BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Bar Association is quietly collecting data on two of its attorneys who have figured in the Senate Watergate Committee investigations. Carl Modocki, executive director of the Bar, said in an interview Tuesday a file is being prepared on Charles Colson, former counsel to President Nixon, and on Gerald Aich, attorney for Watergate defendant James McCord.

"This is standard procedure whenever a lawyer gets in the news for possible wrongdoing," Modocki said. "This is in no way to be construed as an investigation," he said. "We are merely compiling files."

Colson is registered with the Massachusetts Bar but does not practice in the state, Modocki said. Aich is associated with the Boston law firm of F. Lee Bailey.

Modocki said the file on Colson has been opened for about four months and on Aich for about two months. "Serious allegations have been made against Mr. Colson," he said, but he declined to elaborate.

"There has been absolutely no evidence of wrongdoing or breach of ethical conduct on the part of Mr. Aich," he said. "The file was opened on him because of the nature of the case—the Watergate case."

Modocki said the files would be reviewed by a subcommittee

By MARK McHARRY
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Probably one of the least known tourist attractions of this capital city is right downtown: the 20 bronze statues lining both sides of the broad avenue Paseo de la Reforma.

Statues Line Mexican Streets

They were meant to honor the heroes of Mexico's war of reform and French intervention. This is appropriate enough as Paseo de la Reforma means literally "reform walk." If they appear to be similar, it is because all the statues had to be life-size, and seven sculptors did them all, one turning out 20. Half are military figures and not one is a woman. Statues here lead a different life than their brethren in the United States. The figures, two from each state, are not gently buffed clean each day like their U.S. Capitol counterparts, but stand unprotected against Mexico City's pollution. But the lack of pigeons here helps make up for the smog. Francisco Sosa, a Yucatan poet, proposed in 1887 that each state send two statues of famous sons. The same year, ruler Porfirio Diaz's government, bent on "Europeanizing" the city, endorsed Sosa's concept and even offered to pay for the pedestals.

The original plan called for the monuments to be either marble or bronze, but the state of the Mexican economy dictated the latter. The economy of the states appeared to be a bit weak also. A row of empty pedestals to the north of the figures testifies to the fact that only 18 of the 30 states sent statues.

Balloonist Ditches

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia (AP) — An American balloonist seeking to reach Europe from Maine ditched today in choppy Atlantic waters 45 miles off Newfoundland.

The Canadian Coast Guard said Bob Sparks, 37, was afloat in his aluminum gondola and awaiting rescue. The icebreaker Sir Humphrey Gilbert was reported 12 miles from the ditching area about five hours after Sparks hit the water.

Earlier, a Canadian military spokesman said Sparks had been picked up, but the report was erroneous. Capt. Rod MacMillan said the Canadian Air Force planes were circling overhead and keeping an eye on the 37-year-old Sparks, who had sought to become the first balloonist to make a transatlantic crossing.

The Yankee Zephyr, Sparks' nine-story red and blue balloon, was reported set free and still airborne. The balloon came down at 6:15 a.m. EDT after Sparks ran into thunderstorms and was unable to maintain altitude, the Coast Guard said. He first encountered the thunderstorms Wednesday night. His distress was picked up by a commercial aircraft and relayed to the search and rescue center in Halifax.

Petroleum Controls Outlined by Nixon

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today outlined an eight-point program for mandatory allocation of petroleum products but said it had no immediate plans to implement the proposal.

"We are not now planning to implement a mandatory program at any specific time in the foreseeable future," said President Nixon's top energy aide, former Colorado Gov. John A. Love.

"We are attempting to develop the best program, however, in recognition that circumstances in the future may require such a program," he said.

Love said the mandatory allocation program was being offered to give the public the opportunity to consider the problems involved and to make comments on how to help remedy the problem.

He welcomed debate over the proposed program, saying that "this or any other mandatory program runs the very great risk of reducing, not increasing, the available supplies of fuels."

Love said an voluntary allocation plan announced earlier by the administration would remain in effect for the time being.

Love said he has urged price controls "which fully recognize the need for increased supply."

He said that an announcement will be made Friday on final Phase 4 rules which he said he believed "will facilitate increased imports of both crude oil and products, as well as increased domestic production."

Major refiners not up to this capacity would be exempt from offering domestic crude oil for sale, but would be required to report to the Department of the Interior.

To encourage exploration for new reserves, the new discoveries would be exempted from the allocation program.

Imported crude oil also would be exempt.

To order military forces into Cambodia or to release bombs over Cambodia.

The New York Civil Liberties Union argued the case for the plaintiffs. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas ruled last Saturday in favor of letting the stay in the week.

Joining the stay were four U.S. District judges in Massachusetts and an unnamed congressman and an unnamed senator.

Several hours after oral arguments were presented, the U.S. Court of Appeals panel voted 2 to 1 to overturn U.S. District Court Judge Orin Judd's July 25 order to stop the bombing.

Judd ruled that Congress never voted its approval and that therefore the government lacked the necessary authority to order military forces into Cambodia or to release bombs over Cambodia.

The reversal Wednesday permits the United States to continue bombing Cambodia until the Aug. 15 cutoff date, unless the Supreme Court issues a contrary decision.

Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., one of those who filed the suit against the government, said she would ask the Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the bombing even if the case goes beyond Aug. 15.

Agnew himself made somewhat the same point in his news conference Wednesday.

He observed that Nixon had not gotten a letter from the U.S. attorney advising him he was under investigation for possible violation of criminal statutes, as the vice president had.

Thus far, the allegations are just that. No charges have been filed against Agnew and no grand jury is considering the case.

Ex-Nazi Returned For Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Hermina Braunstein, a Nazi concentration camp guard who came to the United States and settled into a housewife's role 15 years ago, was returned Tuesday to West Germany for trial.

Mrs. Ryan was flown out of the country under a West German extradition warrant. She was returned to Dusseldorf, where a bench warrant accuses her of helping to send more than 1,700 victims to gas chambers during World War II.

She had been awaiting extradition in the Nassau County jail in East Meadow, where she was lodged after losing a five-year procedural fight to remain in the United States.

The charges against her were presented in a 30-page document from the West German foreign ministry to a federal judge here last April 9. The judge, Jacob Mishler of the U.S. District Court in Brooklyn, interrupted U.S. deportation proceedings and allowed the German extradition request to take precedence.

Mishler ruled that there was competent and sufficient evidence to establish probable cause to believe that Mrs. Ryan committed each of the acts charged in the Dusseldorf warrant.

Conviction in Germany could result in life imprisonment.

Poland also has sought Mrs. Ryan for trial in that nation, where crimes she is accused of carry the death penalty. At-detailed detail accusations were made by Mrs. Ryan when she was an SS guard in the Lublin camp in Poland.

Town of Manchester Public Works personnel work to uncover the ruptured wooden pipeline, indicated by the arrow. The pipe line was shattered Wednesday morning when a bulldozer ran over a boulder, forcing it down through four feet of soft ground, smashing the pipe. The metal spiral visible in the mire was a part of the wooden pipeline, which was made up of planks, wrapped tightly with wires. By about 3 p.m. the repair crew had the damaged section of pipeline uncovered. (Herald photo by Knapp)

Town Repairs Break In Wooden Water Main

DAVID KNAPP (Herald Reporter)
The wooden water main which was broken yesterday at approximately 11:30 a.m., was repaired and returned to full service at 11 p.m., according to Jay Giles, director of public works.

Giles said that several problems were encountered while trying to repair the damaged section of pipe. One was a large rock, forcing it through the wooden pipe.

The ground, basically made up of grey, red and white clay, near the site of the break turned into a slimy marsh when mixed with the water from the ruptured pipeline. Much effort covering the line as repair crews struggled to unearth the damaged section of pipe.

There was some trouble sealing the stainless steel sleeves which public works personnel were using to repair the break. Giles said that three lengths of the sleeves, measuring in total about 5 1/2 feet, were needed to replace the shattered wooden main.

Giles said that further difficulty with the sealing procedure was due to the break occurring near the joint of two pieces of wooden pipe.

Area Hospitals Manage Despite Shortage of Beef

BETTY RYDER (Herald Reporter)
Area hospitals, convalescent homes and restaurants are taking a "wait and see" attitude as beef continues to be scarce, and food costs soar.

Fortunately for some, the sight paid off, and their supply of beef is holding out, although obtaining certain cuts of beef is becoming more difficult.

Giles said that further difficulty with the sealing procedure was due to the break occurring near the joint of two pieces of wooden pipe.

Commenting on the situation, Edward Kennedy, hospital administrator, said, "We have been able to get what we ordered with very few substitutions. Our suppliers have treated us very fairly. We have, however, noticed a significant increase in food costs."

William Scott, administrator at Rockville General Hospital, says "We are having some problems. We haven't served meatless entrees, but we are offering them to patients if desired. All in all it's a struggle."

The situation at Manchester Manor Inc. is "very good" according to Paul Sheltz, convalescent home administrator. "We have several weeks' supply on hand," he said, "and are having no problems as yet."

Payoff Charges Lies, Agnew Tells Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming that he will not be impaled on a sword of "damned lies," Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has taken up his own defense against allegations that he accepted political kickbacks. And Agnew insists he will not resign.

Breaking a self-imposed silence that lasted less than 48 hours, Agnew called newsmen together Wednesday to denounce assertions that he accepted kickbacks of $100 a week while governor of Maryland and a payment of $500 from a contractor after becoming vice president.

"I have no intention to be skewered in this fashion and I have no intention to be so skewered, I have called this press conference to label as false and scurrilous and malicious these rumors, these assertions and accusations that are being circulated," Agnew said.

The reports that Agnew accepted kickbacks were published after he disclosed Monday that he was a subject of an investigation by U.S. Atty. George Bell in Baltimore. The investigation involves denying the kickback charges, Agnew replied: "I am denying them outright, and I am labeling them—and I think a person in my position at a time like this might be permitted his departure from—

Falcon Clears Runway Of Plane-Wrecking Birds

By MIKE SHANAHAN AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The falcon, mascot of the Air Force Academy, is being flight-tested as a predator capable of clearing airway runways of birds that smash into planes.

The principal researcher reviving the ancient art of falconry for the Air Force is The Rev. Edwin Mattingly, a 55-year-old Roman Catholic priest who has been training the birds since his college days in Indiana.

In "Operation Prairie Chicken," Mattingly has been using falcons for two years to clear the rare birds from traditional breeding grounds amid the grass next to a runway at Whiteman Air Force Base, Me.

Air Force researchers say they are consulting bird-lovers and environmentalists at every step of the experiment. Mattingly said his falcons' claws were dulled and one of the prairie chickens, an endangered species, was killed at Whiteman.

But he conceded many probably died because they were flushed from their breeding grounds.

James Rod, an official of the National Audubon Society, said his organization has no objection to use of falcons for clearing out birds that are in plentiful supply. But he promised the investigating Mattingly's experiment with prairie chickens.

Matchingly said falcons, used for centuries for hunting small game, are a last-resort solution to a problem that annually costs the Air Force $13.5 million in damage to planes.

Three other bases—Ellington in Texas, Vance in Oklahoma and Hill in Utah—are being considered as sites for more falcon experimentation.

Bomb Ban Denied, Appeal Promised

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal appeals court has overturned a court order to stop U.S. bombing in Cambodia but the plaintiffs say they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The reversal Wednesday permits the United States to continue bombing Cambodia until the Aug. 15 cutoff date, unless the Supreme Court issues a contrary decision.

Cambodian Troops Mount Attack

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Supported by massive U.S. bombing, Cambodian troops advanced from two directions along Highway 1 today in an operation to clear the west bank of the Mekong River and reopen the road to the government's base at Neak Luong.

Com. Am Hong, chief spokesman for the military command, reported one government force backed by armed personnel carriers pushed eight miles southeast down the highway from the village of Deyeth.

Another government column fought its way six miles up the road from Neak Luong, he reported. This left about eight miles of rebel-held road still to be cleared before the two forces link up.

It was while U.S. planes were softening up the insurgents along the Mekong as the operation got under way that American fliers accidentally bombed Neak Luong and an island to the north of it Monday and Tuesday. At least 145 persons were reported killed and 280 were injured.

With the U.S. bombing support continuing for only a week longer, the Phnom Penh government is trying to clear the insurgents from the bank of the river to make things easier for supply convoys from South Vietnam.

Democrats Fill Slate To Offer Committee

SOL R. COHEN
(Herald Reporter)

The Democratic Town Committee's executive board, sitting as a nominating committee, is recommending Robert E. Price of 37 Linwood Dr. for the Board of Directors and Mrs. Carolyn Becker of 38 Waranoke Rd. for the Board of Education.

Except for Price and Mrs. Becker, the Democratic slate being proposed for Manchester's Nov. 6 election consists entirely of incumbents. Price replaces incumbent Jon Norris on the Board of Directors and Mrs. Becker replaces Beldon Schaffer on the Board of Education.

Norris and Schaffer have announced they won't seek re-election.

The Democratic slate will be presented to the entire town committee for its consideration on Aug. 20, at an 8 p.m. meeting in the Municipal Building.

Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings observed today, "The slate we are presenting is a good slate, with a good record and with fine goals. As always at Democratic meetings, there will be an opportunity to make further nominations from the floor."

Cummings said that Mrs. Blanche Stone, one of three other candidates considered for the Board of Education slate, informed him by telephone she will have her name presented to the full committee at its Aug. 20 meeting.

Cummings said Mrs. Becker had received the majority of the votes of the executive committee, with Mrs. Stone second. He said the vote then was made unanimous. Others receiving votes were Robert Blechman and David Moyer.

Cummings said that Price, in receiving the backing of the executive board for the Board of Directors, received a clear majority, winning over Blechman and Mrs. Harriet Handley.

Price, 32, is a products engineer at Jacobs Mfg. Co. of West Hartford, manufacturer of brake components for trucks. He was a candidate for endorsement to a Board of Directors' vacancy last February. The vacancy was filled by Mrs. Phyllis Jackson, who won the endorsement in a close vote.

Mrs. Becker, a former teacher at Manchester High School, is married to Dr. Frederick Becker, chief pathologist at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Price and Mrs. Becker are members of the Democratic Town Committee.

The Democratic slate being recommended by the town committee's executive board follows with all except Price and Mrs. Becker incumbents:

Board of Directors (all for two years)—John Thompson, Francis Prignano, Anthony Pietrantonio, John Mrs. Phyllis Jackson and Robert Price.

Board of Education—Paul Greenberg and Mrs. Carolyn Becker for three-year terms 1973-76; Allan Thomas and Albert Harris (for vacancy to 1974 created by a resignation, filled to November of this year by Harris).

Town Clerk (for four years)—Edward Tomkiel.

Town Treasurer (for two years)—Roger Negro.

Selectmen (for two years)—Chester Bychowski and Mrs. Irene Fisch.

Constables (for two years)—William Desmond, Clarence Foley, Joseph Macri and Paul Phillips.

Columbia Town Told to Refund $36,642 of Rev Share

The federal government, which gave the Town of Columbia $55,045 in revenue-sharing funds last year, wants $36,642 of it back.

However, explained First Selectman Howard Bates, only $3,048 of it is left.

The overpayment is blamed on a computer error in the Office of Revenue Sharing, explained a spokesman for U.S. Rep. Robert Steele. The government claims it overpaid Columbia by about $45,000, and is subtracting $9,000 from future payments. It says it wants the $36,642 by Aug. 31.

Bates said the town will take no action until it gets more advice from Steele and from the Washington revenue-sharing office. He said he is certain an extension of the repayment date will be forthcoming.

Bates said he suspected something was wrong when the federal checks were received last year. He said he compared the amounts with those received by surrounding towns and found Columbia's to be larger.

He said he was assured by Steele's office and the revenue-sharing office, after inquiries of them, that the checks were proper and he had nothing to worry about.

He said he and the other selectmen recommended placing the $36,000-plus in a bank account, where it could have earned about $4,000 interest, pending a final decision. However, after the voters had rejected the town budget in March, they voted again at a subsequent meeting and approved the budget on the condition the $36,000 was applied to it.

Where the money will come from to refund the overpayment is not clear, Bates said.

Vernon Permit Fees Waived

The Town Council Tuesday night voted to allow the town to waive the building permit fees for installation of the Dart Hill pumping station and renovations to the Memorial Building.

Richard Borden, director of administration, explained that the building fee schedule calls for payment of $4,000 for each building, which would mean the fee for the pumping station would be about $1,200 and about the same for the Memorial Building.

In the case of the pumping station, the building permit fee

Special Ed Changes View

By GARY LUHR
Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD (AP) — Children with learning problems or handicaps are being taught alongside normal children in many Connecticut schools.

This new philosophy, called "mainstreaming," has created openings for a new breed of teacher, trained to handle both kinds of children.

There are an estimated 90,000 youngsters who need special education in Connecticut. And although the number of special teachers is growing, experts say college training often is not coordinated with the needs of the communities.

"Right now the job openings are primarily to work with adolescents who are emotionally disturbed or learning disabled," said David Dawson, chairman of the special education department at Central Connecticut State College.

"Not all (exceptional) children need intensive special education for a total period. If you can catch it at the right time a child with a specific learning problem can help early and learn to cope with the problem," said Robert Melander, chairman of the state Board of Education's advisory council on special education.

After that, the child often is able to spend much if not all of his time in a normal classroom with some special attention from the regular teacher, Melander said.

As a result, "the new breed of special ed teacher has to be able to work not only with the youngster but also with the teacher who gets him," Dawson said.

"As new techniques are developed the greatest emphasis has to be on re-training teachers to work with special children," said Gordon, chief of the State Education Department's Bureau of Pupil Personnel and Special Education.

Workshops to re-train regular teachers are one of the bureau's top priorities, he said.

About three years ago, Central State inaugurated a program that allowed one-fourth of its undergraduates elementary education to concentrate on special ed. This year, about 65 students graduated from the program.

Agency Guides Region's Inventors

DURHAM, N.H. (AP) — In search of Yankee ingenuity, an obscure federal agency has uncovered the New England inventors of a retractable dog leash, a pickle sticker, and a life-sustaining kidney machine.

The New England Industrial Resource Development Program does not subsidize inventions, but guides the region's putters, promoters and entrepreneurs in the right direction.

"We're here to provide friendly and confidential assistance," said the head of the program, John Webber, "whether it has to do with searching out capital or helping a guy get in touch with a patent attorney."

Since the New England Regional Commission established the agency 18 months ago with an annual budget of $100,000, NEIRD has interviewed at least 650 inventors in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Interviews have been scheduled in Connecticut as well.

Only about three dozen of the inventions "will really make an impact on the region," Webber said, "which is the purpose behind our agency."

Webber estimated that at least 200 serious promoters have been assisted directly by the program, ranging from a Concord, N.H. man who has set up a pre-stressed concrete business to an inventor like Don Brous, president of AATO Inc. of Manchester, N.H., a designer of a home kidney machine.

Brous, 55, of Peterboro is an engineer. He said the agency led him to funds for research "and introduced us to sources of capital."

"Now we're a sizeable operation in a rapidly expanding market," he explained, "but his invention provides kidney patients with portable dialysis machines costing $1,000 to $2,500. Normally, a dialysis

Outlaw Vote Buying

We hope the next session of the Connecticut General Assembly adopts clear-cut legislation which prohibits vote buying in referendums.

Alleged vote buying in a Rocky Hill referendum got a lot of publicity awhile back but considerably less last week when a decision was handed down that there was insufficient evidence to warrant further action.

White vote buying is a crime "at any election, caucus, convention, primary or general assembly" under the corrupt practices session of state election laws, referendums aren't mentioned. The intent of the legislators may have been to include referendums but the wording in the statute isn't there.

The assembly should move to amend the corrupt practices session to include referendums.

Start On Bicentennial

It isn't too early for Manchester to start thinking about the nation's bicentennial celebration in 1976.

The Connecticut American Revolution Bicentennial Commission plans to spend $40,000 to help and encourage local communities observe the celebration.

The money, which will come from the national commission, will be given to towns on a matching basis. The community did a splendid job on the Sesquicentennial in June and we should certainly be a part of the big celebration in 1976.

Perhaps those hard-working chairmen, Tom Ferguson and Ed Tomkiel, could be called upon to direct the 1976 celebration.

Good Use For Funds

The Tolland Volunteer Fire Department reportedly has a deficit of $2,400 following the extensive search for 7-year-old Janice Pockett.

While the department absorbed the expense of the massive search there wasn't any money budgeted for food, fuel and other expenses.

As a note of comparison, we are spending $1 million dollars to investigate Watergate and more money may be needed.

Since the national Republican committee has a surplus of dollars perhaps they could contribute $2,400 to the Tolland Volunteer Fire Department.

Press Abridgement

In a recent ruling the Florida Supreme Court has decreed that newspapers must publish statements of persons who disagree with editorials published in the paper or opinions which are quoted in the newspaper from other individuals.

We have no doubt that this opinion will be overruled when the case is challenged in the Supreme Court of the United States as it surely will be.

The ruling is a blatant transgression of freedom of the press as defined in the First Amendment. It is an abridgement of the right of the press to publish or not publish what it chooses.

This is inherent and proper since the responsibility for publishing rests with the press not with the contributor or dissenter of its opinion. In a libel suit, it is almost always the newspaper which is sued, not the person who is responsible for a published statement which may be the basis for the suit.

A newspaper cannot exist unless it is economically viable. It therefore must present a news content which is lively and of interest to the reader who is the cornerstone of its strength.

This comes at a time when the Congress seems likely to remove the "equal time" burden of broadcasters so that they do not have to air every opinion which may arise in the campaign. Certainly the two are incompatible.

We have no doubt of the ultimate fate of the Florida decision. It is another example of the misunderstanding of the function of the free press.

The Beef Bungle

We have no idea what well-intentioned thinking was behind the continuance of the freeze on beef prices in the Phase 4 economic controls which went in effect July 18. Whatever it was it has been proven erroneous and disastrous. The net effect of the continuance has been to drive beef off the market.

Stockgrowers are withholding their beef until the Sept. 12 date for lifting the freeze. Wholesalers are not buying since they would have to pay higher prices than they can charge their customers and meat processing plants are shutting down on at least a temporary basis waiting for the cessation of controls.

The beef freeze should be lifted at once as was hinted by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz. Nothing is to be gained by waiting until September except the further disorientation of the beef industry.

As anyone who has ever been in business knows, low prices are not achieved in a business which is operating in a chaotic condition. They come only when things are running smoothly with adequate supplies and smooth day to day operation.

Beef prices of necessity will be high when the freeze is lifted, be it in September or tomorrow. An industry cannot be almost totally disrupted and then spring back miraculously with prices that represent efficiency.

This is another and disastrous example of the chaos which government creates when it meddles into private enterprise. The beef freeze should be lifted now and perhaps will be well through the period of economic readjustment by the time September rolls around.

The situation has grown so bad that American beef is sold to Canadian buyers and then re-sold into the United States at high prices as there is no freeze on prices of imported commodities.

In California, housewives in the southern area are going into Mexico to buy beef which is reported plentiful there and back at the ranch the American meat producer is holding his beef cattle for higher prices which will certainly come after Sept. 12.

The mischief of the beef bungle should be undone now so that the industry may get back to normal operation and beef may again appear on the market.

Haldeman's Secret Mission

WASHINGTON — The potentially disastrous decision by President Nixon assigning H.R. (Bob) Haldeman to review a critical tape stemmed from a compelling desire to shield from public view dirty political talk in the Oval Office.

Mr. Nixon did not want anybody new to hear the tape recording of abominably blunt political conversation in his Sept. 15 meeting with Haldeman, then White House chief of staff, and John W. Dean III, then White House counsel. Safe in the knowledge that nobody else knew about the tape, Mr. Nixon early in July called on private citizen Haldeman to secretly listen to the tape and report back to him.

That decision, made by Mr. Nixon with little if any staff assistance long before the tapes became the focus of major constitutional confrontation, might well have catastrophic political repercussions. Unwittingly, the President gave the impression that only his old confidant could be trusted to hear the tapes. He has thus created a still deteriorating relationship both with the Senate Watergate committee and special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

The otherwise inapplicable handling of the White House tapes becomes understandable only in terms of their existence being absolutely secret until accidentally revealed July 18. Mr. Nixon apparently regarded the tapes as devices to refresh his memory rather than potential evidence in the courts.

On that basis in April, he asked Haldeman — still his powerful chief of staff — to review the tape of the President's March 21 meeting with Dean. But senior aides at the White House insist that no tapes were audited in preparing the President's much criticized May 22 Watergate statement.

The President has informed aides that he went to still secret recordings after the Washington Post of June 3 reported Dean's statements to investigators about the meeting with the President. To check information that he thought absolutely incorrect, Mr. Nixon informed his advisers he himself listened to recordings prior to Dean's Senate testimony.

But the tape that apparently worried the President the most was the recording of his Sept. 15 conversation with Dean and Haldeman. Dean's testimony interpreted Mr. Nixon as being well aware at that meeting of the Watergate cover-up. But there was much else said in the Oval Office that day, not related to Watergate, which Mr. Nixon felt could only damage the presidency.

By all accounts, Mr. Nixon and Haldeman engaged in a risk-and-reward discussion of the seamy side of politics which the public does not generally associate with the presidency. Mr. Nixon emphatically urged Haldeman to look into the records of Sen. George McGovern and other polls, using military records and income tax returns.

Thus did Mr. Nixon want to listen to the tape himself in not clear, he should the White House, Goldstein told the Washington Star-News. "They started the shortage, and they should know about it. They don't deserve any better treatment than anyone else."

I suspect Goldstein is an underdog Democrat but I also suspect his point went down well with the chills and an over-riding concern to feed our livestock, and the result is that a housewife must visit her friendly neighborhood lean shark before paying her daily visit to Charlie's Market. There, she is told that take a posthumous pot shot at Lyndon, who sponsored the inflation by failing to fund the Vietnam War, but Nixon's here and Johnson ain't.

Fifteen pounds of fillet mignon and New York sirloin! Nixon must be loaded, and all this time had supposed he was short of cash and that's why the government had to spend a couple of three million to make his postponed World War III for a few years, but if the cost of a living continues to soar in the United States he may have to call out the reserves to quell a second American Revolution.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, who says a lot of silly things, has declared that the trouble with us unwashed folks is that we have never been "educated" to paying higher prices.

For once, Butz is right. I for one had never had such an education because I had always been told by my ruling lords

Feed Us, Sirs

WASHINGTON — I was gorging on an old shoe, with lettuce, the other day when I heard about Bernard Goldstein, a big hotel and restaurant meat supplier hereabouts. Goldstein announced he had turned down a Richard Nixon order for 15 pounds of fillet mignon and New York sirloin steak.

"If Mrs. Housewife feels the meat crunch, so should the White House," Goldstein told the Washington Star-News. "They started the shortage, and they should know about it. They don't deserve any better treatment than anyone else."

Don't Wait

Dear Sir:

If the proposed new community in north Coventry weren't such a serious matter to the students of Coventry, some of the statements of DeVCo project manager, J. Richard North, might provide a few laughs for the townspeople for they are ridiculous if not downright ludicrous. For instance, Mr. North claims the tax base will be broadened and a beginning tax increase of $3,000 is mentioned. Would he really have us believe such a small amount is going to lower our mill rate appreciably?

Mr. North also claims DeVCo will bring "health, education and public services" to Coventry. Come now, Mr. North. The only proposal I have heard of in any of these areas is that DeVCo may build and lease school space to the town. How generous of you. You bring in the children to create the need for more schools and then sit back and collect the rent. And what of the health and public services? Let's hear your suggestions as to what DeVCo will provide there. And I mean provide, not lease to us.

I do agree with Mr. North on one point. DeVCo does offer "planned growth" for Coventry but I definitely disagree with its "slightly faster rate" statement. In the 21 years that I have lived in Coventry the population has increased by about 3,000 to the most. Yet Mr. North would have us believe that increasing that growth rate to 20,000 in the next 20 years is only a slightly faster rate. And don't forget, Mr. North, that the 3,000 have been more or less scattered around town and only 20,000 in one comparatively small area. Even 5,000 in that area would be a lot of people. But if it were well planned, it might not be all bad. But 20,000, no thanks.

Our town officials have voiced their feelings about DeVCo but they represent the people of Coventry. Let's hear your suggestions as to what DeVCo will provide there. And I mean provide, not lease to us.

I do agree with Mr. North on one point. DeVCo does offer "planned growth" for Coventry but I definitely disagree with its "slightly faster rate" statement. In the 21 years that I have lived in Coventry the population has increased by about 3,000 to the most. Yet Mr. North would have us believe that increasing that growth rate to 20,000 in the next 20 years is only a slightly faster rate. And don't forget, Mr. North, that the 3,000 have been more or less scattered around town and only 20,000 in one comparatively small area. Even 5,000 in that area would be a lot of people. But if it were well planned, it might not be all bad. But 20,000, no thanks.

Our town officials have voiced their feelings about DeVCo but they represent the people of Coventry. Let's hear your suggestions as to what DeVCo will provide there. And I mean provide, not lease to us.

American Children Show Results of Good Nutrition

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Today we are told our children don't eat enough wholesome food. That is, instead they are constantly nibbling on non-nutritious snacks. Yet — and a very important yet — we learn that American children rank among the world's largest. That report comes from the U.S. Public Health Service. American children, white and black, are just plain BIG.

Our white children are in the top group, both in height and weight, as compared to European children. Our black children appear to be taller than their tallest African counterparts.

In fact, there has been a steady and regular increase in the height and weight of American children over the past 30 years. During this period there has been an average increase of 10 per cent in height and 15 to 30 per cent in weight.

Obviously, our children do not eat unhealthful foods to grow up so tall and heavy. It is the result of intelligent eating habits.

"I would like to suggest that if there is such a person, that besides hamburger and french fries, he add a few spoonfuls of peas and a scoop of cole slaw to his famous plate. The ravenous hamburger fans would get more vegetables with their snacks and would probably grow taller," says Dr. Ernest J. Stare, chairman of Harvard's Department of Nutrition.

"Pizzas, hamburgers and small beef pies are O.K. as far as food goes, but only when other foods are eaten, too," Dr. Stare explains. "Children

Three Teen-agers Take The Prize

By Joanne Schreiber

Contest winners have a lot in common.

Over the years, we've chatted with hundreds of bright young teen-agers who are won sewing competitions. We've found them to be talented in all sorts of other fields as well as sewing, and we've found them good students, good athletes, career-oriented, ambitious and active.

This summer, we had the opportunity to talk with three talented young teen-agers winners of the Break Hair Styling Competition. They turned out to be as knowledgeable about sewing as about hair styling. Though they are from different backgrounds and different parts of the country, they share a fashion hobby and a well-developed fashion sense. All three are very active in school, all three are aiming at careers, and all three have mothers who work.

Gay Dixon is a winsome redhead from California. To go with her winning hair style, she made an ultrashort shirt dress that would take top prize in any sewing contest. It is trimmed with beautiful topstitching, with iron-on Peilon supporting the hems and facings. Gay makes nearly all her own clothes, in a pattern size 8. She favors green and navy. Both Gay's parents are teachers. She is an "A" student, a musician and a mathematician. She will study to become a lawyer.

Dark-haired Janet Few comes from Wilmington, Delaware. She makes nearly all her own clothes, and needs a pattern size 12 for her broad shoulders, though she fits in the pattern through the waist and hips. Janet also crochets and embroiders. She was an honor student in high school and will study home economics at Ashland College in Ohio. Janet has a number of part-time jobs, including modeling for the J.C. Penney Fashion Board, selling in a dress shop, and babysitting. She has won 7 bowling trophies. She wants to work as a fashion buyer; her mother is a church secretary.

Dianne Risius, the blonde of the trio, is so busy with her other projects that she leaves most of the sewing to mom. She plays the guitar, the clarinet and the saxophone. She has received the President's Physical Fitness Award and the DAR Good Citizenship award for their proms. They agree that high costs and poor workmanship in ready-to-wear keep them enthusiastic about sewing.

These girls, and the girls who win the sewing contests, are likely to be winners all their lives. They are busy, active, enthusiastic and meticulous. And that's the stuff champions are made of.

As well, can now be solved in a helpful new book, "The Fashion Dictionary," written by Mary Brooks Picken and recently published by Funk & Wagnalls. "The Fashion Dictionary," is illustrated with 800 drawings and over 200 photographs.

and participates in all sorts of sports. She alters a 9-10 pattern to accommodate one high shoulder, and favors greens and oranges, to set off her light hair. Dianne's mother is a bank teller, and Dianne wants to teach mathematics. All three girls report that jeans are out; Gay doesn't even own a pair. All report that prom dresses are in, and all had bon-stitched gowns for their proms. They agree that high costs and poor workmanship in ready-to-wear keep them enthusiastic about sewing.

Union Gets Access To Tobacco Camp

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A labor group seeking to organize Spanish speaking migrant workers at a Shade Tobacco Growers' Association camp in Windsor has won a temporary court order granting its representatives access to the facility.

U.S. District Judge Robert C. Zampano issued a 15-point interim order, allowing organizers for the labor group, META, permission to enter the camp. They had been barred from the camp by the tobacco growers.

After three hours of unsuccessful negotiations with attorneys for META, and the tobacco growers, Judge Zampano said his ruling was necessary "because the situation is tense and sensitive."

He expressed hope that both parties would "hold off their strong feelings, avoid confrontation and avoid friction, and let due process of law to resolve the matter." He added that his orders were only "reasonable and equitable provisions as a trustee" pending a full hearing on the issue set for Sept. 12.

META organizers have been barred from the Windsor camp since July 18 when two of them were arrested for refusing to leave the property. The group has asked a three judge federal panel for a permanent injunction so it can organize a workers' collective bargaining unit to negotiate work contracts, wages, working conditions and benefits for the migrants. Presently the contracts are negotiated by the tobacco growers and the Puerto Rican Department of Labor.

The tobacco growers maintain the camp is private property and that access may be restricted.

META has charged that the 600 migrant workers at the camp, most of them Puerto Ricans, are being denied their constitutional rights.

Serious Crime Decreases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Serious crime in the United States fell 2 percent last year, the first decrease in 17 years, according to a report by the U.S. Justice Dept. released by U.S. District Judge Robert C. Zampano.

The report defines serious crime as murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny $50 and over, and auto theft.

The total reported for 1972 was 5,801,000, compared with 5,925,200 for 1971.

Violent crimes, which totaled 228,100, reflected an overall 2 percent increase over 1971.

Rape increased by 11 percent, the same as in the previous year. Murder was up 5 percent and assaults 7 percent, less than increases recorded for those crimes in the past five years.

Auto thefts dropped 6 percent, the largest decline of any single category.

Richardson has said he considers the reports an inaccurate and incomplete measure of the crimes committed because they are based on data from state and local police officials.

In its report, the FBI agreed that many crimes go unreported but said the compilation offers at least some measure of crime trends.

The report defines serious crime as murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny $50 and over, and auto theft.

Beef Shortage Causes Violence

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil is having a beef shortage, too, and butcher shops are being robbed, meat trucks hijacked and cattle rustled.

Burglars walked off with 1,000 pounds of meat one night last week from Hortencio Figueiredo's shop in Sao Paulo, Brazil's biggest city. They did not touch the $85 in the cash register.

"It must have been because of the meat shortage," Figueiredo told police.

Theoretically, Brazil's 100 million people should have steak every day. Their huge country has 90 million cattle and vast grazing ranges. But due to a lack of modern ranching methods, Brazil suffers from periodic shortages of beef.

In the southern state of Rio Grande do Sul, Jose dos Santos, who works for a meat packing company, screamed his truck to a halt to avoid hitting huge rocks which were put in the middle of the highway. Four men with guns jumped out of some bushes, took 800 pounds of beef from Santos' truck and spied away in a waiting car.

Ranchers in the east-central state of Minas Gerais report a wave of cattle rustling.

A number of butcher shops have been held up in Porto Alegre, in southern Brazil, with beef the principal loot. Police believe the robbers were butchers who couldn't get supplies from wholesalers.

Brazilians love beef. Shoppers this week ignored specials in Rio and Sao Paulo supermarkets on chicken, turkey, rabbit, goat, duck, fish and alligator. Instead, they waited in long lines to buy frozen beef which was distributed to retailers under government orders to alleviate the shortage.

The shortage caused the government to impose a 200-percent export tax on beef and it finally prohibited exports for the rest of 1973.

A pound of filet now costs about $1.40 in Rio. This is cheap by U.S. standards but is expensive in Brazil where the per capita income is $300 a year—about one-eighth of the United States'.

Oil Spills Hard To Clear In Current

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — An oil spill recovery expert for The Pittston Co. says it's virtually impossible to clean up petroleum in waters where the current is up to four or five knots.

Lee Green, head of the pollution control division of Metropolitan Oil of New York, a subsidiary of Pittston, has told the Maine Board of Environmental Protection that it's feasible to scoop up 50 per cent of spilled oil in three-knot tides and 60 per cent in two-knot currents.

In previous testimony, Pittston witnesses said the maximum current in the part of Passamaquoddy Bay where supertankers would be navigating is usually five knots.

Green was one of two witnesses who underwent cross-examination at the third round of hearings on a proposed $550 million oil refinery at Eastport concluded here.

He said oil spill recovery operations "have improved 100 per cent in the past five years."

"The Coast Guard and the Environmental Protection Agency and New environmental laws have helped industry upgrade its overall program ... and done away with loose housekeeping," he said.

However Green was evasive on how an oil spill in Head Harbor Passage, which leads to the proposed refinery site, could be handled.

Generally, his response was: "It depends on the amount spilled, wind, weather and tides."

Capt. Guilford Dudley, harbor master at Milford Haven in England, was cross-examined for over four hours.

He said cleaning up leaked oil at that major port has been successful. Chemical dispersants have mostly been used to scatter the oil, he said, and eventually it's consumed by marine organisms.

Dudley denied a published report that "a forest of oil" lies on the seabed of Milford Haven.

If that were true, he said yachtsmen and fishermen would be screaming about it.

Henry Steinorth of Fr. R. Harris Inc., a New York marine consulting firm was originally scheduled to return for more questioning by the board, staff and intervenors.

But Green and Dudley were permitted to be cross-examined to enable them to return to pleading commitments.

The next series of hearings will move back to Eastport Sept. 9-7 and Oct. 18-19.

Response Different From Nixon's

allegations that he was involved in a kickback-bribery scheme in connection with government contractors. He denied the accusations as "damned lies."

In Nixon's case, the allegations have been direct. Basically, investigators are checking whether the President allowed subordinates to cover up criminal activities involved in the Watergate bugging. As far as is known, no one has alleged to a federal prosecutor that Nixon committed a crime.

But in the mind, the differences between Nixon's and Agnew's situations are blurred. The man in the street has found his nation's top two leaders cast under a cloud of suspicion — and is finding that their responses differ.

In the days following the Watergate break-in at least 14 months ago, Nixon spokesmen sought to diminish the affair as a "third-rate burglary." At an Aug. 29, 1972, news conference, the President said investigation by White House Counsel John W. Dean III showed no one presently employed in the administration was involved — an assertion later questioned by the since-fired Dean.

During the 1972 presidential campaign, Nixon continued to stand aloof from the Watergate scandal. But, in the months after his second inauguration, continuing disclosures forced him onto television on April 30. At that time he announced he had personally taken charge of the investigation, had fired Dean and had accepted the resignations of close aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, and Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

Bank Robbed In Stamford

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Two persons armed with handguns took an undetermined amount of cash this morning from a branch bank of the Union Trust Co. on Washington Boulevard, police said. The amount was said to be under $10,000.

The two men entered the bank at about 10 a.m. and ordered tellers and a bank manager to lie on the floor while they took money from two teller drawers, officials said.

affected by the beef shortage, for instance, this week administrator, said, "We have enough on hand for our patients."

Frank Rohan, administrator of the South Windsor Convalescent Home, commenting on the shortage, said, "We have had to switch to more expensive cuts of beef, but are continuing to serve it. It's difficult to plan; for instance, this week we didn't get any pork chops which we had ordered. We just have to wait and see."

The Project HELP program being conducted at Manchester Community College has felt the shortage and been caused to alter some of its plans.

Under the pilot program, handicapped are trained for employment in the food service industry. The program includes the preparation and the serving of food, on a daily basis, in the dining room of the college's Student Center.

Edward Mongeau, program instructor, said, "My food Thursday evening at the Guerrero Mortuary, 407 Estadillo Ave., San Leandro, Calif. Burial will be Friday in San Leandro."

Vernon Program Profitable, Says Students About Sitting With Board

BARBARA RICHMOND (Herald Reporter)

A unique program instituted this past school year by the Vernon Board of Education proved profitable for board members and students at Rockville High School.

On the suggestion of Dr. Dan Woolwich, a member of the board, and after a great deal of convincing on his part, three high school students were selected to sit in on board meetings and to actively participate in discussions.

The three students, Debbie McMillan, Bruce Rieder and Richard Steinberg, were elected by the student body for a one-year trial term.

This morning two of the students, Miss McMillan and Rieder, expressed their appreciation of the program at a press conference held at the office of the superintendent of schools.

Dr. Woolwich explained that the main purpose of the program was to provide communication between the board and students. He expressed satisfaction that the students were helpful in areas of public relations and curriculum, especially in helping to form a health education program and in selecting text books.

Dr. Woolwich said the students offered many helpful suggestions to the space needs committee preparing plans for expansion of the high school.

The students said their personal conceptions of the work of the board had been altered after sitting in on the many meetings. They said they found their appreciation of the board's work had been broadened.

Bids Come High For Whiton Work

The Manchester Library Board has an important decision to make — what to do about bids for improvements to Whiton Memorial Library that came in far above estimates for the job.

The Library Board has estimated that the project, to include architect, engineering and contingency fees, would be about $75,000, and that is the amount it has requested the Board of Directors to free from the Whiton Memorial Fund.

The apparent low bid for construction work only is $111,980, submitted Wednesday by the W & M Co. (formerly Wadhams and May) of Hartford. Bids were submitted also by: L B Construction Co. of Hartford, $113,000; New England Constructors Inc. of Avon, $117,800; Annulli Construction Co. of Manchester, $128,000; A.P. Peaslee Co. of South Windsor, $128,183; and Alma Construction Co. of Vernon, $128,550.

Each of the six bidders submitted a bid for an alternate also, bringing the construction bids even higher.

Library Board Chairman William Buckley, who was present at the bid opening, said his board will review the bids before making any decision.

The Board of Directors has an item on its meeting agenda for next Tuesday which requests it to approve the $75,000 withdrawal from the Whiton Trust Fund.

The bid specs asked for prices for a 680 square foot masonry job, in addition, plus alterations to the existing building, site paving and landscaping, heating, plumbing and electrical work. The main entrance to the library, following completion of the work, will be on the new N. Main St.

The architects for the project are Hirsch-Kastle of New Britain. The structural engineer is Joseph Coel of New Britain, the mechanical engineer is Jacob Koton of Bloomfield, and the landscaping architect is M.R. Roming Associates of Enfield.

planned to make on the roads in the area. Giles said that the town wanted to "see if the highway department lived up to its part of the deal," before replacing the pipes.

The town will receive bids from construction firms for the job Wednesday.

Giles said that the section of the wooden pipe showed little sign of deterioration. The pipe, which was installed by Cheney's in 1920, expected to last approximately 25 years, but the section of pipe to be replaced is only about 1,000 feet long, according to Giles. Over 5 miles of the pipeline is made of wood and was installed in 1920. Giles said that the reason the town decided to replace the line was due to improvement work on the highway department.

More Bodies Found In Sex Crime Probe

HOUSTON (AP) — Police dug up more of a boat stall today where eight bodies were found in shallow graves, all believed victims of homosexual perversion.

Meanwhile, police in suburban Pasadena were planning to dig up the yard of a dead man a youth said was responsible for the killings.

"When you're dealing with a nut like this, that is a sex pervert, you can expect anything," police officer Brock Porter.

Because the program was new and didn't get started until spring this year, there are problems to be ironed out, but all agreed, including Dr. Robert Linstone, assistant superintendent of schools, that the program would continue in years to come.

Board member Steven Marcham, who, with Woolwich, was instrumental in getting the program going, said the program seemed to follow the hope he had had which was mainly to advise the board of the ramifications of new programs implemented.

He said programs are instituted with the best for the students in mind. He added that sometimes the programs are good but there may be some details that prevent them from having the best potential. He said the students are able to point out the shortcomings.

Optimism Expressed Over Purnell Funds

Acting Town Manager John Harkins this morning informed the Mayor's Downtown Action Committee he is optimistic the town's Board of Directors will appropriate the requested $50,000 for improvements to Purnell Pl. A decision is expected next Tuesday evening.

If the money is appropriated, bids for the improvement could be let almost immediately, commented Harkins.

In response to an inquiry as to whether the work could be accomplished by Thanksgiving, Harkins replied: "I would hope so."

A meeting of the Parking Authority and the Savings Bank of Manchester regarding the possible acquisition of property bordering Oak and Cottage Sts., which would be used for additional parking, is slated for next Monday.

It was also reported that three houses east of the Elks Club on Bissell St. are available for purchase. However, purchase of the Bissell property cannot be handled by the Parking Authority.

Richard Clark, the Chamber's executive vice president, called attention to the "Insight, '73 Breakfast Seminar," scheduled for 8:45 a.m. Monday at Willie's Steak House. Principal speaker of the seminar will be Paul W. Latimore, mayor of Auburn, N.Y., who has been successful in recruiting international industry to Auburn. Reservations for the seminar are to be made with the Chamber office.

Clark said the Downtown Committee should find the seminar interesting toward possibly attracting more retail establishments to Downtown Manchester.

Attending this morning's session was Alan M. Mason, Manchester's new director of human resources. The Mayor's Committee has received $9,060 in contributions toward the one-year cost of a downtown planning consultant, according to the town manager's office.

The town manager acts as a liaison to the Downtown Action Committee from the town.

The committee is attempting to raise $10,000 from downtown interests in order to supplement a $10,000 town contribution.

Recent contributions as of July 31 include: Manchester Savings and Loan Association; the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co.; Fairway Stores, 975 Main St.; the Savings Bank of Manchester; Jacob H. and George E. Sandals; Manchester Hardware and Supply Co. Adam's Jewelers; Hartford National Bank and Trust Co. Also, Orla W. Parker, 429 Summit St.; Grete A. DeCosta, 31 Park St., Rockville; Kathy E. OUT OF ORDER BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Diane Heston, 31, lost her suit for damages resulting from a dog bite which she claimed had ruined her ability to dance properly.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By Vivian F. Ferguson

What are you going to cook for your family with the beef shortage upon us? Now we're really down to the line. During the meat boycott, at least you had a choice. Now, we're down to the mitty gitty.

This problem has been encountered by people of all races throughout time. Many people lived long, productive lives because of proper nutritional substitutes although they may not have been aware of what they were doing.

While studying old recipes for the Sesqui-centennial Program, I came upon many recipes that were needless or nearly so. Incidentally, for those who have inquired, the programs are available in the Town Clerk's Office at the Municipal Building. The following is one from the booklet:

Baked Egg in Potato
Boil and mash enough potatoes to fill a fair sized shallow baking pan. Pat it out smooth, then make holes one for each of the eggs. Turn out a drop in an egg and set in the oven until the eggs are set. The potatoes must be well seasoned and creamy. Drop bits of butter over the top. Just before putting in oven, dust lightly with pepper.

Potatoes are included in most well-balanced diets. I'm not talking about weight-losing though you can include a potato a day instead of bread which, in most cases, will be a good deal more nutritional than the bread.

With this recipe in mind and having purchased a large basket of luscious, native tomatoes, I started delving into what I could do with them other than the obvious. I could make and freeze spaghetti sauce, puree them, stew them, add to other cooked vegetables such as zucchini, yellow squash, green beans, braised celery, green beans. I could make various soups including vegetable and Manhattan clam chowder.

I could make veal parmigiana (if I could get the veal), eggplant or chicken parmigiana. How about shrimps marinated in the Italian meat-balls or Italian sausage in tomato sauce. I could make "specials." These are open-faced sandwiches, sometimes called "cheese dreams." One slice of bread (toast on one side under broiler, then turn over), cover other side completely with American cheese, top with diced onion if desired, then a large slice of tomato, top with Italian bacon and broil until bacon is crisp.

Finally, I came across a

recipe for tomatoes with baked eggs so we had them for Sunday brunch with homemade baking powder biscuits hot from the oven. This is delicious - everyone enjoyed them. It's really quite easy especially if you prepare the tomatoes in advance.

Baked Eggs and Tomatoes
Chop onion fine, saute in butter until tender but not browned, put a little yellow-Italian bacon and broil until bacon is crisp.

Finally, I came across a

If you would like the biscuits with the eggs and tomatoes, the following is my favorite baking power type from James Beard.

Baking Powder Biscuits
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening
3/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar (optional)
Sift flour, baking powder and salt (and sugar if used) into a bowl. Cut in shortening until the pieces of fat are very fine. Add milk and stir quickly until the dough clings together. Turn out on floured board, knead a few times, and pat with hands or roll out to 1/4 to 1/2 thickness. Cut into rounds with floured cutter, 1 to 2 inches in diameter. Place on buttered cookie sheet or oiled hot pie pan. Bake 15-18 minutes at 450 until light and brown.

Here is a recipe I found in an Italian cookbook though I have never tried it.

Limbo Beans
With Tomato Sauce
2 cups lima beans, cooked
1 sliced onion
1 cup tomato sauce
3 stalks chopped celery
3 Italian sausages, cut in half
2 tablespoons chopped grated Parmesan cheese parley
breadcrumbs
salt and pepper to taste
sprig basil
Combine beans, tomato sauce, onion, parley, celery and seasonings - pour into an oiled casserole and sprinkle with breadcrumbs, cheese and salt. Top with sausage and bake at 350 for 25 minutes. Serves four.

Menus which will be prepared and served next week by members of HELP (Handicapped Earning and Living Project), a program designed to train handicapped for employment in the food service industry at Manchester Community College, are as follows:
Monday: Soup de jour, turkey salad sandwich, potato chips, chilled fruit.
Tuesday: No lunch served.
Wednesday: Chicken rice soup, American Chop Suey with Italian bread, cherry turnovers.

Members of the Project HELP express thanks to those people who participated in the luncheon program at the college. The second training course will begin Sept. 10 after which time future menus will be announced.

Coventry Town Accepting Bids For Bridges Repairs

MONICA SHEA
Correspondent
Tel. 762-9495

Moore reports that 12 construction companies have submitted bids for the repair of five bridges in town. The closing date for bids will be Aug. 20 and the bids will be open that day.

Copies of the specifications are available at the Manchester office of Groswood and Pusey. Most of the bridges were built late in the 19th century, and are not adequate for the size of the vehicles in use today. Two of the bridges have been closed to truck traffic and school buses. One of the bridges is open to pedestrians only because of damage to one side, allegedly done by a snow plow.

The Town Council must submit the lowest bid to a town meeting for approval. If voters agree to spend the money for the project, a referendum will be set for bonding, Moore said.

New Books
Librarian Blaise Bisillon has received new books for the Booth and Dimock Library. These books are now available to the public.

Among the new books are several pertaining to the 1972 election. They are "Running the Start" by Gary Hart; "The Making of the President 1972" by Theodore White; and "Fear and Loathing On the Campaign Trail '72" by Hunter S. Thompson.

These are just a few of the books, so stop at the library to see the complete list.

Soccer Registration
Soccer registration and practice for all boys entering Grades 2 through 6 in September will be Aug. 20 at Coventry High School from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Boys should wear sneakers, and bring $2.50 that is required for insurance.

Appointment
At Monday night's Town Council meeting, Sandra Stave was appointed to fill the vacancy which became available with the resignation of David Fitch. Mrs. Stave was named an alternate 17 months ago when Fitch became a full-time member of the board.

There is now an opening for an alternate, which should be filled by a Democrat.

Legion Elections
Green Sheet Richardson Post, American Legion, has elected new officers for 1974 led by Ted Zeigra, post commander.

Home State View Of Ervin Varies

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) - Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., a public figure in North Carolina for five decades, is finding new recognition in his home state as chairman of the Senate Watergate committee.

Ervin's name is now a household word, but all of the conversation is not favorable to the 77-year-old Democrat. The impact of Ervin's name on his political career must still be determined.

Crossroads politicians argue the merits of Ervin's persistence in questioning witnesses, and he is both praised and attacked.

As a result, the North Carolina Democratic party has begun an apparent all-out effort to build up Ervin's image as a constitutional patriot, a man working to save his country and its heritage.

Enjoying his greatest national exposure in 18 as a senator, Ervin still has not revealed whether he will seek re-election next year.

But Henry Hall Wilson, a Monroe native and former president of the Chicago Board of Trade, already has announced for the Democrats. The nomination, Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan is considered a likely candidate, especially if Ervin does not run.

The home-state controversy over Ervin started more than a month ago.

In eastern North Carolina, a traditional Democratic stronghold which twice voted for President Nixon, Ervin's role in the Watergate investigation met initially with pride.

Later, as Ervin delved more and more into the White House itself, the sentiment seemed to change.

Several North Carolina newspapers received letters to the editor last week which complained of Ervin's attitude at the televised Watergate hearing.

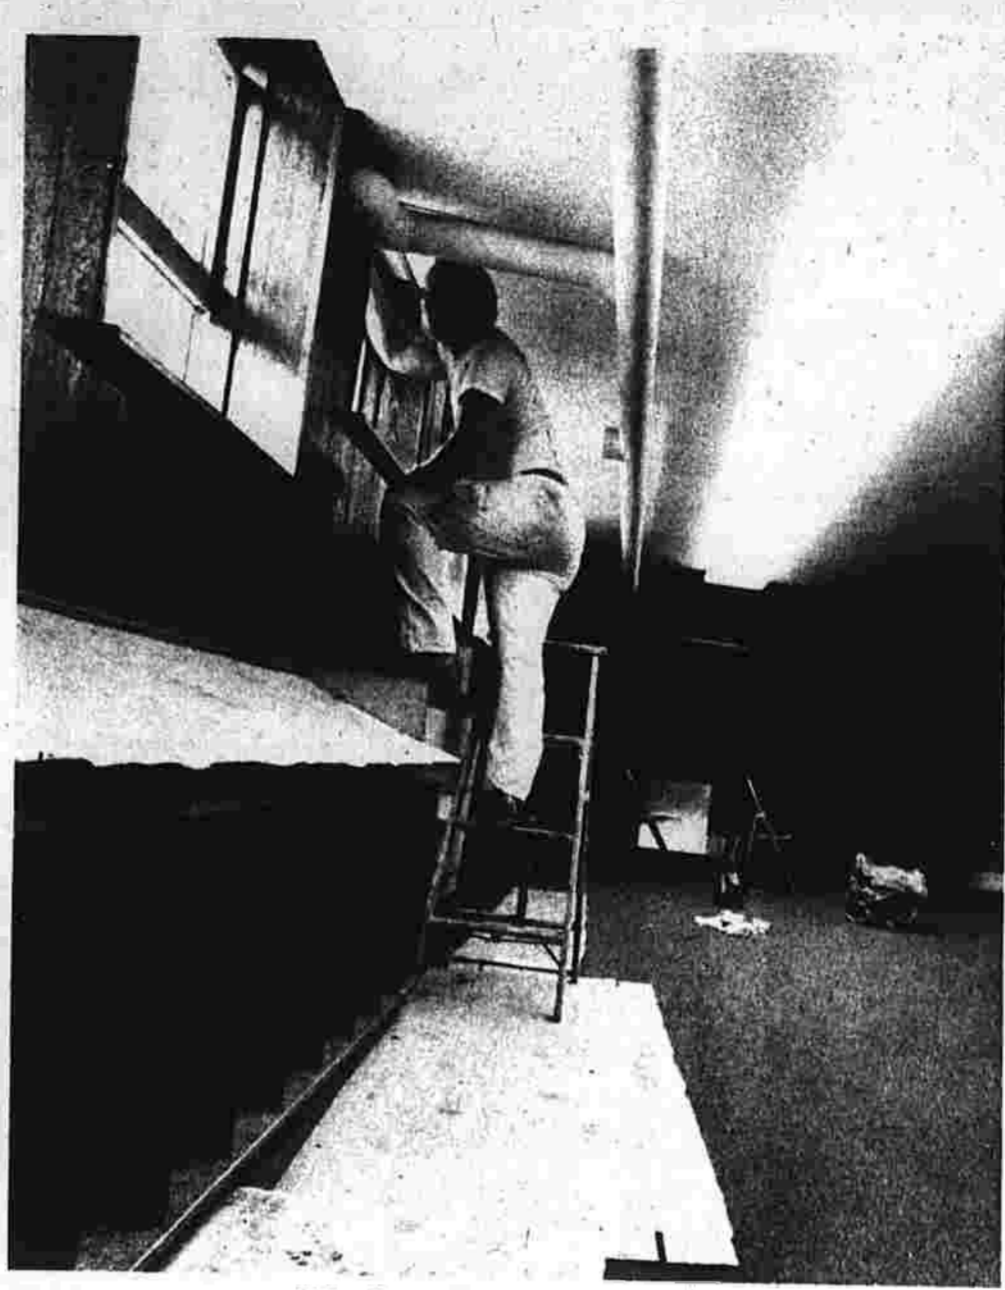

Frank Rouse of Kinston, state Republican chairman, said "It is conceivable" Ervin's role in the Watergate hearings could boost GOP chances if Ervin decides to run in 1974.

"But he's got to win a primary before we even have to worry about him," Rouse said.

James Sagg of New Bern, the Democratic party chairman, said correspondence at party headquarters has been alight.

"But there have been countless hundreds of comments that commend Sen. Ervin for his handling of the Watergate committee."

"I think people in general have grown weary of Watergate, but most of them realize he has a job to do, and would be disappointed if he

Meskill Asked For Apology To Mississippi
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) - Gov. Bill Waller of Mississippi demanded an apology Wednesday from Connecticut Gov. Thomas Meskill for alleged remarks by Meskill stemming from an extradition attempt.

Waller said he considered "your public comments made in this matter to be a personal affront to me and the citizens of the state of Mississippi." The apology request came in a letter sent to Meskill.

Scouts Hear Thomas Talk on 'Americanism'

About 48,000 Scouts and Scouters heard Danny Thomas speak on "Americanism" at the opening program of the 1973 National Boy Scout Jamboree East last Friday at Moraine State Park in Pennsylvania.

Gregory and Jeffrey Emils of 98 Church St. bore the Connecticut State Flag during the roll call of state flags at the opening ceremonies, which also included the Pledge of Allegiance, the singing of the national anthem, and the unfurling of a 90 by 100 foot United States Flag. The Scout Oath was recited, and then the Jamboree torch was lighted, olympic style.

He also said, "While you young Americans are having fun, there is something going on in our country. The radicals are making ammunition to destroy democracy. You will be told in a dozen different ways how to save our country by destroying it."

Earlier at a press conference, Thomas gave his opinions on pornography. "Any jackass can zip a zipper, use four letter words and be funny. I think it takes artistry to be entertaining, clean and funny," he said.

The celebration continued with a series of floats illustrating the seven daily themes from the bicentennial celebration. The floats were constructed by a group of scouts, which included Michael Colback, David Gaboury and Russell Turner Jr., all of Manchester.

A fireworks display closed the evening's festivities.

A 5k1-0-R 5k run and a skydiving demonstration will be discussed in the next report from Manchester's Jamboree Troop.

Peace Group Meets Sunday
The Manchester Committee for Peace and Justice will have a meeting Sunday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laski, 4 Battista Rd. Guest speakers will be a couple from the "Friends of Children" who will present a slide show about the orphan population of Vietnam. The committee will also make plans for a fund-raising dinner, and donations of clothing and money will be accepted and forwarded to South Vietnam, according to James Hyland of the committee.

Tolland Pupil Record Policy Adopted

The Board of Education recently adopted a policy on pupil records. The cumulative pupil record is the official school record of each pupil while in Tolland schools.

In addition to its functions as a legal record, it contains personal, social, and general educational record, plus four basic inserts:

1. The elementary level educational, test and developmental record.
2. The middle school educational, test and developmental record.
3. The senior high level educational and test record.
4. The cumulative interview record and other material deemed necessary by the pupil.

Other information regarding the record folder, but this is usually of a less permanent nature and is periodically reviewed and eliminated from the record when no longer pertinent.

The cumulative pupil record rests with the school principal. In general, the recording of data in the record should be carried out by clerical staff members. An exception would be the recording of interview, and other information, that is more appropriately recorded by guidance and other professional staff members.

The responsibility for obtaining accurate and complete information necessary for the proper maintenance of the record lies with the principal, but is commonly delegated to staff members involved in the registration process.

Responsibility for the updating of information in the record folder, but this is usually of a less permanent nature and is periodically reviewed and eliminated from the record when no longer pertinent.

Tolland Contractor Pays Fee

VIVIAN KENNESON
Correspondent
Tel. 875-4704

The issue over a building permit fee for construction work at Middle School was resolved this morning, when Norman Nasin of Nasin Construction Co. agreed to pay the fee.

Town Council Robert D. King made the announcement.

King said the "temp in the teapot" arose when Nasin did not realize that the fee was required in Tolland. He is now aware of the ordinance, said King.

Frank Merrill, building inspector, had issued a stop order Monday because the building fee had not been paid. King had tried to get a $6,200 check held in escrow signed Monday, but wasn't able to do so.

Meanwhile, construction crews continued to work, ignoring the stop order right up to the settlement this morning.

The construction company had held that schools, as well as public buildings, should be exempt from a fee.

Violations of the ordinance could result in daily fines of from $25 to $100.

Nasin was awarded the $1.3 million building contract in March with promise to complete the job in 365 days.

Rogers Not Yielding Way For Kissinger Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite constant reports that Henry A. Kissinger will get his job, Secretary of State William P. Rogers shows no signs of leaving.

Kissinger has shown increasing interest in heading the State Department, after years as President Nixon's foreign policy adviser.

Although denying that Nixon has talked to him about a switch, administration officials close to Kissinger have done nothing to squelch the speculation.

Just the opposite, in fact. For instance, one source said that as recently as four months ago Kissinger "would have said no" to becoming secretary of state.

Now, the official said, "I can't say." He said there have been several developments since to change Kissinger's mind, one of them Watergate.

On the other hand, Rogers repeatedly denies the two most prevalent rumors: that his future; that he will go to the Supreme Court or that he will be named ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Rogers has told the President he prefers action and could not sit still long enough to handle the research necessary on the court, nor what he considers the routine and narrow functions of the Moscow post.

As if to underline his determination not to be stunted out of the State Department, Rogers' press aide told newsmen this week that the secretary has said "emotionally and repeatedly that there are two things he simply would not consider... One is a seat on the Supreme Court, and the second is an ambassadorial post."

The aide, Charles V. Bray, is said by department officials to have made the statement on his own, but after having been told by Rogers generally to deny such reports when the question arises.

Sources said Watergate had brought a change in Kissinger's thinking because of his concern for the success of current U.S. foreign policy.

They suggested that Kissinger as Secretary of State would be in a more direct position to carry on the diplomacy necessary to shore up the confidence that other nations have in the United States.

Reds Chasing Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP) - Bob-by Tolan made a wish. "If only the Dodgers will give us a break and lose," said Tolan after his Cincinnati Reds defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-3 Wednesday night. A few hours later, the New York Mets helped it come true with a 1-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. As a result of those games the National League West race is more to Tolan's liking. The outcome of the contests Wednesday night moved Cincinnati within three games of the West-leading Dodgers. That's a pretty good position for the second-place Reds, considering that they were 11 games behind on June 30. The Dodger loss did some good for the San Francisco Giants as well. The third-place Giants slipped the Montreal Expos 2-1 and moved within eight games of Los Angeles. In the other National League game, the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Houston Astros 4-3. The Atlanta Braves stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 and the San Diego Padres trounced the Philadelphia Phillies 3-0.

Unusual Grid Day At Training Camps

NEW YORK (AP) - It was an unusual day at four National Football League training sites: -There were two fights at the Cincinnati Bengals' afternoon workout at the stadium. -There was a fight at the Atlanta Falcons' training camp. -Coach George Allen politely turned down the request of a 15-year-old high school student when she asked if she could be a watergirl for the Washington Redskins.

The Chicago Bears acquired their fifth water-girler back because, as Coach Al Gibbon explained, "I just need another guy out there for practice." The 90-degree heat Wednesday at the Bengals' pre-season training camp, combined with the usual heat of a watergirl for the Washington Redskins, ignited the tempers of Jerry Ellison, Stan Walters, Bill Bergay and Neal Craig and twice stopped the afternoon's exercising. Ellison and Walters, both tackles, interrupted the full team dummy practice with a rolling brawl, and not much later, during punting drills, linebacker Bergay and defensive back Neal exchanged punches.

Brown was not bothered at all. "It seems like we always do that—have fights—when it's hot out there," he said. "Tempers are always short under heat."

It must have been hot at the Atlanta Falcons' camp, then, as veteran defensive back Ray Brown and rookie wide receiver Tom Gerrodine traded blows during a passing drill. Falcon head coach Norm Van Brocklin's reaction was similar to Brown's. In fact, he praised the rookie's spirit. "If a man won't fight for himself, he won't fight for his team," Van Brocklin said.

Allen, meanwhile, doesn't believe his Redskins are ready to be liberated, and not much later, during the usual heat of a watergirl for the Washington Redskins, ignited the tempers of Jerry Ellison, Stan Walters, Bill Bergay and Neal Craig and twice stopped the afternoon's exercising. # Luck Changes For Matlack

LOS ANGELES (AP) - When pitchers start talking about pitching in tough luck, they'd better stop and listen to the said, and tale of Jon Matlack, the New York Mets' fine young left-hander. He's won nine games this season, the latest one on Wednesday night at the expense of the Los Angeles Dodgers, 1-0. But he's also lost 14. Of those 14 losses, six have been by one run, 11-7 after having his four-game win streak stopped, came in the second inning. John Miller walked and took second on a wild pitch. Two outs later Jerry Grote, who collected two of the Mets' six hits, singled him home. Grote was thrown out at the plate later attempting to score on "Tedy Martinez' double to Matlack. "That was as good a nine-inning performance as I've seen," Matlack said. "Tonight I controlled it."

Matlack, who missed just one turn after being struck on the head by a line drive May 8 off the bat of Atlanta's Marty Perez, said the hairline fracture which resulted hasn't completely healed. "I still throw my glove up there pretty fast when that ball comes back to the mound," he said.

Afterward Matlack said his fastball was the key to striking out nine Dodgers and not once allowing anyone to get as far as second base. "That was my fastball 'em't been at all straight which makes it tough to control," he said. "Tonight I controlled it."

The only hits he allowed were singles, by Willie Davis in the first inning and Manny Mota in the second. "The Dodgers haven't exactly been hammering the ball with the authority they showed

Prosecutor Waits Agnew's Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has retired to a desert resort for a long weekend, leaving behind the question of whether he will turn over his financial records to federal prosecutors probing political corruption in Maryland.

Agnew left Washington for Palm Springs, Calif., Thursday after reportedly being granted an indefinite extension on the prosecutors' request for the documents while his lawyers study the possibility of claiming immunity, Jay H. Topkin, one of Agnew's attorneys, said he would be in touch with the prosecutors next week.

Agnew was expected to return to Washington early next week. Meanwhile, a federal grand jury in Baltimore, which since January has been investigating political kickbacks, heard several witnesses. Federal officials refused to say if the testimony involved Agnew.

The Vice President told a news conference Wednesday he has "absolutely nothing to hide" from the investigators, labeling as "damn lies" charges that he accepted political payoffs. He said he would "make available at the appropriate time and in the appropriate way to the appropriate authorities" whatever records are needed.

Agnew's attorney, Howard Jacobs of New Haven, will get a chance next Tuesday to reveal evidence and present witnesses designed to prove Guillermo Aillon innocent of three murder charges.

The state rested its case Thursday after five weeks of testimony from 40 witnesses. Two defense witnesses, a pathologist and a photographer, have appeared out of turn. Citing commitments that would prevent them from appearing later in the proceeding, they were allowed to testify during the state's presentation in the Superior Court trial. A jury of six men and six women is hearing the case over which Judge Simon Cohen is presiding. There are two alternate jurors, a man and a woman.

Aillon is being held at the Bridgeport State Jail on $50,000 bond, accused of the stabbing deaths of his estranged wife, Barbara Montana Aillon, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. George Montana of North Haven. Their bodies were found at the Montana home Aug. 14. Aillon was arrested Aug. 18.

The Agriculture Department says this season's corn and wheat crops will be at record levels, although not as high as was thought a month ago. Deputy Asst. Secretary Richard E. Bell was reluctant to estimate how the reduced crop forecasts would affect grocery prices. But he conceded: "I can't say that I think they will be lower."

The department's Outlook and Situation Board had predicted Wednesday that retail prices for all of 1973 could average 18 to 22 per cent above 1972 averages, depending on the effectiveness of Phase 4 controls and on the accuracy of July crop estimates.

In most significant cases Thursday, the July estimates did not hold. Three hours after the August crop-production report came out Thursday with estimates of corn and soybeans. But said that where export controls are concerned, "The policy of the government remains as the President outlined in his July 18 statement."

At that time, Nixon said, "Permanent control of exports is not the policy of this government, and we do not intend to broaden the controls beyond those now in force."

Controls would not be needed, Nixon said, "unless present crop expectations are seriously disappointing or foreign demands are extremely large."

Two hours before Bell's statement on export controls, Bell noted the lowered crop estimates and of mounting prices for wheat and grain on commodity markets. "We have to study the data...over the next several days," Bell said repeatedly. Meanwhile, as the price of wheat hit $4.41 a bushel on the Chicago commodity exchange, compared with $1.71 a year ago, international wheat experts predicted the world wheat crisis could last until January. Thursday's Agriculture Department report estimated the U.S. corn crop at a record 5.61 billion bushels, 3 per cent above a year ago; the soybean crop, a record 1.54 billion bushels, up 20 per cent from last season, and wheat, a record 1.71 billion bushels, down 2 per cent from July's estimate but 11 per cent above 1972 production.

Burger Refuses To Call Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has refused to call a special Supreme Court term to consider the U.S. bombing of Cambodia, but opponents of the bombing are expected to make another attempt to gain the court's attention.

Burger refused the request Thursday from American Civil Liberties Union Foundation lawyers acting on behalf of Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., and three Air Force officers.

Less than two hours after the request was filed, Burger wrote "denied" across the petition, a court spokesman said. It was not known whether the chief justice would issue a written opinion.

A spokesman for Rep. Holtzman said the lawyers are considering a barrage of follow-up petitions in an attempt to get the administration to stop the bombing before Wednesday, when the President has said he will obey a congressional mandate to halt the air attacks.

Burger gave no indication whether he had conducted a poll of the other court members before denying the petition addressed to him.

Thursday's action marked the fourth time in two weeks the issue had been before the court. The tangled path the case has followed includes an attack by Justice William O. Douglas on the conduct of his colleagues.

Last month, Rep. Holtzman won an order in a U.S. District court in New York to stop the bombing. That order was quickly blocked by the circuit court pending a hearing that was held Wednesday.

Not content to wait for that hearing, the bombing opponents went to Justice Thurgood Marshall last week. Marshall refused to act alone.

They then went to Douglas. Last Saturday morning, Douglas issued an order giving new life to the original court order and, in effect, ordering a halt to the bombing.

That order stood less than seven hours. Acting on a government motion, Marshall ordered the same district court order stayed, thus okaying the bombing which had continued unabated. Marshall noted that his action had the agreement of the other seven justices.

Douglas in his dissent, accused his fellow justices of taking an illegal shortcut to overrule him. He contended that the law does not permit a single justice to overrule another.

Not content to wait for that hearing, the bombing opponents went to Justice Thurgood Marshall last week. Marshall refused to act alone.

They then went to Douglas. Last Saturday morning, Douglas issued an order giving new life to the original court order and, in effect, ordering a halt to the bombing.

Agnew's attorney, Howard Jacobs of New Haven, will get a chance next Tuesday to reveal evidence and present witnesses designed to prove Guillermo Aillon innocent of three murder charges.

The state rested its case Thursday after five weeks of testimony from 40 witnesses. Two defense witnesses, a pathologist and a photographer, have appeared out of turn. Citing commitments that would prevent them from appearing later in the proceeding, they were allowed to testify during the state's presentation in the Superior Court trial. A jury of six men and six women is hearing the case over which Judge Simon Cohen is presiding. There are two alternate jurors, a man and a woman.

Aillon is being held at the Bridgeport State Jail on $50,000 bond, accused of the stabbing deaths of his estranged wife, Barbara Montana Aillon, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. George Montana of North Haven. Their bodies were found at the Montana home Aug. 14. Aillon was arrested Aug. 18.

The Agriculture Department says this season's corn and wheat crops will be at record levels, although not as high as was thought a month ago. Deputy Asst. Secretary Richard E. Bell was reluctant to estimate how the reduced crop forecasts would affect grocery prices. But he conceded: "I can't say that I think they will be lower."

The department's Outlook and Situation Board had predicted Wednesday that retail prices for all of 1973 could average 18 to 22 per cent above 1972 averages, depending on the effectiveness of Phase 4 controls and on the accuracy of July crop estimates.

In most significant cases Thursday, the July estimates did not hold. Three hours after the August crop-production report came out Thursday with estimates of corn and soybeans. But said that where export controls are concerned, "The policy of the government remains as the President outlined in his July 18 statement."

At that time, Nixon said, "Permanent control of exports is not the policy of this government, and we do not intend to broaden the controls beyond those now in force."

Controls would not be needed, Nixon said, "unless present crop expectations are seriously disappointing or foreign demands are extremely large."

Two hours before Bell's statement on export controls, Bell noted the lowered crop estimates and of mounting prices for wheat and grain on commodity markets. "We have to study the data...over the next several days," Bell said repeatedly. Meanwhile, as the price of wheat hit $4.41 a bushel on the Chicago commodity exchange, compared with $1.71 a year ago, international wheat experts predicted the world wheat crisis could last until January. Thursday's Agriculture Department report estimated the U.S. corn crop at a record 5.61 billion bushels, 3 per cent above a year ago; the soybean crop, a record 1.54 billion bushels, up 20 per cent from last season, and wheat, a record 1.71 billion bushels, down 2 per cent from July's estimate but 11 per cent above 1972 production.

Anyone with information regarding an elaborate plan for the separation of Alton and his wife in July 1972. Lauren Montana, Barbara's sister-in-law, testified Thursday that Mrs. Aillon and her parents were very upset during the period between the separation and the slayings. Catherine Aillon, seven-month-old at the time of the killings, was taken by her mother to the Montana home when the Aillons separated. She was 7 set up details and clarified the legality of the reward.

South Windsor Town Manager Terry Sprekel and Daniel Sudarsky of Simsbury have spent three weeks as directors of the Connecticut Resources Recovery Authority by Governor Thomas J. Meskill.

Sudarsky is the chairman of the executive committee of Lynde, Inc. of Manchester. Malcolm Baldrige, chairman of the board of Scovill Manufacturing Co., was named chairperson of the authority.

Others named to the committee include Bridgeport Mayor Nicholas A. Panzino. In addition, Acting State Environmental Protection Commissioner Douglas M. Coste, acting Transportation Commissioner James F. Sanguine and Finance Commissioner Adolf G. Carlson will serve on the board as ex-officio members.

The act creating the authority to oversee Connecticut's new multi-million dollar waste recovery plan specifies that no more than two of the directors appointed by the governor may be members of the same political party. Baldrige and Panzino are Republicans. Sudarsky is a Democrat and Sprekel an Independent.

Another military post. One group set a car on fire. Another band attacked a police post with bottles and stones. IRA snipers fired at army patrols, but the army said the shooting was sporadic and ineffective.

The London Daily Mail said British undercover agents smashed an IRA plot to kidnap a senior British army officer and hold him hostage for the release of interned guerrillas. It said the agents arrested a group of masked, armed Irishmen in Luton to mark the anniversary of the shooting. They got ready to hold up an engineering factory to get money to finance the kidnapping.

The paper said Scotland Yard moved in after a tip five days ago that the guerrillas planned a major operation to mark the anniversary of the internment regulations. Neither Scotland Yard nor the Luton police headquarters would confirm or deny the report.
