,809 less than received for the past 12-month period.

Town Manager Terry Sprekel said he has written to the director of the Office of Revenue Sharing asking for an explanation for the decrease in the grant.

Manager Sprekel indicated he feels the decrease in the allocation is primarily due to the change in the formula of distribution of monies in certain states, such as Connecticut, where education and general government costs are funded from the same tax levy.

Sprekel commented that the review of the South Windsor grant, by the Office of Revenue Sharing, will probably indicate that the town was the recipient of a grant last year in excess of the formula and the reduced figure for the 1973-74 fiscal year reflected an adjustment for the overpayment a year ago.

"If this is not the case, then the town will submit an appeal to the Department of the Treasury," Sprekel said.

Road Oiling

The oiling of roads in town will start Aug. 6, weather permitting, and the highway department urges all motorists to use caution when traveling on the newly oiled roads.

The following roads are scheduled to be surface treated this year: Abby Rd., Ext., from Miller Rd. to Lake St.; Deming St., from Oakland Rd. to Clark St.; Foster Rd. from Ellington

Bank Offers New Service For Politicos

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Political candidates are being offered a special checking account which includes record-keeping to meet campaign reporting requirements.

The National Bank of Connecticut's new service will be available to any candidate for elective public office on the local, state or national level, bank president Joseph F. Fahey Jr. said Friday.

As part of the service, the bank will document all contributions and expenses of the political campaign and prepare the required post-election financial report, Fahey said.

GM Posts Profit Record

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors has reported all-time record profits of $1.6 billion for the first six months of 1973, more money than any corporation ever has reported for a half-year period.

Until Friday's announcement, the highest profits ever reported for six months was the $1.4 billion posted recently by American Telephone & Telegraph.

GM, the world's largest manufacturer, said its $1.6 billion profits for the first six months of the year compared with net income of $1.3 billion for the first half of 1972, the previous high for the period.

The record income was based on worldwide sales of 4,795,000 cars and trucks, compared with 4,258,000 vehicle sales in the first half of 1972.

Income of $797 million for the second quarter topped last year's second quarter income of $723 million but was short of first-quarter income of $817 million.

Income as a percentage of sales was 8.3 per cent, down from 8.5 per cent for the first quarter of the year.

Record sales totaled $19 billion for the first six months of the year, compared with $16 billion for the first half of 1972.

The half-year figure is based partly on second-quarter sales of $9.6 billion, also a record over 1972's record second-quarter sales of $8.5 billion.

For shareholders, the record six-month figures meant $5.62 a share earnings and dividend payments of $2.05. Last year, shareholders were paid $1.95 a share on per share earnings of $4.78.

Police Report

Robert MacGranor, 26, of 233 Center St., was charged Friday night with reckless driving in connection with a one-car accident at Charter Oak and Spruce Sts.

Police said that the MacGranor vehicle was west-bound on Charter Oak St. when it struck a stop sign and a tree. A passenger in the car, Audrey McGeown, 18, of 51 W. Center St. was treated for minor injuries and released at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Court date is Aug. 13.

Gregory Fazzina, 19, of East Hartford, was charged Friday night at Center Springs Park with possession of liquor on town property. He was released on his written promise to appear in court on Aug. 6.

VERNON

A Storrs man has been charged with second-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny in connection with three burglaries at Vernon Circle early this morning.

Police say that Alen J. MacIntosh, 21, was apprehended in Shakey's Pizza, Vernon Circle, during an apparent break and entry. Police allege that MacIntosh also burglarized the Betty Crocker Pie Shop and Al's Pizza, both Vernon Circle businesses, earlier today.

Police said that MacIntosh is wanted by State Police of the Stafford Barracks in connection with a burglary at a Tolland package store and a break and entry at a Rt. 30 gasoline station in which a car was stolen. Both incidents occurred late last night or early this morning, police said.

MacIntosh is being held in lieu of bonds totaling $5,000 and is to be presented in court at Manchester Monday.

Ginette C. Grey, 19, of 9 Linden Pl., Rockville, was charged Friday night on a Circuit Court 12 arrest warrant with possession of controlled drugs (two counts) and sale of a controlled drug (two counts).

Police say that the arrest is a result of a joint investigation conducted by members of the Vernon Police Department's special service squad and the Capitol Region Crime Squad. Police say the drug involved was marijuana.

She was released on a $1,000 non-surety bond for court Aug. 21.

Police Report

The Rev. Lyman G. Farrar has resigned his post as co-pastor of Center Congregational Church to join the administrative staff and faculty of the Lancaster (Pa.) Theological Seminary. The resignation will become effective Sept. 1.

He will serve as director of development at the seminary, and his responsibilities will include fund raising, student recruitment, publicity and publications, alumni relations, and church and public relations.

The Rev. Mr. Farrar has served as co-pastor of Center Congregational Church since November 1971. Perhaps his most significant contribution to Manchester's religious community was his ecumenical efforts as a member of the original task force of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches. He is currently serving as the conference's first president.

Before coming to Manchester, he was director of development and public relations at Tougaloo (Miss.) College.

A special meeting of the congregation has been called for Aug. 5 immediately after the 10 a.m. worship service to take action on recommendations of the church council.

These recommendations include the termination of the co-pastorate concept at the church; the appointment of a pastoral supply committee to seek a senior pastor from outside the present professional staff; and to have the Rev. Winthrop Nelson, the other co-pastor, continue as a pastor of the church.

Weicker, Ehrlichman Debate Political Espionage Morality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., engaged former White House aide John Ehrlichman in a debate over the morality of political espionage during Friday's session of the Watergate hearings.

Weicker denounced clandestine investigations into the private lives of political candidates by their opponents and drew a rebuttal from Ehrlichman that some members of Congress had drinking habits that impaired their ability to serve their constituents. The former presidential aide defended the gathering of such information about elected officials and candidates, noting that the press often overlooked such things.

Weicker began the philosophical debate by asking Ehrlichman to defend the hiring of former New York City policeman Anthony Ulasevich to handle outside investigations for the White House.

Ehrlichman insisted that in late 1969 and early 1970 when Ulasevich was under his supervision, the only personality subjected to scrutiny was U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., during the Chappaquiddick incident.

Ulasevich had told the Senate Watergate Committee he probed the sexual habits, drinking problems, domestic difficulties and personal social habits of political opponents.

Asked by Weicker if he thought these were proper subjects for investigation, Ehrlichman replied in the affirmative but confined his answers to the drinking problems.

"I know of my own knowledge of incumbents in office who are not discharging their obligation to their constituents because of their drinking habits," he said. "You'll agree with me, senator, that someone with serious drinking habits is of doubtful fitness for the sort of heavy duties that you bear, for instance, or that any senator bears."

Ehrlichman added that the news media have an unwritten rule against publicizing such habits and the facts would not reach the public unless brought out by a candidate that challenges the incumbent.

"Do you really want to bring the political system of the United States, of our campaigns, down to the level which you are talking about right now?" Weicker asked.

Ehrlichman replied that he believed Weicker's own lifestyle "undoubtedly is impeccable." But he said that "each candidate who contests the candidacy of an incumbent has the obligation to come forward and contest the fitness of that incumbent for office."

"He assumes the burden of proof showing the unfitness of the incumbent and I don't think in our political system that is limited to his voting record or his absenteeism," Ehrlichman added.

The two men acknowledged they disagreed on the issue, but after 20 minutes of debate, neither appeared to have convinced the other he was wrong.

Social Change Concerns Journalist-Lawyer

At age 30, Geraldo Rivera has achieved more than many newsmen twice his age.

Rivera, who will be hosting a segment of "ABC Wide World of Entertainment," Monday, July 30, has won four Emmys, a Robert F. Kennedy Journalism Award, a New York State Associated Press Broadcasters citation and a Columbia-Dupont Award, among others.

Perhaps a more important indication of his achievements is the action his investigative reports have evoked from those with the power to change the lives of minority groups and other so-called suppressed members of society.

His series on the Willowbrook State School for the mentally retarded in Staten Island, N.Y., caused New York State Gov. Nelson Rockefeller to focus his concern on Willowbrook and to restore $20 million to the institution's budget which had been previously slashed.

Rivera's special news documentary, "The Littlest Junkie," which revealed the effects that the heroin epidemic has had on the children of addicted mothers, was instrumental in initiating a bill in the New York State Legislature to provide treatment for pregnant addicted women and their offspring.

Social change is the kind of "triumph" that Geraldo claims he was seeking when he left his role as a storefront lawyer for the poor to join "Eyewitness

News," on WABC-TV, N.Y. On his weapon of change — journalism — he has remarked, "I make no pretense of objectivity... But I'm not just in the business of making people cry. I'm in the business of change."

Other special news reports include investigations of drug addiction in East Harlem, the plight of the migrant workers and the life of the elderly in New York City.

As an attorney, he was active in several legal aid operations and became the legal spokesman for the Young Lords, a group of Spanish-speaking young people dedicated to "revolutionary action."

A Well-known Pianist Talks to Kids About Jazz

Marian McPartland was born in England. She started playing the piano at the age of three. She came to this country in 1946. She has appeared on national television and has her own record company.

A DELICATE BALANCE
MARIAN MCPARTLAND

♩ = approx. 108

At the left is an excerpt from a piece of jazz music that Mrs. McPartland wrote. It is from her album, "A Delicate Balance." Maybe you can play it in their very own way.

Copyright © MARYANN ANGE

Mrs. McPartland simplified this music especially for our Mini Page readers.

Marian McPartland is one of the outstanding jazz pianists in the country today. Since 1957, she has taken time from her busy schedule to go into schools and teach children about jazz... and something about themselves.

What's jazz? Jazz is a tune that you make up as you go along. It has a beat all its own. You change it around each time you play it. You improvise.

What does this teach kids about themselves? Mrs. McPartland hopes it will encourage them to do their own thing, just like the jazz musicians do. She wants them to feel free to do something in their own way, whether it's beating out a tune, or writing a poem, or painting a picture.

Though Mrs. McPartland wants children to do their own thing, she also wants them to learn to listen while someone else does his.

We asked Mrs. McPartland what's happening in jazz today. "All kinds of music are coming together... folk music, jazz and rock. Jazz musicians are using rock, rock musicians are borrowing from jazz. It's like one big musical melting pot!"

What's the difference between rock and jazz? Rock has a more definite beat that is repeated over and over again. Jazz has more variety. The main difference is that with jazz, you play anyway you want to. You improvise.

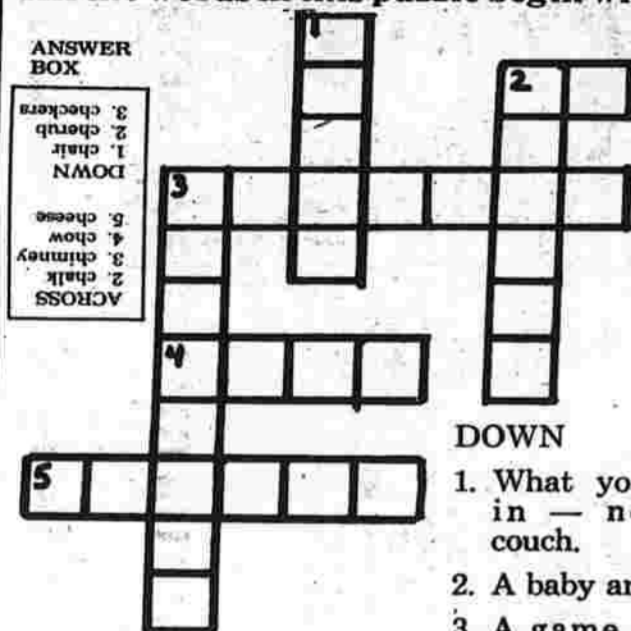

Although you improvise in jazz music, it isn't some kind of magic that you play just by picking up an instrument. You have to practice. And although many of the early jazz musicians did not read music, most of today's jazz players have studied it and can play other kinds of music as well.

Jazz is changing all the time, but underlying all of this music is a rhythm or beat which was originally brought to this country from Africa. Jazz is considered by many to be the only musical form that originated in this country. It is typically American.

A Mini History Of Jazz!

Africa

African natives would beat drums as they worked and played.

In New Orleans

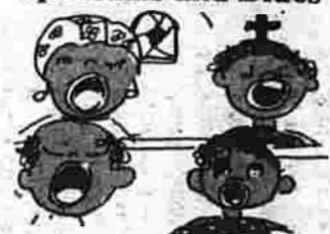

African slaves would gather and play their drums.

Work Songs

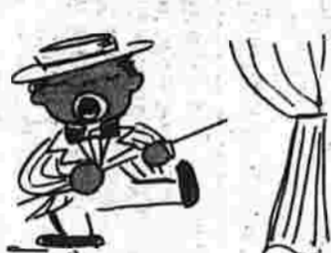

Jazz comes from songs sung while working.

Spirituals and Blues

Jazz comes from religious songs called spirituals and sad songs called blues.

Minstrel Shows

Jazz comes from music played at minstrel shows.

Marching Bands

Marching bands played jazz. They often played sad songs on the way to funerals and happy songs on the way back.

Ragtime

Ragtime has a beat that is different. It was created when musicians began to play jazz music on the piano.

Boogie-woogie

Boogie-woogie is a kind of music that mixes ragtime and blues with a strong bass beat.

A Mini Do: Fun with Time

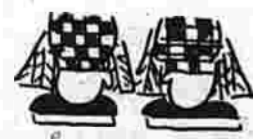

Get a clock or watch that has a second hand. Get several friends together and have a contest. Maybe your family would like to play. You can keep a time record! See who wins!

1. How long can you hold your breath?

2. How long can you stand on one foot?

3. How many times can you touch your toes in one minute?

4. How high can you count in one minute?

Louis Armstrong: The King of Jazz

Louis Armstrong was one of the most important men of jazz. He began playing as a child in New Orleans and later took jazz to Chicago. Jazz spread to New York, and Kansas City, and across the country.

Swing Music

Musicians began to write down jazz. Big bands began to play it in a more organized way.

Cool Jazz

Cool jazz is played more for listening than for dancing. It usually does not have the same steady beat as jazz. Much of it comes from an earlier kind of music called "bebop."

Louis Armstrong played the trumpet. He was called the "King of Jazz." He died in 1972.

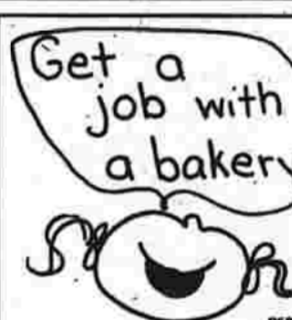

Super Sport: Nolan Ryan

Nolan Ryan plays baseball for the California Angels, but he turns into a demon when he steps on the pitcher's mound. The 26-year-old right-hander hurled a no-hit game against Kansas City in May. His fastball is a blur. In fact, Nolan throws the ball so hard the experts are comparing him to Sandy Koufax and Bob Feller, two of big league baseball's all-time greats. Last year, Ryan struck out 324 batters in 284 innings. Nolan is six feet, two inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. He grew up in Refugio, Texas, and later attended Alvin Junior College. His hobby now is hunting.

A young musician pounds out a rhythm on bongo drums. Maybe some of our readers will grow up to be the jazz musicians of tomorrow.

Safe Sally™ never speaks to strangers.

Who was A.P. Giannini?

In 1904, Amadeo Peter Giannini and some friends bought a safe for $750, moved it to a remodelled bar in San Francisco, and opened the Bank of Italy.

The bank's main customers were the city's Italian-Americans, many of whom had never been inside a bank before. This was a new idea in banking, since banks at that time were not for the common man.

Giannini built his bank into the Bank of America, the world's largest private bank. He died in 1949.

A 21-cent stamp honoring him was issued on June 27 at San Mateo, California.

Super Musician: Miles Davis

Miles Davis is a famous jazz musician who plays the trumpet. He was born in 1926, in Illinois, but grew up in East St. Louis, Missouri. His father was a dentist. Davis started playing the trumpet when he was 13. After finishing high-school, he studied at the famous Juilliard School of Music in New York. He is known as a real improviser. He became famous when he organized a band in 1948 and began making records.
